Kidnapers Make Good On Threat

VICTIM KILLED AFTER MEMBERS OF FAMILY IGNORE DEMANDS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 15—Kidnapers of Max Kasoff called members of his family last week demanding $5,000 ransom "or we'll send him home in pieces—an ear first."

Altogether there were four phone calls. The last one Sunday night said:

"So you notified the police, eh? Ok. We fix."

Identify Body

Today members of the family went to Rockville Center, Long Island, to identify Max Kasoff's body. He had been blindfolded, shot twice in the head and once through the neck, and there was a deep head cut where he had been struck, as with the length of pipe.

The body was found yesterday in front of a billboard in Oceanside, Long Island. It was frozen and partly covered with snow. Kasoff's name was in the labels of the clothing.

The medical examiner fixed the hour of Kasoff's death as early Monday—a few hours after the telephone call in which the kidnapers announced: "We fix."

Kasoff, who was 37 years old and well known in the automobile rental business, disappeared from home last Thursday night. His family did not take seriously the first demand for ransom because of Kasoff's reputation as a practical joker.

Threats Not Disclosed

The receipt of a letter calling for payment of $5,000 and the phone calls with threats of murder convinced the family, however, that this was no hoax. They reported Kasoff missing, but did not tell police of kidnap threats.

This was the first kidnaping for ransom in many months in New York, so far as police records show, and one of the few cases in which the failure to pay ransom was followed by the murder of the hostage.

Cummings Will Be Party's Treasurer

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Walter J. Cummings, Chicago banker and manufacturer, succeeds Frank C. Walker as national treasurer of the Democratic party. He expects to start within a week the task of reducing the party's $500,000 deficit. Announcement of his acceptance of the post was made last night by Postmaster General James A. Farley, national committee chairman.

THREE INDICTED

CAMERON, Mar. 15. (AP)—Indictments against W. J. (Whitey) Walker, Irvin (Blackie) Thompson and Roy A. Johnson, Oklahoma convicts, were returned today on charges of the $2,900 firearms robbery of the Buckholts State bank in Milam county.

Four-Cent Income Tax To Be Paid In Four Instalments

KANSAS CITY, March 15. (AP)—Informed that his income tax amounted to four cents, a taxpayer asked Dan M. Nee, collector, if he might pay it in four quarterly instalments.

Nee told him it was his privilege under federal regulations.

"Well, I want to do it that way," said the taxpayer slapping a copper coin on the desk.

AUTO MEN HIT LABOR UNITS

CAR SPOKESMEN VOICE A FLAT REFUSAL TO RECOGNIZE UNIONS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Flat refusal to recognize labor unions was voiced before the national labor board today by automobile spokesmen shortly after William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had asserted elsewhere that the auto industry "is on the verge of one of the greatest strikes in the history of the nation."

Green made his statement to a senate committee considering the Wagner bill to outlaw company unions and make permanent the labor board as a court for industrial labor disputes.

Decision Is Sought

At the same time, representatives of railway labor and the management sought a decision on their pay-cut dispute. The employers want to cut the basic pay 15 per cent instead of the present temporary 10 per cent slash.

Leaders of the automobile industry told the board they also declined to admit it had any jjurisdiction over disputes with their workers.

A definite statement of the attitude of General Motors corporation was presented by William S. Knudsen, executive vice president, after a long list of employe representatives had complained of code violations and discrimination against union men as causes leading to the recent strike called in Michigan and other automobile manufacturing areas.

Dying Man Admits Slaying Man, Wife

PAINT ROCK, Ala., March 15 (AP)—A story gasped out by a dying man as a coroner's jury crowded around his bed has apparently solved a double slaying.

Hugh Jones, 35, and his wife, who had been estranged but who had made up and determined to start life anew, were found shot to death early yesterday outside their house in lonely Hinshaw's cove.

Mack Woodall, 38, husband of Mrs. Jones' sister, told the jury, Deputy Sheriff C. S. Simmons said, that he killed the couple and then fired two bullets into his own body. He said he did it because he was "jealous."

COMPROMISE LOOMS ON VETERANS' AID

AGREEMENT IS SOUGHT ON PAYMENTS

CONFEREES HUNT FOR PLAN ACCEPTABLE TO ROOSEVELT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—The many-millioned veterans' benefit issue, productive of turbulent uprisings in both senate and house, was headed today toward a compromise acceptable to President Roosevelt.

Behind closed doors, conferees from senate and house planned to try for an agreement on payments to veterans and government workers. Suddenly softened demands were voted by the house last night.

Veto Threatened

The senate some time ago tacked amendments on the independent offices bill, adding about $354,000,000 to veterans benefits and payments to federal employes. This the administration considered a blow at the economy program and a veto by the president was threatened.

The house modified the measure last night, cutting the expenditures down to about $261,000,000.

First indications were that a compromise could be reached without long negotiation. The attitude of the senate however, was not finally determined.

House Democrats, after once bolting their leaders, capitulated suddenly to open the way to an agreement.

Compromises Favored

As the threat of a presidential veto was waved repeatedly over the senate amendments, substantial house majorities voted for compromise proposals not far removed from those proposed by the administration.

Here are the amendments adopted by the house:

A $90,000,000 compromise by Representative Taber (R-NY) to restore 29,000 World war presumptive

CONTRACTORS PUT UNDER NRA RULES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15. (AP)—President Roosevelt today tightened up the regulations requiring that all contractors dealing with the government comply with the NRA codes of fair competition.

In a long executive order the president placed full authority in the hands of the industrial recovery administrator to deal with government contractors.

The order also requires all contracts and purchase orders authorized by any state, municipal corporation, local subdivision, person or corporation "in connection with projects carried out or to be carried out, wholly or in part, with funds loaned or granted by any agency of the United States," should come under the provisions of the NRA order.

Four Suspects Are Held For Slaying

WICHITA, Mar. 15. (AP)—Sheriff Charles Hoover of Sedgwick county left here today for Clovis, N. M., to question four men, held there, in connection with the slaying yesterday at Clearwater, Kas., of Acting Night City Marshal Robert J. Hammers.

Information at the sheriff's office here was that the men in custody were S. J. Green, paroled convict from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth; L. R. Giles and R. G. Warbrough of Breckenridge, Tex., and J. A. Dunwoody of Donley county Texas, all escaped convicts from the Texas state penitentiary.

WAXAHACHIE, March 15 (AP)—A 15-year prison sentence has been imposed upon Roy McGrew, middle-aged Midlothian man, by a district court jury which found him guilty of murder for the shooting of Ted Brown, Midlothian youth. Defense attorneys indicated they would move for a new trial.

Weird Beating Of Yaqui Drums Reverberates As Tech Party Opens Study

MEMBERS OF SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION FINISH PRELIMINARY ARRANGEMENTS ESSENTIAL TO EXPLORATION IN PRIMITIVE INDIAN AREA

By CHAS. A. GUY
Staff Correspondent

VICAM, Sonora, Mex., March 10. (Via Air Mail From Hermosillo)—With a base of operations established here in the shadow of the largest military garrison in the Indian country, members of Texas Technological college's scientific expedition into the Yaqui sector had today completed all preliminary arrangements essential to the various types of study they contemplate.

General Jesus Gutierrez Cazares, commandant of Mexican soldiery enforcing strained peace in the Yaqui area, has tendered all facilities within his power and Yaquis of consequence contacted through interpreters here have likewise signified cooperation.

Holden Talks To Chief

Yesterday Dr. William Curry Holden, leader of the expedition and Tech's director of archaeological research, had a conference in the Indian village of Concita with Pluma Blanca, principal chief of the eight Yaqui villages, who lives approximately 20 miles from Vicam and whose power is probably nearer absolute than any ruling executive on the North American continent. At the conclusion of the conference, accomplished through the use of an interpreter, Pluma Blanca gave consent to the party's camping in any of the eight villages and to do whatever work they choose. He has not, however, given consent to the taking of anthropological measurements by Dr. Carl Seltser, of Harvard university, although he and your correspondent succeeded in getting 105 separate bits of information and measurements from each of 17 Yaqui fighting men in their villages here Friday, the first day in camp.

The expedition arrived in Vicam—pronounced 'Beacom'—late Thursday, coming from San Jose de Guaymas, on the Gulf of California coast. All Thursday night and Friday night

TWO ARE DEAD IN SHOOTING

OFFICIAL IN KENTUCKY KILLS SECRETARY, THEN SUICIDES

(By The Associated Press)

FRANKFORT, Ky., Mar. 15.—It's the business of a coroner's jury simply to find out what happened, and the one that meets here today will probably bring in a verdict of murder and suicide, but the question remains why a prominent widower of sixty-five should drive his auburn-haired young secretary out on a country road and shoot her through the head.

Mrs. Myrtle McCrocklin, private secretary to Col. Nathan O. Gray, head of the automobile department of the state tax commission, remarked anxiously yesterday to a friend that she wished she could get transferred to another department.

Farmer Finds Car

Later in the day, shortly after the office had closed, a farmer came across the official's car, parked just off the Louisville road.

Inside was the body of Mrs. McCrocklin sprawled under the wheel, a bullet-wound through the side of her head and powder burns on her right hand, as though she had tried to ward off the pistol clutched in the dying grasp of Col. Gray. There was a bullet wound above his right temple. He died in a hospital shortly afterwards without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. McCrocklin, whose home was in Harlan, Ky, was thirty-two years old, and a divorcee. She and Col. Gray had been seen frequently in public together.

DERN REFUSES LINDY'S "NO"

WAR SECRETARY SAYS LINDBERGH UNDER "MISCONCEPTION"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The government declined today to take "no" for an answer from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The flying colonel, denouncing the Roosevelt administration for a second time for its action in turning the air mail over to the army, spurned last night Secretary of War Dern's invitation to help in a broad study of army aviation.

Dern Sends Answer

A conciliatory answer then hummed over the telegraph wires to the airman. In it Secretary Dern said:

"Your telegram indicates a misconception of the purposes of the committee on which I asked you to serve.

"I desire a comprehensive study of army aviation in which carrying airmail will figure only incidentally as a lesson in determining the efficiency or shortcomings of the army air corps, regarding which the public is bewildered so far as national defense is concerned.

"I am sure your council would be very valuable."

The new break between the famous airman and the administration over the white-hot air mail controversy stirred much interest. Such terms as "unfair," "unjust" and "contrary to American principles" dotted the telegram in which Lindbergh turned down the war department's invitation.

"I greatly appreciate," Lindbergh

GRAND JURY URGES NEW JURY ROOMS; NO ARRESTS IN 17 BEER INDICTMENTS

Asserting that in its opinion "no jury should be required to sleep in such quarters," a 72nd district court grand jury that adjourned late Wednesday recommended to County Commissioners court that "new jury rooms be built or the present quarters remodeled."

Grand jury action attracting the most attention, however, was return of indictments against 17 Lubbock county residents for sale of 3.2 beer. The sheriff's department at noon today reported no arrests had been made in the cases, the indictments not having been turned to that department.

The cases will be transferred to county court for prosecution. Misdemeanor cases rarely are presented to Texas grand juries. Sale of 3.2 beer is a misdemeanor. Grand juries commonly indict only in felony cases although they may return bills charging lesser offenses.

Having inspected county jail, the grand jury of which W. C. Grimes was foreman, reported the jail was "properly cared for and sanitary conditions are good."

A statement to the judge continued:

"This is true also of the courthouse, with the exception of sleeping quarters for the petit jury. In our opinion no jury should be required to sleep in such quarters in their present condition of ventilation, etc. Single beds for individual jurors should be substituted for the double beds now in use. We heartily recommend to the Commissioners court that new jury rooms be built, or the present quarters remodeled."

The grand jury returned eight other true bills including a murder indictment naming Santos Benevedas, 27, of Slaton. Benevedas was alleged to have shot another Mexican,

TULSA MURDER SUSPECT IS CAPTURED

GLENN WRIGHT, SEVEN COMPANIONS CAUGHT IN SUNRISE RAID

(By The Associated Press)

MANNFORD, Okla., Mar. 15.—Glenn Roy Wright, 34, wanted for killings in Tulsa and Ottawa counties, Oklahoma, and for bank robbery, was captured with seven companions in a sunrise raid on a little white farm house in the southern edge of the Osage hills near here today.

Twenty-Eight officers, from three Oklahoma counties, from the federal department of justice, and from the Kansas highway patrol, participated in the captures, which were accomplished without firing a shot.

Suspected In Slaying

With Wright was a man tentatively identified as J. W. McAtee of Coffeyville and Edna, Kan., but who officers said bore a strong resemblance to Harry Campbell, wanted with Wright for the Tulsa slaying, when J. Earle Smith, an attorney, was taken for a fatal "ride" in the summer of 1932.

At about 10 a. m. Sapulpa officers, who had jailed the prisoners in the Creek county courthouse, began moving them to the state prison at McAlester for safekeeping.

A man who first gave his name as J. C. Cucklin, 49, later was identified as Charles Cotner of Vian, Okla., wanted for the February 4 killing of Al Powell, deputy sheriff at Chelsea, Okla., and for the slaying of one of his own companions, Eddie Clanton, member of the Cookson hills gang.

Woman Among Captives

A woman arrested with Cotner gave her name as Grace Cutler, 33, of Vian. Cotner was known as a companion of Ford Bradshaw, recently killed near Fort Smith, Ark., who also was wanted for the Chelsea affray.

Others arrested included Alonzo Briscoe, alias Ed Brodie and Frank Downey, 58, believed one of the

Two Heavily-Armed Men Are Captured

HOUSTON, Mo., Mar. 15. (AP)—Two heavily armed men were arrested late last night at a tourist camp restaurant on the highway near Willow Springs by State Trooper Ben F. Graham.

Both men carried pistols and in their machine was found two rifles, a quantity of roofing tacks, several rolls of nickels, and eight different sets of license tags from Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The prisoners said they are Robert Trolinder, 26, of Texas, and Frank Layton, 36, of Claremore, Okla.

Steer Champ Sells At $1.26 A Pound

FORT WORTH, Mar. 15. (AP)—"Maon Type," grand champion steer and champion club calf of the 1934 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, brought $1.26 a pound on the auction block today.

It was sold by Sammie Hoerster, Mason county 4-H club boy, to O. B. Sellers, president of the Round-Up club of the stock show. The loins and ribs of the baby beef will be sent to President Roosevelt.

The steer was estimated to weigh 940 pounds, which should realize young Hoerster about $1,180.

CERNOCH MUST DIE IN CHAIR

SLAYER GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE IN TRIAL AT GEORGETOWN

(By The Associated Press)

GEORGETOWN, March 15 — A jury today convicted Lewis Cernoch and sentenced him to death for the slaying Feb. 15 of Henry Lindsey, Granger city marshal.

Lindsey and Sam Moore, a constable, were shot and killed when they took Cernoch to the office of John Nunn, justice of the peace, to answer for failure to pay a fine for use of abusive language.

Witnesses at the trial said Cernoch killed Lindsey as the marshal ran around an automobile in front of the justice's office, then reentered the office and started firing at Moore and others so "they would not bother me any more."

Defendant Unmoved

Cernoch heard the verdict calmly as he smoked a cigar. Many Granger residents were in the courtroom.

Cernoch has yet to be tried for the slaying of Moore and on charges of assault to kill Nunn and M. B. Colbert, an assistant district attorney.

Damage Suit Trial Begins Here Today

Trial of a damage suit brought against Jo Dick Slaughter of Lubbock by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Adams of Lubbock, as a result of death of their 8-year-old son under wheels of a truck owned by Slaughter, was begun before Judge Homer L. Pharr and a jury in 72nd district court this morning.

Twenty thousand dollars was sought, the amount having been reduced since filing of the suit in December.

Carl E. McCarty, an employe of Slaughter, was the driver of the truck, which struck and ran over Robert Eugene Adams at Nineteenth street and Avenue U, Nov. 14. The boy died on the spot. McCarty was absolved of criminal culpability.

Excessive speed and overloading of the truck were alleged in petition of the plaintiff.

Man, Woman Jailed For Embezzlement

AMARILLO, Mar. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Dollie I. Hatfield, former postmaster at Kusa, Okla., and her husband, James R. Hatfield, who served as her assistant, are being held in Amarillo for Oklahoma federal officers on charges of embezzlement of postal funds.

The indictment on which postal inspectors here made the arrests charged the embezzlement of $726.32 last December.

MIDNIGHT CURFEW ON INCOME TAXES

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Midnight rings the curfew for 1933 income tax returns.

Officials indicate that if tax returns get in the mail today, the government won't be too harsh about that 25 per cent fine for late comers, but a much longer delay will require explanation.

This year last minute taxpayers make affidavits on their income with full knowledge of President Roosevelt's new policy that where glaring inaccuracies appear, the government will leave to a grand jury decision the question of whether criminal or civil proceedings against the taxpayer are in order.

Between 200 and 300 old cases now are being prepared for grand jury inestigations. The rule applies to the big taxpayer and the small, and officials expect it to continue unchanged for 1933 returns.

Traffic Engineer Begins Observation

With plans afoot to alter and systematize Lubbock's traffic control plan, G. C. Buchanan, a traffic engineer, of Dallas, this morning began preliminary observation looking to a survey of traffic conditions here.

Mr. Buchanan, a General Electric company employe, came upon invitation of the City and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce traffic committee. With him was E. G. Mugford, of the same firm, of Dallas.

Accompanied by a police traffic patrolman, Mr. Buchanan this morning toured Lubbock for general observation and particularly to determine to what intersections traffic counts, to be made Friday and Saturday, should be assigned.

Garden Club Lecture Open To Public

The Lubbock public and garden club members from surrounding towns have an invitation to attend a lecture on bulbs at the Tech engineering auditorium Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, it was announced this morning. This lecture is being delivered by C. E. Russell at a regular meeting of the Lubbock Garden club. His topic will be "Throughout the Year With Bulbs."

High School Girls Are Guests At Tea

Continuing with an observance of National Business Women's week, members of the Business and Professional Women's club are to be hostesses this evening at 7 o'clock with a banquet at Hotel Lubbock. Guests are to include employers of the members. This dinner is an annual occasion.

On Wednesday evening the club members entertained with an annual tea for girls in the senior class at Lubbock High school. A party Friday evening in the studio of Mrs. H. A. Welmaker will conclude the week's observance here.

The high school girls' tea was in the home economics rooms at the school. One hundred and forty-seven girls attended and were received by members of the business women's club. Those receiving were Misses Gertrude Watson, Lola Mae Rozzell, Hazel Bratley, Paulene Parker, Lavenia Williams, Elsie V. Link, Mrs. Lela Frazier, Mrs. Lucile Smith and Mrs. Floe Swenson.

The third year food class, composed of junior and senior girls and taught by Miss Gertrude Daniel, prepared and served refreshments. Sweetpea corsages were favors for the guests. Tea was poured by Mesdames Welmaker and J. J. Smelser.

Mrs. J. S. Rider's orchestra played. Louise Fortenberry read and the high school girls' quartet, composed of Misses Gladys Hall, Joyce Jackson, Eta Wanda Riddle and Jane King, sang.

Those playing in the orchestra were Misses Mary Kathryn Keith, Clara Bell Lee, Dorothy Jones, Virginia Lee Barr, Janet Ratcliff, Madonna Horney, Johnnie Mae Thompson, Billye Ruth McClung, Austine McDonald, Louise Burkhalter and Mrs. E. H. Robertson.

Whose Fault?

Children who are Always Catching Cold

A boy or girl may be warmly clad, dry shod, and ever so careful, yet catch one cold after another. Do you know what's to blame? Low vitality. A sluggish system makes any child an easy victim for colds. The youngster whose bowels haven't moved for two days will contract a cold quicker than the one who has forgotten his rubbers. A powerful cathartic that opens the child's very pores is just as bad. The proper treatment is described on the right:

Here's the plan many mothers use to protect their children from a cold all through the cold season. Instead of waiting for biliousness to strike, they ward it off in this way: Every few days, they give the child a spoonful of plain California Syrup of Figs. No violent purge! No laxative of adult strength! Just this natural, fruity syrup containing senna. Use the genuine California Syrup of Figs, sold everywhere; bottle should say California.

Chairmen Appointed In Two Counties

Mrs. L. J. Holbert of Plainview and Mrs. A. H. McGazock of Olton have been named chairmen of Hale and Lamb county highway beautification projects by Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, district chairman. The appointments were made this week. Mrs. Mullican was accompanied to the two places by Mesdames A. B. Cunningham, J. O. Ellsworth, Frank Winn and D. A. Forbess.

ITALY TO INVITE FRANCE, GERMANY AND LITTLE ENTENTE TO JOIN PACT

ROME, March 15 (AP)—Italy will invite France, Germany and the nations of the Little Entente to join in the economic agreement expected to be reached in the tripartite conferences in progress here today, the Associated Press was informed by a usually reliable source.

The invitation will not be extended soon, it is said, but some time after the agreement made by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria, Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary and Premier Benito Mussolini has begun to bear fruit.

Cooperation Needed

It is explained that Italy realizes she is not sufficiently strong—even with the help of Hungary—to make Austria independent of Germany commercially, and thus assure her political independence, too.

The cooperation of other powers is believed necessary to accomplish this end. The nations of the Little Entente are Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania.

It is understood that Il Duce is making his Danubian plan the foundation of the talks started with General Goemboes Tuesday and continued with Dollfuss at the Venezia palace yesterday before all came together today.

In connection with discussion of the French situation, reports that Mussolini is offering to bury the hatchet with France were characterized as follows:

Relations between France and Italy are very friendly at present and there is every indication that they will continue so.

However, there is no possibility of talking of rapprochement until material differences between the two nations are settled; namely, naval parity; Tunis; more Italian colonial territory in Africa and clarification of relations between France and Yugoslavia.

Italy, it is said, has no intention of renouncing what she considers her rights in these matters.

Mussolini's Danubian plan purposes to help all of the states of the Danubian basin on the basis of preferential duties, trade agreements and voluntary relinquishments of the most favored nation clause by nations that enjoy favorable balances with these states.

WALTER ALDERSON FILES CANDIDACY FOR SCHOOL POST

Walter G. Alderson, local lumber company executive, today filed his notice of candidacy for election as a trustee of the Lubbock Independent School district in the April election.

Mr. Alderson, when questioned regarding his candidacy, said he has filed for the place largely on the solicitation of friends.

"I believe I understand the problems of our local schools and have a knowledge of the fundamentals of a good public school system," Mr. Alderson said.

"If elected to the board, I propose to fulfill my duties as a member to the benefit of as many patrons as can be possible. I believe we have one of the best school systems in the state here and it will be my intention to see that the same high standards are maintained."

Mr. Alderson has been a resident of Lubbock for the past seven years. He has two sons in school, one of them being a member of the Lubbock High school football squad. He is district manager for Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company here.

BRITISH TARS ARE LAUDED

SKIPPER OF FLAMING U. S. VESSEL THANKS HIS RESCUERS

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

HONGKONG, China, March 15.—A gallant tribute to British tars who saved 187 American sailors from fiery death on the flaming gunboat Fulton came today from the Fulton's skipper, Commander Harry McHenry, U. S. N.

While the Fulton, a U. S. navy craft, still burned on pirate waters north of Hongkong, Commander McHenry and his men—safe in harbor here—recountered their harrowing experiences.

Saved By Two Boats

They were brought in by the British destroyer H. M. S. Wishart—which saved them—and the steamer Tsinan, a commercial vessel.

The fire, which broke out in the Fulton's engine room about 6:30 p. m. yesterday, was expected to roar for hours as tugs began towing her toward Hongkong.

Commander McHenry plainly showed the effects of the ordeal. His face was haggard, lined by worry and fatigue.

His first thought was for his men. Eight of the crew was injured.

"I am very proud of the way the crew of the Fulton carried on and performed their duties under trying circumstances," he said.

Then he added:

"I can not speak too highly of the courageous action of the crew of the Wishart, whose display of seamanship will go down in naval annals."

The eight injured men included T. A. Javilla, Filipino cook-boy, broken leg; Marine P. F. C. Schenevark, crushed fingers; Electrician Bourke, serious spinal injuries in fall when transferring to Wishart; Coxswain Heald, badly gassed; Cook Schmitt, badly burned hand.

Three others, whose names were not available, suffered, respectively, from smoke in the lungs, a broken arm and a broken leg.

Another Vessel Arrives

Another British vessel, the H. M. S. Whitshed, arrived after a spurt from Hongkong under forced draft, stood by through the night and was joined by two admiralty tugs.

Shortly after word of this new British gesture on the part of the H. M. S. Whitshed, the American consul, Douglas Jenkins, publicly thanked the British seamen for their work.

Commander McHenry said he had just finished dinner when during a storm fire broke out in the Fulton's Diezel engines after a bearing was carried away. Flames spread to the superheated oil used for fuel.

MIDDLEMAN MAY FEEL MILK TAX

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15. (AP)—The middleman may be stuck with a processing tax for the first time if farm administration plans for milk control carry through.

The suggestion is a departure from previous plans of the administration for levying taxes designed to be turned back in farmers' benefits.

In the programs for cotton, wheat, tobacco, and corn and hogs the processing taxes have been levied with the expectation that they would be passed on to consumers.

The proposed milk processing tax is expected to be about 5 cents per pound on butter and proportionate amounts on fluid milk, cheese, and other products. Officials maintain this will not justify increasing the retail price of milk by one full cent per quart.

They are now seeking means of guarding against such a rise and contend that milk could be sold with fractional cent quotations through the issuance of checks or by selling it in larger quantities than quarts.

Ralls School Boy Dies Of Pneumonia

CITY LEVELED BY FLAMES

ABOUT 150 KILLED AS EL SALVADOR PORT RAZED BY BLAST

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, Mar. 15. (AP)—Much of the city of La Libertad was a mass of smoking ruins today—leveled by fire which spread after a port explosion in which about 150 persons were killed.

The blast, which could be heard here in the capital about 30 miles away, occurred when dynamite exploded as it was being unloaded from a ship at the docks.

Fire broke out. Flames spread quickly to buildings and swept over many blocks. The city hall and a church were among the important buildings consumed.

Hundreds of firemen were rushed from San Salvador along with scores of relief workers whose automobiles dashed in and out of the danger zones, carrying the injured to hospitals here.

National guardsmen and Red Cross workesr were joined by officials in directing remaining rescue work. The president and high government officials rushed to the scene.

In all, it was said about 250 cases of dynamite went up in the explosion. Officials said they believed sparks from a locomotive set off the blast.

It was said that not one man of those handling the explosives escaped death. Four customs agents and a telegraph operator died also. It was feared other deaths might follow among the injured.

IMPETUS IS SEEN IN TAX PAYMENTS

With additional precautions being taken by Uncle Sam's agents to make sure that every dollar of income taxes due from 1933 is collected, last-day impetus was anticipated at the office of J. F. Hankins, deputy collector of internal revenue, in the federal building here.

Persons whose earnings are taxable and who do not have returns at the office by tonight will be subject to a 25 per cent penalty.

The tax for 1933 is the same as that for 1932.

A new wrinkle in filings of returns was added to permit a double check. The requirement is that if any one is employed in any capacity to assist or advise the person in making the return, the name and address of the advisor must be given in the report and it must be signed by both.

J. H. Hooper, a deputy collector of Dallas, assisting Collector Hankins in this district during the peak period, said he would be at the office here until 8 o'clock tonight to receive returns.

SPORTS

PIRATES WILL PIN HOPE ON RED LUCAS

PITTSBURGH WILL GO GUNNING FOR TITLE THIS SEASON

BY RUSSELL NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 15 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates are going gunning for the National league prize this season with high hopes that a newcomer to the crew will mean the difference between first place and the runner-up position they have occupied the last two years.

The burly baseballer in whose experience Manager George Gibson is placing considerable trust is Charles "Red" Lucas, late of the Cincinnati Reds pitching corps and a pinch hitter who really "hits in the pinches."

Should Bolster Staff

Lucas landed with the Pirates after eight years with the Reds. Manager Gibson reasons the broad shouldered right hander should bolster his hurling staff almost on the strength of his 1933 record. For a tail end club, "Red" won ten games and lost sixteen. His pinch hitting is expected to provide one of the hot spots of the Pirate attack. During his eight years tenure at Cincinnati, Lucas compiled pinch hitting grand average of around .400. He hit for .287 in 75 games last season.

Aside from the addition of Lucas, the Pirate squad is virtually the same as that which led the pennant parade part of last season and trailed the Giants in at the finish.

Pleased With Outfield

Gibson believes his outfield compares with any in the league. It lines up the Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd, and Freddie Lindstrom. Lloyd Waner may be shifted from left to center field this season, a position he held down regularly until Lindstrom came over from the Giants a year ago. Lindstrom is equally at home in left. For utility purposes, Forest Jensen and Walter Roettger are available. Roettger came with Lucas in the Cincinnati swap for Adam Comorosky and Tony Piet.

The infield combination has been proven, with Gus Suhr at first, Tom Thevenow at second, Floyd Vaughn at short and the reliable "Pie" Traynor at third.

Harry Lavagetto, purchased from Oakland of the Coast league, is a promising infield recruit.

Behind the late Earl Grace and Hal Finney claim first and second string positions respectively with Tom Padden, also a holdover, battling a newcomer, Art Veltman, for the third berth. Veltman, drafted from Oakland, has shown impressively. He hit .331 last year.

Pitching Is No Worry

The pitching staff offers but few worries. Lucas is a certain starter, as will be Harold Smith, Larry French, the star southpaw, and probably Ralph Birkofer, another left-hander who was recalled from Toronto last midseason and produced satisfactorily.

Other holdovers include Heine Meine, Bill Swift, Bill Harris, Waite Hoyt and Leon Chagnon. Meine and Swift probably will round out the regular starters. Two bright rookie prospects fighting for one of the nine pitching berths are Lloyd Johnson, a six foot four inch southpaw purchased from the San Francisco Missions, and Darrell Blanton, from St. Joseph. Blanton, a right hander, won 21 and lost 7 last season.

ABC TO STAGE FIGHTS HERE

SECOND ANNUAL EVENT TO BE AT ARMORY NEXT TUESDAY

The National Guard Armory, Lubbock's stage for fistic encounters, will be the scene of the American Business club's second annual "fight carnival" next Tuesday night, it was announced yesterday.

A program made up of professional, amateur and "burlesque" wrestling and boxing matches has been released, all of which may be seen for an extremely low price figure.

Three boni fide wrestling matches, two comedy or burlesque mat attractions, six boxing contests and a battle royal is on the schedule. In addition, "Mysterious Madame Way," so the booking reads, will challenge all comers in a special wrestling match.

The Royal Battle

The battle royal is to feature outstanding fighters representing each of the four local civic clubs, and is planned as another take-off on the manly sport.

One of the wrestling matches features Billy Holcomb, the comic heavyweight of Texas Tech, vs. Holley Taylor, local business man, and another, probably a parody on professional wrestling, finds Leonard "Double Ugly" Curfman and Malcolm "Moon" Martin of Texas Tech.

A regular wrestling match features Jack Van Bebber, Texas Tech coach and popular professional.

As a special added attraction, Jack Van Bebber, Texas Tech coach and May, one of Tech's star amateur grapplers, will stage an exhibition of wrestling "holds and how to break 'em" that should prove interesting.

The complete card of boxers and wrestlers will be announced shortly.

OGDEN BOOSTERS ARE ELIMINATED; TULSA OILERS ADVANCE

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 15. (AP)—With one of the leading favorites in the discard, three western contenders, from San Francisco, Denver and Laramie, Wyo., and five Missouri valley league teams play the quarter-finals of the A. A. U. national basketball tournament tonight.

The only major upset in the third round last night was the defeat of the Ogden, Utah, Boosters, by the University of Wyoming's Rocky Mountain collegiate champions, who overcame a 22-point lead to win by 39-35.

Tulsa Oilers Win

The Tulsa Diamond Oilers, defending champions, met little resistance in their 39-22 triumph over the Firestone Californians from Los Angeles.

The quarter final schedule tonight:

7 p. m. Olympic club, San Francisco, vs. Denver Piggly Wiggly.

8 p. m.—Lifschultz Fast Freights, Chicago, vs Tulsa Diamond Oilers.

9 p. m.—Southern Kansas Stage Lines, Kansas City, vs Hutchinson, Kas., Renos.

10 p. m.—Wyoming university vs Wichita, Kas., Gridley Chieftains.

Thoroughbreds Are Killed By Flames

ELMONT, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Eight valuable thoroughbreds, including Sun Patch, 3-year-old half brother of Lee Rosenberg's 1932 futurity winner, burned to death last night in a $150,000 fire which swept the stables of the $5,000,000 Belmont park race track.

Kerry Patch, big money winner of the 1932 racing season, was saved by his faithful trainer, Jack McCormick, who slept in a room next to the horse's stall.

The total damage was placed at a minimum of $150,000 by track officials.

TIGERS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 16.—With Herman (Flea) Clifton primed to step into the third base job, Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers waited anxiously today for Marvin Owen to get a suit and get into practice, to determine whether he is going to be able to take the third sack assignment.

Owen came in Wednesday from Hot Springs where he has been taking the baths. "I feel good," he said, "but I won't know how good, until I get out there and toss the ball around awhile."

YANKEES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is due here today for a short vacation but it was believed he would devote a little time to the business of trying to bring the holdouts, Bill Dickey and Lyn Lary, into line. So far Dickey has been firm in his demand for $1,500 more than offered. Lary hasn't named any figures but the impression is he would like to be traded to a club which would use him more regularly than the Yankees have.

DODGERS

ORLANDO, Fla.—The ultimatum issued to Ray Benge, Brooklyn's holdout pitcher, brought quick results but Manager Casey Stengel and Business Manager Bob Quinn are planning to use different tactics on Al Lopez and Hack Wilson. Quinn is expected to go to Tampa in a day or two to talk things over with Lopez. As for Wilson, Stengel remarked:

"If he wants to come in, it's all right with me. And if he doesn't want to come in that's all right."

PHILLIES

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Whatever the calibre of the Phils, the players in Philadelphia's National league club are off to an even start.

In their first encounter, a 6-inning affair, the regulars and the "yanigans" each got five runs, made seven hits, committed two errors and had six men stranded on bases.

ATHLETICS

FORT MYERS, Fla.—With the Philadelphia Athletics planning to carry five outfielders this season, three of the berths apparently are clinched.

Doc Cramer, Bing Miller and Bob Johnson are viewed around the training camp as certainties, with Ed Coleman considered the leading contender for fourth place. That leaves Lou Finney, recalled from Montreal, and Ray Radcliffe, late of St. Paul, to fight over the remaining assignment.

SENATORS

BILOXI, Miss.—The American league champion Senators expected to swing into real training camp stride today with the arrival of a batch of the first string infielders and outfielders.

Owner Clark Griffith expects to get the first shot at two of the expected arrivals. Neither Heinie Manush nor Joe Kuhel have signed, and Grif may make some concessions to get their names on the line.

GIANTS

TAMPA, Fla.—It's been a good many seasons since Mel Ott first appeared as the "boy wonder" of the New York Giants but the young veteran appears to be rounding into shape as rapidly as most of the recruits. So far Ott hasn't been hitting up to his 1933 pace but he has been covering the outfield in midseason form, travelling far and wide to pull down fly balls.

BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Remember Charlie Atlas of Nashua, N. H.—the lad who came down to the Boston Braves training camp on his own?

Finally Manager Bill McKechnie, in self defense, gave Charlie a uniform and let him pitch batting practice.

The Nashua youth surprised McKechnie and yesterday he fooled the regulars in brilliant style. Pitching for the yanigans he allowed only two regulars to reach base in five innings. And to complete the fine performance, Charlie drove in a run with a triple.

LESTER STOEFEN AND FRANK SHIELDS SEEK TENNIS HONORS

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The tennis titans of America — Lester Stoefen, avowed aspirant for the Davis cup team, and Frank X. Shields, who is regarded as a certain internationalist—meet in the seventh regiment armory today in the outstanding semi-final match of the national indoor championships.

The champion for the past two years, Gregory S. Mangin, went up against Sidney B. Wood, jr., fair-haired Davis cup player for several years, in the other semi-final encounter.

Shields, who measures six feet, three inches from head to foot, played superbly yesterday against Dr. Eugene H. McCauliff, Stoefen, an inch taller, gave a masterful exhibition against George M. Lott, jr., veteran Davis cup doubles player.

Shields and Stoefen met for the first time last year at Hot Springs on clay courts. Shields won in four sets.

"My game is 40 per cent better than it was the first time I met Shields," said Stoefen, who is nationally ranked at No. 3.

YAQUI JOE IS DEFEATED BY CLINGMAN

AMARILLOAN WINS IN FIRST AND THIRD FALLS OF MATCH

The answer to the widely discussed question, "what will happen when Yaqui Joe and Otis Clingman meet in the same wrestling ring?" was at least temporarily settled last night when Clingman, well-grounded grappler from Amarillo, turned quick tables on the Sonora Indian last night at the Auditorium and won a three-fall match before the largest wrestling crowd of the season.

It was the match promoters and fans all over the circuit wanted, this Yaqui Joe-Clingman get-together, and nobody was disappointed except Yaqui Joe. It took him several seconds to get over the fact that he had been thrown—and by a toe-hold, of all things!

It was clever, clean and careful that match, but Yaqui Joe's two seconds of carelessness cost him the contest. Nobody was the accepted favorite to win, although the majority of public sentiment seemed to rest with the cat-like, poker-faced Injun. After winning the second fall, he was roundly cheered as he entered the arena for the final go-round. Clingman had his followers, and there was little boohing.

Clingman won the first fall with a shoulder smother after bumping Joe three times in smashing flying mares. It was the first "rough stuff" of the match, in which not a blow was dealt, not a hair was yanked. It lasted 27 minutes, 30 seconds, the first fall did, and there was a lot of fine, scientific grappling. Clingman worried Joe considerably with a wrist lock, and then got a cradle that made Joe a little jumpy. But the manner in which he came out of that cradle brought cheers. It was a simple procedure, consisting merely of extending his long legs until they were clear, and it must have been embarrassing to Clingman.

Otis bothered the Yaqui, too, with a painful hammer lock, swinging on to it for nearly five minutes. Through it all, Joe placidly chewed his gum and never changed his facial expression.

The second fall lasted 20 minutes, and the end came about in an exciting manner.

Neat Side Stepping

Clingman, who had been pushed into the ropes, bounded away and into Joe for a crashing flying mare. Joe backed away, and took another hard butting in his middle. It must have jarred the wigwams of Joe's ancestors. Again Clingman backed off to charge, like a bull about to make the kill.

Yaqui Joe sideslipped and fell on one knee as Clingman crashed through the spot which half a second ago had been occupied by Joe. The Indian shot out a leg as Otis went by, crooked it, and there was Clingman, caught in a drop-toe hold like a bear in a steel-trap. He stood it as long as he could, but the hold was complete and Otis had no alternative but to pat the mat.

Clingman started his rushing tactics again in the third fall, after Joe had tried vainly to bring the match to an early close with another toe-hold. On one of his lunges, Clingman carried Joe through the ropes and they sprawled all over Seats 5-9, Section S, Row 1. They didn't appear to be hurt, however, and crawled back. Joe finally got his toe-hold, but failed to get it all the way. Clingman came out, and as he did, mixed up Joe's legs something pitiful, then reared back on them to apply the pressure that won the fall, Joe patting the mat in a serious manner.

The preliminary and semi-final on what Promoter Allen had hoped would be an all-star cast show were not so good and just so-so respectively.

Billy Hallas, who knew few conquerors as a welterweight several seasons ago, kept Joe Bauer, the young Teuton, worried through their 20-minute struggle, preventing Bauer from going through his full comedy repertoire. But as a middleweight grappler, Hallas is just another showman. The match didn't go over very well with the crowd.

On a semi-final or a main go, Hallas still, very probably could make it interesting for his opponent and fans. They fought a draw match, and did a lot of kicking and scuffed around but very little wrestling.

Dorry Detton, fleet-footed Utahan who has grown to be somewhat of a fixture at the local arena, came nearer to being boohed last night than at any previous time. He and Ben Wilson, the ex-bronco buster from Fort Worth, put on a rough, tough exhibition, but each was so intent on mortally wounding the other that they forgot all about wrestling.

Dutch Mantell refereed the first and second matches, and all that would have made either of them exceptionally interesting would have been for one of the matmen to crawl on Mr. Mantell. He invited it all the time, but nobody dared face him. Wilson showed considerable endurance, and had Detton pretty groggy at the end of their 30-minute draw, but he didn't show much grappling ability. Detton had little opportunity to use his science and wit, because it took most of his time to ward off the almost fiendish attack of Wilson.

Mantell had to reprimand Wilson several times, but the close and unbiased observer could easily see that Dutch was justified in every move he made toward curtailing the killing instinct of the Fort Worth cowpuncher. He bit and clawed, used his fists unlawfully and illegally, and otherwise contributed marks and remarks irrelevant to the case.

GOING WILLIAM TELL ONE BETTER

William Tell didn't have a thing on Lefty O'Doul when his trusty arrow split that apple on his son's head. Lefty scoured around in the Giants' training camp at Miami Beach, Fla., and finally found one of his mates courageous enough to try this daring stunt. He is Pitcher Fred Fitzsimmons, who is a trusting soul, anyway.

Encouraged by the gracious turnout of last week for their first show, the local chapter of National Guard is throwing another fight party tomorrow night at the Armory.

We are informed by persons who ought to know that Kid Murdock, another of the family of fightin' Murdocks which includes Eddie and Thurman, is no less than a somewhat when it comes to boxing men his size. He is a lightweight. Lubbock and West Texas have an ace in the sleeve when it comes to matching some upstart of a lightweight. That ace is Woody Windham.

So Woody and Kid appear on the main 10-round event Friday night in the Armory's second fight program in as many weeks. A supporting card of four 4-rounders is in the making, and not all of these are professionals. Meaning that there ought to be some active slapping around in Ben Condray's "only-official-size-ring-in-Lubbock" when the gong sounds at 8:15 o'clock.

WELDON BAILEY CHAPMAN, who, even in the off season, continually impresses the writer as being the closest approach to the ideal high school athletic administrator and football coach, rapidly is rounding into vocal form. It is with a thrill of pleasure that we announce the return of his voice. If ever a man paid for the good he accomplished, Coach Chapman is that man. He worked himself to a frazzle, physically and vocally, in an effort to bring the Westerners through the storm of last year's handicapped gridiron season. For his pains, he has had to speak in a husky whisper for the biggest part of half a year, take a leave of absence without pay and recover his faculties as best he could under the circumstances. He deserves henceforth the best of breaks.

The Westerners now are in the midst of a spring training session. It is voluntary on the part of players and coaches, but important nevertheless. Burl Huffman, backfield coach, has charge of the boys, but he works under the whispered guidance of Chapman, whose nature is such that even serious and severe illness cannot keep him away from his cherished post.

While he is not supposed to take any active part in coaching until his voice is fully recovered and his health returned, Chapman spends his time in Lubbock thinking and planning for his gridders, and the same probably goes on when he's out of town undergoing special treatment. He hopes before long to be back on the job in earnest. He feels like the prospects for 1934 are the brightest in two years, and it is only natural for him to be champing at the bit.

The Amarillo scribes already have picked Pampa to repeat in the District 1 race, a step ahead of Amarillo. Which is good for Lubbock. Pampa, with about 17 returning letter men, should be hard to stop next fall. Lubbock, on paper, is weak. On the spring practice gridiron, however, the Westerners do not look so feeble.

KID MURDOCK FIGHTS WOODY WINDHAM IN MAIN EVENT

With amateur and collegiate boxing, 16 rounds of it, supporting a main event between popular professional sluggers, the local National Guard unit presents its second boxing show Friday night at the Armory.

Woody Windham, well-known Abilene puncher, meets Kid Murdock, flashy Amarillo mauler, in the 10-round main event.

Maybe This Time

Although Windham has a large following here, there is also a body of local ringworms who would greatly enjoy seeing Woody sprain his hinges against something. It has been a long time since Windham has gone down in defeat, in fact it has been a long time since he has even had any troublesome opposition.

But many experts believe that Windham is going to run up against a hard place tomorrow eve in his mill with Murdock. The Kid comes of a family of ringmen. The "fighting Murdocks" have a representative in half the weight divisions of pugilism. Eddie Murdock, is welterweight champion of the Pacific coast, and once knocked off the great Jackie Fields in a non-title fight. Thurman Murdock, bantamweight champ of Texas, lost a decision to Abie Chavez here recently. Baby Murdock is the family-man who mixes it among the paperweights.

Windham, who is very particular who he box-fights and who would much prefer fighting an easier opponent, got this match "blind". That is, he did not know with whom he was to scrap until after he had signed.

So Woody, the cautious but capable and hard punching one, meets his stiffest competition in a long time at the Armory tomorrow.

Tech Men In Show

Carlton Luper, burly Texas Tech varsity footballer, tackles J. D. Span, bicycling lightheavy from Plainview in one of the four round prelims.

"Snow" Flake, cleanly-built heavyweight, takes on Ross Ayers, former Tech football captain, in another curtain raiser. And John Prim, Pacador lineman, swaps punches with a guardsman from Plainview, Buster Span, also for four rounds distance.

Another four round event will be announced tomorrow to complete a card of twenty six slated rounds. Tickets are now on sale at the J. and J. sporting goods store.

HETLER HEADS FARM GROUP

PERMANENT OFFICERS ARE SELECTED BY CORN-HOG BODY

Lubbock County Corn-Hog Control association directors elected permanent officers Wednesday afternoon in the office of P. T. Montfort, county agent. Contracts, to be checked with committees and signers as to production, then were distributed to the directors.

Franz Hetler, Liberty, was selected president; J. A. Russell, Union, vice-president and M. L. Seay, Caldwell, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Hetler was also named chairman of the county control or allotment committee, with O'Dell Reiger, Slide, and A. F. Reese, Shallowater.

Directors Chosen

Directors by groups were:

Group 1—Elmer Kelsey, Center, for Estacado, Becton, Center.

Group 2—F. H. Cannon, Idalou, for Idalou, Acuff, Canyon.

Group 3—E. E. Wilson, Slaton, for Slaton, Posey, McClung.

Group 4—J. A. Russell, Union, for Woodrow, Union, New Home and Southeast Ward.

Group 5—W. O'Dell Reiger, Slide, for Slide, Foster, Barton.

Group 6—J. D. Henley, Southwest Ward, for Woodrow, Hurlwood, Southwest Ward, Carlisle.

Group 7—A. F. Reese, Shallowater,, for Shallowater, Hardy, County Line.

Grdoup 8—Franz Hetler, Liberty, for Liberty, Northwest Ward, Northeast Ward.

Group 9—M. L. Seay, Caldwell, for Caldwell, Monroe, Grovesville.

Approximately 550 contracts, covering approximately 5,000 hogs, have been signed by Lubbock county farmers.

FLASHES OF LIFE FROM EVERYWHERE

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS GROUND FROM THE GRIST OF THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Looked That Way

ST. LOUIS—Haled before City Judge Finnegan on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated, William H. Mabel, a hotel manager, testified:

"I can't help my looks. I always look like I'm drunk. But I'm not drunk now and I wasn't drunk then."

Judge Finnegan fined Mabel $150.

Whozza Liar?

CLEVELAND — Mrs. Fannie Gulkin, 35, and three others were being tried for participating in a disturbance at the offices of the county relief administration.

"Liar!" she shouted when a witness described her language during the disturbance. She was cautioned by the court.

"I still say he's a liar," she retorted.

When the court sentenced her to ten days for contempt of court, she fainted.

Invitation

PITTSBURGH — Mrs. Young told police her husband raised a glass of poison to his lips and asked her:

"Aren't you going with me?"

A few moments later he died, she said.

Two New Mouths

BILLINGS, Mont.—The Sperrow brothers, ranchers, have two new mouths to feed—both of them on one calf. The new-born calf has only one head. But besides the two mouths, it has two noses and three eyes. Both mouths are taking plenty of nourishment.

Do Not Disturb

NEWARK, N. J.—A bulletin instructing army mail pilots not to fly over Merchantville, N. J., a suburb of Camden, has been posted at the army air field. Residents of the town complained that the planes kept them awake at nights. Commercial pilots, before they quit flying the mails, had been instructed to keep away from the town.

Engine Models To Be Displayed Here

A mechanical engineering display in an annual engineering show at Texas Technological college April 13-14 will include models of two engines widely separated in mechanical development.

One model was constructed in the machine shops; the other is a copy of Hero's turbine, the first recorded in history.

The Tech constructed motor is a two-cylinder opposed type run by gasoline, weighing four pounds seven ounces without the flywheel which weighs two and a half pounds. The model of the first turbine is of the reaction type and run by steam supplied from a boiler.

There are about 1000 road bridges in England unsafe for modern traffic because built before the great increase in motor transportation.

and Wells, Inc., with an hysterical account of a fight carnival that the American Business club is tossing come next Tuesday night. The National Guard Armory will be the scene of the murders, and X marks the spot where they found the body of the ABC member who didn't sell all of his tickets.

Holley Taylor vs. Billy (Holbert) Holcomb! That's one of the several main events planned by the ABC matchmakers, and that ought to give you an idea of what it means. If you don't know Holley Taylor, then you're not much of a man-about-town, and if you haven't seen Billy Holcomb, Tech's 225-pound tackle candidate, in action in the wrestling arena, you've missed one of the best laffs of the season. He was the hit of Texas Tech's wrestling tournament week before last, and everybody who saw him still chuckle at the memory of what followed his introduction.

There are several other matches, boxing and wrestling, on the second annual American Business club fight carnival program, and tickets are being offered at 35 cents per each. Out of sympathy for the club members themselves, if for nothing else, you ought to buy a ticket. We don't want too many suicides around here next week.

Nelson Given Five Years In Car Theft

A five-year prison sentence for automobile sentence was dealt Andrew H. Nelson, Wednesday, at Matador, Sheriff Tom Abel said.

Nelson already faced six years for burglary in Terry county and five years for burglary in Floyd county. He also faces felony indictments in Lubbock county and a federal indictment charging burglary of the Meadow postoffice.

Motley and Dickens county officers removed Nelson from Lubbock county jail Wednesday morning, returning him yesterday afternoon.

Check Of Contracts Is Begun By Board

A district review board Wednesday began checking of cotton contract reports from counties of this district. Two comptometers had arrived from Dallas for use in the check.

The work will be continued until all reports have been checked, O. G. Tumlinson, district agent leader and chairman of the review board, said. More than 30 reports from as many counties were to be checked here.

Operating the machines are Miss Madge Harris and Miss Ann Sheehan, of Dallas, expert comptometer operators, assigned to this board. They are from a group of operators assigned to the nine boards in the state and to the state board.

H. Blanche, Austin, statistician with the federal department of agriculture bureau there, and C. Luker, vocational agriculture supervisor for this area, are members of the board with Mr. Tumlinson.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—When it wants to whoop things up, a government says it with music. The band strikes up and a lot of fellows strut off to war and get killed or re-elect a president or something.

Crowds thrilled by the ommpah-oompah and the blat-blat, think it's swell.

But the trouble with the 5000 code authority representatives gathered here recently, was they wouldn't get whooped.

The marine band blared its most seductive tunes. "Stars and Stripes Forever" blended into "Happy Days Are Here Again." Presumably "Big Bad Wolf" was supposed to make everybody amiable and the next was the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March."

As if recalling the code-violating automobile industry, the band swung into "A Motor Ride" and then a grand whoop-piece—"Marching Along Together."

All this in the most patriotic imaginable setting, the D. A. R.'s Constitution Hall, with its flags and emblems. You might have expected the hardest-boiled industrialist to get steamed up—for a few minutes, anyway.

Then Roosevelt came on the stage, talked of higher wages, shorter hours, the consumer, humanity before profits and freedom for labor to organize.

Occasional polite hand-clapping wasn't enough to interrupt him. At the end, the New Deal officials on the platform were behind the microphone and the band, playing "Star-Spangled Banner," below it. So it may have sounded like a demonstration over the radio. But actual applause in the hall was freezingly thin.

(This column is devoted to things you may not have heard about the code conference.)

F. R. "Does the Nice Thing"

The real enthusiasm for F. R. came from a few hundred other code authority folks at an overflow meeting in Memorial Hall, barn of the D. A. R. gals till they outgrew it.

Roosevelt hadn't planned the visit there. It was just a nice thing to do—and he decided on it after he happened to hear about the overflow boys while at Constitution. They loved it.

Strain Ages President

Roosevelt looked tired—I won't say haggard. His facial gestures (he keeps hands on the table to support himself) lacked zest. (Two nights earlier the movie of his inauguration had been shown at a large banquet and someone said he looked ten years older today. Ray Moley and Assistant Secretary of Commerce John Dickinson disputed that, but a White House secret service man and several others agreed. Everyone, however, insists he's in good health.)

Few things ever stirred your correspondent's emotions more than the spectacle of Roosevelt leaving the platform after his big speech.

Rusty on Prayer

Frances Perkins was the only person of 4000 to arise when the chaplain began to pray. The others, quickly or slowly, took the cue. But when time came to join in the Lord's Prayer, few seemed to remember the words.

Later, Frances and Bill Green of the A. F. of L. often had their heads together, though a year ago Bill bitterly was attacking her appointment to the cabinet.

Still Want Their Pie

In corridors and at section meetings it appeared that Roosevelt's hopes for co-operation with the New Deal must rest with the younger men in business and industry. Old-timers still demand cuts of predepression size in the profit pie.

Young fellows still have their eyes out for stray nickels and dimes, but are willing to concede that this is another period.

Show Is a "Bust"

The Labor and Consumer Advisory Board performances at the main show went sour. Perkins and Green made good labor speeches. Chairman Leo Wolman of LAB, regarded as a labor representative by one but himself and General Johnson, boasted of labor's victories.

Other LAB members hastened to whisper that he spoke only for himself. . . . Hundreds fled as Chairman Mary Rumsey of CAB rose to speak for the consumer. Hundreds more leaped as she introduced Vice Chairman Frank Graham, president of North Carolina University.

The "leapers" showed rare good judgment, it proved, though the administration demanded order. Graham droned and drawled a good speech interminably. One coe man snored so loudly that he attracted more attention than Graham and had to be awakened.

Graham drove away so many more before he finished that the session-ending CAB consumer movie, prepared by Mrs. Jock Whitney, played to an almost empty house. The movie wasn't so hot, either.

CHAPTER THE EIGHTH

THERE was a certain man named Lazarus of Bethany, who was taken very ill; and as he was the Brother of that Mary who had anointed Christ with ointment, and wiped His feet with her hair, She and her sister Martha sent to him in great trouble, saying, Lord, Lazarus whom you love, is sick, and like to die.

Jesus did not go to them for two days after receiving this message; but when that time was past, He said to his Disciple, "Lazarus is dead. Let us go to Bethany." When they arrived there (it was a place very near to Jerusalem) they found, as Jesus had foretold, that Lazarus was dead, and had been dead and buried, four days.

WHEN Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she rose up from among the people who had come to condole with her on her poor brother's death and ran to meet Him; leaving her sister Mary weeping, in the house. When Martha saw Him she burst into tears, and said, "Oh Lord if Thou hads't been here, my brother would not have died." "Thy brother shall rise again", returned our Saviour, "I know he will, and I believe he will, Lord, at the Resurrection on the Last Day", said Martha.

Jesus said to her, "I am the Resurrection and the Life. Dost Thou believe this?" She answered "Yes Lord"; and running back to her sister Mary, told her that Christ was come. Mary hearing this, ran out, followed by all those who had been grieving with her in the house, and coming to the place where He was, fell down at His feet upon the ground and wept; and so did all the rest. Jesus was so full of compassion for their sorrow, that He wept too, as He said, "where have you laid him?"—They said, "Lord, come and see!"

He was buried in a cave; and there was a great stone laid upon it—when they all came to the Grave, Jesus ordered the stone to be rolled away, which was done. Then, after casting up His eyes, and thanking God, He said, in a loud and solemn voice, "Lazarus, come forth!" and the dead man, Lazarus, restored to life, came out among the people, and went home with his sisters. At this sight, so awful and affecting, many of the people there, believed that Christ was indeed the Son of God, come to instruct and save mankind. But others ran to tell the Pharisees; and from that day the Pharisees resolved among themselves—to prevent more people from believing in him, that Jesus should be killed. And they agreed among themselves—meeting in the temple for that purpose—that if He came into Jerusalem before the Feast of the Passover, which was then approaching, He should be seized.

IT was six days before the Passover when Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead; and at night, when they all sat at supper together with Lazarus among them, Mary rose up, and took a pound of ointment (which was very precious and costly, and was called ointment of spikenard) and anointed the feet of Jesus Christ with it, and, once again, wiped them on her hair; and the whole house was filled with the pleasant smell of the ointment. Judas Iscariot, one of the Disciples, pretended to be angry at this, and said that the ointment might have been sold for three hundred pence, and the money given to the poor. But he only said so, in reality, because he carried the purse, and was (unknown to the rest, at that time) a thief, and wished to get all the money he could. He now began to plot for betraying Christ into the hands of the chief Priests.

THE Feast of the Passover now drawing very near, Jesus Christ, with His disciples, moved forward towards Jerusalem. When they were come near to that city, He pointed to a village and told two of His disciples to go there, and they would find an ass, with a colt, tied to a tree, which they were to bring to Him. Finding these animals exactly as Jesus had described, they brought them away, and Jesus, riding on the ass, entered Jerusalem. An immense crowd of people collected round Him, as He went along, and throwing their robes on the ground, and cutting down green branches from the trees and spreading them in His path, they shouted, and cried "Hosanna to the Son of David!" (David had been a great King there) "He comes in the name of the Lord! This is Jesus, the Prophet of Nazareth!" And when Jesus went into the Temple and cast out the tables of the money-changers who wrongfully sat there, together with people who sold doves; saying "My fathers house is a house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves!" —and when the people and children cried in the temple "This is Jesus the Prophet of Nazareth," and would not be silenced—and when the blind and lame came flocking there in crowds, and were healed by His hands — the chief Priests, and Scribes, and Pharisees were filled with fear and hatred of Him. But Jesus continued to heal the sick, and to do good, and went and lodged at Bethany; a place that was very near the City of Jerusalem, but not within the walls.

ONE night, at that place, He rose from supper at which he was seated with His Disciples, and taking a cloth and a basin of water, washed their feet. Simon Peter, one of the Disciples, would have prevented Him from washing his feet; but our Saviour told him that he did this, in order that they, remembering it, might be always kind and gentle to one another, and might know no pride or ill-will among themselves.

Then, he became sad and grieved, and looking round on the Disciples said "There is one here, who will betray me." They cried out, one after another, "Is it I Lord! — Is it I!" But He only answered, "It is one of the twelve that dippeth with me in the dish." One of the disciples, whom Jesus loved, happening to be leaning on His breast at that moment listening to His words, Simon Peter beckoned to Him that He should ask the name of this false man. Jesus answered "It is he to whom I shall give a sop when I have dipped it in the dish", and when He had dipped it He gave it to Judas Iscariot, saying "What thou doest, do quickly," which the other disciples did not understand, but which Judas knew to mean that Christ had read his bad thoughts.

So Judas, taking the sop, went out immediately. It was night, and he went straight to the chief priests and said, "what will you give me, if I deliver Him to you?" They agreed to give him thirty pieces of silver; and for this, he undertook soon to betray into their hands, his Lord and Master, Jesus Christ.

ONLY A SPARK NEEDED

How ripe for war is the situation along the Manchukuo-Soviet border is seen in the sharp protest sent Moscow by Tokyo against Russian airplane flights over Manchukuo and Korea. Additional evidence of danger is supplied in reports from border points relating that a Japanese military plane has been shot down and that the pilot of a Japanese civilian plane has been wounded by Russians.

The Tokyo protest may be expected to evoke a set of fresh charges from Soviet sources concerning the violation of Russian territory by Japanese airmen.

There may be much or little truth in these reports. The important thing is that they are being made and that on either side of the border is an army potentially hostile to the other, and some of the leaders of both of which no doubt are eager for a fight.

This situation was not created suddenly. It has been in process of development for several years, marked by frequent predictions of war between the two countries. Each side finally has massed large bodies of troops along the border. These armies are equipped with the most modern weapons of war on land, water and in the air. They are made up of well trained soldiers. In the Japanese army are many veterans of the Japanese campaign in China.

It would be hard to stage a more perfect setting for the outbreak of war. Weather conditions constitute about the only unfavorable element, but these are no guarantee against a clash at this time. All that is needed is a spark. A border incident that at any other time would be insignificant can supply this.

Border incidents are occurring, actually and by report. Cool heads—if there are any—in Tokyo and Moscow may prevent a clash. But there are no strong grounds on which to base such a hope.

This situation, from the standpoint of peace, is extremely dangerous.

With Whiz' BARRY Under The Capitol Dome

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—A. F. Henning, instructor in journalism at Southern Methodist university, cannot fiddle. But he remembers how he went through the motions when he was a young fellow living at Hallettsville.

It was recalled to him by Jim Ballard of Beeville, who witnessed Henning's "fiddling act" thirty-odd years ago. It was at a play depicting the "Fall of the Alamo." Henning was supposed to fiddle at a dance.

Went Through Motions

In Hennings own words he was "unable to fiddle any more than I could talk sanscrit." A local fiddler agreed to stand in the wings off stage and make the music while Henning went through the motions in front of the audience.

"The music over, I stood the fiddle against the wall," said Henning. "But my confederate in the wings needs tune up his fiddle. The audience caught on and just about howled the roof off the grand opera house."

He recalled that the late W. T. Bagby, who afterwards became one of the state's best known orators while a member of the Texas house of representatives, was in the cast. Henning still has a copy of the program.

At the time Henning was foreman of the Hallettsville New Era newspaper plant. He had qualified as a journeyman printer when 16.

He said he visited Hallettsville three years ago and was recognized by only one citizen, H. J. Braunig.

"He missed the cute little mustache" I wore at 17, but called my name instantly," Henning reminisced.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLITO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial home of millionaire JIM FIELD. When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives he falls in love with her almost at sight.

Pablito knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. As a child he ran away from ANGELA, the heartless old crone in whose care he was left. Since then he has lived with NORRIS Noyes, wanted by police for a murder years before.

TED JEFFRIES, a guest at the Field home, sees Noyes and recognizes him. Noyes flees to the swamp where he overhears a man and girl planning to rob the Field home during a masquerade party the following night. Pablito gives Noyes money to go to Havana and promises to meet him there later.

Pablito, disguised as a toreador, goes to the masquerade to talk to Estelle. There is a tender, youthful love scene between them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

One of the servants, sent to look for Estelle, found her with a tall young man in the costume of a toreador. Mr. Field, the servant reported, had been hunting for his daughter and wished to see her.

Estelle answered that she would come immediately and the servant turned to go.

"Will I see you again?" she asked Pablito, rising.

"I'll have to go before they unmask," he told her.

She gave him a small gold heart she had found in a hollow orange that had been tossed to her earlier that evening by a magician guarding a particularly fruitful tree.

"Do you say such nice things to everyone as you have said to me?" she asked falteringly.

"I've never said them before and I won't again—until I can say them to you."

"I want you to come back."

"You don't know how much I want to!"

He wondered why she lingered, face raised. And because the sight of that face was so tempting he said quickly, a little unsteadily, "I suppose we shall have to go back now to your party."

She agreed equally unsteadily. "Yes, I suppose we must—"

But he did kiss her hands again, one after the other, and then left her. Soon the guests would remove their masks.

He watched her disappear. Clumsily, for one of usually skillful hands, he tied the small heart in the corner of a handkerchief and thrust it in his belt. Doing this, he discovered that his dagger was gone.

He remembered a short, stocky man also in toreador costume who had brushed against him as he threaded his way through the crowd beside Estelle. Perhaps the jostling had dislodged the dagger with the keen blade. Pablito thought it did not matter much although he would have liked to have it and keep it, remembering that Estelle had held it in her hands. He would rather kiss those hands than any other woman's lips.

He walked slowly through the fir trees toward the side entrance, turning now and again with the hungry hope of one more glimpse of her. Then, unrewarded, he left Eden. Outside in the midst of a little group he saw a man with bitterly set lips and a child with one cheek gashed. There were tears on that cheek and on the other, too.

Pablito stopped. With a rush he saw Angela once more and the darkness of the hut. Fear and pain gripped him. The man turned and gave a short order to the child who skulked after him in the manner of a dog used to kicks. Pablito followed, overcome with anger and forgetful of his strength.

The child set up a low wail. The man turned and struck her across the head with a stick.

"Stop!" Pablito ordered loudly, thickly. The man struck again.

The rest happened swiftly. There was a flash of motion as Pablito sprang forward. A moment later he looked down at his feet into eyes that were widely open and glassy in the moonlight. He stooped, laid his hand on a grease-stiffened shirt and over a heart that was still. He stood erect again, gasping, and looked both ways. The child had scampered away.

Some one was coming, a short, stocky man wearing the costume of a toreador. This newcomer paused and his shadow fell across the road in the silver of the moonlight. "What's up?" he asked.

"I guess I've—killed him—" Pablito answered.

"Try some water on him before you decide," the toreador advised. "Is there any water around here?"

Pablito plunged through the fringe of fir trees and the man followed. "Look here—" he began loudly.

Pablito half turned. He knew he had been hit before he lost consciousness.

When he became aware of life again he looked up rather dazedly at a sky twinkling with trillions of stars. Tren he became aware of the rocking of a boat.

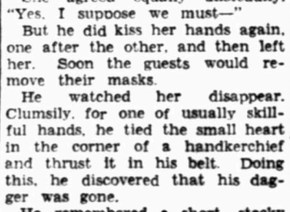

A girl was bending over him. A moment later she sat back, erect, still looking down at him. "He's coming to, Beau," the girl said.

"Can you run a boat?" Pablito heard a harsh, heavy voice asking. He heard himself answer, "Yes."

"Well, get busy or go overboard," the heavy voice said next. "You can take your choice. I mean what I say and I'm armed—and you're not. See?

There was a glint of light on the short revolver that was turned on him. Pablito moved, sick and unsteady from the blow he still felt, toward the engine. Suddenly he knew the boat was Field's fast-

RANCH PRICES REMAIN FIRM

WEST TEXAS TRADING IN CATTLE, MOHAIR AND WOOL SLOW

SAN ANGELO, March 15 (AP)—Notwithstanding that trading in ranch products in this section of West Texas has been at low ebb recent days, prices remain firm. Several ranchmen have reported offers of 33 cents a pound for unshorn 12-months wool. Small amounts of wool have been contracted at 30 cents a pound. Shearing will start soon, marked by large troubles.

Mohair In Warehouses

Mohair is coming into the warehouse with shearing more than half completed. The Producers Wool and Mohair company of Del Rio, now has 240,000 pounds of mohair on hand and will have about 1,000,000 pounds for the season.

Yearlings are bringing from 5 cents a pound with steer yearlings going at 5 1-2 to 6 cents.

Some estimates place the sheep in the state at 1,000,000 head this year. The lamb crop will run from 10 to 90 per cent. In some counties which have had no rain there appears to be no vegetation.

O. L. McNealy, Rocksprings, owner of 9,000 head of goats, the biggest string in Texas, said offers as high as $2.50 a head were being made for young mutton goats in mohair in his section but few were selling. Nannies were going at $3.50 for the hair. The current mohair crop is of good quality but light, he said.

J. W. Fields of Arden has sold 1,000 coming-five-year-old ewes at $3 per head to A. E. Hearne and Dick Duvall who resold them. A string of 300 ewes that sold at $1 a head a few days ago sold in the wool last week at $4 for the broken mouths and $5 for the solid mouths. The Schoer ranch of Sanderson, has sold about 500 solid mouth ewes, unshorn, at $5 a head.

Yearlings Sold

Bob Simmons of Sweetwater has sold 17 carloads of fed steer yearlings to a packing company at 5 cents a pound. The Green Cacheo Catlte company of Sonora Mexico, sold several thousand comming yearlings steers to Kansas buyers at 5 1-2 cents a pound, delivery at the U. S.

Claus Young of Rocksprings has been buying 2,000 mutton goats out from the hair at $1.15 to $1.25 a head in the Sonora sectiond. Clayton Beckett of Sonora has sold about 1,000 three-year-old nannies out of mohair at $2.50 a head.

GRAND JURY

Lupe Contreras, to death at Slaton Sunday.

Judge Pharr, Feb. 5, charged the grand jurors to "leave no rock unturned." in their investigation of reported beer sales here.

"Regardless of high collars or low collars, it (sale of 3.2 beer) is a violation of the state prohibition law and will remain so as long as the law is on the statutes," Judge Pharr said.

The beer indictments, naming Lubbock and Slaton persons, included from three to 12 counts each. The grand jurors, presumably, obtained most of their information prior to the March 3 local option election.

"A prominent restaurant and cafe operators and their employes were seen entering the grand jury room during sessions in February.

Lubbock county, in a local option election last Aug. 26, turned down on 3.2 beer. The vote, however, was reported to have been sold openly. Drys again trimphed in the election this month.

The local officers and prosecutors began a mopping-up campaign climaxing yesterday in the indictments.

"The first beer case since the second election was filed last week against C. Alexander. He and A. L. Hobbs also were named defendants in a 72nd district court suit to restrain them from "further maintaining a nuisance." Hearing in the suit for an injunction, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, was delayed until 1:30 p. m. Friday by Judge Pharr.

The other indictments returned yesterday included two for felony liquor law violations, two for cattle theft, one for forgery, one for automobile theft and one for receiving and concealing stolen property.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 15. (AP)—Cotton opened quiet but irregular today with opening trades two points up to two down. Liverpool was about as due but sterling was easier. Prices firmed slightly after the start, May trading at 12.22, July at 12.32 and October at 12.47, or net unchanged to two points up. Traders continued to await action on the Bankhead bill.

The market continued quiet most of the morning with prices easier on reports of developing opposition to silver legislation and the Bankhead bill. Late in the morning May traded down to 12.13, July to 12.23 and October to 12.38, off 9 points from the early highs and 7 to 9 points net lower. Near noon the market was steadier, recovering 3 to 4 points of the loss on short covering.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Cotton opened quiet, 1 to 2 lower under liquidation and southern selling in absence of any new constructive developments. March 12.15; May 12.23; July 12.32; Oct. 12.45; Dec. 12.56; Jan 12.62.

There was no feature to the early trading and the market continued quiet without particular trend. A little trade buying combined with moderate demand credited to Japanese and continental sources caused prices to recover to about the previous closing levels but a little additional commission house selling then appeared. May contracts sold off from 12.25 to 12.22 and at the end of the first half hour the general market was net unchanged to 3 points lower.

The market turned easier under liquidation from local and commission houses sources in sympathy with declines in stocks, grains and silver. The decline in May extended to 12.17 and at midday the market was at the lowest for the day thus far representing net losses of 7 to 9 points.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—Wheat prices showed an early downward trend today. Uncertainties of Washington legislative developments had a bearish effect.

Opening unchanged to 3-8 lower, May 88 to 88 1-4, wheat afterward receded all around. Corn started unchanged to 1-4 up, and subsequently sagged somewhat.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 15. (AP)—Stocks had few friends today and prices generally sagged in trading that was even duller than that of the previous session.

Weakness of the non-ferrous metal issues was an unsettling element following word that the administration was not disposed to do anything more for silver at this time. Other Washington developments continued to hold the attention of the speculative fraternity.

Most commodities were hesitant and silver futures dropped nearly 2 cents an ounce. Grains and cotton eased, but rubber again registered improvement. Bonds were not quite so enthusiastic as in previous sessions.

Shares of U. S. Smelting lost about 7 points and American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco were down 1 to 2. Union Pacific and Santa Fe yielded a point each and losers of fractions to around a point included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, General Motors, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, Montgomery Ward and Du Pont. Loew's, Fox Film, Schenley and Liggett & Myers B were slightly higher. The alcohols showed some resistance.

Annual Conference Is To Be Planned

Program plans will be made and a date set for an annual Presbyterian conference at Ceta canyon when five Presbyterian ministers, representing the El Paso and Dallas Presbyteries, meet at First Presbyterian church Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. H. S. Springall of Dallas and the Rev. R. S. McKee of Clarendon will represent the Dallas Presbytery at the conference and the El Paso Presbytery will be represented by the Rev. Clyde Barton of Clovis, N. M., the Rev. John C. Thorns of Big Spring and Dr. Jack M. Lewis.

The summer assembly is held usually in mid-summer with intermediates and young people in attendance.

LICKS SAVE DEER

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Salt licks in northwestern Montana are credited by C. E. Powell, forest ranger, with saving the lives of scores of deer each year. Craving salt, they used to wander on railroad tracks to lick at salt formations covering battery joints of signal equipment. Powell said at least 60 deer were killed by passing trains in one year.

TECH SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION MAKES ARRANGEMENTS FOR STUDY OF YAQUIS

the weird thumping of Yaqui drums reverberated through the village and yesterday there was held by the Indians the Fiesta de Gloria, a semi-Christian and pagan religious ceremony which is held with much pomp. Similar ceremonies were held in each of the eight villages, we learned, but the visiting Americanos saw only a part of the rites. They were told in sign language to 'scram' from the scene of the Yaqui festivities shortly after they began.

Studhalter At Work

Dr. Richard A. Studhalter, head of the department of biology at Texas Tech and botanist attached to the expedition, has had more success thus far than any of the five men of science in the party. He has succeeded in picking up numerous botanical specimens, many of which are believed to have been yet unreported. Aided by Dr. Chas. J. Wagner, surgeon, and an interpreter, Doctor Studhalter's work has been unimpeded by the necessity of having to deal with the human element.

We are located approximately 50 miles southeast of Guaymas, which doesn't mean that we are a little over an hour away but instead five hours from that once important seaport town of 8,000 persons. Vicam, with a population of approximately 1,000 soldiers and Yaquis, lies in a semi-tropical, half desert area between the gulf coast and the Bacatete mountains, some 20 miles to the east. In the Bacatetes, our ultimate objective, remain the last of the 'bronc' Yaquis, defiant and untamed. Indians living in the various villages of the area are unconquered but at the present are living under the terms of a truce with the Mexican government.

Life Is Primitive

Life here is little short of primitive and our camp, located in a bamboo thatched compound with the only concrete floor in many, many miles, is a mecca for the Indians, large and small, who are on hand to watch our every move. We are attracting fully as much interest here as a circus does in our own country and the youngsters are having the time of their lives. Members of the party know how sideshow freaks in carnivals feel toward the gaping throngs which gather about them, and that's no foolin'!

Drinking water is a precious thing here, too, and must be purchased. Wells here—there are two—give up water for washing and similar purposes but it is too brackish to drink. Water haulers who cart the precious 'agua' from the Rio Yaqui six miles away, have plenty of customers, 'one of whom we are which.'

Signs Of Progress Seen

Truly in the heart of a section fully a hundred years behind our own in many ways, Tech's delegation none-the-less often marvels at unmistakable signs of progress. There is a school here, kept up by the government and named for Benito Juarez, Mexico's George Washington, to which Indians may or may not send their youngsters as they choose, and a pool hall, operated by a Mexican who for twelve years lived in Los Angeles and who with his English has been a big help to us. One sees some shoes, there is at least one wrist watch in the village and occasionally a car chugs in from Guaymas, from Obregon or Cejeme, located something like 80 miles to the eastward.

With the exception of the garrison, which looks like it might be constructed of stucco on adobe, the sentry post and the school, similarly built, every structure is of native design and materials. Roofs and walls are thatched of bamboo and other native growths and are supported by heavy logs which probably come from the foot of the nearby mountains. Days are pleasantly warm except in the afternoons when it is plain hot, but nights are chilly. There are no mosquitos at this time of the year but there are flies, flies and did you say flies!

Yes, We Have Smells

Burros, goats, turkeys, dogs and what-have-you roam the narrow streets and there is a mixture of sounds and smells, as one may well imagine. We had a bath at Guaymas, which seems like a month ago, but are seriously considering driving the 20 tough miles to the gulf for another dipping sometime between now and when we get back to Guaymas which seems, in anticipation, about as far away as Christmas.

Bill McMillan's work with reptiles and snakes has captured the admiration of the Indians and he is receiving plenty of respectful cooperation along that line. Scarcely an hour passes that one or another fails to bring him some sort of a scaled thing to monkey with, which is all right with your correspondent as long as they are kept on the far side of the camp!

Ross Gets Fish

Bill, Ross Edwards and a Yaqui went out yesterday in an effort to scare up something in the way of meat besides bacon and ham, which has been our entire diet since leaving Lubbock ten days ago. They came back with five gulf trout, weighing 22 pounds, the largest of which tipped the beam at eight pounds. Nobody ever ate any better fish so the two with a guide, are off today after quail and venison, which abound in the region.

Frank Maddox and Bennie McWilliams are indispensible about camp and both speak Spanish sufficiently to help carry on conversations with visitors and with those we contact about the village. Many of the Indians speak very little Spanish, however, and it is necessary to find a Spanish speaking Yaqui to translate messages into the Yaqui tongue.

Oh, For A Movie!

Sitting in a Yaqui meeting hall yesterday and surrounded by thirty Yaqui bucks all of whom wore cartridge belts, pistols and an occasional dirk, your correspondent struck up an acquaintance with one of the leaders of the tribe. It would have been a riot had a talking picture been made of the pow-wow since neither of us knew enough Spanish to safely order a plate of ham and eggs in Mexico City. He later paid a visit to our camp and with the help of an interpreter we learned that his name is Simon Espinosa and that, among other things, he was in the Yaqui army which, in about 1913, aided in overthrowing the Carranza government. He is an agreeable, pleasant fellow of about 60 and the only one of the Indians to make any stabs at forming friendships. He explained that he had an American friend somewhere or another and likes Americanos.

Just when there will be a further communication from the expedition is a matter for conjecture. When we leave here in the next two or three days we will be without any semblance of communication and it will depend upon the location of the nearest postoffice as well as upon road conditions whether or not it will be possible to get anything through to the Avalanche-Journal. However, if such is possible, reports will be forthcoming.

Field Is Virgin

Doctors Holden, Wagner, Studhalter and Seltser are certain now that they chose wisely in basing their expeditionary studies upon the Yaqui country. They have all the evidence they need that this is a virgin field in much of archaeology, anthropology, botany and medical research. The entire personnel is in good health and spirits but thus far has had nary a word from home. Everybody is anxiously awaiting a letter because we are 'a fur piece from Lubbock.'

This little piece is being written before a large and admiring audience of mustachioed and sandaled Yaquis who 'no sabe typewriter,' which hardly makes for good typing as the linotype operator will attest.

Hoping to see you again sometime, were signing off, Station YAQUI—somewhere in Sonora and a long way from telephones and plumbing!

Slaton Woman Dies In Local Hospital

SLATON, March 15 (Special)—Mrs. J. W. Payton, 31, who lived three miles west of Slaton, died in a hospital here about midnight Wednesday. A widower and six children survived.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Englewood cemetery by Rev. J. T. Clinton. Burial will be directed by Rix-Bynum Funeral home.

LINDY'S "NO"

said, "the honor of your request that I become a member of a special committee to study and report upon army aviation in relation to national defense," the telegram began.

"I would of course be glad to contribute in any way that I can to the maintenance of an adequate national defense. However, according to the announcement by the war department, this committee is to study and report upon performance by the army air corps in its mission to carry the air mail as directed by executive order.

"I believe that the use of the army air corps to carry the air mail was unwarranted and contrary to American principles.

"This action was unjust to the air lines whose contracts were cancelled without trial. It was unfair to the personnel of the army air corps who had neither equipment designed for the purpose nor adequate time for training in a new field.

"It has unnecessarily greatly damaged all American aviation."

Chamberlin Accepts

Invited to serve on the committee with Lindbergh were Orville Wright, Clarence Chamberlin and others. Wright declined for reasons of health, but Chamberlin accepted.

A new indication that Mr. Roosevelt has wide plans to develop aviation was studied by observers. The war department appropriation bill which went through the senate yesterday carried an amendment, added at the last minute at the request of the president.

It supplies $10,000,000 for the president's unrestricted use for army aviation.

INSULL FLEES

add to that. If Insull fails to go, I will send him by force."

When asked if Insull had a visa permitting him to travel, Metaxas replied: "I am not his personal servant."

The minister's statement followed an announcement by the department of alien control that no visa was obtainable for Insull and that, as a result, indications presaged a delay in the former utility operators expulsion.

"One Way Or Another"

D. Maximos, minister for foreign affairs, later declared:

"Mr. Insull will leave this evening either in one way or another."

Earlier, morning newspapers had asserted Insull probably would be permitted to remain until tomorrow, at least, while the government sought to procure visas for his laissez-passer on which no destination was indicated.

Insull, fighting extradition to the United States where he is wanted to face charges growing out of the failure of his utilities enterprises, refused yesterday to accept an American consular travel document. It had been issued as a gesture of American cooperation with the Greek foreign office, and good for six months.

The belief grew generally that Greece is reluctant to send Insull to the United States and would continue efforts to obtain visas for a trip to countries north of here.

Remained In Hiding

Flat denials squelched a report that the government had bought Insull a ticket on the Orient express.

Insull himself remained hidden in his own little court, behind closed doors. There he was guarded by his own attendants, while outside Athens police were vigilant against a secret flight and reporters and cameramen threatened any retreat with immediate publicity.

SUNRISE RAID

Clarence Eno-Bradshaw gang sought for a bank robbery at Leroy, Kan., Ira Brackett, 43, occupant of the farm raided; a man who gave the name of J. C. Johnson, 35, and Winnie Morris, 20, of England, Ark.

In addition to the Smith killing, Wright is wanted in Miami, Okla., for the fatal shooting of William Witten of Chickasha, Okla., an employe of an automobile convoy company, who was killed during a robbery at Picher, near Miami, in May, 1933.

Wright also was "hot" in Payne county, Oklahoma, where he was suspected of a $5,000 raid on a farm auction.

High School Band To Offer Concert

Lubbock High school and Junior High school bands will present a joint concert tonight, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, in Lubbock High school auditorium.

The program is open to the public, no admission charge being made. H. A. Anderson is band director.

The program for the senior band has been announced by Mr. Anderson as follows: Carrollton March by King; Northwind Polka, with cornet solo by Norman Heath; If I Were King Overture; Old Timer's Waltz; Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark, with flute and clarinet duet played by David Humphries and Ed Reed; In a Chinese Temple Garden, by Ketelby; Jubilant Overture; The Quality Plus March. The junior band is to play overtures and marches and there will be several solos.

Thompson Defense Is Nearing Close

MARLIN, March 15. (AP)—The defense neared completion of its case today in the trial of Irvin (Blackie) Thompson, Oklahoma outlaw charged with participation in the $41,000 robbery of the First State bank here last December.

Testimony from several witness tending to show that Thompson was in Amarillo at the time of the robbery was the final move of the defense to gain an acquittal for Thompson.

Two other Oklahoma convicts charged with the bank robbery, W. J. (Whitey) Walker and Roy Johnson, were given formal sentences to 99 years in prison at Bryan yesterday for the $7,000 robbery of a jewelry store there.

Arguments Reached In Arnold's Trial

BAIRD, March 15 (AP)—The murder trial of Doye Arnold, ex-convict accused of slaying his divorced wife at Breckenridge, reached the argument stage today, with the defense asking for acquittal on the grounds of insanity and the state demanding the death penalty. The state contended Arnold was sane.

Mrs. Zelma Arnold was stabbed and beaten with a stone when she met Arnold on a Breckenridge street and informed him she had obtained a divorce while he was serving a prison term for automobile theft.

The British post office gained the largest surplus in its history in the 1932-33 financial year, clearing 10,792,000 pounds (normally nearly $54,000,000).

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

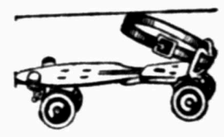

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat" and brings "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts at Mark Halsey Drug or any drug store (lasts 4 weeks)—you must be satisfied with results or money back. adv.

est motor boat, the "Silver Dart," in which he had taken Field and his daughter riding so often.

He tinkered with the engine which his captor had choked. At last, after a few uncertainly spaced chokes and puffs, it came to life. Pablito turned to find the revolver still leveled on him.

"We got some talkin' to do," said the other man. "Head for Cuba and go there a hellin', see? We'll talk as we move. And if you want to try any funny tricks on me, just try 'em—"

The girl interrupted. "Aw, take that gun offa him. It ain't so easy to talk, Beau, with a gun trained on you. Besides he ain't armed." She looked at Pablito as she stopped speaking.

"Where'd you put your loot?" the man demanded of Pablito.

"What do you mean?"

"Say, none of that!" The voice became rougher. The eyes narrowed and the lips set in a twisted sneer. "Look here, stranger," the man went on, leaning forward, "you and me and my little pard here all know you puffed off a cold killin' tonight. I can send you up if I wanta. I can make you turn this boat around and head for Key West and then I can turn you over to the police."

"Go ahead."

"Watcha mean? Gettin' funny, ain't you?"

"I meant to give myself up."

"Like hell you did! Say, looka here—whatja lay him out for anyway?"

Pablito explained with fair steadiness as his lips grew dry and his nostrils pinched on the acrid scent of the salt water.

The man listened to Pablito's tale and then laughed suddenly. "You're a queer bozo," he commented sneeringly. "Kill a man who'd oughta been killed before he was born and then you're willin' to do time for it! Is that what you want? I'm soft about kids myself, stranger. I know how you felt. But you need a medal for what you did—not stripes. Don't you know they'd send you up for life—or maybe swing you? You're pretty young for that. All your life, as you might say, aheada you."

Pablito looked down at his twisting hands but did not answer.

Suddenly the other man laughed harshly. "Say, Lottie," he said, "ain't this the gahdamndest? Beggin' a guy to save his own life!"

She nodded slowly.

Pablito shifted. He had suddenly remembered Noyes. Noyes needed him, would probably starve without him. And Noyes, hiding from something or someone as he, Pablito, must now hide, was waiting for him in Cuba. Pablito felt the smart of tears in his eyes and a growing cramp in his throat.

The man was speaking now more carelessly. "You keep quiet about our gettin' off and we'll say nothin' about meetin' you. See?"

"Yes."

"Decided to live after all, have you?"

"Yes."

"You can work with us. We're goin' to comb the big hotels in Cuba."

Pablito did not answer and the man went on. "Not in your line, huh?"

"No."

"All right. But give us away and we'll send you up for life."

"I won't give you away," Pablito promised.

Suppose THAT CORD BROKE in your tire!

THIS is a machine for stretching cords the way they'll have to stretch in your tire—every time the tire rolls around, which means about 500 times a minute at 45 miles an hour.

Both cords have been stretched exactly the same—and then released.

Look at the farther cord. It's come back tight and straight again. That's Supertwist—the cord used in every ply of every Goodyear Tire.

Now look at that broken cord in the foreground—and think what might happen if you had cords like that in your tire!

There's a little lesson in safety that's won millions of people to Goodyears—because it shows, without a lot of empty claims, exactly how much better Goodyear protects you from blowouts—and why you get longer average life from a Goodyear Tire.

If this sounds a little technical—we'll sum it up in this: More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind—and of course that means more people buy them! How about you?

GOODYEAR

We Know This Locality and What Tires It Takes

on different cars, to stand up and give the best service. We'll recommend the type of Goodyear your driving requires to give you at least cost the service you want. Come in, talk it over—no obligation.

Lovelace Funeral Rites To Be Today

Funeral rites for C. E. Lovelace, 54, a farmer, who died about noon Wednesday at his home at 1609 Avenue Y, were to be read at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. J. O. Haymes, the pastor, and Rev. R. C. Campbell, First Baptist church pastor, were to officiate.

Mr. Lovelace had lived in this section 10 years, coming here from Fannin county. He had been in ill health for several months.

Survivors were the widow, two sons, F. B. and R. S. Lovelace, both of Lubbock county, and one daughter, Mary Ruth Lovelace.

Pallbearers were to be Ed Green, N. A. Payne, Cliff Elliott, Don Stephens, Roscoe Cowart, and Bascom Blake. Burial, directed by Rix-Bynum Funeral home, was to be in Lubbock cemetery.

ON WRONG HOUSE

STOCKHOLM (AP) — There was some scurrying around here recently when it was discovered that a tablet announcing that Alfred Nobel, founder of the Nobel prizes, "was born here" had been affixed to the wrong house. The famous inventor was born at No. 11 Norlandsgarten. The tablet had been fastened on No. 9.

One-tenth of the more than two million milk bottles manufactured in California last year were ordered destroyed because of short measure.

Why Get Up Nights
Make This 25c Test

Lax the bladder as you would the bowels, Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25 cent box of BU-KETS, the bladder laxative, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Bowen's Drug says BU-KETS is a best seller.—(Adv.)
