Ambassador Arrested In Huge Narcotics Ring

Joint Effort With Canada

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men, one of them the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia, have been arrested in connection with the smashing of a $13.5-million international narcotics ring.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the arrests Friday were the result of a joint three-year investigation by the Bureau of Narcotics, the Bureau of Customs, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the French Surete Nationale.

Kennedy also said U.S. authorities "have worked with the closest cooperation of the government of Mexico, which has played a strong part in the international effort to suppress the illegal trade in narcotics."

Henry L. Giordano, commissioner of narcotics, said a little over two pounds of heroin were seized in New York and more than 130 pounds were seized in Montreal by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Justice Department said the seizure represented the second largest shipment of heroin ever smuggled into the United States and Canada. The heroin came to 134 pounds, federal agents said.

Kennedy said the $13.5-million value placed on the seized heroin was at current underworld rates in this country. It would be worth far more, he said, in Canada.

Arraigned before U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld were Salvador Pardo-Bolland, 55, the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia; Carlos Aritzi, 60, employed by the Uruguayan Foreign Ministry in Montevideo, and who claimed to be in New York for diplomatic purposes; and Rene Bruchon, 50, said by the Department of Justice to be a Frenchman deported from the United States in 1949 and in this country illegally.

Aritzi and Pardo-Bolland were seized in Aritzi's midtown Manhattan hotel room about 3 p.m. Bruchon had been picked up earlier while strolling along Eighth Avenue at 57th Street.

The three men were ordered held in $100,000 bail each for hearings Monday on charges of conspiracy to violate the U.S. narcotics laws.

If convicted, each man could receive a 20-year prison sentence and a fine of $20,000.

The only larger seizure of heroin in recent history was on Oct. 3, 1960, in New York City, when the Bureau of Narcotics arrested Mauricio Rosal, Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium and the Netherlands. In that case 224 pounds was seized. Rosal pleaded guilty and is serving a 15-year prison term.

Giordano said the heroin recovered in New York was found in luggage checked by Aritzi in Pennsylvania Station. He said baggage checks for the four pieces of luggage were found on Bruchon at the time of his arrest.

All three were preparing to flee the country, authorities said.

Aritzi was described as married and with a 15-year-old daughter and family in Montevideo. A representative of the Uruguayan government said Aritzi had resigned as a ministry employe and had been traveling in Toronto, Canada, as a private citizen "to cure an ailment."

Pardo-Bolland, married, was the only one of the three defendants who spoke English.

William Tendy, assistant U.S. attorney, said Bruchon, a bachelor and resident of Marseilles, France, was convicted in 1948 of smuggling heroin into this country. This conviction was reversed by the Court of Appeals, Tendy said.

Belli Claims Jury Shoved Down Throat

By RELMAN MORIN

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's chief lawyer, Melvin Belli, told Judge Joe Brown today "We are having a jury thrust down our throats."

Belli made the bitter utterance to Brown during an unusual Saturday hearing in the murder case.

The portly lawyer spoke at length after Brown had ruled that Belli could not ask a jury candidate about his opinion as to Ruby's guilt or innocence.

Ruby is charged with the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, who was charged with assassinating President Kennedy in Dallas.

Belli heatedly protested the judge's ruling on the question of the opinions of jury candidates about Ruby's guilt or innocence. He said:

"These jurors are trying to tell us something and you are precluding us from asking them what it is."

He again asked, with great feeling, that the trial be moved away from Dallas.

"Cannot your honor send this trial to some place where we can get a fair trial?" Belli cried.

Belli was questioning Albert Phillips at the time. Phillips said he saw a rerun of the televised scene when Ruby shot Oswald. Phillips said, "I have an opinion at this time it would take evidence to remove."

Belli tried in differently phrased questions to discover whether Phillips' opinion was good or bad for Ruby. The prosecution objected and Brown sustained the objections. Brown told Belli "You may ask him if he has an opinion but not what it is."

After Belli's strong utterance, the judge excused Phillips for cause.

A Negro Lee Elder, was the first candidate called today. He was excused when he said he could not vote the death penalty.

Following Phillips, A. B. Garza, 59, was excused because he said he had an opinion. Garza was the 42nd prospective juror questioned. Two of the 42 have been accepted.

The second juror, sworn in Friday, is Allen W. McCoy, 39, an industrial engineer.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown called the special session to speed up the meticulous, unusually hard-fought process of finding 12 jurors.

After a "mumbled" telephone call about a bomb, the courthouse where Ruby is being tried was quietly searched during the noon recess Friday. The call came to a court in Oak Cliff, a suburb, where Brown's son, Joe B. Brown Jr. is a justice of the peace.

Grand Jury Finds Rumor Is False

A Scurry County Grand Jury returned 34 indictments against 14 individuals Friday.

One of the indictments was returned against Stella Barrientez who was accused of theft of $75 from a Negro man.

The case was reported to have involved a report that the $75 was to have been given to a public official to influence a verdict in a pending case in District Court.

The Grand Jury apparently took this report into consideration, since their report included the statement that they had "investigated a rumor that certain public officials of the District Court were accepting money to cause them to render favorable decisions in a matter before them, and having heard testimony and evidence presented before this Grand Jury in connection with a case heard by this Grand Jury, we find no basis for such rumors and the evidence shows that such rumors are totally and completely false."

Other indictments returned included Eddie Ruth Spears, indicted for aggravated assault. She is accused in a stabbing incident.

George Perkins of Post was indicted on a theft and worthless check charge.

James Marvin Ward of Big Spring was indicted on a forgery and passing charge.

Kendall Crawford Webb, Jr. and Horace Lee Atkinson, both of Big Spring, were each indicted on eight counts of burglary.

Harold Jack Dorton, John Thomas Lee Long, and Curtis Dean Atkinson, all of Big Spring, were each indicted on two counts of burglary, and William Walter Clark, Big Spring, was indicted on four burglary counts.

All of the Big Spring men were accused of burglary of cabins at Lake Thomas.

Also indicted by the Grand Jury were Elbert Lee Lewis of San Angelo and Richard Earl Snider of Midland. The men, who are presently under a 25-year sentence for armed robbery in Howard County, are accused of the burglary of Snyder Drugs about three years ago in which narcotics and money, some of which belonged to the Post Office Department, were taken.

The Grand Jury also indicted Roy Cannon Burditt and Robert Ivey for assault with intent to murder. The charge came about as the result of a beating given Perry Rodman earlier in the week. At last report Rodman was in a Fisher County hospital as a result of the beating. His condition was believed to be good.

All of those indicted by the Grand Jury were in custody with the exception of Ivey.

Members of the Grand Jury were Harold Lacik, foreman, Arthur Beaucham, Martin A. Brooks, Dean Cochran, Paul Contrerras, Ike Dolen, A. E. Duff, Jr., Fred Gary, O. W. Holladay, Herman Richburg and J. T. Sullinger, Jr.

Problems Persist In Cyprus Rift

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant sought today to resolve differences over the makeup and financing of his proposed U.N. peace force for troubled Cyprus.

Thant continued his private conversations over the weekend in an effort to win acceptance of a U.N. Cyprus formula for presentation to the Security Council next week.

Diplomatic sources said Thant had won general agreement on the need for an international police force to keep apart the island's warring Greek and Turkish communities and the appointment of a U.N. mediator to seek a permanent solution. But obstacles remain.

Some nations willing to contribute troops are reluctant to bear the cost. Thant would like them to accept the expense with the United States and Britain providing transportation and other services.

In Los Angeles Friday, President Johnson said the United States "will do all we can to find a solution to the Cypriot problem."

Thant also must win acceptance of a mediator and commander of the peace force and agreement on the wording of a Security Council resolution on the Cyprus problem.

The secretary-general revised his original proposals after conferring with Cypriot, British, Greek and Turkish representatives. The details were not disclosed.

Thant also asked fr a delay of council debate on Cyprus until Tuesday. It was his second request for a postponement to give him time to complete behind-the-scenes negotiations.

At Thant's request, the council postponed until Monday a session scheduled for Friday.

New Quakes Shake Azores

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (AP) — A new earthquake has inflicted more damage to the western half of Sao Jorge Island and limited travel there, an islander reported today. The new quake occurred Friday.

Islanders, who have lost count of the number of quakes since they began a week ago, saw the island's main highway snap into wide cracks. A bridge collapsed between Calheta, on the east, and the evacuated village of Velas, to the west. Access to the badly hit area is now possible only by foot and is limited to holders of special safe conduct passes.

A witness who returned from Velas said the latest tremors "doubled what damage there already was."

The Portuguese news agency ANI reported that in the village of Rosais, on Sao Jorge's western tip, "destruction is total and complete."

A postal official who said he had entered Velas reported that "only two or three houses remain fit for habitation."

Johnson, Mateos Pledge Solidarity

By FRANK CORMIER

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson walked to work today, meeting Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos for a business breakfast at which they approved a statement of hands-across-the-border solidarity.

Johnson left his borrowed home in the foothills of the San Jacinto Mountains before 8 a.m. and hiked nearly a mile toward the suite of Lopez Mateos at a resort hotel, the Riviera.

When Johnson was nearly within sight of the hotel, he climbed into his closed limousine and drove the rest of the way. Lopez Mateos awaited him in a penthouse suite.

A post-breakfast joint communique on two days of talks by the two presidents was to be followed by a Lopez Mateos news conference.

The early morning meeting was the final business session scheduled by the two chief executives.

However, both men and their wives were to get together during the afternoon at Los Angeles for an hour-long fiesta of Mexican entertainment.

A spokesman for the Mexican leader, Justo Sierra, said the two-nation conference was marked by amity and cordiality.

The traveling White House, meantime, announced that Johnson would remain in Palm Springs an extra night. It was originally thought that he would leave Southern California this evening.

Topics covered by Johnson and Lopez Mateos included the Alliance for Progress, international trade, disarmament and the long-standing problem of too much salt in Colorado River water used to irrigate Mexico's Mexicali Valley.

Neither Justo Sierra nor White House press secretary Pierre Salinger mentioned what must have been a jarring background note: The arrest in New York of the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia as one of three accused of conspiracy to transport and receive illegal narcotics valued at a minimum of $13.5 million.

White House sources made light of the incident, saying the episode was three years old and did not figure in the two-nation talks.

Probers Expect Big 'Baker' Development

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators are reported to be checking into a possibly important development in the Bobby Baker case.

L. P. McLendon, special counsel for the Rules Committee inquiry, disclosed this to newsmen Friday without giving further details.

He said that until he receives a report on this phase of the investigation he will be unable to predict when the hearings into the former Senate aide's business dealings will end.

The committee has a full week of public hearings coming up—including another appearance by Baker.

There has been speculation that Baker's refusal on constitutional grounds to testify or present his records at a closed hearing Wednesday would stymie the committee's mission to learn whether Baker, other Senate employes or any senators had been involved in conflict of interest.

McLendon said that as far as he knew none of the remaining testimony involves any members of the Senate.

Baker, who resigned under fire Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority, is to be the chief witness at Tuesday's public hearing. His secretary, former beauty queen Carole Tyler, takes the center of the stage the next day.

The committee released testimony Friday from Fred Black, Jr., Washington representative of the North American Aviation Corp., that injected the name of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., into the investigation.

Black testified that in March 1962, he borrowed $175,000 to buy 6,400 shares of stock in a Tulsa, Okla., bank recommended by Kerr and that he had an oral agreement with Baker to sell him half of the stock.

He said that Kerr, sometimes called "the uncrowned king of the Senate" before his death on Jan. 1, 1963, suggested that he make half of the stock available to Baker.

Black said Kerr had told him that "outside of his sons, his wife, he never knew and never loved a man so much as he did Bobby Baker."

Black testified that he borrowed the $175,000 from the Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co. of Oklahoma City, known in Oklahoma as "Kerr's bank," after the senator, from his Capitol office, introduced him by telephone to the bank's president.

With the money, Black said, he bought 6,400 shares of stock in the Farmers and Merchants State Bank in Tulsa. He said Kerr told him it would be a fine investment and arranged for him to buy the stock through the bank rather than on the open market.

Black said that the stock since has gone up $6 or $7 a share but that Baker never has taken his share despite an agreement that "he could purchase half of it at any time he could come up with the money."

Renew US, Red Cultural Exchange

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and the United States renewed their cultural agreement Saturday. It sends Soviet classical ballet again to America but not one jazz note to the U.S.S.R.

The agreement, covering two years, included many things besides entertainment, however.

Medical, scientific, industrial and scholastic exchanges in 1964-65 are called for.

Each side pledged to increase the number of exchanges in the performing arts—theater, ballet, orchestras—but the increases were not great.

From the United States in 1964-65 will come the Oberlin (Ohio) College Choir, Holiday on Ice, the Pro-Musica Chamber Orchestra, and the Cleveland Orchestra.

A fifth number perhaps will be the Margaret Hilles Choir of Chicago but the agreement is not settled on that.

The Soviet Union will send to the United States the Leningrad Ballet Company, the Moscow Philharmonic Orchestra, a variety dance group, and a production from the Moscow Art Theatre.

The Moiseyev Folk Dance Company, which has already made several popular tours in America, may go again, but that is not finally agreed upon.

Negotiations on the agreement have been going on since Jan. 7 after having been postponed all winter because of the arrest and expulsion last fall of Yale Prof. Frederick Barghoorn.

As a result of the expulsion, the Americans planned at one time to raise the question of security for American visitors but later cooled off and dropped the subject. Barghoorn was on a private visit, not connected with the cultural exchange program. He was gathering material for a book on the Soviet Union.

The agreement, just as in years past—it has been going since 1958—provides for exchanges of groups of doctors, scientists, editors, students, actors and teachers.

But the likes of Duke Ellington, who has been waiting in the wings with his band for many a season, will continue to wait. Benny Goodman made it to the Soviet Union in the previous exchanges.

More Facts Revealed In Torch Slaying

HOUSTON (AP)— State testimony continues today in the murder trial of Carolyn Ann Lima, 20, on trial for her life in the gun-torch slaying of Houston realtor Fred A. Tones, 41.

The Harris County medical examiner testified Friday Tones died from six bullets fired from a .22 caliber gun and was already dead when his body was set afire.

Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk detailed results of a post mortem he performed on Tones' body.

Under questioning by Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe, Dr. Jachimczyk said the burns were post mortem.

"In other words, after the man had died," the medical examiner told the jury in Dist. Judge Miron Love's court.

Briscoe asked Dr. Jachimczyk which of the six bullets caused death.

"One that entered the right side of his head and a second that entered his left chest cavity," the doctor replied. "The other slugs hit Tones on the left side."

Another witness told of seeing Tones' burned body in a ditch the night of Feb. 6, 1961.

Robert Reyna testified he was attracted to the scene by a fire he spotted the night of the slaying.

"The grass and the body were smoking when I got there," he said.

Fred E. Blysard, a city fireman, who doused the body with water when he reached the scene, testified a five gallon gasoline can was floating in the water in the same ditch with the body.

Miss Lima, who will be 21 Sunday, and her companion, Leslie Douglas Ashley, now 26, were jointly convicted and given the death penalty in 1961.

They were saved from the electric chair last year by a court order which granted them a new trial.

The defendant testified during the first trial that they were in Tones' office for a sex party.

Ashley will be tried later.

Oilmen See 1964 As Pivot Year

FORT WORTH (AP) — The president of the state's largest group of independent oilmen said Saturday that 1964 "just might be a pivotal year in the affairs of independents" as well as the rest of the oil industry.

Bruce Street, of Graham, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, spoke to a district meeting of the Texas Bankers Association.

Street said that although the 1964 economic climate will favor the industry as a whole, Texas will have to work for any gains it makes.

"Even though the U.S. market is expected to increase during 1964, the flow of imported oil to this nation will increase at an even faster rate," Street said. "This will repeat part of a familiar pattern which since 1956 has forced Texas to lose much of its share of the U.S. market."

Street said there is a tendency of purchasing companies to buy more oil in states where they can favor their own production.

Street expressed optimism that progress in natural gas proration will be made in 1964.

"More and more people are recognizing that producers will not seek new gas reserves if they do not have a chance to market it fairly," he said.

"It may not be possible to prorate gas to demand on a statewide basis, yet it is reasonably certain that Texas cannot afford to continue the some-fields-are, some-fields-aren't, market demand gas proration of the present."

Farm Credit Used As Barometer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who supervises the nation's farm credit system judges its success by the amount of credit available to farmers at fair rates of interest, whether from his system or private lenders.

Robert B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, told newsmen he believes the credit system he supervises helps a lot to keep interest rates charged by private banks, insurance companies and other private lenders at reasonable levels.

The mere fact, he says, that the farm credit system stands ready to provide necessary farm credit at reasonable rates helps to influence lending and interest practices of private lenders.

The farm credit system is made up of federal land banks, federal land bank associations, federal intermediate credit banks, production credit associations and banks for cooperatives. The federal land banks—a source of long-term credit—are owned by farmers. So are the intermediate credit banks. In time, so will be the banks for cooperatives.

Established in 1917, the farm credit system has a function of funneling badly - needed city capital into rural areas.

The per cent of credit used by farmers supplied by the farm credit system has increased from 13 per cent in 1953 to nearly 20 per cent in 1963.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having somach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did, for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce. And you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIVE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted?

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser, I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I fell in love with a married man who works closely with me. I have never been alone with him, nor do I intend to be. I am sure he is aware of me in the same way, though not a word has been spoken about it. My interest in him has numbed my interest in all other men. It is also interfering with my efficiency on my job, and I know it is affecting his, too. If you could tell me how to regain my former uncomplicated state of mind without changing jobs, I would be grateful.

Greek King's Condition Satisfatory

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Ailing King Paul's doctors said today that he spent a peaceful night and was in satisfactory condition following an emergency operation for a stomach ulcer. The operation aroused nationwide concern.

Shortly before the five physicians issued their report, a palace spokesman said the 62-year-old monarch had no fever upon awakening and that there was no reason for anxiety.

"His Majesty spent a peaceful night and his condition this morning was satisfactory," the medical bulletin said.

Later one of the medical team, Dr. Nicholas Tsamboulas, said he and the other physicians were very pleased with the monarch's condition.

"The king is doing very well," he said. "In two or three days we hope to see great improvement."

Concern mounted Friday when Greek newspapers described the ruler's condition as grave or critical.

A day earlier the king had handed over his royal powers to Crown Prince Constantine, 23, making Constantine regent.

King Paul underwent the four-hour surgery at the palace 26 miles outside Athens.

The West German government plans to build another thousand miles of autobahns by the end of this decade.

Jury Claims Restrictions Hamper Rice

HOUSTON (AP)—Restrictions against Negro students and tuition fees hamper the development of Rice University as a first class school, a district court jury has decided.

The jurors said William Marsh Rice, the university's founder, intended for his trustees to develop a first class educational institution.

But they agreed the founder also intended funds were to be used only for instruction of white students, and that tuition was to be free.

That intent, the jurors said, "is impossible or impracticable to carry out under present conditions."

The jury's verdict was handed to Dist. Judge William M. Holland Friday.

Attorneys for the university's trustees, who sought court authority to admit Negroes and charge tuition despite the wording of the 1891 indenture, said they will file a motion for judgment in their favor.

However, Joe Reynolds, attorney for intervenors who opposed removal of the racial and tuition restrictions, said deep legal questions must be decided in the final judgment.

"The construction of the indenture is now up to the judge," he said.

Reynolds said he would file two motions—one asking a judgment for his clients, and another asking a judgment despite the jury's findings.

"A case of this importance should not be decided at this (the district court) level," he said.

If the intervenors appeal, Reynolds said, the trial judge cannot substitute his findings of fact for those of the jury.

Conceding that the jurors found for the trustees in six of the eight issues submitted to them, Reynolds said their decision that William Marsh Rice intended for the racial and tuition restrictions to be observed was important.

Little Secrecy In Secret Societies

By ADRIAN PORTER

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—There is not much secrecy in belonging to a secret society in South Africa these days. Newspapers publish lists of member's names, along with rules and instructions. Parliament is threatening to inquire into some societies' affairs.

Despite the publicity, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd likes his organization so much that he has refused to leave it. He told Parliament, which was debating the effects of secret societies, that he had been a member of the country's leading movement for 25 years.

Opposition members got some amusement from the image of the stern Dr. Verwoerd helping in some of the initiation ceremonies of his society—Die Broederbond (The Brotherhood or Bond of Brothers).

According to the newspaper disclosures, the prime minister would have to dress in his best black suit and sit in a pitch-dark room beside a "corpse" swathed in a black shroud, lying on a bier, and with the word "betrayal" written on it in blood.

He might even have to switch on a light to show a dagger being plunged into the "body" while the initiate would hear a chaplain intone: "He who betrays the bond will be destroyed by the bond."

Cartoonists in antigovernment newspapers depict the Broeders as funny little men wearing Ku Klux Klan - type hoods and cloaks. Serious critics claim the Broederbond is a much more sinister and influential society than the Klan ever was.

During the second world war, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, then South Africa's prime minister, kept a regular watch on the Bond. Its pro-Nazi attitudes led Smuts to bar government workers from becoming members.

The Broederbond apparently has been in existence 45 years. Its basic aim is to further the cause and interests of the Afrikaner nation—descendants of the early European settlers in South Africa who now form more than half the white population. The remaining whites are mainly of British origin.

From an original membership of 14 in 1918 the number of Broeders has reportedly grown to nearly 8,000, meeting in 350 units throughout the country.

These 8,000, all men and all Afrikaners, become members by invitation only. Few refuse, for membership opens up top positions in government and Afrikaner-influenced organizations.

Members include practically every influential Afrikaner in South Africa—politicians, teachers, government administrators, police officers, bankers and church ministers. Fifteen of the country's 18 Cabinet ministers are Broeders, according to published statements.

From a lowly position in the country's economy and administration 40 years ago, when British-descended people were on top, Afrikaners now dominate South Africa's political scene. Government administration is almost entirely in their hands and they are beginning to control a larger share of the wealth. The Afrikaans language and Afrikaans culture are now well safeguarded.

Slays Bookie To Save Bet Payoff

NEW YORK (AP)—A mild-mannered, bespectacled Park Avenue businessman, the father of three children, was behind prison bars today, charged with slaying a bookie in a bizarre plot to welsh on a $25,000 bet.

Mark Fein wept on his father's shoulder Friday as he was arraigned after a red-haired divorcee told police she helped dump the bullet-ridden body of the bookie into the Harlem River last October.

Police said Fein, 32, a wealthy box and tin can manufacturer, shot Reuben Markowitz, 40, four times and then stuffed his body in a trunk rather than pay his part of a World Series bet.

Gloria Kendal, 34, told police she recruited an unsuspecting couple to help her dump the trunk into the river.

The trunk apparently opened and the body floated to the surface last Nov. 8. The hands and feet were bound with rope.

The names of the two persons Miss Kendal said helped her were not disclosed.

Fein pleaded innocent of homicide charges.

Authorities said Fein and two gambling associates had lost large sums to Markowitz, including a wager on the New York and Los Angeles World Series.

Police said Fein had lost $60,000 in the last year on bets with other bookies.

Canada Scrapping Nuclear Defenses

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada, just beginning to wet its feet in nuclear defenses, is already planning to get out of the swim.

The nation is expected to phase out i role, beginning probably in 1966.

A new defense policy is taking shape around a highly mobile conventional force capable of being airlifted to any world trouble spot. The force would serve Canada's two main foreign commitments, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and U.N. peacekeeping operations.

These twin themes will highlight a forthcoming white paper spelling out Canadian defense policy for the next 10 years, informed sources believe. Defense Minister Paul Hellyer has promised to present the report to Parliament next month.

The plan stems from Canada's view of the nuclear stalemate. Canadian authorities think the U.S. and Soviet nuclear missile forces are invulnerable to the extent that neither could knock out the other at first blow. They therefore see no meaningful nuclear role for Canada once the nuclear-armed Voodoo jet interceptors and Bomarc antiaircraft missiles stationed in this country have served their time—another two or three years.

The key year is 1966 when decisions taken in 1963-64 will begin to show results.

Some time in 1966 Canada is expected to inform NATO of two decisions. It will let its low-level nuclear bomber force in Europe run down. And it will build up the 6,000-man Canadian brigade in West Germany into a 10,000-man conventional force capable of being airlifted anywhere in the world.

Part of the reasoning comes from a speech by U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara last September — interpreted here as an effort to encourage Europeans to build NATO's conventional strength. Canada believes it will be justified in converting its nuclear role into a conventional force to give the West more flexibility.

Possibly more important from the Canadian viewpoint, however, is domestic political urmoil over Canadian acquisition of U.S. nuclear warheads.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson has made it clear that he signed nuclear custody-and-control agreement with Washington only because he felt the previous administration committed Canada to them.

The agreements cover warheads delivered for 56 Bomarc missiles stationed at two Canadian bases, warheads for Voodoo jet interceptor squadrons in Canada, bombs for low-level Canadian bombers in Europe and Honest John artillery rockets.

Government sources believe Canada is unlikely to acquire any more U.S. nuclear weapons.

Sophia Loren's Hubby Asks Pope To Legalize Wedding

ROME (AP) — Italian newspapers speculated today that movies producer Carlo Ponti had gone directly to Pope Paul VI in his long fight to be legally wed to Sophia Loren in Italy. Gente, a weekly magazine, said the Sacred Rota — a Vatican tribunal handling annulment case—was reviewing the marriage of Ponti to Giuliana Fiastri. A Roman Catholic Church tribunal in the Italian capital has twice — in 1959 and 1962 — confirmed the validity of that marriage.

Il Messaggero, a Rome newspaper, said Ponti had made a final appeal, under canon law procedure, asking the Pope to put the case before the Rota for review. Vatican sources said they had no information to substantiate the reports. The proceedings of the Sacred Rota are always secret.

Attorneys who have represented Ponti, Miss Loren and Miss Fiastri in the past said they knew of no new action. Neither Ponti nor Miss Loren is now in Italy.

There is no divorce in Italy. Ponti cannot legally wed Miss Loren in Italy unless his 1946 marriage to Miss Fiastri, herself an attorney, is annulled by the church.

After Ponti obtained a Mexican divorce, he and Miss Loren were married by proxy in Mexoco in 1957. Bigamy charges then were brought in Rome against him and the actress.

Two years ago the Mexican proxy marriage was declared null in Mexico. Now Ponti and Miss Loren are seeking to have it declared null in Italy too.

The result of the legal maneuvers would be to leave Ponti and Miss Loren unwed. If the church were to annul his marriage to Miss Fiastri, he and Miss Loren would then be free to marry in Italy.

Miss Fiastri made the two previous efforts at getting a church annulment.

McLendon Asks Woman Be Released

LAREDO (AP)—Gordon McLendon, Dallas radio executive and Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, has urged that attempted murder charges be dropped against a woman who fired a shot in the Dallas air terminal at a man she thought was McLendon.

McLendon said he is convinced there were no sinister motives involved in the incident Wednesday night. He said he had called the Dallas district attorney's office urging the charges against Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stone, 47, be dropped.

Mrs. Stone, who recently had moved from Fort Worth to Dallas, was charged with attempted murder after a bullet from a gun she fired narrowly missed one man and lodged in the traveling bag of another as they prepared to board a plane.

A city detective quoted Mrs. Stone as saying she intended to kill McLendon because, she said, "He is a Communist and fools around with Cosa Nostra."

McLendon's statements were made to newsmen in Laredo prior to his attending the annual George Washington birthday celebration.

Savannah Has Sea Trial

GALVESTON (AP) — The Nuclear Ship Savannah, idled nine months by a labor dispute, has sailed on its first sea trial since its reactivation.

Joint announcement of the ship's sailing Friday from Galveston was made by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration.

The combination passenger and cargo ship, is a joint project of the two government agencies.

The atomic reactor which powers the vessels was shut down in a labor dispute on May 7, 1963.

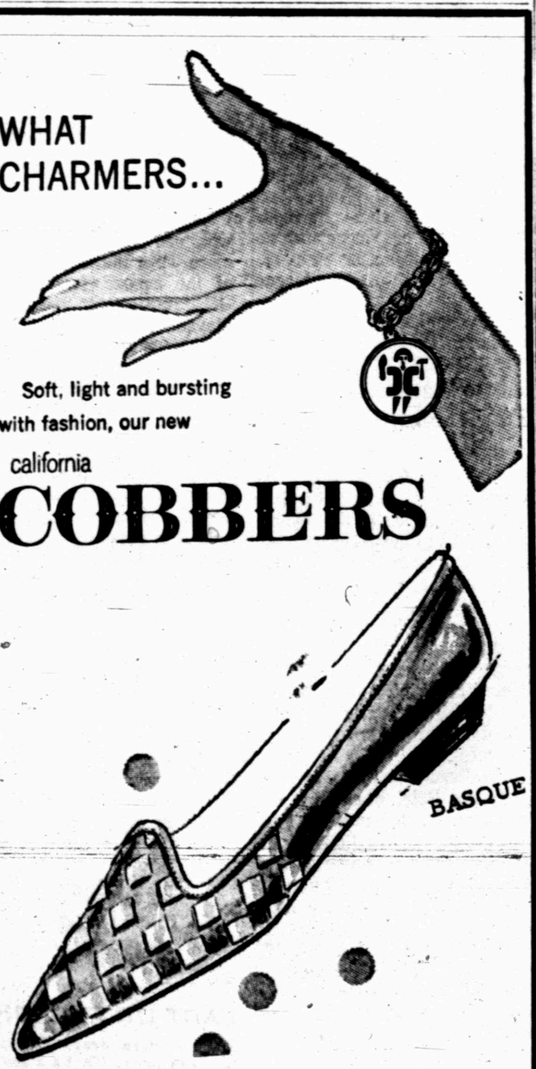

The Savannah has been moored at the Todd Shipyard Corp., while a new ship's crew was trained. This took five months, including actual operation of the Savannah's reactor, beginning last Dec. 2.

The present sea trial will last two days. The vessel, under command of Capt. David McMitchael of American Export and Isbrandtsen Lines, will be tested in the Gulf of Mexico.

Additional sea trials are scheduled later this month.

Finley On Verge Of Being Expelled

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Charles O. Finley, who confidently predicted he'd remain the Kansas City baseball owner, is on the verge of being thumbed out of the game.

The umpires in this unprecedented American League battle are his nine fellow club executives who began ejection proceedings with a 9-1 vote Friday.

Finley and his franchise may be permanently parted by the swivel chair arbiters within a week to 10 days.

That's how long it is estimated the board of directors will need to set up a date and site for a general meeting which would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's league association.

Finley, usually outspoken, stood mute after the meeting with Louis Nizer, his attorney, read a statement which said the owner would await the outcome of the ouster meeting "and make an appropriate statement at that time."

Previously, Finley had threatened legal action if the league took away his franchise.

An American League spokesman termed it a "very complicated legal procedure," but here is the essence of what will happen, assuming the league escorts Finley all the way down the path to disenfranchisement.

1. The league will take over operation of the Kansas City team and appoint a sort of overseer pro tem.

2. The league would negotiate a lease with Kansas City for Municipal Stadium, the deadlocked issue on which Finley lost the battle, if not the war. He would take nothing but a two-year lease, city officials wanted at least four.

3. The league will conduct the sale of the club when suitable buyers are found.

4. Proceeds of the sale—minus league expenses in running the club in the interim period and related costs—will go to Finley.

These moves are authorized by the reorganization agreement and the constitution of the league.

Although the action is new in American League annals, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, former iron-fisted baseball commissioner, struck at least twice in the National League.

Landis ended William D. Cox's brief ownership of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1943 when the latter admitted gambling on his own team. Previously, in the late 1930's, Landis ruled C. F. Adams, part owner of the Boston Braves, out of the league. Adams also was connected with Suffolk Downs race track and Landis ruled no man could associate with baseball and horse racing at the same time.

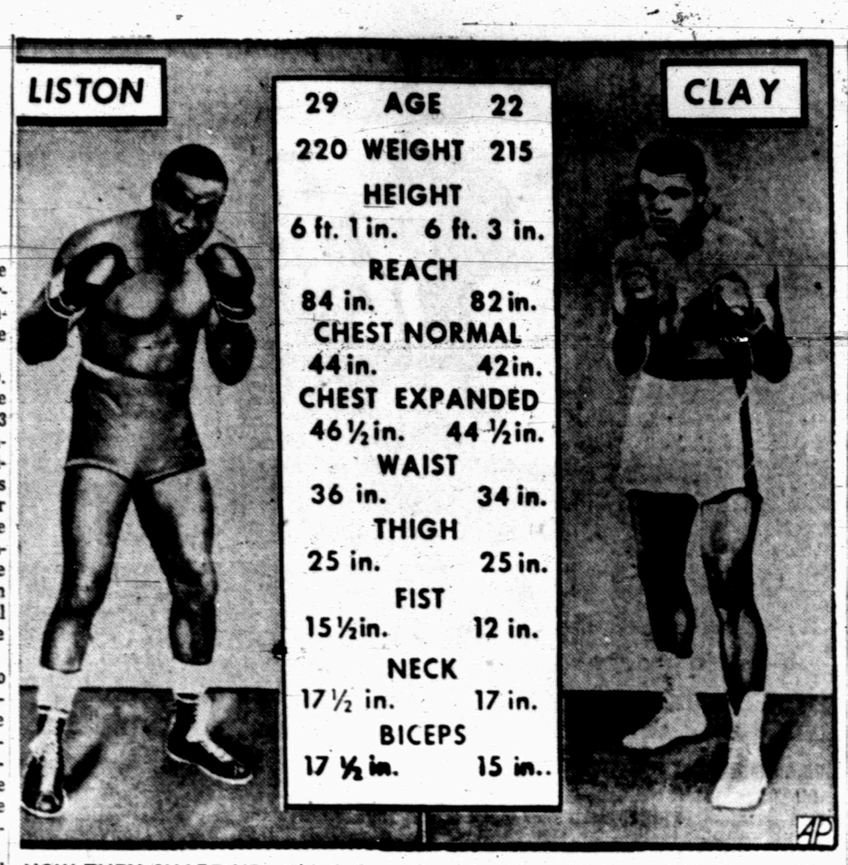

Since that prior meeting, two deadlines had been set for Finley to come up with a lease and each time the impasse persisted. The league had been accused of backpedaling in the face of Finley's defiance. The owners took their stand late Friday afternoon.

Afterwards Nizer repeated several times there would be no other comment from the Finley camp other than the statement Nizer read. It said, in full:

"The league has called another meeting for the purpose of taking away Mr. Finley's franchise in which he has more than $5 million invested. He will await the outcome of that meeting and make an appropriate statement at that time."

A source, who asked to remain anonymous, said after the termination resolution was passed Nizer made two motions —first that if Finley would sign an acceptable lease between now and the subsequent meeting, that meeting would not be held and second, that all parties would make no comment to the press Friday.

The source said neither motion received a second.

Greer Nets 50 In Celtic Upset

By The Associated Press

The embattled Philadelphia 76ers, with Hal Greer leading the charge, overthrew Boston's regal Celtics 114-119 Friday night in a National Basketball Association coup.

It was the worst drubbing for Boston since the Stamp Act. The Celtics' four-game win string vanished and their Eastern Division lead over Cincinnati dwindled to two games.

The Royals whipped homestanding San Francisco 101-93 and Baltimore edged St. Louis 115-113 in double overtime.

Greer connected for a career-high 50 points and led a pair of scoring sprees, heretofore private property of the Celts, that twice broke the game open.

The 76ers' backcourt star hit 19 field goals and added 12 free throws to surpass his previous single-game high of 45, counted against the same Celtics five years ago.

The Celtics were as cold as Greer was hot. They made 50 field goals in 132 attempts. Philadelphia ran off nine straight points late in the second quarter and led at halftime 65-56.

In the third period the 76ers put together 12 in a row to turn a 79-69 lead into a 91-69 rout.

A fourth quarter cold spell cost the Warriors at San Francisco as Cincinnati ran a 77-73 lead to 97-85 with less than two minutes remaining.

Wilt Chamberlain, who finished with 40 points, was the only Warrior to connect from the field in the first 10 minutes of the finale.

Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 32 points.

Gus Johnson tallied 11 of his 15 points in the two overtime sessions to spark Baltimore's victory after St. Louis had rallied from 12 points back to tie in regulation time.

Richie Guerin of the Hawks and Barney Cable of the Bullets matched free throws for a 92-92 standoff after 48 minutes. Terry Dischinger's three-point play and Rod Thorn's charity toss saved the Bullets in the last minute of the first extra period which ended at 96-69. Then Johnson and Si Green collaborated for the key points in the second overtime.

Dischinger scored 30 points for the Bullets and Green had 23. Bob Pettit tallied 25 to pace the Hawks, who still trail San Francisco by two games in the Western Division.

Boston is at St. Louis, Cincinnati at Los Angeles and New York at Detroit in tonight's games.

Roberts Heads Field At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Glenn Fireball Roberts, almost five miles an hour faster than his closest competitor in qualifying runs, headed a field of 50 cars slated to start in today's 250-mile national championship modified and sportsman stock car race at the Daytona International Speedway.

Roberts, Daytona Beach veteran, set a record in the qualifying runs when he drove his 1961 Ford around the .5-mile course at an average speed of 170.479 miles per hour.

Robert (Junior) Johnson, Ronda, N.C., who won one of Friday's two 199-mile Grand National stock car races, will start next to Roberts in the front row. Johnson averaged 165.822 m.p.h. in his 1959 Chevrolet.

Tiny Lund of Cross, S.C., in a 1961 Ford, and Lee Roy Yarbrough of Jacksonville, Fla., driving a 1955 Studebaker, were to start in the second row. Each averaged better than 164 miles in their qualifying runs.

The rest of the field qualified at speeds of 162 down to 131 miles per hour.

Unknown Moves To Semifinals Against Ralston

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—An upset-minded 22-year-old junior from the University of Southern California was in the spotlight Saturday as the 61st annual National Indoor Tennis Championships entered the semifinal round.

Tom Edlefson, virtually unknown here although he is ranked ninth nationally, met Davis Cup star Dennis Ralston after upsetting fourth - seeded Arthur Ashe 6-3, 2-6, 6-1 Friday and Roy Emerson, No. 1 foreign seed, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3 Thursday.

Chuck McKinley, the other half of the American Davis Cup team and No. 1 domestic seed, met Manuel Santana of Spain in the other men's singles match.

Ashe, who is ranked sixth nationally, is the first Negro ever to gain a top 10 ranking in the men's division.

Despite Edlefsen's victory Friday over Ashe, his game wasn't as sharp as it had been Thursday when he downed Emerson. He seemed to have trouble putting away Ashe's service and was saved several times by terrific backhands and a combination of soft shots that kept his Richmond, Va., opponent off balance.

Neither Ralston nor McKinley has been seriously threatened in their preliminary matches, although it took McKinley 55 minutes and three racquets to defeat Rafael Osuna of Mexico 8-6, 6-2 Friday in the quarter-finals.

Ralston breezed by Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 11-9, 6-4.

Both Emerson and fellow Australian Ken Fletcher were eliminated in second-round competition, but both insisted their games had not been affected by possible disciplinary action confronting them.

They were informed Friday by the Australian Lawn Tennis Association that if they played in any other tournaments outside Australia after Feb. 28, they would be banished from international tennis for a year. The ALTA had disapproved their coming to the United States and wanted them to remain at home until March 31.

Emerson and Fletcher had planned to compete in a tournament opening in Tampa, Fla., next week. They said Friday they would have to reconsider their decision in light of the ultimatum.

Midwestern Wins In Overtime 14-11

SHERMAN (AP)—Two weeks ago Midwestern beat Austin College 92-52 in basketball.

Friday night Austin College decided to at least hold the score down so it froze the ball for 30 minutes. The result was a 14-11 game with Midwestern again the winner.

Midwestern led only 4-1 at the half and the regulation game ended with an 8-8 tie. In an overtime Midwestern won it.

Lonnie Nicholas of Midwestern and Bernie Popp of Austin College tied for high point honors with six apiece. John Henry Young, the Midwestern star who had been averaging 26 points per game, was held to four.

Ticket Sales Off For Title Fight

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sonny Liston growled, Cassius Clay knocked off another sonnet and the promoters sweated today over the massive disinterest in Tuesday night's heavyweight championship fight at Convention Hall.

It threatens to be a financial turkey at the gate, saved by a record closed circuit television network of 355 locations.

"We've got problems, but hope things pick up," said Bill MacDonald, paunchy self-made millionaire who put up a $625,000 guarantee for the fight between the bull-strong ring killer, Liston, and the poem-spouting challenger from Louisville.

With four days remaining, the advance ticket sale has hit only $300,000, well below the $800,000 MacDonald estimates he needs to break even.

While Liston and Clay put on their finishing touches 90 blocks apart in the swank Miami Beach area, ticket men at six windows at Convention Hall stood around twiddling their thumbs. Nobody was queuing up for tickets.

The electric excitement that normally accompanies heavyweight championships was nonexistent. There were small crowds and big yawns even at the fighters training sessions.

The widespread lack of enthusiasm was understandable. Few expected it to be much of a fight.

Liston, a massive Negro with arms like pistons and hands like country hams, has won his last three fights, two with Floyd Patterson and one with Germany's Alfred Westphal, in the first round and all in the total of little more than six minutes.

Clay, one of the brightest and most delightful characters fighting has produced, has shown no indication despite his remarkable speed and babbling tongue that he is likely to last any longer than his immediate predecessors. He has been lackluster in his latest workouts."

Liston is a 7-1 favorite and it's an even bet Clay doesn't answer the bell for the sixth.

Convention Hall seats 16,000. It appears that many of the seats will be unoccupied when Liston and Clay tap gloves at 10 p.m. EST.

"We're doing all right at the top and bottom, but aren't moving tickets as fast as we'd like in the middle," said MacDonald.

He has 6,000 seats in the bottom category, selling for $20 apiece, and 600 at ringside, going at $250, appealing to the status seekers. The others sell for $50, $100 and $150.

MacDonald and his associates don't get anything from the television monies, which may gross as much as $4 million.

Nathan Halpern, president of Theatre Network Television, Inc., announced that the fight would be shown at 355 locations in the United States and Canada, with a capacity of 1,103,451 seats. The bout also will be beamed by satellite communications to at least 11 countries overseas, which should receive the showing within an hour of the fight's end.

By BEN FUNK

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Come Sunday, there'll be a new king of the senior golfers and Slammin' Sammy Snead looks like the old boy who will don the crown.

Despite considerable moanin' and groanin', the 51-year-old Snead managed to shoot himself a four-under-par 68 in Friday's second round in the $30,000 PGA Seniors Tournament and boost himself three strokes ahead of the field at the halfway mark.

Snead's 135 left him nine strokes under par for 36 holes over the new PGA National Golf Club course. Duke Gibson of Kansas City, often a top contender but never a winner in the battle for the Teachers Trophy, was second at 138.

Another comparatively unknown player competing in a field that includes ex-champions of every major tournament in golf, Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb., was third with 139.

Snead said he "missed seven or eight putts under 10 feet. When I get that close to the hole so many times I ought to get me a better score than that." But he added, happily, "I haven't missed a single green throughout this tournament."

For the second straight day, Snead shot an eagle near the start of his round. He got the one Friday on the 515-yard second hole, chipping in from 50 feet after two wood shots left him on the edge of the green.

The Slammer appeared pretty sure now to win the Teacher Trophy, the $2,500 first prize and the trip aboard to play the British senior champ for the world title. Snead won the British Open title in 1946.

They were chosen Friday night from 51 vocalists.

They are Diane Tobola and Conrad Immel, Austin; Margaret Schwender, Perry Price and Barbara Duff, Houston; Stanley Norsworthy, Vernon; Earline Fogleman, Pasadena, and Arley Reece, Euless.

Texas Tech Tries To Shake SMU Jinx

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech tries to shake off a mild Southern Methodist jinx today and also hopes it can get some help from Arkansas.

Tech, riding in second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race, could move into a tie for first if Texas A&M, the leader, lost another day game at Fayetteville.

The last two times Southern Methodist played in Lubbock it beat Texas Tech. So the Red Raiders will be quite determined today to turn the tide, especially since the game will be on television.

Texas and Texas Christian clash at Austin and Baylor meets Rice at Houston in night games. Neither means much in the conference race.

There is nothing permanent about a football coaching job but this is the 15th campaign for Ben Schwartzwalder at Syracuse University.

Little Action In Dog Championships

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. (AP) — Continued cold, wet weather and a scarcity of birds hampered action in the National Bird Dog Championship Field Trials Friday with only one dog finishing the course.

Both dogs in the morning brace were picked up. Habadacher's Crestliner, suffering with 104-degree fever, was picked up by his owner, Dr. W. H. McCall of Asheville, N.C., about 10 yards from the starting point.

Crestliner's bracemate, Wheeling Pete, owned by Dr. and Mrs. M. B Renner of Fort Worth, scored one find at the halfway mark, but was picked up just short of two hours of the regulation three-three hour hunt.

Mills Star, owned by G. W. Szody of Gilroy, Calif., scored one find, a back on a fruitless point by her bracemate and an unproductive.

WEATHER DELAYS HEART GOLF MEET

Ol' Man Weather is about the only one hereabouts who can give the answer as to when the final rounds of the annual Heart Fund Golf Tournament can be played. This was the conclusion of Charlie Bruce, golf pro at Snyder Country Club, who is chairman for the event.

Bruct indicated that in all probability the finals in both the Ladies' and Men's divisions will have to be postponed one more week. He said it is possible, however, that the final round will have to be played on a "time available, weather permitting" basis on the part of each of the entrants. For further developments, entrants are requested to contact Bruce at the country club.

Tulane About To Set New Record For Winless Season

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Winless Tulane is on the verge of completing the most disastrous season in major college basketball history.

All the Greenies from New Orleans have to do is to lose to Mississippi State tonight and to Louisiana State next Friday and they will wind up with an 0-23 mark. That would be the all-time one season bust.

After the Green Wave lost its 21st straight Friday night by just one point, 63-62 to Mississippi, Homer Cooke, director of the NCAA Service Bureau, came up with the information that overshadowed the victories of Arizona State over New Mexico, Oregon State over Idaho and Oklahoma over Missouri.

The Citadel holds the current one season bust record of 0-17 in 1955, disclosed Cooke, still dusty from searching his files going back more than a quarter of a century.

The Citadel also lost 37 straight over a three-year-span in 1954, 1955 and 1956 which is the longest major losing streak in the last 20 years, said Cooke, emphasizing that this applies only to collegiate competition.

Tulane almost spoiled all this research by holding Donnie Kessinger, the Mississippi star, to a mere four points and leading until midway of the second half. Then the Rebels got five straight field goals to go ahead for good at 58-52.

Oklahoma snapped its 10-game losing streak by defeating Missouri 84-82 while Arizona State continued its comeback by edging New Mexico 47-45 and tying the Lobos for the lead in the Western Athletic Conference.

Oregon State, seventh-ranked nationally in The Associated Press Poll, whipped Idaho 72-46 and DePaul, No. 9, romped against American University 85-59. They were the only members of the AP Top Ten to play Friday.

In other games Princeton overcame Yale 81-72, Wake Forest nipped Clemson 75-73, Citadel took Virginia Military 79-77, Arizona downed Wyoming 81-69, Oregon defeated Montana 97-67 and Boston College humbled Georgetown, D.C. 107-92 behind John Austin's record 49 points.

The 14-11 overtime victory of Midwestern, Tex. over Austin must have brought fond memories to the oldtimers of the era of the famed Buffalo Germans 50 years ago when low scores were the rule. Midwestern led at the half 4-1 and the regulation game ended 8-8.

Pro Golfers On Comeback Trail

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Art Wall Jr. and Al Besselink, a pair of old pros on the comeback trail, are touring the Caribbean in style.

Wall, whose victory in the San Diego Open last month was his first major success since 1960 and second since he was named Pro Golfer of the Year in 1959, is riding a tropical hot streak.

The 40-year-old former PGA and Masters champ from Pocono Manor, Pa., won the Maracaibo Open, first leg of the four-stop Carribean swing, a week ago. Friday he fired a sizzling 64 in the second round of the Caracas Open, tying Canadian George Knudson's course record and vaulting into contention for the Caracas title.

Wall's torrid round wasn't enough, to catch Besselink, whose second-round 65 matched Knudson's card and deadlocked the Toronto pro for the halfway lead at 133. Each shot 68 in Thursday's first round.

Spanish champion Ramon Sota is three strokes back at 136 after a second successive 68. Wall and defending Caracas champ Bob Ferree of Corona, Calif., are next at 138. Ferree shot a 68 Friday.

Besselink, a lanky Philadelphian, has been absent from the tourney trail since 1960 and hasn't won a major tournament since he captured the Venezuela Open in 1957.

The 15-year veteran called Friday's round "the best golf I played since I turned professional."

Knudson, over-all Carribean tour titlist a year ago, carded six birdies Friday for a two-round total of 133.

Admiral Vic Is Favored At Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Owners of 10 handicap horses were ready to pay another $1,000 Saturday to start them in the $100,000-added Widener at Hialeah Park, the richest race of the Florida season to date.

The owners paid $200 each to nominate and $1,000 to enter the 1¼ miles feature, which will have a gross value of $130,800 and give the winner $85,020.

Admiral Vic, winner of three stakes last year and tied by Top Gallant in the recent Seminole, was a slight favorite at 5-2 under Mickey Solomone. Mongo, 1963 grass champion and fifth in the Seminole, was 3-1 under Wayne Chambers. Admiral Vic and Mongo were top weighted at 125 pounds.

Others going are Sunrise Flight, 119 with Larry Adams, and Tamao, 114 with Robert L. Stevenson, both 4-1; Top Gallant, 113, Steve Brooks, and Endymion, 110, Walter Blum, a George D. Widener entry at 6-1; Garwol, 112, Bob Ussery, 10-1; Hot Dust, 113, John Sellers, 12-1; Will I Rule, 111, Hedley Woodhouse, 20-1, and Lanvin, 111, Woodhouse, 30-1.

Persol Wins Over Cotton

NEW YORK (AP)—His youthful exuberance stood Johnny Persol in good stead in his fight with the veteran Eddie Cotton at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Knocked through the ropes for a count of seven in the sixth round, the 23-year-old New Yorker bounced back and gained a split 10-round decision in the nationally televised scrap.

It was a disappointment for the 37-year-old Cotton from Seattle, the No. 1 light heavyweight contender who was making his Garden debut after 16 years as a pro.

Persol, the favorite, won 5-4-1 on referee Arthur Mercante's card. Judge George Walsh had it 6-4 for Persol, while judge Bill Recht gave it to Cotton, 5-3-2. So did The Associated Press 5-4-1.

Westbrook Nips Ira To Even Series

WESTBROOK — The westbrook girls basketball team defeated Ira here Friday night, 49-42. This evened the two teams in the best-of-three series to determine the champion of District 86-B. The two teams finished in a deadlock in regular district play.

The third and final game will be played at 7:30 Thursday night in the Colorado City High School gym. Representatives of Ira and Westbrook flipped a coin to decide between Snyder and Colorado City.

The lead changed hands several times Friday night before Westbrook went ahead to stay in the second half. Ira led 11-10 at the end of the first quarter, but trailed by three points at halftime. Ira led at one time in the second half 27-26.

Pat Jones led the Ira shooters with 23 points, while Miss Ritchie netted 26 to lead Westbrook.

WESTBROOK — Ritchie 11-4-26; Langford 2-8-12; Putnam 2-7-11; totals 15-19-49.

IRA — Jones 8-7-23; Clark 2-12-16; Bishop 1-1-3; Totals 11-20-42.

Snyder Golf Team Wins Over Chiefs

Snyder High School's golf team defeated Lake View, 369-393 at Lake View on Friday afternoon.

Jimmy Featherston, whose 89 was low for the event, paced the Snyder quartet.

Larry Black fired a 90, while Richard Waters and Darrell Haney came in with 95s.

For Lake View, Bankston had a 90, McDonald, 99, Mayer and Mosley 102 each.

Other members of Coach J. P. Ward's Snyder golf squad this year include Glenn Ward, Dickey Williams, Larry Anderson and Robert Thomas.

The Snyder team probably will play a practice match either Tuesday or Wednesday with Lamesa, and then will compete in the Sweetwater Tournament on Friday and Saturday.

Bob Ussery has led the riders at Hialeah three times. He led them the last two years and also in 1959. Bill Hartack and Ted Atkinson are the only jockeys to win the honor four times at the Florida track.

In Class A Colorado City played Commerce and Luling clashed with Larue.

In Class B Paducah met Crane, with the winner to take on Buffalo for the state championship.

Classes AA and AAA will be played off next week.

Hayden Riley is in his fourth season as Alabama's basketball coach.

Records Set In Meet

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwestern AAU swimming and diving championships wind up today with a half-dozen records already in the books.

Southern Methodist University furnished five of them Friday night when Tudor Lacey did the 200-yard freestyle in 1:52.7, Tiny Barnetson swam the 200-yard individual medley in 2:03.9, the SMU 400-yard freestyle relay team did 3:17.7, Butch Schimmel turned in 55.5 in the 100-yard backstroke and John Rowe swam the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:17.1.

Rowe's record came in the preliminaries. He won the finals in 2:17.6—still under the old record of 2:17.9.

Earl Beaty, former Texas swimmer, won the diving. Barnetson won the 100-yard butterfly in 53.6—a tenth of a second over the record.

James D. Norris, owner of the Chicago Black Hawks and head of Spring Hill Farm, got started in harness racing last year by purchasing a $4,000 claimer named Gallant Star. His trainer-driver is Frank Myers.

Was the Church Built on Peter?

Jesus asked His disciples, "Who say ye that I am?" Peter answered, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." Jesus replied, "Blessed art thou. . .and I also say unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church. . .I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." (See Matt. 16:15-19).

If one reads this passage in the original Greek he will read the words as follows: "Thou art Petros (masculine, a stone) and upon that very rock (petra, feminine, a ledge of rock) I will build my church. . .I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall have been bound in heaven and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall have been loosed in heaven."

So Christ was not founding the crurch upon Peter, but up the great solid rock ledge of truth that Peter had just confessed, that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God. Jesus did not tell Peter that the church was to have Peter for its foundation, but he did tell Peter that he was to be given the keys of the kingdom with power to bind and loose as had been done in heaven.

The keys of the kingdom were used by Peter to open the doors of the church. In Peter's great sermon in Acts 2, he told the great multitude to "repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." About three thousand Jews obeyed, and the Lord, added them to the church. Later, Peter used the keys to admit Gentiles as recorded in Acts 10.

The power of binding and loosing was given not only to Peter but to all the apostles. (Matt. 18:18 and John 20:22-23). They taught only as they were inspired of God and their teachings are with us today in the New Testament. It should be noted that this power of bindng and loosing was never given to anyone except the apostles, and there is no God-given authority for this power to be passed down to others.

Was the church founded on Peter? "Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 3(11).

Summary:

1. The apostles, and none other, were given the power to bind and loose, and that only by the authority of Christ.

2. The church was founded on Christ.

British Freighter Crashes Into Pier

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—A British freighter arriving from Melbourne with cargo crashed into a concrete pier at this port Friday when she was about to berth, the Japan Maritime Safety Board said.

None of the 83 cremen of the 9,500-ton freighter Perim was injured but damage to ship and pier may run to $27,777, a board spokesman said.

Katie Gets Okay For New Season

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Katie made it! "The Farmer's Daughter" has been renewed for the next television season. The oddsmakers said no show starring a woman could succeed in today's television market, unless she could play it for laughs like a "Lucy" or a "Hazel."

Yet "The Farmer's Daughter," starring Inger Stevens, was recently picked up for its second season, having weathered yet another handicap of suffering a midseason switch from Friday to Wednesday night.

"I must admit I'm a little proud that we did it," said the outspoken Swede. "I don't believe anyone really thought that we would last beyond 13 weeks when we first went on the air and very little was done to help us. All of which proves that if you believe in what you're doing and work hard, there is a chance you can succeed."

Inger didn't realize just how successful the series was until she went to St. Paul recently for the winter carnival. She reports that 100,000 people turned out for the torchlight parade, by far the biggest crowd in the carnival's history.

"I visited a lot of children in hospitals, and they all watched the show," she said. "I was amazed."

The question she was asked most often was: Is Katie going to marry the congressman (played by William Windom) for whose sons she is governess?

"I don't know, but I would think so," she said. "After all, they are two intelligent persons and if they don't get married after a year or more, people will talk."

And what about marriage for Inger Stevens, girl bachelor?

"Yes, I want to get married," she said, "but it will take a very understanding man to put up with my schedule. I have to be up at 5 a.m. to leave for the studio, and I usually don't get home until 8:20 at night. I never have a day off in the series, and when I do, I have to shoot commercials or photographs."

WART BECOMES KING ARTHUR when he pulls the magic sword from the stone in Walt Disney's mirthful new cartoon adventure-fantasy, "The Sword in the Stone." The Technicolor feature, directed by Wolfgang Reitherman, is based on the T. H. White novel. It is coming soon to the Palace Theater here.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

IXTAPAN, Mexico — Had a lengthy discussion the other day with Elpidio, the gardner, who reported for duty with some kind of new-fangled bug spray.

It was his intention to send all the insects around the garden to their reward and clear the way for progress. But let it be entered in the record as of now that I am against upsetting the balance of nature. I have read books on the subject.

Elpidio displayed open suspicion of this theory. He said there were bugs in the roses and ants in our plants and such things should be exterminated. And began loading his spray gun with this lethal liquid.

Now in dealing with a fellow like this it is necessary to outline the facts of life in a manner which he will be unable to reject.

And I told him about some years back when England (or maybe it was Ireland) had an abundance of rabbits who shopped for groceries nights in people's gardens.

Hunters used them for target practise, although apparently not fast enough, and came up with a unique dish known as Jugged Hare. So the scientists developed an anti-rabbit disease and injected some of the 'ares with the bloomin' stuff. The 'ares spread it around and all died off and the foxes and hawks, who had been making an honest living on rabbits, developed a taste for lamb chops.

This resulted in a shortage of lambs and cut down on the wool industry, thus upsetting the balance of nature and personal bank accounts.

Then there was the case in Argentina when everybody ganged up on the panthers which kept the population of a rodent called the vizcacha down to an inoffensive leve.

After the panthers were chased away to the hills, the vizcachas took to grazing on pasture lands at nights and after a while they were swarming all over the place.

The cattle would go out into the pasture for breakfast and say, "Gee, this looks like the Sahara Desert. The vizachas must of had supper here last night.

Elpidio was speechless.

And there was the time when some aviators flew around spraying crops in the U. S. of A. to kill off the Gypsy Moths. The crops all withered, a number of birds passed away and the Gypsy Moth didn't even get a hangover.

And I told him there was even a law against piping deadly gas into buildings in Washington because the voters were afraid they might get something worse.

Elpidio thought this was an extremely reasonable attitude but asked what about the bugs and ants in our garden?

So I told him they were merely making a living the way nature intended. Now suppose he took his spray gun around knocking them off. The bushes and things would grow higher and thicker and he would have more work keeping them properly trimmed and shaped.

Even with that, he might not be able to work fast enough and the plants would grow so high and thick they might shut off the air and suffocate everyone.

Elpidio surrendered to logic and washed the poison out of his spray gun. Which he then loaded with tequila and began spraying his throat (probably had a bad cold) and began fluffing up the posies so the insects could have a nice meal.

But definitely not upsetting the balance of nature.

Poor Way To Prove He's Not A Puppet!

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—At a heated public hearing on expansion of a Florida Power & Light Co. plant, county manager Irving Menayr leaped to his feet to deny a charge that he was a power company stooge.

When he sat down he apparently was confused. He sat in the lap of McGregor Smith, FPL board chairman.

Smothers Boys Ride On Crest

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Yes, Virginia, the name is really Smothers and they are really brothers. The Smothers Brothers are riding the crest of the folk craze to a pair of tidy fortunes.

Within three short years, the brothers have played most of the television variety shows many times over and gleaned gold from concerts throughout the land—100 in 1963. The jug-eared, staring-eyed pair net as much as $7,500 for a night's work.

What do they do? Sing folk songs. But they are different from the guitar-strummers with whom the campuses and coffee houses abound. Their stock in trade is offbeat, between-song patter that seems to be created at the moment. It isn't. Their ad libs are perfected by weeks and months of polishing.

The Smothers were back in the Hollywood base of operations after a month of needed rest. Tom, the older, wacky brother, lives in Hollywood with his bride. Dick, two years younger at 25, makes his home with wife and baby in Salinas, Calif.

"Business has been good," reported Tom, who has a sound head despite his stage demeanor. "In one week we were paid $7,500 for not doing our second Judy Garland show (she decided to do it alone). On one day's notice we did a Hollywood Palace show for $7,500. We got $3,500 for appearing at the Troubador—not our usual price, but our agent wanted us to play a local date so he could bring in people from the studios."

There's talk of movies and television series for the boys, and they'd like to be able to stay in one place for a while. But they have no real complaints, and no wonder. They've come far from their $4-per-night engagements at a San Jose State College hangout.

As with many folknicks — Kingston Trio, Randy Sparks, etc. — the Smothers got their first break in a San Francisco nitery. Their first splash in the big time was on Jack Paar's nightly show three years ago.

"Paar kept telling our agent he didn't like folk singers—except Burl Ives," said Dick. "But one night he had a cancelation and we went on. Everything worked right that night. We played the Paar show 13 times and every time he said he didn't like folk singers — except Burl Ives."

Texas Troop Airlift Nearing End Today

FRANKFURT, Ger. (AP)—A successful end neared today for operation Long Thrust in which 3,000 U. S. troops were flown across the Atlantic.

Some 1,100 men of the 2nd Armored Division from Ft. Hood, Tex., have been flown to Germany, replacing about 1,000 American soldiers who were flown home.

The three-day airlift started Feb. 18, but got off to a slow start because of bad weather along the United States seaboard.

Hennig Brand discovered phosphorus by mistake in 1669. He was heating distilled urine, hoping the residue would turn out to be a catalyst that would turn lead into gold. Instead the experiment produced a substance that glowed in the cark — pure phosphorus.

New Texas Maps Ready For Public

AUSTIN (AP)—The 1964 Texas highway travel map is now ready for distribution.

New features, says the Highway Department, include a new route named "Ranch Road No. 1," a four-mile loop in Gillespie County bordering the Pedernales River and connecting the ranch home of President Lyndon Johnson with U.S. 290.

Texas' 12 major cities with populations of more than 100,000 each are illlustrated by map inserts which chart the main thoroughfares and through routes.

Missing are almost 7,000 miles of farm roads which are not links between regular highways, and those which do not join two or more communities. Towns of less than 250 also are not shown.

It's Fun Being A Movie Producer

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie producers do have fun — and I'll prove it.

I was a producer for a day. It was wild. Champagne, pretty secretaries and kiss after kiss from Sandra Dee.

There are some people who will shout publicity because Ross Hunter let me take over "I'd Rather be Rich," starring Miss Dee, Robert Goulet and Andy Williams.

Beware of such people, for they are troublemakers.

How it all came about was quite simple. For years I've had letters asking: "Just what does a producer do?"

So, I put the question to Hunter, one of the more successful producers in the business. Hunter once was an actor, playing the love interest in all Judy Canova movies. He's doing better now.

He suggested I take over his job for a day to find out. He gave one suggestion: "Remember, you're the boss."

I called in two pretty secretares—Lucy Garcia and Anna Jane Sitton—and dictated an order to a liquor store for six bottles of Dom Perignon, 1955. One bottle each was sent to the stars—the other three kept in the producer's office.

After all, Maurice Chevalier is also one of the stars. And he knows champagne. During lunchtime I chatted over script problems with Goulet and Williams but got rid of them before the secretaries joined me.

After a three-hour lunch, I visited the set. Director Jack Smight was shooting a kissing scene with Sandra and Williams.

It's Williams' first movie. The guy was naturally shy about kissing Sandra in front of 50 people.

As the boss, I stopped the cameras and proceeded to show Andy how to kiss a pretty girl. It took 15 rehearsals.

Said Smight: "If this weren't the last day of the picture, I'd recast Bacon in this part. He's the greatest screen lover since Ernest Torrence."

Said Hunter: "This may drive me back to Judy Canova."

The next day, Hunter called me up and said: "You know, you established a new first for Hollywood."

Before I could answer, Hunter continued: "You have a son, Roger Bacon, a professional actor? Right?

"You didn't give him a job? right?

"You are now the only producer in Hollywood who never hired a relative."

By RUTH FOWLER BROWN

Dear Ruth:

I have always had a desk job, but with five children now, I need more income. My present job offers little advancement and friends tell me I'd make a good salesman. Do you think so?

Desk Worker

Dear Desk Worker:

Your handwriting does reveal an aptitude for salesmanship—not the aggressive, dynamic type, but the persuasive, analytical type of selling. This is revealed in your small script and connected letters. Diplomacy is shown by the decreasing size of letters toward the ends of your words. You're a fluent and convincing talker and a tactful listener. Your ability to handle details is remarkable.

From your letterhead I gather you're connected with a technical equipment firm. If you know the equipment, why not graduate to the sales department of your own company? Work out your approach to selling — then test it by selling yourself to the sales manager.

Dear Ruth:

I have a problem since those people moved in next door. She's really a nice neighbor and doesn't believe in drinking — but he does! He hides his bottles in my bushes. She has lost her sense of smell and when her hubby staggers around in the yard she tells me he has dizzy spells. I know better. Should I tell her?

Neighbor

Dear Neighbor:

Handwriting analysis wouldn't help much in this problem. I'm afraid. Yours shows a lot of patience, but I don't think it would be very neighborly to tell her. She probably knows anyway. Next time he hides his bottles in your bushes — bust 'em. Then maybe he'll stick to his own petunia patch

Dear Ruth:

I parked my car downtown while shopping. It took me longer than I expected and when I got back a handsome policeman had just finished writing a ticket for overtime parking. I protested, since I was only a few minutes over. He was very polite, but firm. I was stuck with the ticket which I'm enclosing. What can you tell me about his handsome officer? I'd like to get to know him better.

Ticketed

Dear Ticketed:

I can't blame you for wanting to cop a date with this lawman — his writing reeks with dynamic magnetism. Look at those "g's". And he's a smart boy, too: intelligent, determined, diplomatically agressive. I wouldn't be surprised if he has his sights set on the chief's badge. Or is looking for an opening to cast his helmet in the political ring.

This is the type of masculinity you can't chase — and catch. He must have the satisfaction of chasing you. Shall I hang on to the ticket? That's one way of getting a date with him —in court'

2 Vehicles In Mishap

The Snyder police department investigated a two-car mishap at 12:46 p.m. Friday at Twenty-sixth Street and Avenue Q. Involved were a 1946 Chevrolet driven by Linden L. Terry, 2249 Sunset, and a 1959 Buick driven by Charles Edward Blakey.

Damage to the Terry car was estimated at $350 and to the Blakey car at $500. There were no injuries.

The Texas Highway patrol also investigated an accident at 10:30 a.m. Friday near the Nolen-Scurry County line. Involved was a nearly - new Oldsmobile driven by Doyle Lane Davis of Abilene.

The driver told officers he lost control of the auto on the ice-covered road. The car rolled over, but the driver was not injured.

Snyder city police also reported that a police car, while on routine patrol early Saturday morning collided with a utility pole on the Big Spring Highway. The officer driving the police car said that the car swerved, and before he could correct for the swerve the car had hit the pole.

Moisture Is Favorable In Most Of Texas This Week

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Moisture was favorable in most of Texas, with grains and ranges noticeably changed in color.

But, said Joe Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, moisture was short over the South Plains and Far West Texas and most of South Texas at midweek.

Hard rains are still needed in many other areas to fill stock tanks. There is still a need for subsoil moisture, he said, in practically all areas.

Moisture over the Panhandle generally was adequate. Recent snows added to the moisture left by the big storm of two weeks ago. Wheat pasturage is practically non - existent and livestock feeding is heavy, keeping cattle in fair condition.

The South Plains was short to very short on moisture before snow on Thursday. Ranges are below average, but with feeding, livestock are in fair condition. Irrigated grains look good but dryland fields need rain.

The Rolling Plains have adequate moisture. Grain growth has improved and grazing is available in several counties.

Rains varying from a trace up to two inches fell over North Central Texas and grains are looking better. Warmer weather is needed to stimulate grains, pastures and range vegetation. Stock tanks are still low, livestock are in fair condition but heavy feeding in needed.

Showers in Northeast Texas helped the surface but subsoil moisture still is short. Tanks need rain.

Cattle look rough and show effects of inadequate feed. Small, weak calves are being born and Vitamin A deficiency is becoming a problem.

Some far West Texas areas got light rains but general moisture is needed. All livestock are being fed. Conditions range from poor to good. Calving and lambing are under way. Goat shearing is in full swing.

Moisture in West Central Texas is adequate. Growing crops, grains, weeds and winter grass are responding to the moisture and warm weather. Grains are providing some grazing, livestock are in fair condition but feeding is heavy. Goat shearing is underway.

Central Texas got light general rain and moisture is adequate. Grains made some progress and will improve with warm weather. Some light grazing is now available. The condition of livestock was fair but heavy feeding was necessary. Goat shearing started.

Moisture was adequate in East Texas but ranges are below average and heavy feeding is needed. Livestock were in fair condition.

Much of the southeast and upper Gulf Coast area is too wet for general farm work. Pastures are improving. With warmer weather, oats and clover are being heavily grazed.

Conditions are much improved in South Central Texas. Oats are making good growth and furnishing some grazing. Livestock are in fair to good condition and marketing has slowed. Peaches are blooming.

Moisture is short to very short in all except two South Texas counties. Cool weather is holding up cotton planting. Oats are making good growth in most areas and providing some grazing. Flax generally improved but needs rain. Frost on Feb. 8 caused some damage to vegetables and citrus in the upper Valley. The citrus harvest is about over. Carrots, cabbage and celery still were being gathered. Ranges were average or below with pear burning and feeding general.

Heart Sunday Volunteers Make Their Rounds In City

The Heart Sunday volunteers will be on the march this afternoon to give every resident of Snyder a personal opportunity to fight the nation's No. 1 health enemy - the heart and blood vessel diseases.

About 300 local residents will visit homes in every section of the city to accept contributions for the 1964 Heart Fund, and, as educational ambassadors, to distribute pamphlets containing heart saving facts.

"In addition to distributing this important information on new advances in the fight against the heart diseases," Mrs. L. A. Patterson, Heart Sunday chairman said yesterday, "the Heart Fund volunteer will present a Heart Sunday envelope in which the resident can seal a gift to strike a blow at the disease which took more than 900,000 American lives last year - 54 per cent of the total number of deaths in this country."

Where the volunteer finds no one at home, he or she will leave a pre-addressed mail - in envelope in which a contribution may be sent conveniently to Heart Fund headquarters during the next few days.

Heart Sunday marks the high point in the Scurry County Heart Council's third annual Heart Fund drive which makes possible the crusade against the cardiovascular diseases.

"Heart Sunday is that special day of the year in which your Heart Association asks you to recall all you have read and heard about the cardiovascular diseases," Mrs. Patterson said.

"It is the day on which you have the responsibility of assuring the success of your Heart Association's mass assault on the heart diseases during the coming years," she continued. "The decision is yours because it is your contribution which makes possible the attack on the heart problem. By the size of your gift you help determine the amount of research that can be carried on to seek new knowledge, and the extent to which the benefits of heart research can be passed on to your physician to serve you, your family, and your neighbors," she explained. "More will live, the more you give to the Heart Fund," she points out.

Contributions to the Heart Fund may also be mailed to Doug Flynn, Scurry County Heart Fund treasurer, in care Snyder Public Schools. Team Captains are reminded that they may turn in their workers' kits at the community room of West Texas State Bank from 1:30 to 4:10 p.m. today.

Lawyers Seek To Discredit Witness

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyers began a drive Friday to discredit the one witness who linked him with alleged efforts to fix a federal court jury.

The Teamsters Union president elected to delay until next week his appearance before the jury. The trial enters its sixth week Monday.

Thirteen persons were called to tell what they knew about Edward Grady Partin, the Baton Rouge, La., Teamsters official who became the government's main witness against Hoffa.

Hoffa and five others are charged with attempting to rig the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That jury couldn't agree and a mistrial was declared.

Partin was described variously by the defense witnesses—most of them from his hometown—as being a neurotic, a woman chaser and a professional liar. Most of them said they wouldn't take his word under oath.

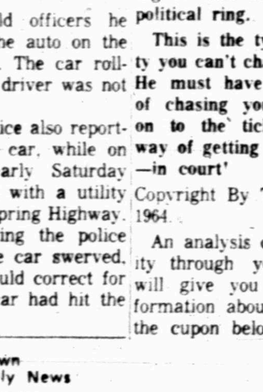

The witnesses disagreed on whether he was a dope addict—a charge which Partin denied on cross-examination.

Otis Calvin Tynes, 37, Ethel, La., who said he was a close friend of the family, testified that Partin was addicted to narcotics in 1960.

Dr. Levin F. Magruder, a Baton Rouge psychiatrist, said he had treated Partin as a patient that year and found no evidence he was taking narcotics. Partin appeared depressed tense and felt he was imposed upon by his union, Magruder said.

On trial with Hoffa are Larry Campbell, Detroit; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va.; Allen Dorfman, Chicago, and Thomas Parks and Ewing King of Nashville.

The first commercial brewery in the New World was built in 1612 by Adrain Block and Hans Christiansen in a log house on the southern tip of what is now Manhattan Island.

Girl Scouts To Honor Fathers

The first Girl Scout Father-Daughter banquet ever held in Snyder will take place Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the high school cafeteria. The theme will be "hearts and flowers". The 217 girls will each prepare a supper for she and her father in a gayly decorated box. Each member will also participate in the program.

The girls consist of Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes and are holding the dinner to let their Dads know what is going on in Girl Scouting and to bring friendship between age levels. These girls all hope to bring service to others, practice good citizenship, making democracy work in miniature. They learn things to do inside and out, always with safety and to do their best to God, their country and others, especially those at home.

Parents are urged to visit the Girl Scout hut, the various troops and learn who is working with their daughters, so that everyone will understand the important part scouting plays in these young lives. Visit anytime and see what is needed for the hut, and what part you can play in scouting. All Dads are urged to accompany their daughters on this special night.

WINTER SCENES made from nut shells, mesquite pods, and other such readily available items were fastened to paper plates and then sprayed gold to make attractive wall plaques. Brenda Shroyer, center, displays a finished plaque. D'Ann Fisher, left, shows a billfold made from Christmas cards suitable for holding classmate's pictures, and Sherry Johnson, right, displays a pencil holder, also made by the Scouts from old Christmas cards.

A DONKEY RIDE is part of the outdoor activity enjoyed by Brownies of the new troop led by Mrs. E. J. Moore and Mrs. Jack Chastain. Here Jeanette Ward and Hester Moore take their turn. Other activities include hikes in the fields around the Moore home.

THESE STANFIELD BROWNIES are shown with some of the gold crowns made for the banquet. They will be given as favors. Mrs. George R. Burrell and Mrs. James Shields are leaders. From left, Barbara Lacik, Marcia Shields and Kathy Burrell.

JUNIOR SCOUT TROOP 168 are pictured as some of the members gather firewood. The girls learn to participate in activities inside and out, always with safety. They are Linda Gilbert, Donna Block, Jane Barnett and Audrey Ann Kidd.

TROOP 266, under the leadership of Mrs. Bill Byers are making tulips for banquet decorations. They are Carol Block, Debra McGlaun and Vickie Sumruld. The banquet has a "Hearts and Flowers" theme.

JUNIOR SCOUT TROOP 327 has 19 members under the leadership of Mrs. Don Mashburn and Mrs. Sam McDaniel. The girls are showing off some of the pretty boxes they have made for the Father-Daughter banquet to be held Friday night at the High School cafeteria.

BROWNIE TROOP 72 has 22 members under the leadership of Mrs .Marvin Dozier, Mrs. John Book and Mrs. Tommy Ivison. The girls are resting after performing a folk game "Hey Little Lassie".

THINKING DAY, Feb. 22 is observed by Girl Scouts and Girl Guides all over the world. Feb. 22 is the birthday of both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, and on that day girls of member countries symbolically join hands with each other in recognition of the spirit of Scouting that unites them in international friendship. On this day each registered Girl Scout gives a dime to the Juliette Low Friendship Fund. This fund is used to send Girl Scouts to other countries in the interest of international friendship. Mrs. J. B. Batchler is shown above as she presented a program on Colombia to Girl Scout Troop 325 Wednesday afternoon. Note the souvenirs and ruanas the girls are wearing. From left, Sheri McGlaun, Nancy Line, Jeannine Thompson, Mrs. Batchler, Beth Vestal and Peggy Patterson.

Tops Club Makes Plans For April

The Snyder Toperettes met at Stanfield Elementary Cafeteria at 7 Tuesday evening. Regular members weighed in and the guests introduced themselves.

The minutes of last week's meeting was read, and the members answered roll call. The club president, Mrs. Alfred Lieb, discussed again the recognition day for TOPS and KOPS to be held in Lubbock April 11. She explained that this was more of a recognition day than a convention. From the night club, fifteen have said they are planning to attend and it has been learned that some from the day time club are planning on attending. Details will be discussed further next week.

Exercises were enjoyed by the members which affected every part of the body, from the foot to the head. After a good workout, the exercises were stopped in order for all to recuperate as sorneness was beginning to set in.

Members were reminded that next week is salad week again, and to arrive early so there will be time to weigh in and group leaders can count up the points for her group.

The meeting was adjourned with the hope of "taking off, jumping off, running off and keeping off pounds sensibly."

Mrs. Reon Hostess To Sorority

Mrs. Reon presented the program on "Money Management." George Washington cherry pies were served.

First - time home owners are often understandably confused by the many legal and technical real estate words and terms tossed around before and during purchases.

Even some of the most common words need clarification for those unfamiliar with property transactions. A real estate broker recently told us, "I am constantly amazed at how many persons, considering the purchase of a house for the first time, do not have a clear idea of what a mortgage is."

A mortgage is simply an agreement in writing which gives the lender a lein upon a certain property as security for the payment of a specified debt. In this particular area, it says, in effect, that the mortgagee may take over the home if the buyer fails to keep up his payments. After the house has been sold, and the debt and the expenses deducted, the mortgagor (the person who obtained the loan) receives the balance, if any. When a mortgage is insured by the Federal Housing Administration, the lender is guaranteed that he will get back his money even if the sale of the house fails to return an amount equal to the loan.

A prepayment clause gives the mortgagor the right to pay his loan before it becomes due. Such clauses usually impose some kind of financial penalties for prepayments, but these are far less than the interest costs would be if the loan were paid according to the original terms.

Joint Tenancy is the ownership of real estate by two or more persons, each of whom has an undivided interest with the right of survivorship. This latter phrase means that the surviving owner succeeds to the share of the deceased owner.

Tenancy by the Entirety is similar to Joint Tenancy except that it exists only between husband and wife, with equal right of possession as well as the right of survivorship.

Tenancy in Common is the ownership of real estate by two or more persons, each of whom has an undivided interest. There is no right of survivorship.

An open listing is the placement of your property with a number of brokers whereby the first to make the sale is entitled to the commission.

A multiple listing is the placement of your property with members of a Real Estate board of Exchange whereby the commission on the sale is divided, usually between the broker who had the initial listing and the broker who makes the sale.

An exclusive listing is the placement of your property with a single broker for a specified period of time, during which period no one except him can receive the commission. In return for obtaining the exclusive rights, he is expected to devote extra time and attention to making a sale.

The Gardeners Corner

THE MAN SAID the new guard on his power mower would do for the gardner what the safety razor did for users of the old straight-edge razor.

He calls it Safety - Guard (by Moto-Mower) and reports after months of testing that it will reduce considerably the danger of the gardener being cut or objects hurled from under the mower. These are two haxards of rotary mowers.

The cutting device actually is a double blade with the higher, leading blade having comb - like projections which extend downward below the level of the main cutting blade. This forces sticks, stones and other obstructions beneath its path.

The manufacturer also claims the twin-blade action gives increased cutting and mulching action.

To improve the humid conditions needed by many plants, including ferns, keep the clay pots on plastic trays filled with pebbles. The water level in the trays should be below the top of the pebbles so that the pots are not constantly in water.

• • •

Researchers at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station have discovered materials that close the stomata, or pores, of plants when they normally would remain open.

If their technique continues to prove effective in the field as in preliminary experiments, it could lead to an entirely new way to conserve soil moisture, they believe. While loss of water vapor to the atmosphere through stomata is closely related to the photo-synthetic process by which plants grow, the researchers say they have been able to reduce this transpiration without equally reducing photosynthesis.

Colchicine treatment has produced a mutation, the foundation for an entirely new strain within the Primula Acaulis group, the American Primrose Society notes in a report from the South German Market Gardener's Journal.

"The short, small leaves form a flat rosette, leaving the center free, thus a compact floral bouquet looks at you," the report says. . . "The color range and size of flowers is equal to the best strains, and growers in foreign countries have shown increasing interest, particularly where quality counts."

Without A Yawn

LONDON (AP) — The Queen's Messengers have a hard time staying awake.

These trusted couriers of British state secrets spend 90 per cent of their working hours traveling by plane. One of their toughest tasks is to fight off drowsiness.

Although there are faster means of communication, Britian still relies heavily on "hand delivery" to get messages to and from its embassies around the world.

Radio can be jammed. Codes can be broken. An original document, carried by a well trusted hand, may still be the safest link between the home government and its embassies.

The 44 Queen's Messengers in service today are more familiar with airline schedules than boat and train timetables. They never use the legendary, spy-ridden Orient Express. They no longer have to shoot it out to protect their bags. In fact, it's become a very humdrum job.

But today's Queen Messenger faces other perils — that copious airline lunch which induces dozing, the frustrating wait at weather bound airports, the inquisitive fellow-traveler who may or may not be up to mischief.

While other travelers relax, the Messenger must keep an eye unswervingly on the precious sealed bags, heaped on the seat beside him. If ever a Queen's Messenger lost one enroute — and that's unthinkable the Foreign Office says — he would be dismissed and lose his pension too.

The Messenger's badges of office are a red passport—other British passports are dark blue—and a silver greyhound emblem sometimes worn next to the skin on chain around the neck.

The greyhound symbol has a story. When King Charles II set up the service — he was an exile from Cromwellian England and in Holland at the time — he wanted to give his messengers a talisman which would be recognized by royalist sympathizers at home. Legend has it that he wrenched the feet from a silver bowl and gave one to each of the first four messengers he sent. Each foot was shaped as a greyhound.

Since 1772 the Queen's Messengers (called King's Messengers when the throne's occupant is male) have been under control of the Foreign Office.

Most are recruited from the military or colonial services. Ex-officers are specially favored and there is always a waiting list for the job.

Messengers are paid 1,070 to 1,370 pounds ($2,996 to $3,836) a year plus expenses. They are required to travel 16 days in every month and spend 90 per cent of that time in the air.

Fatalities have been rare in recent years and those there have been were due to air crashes. Messengers are told of their journeys a month in advance and their assignments are regularly changed.

A Messenger's first job is to report to the Bag Room of the Foreign Office where the diplomatic pouches are prepared for dispatch. He is handed one or more white canvas bags, secured with lead seals.

The bags have been weighted ever since World War I when a Messenger whose ship was intercepted by a German U-boat had the galling experience of seeing the bag he dropped over the side bob cheerfully on the waves into the arms of the waiting German crew.

Lieut. Col. G. P. Murray, who superintends the corps, says it would take two years for one Messenger to cover all the runs. There are now more than 100 world capitals to be served instead of the mere handful when the service was started.

Murray says the main thing needed for a Queen's Messenger is initiative and discipline. Messengers must be ready to leave their families and travel great distances at short notice. They must be ready to do without sleep for days on end, if necessary. Never must they drop their guard over the precious bag until its contents have been safely locked in the embassy safe at its destination.

In the old days Queen's Messengers had to ride vast distances on horseback and be quick on the draw to defend their bags. One rode 2,000 miles in two weeks across wild country to carry news of Napoleon's escape from Elba to the Persian government.

Messenger Sir Park Goff, traveling to Holland in World War I and knowing his ship woul War I and knowing his ship would be intercepted by the Germans if it were known he were aboard, made the North Sea crossing nailed up in a big crate labeled "Margarine."

But today the main job is to keep wide awake as the plane drones hour after hour across the aky.

3 Men, 3 Women Marooned

NORTHERN AFFAIR. By D. K. Findlay.

Six members of a scientific expedition in the Arctic make a side trip to an island site and are marooned there for months.

The problem of food and survival, and the attempt to reach the main camp, naturally are major themes in the narrative. But Findlay has orchestrated an even stronger theme — the reversion to primitive emotions under the stress of danger.

Conveniently for this treatment, the cast consists of three men and three women. Borg, hunting, their attempts to use a boat that had been wrecked, and finally in a long trek across the ice.

If Findlay had been content to construct a straight adventure novel, his plot and characterization might have been a bit more plausible. As it is, his strong emphasis on the he-and-she theme stretches one's credibility. But then, it adds spice. the leader of the group, is a marine biologist. Poldar is an oceanologist and Logan an ornithologist. The women are Martine Fremont, an archeologist; Ruth Hocking, an anthropologist serving also as medical officer, and Gerda Williams, a sexy young photographer.

There is dissension in the group, not only over the plans for survival, but over the jealousies and tensions created during the long stay on the island.

Meanwhile nature itself is giving them a rough time, in their

Tracker Even Heard Sirens

ULYSSES FOUND. By Ernie Bradford.

Not too many years ago, the very existence of Homer's Troy was doubted by many a scholar. Then a persistent German took pick and shovel in hand to prove that the ancient city stood just where the ancients always said it did.

Now an Englishman, with a copy of the Odyssey in one hand and a volume of the British Admiralty's Mediterranean Pilot in the other, has sailed the inland sea in a boat of his own to pin down the wanderings of Homer's hero.

Far from regarding Ulysses as mythical and his adventures as fairy tales, Bradford thinks he was as important in the exploration of the Mediterranean as Columbus in that of the Atlantic. And he finds in the Odyssey a set of sailing instructions often as definite and logical as can be discovered in the Pilot itself.

When the Odyssey notes that Ulysses' fleet was blown off course for nine days to the land of the Lotus Eaters, Bradford figures that such a voyage at three knots before a northerly wind would have landed him on the isle of Jerba off North Africa — a most likely spot for finding lotus eaters. And so he goes from landfall to landfall, and adventure to adventure, all around the inland sea.

It seems to be a scholarly as well as a most readable effort, but the author does not permit scholasticism to stand in the way of imagination. Back tracking Ulysses was accomplished not only in the course of a number of voyages in his own yachts, but even during wartime missions. On one of these, aboard a frigate prowling for submarines, he himself heard the sirens singing on the Galli Islands off the Gulf of Salerno. The crew did not have to bind him to the mast, but his hallucination, as it came to be known, was strong enough to keep the frigate circling the rocks until daybreak and beyond. He found no sirens, but did find more good material for a good book.

Beauty In Six Days

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's nothing like a charm pickup to chase those doldrums. At this time of year depression often sets in when school work seems tougher, family seems less understanding, and you just can't do a thing with yourself.

A look in the mirror may steal the last vestige or reassurance that you can make a comeback.

But you can.

Try a six-day Beauty Crash Program. Give up all extra curricular activity from Monday to Saturday and concentrate on improving yourself in the glamor department.

MONDAY —A day of fast and light diet. Stick to liquids if possible, and give up frustration foods. (These are favorites of the Munch and Punch Society — candy, pastry, bags of nibbles, sweet drinks.)

Single out your most annoying figure fault. Today and every day for five days, exercise to get rid of it. Lie down and cycle in the air to help legs, knees, thighs. Lie down and roll from side to side to massage hips. Touch your right hand to left toes and left hand to right toes from a standing position, keeping your legs straight. It is excellent for waist, hips, thighs.

TUESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise and concentrate on your legs and toes, the most neglected beauty areas in winter.

Clean your legs of fuzz with a razor or whatever. Rub oil on legs from toes to thighs. Besides the light, airy feeling, the routine may catch on and you'll be prepared for spring and shorts when the time comes.

Cut toe nails straight across, gently tapering the crosscut. Avoid rounding corners, promoting ingrown toenails.

WEDNESDAY Eat lightly. Exercise. Oil your feet and legs.

Concentrate on your arms and hands. Give yourself a professional manicure with or without polish. Soak your hands, scrub your nails, push back the cuticle. Use an emory board to shorten them.

Rub oil from fingertips to shoulders in large sweeping strokes. If arms are too hairy, remove hair. Rub oil across shoulders and up neck to chin.

THURSDAY — Examine your face. Oily skin may be helped with soap and water; dry skin needs oil.

Continue light diet. Be sure to include green leafy vegetables. Exercise. Continue oil treatment on legs and arms.

Give yourself an eyebrow test. Remove straggly hairs between eyebrows and those under the arch. If your face is round keep eyebrows as long a line as possible and tweeze so they are lifted at a slight angle at the sides.

Find your lipline. If you use lipstick, favor a generous mouth but keep it dainty. Curve it just a little bit more than your own lipline permits, but don't get your mouth off balance. Experiment until you get the right line for your mouth. Young girls should use light lipstick, rather than dark.

FRIDAY — Experiment with a new hairdo, keeping certain facts in mind.

If you are a butterball, don't wear hair in all-round fuzziness. It should be close to the head in soft waves. If you are tall and thin, don't wear your hair piled up on top. It will look better in a neat arrangement that falls gracefully below the ears.

SATURDAY — Anything you couldn't do for yourself may require professional help: a new hairstyle, professional advice on eyebrows or manicure. Check teeth, call your dentist and this is the week to buy some little thing for your wardrobe.

It may make a new girl out of you. Of so you'll think.

Mustard Pot

2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon salad oil

In a mustard pot or other small container, stir together the mustard and vinegar until smooth. Add the sugar, salt and oil, stir until smooth. Cover tightly and refrigerate for several days before using to allow flavors to blend and develop. Makes about ¼ cup.

HOMEMADE RUFFS for oven-baked chicken drumsticks add to festivities and banish greasy fingers.

Teen-agers Love A Chicken Jamboree

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

GREAT FOR a teen - age party: oven-fried chicken drumsticks. Baked in two jelly-roll pans — you can borrow one from a neighbor, sister, cousin or aunt — two dozen drumsticks will make fine fare for a dozen youngsters.

Best of all, this recipe is so easy to put together that your youngsters and some of their friends can do the preparation themselves. Should the idea of making chef-style paper ruffs for the drumsticks appeal to them, they'll find the following directions easy to follow.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN DRUMSTICKS FOR A CROWD

2 sticks (1 cup) butter or margarine
24 chicken drumsticks
3 teaspoons salt
1½ cups flour
1-3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon dried oregano
2-3 cup buttermilk

Place one stick of butter in each of two foil - lined jelly-roll pans (about 10 by 15 by 1 inch); place in a hot (425 degrees) oven until butter melts, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle drumsticks on both sides with 1½ teaspoons salt. Mix together the flour, remaining 1½ teaspoon salt, Parmesan cheese, paprika, and oregano. Dip drumsticks in buttermilk; then roll in flour mixture. Divide drumsticks between pans; bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 30 minutes; turn drumsticks, reverse pans and bake another 25 minutes. Makes 12 servings. Chicken may stick a bit, so remove all pieces with a wide spatula.

HOW TO MAKE DRUMSTICK RUFFS

Use lightweight typing paper. Fold a sheet in half lengthwise, then fold into thirds lengthwise. With scissors make ¾ - inch long slashes along folded edge, about 1-16 inch apart. Unfold sheet of paper and cut in half lengthwise, through the middle fold. Refold the two pieces separately, reversing the folds and folding them so that the slashed cut edge is on the inside. Put a strip of transparent tape on one side of ruff to keep grease from the chichen from penetrating the paper. Cut each strip into three equal parts. Form into circular ruffs slightly larger than ends of drumsticks; fasten with tape and slip onto drumsticks just before serving. Makes 6 ruffs; repeat procedure 3 times to make 24.

MAN-TAILORED MADRAS as detailed by traditional tailors makes a suit look that belong on all lovers of this imported sportswear classic. Pattern ingeniously cut and matched with slash pocket styling.

Style Briefs

The stocking industry has finally overcome the horror of holes simply by making holes fashionable.

While this revolutionary idea has not swept the entire hoisery fashion wardrobe, it is doing nicely for sportswear and at-home.

The holes are as large as fishnets or as minute as mesh, they're diamond - shapes or indeterminate. The patterns are pre-planned and spoiled by any unintentional additions, however.

They are a part of the lacy leg art shaping up on all sized gams. Frothy white, of course, the airy textures (a euphemism for "holes") were created to let tanned legs gleam through.

In truth, the style idea was not really cooked up to glorify holes. But keeping the golden tanned girl in hose who ordinarily abandons them during the warm weather could very easily be the reason.

Do your teens sometimes balk at eating those foods which you say are "good for them?" Why not emphasize that these four servings of enriched or whole grain bread and cereal products, four glasses of milk, two servings of meat and four servings of fruits and vegetables they should eat daily assure their having attractive physique, clear skin, sparkling eyes and fewer trips to the doctor and dentist.

Moderns Make Mess Of Mating

REUBEN, REUBEN. By Peter DeVries.

DeVries' theme for sardonic comedy this time is love and marriage. He has few peers in the art of using comedy to make probing searches into the painfully sorry botches of human society.

His story is in three parts. It begins with old Pop Spofford, a 64-year-old chicken farmer in that corner of Connecticut which has been taken over by the New York commuters. Pop tells his story in the first person — through a semiliterate, corny, unedited journal.

Pop keeps jeering at the artificialities of the exurbanites, and appoints himself a spy to uncover their immoralities and fashionable foolishness. But of course the catch is that Pop is fascinated by his new neighbors. This section of the book, standing alone, is a hilarious circus.

Next comes the story of Gowan McGland, a transplanted, middle-aged Scottish poet who takes advantage of the intramural, extramarital dalliances to be found among the women of the commuting set. Until, that is, he works himself into an impossible situation.

The final section centers around Alvin Mopworth, a young Englishman who combines a little writing with television acting, and has some notion of doing a book about McGland. There is sharp irony in the fact that Mopworth is so naturally heterosexual that everyone assumes he must be secretly fighting a tendency the other way. Mopworth falls in love with the farmer's granddaughter Geneva, with results that offer a further commentary on marriage.

In the final pages, DeVries has Mopworth reflect on why it is that the "human botch of mating" seems to "get worse from generation to generation, as the gulf between the sexes widened until it threatened to become final." Was it a failure of intellect or of romance, or was it because women had turned their new equality and freedom into a pants-wearing racket? "One thing was certain. When it comes to sex we talk a good game, but that's about all."

Here is a bright, snapping satire, filled with delightfully amusing characters and incidents, which other inventive authors might well have been proud to write. But DeVries goes deeper. His entertaining mummery is like that of a clown of wistfully tragic demeanor — a sad clown painted by Roualt.

Pumpkin Pudding

2 tablespoons butter or margarine, soft
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon each ginger, nutmeg, and cloves
1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup milk

Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolks one at a time. Mix together the flour, salt and spices; stir into butter - sugar mixture, then stir in pumpkin and milk. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold in. Bake in a deep ovenproof glass pie plate (8½ by 1½ inches) in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 1 hour. Pudding puffs but settles on cooling. Serve cold with caramel sauce and a garnish of whipped spiced cream.

Few In Panama Willing To Make Reasonable Appraisal

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

PANAMA (AP)—Boly Khan has changed the sign over his cocktail lounge—the Club 27—but not much.

For weeks after the bloody fighting between Panamanians and Americans on the borders of the Panama Canal Zone the sign said: "We don't serve gringoes."

Now it says: "No dogs or Zonians allowed."

The subtle change seems to say that while he wouldn't turn down a buck from an American tourist he's still mad at Americans associated in any way with the Canal Zone. Thus it does not appear that the volcano of ill-feeling which erupted on the night of Jan. 9 subsided much—or is it likely to.

The bitterness goes back to the treaty of 1903 and Teddy Roosevelt. He saw the Isthmus of Panama as "one of the future highways of civilization," and was determined that the United States should build that highway. The treaty, crux of all the troubles yet to come, granted the United States a zone of land across the isthmus. This zone included the site where Ferdinand de Lesseps and a French company had been struggling nearly 25 years to build a canal.

Now, Panama wants to establish full sovereignty over the Canal Zone and obtain eventual control of the canal itself. The United States refuses to negotiate these changes in the 1903 treaty.

Panamanian opinion calling for a ne w treaty is backed by fiercely articulate left-wing nationalists. This is the area where, because the canal issues seem tailormade for their purposes, the Castroites and Communists have concentrated their forces.

Some cooler Panamanians, like Dr. Roberto (Tito) Arias, feel a new treaty is necessary, but believe the long-range importance of the canal to Panama's future has been exaggerated.

A member of one of Panama's traditional ruling families, Arias sums it up this way:

"Granted all that Panama wants and all that the United States conceivably could give even with unreasonable charity, our basic problems, overpopulation and underdevelopment, would not be solved."

The Canal Zone operation provides 15,000 jobs, he said, while Panamanians create 25,000 new job seekers every year. Total canal revenues of $60 million annually would pay for just half of Panama's annual imports.

The implications of a new canal outside Panama have not been lost on a few Panamanians. Ruben D. Carles, a leading economist, asks: What can Panama do with an abandoned zone, without the $85 million it provides annually to the national economy and with a nearly obsolete and empty canal?

The arguments of this miniscule minority are ignored in presidential campaign speeches and newspaper editorials.

Said the backer of one presidential hopeful: "It would be political suicide to attempt to inject reason into the popular clamor for a new treaty at this time."

De Lesseps began digging in 1879 at the site of the present canal.

Some 30 years earlier, however, representatives of the United States and Nueva Granada—later Colombia — signed a treaty granting the U.S. commercial concessions in return for an American pledge to guarantee the sovereignty of Nueva Granada over that territory.

De Lesseps' fortunes ebbed in the Panama venture. The project was undermined by financial scandals, intrigue and disease, notably yellow fever. Between 1881 and 1888 there were 5,527 deaths, 1,026 due to yellow fever and 1,368 to malaria. At its peak in 1884, the French company had 19,000 men on the payroll.

In 1889, the French company did little in the canal, waiting for American willingness to pay $40 million for the canal contract.

Several times Panama had seceded formally from Nueva Granada, only to return to the fold for various reasons. Matters boiled to a head in 1903 when the United States agreed to buy the French concession.

Colombia balked over the terms of a canal treaty with the United States. This convention, called the Hay-Herran treaty, would give the United States a 100-year lease, indefinitely renewable, over the Canal Zone. The United States also recognized Colombian sovereignty over the zone, Colombia's obligation to militarily protect the canal and Trans-Isthmian Railroad, and law enforcement by both American Colombian and mixed courts.

These conditions were taken out of the subsequent 1903 treaty with Panama and provided the basic elements of the current dispute.

The Colombian Congress in effect rejected the Hay-Herran treaty in October 1903, setting in motion the forces that were to determine the fate of the isthmus within the month.

Secretary of State John Hay had predicted rebellion in the isthmus if Colombia rejected the treaty. The same rumors were circulating in world capitals, even in Bogota.

There was more fact than fancy to the rumors. A revolutionary junta had been organized in Panama and one of its members already was in New York seeking assurances of American intervention and quick diplomatic recognition.

At this time there appeared on the scene a young French engineer Philippe Bunau-Varilla. He conferred with Roosevelt and Hay and, among other things, learned that American naval units had been prepared for a dash to the isthmus in the event of an emergency.

Bunau-Varilla dispatched the Panamanian junta representatives home with instructions to start the insurrection immediately.

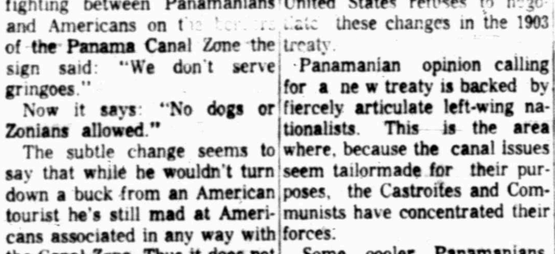

The Panamanian rebellion materialized on the appointed day, Nov. 3, 1903. All Colombian military officers had been bribed except one, who in a burst of patriotic zeal, fired the only shots of this war of independence. The only casualties were a Chinaman and a donkey.

The United States completed the canal in 10 years, employing as many as 40,000 men at one time, eradicating yellow fever and malaria, improving sanitary and living conditions while giving Panamanians a touch of prosperity such as they had not known before.

It is said much of the current anti-U.S. sentiment among Panamanians stems from a guilt complex over the manner in which their independence was obtained; that by booting out the Yankees, or even seeming to want to, they'd restore a measure of dignity to themselves and their country.

This thinking blends in perfectly with the stratagem of Castroites and Communists now infiltrated into every strategic phase of national activity: labor, the university, high schools, newspapers and even among the professions.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANTIFREEZE

QUESTION: How does antifreeze work?

• • •

ANSWER: The circulation of water is vital in almost all car systems, as it keeps the engine cool enough to keep running. Water freezes when its temperature drops down to 32 degrees fahrenheit. If cars were left with just water in their cooling systems in winter, in the cold part of the United States, this water would soon freeze solid and cars would heat up to a point where they could no longer run. Serious damage may be done to a car if its water system is frozen.

To prevent freezing, substances called "antifreeze" are added to the water. The chemical "glycol" is widely used. This freezes at a much lower temperature than water, so when it is mixed with the water in the cooling system it will lower the water's freezing point. With a temperature of 10 degrees, 24 per cent glycol will do the job. But more is needed as it gets colder. Glycol is called a "permanent" antifreeze because its boiling point of 375 degrees is so high there's little chance of it boiling away. Another type of antifreeze, methanol, has a boiling point of only 150 degrees.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Some day you'll probably be driving, so here's something to remember: check your radiator water frequently in winter to make certain there's enough antifreeze so the car can't freeze in a cold snap. 2-22

JOSE MOLINA BAILES ESPANOLES

World's Youngest Flamenco Guitarist To Appear Here

At nineteen Emilio de Diego is one of the world's youngest Flamenco guitarists, and one of the best.

He began his study of the guitar in Madrid when he was nine, made his professional concert debut at thirteen, toured Europe and the Orient with the famous Carmen Mora when he was fourteen, joined the Jose Greco Ballet as Senor Greco's personal accompanist when he was eighteen, and a year later became solo guitarist and accompanist for the Jose Molina's Bailes Espanoles coming to the High School auditorium Thursday evening under the auspices of Scurry Concert Association.

Emilio knows his way around the world of guitars and guitarists. Despite his youth, he is regarded by those who know guitar as a virtuoso performer, and a respected authority on the instrument. He has an impressive collection of Flamenco and Classical guitars at his home in Madrid, though he carries but two instruments with him on tour.

"Flamenco guitars are very different from Classical guitars," explains Emilio, who plays both types. "Though both instruments have six strings—three bass and three alto — the Flamenco guitar is designed to give a very strong sound, while the Classical is designed to produce a very sweet sound."

The instruments are named for the men who invented them —"Esteso" for the Flamenco, "Ramirez" for the classical.

Like Flamenco singing and dancing, Flamenco guitar music is passed down from one generation to the next. It is never recorded on paper, as the music for classical guitar is set down. It is not composed; it is improvised.

According to Diego, a Flamenco guitarist learns the basic theme for a number and then gives it his own particular embellishments, which may vary, according to his mood and the circumstances of the moment, from one performance to the next.

"No two renditions of a particular number are ever quite the same," Emilio explained. "Each of the selections in 'Bailes Espanoles' sounds very different to me each time I play it, which probably explains the fascination Flamenco guitar holds for people all over the world."

The audience exerts a very strong influence on the Flamenco guitarist. "If an audience is lively and responsive," Emilio stated, "it can move a Flamenco performer to attempt unheard-of feats — often with spectacular success."

Emilio de Diego is an adventurous young man who has attempted many such feats at the behest and encouragement of his audiences — usually with breathtaking results!

Martyrdom Raises Questions

THE MARTYRED. By Richard E. Kim.

The scene of Kim's novel is Korea, during the early months of the war. But the military conflict provides only a setting of horrible stress for the real content of the novel. It is about the enigma of Christian faith in the face of despair — the last cry from the Cross.

The narrator is Capt Lee, who has been assigned to an intelligence post after recovering from a wound received in action. Nominally a Christian, he actually is a skeptic and nonbeliever. So is his superior officer, Col. Chang. Yet both of them are drawn into a Christian mystery.

At Pyongyang, the Communists had captured and tortured 14 Korean Christian ministers. Two had survived; but the younger one had lost his reason. The other, Shin, at first was evasive about what had happened. Chang, a practical man and a propogandist, encouraged the desperate populace to believe that the 12 slain ministers had been heroic martyrs — though he had learned there were betrayers in their ranks.

Other aspects of the incident develop gradually. Lee's friend Lt. Park learns that one of the 12 was his father — a religious fanatic against whom the son had revolted.

Shin is the key figure, a tortured soul who decides to let the suspicion of the betrayal fall upon himself.

There are many questions of faith and self - sacrifice, with and without holy belief, as the story of the martyrs is pieced together against a background of the often conflicting stresses of religion and patriotism. The author provides no easy resolutions to the questions he has raised, but sets the reader's mind astir in the search for answers of his own.

Kim, now a teacher in this country, is a Korean native who participated in the war for four years.

His book, written in a starkly graphic style, is a haunting story of spiritual testing.

POPULAR SPOT—The [illegible]aurant on the East Highway is popular for many reasons. In addition to the always fine food and fast service, Snyderites and out-of-town visitors alike are impressed with the friendly atmosphere. The popular restaurant is open 24 hours a day, and has accomodations for group meetings.

O'Rear Is Oldest Furniture Store

Snyder oldest furniture business is that of O'Rear Furniture Co., 904 Twenty - sixth Street, just off the East Highway.

Owned by M. M. O'Rear, the store was established here in 1948 by L. C. Carmichael and Mr. O'Rear prior to the oil boom. A native Texan, O'Rear moved here from Altus, Okla., where he had lived most of his life, and Carmichael had moved here from Post, where he had operated a variety store for about 20 years.

The store, originally located on the south side of the square, was moved to its present location in 1950, where more paring was available.

O'Rear bought sole ownership of the store when Carmichael retired in 1954.

The store has a complete line of furnishings for the entire home, including Norge appliances and a full stock of furnishings for living room, dining room, bedroom, den, and occasional pieces.

The firm handles Kroehler, Westeed, Broy Hill, and others in living room suites, as well as chairs by Broy Hill, Stratolounger, Swing King, Burkliner, and others.

In the bedroom line O'Rear Furniture features among others, the well - known Tell City maple line.

In the bedding department, customers choose between Tay-[illegible]edding, Black-[illegible]-Morning Glory and U.S. Koylon foam products.

The firm also features Sandran plastic and Armstrong floor covering.

The store is open six days a week from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and offers terms up to 36 months.

Fast Service Specialty At Minute Inn

Back in March, 1962, Lon Faver figured that a small restaurant specializing in good food and fast service was needed in the downtown area on the East Highway.

Almost a year has gone by, and that time has proved that Faver was right.

Today the Minute Inn, located in the 1600 block of Twenty-fifth Street, is serving a case of eggs a week. It's not surprising, since the Minute Inn features two eggs, ranch style bacon, biscuits, butter and jelly for just 49 cents.

Home made chili is another specialty of the Minute Inn, along with sandwiches, hamburgers and home made pies. And for those who like a change from eggs for breakfast once in a while, the Minute Inn's pancakes are always a favorite.

Faver credits his success at the Minute Inn to his good location on the East Highway, (parking is available just a few steps east) his good food served at reasonable prices, and the fact that people appreciate the fact that the highest degree of cleanliness is always maintained at the Minute Inn.

66 Cafe Marks 14th Birthday Next Month

It was on March 10, 1950, almost 14 years ago, that Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hodges opened the doors of the 66 Cafe.

Since that time, under the constant supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, the 66, along with the East Highway, has grown and prospered.

Actually, while March 10 will mark the fourteenth birthday of the firm, the Hodges' association with the restaurant dates back to the many weeks before the opening date. They had made the arrangements to operate the cafe even before the building in which it was to be located, was started.

It was during this time before the opening that their many years of experience were to prove helpful, since it was under the Hodges' supervision that all of the fixtures were installed, the equipment set up, and the kitchen stocked. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges had been operating restaurants for many years, and had been owners of their own since 1937. The largest expansion came almost four years ago when the new dining room was opened.

The fact that the 66 is sought out by traveling people from all over the western states, and from as far north as Chicago, gives proof that the Hodges have succeeded in their goal of making the 66 a mighty good place to eat.

The restaurant's location on the East Highway alongside the Super 66 Service, makes it convenient for travelers on the busy East Highway, and the large free parking area makes the 66 convenient for Snyderites as well.

Open 24 hours a day, the 66 features Mexican food, seafood, sandwiches, cold plates or steaks at any hour. Fast service is another feature of the 66 Cafe, which is appreciated by each and every patron.

Jack & Jack Real Estate Specialists

One of Snyder's busiest realty men got into the business as something of a sideline to augment his current home - building projects back in 1950 and found it so hustling that it crowded other phases of his activities entirely out.

The man fitting this unusual description is L. A. McClanahan who is known variously under his own name and under the name of Jack & Jack Realty Co.

The Jack & Jack business dates back a year further, being founded by a son-in-law, Jack Smith with Jack LaRue, who operated the firm a year before selling out to McClanahan.

Originally established on the East Highway, the firm moved from there to a downtown location, but several years ago purchased a building and moved back to the East Highway. That address is 611 East Highway.

The firm deals in all types of properties, including rentals, residential, commercial, and farm and ranch property. They also manage income properties and serve as leasing agents for business buildings.

Batchler Nursery Says 'Plant Now'

A large part of the beauty of Snyder can be directly attributed to a Snyder business firm, located on the busy East Highway.

Batchler Nursery, located at 1306 Twenty - fifth Street, is the only nursery in Scurry County, and features a complete nursery stock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Batchler, owners and operators of Batchler Nursery, said today that this is the time of year to plant fruit trees, pecan trees and roses. By getting busy now, and deciding what is needed, and where it should go, the homeowner can take another step in beautification of his property, which reflects in the beauty of the city as well.

Often it's late spring when a person finally decides what he wants. Then it might be too late for the type of plant to be successfully planted for this season.

Batchler Nursery is ready now to do the job. They have the stock and the experience. All they need to know is what the customer wants and where he wants it.

From a single fruit tree to a complete landscaping job, Batchler Nursery is headquarters in Snyder for those who want beauty.

In addition to the complete nursery stock, the firm also handles plant foods, fertilizers, and other necessary garden accessories. They are glad to give advice as to the proper use of these items as well as making suggestions in any area where the customer may have questions.

Downtown 66 Handy To Everyone

Jonell Smalwood has owned and operated the Downtown 66 Service since Jan. 1962. He purchased the station from Steve Birdwell.

The station, one block east of the Snyder square on Twenty-fifth Street, is conveniently located to the downtown area.

The location permits shoppers or those employed around the square to leave the car for service, and pick it up at their convenience. Free pick-up and delivery, of course, is offered anywhere in town.

Several services not offered by the ordinary service station are to be found at Smallwood's Downtown 66. Motor washing, undercoating, brake repair and adjustment are all featured along with quality washing and lubrication.

Trailers too, may be rented from the Downtown 66. They are local agents for the nationwide system of trailer rentals. A trailer may be rented here, and returned in almost any city in the United States. Trailers may also be rented for local use at the station.

The Downtown 66 is well known for the fine service that it offers to the customer and the special care and attention given to every automobile that drives in for service.

Bomb Threat Is False

DALLAS (AP) — A bomb threat was received Friday at the court of Justice of the Peace Joe B. Brown Jr., whose father presides over the Jack Ruby murder trial.

Officers quickly searched the younger Brown's south Dallas court facilities, as well as the downtown Dallas County Records Building where the Ruby trial was in recess for lunch. No bomb was found.

Justice Brown said he suspected the call was intended for his father's court.

Mrs. Mildred Polk, a clerk in the justice court, said a man with a thick foreign accent called her office and said:

"I think I should tell you that a bomb is in the courthouse."

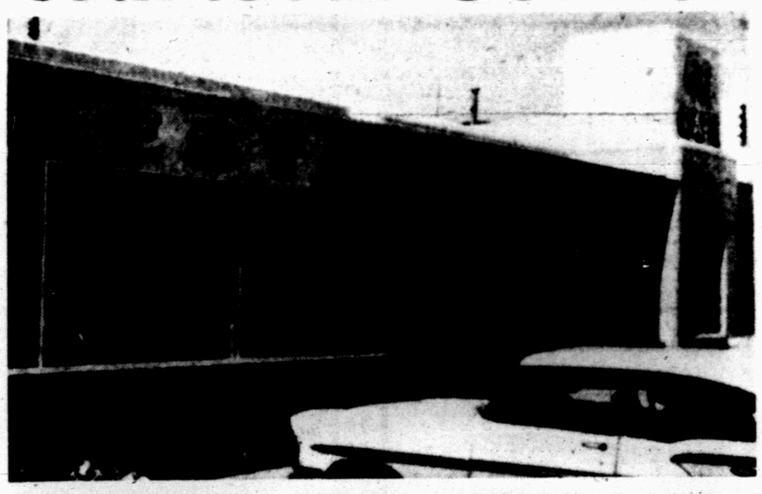

"We were all pretty well shook up by it," Mrs. Polk said.

SPECIALIZING in used auto parts of all kinds has made Bill's Auto Salvage one of the fastest growing firms on the East Highway. The business was established by Bill Baldwin in its present location at the traffic circle.

Bill's Auto Salvage Is Leading Parts Supplier

The service of having auto parts available within minutes, or at the most a few hours, has made Bill's Auto Salvage on the East Highway one of Snyder's fastest growing firms, and also one of the leading auto parts suppliers in this area.

At Bill's, parts are available from two sources. First are the hundreds of late model wrecked and burned cars which are on hand at the salvage yard here.

The second source draws parts from literally thousands of cars. Parts from these cars are available through the use of the teletype networks at Bill's Auto Salvage.

Fifty-one major cities in the five-state area of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Kansas are covered by these networks.

If a person in Snyder needs a part, and it doesn't happen to be available here, his need can be made known within seconds to each of these salvage yards. Those yards which can furnish the part answer almost immediately. Then from those who send an affirmative answer, Bill's Auto Salvage selects the one which has the best truck or bus schedule into Snyder as of that moment, and has the needed part on its way.

Each wrecking yard on the network is anxious to maintain a reputation for fast service and high availability of parts. For this reason, each cooperates fully with the others, for each knows that tomorrow it may be his turn to need help to satisfy a customer.

Bill Baldwin, owner of Bill's Auto Salvage, admits that he was skeptical of the network's worth when he first subscribed. Now, he says, he couldn't get along without the teletype service.

So sure is he of the benefit to the customer and the firm, that after seeing how well the first network worked out, Baldwin added the second network.

The quality of the parts furnished by the other members of the network, Baldwin said, are such that he is proud to pass them along to his customers. First class salvage yards deal only in parts which, although slightly used, are completely serviceable. And it has become obvious that the yards which subscribe to teletype networks are of this first class type.

Actually, Baldwin points out, every part on the customer's car is already a used part. In addition to their saving of 50 per cent or more over the cost of a new part, Baldwin reports that customers prefer a part from a salvage yard because it almost surely will have come from the same model and make as their own.

Although the firm specializes in the sale of these pars, they also handle several lines of new and rebuilt parts which would otherwise not be available locally.

One of the major items of new parts stocked by Bill's Auto Salvage are mufflers and tail pipes. Also, a selection of rebuilt generators for all types of cars is stocked by the firm.

Perhaps most important of all is the fact that if a person goes to Bill's with a problem, the friendly personnel there will make every effort to see that the person's problem is solved. And with the cars available here, and the teletype networks the chances are that it will be solved.

Electronics Firm Offers Top Service

George T. Burton, owner of Snyder Electronics, has offered a service to the Snyder area for the past nine years.

The firm has been operating in its present location at 503 East highway for some time. Prior to moving to this location the business was in another location on the East Highway for seven and one-half years.

Strictly a service business, the firm offers expert repair service on all makes of television, radios, stereos and Hi-Fis. The firm also repairs all types of small appliances.

Color TV repair and Westinghouse warranty service is available at Snyder Electronics.

The office is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week, but repair calls are made at all hours.

Burton, who had lived in Fort Worth most of his life before moving to Snyder, was trained as a resident student in the DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago, which specializes in teaching theory and practical knowledge of all types of electronics from simple work to nuclear electronics.

Burton spent a year working with the Motorola branch, one of the largest repair shops in the country, located in Chicago, a leading television service center in Fort Worth and several years in that line in the Army, in which he was a communications officer.

Queen Mother Told To Continue Rest

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth, 63, was advised by her doctors Friday not to undertake any public engagements for two months.

She was operated on for appendicitis in a London hospital on Feb. 4 and returned to Clarence House, her London home, last Sunday. A bulletin signed by the doctors said: "The queen mother continues to make normal progress after her operation."

Billy's Has Station On East H'way

For the convenience of their customers, Billy's Cleaners have opened a sub-station.

Recognizing the increasing business importance of the East Highway, Billy Wayne Thompson, owner of Billy's Cleaners, selected a site for the sub-station in the 500 block of the highway.

Clothes left at the sub station will be cleaned at the main plant of Billy's Cleaners at 2505½ Avenue U. Billy's Cleaners is in the former location of Loyd Davenport's Cleaners, which Billy bought in 1960.

No stranger to the cleaning business at that time, Billy bought the firm after he had been a partner in the Cochran-Thompson Furniture Store for a time. Prior to that time he had been one of the owners of Thompson Cleaners.

As a special introductory offer, "to help encourage folks to find our new sub station" Billy's Cleaners is offering a special for one week only. Plain skirts and pants will be cleaned and pressed for just 40 cents during this opening special.

Billy's motto is "We try to satisfy the customer." To do this the firm has three pressers so that the customer is guaranteed that the work will be out promptly. And another way in which Billy's Cleaners always satisfy the customer is with the low cash and carry prices for which the firm has become well known.

Shopping for a good automotive buy is easy at Pat Buick-Pontiac - GMC Company on Snyder's East Highway.

And not only does the customer get the benefit of lower prices from a franchised dealer, he gets the benefit of that dealer's excellent service department. The new - car warranty and the inspections are a part of each new car sale at Pat Buick - Pontiac — a franchised new car dealer.

The firm was established on the East Highway in Snyder in 1959. Pat Underwood, owner, came to Snyder from Winters where he had successfully operated a Buick and Pontiac agency for 10 years. The GMC truck line was added in 1961, and later in 1961 a new building was added to house the firm's body shop, giving real evidence of the fact that the firm is growing and expanding along with the other progressvie businesses on Snyder's East Highway.

Mass March Is Failure

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Civil rights organizers failed Friday to generate a mass march on the restaurant where Negro comedian Dick Gregory was arrested Monday.

The 2,000 students at all-Negro Arkansas AM&N College declined an invitation from the anti - segregationist Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and the Pine Bluff Movement.

Gregory and William Hansen, a SNCC field secretary, were arrested at the Truckers Inn on U.S. 79. They were charged with refusing to leave at the request of the management.

Forty other Negroes were arrested on the same charge in demonstrations at the cafe Wednesday night.

Gregory paid his $500 bond and got out of jail Friday.

Galloway was no stranger to the business because he had served as bookkeeper for the Eilands since 1954.

Falls devotes his full time to his duties as principal of the Stanfield elementary school here, but is active with the car dealership during summer months.

Meanwhile, Galloway functions as general manager of the business which employs a staff of about a dozen personnel and provides complete sales and service operations for a dual auto dealership.

Compulsive Gamblers Have 'Anonymous' Organization

By DAVID MAZZARELLA

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) —Mr. I. sat in a movie theater, engrossed in the film. The excitement grew as the scene shifted to a gambling casino. And Mr. I. squirmed, tortured.

A compulsive gambler, he couldn't bear to see gambling without getting into the action. He quickly left the movie.

In 35 years of daily gambling, Mr. I.—who is 55—lost half a million dollars, a business and his wife. The only thing he saved was sleeping pills for the day he'd hit rock-bottom and give up completely.

But now he is in Gamblers Anonymous, a group similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, which seeks to keep men from gambling a day at a time. Mr. I. hasn't gambled for more than 500 days, his wife is back with him and he has a steady job.

He's slowly paying off $75,000 he still owes from his gambling days, deriving one-third of his $15,000-a-year income as an investment advisor to his creditors. About $55,000 is owed to family members who aren't being paid yet.

"You see, I know gambling is an incurable disease," he says. "All I can do is arrest the sickness. I fight it day by day. When I get up in the morning, I tell myself I'm not going to make a bet that day."

Gamblers Anonymous, which began in Los Angeles seven years ago, tells its members they have this incurable disease.

Chapters around the country hold weekly meetings at which members stand up and talk about their gambling experiences. Some have criminal records from the days they needed money so badly they would do anything to get it.

Mr. I. says that for 35 years he thought he could abstain from gambling at any time. But he found he was wrong.

"You don't know what it's like to be a compulsive gambler." Slowly he drew a hand across his stomach, as if the illness was indeed physical and imbedded there. "The utter desolation and loss when you're down and out. And you can't stop.

"Once I won $45,000 in Vegas in one day. I went to California, looked at the money, figured I could make it into $90,000 and went back to Vegas. In no time I'd lost that $45,000 and another $15,000 I borrowed from the casino."

Why does a man gamble compulsively?

Some point to deep psychological reasons — neglect in childhood, a subconscious desire to lose.

There have been numerous studies of the problem. One was conducted by Dr. Donald J. Lewis, chairman of the Rutgers University psychology department, who took three groups — college students, children and rats —and broke each into three small divisions.

He set up controlled games of chance for each group, and provided rewards.

The college students played slot machines, the children guessed which buttons to press for a toy, and the rats had to run down a certain path to get food.

One division in each group was made to win all the time, another to win part of the time and the third to lose all the time.

At a given point, all rewards were stopped. The idea was to see which division — the constant losers, the constant winners or those who both won and lost — would quit playing first.

Dr. Lewis says he found that among all the students, children and rats, the results were constant: Those who won less played the longest after the rewards stopped coming.

He says other psychologists have tried similar experiments with other "organisms"—dogs, cats, etc.

The results are always the same, he says. The more they lose, the more they play.

McCravey's Is Popular Station

L. D. (Red) McCravey believes that the East Highway is a good business location. So good in fact, that for the past 12 years of his 17 years in the service station business, he has operated a station at 1616 Twenty-fifth Street.

Red's Humble Service offers complete car care service. Conveniently located as it is on the East Highway just a block from the Snyder square, many persons who work in that area find it handy to avail themselves of Red's service. While they're working, Red and the crew are taking care of their car.

Atlas tires and batteries, expert wash and lubrication, and all of the services offered by a first class service station are offered. But more important is the fact that the service at Red's is always courteous and friendly.

Each customer drives away glad that he stopped at Red's.

Bexar Jobless Upped

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Jobless persons in Bexar County increased last month from 10,810 to 11,950, the Texas Employment Commission said Friday. The unemployed represents 5.2 per cent of the county's labor force.

Wilson Motors Finds Space On East Highway

Faith in the future of the East Highway area was one of the reasons that Wilson Motors, Ford and Mercury dealers, moved to their location there in the latter part of 1959.

The firm needed space for expansion. The 11-acre site on the East Highway was chosen as the one offering the best location for that growth. And the wisdom of the move has been reflected in the continual growth of Wilson Motors since the move.

Wilson Motors now has plenty of room; room to display new and used cars — room to have a large, well - equipped maintenance and service department — room for a modern body and paint shop.

Bill Wilson, owner of Wilson Motors, feels that space in which to work contributes to the quality of the work done. This quality work done is one of the features that is making Wilson Motors the popular automotive service center that it is.

Actually, the majority of employes at Wilson Motors have been with the firm long enough to become "associated" with the business. They take pride in their work.

Part of their pride in their work comes from the fact that they are well trained. Employes of Wilson Motors attend clinics and training schools sponsored by the Ford Motor Company to keep Ford sales and service employes abreast of the very latest techniques.

These well - trained service personnel at Wilson Motors are there to stand behind the Ford Company's advice to "take your Ford home for service." Not only are the personnel well-trained, but they have the factory designed equipment at hand to analyze and repair any trouble.

A good selection of the 1964's Fords, including the popular "fast-back" models are to be found at Wilson Motors. In fact, a car suited to everyone, whether he wants the economy of a Falcon or the luxury and prestige of a Thunderbird is found at Wilson Motors.

The friendly sales staff at Wilson Motors will welcome the opportunity of demonstrating the Ford and Mercury automobiles and rugged Ford trucks.

Wilson Motors is easy to find —it's on the busy East Highway.

Home Town Has Best Used Cars

One of the best selections of used cars in Snyder is found on the East Highway

Pinkie Ferguson and Sam Stephens owners and operators of Home Town Motor Sales at 1100 Twenty-fifth Street, have more than 35 good used cars in stock.

The cars range from a few low - priced older work cars up to nearly - new models which can hardly be told from brand - new cars. Also, Home Town Motor Sales can arrange for the purchase of brand new cars through their "custom buying" plan.

If a person has a need for a certain type of car, either new or used, Home Town Motors can, if given just a few hours, usually locate just what the customer wants. The car can be purchased by Home Town Motors at far less than could an individual.

By the same token, Home Town Motors can sell that car to the customer at a low price too, because they have not had to have any operating capital invested in the "merchandise" for any length of time.

Financing, of course, can be arranged on any car, new or used, that is purchased from Home Town Motors.

Home Town Motors is a local firm, owned by local people. Stephens and Ferguson have worked together since 1950. In 1957 they formed the Home Town partnership, and since that time they have sold literally thousands of cars in Snyder. Many people have "traded up" several times at Home Town.

What this means is, that Home Town Motors has a good reputation, built on many years of fair dealing. Further, they intend to stay in business, and to keep that reputation for fair dealing.

A customer deals with confidence when he deals at Home Town Motor Sales.

At the present time, each purchaser of a 1959 or newer model auto at Home Town Motor Sales will find that his car comes complete with a set of 1964 license plates. This is just another way of Home Town Motors' saying "thank you" to their friends and customers

Some Americans Prefer Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"For the children's sake I might rather be somewhere else, but our place is with my husband and his work is in Saigon," Mrs. Charles Eberhardt said, pushing her cart along the supermarket aisle at the post exchange.

Mrs. Eberhardt, wife of a U.S. Embassy official, is one of the 2,500 American civilians living in this bomb-threatened capital and seems typical of the dependent wives here.

Six Americans have been killed and 87 wounded in terrorist incidents in South Viet Nam this month.

Some Americans are scared, but most continue to crack jokes and mention the weekend traffic toll back in the States.

The bombings have changed some things.

Since Monday, the American school has been ringed by U.S. guards with automatic rifles. These guards stop and search Vietnamese regarded as suspicious. This is the first time Americans have directly assumed a police function in Saigon.

Military policemen are riding shotgun on American school buses.

Some recreational facilities are curtailed, and Americans are supposed to avoid crowds.

How do the Americans feel?

Thomas Bready of San Mateo, Calif., station manager for Pan American World Airways, has lived here 4½ years with his wife and three daughters.

Barbara, 15, was cut up by the bomb explosion at the Capital Kinh-do Theater Sunday night, and required seven stitches. She and two sisters were all in the same theater Sept. 21, the last time a bomb exploded there. No one was hurt that time.

"So far, my family has survived two the car bombings, one attempted coup, one palace bombing, a cholera epidemic, and two coups in Saigon," said Bready.

"If someone offered me Copenhagen, I wouldn't turn it down. On the other hand, we'd rather live here than go back to New York. People who aren't in the foreign service can never understand this."

Of the American civilians in Saigon, only about 500 are military dependents. They make up about 200 families, mainly living in government-provided quarters. Most are stationed here for at least two years.

"A lot of us talk about wanting to go home and there are all kinds of rumors," the wife of a U.S. Army captain said. "But it could be worse. Think of Panama, for instance."

Ballard's Is Popular Stop

Ballard's Truck Stop and Cafe is one of the most popular truck stops in this area.

Two businesses are located conveniently on the East Highway at the intersection of Thirty-seventh Street at a point passed by a large majority of traffic coming through Snyder

Ballard's Cafe, owned and operated by Carl Ballard, a man with over 20 years experience in this type of business, offers a fine selection of foods at all hours. The cafe is popular with Snyder residents, tourist and truckers.

Ballard's Truck Stop Service Station is operated by Jerry Rose. Rose has been in the service station business for the past seven years.

The station offers discounts to truckers, repairs, flats of all types and had a parking space to accomodate fifty trucks. Road service is also offered by the firm.

Bell Owners Experienced

Bell Funeral Home, located at 2506 Avenue F, is owned and operated by Gaither Bell and B. J. "Bill" Seale.

Seale, who recently purchased the interest in the firm of Mrs. Seaton Barnes, has been a licensed mortician for the past fifteen years

Bell has been a licensed Funeral Director since 1936 and was associated for many years in Snyder with the Odom Funeral Home.

Village Is Well-Known For Quality

Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Sellers have owned and operated the Village Restaurant since 1955.

The restaurant, located at 1005 Twenty - fifth Street, is well known for the quality and variety of foods served to its customers.

Families are especially welcome at the village, as evidenced by the fact that children's meals are provided at reasonable cost, and baby dinners for infants under four years of age, are furnished free.

Included on the menu are dinners, choice steaks, golden fried chicken, a variety of tender meats, Mexican dinners and a large selection of other foods.

Sea foods are a specialty at the Village and those who enjoy expertly prepared fish and other sea foods have found that the restaurant is the place to go to get them at their best.

The Village is equipped to take care of a single customer, a family or large groups. In addition to the regular cafe section there are dining rooms for small groups and a large dining room for clubs which regularly hold meetings and dine in this special section.

For a good cup of coffee, a sandwich or a delicious meal of your choice you will enjoy it prepared just right at the Village.

Whosoever Will may come to Church may come to God...

CO-OPERATION

...the joint action having survival values. How awful to be a foe, —against everything good. If you would build a greater church; a finer society; a better world...cooperation is necessary. If progress is expected, teamwork is a must. Thank God for power which increases with effort. Don't break up the meeting when the majority votes against you...join hands for the common good. Pool your efforts for the glory of God. Rivalry must give way to progress, to constructive cooperation. Let us work together for good, for God,— for the night cometh when on man can work.
