Board Replaces Three Tech Deans, Takes Up Proposed New Buildings For College

Gordon, Leidigh And Mrs. Doak On Emeritus Status

MARKING the first major changes in administrative deanships since Texas Technological college was founded, retirement of three deans, all members of the original faculty, and their appointment as deans emeritus was announced Monday afternoon following a meeting of the college board of directors.

The deans are: Dr. James M. Gordon, retiring as dean of the division of Arts and Sciences; Mrs. Mary W. Doak, retiring as dean of women; and A. H. Leidigh, retiring as dean of Agriculture. All three changes are effective on Sept. 1.

Remain On Faculty

All three deans, relieved of all of their administrative duties, will remain as members of the faculty, Dr. Gordon as professor of philosophy and education; Mrs. Doak as professor of English and Mr. Leidigh as professor of agronomy. The professorship appointments are for the 1945-46 college year.

Dr. Gordon will be succeeded by Dr. R. C. Goodwin as dean of Arts and Sciences who will also retain his title as professor of chemistry. Mrs. Doak will be succeeded by Mrs. Johnnye Langford, who will also be professor of physical education; and Mr. Leidigh will be succeeded by Prof. W. L. Stangel, who will also retain his title as professor of animal husbandry.

In addition to the three major changes, the appointment of Dr. W. C. Holden as dean of the graduate division, succeding Dr. Goodwin, was also announced. Dr. Holden will retain the title of professor of history.

Board's Statement

Announcement of the changes was made by Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, Tech president; and Chas. C. Thompson of Colorado City, chairman of the board of directors, following the board's annual spring meeting late Monday afternoon.

"On behalf of the board, I want to express appreciation for their long years of service," Thompson said, in speaking of the retiring deans. "In acceding to their request that they be relieved of all administrative duties, the board is happy that they are remaining on the faculty and that they will have more time for leisure work such as writing, research and the like."

Tech Grads Challenged To Wise Use Of Intelligence

By GEM BOB CALLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

A challenge to meet a great crisis with success and progress—by effective and wise use of the intelligence — was made to 161 members of the 1944-45 Texas Tech graduating class by Dean J. Thomas Davis, head of John Tarleton Agricultural college at Stephenville, when he delivered the commencement address last night in the football stadium.

"Heroism, impulse, and inspiration necessary to meet crises has usually been furnished by young college graduates," Dean Davis said in citing examples of great movements begun by immortal scientists and philosophers while they were still in college.

Reformation Cited

He told of the Reformation being launched by students of the universities of England and Germany—of Louis Pasteur who was inspired with the determination to rid humanity of some of its plagues and deadly diseases while he was still a college student—of Thomas Gray writing that most beautiful of all poems in sentiment, realism and romanticism, "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," while he was a student at Eton college.

Inspiring graduates to make worthy use of their intelligence, Dean explained that restorations, reclamations, inventions, and discoveries are accomplished only by the application of intelligence. Underlying Dean Davis' words of wisdom, was the intimation that the ability of Americans—such as those of the Tech graduating class — to think individually, rather than enmasse, was the secret of this nation's power and success—why it will remain the greatest country when those with even greater numbers in force threaten to overcome it.

Depleting Resources

"In our mad rush for efficiency, power, change, and speed we have become profligate, wasteful of our natural resources until we are now confronted with the fact that these natural resources are fast becoming depleted." He told seniors the problems of establishment of a just ration between production and consumption, and the conservation of our natural resources might rest with some of them to solve.

Encouraging the graduating class to think with him, Dean Davis said survival and progress are due to efforts of exceptional individuals who overcome backward tendencies. "Upon our college students of today and the future will rest the responsibility of perpetuating the sacred rights of the individual in our institutional life throughout the ages," Dean Davis said in concluding.

Degrees were conferred by Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, Tech president. Recognition was accorded 18 seniors who were graduated with a high scholastic record.

Veto Plan For Parley Flayed

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28. (AP) Australian Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt today termed great-nation veto power over peaceful settlement of international disputes, "preposterous," and a "dangerous blot" on a proposed world charter.

The chief of the Australian delegation handed to a press conference a formal statement on the largest issue still confronting the United Nations conference.

Big Five Agreement

Big Five technical experts had agreed on an interpretation of great-nation veto authority. Under it, it was reported, a single big power could not block the airing of a dispute in the security council of a proposed world organization but could veto any positive action.

The interpretation was drafted as a reply to questions raised by Australia and other smaller nations about how the veto would work.

It is understood the policy statement is being transmitted to London, Paris, Moscow and Chungking for approval and it may not be made public for several days.

What Australia wants, Evatt said, "is to remove from the charter a dangerous blot."

Can't Justify Proposal

"It will be extremely difficult," he said, "for any delegate seeking ratification of the charter to justify the special prerogative by which each big power could prohibit the security council from conciliating between disputants."

Conciliation is not so much the right or power of the council as its "bounded duty," the Australian foreign minister declared.

BERLIN STILL IN PLANS

PARIS, May 28. (AP) — A high American source said today that despite unofficial reports to the contrary Berlin is still "on the books" to be the seat of the Allied joint control council for rule of Germany although negotiations with the Russians for entry into the city are making slow progress.

Truman, Hoover Talk Over Food Situation

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover revisited the White House on invitation today to help untangle a vexing, but familiar problem—the fighting against hunger in war-ravaged Europe.

Mr. Hoover came to Washington at the request of President Truman, his first return to the executive mansion since he left it 12 years ago at the close of his own administration.

Neither the White House nor the former Republican President would say whether there was any discussion of a new assignment for the man who administered European relief after the last war.

The White House characterized the call as "a pleasant meeting." It was widely interpreted as Mr. Truman's start on a non-partisan approach to mounting food problems both at home and abroad.

The way for possible non-partisan discussion of other problems was also opened as Charles Ross, Mr. Truman's press secretary, announced that the President has invited two other Republican presidential nominees — former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York—to "drop in on him any time they might be in Washington."

FIREMEN'S SCHOOL OPENS

COLLEGE STATION, May 28. (AP) — More than 450 firemen from Texas towns and military installations registered today for the sixteenth annual firemen's training school which runs through Friday.

CHURCH SEEKS FUNDS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 28. (AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America voted today to campaign for a $27,000,000 fund, the money to be used largely for postwar rehabilitation and restoration work.

W. K. Henderson Dies At Shreveport Home

SHREVEPORT, May 28. (AP)—W. K. Henderson, 64, of "Hello World" radio fame, died here tonight at his home. He suffered a heart attack yesterday and had been near death since then.

Henderson, son of a wealthy iron works owner, the late W. K. Henderson, sr., became nationally known through operation of his radio station.

His reputation reached its peak in 1930 when his "Hello World, doggone you. This is old man Henderson down in Shreveport, Louisiana," was heard throughout the United States.

Night Club Owners Held Up And Robbed

ODESSA, May 28. (AP) — Two masked men armed with pistols entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roberts, owners of a local night club, and robbed them of $1,000 in cash, watches and purses early today. The couple were bound with strips torn from a bed sheet while the residence, in the rear of the club, was ransacked.

Texas Solons Move Toward Session's End

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 28.—The symptoms of sine die adjournment of the 49th general session of the legislature increased today.

The Senate quickly adopted free conference committee reports on bills appropriating $25,563,440 in the next biennium for state supported colleges and $2,318,000 for vocational education.

Conference reports on other major appropriation bills were awaiting House and Senate approval.

Other Symptoms

Other symptoms which frequently indicate that the session may be near the quitting point included:

Revival in the House and final passage to the Senate of a bill increasing the state gasoline tax from four cents to five cents per gallon. Last minute approval by the House of a major tax bill is not unusual at this stage of a session. How the bill will fare in the Senate is questionable.

Senate refusal to pull out of regular places in the calendar two highly controversial measures, the House-approved bill outlawing the closed shop in Texas and a resolution submitting a constitutional amendment relocating the University of Texas medical branch.

Consideration of the big money measures tended to shove out of position many other measures.

Education Reports

The Senate approved the higher education and vocational education conference reports after hearing its finance committee chairman, Sen. R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro, declare the trend of appropriations indicates a $200,000 deficit at the end of two more years.

Unless the state's purse strings are tightened somewhat, more taxes may be needed, Lanning counseled.

He and Sen. A. M. Aikin, jr. of Paris declared final approval of several pending appropriations would put the state deeply into the red. Mentioned specifically were bills appropriating $1,200,000 for purchase of surplus war materials by state colleges, $50,000 for a farm experimental station in Wichita county, and $10,000 for the livestock sanitary commission.

Fund Bill Rejected

The Senate then rejected the $1,500,000 war surplus materials purchase appropriation.

Other developments in the 140th day of the general session:

The Senate adopted a conference committee report on a bill creating a new scale of premium taxes on life insurance companies.

The House adopted resolutions asking Congress to approve two-to-one federal matching of state moneys for old age assistance payments and petitioning President Truman to order an investigation of Office of Price administration regulations pertaining to slaughtering of cattle. The latter resolution declared the regulations worked hardships on cattle raisers and consumers.

The House refused immediately to consider the conference report on the college appropriation bill and dug into a calendar of bills whose authors were seeking to beat the deadline of final adjournment.

Other House Actions

Some of the House actions:

Accepted Senate amendments to a bill permitting removal of disabilities of a minor for discharged servicemen 18 years of age.

Refused to concur in Senate amendments and sent to conference committee a bill appropriating $2,000,000 for construction of a state office building and the construction or purchase of another office building.

Passed to the Senate a bill appropriating $8,000 for the upper Red river flood control district.

Finally passed a Senate bill permitting one-half of state property taxes for 10 years to Fayette, Colorado and Jackson counties for Colorado levee construction.

U. S. Set Up In Role Of World Mediator

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28. — Secretary of State Stettinius chose for the United States tonight the role of mediator among the major nations, in a five-point declaration of foreign policy which climaxed a report on the United Nations conference.

In an address punctuated by a blunt warning to Argentina to put democratic principles into practice at home, Stettinius called on Russia, Britian, France and China to join with the United States in reaching an early "common understanding" on such vexing problems as the establishment of a new Polish government.

The speech by the chairman of the United States delegation was prepared for radio delivery from his penthouse apartment atop a San Francisco hotel. In it the secretary laid down these tenets of a foreign policy which, he said, must attain the strength and continuity that has been "so difficult to achieve in the past history of our country:"

Five Principal Points

1. The capping of final military victory with measures to prevent Germany and Japan from ever again waging war.

2. Extension of wartime "collaboration and community of purpose," with the United States serving as mediator among the great powers when their interests conflict.

3. Application to world affairs of the principle of "fair dealing for all peoples and states, large and small."

4. Advancement of world-wide social and economic conditions which "create a climate for peace."

5. Realization that we live in a world where the sovereignty of even the most powerful nations is not absolute and "there is no such thing as complete freedom of decision for any nation."

Stettinius said the American delegation has been in daily communications with President Truman and that "his leadership has been essential to our progress."

Yalta Interpretation

Touching on one of the United Nations conference's most vital problems, Stettinius gave an American interpretation of the Yalta voting agreement reached by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. He said the Crimea proposals require that the Big Five must agree on any enforcement action taken by the proposed world security council.

"There would be a similar requirement on action for the peaceful settlement of disputes, except that a party to a dispute must refrain from voting," Stettinius said.

"This requirement, however, does not apply to the right of any nation to bring a dispute before the council, and to full discussion of the merits of its case. It applies only when the council makes a decision involving positive action."

Reviewing the events of the conference, Stettinius said that in supporting Argentina's admission, the United States did not give a "blanket endorsement of policies" of the Buenos Aires government.

"No Sympathy" With Some

With many, he said, this government has "no sympathy." And the secretary added that Argentina is expected "to carry out effectively" the democratic and peaceful policies of Pan-American cooperation

Shipping Center Feels First Blow By Aerial Giants

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Tuesday, May 29.—Escorted by Iwo Jima-based Mustang fighters, more than 450 Superfortresses dropped 3,200 tons of fire bombs today on Yokohama, industrial and shipping center, in the greatest daylight raid yet attempted by Marianas-based B-29s.

Yokohama, 18 miles south of Tokyo and separated from that recently-fired capital by the industrial suburb of Kawasaki, is Japan's fifth largest city. It was the first B-29 strike on Yokohama.

Whole Urban Area

Virtually all the 72-square-mile urban area of Yokohama was included in the target for the third fire strike in six days on key mainland objectives.

Leading industrial, business and governmental buildings of Tokyo, including part of the imperial palace, were devastated in a 550-plane pre-dawn raid last Thursday, closely followed by a 500-plane strike in darkness Saturday morning.

Today's targets included an area on the Yokohama harbor waterfront, where vital piers, docks and breakwaters jut out into the bay of Nippon's second greatest seaport.

In this area also are shipbuilding, aircraft, electrical and communications equipment plants.

Secondary Target

A secondary target was Yokohama's most modern commercial and residential districts in the southeast sector of the city. The population there runs about 30,000 per square mile.

Another objective area encompassed industries built on reclaimed land jutting into Tokyo bay in the northeast sector of the city.

Yokohama is a maze of warehouses, docks, canals, railroad spurs and storage areas. Many small chemical plants, extensive freight yards and waterfront storage areas are included in the target zone.

Yokohama had a population of more than 1,000,000. It is the port for Tokyo and all northern Honshu island.

Most of Japan's automotive industry is concentrated in three Yokohama factories. The city also has important aircraft, steel, rubber, radio and telephone plants. Much of Japan's heavy

Unrest Grows As French And Arabs Open Fierce Fighting

By FRANK O'BRIEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

DAMASCUS, May 28. — Street fighting which broke out late yesterday between the French and Syrians in the Arab patriot center of Hama tonight had spread to Homs, and Premier Jamil Mardam Bey expressed fear a "general clash" might be near.

Best reports placed casualties in Hama, 150 miles north of here, at more than 200 with a considerable part of that figure expected to be dead.

The only confirmed report of casualties in Homs, 30 miles south of Hama, was the killing of a seven-year-old girl by a Senegalese soldier. Her brother, 15, was wounded.

75s Spray Area

Shells from French 75's in Homs sprayed the Saray (government building) and knocked out one wall. Today the French had the main street of Homs under continual crossfire and were shooting at anything that moved.

The Syrians ambushed three French armored automobiles near the French garrison on a hill dominating the town from the southwest and captured all three. Six members of the crews were killed and three wounded.

Latest reports had Bedouins moving into Hama from the desert to the east and French gendarmes occupying the railroad station.

British authorities indicated that should the fighting flame through Syria and Lebanon their Ninth Army units now in training in Syria might be summoned to restore order.

Mardam Bey issued a statement saying that "the French

New Secretary Plans Meat-Buyer Relief

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Rep. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) who will become secretary of agriculture and war food administrator July 1 promised efforts today to channel more meat "to the grocery store where you and I can buy it."

In an interview prepared for broadcast over the Blue network, he said that as the distribution system now stands a civilian must eat in restaurants part of the time "if he expects to get his share."

That, he said, "tends to make it a rich man's war, which many of us do not like."

Anderson was asked whether anything was contemplated to change that situation.

"Two things," he answered: "Abundant production, which is the greatest weapon in the war against black market operations; secondly a better channeling of what meat we have so that more of it goes to the grocery store where you and I can buy it."

Stalin, Hopkins Talks Continue

(By The Associated Press)

Premier Stalin and Harry Hopkins, President Truman's personal representative, held their third lengthy conference in the Kremlin last night and a Moscow dispatch said there were indications that "highly-important" issues were being given a thorough airing.

The importance of the talks was apparent in the heavy exchange of messages between the U. S. embassy in Moscow and the State department and the White House in Washington. The conversations were being held in a "most cordial" atmosphere, Moscow reported.

Widespread unrest in Europe and the Middle East brought speculation from London that the major Allied powers might call a formal peace conference within a few months — even before Japan's defeat. At the moment there were 30-odd territorial disputes in Europe, and it appeared unlikely they could be solved by anything short of a full-dress conference.

There was a general feeling that the Big Three meeting would take place before mid-July, provided Stalin was willing.

The hottest trouble spot was Syria. French troops were exchanging fire with Syrians in the Arab patriot center of Hama, 150 miles north of Damascus, and there was fear of a general clash.

The Trieste dispute showed every sign of being solved without bloodshed. Negotiations still were in progress between Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and high Allied officials. Five big truckloads of food sent by Pope Pius XII were being distributed to the hungry populace of Trieste.

WPB Eases Limitations On Construction

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—The War Production board tonight eased its rigid limitations on construction activity.

The agency increased approximately five-fold the volume of civilian building activity which may be undertaken without special WPB permission. It did this by raising the dollar limitations on annual outlays for construction and alteration of homes, factories and business places.

As a preliminary to greater relaxations, WPB also removed its ban on grading, ditch-digging and similar earth-moving operations, to permit a start on such work in preparation for future building of highways, airports and other projects.

The decision gives no guarantee that building materials will be available. WPB emphasized in a statement that lumber and other supplies probably will remain scarce "for some time."

The WPB amendment does not lift any of the restrictions which now govern the sale of lumber and building materials, but it does permit an owner to undertake five times as much construction, repair or alteration—if he can get the materials from his lumber yard—than was formerly permitted.

Work on a one-family home or farmhouse previously was limited to $200 a year; now the limit is $1,000. Similarly, a factory could undertake work up to $5,000; now the limit is $25,000.

A list of the types of buildings and cost now authorized follows:

1. One-family house or farmhouse, $1,000; 2-family house, $2,000; 3-family house, $3,000; 4-family house $4,000, and 5-family house, $5,000; previously the cost limit for each type was $200.

2. Barns and other farm construction, exclusive of farm houses, $1,000. Formerly the $1,000 limit included farm houses, for which not more than $200 could be spent.

3. An irrigation or drainage system serving more than one farm, $1,000; this limit previously applied.

4. A hotel, apartment building or other residence for six or more families, $5,000; the old cost limit was $1,000.

5. A store, restaurant, theater, bank, office, laundry, garage, warehouse or other retail or wholesale service establishment, including a frozen-food locker plant, $5,000; for most of these, the old limit was $200.

6. A church, hospital, school, college, USO club, public playground, a public building, an orphanage or other charitable building, a post exchange, canal, storm sewer, dam, levee, jetty or retaining wall, $10,000. For most of these the old limit was $1,000.

7. A factory, logging or lumber camp, bridge, overpass or underpass, tunnel, dock, pier, commercial airport bus terminal, truck terminal, railroad or street railway building, research laboratory or pilot plant, $25,000; the old limitations ranged from $200 to $5,000.

8. Any other kind of project, $1,000; this class previously was limited to $200.

The amount of repair and maintenance work which may be done without WPB authorization by hotels, apartment buildings, banks, offices and stores was set at 20 cents maximum for each square foot of gross floor area. In addition, the owner may use up all or part of his $5,000 exemption for repairs, but the allowance for new construction would be reduced accordingly.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

"SILENCE is not always tact, and it is tact that is golden—not silence."

ELECTION MIXUP

WELL, several Lubbock club women are going to Austin today to be on hand for the "emergency" business meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs which will be held at the TFWC club house Wednesday. An election and postwar planning will be features.

What makes the election doubly interesting to women in Seventh District is that they think, but they have no way of proving, that they have a representative running for a state office. That would be Mrs. H. F. Godeke who was endorsed at the district one day "open board meeting" in Amarillo May 1 as state treasurer.

AT present, however, not even the candidates themselves know who is running for what offices. And the nominating committee, which attended a secret meeting in Austin May 8, has announced it will submit the name of only one candidate for each office and will announce the ballot only at the official time for such a reading. Mrs. J. O. Douglas of Houston, which is in fourth district, claims she was endorsed for the office of treasurer. And Mrs. Charles G. Eidson of Waco, retiring district president, was recommended by her district for the office of second vice president. Since the state bylaws set out that "no district may endorse more than one candidate for state office," this has caused quite a bit of confusion down state.

Lest any member of the nominating committee, the state parliamentarian, Mrs. Frank Friend of San Angelo, or the state president, Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City, be uninformed of changes in the bylaws voted during her term of administration Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, a past TFWC president, wrote a five page letter of explanation, setting out that the matter is clear as crystal when one reads those bylaws. Each woman received a copy of the letter.

The women are going down to Austin expecting to witness as much excitement as prevailed several years ago when Mrs. Walker and Mrs. O. H. Carlisle of Houston were opponents for state president. At that time it was feared the city police might have to be called in, so eager were the women to cast their ballots and so inclined to shove and push. The Woman's Angle is sure that women from our district will conduct themselves with decorum as they did on that occasion.

JAP NAMES

FOR those who are confused (and who isn't?) by all the "jimas," "shimas," "rettos," and "guntos" in the headlines these days, here's a little dope on the peculiar ways of Japanese nomenclature, as collected by Lt. Milburn McCarty, jr., a Marine Corps public relations officer.

"Jima" means island, and so does "shima." Japs use "jima" for one shade of meaning and "shima" for another. But the distinction is too complicated for most of us to master. When a Jap wants to talk about a lot of islands he says "shima jima" and that clears up everything.

"To" and "shu" are also Jap words for island, or at least they are when combined with prefixes, as in "retto," and "Honshu." "Retto" means a chain of islands (in a line), as in Ryukyu Retto, while "gunto" means a group, such as the Okinawa Gunto.

"Honshu," on which Tokyo is located, means "Main Island." "Hanto" is the word for "half an island," i.e., peninsula, while "shoto" means small island.

Chishima Retto, which is the Japanese name for the Kurile group north of Japan proper, means "chain of 1,000 islands."

Okinawa, off the shores of the main Jap islands, connotes "an off-shore piece of rope." "Tokyo," a relatively new name in Japanese history (having been substituted for old Edo around the turn of the Century), means "Eastern Capital."

The Japs christened it with the idea it would become the great capital of the East.

Truman Urges Increased Benefits For All Temporarily Unemployed

WASHINGTON, May 28. (U.P.)—President Truman today urged Congress to close what he described as a major gap in the reconversion program—"the lack of adequate benefits for workers temporarily unemployed during the transition from war to peace."

He proposed that Congress act at once to assure war workers, through supplementation of state unemployment benefits, of 26 weeks of payments in any one year if they are jobless that long. He proposed at least $25 a week for unemployed workers with dependents.

Maximum Security

"We must provide maximum security to those who have given so fully of themselves on the fighting and production fronts," the President said in a message to Congress.

"The transition from war to peace is part and parcel of the war and we cannot shirk our obligations to those temporarily unemployed through no fault of their own."

He recommended specifically that Congress:

1. Take emergency action to widen the coverage of unemployment compensation and to increase the amount and duration of benefits—at least for the duration of the emergency period of reconversion.

2. Extend unemployment compensation coverage to include federal employes, maritime workers and other workers not now insured.

Emergency Funds

3. Provide supplementary emergency funds to assure each eligible worker 26 weeks of benefits in any one year, if unemployed that long. Pay to workers with dependents should be at least $25 a week.

"These provisions are essential for the orderly reconversion of our wartime economy to peacetime production," he said. "They are badly needed for the duration of the reconversion emergency. . . . as a bulwark against postwar deflation."

Meanwhile, other administration leaders said they foresaw no economic collapse during reconversion but rather a period of expanding civilian economy in which small business would receive every encouragement. The emphasis from now on, they said, will be on easing government production controls to permit the forces of free enterprise and competition get back to work.

Social Security Program

In today's message, Mr. Truman said he assumed that Congress would deal soon with the broader question of expanding and improving the social security program. But he expressed the belief that deliberations on these broad issues would take too much time to be of benefit during the first phase of reconversion.

"To produce what is needed for the Pacific war," he told the Congress, "we must appeal to the workers to accept and remain in jobs which they ultimately must lose when munitions production ceases. The government has thus incurred a moral obligation to these workers and to those who have stuck faithfully to their posts in the past."

The President said that the existing system of unemployment insurance suffered from major defects in the state laws and the three specific proposals he made were designed to correct these defects, at least for the time being.

Inadequate At Present

He pointed out, first, that in most states the maximum rate of unemployment compensation is between $15 and $18 a week—"clearly inadequate to protect unemployed workers against ruthless cuts in living standards, particularly if they have families."

He noted secondly that in nearly one third of the states no worker can receive more than 16 weeks of benefits in any year.

The President argued that by assuring workers of a definite income for a definite time congress could help materially to prevent a sharp decline in consumer expenditures which might otherwise result in a downward spiral of consumption and production.

"THE HUMAN BRIDGE"—The infantry way of forcing a quick crossing where barbed wire bars the way to the enemy is shown demonstrated above in the "Here's Your Infantry" presentation of Doughboy tactics, equipment and weapons, which will be staged in Texas Tech stadium Wednesday night at 8 o'clock as a feature of the Lubbock County Seventh War Loan drive. The three men shown in the picture are members of a group of approximately 40 combat veterans and wearers of the Purple Heart who will be here for the show to present the Seventh War Loan bond message of "extra bonds means extra action."

Father Of Nine Gets Release From Army

LOS ANGELES, May 28 (U.P.)—Only three of his nine children counted in his 144-point total, but they were more than S/Sgt. Sam Rios, 41, Fort Worth, Tex., needed to leave the Army after nine years of service and 52 months overseas.

"The only thing I'll miss in civilian life is that $346 a month in allotments and pay," Rios said. He was mustered out of the Army yesterday under the point system for discharge.

The former truck driver was a member of a Fort McArthur, Cal., gun battery.

Army Nurse Tracks Down Grave Of Her Husband In Jungle

DALLAS, May 28. (U.P.)—Second Lt. Cecile S. Hambleton, Dallas Army nurse, has fulfilled a mission which took her to the jungles of Burma.

Lt. Hambleton learned in Oct. 1942, that her husband Capt. Roscoe L. Hambleton, who had been sent to Burma in 1941 to administer lend-lease to the Chinese, was dead.

Lt. Hambleton, a graduate nurse, entered the Army a year after her husband's death, obtained an assignment to Burma. Se was sent to the farthermost outpost for American nurses—Shingbwiyang, wheer her husband had waited desperately for an American plane.

From there she began her search for Capt. Hambleton's grave during off duty hours. Although Army searchers gave up, she continued with the aid of a Chinese servant.

The servant found the grave in the undergrowth marked with rocks. Although Lt. Hambleton attributed the success in finding the grave to the Chinese, she and her husband had lived in China for many years. They met on a steamer between the Philippines, where she spent a vacation, and China, where they were married.

During the operations in Burma, Capt. Hambleton volunteered to direct the evacuation of trapped Chinese troops on the Irrawaddy river.

He left the American troops, dropped back seventeen miles to a trapped Chinese division and directed their evacuation over the swollen waters of the Irrawaddy. The Jap troops cut him off. For two months he marched through the jungles with the Chinese, dodging Japs. He recorded his experiences in a diary.

At Shingbwiyang, a Burma outpost, he established contact with the American troops 140 miles away, but a plane scheduled to evacuate him from the jungles, could not land. Capt. Hambleton set out on foot through the thick jungles. He died in the jungles August 28, 1942, from exposure, exhaustion, malaria and dysentery.

Lt. Hambleton is a native Texan. She plans to devote the remainder of her live aiding the Chinese who helped her complete her mission in the Burma jungles.

Measure Planned To Exempt Service Pay

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) today proposed legislation exempting all men and women in the armed forces from income taxes on service pay.

Bridges said he would offer the measure as an amendment to the first revenue bill to come before the Senate in order to "remove a distinct injustice in our national tax policies against the men and women in the armed services."

None Faltered On Iwo, Marine Says

Fighting on Iwo Jima was "all it was reported to have been," says Pfc. Robert Travis Canon, jr., 21-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Canon, 2613 Nineteenth, just back from the bloody fight waged on that Japanese island.

Here on convalescent leave after an eye injury sustained after nearly two weeks of action, Pfc. Canon says that although "the going was tough, the entire action was carried on as smoothly as any practice maneuver." He says "every man knew what he had to do—and did it."

A Marine veteran of more than two years service, Pfc. Canon says he was most impressed at Iwo by the way men literally marched into the jaws of death knowing they had no chance of return.

"When an objective had to be taken, it had to be taken," he said, "and not a man faltered."

Pfc. Canon will be home for about a month before reporting for further medical treatment at National Navy hospital, Bethesda, Md., near Washington. He says he doesn't know whether he fought 10 or 12 days in the Iwo battle, but "it was one or the other. We didn't have much time to keep track of the calendar."

FOOD PRODUCTION

LONDON, May 28. (AP)—British arms are producing 70 to 75 per cent of Great Britain's minimum food requirements and cannot be expected to exceed this peak of production this year, a House subcommittee on agriculture from the United States said today.

Hitler Disliked Stalin But Had Full Respect For Him Militarily

By JACK FLEISCHER
United Press Staff Writer

BERCHTESGADEN, May 28.—Adolf Hitler respected Josef Stalin, but he certainly didn't like him, the fuehrer's shorthand reporters said today.

When the Red Army would score another victory over the wehrmacht, Hitler would rant:

"That old schwein put it over again. That fellow has strong nerves."

Schwein means pig.

Didn't Want To Meet Him

Gerhardt Herrgeselle and other official shorthand reporters from Hitler's headquarters said that Hitler never wanted to meet Stalin, even when Germany and Russia had diplomatic relations with each other.

Hitler reportedly often said that if it hadn't been for Stalin "Russia would have been finished in 1941." Contrarily, Hitler believed until April 22, when he finally admitted that the war was lost, that he still could beat Russia.

The stenographers said that at least three times a day in the weeks before the Russians' final offensive, Hitler said:

"It is my holiest conviction that the Russians will suffer the greatest defeat in history on the Oder."

Angered Over Capture

They said that Hitler was very angry when Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus let himself be taken prisoner at Stalingrad. He thought von Paulus should have shot himself in preference to captivity.

"Every year before the war many servant girls shot themselves," stormed Hitler. "It's an easy, quick death. I cannot understand how German officers can be such weaklings to let themselves be taken prisoner by the Russians instead of committing easy suicide."

Hitler, perhaps significantly, said, "I, myself would have taken a pistol and shot myself." Again last April, he was quoted as saying "If ever I am in danger of being captured by the Russians I shall take a pistol and shoot myself."

Herrgeselle and the other said that until the very last Hitler insisted on his Nazi fuehrer prinzip in his dealings with his underlings. "Nazi fuehrer prinzip" means simply that Hitler was boss, and nobody else had anything to say. They said, however, that on rare occasions some General would have the courage to make a fairly open remark. One of these was Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff, who told Hitler after the fall of Paris:

Jodl Saw Handwriting

"I always said we didn't have an army fit for combat in the west and that if the Allies succeeded in gaining a foothold on the European fortress, the battle for France would be lost. I knew a moral collapse would come from French cities where German officers and men were living a soft life, although I myself have never been to Paris."

At the regular military conferences, Hitler harped on how hard he worked. Thus, when he heard of a minor official who complained about being awakened in the middle of the night to give some information, Hitler gave orders that the man be phoned late every night.

Hitler had little sense of humor, the stenographers said, but on one occasion he did say to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop:

"What are you worrying about? You're not even on the list of war criminals. I'm No. 1."

Pictures Added In President's Office

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—President Truman has redecorated his White House office by hanging pictures of George Washington and Simon Bolivar on either side of a painting of the frigate "Constitution."

The Marine picture belongs to the Navy and was a favorite of the late President Roosevelt. The other portraits are new to the office. So is a small bronze equestrian statue of Andrew Jackson. It stands on a mantle below "Old Ironsides."

The three pictures are on the back wall and can be seen by the president as he looks up from his gadget-free desk—another change from the Roosevelt decor.

Many Problems Face Army Medical Group

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, May 28. (AP)—Sick, undernourished and homeless, 25 eight-week-old babies were left today on the doorstep of the 134th medical group at Pilsen in Czechoslovakia.

The pitiful war waifs were suffering from tuberculosis, ear infections or enteritis—inflation of the intestines. It was believed that they were brought through the Russian lines from Prague by nurses.

There was no information on the parentage or nationality, of the babies. One died soon after reaching Pilsen. The others were in a serious condition.

Hundreds of older homeless children are believed to be wandering between the American and Russian lines.

Yet babies and children are only one of the many problems facing the 134th medical group, which is administering civilian and military hospitals throughout American-occupied Czechoslovakia.

With the personnel equivalent of only one general hospital, the 134th is administering what amounts to 26 general hospitals, or 26,630 patients. German, Czech, French, Belgian and Russian medical personnel has been drafted to aid in the task.

Increase In Civilian Goods Is Estimated

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — The United States is headed for production of civilian durable goods a year from now about 30 per cent above the 1939 rate. Durable goods includes such items as automobiles and household articles, as distinguished from food and clothing.

Chairman J. A. Krug, submitting his estimate to members of the War Production board last night, added that a huge pent-up demand provides the foundation for "a strong transitional economy" during reconversion.

Krug outlined a policy of as few federal controls over business as possible. This, he said, will give industry free rein for ingenuity and enterprise instead of coddling the economy through the period of temporary slump that faces some industries and cities.

Growing Fleet Is Bringing Sick Home

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — A growing fleet of American hospital ships will complete the job of bringing home all transportable sick and wounded service men from Europe within the next three months.

Seven new ships to be added to the Mercy fleet by midsummer will increase its numbers to 40 and its carrying capacity from 20,000 patients to 30,500. The Office of War Information reported this today in a special report on the sea transportation of wounded.

As the Army's Atlantic fleet completes its task of evacuating casualties, the 20 ships will be diverted to Pacific waters.

Account Given Of Escape From Grave

KUNMING, China, May 28 (AP) —Lance Corporal Fernand Cron of the French colonial infantry told today how he escaped from a mass grave into which he and 53 of his comrades had been toppled under the swords of Japanese executioners.

He exhibited a livid scar four and a half inches long on the back of his neck, where the sword had struck.

Bleeding from the shallow saber slash, he fell into a slit trench grave at Dongdang on the French Indo-China border and the Japanese left him and 53 other hostages for dead.

Dresden's Famous Operatic Orchestra Is Playing For GIs

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

OCCUPIED GERMANY. — There is nothing like a good band concert to pass away postwar occupation time—and if you are going in for that, you might as well get the best.

GIs located around the town of Bad Brambach deep in Germany are getting such concerts regularly now, thanks to the 16th regiment of the First Infantry division.

When the regiment moved into town a couple of weeks ago, it discovered it had bagged the entire personnel of the world-famous Dresden operatic orchestra.

Shame To Go To Waste

Lt. Col. Edmund Driscoll, who was considered quite a music lover back in his home town of Malverne, N. Y., commands the regiment. He felt it was a shame to let such talent go to seed. So he called in Lt. Anthony Zack, Uniontown, Pa., who hired a hall and made the necessary arrangements.

Since the orchestra had played countless "command performances" in a majority of European capitals, including several in the Berlin opera house, Zack suggested they might like to play a "benefit performance"—for the benefit of the doughboys.

The musicians seemed happy to cooperate and have been playing regularly to enthusiastic audiences. When the first concert closed, someone asked Colonel Driscoll what he thought of it.

"In my opinion," he replied diplomatically, "the Germans make much better musicians than fighters."

AERIAL POW GUARD

It has reached the point where there is practically nothing you can't do with one of these artillery observation cub butterfly planes.

A few days ago some boys in the 339th Infantry regiment wanted to send some prisoners from one place to another quickly and could not spare guards to go along.

When they spotted an observation plane from the 25th Field Artillery battalion circling overhead, they contacted it by radio and asked the pilot, Lt. Neil Sanders, San Angelo, Texas, and observer, Lt. James O. Hogg, Chicago, to help them out.

"Glad to" said Sanders and obliged by hovering over the nine prisoners and herding them to a prisoner of war cage.

Aviation Employes Due For Release

KANSAS CITY, May 28. (U.P.)—Employes of North American Aviation, Inc., of Kansas today were notified that approximately 1,500 of their number would be released this week as a result of termination of a contract for P-80 Lockheed Shooting Star planes.

Company spokesmen said the War Manpower commission had asked that the plant continue on a 48-hour work week inasmuch as there still was a shortage of labor in the Kansas City area.

Earlier it had been thought possible all workers might be retained if the plant were permitted to drop to a 40-hour week.

Hot, Dry Weather Hurts Crops But Termed Ideal For Destruction Of Johnson Grass

Hot, dry weather that is destroying crops in West Texas has one virtue—it affords farmers a chance to be rid of their No. 1 crop pest—johnson grass.

Jason Gordon, county agent, is handling a survey and drive to eradicate the plague in this county and urges farmers to hit, and hit hard at the grass while no moisture is to be had.

Farmers are told to use any method to kill the weed such as salt, spraying with fuel oil or chemicals, or clean cultivation, plus a great amount of determination and "elbow grease."

May 26, 1944, a group of farmers and agriculture leaders met to formulate a johnson grass control program. With the drive ready to be set off, Lubbock county was blessed with 1.7 inches of rain.

Assistant Agent Employed

H. P. Read has been employed as assistant to the county agent to conduct the educational program in controlling the grass. He has visited 1800 farms since March 5, prepared a record of the individual work being done, in contacting farm operators to determine the best means of control.

Read reports a wide variety of practices being conducted with a large number of farmers using clean cultivation in infested spots. He notes that the grubbing hoe has come into prominence on some farms with these reporting a 100 per cent kill.

Steps were begun again this year with one of the first being a request to farm operators to remove old fences for back sloping by the county commissioners, allowing the farmer to plough laterally with the roads. Where the practice was carried out increase in control and in value of the farm has been noted.

Gordon and Read cite the fourth street road as one of the finest examples in the county, and praise has been handed Vol Farris, commissioner.

With commissioners working at top speed Read estimates that 165 miles of back sloping in the county has been done.

An honor roll is being compiled through Read's survey to be kept in the office of the county agent. Names that appear on it will be those of farmers who have completely rid themselves of johnson grass, along with the number of acres they are cultivating.

County farmers already listed on the scroll are J. F. Adams, S. O. Adams, J. T. Allen, F. A. Anders, W. D. Anderson, W. A. Armstrong, J. R. Ashmore, H. T. Atkins, J. R. Ballard, C. L. Baker, C. B. PARIS, May 28 (AP)—A majority of the American troops taken prisoner by the Germans have been evacuated to France and England, and more than 30,000 are already on their way to the United States, communications zone headquarters announced today.

The exceptions are those still being held by the Russians for repatriation and stragglers who are still to be accounted for," the announcement said.

More than a half million Allied prisoners of war and displaced French civilians have been brought out of Germany since April 1 by the U. S. Army Transportation corps and Air Transport command, the statement said.

Griesen Gets Orth Support In Dispute

SAN ANTONIO, May 28 (U.P.) — District Office of Price Administration Director C. T. (Cap) Griesen of San Antonio had the support today of regional OPA director W. A. Orth of Dallas in his squabble with the Bexar county ration board, but settlement of the dispute appeared headed for Washington.

The argument broke out last week when Bexar county OPA board chairman W. W. McAlister took exception to a new ruling requiring that applications for rationed goods submitted by board members be taken to Director Griesen for review. At the time, McAlister told Griesen in protesting the order that he would resign before forcing his board members to comply. Griesen said he had accepted the board chairman's resignation, but McAlister continued work in his office and declared that he had not quit the post.

The board, meantime, has backed McAlister and continues to recognize him as chairman.

The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce entered the dispute, at McAlister's request, and asked regional OPA Director Orth to come to San Antonio and settle the issue. Orth although supporting Griesen, said he would not come to the Alamo City.

Small Grain Crop Said Deteriorating

Texas small grain crop has gone to the bad in the past few weeks due to rust, hail, high temperatures, high prevailing winds along with no rain, says D. A. Adam, farm labor field assistant of the Texas Extension service, Plainview.

The reasons listed were sent out to combine and truck operators warning them to remain in their home county, unless they have a definite harvesting job to do. Otherwise, Adam said, those moving into foreign territory will find no work.

The drop in the grain crop has left nearly every area overrun with combines. Areas I and II are harvesting now and report many extra machines. Labor such as tractor drivers, combine operators, etc., however, could be used to some extent. Most of the grain will be cut in this area, although it is but a small percentage of the state output.

Area III, from Plainview north, will cut less than 60 per cent of seeded acreage with a yield of less than one-half of last year's crop. Wages, too, will reflect the low yield, Adam said, and will be only one third to one-half of those paid a year ago.

Boys Club Schedule For Summer Starts

Today marks the beginning of an "all-day schedule" for Lubbock Boys' club, John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile officer, announced. A full schedule will be continued during the summer months.

Hours will be from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 to 9 p. m. During school term, the club had a 3:45 to 9 p. m. schedule.

Wilson said Leo Jeffries would be on duty at all schedule hours, as director in charge; and that Jimmy Clark would be in charge of the library and game room, Willie Gleaton will direct activities of the woodworking shop. Jeffries also directs the club's athletic program.

Increased attendance consistent with further attempts to provide for boys' entertainment was predicted by Wilson.

Fine Given Negro In Assault Case

Pleading guilty of charges of aggravated assault, Joseph Samuel, 21-year-old negro, was fined $100 and county court costs after the stabbing of Maurice McCallon, negro, at 11:40 Saturday night at the rear of 2315 East Ave. E. McCallon was stabbed in the left lung.

Witnesses said the affray resulted from a charge McCallon had taken money from Samuel.

The city-county juvenile department held three Ropesville minors after $5 had been taken from a service station at Nineteenth and Ave. V. All but 45 cents was recovered.

C. E. Smith said gasoline stamps worth 1,000 gallons had been taken in a burglary of his station at Main and College. A. H. Mosier said his car had been stolen here. Two women and a drunk man were arrested in possession of the machine at Plainview, a telephone call from Plainview Chief of Police Hoyt Curry informed. He said the car was being driven 80 miles an hour.

Bobby Roy Doss, 17, was arrested by the sheriff's department on a Carson county felony warrant charging theft over $50.

L. D. Phipps, 22, a negro, was fined $50 and county court costs for aggravated assault on a 13-year-old Slaton negro girl. The offense, it was charged, happened at a ball game. Officials said the girl was struck either by a bat or a piece of metal pipe.

MAY TRY HITLER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, May 28 (AP) — Adolf Hitler, dead or alive, may be tried in absentia as a war criminal. The War Crimes commission will have to decide whether a trial will be held, but there is a feeling in some quarters that such procedure will be ordered. If a trial is ordered, it probably would be on the assumption Hitler still is alive, and in that case he would be given adequate notice to appear.

When can we expect more MEAT?

"Meat on the table" has always stood for American well-being.

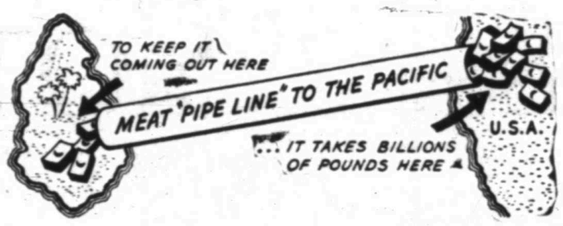

The present lack of "meat on the table" is a daily reminder of the sacrifices and dislocations of war.

This problem is particularly felt by nutritionally minded meal planners who look to meat as the principal source of proteins, as well as for that good meat taste.

According to press releases, end of the war in Europe promises more tires, gasoline, and certain other civilian products. On that basis many may naturally expect an increased supply of meat.

The civilian supply of meat depends on (1) Military and other war needs; (2) Production of meat animals.

MILITARY MEAT NEEDS

The Office of War Information makes this official statement:

"Now, the Battle of Japan must be won.

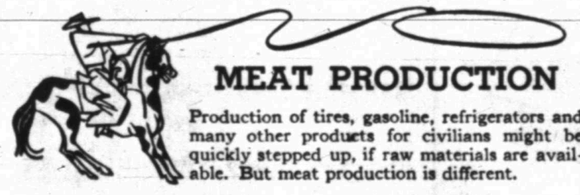

"The pipe lines to the Pacific are twice as long as they are to Europe and they must be kept filled—every day.

"Billions of pounds of meat must be constantly in transit to Pacific bases. Adequate reserves must be kept on hand in all supply depots.

"Men are moving to the Pacific in rapidly increasing numbers and they must be followed by enormous quantities of meat as well as tanks and rockets, mortars and shells.

"Also, troops in Europe will get more fresh meats and hot kitchen-prepared meals.

"V-E Day does not mean a reduction in the Army's current meat requirements."

MEAT PRODUCTION

Production of tires, gasoline, refrigerators and many other products for civilians might be quickly stepped up, if raw materials are available. But meat production is different.

It takes two years to "build" a good beef steer; eight to twelve months to produce a marketable hog.

Current production, although larger than prewar, isn't sufficient to meet all the wartime demands and still give us all the meat we want.

Except for normal seasonal increases, increased meat production can't come overnight.

More beef cattle are expected to be marketed this summer. Hog production for late fall and winter marketing has been increased. But these animals are not available for meat now.

Yes, America, it may be some time before we can have "meat on the table" as we knew it once, and as we will have it again. But we have all learned to find that good meat flavor in cuts that used to be strangers to many of us.

Along with that, we have learned that all meats, regardless of cut or kind, price or points, contain complete, highest quality proteins that make meat "a yardstick of protein foods."

Golfdom Plans More Bia Special Matches

WEST ORANGE, N. J., May 28. (AP) — The Professional Golfers' Association plans today to conduct matches all over the country such as the Byron Nelson-Sammy Snead affair of last weekend to get funds for its rehabilitation program for wounded servicemen.

Snead defeated Nelson by a single stroke in medal play at Fresh Meadow on Long Island Saturday with 6,000 present, but dropped the match play competition, 4 and 3, before some 1,200 well-drenched spectators at the Essex Country club Sunday.

"Our program has been in progress since 1941, but now that many of our wounded are returning from Europe and from the Pacific, we are stepping it up. Every dime we take in on these matches, and others throughout the country, goes for rehabilitation, PGA President Ed Dudley asserted.

Snead spent 26 months in the Navy before a chronic back ailment brought about his discharge. He said after the match he "would be willing to play for the rehabilitation fund for 10 years if necessary after having seen some of our wounded veterans hobble around a pitch-and-putt course on crutches."

Both Snead and Nelson spent their spare time visiting various veterans' hospitals on last winter's golf tour. Nelson took eight title on that junket while gathering in $22,000 in war bond prizes. Snead took six and $16,000.

White Sox Star Is Still Tops In Loop

CHICAGO, May 28. (AP) — The leveling off process continued in the American League hitting race last week, but pace-setter Tony Cuccinello of the Chicago White Sox clung to the lead despite a 23-point slump to .333.

Vern Stephens of the St. Louis Browns took undisputed possession of second place 10 points behind Cuccinello as he fell off 10 points to .323, while George Case of Washington tumbled 15 points to a fifth-place .318.

Batting star of the week was George Stirnweiss of the New York Yankees, who collected 12 hits in 32 appearances to climb 20 points to .319, three points behind teammate Nick Etten, who took over third spot with .322.

Legion Champs Enter Baseball Tournament

DALLAS, May 28. (AP)—Entry of the Austin Maroons in the state high school baseball tournament opening here Monday was announced today by P. C. Cobb, director of athletics for Dallas high schools.

Another late entry is Waxahachie.

Austin High, which is reported to have virtually the same team that won the state American Legion junior baseball championship last year, is a heavy tournament favorite.

Strong competition, however, is expected from Shallowater, South Plains champion and winner of seventeen straight; Abilene, West Texas tournament champ and victor in fifteen straight; Marshall, East Texas titlist; Waco, Hondo, Garland, Sulphur Springs, Wilmer-Hutchins; Sunset and Forest Avenue, both of Dallas.

WOLVES WIN AGAIN

HOUSTON, May 28. (AP)—Brilliant relief pitching by Hoot Evers gave the Waco Army Air Field Wolves a 7 to 6 win over Ellington Field here tonight. Each team collected 13 hits.

DUROCHER IS FINED

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher was fined $75 today for his run-in with Umpire Bill Stewart in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader. Formal notice arrived from President Ford Frick of the National League.

Jack Henry, Bill Dean Cop Honors

Jack Henry and Bill Dean, firing a 67 over the Lubbock Country club course, carried away top honors in the War Veterans Rehabilitation handicap medal tournament Sunday to pace the field of 73 golfers.

Dr. W. A. Schaal and Jack Markham tied for second place, one stroke behind the leaders. One stroke farther back was Fenner Tubbs in third place.

J. D. Hinson, P. H. Polk, J. Ray Dickie, Waldo Trotter and Dr. J. T. Krueger finished with 70s to close out the "money players" of the tournament.

Prizes were given in merchandise at the club pros golf shop, while a check for $36.50 was mailed to the PGA headquarters to go into the pool being raised by golfdom to help make it possible for war veterans, especially in Army and Navy hospitals, to play golf.

Finalists Named In High-Low Tourney

The High-Low golf tournament at the Lubbock Country club moved into the final round this week with finalists named in both championship and consolation brackets, with H. J. Patterson and Ed Louthan scheduled to battle F. L. McRee and M. A. McLaughlin for the title before Sunday night.

The pairings in the consolation bracket will send Ted Tipps and Walter Granberry against Chick Garland and Maj. F. M. Curtis for the crown.

In last week's semi-final matches, Patterson and Louthan defeated John Kattman and Jim Kuykendall to move into the finals, while McRee and McLaughlin reached the finals by default from Otis Felty and Earl Miller.

Tipps and Granberry moved into the finals in the consolation bracket by beating Morley Jennings and Ben Cole, while Garland and Curtis eliminated H. M. Chick and E. H. Armstrong.

Presidents Cup Golf Tourney Dates Set

Qualifying will start Wednesday, and run through June 3, for the Presidents Cup matches at the Lubbock Country club, it was announced Monday night by Chick Trout, member of the tournaments committee.

The tournament will be held on a handicap match play basis, limited to 64 qualifiers. The finals will be played off June 24.

This is the third tournament of the season at the local club, and several others are being planned, and will be announced soon.

Military Policemen Beat Rigney Automen

Lubbock Army Air field's Military Police displayed plenty of power with the bat Monday afternoon, and blasted out a 24 to 9 softball victory over Rigney Auto Supply team.

S/Sgt. Melvin Billings poled out a home run with the bases full, but the batting star of the day was Sgt Mike Dean, who led the team with a perfect five for five.

Mel Ott Close Upon Another League Mark

PITTSBURGH, May 28. (AP) — Mel Ott, slugging little outfielder-manager of the New York Giants, needs hits good for just six bases to set another National League record.

Ott, who has collected most of the league batting records during his 20 years in the majors, is shooting at Honus Wagner's mark of 4,888 bases established in 1917. The American League record was set by Ty Cobb with 5,863.

Friedrichshafen is a merger of the ancient town of Buchhorn and the village of Hofen.

Wilson Nine Beats Wall In Junior Tilt

One wild inning broke up a pitching battle Monday evening at the Lubbock Boys club diamond, and the Wilson's rolled to a 17 to 11 victory over the Walls in the grand finale of the baseball school for the younger boys in the local junior baseball program.

The Wilson's went into the big fifth inning with a 5 to 3 edge over the Wall's, then exploded for a dozen runs that sent them far into the lead. The Wall nine came back in their half of the inning, and scored six runs, but were never able to get back within striking distance again.

Both Manager John Wilson and C. I. "Stoney" Wall used three full teams in the game, and gave every boy a chance to show what he could do.

A large crowd watched the two teams battle, and saw a pair of very promising pitching prospects at the start as Weber started for Wilson, and Potts for Wall, and played three innings with Weber holding a 2-1 edge when they left the game.

Billy Tatum took over for Wilson and Jack McCabe went to the mound for Wall and both ran into trouble when both hits and errors provided most of the scoring during their stay on the mound.

Tatum finished the game for the Wilson nine, while Tosh went to the relief of McCabe. The pitchers were handled by Bantz and Cotman for Wall and Reed and Scales for Wilson.

There were no home runs, but Cotman, Wall catcher, tripled, and was thrown out at home trying to make it into a home run.

The older boys will stage their all-star game this afternoon at Chapman field, starting at 6:30 o'clock. All the boys are urged to be on hand for the game.

Holmes Retains Top In National League

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP) — Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves was the only .400 hitter in the major leages today, setting the pace in the National League for the third successive week with a .402 average.

Holmes dropped off 24 points from last week's pace but runner-up Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants also slipped, leaving the Boston outfielder out front by 21 degrees. Ott was hitting .381 in average including Sunday's games and Map Reyes, his third sacker, had zoomed into a third-place tie with Whitey Kurowski of St. Louis at .368. The Giants' Cuban infielder picked up 21 points in moving from seventh to third.

Bowling Tourney Honors Divided

Honors were divided in the bowling sweepstakes held over the past weekend at the Lubbock Bowling club lanes, with J. H. Payne of Odessa and Ruth Dorris of Amarillo taking home the top honors of the meet. Five cities were entered and all placed bowlers in the top five.

Cities represented were Odessa, Amarillo, Pampa, Big Spring and Lubbock.

Much of the honors became family affairs during the weekend of firing which found the best single games shot in the men's division a tie between father and son from Amarillo. M. Hudson and son, John, both turned in 245 single games, but failed to place in the money.

The E. B. Dozier family from Big Spring did right well during the firing Sunday as Dozier took third place in the men's division, his wife, Vera, finished in the same position in the women's play, and daughter, Mary Ruth, nosed into the money by finishing in fifth place.

Shooting six games across the alleys, Payne topped the field with 1191 pins. Marvin Andrews of Amarillo nosed out Dozier for second place, getting 1167 pins while Dozier finished third with 1162. Ted Buccola of Amarillo finished fourth with 1151 pins, followed by James Buckner of Lubbock, who turned in 1144 pins.

Using the women's best single game of the meet as a springboard, Ruth Dorris brought Amarillo top honors in the women's bracket, using a top single game of 231 to stack up 1027 pins, and first money.

Oak Allee Whittle of Pampa was the only other woman bowler to top 1,000 pins, going one over to win second place. Vera Dozier's 986 pins was good for third place. Faola Patton of Lubbock finished fourth with 966 pins, and Miss Dozier came in fifth with 930 pins.

There was a total of 67 bowlers from the five towns entered in the tournament.

Board Replaces Deans At Tech

major business of the meeting, Dr. Whyburn and Thompson said.

One other major item, the matter of proposed new buildings was discussed at length with the college architect, Wyatt C. Hedrick of Fort Worth. Hedrick presented tentative drawings and plans for two new buildings, a Home Economics building and a combination gymnasium-auditorium.

Next Biennial Budget

Request for the building will more than likely be submitted in the next biennial budget of the college, it was said.

The combination gymnasium-auditorium, for use by men and women students in physical education, was designed "adequately for the needs of a student body of at least 6,000 students," Dr. Whyburn said.

Revision of the master building plan of the college so that new buildings will fit the needs of the college was also discussed with Architect Hedrick, along with a general discussion of the general building program of the future.

Two of the three new deans, Stangel and Mrs. Langford, are also members of the original faculty of Tech. Dr. Goodwin came to the college from the University of Florida in 1930. Dr. Holden, new dean of the graduate division, came to Tech a year earlier.

Stangel From A. & M.

Stangel, new dean of Agriculture, came to Tech from Texas A. & M., where he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry in 1914 and served as a member of the agriculture faculty until he came to Tech in 1925. He is married and has two daughters, Mary Menon Stangel, a government employe in Washigton, D. C.; and Ava Ruth Stangel, junior student at Tech. He is considered one of the best informed animal husbandry authorities in the Southwest.

Dr. Goodwin, new Arts and Sciences dean, came to Tech from the University of Florida in 1930, where he taught from 1926 until 1930. A graduate of Brownwood High school, he received his bachelor's degree from Howard Payne university in 1917 and his master's degree from the University of Texas in 1923. He was awarded his doctorate at Harvard university in 1926, where he was part-time instructor from 1924 until 1926. He came to Tech as professor of chemistry and was made dean of the graduate division in 1938. An outstanding chemist, he has conducted extensive research in chemistry.

Mrs. Langford's Record

Mrs. Langford, former Miss Johnnye Gilkerson, came to Tech from Columbia university, where she studied in 1925 after graduating from the University of Texas in 1924 with a bachelor of business administration degree. She received her master's degree from the University of Southern California in 1929. She married in 1934.

Dr. Gordon, retiring Arts and Science dean, is stepping down from his administrative duties after two decades of active service with the institution. He was one of the first members of the faculty to arrive on the campus in advance of the opening of the fall semester in 1925 and served untiringly through the college's early years as dean of men and also dean of the division. He graduated from Trinity university at Waxahachie in 1903 and was an instructor in Latin and Greek at the institution until 1907 when he attended the University of Chicago where he received his master of arts degree in 1908.

He returned to Trinity as dean where he remained until 1916 when he accepted the position of President of Central State Normal at Ada, Okla., where he served until 1920 when he was elected president of Henry Kendall college at Tulsa, now Tulsa university. He resigned this post in 1924 to rest and study at Columbia university and in the spring of 1925 was selected as a member of the first faculty of Tech.

He was honored with a LL. D. degree from Trinity in 1919.

Backed Loan Fund

Through Dean Gordon's efforts, the Lubbock Rotary club student loan fund was fostered and has grown until it now totals more than $10,000, of which $8,500 is invested in bonds. He is one of the most prominent laymen of the Presbyterian church in Texas and has served as representative of the church in synods, moderator in Presbyterys and as representative to the federal assembly of both the U. S. and the U. S. A. church.

Dean Leidigh came to Tech in advance of the opening of the institution in 1925 after serving as a member of the graduate faculty at Texas A. & M. college, 1923-25. He received his bachelor of science in agriculture from Kansas State college in 1902 and his master's degree from A. & M. in 1923. He was special agent for the United States Department of Agriculture in 1903 and superintendent of the Channing experiment station from 1903 to 1905 and the Amarillo station from 1901 until 1908. After a brief farming career, 1908-11, he was professor of crops at Kansas State, 1911-13 and agronomist for the Texas Experiment station from 1913 until 1923.

Dionne Quintuplets Eleven Years Old

CALLANDER, Ont., May 28 (AP)—Eleven years old today, Canada's famed Dionne quintuplets—Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne—were elated over the fact that for the first time they will be permitted to wear long evening gowns at a concert party tonight.

Highlight of the celebration was the party scheduled for 8 p. m., at which all 12 of the Dionne children will present a concert. Gifts—including three bicycles (five were ruled out because of wartime shortages)—will be formally presented to the quints.

Promising Clouds Fail To Deliver Over South Plains

Clouds promised much but delivered little but the unwanted over the moisture-hungry South Plains Monday night.

Electrical storms were common throughout the area. It showered in a few places but most reports told merely of threatening weather and a sprinkle now and then.

In Lubbock, up to midnight, it sprinkled intermittenly and there were electrical disturbances. In the early afternoon, rain had dashed down briefly drenching the streets and putting streams in the gutters. The shower apparently was limited roughly to the city's boundaries; at the experiment station east of the city and at Texas Tech there were only "traces."

Weather Roundup

Last night's late weather roundup: Dickens, no rain. Ralls, sprinkle. Plainview, showers. Morton, no rain. Littlefield, sprinkle. Brownfield, sprinkle. Levelland, showers with trace of hail. Post, no rain. Lamesa, sprinkle. Tahoka, sprinkle. Monroe, shower. Santa Fe dispatcher's office, Slaton, no rain reports from line points.

According to officials of the experiment station, only 1.64 inch of moisture has been received thus far in 1945, as compared with a 34-year five-month norm of 2.61.

Everywhere on the South Plains farmers are anxious for rain. Millions of acres lie waiting for the seasoning necessary to planting.

May in 1941 gave Lubbock county farmers a deluge of 12.69 inches. The fall was similarly heavy throughout the area. The following year, there was only a third-inch of precipitation. Last year's May rainfall was 3.03 inches.

Yesterday's high temperature of 94 came as a "refresher" to Lubbock residents who sweltered Sunday in temperatures that went as far as 105 degrees.

Thundershowers are predicted for the South Plains today.

U. S. As Mediator

written at Mexico City in the Act of Chapultepec. He added:

"We consider that her admission to the San Francisco conference increases her obligation to do so. We expect the Argentine nation to see that this obligation is fulfilled."

The Soviet and some other delegations had opposed Argentina's admission on the ground that her domestic and foreign policies had been pro-Nazi.

Turning to the Polish situation, Stettinius said that it was a matter of deep regret to the United States that the Polish people were not represented here. He cited the Yalta agreement, in saying that the Warsaw government should be reorganized on a broader democratic basis, with the inclusion of democratic leaders from Poland, itself, and from Poles abroad.

Polish Question

Stettinius termed "disappointing" the Big Three negotiations on broadening the Polish government, which were broken off because of Moscow's arrest of 16 underground leaders.

It is the intention of the United States, he emphasized, to exert all its influence in collaboration with Russia and Great Britain toward fulfillment of the Yalta agreement on Poland.

The primary objective of American foreign policy, Stettinius stressed, "is to continue and strengthen in the period of peace, that wartime solidarity which has made possible the defeat of Germany."

"This is as true of our relations with the Soviet Union as it is of our relations with Great Britain, China and France. There have been differences between us. There will continue to be differences. But the effectiveness of our wartime collaboration has demonstrated that our differences can be adjusted."

Seek Broadened Scope

It is the American purpose, Stettinius continued, "to seek constantly to broaden the scope of our agreement and to reach common understanding on those matters where it does not yet exist." He added:

"We have the right to expect the same spirit and the same approach on the part of our great Allies."

On the other conference problems, Stettinius made these points:

Trusteeship—The United States has stood for a system fostering progress by dependent peoples toward higher living standards and human rights, "including the right to independence or other form of self government, such as federation—whichever the people of the area may choose."

France—The United States welcomes "the return of France to her rightful place in world affairs" as illustrated by her inclusion among the Big Five of the world organization.

Peace aims—Continued collaboration with major Allies to achieve "the utter destruction of German militarism and Naziism; and second, the absolute assurance that Germany shall never again be able to threaten its neighbors or disturb the peace of the world. Policy toward Japan is directed to the same end."

Economic goals—Preparation of the economic and social basis for peace to help eliminate in advance the causes of another world war a generation hence.

Human rights—Provision for a commission to work out an international bill of rights based on the four freedoms.

Treasury's Appeal For Men Approved

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today the budget bureau has approved his request for more agents to investigate tax evasion and he will soon ask Congress for between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000 to hire 10,000 for that purpose.

He said a conservative estimate is that the additional men will bring in over a billion dollars in extra taxes.

boilers, electrical equipment and finished rubber is produced in Yokohama.

On Wedge-Shaped Deltas

Built on three wedge-shaped deltas, the city runs about 14 miles along the bay shore from north to south and is about six miles across, east to west.

Yokohama's commercial core is an area of great fire hazard adjoining the principal piers on the southernmost of the three deltas.

Yokohama was raided by U. S. carrier planes in their Feb. 16-17 sweeps of the general Tokyo area. A Japanese escort carrier was left listing and burning in Yokohama harbor.

Japs Driven Back On Bloody Okinawa

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

The hard-pressed Japanese, battling fanatically on their own doorstep at Okinawa, lost more important ground on the bloody island but their suicide fliers, hitting the American fleet offshore, sent one ship to the bottom and damaged a dozen others.

Furious ground and air action around Okinawa was reported today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz as Chinese forces drove new wedges into the Japanese land lifeline to southern Asia and Yank doughboys took a stubbornly defended point astride the mountain highway leading into Nippon's last big stronghold in the Philippines.

77 Planes Downed

The Japanese suicide air attacks off Okinawa cost them at least 77 planes but they succeeded in sinking one light unit and damaging 12 other light units and auxiliaries. Damages ranged from moderate to minor.

An unconfirmed Tokyo broadcast quoted the Domei news agency as reporting that Japanese suicide planes sank three major "enemy" warships and three transports off Okinawa, and damaged five other ships.

The Yanks gained on both flanks of the Okinawa front but in the center of the roaring line the fighting was heavy around the Shuri fortress defense perimeter. On the west flank the Sixth Marine division occupied additional sections of shell and bomb wrecked Naha, capital city. To the east the 7th Infantry division expanded its lines to the south and west.

Naval Station Pounded

Nimitz disclosed that Army Mustang fighters hit the big Japanese naval station 35 miles northeast of Tokyo. One Japanese plane was shot down, five destroyed on the ground and 36 damaged. One American plane was lost.

Other fliers of the Nimitz command swept Korean waters, sinking a Japanese destroyer or destroyer escort and six cargo ships.

American doughboys in the Philippines took another important stride toward Japan's last stronghold when they captured Santa Fe town in the heart of the Caraballo mountains. The town, astride the highway leading into the rich Cagayan valley where the Nipponese reportedly have formidable forces, was taken by troops of the 25th division.

On Flanking Route

Soldiers of the 32nd division, operating in the same area, made progress along a flanking route into the valley.

Ground troops on Mindanao island moved deeper into the mountains in pursuit of the fleeing Japanese.

Two American planes were lost during an aerial strike in bad weather against Formosa. Other Philippine-based planes hammered shipping around Hong Kong, railroads in Indo-China and waterfront and supply areas on Borneo. Australian troops on Tarakan, just off Borneo, reached the north coast.

Having cut Japan's vital overland corridor linking China and the vast regions of southern Asia, Chinese regulars threw themselves against five points along the disrupted Nippon highway lifeline.

Pull Out Of South China

There were some indications that the Japanese might be getting ready to pull out of south China — a move that would isolate all Nippon armies in Indo-China, Malaya, Thailand and Burma.

The Chinese were ripping into the southern end of an 850-mile fighting line. In Kwangsi province they fanned out from captured Yungning (Nanning) to mop up the area. Others hit the west flank of the corridor to the north and were on the outskirts of Pinyang, 58 miles from Yungning. Farther north another Chinese column struck the Japanese lifeline. These forces were headed east toward the former major American airbase at Liuchow. Fighting also raged in other sectors.

American Trained Army

Chinese officials disclosed that the drive in western Hunan province was spearheaded by the American-trained Chinese Sixth Army, veterans of Burma. These troops were in a see-saw battle with the Japanese about 19 miles northwest of Shaoyang (Paoching), former American air base. American fliers hammered railroad facilities in Hunan.

Two battle fronts flamed in southern and western Honan province. The Japanese suffered heavily when the Chinese attacked in the Hsihakow sector.

New Deal Workshop And Garage Burns

A combination workshop and garage of the New Deal High school, which was valued at $10,000, was destroyed by fire early Monday.

Seven busses in the garage at the time of the conflagration were saved, but the building and shop equipment were destroyed, A. L. Faubion, superintendent, announced.

About $4,000 in insurance was held on the building, leaving the school a net loss of $6,000, officials stated.

Defective wiring was the probable cause of the blaze, Faubion said.

STOCKS AT 8-YEAR PEAK

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Urgent investment demand today lifted the stock market to a new 8 year peak and grain futures climbed.

Purchasing inspiration for securities was based partly on WPB Chairman Krug's optimism over the post-war business outlook, reconversion plans and his promise that government would keep hands off industry and quickly relax civilian production controls. Earnings and dividends were helpful. Cheap money and dwindling bond yields also provided an argument for share acquisition.

Dealings were relatively fast at intervals after the start transfers of 1,570,000 shares compared with 1,300,000 Friday and were the largest since May 8. Pivotal industrials led the push but individual rails exhibited strength. Top advances running to 2 or more points per trimmed in most cases at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .7 of a point at 66.6, widest jump since April 16. It was a new high since Aug. 25, 1937. Industrial, rail and utility composites also registered best levels in eight years.

Conspicuous on the move were Sears Roebuck, Philip Morris, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Paramount Pictures, Warner Bros., Montgomery Ward, American Can, Child Co., Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Anaconda and International Nickel.

Bonds were steady, with rails favored.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—The cotton futures market was subjected to recurrent flurries of selling and hedging today and closed irregular, 10 cents a bale higher to 25 lower. After slumping 60 cents a bale in early trading, the market came back strong but turned easy at the close.

Selling was encouraged by the sustained rise this month, increased spot cotton supplies brought out by the advance, and expectations of hedging pressure against purchases of cotton from the Commodity Credit corporation.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to 25 lower.

Rainey Says Monied Group Seeks Control

DENISON, May 28. (AP) — Dr. Homer Price Rainey, former University of Texas president, told the Denison Boosters club today that large financial interests in Texas had planned a long-range program to give them control of all education in the state.

"The University of Texas is the last stronghold of academic freedom in Texas," he said. "If you people of Texas allow it to be taken, education in this state will be set back a generation."

Dr. Rainey declared he was a professor without classes or salary but that he planned to remain in Austin until "I have seen this thing through." He predicted that the university would be blacklisted by the American Association of University Professors and other academic groups.

Nimitz Gives Totals On Sub Activities

GUAM, May 28. (AP) — Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, in one of his infrequent disclosures of U. S. submarine activity, yesterday, credited the underseas service with having sunk 1,119 Japanese ships totaling 4,500,000 tons.

Nimitz told 14 submarine officers and men to whom he made valor awards that the submersibles had sunk 126 enemy combat ships and 993 merchant vessels and helped to "all but sever lines which connected the Japanese empire with their stolen possessions."

Nearly half of the Japanese tonnage sunk, 2,000,000 tons, was sent to the bottom in the past year.

Diplomas Go To 23 At New Deal

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Twenty-three seniors of New Deal High school received their diplomas in commencement exercises Monday night in the school auditorium, with approximately 272 persons attending the services.

Featured on the program was an address by Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal on the subject, "Peace Hath Her Victories." Mr. Guy, reminding the students that the "underlying cause of all wars in the past has been the monumental ignorance of the masses of the oppressors," said that he hoped the graduates would "be alive to the needs of the country and to the responsibilities of citizenship. It is upon you that the future of the nation, as well as the world, rests."

Legion Awards

J. A. Raley, post commander of the Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, presented American Legion awards to the outstanding senior boy and girl, Kirby Hobgood and Miss Imogene Fortenberry. The program opened with an invocation by Hall Looney, and an address of welcome by the salutatorian, Randell Flinn. Carlton Smith made the presentation of the class gift, a composite picture of the senior class, to the superintendent, A. L. Faubion. The valedictory, "My Day," was given by Kirby Hobgood.

Musical numbers included two songs by the class, a piano solo by Miss Fortenberry, and a trio composed of Dolores Lyda, Vernell Henry and Gladys Rowell.

Presentation of diplomas was made by Superintendent Faubion, and the benediction was given by A. L. Penuel.

Unrest Ln Levant

fired upon the people of Hama" at dusk Sunday and "the people then attacked the French garrison."

He said the French brought up reinforcements from Homs, 30 miles south of Hama, and communications with this Syrian capital were cut.

"The feeling now is so intense at Homs," he said, "that anything may happen there momentarily, and I don't know what may happen in Damascus. The police are trying to keep order but we fear incidents may grow into a general clash."

The sound of scattered firing could be heard in Damascus.

Aleppo and the Lebanese capital of Beyrouth last were reported quiet, but it was feared the news of the fighting in Hama might start a wave of uprisings racing through the two independent states of the Levant.

U. S. Minister George Wadsworth conferred for two and a half hours with Mardam Bey and was reported to have urged strongly that the Syrians maintain order until diplomatic action in Paris eases the crisis.

(The French issued a statement in Paris yesterday saying that the colonial troops whose arrival in Syria touched off the crisis were not reinforcements but were enroute to the Orient. The Syrians said the troops were a display of force by the French to obtain bases.)

Should trouble come to Damascus, the French would find themselves badly outnumbered at the outset.

Dr. I. W. Rupel will arrive June 1 to become head of the department, a post from which Shepardson was promoted last December after the retirement of Dean E. J. Kyle.

News Briefs

The German civilians openly expressed their hate but "fair" treatment was received from German military authorities at the camp where T/Sgt. Weldon D. Squyres of Fluvanna, Scurry county, was a prisoner of war, he said in a talk at a meeting of the Allen Bros. post of the American Legion Monday night. But he said, food rations given the prisoners were extremely scanty. Sgt. Squyres was with the Fifteenth Air force. He landed back in the states May 15. Legionnaires also heard a talk on the current war bond drive by Durwood Bradley, Lubbock attorney. Piano numbers were offered by Mrs. Gordon Treadaway and vocal selections by Mrs. J. B. Adcock. They are the wives of Capt. Treadway and Sgt. Adcock of Lubbock Army Air field.

A dance honoring members of the military show, "This Is Your Infantry," which will play at Texas Tech stadium Wednesday night, will be held from 9 o'clock to midnight tonight at the USO, 1211 Thirteenth. Special guests will be enlisted personnel from South Plains and Lubbock Army Air field, according to Miss Leona Gelin, USO director. Platoon Sgt. M. N. (Puddin') Davidson, jr., 28-year-old Marine son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Davidson of Levelland highway, has been wounded in the Okinawa campaign. The wound is not serious, he said in a letter received by his parents Monday afternoon; "a Jap punctured my right leg below the knee." The first news of the mishap came in a letter received yesterday morning from the Davidsons' son-in-law, Seabee Samuel T. Wallace of Lubbock, who is stationed on Tinian in the Marianas. The Seabee said his brother-in-law had been flown back to Saipan for convalesence. Sgt. Davidson, a Marine since 1939, is a veteran of the Guadalcanal campaign.

Lt. Lloyd G. Crabtree, husband of Mrs. Margaret Cooper Crabtree, former instructor at Texas Tech, has been liberated from Stalag Luft I, German prisoner of war camp, the Red Cross has notified his wife, relatives here were advised last night. Mrs. Crabtree, sister of Mrs. Josephine Ballinger, public school teacher here, is now teaching at Phillips university, Enid, Okla. No other details of Lt. Crabtree's liberation were received.

Police Monday afternoon investigated the stabbing of a negro woman, Jewel Davis, in Carver Heights. The woman reportedly was wounded Sunday night but police did not receive a complaint until late yesterday. Officers said she was stabbed in five places on the back. The wounds were not believed deep.

Longer Deferment Of Action Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Legislation further deferring courts martial for any negligence of duty in the Pearl Harbor disaster of Dec. 7, 1941, was approved today by the Senate judiciary committee.

The resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) postpones until six months after defeat of Japan the statute of limitations for any prosecutions.

The statute would expire June 7. It has been advanced several times by Congress beyond the ordinary two-year expiration. The armed forces asked for deferment, the Navy particularly contending that any information made public might be of benefit to the Japanese.

War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Forrestal announced last Dec. 1 that Army and Navy boards of inquiry had discovered no grounds for any court martial proceedings. But each said he intended to continue a personal investigation of the disaster.

A Salute To All Three

Time Dictates Changes At Tech

THE march of Time—relentless and inexorible—has caught up with Texas Technological college and has dictated the realignment of three of its very foundation stones who have been part and parcel of the institution since before it first opened its gates in the Fall of 1925. We refer, of course, to reassignment of duties to Mrs. Mary Woodward Doak, Dr. James Marcus Gordon, and A. H. Leidigh.

Yesterday, it was announced that Mrs. Doak, Doctor Gordon and Mr. Leidigh will retire this year from the deanships they have held so long, and have administered to so admirably. Mrs. Doak will conclude her service as Dean of Women; Doctor Gordon his service as Dean of the Division of Arts and Sciences, and Mr. Leidigh as Dean of the Division of Agriculture.

Fortunately, neither of the three will divorce himself, or herself, entirely from academic and campus life at the great state institution at Lubbock's westward gates. Mrs. Doak will continue as a member of the English faculty; Doctor Gordon will teach in the Education department; Mr. Leidigh will continue as a member of the Agriculture teaching staff. All three will be on the campus every day next year as deans emeritus—and, we hope, for many years to come—available for advice and counsel needed by the successors, and by others of the faculty and student body as well.

DEANS Doak, Gordon and Leidigh have meant a great deal to Texas Tech over the score of years they have worked with and for the college. There is no way of measuring their vast contribution to the institution's well being, or the influence for good they have exerted with the student bodies of 20 years. In addition to being able, intelligent, hardworking administrators, they are three very fine people whose lives have stood as beacon lights not only to their students and faculty colleagues, but to thousands of Lubbock and South Plains residents, as well.

As they begin to "take things easier," The Morning Avalanche seizes this opportunity to salute them, all three, knowing full well that it does so on behalf of everyone ever connected with Texas Tech and for all their Lubbock and South Plains neighbors as well. For Deans Doak, Gordon and Leidigh, throughout their long period of service to Tech, and their residence here, have accomplished a near miracle in that neither has an ill-wisher and all have armies of those who wish them well.

MRS. Doak, Doctor Gordon and Dean Leidigh have reached the very acme of success, not only as college executives and teachers, but as individuals—better to say, perhaps, as "real people." None among us has been more greatly respected, or better loved, and certainly none among us has more deserved the love and respect which are theirs.

We close this sincere commentary with the phrase which must be in the minds of thousands today as people think of Deans Doak, Gordon and Leidigh:

"The Lord bless you and keep you;

The Lord make His face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you;

The Lord lift up His countenance upon you, and give you peace. Amen."

Plenty Of Bang-Up Generals

THE United States today is faced by a curious military dilemma without parallel in the nation's history. Good generals are nearly always a scarce commodity—the Civil war was two-thirds over before Lincoln found a winner in Grant. But this time the nation has more top-flight commanders of proven ability in battle than it knows what to do with.

The war with Germany produced a bumper crop of extremely able leaders. In addition to General Eisenhower, who will remain in Europe as a member of the Allied Control commission, Generals Bradley, Clark, Patton, Hodges, Simpson and Patch have all been outstandingly successful as commanders of armies in the field. In addition to this stellar group, a host of air generals, staff officers and field commanders of slightly lower rank contributed mightily to the victory.

Very few of these officers, it is already known, are going to be content to rest on their laurels and return to desk jobs in Washington. Most of them are going to want to see action in the Pacific war. But since those campaigns have already produced a galaxy of brilliant commanders, clustering around General MacArthur, it is not going to be easy to find places for all the three-star and four-star generals who have "won themselves out of jobs."

But it is not likely that this surplus of fighting talent is causing General of the Army Marshall any loss of sleep. In fact, it is difficult to imagine a happier situation for a Chief of Staff than to have plenty of competent, battle-tested leaders to choose from as he starts selecting the commanders for the expanding campaign against the Japs.

THE SMELL OF MURDER
XVIII

After that dinner things began to happen. Eric discovered urgent business in Boston and Pat drove him to the train in the station wagon. Phineas Hudson rode along with Pat and Eric to make some telephone calls. Bruce Temple and Brenda departed almost immediately for home.

Charley and I walked dispiritedly along the sea wall. Charley said:

"Did you see Eric's face when Bruce Temple spilled that business about Estoril?"

"For a time," I said, "it was the only convenient way out of Europe."

"Yes," Charley fingered his chin reflectively. "I'd like to know when he was there."

"Temple?"

Charley looked at me.

"Who else?"

"Eric," I said. "Or Booker or Calavestri."

"I don't suppose it would help much," Charley said. "Nick, did Booker know of your connection with the Hudsons?"

"He seemed to," I said. "He kept talking about the little girl on Beacon Hill."

"I only saw him once," Charley went on, "but I noticed something—"

He paused.

"Yes?"

"His feet," Charley said. "In fact, they were enormous."

"Lots of people have enormous feet," I said.

Charley looked at me shrewdly. I knew what he was thinking. The implication in the presence of those Blakely and Hogdon shoes in the Hudson cellar were, to say the least, disturbing.

It was beginning to look as if Phineas Hudson was in on this somehow. That only confused matters. We might have pursued it further, but we heard a car wheeling along the gravel drive.

It was Cass Hapes. He approached with a look half-worried and half-determined.

"Well, Cass," I said, "you were right."

"Mind if I have a look in the cellar?" he asked.

Neither of us minded although we were not over-sanguine about the results. We took him to the cellar. He said:

"Where's this room?"

We showed him the room. He glanced swiftly around.

"And the shoes?" he asked.

I looked. The shoes were gone. Charley said: "They were right there under the cot."

Hapes included us both in a withering glance of scorn.

"Why didn't somebody knuckle on to those?"

"I thought fingerprints—or something—" Charley shrugged weakly.

"Fingerprints! With those shoes we didn't need fingerprints. There probably weren't more than four pairs that size stocked in all the stores in the city of Boston."

"Maybe they weren't bought in Boston," I suggested.

"I'd have liked the opportunity of finding that out. Now what about that fellow who entered your room last night, Mr. Trent?"

"Did Mr. Hudson tell you about that, too?"

"Mr. Hudson didn't tell me. Brenda Temple called."

Charley's head came up like a setter's. And I divined his thought. Why hadn't Mr. Hudson told Hapes?

"Well," I said, "he shot at me and missed; that's about all. He was tall and tough."

"He would be. You got his gun?"

I pulled the gun out of my pocket and handed it over. Hapes registered disgust.

"You weren't so careful about fingerprints here."

"Look, Cass." I began to froth a little at the mouth. "I wrestled for that gun. If I hadn't, there would have been some lovely prints on the gun—but no gun."

Hapes merely stared at me stolidly. Then surprisingly enough he passed it back.

"Know anyone who would want to kill you?"

"No."

"I do." Charley smiled brightly. Hapes did not smile back.

"Who?"

"A mechanic with eyes like shoe buttons and a knife-scar on his face."

"What's his name?"

"That's your job," answered Charley. He told Hapes the story of the tampering with his plane. Then he concluded: "but the guy who fired this gun wasn't after Nick: that is, not precisely."

"What do you mean—not precisely?"

"The shooting of that gun was a defensive act—just as the slugging in the basemen. If that fellow had really wanted Nick out of the way, you'd have had your corpse and a nice fat murder to work on."

"I'll have the murder yet," said Hapes bluntly.

"Sorry to have disappointed you," I remarked.

"Listen, Mr. Trent." Hapes became quite earnest. "When you've been a general practitioner for 20 years, you don't need X-rays to detect the measles. You can smell 'em. Well, it's the same in police work. I can smell murder, and before long we'll have one."

With that comforting thought, Hapes left us. And it was characteristic of his New England laconicism, that when he passed Pat and her father coming through the gate in the station wagon, his greeting was imperceptible from where I stood—if, in fact, there had been any greeting at all. Cass Hapes seemed not to like us.

Lively Debate Is Seen In Commons

LONDON, May 28. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will go before the House of Commons tomorrow with his new "caretaker" government at a meeting expected to signal the beginning of two weeks of the liveliest parliamentary debate in five years.

The first national election campaign since 1935 began in earnest over the weekend. Withdrawal of the Labor and Liberal parties from the wartime coalition government in preparation for the voting July 5 meant that the debate on the House floor would be wide open, for the first time since Churchill succeeded the late Neville Chamberlain as Prime Minister in May, 1940.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A LITTLE story I read this morning somehow reminded me of my own experiences during the last week.

As I told you, John P. Medbury, the Hollywood humorist, and his wife, Gladys, have been visiting us for a week.

BRANDEIS

They have gone now—rented their own house for the summer in another part of Connecticut.

When they arrived they brought with them their giant police dog, Rex.

Well, here is the story I read this morning. In Denver, Colo., firemen were called to extinguish a blaze in a residential district. A large and belligerant dog planted himself before the fire hydrant outside the house and refused to let the firefighters come near. Apparently it was his own, private fire hydrant.

The firemen had to use an emergency tank until one of them finally succeeded in shooing the snarling dog away with a well-aimed throw of a monkey wrench.

The moment Rex entered our house he appropriated it as his own.

Our own little Deuce has the high contralto bark of the Sealyham. But Rex barks in a deep bass and scared several deliverymen and a few visitors away.

When we gave Deuce a bone, Rex grabbed Deuce by the neck and took it away from him.

Something went wrong with our water that evening and we had Julius Mudry, the fellow who does all of our fixing, come over. Julius usually wears overalls and a cap.

Rex, as Medbury informed me later, doesn't like men in overalls and caps.

He sniffed at Julius' leg and bit it.

THE next morning I took Deuce and Rex for a walk.

There's a little setter on the next place. Rex chased after him, scaring the pup almost out of his skin. Then he knocked a nearby farmer off his motorcycle and Tommy, the boy who delivers our newspaper, off his bicycle.

They were about the nicest house guests we have had in years.

But, since my column is supposed to have a moral, let me recommend this:

When you go visiting leave your dog at home

And, incidentally, if you can possibly do it, follow the same suggestion with your children.

The Medburys love their Rex—but I, I am a nervous wreck today.

Protection Is Needed

Our "Inside Enemies" Are Busy

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE SAN FRANCISCO spectacle of numerous special interests seeking to advance "causes" inimical to American unity in the postwar period apparently confirms the decision of the House of Representatives to recreate the erstwhile Dies committee on a permanent basis.

Opponents of the new investigative unit, which has far more power than had its predecessor, have scoffed at the need for a further inquiry into un-American activities. With Germany out of the war and Japan facing certain defeat, they have asked why the Congress should authorize another and continuing probe.

The Pacific Coast gathering, which was attended by more lobbyists of all varieties than by delegates and correspondents, convinces members of the reorganized group, including Chairman Edward J. Hart of New Jersey, that the necessity for policing alien propaganda and activities will be as great in the future as it was in the past.

TUCKER

In their opinion, the American people will be subjected to a heavier barrage from foreign and self-serving groups than ever before in our history.

These special pleaders have every right to try to influence public thought. But, in order to escape the observation and examination of the Hart committee, they must make their identities known and not resort to subtle, anonymous and questionable methods.

Emergence from the conflict of a solvent United States will open this country to demands from all sides, and many of these attempts to affect our action in international affairs may be harmful to our abiding national interests.

Both the Germans and the Japanese will seek soft treatment as the years temper the war's bitterness, relying on America's traditional sympathy for the underdog. The campaign has already begun in the capital, although the propagandists are using underground tactics, as did the Teutons after World War I.

Other nations will bid for favors in the form of hugh loans, trade concessions, lowering of immigration barriers, retention of thousands of able refugees, manipulation of trade and tariff laws. They have not waited for the firing of the last gun to hammer away at these bulwarks of unity and national interest.

FAIR: Compulsory military service will become a topic of violent controversy. Certain foreign groups may not want Uncle Sam to have recourse to this system of national defense. They have every right to say so publicly. But they will come under Congressional scrutiny if they interfere behind the scenes, and deviously, in a matter on which the American people alone, through legislative processes, have a right to decide.

The Dies committee was frequently criticized for its sometime unwise, unfair and arbitrary procedure which often wronged innocent persons. Nevertheless, it did reveal the hidden dangers to which the United States, all unwittingly, had been exposed by our easy tolerance of foes within the gates.

Chairman Hart has promised that the new committee will conduct hearings, make examinations and present its findings to the public in a more legal, more orderly and in a fairer manner than did its pioneering predecessor.

BENEFICE: War department high officials deny that forthcoming changes in regulations governing newspaper correspondents' visits to the European theater are a sequel to the controversy over the unfortunate manner in which SHEAF handled the German surrender story. But Washington does intend to make it more difficult for writers and radio commentators to crisscross the Continent in the postwar era.

Both the military and the naval authorities begged reporters to go into the field during the conflict. Realizing the boost to battlefield and domestic morale, they wanted the fullest publicity given to our fighters' achievements.

Uncle Sam furnished all transportation, assigned escorts and provided food and lodgings at extremely low cost. It was possible for an accredited correspondent to journey the world in a few months for a hundred dollars—partial preview of postbellum travel vistas.

Under the tentative plan newspapermen will go as civilians to the European area, save for certain capitals where the Allied Military Government is still operating, such as Paris, Berlin, Rome, Prague etc., and where reporters will still be under War department supervision. Even some of those cities may be barred unless Moscow accedes to requests that foreign journalists be admitted to places under its jurisdiction.

The new scheme has its good and bad points. It will make for more independent and less controlled news, as the censorship system will not operate with regard to dispatches. But it will reduce the number of disinterested observers, for it is almost impossible for visitors to Europe to obtain food, lodging and transportation without government assistance and benefice.

LUCK: A great break of luck spared the American invaders thousands of casualties, possibly a major setback, toward the close of the von Rundstedt offensive last Winter. In a sharp counter-attack the Germans captured a Yank truck containing 23 key codes that had been used in powering our advance. But, within an hour, by mere chance, SHAEF had changed the signals, and the seized codes proved valueless to the enemy.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

FOREIGN Trade Week, sponsored nationally by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is filling New York City with business experts from all over the world, among them leading American manufacturing executives.

The pressure to be exerted after these meetings is expected to put new life into the Congressional campaign for renewal of the Hull Reciprocal Trade Agreements, especially as some economists now think that our prospects of selling quantities of goods abroad is not quite so rosy as it was regarded earlier this year. They want tariff bargaining laws as the means of eliminating obstacles to exporting.

The fight over the Doughton bill has seesawed. When Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton, top-drawer business leader, argued persuasively for it, forecasters predicted its passage.

LEMAN

Then the Truman honeymoon ended. The GOP high tariff lobby got busy and votes in committee melted away even though many Republican factory owners, department store magnates and farm organizations favor the measure. Export-import organizations will use Foreign Trade Week as a sounding board.

New York firms with overseas accounts see the need for renewing the Hull pact as greater than it was before.

Previous to the depression the automobile industry — a huge mass employment enterprise — sold 13 out of every 100 cars abroad. South Americans and Europeans purchased large amounts of automotive parts and accessories.

But when the war curtailed shipment, foreign countries made their own parts. The new companies will insist that their governments raise tariff walls to American-made goods. Unless we have a bargaining instrument such as the Reciprocal Agreements, our exports may decline.

A politician these days needs four hats: One to wear, one to toss into the ring, one to talk through, and one to pull rabbits out of.

A philosopher submits 16 "proofs" that life isn't worth living. Well, maybe not, but there doesn't seem to be anything else one can do with it.

Control Of Germany Industry Is Essential

Sharp Eye Is Turned On Cartels

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — One of the biggest problems the Allies face in their occupation of Germany is the control of German industry so that it can not again develop such a war machine as that which swept across Europe in too recent memory.

STOKES

This it did through the giant cartels that not only ramified through the industrial structure of Germany and the rest of Europe, but also to a degree into the United States through contracts with big American corporations that impeded our own production of strategic materials. The German cartels are ready to resume operations if they can.

Part of the industry control job falls to the United States group council, headed by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, which will have charge of the American zone. Included in some of the top jobs in this organization and in the so-called Technical Intelligence committees, (TID) which are to recommend "policies and administrative procedure" relating to the post war treatment of Germany industry, are persons formerly prominent in international finance and in corporations that had contracts with German cartels.

Personalities Disclosed

This fact has disturbed some government officials here who are interested in elimination or rigid control of international cartels to prevent re-creation of the international monopoly structure. They are worried about the approach to the problem of men with such backgrounds and such mental attitudes.

The head of the Economics division of the U. S. group council is Brig. Gen. William H. Draper, who has a background of big finance through association with National City bank, Bankers Trust and Dillon, Reed Co. He left the last in 1940.

The chairman of the TID committee which will deal with chemicals is Col. Frederick Pope, who has been in the Office of War Mobilization. He was for a number of years, until 1939, representative in New York of Synthetic Nitrogen Products Corp., which was organized in the United States "to handle all nitrogen bearing materials made by I. G. Farben Industries," according to an antitrust complaint in 1941 charging a monopoly by the company in nitrogen bearing fertilizer.

I. G. FARBEN, as it is commonly known, is the giant German chemical cartel which had tie-ups with many American coporations. The anti-trust complaint resulted in a consent decree restraining the company from monopolistic practices.

Mr. Pope is also vice president and a director of the American Cyanamid Co., which is among several companies included in indictments for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws on the charge of monopolies in formic acid and sulphuric acid. These cases, brought in 1942, are still pending, having been postponed on account of the war.

The chairman of another important TID committee, that on steel, also is head of a corporation which for years had patent contracts with a German corporation. This is Hiland G. Batcheller, president of the Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., who only recently left a post in WPB.

Other Connections Listed

Mr. Batcheller was also president of Ludlum Steel Co., predecessor of Allegheny-Ludlum, which joined about 1928 with Friedrich Krupp, and with several other American companies in forming Krupp Nirosta to exploit two Krupp patents relating to heat treatment of stainless steel. Subsequently Ludlum and Crucible Steel Co. of America assigned other patents to Krupp Nirosta. Mr. Batcheller was vice president of Ludlum Steel in 1928. American companies held minority stock interest in Krupp Nirosta, including Ludlum.

THE history of these German contracts came out in a criminal indictment and a civil complaint last November, charging Allegheny-Ludlum, along with a number of other companies, with a monopoly in stainless steel. The companies did not contest the criminal case, pleading nolo contende, with fines imposed of $240,000, the maximum allowable under the law. The civil suit is still pending.

Foreign stock in Krupp Nirosta, most recently known as the Nirosta Corp., was seized by the Alien Property Custodian in 1942.

Bomb Sold For Fifty Thousand In Bonds

CHILDRESS, May 28. (AP) — Sale of a bomb was made here for $50,000—in war bonds.

The bomb, millionth to be dropped by the cadets of this central flying training command bombardier-navigator school, was bought by the citizens of Childress (pop. 6,500).

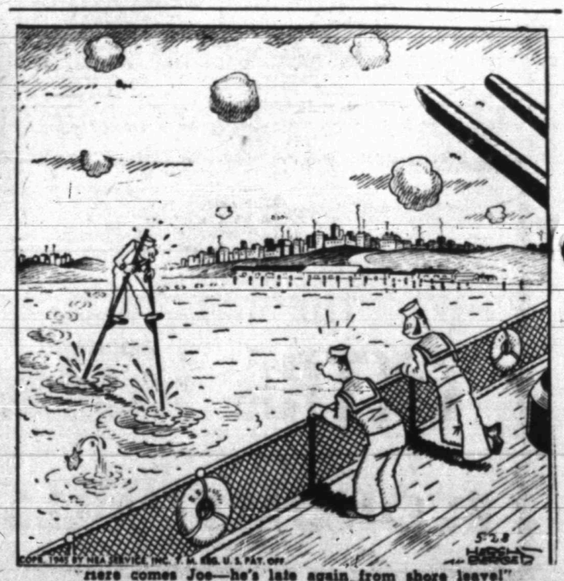

Feature of the local campaign in the Seventh War Loan drive, the purchase represents the cost of enough practice bombs to train a new class of cadets.

The bomb was presented to Childress Mayor C. V. Jones by Deputy Commander Lt. Col. Joseph G. Russell in a ceremony witnessed by assembled military personnel.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

Many Germans Face Starvation

15TH U. S. ARMY HDQ, Germany, May 28. (U.P.) — Seven million Germans in the Rhineland face food shortage bordering on starvation unless the crop situation gets very much better before July.

Military agricultural experts said today that food supplies and stocks virtually have vanished because of the necessity of feeding thousands of liberated slave laborers and displaced persons.

They classed the collection, distribution and provision of the minimum food required for civilians as the first critical problem in occupied Germany.

Spring Planting Late

Much of the Rhineland is being tilled right now, but the spring planting was late because of the war. There also is a shortage of fertilizer, which probably will mean below-average production.

To prevent mass starvation and possible food riots, the food office of the Rhine province military district has reestablished food rationing. Starting today every German will be allowed a maximum of 1,150 calories daily — about one-third the average diet of American soldiers, or one-fourth that of American civilians. Heavy laborers will get a maximum of 2,800 calories.

Under the new rations, a German's daily menu might include 8 ounces of biscuit or flour, 1½ ounces of fish or meat, one ounce of sugar. ¼ ounce of soup or vegetables, ¼ ounce of sugar. That won't be the diet, but that is a sample of 1,150 calories' worth.

Other Steps Taken

Allied authorities have taken other steps. Hundreds of German prisoners have been freed to go back to work on the land. The military government restrictions on the normal movement and transport of food have been ended. Hundreds of school-age children have been recruited to help farmers pick crops and fight a potato bug menace now threatening the crops.

It also was disclosed that 47,000,000 pounds of seed potatoes have been distributed to all Rhine province areas in another move to head off the threatened famine.

Texas Setting Up "Model" Program

AUSTIN, May 28. (AP)—Texas is setting up a model training program for the blind for other states to pattern after, Lon Alsup, executive secretary-director of the state commission for the blind, said here today.

For the first time in history a cooperative program has been worked out with Texas A. and M. college and on Oct. 1, a new field of rehabilitation-education will be placed in effect when the first ten blind students enter that school to learn poultry raising.

The personnel of the first class in poultry raising will be selected from various sectors of the state and will be sent to A. and M. college with all expenses paid by the state and federal governments. They will receive the equivalent of two semesters of training and will make them a seven year loan to defray the purchase of necessary hatchery equipment.

Heretofore the emphasis on training of the blind has been in the mechanical vocational field.

Odessa Marine Gets Diploma In Absentia

ODESSA, May 28. (U.P.) — In the Rutherford home here today a brand new high-school diploma has been tacked on the wall for Marine Pvt. J. T. Rutherford.

Although the Marine private left school lacking a half credit toward graduation, he was awarded the diploma, given to his parents, at graduation exercises here Friday night.

The school board gave J. T. the half point for "field work in geography, or map-reading—both of which he has learned a lot about in the Marine corps."

Law Is Passed On Embassy Property

AUSTIN, May 28. (AP)—Legislation designed to make possible purchase of the French embassy property in Austin was finally passed by the Senate today.

To set up this machinery, a resolution kept alive the Texas centennial commission, and a separate bill authorized it to use $24,000 in unexpended centennial funds for this purpose.

Several Churches Open Vacation Schools, Others Planned Later

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Vacation schools conducted by several Lubbock churches opened Monday, with approximately 300 boys and girls enrolling, and other schools are being planned for June and July.

The majority of Lubbock churches have opened or plan to open church and Bible schools soon. Those opened Monday are sponsored by St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, First Methodist church, St. Paul's Episcopal church, First Christian church, St. John's Methodist church and Asbury Methodist church.

Cooperative School Held

A cooperative vacation church school is being conducted by St. John's Methodist, the First Christian and Episcopal churches. Primary and junior groups are meeting at the First Christian church and the pre-school group is meeting at the St. John's church. Sessions are being conducted 9 to 11 a. m. Mondays through Fridays and children from 4 years of age through the sixth grade in school are attending. The program includes Bible study, creative arts and recreation. Miss Ruth Towne is director of the cooperative school.

In connection with the school, laboratory training is being offered for new leaders in the church schools. Miss Elizabeth Akers is directing training of new teachers in the junior department, being offered this week, and Miss Towne is directing the laboratory training for the beginners' department this week and will teach primary department teachers next week. The First Presbyterian church is cooperating in the laboratory school

Enrollment in the cooperative church school was estimated by Miss Towne to be near 100.

Week's School Given

A week's intensive instruction in being offered at St. Elizabeth's church. The church conducts a school each Saturday throughout the year and then offers the week's vacation school after close of city schools. Missionary catechists are directing the study. The upper class is studying the Bible and the lower class, Bible stories. Prepared catechisms also are used, for both classes. The school is for kindergarten through Junior High school boys and girls. The school will close Saturday. Hours are 8 a. m. to 12 and 1 to 3 p. m. Approximately 50 attended Monday.

Children four through 11 years old are being taught in the First Methodist daily vacation church school that opened Monday and will close June 8. Supervisors are Mrs. H. E. Ross, kindergarten; Mrs. George Box, primary, and Mrs. L. L. Miller, junior. "Jesus, Our Friend" is the study subject in the kindergarten department; "As Jesus Grew," primary department, and "Living in Our Community," junior department. A study of Lubbock is being made by the junior department and the museum and other places of interest are to be visited. A model of the city is to be built. The primary and junior departments are divided into four clubs for activity periods, story telling, music, art and recreation. The school will be conducted from 9 to 11 o'clock each morning through June 8, except Saturdays and Sundays. Approximately 125 entered Monday. Thirty adult workers are helping.

Seventy-two Enroll

Seventy-two boys and girls enrolled in the Asbury Methodist vacation church school. Bible study, handicraft and directed recreation are included in the program. Mrs. J. W. Hendryx is director and supervisors of departments are Mrs. J. C. Thomas, kindergarten; Mrs. Carol Davis, primary; Mrs. Wayne Martin, junior, and Mrs. A. W. Brock, intermediate. Eighteen adult workers are helping.

Children may enroll any day in the schools, it was announced.

The First Baptist church is to conduct a vacation Bible school next Monday through June 8, inclusive. H. W. Miner, educational director of the church, will be superintendent. Children 4 through 16 will be taught. Assistant principals will be Miss Morrine George and Mrs. Lattimore Ewing. Time will be 9 a. m. Registration is to be conducted at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at Carlisle park on Twenty-seventh street. A meeting and luncheon was attended by the faculty of the school Friday.

The vacation church school of the First Presbyterian church will be conducted June 26-July 6, with Miss Elizabeth Akers as director, for children from 4 through 14.

The Locust Street chapel is planning its school for June 11-22. Rev. Collis McKinney will be director. Children 4 through 14 will be taught. Hours will be 9-11 a. m. Raleigh Martin is head of the committee in charge. The Pioneer Park, South Side and Walnut Churches of Christ will cooperate with the Broadway church in conducting the school at the Broadway church.

The College Avenue Baptist church vacation Bible school also will open next Monday and will continue through June 15, from 9-12 a. m. Mondays through Fridays. Bible study, hand work, character studies, singing, pledge to the flag are included in the program, which will be for boys and girls 4 through 16 years old

The Nazarene church is planning to conduct its vacation Bible school in August. The school will comply with standards of the International Council of Religious Education.

A similar school is being planned at Calvary Baptist church, according to Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor.

Dunlap Chain Buys Littlefield Store

Purchase of Ware's Department store in Littlefield by the Dunlap chain of dry goods stores was announced here Monday by Retha R. Martin of Lubbock, operating partner.

Thus was added the fifteenth of the chain's stores in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Six additional Dunlap units are located on the West coast.

Gus Shaw, long-time Littlefield resident and veteran employe of Ware's organization, will remain as manager, Martin announced.

The store is the oldest dry goods establishment in Littlefield, Martin said. Ware has been owner and operator since the early 1930's.

Ware said his immediate plans were to move to Kerrville, Tex., where he owns ranch property.

Headquarters of the Dunlap chain are in Lubbock.

LAAF Memorial Day Brings Intensified War Bond Campaign

Personnel at Lubbock Army Air field will join the rest of the nation in paying solemn tribute to those who have given their lives toward victory Wednesday — Memorial Day — but will add its own memorial to the sacrifice of those who lay beneath white crosses from Bataan to North Africa, Normandy, Saipan and Iwo Jima, with the day set aside for everyone on the post to purchase War Bonds.

It is "B" Day for LAAF. On that day, every enlisted man, officer and civilian worker on the field will be contacted in an effort to give each of them an opportunity to purchase a War Bond as a material memorial to those who have died for victory and as a mighty blow to speed victory and prevent as much bloodshed as possible in the future.

Bonds sold during the drive will be marked with "Memorial Bond" insignia and officials indicate that an all out response may be expected from personnel of the big west base.

All bonds sold during the day will go toward the field's huge quota of $264,000 for the mighty Seventh War Loan campaign. As of Saturday, personnel at LAAF already had bought more than 70 per cent of their big quota, surpassing all sales in previous War Loan drives at the post with a total of $186,837.73 bonds sold. The highest previous total was $155,000 reached during the Sixth War Loan campaign.

Action Planned In Opposing Amendment

AUSTIN, May 28. (AP) — Sen. James Taylor of Kerens said today he was preparing court action against submission on Aug. 25 of a constitutional amendment placing a ceiling on state spending for social welfare.

In a formal statement Saylor said the constitution requires that the proposed amendment be published four times in every county, the first publication to be not later than May 25. He added that 39 counties with a population of more than 500,000 have reported no publication of the admendment.

He blamed the situation on "legislative delay."

The amendment places a $39,000,000 annually ceiling on state spending and permits an increase from $15 to $20 a month for the state's share in individual old age assistance grant.

Taylor opposes the amendment in its present form because "it will only increase the number of the rolls and not the amount of grant because the legislature failed to include any limitations on eligibility."

Several Texans Get Oak Leaf Cluster

B-29 BASE, Tinian, Marianas. (Delayed) (AP)—The 21st bomber command, in awarding air medals to many American superfortress officers and enlisted men for combat missions against Japan, praised them for their courage and skill.

Citations read at the recent presentations said that: "Under prolonged periods of physical and mental strain, and undaunted by the many hazards faced regularly and continuously," the flyers "displayed such courage and skill as to reflect credit" on themselves and the Army air force.

Those awarded medals included these Texans:

Seventeen-year-old young men desiring to enlist for general service with the U. S. Navy must join through the Lubbock recruiting station not later than today, according to Y-1c Collier Parris.

Eighteen young men are due to leave Lubbock tonight for Dallas and their physical examinations for general service.

Parris has just returned from the Dallas headquarters after a week's business there. He will be in the local office until Thursday before receiving assignment at another station.

Brass Mill Products Released By WPB

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—The War Production board today released brass mill products for immediate delivery to civilian, non-priority purchasers. The action, five weeks ahead of the scheduled July 1 release of steel, copper and aluminum, reflected a sudden loosening of supply of brass mill products, caused by the drop in Army demand for shells and bullets. These were among the earliest armament items to be cut back as the European war ended.
