SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL NcNAIR

By the time the next Spotlight comes out the first Democratic primary election will be over. So far there is little "political talk" around Snyder, and the time for talk to stop and action to start is growing short. Neither state nor local races are creating much comment here.

However, that may not be an indication of a light vote. I fact, the absentee voting pace indicates just the opposite, with some 250 votes already in sight with the deadline two days away.

The intensity of that Thursday rainfall varied considerably from block to block, and there was no way to determine accurate measurements. The high winds probably swept some of the moisture past the gauges. Two gauges about 60 feet apart in Highland Park had different stories to tell. One recorded .2 of an inch while the other had .3 of an inch.

The opening night crowd at the 20th annual Scurry County Rodeo was one of the largest in history, and many of them apparently came hungry. Jaycees sold 1,500 hot dogs at the rodeo grounds Wednesday evening.

Sen. Price Daniel, who was here for the rodeo parade, figures he is as fast a campaigner as the next candidate, but admitted here that his schedule-makers overextended themselves Wednesday. He left Kerrville at 1:30 p.m., flew over Scurry County going to Lubbock for a 4 p.m. appearance, came back to Snyder for the parade, and then hightailed it back to Lubbock again for a TV appearance.

"And I had already put in a good day's work before I left Kerrville," the Senator observed. "But I can always take time to eat," he hastily reminded when someone brought up the subject.

The City of Midland, along with many other places in Texas, was suffering in the throes of its annual water problem during the past week, and once again the Colorado River Municipal Water District was mentioned as a possible solution. Midland was counted in the CRMWD during initial steps toward the district's formation, but pulled out and staked its future on well fields.

Now that the district is in full operation, one thing is certain. Nobody has had fewer water supply problems than the three member cities, Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa, during the past two years.

Mock Freeze Okayed For Prices, Wages

EMERGENCY PRESS HEADUARTERS, Operation Alert, July 21 (AP)—A mock tryout of a sweeping freeze of prices, wages and rents was authorized by President Eisenhower today in the aftermath of yesterdays make-believe atomic onslaught on North America.

It didn't mean anything to the man in the street, being a paper transaction designed to enable officials to study how to keep the economy as stabilized as possible in case of a sudden, great war.

But it must have brought a bit of satisfaction to Bernard Baruch, elder statesman, who tried in vain to get the government to clamp on a quick freeze in the early stages of World War II. Controls were applied only haltingly then, and were never as effective as backers had hoped.

The freeze announcement was made at this secret news headquarters while Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson was telling a news conference he thinks Operation Alert is running much too smoothly to be realistic.

Peterson also said an earlier executive order giving to himself the power to restore law and order in knocked-out areas was intended to keep this authority "out of the hands of the military."

The Civil Defense chief said the order is squarely in line with the President's philosophy that the function of the armed forces is to support the civil authority. He said he doesn't expect any dispute with Secretary of Defense Wilson on the matter.

In last year's alert, Eisenhower issued a proclamation of limited martial law. This led to some criticism, in Congress and elsewhere, that steps were being planned which in a real emergency might unnecessarily deprive citizens of liberty.

As Peterson spoke, press headquarters handed out in the name of Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming the announcement that Eisenhower has authorized the price-wage-salary-rent freeze study.

Salk Supplies Are Rushed To Chicago

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Chicago's chief medical officer today appealed for cooperation from parents in the city's polio emergency as the count surged to 268 cases and five deaths for the year.

Last year 39 cases and three deaths were reported at this date. As more Salk vaccine supplies were rushed into this, the county's hardest hit area, 28 more cases were reported by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health. A West Side area of high incidence led with 132 cases.

Bundesen asked mothers and fathers to bring children, especially those between 1 and 5 years, to the city's free clinics for inoculation shots. Bundesen said that 184 cases or 69 per cent of the stricken cases were in that age bracket. "We can lick the present polio outbreak within two weeks if parents cooperate," he said.

The Board of Health headquarters went on a 14-hour-a-day basis to handle the emergency vaccine being rushed in to head off the polio surge, which is well ahead of the July record for the last six years.

The National Public Health Board promised 500,000 more doses of Salk vaccine to back up the city's present 200,000-dose supply.

Two more health clinics will be opened Monday to give shots. This will make six citywide clinics since the city began a stepped-up inoculation drive 11 days ago. Free Salk vaccine shots have been given to 21,948 children since July 12. Shots were administered to 5,586 children Friday.

House Bill Relaxes Tax On Admissions

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The House tonight voted to do away with the 10 per cent federal admissions tax on all admissions of $1 or less.

A bill to accomplish this was passed and sent to the Senate by voice vote.

Under present law admissions are tax free if the charge is 50 cents or less.

Raising the exemption would cost the U.S. Treasury an estimated 70 million dollars a year.

Politics Begins To Stir As Election Only A Week Away

The first Democratic primary is only a week away, and interest is mounting by the day here.

The interest is nearly as high in the governor's race and others as in some local races. Three gubernatorial candidates have been in Snyder during their campaign—W. Lee O'Daniel, Price Daniel, and Reuben Senterfitt, while there have been several candidates for the office of lieutenant governor here and many other state office aspirants.

Local races have had much interest here this year, even though only half the offices are open, since there are races in a number of offices.

The office of sheriff has five candidates, while one comissioner precinct has five, another four, the district attorney's office four, the district judge race two, and county tax assessor-collector race two. Only two candidates are unopposed. They are George Killam for county attorney and Robert R. Patterson for state representative.

In the sheriff's race are Homer Whisnand, incumbent, E. W. Green, Earl Abercrombie, R. L. Bolding, and Walter Morgan. Running for commissioner of precinct 3 Pat Moore, incumbent, Howard Knipe, Whit Farmer, J. H. Kimmel, and R. B. Sears. In precinct 1, commissioner candidates are T .B. Knight, incumbent, Clarence Wade, Marion Dabbs, and J. W. Coffee. For district attorney, candidates are Wayland Holt, J. Ray Martin, Pat Beene, and C. F. Sentell. Renal Rosson, now district attorney, is not a candidate. For district judge are Sterling Williams, incumbent, and James Rosser, while candidates for county tax assessor-collector are Geral Greene and Phil Burns. Jim Ikard, who now holds the office, is not running.

It is difficult to determine the approximate number of persons who will vote. Ordinarily, however, if there is much interest in an election with very many races, at least 70 per cent of the qualified voters cast ballots here. That was the approximate percentage in 1952, when there was considerable interest in the election here.

This year, there are nearly 7,200 qualified voters in Scurry County, and 70 per cent of the qualified voters would be slight-

More Showers, Hail Fall In Scurry Area

Some parts of Scurry County which had missed out on Thursday's rainfall were included in showers which fell Friday.

The showers were spotted but fell on several areas. Some hail fell near Hermleigh and damaged crops north of town.

Hermleigh got what was probably the heaviest Friday rains in the county, with 1.7 in town, about an inch west of town, and lighter south of town. Hermeligh had none of the Thursday rainfall.

There was no rain at Camp Springs, but there were good showers between there and Snyder covering a wide area.

Eight miles north of Snyder there was about .2 of an inch, with showers slightly heavier to the east.

Many farmers in the eastern portion of the county were more optimistic today about their cotton crops, while those west were still badly in need of rain.

Meanwhile, property damage from Thursday afternoon's thunderstorm in Snyder was being repaired.

Fenton's Shoe Store on the southeast corner of the square sustained considerable water damage when roofing materials were blown from the top of the building at the height of Thursday's downpour. High winds toppled the Midwest REA antenna tower on top of the building.

Some Areas Still Lashed By Storms

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms Saturday continued to lash scattered sections of the country in the wake of flash floods and torrential rains that caused at least 12 deaths and heavy damage in Maryland, Nevada and North Carolina.

A shifting rain moved slowly northward covering much of eastern New York and Pennsylvania and portions of New England.

Thunderstorms pelted the southeast from northern Georgia to the Alabama coast.

Baltimore, Md., was buffeted by heavy rain and windstorms which caused flash floods and led to six deaths in many injuries, stranded hundreds of motorists, damaged homes, and blocked roads and railroads. Hardest hit areas were suburban Washington, D.C. and Washington County, Md.

Floods—one of them of the flash variety — caused four drownings Floods, following heavy rain, closed highways and wrecked automobiles over a wide section of western Nevada and the California and six injuries at Reno, Nev. High Sierra. A mother and her daughter drowned in North Carolina when their auto plunged into a rain-swollen creek.

Heavy rain, wind, and hail pounded eastern Kansas. Two towns, Helper and Colony, were hit by a storm which residents called a "tornado." Heavy damage to utilities was reported. A frame church building was swept away.

About a half-inch of rain was reported for six hours at LaGuardia Field in New York City. Utica, N.Y. and Bridgeport, Conn., collected about a half-inch of precipitation.

Move Up To Government

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH, July 21 (AP)—Efforts to end the three-week-old nationwide steel strike were terminated today with both union and management leaving it up to the federal government to arrange further meetings.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation Service, said he expects to be in touch with both sides next week. Finnegan and his two aides returned to Washington tonight.

David J. McDonald, president of Union announced he plans a tour the striking United Steelworkers of the major steel centers in the nation to present the union's story. The first stop will be Chicago on Monday.

John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel Corp., and top industry negotiator said he regreted that the bargaining sessions had failed to produce a settlement.

Stephens told newsmen that he felt the management and the union were closer to a settlement prior to the final meeting than they were when the strike started July 1.

He said that while no new offer had been made there was "discussion on many phases" during the talks which were resumed July 12 at the instigation of the government.

In a prepared statement which McDonald read slowly to newsmen from the tablet on which he had written it the final meeting, he said:

"The union stands ready to resume meetings for the purpose of bargaining an honorable settlement whenever the industry is ready to reconsider its position."

McDonald said he has no plans at this time to request a resumption of negotiations but added "the union will respond at anytime it is summoned by its government."

Stephens also said he has no present plans to request a resumption of negotiations.

McDonald said he plans a nationwide television address from Chicago Monday night. The union leader also plans to make personal appearances and television addresses in Cleveland, Ohio, Buffalo, N. Y., Youngstown, Ohio, Pittsburgh and Bethlehem, Pa., between Monday and Friday of next week. A visit to Birmingham Ala., also is planned, he said.

Stephens said management has tried to reach an agreement "recognizing the equities of the employes and recognizing the equities of the public. We are trying to do the right thing. I hope we can succeed."

Neither side showed any bitterness as the meeting broke up.

Finnegan, who had been called to the negotiating room a short time earlier, was the first to come out. He told reporters.

"The meeting is over. Neither side has any present plans for another meeting. We (the mediators) are returning to Washington where we will review the entire situation. I hope to be in touch with both sides next week."

Scurry Riders Take First Place In Two Rodeo Events

About 3,500 persons watched the final performance last night of the 20th annual Scurry County Rodeo.

The show ran four nights, with between 300 and 400 cowboys competing for the $3,600 in prizes.

Complete results of the show were not available last night, since figuring of averages on many events was not completed.

Show winners were known on two events, and both of them were local men.

Jim Sealy of Snyder won the buckle for the top average in bareback bronc riding event, followed by Duke Holland of Childress. Winners of the final round in that event were Delbert Hataway, Cotton Barrington, Harry Boyd, and Holland. Twenty-six completed bareback rides last night, and seven didn't

In the saddle bronc event, Riley Miller of Fluvanna topped contestants on average and won the buckle. Splitting for second were Joe Collier of Wichita Falls and John Farris of Iowa Park. Top riders last night were Judy Reid, Farris, and Collier. A total of six had completed rides in last night's show.

Harve Tatum, of Fullerville, who seems to be a master at the wild mare race, repeated last night to take the win over the other three contestants.

In senior calf roping, top performances were turned in last night by Jimmy Bird of Post with 13.1 seconds, Tooter Swan of Lamesa with 15.1, and Wade Parmalle of View with 15.2.

Top times last night in the senior sponsor contest were 18 seconds flat by Sherry Price of Addington, Okla., 18.1 by Connie Connell of Snyder, and 18.3 by Becky Jo Sumerlin of Roby.

Joe York won last night's special event for the older cowboys, the middle age spread.

The only time posted in the junior ribbon roping event, entered last night by four, was 21.6 by Bobby Staton of Snyder.

In the yearling tie-down, last night's best times were 14.1 by Jimmy Bird of Post, 15.2 by N. A. Pitcock of Aspermont, and 17.6 by Charlie Nobles of Wetumka, Okla.

Jets Battle Over Matsu

TAIPEI, Formosa, July 21 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist air force said the biggest jet air battle yet fought with Communist MIG 17s swirled over Matsu Island today. Air force headquarters claimed four MIGs shot down and two damaged.

The Nationalists said 30 of the Soviet-built jet fighters were engaged in five separate clashes, lasting altogether about 40 minutes, by U. S.-supplied Thunderjets and Sabre Jets. They said all the Nationalist planes returned safely, without damage or casualties.

The first engagement started just after noon near Matsu, the Nationalistst-held offshore island near Foochow, which the Chinese Reds have frequently threatened to invade. Only Nationalist Thunderjets were engaged in the first clash, but the faster Sabre Jets immediately roared to the scene. Two of the Communist MIGs were reported shot down north of Matsu, and two to the south of the island.

In another encounter yesterday near Matsu, the Nationalists reported they damaged two out of four MI G17s. This was the first time that air fights were reported on two days in succession.

San Antonio Cop Draws Suspension

SAN ANTONIO, July 21 (AP)—Police Lt. Wilton Shaw, relieved with pay April 5 while a Bexar County grand jury studied alleged police collusion in connection with mac ble table operation in the city, today was indefinitely suspended by Chief George Bichsel.

Bichsel, who called Shaw from home to sign the suspension papers, said that the former vice head's ouster was effective immediately.

The chief has recommended dismissal of Shaw by the Fire and Police Civil Service Commission.

Ike At Presidents' Meet Feeling Fine

By DOUGLAS CORNELL

PANAMA, July 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower, feeling fine but short on strength, arrived today for a "rendezvous with history," a meeting of American presidents to proclaim hemispheric unity.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty denied reports published abroad that Eisenhower had suffered an abdominal pain after his arrival.

Hagerty said of course Eisenhower was aware that he had an operation but there was no pain. The secretary noted that Eisenhower stood in his automobile waving to crowds to and from the wreath-laying ceremony.

Flying in from Washington for the Panama conference, Eisenhower placed a wreath beside the tomb of President Jose Antonio Remon, who was assassinated in January 1955.

The President, still convalescing from an intestinal operation June 9, also took a soaking in a sudden tropical rainstorm.

Eisenhower had a good color but his voice did not sound strong.

Reporters heard him tell Miss Carmen Hortensia Remon, a sister of the dead President, that he was feeling fine. Then, he added: "I haven't much strength but I keep going."

It was an offhand remark at the start of a three-day visit at this waistline of the Americas. It is a visit offering Eisenhower an opportunity to show the American voters how much stamina he has.

The remark seems certain to be picked up by Democrats, who say Eisenhower's health is one of the great issues of the oncoming presidential election campaign.

Cadets Draw Choice Duty

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 21 (AP)—There are all kinds of Navy duty, but this must rank among the season's best assignments.

Vincent F. Charpentier and some 72 fellow aviation cadets from Pensacola Naval Air Station, Fla., drew the tasks (1) of escorting Miss Universe and her competitors to tonight's Coronation Ball.

Charpentier, 23, of Providence, R.I., was assigned to squire Miss U. — Carol Morris, 20, of Ottumwa Iowa. He and his mates are members of the Pensacola NAS choir which also sang during the Universe pageant shows.

Other key assignments went to E. M. Lindsley, Melbourne Fla., Miss Germany's escort; J. E. Anderson of Minneapolis, a natural choice for Miss Sweden; W. A. Willett, The Dalles, Ore., Miss England's partner, and R. V. S. Herd of Bath, Pa., escort for Miss Italy.

Jenner Lambasts Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—An hour and a half lambasting of the Eisenhower administration's foreign aid program was delivered in the Senate today by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), who called it "the foreign aid follies."

Jenner spoke out after his colleagues agreed to postpone final action on the $4,110,500,000 bill until next Tuesday.

The Indiana Republican said the United States has spent more than 50 billion dollars on foreign aid in the last 10 years with the idea of stemming the advance of communism.

In the same period, he said, the Soviets "have expanded their power from rulership over 200 million people to rulership over 900 million people."

"Our foreign policy, operation of the last decade," he said, "is in the red on two counts:

"We have denuded our economy of wealth valued at over 50 billion dollars, and we have seen about 700 million free human beings forced behind the Iron Curtain."

Jenner was congratulated on his speech by his Republican colleague from Indiana, Sen. Capehart.

Capehart, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and supporter of most Eisenhower programs including foreign aid, said he believed all military aid should be handled by U. S. military experts and all economic aid should be on the basis of loans.

The Senate convened at 10 a.m. to continue debate on the foreign aid program but recessed 4½ hours later until Monday.

First Week Of Court-Martial Hearings Over For McKeon

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., July 21 (AP)—For S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, the first week of that military ordeal known as trial by general court-martial is over.

Since Monday the trial of the pale former drill instructor for leading six teen-aged Marines to death in a marsh has stirred this spit-and-polish post like nothing else since the Korean War began.

Now the 19 by 38-foot holiday flag is flying. The work of "clean sweep down, fore and aft" has been put over to Monday, the day the trial is to resume.

Many of the training methods I underwent here in 1942, though, are out now. At least on the surface.

But no more of that now. McKeon changed all that by his night march of April 8. By order of the commandant, Gen. Randolph Mcc. Pate, the new recruit is to be treated in a dignified manner.

It was on that Sunday night that McKeon at the head of Platoon 71 marched into the tide-covered marshes back af the rifle range butts which are split by Ribbon Creek. Seventy-four men went in but only 68 came out.

As a result McKeon is now facing the court on charges of involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. There is no charge, however, that he was drunk when he led the march.

If convicted, he could be sentenced, the prosecution says, to six years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge.

The trial itself got off to a slow start but by week's end had become swiftly paced.

It started with a legal wrangle over whether the Marines' training methods—and what Marines and ex-Marines think of them—were pertinent to the case.

Specifically, defense atty. Emile Zola Berman of New York City wanted to see the results of an opinoin poll on training among 27,000 marines.

Navy Capt. Irving N. Klein of New York City ruled the defense could see them and sudsequently also ruled that how Marines are trained here was a vital point.

Berman contended that those training methods explain why McKeon conducted the disciplinary march into Ribbon Creek.

The government prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier of Jacksonville, Ill., contended they had nothing to do with the charges before the court.

Berman said the march was an accepted training method. He called it a "tragic accident."

By the end of the week McKeon's senior no-commissioned officer in Platoon 71, S.Sgt. Edward A. Huff, of Chicago, said the conduct of such night marches into the swamps was customary around here.

He said the only reason that he hadn't marched the platoon,which he regarded as "just mediocre," in to the swamp himself was that he just hadn't had time.

In the course of testimony Corp. Richard J. King of Eugene, Ore., told of McKeon drinking vodka that Sunday morning and returning to barracks to sleep from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. The platoon entered the swamp around 8:30 p.m. and the six drowned within 20 minutes.

By the time of the recess friday afternoon, two survivors of that death march had appeared to tell their story.

Pv. Earl Grabowski, 18, of Kearny, N.J., said that when he came back from evening chow he smelled alcohol on McKeon's breath. "He told us," Grabowski said, "we were going for a swim."

Grabowski then recounted the march. "When we came to 'C' range we made a column left. Sgt. McKeon said 'watch out for sharks and snakes' or something like that. He told us 'follow me.'"

Afterwards Grabowski told of a cry for 'help' followed by a panic in which men grabbed each other in a struggle for survival.

Grabowski was followed on the stand by another survivor, six-foot, 18-year-old Pvt. Melvin Barber of New York City. Barber said he was classed as a nonswimmer and there were others in the platoon who couldn't swim either, although they had 10 hours swimming instruction. Barber will be the first witness Monday

It was because he took the nonswimmers into the marsh that McKeon is accused by he government of "culpable negligence" resulting in involuntary manslaughter.

ly over 5,000. A candidate for a county-wide office, then, must figure on getting about 2,500 votes or more to secure a majority if that many persons vote.

The vote totals ran slightly over 5,000 in 1952 and almost 4,000 in 1954 here.

One indication of interest here has been in the number of absentee votes and applications. Dan Cotton, county clerk, reported yesterday that 194 absentee votes had already been cast, while 74 more ballots were out.

Cotton reminded voters that Tuesday is the last day for ballots to be secured for absentee voting. Absentee voting must be done by that time or be postmarked in the mail by midnight Tuesday. Persons who are ill or will be out of town during the election can vote absentee. If all the absentee ballots now out are turned in, there will have been more absentee votes cast than in the big election of 1952 here.

Political candidates have one of their greatest problems in seeing as many voters as possible, but it is next to impossible to see them all.

There are about 10,000 families in Scurry County, and if a candidate spent eight hours a day and six days a week visiting these families, spending 10 minutes with each family, he would be campaigning for a solid 35 weeks. That doesn't even count driving between visits. The visits alone would require 1,666 hours.

Even if a candidate spent that much time with each qualified voter in the county he would need 27 weeks to do so.

Locations of polling places for the 20 voting boxes in Scurry County have ben previously announced, as have election judges. Voters will begin marking their ballots at 8 a.m. next Saturday and continue until 7 p.m.

After that time, candidates will be "sweating it out" for several hours, some til the wee hours of Sunday morning.

Loyalty Poll Results Told

BEAUMONT, July 21 (AP)—The head of Texas' Young Democrat Clubs said today all state candidates who answered a loyalty oath questionnaire agreed to support the party's nominees.

Nothing was heard from a number of candidates, including five in the governor's race, said State Rep. Edgar Berlin.

"Ralph Yarborough was the only gubernatorial candidate who gave us an unqualified pledge to support nominees of the Democrat party," Berlin asserted. "In fact he was the only governor's race candidate to answer our questionnaires although we received notification that the others had received their questionnaires.'

Berlin said the questionnaires were sent July 7.

Standards For Highway Program Set

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Commerce Department today announced approval of construction standards designed to make the new 41,000-mile superhighway system safe and pleasant to drive on.

The system, recently authorized by Congress as part of a giant roadbuilding program, will be built over the next 13 to 15 years. It will cost about 27½ billion dollars, of which the government will pay 90 per cent.

In announcing the standards, the department said they will "assure highways adequate for traffic forecast for the year 1975."

It said the design standards call of incorporation of "all known features of safety and utility, to provide for safe and relaxed driving, economy of vehicle operation, and pleasing appearance."

According to these specifications, nearly all of the system will consist of divided highways with four or more traffic lanes, each not less than 12 feet wide. Access will be controlled and grade separations generally will carry cross roads over or under the routes of the system. There will be no railroad grade crossings.

The department said curves, grades and sight distances will be planned "for driving in safety and comfort." Actual speed regulation will be under state control.

The standards were drawn up by the American Assn. of State Highway Officials cooperating with the Federal Public Roads Bureau, the department said.

Candidate Quiz On Safety Urged

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—A spokesman for the Highway Safety Council urged Texas voters today to probe the feelings of legislative candidates about traffic safety.

G. C. Morris, executive secretary of the council, said: "Since an average of more than six persons are killed every day in Texas traffic accidents, electing a Legislature which will tackle this problem with typical Texas determination may be a matter of life or death for many of our citizens."

Dies Urges Enforcement

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Rep Dies (D-Tex) called on Atty. Gen. Brownell today to enforce existing statutes which Dies says outlaws the Communist party.

Declaring that a bill he sponsored and which was enacted into law two years ago could doom the Communist organization, Dies said in a letter to Brownell:

"I am deeply concerned that the Department of Justice has not yet enforced this law.

"I understand that you are waiting for the Supreme Court to act finally upon your cases seeking to require Communists to register under the Registration Act....it is my firm conviction that you should proceed under my act and destroy the legal entity of the Communist Party and its auxiliary organizations."

Housing Bill Hopes Slight

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP) — A "take it or leave it" public housing bill holding new construction to 35,000 units a year for the next two years was worked out by House leaders today.

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), who handles housing legislation in the Senate, told a reporter, "We won't take it."

The House compromise measure calling for a two-year program of 70,000 units, is what President Eisenhower asked for.

It was sent to the House floor by the Rules Committee under an agreement barring amendments and stipulating that it will be relegated to a committee pigeonhole rather than changed in conference with the Senate.

The House measure was worked out by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and Republican Leader Martin (Mass) after the Rules group had blocked a Banking Committee bill providing for 180,000 public housing units over the next three years.

The Senate version called for about 135,000 units a year until the 500,000 remaining to be built under the 1935 housing law are completed.

Sinister Motive Seen In 'Alert'

MOSCOW, July 21 (AP) — Pravda suggested today that "Operations Alert" in the United States was intended to frighten Americans into agreeing to higher outlays for stockpiles of atomic weapons.

The organ of the Communist party described the Civil Defense drills as "strange exercises' 'and said they were aimed at creating "an atmosphere of war psychosis.'

Vet Housing Bill Passed

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP) — The Senate today passed a bill to extend for a year the World War II veterans' home loan guarantee program under which almost five million loans already have been made

It now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments. Passage was by voice vote after an explanation of the measure by Sen. Lehman (D-NY).

The home loan guarantee program administered by the Veterans Administration now is scheduled to expire July 25, 1957.

The bill would extend this to the same date in 1958 and also provide that any loan being processed by VA on the new deadline date may be guaranteed if it is closed within one year. The latter provision was added by the Senate.

Sponsors of the bill said VA loans accounted for 30 per cent of the nation's total housing starts last year and that an abrupt cut off would be too severe a shock to the nation's home-b ui l d i n g industry.

Killed In Crash

HOUSTON, July 21 (AP)—Edgar Vincent, 46, was killed this afternoon when his truck and a car driven by A.1C. LaVene Boles, 28, of Ellington Air Force base collided.

MISS GERMANY FIDGETS—Shapely Marina Orschel of Berlin, competing in the Miss Universe contest as Miss Germany, has some trying moments during semi-final judging at Long Beach, Calif. Her shoulder straps slipped (left) during the evening gown competition, but she calmly replaced them. Facing the judges in the bathing suit competition, she nervously checked her foot positions and modestly tugged at front and back of her bathing suit. She was among the 15 finalists selected.

Second Workshop For Teachers Set

The second in a series of four teacher workshops will be held this week in the Snyder schools.

This workshop, which will be held Tuesday through Thursday, will be on using art activities in the basal subject areas. It will open in the high school cafeteria.

Frank Wilson, director of curriculum for the schools and coordinator of the workshops, said about 60 teachers will be involved in this one. Other workshops will be held Aug. 7-9 and Aug. 14-16.

During this workshop, teachers will explore ways to utilize arts and crafts to promote more effective teaching in language arts, social studies, arithmetic, or health-science, as well as other areas, at various grade levels.

Sessions will be held Tuesday from 8:15 a.m. to about noon. Wednesday from 8:30 to about 4:30 p. m., and Thursday from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a.m.

Coming here to aid the teachers as a consultant will be Inez Parker of the Midland Public Schools. She will speak during a Tuesday morning session on "Utilizing Art Activities for More Effective Teaching-Learning" and on Wednesday on "The Place of Art and Craft Activities in a Teaching-Learning Unit."

Others participating in leadership will be Wilson, Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, and W. A. Mayfield, head of the schools' industrial education department.

Teachers will see slides on art activities in the schools here, hold meetings of level groups, and participate in projects in connection with the workshop.

On Thursday afternoon and Friday, the school principals and elementary librarians will meet here with Lois Garber, sent here by the Texas Education Agency, to work on the new elementary library program.

Iowa Girl Reigns As Miss Universe

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 21 (AP)—An Iowa preacher's lovely daughter reigned as the new Miss Universe today and her parents, while not crediting a lucky penny for all her success, said they think it helped.

The tall and shapely, folksy and friendly Carol Morris, 20, of Ottumwa, was crowned early today after a close finish with Miss Germany, buxom Marina Orschel, second, and Ingrid Goude of Sweden, third.

England's Iris Waller and Italy's Rosanna Galli were fourth and fifth as European girls caught the judges' eyes, much to the disappointment of the Latin-American contingent.

Miss Germany was too upset to make an appearance with other contestants at a swim party today. She told reporters that she was "very definitely disappointed" and added that she felt she had let the German people and her sponsors down.

But she was expected to be on hand along with Miss Universe and others in her court at tonight's coronation ball.

The Morrises of Ottumwa were certainly the happiest Iowans in Long Beach.

"I wished and I prayed," said Carol. "And then when my name was announced as the winner, I prayed some more. I said 'thank you, God, this is all I want."

The Rev. Morris, pastor of a Christian church in Ottumwa, was like Carol's mother, philosophical.

"We're proud, but we see it more as an opportunity for her, than as an honor," he said. "This hasn't been anything sudden or spasmodic. You see, she was elected Miss Iowa two years ago and went to Atlantic City for the Miss America contest. She was 13th

"We weren't disappointed, nor was she."

"Indeed not," interrupted Mrs. Morris, "She has been in swimming competitions for years and whenever she came in second or worse, she just laughed it off."

Barbara Lyons Weds Television Producer

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Barbara Lyon, 24, daughter of one-time American film stars Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, was married today to Russell Turner, 28, British television producer.

Many stage, film and TV persons were in the audience, including Tyrone Power, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Tony Martin, Barbara Kelly, Bernard Braden and Zoe Gail.

Lyon and Miss Daniels have been living and working in Britain since before World War II.

In 1926 there were 5,782 air line passengers in the U. S. In 1955 there were approximately 40 million air line passengers.

Post Officers Are Approved

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Senate Public Works Committee approved last night plans for construction of federal buildings, mostly post offices, in 18 cities under the lease-purchase program.

All but six projects had been approved by the House Public Works Committee, so the General Services Administration (GSA) is now free to seek bids for their construction.

The House Public Works Committee is expected to take up the other six Monday. No further action by Congress is necessary.

Under the program, private interests erect the buildings and then lease them, with payments being applied toward purchase so that the government eventually becomes the owner.

Those now approved by both congressional committees include:

Dallas, courthouse and federal offices, $25,490,000 and Victoria, Tex., post office and courthouse, $1,553,000.

Projects which the Senate committee approved, but on which the house committee yet has to act, include:

McKinney, Tex., post office $480,000; Terrell, Tex., post office, $392,000.

The Case Of Rakosi

A handful of people never know how much they can accomplish until they try. One man and one young woman who literally fought their way out of Communist Hungary into West Germany last week by attacking and subduing a Red airliner's crew perhaps achieved more than personal freedom.

That incident might have been the last straw that broke the back of one of the oldest and strongest Red leaders behind the Iron Curtain. He was 65-year-old Matya Rakosi, friend and defender of Stalin, bitter enemy of Tito of Yugoslavia, who had held Hungary in chains for years as top dog in the Communist heirarchy.

Many of his enemies within the party had bitten the dust down through the years, but Rakosi held on. Until Wednesday night, that is. Then pleading old age and ill health, he resigned as boss of Hungary and the party's Central Committee promptly accepted. Budapest reports said he was succeeded by the No. 2 party man, Erno Geroe, first deputy premier, who has been feuding with Rakosi for the reins of power for some time.

It is altogether likely that the spectacular fete of the seven in literally fighting their way out of the country finally tipped the balance against Rakosi. The Kremlin's "new look" calls for more than the de-haloing of Stalin. It calls for a purge of those closest to the late idol and current monster. It calls for a reshaping of old Communist faces such as Rakosi's, and the propagation of the belief that communism is easing the chains. Party bosses who can't maintain peace in their own bailiwick are on the skids, and before the purge is ended many another satellite chieftain probably will follow Rakosi and others into limbo.

Rakosi's comeuppance also lends color to the belief in some quarters that Tito of Yugoslavia is now the transmission belt for the Kremlin in passing along party doctrine and policy to its local parties scattered all over the world, behind and in front of the Iron Curtain.

Far from indicating weakness, these multiplying incidents show that the Kremlin under its new bosses is tightening its grip, turning a new lease on old authority and power.

The Fanned Cattle

We don't know whether our farm-page boys have heard of this, but the United States Department of Agriculture has proved that you can get more beef onto a steer from a given amount of feed if you keep the steer cool and comfortable under an electric fan.

We learned this bit of startling information from a dispatch published in the veracious Christian Science Monitor, under a Los Angeles dateline. It seems the USDA carried out an experiment in California's furnace-like Imperial Valley recently in which it was discovered that beef cattle cooled by a 42-inch electric fan for 70 days gained 2.32 pounds a day per steer — over a pound more than unfanned Herefords manage even in a day of diligent chewing. The dispatch said "cud chewing," but let it go.

There were seven beef critters in the test, and lo and behold they not only put on more weight under the fan, but actually did it on less hay — only 924 pounds of hay for each 100 pounds of weight gained. On the other hand, the seven cattle in the control group which lacked benefit of fanning had to consume 1,330 pounds to gain each 100 pounds of weight.

Our informant insists the experiment proved fanning is superior to any other method of cooling cattle — water sprays, air-cooled buildings and cooled drinkiing water not excepted.

Does this foreshadow the day when cowboys will have to be expert fan-repairers and installers? Are we entering an era of beef cooled on the hoof, instead of in chilling rooms?

And we cock an attentive ear to catch the dulcet tones of the cowboy crooner who looses upon the palipitant air the very first ballad to the electric fan. "Turn on the juice, boys: I gotta get me a new convertible out of them there steers."

Perhaps Some Men Go On Diets Because It Makes Them Feel Their Importance

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a Pavement Plato:

At long last I have figured out why most people go on a diet.

They don't do it merely to lose weight. They do it because it makes them feel more important to themselves. At least this is true true of men.

Women are different. They never take themselves for granted, and never let anyone else do so either. A woman finds it easier than a man to keep her self-esteem. She is vitally interested in herself, and everything about herself interest her. She rarely finds herself the last bit boring.

They say a true philosopher can escape the ennui of living by contemplating his naval. But a woman can go a philosopher one better. She can spend a happy afternoon, oblivious to everything else, in simply fixing a hagnail or trimming an arching eyebrow.

But after 35 the ordinary man finds it increasingly harder to think he amounts to very much. He feels more and more that he is only an easily replaceable cog of flesh in a mass world.

He wearies of shaving the same old bloopy face every morning. He eats himself out of shape because it gives himself something to do. He drops into a bar on the way home not for a few rounds of fellowship and good cheer so much as because it enables him to forget for an hour or so his own gnawing sense of unimportance in a civilization seemingly growing more goofball every year.

But let him go on a diet, and he changes almost overnight.

Dieting has become a national form of poor man's psychiatry.

A man gripped by the dieting mania is like a slot machine addict. He is lost in a passion greater than himself. He is a crusader, fighting in a great cause.

He becomes more worried over whether he can drop another pound than whether some nation will drop the H-bomb. He counts his calories like a reverse miser—the fewer the better.

If a mosquito stabs him, he doesn't fret about the sting. He rushes to the scales to see if he swelling caused him to gain an ounce.

Every pound he peels off is a major victory. He hums an interior hosanna.

He no longer feels like any other faceless ant slaving in the human ant hill of living. He is proud of himself. He feels immeasurably superior to his wastrel friends, who go about suffocated in their own blubber.

He becomes as smug and foolish as a preening peacock. He is likely also to become a snob and a bore and a fanatic. But like all fanatics, gripped by a wildfire fever of faith, he is atrangely happy in a way denied to lesser mortals who lack a strong belief.

And, like most fanatics, he is determined to convert all those about him, whether they want to be converted or not.

You, yourself, for example. Do you really want to go on looking like a lard barrel?

Well, take my own case. Seven weeks ago I weighed 207 pounds and had to quit wearing bowties because my chubby chins overflowed them. Well, sir, now I'm down to a tiger-trim 187 pounds, and all I did was to — .

See what I mean?

GUIDEPOST LITERARY

OFF THE BOOK BEAT — William Brinkley, author of a second novel, "Dont't Go Naer the Water," has a right to the broad grin he so often wears, for his story is a Book-of-the-Month and puts him definitely in the big money.

But Brinkely seems the sort of fellow who would wear a broad grin anyway — and whatever his novel does to you, it is going to make some other people laugh and laugh. The idea for it "was not really humorous when I started the first sketches in 1948 and '49," he remembers, but the more he thought about the underlying notion, about the actual unimportance of VIP's roaming the battle — fronts, the more it began to sound like a humorous story—and the wider he grinned.

When he began he was in Washington, first on the Post and then on Life. He moved to New York City, still on Life, though he has taken a summertime, publication-time leave. In his apartment he has an oversize calendar on which he daily entered the hours of work he put in on the novel, and if at the end of the week the total didn't satisfy him, he forbade himself and his wife to go partying Saturday night.

He began to write sports for the Rogers (Ark.) News when he was a school boy of 14. He alternately worked to earn money, and went to college to spend it. His first novel, "Quicksand," was in his words "a very unknown book."

The prospect of writing does really make him serious. He wants his books filled with real people, and for this he thinks he has been fortunate: "All my life I've been meeting people as a minister's son, as a newsman and as a Navy man. In the minister's family, for instance, the whole church is the family, they are in and out of the house all day. Their problems are your problems."

WASHINGTON LETTER

Rocket Society Auxiliary Honors Scientist's Widow

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—The newly formed Auxiliary of the American Rocket Society has awarded its first life membership to the widow of Dr. Robert H. Goddard, who pioneered in the field of guided missiles.

Mrs. Goddard told the auxiliary's meeting here how she worked with her husband for 10 years at Roswell, N. M., where he was experimenting with high altitude rockets on a Guggenheim grant in the '30s.

"I helped him in the way a wife would have helped," she said. "I took notes, ordered scientific supplies, kept the accounts — even sewed the special parachutes for the rockets because these couldn't be bought at that time."

"Goddard's rocket, developed during World War I, was the model for the bazooka of World War II," Mrs. Goddard pointed out. During War II her husband was director of jet propulsion research for the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. After her husband's death on VJ Day in 1945, she began editing and publishing his notes and is currently collaborating with Milton Lehman on a biography of her husband.

Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R. I.), recently feted as the oldest man to serve in the United States Senate, was sorry to see his colleague, Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.), retire from politics. But he said he was glad George didn't have to go through the rigors of a re-election campaign. Said Green, who is 10 years older than George: "At his age he should relax and not overdo things."

Even the water danced at the debutante party given for pretty Millissa MacNeille by her mother, Mrs. Augustus Riggs IV, Mr. Riggs and her grandmother, Mrs. Merriweather Post. Mrs. Post imported the little fountains from New York. They were set in strategic spots on an outdoor terrace where the young people gathered. The water spouted from them in mists, in tempo with the orchestra music.

Dulles Has Been Behaving Like A Man Looking For Black Cat In A Dark Room

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Mr. Dulles on neutralism has been behaving for all the world like the man who went into a dark room looking for a black cat that wasn't there. The black cat that Mr. Dulles has been looking for is a universal all-purpose definition of neutrality which will announce the exact temperature of our official moral disapproval. He seems to feel that somehow the business of the United States, and of himself as Secretary of State, to pronounce a wholesale blanket verdict on all countries which do not belong to NATO, SEATO or METO on countries as diverse as India and Ireland, as Sweden and Egypt, as Switzerland and Yugoslavia. Because this cannot be done, he has within the past month or so found it necessary to contradict the President, to contradict the Vice President who had contradicted the President, and to contrict himself.

Such a thing ought not to happen in a well conducted government. For it betrays of confusion of mind which is more damaging than the attacks of our adversaries. On June 9 at Ames, Iowa, Mr. Dulles declared that, except under very exceptional circumstances, the principle of neutrality is obsolete, short-sighted, and immoral. This blanket verdict that they are all immoral irritated the non-joiners who are a multitude in South Asia, the Middle East and Europe. The trouble was compounded by Vice President Nixon's howler in attacking Indian policy when he was in Pakistan. So Mr. Dulles had to go back into the dark room looking for his black cat. Last Wednesday, at his press conference he emerged with a new version of the Dulles doctrine. As of July 11 countries belonging to the U. N. (which includes all countries, excepting only Switzerland, that are able to get themselves admitted) are no longer immoral neutrals, and Switzerland is not an immoral neutral because it has been neutral for so long a time.

This reduces to absurdity the attempt to generalize about the morality of neutrals. For having started with a blanket disapproval, Mr. Dulles has ended with another generalization which leaves him with no neutrals to disapprove of. The official doctrine at the moment is that neutrality is immoral but that there are no neutrals who are immoral.

Now that we have arrived at this thundering anti-climax, the question is how did we become entangled in so stultifying and damaging an argument? This is the morning after, and we must try to remember what touched off last night's talking match.

At the moment of it there is a truly perplexing and difficult situation. The basic assumption of the cold war, that the world is divided into two camps, has been overtaken by the course of events, and a great change has come upon the world situation. Among the developments which have caused this changes the most influential has been the attainment of nuclear parity by the Soviet Union, the success of the forced industrialization of the Soviet Union followed by the reaction against Stalinism. The consolidation of the Red regime in China. These developments in their combined effect have worked for neutralism, have worked against the idea that nations which have no nuclear weapons can find security by joining one or the other of the two military coalitions.

In the face of this new situation there have arisen in Washington two schools of thought. The one, represented by Sen. Knowland, would like to refuse American aid to any country which does not join one of our military alliances. The other, which has had encouragement from the President himself, would recognize that the weak and underdeveloped countries may have good reason for not joining military alliances, and would nevertheless give them economic aid.

Neither school of thought has as yet produced a policy which can be applied indiscriminately to all the neutrals. No one will ever produce such a policy. In the reality of things the question of how to treat Tito's Yugoslavia is distinct and specifically different from the question of how to treat Nasser's Egypt. In the Asian sub-continent we have a vital interest in being friends both in India and with Pakistan. But it is impossible to formulate a generalized policy which is equally good for both.

The root of the trouble about defining neutrals has been the practice, unfortunately rather common in our inexperienced diplomacy of trying to deal with specific and diverse and hard problems by sweeping them under the rug of a moral generalization. This is a political vice which can be, and frequently has been, ruinous to an effective and realistic and genuinely moral policy. It is the business of the statesmen to work out an Egyptian policy, and a Yugoslav policy, and an Indian policy, and a Swedish policy and an Irish policy, and to refrain from upsetting the applecart by pronouncing moral judgment on "nuetrals" as such and in the abstract.

There are people who, when they hear an official use of the word "moral," feel that morality is being promoted and defended. It may not be so. Nobody thinks it to be moral and high-minded for a man to issue blanket moral judgment on his fellow men. He is likely to get himself thoroughly distrusted and disliked. For each of us expects to be treated as an individual person, not as part of a generalized lump.

So it is among the nations. They are proud, as we are proud, and they resent, as we would resent, being put publicly on trial to be judged for their moral character. They resent it all the more when the judgment is generalized and when they are treated as faceless objects, having no distinct individuality of their own.

'Dime Store' Prices Are Different South Of Border

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY, July 16 (AP)—F. W. Woolworth has invaded Mexico and is going over with a bang. But the old 5-and-10 founder would have been shocked at the price tags — $1576.90 $164.95.

That's in pesos, of course (12½ for the dollar), which brings the price down considerably. And some of the items sell for well under the American nickel, a boast few U.S. stores can make.

The first American Woolworth store opened in April on Insurgentes Avenue, one of Mexico's busiest. A second is on Paseo de la Reforma, another top thoroughfare. Both are luxury jobs by any standards.

Opening day at the Insurgentes store found it jammed so tight that lines formed on the sidewalk. Business still booming.

The store is much like its American counterparts, except there are more clerks and less of the help-yourself atmosphere. To cut down shoplifting, not so many items are left exposed.

T. L. Crump, the general manager for Mexico, has been with Woolworth for 36 years. He is a native of Oakland, Calif.

However, virtually all employes are Mexicans.

Crump says 97 per cen of all items on sale are made in Mexico by 1,286 Mexican manufacturers. Only 3 per cent are imported.

Here are some of the advertised opening-day bargains:

Dinnerware, 34 pieces (made in Mexico), $157.90 ($12.64 U.S.)

Electric iron, $164.95 ($13.20).

Paint, four liters (about a gallon), $82.55 ($6.64).

Six diapers, $29.95 ($2.40).

Baseball gloves, $49.95 ($4).

Nylon hose, $29.95 ($2.40).

Many of the Mexican-made products are real bargains, such as crystalware. Some glasses sell for as little as 60 centavos, or about 5 cents.

What has been Mexican reaction to the invasion of the famed 5-and-10?

Excellent, so far. Business has been good. The government, getting new taxes from a big foreign investment, has cooperated well, says A. L. Cornwell, chairman of the board of directors.

Dermott will stage a rodeo Friday. Proceeds will go for lights which were recently installed in the school house for the benefit of community affairs. Goat roping, wild cow milking and other stunts will feature the rodeo. Everybody is invited for the all-day affair. Basket lunches will furnish the eats. Everett Scrivner, Roy Elkins and Elvie Greenfield compose the arrangements committee.

Six of the leading 4-H club boys in Scurry County, representing 173 boys in five school communities, have written to The Times this week to protest action of the Commissioners Court in cutting the two county agents from the county payroll. "The Hermleigh boys and their dads," writes Terrell Bowlin of Hermleigh, "think the commissioners are trying to take everything worth anything to the farm boys away from them."

A rain that is said to be the most general during 1931 fell in Scurry County Monday, brightening prospects for a bumper crop —prospects that had already been polished by occasional showers during the first half of July. Fluvanna received her first really helpful rain of the year, and the cloud in that end of the county whipped around the edge of Borden County and left heavy rains in the Knapp country and beyond.

Announcement was made by Superintendent C. Wedgeworth this week that a third credit in Latin has been granted Snyder High School. Three credits in this department are so rare for a school of any size that the superintendent is high in his praise of Miss Mattie Ross Cunningham, who he says, is recognized as one of the most efficient Latin teachers in the state. A total of 31½ affiliated units is now offered by the local school.

Ginners of this area meeting in Sweetwater Friday to organize the Midwest Ginners Association, said thumbs down on the proposition to give cotton or part cotton bagging a trail. W. J. Ely, representing Scurry County ginners in the matter, states that the new plan was deemed impractical by the ginners because it is unproven and because farmers have shown no inclination to bear their portion of the immediate loss that must be taken if the bale is wrapped in anything other than jute.

The County Line correspondent reports the first rattlesnake bite The Times has reported in some time. John Wishert was the unlucky man. Quick attention by a physician brought him out of danger, and he is recovering rapidly.

Reports from Ira and Knapp indicate that the county watermelon belt will soon be catering to the Scurry County palate. The melon crop is exceptionally large this year throughout the sandy country, and hundreds of melons are expected on the local market.

Here's Some Tips On How To Judge Beauty Contests

By JANE TRUSSELL

So you would like to be a beauty contest judge?

Here are a few tips based on long experience as a beauty contest judge in South Texas.

About ten years ago I helped judge my first beauty contest, to pick Miss Kingsville of 1946. Since then I have never turned down an offer to act as a beauty judge.

What, actually, makes a good beauty judge.

Any average male can spot a pretty girl.

It all boils down to personal opinion. I've never been on a panel yet where there were five or more judges and all agree on the winner. Usually the top three choices are pretty unanimous, however. The one attribute it takes to make a consistent beauty judge is honesty or your opinion. You've got to pick 'em as you see 'em and not worry about the consequences.

What makes a beauty winner?

You take for granted that the winner of a major beauty contest is going to be pretty and have an almost perfect figure. The next major attribute, and one which many girls don't have, is poise. Lack of poise eliminates about 90 per cent of all beauty contest entrants immediately on their appearance on stage. A natural ability to appear sincere and friendly to the judges and crowd also counts highly, though that is probably a part of 'poise'.

Rearing is extremely important. No girl who appears cheap can ever win an important beauty contest today. Your winner is always beautiful, possesses poise, and is obviously a fine young woman spirtually and morally.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Romance? no, sir, not me. Not for a long, line time."

This was Martha Raye speaking over the rock 'n' roll din in the lounge of the Hotel Sahara. In a rare moment of relaxation between her own shows in the Congo Room, she talked about her personal life and career.

What about reports she was kindling a new romance, this time with a dealer at the Sahara?

"Oh, no!" she said, shaking her head emphatically. "No more men for Martha. From now on, the only one I'm going to worry about is Uncle Sam."

It was an understandable reaction after five husbands, but I hazarded that she had said the same before.

"Yep, I have," she nodded. 'But now I'm older and wiser."

Martha was leaving shortly to shed no. 5, Ed Begley, in Florida. She explained that she was a Florida resident, though she was a little hazy about the divorce laws. Anyway, she claimed she would shun marriage in the future and devote herself to her career.

The future of her career at least is more predictable. She is signed to a dreamy 15-year pact with NBC.

"It's really a great thing for me," she enthused. 'You know, it's seldom in this business that you can look forward to any degree of security. Now I've got it with this NBC deal."

Her plans for the coming season are in doubt, she reported. She doesn't know whether she'll be back in the Tuesday-at-8 time slot or how many shows she'll do.

Martha was heading for Florida to pick up the divorce and also play four weeks at the night club she owns in Miami. "The club is also part of my scheme to get some security," she said.

Actually, her real security is in her immense talent, which is realized in her night club act. She performs with vast enthusiasm, and can handle comedy and torch songs with equal facility. Her patter, uninhibited by TV censors, often goes overboard, but the customers in this lusty town seem to like it.

Security Program 'Confusion' Cited By Senate Panel

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee said today the Eisenhower administration's employe security program has brought about "Endless confusion and positive injustice to hundreds of employes, and "political mudslinging."

It recommended that the program be replaced by a comprehensive law designed to insure a better balance between protecting against Communist infiltration and safeguarding the rights of government employes.

The proposed legislation would limit the program to employes in "sensitive positions in sensitive agencies', except in cases involving charges of disloyalty. Existing Civil Service procedures are adequate to eliminate other undesirable employes, the subcommittee said.

It submitted to the Senate a 548-page report in which it said President Eisenhower, in setting up the program in 1953, had gone agains the intent of Congress in applying it to all government jobs.

The report was submitted by a three-man Civil Service subcommittee headed by Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC), which began its investigation in February 1955.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), the lone GOP member, signed the report but noted that he disagreed with "many statements" in it. The other member during the subcommittee's hearings was Sen. Neely (D-WVa).

Johnston, in a statement accompanying the report, said "Much of the criticism" of the administration's security program related to its application prior to the Supreme Court's ruling of June 11 limiting it to non-sensitive jobs.

Johnston said the evidence clearly showed that Eisenhower's "blanket extension' of the program to all government agencies "was an unwarranted assumption of power by the executive department."

This was the position taken in the subcommittees report. Besides calling on Congress to set up a new program by law, the subcommittee sharply criticized the attorney general's list of subversive organizations and urged that the Civil Service Commission cease issuing reports on the number of "security risks" ousted from government.

The publication of these numbers, the subcommittee said, "has caused much confusion." It said this was because of "the generally accepted assumption' the numbers referred only to disloyal persons and, secondly, because "actually only a small percentage" were removed under the President's employe security order.

The report added:

"Had there been no publication of 'numbers' or had the 'numbers' when published explained their true significance the public would not have been treated to the political mudslinging that has occurred in the past."

In the 1954 election campaign Democrats accused Vice President Nixon and other Republicans of making "a political numbers game' 'out of the figures on security risk dismissals in an effort to convey the impression that the Eisenhower administration had found a lot of Communists or Communist sympathizers on the federal payroll.

As for the attorney general's subversive list, the subcommittee said it had "grave doubts' about the justice of allowing any official "to place groups on a blacklist" without a hearing and without provision for revising the list from time to time "to reflect new evidence or changed conditions."

The Eisenhower administration's security risk program covers not only employes suspected of disloyalty but also drunks, talkative persons or others regarded as unsuitable for federal jobs.

The subcommittee recommended that the new legislation it urged make a distinction between charges of disloyalty and unsuitability and between sensitive and non-sensitive jobs.

It said Congress should "carefully set forth the criteria and procedure to be followed" in handling disloyalty charges and security risk cases in sensitive jobs.

East Highway Traffic Count Shows Gain

Traffic on the East Highway has shown an increase over traffic in same location in the fall of 1954.

A traffic count made by the state highway department at the intersection of Avenue E and the East Highway shows an increase of 16 vehicles per hour over the number two years ago.

In the count made on July 5 there were an average of 717 vehicles per hour passing through the intersection for the highest eight-hour period during the count, compared to 701 per hour for the highest eight-hour period of November 23, 1954.

The traffic count was made by the highway department at the request of the city of Snyder to determine if there is sufficient traffic to justify a fixed time traffic signal at the location.

J. C. Roberts, district engineer for the highway department, said that the highway department requirements are 750 vehicles per hour for traffic signal lights.

Roy Dunlap city manager, pointed out that his year's traffic count was made on the day following a National holiday, and that the previous traffic count was made in the fall of 1954.

Road Work Is Started

Work has begun on a 10-mile section of highway immediately south of Gail on the Gail-Big Spring road, according to Homer Ray, district highway engineer here.

Ray said this highway will be improved to a 20-foot asphalt surface, and several improved drainage structures are to be built to improve drainage conditions.

When the road is finished the new section will comply with farm-to-market requirements of the Texas Highway Department. During construction, traffic is being routed through the project without interruption, Ray said.

Contractor is J. O. Boswell of Lubbock.

Another part of the same contract is a two-mile farm road in Scurry County, which will be under construction near the end of August.

This road will begin at the intersection of State Highway 208 (Clairemont Road) and Eighth Street in north Snyder. It will run east from there for two miles passing the Snyder Cemetery on the north. It will have a 26-foot asphalt surface for the first mile east of Highway 208 and 20-foot surface for the second mile.

Bennett Assessed Three-Year Term

Billy Jack Bennett, wanted here for a 1955 jail break and returned to Snyder from Colorado recently by local sheriff's department officials, received a sentence of three years last week.

Bennett was in jail here last year for two 1951 burglaries when he made his escape.

Bennett was picked up Wednesday and taken to Graham by a Texas Ranger and a Graham deputy sheriff to face charges of burglary there.

House Burns At Fluvanna

A house and its contents were destroyed by fire shortly before noon yesterday north of Fluvanna.

City firemen who went to the scene said the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ainsworth, three miles north of Fluvanna, caught fire while the family was away and was destroyed.

The house had burned completely before the city-county fire truck arrived at the scene.

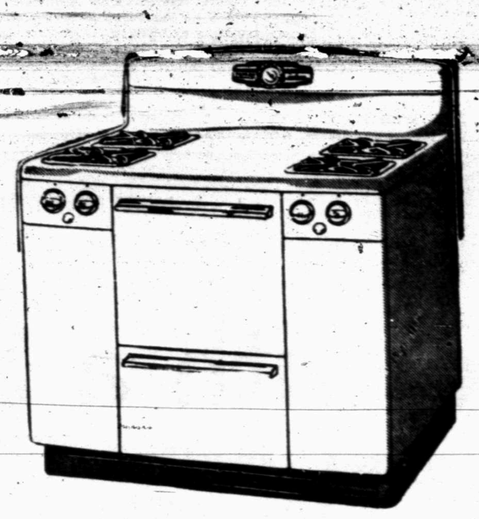

A second fire at noon yesterday did little damage.

It was a car fire on the south side of the square. Apparently the air conditioning system on a late model Buick owned by Oleita Mitchell caught fire, but was put out before firemen arrived. Damage was minor.

Crew Of 28 Required To Handle Mail Here

By SHIRLEY BROWNLOW

"Neither rain nor hail nor sleet nor snow" is the oft-quoted phrase that brings to mind that everyday occurrance, the coming of the mailman. The man that delivers mail to your door and sees that the letters you send get to their destination is one part of the many-faceted Post Office Department.

The local post office employs a total of 28 men to see to it that the United States mail and the services the Post Office Department offers its patrons are properly handled. Fourteen men handle the work in the post office building, eight are city mail carriers, three handle rural routes and three more are star route carriers.

All postmen, except rural postmen, are employed through Civil Service exams. Rural postmen receive their appointments through Congressional district representatives. Dawson Moreland, local postmaster, became acting postmaster in February, 1950. His appointment was confirmed in March, 1951. According to Moreland, all employees here, except the rural postmen, begin their jobs as city carriers and then work up to jobs in the post office building.

There are now five regular city routes and one auxillary city route. Each regular route is an eight-hour job. The carriers do not spend all of that time walking, however, for it takes them some time to get their mail "cased" or sorted before leaving each morning and about the same amount of time to sort the mail on their return in the afternoon.

To be a city carrier, one of the major requirements is to have good feet, according to Moreland. A carrier must be at least 18 years old and although there are no specific educational requirements, he must pass a civil service exam.

"Dogs are still a major problem for the mail carrier," Moreland said, "and it's not funny to any of us. The Post Office Department hasn't been able to find out why, but there is really something about a mailman with a pouch on his back that bothers a dog."

Bearing him out in this statement about the concern of the Post Office Department about dogs, a multi-page phamphlet issued by the 1955 Safety News has as its topic the dog and the mail carrier. Stating that there were at least 22¼ million dogs in the U.S. in 1955, the phamphlet describes the different kinds of dogs and ways to deal with each. It gives different methods of getting acquainted with dogs and tells the carrier how to protect himself in case of attack.

Moreland said that the local department has never had a carrier who wasn't bitten by a dog, and that although none has been hospitalized because of the bite, some have required medical treatment. "I speak from experience when I say that the dog is really a problem to mail carriers," Moreland said. Moreland, too, started out as a city carrier.

Rural carriers travel from 60 to 75 miles each day. There are three regular routes and three star routes.

All mail comes into Snyder and goes out of Snyder once a day. The mail comes into Snyder late at night or early in the morning and it can all be given to the carriers before they begin their routes the next morning. Mail leaves Snyder at night. Mail carriers deliver mail to their routes once a day. They begin delivery from the post office and then work back towards it, making a wide arc.

Inside the post office building there are three windows to handle post office patrons. The first window handles COD, postal savings, money orders, stamps and sends back mail. The second window handles general delivery, stamps, sends back mail, handles registered letters, postage due mail and certified mail. The third window handles stamps, parcel post, dispatching of parcel post and sends back mail.

Other jobs handled in the post office building are separating the mail for city, rural routes and boxes and dispatching mail for out-of-town delivery.

There are 1025 rental boxes in the post office building and according to Moreland, more than 75 per cent of them are rented.

One of the services offered its patrons by the Post Office Department is postal savings. According to a book on postal regulations, "Postal savings was established to provide facilities for deposit of savings at an interest with securities of the United States government for repayment. The Postmaster General selects and designates post offices that are to be postal savings depositories.

Postal savings may be opened by anyone 10 years of age or older. A postal savings account may not be opened with less than $5, as of July 1, and the maximum which can be deposited is $2500. Deposits may be made only in whole dollar amounts. The government pays 2 per cent interest compounded annullay, except in Mississippi where the interest rate is 1½ per cent.

Postal savings interest is taxable

About one quarter of a million dollars has been deposited here in postal savings. All age groups are depositers, according to Moreland, and many have the maximum $2500.

The account is strictly a savings account, and you may leave it in deposit as long as you wish. Certain accounts are tagged "nuisance" accounts. These are accounts which are consistently being deposited and then withdrawn. The post office usually closes out these accounts and they are never reopened, Moreland said.

Postal savings must be left in deposit at least 30 days. If not, withdrawing the money costs the depositer 20 cents per certificate which he withdraws.

In case of the death of a postal savings depositer, the local post office officials must have a written notice of the naming of the executor of the will or estate of the deceased. The postmaster then sends this notice to Washington officials and he is given authority from Washington to pay the account to the executor.

The post office handles many other smaller services each day. Among these is the distribution of "dead" letters, those which the carriers are unable to deliver because of insufficient address or incorrect address. All dead letters from Snyder are sent to the Dallas post office. Moreland said 10 or 15 dead letters is considered too many for an office the size of Snyder's office.

Playing Cupid is just one of the services Moreland has been called upon to give. Very recently he received a letter from a person in Gainsville with $2 enclosed. The letter asked him to insert a notice in the newspaper for a woman who had met a man in Lubbock and wished to correspond with him. The sender asked him to run the notice for three days and said if the money enclosed wasn't enough, he could write the sender for more.

The postoffice also handles mail for local citizens when they are vacationing.

"People who are planning vacations should notify the post office to hold mail from the date of leaving until their return," Moreland said. "When they return they can come by and pick up the mail and notify us to begin delivery again."

Moreland said that in this way the post office knows that the mail does reach the owner.

All Legion Posts Filled

All appointive posts for the Layne-Kite American Legion Post have been filled, Commander Frank D. Stephenson has announced.

First regular meeting of the post under new officers will be held Monday night in the Veterans Club building.

In addition to Stephenson, the officers include Bobby G. Ivey, first vice commander; T. C. Dulaney, second vice commander; N. L. Banks, adjutant; B. Frank Maddox, finance officer; Milton Mapes, service officer; George R. Killam, child welfare chairman; Harry Chapman, sergeant-at-arms; Stanley Odstrcil, judge advocate.

Retail Sales In State Show Decline

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said today Texas retail sales in June dropped 5 per cent from May totals and were down 8 per cent from June of last year.

Most lines decreased, especially florists and jewelry stores, family clothing stores, women's ready-to-wear stores, and department stores which were down 20 to 33 per cent for the month.

Hardware stores, service stations, liquor stores and drug stores showed small gains.

Injured Jockey In Serious Condition

RUIDOSO, N.M., July 21 (AP)—A Texas jockey thrown and trampled in the first race at nearby Ruidoso Downs Friday was reported still in "very serious condition" early today.

The hospital said Joel Sherman, 24, of Abilene, was doing "as well as can be expected."

Sherman, married only two weeks ago, was thrown from his horse in the first race and the pack ran over him as he lay on the track.

Rafel Cueto, father of nine children, was presented with a car as the millionth visitor recently to the International Fair in the Dominican Republic. He was awarded a single seat motorcycle.

Moore Promises Thorough Probes

By The Associated Press

Tom Moore, campaigning for attorney general, proposed two investigations as he traveled through East Texas Saturday.

Moore asked Atty. Gen. Shepperd to give "prompt attention to the scandalous conduct of machine balloting in South Texas" and turn the results over to an Austin grand jury.

Shortly afterwards Moore, recently district attorney at Waco, promised that "a thorough investigation of all state agencies, especially the Board of Control, will be made if I am elected your attorney general."

Moore planned to be in Marshall Sunday then campaign in Texarkana, Longview, Gladewater, Mount Pleasant and Paris on Monday.

Will Wilson, who resigned his place on the State Supreme Court to run for attorney general, said he took to change jobs because "I like the aggressive life."

He said he felt "the times call for a mature and experienced lawyer in the attorney general's office to represent the state and its agencies."

Wilson planned to campaign Monday in Jacksonville, Palestine and Rusk.

Lt. Gov. Ramsey returned to Austin Saturday after taking his campaign for reelection to West Texas.

"The farmers and ranchers in many parts of the state are taking a beating from the drought," Ramsey said, "and I will not be a party to a tax program to include them. I am not going to promise any group during this campaign and in advance of an election that I favor a program which would spent this state into debt."

State Sen. A.M. Aikin Jr., candiate for lieutenant governor, was in Amarillo Saturday. His schedule for the final week included Monday in San Antonio, Tuesday in Beaumont and Port Arthur, Wednesday in Houston, Thursday in Palestine and Dallas. He will return to Paris Saturday to vote in his home precinct.

C.T. Johnson, another candidate for lieutenant governor, said he would spend Monday in Galveston and be in Houston from Tuesday through Friday, returning to Austin Saturday.

Land Commissioner Earl Rudder, seeking his first elective term, planned to speak Monday in Galveston, Tuesday in San Antonio, Wednesday in Houston, Thursday in Dallas and Friday in Fort Worth.

The U. S. — Canada defense line in the far north is called the DEW line, named for the Distant Early Warning line in case of sudden attack.

Farmers Producing More Broilers Now

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers produced well over a billion broilers in 1955, compared with only 143 million in 1940. Their value was over 10 times the $73,000,000 grossed by the 1940 broiler producers. Production in Texas in 1955 was 79 million birds valued at $60,411,000.

It used to be that chickens for eating were produced for the most part in fairly small farm flocks, mainly as a byproduct from egg production. But in the past decade and a half, broilers have become a mass production business. K. F. Schlamb, extension poultry marketing specialist, suggests that much of this change has been due to contract and other methods of financing.

A small (by today's standards) sideline flock of 3,000 to 5,000 broilers requires about $2,000 to $3,000 of working capital, on the average, according to Schlamb. A flock of 12,000 to 15,000 birds, which could take the full time of one man, requires around $7,000 capital before the birds are fully grown. It takes about 9 to 11 weeks to raise a flock of broilers to market size, and financial risks are greater than in most farm businesses. Most Texas producers sell at about 9 weeks.

For this reason, contract financing has become a rather familiar pattern in the 22 important broiler States. Under the contract system, someone other than the farmer may provide chicks, feed, medications, even buildings and equipment. The farmers provides his labor and management ability, and possibly his buildings and equipment. When the broilers are sold, profits are divided in a proportion agreed upon in the contract—frequently about 25 percent to the investor and 75 percent to the farmer.

Other financing plans provide for the investor to pay the farmer so much per week for boarding the chickens, regardless of the price of poultry meat, or so much per pound for broiler meat produced. Under either type plan, bonuses may be provided for better than average efficiency.

Many broiler producers have found that contract financing provides a chance of income at small risk and a way to use family labor. It also may train the farmer in a new skill if the investor—frequently a feed dealer or hatchery. Man - provides supervision and advice on the best methods of feeding and caring for chicks.

Consumers, too, have benefited from an expanding broiler industry, says the specialist, because of the larger supplies of a favored meat at moderate prices.

Ford Named State Editor Of Texas AP

DALLAS, July 21 (AP)—Robert E. Ford was appointed state editor of The Associated Press in Texas today and Marshall Comerer was named night editor of the Dallas Bureau. The announcement was made by Bill Barnard, chief of bureau at Dallas.

Ford and Comerer are newsmen of long experience who have worked on many major stories. Both are veterans of World War II. They have had a part in covering every big story in Texas for 11 years.

Ford succeeds Garth Jones who recently transferred to the Austin Bureau. Comerer replaces Ford who had been night editor.

A native of Decatur, Ford, 42, is a graduate of the University of Texas. He worked on the Austin American-Statesman and the San Antonio Light before entering the Marine Corps. In fighting on Iwo Jima and other Pacific islands, Ford, an officer, won decorations and was twice wounded.

He entered Associated Press service in 1945. He is married and has one son.

Comere, 44, was born in Mercersburg, Pa., was graduated from Columbia University in 1935 and the Columbia School of Journalism in 1936. He was a photo editor of the New York Times from 1936 to 1941 and joined The Associated Press in New York in 1942.

He served in the Air Force from 1942 to 1945 and in the Intelligence Section of an aerial reconnaisance squadron based in India. Later as an officer he was assigned to the intelligence section of the Air Force Training Command headquarters at Fort Worth. In his new capacity he traveled to flying training fields in all parts of the country, inspecting intelligence training programs.

On leaving the military service, Comerer joined the AP in Dallas in October 1945. He is married and has a son, 6, and a daughter, 3.

Smith Here In Campaign

John Lee Smith of Lubbock, former lieutenant governor and now a candidate for the same office, was in Snyder yesterday during his West Texas campaign.

Smith served as lieutenant governor from 1943 to 1947. He was elected to the state senate from this district in 1938 and was permanent chairman of the state Democratic convention in 1940. He has been a practicing attorney in Lubbock since 1947.

Smith's platform stands include provisions in connection with old-age pensions, farm-to market roads, improvement of mental hospitals, enforcement of insurance laws, economy in state government and opposition to integration in the public schools.

"I commit myself to the proposition that a public office is a public trust and should never be prostituted to the selfish gain of the office holder," Smith said.

In connection with the integration question, Smith said "I shall favor the use of interposition, or any other legal measure, to restrain the arrogant and insolent abuse of power by the Supreme Court of the United States."

Blames Legion For Stalemate

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Rep. Olin Teague (D—Tex) today blamed American Legion leaders for the probable death of bills to help service - disabled veterans, war widows, destitute Medal of Honor winners and others.

The chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee called on the Legion to stop at once its "pressure" for a measure for veterans' pensions not connected with service disability.

He said a Legion reversal on its. No. 1 priorty bill could pave the way for passage of the other measures in these waning days of the Congressional session.

Teague voiced his "last effort" appeal in a telegram to Addington Wagner, the Legion's national commander, which Teague made public.

Teague and Wagner have been in a running fight over the Legion's proposal which, as now embodied in a House-passed bill before the Senate Banking Committee, would provide $90-a-month pensions to all World War I veterans at age 65 if their incomes fall within certain limits.

'Offensive' Drive Urged : By Harriman

BOULDER, Colo., July 21 (AP) — Democrats were told today by Gov. Avereil Harriman of New York they must take the "offensive" on every issue with the Republicans.

"Eisenhower's trademark is moderation and a middle-of-the-road policy," the presidential aspirant told the Colorado Democratic Convention, "and let him keep it."

The last of the three presidential hopefuls here to seek Colorado's 20 convention votes, the New York chief executive slammed at the administration's farm program and foreign policy.

"Four more years of the shilly-shally policy of Eisenhower and (Secretary of State) Dulles will allow other countries to make gains and we don't know what position we'll be in," he said.

He added that confidence must be re-established between the United States and overseas countries to "show interest in the hopes and aspirations of other people."

The onetime ambassador to Russia declared pretige of the United States has "gone down around the world."

"Eisenhower and Dulles are playing politics with our national security and foreign affairs," he further asserted.

Following in the footsteps of Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver to gain Colorado support. Harriman spoke to some 2,000 delegates and visitors. He knew a majority of Colorado's convention delegates had pledged themselves to Stevenson. He hoped, however, to pick up votes of several uncommitted delegates to add to the two and a half votes he already has in the state. Stevenson has 10½ votes and Kefauver one, on the basis of statements made to newsmen.

Of the motion pictures shown in West Germany in the first three months of 1956, there were 48 from the U. S.; 39 from West Germany; 14 from France. A single Russian produced picture was shown.

Candidates Keep Theatrics Going

By The Associated Press

Davy Crockett joined Price Daniel's campaign caravan and all the other candidates for governor sharpened up their vote-getting wiles for the final week before the July 28 primaries.

There was little chance of Texas voters overlooking any of the six during the final campaigning days.

Daniel said Saturday that Fess Parker, a Fort Worth boy who grew up to be the movie and television Davy Crockett, would join the senator in a statewide TV broadcast Monday night from Fort Worth.

Ralph Yarborough used his fiddling and stomping Cass County Coon Hunters as a crowd-gatherer.

W. Lee O'Daniel's red fire truck —"to put out the fires in Austin"— was scheduled to be busy most of the week in the big cities along with his juvenile soloist Texas Rose and a six-piece band called the Hillbilly Boys.

J. Evetts Haley, with his big hat, homespun humor and pungent remarks about his opponents, climbed in his not-so-new family car for a final trip that would take him from the Rio Grande to the Red River and over to the Sabine River before voting time.

Reuben Senterfitt, who says "so many candidates want to clean up Austin, it looks like they're running for janitor," planned a final week in the big cities with TV and radio appearances.

J. J. Holmes had no definite schedule but would be in Fort Worth and Dallas part of the week telling voters of his investigation of the Brady auto bombing.

Yarborough told a crowd of about 500 at Kilgore Saturday the rest of his opponents were Republicans. He said he had not made any statewide TV speeches because of funds. He said he had made only one-third as many radio broadcasts this year as he did in 1954 when he was defeated for the second straight time by Allan Shivers.

Daniel told a crowd in Paris that "statements being hurled at Price Daniel by other candidates are shocking, irresponsible and ridiculous. Those who employ such tactics have already discredited themselves and proved they are not qualified to be honored with public confidence."

At Bonham Daniel repeated charges that the CIO and the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People were working together to stir up dissension and renewed his pledge to help school districts that want to keep segregated schools.

Haley campaigned in Pleasanton, Cambellton, George West and Odom Saturday. Sunday he planned to attend a Knights of Columbus barbecue at Mission.

Senterfitt had a half hour TV speech from Austin Saturday.

Expenses For Daniel Drive Are Mounting

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—Price Daniel's campaign for governor has been much more expensive than the vote-getting drives staged by opponents, candidates' defense reports show.

The deadline for making the second campaign expense report to the secretary of state passed at midnight yesterday. Scattered reports were being received today from mailed reports.

Daniel's expense statement showed expenses totaling $116,102, total contributions of $124,009 and debts of $9,758.

Ralph Yarborough reported expenses of $53,967, contributions of $49,574, and debts of $9,892.

J. Evetts Haley reported expenses of $19,264, gifts of $21,097, and debts of $783.

Reuben Senterfitt's expense account showed $36,281 in payments, $30,871 in gifts and no debts.

No expense reports had been received from W. Lee O'Daniel and J.J. Holmes, also in the governor's race.

Daniel's contributors included gifts of $1,000 each from M. J. Mitchell of Dallas and O.J. McCullough of Houston.

Yarborough's contributions included: Cooper Ragan, Houston, $6,000; H.J. Yarborough, Dallas, $4,500; J. R. Parten, Houston, $1,000; W. L. Clayton, Houston $1,000; Louis Romano, Houston, $1,000, and Lawrence Bruhl, Llano, $1,000.

Haley's gifts included: James Landrum, Dallas, $500; T. I. Harkins, Houston $500; and A. Edmondson, Waxahachie, $500.

In the attorney general's race, Will Wilson reported expenses of $54,162 and gifts of $36,732.

Wilson's opponent, Tom Moore, reported total payments of $2,648, gifts of $2,942, and $1,995 in debts.

Martin Dies, candidate for re-election as congressman-at-large, reported total campaign expenses of $1,178 with no gifts and no debts. Bill Elkins, his opponent had expenses of $7,204 and gifts of $3,611.

Jim Barber, running for commissioner of agriculture, reported expenses of $1,278, and gifts of $1,497. Bill Jones, another candidate for the post, had expenses of $1,105 and no gifts.

Land Commissioner Earl Rudder, had expenses of $8,976 and contributions of $1,404.

Mossadegh To Leave Prison

TEHRAN, Iran, July 21 (AP)—An army court authority said today ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh will be freed from prison on Aug. 5—15 days earlier than generally had been expected.

The informant explained that since Iran's judicial year counts 360 days instead of 365, Mossadegh will serve 15 days less than had been expected.

The weepy old (exact age never recorded) nationalist who seized Britain's oil properties when he was premier, was imprisoned on Aug. 20, 1953 and sentenced to three years solitary confinement in December of that year on a charge of attempting to overthrow the Shah.

Honor Award Won By Lion

Operations in Scurry County of the Lion Oil Division of Monsanto Chemical Co. participated in Lion's earning an award of honor from the National Safety Council during 1955.

The award is the highest recognition for industrial safety achievement made by the council. Lion's rate in 1955 was 68 per cent better than the standard established by the council.

The accident-frequency rate was 2.13 lot time accidents per million man hours of work for Lion in 1952, and it dropped to 1.75 in 1955.

Boat Seizure Is Protested

By BILL GIBSON

BROWNSVILLE, July 21 (AP)—Rep. Joe Kilgore said today the U.S. State Department has protested to Mexico over the seizure of two shrimp boats from Brownsville.

Kilgore said he had also urged the government to station sufficent craft here to patrol the Gulf.

"I think it is absurd for us to worry about the costs of such additions to the Campeche Patrol as compared to the costs of any unfortunate incident that might occur if we coninue to ignore the present situation," he said.

Such an incident, he said, would "set back the friendly relations between the United States and Mexico by at least 25 years."

The "Ann Carinhas" and "Green's Pride" were seized by Mexico Wednesday. The Texas Shrimpers Assn. said the boats where on the high seas when they were fired upon and boarded by a Mexican gunboat. They sent telegrams to Washington protesting the seizure.

Question Raised On Soil Bank Program

By OVID A. MARTIN

Associated Press Farm Reporter

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—An issue is arising as to whether the Eisenhower administration's plans for carrying out the multibillion-dollar soil bank program will accomplish its goal of eliminating crop surpluses.

The question has been raised principally by the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation, which on many farm issues had sided with the administration.

Under the soil bank program enacted in May, the Agriculture Department is authorized to pay farmers a total of $4,800,000,000 during this and three succeeding crop years for underplanting government allotments of such surplus crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco, and peanuts.

The declared purpose is to cut yearly production below needs and thereby provide an outlet for government surpluses now totaling about 8¼ billion dollars.

President Charles B. Shuman of the Farm Bureau has written Secretary of Agriculture Benson expressing "grave concern" over an administrative decision to put farmer participation in the soil bank on a year-to-year basis.

Shuman thinks farmers should be required to tie up—that is keep out of production—a part of their land for the full period of the soil bank program in order to be eligible for any of its payments.

The way regulations now stand, a farmer who takes land out of wheat production this year can return it to wheat or other crops next year as well as in the following years of the program. Likewise, a farmer who retires land under the soil bank next year can plant it during the last two years of the program.

Shuman said that the practice of taking land out of production one year but returning it to produce the program's purpose. He said land idled one year would tend to increase its moisture reserve and fertility to a point where, if put back to crops the next year, it would produce more than enough to offset the reduction of the previous year.

The Farm Bureau leader argued that members of Congress, in debating the soil bank bill, expressed the belief that land should be idled for a period of more than one year.

Shuman pointed out that the legislation carries a provision which specifies that the soil bank payments should be such as to encourage producers to underplant their allotments for more than one year. In commenting on this provision during congressional debate, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said:

"The reason why this provision is in the bill is that one-year contracts could result in increased rather than decreased production. Accordingly, it is provided that the rates of payment may be adjusted so as to encourage withdrawal of acreage for a number of years rather than for one year only."

Commenting on Shurmans criticism of the regulations, department officials say that they are considering stepping up the rates of payment each succeeding year of the program in an effort to encourage voluntary withdrawal of land for more than one year.

But the Farm Bureau leaders question whether this would be effective. They say it would be better to offer a payment which would cover the 1957, 1958 and 1959 crops and assure that the land would be kept idle for that length of time.

Farmers Here Vote For Wheat Controls

Scurry County wheat farmers voted by a 5-to-1 margin Friday to continue acreage controls and price supports on wheat, as did the state by an even larger margin.

The Scurry vote was 36 for, seven against. Only 43 of about 300 persons eligible voted.

'Letter Of Regret' Turns Out To Be Coveted Scholarship

By SANDRA DeFORE

What Linda Milam suspected to be a "polite letter of regret" turned out to be a letter notifing her that she had just won a $2,000 scholarship.

Recently Linda was named among the 50 winners of a scholarship that will provide her with $500 annually for four years of college attendance. The scholarship is given by the Phillips Petroleum Co. from their Educational Fund for the children of their employees. Students from 51 high schools in 12 states made up the 90 finalists that the 50 winners were picked from.

The finalists took a scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board in May. "I had to sweat it out until the last of June before I knew if I had won." Even when Linda got the letter she thought it might be to notify her that she had lost. "I was flabbergasted when I found out that I had won."

People who know Linda were not as suprised, because they know Linda usually fares well in any kind of competition, from school work to scouting.

Linda has been a Girl Scout for about 10 years. She is now a Senior Service Girl Scout and has been one for the past four years. Linda had the honor of being selected to be one of the eight girls to go from the West Texas Girl Scout Area to the Regional Nine Patrol Troup Camp at Medina last year. This was the first Girl Scout Camp of its kind ever held.

Linda plans to put her scholarship to good use in the next four years. This fall she will enter the University of Texas. She is not definite about her major. It will either be a science or a language. Linda is very interested in the German language. She also took two years of Spanish in high school.

LINDA MILAM
. . . receives scholarship

While in high school, Linda took all of the science courses that are offered. She was a member of the Science Club and editor of the club paper. She took part in the Radio Ham Club also. Linda has a collection of rocks. She likes to collect rocks that she can analyze and discover what they are composed of.

Music and drama are another interest of Linda's. She was in the Senior Class Play and in the 1955 Contest Play that represented Snyder High in Abilene for the Interscholastic League. Linda also entered the Interscholastic League in Spelling and took second in district.

Her Junior year, Linda was pianist in a group that many Snyderites are familiar with. She was a member of the High School State Band that is called up quite often to entertain.

Linda was runner-up for the Arion Award that is given each year to an outstanding Senior member of the band. She was selected as one of the five senior girls picked as "Who's Who." This honor is given to 10 Senior boys and girls for being outstanding student during their four years of high school.

Linda looks forward to fall and the University but she has not been idle this summer. She attended the Girl Scout Camp at Camp Booth Oaks as a counselor and life saver.

Being a rodeo queen candidate has also kept her busy besides working for Dr. Robert Wasson and attending the Methodist Youth Assembly at McMurry. Linda was sponsored as a candidate by the Cosmorama Study Club and American Association of University Women.

Swimming and golf are Linda's favorite sports. She says though that she is not too good at golf. "Some people shoot on 18 holes what I shoot on 9."

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Max Milam, Lamesa Highway. The family moved to Snyder about six and a half years ago from Sweetwater.

OIL NEWS

Industry Hopes To Solve Import Woes

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, July 21 (AP)—Texas independent oil operators hope soon to present a proposed program for solving the industry's foreign oil imports problem.

A voluminous report is being circulated on a confidential basis among members of the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (Tipro). Copies also are being forwarded to officials of other independenet oil groups.

Final action may be taken at an Aug. 2 meeting of the TIPRO executive committee.

"We must point the way to a solution within the framework of a free competitive enterprise economy, doing injury to none," said A. E. Herrmann, new TIPRO president.

The Amarillo oilman indicated the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) is being asked to endorse TIPRO's plans.

"We are working as closely as possible with officials of IPAA and other groups representing oil independents," he said. "We've never had a more direct threat to our survival and a remarkable degree of industry unity must be found if we are to do the job we must do. It is us who must show the government officials—and the public—our situation."

Shortly after becoming president of TIPRO in April, Herrmann and other TIPRO and IPAA officials discussed the imports problem with Dr. Arthur Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Herbert Hoover Jr., under secretary of state.

In a report this week to TIPRO membership, Herrmann said both men are familiar and sympathetic with the plight of the independent oil operator but state that restrictions should be imposed only as a last resort.

"The problem cannot be solved by voluntary action of (importing) companies involved," Herrmann said. "They operate, necessarily and logically, on sound economic grounds. And on economic grounds, we can't win."

The right of the independent operator for protection from unlimited competition with foreign oil, he said, is based on security grounds.

"It is our hope and plan in the near future to answer effectively the arguments against restricting imports," he said. "Sure there are arguments against both quotas and tariffs, and they were eloquently stated by Mr. Hoover. But there are answers, and answers which will avoid the pitfalls of domestic controls which he correctly seeks to avoid."

Herrmann said the independents are not intent on injuring importers or denying reasonable access to the domestic market of foreign oil.

"But we are intent on retaining a healthy domestic oil industry in America," he said.

IPAA this week predicted crude oil imports will average a record 1,025,000 barrels daily during July, August and September, a 27.3 per cent gain over the same 1955 period. Such a level, IPAA said, would have crude imports averaging 14.8 per cent of domestic production, compared to 12.1 per cent in 1955 and 10.3 in 1954.

Herrmann said he does not concur with the judgment of some that a few of the highest officials of importing companies have reached the conclusion the independent no longer performs a vital function.

"I at least find no evidence of it in my limited relations with them," he said. "Besides, I happen to have enough confidence in top management of these companies to believe they know that when independents cease to be a big part of the industry, free enterprise for our industry is dead."

Third Producer In Hockley Field Due

Recovery was 62 feet of 39.3 gravity oil and 240 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, plus 50 per cent oil. Flowing pressure was from 60 to 120 pounds and 15-minute shut-in pressure was 700 pounds.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 29, block H&TC survey, 10 miles east of Christoval 1¾ miles south of the Susan Peak field.

Pony, Little Leaguers Eye Playoffs

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

A BIG WEEK LIES ahead for our kid baseballers as both the Pony and Little Leaguers swing into playoff activity this week.

Regarding the prospects of our youngsters surviving the first level of tournament play this week, it's difficult to sum up at this time, especially in the Little League ranks.

There is something to go on in the Pony League but it doesn't help much in predicting who'll win. Our Pony All-Stars will take on Colorado City in a best of a three game series for the sub-district title starting here tomorrow night.

The locals met Colorado City in an exhibition game several days ago and the two teams battled to a 4-4 draw. The tie game mars an otherwise perfect record for the Snyder Pony Leaguers who swept all other six games played thus far including a decision over defending champion Abilene.

One thing is known for sure — the local Pony Leaguers will have their hands full in the series with Colorado City. Manager Bill Valentine's boys will have to put forth their best effort to emerge with the series title.

Fan Support Important

We're completely in the dark considering our chances in the District Little League tournament this week.

Very little is known of the other seven teams who'll compete in the tournament to be held at Abilene.

The local Little League All-Stars have not played a game together as a unit. Neither has the other teams. It's against Little League rules to play out-of-town games other than in tournament play.

But we certainly believe the chances for one of our teams to capture the district title is good. Both the National and American League teams are pretty well balanced.

Its a shame that at least one of our teams will have to be eliminated this week. Eight of the nine teams that will be competing in the tournament at Big Spring will be sidelined after this week's play, leaving only one, the champion, to carry on.

Of utmost importance to these kiddoes, speaking for both the Pony and Little League teams, is good support from the fans here. Many of these boys will be competing in tournament play for the first time and, naturally, they'll be inclined to be a bit nervous.

But the more local fans who turn out for their games the better it will make them feel. Consequently they'll play better. A lot of the tendency to be nervous will be eliminated if the kids know the city is behind them 100 per cent.

Fans won't have to go far to back the Pony Leaguers this week. The entire series will be unreeled at the Pony League park here.

The Little League games this week, however, will all be played away from home but not very far. Big Spring is just 50 miles away.

LL Tourney Sked Convenient For Fans

The scheduel setup at Big Spring, though, will be pretty convenient for the fans. Both teams will play Wednesday night which will make it more worth while for the fans to make the trip.

Well, we aren't worried over the community not backing our baseball youngsters. Sports fans here have been great this past year in lending support to our young athletes.

The playoffs are all that is left for the 1956 summer kid baseball program here maybe with one exception.

The American Little League may make up some of its postponed games but not until after the Little League playoffs.

The Holder Construction Indians could still pull even with the Legion Yankees for the American title if the postponed games are made up.

League officials, however, probably won't make any definite announcement on making up the games until after the playoffs.

The National Little League and the Pony League have each determined their champions. The Lions Club Cubs in the National LL and the Courthouse Tigers in the Pony clinched their titles long before their schedules were completed.

Pony Series Set Here; LL To Big Spring

It's off to the playoff wars for the Snyder kid baseballers this this week.

The first level of tournament play for both the Pony and Little Leaguers will get underway this week.

The Pony Leaguers will start the ball rolling tomorrow night when they meet Colorado City in the first of a best two-out-of-three sub-district series at Towle Memorial Park.

Second game of the Pony series will be played Tuesday night. If the third game is necessary it will be played Thursday night, all games being slated for the Snyder field.

The two Little League All-Star teams of the city will take part in a District Tournament at Big Spring this week. While the tournment starts Monday night, both local teams will not see action until Wednesday night.

The Snyder American Leaguers will meet Rotan at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday in their tourney debut. The Snyder Nationals will then take the field in the second game of Wednesday's schedule, meeting the winner of tomorrow night's Big Spring American and Colorado City game.

Nine teams will compete in the Little League tournament at Big Spring. They include three from Big Spring, two each from Sweetwater and Snyder and one each from Rotan and Colorado City. Seven of the nine teams drew first round byes.

Only Big Spring American and Colorado City will have to play in the first round. These two teams will open the tournament Monday at 7:30. It will be the only game tomorrow night.

The second round will start Tuesday night. The second round schedule is as follows:

Tuesday—Big Spring National vs. Sweetwater American, 5:30 p.m.; Sweetwater National vs. Big Spring Texas, 7:15 p.m.

Wednesday — Snyder American vs. Rotan, 5:30 p.m.; Snyder National vs. winner of Monday's game, 7:15 p.m.

The seemi-finals will be played Thursday night with the finals set for Friday night.

The Snyder American won the area tournament at Rotan last year and advanced to the District finals at Lubbock before losing a 2-1 heart-breaker to Midland for the title. Midland used a 2-run homer in the bottom of the sixth for their win.

Tomorrow's Snyder-Colorado City Pony League game will start at 8 p.m. Manager Bill Valentine of Snyder has announced he'll go with either Tim Roberts or Norman Gladson in tomorrow's series opener.

Valentine has revealed his probable starting lineup and batting order for Monday's game and reads as follows:

The Snyder Pony Leaguers advanced to the district finals last year before bowing to Abilene for the title.

This year's Pony All-Stars swept six of seven exhibition games with the other game being a tie game. One of the exhibition wins came at the expense of defending district champion Abilene.

Minton Captures Pony Bat Crown

Tommy Minton of the Lions Club Phillies easily copped the individual batting crown in the Snyder Pony League.

Minton compiled an amazing .658 average for the season, some 263 percentage points better than his nearest pursuer.

Minton collected 25 hits in 43 trips for his fantastic bat mark.

Terry Lee and Norman Gladson, both of the Court House Tigers, tied in most runs with 24 each.

Lee, in addition, had the most doubles, 4; most triples, 6; and the most runs-batted in, 17.

Gladson and Jerry Fleming of the Tigers each had two homers to share the round trip title.

Minton's 25 hits was high in the single department.

Following are the 1956 Pony League batting average as compiled by the News sports department:

One Giant had batted when the storm hit in the first inning. After a delay of 1 hour and 26 minutes, the game was postponed.

A crowd of 8,000 was on hand. Sam Jones started on the pitching mound for the Cubs. Johnny Antonelli had been picked to pitch for the Giants.

Gil Turner, Philadelphia welterweight, formerly worked for his grandfather as a plasterer.

National Fem Open Starts

DULUTH, Minn., July 22 (AP) — Patty Berg, possessor of 73 championships in a stardust golfing career spanning two decades, comes back this week to the Northwoods scene of her first triumph in a bid for the Women's National Open title.

Miss Berg won the counterpart of the present Open 10 years ago and came fretfully close in 1953 when she fizzled away an eight-stroke lead on the final 36 holes at Rochester, N.Y. to finish behind Betsy Rawls.

Betsy likewise is back to try for a repeat against a field that includes most pro topnotchers — defending champion Fay Crocker, Peggy Kirk, Mickey Wright, Betty Jameson, Marlene Bauer Hagge, Beverly Hanson, Louise Suggs, Mary Lena Faulk and others shooting for $6,000 in prize money.

Rejoining them after almost a year's absence from bigtime golf in Honolulu's Jackie Pung.

Wiffie Smith, Pat Lesser and Ann Quast are among the ranking amateur threats.

Broomstick was foaled in 1901 and after a successful racing career served in stud until he was 29.

1956 City Tourney Tops From Several Standpoints

By BUCK FRANCIS

GUESS YOU COULD say the 1956 City Golf Tournament, which is scheduled to wind up today, is the most successful of the three previous City Tournaments held here.

One thing the '56 tourney definitely topped was the entry list. This year's tourney drew a record field of 78.

And judging from the qualifying scores, the caliber of play in the Championship Flight perhaps topped the previous tournaments here. There were several posting qualifying scores in the 70's that didn't make the Championship Flight.

This is exceptionally good for a city the size of Snyder to have to qualify with a 78 or better to make the tilte flight. And there were three shooting 78's that didn't make the Championship Flight.

This came about when five turned in 78 qualifying socres and there was only room for two in the title flight. A drawing was then held with the two "lucky" players in the drawing gaining the Championship Flight.

The '56 City Tournament wasn't without its extra hole matches. A total of 11 matches had gone over the limit going into ytsterday's play.

There may have been more but we know of two fellows who had to go extra holes twice during the tournament.

Dr. Dean Strack in the title flight went over-time twice, going 19 and 23 holes in his overtimes.

Strack won his 19-holer but dropped the 23-hole thriller, the latter coming at the hands of a game competitor in Shelby Coker.

Strack's 19-hole decision came at the expense of Manning Davis in the quarterfinals and it possibly climaxed the biggest comeback of the tournament. The golfing dentist was five down with seven to go before he turned on the steam to even the match on 18 and then win it with an "eagle three" on the 19th.

There was quite an oddity in Dr. Strack's 23-hole affair with Coker. Coker was never "up" in the tournament until he captured the 23rd hole to win the match.

Coker was either even or "down" throughout the regulation 18 holes.

The other player going overtime twice was Winston Gregg in the Fourth Flight. Gregg played two 19-hole matches, winning one and losing one.

The Championship finals was a hotly contested affair, too. Donald Ray Scott, the champion for the second straight time, had a much tougher time beating Coker in the finals than his 2-1 margin would indicate.

The match was all even through 14 holes. Then after Coker got into trouble on 15 to take a double bogey, Scott came back to birdie 16 to beat Coker's par and put Coker dormie. Both halved 17 with pars to bring the well-played match to a close.

There were several observers who didn't think Scott would repeat as champs but he proved that he is still a rugged competitor in tournament play by bagging his second straight crown.

Well, the '56 City Tournament is almost history now and although it may be the best of 'em all to date,bigger things are anticipated for next year. Next year's entry goal has already been set at 100 and the way the golfing bug has been biting lately, it's a pretty safe bet that the '57 goal will be reached.

Texettes In 2 Games Here

The Snyder Texettes, victors in two games last week, will see action twice more this week.

The Texettes will meet Midland Tuesday night and the Snyder Negro girls team Friday, both games carded for the softball diamond in Towle Memorial Park.

In games last week, the Texettes defeated Coahoma, 29-28, and Sweetwater, 24-15, bringing the Texette record for the current season to five wins and two defeats.

Snyder will host a girls softball tournament here Aug. 16-17-18. About six or eight teams are expected to compete in the tournament here.

Two Teams Are Tied For Odessa Lead

ODESSA, Tex., July 21 (AP) — Circuit rider Bo Wininger, who registers from Odessa, and Ernie Vossler, who signs out of Midland, moved their teams into a first - place tie here today in the Odessa $7,500 Pro-Am Golf Tournament with 54-hole totals of 196, 20 strokes under par.

Wininger, playing with Odessa amateur Bobby French, fired a six-under-par 66 today while Vossler and Amarillo amateur Rex Baxter had a five-under-par 67.

Vossler and Baxter were one shot in front at the 36-hole mark but couldn't get short putts to stay in the hole today.

J. T. Hammett-Don Kaplan, Phillips duo, moved into third place, a stroke behind the co - leaders with a 197 total after a 65 round.

Tied for fourth at 198 were these three teams: Billy Maxwell-Red Roden, Odessa; Bobby Cupit-Frank Wharton, Dallas and Fred Atkins, Carlsbad, N.M.-Ray Ferguson, Breckenridge. Maxwell Roden had a 62, one of four 10 - under par rounds shot today.

Seven teams are at 199 going into tomorrow's final round. D. Taylor, Roswell, N. M. and Kenneth Wright, Clovis, N. M. - George Addison, Jal, N. M.

The field was cut to low 40 teams for tomorrow's play. There were only 10 strokes separating the first and 40th teams.

Archie Tabbed 4-1 Favorite

TORONTO, July 21 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore, who is 39 or 42 depending on what records are accepted, is a 4-1 favorite to dispose of James J. Parker of Toronto, Wednesday night in a 15-round match that is being billed for the "world's heavyweight championship."

Although no boxing commission is recognizing the winner as successor to Rocky Marciano, Moore claims the title and Parker claims the Canadian version of the British Empire crown.

Promoter Jack Solomons expects a crowd of 10,000 to pay at least $100,000 to see the open-air bout in Maple Leaf Stadium. Ring time for the main event is 9 p.m., EST, although it might be moved up if the weather is threatening. There will be no radio or TV in the United States with the possibility of a Canadian radio broadcast.

Joe Savoldi Michigan State's versatile trackman, won the 1956 Drake Relays 120-yard high hurdle event in 0:14.2 — one tenth of a second off the meet records.

FOR UNITED STATES

Vet Athletes Carrying Load

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Three elderly sportsmen, a lady on the brink of her 30s and a young girl with a man-sized golf game are the only American winners of major European sports events this spring and summer.

Otherwise America never has looked so bad.

No one seems to know exactly why American athletes suddenly have started losing but the blame is going to too much television watching and too little exercise, too many convertibles, too much soft living and too many Russians.

Benjamin Harrison Hogan, 44, and Samuel Jackson Snead, 43, managed to keep the Canada Cup Golf Trophy for the United States last month at Virginia Water, England. Hogan also won the International golf title.

Archie Moore Kept Title

Archie Leroy Moore, who is at least 42, kept his grip on the world's light-heavyweight fight title in London in early June.

Shirley Jane Fry won the Wimbledon women's singles championship at the advanced tennis age of 29.

Margaret (Wiffie) Smith, so chubby she is cute, won the British Women's golf championship.

There also have been a few scattered winners, such as the Princeton University crew, which took minor contests of various sorts. And last winter a couple of Americans—Tenley Albright and Hayes Allen Jenkins—won the Winter Olympic figure skating gold medals.

But in the case of Albright and Jenkins there is a great deal of doubt if figure skating is refigerated show business or sports.

U.S. Used To Win

It wasn't more than a couple of years ago that having an American entered in a European contest made picking the winner an easy chore. You just picked him and usually he won.

It is too early to say Americans have gone into a full tailspin. But they are in a fancy slump. Young Americans especially have looked poor.

Two More To Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y., July 21 (AP) — Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin will be added formally to Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in a day-long festival that includes an exhibition game between the Detroit Tigers and the New York Giants at Doubleday Field.

Greenberg and Cronin, both general managers of American League teams, will be present for the ceremony to accept plaques from Commissioner Ford Frick.

Greenberg, 45, hit 58 home runs for Detroit in 1938, only two short of Babe Ruth's 1927 record that now is under fire by Mickey Mantle. Hank, one of the better right-handed hitters in the 1930-40 era, had a lifetime average of .313 with 311 home runs. He finished his playing career with Pittsburgh in 1947 and moved into the front office at Cleveland.

Cronin, 49, also is a right-handed batter whose 2,285 base hits put him in exclusive company. A shortstop and manager at both Washington and Boston after an early trial at Pittsburgh, Cronin finished with a lifetime average of .302, making seven All-Star teams. He quit as a player in 1945 after fracturing his right leg. After managing Boston from 1935 through 1947, he moved into the front office with the Red Sox in 1948.

Encampment Closes

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex., July 21 (AP)—Must Call, an impressive National Guard tradition dating back to George Washington and the first militia, closed a 2-week encampment today for the 49th Armored Division.

Burkemo Leading Pack In PGA Meet

By WILL GRIMSLEY

CANTON, Mass., July 21 (AP) — Walter Burkemo, a cherub-faced, match-play scrapper, erased defending champion Doug Ford with near flawless golf today, 5 and 3, to lead a parade of "name' stars into the fourth round of the Professional Golfers Assn., championship.

Joining the [illegible] 1953 titleholder in the round of 16 were favorite Sam Snead, who had a 20-hole squeak in the morning; former National Open champions Gene Sarazen, Lew Worsham, and Ed Furgol and Masters champion Jack Burke jr.

Two more 18-hole rounds tomorrow at the rain-dampened Blue Hill Country Club will reduce the field to four, with the semifinals scheduled Monday and the finals Tuesday.

Most amazing performance of the day was that of Gene Sarazen, a throwback to the golden Twenties, who swept through two rounds of gruelling match play to qualify for a fourth-round shot at Snead.

The cocky Sarazen and the ebullient [illegible] PGA championships between them—three each—clash in the feature Sunday morning match at 10:18 a.m., EDT.

Four down with seven holes to play, the 54-year-old Sarazen rallied to beat Dick Lindahl on the 19th hole in the morning second round, then he knocked over Mike Krak, the long belter from Steubenville, Ohio, in the afternoon, 4 and 2.

"I'm playing as well as I ever did in my heyday,' said the enthusiastic Sarazen, not a strand of gray in his dark black hair, his piano legs showing no sign of strain.

It was a day of sporadic rain, exciting overtime matches and rules controversies at the swank club 15 miles south of Boston.

Ford was saved from elimination in the morning round by a referee's decision and a spectacular wedge shot, which nailed a birdie on the 23rd, or fifth extra hole, of his match withMike Dietz of Lake Orion, Mich.

Snead sank a 20-foot birdie putt on the 20th to turn back John O'Donnell of Baltimore and then he brought his big game into all its awesome power to trounce wee Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass.

Burkemo, a finalist in 1953 and 1954 as well as 1953 champion, won over Robert Zander of Fayetteville, Ark., 2 and 1, in the morning before taking the number of the hard-fighting defending champion.

Against Ford, the Franklin, Mich., match - play whiz never missed hitting a green in regulation figures and, down only once at the fourth hole, won the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th in succession.

Ford's game seemed to collapse on the back nine where Burkemo applied pressure by hitting his irons dead to the pins.

Pirates Nip Reds On Late Homer, 4-3

CINCINNATI, July 21 (AP)—Roberto Clemente hit a home run with two on in the ninth today to give the Pittsburg Pirates a 4-3 vicory over the Cincinnati Redlegs and the first pitching defeat of the season to Brooks Lawrence. Lawrence had won 13 straight.

The sudden Pirate rally came after Lawrence, surviving a shaky first-inning start, had held the Bucs hitless for six innings. He had given up three hits in the first two frames and then never was threatened until the ninth.

Elroy Face was the winning hurler. He relieved Bob Friend.

Tribe Takes Doubleheader

BALTIMORE, July 21 (AP)—Vic Wertz stroked his 22nd homer to win one game and then doubled in the 10th inning to set up the winning run in another tonight as the Cleveland Indians swept a twin bill from the Baltimore Orioles by identical 4-3 margins before 22,986.

Wertz crashed his rally-igniting two-bagger off Billy Loes with one out in the nightcap and Al Rosen promptly brought him home with another double off the right field wall.

Dick Williams had put the Birds into a 3-all tie in the seventh with a two run-homer off lefty Herb Score. It was Williams' sixth since coming on waivers from Brooklyn a month ago.

Score yielded only four hits in a tight mound duel with Hal (Skinny) Brown, before being removed for a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Mike Garcia and Don Mossi finished up, with Mossi engineering the final five putouts to achieve his fourth win against three losses

In the twi-night first game, Wertz, a veteran who had to be traded in 1954 because he couldn't hit in Baltimore's spacious park, brought the Indians from behind with a two-run homer that barely cleared the right-field wall.

Ennis'Homer Sinks Braves

MILWAUKEE, July 21 (AP)—Del Ennis smashed a three-run homer in the top of the 15th inning today as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the league-leading Milwaukee Braves 8-5 in a 6-hour contest watched by 36,764 fans. Eddie Mathews, Bob Roselli and Johnny Logan hit homers for the Braves who held on to their two-game National League lead. The game was interrupted twice by rain.

Ted Homers As Red Sox Tame Tigers

BOSTON, July 21 (AP)—Ted Williams checked his temper and drove in four runs with a homer, a double and a single today as the Boston Red Sox battered the Detroit Tigers 9-3.

Williams, who earlier threatened to continue his spitting gestures to the Boston press, boosted his batting average to a gaudy .373 with his three hits.

After looking at a called third strike in the first inning, he singled home two runs with two out in the third to give the Sox a 2-1 lead.

He was left stranded after doubling with two out in the fifth, but poled his eighth homer of the year and the 402nd of his major league career with one man on base in the seventh. The big slugger then retired with Boston holding a comfortable 7-3 edge.

Williams' slugging helped big Frank Sullivan to his ninth victoyr of the season. Sullivan, who has lost four, set down the Tigers on eight hits, including Al Kaline's 15th homer.

The loss was charged to southpaw Billy Hoeft.

Athletic, Cubs Win LL Finales

The curtain fell on the regular Little League schedule Friday night with the West Texas State Bank Athletics and Lions Club Cubs chalking up victories.

The Athletics, pulling away in the late innings, defeated the Trinity Methodist White Sox, 11-3, in the opener. The Cubs followed suit with a 12-2 victory over the Kiwanis Club Braves in the night cap.

The wins were the 16th in 17 starts for the National League champion Cubs and 10th against eight losses for the Athletics in the American League.

Costly errors led to the White Sox downfall against the Athletics. Seven of the 11 Athletic runs scored directly on errors or wild pitches.

Dalton Walton, who started on the mound for the Athletics and gained credit for the win, also led his mates at the plate with two-for-two, one of his base knocks going for a triple.

John Greene of the White Sox also had a perfect night at the plate, two singles and a double in three officials trips.

Walton and his successor, Gilbert Merritt, combined for 14 strikeouts. Walton whiffed eight in four innings, Merritt six in two frames.

The Cubs spotted the Braves a 1-0 lead in the first inning but came roaring back in the second to score eight times, more than enough for pitcher Weldon Ware to pick up the win.

The Cubs ended the melee by scoring four runs in the third to move ahead, 12-2. After the Braves went scoreless in top of the fourth, the game was called on the 10-run lead ruling.

Little Robert Stipe was the big gun in the nine-hit Cub attack. Stipe collected two singles, a walk in three trips to the plate and drove in three runs. Stipe was the only player in the game getting more than one hit.

Abe Gonzales of the Cubs got the only extra base hop, a two-run double in the third.

Equipment Bought For Fire Truck

Apparatus for equiping a new city fire truck was purchased on the lowest of five bids opened by the city of Snyder in a special meeting Friday afternoon.

The low bidder was American Fire Apparatus Co., whose bid of $8,170 was accepted by the city council. The equipment purchased includes the pumping and water storage apparatus for a new truck to be added to the city's fleet of fire trucks to help equip a proposed new fire station.

Although bids from five firms on purchase of 3,200 feet of fire hose were opened, purchase of the hose was deferred until the hose can be more thoroughly tested by Snyder Fire Chief Durward A. Porter. Bidding on the hose were the Charles M. Barnes Co., Childress; Bi-Lateral Fire Hose Co.; Eureka Fire Hose Co.; Sure Fire Equipment Co.; and Fire Appliance Co. of Texas. Each of the firms bid several different types of hose, and testing will require considerable time. All bids were similar in price.

Other bidders, all several hundred dollars higher than the low bid on the fire truck apparatus, were: The Seagrave Co., American LaFrance Corp.; Fire Appliance Co. of Texas; and Peter Pirsh & Sons Co.

Roy Dunlap, city manager, reported to the city council that site for the sub fire station in Southwest Snyder has been donated by the Winston Brothers, but exact location has not been determined. It will be either just north of Colonial Hills Baptist Church, or one and one-half blocks farther north on El Paso Avenue.

Dunlap said plans for the building which are not complete yet, will specify that the structure conform to architecture of residences in the area.

The council voted unanimously to call for bids on reworking of Twenty-sixth Street from the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific tracks east to Avenue F. The bids are to be opened Aug. 6 at 7 o'clock. Money for the project will come from bond funds recently voted by Snyderites.

Legion Head Apologizes For Remarks

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Rep. Diggs (D-Mich) said today Everett Page, national vice commander of the American Legion, has apologized for making what Diggs termed anti-Negro statements at a convention of Mississippi legionaires.

Page was quoted as telling the Biloxi meeting July 9 that he deplored the selection of three Negroes as Democratic National Convention delegates from his home state of Texas. He said he personally had refused to be a delegate because he didn't wish to sit with Negro delegates.

Diggs, one of the three Negro members of Congress, prompty protested to the Legion's national commander, J. Addington Wagner, in reply, passed along a communication from Page to the Legion head which said:

"I regret that in the course of my opening remarks and before going into the body of my talk I made certain comments bearing upon an issue upon which I certainly had no right to speak as representative of the American Legion.

"I apologize to you and to all who were offended by my remarks."

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 7, NO. 71 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 22, 1956 SECTION B

The son of one of the riders in the rodeo makes an avid fan and supporter, as does Donald Thomas, above. Shown with Donald are from left: Miss Jo Frizzell, Miss Wanda Brunson, Mrs. Harold Thomas, and Miss Helen Dennis.

Rodeo spectating is interesting to women and children, but the smaller tots lose their interest when the action wanes. Even little Sherry Lynn Weathers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Weathers, with her mother at left, of Hamilton, Tex., went to sleep before the performance was over, although her father had been an earlier participant in the action. While in Snyder for the rodeo they visited relatives and friends including Mrs. Alfred Weathers, Jr., and son Dickie, right. Dickie's father is in the army serving in Korea. (Lee Watson Photographs)

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and its auxiliary, the Jayceettes, operated the concession stands at the rodeo this year with the clubs dividing profits. More than 1,700 hot dogs were prepared and sold the opening night of the rodeo this year. The Jaycee at left ready to deliver hot dogs to the spectators is W. S. Dow, while members of the Jayceettes from left are: Mrs. Dick Roberts,. Mrs. Bill Williams, Mrs. Doug McGlaun, Mrs. Steve Birdwell, Mrs. Mel Zane Gilbert, and Mrs. Hershel Hinshaw.

Rodeo Makes Gay Outing

Dances held following performances of the rodeo each night have become a big part of each rodeo season here. Members of the Snyder Optimist Club served as ticket takers and "bouncers" at the dances held this year at the rodeo pavilion. Some of the club members shown above are from left: Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Bridgeman, Mrs. Jack Craft, Craft, and Carl Herod. Craft and Herod sold tickets at the Thursday night dance. The club received $10 for services if its members each night of the dance.

Some visitors to the Annual Scurry County Rodeo travel a long way to attend the rodeo and visit relatives. Mrs. Peggy June Stewart above, traveled from Birmingham, Ala. She is shown dancing at the rodeo dance with her cousin, Gene Breedlove, with whose family she is visiting in Snyder.

Stains From Screens

If you have trouble with screens staining your window sills, scrub sills with washing soda or trisodium phosphate. Screens that have been varnished will not stain window sills.

Make some rich chicken stock with chicken giblets, wing tips, necks, bony back pieces. Cover the chicken parts with water and add a small onion and a carrot, some celery leaves, peppercorns, salt, whole cloves and whole alspice. When the giblets are tender the broth is ready. Chill, then remove all fat. Mix with heavy cream and curry powder to taste. Serve as a cold soup with chopped chives.

Athlete's Foot Disease Lurks Around Swim Pool

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

ATHLETE'S FOOT is a skin disease of the feet. It is caused by a fungus and is a type of ringworm. It is very contagious. It can be picked up by walking barefoot over a damp surface where the fungus is lurking.

The most frequent places where children (and adults too) get athlete's foot are at swimming pools and especially in the locker rooms or shower baths.

The fungus is killed quickly in bright sunshine, so the edges of the pool or a beach are less of a hazard than the indoor rooms.

Once one member of a family becomes infected with athlete's foot, it can be spread to the rest of the family from the bathroom floor. The fungus loves warm moist places.

The fungus of athlete's foot makes cracks between the toes. These cracks become angry and red, small water blisters appear. When they burst the skin is raw. The toes itch and burn. A rash on the foot itself may appear and in servere cases this rash spreads rapidly up the whole leg. Sometimes the itching leads to scratching and further infection. Once in a while the scratching transfers the reflection to the hands.

Do not neglect athlete's foot. It will not get well by itself. If you see the signs of little cracks between the toes, go immediately to the doctor. It's much better to let him prescribe than to try any of the many preparations you see widely advertised. While you're waiting to get an appointment, wear white cotton socks — fresh daily. Keep the feet extra clean and dry and DON'T scratch.

Most good swimming pools do the best they can to prevent athlete's foot, but no measures are 100 percent perfect.

One of the first things you can do is keep your shoes on if you have any suspicion that you have athlete's foot. Don't go to a pool and use a locker room and be the cause of others catching your infection. It doesn't take long to cure athlete's foot, once treatment is started. While you're waiting for your own recovery, be careful of others. If everyone did this we'd have less athlete's foot.

Because some people will be careless, protect yourself and your children by wearing disposable paper slippers or open wooden clogs while you're in the locker rooms or shower baths.

Don't use other people's towels.

Foot baths containing fungicidal solutions placed in shower rooms are not of much value unless the solution is changed constantly.

A good practice for a foot bath is a container of the special solution supported over the bath and allowed to drip contantly into the bath below. Even this is far from perfect protection.

Floors of shower rooms need to be scrubbed frequently with hot soapy water then mopped with a chlorine or creosal solution. It helps a good deal if they can be exposed to sunlight or ultra violet light.

Plainview HD Club Has Meet

The Plainview Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ralph Foster, 2111 Twenty-seventh Street.

Plans were made for the club's annual chicken fry that is to be held at Mrs. Jess Konsman's, Lloyd Mountain Community, August 21, at 6:30 p.m.

Plans were also made for the county picnic, which is to be held at the Towle Memorial Park pavilion, August 7 at 7:30 p.m.

The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. John Woodard, Camp Springs Road, September 18.

Wednesday Duplicate Club Has Meeting

The Wednesday Duplicate Bridge Club met Wednesday night at 7:30 at Mary Lynn's Tea Room, for master point bridge.

High score winners were Mrs. W. D. Beggs and Mrs. S. G. Phelps. Mable Brock and Leah Davis were second high score winners and Alleen Curry and Mrs. C. D. Knight won third.

Protect Your Hair

Bathing caps are stylish again so don't forget to put one on. It'll protect your hair and keep your wave neat for that after-swim date.

Split fan rolls through section markings; spread each small section with butter and toast under the broiler or in a hot oven. Delicious with soup.

English couture, influenced as it is by royal patronage, has a definite regal quality. Among the famous names who design clothes fit for a Queen is Lachasse, creator of this model which can be formal or casual depending on the choice of fabric. Set-in bands that are continued from the shoulder straps emphasize an elongated bodice. Seeming to spring from these are gathered panels which add graceful fullness to the gored skirt. All this detail however presents no problem, even to a beginner, since the custom pattern is accurately perforated for precise matching and includes an easy-to-follow instruction sheet. In linen, pretty cottons, slubbed or smooth silks it is perfect for summer wear. Later you will want to make it again in faille, silk taffeta, or satin brocades. Size 12 requires 4 7/8 yards of 36 inch material for dress. To order Pattern No. S-314 state size, enclose $1.00. Airmail handling requires 25c extra. Address INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERNS, P. O. Provincial Breakfront Solves Many Problems

By BILL BAKER

It's the most beautiful piece of furniture that has ever been offered on a do-it-yourself basis — that's what almost everyone who has seen my handsome provincial breakfront has said. And I think you'll say the same.

Almost six feet tall, the breakfront is 48 inches wide and 19 inches deep.

In the lower part of the cabinet you'll find two large storage areas behind double doors. Two roomy drawers are above this. Then you'll find a wide step-back — a perfect buffet surface.

The upper part of the breakfront features two additional drawers and three open shelves.

Early American or provincial homes, naturally, will offer the right spot for this useful storage unit. And if your home is modern, you'll find that it can become the perfect accent item — it's warm lines made a fine change-of-pace item.

I said that you can have this breakfront in your home on a do-it-yourself basis, and it's true. Using my pattern package number 141, even a novice woodworker will be able to do a professional-looking job in the workshop.

"Easy," you'll say when you describe how you finished the cabinet. Exact-size pattern pieces in heavy-weight paper, for example, make it an easy tack, trace and cut job. Each part of the break front is duplicated in the pattern package. Diagrams, material list, assembly and finishing directions are also included.

Now here's how to get your pattern package: send your name and address (very clearly printed), together with only one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50), to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Be sure to ask for pattern package 141, and send either check, cash or money order. Copyright 1956, Mirror Enterprises Co., Los Angeles, California.

This is plan C-594AP by Lester Cohen, Architect's Home Plan Bureau, Box 141, Bethlehem, Conn.

Mrs. Luce Says Paint Flaked Off

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP) — Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce said today "very, very old paint" falling from beams in her embassy residence bedroom in Rome made her ill about 18 months ago.

Over a period of a year, she said, she must have breathed and eaten small flakes of the arsenic-bearing paint. This may have weakened her for her recent illness, she said.

Her first public statement on the paint poisoning was given by Mrs. Luce to reporters as she left by air for Lisbon, Portugal, and a three week Mediterranean cruise. After the cruise she will return to her duties in Rome.

The story of arsenic from roses painted on Mrs. Luce's bedroom ceiling poisoning her appeared early this week in Time magazine, published by her husband. Her husband, Henry Luce, is editor in chief of the magazine.

The poisoned paint cause of the illness has been questioned both in the United States and in Italy.

Mrs. Luce said today that a story about her illness, involving the paint, had appeared previously in another magazine (People Today) and the Time article was published to "forestall" misinterpretations.

The paint, she said, probably was shaken from the beams by people 'walking' in a laundry above her bedroom, in which she did a great deal of her work.

"Over a period of a year," she said, "small flakes must have fallen on my bed, my table, and into my food. This did not put me in a very good working condition."

Armenian Citizens Want To Come Back

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21 (AP)—Between 200 and 300 former U. S. citizens now living in Soviet Armenia want to come back to America and have asked President Eisenhower for help, a San Francisco building executive said after returning from Russia.

Earl W. Smith, ormer president of the National Assn. of Homebuilders, said a delegation representing the community had given a written plea to Thomas Coogan, a New York builder, asking "President Eisenhower and the government to interest themselves in helping these people get back into this country."

Federal Prosecutor Questioning Hodge

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—A federal prosecutor took over the questioning today in the Orville E. Hodge case, while state charges were filed.

U. S. Atty. Robert Tieken arranged for a special, almost secret, appearance of Hodge, former Illinois state auditor, before the federal grand jury in Chicago.

At the same time, in Springfield, Ill., Hodge was formally accused of embezzling $650,000 in state funds. The amount of auditor's funds missing has been officially placed as high as $630,000.

Hodge, a Republican, precipitated a brief clash of jurisdictional interests when he came from Springfield to Chicago for the surprise, voluntary appearance before the federal grand jury.

In Springfield, State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon, a Republican, who had been interrogating Hodge, obtained an embezzlement warrant against the former state auditor.

For a time, while Hodge testified in the U. S. courthouse in Chicago, Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman of Cooke County (Chicago), the only Democratic official involved, surrounded the federal building with 12 deputies intent upon seizing Hodge when he emerged.

However, Tieken told reporters he had "every intention of protecting my witnesses."

Tieken referred to Hodge, and two others for whom Coutrakon obtained arrest warrants. They are Edward A. Epping, Hodge's office manager, and Edward A. Hintz, resigned president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co. in Chicago. Both are charged by Coutrakon with conspiracy to defraud the state.

Coutrakon said in Springfield that his investigation disclosed that 46 state warrants were issued by Hodge's office under questionable circumstances, and cashed by persons other than the payees. Of these, he said, 21 were cashed in the Southmor bank.

Illinois Atty. Gen. Latham Castle has estimated the mis-applied funds might total as much as $800,000.

Coutrakon declined to answer a reporter's question as to whether he thought the unannounced Hodge trip to Chicago was part of any possible move to get the Hodge case "off the doorstep" of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton.

The scandal has been a severe shock to Stratton and other leaders of the GOP Illinois administration who seek re-election in the Nov. 6 voting.

Pollution Kills Fish

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que., July 21 (AP) — Thousands of dead perch, bass, carp, pickerel and sturgeon have been washed up on the shores of the St. Lawrence River. Biologists blame pollution from an unknown source. The area affected extends from Lachine, near Montreal, to Ste. Anne-de-la-Perade, about 100 miles downstream.

Owens Asks South Texas Vote Probe

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—District Judge Jesse Owens of Vernon, a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals, asked both the House Special Investigationg Committee and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd today to investigate alleged absentee voting violations in South Texas.

He made his request in identical telegrams to Wade Spilman of McAllen, chairman of the House committee and to Shepperd.

He urged both "to make a thorough on-the-ground investigation of the situation in that area in order that the citizens' right to vote shall be protected at the polls."

His telegrams said "I am advised that the George Parr machine in Duval County, and the Webb County political machine at Laredo have endorsed W. A. Morrison in the race for Court of Criminal Appeals and that they are attempting to steal several thousand votes away from me and that there have already been irregularities in the absentee voting."

Morrison presiding judge of the Appellate Court, is seeking re-election.

Owen's telegrams were the latest in a series of demands for investigation of the alleged absentee voting irregularities. Who, if anyone, is going to make the investigation, remained a mott question.

Duke Wears Morning Attire To Wedding

SHREWSBURY, England, July 21 (AP)—The Duke of Kent wore a pair of checked pants with a morning coat when he attended a wedding here today.

Some other guests at the wedding of Teresa Crossley and Alain Camu, of Belgium, wore usual striped greys.

Asked about the checks with morning dress a member of the wedding party explained:

"It's a new style."

The bridegroom's father is Louis Camu, president of the Bank of Brussels.

Airline Stewardess School Is Planned

FORT WORTH, July 21 (AP)—American Airlines soon will start construction of the first school in the United States to be devoted entirely to the training stewardesses, O.M. Mosier, vice president, said today.

The school near Amon Carter Field will be equipped to train 1,000 a year. Scheduled for completion in August, 1957, it will cost one million dollars.

Ike Doesn't Feel Strong

PANAMA, July 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower was overheard to say today that while he feels fine "I don't have much strength but I keep going."

He made the remark after placing a wreath at the tomb of President Jose Antonio Remon, who was assassinated in January 1955.

Eisenhower was speaking to Miss Carmen Hortensia Remon, a sister of the dead president. Reporters standing by heard him say it.

The President is convalescing from a June 9 intestinal operation. He suffered a heart attack last September.

Miss [illegible] told Eisenhower "You're looking very well."

He replied that he was feeling fine. (Some other reporters understood him to say he was feeling fairly well).

Then he added "I haven't much strength but I keep goin."

Newsmen doublechecked, with the sister and she said that was the way she got it, too.

Actress Is Hollywood Commuter

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A pretty Colleen named Miller could be named the queen of the airlines. She commutes between a Chicago home and a Hollywood career.

Strange things are always happening to this cute brunette. So it doesn't seem odd to her that she could have a home and a career 2,000 miles apart.

The reason: she is married to Ted Briskin, former husband of Betty Hutton and head of a big camera concern in Chicago. She is also a promising young actress with Universal-International Studios but now being loaned out to MGM for "Capital Offense."

"It works out very well," she says. "We have a house here and a house on the lake front in Chicago. When I'm working, I stay here. The rest of the time I reman in Chicago. I have two sets of clothes, so it's no trouble going from one home to the other."

How does her husband feel about it?"

"He thinks it's wonderful. He loves Hollywood anyway. I was thinking of quitting my career when our daughter, Robin, was born seven weeks ago. But Ted said that wouldn't be fair—to me or Robin. He pointed out that if I quit I might be bored and frustrated with being just a housewife."

As I pointed out, strange things have a way of happening to Colleen. Born in Yakima, Wash., she went to high school in Portland, Ore., graduating at 16. She had been dancing since an early age and decided to seek her fortune in Hollywood.

So, all alone at 16, she took a bus to the glamor capital. She knew no one here except a dance director. That turned out to be a good contact, and she landed in a dance troupe that toured the continent.

While dancing in Las Vegas, a fish helped her get a screen contract. She was chosen to pose with a fish caught in a Lake Mead angling contest. The photo was seen in a Los Angeles newspaper by Howard Hughes and she was offered an RKO contract.

She returned to Hollywood full of ambition to conquer the town. So what happened? For almost three years she collected a salary without appearing in a film.

Undoubtedly she'll be getting more action. When a player is loaned out to another studio, it's a good sign.

THE MOST glamorous mayor in the U.S., Julie Adams, right, is shown handing the gavel and municipal by-laws to Universal City over to actress Leigh Snowden following Julie's announcement that she would retire temporarily from public office and movies to have a baby. She plays the lone feminine role in "Away All Boats."

Cecil B. DeMille Still A Champion At 75

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11 (AP) — Cecil B. DeMille, a vigorous living legend and the man who gave the world Hollywood, is now 75.

And still champion!

It's a matter of glee in the Paramount accounting office that DeMille epics, mostly based on biblical themes, have been seen by an estimated five billion people—roughly twice the earths inhabitants. Box office returns total nearly three quarters of a billion dollars.

The biggest is yet to come — "The Ten Commandments," which has occupied DeMille's 12-hour working days for the last five years, will be released in November.

It started out with a tentative budget of six millions but DeMille now has the cost up to 13 millions. It may be the first 15-million-dollar production in movie history.

Y. Frank Freeman, head of the studio that's financing the movie, hasn't even seen a rough cut yet, but knows that any DeMille epic, no matter the cost, always makes money.

A movie maker who spends money like water yet with the judgment of a banker, DeMille shrugs off the cost of "The Ten Commandments."

"Its not the money that counts. What is important is whether I'm good enough to do justice with the story. The story of Moses is needed in a world tense with the threat of the H-bomb."

To DeMille, the story of Moses is the second greatest story of mankind. He made the first in 1927 as "The King of Kings," the life of Jesus. It has never stopped playing some place in the world since its release—almost 30 years ago.

DeMille boasts that he never earned a cent from "The King of Kings."

"And," he adds, "I won't take a cent from 'The Ten Commandments. It will all go to charity."

It will be DeMille's 70th picture, but not his last.

"I would rather wear out than rust," he says. "I'll never retire."

Upcoming under the DeMille banner is a musical version of an earlier hit "The Buccaneer." Others will direct and produce it.

"I'll just be the chairboy,' insists DeMille.

The chairboy is an important cog in the DeMille machine. When DeMille wants to sit down, he does so without ever looking back. It's the chairboy's chore to see that the chair is there. It always has been.

DeMille is an amazingly fit man. His bald head is tanned from gardening. In his off hours he spades, digs ditches, hauls dirt. There's a little stoop in his shoulders now, his hair fringe is a little whiter, but his thinking, talking and seeing are those of a man a good 10 years younger.

BEING INTRODUCED in the second feminine lead in Columbia's "The Eddy Duchin Story" is Victoria Shaw from Australia. The picture stars Tyrone Power and Kim Novak.

Cinerama Drawing Big Repeat Crowds

Convincing proof of the wealth of interest embraced in the new Cinerama production, "Seven Wonders of the World," is best shown by the amount of "repeat business" that it enjoys. Currently playing at the Melba Teater, Dallas, the attraction has drawn hundreds back to witness it a second or a third time.

Hailed by many educators for its value to teachers of geography, fashion designing, "Seven Wonders" may unintentionally prove to be the most versatile and useful instrument of instruction ever created in the field of visual-education. This is especially true as the attraction has great appeal to children because of its many scenes of children, because of its numerous animal sequences and because of its ride on a runaway train.

Yet "Seven Wonders of the World" does not attempt to be merely entertaining. Without apology and without theatrical pretentiousness it devotes much of its program to a reverent journey through the Holy Land and, later, takes the viewer to Rome for the magnificent pageantry of the closing ceremonies of the Marian Year. As in previous Cinerama attractions, the producers assume that Cinerama patrons have deep interest in spiritual as well as material matters.

Hollywood Tries Orient For International Types

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— In its search for international talent, Hollywood has reached to the Orient for two actresses of unusual beauty and ability.

One is Machiko Kyo, leading actress of Japan, who has been enlisted to appear opposite Marlon Brando and Glen Ford in "Teahouse of the August Moon." The other is Li Li-hua, top actress of the Hong Kong movie industry, who has been signed to a contract by Cecil B. DeMille.

Both women have an amazing beauty and a expressiveness that you don't associate with Orientals. Miss Kyo has an Eastern look with an almond-shaped face, high cheeks and long hair arranged traditionally for her role as a geisha girl. Miss Li appears more Westernized and wears her hair in an American-like curl. Both speak little English and require interpreters most of the time. Both would like to live in America.

Miss Kyo is the star of the postwar Japanese films that Western audiences know best—"Rashomon," "Gate of Hell" and "Ugetsu." Now almost finished with "Teahouse," she is amazed at the lavishness of American production.

Compulsory Shots

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—The Austin School board was asked yesterday to make Salk vaccine inoculations necessary for attendance. Louis Shanks, chairman of the county chapter of the national polio foundation, urged the requirement.

Another Cross In San Antonio Burned

SAN ANTONIO, July 21 (AP)—A second cross was burned in San Antonio late Friday night, apparently the work of a newly-organized Ku Klux Klan unit which first made known its presence with a cross of flame Tuesday night.

No crowd showed to watch the cruciform blaze near a Negro Kenwood section.

The cross, about six feet tall and four feet wide and wrapped in gasoline-soaked gunny sacks, was taken down by police.

Three Marines Die In Automobile Crash

PORT ORCHARD, Washn., July 21 (AP)—A speeding auto crashed into a pole and killed three Marines here today.

They were Pfc. Thomas Garity, 20, the driver of nearby Bremerton; Pfc. Cyrus Yellowmule, 21, of Wyola, Mont., and Pvt. Manuel Nevarez, 22, of El Paso, Tex.

Two other Marines, riding in the back seat, were injured. A young woman, thrown from the rear seat, escaped with minor cuts and b es. The six were returning an evening swimming par.y.

Hasty Sentence

PITTSBURGH, July 21 (AP) — A federal judge was just at the point of sentencing a man charged with stealing an auto when the air-raid siren wailed, signaling a mock alert.

"Nine months," called the judge and hurriedly retreated to his chambers without the formality of dismissing the court.

Renewal Of Offer To Egypt Forseen

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Sen. Thye (R-Minn) said today he foresees the possible renewal of American offers to help finance the $1,300,000,000 Aswan Dam on the Nile if Egypt "stops flirting with Russia."

Thye said he regards Secretary of State Dulles' withdrawal Wednesday of the offer of American aid as a diplomatic move designed to force Egypt to choose between the East and West.

"I agree with the secretary that under the circumstances it is not feasible for us to participate in the project," Thye said. "There is too much undertainty about where Egypt stands. Premier Nasser has been flirting too much with the Russians.

"In my opinion, the secretary's cancellation of the offer may be more of a hand-forcing move than anything else. If Egypt shows substantial evidence that it is on our side, I would think the matter of financing the dam might be reopened after Congress comes back in January."

Thye appeared to believe that Britain, which also withdrew its offer of aid, might be willing to follow the U. S. lead in any future negotiations.

The State Department based its withdrawal of the Aswan offer primarily on the grounds that Egypt has made the dam project economically unfeasible by mortgaging itself for Communist arms.

But many in Congress believe international and domestic political consiserations were involved.

The proposal to use American aid to help reclaim Egyptian land which might be planted in cotton never was popular in Southern states, four of which President Eisenhower carried in 1952.

Withdrawal of the offer also pleased pro-Isreal elements.

One influential Republican senator, who asked not to be named, said he was informed Egypt's relations with Israel also are involved in withdrawal of the offer.

It is his understanding, this senator said, that if Egypt does not turn to Russia for funds but renews requests for American help, Nasser's government would be asked to make some substantial move toward Arab-Israeli peace.

Thye is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee which sought to put a stop order on all funds for the dam even before Dulles announced the State Department was withdrawing the U.S. offer to put up part of the cost.

Dulles notified the committee by letter before he announced withdrawal of the offer that he and President Eisenhower would not be bound by the group's statement in its report on the foreign aid money bill that no funds should be spent on the dam without its prior approval.

Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

CAMERON, July 21 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Rice, 43, of Ben Arnold, was killed in a traffic accident late last night on Highway 77 about a mile north of here.

Sheriff Carl Black said a truck driven by Richard Tucker, 67, of Waco, struck the rear of the car in which Mrs. Rice and her husband, Oxsheer, were riding. Black said Tucker was not injured and Rice received only minor injuries.

NEUTRALISTS' PARLEY—India's Prime Minister Nehru, right, joined President Nasser of Egypt, left rear, and President Tito of Yugoslavia in Pula for widely awaited exchange of views by leaders of world neutralism. Clever 'Emile Zola' Is Back In Action

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Once again, a forceful and clever "Emile Zola" is tangling with the military.

It happened a long time ago, under different circumstances, and it's happening again today at the swamp-rimmed Marine base at Parris Island, S.C.

In the present case the "Zola" of the story is a doughty, ingenious New York attorney, Emile Zola Berman.

The situation summons up shades of that other Zola, the Frenchman who thundered his defense of another soldier against the combined weight of military authority.

That soldier, Capt. Alfred Dreyfuss, accused of betraying military secrets in a stirring case that dragged on for years and convulsed French politics, eventually was exonerated.

At Parris Island, Sgt. Mathew C. McKeon is being tried by court-martial for the death of six Marines who drowned when he led a platoon on a disciplinary march into a creek. Emile Zola Berman is defending him.

Berman was born in 1902, the same year his namesake — the famed French Zola — died. Berman's parents were keen admirers of the fiery French novelist.

Explaining the name, Berman once said it was "because of my mother's feeling for justice."

He volunteered to defend Sgt. McKeon without compensation.

Berman, at 54, is known in legal circles as one of the ablest trial lawyers in the East. He has specialized in trial work—for more than 30 years.

"Second to none," is the way a New York judge describes Berman's trial ability.

"He is a great cross-examiner, astute and resourceful. He has a remarkable memory. He understands how to marshal facts. He knows how to sum up a case—and he gives you the impression of talking sense."

Unity Depends On 'Reforms'

BERLIN, July 21 (AP)—East German Premier Otto Grotewohl declared today sweeping Communist-style "reforms" must be carried out in West Germany before it will become possible to reunify the country.

Grotewohl told the East German cabinet "the only platform" on which his government could agree to reunification must provide for:

1. Redistribution of land.
2. Confiscation of property belonging to so-called "monopolists and war criminals."
3. Reorganization of the school system along the lines of that in the East.

Grotewohl has put forward these demands before and West German officials have rejected them. Western officials say acceptance of the East German program would simply pave the way for the Reds to gain control of all Germany.

LOOK — 1,140 acre black land prairie sheep and cattle ranch. Had good care and has the grass. Mesquite, grama, buffalo, sideoats, winter rescue and also a good winter weed country. 65 acre farm. Home has four large rooms, bath and two screened-in porches. An old house, but is reasonably nice. Excellent barns, pens, sheds, chutes, and etc. Lots of good water all over the ranch. Three good wells, two mills, electric pump, storage at each well, troughs and faucets everywhere needed. Four good earthern tanks. Five pastures. Good sheep-proof fences. 30-inch annual rainfall. This ranch will take good care of 60 to 100 mother cows and their calves—depending on the seasons. Also a nice number of sheep can be run on the ranch. Pleasant climate, no sandstorms, mild winters. U.S. Economy Moves Along At High Level

By JOHN BAUSMAN

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP) — The U.S. ecomomy bubbed along at a confortably high level this week, apparently taking the big steel strike in its stride for the third week in a row.

Outside of areas closely connected with the strike, people were spending money faster than last year. Storekeepers seemed to figure this was no short-term spree and sent in heavy orders for fall merchandise.

There were other signs of prosperity. Industries continued to announce big growth plans and award major construction contracts. Even at strike-bound steel plants executives temporarily relieved of production chores studied future expansion.

The stock market showed confidence in the business future by remaining poised at the top of a five-week advance and on Friday moved quietly ahead with a modest gain.

But businessmen trained a wary eye on the steel strike. A lengthy shutdown could cause trouble and the period of grace before steel supplies give out on a wide scale was growing shorter.

Thus far the strike has idled 650,000 steelworkers and highest estimates of those laid off in allied industries runs around 100,000. The total is only a small percentage of the more than 66½ million persons who had jobs in the month just before the strike began.

If a prolonged strike forces additional plants to close in substantial numbers, however, unemployment would snowball rapidly and give the whole economy a setback.

Although there were still no signs a settlement was close, businessmen found some hope in reports that both union and management had narrowed differences slightly. Statements by government officials that President Eisenhower was "concerned" about the situation fostered belief the government would move to prevent serious harm to the economy.

In the meantime there were optimistic short and long-term predictions from the wool, electrical and heavy construction industries.

The wool industry found prospects bright for the selling season that begins in September. Although production has been increasing throughout the world, demand has outpaced it so far this year and has kept prices firm.

The forecast for the electrical industry was made by Philip Sporn, president of American Gas & Electric Co. He predicted the nation's electrical output will triple by 1975 and reach two trillion kilowatt hours of electricity a year.

In the heavy construction field, where contract awards are already running far ahead of last year, there will be some slowdown in the second half-year, an industry survey indicated, but it will still be the best second half-year on record. And in 1957 the rate of construction awards is expected to pick up and reach Superboom" levels, the Engineering News-Record predicted.

Homebuilding remains the dim spot in the construction picture. On top of reports that housing starts this year lag well behind last year's, there were signs of even further slowdowns. The Veterans Administration reported it was asked to appraise only 35,620 new homes in June. This was 20 per cent fewer than in May and about 30 per cent less than a year ago.

In the curtailed auto industry, news of rehiring sounded far better than the layoffs of past months. Chrysler Corp. announced it was recalling nearly 1,000 workers to jobs in parts and transmission plants in Indiana. Production for the auto industry as a whole increased slightly this week.

Reports from Detroit have indicated that new auto models coming out this fall will carry higher price tags. They won't be the only things with higher prices.

Department store buyers stocking up for the coming season report slightly higher wholesale prices for many items, including clothes, housewares and the hundreds of little things on notion counters. However some said a number of the increases are so small they might not even be passed on to the retail customer.

Wages continued to inch up. On top of recent boosts for copper workers, a rubber industry pattern seemed to be set when Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. agreed to an hourly cash increase of slightly more than six cents. This confirmed the pace set by B. F. Goodrich Co. a week or so earlier.

In one field, however, there was talk of lower prices. A chance for a cut in the wholesale price of gasoline was seen by the Chase Manhattan Bank's petroleum department.

In its monthly review, the department said "Excessive inventories and heavy production in combination with disappointing demand have placed gasoline in a vulnerable position." A continued surplus, it said, will sooner or later undermine prices.

Dope Raids Conducted In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, July 21 (AP)—State undercover agents combed Fort Worth today on a massive narcotics raid that by morning had landed 83 in jail.

The dragnet went out at 10 p.m. last night and, without sleep, agents were still tracking suspects 12 hours later.

The raids are expected to continue possibly until Tuesday, said W. E. Naylor, chief of the narcotics division of the State Department of Public Safety in Austin.

"A good size dent has been put in the marijuana traffic but we hardly touched the heroin business," said Naylor, who came here to supervise the raids. He described Fort Worth as "about average' in the size and seriousness of the narcotics problem.

The crackdown in Fort Worth is one of several the state agents have made in the larger cities of Texas.

Seized here so far were men and women, mostly Negroes, charged with illegal sale or possession of narcotics. 42 others found in habitats of "weed heads" and heroin users, and three automobiles.

Rains Cause Six Deaths

BALTIMORE, July 21 (AP) — Six persons drowned in the Rockville area last night and early today as torrential rains swamped the central and western part of Maryland.

In addition, a rash of traffic accidents during the heavy rain and windstorm accounted for another eight fatalities.

The flash floods drove out scores of householders and stranded hundreds of motorists, damaged dozens of homes and blocked roads and railroads. Property damaged was expected to run high.

Hardest hit were the suburban Washington, D. C., and the Washington County Md. areas.

Some 500 persons were reported still marooned in their homes in Daniel, Md., along the Patapsco River near Ellicott City. The river was 25 feet above its normal level at one time but was receding.

More than 4.2 inches of rain came down in the Baltimore area yesterday and last night, with 6.6 inches reported at Hagerstown.

The drowning victims included Elwood H. Smith, 32, a member of the Rockville fire department and father of two children.

Police reported that the bodies of five unidentified Negroes were found in and around a car which had been washed off a road in upper Montgomery County.

What Soviets Want To Know

HOUSTON, July 21 (AP)—Is the United States really planning war on Russia?

That is the question uppermost in the minds of Soviet citizens, S. N. Adams, past president of the Houston Home Builders Assn., said today.

Adams returned to Houston from a 30-day tour of Russia, during which time he visited 17 Russian cities. Adams was one of 18 American home builders invited to tour the country by its government.

"We did get to the people," said Adams. "And all of them wanted to know if America was really planning war on Russia. They told us they didn't want war. We told them the same thing.

"The Russian people are tremendously interested in America, how we live, our culture, our authors, our living conditions. Everything."

Industry in Russia, said Adams, is not on a par with American industrial strength, "but the Russian industry is still in its infancy."

QUALIFIED BY EXPERIENCE

Re-Elect
JESSE JAMES
State Treasurer
• Proven Honesty
• Proven Efficiency
• Proven Ability

PROVEN HONESTY— Jesse James has handled over $8 Billion of the people's money without loss of so much as one cent. The State Auditor's annual report and continuous audit repeatedly verify this fact.

PROVEN EFFICIENCY—Jesse James, through efficient administration during a period of constantly rising prices, has reduced costs per dollar handled by 46.9%.

PROVEN ABILITY—Jesse James has increased income on depository interest earned on current State Funds by almost 2,000%. This income was $105,000 annually when Jesse James became Treasurer, and now is over seven times the cost of operating the State Treasury—resulting in a profit of almost $2 Million annually for the people of Texas. A $30 Million deficit in the General Fund existed when Jesse James became Treasurer. Today, there is no deficit.

PROVEN RESPONSIBILITY—Jesse James learned financing the hard way. When his father died, he helped his mother rear and educate nine brothers and sisters on a meager income. He worked first as a cotton farmer near Thorndale, then as a merchant in Cameron. He also worked his way through college where he studied business and finance. He was elected three times to the Texas Legislature, where he worked conscientiously to improve the financial condition of the State of Texas.

PROVEN RESULTS, NOT PROMISES—Jesse James made no elaborate promises when he first asked voters to elect him State Treasurer. His campaign for re-election advances his proven record of service, experience and accomplishment; his platform is economy, efficiency and courtesy, based on a proven record of honesty, integrity and fairness to all.

FIRST OLD AGE PENSION MONEY— Jesse James, as a legislator, authored and sponsored Texas' first omnibus tax bill, a measure which provided the first money paid to old age pensioners.

JESSE JAMES sincerely solicits your vote and active support.
