C-C CANNING KITCHEN IS APPRECIATED HERE

The following letter, received by the Perryton Chamber of Commerce, shows the appreciation of the public for the establishment of the canning kitchen and is typical of the many expressions made.

Booker, Texas
Feb. 18, 1934
Chamber of Commerce
Perryton, Texas.
Gentlemen:

I wish to thank your organization for establishing and so materially assisting in the maintenance of the Perryton Canning Kitchen. Recently I had occasion to have some two hundred pounds of beef canned there and was well pleased with the entire transaction. Everyone I dealt with on this transaction was courteous and also knew their business. With this supply of products, my home is well supplied with canned meats for a year and I consider that it is proper that I thank your organization by this letter for establishing this kitchen which is a great help to the entire country and assists many families in their food supplies at an economical cost. Again thanking you, I am,

Your truly,
Paul Mountcastle.

NEW PLAN FOR LEAGUE MEETS

MANY CHANGES IN INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE SET-UP
THIS YEAR; HAVE
DISTRICT MEET

Canyon, Tex., Feb. 27.—W. E. Lockhart, Director General of Region No. 1, Texas Interscholastic League is calling the attention of all schools of the Panhandle to the new organization of the Texas Interscholastic League which converts old districts of this section into several new districts with centers at Amarillo, Childress, Lubbock, and Pampa. This plan is being tried for the first time in 1934.

Mr. Lockhart states that as a general rule the winners in each of the districts come to Canyon to complete the regional meet on April 20 and 21.

The regional director goes on to say: "A few exceptions to the above should be noted. There will be no county contests in typewriting, but there will be district contests; and the best five typists in each district will enter the regional meet. There will be no district or county contests in art, the students in each school may enter the regional contest direct."

"In basketball, each district must determine its championship not later than February 24; and then the winning teams, four in number, come to Canyon for a regional elimination on March 2 and 3. This tournament will be conducted on a 'double-elimination' basis, requiring two defeats to put a team out of the tournament, before reaching the finals. The drawing by districts will be published on February 25."

"There is an entirely new plan this year in essay writing. The writers must attend each meet from county to regional and actually write essays in the contest. This is regular—the winners in the county entering the district, and the district winners entering the regional meet."

"In the One Act Play contest the 'double-elimination' plan will also be used, the cast from Childress play against Pampa; the one from Lubbock play against Amarillo; then losers play losers and winners play winners, etc., until the regional championship is determined and entered in the state meet. This tournament will be held in Canyon on April 20 and 21. Correspondence should be addressed to Mr. C. W. Batchelder, Canyon."

"The regional meet for tennis and all other athletic contests—track and field—will be at Canyon on April 20 and 21. Mr. Carl York Canyon, is regional director for all athletics."

"An effort will be made to promote a regional golf tournament, to be played on the Canyon Country Club Links. I should like to hear from those that might be interested in this feature of the sports life of the high school boys and girls of this region."

CROWD ENJOYS LIONS PROGRAM

"A HOWLING SUCCESS" PLAYS TO LARGEST CROWD IN SCHOOL AUDITORIUM THIS YEAR

One of the largest audiences ever assembled in the past year greeted the performers in the benefit play presented by the Lions club on Tuesday evening of this week. The entertainment consisted of two well defined sections, the first being a beautiful pageant presented by the pupils of the first grade under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Irvin. This part of the program was well presented in every respect.

Following came the rich comedy, "A Howling Success", played by twenty-five local business men, members of the Lions club. The stage was set for a baby clinic and in the background was displayed an array of fearful looking instruments, used in various severe operations.

R. H. Prewitt, master of ceremonies, introduced the great specialists, Max Boyer, Van W. Stewart and Rev. W. B. Hicks, with their very attractive nurses, played by Vance Apple, Dr. G. J. Budd and Manse Wood. First appeared Mrs. Doodad, played by Virgil Castle, bringing her two sets of twins, Addison Cutter and J. Malvin Jackson, Jas. E. Barbour and C. W. Claybaugh. Giggly Jennie and her mother, Milum Cudd and B. B. Kent, afforded rare fun for the audience, as did Peck's bad boy and his father, J. H. Woodward and R. H. Holland. W. E. Perry made a charming Sal-lie when appearing with the mother, Irvin R. Buchanan. The Heavenly Twins, Glen McGibbon and Bill Strump, furnished the "howling" for the play when they were brought in by their negro mammy, Duane Roberts. Even Maggie and Jiggs, C. E. Whippo and L. B. Ranson, attended the clinic, as well as Spike, played by R. B. Yoakley. Little Billie Heardon, the only member of the cast outside of the Lions club, touched the hearts of the audience when he appeared as the little orphan boy, but the pathos was broken when C. A. Robinson appeared as Mrs. W. B. Irvin to present blue ribbons to the children.

The conversation, the jokes and the acting was clever and brought laughter and applause from the appreciative audience until the final curtain. A comedy skit was presented between acts by J. A. "Lightning" Willis and C. W. Claybaugh. Credits were also given to the high school orchestra, under the direction of W. G. Parks, for furnishing the musical entertainment and to Helen Mannen who accompanied the Lions play.

Call Meeting Held At Courthouse

Saturday, February 24; Delegates Make Reports

The County Council of the Home Demonstration Clubs of Ochiltree county met at the courthouse in Perryton, Saturday, February 24. All clubs were represented with the exception of Wolf Creek and Twichell.

Founders Day Observed Monday With Fitting Ceremony By Local P. T. A. Ass'n

Founders Day was observed by the Perryton Parent-Teacher Association which met in the high school study hall, February 26, at 7:30 p. m. A beautiful cake ceremony was given by W. I. Byron, Mary Lee Wilson, Ruth Neufeld and Jane Louise Rogers, the thirty-seven candies being lighted by the president, Mrs. W. B. Irvin. A puppet play presented by Miss Amy Allen's room was unique and pleasing entertainment. The Parent-Teacher Theme song, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," was given by Mrs. R. P. Hurn, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Wilson.

A dynamic talk was given by H. W. York on "What is Education?" Mr. York said, "Education is not acquiring a certain amount of knowledge. Education is a mind systematically trained for life itself. Education might be divided into three divisions, physical, intellectual and moral. Ignorance digs ditches. Education links oceans and canals. Education places a light at the door. Education teaches how to live. To be educated one must have vision. Vision is the key to imagination. President Roosevelt is an example of an educated man, for an educated man is a man who gives his best to mankind."

Mrs. W. E. McMillen gave a very vivid report of the County Council at Waka.

The fifth grade won the picture. The president, Mrs. W. B. Irvin, announced a broadcast over NBC next Friday at 3:30 and asked all members to listen in. $3.60 was collected for Founders Day Fund.

ELECT COUNTY FARM COUNCIL

CONNER, ROGERS AND POWERS NAMED MEMBERS COUNTY
COUNCIL ON FARM
CREDIT SETUP

Farmers seeking loans from the $40,000,000 emergency crop loan fund will be directed in the near future where to apply in their respective communities, stated Wm. I. Myers, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration. Rules and regulations covering such loans will soon be announced. Application forms are now being prepared.

It is required by the law that borrowers, as a condition to receiving an emergency loan, must furnish proof of cooperation with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The nature of proof of cooperation will be similar to that recently announced as applicable to other borrowers who apply for loans under the Farm Credit Administration.

Each applicant must obtain clearance through or furnish a certificate of cooperation with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The production control association will make available lists of those who have signed acreage control contracts. Farmers who are on this list, if otherwise eligible to borrow, will be able to obtain loans.

County councils of the production control associations will certify to representatives of the Farm Credit Administration the names of any farmers who, while not signing acreage control contracts, are cooperating by not increasing their production contrary to the acreage control program. L. R. Conner, E. W. Rogers, and Percy Powers have been named as the Ochiltree County Council members.

Farm Credit Administration representatives will be instructed to make no loans to farmers who are planning to increase production. For the time being, according to Governor Myers, the various regional emergency crop loan offices will handle the applications for loans from the $40,000,000 fund, and these offices will be under the immediate direction of the Emergency Crop Loan division, which is placed under the supervision of the Production Credit Commissioner, S. M. Garwood, and the Governor.

EDITORS HAVE TROUBLES

Editors have troubles, but unlike those of others. The Weatherford News says there is the fellow who asks the editor to keep on sending the paper and the subscription price will be forthcoming. "The first thing you know the subscription is two years in arrears. A collector goes around to this subscriber to collect to know why in h— you did not stop his paper when it expired and he'll be d— if he will pay it. Then there is the fellow who gets a year or two back and you stop his paper. He calls you everything he can think of, his feelings are hurt, his credit damaged, his health ruined, his wife's affections alienated and countless other things just because the paper was afraid it was not going to get a "measly little old dollar or two?"

Jesus' Testimony Concerning Himself

Matt. 11: 2-12: 50

I. Message From John and Elogy of Jesus 11: 2-19

Langusling in a prison near the Dead Sea lay John the Immerser, a victim of Herodias' hate and vengeance. But the Voice had accomplished its mighty work in the wilderness of Judea, and the imprisoned servant of God resigns himself to his "decease" and turns his thoughts to the fame of Jesus.

Two of John's Disciples were sent to ask Jesus if he were really the Christ. Instead of accusing John of doubt, Christ returned the messengers to him with the word that the blind, lame, leprous, and deaf were healed, and that the dead were raised. Surely such evidence was sufficient to satisfy the inquiry of the noble fore-runner. Then upon the astonished ears of the multitudes fell a most beautiful picture of John. The Son of God was not forgetful of the efforts of his herald. Far from being a reed shaken in the wind or yielding to every whim and doctrine of a deluded race, John was as great as any prophet who had ever lived during the Patriarchal or Mosaic Dispensations. As the kingdom was not established until after the resurrection of Christ, John was not in it. The expression, "he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he," teaches us that the relationship of Christians to Christ in the Gospel Age is very sacred. Jesus has become the head of the body, the church (Col. 1: 18) and Lord of Lords and King of Kings. (Rev. 19: 16).

II. Woes Upon Cities of Opportunity 11: 20-30

The mighty works of Jesus were always calculated to produce faith. Surely Chorazin and Bethsaida should have been brought to their knees in humble obedience. The sentence, like a funeral knell, falls upon the proud Capernaum, in whose midst Jesus had done outstanding miracles. Even wicked Tyre and Sidon—unclean Gentile cities would have repented in sackcloth and ashes. But such is a fair sample of humanity. Thousands, who have never heard the gospel, would accept it at the first opportunity, while many who enjoy its message from year to year turn away from its pleading and warning message. No wonder the Lord said there would be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

III. Disputations With The Pharisees

Matt. 12: 1-50

1. Sabbath Day Healing Jesus healed a withered hand. No one could deny the miracle; so carping Pharisees accused Christ of breaking the Sabbath.

Among other items in his reply to their objections he said he was Lord even of the Sabbath. He also healed a poor blind demoniac, thus convincing many people of his power. The accusation against Jesus that he was casting out demons by the prince of demons virtually accused the Holy Spirit of being in league with the devil, and consequently was blasphemy against the Holy Spirit, a sin unpardonable. He who speaks against the person or word of the Holy Spirit had better beware.

2. Sabbath Day Message. There is no half-way place between sin and righteousness. The tree is either good or evil. To be on the fence is a bad policy, especially in matters of eternal destiny. If the fountain is pure, the stream will be likewise. The heart is a fountain from which spring words and deeds. To the demand for a sign Jesus promised that his three days' abode in the earth would be the antitype of Jonah's three days in the whale.

A remarkable picture of the heart is drawn by our Lord as follows: An evil spirit went out of a man. After a walk through dry places, he resolved to return to his house. Finding it swept and garnished the evil spirit decided to have company. So after calling seven other demons worse than himself, he entered the empty heart and ruined a life. Emptiness is always fatal. If we would keep bad company out four lives, we must keep them filled with good associates. If we would keep bad thoughts away, crowd them away with holy meditations. If our hands would be free from evil deeds, let us keep them loaded with ministries of righteousness.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

The Heavenly Home

There is a blessed home Beyond this land of woe, Where trials never come, Nor tears of sorrow flow; Where faith is lost in sight, And patient hope is crowned

And everlasting light Its glory sheds around.

There is a land of peace, Good angels know it well, Glad songs that never cease Within its portals swell.

Around its glorious throne Ten thousand saints adore Christ, with the Father one, And Spirit, evermore.

Look up ye saints of God, Nor fear to tread below The path your Savior trod Of daily toil and woe.

Wait but a little while, In uncomplaining love; His own most gracious smile Will welcome you above.

Holy Communion will be celebrated next Sunday at 10:30. Announcements are to be made Saturday. Confirmation instruction will be given at the parsonage Saturday afternoon.

H. W. Hartenberger, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 4.

The Golden Text is: "Other foundation can no man pay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (I Corinthians 3: 11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord" (Luke 2: 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive. Mary's conception of him was spiritual, for only purity could reflect Truth and Love, which were plainly incarnate in the good and pure Christ Jesus" (page 332.)

Dedicated To The Perryton Rangers

LETTER AWARDS GIVEN TO CAGERS

TEN CHAMPION RANGERRITES
LETTER: FIVE PLAYERS
ELIGIBLE TO PLAY
NEXT SEASON

Ten girls and nine boys of Perryton High School will receive letters in basketball for 1934 according to announcements by E. D. Kelley, Rangerette coach and Clifford Keith, Ranger mentor.

Letters to Rangerettes
The girls are: Janice Murphy, guard; Inez Packard, forward and captain; Maida French, guard; Opal Foglesong, center; Orene Hergert, forward; Nell Coffee, guard; Ruth Nichols, guard; Ollie Mae Symons, forward; Lillie Morse, forward; and Margaret Hicks, guard.

Rangers Get Letters
Ranger lettermen are: Nathan Newman, center; Omar Barnes, forward, and captain; Lester Delano, forward; Robert Hardgrove, guard; Billy Pletcher, guard; Guy Allen, guard; Clifford Wakefield, forward; Lloyd Holland, guard; and Raymond Bennet, forward.

Sweaters will also be awarded to those who have not previously received them.

Rangerettes Are Champs
The Rangerettes named above are the champions of this section, having lost the bi-section play-off to the Panhandle Panthers sextette at Panhandle Saturday night by a small margin. All these girls are outstanding athletes and have made a fast team.

Ineligibility and sickness robbed the Rangers of a title this year, the team having beaten the champion Bulldogs by a wide margin before the jinx started.

Return Next Year
French, Hergert, Coffee, Nichols and Symons will be the nucleus of the 1935 Rangerettes around which the coach must build a team to defend the championship, while only Rangers Pletcher and Wakefield are eligible for competition with next year's team.

Students don't ask permission to raise none of these windows cause permission won't raise most of them now.

Folks don't neber complain about little Jack Woodward. He does his bestest and that's all a mule can do.

Virginia Good wanted to buy a postage stamp so she told the clerk at the Post Office to show her one. He pulled out a sheet of bout two hundred and she pointed out one in the middle and says, "I'll take that one."

Inseparable
Jack Allen and his ten gallon hat. Mr. Parks and hurry. Mr. Haggard and his gold watch chain.

Lowell Wendke and a certain dark haired girl. Harold Jordan and candy. Edna Hutchinson and her ring of keys.

Augusta Mae Stark and Tip Top Collingsworth. Robert Sharp and Cornelia Evans. Miss Britton and ninth periods for late books.

Billy Pletcher and his chewing gum. E. M. Raney and all his books every night. Audrey Haines and her opinion of editors.

Pat Ferguson and bout a hundred extra pounds of weight.

EXCELLENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

To start the program right Virginia Correll and Jack Allen rendered a piano duet, an old favorite, "Darling on the Delta." For an encore Jack took the stool and played his own arrangement of "Nobody's Sweetheart." Next the George sisters took the audience back to the old home with a lamp burning bright in the window and "The Old Spinning Wheel In the Parlor."

Frank Hibbs then ran rampant with a couple of harmonica solos. And last but not least, not by a long shot, the nationally known tuba player, Orville Newman, gave his concert number. He was accompanied by Alice Kuhn.

MEMORIES

By Evelyn Marie Dunn

How silently—the moon—o'er yonder hill

Peeks above the trees—a silver circle gleaming—

How dear to those memories still

When I, just a child, was dreaming

And still—that silky moon

Up in a star-flecked sky

Brings back sweet memories to my heart;

Memories of the dear days gone by.

MEET THE SENIORS

MARIE McCUBBINS, age 15, was born in Kansas. She came to Perryton from Amarillo, three years ago. During that length of time she has made many friends and now holds the offices of sergeant-at-arms for the Latin Club and Patrol Leader of the Girl Scouts. Marie used to be a little bit bashful, but has gotten over that lately for some reason or other. Marie wants to go to college and become a linguist.

MIDA RICE, age 19, came here from Canadian, two years ago, Texas being also the state of her birth. She is considered one of the brain trusters of the Senior class. She likes to ride horseback and write stories better than anything and wants to be an authoress or a dress designer when she is out of school. Mida says, "I don't like to be rushed and I'm crazy about carrots."

AUDREY SHEEKES was born in Nebraska, 17 years ago. Three and one-half years ago she came here from Enid, Oklahoma. Besides reading novels, Audrey likes to do something very few others like to do, read poetry. After finishing high school, she wants to specialize in some kind of business. There needs to be more seniors with that desire.

ROY SANFORD, 15, has made a very good record in his high school life. He is another member of the famed group of Senior "Brain trusters." He was born in Kansas and came to Perryton five years ago from Perry, Okla. This year he lettered in football. Roy wants to follow Herby's profession and specialize in surgery and medicine.

JEANETTE SLAUGHTER, Age 16, was born in Oklahoma but came here from Anthony, Kans., six years ago. Jeanette likes music and reading better than anything. She wants to attend a musical college when through high school. The office and place of honor she now holds are secretary of Latin club and pianist for the Glee club. Jeanette appears to be rather quiet, but are outside appearances always true?

DORMAN PHILLIPS, Age 18, came here from Weatherford. Although this is his first year in Perryton he has made many friends. Dorman says he doesn't like to do anything in particular, but that in the future he intends: first to pass solid geometry and then get a job where there is plenty of fresh air.

RUTH ANNE ROGERS has lived near here the entire 16 years of her life, however she has attended Perryton High School only two years. Ruth says she likes reading and gardening but that she is crazy about musical instruments and wants to learn to play the piano, violin, and the mandolin.

PERSONALITIES OF THE COOPERATIVE COUNCIL

DAVE SHANKS JR., Chairman of the Cooperative Council. Dave was last semester's vice-president of the High School students and is now president of the Student Body. He is the one member of the Student Government League, the party which sponsored the Council idea from the beginning, to be selected for a position in the council. He is well acquainted with Rules of Procedure for such bodies and is undoubtedly the leader of the Council. His official statement as chairman of the Cooperative Council follows:

"Fellow Students: The purpose of the student Cooperative Council is to foster a closer relation between student body and faculty, and to give the students experience in the field of the executive.

The students must be willing to cooperate with council and faculty to make a student council permanent. If the students in the Sophomore and Junior classes study the organization of the council and become skilled in the operation of such an assembly, they can render a great service to Perryton High School when they attain the responsibility of leading the Council next year."

Dave Shanks Jr., Chairman, Student Cooperative Council.

ROY SANFORD, Roy was selected to serve as vice-chairman of the Cooperative Council at Friday's meeting. He was president of the Student Body last semester and is prominent in all high school activities. He is especially active in music circles.

He says: "After having dodged the editor-in-chief for almost a week, he finally has caught up with me. He insists that I write an official statement regarding my opinions of the student body council.

I see no reason why it shouldn't work, that is if everyone elected to serve on the council will live up to the fundamental purpose of the council—cooperation. It seems however, that the original plan, that is, of student self government, has practically subsided. It was a good idea but I believe more can be accomplished by a cooperative student body council."

Roy Sanford.

STERYL GEORGE: Steryl was elected to the position of secretary and reporter of the Council at the first meeting Friday. She is vice-president of the Senior class and is one of the most popular students in the high school. She is especially prominent in musical circles. She states:

"It is hard to express my opinion of an organization I am so vaguely acquainted with. However, upon reading the constitution and attending the first meeting, I have become interested in the purpose and duties of the Council. I believe that it will be successful in its undertakings. Every member of the Council is, I believe, able to handle such cases as shall appear."

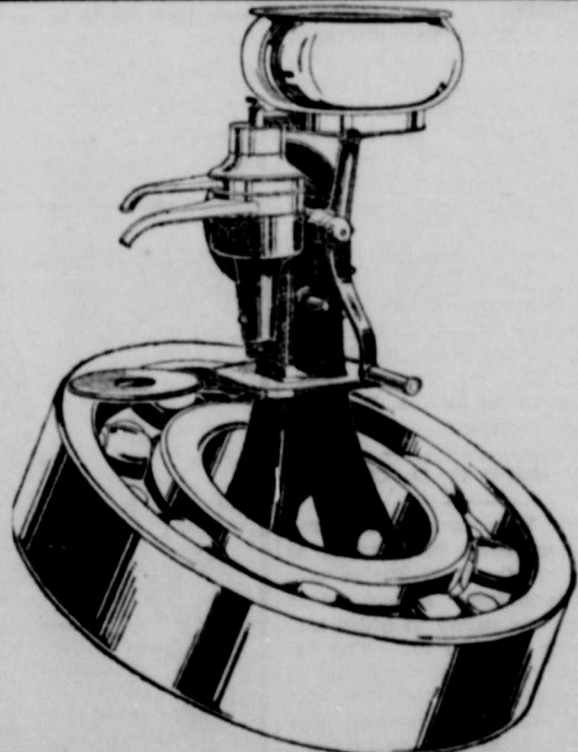

Steryl George.

Editor's Note—The other members of the council will be presented in succeeding issues of the El Sombbrero.

COOPERATIVE COUNCIL

The first meeting of the Cooperative Council was called February 23, by Mr. Bush. Interest was shown by every member and we believe that the work of Council will be of a great benefit to the school. The following officers were elected:

Chairman—David Shanks
Vice-Chairman—Roy Sanford
Secretary and Reporter—Steryl George
Duties and purposes of the Council were discussed briefly and will be continued at the next meeting—Steryl George.

McCORMICK-DEERING For Better, Easier, More Profitable Dairying

It is easy running, easy to clean, and it will give many years of good service. It is built in six sizes—capacities from 350 to 1500 pounds of milk per hour. Come in and let us demonstrate its efficiency. We will also demonstrate the McCormick-Deering Milker on request.

THE MEDDLESOME MAID

It is bound to be good. Why? Just listen and you shall hear, or read and you shall see. Feature, if you can, E. M. Raney as the chauffeur, a widower with a ten months old baby in love with Polly LaMaster, the maid with a past, "Oh, nothin' scarier." These two are actors of the old school, in them alone one can find enough amusement to pass off a very merry evening. But stop, look, listen! Call on your imagination again to picture for you Virginia Good as Mrs. Winthrop and Claude Shearer as Mr. Winthrop. Husband and wife for one year without one single quarrel! Ouch! This next is so funny that it hurts. Willard Witt as Bob White (don't worry folks, he isn't going to sing) courting the lovely Dolly Darling, Mildred Silsbee.

Beyond the scope of anyone's imagination we find W. B. Hicks as a plain clothes man, O'Neil to you. The proverbial sheep in wolf's clothing. Also Lorene Shockley as Mrs. Griffin, a young wife who is suspected of being slightly auburn haired, Mrs. Fraser, a friend of Sam's and Carlyle Howard, played by Marshal Hinds. Mr. Howard is described by the maid as being a two timer who is so crooked that he can sleep in a cork-screw.

The whole action centers around two secrets Bob White and Mr. Winthrop have hidden in the garage. Dolly Darling and Mrs. Winthrop have reasons to suspect that these secrets are two babies, results of former marriages, which the men plan to dispose of after dark by putting them in the lake.

The story unravels with a bang. Don't miss it!

When children catch cold easily, it is usually due to run-down condition. To build up, the advice of modern authorities is—feed more vitamins and minerals. That's easy now—thanks to recent discoveries.

In 3 chocolate-covered tablets you can now get all the vitamins of 2 teaspoons high grade cod liver oil! Not only this, but these same tablets bring your child important minerals (calcium and phosphorus). Youngsters take these tablets readily—no fishy taste!

Start the children at once on these tablets. Ask the druggist for MCKESSON'S VITAMIN CONCENTRATE TABLETS OF COD LIVER OIL. Be sure you get MCKESSON'S because they're the ONLY ones bringing you minerals in addition to vitamins.

Waka 4H Club

The Waka girls 4H Club met in the school house with Miss King, Friday morning. Miss King will meet with us the weeks that Miss Crowder, Home Demonstrator, cannot be with us. At our meeting Friday most of the members worked on their record books. February 16, Miss Crowder was present and left programs for the year's work. Ruth Stump, reporter.

Celebrates 93rd Birthday

Despite the inclemency of the weather and the fact that there were two or three other social affairs in town, more than fifty friends called on Grandmother Perry last Friday afternoon in honor of her ninety-third birthday anniversary.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Perry's daughters, Miss Nellie Perry and Mrs. Harriet Thornton, and were conducted to the large easy chair where Grandmother Perry sat, making a beautiful picture with her crown of silver hair, and dressed in her seventy-four year old wedding gown with its collar of dainty Porto Rican handmade lace.

This dress, a marvel to the younger generation, is made of pale green silk taffeta barred with silver, and has a short, tight waist, very long full skirt, made to wear with hoops, and measures eight yards around the bottom. In the folds of the skirt is hidden a deep old-fashioned pocket and much merriment is created as her friends "go fishing" for candy, which, on her birthday, is always found at the bottom of the pocket.

All guests were asked to register, after which refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served by Misses Pauline LaMaster and Elizabeth Caldwell.

At intervals during the afternoon several vocal solos were given by Elizabeth Caldwell accompanied by Miss Eugenia Mitchell. Mrs. L. C. Boston played two very pretty guitar numbers.

Many beautiful flowers were received, perhaps the most striking bouquet being a large cluster of Talamian roses, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Wilson.

We join with her family and many friends in wishing for this beloved lady, many happy returns of her birthday.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. D. K. Baumann, Mrs. Cecil Witt and Mrs. Carl Blackmore were joint hostesses Wednesday afternoon at the Baumann home, when they entertained with a shower for Mrs. I. L. Edwards, who until her recent marriage was Miss Gertrude Witt.

A patriotic color motif was used and hatchet favors given. The honoree was the principal figure in the treasure hunt and it proved very profitable for her. After the many gifts were opened and admired, a "mock wedding" was staged. Bell Payne Bell sang "Lazy Bones".

Delicious cherry pie was served to the following: Mesdames H. H. Privott, Robert Barlow, E. W. Witt, Roy Bell and Bell Payne, E. L. Stotts, Clarence Neufeld, Elmer Thompson, Garnet Witt, Harry Barlow, J. W. Putman, French Lawrence, Clarence Brown, H. C. Barlow, Tom Kinsey and Patsy, Lawrence George, Ike Sharpe and Wayne, L. C. Boston, John Holland, Orvil Jacobs, Lester Baumann, Ann Kershaw, Fred Rehl and children, J. D. Copeland; Miss Louise Brillhart, Miss Katye Belle Witt, Eleanor and Jimmy Witt, Richard Blackmore, the honoree, and the hostesses.

Federated W. M. S.

The Perryton Missionary societies met at the Christian church on February 16 and observed with prayer and song the World's Day of Prayer at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Minnie Blank sang, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go"; "The Evening Prayer"; Mrs. W. E. Foglesong and "The Lord Is My Life" by Miss Elizabeth Caldwell were other entertaining song numbers.

Legion Boxing Card

Ludlow and Annett in Main Event Bill Provides 23 Rounds of Real Mixing

What promises to be one of the best, if not the best boxing card, ever presented for fans in the Southwest, has been arranged by the American Legion Boxing Commission, to take place Monday, March 5, at the Free Fair building in Guymon, Okla., at 8 p. m. The main bout will bring together none other than Odie Ludlow of Vici, Okla., who has hung up an enviable record since he entered the ring, and Johnny Annett who hails from Alva, Okla. Annett must be good, for even in boxing there is professional jealousy, and whenever another has praise for a brother boxer, he's got to be good.

These boys are middle-weights and will travel the 10-round route to a decision. They are expected to enter the ring at about 158 pounds. Ludlow hardly needs an introduction. Most people remember him when he was athletic coach at the Guymon High School. The semi-final bout scheduled for six rounds, will bring together Mike Cougan, that hard-hitting lightweight from Woodward, and "Pop-eye" Handlin of Coporton, Okla.

For a semi-final bout this should be a corker. Mike Cougan hails from Ludlow's camp and comes highly recommended. The 4-round preliminary brings Pat Ganit, Guymon husky, against Kid McKinley, formerly of Waco, Texas. These boys are heavyweights and plenty tough. This match bears close watching, for both are born sluggers.

And now comes the big surprise. A 3-round curtain raiser between two Guymon proteges, both earnest exponents of the art of self-defense—Vic Starkey and Bo Tucker. These boys have been boxing for some time and guarantee a real bout. Both are fine specimens of young manhood having engaged in acrobatics for years, and if you think they can't defend themselves you're

They, like the prince, are also eccentric—they wear overalls.

American Legion Auxiliary NEWS

Winners in the Pledge Essay contest, conducted by the Perryton Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, were Juanita Dunn, first, and Mary Madolyn Sherman, second. Both will receive a cash prize from the Perryton Auxiliary. Mrs. O. E. Blank, Pledge chairman, and her committee are very grateful to Mrs. M. Wood, English instructor in Perryton high school, and her pupils for their interest and cooperation in this contest.

The essays selected by the judges as first and second choice are as follows:

PEACE WITH SECURITY

Juanita Dunn, English III
Congress could render a great national service by authorizing the immediate construction of the ships that are needed to give the navy its full treaty strength.

The United States navy has steadily dwindled in strength compared with other naval powers.

Other nations such as Japan and England have steadily built up their navies year by year, while the United States navy has grown weaker and weaker until it is below the danger line.

The United States never has had as many ships as she was allowed under the Naval Limitation Treaty of Washington signed in 1922. The United States has three destroyers which at the present time are under the age limit. We have failed to provide replacements of new destroyers and submarines for those units which have become obsolete and inefficient through age, and we have scrapped much more tonnage than any other country.

One hundred and two new ships are needed to replace those that have become over age, with the greatly restricted funds for maintenance the men and even the officers have had to overhaul the ships. If these ships had been kept up to the present time, in the end it would have been much more economical than allowing depreciation to get ahead of replacement, which is unfortunately our present situation.

A naval conference is scheduled for 1935 to revise and review the existing naval treaties, and if we go into the conference as weak as we are, our diplomatic representatives will have quite a time maintaining the present quotas for us.

If we build new ships, we will have to build them immediately because if we do not our navy will probably be classed as a second or third class navy in 1936 when the naval treaty with England expires. We need one hundred and two ships to bring our navy up to treaty limitations, England needs sixty-one and Japan needs none!

Japan has continually replaced worn out ships with new ones, or either overhauled their ships until they are as good as new.

America is eager to trade with China, and she has her own ideas about the development of Manchuria, which places agreements between America and Japan in the darkest light. For this reason I think that it would be a good idea for the United States to start the construction of new ships.

The chief of naval operation, W. H. Standley, urged the committee to increase navy enlisted personnel to 85,000, although he said that he realized President Roosevelt had asked for only 82,500 men. He also said that the United States would be short 10,925 enlisted men in 1935 and twelve ships, not including replacements of destroyers and submarines. He stated that withdrawals from the treasury for the navy were $293,833,000.

The committee provided for an increase of 2,800 enlisted naval, and 1,000 marine personnel. The Committee of the House appropriated $284,747,000 for the navy to use in constructing new ships.

One of the leading men of America said that only when we have made strenuous efforts and kept our strength and energy up to the mark against the time of necessity may we hope for the successful execution of our duties of protecting the country.

Our weakened position does not serve the cause of peace. Weakness invites aggressive, war breeding violation of one's rights.

Balanced armaments fortify diplomacy and are important in preserving peace and justice.

The relative strength of our nation is dependent upon our fleet, and the people trust the Administration to see that the fleet's sufficiency and efficiency are not jeopardized.

Our people are misled as to their own welfare and protection because most of them do not understand the work of the fleet which is carried on by the War and Navy Departments. The masses are in no way connected directly with this work, and it is hard for them to understand the exact purpose for doing certain things.

The United States has fought in several wars, and great numbers of young American men have been killed each time.

These young men marched unflinchingly and deliberately in the face of a murderous fire, while they hoped and prayed to save the United States from the dishonor of defeat. If the young men of today could witness some of the horrible disasters that occurred in the World War they would do everything in their power to prevent war.

Therefore we should do more than build to treaty strength, for those who keep themselves in training in time of peace, win the battle before it is fought.

PEACE WITH SECURITY

Mary Madolyn Sherman, English IV

This country needs some national movement that will give us secure peace which at the present we do not have. We are, and there is a possibility, afraid of a foreign invasion or a revolution. England is protected by her navy, Japan by her army and air service, and Italy by her army and air service. The United States has an inadequate army, navy, and air force. United States creditor and treasure house of the world is unarmed!

The American Legion and Auxiliary say that the best guarantee of peace is strong war defense. They believe that the navy should be increased to the limits of the London Treaty. This should be done by 1937, at the latest. The Vinson and Hale bills, introduced in Congress in 1932, provided for building up the navy. The Vinson Bill provided for a ten year building program at a total cost of six hundred and sixteen million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The Hale Bill provided for building up the navy to the London Treaty strength. The Hale Bill was often classed as the "blanket bill" in which the Vinson Bill was wrapped. Congress decided on them in February, 1932. In other words the Legion and the Auxiliary believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

This may sound as though the Legion and the Auxiliary want another war, and they think that the other war was not bad at all. That is not the legionnaires' outlook at all. They want to protect our country. They sacrificed friends, husbands, and brothers to the last war, and no one knows better than they the horrors of war. The Legion is interested in what the fate of the nation is to be. The legionnaires are proud that they fought against the enemies of 1917 and 1918, and it is but natural that they should be determined to prevent an overthrow of our government by an invasion from some foreign country or a revolution within our country as long as they are able to rise in defense. They want to instill in the minds of future generations the loyalty and devotion which will insure our nation's preservation.

Some people who think only of themselves are not good and loyal Americans. They are afraid that they might have to go to war and help protect our country. They are not willing to do this, therefore they choose the easiest way and the way that will not cost them any money. They want America to disarm. These disloyal Americans say that when America disarms all other countries will follow America's leadership, and war will be averted. There is probably one chance in a hundred that would be the result. That policy would only "open the door" to America's wealth for some greedy foreign country to take. If we were prepared for an invasion, the foreign countries would certainly not attempt that method.

The Legion recognizes no "ism" but Americanism. It expects to prove there is room for only Americans and Americanism here. If foreign countries would see that we are all Americans in this country, ready and willing to fight for our country, they would more highly respect us. The Legion and Auxiliary ask only to serve America.

The cowardly attempt on our

President shows there are some radical foreigners in our country, and that we must always be on guard to preserve Americanism.

If we are prepared for war, we will never again be faced with the problem of unpreparedness, as we were in the World War. Unpreparedness costs money, billions of it. We, in America, should believe that peace-loving America will never seek a war, and that a war will never seek a prepared America. If the Americans would work for a better army, navy and air force to protect America, the National Defense Act of 1920 would be fully complied with. America would then have a navy second to no other, and an army and air force to be proud of. We should seek this preparedness, not for war, but for peace.

America is independent and America is independent and a string to no country's kite; yet if we were unprepared for war, no nation could hardly refrain from attacking us. However, if we had an adequate army and navy, the United States would be feared and respected as the strongest nation in the world with the most loyal people in it. Therefore, I think with an adequate army, navy, and air force, we would have peace with security.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

The first corn-hog contract signed in Prio county was by T. N. Winn, former 4-H club boy and a former county agent.

A canned meal shelf of assorted containers grouped into balanced meals ready for emergencies features the 4-H pantry of Mrs. C. B. Johnston, home demonstration club member of Eskota, Fisher county. She has a food supply of 961 containers valued at $228.

Bowie county home demonstration club women are planning to plant in their gardens this spring 146 feet each of leafy, starchy and other vegetables for each member in their families.

After canning all the vegetables and fruits in sight last summer, Mrs. Leslie Carroll of Cranberry Home Demonstration Club in Lavaca county found she had a surplus. She took samples to a cafe and now has a weekly order for canned cream peas and corn.

SAN ANGELO—Two cars of live turkeys and four cars of live hens were sold late in January by farmers and ranchers of Tom Green, Schleicher, Irion, Sterling, Upton and Coke counties in a cooperative pool with the Runco Co-op Poultry Association of Runnels county, states W. I. Marshall, county agent. A total of 212 producers furnished the turkeys and 290 persons supplied the hens. Turkeys sold at 11 cents, and hens on a 7 1-2 and 9 cent basis. The four cars brought $10,800.

MARSHALL—The mere burning down of his new 6x36-foot brooder house has not kept Everett Dickard out of the chicken business. He has built a new 7x40-foot brooder house of tin and equipped it with a small wood burning furnace instead of using an oil stove, as formerly. The furnace is 18 inches wide, 14 inches deep and 15 feet long, and is set in 2 inches of sand on a tin floor. Everett is a 4-H club boy of Fairview community in Harrison county. Since building the new brooder his father has built a brooder over his old flu-heated hotbed in which he grew tomatoes last year, and is brooding 500 chicks.

CANYON—Planting garden seed as you would wheat meant a great deal to Mrs. C. H. Stallings, home demonstration club member of Randall county this year. Just as her husband finished planting the wheat she mixed and placed pinto beans, black-eyed peas, pumpkin, and cantaloupe seeds in the planter and planted them in the middle of the wheat field. These seed cost 50 cents and her yield was fresh black-eyed peas for the table for two months and enough to can 393 pints. The dry ones were not gathered. The pintos yielded enough to can 383 pints and more than 100 pounds dried. Cantaloupes were used from the patch until frost and 225 pumpkins were gathered.

HASKELL—The 120 feet of concrete tile put in the garden of Mrs. S. G. Perrin, member of the Josselte home demonstration club in Haskell county, cost 85 cents and meant 102 quarts of canned tomatoes worth $15.30, all the fresh tomatoes the family could eat, all the green tomato relish she wished, and 1-2 bushel green ones stored in the cellar for future use. Mrs. Perrin estimated that more yield would have been made but the garden was watered only every two weeks. This year Mrs. Perrin is adding more tile and putting out berries and grapes in the garden according to the report of Miss Johnnie Reed, Haskell county home demonstration agent.

MASON—"I have found by experience that the beauty of my shrubs depends largely on correct pruning," said Mrs. Lamar Thaxton, third year yard demonstrator in Mason in talking to Miss Leah Cox, Mason county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Thaxton has pruned part of her shrubs by removing the old branches that are destitute of young growth. The worst treatment flowering shrubs can receive, in her opinion, is the shortening of the summer growths during the fall, especially that of shearing them into round, stubby forms with hedge shears, at once destroying the natural, graceful beauty of the plants and removing the best of their flowering shoots just as they are preparing for an abundance of blossom. She is pruning hers, leaving them rather open, so that the branches may receive full benefit of light and air.

NEEDS HIS BRAINS

With farm produce prices coming back and prospects for going much higher the danger spot facing grangers will be over-spending. It should not be done.

In the boom days following the war many farmers were ruined by buying acreage they could not pay for—buying at prices far beyond actual worth. Banks loaned rashly for the purpose, and hundreds of them went down in the crash. Men are virtually paupers today who considered themselves rich when things were running riot.

That mistake should not be made again. The farmer has every reason to expect good times in the very near future. He is looking forward to satisfactory prices on the product of his soil. He sees comfort coming his way. If he avoids the speculative pitfalls which wrecked him before, he will arise to the top again. Otherwise he will sink to the bottom.

Curb Economic Hogs

"Monopolies and combines which operate under the NRA" are robbing the recovery program unduly high, says Senator Borah of Idaho.

There is probably more truth than criticism in the statement. It is a fact that the prices of certain necessities of life are abnormally high and still going up, while wages of the employees who produce them are far from being on a proportionate scale. This is made possible because the anti-trust law is inoperative under the NRA.

In the country towns it is the local merchants who must bear the brunt of criticism and complaints from exasperated consumers, although the merchant is generally an innocent and helpless victim of a condition that has grown up under the recovery program.

Sooner or later the president will have to handle this growing menace to tranquility and recovery in his characteristic manner. Economic hogs cannot be allowed to roam and root at will.

If you don't think motorists can get accustomed to anything in this year P. D. 1934, just consider the calm and majestic attitude in which they received the news that government would favor them with another tax on gasoline, the price of which is already lost in the skies. But then, perhaps they had nothing to say because their repertoire of cuss words is already exhausted.

Occasionally we hear someone content that it should be unlawful for anyone to pay a ransom in order to have a prisoner freed by kidnappers. If YOUR son or daughter were kidnapped, and you were given the choice of paying the demand or jeopardize his or her life, what would YOU think of such a law?

By Dorsey, Former Plains Scout And Advent Of Gray, Was Recent Liberal Visitor

A people who met an elderly man of stature, walking alone Monday morning, looking interestedly on
the scene about him.
He had passed this land on his 92nd birthday. And had they happened to be in conversation with him
they would have known that he has lived in the century. His keen memory and the ease with which he converses on any subject in the past, the Civil war, the pioneer days in Beaver County, Oklahoma, conditions following the World war, down to presented conditions, even to the modern high powered farm-machinery, is nothing short of the city.

He is Seth Dorsey, affectionately known as "Daddy" Dorsey.
His old friends, many of whom have known him since he lived near Gray, Oklahoma,
arrived in Beaver county about 33 and was among the first to settle there.
"I determined to stay as long as I could," Mr. Dorsey said. He is now living near Granville.

Mr. Dorsey first came to Beaver county in 1885, and was among the first to settle there.
He was born in New Philadelphia, Ohio, and on May 23, 1842, the youngest of a family of seven children. Mr.
Dorsey is of German descent on his mother's side and Irish descent on his father's side. He entered service in the Civil war on April 26, 1861, at the age of 19. He was a member of the 16th Ohio Volunteer Infantry and is the only survivor of the 16th Ohio in the army of the living. He was mustered out of service in 1865 and in 1866
he came to Kansas as a plains scout.
He won horseback with musket and sword and was one of the first to settle on the wagon trails between St. Louis and the Indian Territory.

On his present site of Kansas City was nothing but a loading place for shipment up and down the river and there were only a few houses.

On the days you could get a five miles this side of our river anywhere on Dorsey says. "Those first days close to the streams
didn't settle on the uplands.
I wouldn't have given for all of Kansas when it was short grass after a land of timothy and from 25 to 30 of these were accompanied the wagon trains, keeping a watch ahead and riding out higher land to look the over and see that there were no bands of robbers

on the trains.

Indians were not as much as the white man," Mr.
Dorsey said. "Deserters from Union and Confederate armies came out west to make a fortune on the plains and they robbed the wagon trains.
worked a good deal under the name of Buffalo Bill."

There were sometimes as many as several scouts accompanying the wagons. The wagons were placed in a circle for protection and people gathered around the corral. The numbers varied from 10 to 20,
and did not start out until they had 10 on account of the danger from attack were smaller.

When Dorsey came to Beaver County, he lived without a house, as he described it. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wyatt, and he remembers
the neighbors of those pioneer days always visits them when they are in town.

He had ever seen
as that through which he has passed in the last years Mr. Dorsey replied:
"It is as bad after the Civil war difference being that it is so many to feel it."
Many elderly persons remember events of the war, but are hazy on more recent events. Mr. Dorsey can carry back and quote figures of the Civil war times or of the years with equal ease and accuracy. He reads his without the use of glasses and marvel at the alertness of his faculties.

NOTIA H. D. CLUB

The Notia H. D. Club met February 20, with Mrs. F. L. Hamilton.
The house was called to order by the president. Dues and educational funds were collected to Mrs. L.
Good in the absence of the secretary.
Eleven year books were received and paid for. The other members will receive theirs later. The club received two new members. The meeting was then turned to Miss Dyora Crowder for a very interesting demonstration on wise shopping.
Color combinations best suited to each individual were demonstrated,
which was appreciated very much as few realized there were so many color combinations. The wardrobe of our demonstrator, Mrs. Hamilton, was also examined and discussed.

A lovely fried chicken luncheon
was served to the following: Miss Dyora Crowder, Mrs. W. R. Norris,
Mrs. W. M. Good, Mrs. L. Good,
Mrs. W. C. Barker, Mrs. Turner,
Mrs. Pinkerton, Mrs. Chambers,
Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Reed, Mrs.
Kizlar, Mrs. Hamilton; new members: Mrs. Milton Brown and daughter and Mrs. Jamison; visitors: Mrs. R. C. Cowan and Miss Grace Robbins, members of the Gladier H. D. Club. We were glad to have these visitors and invite them back again.

The club will meet March 6 with Mrs. Waggoner, and the topic is "Adequate Storage for the Wardrobe". Let us each study our wardrobe and give helpful hints on improving them.

WAKA H. D. CLUB

On account of a siege of measles
in our community, there were only six present at the Home Demonstration meeting, Tuesday, February 20,
in the home of Mrs. J. E. Wilson.

Mrs. Veva Buckhaults opened the meeting by leading the club prayer.
Mrs. John Luthi was appointed to fill a vacancy in the program committee. It was voted to buy an automatic sealer for the club. Mrs.
Veva Buckhaults was appointed pantry Demonstrator in place of Mrs. C. B. Barber, who resigned.
The year books were handed out,
and the February program, "How We are Governed" was studied. All members of the club have paid their scholarship dues. Those present were: Mrs. Veva Buckhaults, Mrs.
John Luthi, Mrs. D. W. Dunnihoo,
Mrs. J. R. Stump, Miss Maud Stump
and the hostess, Mrs. J. E. Wilson.

The next meeting will be at Mrs.
Veva Buckhaults, March 6, when the making and laying of tile will be demonstrated by Miss Crowder.
We will honor our husbands at that time by inviting them to do the work. The business meeting will start promptly at 1 o'clock. At which time we will fill out our year books. The tile demonstration will start at 2 o'clock.

TALK IT OVER

Consumers are not wedded to any business establishment. In the old days when the present generation was young, many merchants held their customers through personality. To a certain extent it exists today. But the great mass of consumers trade around, never glued to any one house.

It is a merchant's advertising is attractive and appeals to them they go to that merchant and give him a trial. It's up to him, his goods and his prices to hold them. Even then it is hard to hold customers if he does not show by his advertising that he appreciates and is seeking their trade.

Some business houses think it is a waste of money to advertise now.
That is a mistake. When business is dull it is the HUSTLING and ADVERTISING dealer who gets the largest share. The fellow who hangs onto the pennies often finds that he no longer has any pennies.
The best advice we can give the business men of this town is to drop in and talk it over with us.

If you want to know whether a woman can "tune up" or not just turn her out in a field of stickers, wearing low shoes and a pair of those thin silk stockings. But make yourself scarce before she returns.

DRIVERS' LICENSE MOVE

The Dallas Accident Prevention
Association launched the other night a drive to secure a drivers' license law for Texas. It is improbable that the subject will be presented at a special session of the Legislature and given an opportunity for passage prior to the threatened repeal of the Dean Law. But there is room for education of both people and the Legislature in order to secure adoption at the regular session in 1935. Legislative education ought to begin before election.
Although commitment to a satisfactory license law ought not to be made the only qualification for the Legislature sound thinking candidates can certainly be found who will include so vital a matter in their programs.

The necessity of some check on the driver to exclude from the highways the reckless and those with physical or mental impairment is generally conceded. No sane citizen thinks a car should be entrusted to the drunken driver or questions
the justice of removing the right to use a car from the man who thus offends. Education should then take form of providing a sensible and not costly license law which will cover the purpose.

The News agrees with the American Automobile Association that thorough examination for qualification is the preferable method of issuing license, but in initiating the system it is impracticable. A good start can be made by license without examination on affidavit as to physical fitness at a charge sufficient to cover cost to the State and by providing withdrawal for cause.
Until the State assumes authority over the driver, it can not provide a reasonable degree of highway safety against risks that now exist
in the absence of license control.

Heart Deaths Lead

Aliments of Heart Kill Largest Number of People in Texas;
Deaths on Increase

Austin, Texas—Public Enemy
Number One is Heart Disease, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. This disease kills over 7200 people each year in Texas and the worst part of this is that the number is increasing each year.
While it must be admitted that the deaths attributed to heart ailments are increasing, the fact remains that when a person complains of his heart, organic disease infrequently exists. Organic disease causes shortness of breath, swelling of hands and feet and a cough. Usually these signs do not convey to the patient's mind even the suggestion that he has heart disease.

So-called functional heart disease
is usually traced to these sources,
namely, nervousness, infections from another part of the body such as teeth or tonsils, to a disturbed function of the thyroid gland, influenza and so on; and to the effects of the excessive use of tobacco, coffee or tea.

In cases where there is a disturbed heart action due to focal infection the source of which is located,
the infective cause when possible is removed, as in the case of diseased tonsils and teeth. The heart, possessing remarkable recuperative ability, once the poisoning agent is definitely eliminated, in time becomes normal once again.

Good professional advice and a strict heeding of it are the only things to worry about either in functional or organic heart disease. It is a well established fact that the great number of those who know they have a heart condition usually die from some other cause.

The greatest joy comes from doing real good. But how many of us are joyful?

WHEELER-WOOLSEY FROLIC WITH BEAUTIES IN FILM

Unreeling their endless humorous repertoire against unusual backgrounds ranging from a superlatively ultra-chic beauty salon to the heman atmosphere of the auto-race
tracks, is a striking feature of "Hips, Hips, Hooray," Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's latest musical comedy for RKO-Radio Pictures
featuring Ruth Etting, Thelma Todd and Dorothy Lee, which shows at the Ellis Theatre Sunday and Monday.

"Hips, Hips, Hooray" presents
Wheeler and Woolsey as Andy and Bob, cosmeticians and super-salesmen of flavored lipsticks. By hook and crook, song and dance, they wend their way into Miss Frisby's fashionable beauty salon, and direct her business while Andy manages romance with Daisy, Miss Frisby's
assistant; and Bob does likewise
with the boss.

This incenses Armand Beauchamp, the right and proper manager of the salon, who has designs on Daisy, and who jilts Ruth, the establishment's radio entertainer,
and makes Andy and Bob the unwitting thieves of $10,000. To avoid embarrassment with the law's minions, the boys flee in an unoccupied racing automobile and find themselves participants in a transcontinental race which ends among howls, laughs, melody and beauty
in a thrill-packed climax.

"Hips, Hips, Hooray" is a gaggirl-and-dance combination of film entertainment. More than 100 beautiful girls dance and pose in eye-filling sequences, and sing the current popular melodies. "Tired of It All," "Keep Romance Alive" and
"Keep on Doin' What You're Doin'."
Ruth Etting renders her melodic interpretations of the first two numbers which were written by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby.

SWEEPING AGE ASIDE

In this country of late a feeling has spread throughout the land that men past the age of fifty or sixty have served their usefulness and should step aside for younger blood.

It is rapidly becoming a younger man's era, and age is wondering what is to happen to it.

We seem to forget that the greatest of our trials were visited upon the pioneers who opened up a wilderness and made of this broad land a paradise on earth. Age was not derided then—it was respected and looked up to. In the days when ox teams blazed trails across the continent, carrying the families and earthly possessions of pioneers in search of new homes, the men who headed those creeping processions
were mainly of advanced years.
They gave the orders, the younger men obeyed them, and the wisdom of those orders is seen today in every state. Age was as virile then as youth of today.

We doubt if any greater mistake
could be made than to retire the experience and judgment of age to the background, yet that is the tendency of today.

SHE WENT AFTER DIVORCE BUT DISCOVERED ROMANCE

Another true story, crammed with human interest and centered around a young love which narrowly mis-sided the divorce courts, provides the theme for the March 7 radio travel program sponsored by Continental Oil Company over 27 N. B. C. stations.

But the name of the young woman who submitted this narrative to Conoco will remain a secret, for her sudden motor trip from Kansas City to Hot Springs, Arkansas, which is to be dramatized, is filled with intimate facts and might easily have resulted in matrimonial tragedy. Funny situations, beautiful scenic descriptions, a gypsy Bulebeard and a treacherous lawyer also have a part in this cross section of real life. Irving Tal-bot's 20-piece orchestra and sidelights by the "Old Traveler" add further variety.

Radio fans who wish to listen in
on this Conoco program Wednesday night, may dial the closest N.
B. C. station being used at 9:30 to 10:00 Central time.

FORD TO BUILD HUGE EXPOSITION AT THE 1934 CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR

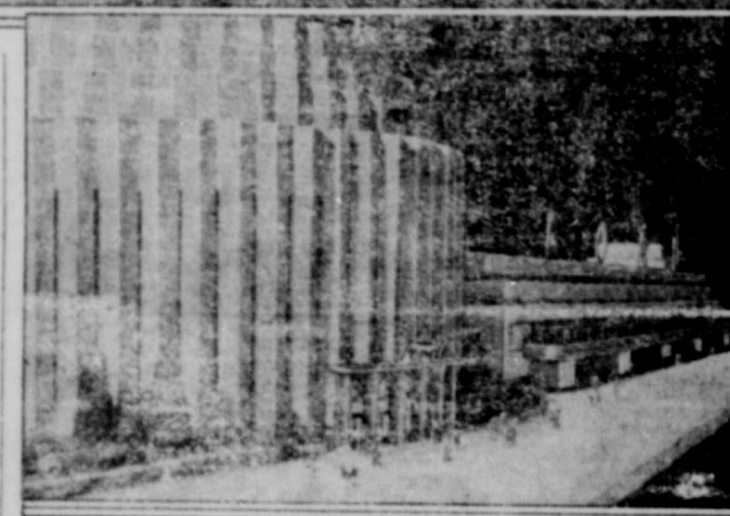

A GREAT Ford Exposition, portraying the tremendous part the arts, sciences and virtually every other industry plays in the manufacture of today's motor cars, is planned by the Ford Motor Company for the 1934 World's Fair.

The Ford Exposition will be housed in a giant building 860 feet long to be built in the heart of the fair grounds on an 11-acre plot bordering Lake Michigan and flanking the main fair boulevard. Construction of the building will start Mar. 1. In the dominant central building will be housed Henry Ford's "Drama of Transportation," depicting the development of wheeled vehicles from the chariots of ancient Egyptian kings to modern motor cars. Every model of Ford car made since 1903 will be included.

In the smaller building to the left will be housed some of the priceless historic exhibits from the Edison Institute at Dearborn, Mich., including the one-story brick workshop, complete with the original tools, where Mr. Ford in 1893 built with his own hands his first motor car. This first car will be displayed inside the shop.

The main exposition building will

Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford show to Rufus C. Dawes (center), president of the World's Fair, the scale model of the giant Ford Exposition building to be built at the 1934 Fair. (Lower) The Ford building as it will be seen from Leif Eriksen drive. Opposite the building will be a huge park bordering Lake Michigan.

display an imposing array of exhibits, most of them in action, showing steel, aluminum and other metals, soy beans, corn, wool, cotton and other farm products and the products of myriad industries are converted into car parts. The building also will house displays of cars and a big movie theater. Along the east side will be an open-air balcony equipped with chairs and lounges where hundreds may relax. Across the drive fronting the lake will be a big Ford Park, beautifully landscaped and also fitted with seats and other comforts for fair crowds.

Veterans Did Not Get "Their Day In Court" In Appearance Before The Review Boards

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 28—A member of one of the review boards that tried cases of disabled veterans last summer and fall has written a letter to the national commander of the American Legion here, according to national headquarters, describing how the veterans did not get "their day in court." The Legion News Service announces it has obtained permission from the writer of the letter to make it public, and states that thousands of cases were unjustly taken off the rolls and have not been put back on pending appeal, despite news announcements that such a step is contemplated by the administration through legislation.

The letter, according to national headquarters, was received by National Commander Edward A. Hayes from Fred J. O'Donnell, attorney of Providence, R. I. It follows: "Following with interest the reports in the daily press of your efforts in behalf of the Legion's Rehabilitation Program for 1934, perhaps the following may be of some assistance:

"Last August the writer was honored by appointment to the President's Board of Review for Rhode Island. As Department Judge Advocate of the Legion at that time, entirely opposed the Economy League, I did feel perhaps some veterans were receiving compensation to which they were not entitled. When our group organized it did not take long to correct this idea.

Without exception, and our broad heard some 425 cases, every veteran appearing had good reason to feel in his own mind that he was entitled to compensation.

"Although the State Department of the Legion had worked zealously and State Commander Risk had freely devoted the major portion of his time in endeavoring to acquaint the veterans of their rights, in the great majority of cases the veteran presented a pathetic appearance before the board. Ill in mind and body, he was not able to procure and present the evidence necessary to service connect his case and the entire board felt that the individual cases were presented in a manner which left much to be desired. In many instances the veteran was unable to employ counsel as local attorney on finding out the mass of red tape hedging their appearance before a review board could not afford to take these cases.

"It is my belief that the consensus of opinion of members of review boards throughout the country would be to the effect that it was a great injustice to remove from the rolls any veteran who had been granted service connection under laws in existence prior to March 20, 1933.

"Of course, the above represents only the writer's personal observations but it occurs to me that it might be well worth while to poll the members of the various review boards (omitting those in the employ of Veterans' Bureau) to see if their views coincide with mine. If so, the opinions of those men who have watched this new army of helpless veterans pass in review should have great weight with congress as I feel the members of the House and Senate want to be fair to the disabled veterans and now realize their error in listening to the propaganda last March which resulted in the passage of the so-called Economy Act."

The president has the power to veto any law passed by congress, but it's much simpler to merely crook his finger.

We suggest to the president that he inaugurate another new deal whereby all people will give others in proportion to what they have. We would stand ours.

Jean and Norma Blue, Canadian, visited Saturday with friends in Perryton.

First School for Blind Was Started in France

The first school for the blind was established in Paris in 1783. Others followed in several European cities, but none in America for more than forty years, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The first in this country was founded in Boston through the efforts of Dr. John D. Fisher, a young physician who had visited the French school. It was incorporated by act of the legislature on March 2, 1829, as the New England Asylum for the Blind.

The state granted it aid from the beginning, and active work was begun in 1831. Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe was chosen director, and under his supervision the institution soon surpassed all those in Europe.

Col. Thomas H. Perkins had given his mansion in Pearl street, Boston, for the use of the asylum, which was renamed in his honor as the Perkins Institute and Massachusetts Asylum (now school) for the Blind.

A printing press was started, and many improvements were made in the apparatus for the education of the blind. Exhibitions of the pupils were given before the legislatures and educators to encourage them to make provision for the blind of their own states. Instructors trained in the methods of the Perkins institution carried Doctor Howe's principles into new fields, so that his contribution now can hardly be estimated.

Among the names of famous pupils of the Perkins institution are those of Laura Dewey Bridgman, Oliver Caswell and Helen Keller.

President Harrison Was Eager Student of Bible

"Tippecanoe" Harrison never united with any church, but his predilections were for the Episcopal church. When he became President he bought a Bible and a prayer book, and these were used as his funeral by the rector of St. John's Episcopal church, says the Washington Post. Concerning his religious faith the National Intelligencer said, two days after his death:

"It is known that, for many years past, General Harrison had become more and more impressed with religious feelings, always treating serious things seriously, and showing himself mindful of his future accountability. A member of his family has stated that, for many months past, he had never omitted the reading of the Scriptures every night before retiring to rest, however harassed by company, or worn down by fatigue. On Monday, the third day of his indisposition, and before he felt himself in any particular danger, he declared to those around him that he had long been deeply impressed with the truths of the Christian religion, and regretted that he had not connected himself with the church as a communicant."

How Dust Storms Start

Dust storms are generated by the same air mechanics that build the beautiful feecy cumulus clouds of the middle strata of the atmosphere. Science Service explains. When the sun has been shining strongly on the earth for some time, a considerable mass of air is warmed, and since warm air is less dense than cold air, it begins to rise, sometimes nearly vertically. If there is plenty of moisture in the soil and vegetation, these rising air currents carry up water vapor, which on cooling in the upper levels condenses into clouds. If, however, there has been a drought of several weeks' duration, as frequently happens in the West in late autumn and early spring a dust storm results.

John Perkins of Amarillo was a business visitor here Thursday.

Fourteen Islands Form Cape Verde Archipelago

Fourteen islands, ten of which are inhabited, make up the Cape Verde archipelago. They lie about 300 miles west of the African continent. All are of volcanic origin.

The islands are swept almost constantly by swift winds, and both the slopes of their lofty, extinct volcanoes and the sea shore appear bleak and arid from the rail of an approaching steamer. Like Greenland, Cape Verde (meaning Green Cape) is a misnomer. The name is derived from green seaweed, which drifts into the islands' bays from the Atlantic. The interior valleys of the larger islands, made fertile by earth washed down from the mountains, are the only spots which might give the island group a right to its appellation.

If the 14 islands could be on the state of Rhode Island, only a few rugged edges would extend over the borders of the diminutive New England state. St. Thiago, largest of the Cape Verdes, duplicates the city of Los Angeles in area. The smallest island is so tiny that it is measured by square yards rather than square miles.

The archipelago forms a province of Portugal and its governor general is appointed by the Portuguese government. He resides at Porto Praia on St. Thiago, a city of about 35,000 inhabitants, of whom most are negroes.—Chicago Daily News.

Asbestos Was Found When Needed by the Country

Just when civilization began most to need it, asbestos was found, notes a writer in the Washington Star.

In the very nick of time, when we began to melt metals in fiery furnaces and to use red-hot machinery in thousands of factories, we learned of a substance which could be obtained from ordinary rock which would protect us from heat because it neither burns nor melts.

Asbestos is used practically everywhere today. In our homes, we have it in our kitchens in the shape of "hot handles" and it shields the pipes of our furnaces. Sometimes it is built into the very walls of our houses to make them fireproof.

When the earth's crust first hardened into rocks, millions and millions of years ago, some of the veins in the rock were filled with a stuff called serpentine. It is this serpentine which is the mother of asbestos.

Mined from rock in Georgia and Canada, serpentine is ground up into soft white pulpy stuff which is very light and quite tough. The pulp is then broken up, cleaned and carded like wool for weaving into cloth. Ordinarily, fine wires are woven into the cloth with the threads of asbestos, which, being rock crystal, would otherwise be too brittle to be durable.

Eighty-one per cent profit on airplane construction simply illustrates what a sap Uncle Sam can be when he tries.
