Half Of World Faces Hunger, Delegates Told

Tide Of Starvation Halted Since War; Needs Still Great

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — A world in which "no man need go hungry, or ill-clad, or without a home" was the goal held up today to the Food and Agriculture organization (FAO) of the United Nations.

The goal was pictured by Norris E. Dodd, director-general of the FAO, at the opening of its annual conference. Representatives of 48 nations are here to tackle the job of how to increase food production in some countries and how to handle unmarketable surpluses in others.

Good Farm Year.

Dodd is a former undersecretary of the U. S. department of agriculture. He said in his prepared text:

"In respect of the state of food and agriculture, 1949 has been in general what farmers call a good year, even if not quite as good in total as 1948.

"Food scarcity is no longer perilous for nearly the whole world, as it was through 1947.

"For more than half the world, however, the old chronic undernourishment continues and hunger is scarcely one meal away from millions. For the world as a whole, per person food supplies are not as good as before the war."

Dodd thus summed up an FAO report issued over the week-end, which said harvests in the Northern Hemisphere have turned the tide against world starvation. The report added that production still is behind world needs.

World Bank Mentioned

The director general mentioned only briefly, in his opening talk, the proposal to set up a world bank, or clearing house, as a means of getting surpluses from one area into another area where food is scarce.

Dood said "perfection is not claimed" for recommendations as to how to meet world food needs, and added:

"But the world would long ago have starved if farmers had waited for perfect seed, tools, soil and climate. Let us, like practical men, begin with what is good enough, and improve it in practice."

Dood said there are two great needs confronting governments and their people.

Distribution Problem

"One of these great needs is to

Monty Arrives In U. S. Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein arrives in the United States today for an unofficial but highly important round of meetings with America's top-ranking military men.

On the record, the little British warrior with the famous black beret comes to this country as the guest speaker on Nov. 29 before the English-speaking union in New York.

But during his 12-day trip he will visit with General Eisenhower, his boss in World war II; General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, General Joseph L. Collins, army chief of staff, and other military and diplomatic leaders.

Monty already has announced he will "talk defense with anyone who will listen." There is no doubt the military men will be ready to listen. Montgomery is now chairman of the western union defense alliance. He has been working for months on plans for Europe's defense.

These plans for England, Belgium, France, Holland and Luxembourg will form the hard core of the basic defense plans for the North Atlantic defense for which Congress has voted $1,000,000,000.

And it is on these plans the western allies will gamble in their fight to hold Europe against any attack from Russia and her satellites.

Armed Bandits Get $15,000 In Holdup

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—Fort Worth today was hub of a statewide search for three armed bandits who yesterday invaded the home of oilman Charles Renaud, bound the family and a maid and escaped with $15,000 in loot.

Detective Inspector H. Clay Bishop said description of the robbers generally matched that of three men who held up a Lubbock department store and escaped with more than $1,000 Saturday night.

Jewelry Is Taken

Taken at the Renaud home were a $6,000 diamond bracelet and a $2,500 star ruby and diamond ring.

Held by the three men were Renaud, president of the Westexas Oil and Royalty company, his wife and daughter, a young guest and a negro maid.

The maid, Mabel Wright, discovered the men in the house at 7:55 a. m.

Cowering On Beds

One ordered her into the bedroom of the Renauds' daughter, Sara Renaud, nine. The girl and her overnight guest, Nellie Arthur, were cowering on their beds.

Two men walked into the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Renaud.

"When I saw that .38 automatic I knew it was the real thing," Renaud said.

The men ordered the Renauds downstairs to where the others were being held. The men used adhestive tape to bind the adults.

Poles Protest French Action

PARIS, Nov. 21 (AP)—France and Poland were on sorely strained diplomatic terms today after the arrest in Warsaw of a French consulate employe and the retaliatory detention in Paris of a Polish airliner and its crew.

The Frenchman, Andre Simon Robineau, was charged with espionage involvipg two other French diplomats, Aymar De Dressin De Mere and Fernand Reneaux, members of the staff of the French embassy in Warsaw.

Robineau was arrested Friday as he was boarding a Polish plane.

Two Others Accused

From Warsaw it was reported the government there had ordered his two alleged accomplices to leave Poland. They were scheduled to leave for Paris by train today.

Because they had not been officially notified of Robineau's ar-

Two Crewmen Drown During Plane Ditching

Airmen Suffer 79 Hours In Atlantic On Two Life Rafts

(By The Associated Press)

HAMILTON, Berumda, Nov. 21—Beefsteak, families, insurance and "move over and give me a little room"—

That's what survivors of the ditched B-29 said they thought about during 79 "miserable" hours on two six-man life rafts in heavy Atlantic sweels north of Bermuda.

The 18 survivors—four of them on stretchers—arrived here yesterday afternoon aboard the Canadian destroyer Haida. The ship picked them up Saturday afternoon after a U. S. air force B-17 sighted them about 400 miles northeast of Bermuda.

Two Men Drown

Two of the 20-man crew drowned before they could get through the heavy swells to the two life rafts. One of the 18 survivors was suffering considerably from shock.

But 14 of the bruised and salt-caked airmen walked unaided from the crashboats that brought them to the shore from the destroyer. They grinned at the wildly cheering hundreds who watched them transfer to ambulances that took them to the Kindley air base hospital here.

Most of the men were considered in good condition. Some had suffered sprains. Some had salt water sores. But the majority seemed fairly fit.

The plane's commander and pilot, Lt. Sol. John Grable of March field air base, Calif., said the church was to be a first stop ashore for most of the rescued airmen.

Prepared For Ditching

"Then maybe we will celebrate a bit," Grable added.

Grable said "no one turned evangelist" during the long, wet wait, "but we all thought a lot and prayed we would be picked up."

The pilot said after the plane's radio navigation equipment failed Wednesday morning, "we hunted for the island (Bermuda) under every cloud we saw, but had no

Blind Man And His Wife Are Burned To Death; Auto Accidents Take Four

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic accidents killed four of nine persons who died violently in Texas over the weekend.

A blind man and his wife were burned to death, two were shot and one man was killed when hit by a Cotton Belt freight train Sunday night near Maud.

Justice of the Peace O. W. Davis returned a verdict of accidental death in the death of Russian David Capps, 32.

Capps was thrown about 35 feet when hit by the train. Both legs were severed above the ankle and his body was crushed.

Sitting On Track

C. F. Allen, a brakeman, said he saw Capps sitting on the track when the train was about 75 feet from him.

Mrs. W. F. Cates of Lockney was fatally injured Saturday night in an automobile collision 12 miles west of Big Spring. Two persons were hurt.

Clyde Russell of Amarillo was killed 10 miles south of Hale Center when his car collided with a truck, then crashed into another car. The occupants of the second car were injured.

An automobile collision near Vernon killed Santos Puentes, about 55, of Wichita Falls, Saturday night. Mrs. Puentes and an unidentified man were critically hurt.

Hunting Mishap Fatal

Kenneth Jackson, 21, of Kenedy, was killed in a hunting accident near Floresville Sunday. A bullet from a deer rifle apparently caromed off a tree and hit young Jackson in the throat.

R. A. Thompson, 60, retired Goliad county rancher and oil man, was found dead at his ranch home Saturday, killed by a shotgun charge. Justice of the Peace

Police Question Brothers In Fatal Shooting Of Their Dad

MEDIA, Pa., Nov. 21. (AP)—Police said two brothers are being questioned today in the fatal shooting of their father—blasted last night by simultaneous charges from a shotgun and deer rifle.

Fred Jack, chief of Delaware county detectives, said Benjamin P. D'Amore, 58, owner of a nursery in nearby Marple township, was shot to death as he got out of an automobile to unlock a garage door.

Jack said D'Amore's two sons—Nicholas, 24, and John, 22, both of Philadelphia—met police at the door with the joint statement: "We shot our father."

No formal charge has been placed against the brothers pending further investigation, Jack said.

The two told him, Jack said, they shot their father because he had beaten their partially-crippled mother, Mrs. Constance D'Amore, 56.

Insurance Officials Tour South Plains

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Men who control upwards of a quarter-billion dollars of Texas capital were taking a first-hand look at the South Plains today on one of the most significant inspection trips of its kind in recent years.

They are top officers and members of the executive committee of the board of directors of Great Naional Life Insurance company of Dallas.

Headed by S. J. Hay, president of the company, the group includes Carl C. Weichsel, vice president, Robert F. Weichsel, vice president, Webster Atwell, general counsel for the company, Ray Coffman, manager of the mortgage loan department, and executive board member W. W. Overton who is also chairman of the board of Texas Bank and Trust company.

The financiers left the city at 9:30 this morning to make a day-long swing through the South Plains to look at investments Great National has made in the past 12 to 15 years—investments which, incidentally, have resulted in no "trouble" or losses whatsoever, as Mr. Hay pointed out.

They will go to Brownfield to inspect farm properties on which the company has made loans, then a Yoakum county ranch before swinging back to Morton, Levelland and Littlefield, where extensive loans have been made.

They will spend Tuesday inspecting properties in Lubbock.

Norther Drops Temperatures In Panhandle, Plains Areas

(By The Associated Press)

A norther sent temperatures skidding today in North Texas.

The mercury dropped below freezing in the Panhandle and South Plains overnight. Lowest reading was 24 in Dalhart in the upper Panhandle. The highest overnight minimum was 53 at Galveston and Brownsville.

No Rain Reported

No rain was reported and none was forecast. Skies were clear today except for an area from Waco southward to the coast where it was partly cloudy.

The weather bureau forecast more sub-freezing weather for the Panhandle tonight.

Temperatures over the state this morning were 30 at Amarillo, 35 at Midland, 42 in Fort Worth, 44 at Tyler and 53 at Austin. Galveston had 65.

A 27-degree minimum in Lubbock this morning was the second coldest temperature the area has experienced this season, observers at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport said.

A reading of 25 degrees was recorded Oct. 31.

Cooler weather today would result in maximum temperatures in the low to middle 50's late this afternoon, and a minimum of 23 to 26 degrees is expected early Tuesday morning, it was predicted.

Money To Be Given For Child's Support

Tech Co-Eds Will Be Foster Parents Of Greek Girl, 10

An organization of co-eds at Texas Techonological college "adopted" a 10-year-old Greek girl through arrangements announced today from the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children in New York.

The organization is DFD club, a social organization for women students.

The co-eds became the foster parents of Ipatia Pavlidou, Greek girl whose father was killed in January, 1941, in the Italian war with Greece.

The arrangement is financial, not legal. The club will contribute $15 a month for care of the girl, who lives in Piraeus with her mother.

Even before they had to leave their village, the little girl and her mother were finding life difficult in their wartorn country. In October of 1948, the Greek Army ordered the evacuation of the entire village in which they live. Ipatia and her mother fled to Piraeus, where they live in two small rooms emergency quarters shared with Mrs. Pavlidou's parents, two brothers and a sister.

One of Ipatia's uncles has been called into the Army, receiving no pay since the required period of Army service in Greece is served without pay.

29 Children Make Up Passenger List On Vanished Ship

(By The United Press)

OSLO, NORWAY, Nov. 21.—Hundreds of searchers tramped through rain-drenched forests around Olso today hunting for a Dutch DC-3 airliner feared wrecked with 29 Jewish children and six adults aboard.

The children, the oldest 12, were bound from Morocco to Norway to be treated for tuberculosis before going to adopted "parents" in Israel. The plane carrying them vanished in the darkness last night when it was almost within sight of Oslo's fog-shrouded Fornebu airport.

Only Few Miles Out

Pilot of the plane radioed the airport early last evening that he was a few miles out and was getting ready to come down. That was the last heard from the two-engined transport.

Another plane helping in the transfer of ill Jewish children landed safely, and today its 30 passengers were in a camp at Holmestrand where they will be treated and "rehabilitated" before going on to Israel.

Through the night search parties ploded through the forest wilderness along the fjords in the Oslo region looking for the lost plane. Handicapped by rain and fog, their search was futile.

Hopes fere raised for a time by reports of an explosion and column of smoke near Lake Gjersoen, southeast of Oslo. That lead petered out, and the search swung to the rugged hills west of the capital.

Parachute Is Found

Hundreds of soldiers, policemen, home guardsmen and Red Cross workers tramped through the forests looking for any sign of the vanished plane.

With the children were the Dutch crew of four and two nurses.

So far the only sign of the plane was a parachute found north of Oslo.

Authorities said the plane apparently dropped the flare-bearing parachute in an effort to determine its position after missing the air field here.

Search Is Shifted

The main weight of the search shifted to the west side of the Oslo fjord after searchers returned empty handed from a region southeast of Oslo where a column of smoke was reported earlier.

The search was hancipapped by

Child Dies In Brutal Attack

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 21. (AP)—The raped body of a 17-month-old girl was found in a muddy field near Huron last night, her head jammed into the mud.

Deputy Coroner L. R. Webb said the girl, Josephine Yanez, was raped and then smothered in the mud. There were teenth marks on the body.

The child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yanez, of Huron. She was kidnapped from her parents' car in front of a dance hall at Huron, 40 miles southwest of here, Early Sunday.

Parents Gone Briefly

J. Ed Martin, head of the Fresno county sheriff's office criminal identification bureau, said the killing was "the most vicious murder ever committed in Fresno county."

Constable Jeanne Peterson and Deputy Sheriff Gene Predmore said the girl was abducted while her parents were absent from the car for a few minutes.

The child's coat had been thrown over her and she was nude except for a shoe on the left foot and her bonnet, the strings of which were drawn tightly around her neck.

Girlstown's "Little Marie" Now Recovering From Polio

(Special To The Journal)

GIRLSTOWN, U. S. A., Nov. 21—Relief pervaded Girlstown this afternoon as its residents learned that "Little Marie" is recovering from polio.

"Little Marie," who was two years old Nov. 7 and is the youngest resident of Girlstown, will have no ill effects, said Miss Amelia Anthony, founder and director of Girlstown.

Miss Anthony took the little girl to Scottish Rite hospital at Dallas last Tuesday and remained there with her several days.

Muscles in the left arm and hand have been weakened, but physical therapy will restore complete use to that arm, said Miss Anthony.

The relatively light nature of Marie's illness has been attributed by doctors to the fact that she received treatment immediately upon becoming ill.

One of the policies of Girlstown is to take a girl immediately to a hospital when she registers even as much as one degree of temperature above normal. Marie was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital about three weeks ago be-

Youth Planned To Avenge Father's Death

Son Of Plane Crash Victim Is Accused Of Store Holdup

(By The Associated Press)

WALPOLE, Mass., Nov. 21. An urge to avenge the death of his father in a Canadian plane explosion was given by police today as the reason a Brown university student staged a $55.60 holdup.

Police said a youth who identified himself as Patrick J. Parker, 18, will be arraigned in district court on a charge of armed robbery in connection with a Plainville liquor store holdup.

The youth told police he was the son of the late Russell J. Parker of Rye, N. Y., former vice president of the Kennecott Copper Co., and president of the Quebec Iron and Titanium Co.

The elder Parker and 22 others were killed when a plane crashed at St. Joachim, Quebec, last Sept. 9 after a bomb exploded in the baggage compartment.

J. Albert Guay, a Quebec jeweler, is held without bail on a murder charge in Quebec. He is charged with arranging for the bomb to be placed aboard the plane so his wife, one of the victims, would

Mary Haworth's Mail

Wife Of Man, Who Has Federal Job Abroad, Worries Over His Interest In Widow

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband has accepted a government job that will take us abroad. My children are enthusiastic about the assignment, as was I until recently, but now I have misgivings about being happy there.

In the government school where students are briefed by a lecturer, my husband has met a widow who is assigned to the same post. He told me about her, remarked that she is striking looking and later brought me a newspaper clipping so that I might see her picture.

Then recently as I was tidying his desk at home, I found in his papers a draft of a letter he was writing to the man abroad whose post he is taking. The letter mentioned the widow, saying in part, "Mrs. X appears to be quite a clever little girl and I have been much impressed by her, and by many complimentary things I've heard about her—," etc.

MAN SAYS WIFE'S BEING RIDICULOUS

IF ERIC were in a position to know from experience something about the lady's work or intellect or professional training, such a tribute might be justified. But mere observation of her, as a listener in a fortnight's class, hardly documents such a statement, therefore I felt that he was impressed by her as a woman, and instinct said "Trouble ahead."

I am not the jealous type and never go to Eric's office or telephone him there unless necessary, but with this situation literally thrust upon me, I decided it should be discussed before we reached the foreign post where we would all be together socially. I felt we ought to dispose of it now, rather than harbor uncertainty in my mind.

However, when I broached it to Eric he took issue with my attitude, said it was ridiculous, that the matter needed no discussion, as it was none of my business, Mrs. X being a business acquaintance, etc. I am a professional person too, or at least I was before the babies came, so I feel such things can be discussed openly. May I have your comment on the situation? Signed G. L.

MAN'S JUDGMENT SOMEWHAT CLOUDY

DEAR G. L.: It appears that Eric is flushed with a mild infatuation for Mrs. X, who doubtless is a clever woman, skilled in captivating persons whose approval and cooperation she wishes to utilize, else she wouldn't have reached the job she's in.

Thus I can imagine it might be all in the day's work to her — a routine exercise of professional finesse—to bag Eric's interest and adroitly feed it, deliberately to make him a booster for her, when she learned they were to share a new post together.

However, it would reflect on Eric's judgment if he gauchely assumes her motives are romantic rather than shrewd; yet the flustered way in which he rebuffed your inquiries suggests that he has been secretly nursing that conceited impression. Thus I think it is he who is being ridiculous, also absurdly inconsistent.

CASE FOR DEFENSE ISN'T CONVINCING

FIRSTLY he enthuses to you about the lady, not once but twice, so that you can't help but remember the name. Nextly he leaves a fan letter about her under your nose. Enough to spark wonder in any wife of ordinary social intelligence. Then when you ask him what's the pitch, he says excitedly that it's none of your business, needs no discussion, she being remote from your life, etc.—which obviously doesn't make sense in view of the record.

Challenged about his drum beating for Mrs. X, he was sharply defensive and nastily rude because he felt afraid of your questions, resented your jarring intrusion into his day dreams and foolishly blamed you for his discomfort, and thus altogether was too upset to think clearly, speak blandly or do anything but shut you off quickly.

In short, his rejoinder to your concern about his crush seems lacking in poise, insight, foresight, reason, civility and social maturity, the very qualities a man should have in abundance, and keep in constant working order, to be a fit representative of his country in a foreign post. Granted that your grounds for anxiety may be slight, or that he could make a good case to that effect, still the sincerity of your attitude properly called for sympathetic open treatment of the subject—and he was remiss in refusing that. Anniversary Is Observed

HALE CENTER, Nov. 19 (Spl.)—A former Hale Center mayor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Smith, quietly observed their Golden Wedding anniversary at their home here on Nov. 8 without ceremony of any sort. The couple's observance was known to only a few of their intimate friends who called during the day and who sent flowers. Otherwise, it was almost like any other day for the pair.

Mr. Smith, born May 6, 1875 in Mississippi, served as mayor of Hale Center from 1938 to 1942, and then served as city secretary here for several years. He came to Texas with his parents in 1882 to Lockhart where he grew up on a farm. He came to the Plains in 1916, serving as manager of a lumber yard in Abernathy for several years. In 1927 he moved to Hale Center. Mr. Smith is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, serving with the First Texas Volunteers, Company D, which went to Cuba but was not in any action. He entered the Army in June of 1898 and was discharged in July of 1899.

Five months after his discharge he wed Miss Kate Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beard, on Nov. 8, 1899, in Rome, Texas. She came to Texas in 1889 with her parents from Kentucky, where she was born Sept. 20, 1872. Her family settled in Wise county where she taught school in several places.

The pair has two children living, a son, Glenn, with the Lubbock city fire department, and a daughter, Catherine, who teaches in the Lordsburg, N. M., schools. One child died in infancy. The couple has one grandchild.

Cloche Of Twenties Again In Headlines

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—From the neck up, at least, the return of the flapper is complete.

Most popular hat of the season, predicted for even greater acceptance next spring, is the head-hugging cloche reminiscent of the jazz age.

A recent showing of resort and advance spring hats staged by the Millinery Fashion Bureau played up the Torried Twenties trend with performers in "raccoon" coats made of shag rugs, college banners and all the rest of the impedimenta of the flapper era. All this as background for the close-fitting cloche hats that occupied the spotlight.

The flapper hats, of course, are designed to fit over the boyish bobs that are required equipment for modern debs, just as they were for their mothers back in the days of bathtub gin.

With shorter skirts predicted for next spring, with the bunny-hug coats and short evening dresses of the current mode, the flapper cycle is alwost complete.

The only missing notes are the flat-chested silhouette and the hip belt. And these, we devoutly hope, will remain among the unrevived ghosts of the past.

FITNESS FOR COMMAND IN DOUBT

Navy Critic Of U. S. Defense Policy Gets Sympathetic Ear

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Navy Captain John G. Crommelin, who would still like to present his arguments about Pentagon policy in formal court martial proceedings, found sympathy today on capitol hill.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), member of the armed services committee, told reporters that "Captain Crommelin is entitled either to be cleared or found guilty of the charges against him."

What the senator was referring to was announcement that the navy now considered Crommelin's case "closed." This indicated there would be no court martial to supersede the formal reprimand administered the version of naval aviation. The reprimand questioned his fitness for command. Crommelin had expressed hope he would be given a court martial—but under navy regulations he could not demand such action.

Denfeld Ousting Questioned

Bridges, in the capital for a brief visit from his New Hampshire home, told newsmen that "people all over the country are talking about this situation" and that advocates of the navy are "entitled to speak out."

The senator also wondered out loud about the reasons for the firing of Admiral Louis Denfeld, who with other admirals testified before the House armed services committee about the row of the navy with the air force and defense department. Secretary of the Navy Matthews ousted Denfeld from the post of chief of naval operations. Matthews' letter to the president, asking approval of that, said Denfeld no longer was qualified for the job. He noted that he earlier had approved reappointment of the admiral to the job.

Bridges said he was convinced Denfeld was fired because of his testimony.

Case May Be Reopened

"How could he change in two or three months from being a damned competent man to run the navy to one who was not qualified," Bridges asked.

Then, going on from that point, Bridges said:

"How Am I and other members of Congress going to judge appropriations, for example, if a man can't come up here and tell us his honest convictions? There is no sence in holding hearings if all a witness is going to say is what he has been told to say.

"Congress, in order to legislate, has got to have true testimony from these officers. They are our experts."

Reporters asked Bridges whether he thought the whole bitter row might be opened up again next January when Congress convenes and the Senate is required to confirm or deny the interim appointment of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman as Denfield's successor.

Bridges answered that he didn't see how the Senate could consider the nomination without getting into that question.

Crommelin told reporters, after the navy announced his case was closed, that it was his "fervent hope" that Congress would make further investigation of the defense department.

Shift Of Occupations Is Favored

Complete Retirement Is Not Goal Of Most American Men

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—Most men dream of retiring at 60 or so to a life of carpet slippers, pipes and rocking chair and whistling for a small boy to bring another cool one while they watch the world roll by.

But pin the old guys down, and you get another story.

An insurance company in Minnesota recently pinned down 3,000 policy holders and got some startling answers.

Question posed to the prospective retirers was:

"If you knew right now that you could be financially able to retire when you reach the age of 55 or 60, how would you expect to spend your retirement years?"

Want More Ease

There apparently was much thought behind the answers. About one-third of those who answered the survey said they would keep right on doing what they had been doing all along. Just as long as they were able. They'd start living off their retirement income only when their limbs and breath gave out and they no longer could keep up the pace.

Another 33 per cent of the policyholders admitted they planned to use their retirement funds to ease off a little on the more strenuous way of life. This group looks forward to a more leisurely way of life—a chance to take more time for hobbies, religious and community work, study and self-improvement "and maybe to read the books I've been putting off reading all these years."

Complete Shift Favored

A lot of the folks in this group would make a complete shift from their present occupations and take on something a little easier. Like a hobby that would bring in a little tobacco money. Perhaps a little light truck-farming, hog or chicken-raising or "fancy" livestock. Things they have thought about but never had time to get around to. Running a tourist camp cropped up frequently in the answers.

The rest of those who answered the queries said they thought it would be fun just to heave a sigh and give in to a life of Riley.

Fish and hunt and turn most of the chores like gardening and woodcutting over to the roommate—or mama.

Most of these mentioned diversions like woodwork, photography, golf and rocking-chairing as ways to relax to keep from going completely stale.

Seek Public Service

Just about half of those who answered the survey, though, mentioned they would like to engage in some kind of public or community service. Like help in running the Boy Scouts, the YMCA or a boys club.

The urge to do something for others, in fact, was prominent in many of the replies. One banker said he would like to keep his hand in by doing "any civic work that promotes the golden rule." (One woman said she would be pleased to "help cripples and shutins.")

Members of the clergy were the least desirious of retiring. Most of them said they would not retire so long as they were physically able to stand up and preach the gospel. Only one clergyman out of five wanted to find complete leisure.

Oddly, older workers seemed more determined to keep their chins to the grindstones than younger ones. Only 28 per cent of those now under 40 want to continue work. Those over 40 have a different idea, apparently.

Maybe Walter Pitkin had something about life beginning at 40.

The United Kingdom expects to reach its goal of $140,000,000 in aircraft exports this wear, with jet fighters being widely ordered by other European countries.

Three Negroes Are Wounded

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 21. (U.P.)—A streetcar conductor shot three negro passengers last night after one of them took a seat in the section reserved for whites, police reported.

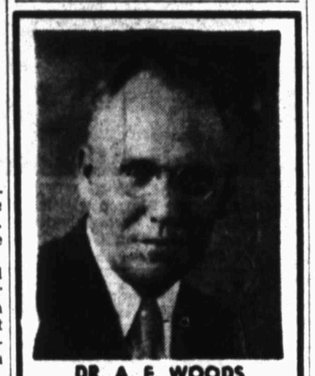

Detective R. A. MacMurdo said two of the men were wounded accidentally. The third, Sammy Lee Wallimas, 34, suffered a serious wound of the abdomen.

Conductor M. A. Weeks protested when Williams sat down in the white section, the detective said. An altercation and the shooting followed.

Amos Crosby, 24, was wounded in the leg and John Garlington, 3rd, 21, suffered a hip wound.

Weeks was not arrested last night. Detective MacMurdo said he is still investigating the incident. Streetcar conductors are allowed to carry weapons for their protection.

CHIANG STILL DOMINANT POWER

Chinese Nationalist Leaders Near Climax Of Bitter Feud

HONG KONG, Nov. 21. (AP)—The feud between Nationalist China's top leaders—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and acting President Li Tsung-Jen — may have reached a showdown today.

Li was in a hospital in this British colony. He complained of a serious stomach ailment. He flew in yesterday without returning to Chungking where Chiang has awaited him for days.

The generalissimo had gone to the Nationalist refugee capital, now seriously threatened by the Chinese Communists, at Li's request. He found Li gone on inspection tour of the Nationalists' dwindling southwestern China domain.

They have had many differences since Li took over the presidency last January when Chiang "retired." Out of these has developed a deepening cleavage over basic conduct of the civil war against the Reds.

Chiang, still the dominant power in the ailing Nationalist machinery, has prevailed with a policy of withdrawing before the advancing Reds, of trading space for time. He has been represented often as believing a third world war would come in time for the United States to restore his regime to dominance.

Li, on the other hand, has favored risking all on a decisive military stand against the Reds.

Li turned his job over to Premier Yen Hsi-Shan before he entered Taiwoo nursing home here. But he said he was not shirking his duty on the pretext of illness and hoped to get back soon "to devote myself to the anti-Communist war."

General Visits Chiang

The Hong Kong press had other ideas. The China Mail quoted sources close to Li as saying he might go to the United States soon. The independent Chinese newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po predicted the breach between Li and Chiang had gone too far even to be mended. The paper added Chiang would openly take over the Nationalist government again.

Much seemed to hinge on Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi's visit to see Chiang at Chungking. He is Li's close friend and commander of the best force left to the Nationalists on the mainland.

Ostensibly, Pai went to inform Chiang that Li had entered the hospital.

Informed sources said, however, the real significance was Pai's military position. He was said to be willing to serve under Chiang only if he could command all Nationalist forces.

Still Refuse To Tell Their Destination

Veep And Mrs. Barkley Visit South During Honeymoon Trip

By MARGARET WALZEM
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATLANTA, Nov. 21.—Take it from the vice president of the United States—the state of the nation is good.

"You wouldn't expect me under the circumstances to be pessimistic, would you?" honeymooning Alben Barkley queried.

The Veep and Mrs. Barkley drove into Atlanta last night on their way to "Shangri-La."

He wouldn't say where that is but remarked, "We're getting closer all the time."

Barkley pronounced his bride "such a good driver that I glide along without nerves" and added, "things have been so peaceful that I'm getting suspicious. We don't even argue about what route to take."

Continuous Visit

Mrs. Barkley murmured, "You sound like you're on a honeymoon."

They drove down from Nashville yesterday, stopping near Chattanooga to eat a box lunch.

So many people recognized them and shouted congratulations that the vice president commented:

"You might say we had a continuous lovely visit all the way."

They tried to slip quietly into Atlanta's downtown Hotel Ansley last night but were met by so many reporters and photographers they agreed to receive the press.

At one point Mrs. Barkeley proved as quick with a quip as the Veep.

Refusing to be photographed eating an apple from a girt tray of fruit, Barkley said, "I don't want to pose with my mouth open."

The bride looked at the talkative vice president and remarked with a smile, "You mean with your mouth open while you're eating."

Barkley said they hoped "to spend most of the time until Congress reconvenes (Jan. 3) in the south."

However, he plans to take time out for four speeches—Dec. 2 at a Jefferson-Jackson day banquet in New York; Dec. 7 in Boca Raton, Fla., Dec. 10 at the gridiron dinner in Washington, and Dec. 17 in Miami at a Jackson-Jefferson day dinner.

The Barkleys were married in St. Louis Friday.

Chemical Engineer Happiest Married Man

Movie-Style Love Is Wrecking U. S. Homes, Specialist Claims

BY CLAIRE COX
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—Hollywood is breaking up many marriages by making wives dissatisfied and giving husbands inferiority complexes, one psychologist contends.

Alfred E. Johns, who specializes in patching up broken homes, said the movies are making his job twice as hard as they would if they presented domestic life realistically.

"Husbands just don't make love the way the screen heroes do, Johns said. "The movies make married life seem glamorous, and real-life wives are disappointed in what they find.

"Everybody's either rich in movies or gets rich. Wives start nagging their husbands if they don't get rich, too, as in the movies.

Johns is director of the Modern Coue Institute, dedicated to following the theories of Emile Coue, the Frenchman who created quite a dither in the United States in the roaring '20s with his optimistic slogan, "Day by day, in every way, I am getting better and better."

But things are getting worse, instead of better, on the matrimonial front, Johns said. He's fond a direct relationship between the number of divorces and the number of movies persons go to see.

The happiest married men, according to a survey, he said, are chemical engineers. They are homebodies who prefer unimaginative books to fabulous movies. Second on the list are ministers. Next, in order, come college professors, teachers and engineers.

Doctors are 11th on the list, bankers 12th and newspaper men 13th. At the bottom of the list are traveling salesmen and laborers. Johns sail they see lots of movies and so do their wives.

"Movies and novels never give a realistic approach to marriage," he added. "They make life glamorous and glamour may be good for the eye, but it's very bad for the mind."

Counterfeiter Kept Busy Passing Bogus

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21 (U.P.) — During a recent bogus bill scare, a counterfeit "pusher" gave the U. S. Secret Service here a collective red face.

The man entered a restaurant, ordered lunch, and gave a bad $10 bill in payment. The waitress went to a next door tavern to break the bill, returning with the change.

His lunch finished, the man sauntered into the tavern, ordered "drinks for the house," and paid for them with a bogus $20 bill. As part of his change, he was handed back his fake $10 bill.

The counterfeiter made a quick recovery. He ordered more drinks and paid for them with the false $10. And he left, undetected.

Seven Producers Completed In Scurry County Regions

Completion has been reported for seven new producers from the Canyon reef lime in Scurry county. Five of the projects were completed in the North Snyder field and two in the Diamond-M field.

Standard Oil company of Texas No. 8-2 Brown flowed 12 hours through a 24/64th inch tubing choke, natural, to rate a calculated 24-hour potential of 864 barrels of 42-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 930-1. No formation water was reported.

Flowing casing pressure was 550 pounds and the flowing tubing pressure was 740 pounds.

The flow was from pay between the 7-inch oil string cemented at 6,620 feet and the total depth at 6,952 feet.

Location is 680 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 449, block 97, H&TC survey.

The same company completed its No. 6 Jap Beck in the North Snyder field for a 24-hour potential of 936 barrels of 43-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 890-1. There was no formation water.

Completion was from open hole between the 7-inch oil string set at 6,558 feet and the total depth at 6,887 feet in the Canyon reef. Flowing casing pressure was 350 pounds, with the tubing pressure 680 pounds.

This new source of oil is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 393, block 97, H&TC survey.

WELL COMPLETED IN NORTH SNYDER FIELD

In the North Snyder field, the Pure Oil company completed its No. 7 Whatley for a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,208 barrels of 44.2-gravity oil. No water was reported. Gas-oil ratio is 745-1.

The flow was through a three-quarter inch tubing choke from open hole between the 5 1/2 inch oil string cemented at 6,600 feet and the total depth at 6,950 feet.

This source of oil is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 394, block 97, H&TC survey.

Standard Oil company of Texas No. 11-4 Brown flowed through a one-half inch tubing choke to rate a calculated daily potential of 702 barrels of oil, from open hole in the Canyon reef lime between the 7-inch oil string set at 6,553 feet and the total depth at 6,886 feet. Gravity of the oil was 43.5 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was 960-1.

This new producer is 467 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 450, block 97, H-&TC survey.

Standard also completed its No. 6-8 Brown in the North Snyder field.

Flowing natural through a 24/64th inch choke, the well made an initial daily production of 226.9 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 980-1. No formation water was reported.

It was completed from open hole between the 7-inch oil string set at 6,989 feet and the total depth of the project at 7,004 feet.

Location is 660 feet from west and 680 feet from south lines of section 439, block 97, H&TC survey.

PRODUCER COMPLETED IN DIAMOND M FIELD

A new Diamond-M producer is at Lion Oil company No. 22 McLaughlin.

This project, located 665 feet from north and 1,984.30 feet from east lines of section 196, block 97, H&EC survey, completed for an initial daily production of 456.06 barrels of oil from the Canyon reef. Gravity of the petroleum was 44.2 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was 917-1.

The flow was through a 16/64th inch tubing choke from pay between the top of the pay at 6,664 feet and the total depth at 6,821.5 feet.

There was no formation water.

Flowing natural from perforations in the 5½ inch casing at 6,598-776 feet, Lion Oil company No. 19 McLaughlin in the Diamond-M field, made a 24-hour production of 461.47 barrels of oil and no water.

Gravity of the oil was 44-degrees, with a gas-oil ratio of 768-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 570 pounds and the flowing casing pressure was 240 pounds.

The venture was drilled to a total depth of 6,778.5 feet where the 5½ inch oil string was cemented. Top of the pay was 6,598 feet.

The development is 664.98 feet from north and 1,831.10 feet from east lines of section 197, block 97, H&TC survey.

PERMIT SOUGHT FOR SCURRY EXPLORATION

Claud B. Hamill of Houston has filed an application with the Railroad commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill his No. 4 Lois Sears Sentell as a 7,000-foot exploration to test the Canyon reef lime on the southeast side of the North Snyder field of North Central Scurry county.

Slated to begin drilling at once, No. 4 Sentell will be 1,545 feet from north and 1,930.8 feet from west lines of the lease in section 26, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. The drillsite is six miles north of Snyder.

NEW PRODUCTION IN SCURRY COUNTY REPORTED

Commercial petroleum production from the Canyon reef lime has been developed in the northwest side of the Snyder townsite in Central Scurry county, two miles east of the nearest completed oil wells on this north side of the Kelley field.

The new production has been developed at Standard-Fryer Drilling company No. 1 J. B. York, located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 180, block 3, H&GN survey.

This exploration took a one hour and 45 minute drillstem test in the top of the reef at 6,724-45 feet. Gas showed at the surface in six minutes and oil started flowing out in 84 minutes.

When 23 stands of drill pipe had been pulled after the tester was closed it started unloading fluid. Operator figured that total recovery was 4,300 feet of clean oil and 360 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. No formation water was developed.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 600 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 30 minutes was 2,750 pounds. Hydrostatic pressure was 3,400 pounds.

A string of 5½ inch casing is to be cemented at the top of the pay, and the well will be completed as it is.

Top of the Canyon reef, and the approximate top of the pay was at 6,730 feet. Elevation is 2,346 feet, to give the new well a datum of minus 4,384 feet.

It is understood that Standard-Fryer is to skid the rotary rig used to drill No. 1 York to the location for its No. 1 James A. Clark, in the southwest quarter of section 179, block 3, H&GN survey, which will be one quarter of a mile north of the extender. Drilling operations are slated to start at No. 1 Clark immediately.

Hiawatha Oil & Gas company is scheduled to start activity at once on an east flanker to the Standard-Fryer No. 1 York. That venture will be Hiawatha No. 1 York and it will be located one-quarter of a mile east of the new townsite producer.

ACID TREATMENT SLATED ON GAINES WELL

Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland, No. 1-E-A Andrews, indicated Ellenburger discovery in Central-South Gaines county, was preparing to wash perforations in that zone from 11,900-960 feet with mud acid to clean that interval. Operator will then likely treat with regular acid.

In 12-hours of swabbing on section from 11,900-960 feet, operator recovered 18 barrels of new oil.

The possible deep discovery is on the northwest side of the Robertson field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey. It is 15 miles southwest of Seminole.

This prospect has also shown for possible production from a thin section in the Devonian fron. 10,062-090 feet.

Reagan J. Caraway No. 1 Loe, Northwest Dawson county wildcat, seven miles northwest of Lamesa, and 660 feet from the north and west lines of labor 12, league 3, Taylor county School Land survey, was making hole below 7,520 feet in the lower Permian, after taking a drillstem test at 7,400-7,520 feet.

The tool was open two hours. There was a slight blow of air for a part of the period. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

The prospector is contracted to 10,500 feet to explore into the Pennsylvanian lime.

MIDLAND WELL MAY COMPLETE AS PRODUCER

Some possibilities of the discovery of oil in Central Midland county has been indicated at York and Harper, Inc., No. 1-A TXL, 12½ miles south of the city of Midland.

This venture had a recovery of 850 feet of free oil during a two and one-half hour drillstem test in the Fusselman zone of the Silurian at 12,573-685 feet.

No gas or fluid came to the surface while the tool was open. When 1,440 feet of drill pipe had been pulled free gas was encountered. When 5,642 feet of drill pipe had been pulled and rack drilling mud was encountered. Some of the fluid, which was cut with oil and gas was unloaded from the pipe while it was being pulled.

Total recovery was the 850 feet of clean oil and 3,240 feet of oil and gas cut water blanket and drilling mud.

Interested operators say that the showing of possible production is encouraging—but they point out that it does not mean that the wildcat is a proven producer. That will only be determined by further testing.

The project was circulating Saturday, while waiting on orders as to whether it would make a swabbing test, or would drill deeper.

It is contracted to about 13,800 feet to explore the Ellenburger—unless it gets commercial production at a higher level.

Location is 690 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 25, block 39, TP survey, T-3-S.

"Service is fine on this party line!"

Once upon a time (and it wasn't so long ago) there were some neighbors on a telephone party line. Everything was all right, except when anyone wanted to use the line it seemed someone else was always using it.

PLEASE, MY LITTLE GIRL'S SICK

One day Mrs. White, one of the neighbors on the line, had to call a doctor in a hurry. Someone was using the line. Mrs. White hesitated, then broke right in . . .

"Please," she said, "my little girl's sick. May I have the line to call a doctor?"

"Oh, yes," said the others, and hung right up.

A short time later, Mrs. White called the person she had interrupted. "I'm sorry I had to interrupt," she said, "but it was an emergency."

"That's perfectly all right," said the neighbor, "and I have an idea about this party-line business. Most of our calls aren't too important. Why don't we all agree when any one of us has an important call that we will ask for the line?"

"That's a wonderful idea," said Mrs. White.

So they all agreed, and service on that party line has been fine ever since.

Teams Get Bowl Bids Today

Ohio State Is Top Candidate

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—California and Ohio State are expected to be tapped formally today for the Rose Bowl—but sponsors of the other big post-season football shows still are shopping around.

Pickings are mighty slim for the Sugar, Cotton and Orange extravaganzas, which, like the Pasadena game, will be shoved up to Jan. 2 to avoid conflict with the sabbath.

From long range, the major bowls appear to stack up approximately this way (records in parenthesis):

Rose bowl—California (10-0) vs. Ohio State (6-1-2).

Sugar bowl—Oklahoma (9-0) vs. Tulane (7-1-1).

Cotton bowl—Rice (8-1) or Baylor (8-1) vs. Villanova (8-1).

Orange bowl—The Rice-Baylor leftover vs. Maryland (6-1) or Tennessee (6-2-1).

Virginia In Picture

Others in the picture are Virginia (8-1), Santa Clara (8-2-1) and Kentucky (8-2). Some of these teams must dispose of formidable rivals this week to keep their hopes throbbing.

Officials of both the Pacific coast and Western conferences said they would announce the Rose bowl representatives today.

Lynn Waldorf's California Bears, who closed out their second straight perfect season with a 33-14 victory over Stanford, Saturday, are a cinch for the host role, but the identity of their opponent is a bit less certain.

Ohio State finished in a tie for the Big Ten championship by playing defending titlist Michigan, a bowl ineligible, to a 7-7 tie Saturday.

Conference faculty members, who pick the representative by vote, are not bound to choose the leader and could, on a whim, give the nod to twice-beaten Minnesota.

Gophers Beat Wisconsin

The Gophers, who closed their year with a 14-6 triumph over Wisconsin, trounced Ohio State earlier, 27-0.

The Sugar bowl committee is scheduled to meet tonight in New Orleans and a member promised, "we may have something definite."

F. V. Schaub, president of the Mid-Winter Sports association, said he favored the return of Oklahoma's Sooners, who whipped North Carolina last year, 14-6.

Tulane, loser only to Notre Dame but tied by Navy, is figured a favorable opponent if the Green Wave can get past tough Louisiana State in the traditional game Saturday. Oklahoma still must hurdle Oklahoma A. and M.

Baylor and Rice clash Saturday at Houston in the tell-tale game of the Southwest. Baylor can clinch a tie with Rice for the league title by scoring a victory. Otherwise, the Owls, who have lost only an outside engagement with Louisiana State, take the league title and Cotton bowl bid unchallenged.

Villanova, which walloped Texas A. and M., 35-0, in its opening game, is a Cotton bowl prospect. Texas people like to avenge such humiliations.

To Name Choices

Dan Rogers, chairman of Dallas' Cotton Bowl Athletic association, said he hoped to get both Rice and Baylor to name their choices for a foe in the next couple of days.

Whichever of these Southwest toughies fails to make the Cotton bowl may rate an invitation from Miami. Rice defeated Texas Christian Saturday, 20-14, while Baylor stunned Southern Methodist, 35-26.

Maryland rates well up in a slim field of bowl potentials. Having lost only to Michigan State, 14-7, Tennessee, although twice beaten and once tied, has a good bowl name plus victories this year over North Carolina and Kentucky. The Vols upset Kentucky the past week-end, 6-0.

Santa Clara has lost only to two of the season's giants—California in the first game of the season and Oklahoma Saturday by 28-21.

Virginia, stricken from perfect ranks by Tulane 28-14 is still bowl material, as is Kentucky, if it can get by Miami (Fla.) Friday night.

Van C. Kussrow, Orange bowl schedule chairman, said he would recommend Tulane at a meeting today. He added that Oklahoma and Santa Clara also are under consideration.

WALKER GOES OVER—Doak Walker, all-America back for Southern Methodist, scores for the Mustangs in their game with Baylor in Dallas. Walker, (37), scored from the four for SMU's first tally of the game. Shoved out of play is Glan Taylor, (51), Baylor center, as Walker is tackled by an unidentified Baylorite. (AP Wirephoto.)

GOPHER CENTER IN SPOTLIGHT

Tonnemaker Said Top Pro Prospect

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Clayton Tonnemaker is a well-sized fellow who thrives on throwing monkey wrenches into opposing football machines. The Minnesota center could be the first pivot man from the Big Ten to make All-America since 1933.

It is not uncommon for Tonnemaker to take a bead on an opposing back running wide and match him stride for stride until he meets him at or behind the line of scrimmage. It is quite a sight to see Tommy and his 246 pounds give chase after someone 50 pounds less in avoirdupois.

Following Minnesota's 21-7 conquest of Northwestern, Coach Bob Voights of the Wildcats lamented: "It's that Tonnemaker who wrecked us. We just couldn't get him out of there, and every time we dented Minnesota's line he was there waiting for the ball carrier."

Against Ohio State, Tonny was particularly brilliant in the 27-0 triumph. He frequently nailed Buckeye backs before they hit the line of scrimmage.

"We can't do a thing," said some of the Ohio State players to their coach, Wes Fesler. "We hit that big Tonnemaker and bounce right off him. We can't even knock him off balance."

Honored By Poll

Tonnemaker, an Associated Press "lineman of the week" this fall is co-captain of the Gophers and is working on his fourth football M. He is 21, stands six-three and comes from Minneapolis. He is a senior in physical education, which usually means a coaching career after graduation.

Last summer Tonnemaker worked in the keg department of a brewing company, tossing kegs around to get his arms and shoulders in the best possible physical shape.

George Svendsen, assistant Minnesota coach who played pro ball with Green Bay's Packers, rates Tonny the best college center and the best pro prospect he has ever seen.

Lamar Seeking Spot In Little Rose Bowl

(By The Associated Press)

This week when the last undefeated, untied college football team in Texas makes its bid for the little Rose bowl in California.

Lamar of Beaumont faces stern competition, however, in the showdown game of the Southwestern Junior college conference. Tyler's Apaches, who have lost only one game, battle Lamar at Tyler Friday night.

Lamar can win the title undisputed and a clear road to the little Rose bowl. A Tyler victory would throw the championship into a tie.

But regardless of whether either of the teams goes to California, one of them is certain to be in the Texas Rose bowl at Tyler, Dec. 10.

Lamar kept its record intact last week by swirling over McNeese college of Louisiana 33-14. Tyler was on the west coast beating compton junior college 28-14.

In the only conference game of the week, Tarleton State made Arlington State's record dismal with a 26-0 victory. Arlington State wound up without a single victory or tie for the campaign.

Schreiner and San Angelo play Thursday at San Angelo in a conference game having no bearing on the finish. Friday Paris entertains Duluth, Minn.

Playoff Game Set Thursday

The district Class A game between the Spur Bulldogs and Littlefield Wildcats will be played at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at Littlefield. The date was agreed upon at a meeting of school officials Sunday in Lubbock's Hilton hotel, and the site then decided by toss of a coin.

Agreements Are Reached

Other agreements reached at Sunday's session were:

(1) Admission prices will be $1.50 for reserved seats, $1.20 for general admission, and 60 cents for students.

(2) Officials for the game will be Paul Featheringill, referee; Marlin Hayhurst, umpire; L. L. Judd, head linesman; and Floyd Read, field judge.

(3) Play-by-play broadcasts of the contest will be aired by radio stations KSEL, Lubbock, and KVOW, Littlefield.

Winner In Regional

Joe Hutchinson and Foster Cook, school superintendents at Littlefield and Spur, respectively, presided at Sunday's meeting. The game officials were selected by Littlefield Coach J. S. Fikes and Spur Coach Sam Hawkes.

Thursday's winner will move into the regional Class A round against the victor of Saturday's Lefors-Phillips game at Phillips.

Littlefield swamped Slaton, 47-0, Friday in the District 4-A playoff to gain the bi-district round. Over the full season, the burly Wildcats have nine triumphs and one loss, by 14-0 to Dalhart in the season opener. Littlefield also was held to a 7-7 scoring tie by Sudan, but won that game on penetrations.

Littlefield Heavier

Spur's team, slightly lighter than the Littlefield aggregation, has come along fast after a slow start. After dropping their first two games, 19-6 to Haskell and 26-0 to Hamlin, the Bulldogs buckled down to win seven of eight conference games. Spur lost only to Paducah, 19-12, in District 3-A play.

In 10 games this year, Littlefield has amassed 361 points to the opponents' 47. Spur has tallied 203 points while giving up 126 in the same number of tilts.

Car Decorating In City "Out Of Hand"

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Some automobiles in St. Louis have gone strictly wacky.

A fad of placing from one to five bobbing plastic birds on automobile windows and windshields has caught on. The birds are held to the glass by a rubber suction cup.

Many cars in the city now look like a rolling five-and-ten-cent store display. The thing is getting out of hand. Baby boots, squirrel tails, furry toy-monkeys and a dozen other knick-knacks are taking up any available space in the cars.

Visibility for the driver has been cut by half in some cases.

An average New York skyscraper will teem with thousands of workers in the day time and be almost as silent as a tomb at night.

Trinity, Hardin To Close Loop Schedule

(By The Associated Press)

For all purposes, the Gulf coast conference football race will be wound up Thursday.

Trinity and Hardin play the final conference came of the season. Hardin, unbeaten in title play, can be tied for the crown by losing to Trinity. The latter wouldn't figure in it but a Trinity victory would push Hardin down to a deadlock for the top with North Texas State, which finished the campaign with one loss.

The other members of the conference—North Texas State and University of Houston — will be playing important intersectional games Thursday. Houston goes to St. Louis to meet St. Louis U. North Texas journeys to Reno, Nev., to clash with Nevada U.

The last game of the season will be played next week when Trinity takes on Hardin-Simmons at San Antonio.

Last week found University of Houston keeping Trinity winless in the conference race by beating the Tigers 28-21. North Texas State went outside the conference to plaster East Texas State of the Lone Star conference 59-6.

Owls, Bears To Meet

Bid To Cotton Bowl At Stake

By WILBURN MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

"Grudge" games take a back seat in the Southwest conference this week as Baylor and Rice battle for the Southwest conference championship and the host spot in the Cotton bowl.

Texas and Texas A. and M. square off at College Station Thursday in their traditional Thanksgiving day game.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian meet Saturday in their annual tilt and Arkansas plays Tulsa.

Game In Spotlight

But the big game is at Houston, where Baylor and Rice shoot for glory and the estimated $120,000 take that goes with a Cotton bowl bid.

A Rice victory will give it a clear title, but if Baylor wins it will share the crown with the Owls. And a Baylor victory would put it in the Cotton bowl. The precedent has been followed in the past in the event of co-champions.

Rice cinched a share of the title by beating Texas Christian last week, 20-14.

Baylor whammed Southern Methodist, 35-26, on the deadly passing of Adrian Burk.

Arkansas lost to William and Mary, 20-0, in the only other game played.

Baylor Win Surprise

Baylor's victory was the biggest surprise. Much bigger than the narrow victory Rice scored over Texas Christian.

Burk threw a touchdown pass on the first play of the game and Southern Methodist's hopes for a post-season bowl bid started dimming right then.

Rice beat Texas Christian only because of a granite goal-line defense and a couple of breaks. The Owls needed that 20 point lead they piled up in the first half.

Personal satisfaction is the only thing at stake in the Texas-Texas A. and M., SMU-TCU, and Arkansas-Tulsa games this week.

Regardless of the winner of the Baylor-Rice game, the loser is a good bet to get a major bowl bid. The Orange wouldn't be a bad guess.

Doak Walker, SMU's All-America quarterback, scored three touchdowns and kicked two extra points last week to replace Randall Clay of Texas as the conference's leading scorer. He has 82 points to 64 for Clay.

BI-DISTRICT GAMES SCHEDULED

Four Loop Crowns To Be Determined

(By The United Press)

With only four playoff berths still open and to be settled on this week's meagre 27-game curtain-closing schedule in Class AA and the City conference, bi-district games already were being arranged.

Corsicana (13-AA) and Austin (14-AA) officials met yesterday and decided to meet at Austin Friday, Dec. 2 at 2:30 p. m.

Paris (7-AA) and Highland Park (8-AA) have had their bi-district tilt set for several days—at Paris, Friday, Dec. 2, at 2 p. m.

Still open for question were the championships in 4-AA and 11-AA and the city crowns in Fort Worth and San Antonio. Three were due for settlement Thursday, the other Friday night.

El Paso Austin meets El Paso High Thursday afternoon with Austin needing a win or tie to get the 4-AA berth.

Port Arthur and Beaumont, each unbeaten in district play, settle the 11-AA title Friday night at Port Arthur.

Champions Are Listed

Paschal meets North Side Thursday night needing only a tie or better to move into the playoffs, while favored Jefferson plays Brackenridge with the same situation existing.

In addition to the aforementioned champions, other playoff elevens will be Pampa of 1-AA, Wichita Falls of 2-AA, Lubbock of 3-AA, Abilene of 5-AA, Breckenridge of 6-AA, Marshall of 9-AA, Conroe of 10-AA, Galveston of 12-AA, Alice of 15-AA, Harlingen of 16AA, Dallas Sunset and Houston San Jacinto.

Only Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Port Arthur and Corsicana remained unbeaten and untied as the schedule neared its close.

Grid Club To Hear Coaches

Coach C. R. Pattison of Lubbock High school and Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, both of whom had winning performances by their teams this week, will be the principal speakers at the Lubbock Quarterback club's meeting tonight.

The club will hold its usual session in the main ballroom of the Hotel Lubbock.

Coach Pattison will speak on the Westerners 28-7 defeat of Midland, a game which gave the Lubbock squad undisputed possession of the District 3-AA title. The Westerners play Brownfield here Thursday in the final conference game of the year.

Coach Morgan will talk on his 27-0 defeat of New Mexico and his old protoge, Coach Berl Huffman. He also will discuss the game with Hardin-Simmons here Saturday, a game that will decide the Border Conference championship.

Pictures of one of the games played this year will conclude the program.

Eight Star Players Included In Sale

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21. (AP)—Sale of the Cleveland Indians amounts to a major business deal for a club which has won the World Series twice—in 1920 and in 1948.

The 40-man Tribe roster includes Pitcher Bob Lemon, who won 22 and lost 10 last year; Pitcher Bob Feller, who won 15 and lost 14; Shortstop and manager Lou Boudreau, who batted .284; Second Baseman Joe Gordon, who batted .252; First Baseman Mickey Vernon (.291); Outfielders Dale Mitchell (.317) and Larry Doby (.280); and Rookie Pitcher Mike Garcia, who won 14 and lost five.

The Indians either own or have working agreements with 13 minor league clubs. They include:

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

ALBUQUERQUE — The final gun had barely more than sounded Saturday afternoon with Texas Tech on the long end of a 27-0 score against New Mexico before the wolves had bared their fangs. Baring fangs is not a new custom. It isn't even new here this season. In fact, you don't belong to the correct set unless you have fangs as long, loud and sharp as the next pair. On the other hand, if you have fangs better than others, New Mexicans will flock to your gate evén as the world beats a path to the door of the man who builds the better mousetrap. Having remarkably acute ears (when we desire to have 'em) it wasn't difficult to catch the drift of things.

Things, in general, is the athletic situation at the state university here. Things, in particular, is Berl Huffman and Walker Nichols, a pair of Texas Techsans now serving their third year as head and assistant football coaches respectively. The firing is so loud now that the explosion of the atom bomb was quiet in comparison. It is the general opinion here that both coaches, and possibly their two assistants, are through.. In fact, the unofficial definite information is that Berl will move up to assitant to the president and Nick will retire to his farm. Actually, there is nothing but respect for Berl personally by all his friends. They merely are convinced that he isn't the man for the job he has and that it would be better to start off with a clean slate. The same is true in regards to Nick.

Who the new head coach will be is something of a deep, dark secret; or else thought hasn't gone that far. Some alumni are all in favor of hiring a big name coach, paying him $15,000 a year and getting everything he says he needs. This would include a large coaching staff and some first class football players. Some close followers of the Lobo fortunes profess to feel that the addition of only six good players would make the present eleven a champion, both in and out of the conference. They feel that this year's team, along with the good freshman squad, is rich and deep enough in material to have a world beater. In fact, they don't believe, with a new coach, that they would lose a game next year.

Of course it was all coincidental that the name of Frank Kimbrough as the possible successor to Huffman arose. Frank was here to scout the Lobos, since his West Texas State Buffs play them this Saturday approaching. Whether he would be interested is another matter (but for $15,000, who wouldn't be?). That New Mexico is seemed to be more or less apparent. We had no less than three seperate queries about the jovial Buff mentor. And all three persons brought the subject of Frank into the conversation quite casually. We feel that they couldn't go wrong in their selection, but we have no idea how he'd react. It's a state university and has ambitions of being in the big time.

However, before New Mexico gets into the big time, they have a lot of things to learn about how to operate in said circle. For instance, their pressbox is the most antiquated one that we've seen in the Border conference. Their accommodations would be shamed by most Texas Double A high schools. And their operation definitely is not one to make the press happy. Southwest conference schools, to which New Mexico should be comparable, go out of their way to make the press feel at home and to serve their needs. Statisticians keep up with play throughout the game and issue reports at the half and within minutes after the game has ended. Play-by-play typewritten reports are mimeographed and handed out as soon as each page is completed. Refreshments are served — copiously — at the half. Individual statistics are issued. Photographers are accommodated. In short, they strive to please.

New Mexico had no refreshments at half time. No list of substitutes was prepared for the press and it was only by dint of last minute digging that we were able to get them, taking them down in longhand. There was one statistician on hand and he was most provoked that we wished to have the game statistics. He informed us that he answered only to the NCAA, the Border Conference and the University of New Mexico. By being a little harsher than he, we managed to secure those vital figures. They again were taken down in jumbled order by longhand. It certainly is not good advertising for the university to have such a modus operandi. If we receive such treatment, it's a lead pipe cinch that other college and university press representatives receive the same type. It's not the way to win friends and influence people.

The more we see of Texas Tech's press box operation, the more we feel a certain pride in it. It is well operated in regards to making the press feel at home. Statistics and substitution information is supplied within 10 minutes after the game is over. Refreshments, unusually good, are served at the half and remain available throughout the game, so long as the supply remains. It's made good impressions on many another sports writer and is one of the surest ways of building a good press.

THE ROUNDUP: Deer apparently are thick. Saw one car with two strapped to the front fenders . . . Lakes were thick with ducks on the way to Albuquerque . . . Tech's "cheering section," which consisted of maybe 50 men and women, was almost as loud as New Mexico's weak big section . . . Homecoming floats featured the usual meat grinders with disappearing Red Raiders. . . . Carlos Salazar, Tribune sports editor, made one mistake. He said Tech had won the last two games only on breaks! . . . Tech players took an unofficial vote last week in re the Sun Bowl and voted down going, if it was left to them. . . . After the way George Washington, a 14-point underdog, poured it on Georgetown Saturday (28-7), it looks as though the Sun Bowl got sutck.

In spite of efforts to draft an internaional schedule, 63 varieties of standard time are in use in the world today.

LSU Mentor Sends Varsity Team Through Workout Behind Scoreboard During Game

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—A gentleman named E. L. McGeehee, being of apparent Irish extraction and thus undoubtedly possessed of a Gaelic temperament, probably could be classed today as the most insulted football coach of 1949.

McGeehee is the coach of the Southeastern Louisiana college grid forces, an array which is not exactly of Rose bowl calibre. But in his own way, E. L. naturally must be proud of his boys. For, although it's like holding a concert in a vacuum, the men of McGeehee valiantly went forth earlier this season and lost a 40 to 0 game to mighty Tulane.

When you play such schools as Southwest Louisiana Institute and Northwest Louisiana State, it is a feat even to show up against Tulane, let alone do it valiantly. So McGeehee must have been even more proud Saturday when the squad reported to do battle against L. S. U.

Things went along right merrily for a while. L. S. U., looking ahead to next week's big game with Tulane, spared the horses. It was only 21 to 0—L. S. U., naturally—at the half.

But in the third quarter there were three quick touchdowns by the L.S.U. powerhouse.

And then came the unkindest cut of all.

Gaynell Tinsley, the L.S.U. coach, pulled all his varsity players off the bench — and sent them to practicing behind the score board. Sent in to carry on were the scrubs who wouldn't even get in a tight game.

Watching from the stands with his best girl was Erwin Baylot, a 19-year-old reserve who doesn't even suit up for the big games. Just to give you an idea how Tinsley was scraping the barrel, Baylot is a fullback — all 150 pounds of him.

Naturally, it was quite a thing to Baylot and the gal friend, when the coach summoned him from the stands in the third period via the public address system.

"Wasn't it thrilling," she dimpled.

McGeehee's quotes must, of necessity, be excluded.

PAT KIRKWOOD WINS

ARLINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Pat Kirkwood of Fort Worth yesterday won the Texas stock car racing championship at Arlington Downs. He led all the way in the 100-mile race.

East Texas State Holds League Title

(By The Associated Press)

The Lone Star conference football campaign was at an end today with East Texas State holding the championship but Stephen F. Austin, the runner-up, boasting the best season record.

The Lumberjacks clinched second place before a homecoming crowd Saturday by running over Sam Houston State 51-14. It gave SFAC a 7-2 record for the season.

East Texas won the title three weeks ago with a perfect mark in three conference games.

The champs were not so fortunate in their final outing of the season, however, bowing to North Texas State of the Gulf coast conference, 59 to 6.

Southwest Texas State wound up with a 51-36 triumph over East Texas Baptist college.

Tailbask Jack Kyle, Sam Houston sophomore, won the individual scoring championship. He picked up two points to boost his final tally to 59.

LEAGUE IS DELAYED

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 21. (AP)—Final organization of the Gulf Coast Baseball league, a Class D circuit with six members, has been delayed. Port Arthur and Lake Charles, two members of the proposed league, asked yesterday that they be given a few days to work out details in their own organizations.

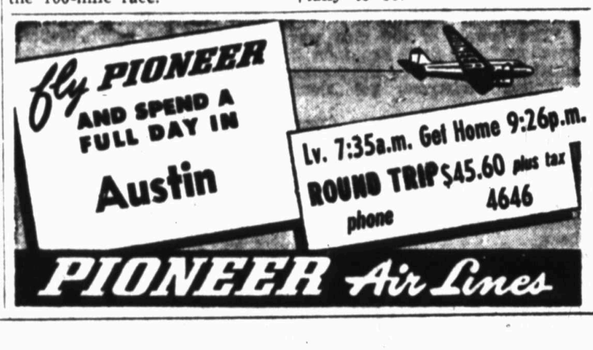

The day of the old-fashioned caboose lighted with oil lamps is coming to an end. The year 1948 saw the advent of cabooses equipped with incandescent lighting. Six lambs beam on front and back of the caboose provides a work and safety light.

REFUSED TO ACT AS COLLECTOR

Firm Sues U.S. On Withholding Taxes

(By The Associated Press)

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 21—Vivien Kellems fired a law suit at the government and more criticism at Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today in her battle against the income tax withholding law.

The suit, Miss Kellems announced here, was filed in federal district court in an effort to recover $7,819.20 which, she asserted, the government took from her "in the tradition of the boldest bank robber."

Of Snyder, she said:

"The only difference between Mr. John Snyder and Mr. Jesse James is Mr. James was an 'outlaw' and used a gun."

Indictment Refused

Previously, Miss Kellems had invited Snyder to have her indicted for her refusal to collect withholding taxes from her employes in her cable grip manufacturing plant. She wanted to be indicted, she explained, in order to test the constitutionality of the withholding tax.

Her invitation has gone ignored. The treasury department, instead, has seized $7,918.20 of her money through liens on her company's bank accounts.

It's that money, she said today in a prepared speech to the Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce announcing the suit, that she now hopes to recover from the government.

The government began seizing Miss Kellems' money in May, 1948 after she announced she would no longer "act as an unpaid tax collector" and would refuse to withhold taxes.

Throughout her controversy with the government, Miss Kellems said, her employes have paid their income taxes themselves instead of paying them through the company.

Miss Kellems, who recently moved her plant from Westport to Stonington after a tilt with the Westport zoning officials, disclosed today that before filing the suit she had made formal demand on the treasury department for return of the $7,819.20.

"This the treasury has refused to do and therefore we are now permitted under the law to bring suit."

In the announcement of the suit, Miss Kellems said:

Taxes Are Paid

"Unfortunately this suit will not test the constitutionality of the withholding tax law. But it will decide one very important and fundamental question—can a private citizen, who has never been appointed a tax collector, be penalized for not collecting taxes that have been paid and made to pay those taxes twice? The government admits that all withholding taxes have been paid directly by the individual employees; there are no taxes due nor do they claim interest, since these taxes were paid on time. But with no charge having been made against us, no trial held, and no judgment rendered, we have been 'fined' $7,819.20 simply because the government insists that we collect and pay the taxes rather than to permit our employes to pay their own taxes themselves."

Joining her in the suit are her brother, David L. Kellems, and the Kellems company. The action is directed against the government and John J. Fitzpatrick, federal collector of internal revenue in Connecticut.

Poland-France

rest, French authorities filed homicide charges against the seven crew members of the Polish airliner that was to have brought Robineau to Paris. The crew at first said here that Robineau had boarded the plane.

Their plane was inpounded. The crew was held for a time at the interior ministry, then was allowed to go to a hotel, under restriction.

The Polish embassy filed a formal protest against the detention with the foreign ministry. The note demanded the crew's release.

Police said the homicide charges against the plane crew would have to be dropped if the report of Robineau's arrest was officially verfied. A foreign ministry spokesman said the French ambassador in Warsaw had been instructed to demand permission to see Robineau.

The Polish radio announced that Robineau, who is the son of the secretary-general of the French institute in Warsaw, had confessed to the espionage charges and would appear in a Polish court later.

French circles in Warsaw described the espionage charges as nonsensical and said the accusations resulted from an attack of spy fever growing out of a new decree to protect state secrets. These sources also doubted that Robineau had made a confession attributed to him by the polish authorities.

They released the 43-year-old Skibell seven miles east of Lubbock approximately 15 minutes later.

Skibell, owner of a downtown Lubbock store and minor partner of the Economy Department store, was not injured.

Lubbock investigators said one man arrested for investigation into the case was released a brief time later when Skibell said he was not one of the three men sought.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

LEADING STOCKS OFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — Moderate selling sliced fractions to more than a point off prices of leading stocks in today's market.

Motors, oils and some other industrials were prominent among the losers. Metals and mining shares were brighter spots, many retaining plus signs.

Dealings fell to the slow pace of around 1,150,000 shares.

Profit-taking halted the rise which by last Saturday had carried prices to a point equalling the average high of the year. Traders showed no inclination to respond to news developments.

Du Pont, whose directors ordered a $1.50 dividend payment, was lower most of the day and suffered its sharpest drop after the dividend was announced. At one time the stock was down nearly 3 points. The management estimated its income from the $4.25 year-end dividend on its holdings of General Motors stock was equal to 80 cents on Du Pont common shares. The dividend will bring total payments this year, including adjustments for the 4-for-1 stock split, to $3.40 a share against $2.44 a year ago.

J. I. Case was another issue to decline after announcement of dividend news. Its directors declared an increased quarterly of 75 cents and year-end payment of 2.80.

Other stocks at lower levels included General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Republic Steel, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Radio Corp., Lehigh Portland Cement, Westinghouse Electric and International paper.

Household finance climbed fractionally as directors ordered a 10 per cent stock dividend. Also gaining were Kennecott Copper, McIntyre Porcupine, Goodrich and U. S. Gypsum.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in moderately active trading today. Evening-up operations in nearby December and switching from December to later months dominated the market. A leading spot firm sold 4,000 to 5,000 bales of December against purchases of the March 1950 delivery. Friday of this week is first notice day for December contracts. Mill buying against textile sales was fairly active. Hedge selling helped to discourage rallying tendencies in the market.

The Census Bureau report showed ginning to November 14 of 11,693,204 bales, with ginnings in the first half of November heavy and more than 900,000 bales larger than in the same period a year ago.

Futures closed 5 to 35 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP) — Corn jumped off with gains of around a cent and held there for the rest of the session on the board of trade today. Other cereals, firm early, slipped and lost part or all their gains before the close.

A new grant by the Economic Cooperation administration to European countries to buy American corn helped that grain. Cash arrivals sank and a good demand forced quotations higher in the spot market. All deferred deliveries made new seasonal highs.

Wheat was aided by rumors Mexico was in the market for 1,000,000 bushels. However, the July delivery, representing the 1950 crop, sank. December and May oats scored seasonal peaks by a small fraction and then fell back on profit-taking.

Wheat closed ⅜ lower to 2 cents higher, December $2.13⅝-¾, corn was 1 to 1½ higher, December $1.25⅞-$1.26, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 75, rye was ½-1¼ lower, December $1.33½-¼.

Helpful Angler In Britain Kept Busy

WILNE, Eng., Nov. 21 (AP)—Samuel William Rose, 25, saw an airplane crash on the opposite side of the river Derwent while he was fishing. This is what he did:

Stripped and swam 100 yards across the flooded river;

Ripped off a wing of the wrecked plane to release the pilot and a passenger.

Made first-aid splints from pieces of a fence;

Trotted one and a half miles in his underwear to get an ambulance;

Helped the ambulance men get the two injured men —Geoffrey Smith and Gerald Barnett—off to a hospital.

Then he went back to his fishing and caught three perch.

luck. It was pretty overcast."

With their fuel almost out, "we jettisoned everything we could and prepared for ditching."

When the big bomber hit the water, the tail broke off, taking one of the three life rafts aboard down with it. The fuselage turned nose down in less than a minute.

The men on the rafts lived on emergency rations, mostly hard candy. When they were picked up, they had one day's supply left. Thrist was no problem because they drank rain water from frequent showers. They also had equipment to purify the salty sea water.

Grable said he caught one fish, a two-foot yellow tail. But it got away when he tried to land it. It was the nearest the group came to getting their food from the sea.

One of the crowded rafts capsized twice but everyone got back aboard.

Grable said he felt sure they would be picked up because he realized planes and ships were looking for them. Several times they heard planes pass over and twice they saw ships. When they tried to paddle toward one of them, heavy swells kept them from making any progress.

"We began to feel the hopelessness of our position when we saw planes ovrhead but they kept circling without seeing us," said Tech. Sgt. William Johnson, of Beverly Hills, Calif.

"The morale of the men was excellent," said Staff Sgt. John J. Harris, Braddock, Pa., the plane's engineer. "Everyone got along fine."

When the B-17 finally found the rafts, it dropped the survivors a lifeboat by parachute. The rescue plane crew said by then some of the survivors were so weakened, it took them 45 minutes to transfer from the life rafts to the boat.

Waves Very High

The captain of the rescuing destroyer, Lt. Cmdr. Edward T. G. Madgwick, of Ottawa, said waves 50 to 60 feet high were tossing the lifeboat as he brought the Haida alongside. The waves were so high, he said, the men stepped or were handed across the destroyer's forward deck without using a ladder.

The men, said Lt. Cmdr. Alfred A. H. Kerley of Victoria, B. C., seemed pretty dazed when they were picked up. On their arrival here, Sgt. Roy Coulter, 46, Beverly Hills, Calif., was ruled not in shape to talk to reporters. Lying quiet and unsmiling on his stretcher, he was reported suffering considerable shock.

The other survivors brought ashore on stretchers were Staff Sgt. William H. Pratt, Brockton, Mass.; Capt. Joseph A. Petrosino, East Providence, R. I., and Cpl. Bryce W. Neal, Sault St. Marie, Mich.

The two men lost were Cpl. Raymond Breit, 32, Arlington, Calif., who received a severe head injury from the wrecked plane s girders, and Pvt. Robert Dobson, 19, Decatur, Ill., who was unable to swim through the swells. Lt. Col. Grable said the heavy seas prevented the other survivors from reaching them.

Five other airmen died during the huge search for the plane crew when their own B-29, taking off from MacDill Field, Fla., to join in the search, crashed at the edge of Tampa bay.

That crash, and a series of others involving B-29's recently—six crashed in two weeks—resulted in an order Friday grounding those B-29's not engaged in the search, for inspection and modernizing.

Pleased With Investments

Mr. Hay, who is also a director of the Dallas National bank, the Dallas Power and Light company, Hesse Envelope company, Dallas Chamber of Commerce, the Institute of Life Insurance of New York, the American Service Bureau of Chicago, an executive committee member of Southern Methodist university, a trustee of Dallas Public Library, and executive committeeman of circle 9 and region 10 of Boy Scouts of America, revealed himself as a warmly human individual.

"We are highly pleased with our investments on the South Plains," he said. "About 12 or 15 years ago we became highly optimistic about the area after an economist-engineer surveyed it for us. He convinced us we were right in making heavy investments here, and we thought we were optimistic."

"But the area has far exceeded anything we dreamed of 12 or 15 years ago."

The company's investments include farm and ranch properties, municipal and school bonds, oil properties, city residential, business and industrial developments.

Mr. Hay, was recently elected president of American Life Convention, made up of companies who have in force 95 per cent of the Life insurance in force in the United States.

He spoke at the college at 8 o'clock this morning to pre-law students of George W. Dupree. His subject was "Law of Contracts."

He expressed particular interest in the college and young people generally.

"I feel that if freedom survives, it must be through education," he commented. "Only by educating young people in self reliance and good citizenship can we solve the complex problems of our civilization and form of society."

As for opportunity, today, he feels that today's youth has greater opportunities than in the past "because so few are willing to pay the price, leaving plenty of room for those who are willing to pay the price.

be killed.

State police quoted young Parker as saying he needed money "to fly to Montreal . . . because I wanted to get revenge and kill the man responsible for my father's death —the man who had the bomb put on the plane before the takeoff."

The youth, police said, did not explain why he intended to go to Montreal instead of Quebec where Guay is jailed.

They theorized he did not know where Guay is held or that he knew and planned to go from Montreal to Quebec.

Clyde Marshall, owner of the Cranston, R. I., home where Parker was staying, told police the youth was "deeply shocked" by the death of his father and "brooded constantly."

The wife said she did not know why her husband had been arrested.

Mrs. Vogeler said her husband left the American legation in Budapest at 9 a. m. Friday to return to Vienna. He was driving alone in a late model American sedan. She has received no other information on her husband and Austrian authorities have found no record that he passed the frontier station on the main Vienna-Budapest highway, Mrs. Vogeler said.

Six victims were killed by gunfire, three died of exertion-induced heart attacks and two others were killed in a traffic accident.

It was Wisconsin's biggest season in history, and hunting casualty reports began pouring in shortly after the five-day season began at dawn Saturday.

RAFB Band Featured At Jaycee Luncheon

The Reese Air Force Base band today sealed a friendship bond between the Air Force and the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce with a 30-minute concert at the Jaycee luncheon meeting in Hilton hotel.

Ably directed by Chief Warrant Officer Carmine Luce, the band received a long and loud round of applause for its symphonic paraphase of "The World Is Waiting for The Sunrise" and an equal ovation for its rendition of the late Glenn Miller's styling of Verdi's "Anvil Chorus."

In typical luncheon meeting fashion, the dessert was saved for last when Mrs. Edith Noel Luce, wife of the band's director, made her Lubbock debut with three soprano solos, including "Romany Life" and the heartwarming and always popular "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

She concluded the program with a medley of "Service Songs" which reminded a majority of the Jaycees present of their service days during the last wars.

Honored guests at the meeting were Cols. George W. Pardy and George H. Blase of RAFB.

Weldon Gibbs presided and Hill Baggett gave the invocation. Jack Blankenship was program chairman and A. C. White announced the program.

only the intervention of her mother prevented more serious injury or death. Police listed the motive as despondency over the final breakup of her marriage with Tone, which ended in a final divorce decree Oct. 1.

Her wound, while painful, was not serious.

Tone disclosed that he dined with his 26-year-old wife Saturday night after she had taken the children to visit Santa Claus at a department store. He has custody of them.

Her mother, Mrs. Mary Ingham, told police that her daughter returned home about 4:30 a. m. Sunday morning, ran into the kitchen screaming:

"I might as well finish it now."

The mother's statement related that she found her daughter bleeding from an inch deep wound in the abdomen and trying to cut herself again with a 14-inch butcher knife.

Tone was notified but arrived at the receiving hospital 20 minutes after his wife had left for Hollywood Presbyterian hospital.

"There is no plan for reconciliation," Tone said. "I am very sorry." He married her in Yuma, Ariz., in 1941.

Missing Plane

heavy fog and rain, which kept planes grounded and lowered visibility, sometimes to a few yards.

The chartered airliner disappeared last night just before it was scheduled to land at Oslo's Fornebu airfield. It was believed to have crashed in heavy fog. All the children aboard were under 12. Most were 7 or 8 years old.

Heard An Explosion

Farmers at Gjersoen said they heard the sound of a plane's engines, then an explosion at 6 p. m. (noon EST) yesterday. That was just 10 minutes after the plane's last contact with Oslo's Fornebu airfield, where it was scheduled to land.

Police, home guard and Red Cross units equipped with radio searched the heavily-wooded area without success throughout the night. Light planes awaited the lifting of fog to join the hunt.

Police said that if the plane came down in the woods, the thick trees might have broken its fall and some of the occupants might have survived.

Brought From Africa

The plane carried two nurses and four crewmen in addition to the 29 refugee children. It was one of two DC-3s chartered by the Norwegian "Help Europe" organization to bring 59 children from Africa to Norway for resettlement.

The first plane, carrying 30 children, landed safely, but the second vanished only a few minutes before it was scheduled to touch down at Fornebu airfield. It had taken off from Brussels, Belgium, on the last leg of a flight from Tunis.

Cleveland Business Men Buy Ball Club

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21. (AP)—Dynamic Bill Veeck sold the Cleveland Indians baseball club to a group of local business men today for a reported $2,200,000.

The Tribe president announced the long-awaited action at a news conference in his Cleveland stadium offices.

Ellis Ryan, insurance executive, is head of the new group that has been dickering with Veeck for weeks to buy the American league baseball club and its holdings.

More than 150 persons were crowded into the Tribe's relatively small quarters for the signing.

The reported purchase price contrasted with the estimated figure of $1,250,000 Veeck and others paid for the Tribe, its 13 farm clubs and old league park on June 22, 1946.

Ryan said the figure of $2,200,000 was approximately correct.

Asked whether Hank Greenberg, who had been vice president of the baseball organization in the Veeck regime, would become general manager, Ryan replied "we haven't talked to anyone yet."

Trial Of Damages Suit Started Here

A jury was selected this morning and pleadings were being read early this afternoon in the 99th district court damages action of Buna Lofland against Richard E. Jackson and others.

Miss Lofland seeks actual damages of $36,000, special damages of $2,500 as outgrowth of a mishap about 8:25 a. m. Nov. 24, 1948, at Ave. L and Fourteenth.

She charges she was struck by a car driven by Jackson, when allegedly within scope of employment by the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company. The publishing company was made a party defendant. It employs Jackson as an advertising solicitor. In its answer, however, the company said Jackson was en route to work at the time of the mishap, in his private automobile, and was not acting within scope of employment. It filed a cross-action asking that in case of judgment against it, it recover against the other defendant.

Miss Lofland was 60 at the time of the accident, her pleadings showed, and a merchant doing business between Broadway and Thirteenth on Ave. J.

She claimed to have suffered permanent injuries in the mishap.

The jury is composed of Earl Merrell, J. E. Sliger, O. A. Oldham, Belverd Needles, M. C. Price, H. E. Ross, T. G. Seymore, G. W. Hunt, R. V. O'Neal, J. G. West, R. G. Knott and George Deardorff.

Insurance Men Plan Annual Sales Meet

Fourteen members of the Lubbock Health and Accident association today laid plans for a forthcoming regional Annual Sales Congress in their regular monthly luncheon session at Hotel Lubbock.

The association, composed of persons engaged in the health and accident insurance field, also heard Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, in a speech, "The Insurance Business from the Other Side of the Fence." Guy traced the history of the insurance business from Spain, in the 1200's, to its present position today. He urged listeners to "do a better job every day so that insurance may continue a free private enterprise, instead of being made into a state-owned and operated activity."

Harlie D. Woods, president of the group, presided, and explained plans for the regional Sales Congress, to be held throughout the day of December 5 at the Hilton hotel.

The Lubbock regional meeting is one of four being held in Texas under the auspices of the Texas Association of Accident and Health Underwriters. Other regional meetings will be in Dallas, San Antonio and Houston.

Girls Believed Ill From Overeating

Watch those helpings!

Ten little girls were sick today at Milam's orphanage and the reason was believed to be overeating — which might serve as a timely warning prior to that Thanksgiving feast.

The children of the orphanage held a party Saturday night, in keeping with their custom of having one each week-end. Sandwiches and ice cream sticks were served. One little girl said she ate five helpings of ice cream. She didn't count the helpings of sandwiches.

The children began to become ill about an hour after the party. Some who were well enough to go to Sunday school Sunday morning didn't feel well and went to bed after returning home.

A doctor who was consulted said the illness probably was due to overeating. All of those becoming ill were girls, from four to 10 years of age. None of the boys at the party became ill. Since some of the children who ate food did not become ill, ptomaine poisoning was believed ruled out as cause of illness.

The children were in bed today and on a liquid diet.

A speech recital to have been presented at the Overton Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. today has been canceled by Mrs. C. M. Kaigler because of illness of several Milam home children who were to have participated.

Girls at Girlstown have continued in school, leading a normal life, concerned over Marie's "cold" but protected from knowledge of any worse disease until the "danger period" has passed.

Sunday marked the end of the period when other girls might have contracted the disease had they been subjected to it at the same time as Marie or if the disease were communicable. Thus they were saved from worry and also from developing imaginary aches and pains, said the director.

New Mexico Mishap Is Fatal To Couple

PORTALES, N. M., Nov. 21. (U.P.)—A car-truck crash one mile south of Milnes and on U. S. Highway 18 yesterday killed Ralph Edward Desmond, 48, and his wife, both well-known in eastern New Mexico and West Texas.

State police said the Desmond car passed under the high bed of a grain truck, being driven by E. D. Doris of Emery, Tex., and caromed to a stop 600 feet off the road without overturning. They said the Texan was slowing down to make a turn at the time of the accident.

No charges will be filed against the Texan, police said.

Texas CIO To Bid For Power

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 (AP) — Extension of political power into every ward and precinct in the state will be sought by the Texas CIO.

By resolution in the closing session of its 13th annual session, the Texas State Industrial union council yesterday voted to establish political action committees in each of the political "grassroots" areas and called on their members to support the committees' actions in their respective wards.

March Is Favored

The council also expressed favor toward Caso March of Waco for governor but voted down a motion to give him backing of the state group after discusession favored leaving such action to local groups.

Another resolution called for a thorough study of the Latin-American labor problem. It praised the work of the good neighbor commission in its attempt to deal with the problem but said that the commission was hampered by the lack of funds and personnel and by opposition from employer groups.

New Taxes Apposed

The council went on record opposed to any new taxes except on natural resources and on corporations earning more than $50,000 a year. Opposition was especially expressed against any general sales tax.

Walter Gray of Dallas was elected council president. A. A. Rister of Sugarland was selected vice president and J. H. Hickman of Austin, secretary-treasurer.

LEVY INCREASE VOTED IN 194/

Social Security Tax Goes Up Jan. 1 On First $3,000 Pay

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—On Jan. 1 the social security tax is going up from the present 1 per cent each to 1½ per cent each on all employes and employers covered by the law.

This increase of one-half of 1 per cent in the social security tax will affect about 2,700,000 employers and about 50,000,000 employes. Congress voted for this increase in 1947.

This is the way the tax works and how it will work after Jan. 1.

The employe—

You're a covered employe. Now you pay a yearly tax of 1 per cent on whatever salary you make up to $3,000. There's no tax on anything you make over $3,000.

So the highest tax such an employe has to pay now is 1 per cent of $3,000, or $30 a year, earned from any one employer. When the 1½ per cent tax a year on the first $3,000 goes into effect, the highest tax is $45 a year.

Refund Possible

(What happens in the case of an employe who changes jobs during the year? Suppose he earned as much as $3,000 from one employer and paid the maximum tax on that—$30—and then went to work for another employer during the year.

(Is he all finished paying his social security tax for the year? No. He has to pay 1 per cent of his pay up to the first $3,000 of it earned from the second employer.

(But isn't $30 the most an employe has to pay in any one year now? Yes. But when he pays more than that, he can get a refund by asking the internal revenue bureau for it at the end of the year. The bureau collects the tax.)

The employer—

You have to match, out of your own pocket, whatever tax your covered employe has to pay: 1 per cent of his salary up to the first $3,000 of it.

So the most an employer has to pay on any employe's salary is $30 now, or 1 per cent of $3,000. Suppose the employe's total salary is $5,000 or $10,000.

$45 Is Maximum

No matter. The employer pays only 1 per cent—$30—on the first $3,000. Suppose the employe's salary is $1,000. The boss pays only 1 per cent of $1,000, or $10.

When the tax goes up to 1½ per cent Jan. 1, the employe and the employer each will have to pay 1½ per cent of the employe's salary up to the first $3,000, or a maximum of $45 each.

(So, while the combined tax on employer and employe now is only 2 per cent, after Jan. 1 it will be 3 per cent.)

This is an explanation of how the tax increase on Jan. 1 came about.

When the social security act was passed in 1935, Congress said the tax should start in 1937 and would run this way:

1937-8-9—1 per cent each on employes and employers; 1940-2—1½ per cent; 1943-4-5—2 per cent; 1946-7-8—2½ per cent; and starting Jan. 1, 1949—3 per cent.

Tax Freezes Voted

But as 1940 began to roll around—with the tax due to go up from 1 to 1½ per cent—Congress voted to keep it at 1 per cent. Year after year it voted to freeze the tax at 1 per cent to prevent an increase.

But—in 1947 Congress voted to keep the tax at 1 per cent on employers and employes through 1949 and then let it go up to 1½ per cent on each, starting Jan. 1, 1950.

Since Congress hasn't changed what it agreed to in 1947, the tax rise of one-half of one per cent starts Jan. 1.

This year the present Congress, before it went home, considered a bill to increase social security taxes on an increasing scale until they reached a total of 3¼ per cent each on employes and employers in 1970 and thereafter.

The House passed this bill late this year. But the Senate didn't. So the bill didn't become law. Therefore, the law passed by Congress in 1947, and not changed since, goes into effect Jan. 1.

Engineers' Institute To Meet Here Today

The first meeting of the Lubbock chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers will be held in the Hilton hotel today at 6:30 p.m.

Enough interest was shown by oilmen of the area in a meeting of the Permian Basin section of the AIME here last month to organize a chapter here, Robert R. Shaffer of Levelland said.

Chief speaker will be R. M. Leibrock of the Stanolind Oil and Gas company of Lubbock. He will speak on "Factors To Be Considered in Determining the Feasibility of Gas Injection."

From 50 to 100 area oilmen are expected at the meeting, according to Shaffer.

Two types of membership will be offered by the association, member and affiliate member. The latter classification is made in order that those unqualified for membership can take part in activities of the local chapter. Three levels of membership are offered: junior, associate, and full member.

Christmas Seal Sale Opens In City Today

Today marks the opening day of this year's Christmas seal sale to raise funds for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

Roy Boyd, chairman of the sale for the Lubbock county Tuberculosis association said approximately 12,500 letters containing seals would be delivered to Lubbock county residents today, and he urged recipients to be generous in support of the 1949 sale which will last through Dec. 25.

A total of 82 per cent of the money raised will be used in Lubbock county, with 12 per cent going to the state organization and six per cent to the national association, said Boyd.

Gov. Allan Shivers has issued a special appeal for Texans to be generous, for "the more we support the work of the tuberculosis associations, the closer we shall be to victory over tuberculosis in Texas."

Boyd said that the seals are selling for one dollar a sheet, but that people were urged to give more if they could.

CROWDS VIE FOR STANDING ROOM

New York Metropolitan Opera Opens 65th Session Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—All through the chilly night and this morning, a line of early-birds stood outside the Metropolitan opera house to buy standing room tickets for tonight's opening of the Met's 65th season.

All seats for the performance were sold in advance, and those in line sought standee tickets which go on sale a half-hour before curtain time.

Men and women in the line wrapped heavy coats, scarfs and blankets around themselves, and took time out occasionally for coffee and food in drug stores and restaurants during the night.

Several left for some sleep—with assurance that others in the line would hold their places for them.

4,000 To Attend

Holder of first place in the line had arrived Saturday night. She is Miss Dasha Paretsky of Jackson Heights, Queens, New York, who has attended seven consecutive opening nights at the Met. She went home early today to rest, and was to return later in the day.

The Metropolitan Opera association, weary of the circus stunts staged at some openings by a small proportion of exhibitionists in the audience, said yesterday:

"Much of the glitter generally associated with the first night audience will be secondary to that on the stage this year."

About four thousand persons will attend tonight's performance of Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier."

The entire audience will be the largest in the Met's history, because the performance will be carried by American Broadcasting company television to people in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

Memorial To Strauss

Last year's opening-night telecast, first in the Met's history, was carried on a smaller network.

This season will be the last of Edward Johnson's 15-year tenure as general manager. Rudoloh Bing, his successor, will be in the audience.

"Der Rosenkavalier" was chosen for the opening night before Strauss' death last September, but Johnson said the performance will constitute a memorial tribute to the composer.

Eleanor Steber, the first American singer to assume the role at the Metropolitan, will sing the Marschallin for the first time here. Rise Stevens, as Octavian, will be among the principals tonight.

The 18-week season will close March 26.

Princess Elizabeth Joins Prince Philip

VALLETTA, Malta, Nov. 21 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth was a happy naval officer's wife today. Her husband's ship was swinging at anchor in sight of her window.

Elizabeth joined Prince Philip here last night, arriving in time for at least a part of her wedding anniversary. Her plane had been delayed in London 24 hours by fog.

Philip bounded up the steps to his wife's plane as soon as it landed and welcomed her privately inside the cabin. Outside she faced photographers, and greeted Malta's governor, Sir Francis Creasy, and Archbishop Gonzi. But ceremony was at a minimum.

The royal couple is staying at Villa Guardamangia. The villa overlooks the harbor where the anchored ships include the destroyer Chequers. Philip is second in command on the Chequers.

A-Bomb Danger To U.S. Slim

Senator Claims Nation Is Safe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—What are the chances of a surprise atomic bomb attack upon the United States?

If this is worrying you, then Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) has some comforting "personal opinions."

"I think the odds are about one million to one against any enemy dropping one atomic bomb on any part of the United States," Johnson told a reporter. "Of course I refer to the forseeable future—say the next 20 years."

Differs With Others

Johnson is in a position to give an estimate. He is a member of the Senate-House atomic energy committee and this group probably knows more atomic secrets than any other, except the Atomic Energy commission and its scientists.

Johnson's own views of possible danger from attack apparently differ widely from other congressional atomic committeemen.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the joint committee, already has announced that hearings on possible civilian defense against the dread weapon will be conducted early next year.

And Senator Tydings (D-Md), a member of the atomic group and chairman of the Senate armed services committee, said such civilian defense should be one of the first matters of business when Congress meets in January.

Angle Is Stressed

Other lawmakers have stressed this angle since President Truman disclosed that Soviet Russia had staged an atomic explosion.

Johnson also has differed with Chairman David Lilienthal and other members of the Atomic Energy commission and its scientists.

But he told a reporter he is confident of his forecast for the next 20 years or longer "as a matter of simple logic."

"We have so many more atomic bombs than any other nation now, that it would be pure suicide for any power to attempt even a sneak attack," Johnson said.

He did not explain why he feels so certain.

Bombs More Powerful

"It also is widely known that our present atomic bombs are more than six times as powerful or deadly than the first dropped on Japan during the war," Johnson said. "According to General MacArthur and other qualified authorities our scientists now are seeking to improve the efficiency of atomic bombs up to 1,000 times the first bomb."

Over the week-end, Senator Wiley (R-Wis) renewed his earlier demands for dispersion of key agencies from Washington and re-

RETIRED FARMER DIES

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 21 (Special)—Andrew J. Ashton, 87, retired farmer and former resident of Abernathy, died at 5 a. m. today at the home of a daughter here after an illness of two months. His body was taken to the McDonald Funeral home at Lubbock. Services probably will be held Tuesday afternoon at Abernathy.

Ceremonies At Church Staged

The cornerstone for one of the largest Church of Christ church buildings in the world was laid Sunday at the site of the new Broadway Church of Christ in the 1900 block on Broadway.

The stone was laid in a brief and informal ceremony shortly after the close of services inside the unfinished auditorium, which began at 2 p.m. Members of the building committee, the church elders, Aunt Mary Green, who is the only remaining charter member of the church, and Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister, took part in the ceremony.

In the auditorium, Rep. George Mahon spoke briefly as he brought greetings from the citizens of this area. Mahon said that in this age, the only hope of salvation for the world lies in the church and in the teachings of Christ.

Hershel Dyer, minister of the Pioneer Park Church of Christ, extended greetings from the Churches of Christ in this area. Liff Sanders, a pioner Church of Christ minister, who preached in the Broadway Church of Christ over 50 years ago, delivered the opening prayer.

Sherrod Outlines Plans

B. Sherrod, chairman of the building committee, spoke on plans for the completion of the building, which is expected to be ready for use by next July. He explained the uses for which various sections of the huge church will serve, and mentioned some of the things to be kept in mind for making further additions to the structure.

Dr. Young cautioned that the chief cornerstone of the church would always be Christ, and that Christ should be made the chief cornerstone of every life. With a growing community like Lubbock, and the pioneer spirit which prevails here, Dr. Young said the structure was a challenge to church members to strive for greater things.

Arrangements for singing by a quartet were made by Horace Coffman, associate minister.

Luncheon Is Held

Prior to the services a covered dish luncheon was held in the auditorium at 12:30 p.m. with about 500 persons attending.

Members of the building committee, in addition to Sherrod, are Lawrence Green, S. E. Holt, Dr. J. B. McCorkle, Bob Cobb, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., J. C. Rigney, and

Reducing Diets For Dogs Are Developed

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Science finally has developed a reducing diet for dogs.

According to the American Veterinary Medical Association, the goal is not stylish canine figures but healthier dogs.

The association said excess poundage can be just as unhealthy for a dog as for a human being.

One diet, the association said, has been devised for expectant canine mothers.

Garner Will Be 81 On Tuesday

UVALDE, Nov. 21. (AP)—Cactus Jack is 81 tomorrow.

That's another milestone for John Nance Garner, 32nd vice president of the United States toward a personal ambition: to live to be 93.

Garner, ruddy faced and white haired, said when he retired from politics in 1941 that he wanted to live that long. "So that more than half my life can be that of a private citizen."

For 46 years, Garner was in public life—as a Texas legislator and congressman, speaker of the national House of Representatives and vice president.

No Celebration Set

There's been no announced plan for any celebration of Garner's birthday. He doesn't hold for much of that. Last year he and an old crony, Ross Brumfield, were deer hunting on the day he became 80.

Garner is the only Texan ever to become vice president. Twice he sought the Democratic nomination as president. Each time it

Latin-American Band Brings New Musical Touch To Tech

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

Moonlight serenading has led to numerous engagements for the Conjunto Pan-Americano band, a band composed of five students in Texas Technological college from foreign countries and one Texan.

"By means of this band, we try to convey our good will," said James Lakas from Colon, Panama, one of the bandsmen and also vice president of the Cosmopolitan club, composed of 30 students from 15 foreign countries.

"None of us are players back home," he said. "We do that for novelty. We do that to show something typical south of the border, like in Texas you wear a cowboy suit."

Serenaded Co-eds

Last spring several students collected in the room of Guido Rodriguez from Alajuela, Costa Rica. Darrell Kirkpatric, student from Dalhart, began playing Spanish music on his guitar, Lakas began beating rhythm on the dresser. Then Rodriguez and Kilpatrick rendered a vocal number. From that performance came the decision to organize a little orchestra. The three students decided to ask other students to play the maracas and the claves.

The group practiced, with Lakas using a wastepaper basket in place of a drum. Bandsmen serenaded women's dormitories.

Some of the co-eds leaned from their windows, greeting the music with enthusiasm.

First Playing Invitation

The group disbanded during the summer, then reorganized this fall and again serenaded the women's dormitories. An invitation to play at a Ko Shari club dinner followed. After that, other organizations invited the band to play.

Band members are Kirkpatric, who plays the guitar: Victor Lolas from Arequipa, Peru, who plays the claves, made up of two long sticks; Guillermo Perea from Arequipa, who plays the maracas, a round rattle which now is manufactured commercially but which was made primitively from Spanish vegetables, with seed

Marking the beginning of an expanded music program at Texas Technological college, the annual departmental chamber concert will be given Dec. 19 in the Lubbock high school auditorium.

With Dr. Gene L. Hemmle, new head of the department, directing two choruses for his first annual appearance, all four of the major musical groups at the college will be included in the concert program.

Glee Club To Perform

The Tech Men's Glee club, directed by Richard Richards, will lead off the program with three numbers, followed by the Campusaires, a newly-formed group of 40 girls directed by Dr. Hemmle. Mixed voices of the Tech choir, also directed by Dr. Hemmle, will then render eight numbers, while the Matador band under direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley will conclude the concert.

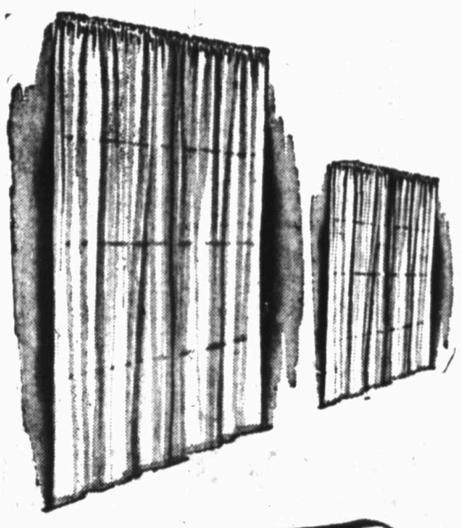

Rendering of the concert will be the first full musical program given by the Tech music department since Dr. Hemmle came to

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

He-Man Hayden Claims He's Just Starting On His Career

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21 (NEA)—Big, blond Sterling Hayden is starting his second movie career for director John Huston in M-G-M's "The Asphalt Jungle."

But as Sterling sees it:

"This really is my first career. As far as I'm concerned, I never made a picture before."

Hayden was a prewar sensation with the bobby-sox set as Madeleine Carroll's leading man in "Virginia" and "Bahama Passage." He did all right with Madeleine, too. She became Mrs. Hayden.

Johnson

But their marriage ended in divorce and the war ended his career. He returned to Hollywood an O. S. S. hero but a nonentity to a new crop of studio executives and directors.

Paramount loaned him out for a couple of B's and then dropped him from the payroll. He remarried, became a father and avoided Hollywood by living on his boat at San Pedro Harbor. Now Huston says he's giving a terrific performance in a rugged, he-man character part.

Says Hayden:

"I don't know about my performance but I do know Huston is a great director and that it's a great script."

UI's western, "The Bowie Knife," has a new title—"Comanche Territory." I can't understand why they passed up "Bowie Meets Girl."

The censors are not in raptures over the Italian-made film, "Rapture." Glenn Langan, as a sculptor, spends most of his time carving bosomy women out of stone. . . . Margaret O'Brien is trying to crash radio via a series titled "Violet," based on the Redbook magazine stories. . . . There's a Sophie Tucker film biography just around the corner. The title, of course, will be "Some of These Days." And if Betty Hutton doesn't get the part, I'll be a very unhappy boy.

One-Track Mind

COUNT SILVIO SPORTZATTI, the wealth to Hollywood with only one thing on his mind—Marta Toren. They met while she was in Italy making "Deported." Which reminds me: When Marta checked into the Excelsion Hotel in Siena the manager took her to his most beautiful suite and proudly showed her a plaque which read:

"The great American star, Tyrone Power, once occupied this room."

Ann Blyth, exhausted after a year's steady work, was promised a "quiet" personal appearance with "Free for All" in Milwaukee. Between the time she left Hollywood and arrived there, Marquette University voted her Homecoming Queen and met her at the airport with an 85-piece brass band and a rooting section.

Like the way Donna Reed and Tony Owen refer to their two children. They say "chosen" instead of adopted. . . "Song of Norway," once slated for Deanna Durbin, is back on UI's production schedule. They're looking for a songbird to fill the leading role. . . Bob Young is one of the few freelance actors around town who still commands $125,000 per picture. And deserves it, I might add, on the basis of box-office grosses.

One of our top radio comics told his writers to do an especially good job on material for a guest star with the explanation:

"If the show isn't any good, I'll have to go on his program for the same lousy money I'm paying him."

Unhappy Actor

Paramount is scouring the town for suitable stories for Ray Milland, who hasn't been too happy with his last few pictures.

Director Samuel Fuller is pulling a Hitchcock in reverse. Instead of playing bits in his films, as Hitch does, his wife Marta plays them. In "I Shot Jesse James" she played a dance-hall girl knocking herself out on the stage of a saloon to absolutely no applause. Now she's a Gypsy, smoking a corn-cob pipe, in "Baron of Arizona."

Joys of operating a night club in 1949:

Lewis, who once managed the successful Slapsy Maxie's, presents these startling figures. In 1937 bartenders received $5 a day; waiters, $1; busboys, $2.50; dishwashers, $3.

Current scale: Bartenders, $18; waiters, $5.50; busboys, $11, and dishwashers, $9.

"The Fuller Brush Man" started something. Awaiting release is "The Good Humor Man," just completed is "The Yellow Cab Man," and, in the writing stage for Donald O'Connor, is "The Milk Man."

Making the rounds of story departments is "The Popcorn Man."

Next stop, no doubt, will be "The Income Tax Man."

Thieves Take $4,200 From Telephone Firm

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—Nearly $4,000 in coins and $200 in bills were taken from a Southwestern Bell Telephone company office by safe crackers.

Police said the burglary was discovered yesterday afternoon by A. H. Leach, manager of the public telephone office, who had noticed that the company's panel truck was missing from the rear of the building.

The safe crackers took the truck to haul away the loot.

The coins had been collected from pay telephones in such places as Waco, Tyler, Paris, Gainesville and Marshall.

Most of the stolen money—$2,500 of it—was in nickels.

The truck later was found abandoned.

Officer Tries To Kill Wife

WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 21. (AP)—Police reported an air force officer, upset over being grounded because of the air force cutback program, attempted to kill his wife yesterday.

Detective Carl Spriggs said Lieut. Arthur E. Chatham, 32, also threatened to kill himself and his four-year-old daughter.

Police quoted Mrs. Chatham as saying her husband was "in love" with flying and had suggested murder-suicide plan as a solution to their problems. Chatham has been in the air force since 1941. He was in charge of reserve flight training in the Wichita area.

Fired At Wife

Mrs. Chatham said her husband had been notified Saturday that he was being relieved of active duty in the organized reserve and was being grounded as part of the cutback program.

The air force letter gave him 60 days to re-enlist in the regular army, she said.

Spriggs said the lieutenant fired three times at his wife as she peered around a doorway into a room where he sat with their daughter, Irene. He finally surrendered his gun after talking the situation over with the detective and a friend.

No charges have been filed. Chatham was flown to Kansas City, Kas., and placed in the Fairfax field base hospital for observation.

Ku Klux Klan In North, South Carolina Merged, Paper Says

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 21. (AP)—The Augusta Chronicle reported yesterday that Ku Klux Klansmen in North Carolina and South Carolina have joined forces under the leadership of a former grocer.

The union was announced, the paper said, in an exclusive interview by reporter Esther Young with the new grand dragon, Thomas L. Hamilton of Leesville, S. C.

Members of the robed order who sat in on the interview heralded the merger as a move toward a nationwide klan.

To Be Unmasked

Hamilton, who said he had been a Klansman since 1926, declared his first action will be "to weed out all those persons who are using the Klan for selfish and political reasons."

The grand dragon said the Carolina association has "thousands of high type men—and we intend to keep it that way."

Hamilton asserted his organization advocates white supremacy, separation of church and state, free press, and liberty and justice for all.

The former Augusta grocer said the Carolina group will be unmasked as ordered by law.

Negro Arrested For Assault On Girl, 11

HOUSTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—A negro porter yesterday was charged with rape of an 11-year-old white girl.

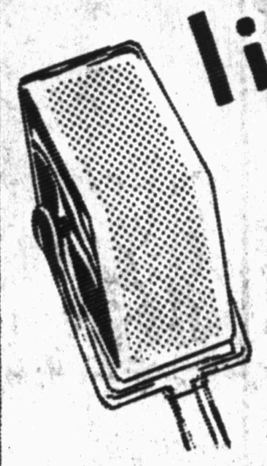

George Honey Young, 28, was charged before Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan, who ordered him held without bond.

The girl, a sixth grade school student, was attacked Saturday morning after a negro man had lured her from a neighborhood football game at the St. Mary's Catholic school playground.

She told police the negro had told her the rector of the nearby St. James Episcopal church wanted to see her.

Young was arrested at his home early yesterday.

The office of United States Attorney-General was organized by an Act of Congress in 1789.

"The more I see of people," snarled the Office Grouch the other day, "the more I lean toward the Darwinian theory of evolution!"

PEOPLE WHO lean toward the weird idea that the welfare state is preferable to private enterprise should read this story, by Irving Hoffman, in the Hollywood Reporter.

"The English," writes Mr. Hoffman, "haven't lost their sense of humor, despite the austerity campaign of the Labour Government. One English housewife suggested this recipe for a first-rate meal:

" 'Take your meat ration card, roll it in your flour coupons and put both inside your fat card. Broil it on your coal card to a gentle brown. Next take your potato card and put it is your butter card, bringing the potatoes to a simmer on your kerosene coupon. Then take your ersatz coffee card, add milk and sugar coupons and dip your bread card in it. Then wipe your mouth with your pedigree (identification) card,' wash your hands with your soap card and dry them on your textile coupon'!"

The way to grow old gracefully is to be content to let the world go on its muddled way without trying to inform, advise, or reform it.

That Man on Avenue Q says in reality, the truth is never stretched—it's just spliced with lies.

No matter how low a dollar may sink, there are always plenty of people willing to stoop as low as necessary to grab it.

THIS PROBABLY will be of interest to you—especially if you have epileptic fits.

We were talking the other day to Malcolm Dolloff about how some people carry a raw potato in their pocket to combat rheumatism and others wear brass or iron rings for the same purpose—and how some of them swear that the practice gives them relief from the disease. Then Mr. Dolloff told another story, to wit:

"When I was a kid down in Central West Texas we had a neighbor boy who had epileptic fits. His mother took him to doctors and worried and fretted about him, but all to no avail. Every so often the kid had a fit, no matter what sort of treatment he had been undergoing.

"Then one day somebody told the mother that if she'd get a clock or watch spring, sew it in a little sack and hang it around the kid's neck, he'd never have fits any more. So the mother got a spring out of an alarm clock, wound it tightly, so it would be as small as possible, then sewed it in a satin sack and hung it around the kid's neck, sort of like asafoedita.

"Well, I don't know whether the alarm clock spring had anything to do with it, or not. But I do know that this kid who had suffered from frequent fits all his life never had another fit after he started wearing the clock spring."

Personally, we don't believe wearing watch or clock springs will stop fits, carrying raw potatoes will cure rheumatism, or even that asafoetida will help whatever asafoetida is supposed to help. But if we had any of these ailments, we might try anything in an effort to get rid of 'em.

There's a lot of old tricks—call 'em old wives' tales, if you like—that have come down through the centuries. Especially do you find them in the Orient, and among the Negroes of Haiti and neighboring islands. Even in this area, there still are people—including some doctors who have seen the things work—who'll tell you there's nothing like a madstone in the treatment of a rattlesnake, or polecat bite. There's no doubt that some of them work sometimes, although their effect may be entirely psychological.

But here's a tip for mothers and fathers with kids between five and 12 who sometime get the stomachache.

Let the kid drape himself—or herself—over a banister with the banister just across the stomach, for a few minutes after a stomachache strikes.

If it's a normal stomachache, like from eating green apples, etc., the treatment will correct it.

IRA EMERICH was in the office the other day, which won't be especially astounding to any reader because Mr. Emerich isn't known out this way. He lives in New York and covers the entire country for a newspaper feature syndicate.

However, what Mr. Emerich had to say should prove of interest to anybody who likes to know how things are, in general, around the U.S.A.

Mr. Emerich, who is not especially religious, says his conversations with editors over the land in recent months have convinced him that the people are unusually restless; that underlying their thinking are vague fears of what the future may bring—and as a result they are groping for more spiritual guidance.

Mr. Emerich has more to base his report on than just conversations with editors, too. His syndicate has a feature by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, the celebrated author of "A Guide To Confident Living," and 75 of the nation's leading newspapers have paid out hard money for this weekly inspirational column during the past three weeks, alone.

Doctor Peale, who is pastor of New York's famed Marble Collegiate church, has become a tremendous spiritual factor, not only in New York, where his church is jammed every time its doors are opened, but also all over the country, as a result of his best seller, "A Guide To Confident Living." His weekly column, which is down-to-earth, packed with commonsense and most reassuring to readers seeking peace of mind, has become the talk of newspaper editors everywhere.

Mr. Emerich has been a feature salesman for a good many years. He has handled Bruce Barton, Dr. Daniel Poling and several other well known counsellors who write very well, and whose inspirational columns in newspapers have attracted millions.

But he says he has never seen any feature of that type "go" like the Peale feature is going. The reason, he says, is because of the indescribable searching around in the U. S. for sound, spiritual guidance — outside of the sanctuary as well as in it.

PECULIARLY, A day or two after Mr. Emerich's visit, we had a conversation with the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, the widely known preacher and evangelist who also gets around a great deal.

Without knowing anything about our conversation with Mr. Emerich, Doctor Norris told us practically the same thing.

"All over the country," said Doctor Norris—who runs a seminary with 500 students currently enrolled from all over the nation and whose Fundamentalist Baptist organization now has 3,000 congregations—"people are groping for God. We are standing on the threshold of the greatest religious revival the world has ever seen.

"The condition," he added, "is not confined to the United States. I have found it, recently, in travels abroad. Furthermore, it is not confined to any denomination, or to any sect. It is general with the Jew, the Protestant, and the Catholic."

Doctor Norris, while still the electric personality he always has been, is, at 70 or thereabouts, no longer the firebrand he was as a younger man.

His constant travels about the U. S. and in the far-flung countries of the world have convinced him, he says, that Communism will lose its fight to conquer the world.

"But Communism will not be defeated," he says, "by war, or legal action, or by any of the man-made methods. The world-wide revival of which I speak and which is coming as surely as tomorrow, will be the deciding factor."

Incidentally, The Avalanche-Journal soon will begin publishing Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's inspirational articles weekly.

BY DREW PEARSON: EUROPEAN OFFICIALDOM KOWTOWS TO JUNKETING U. S. SENATORS

Solon's Wife Describes Vacation On The Taxpayers

WASHINGTON—When the Swedes failed to roll out the royal carpet for a party of junketing senators, two of the snubbed solons—Elmer Thomas, the Oklahoma speculator, and John McClellan, the Arkansas Dixiecrat—actually threatened to cut off Marshall plan aid to Sweden.

This served as a none too subtle hint to other countries that the best way to stay on the Marshall gravy train was to butter up the wandering senators. As a result, the senators and their wives are now having the vacations of their lives.

PEARSON

This has been revealed in a personal letter from a feminine member of the troupe—McClellan's wife, Norma.

Though the senators are supposed to be studying how to save the taxpayers' money, Mrs. McClellan writes: "John is truly relaxing and having the time of his life, and he and I are having a long delayed honeymoon."

To help the McClellans enjoy their second honeymoon and the other senators to take a round-the-world vacation, the taxpayers are furnishing an air force plane and crew plus five army and State department officials. There is even a special doctor along.

The senator's wife also gives an idea of how other European countries, anxious for Marshall plan dollars, are bowing and scraping before the junketing senators.

"These people over here stand in awe of us," writes Mrs. McClellan breathtakingly. "Each country that we visit seems to be trying to outdo the one we have just left in entertaining us. Nothing that can be done is left undone.

"Just as an example . . . when we arrived in Norway, we were met at the plane by our ambassador and many of his top officials, and the king's top officials, army, navy, etc. . . . A spectacular air show was planned as a greeting to us, and then a luncheon by the minister of defense. Every minute of the afternoon was filled with interesting and exciting things to do. . . .

"That evening," continued the wife of the senator from Arkansas, "the prime minister of Norway opened one of the oldest castles in Europe and gave a state dinner in our honor. . . . Our way to the castle after entering the gate . . . was lighted by flaming torches like those used in ancient times and sentries stationed every few feet. I wore a silver satin dinner gown with train . . . (but) it broke my heart to get my train so dirty on those stone floors.

"When we left our hotel to enter the limousine that took us to the castle," Mrs. McClellan continued, "the police had to keep the crowds back that had gathered to see us. . . . Part of Norway borders Russia, and we have to be well guarded over here.

"I have to pinch myself to believe all this could be happening to 'little ole me'."

All at the taxpayers' expense.

"Ike" Loses Priority

General Eisenhower, who once had the best view out of the Pentagon building, has been crowded out of his plush office overlooking the Potomac.

As a five-star general, he is entitled to a permanent office in the Pentagon. But the exclusive, outer ring of offices—reserved for big shots only—is so crowded with brass hats that Eisenhower has been squeezed out.

An attempt was made the other day to find a room for Eisenhower, but Lieut. Gen. Willis Crittenberger, a working general, got first priority.

General Marshall still has his Pentagon office, but Eisenhower is out in the cold.

IT'S an odds-on bet that John L. Lewis will not again defy the law, as he did in the 1948 strike, by continuing the coal strike in opposition to the Taft-Hartley act.

Those close to him say that Big John is certain to keep the mine workers on the job when the three-week strike "truce" expires December 1. There are several good reasons:

One is that his union members wouldn't stand for another fine, such as the $1,420,000 contempt-of-court levy slapped on him for refusing to obey a back-to-work injunction last year.

There has been considerable rank-and-file grumbling among the destitute miners, who haven't received a full pay check since June 30—and no pay checks at all in almost two months. They say they could have used some of that $1,420,000 to feed their families.

Furthermore, several UMW locals already had returned to work before Lewis declared the current "truce," while other defiant locals were preparing to do so on the very day he ordered them back.

Finally, the solid front presented by all the operators has dashed Lewis's efforts to make a separate contract with one group to be used as a lever on the others. In past coal strikes, it was the operators who usually were divided, while Lewis's union was strongly united behind him.

All of which explains why John L. Lewis has lost this strike—the first one lost since Franklin D. Roosevelt came to his rescue and saved the UMW from folding up in 1933.

Big John can't possibly salvage enough in increases in a new contract to make up for the lost pay of the miners in their 52 days of idleness.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THE teacher was telling a mother what nice manners her child had and the mother's answer was: "I'm so glad to hear that. We have five children and we can't give them all the advantages a lot of their friends are being given. But I figured there was one advantage I could give them at home, and that was the advantage of good manners."

MILLETT

In all their striving to give their children advantages a lot of modern mothers overlook the important advantage of good manners.

They'll pinch and save and do without so that Susie can have dancing lessons and Junior can learn to play a musical instrument or go to a summer camp—or do whatever the other children are doing.

They'll spend hours each week chauffeuring their children to dancing lessons, swimming lessons, music lessons and so on and so forth so that their children won't lack any of the advantages the other kids are being given.

Overlooking Biggest Advantage

BUT they may entirely overlook the fact that one of the most important advantages their children should be getting right at home is the advantage of good manners.

Often today children from the so-called "best homes" have such bad manners they aren't welcome anywhere. If they are rude to adults, irresponsible about other people's property, or smart-aleck know-it-alls all the advantages they may have had don't make them acceptable.

It wouldn't be so bad if we could let our children grow up without any training in manners and then wave a magic wand which would make them polite, gracious young people when they hit the adolescent years. But it can't be done.

Good manners need a firm foundation that takes years to build. But the mother who sees to it that her children develop good manners is giving them an advantage that wil lhelp them as children and later will open all kinds of doors to them.

IN I'm a Busybody, author Carl Glick describes some of the amusing experiences that befell him when he poked his head into other people's affairs. One day on a side street, for instance, he saw a heavily - rouged, overdressed harridan of sixty or thereabouts walk determinedly up to a deserted, boarded-up brownstone house, extract an empty champagne bottle from a paper bag she was carrying, and smash said bottle on the steps of the house.

Mr. Glick lost no time in rushing over to her and asking for an explanation of this unusual rite. The lady answered soberly, "I lived in this house when I was a young girl. It's gone to pot and so have I. Nerts to it!" After a pause she added, "By the way, nerts to you, too."

FOIL THE SAFE-CRACKERS

Several factors make Lubbock and the South Plains particularly attractive to safe cracksmen at this season. Many establishments keep large sums in cash on hand during the harvest period.

While there may be no absolute safeguard against such criminals, many precautions usually can be taken. One of the simplest is to keep the business safe in a place where it can be seen clearly from the outside at all times while the store is closed.

Recommended as an even more effective safeguard is the delivery of each day's receipts to the bank after closing time—preredably with armed escorts when the trip must be made at night. Then leave the store safe open so that some cracksmen will not ruin it by trying to break into it.

These precautions unquestionably would be inconvenient. But the protection of sums of cash which might range from a few hundred to several thousand dollars might make inconvenience highly profitable

Denver Socialite Returns To Mining Town To Run "Saloon"

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., Nov. 21 There is an old-time saloon here named the Glory Hole. It has a picture of a naked lady over the bar and the bar itself is as old as the town, which was founded in 1859.

RUARK

A piano bangs constantly in one corner and the saloon is filled with hairy people in rough clothes.

It is a kind of tough saloon on occasion when the miners come down for a weekend on what is left of this old bonanza city. On those nights the place is apt to get a little noisy but is generally kept under firm control by the saloon keeper.

The saloon keeper is a lady named Emmy Wilson who sometimes wears ski pants and sometimes wears original gay 90 dresses and Mae West hats. This lady lives atop Gunnellhill, long ago the site of the red light district which was administered by a strongminded female named Lou Bunch.

The thing about this saloon keeper is that she is a Denver socialite, granddaughter of a hardy Welshman named Evan Smith. Old Evan once rassled about $8 million in gold out of these hills and was altogether a rough cut customer.

Amazes Denver Society

Legend is that on the night Emmy's grandpa died, her grandmother, also named Emily, was weeping bitterly and being comforted by friends. Finally one comforter remarked, with considerable asperity, "for the Lord's sake, don't carry on so, Emily. It's the first time in your life you ever knew where Evan was at night."

The modern Emily, also a widow and a grandmother now, is a pleasant looking lady with a lot of her grandpa's fiber in her. She astonished Denver society with her decision to return to the abandoned mining town where Grandpa tore the gold from the hills.

The difference between Emmy and old Evan is that she is taking her gold from the city slickers who have made a cultural shrine of Central City.

The city of Denver is strictly a three-general town. The old man came out and struck it rich. The children took over and consolidated the gains, spreading them into industry and fattening the coffers thereby. The old boys' grandchildren have turned out in varying ways—some weaklings, some hell raisers and idlers, some pinch faced and greedy, some languid and super-sophisticated.

FEW HAVE reverted to the original stuff of the old freebooters, which is why the bridge circles buzzed when Emmy Wilson returned to Central City to open a saloon. That was three years ago and since then Emmy has had the time of her life.

She tends bar, on occasion, and waits table, on occasion, and quiets down the drunks, on occasion, and makes enough money out of the operation to warrant a recent offer of $75,000 for the Glory Hole.

"This is a hell of a lot more fun than playing cards every afternoon," Emmy said, expertly drawing a beer fo ra late blooming customer. "It is also a lot more fun to throw a cocktail party when the guests are paying 40 cents a slug for their drinks. You couldn't drive me back to Denver."

Puts On Fancy Clothes

In the summertime when the high-toned actors come to this ghost town to put on their plays and the opera opens up, the rich grandchildren put on their fancy duds and come up to accumulate culture. Then Emmy breaks out her Mae West clothes and is quite a sight to see.

The place is jampacked with curators of the quaint, such as Lucius Beebe. And Emmy regards the clanging cash register with a broad grin.

In the winter, she gets quite a play from the college kids who come to ski and drink beer and sing. Her weekend bartender, Al, is a Denver university law student specializing in Napoleonic law. Other folks come up because Saturday night in Central City is still a fair grade bucket of blood.

Emmy loves it all, and seems to have reverted to type. She took me up to see her fantastic collection of authentic 19th century duds and on the way we stopped to admire a daguerrotype of old Evan, her grandpa. Emmy grinned at grandpa in a raffish sort of way, and grandpa, I could have sworn, twinkled wickedly at his pantsclad descendent.

SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES ACCUSED

12 Georgia Men Go On Trial In Beating Of Seven Negroes

ROME, Ga., Nov. 21. (AP) — Twelve men were called today to answer federal charges of conspiring to put the law of the lash above the law of the land.

Seven negroes were flogged by a band of 50 to 75 men in Ku Klux Klan robes April 2. The 12 men called to trial, the government said, helped in the floggings.

A grand jury held on Aug. 3 that the conspirators were Dade county Sheriff John W. Lynch, three of his deputies and eight others.

Deprived Of Rights

They conspired, the jury found, to have the negroes arrested and then, while in lawful custody, seized by the mob and whipped.

Thus, said the jury, the negroes were deprived of their right to equal protection under the law and their rights of immunity to punishment save through the courts.

U. S. District Attorney J. Ellis Mundy said he expected most of the day to be taken up in legal skirmishing with the defendant's attorneys. He added it might be Wednesday before the trial actually not underway.

Meanwhile, the grand jury which returned the original indictment is to deconvene Tuesday to dig deeper into the case which, the government has indicated, is far from closed.

Since Sheriff Lynch first reported the floggings, federal bureau of investigation agents under John C. Bills have swarmed into the county just across the state line from Chattannoga, Tenn.

After the beating of the seven negroes a cross flamed on the side of famed Lookout mountain and a large pattern of violence began manifesting itself in the Blue hills around Chattanooga.

Before the spring was out more than 20 men had been whipped by hooded nightriders for various reasons—drinking too much, going to churches which the band did not approve, not working and failure to support their families.

For the trial oday the government already has called 65 witnesses, including the Ku Klux Klan's imperial wizard Samuel Roper.

Going on trial with Sheriff Lynch are three of his deputies—N. Stokes McCauley, William M. Hartline and John Bleckley—and eight others, Robert Lawrence Keener, Terrell T. Wheeler, Truman Purcell, Woodrow Daniel, Sam Peters, Farris Durham, John Wilkins and L. C. Spears.

Pretzels get their gloss from being dipped before they are baked, in a soda solution, or a very weak solution of lye water.

Rites Today For Boy Crushed By Tractor

CLAUENE, Nov. 21 (Special) — Eleven-year-old Wayne Hollis was killed about 5:15 p. m., Sunday, on the Bert Wise farm near here, when the tractor he was driving turned over on top of him.

Young Hollis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hollis, was reportedly maneuvering the tractor around the Wise yard before a group of children, when he cut the wheels too short in making a turn, and turned the tractor over.

Rushed To Hospital

His brother, "Sam" Hollis of Levelland, who was visiting his parents' farm about half a mile east of the scene of the accident, rushed the boy to the George C. Price Funeral home in Levelland.

Attendants there took him to the Phillips-Dupre hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival. His head had been crushed by the weight of the tractor, and the attending physician said he apparently died instantly.

Funeral services were to be at 3 p. m., today, at the Fellowship Baptist church here, with the Rev. R. S. Sparkman of Wells, officiating.

Burial was to be in Levelland cemetery under the direction of the George C. Price Funeral home.

Survivors include his parents, and two brothers, Wilburn D. "Sam" Hollis, and Ronnie Hollis, both of Levelland.

Car Is Turned Into Maternity Ward As Twin Girls Born

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 21. (INS)—An automobile speeding 85-miles-an-hour was turned into a maternity ward Sunday as a mother gave birth to twin girls 20 miles apart.

The race with the stork began at the little Arkansas river town of Devalls Bluff, some 60 miles east of Little Rock.

With the stork nearing, the fast-moving automobile picked up a state police escort at Carlisle, about 40 miles from Little Rock.

The first baby was born as the car careened madly along the highway 20 miles from Little Rock and the hospital.

All Doing Well

The second baby was born minutes later as the car dashed across an Arkansas river bridge separating Little Rock and North Little Rock.

The father, 24-year-old Johnny Gollegher, says he pushed the car up to 90 miles an hour after the police escort took over. Golleher's father, motherin-law and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Foot, were the attendants at the births.

TALENT DEPARTMENT—Entertainment orchids should go to Mrs. Frank C. Goodwin, wife of a Lubbock physician, for her beautiful soprano voice.

In the same category is pint-sized Travis Hammer, a 16-year-old Lubbock High school junior whose deep baritone voice received a rising ovation Friday at the American Business club luncheon in the Hilton hotel. From appearances, he looks like a tenor. He says he's never had a voice lesson.

Story of the Week:—L. J. Hurst and Bert McGinnis are still talking about the unpleasantries they encountered recently when they officiated a football game at Whiteface. As soon as they arrived at the field, McGinnis discovered a flat tire. About the same time a strong norther blew in. To add to his misery, Hurst's pants split and it was halftime before he could get them pinned. The second half was rather uneventful inasmuch as it only rained.

Five Sunday Blazes Cause Minor Damage

Only minor damage was reported in five blazes extinguished by the fire department Sunday.

Two of the fires were at cotton gins. A bale of unginned cotton was damaged slightly at the Fortenberry gin at Monroe at 9:25 a.m.; and two bales at the Tudor gin southeast of the city at 9:15 a.m.

Other blazes were a grass fire at the East Broadway entrance to Mackenzie State park at 9:20 a.m.; a cane fire on Thirty-ninth between Avenues A and B at 12:50 p.m.; and a faulty hot-plate in the kitchen of an apartment occupied by Don Edwards at 2318 Ninth at 12 p.m.

The mother and twins are doing well in the hospital.

Beating, Robbing Of Man Is Investigated

SPUR, Nov. 21 (Special) — A man, who was unidentified by sheriff's officers here, reported being beaten and robbed Saturday by two men who offered him a ride, after he was found on the highway 2½ miles south of here.

He told officers he was trying to get a ride to Dickens about 10:30 p.m., Saturday when two men picked him up and then took him in the opposite direction.

One of them, described as being six feet tall, over 200 pounds, and wearing boots and a large white hat, then brandished a gun and forced him out of the car, whereupon the man and his companion beat him and took his money, he told officers.

Officers said he told them he had lost approximately $130.

A passing motorist discovered him at the side of the road, and took him to Spur. He was not injured seriously, suffering only bruises and abrasions.

Action Against Reds Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) — Fresh demands that the United States use force against the Chinese Communists drew only an official silence at the State department today.

The demands are prompted by the imprisonment at Mukden of an American consul; Angus Ward. He and four members of his staff have been held since October 24, on charges of having beaten a Chinese employe.

Yesterday, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said in a Formosa news conference that he had radioed President Truman, demanding a blockade of the Chinese Communist coast if the Reds fail quickly to release Ward. Knowland is touring the Orient.

Already Blockaded

There was no official comment here in reply. Last week State department officials indicated informally that they doubted a U. S. blockade would bring the Communists to terms. They said the Chinese Nationalists already have cut off imports to Communist China fairly effectively.

George N. Craig, national commander of the American Legion, also called for forcible action. He said in a week-end statement that the United States stands "ridiculed before the world," and added:

"The American Legion calls upon the government to serve notice on communist leaders in China that Consul General Ward and his associates must be released unharmed by an early specified date, or armed forces will be dispatched to obtain their release."

The State department has been asking for advice on the Chinese situation generally. General George C. Marshall, former secretary of state; Harold Stassen, president of the university of Pennsylvania, and John D. Rockefeller III were among a group of 25 American leaders who have been called in.

More Russian Troops Reported In Albania.

BELGRADE, Nov. 21. (AP)—Responsible sources say Russia has increased the number of her military men stationed in Albania to an estimated 12,000 to 15,000, about twice as many as were there four months ago.

The reports, apparently authentic, came from responsible non-Yugoslav sources who said, however, they could not give the exact number of Russian forces in the little Soviet satellite which is surrounded by Yugoslavia, Greece and the Adriatic sea.

The reports said the Russian newcomers to Albania appeared to be technicians, officers skilled in guerrilla warfare and training experts.

Some sources here thought the influx of Russians might be part of the war of nerves against Yugoslavia and Premier Marshal Tito. Others said such Russian reinforcements could indicate plans for a guerill a hit-and-run warfare against Tito, with Albania as a base.

Such guerrilla warfare might try to provoke Tito into reltaliation, thus giving Russia an excuse for open military aid to Albania, with which the Soviets have a friendship treaty.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 146 or 150 pounds."

But Men Are Really Rugged, Mayor Warns

Don't Overlook Alaska While Husband Hunting, Girls Told

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Looking for a good strong man to build life around, sister?

Well, if you're a robust, warm-blooded girl, don't overlook Alaska. The odds are in your favor there.

"It's a great place for a girl to find a husband," said Maurice T. Johnson, mayor of Fairbanks, which he says is the third largest city in Alaska and "the largest one farthest north."

It has 12,000 people, counting its farflung suburbs.

Bond Issue Voted

"There are about three men to every woman—maybe more—throughout the territory," said Johnson, adding this note of caution:

"But a lot of young girls who came up there and saw our rough-hewn old miners might feel disappointed. They might even want to turn around and come back."

However, though the men are as rugged as the scenery, a girl needn't worry about there being any lack of heat in the long Alaskan winter.

Mayor Johnson and City Clerk E. A. Tonseth came to Manhattan to fix that. They had the chore of signing a $4,500,000 bond issue to build Fairbanks a new municipally owned power plant and water treatment system.

"It was the first revenue bond issue ever floated in Alaska," said the Mayor.

Baseball At Midnight

Johnson said Times Square failed to come up to the norther lights in splendor, and opined the climate here didn't equal that of Alaska.

"In June we can play baseball at midnight without artificial lights," he remarked. "It never gets dark in summer."

The mayor, before taking off for Fairbanks, expressed relief he had been able to complete his business in New York before winter trapped him here.

"I understand you had a 25-inch snowfall in one day a couple of years ago," he said. "Why, we never have a snow like that up home. Only had 31 inches all told last year. Don't see how you handle it all."

John Garner

went to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the man with whom he served as running mate two terms.

Cactus Jack said he was going to retire from politics after he swore in Henry Wallace as his successor in 1940. He did just that. He has taken no part in local, state or national campaigns. But he's still remembered and respected by the nation's leaders. Last year, President Truman stepped off his campaign train for a big, "Texas" breakfast with Garner.

Makes Fewer Trips

Up early, tending to chores around his "Uvalde ranch," the nine acres with the big pecan trees, doing what he wants is the daily routine Garner has followed.

About the only change these days is the fewer fishing and hunting trips he makes.

Born in Red River county, Nov. 22, 1868, Garner could have fitted the role of an Alger hero. He walked to and from a crude school house three miles from home, studied law at Vanderbilt university in Tennessee for a year, started practicing at Clarksville, Texas, when he was 22. He later moved to Uvalde. It was here he found ambition to be a statesman "burning upon him like the Texas sun on a prairie dog village."

Church Rites

Others taking part in the ceremony were Elders C. P. Collier, Raliegh Martin, Paul Sherrod, Hollis Allen, Fred Pinkston, and Liff Sanders. Elder Jimmy Kerr could not be present.

Seating capacity in the auditorium of the new church will be approximately 2,100 with 1,500 being seated on the main floor and 600 in a balcony to the rear.

The chapel just east of the main special services, will seat 250. It will be wired to the main auditorium, so that it may be used when an overflow crowd is present in the auditorium.

An educational department will provide space for 1,500 students. Plans also are being made for hearing aids to be installed in the auditorium.

Before the year 1001 Swedish rulers were known as Kings of Upsala.

Southern Ireland Is Claimed Ready To Take North Counties

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21. —General Thomas Barry, hero of the rebellion that preceded Ireland's independence, says his countrymen are willing to fight to regain the six British-controlled counties of Northern Ireland.

The six counties have remained under British supervision since Ireland declared her independence 30 years ago and the country was partitioned by England.

Speaking here yesterday at an anti-partition rally of the United Irish societies of western Pennsylvania, General Barry said:

"We had to take the 26 counties of southern Ireland by force. We will probably have to use the same methods in Ulster (Northern Ireland)."

General Barry, who is on a montht-long tour of the U. S., said the Irish government has set aside $100,000,000 to buy guns, adding:

"We have all the money we need. Our air force is weak and our navy has only a few sloops but we have the manpower where it counts."

causing the rattle; and Lakas, who plays a tom-tom, which was lent to him by a co-ed and is similar to those used in Mexico. Rodriguez is vocalist with the band.

Entertained At Dance

The band frequently asks a co-ed, Miss Maxine McCollum, to tap-dance with the band, and she often asks the band to play for her when she has a tap dancing engagement.

Latest engagement of the band was at a dance sponsored by the Cosmopolitan club Saturday night in the Green room of the recreation building. Open to other students and held for purpose of raising funds for club work, the dance attracted more than 100 students.

Included in a variety of entertainment offered during a floor show were several numbers by the band.

A decidedly international flavor pervaded the room as young men from Peru and from Mexico and from other countries danced with girls from the United States.

Club Purpose Cited

Although jitter-bugging was learned by some of the students in their own countries, some of them have developed the jitterbug technique to greater extent since coming to Texas, said Jim D'Acosta, from Mexico City, president of the Cosmopolitan club.

D'Acosta said the Cosmopolitan club has six aims: To bind together all international students in Texas Tech; to further a spirit of international goodwill in this community; to publicize Texas Tech in countries from which the members come and throughout the world; to take active interest in those problems of interest to foreign students; to locate, orientate and aid in any other way new foreign students coming to Texas Tech, and to provide means of educational entertainment whereby persons who come in contact with international students will become broadened through the experience.

Speak English At Meetings

Club officers are D'Acosta, president; Lakas, vice president; Miss Matina Zanga from Greece, secretary; Labang Naw from Burma, treasurer, and Perea, reporter.

Five countries are represented by the officers.

In addition to its 30 members, the club has 11 honorary members, including presidents of language clubs and the International Relations club on the campus. The Texan who is a member of the band also is an honorary member of the club. He majors in foreign languages.

The club was organized last January. D'Acosta has been president since its organization.

"We speak English during club meetings," said D'Acosta. Members are anxious to learn English, so they can study and also so they can carry on conversation with other students unable to speak their languages.

The Cosmopolitan club president is a brother of Emil D'Acosta, who was graduated from Texas Tech in August and now lives in Fort Worth. Their mother is a native of the United States.

the campus in September. The program will be the first testing grounds for the enlarged program planned by the director.

Rigid Standards Set

With greater plans still in the formative stage, Dr. Hemmle has already reported the establishment of applied music exams for students at the college. Every person taking private voice, piano or orchestral instrument training building, which will be used for must pass rigid standards set up by the music faculty at a private concert given at the close of the semester before the entire faculty, Dr. Hemmle said.

These applied exams will serve to lift the standards of Tech musical graduates and raise the department's standing as well as the quality of graduating students, the director asserted.

He pointed out that as yet there is no really widely-known music school in this part of the state.

doubled efforts by cities to spread out their populations and industries.

As other acts of preparedness, Wiley recommended that Congress should "consider legislation by television from 30 to 40 scattered points in the nation," and "the question of a mobile capital, if necessary, on railroad trains where legislators and key government officers could continue to direct the affairs of the nation."

One of the several improved devices to increase the chances of survival of persons forced to abandon ship on the high seas is a life jacket which will hold the face of an overboard man upward and out of the water.

Good Crop Of Pecans Is Ready For Yule Season, Growers Say

ATLANTA, Nov. 21 (U.P.) — A strictly-American Christmas item, pecans, is moving steadily up in the South's agricultural picture, and growers believe this will be a good year.

Pecan-growing is a major industry in some south Georgia counties, and the belt extends from the seaboard down along the Gulf Coast into Texas and the Mississippi Valley, where the nut was first found growing.

The principal season for sales in the shell comes between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and a high mark of about 150,000,000 pounds is expected to be produced this year.

Hernando de Soto left the first written record of pecans, noting in 1541 that natives of the Mississippi area used them for food. Indians called any nuts "pecans," but French settlers confined the term to what we know as pecans today.

Market Unsteady

They first hit the commercial market around 1880, when Texans sent 1,250,000 pounds to markets in the East. The spread of the area of production was fast after that, as new varieties were cultivated by grafting and speculators began planting and selling large plots.

But the market was unsteady for such a "luxury" item, and the yield could not be forecast accurately. It still is difficult to grow pecans, because of disease, insects, the expense of sprays and the oddity of alternate years of heavy and light yields.

Since 1925, the number of trees has remained about stable at 4,600,000, but the number of trees of bearing age has gone up steadily.

The federal reserve district bank here recently completed a study of the industry and found that pecans cannot be counted on as a single crop. The practice of grazing cattle in grass between the trees has been found to help the trees, and produce a cash return for beef at the same time.

Sexual Molestations Rise In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21. (AP)—Some 25 cases of sexual molestation of children—way more than usual—have been reported in Los Angeles in the week since six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucoft was slain sadistically.

The citizenry here is so keyed up about the situation that a mass meeting will be held tonight under the sponsorship of parent-teacher groups. Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss methods of dealing with sexual criminals.

Fred Stroble, 66-year-old retired baker, will appear today for a preliminary hearing on charges of choking, bludgeoning and stabbing little Linda to death after molesting her in a bedroom.

Stroble now is in solitary confinement after jailers reported "rumblings" among other prisoners.

"I have heard rumblings and rumors about what other prisoners might try to do to him," said Chief Jailer Charles A. Fitzgerald.

Great Grandmother, 67, To Marry Today

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21 —If the eight attendants at Mrs. Catherine Ginther's wedding today bear a family resemblance to the bride, that's all right. They're her great-grandchildren.

The eight volunteered after Mrs. Ginther, who is 67, announced she would wed Charles Ward, 82, in the climax of a romance that started on a California-bound train last September.

Mrs. Ginther met Ward while on her way to visit her son. Ward, a retired farmer of Wisconsin Dells, Wisc., was on his way to visit a daughter on the west coast.

The couple will honeymoon and live in Wisconsin Dells.

License Of Captain Suspended For Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 21. (AP)—Justice R. L. Kellock today ordered suspension for one year of the license of Capt. William Taylor of Sarnia, Ont., master of the ill-fated cruise ship Noronic.

A 99-page report on the disaster has been delivered to transport minister Lionel Chevrier for presentation to the House of Commons later today. The Noronic burned at her pier in Toronto Sept. 17, with a loss of 119 lives.

The suspension order was contained in an accompanying brief judgment delivered by Justice Kellock in the Canadian Supreme court.

Air Force Honors Son of Lubbockite

KADENA AFB, Okinawa, Nov. 21—Corporal Lonnie C. Camp, son of Mrs. Mary E. Camp of Lubbock, Texas, has been selected as "Airman of the Month" for October, by Colonel D. M. Crabtree, jr., commanding officer of the 1811th Airways and Air Communications Service Group.

The "Airman of the Month" is a competitive program among the Airmen of the second four grades, with each individual being judged upon his merits of soldierly appearance, leadership, efficiency, and reputation of character. In being selected as a model Airman, Corporal Camp is exemplificative of the qualities for which this commendation was made. Camp served as the Training NCO in the Operations and Training Section of Group Headquarters.

Although this is his first tour of duty on Okinawa, he saw service in this area of the Pacific while serving with the United States Merchant Marine in 1945. Prior to his enlistment in the Air Force, he was affiliated with numerous firms in Denver, Colorado, where he resided for five years.

Wretched Glamor Girls Of Movies Upset

Flagpole-Of-Month Award Is Voted For Lady Nancy Astor

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21. (AP)—Lady Nancy Astor, who recently described film actresses as "wretched glamor girls," is the motion picture industry council's first candidate for its new "flagpole of the month" award.

The U. S.-born noblewoman, in an appeal in London for funds to help pay for study in Britain by university women of other countries, aroused the ire of the film capital by declaring:

"I feel the world is being swept off its feet by Hollywood. We hear nothing but tales of these wretched glamor girls."

Laughton Replies

As individuals, movie folk were quick to reply. British-born Charles Laughton was probably the most outspoken.

"Who in hell cares what Lady Astor thinks about women in Hollywood so long as men in this county (the United States) are satisfied with them," he declared.

Last night the council, representing 35,000 people in the film industry, announced its award. A spokesman stated that by virture of their public reply to her, the "wretched glamor girls" have nominated Lady Astor.

Poles Vary In Size

"We are awfully tired of people who use attacks on Hollywood . . . as a convenient device for getting their names in the paper," the spokesman explained. "Flagpole sitting has been the most obvious resort of the space hunter and we can think of no better reward for pure publicity seekers like Nancy Astor than to give them their own flagpole to go sit on."

The flagpoles will come in various sizes. There's the toothpick size for people with midget minds, and the five-foot economy size for those who can't stand high places.

The council said Lady Astor would receive a folding flagpole for people aboard whose flagpoles might present shipping problems.

Candidates within the industry itself will receive a flagpole which comes to a needle-sharp point.

Sir Harry Lauder's Condition Improved

STRATHAVEN, Scotland, Nov. 21 (AP)—Sir Harry Lauder's physician is confident the 79-year-old comedian will recover from the blood clot and kidney ailment that made him critically ill three months ago.

The physician, Dr. John Stewart, said Lauder sat up in his bedroom yesterday, cracks jokes and is enjoying his pipe again.

Fire Razes Business Buildings At Austin

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (U.P.)—A midtown fire of undetermined origin today gutted a recreation center and bowling alley before 10 companies of firemen brought the blaze under control.

One fireman, A. G. Loney, received emergency treatment for cuts received when a ladder on which he was standing crashed to the ground.

British Railways has insulated 1,000 fish trucks to insure better deliveries.
