TEXAS STORMS DO HEAVY DAMAGE

CHURCHMAN IS SHOT AND MAN KILLS HIMSELF

EPISCOPAL BISHOP IN SOUTH CAROLINA IS CRITICALLY HURT

(By Associated Press)
CHARLESTON, S. C., June 4.—The Right Rev. W. A. Guerry, Episcopal bishop of the South Carolina diocese, was shot in the chest and critically wounded at Episcopal headquarters here today by the Rev. J. H. Woodward of Brunswick, Ga., who then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide.

The shooting took place shortly after 12 o'clock but no announcement was made until more than an hour later when hospital authorities disclosed that the bishop was making no sign of recovery. No reason for the shooting was given.

The bishop's condition is said to be critical. The Rev. Woodward was the way to the hospital. The bishop and the Georgia minister were alone in the bishop's office at the time. Persons outside the office said there had been no shooting nor any indication of a quarrel.

The only explanation, it was said, was that Woodward suddenly became enraged.

Woodward was endeavoring to locate the operating room at 2 p. m. when he came down on Franz Josef and the bullet.

HOPE RENEWED FOR DIRIGIBLE BY RADIO CALL

AMATEUR OPERATOR IN SOVIET CLAIMS HE HEARD MESSAGE

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Russia, June 4.—(AP)—Convicted of the possibility that the missing dirigible Italia may have come down on Franz Josef Land east of Spitzbergen, the Russian Noble relief commission has decided to send an expedition to that little known region.

MOSCOW, Russia, June 4.—The Soviet Russian Noble rescue commission, which has been investigating the disappearance of the dirigible Italia, today held a growing belief that the Noble expedition may have landed at that place.

The radio amateur at Voznesensk, in north Dvinsk province bordering Archangel confirmed reports of the message giving the full text, although apparently garbled, of the appeal. It read:

"Italia Noble Franz Josef's SOS. SOS. SOS. SOS. Terri Teng Ehn."

This message was received on a 3335 wave, corresponding to the Italia's radio station, the amateur operator stated.

Franz Josef land is an archipelago lying east of Spitzbergen and north of Novoe Zembla, running between 60 degrees and 82 degrees north and 42 degrees and 64 degrees east. It is a high glacier covered land reaching an extreme elevation of about 2,400 feet.

The islands are volcanic. Bear and fox are the only land animals and insects are rare.

MOONSHINERS FEUD FEARED CAUSE OF DEATH OF MOUNTAINEER, THREE MEMBERS OF FAMILY IN OKLAHOMA

(By Associated Press)
MCLESTER, Okla., June 4.—A theory that a moonshiners' feud may have been responsible for the deaths of Ed Jackson, mountaineer and three other members of his family, was being investigated here today.

Jackson's decomposed body was found by searchers yesterday on his isolated farm in the Jack Fork hills, nearly 50 miles southeast of here. Because there is no telephone communication with that district, officers here had not learned how he came to his death. They were told, however, that no weapons were found near the body.

Bodies of Jackson's 15 year old bride of a year and his son, Orvil, 16, were found Friday by a prohibition enforcement agent who was searching for a still which was discovered during the investigation of the crimes. The body of Jackson's 10 year old daughter, Abbie, was found Saturday in a corn field near the house.

A warrant had been issued for Jackson's arrest by W. E. Gotcher, county attorney, before the mountaineer's body was found. Neighbors had told that Jackson was jealous of the attentions paid by his son to his girl wife.

A ATLANTIC FLIGHT BEGINS

SURPRISE AIR EXPEDITION BY WOMAN STARTS

SCIENTIFIC FLIGHT TO ENGLAND PROMISED IN SECRET MOVE

(By Associated Press)
TREPASSEY, N. F., June 4.—The plane Friendship, groomed for a trans-Atlantic flight, landed here at 1:28 eastern daylight time. It left Halifax, where its flight from Boston was interrupted by fog yesterday, at 8:35 a. m. eastern daylight time.

Secret Jump Made Boston To Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., June 4.—(AP)—A surprise trans-Atlantic air expedition was under way today with a Boston social service worker, who in appearance is somewhat of a feminine counterpart of Lindbergh as co-pilot. A secret flight was made from Boston to Halifax yesterday in a monoplane named "Friendship" by two men and a woman enroute to Trepassey, N. F. for the hop across the ocean. The monoplane hopped off early this morning on the next leg to Trepassey.

Wilmer Stutz, who was pilot for Mrs. Francis Wilson Grayson on her first attempt to fly the Atlantic last year, is pilot of the plane. The co-pilot is Miss Amelia Earhart, amateur aviator, and director of Denison House, Boston's oldest settlement center. She is of fair complexion and bears a striking resemblance to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh whose trail leading path across the north Atlantic she hopes to follow.

Louis Gordon of San Antonio, Texas, is flight mechanic.

Plane Pontoon-Equipped

The plane, equipped with pontoon, is a tri-motored Fokker purchased from Commander Richard E. Byrd.

It was the last decision day before the summer recess and a decision is not probable until the court resumes next October.

Sinclair appealed from a sentence of three months in jail and a fine of $500. He had declined to answer questions during the senate committee's investigation into the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to him by Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior.

HEAVY WINDS AND ELECTRICAL DISPLAYS SWEEP BIG AREA IN STATE; HAIL IN MANY PLACES

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, June 4.—Damage to crops and small buildings amounting to many thousands of dollars has been caused by a severe wind and rain storm that swept through northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma last night and early today.

Breaking suddenly after several days of sultry weather, the storm encompassed an area bounded roughly by Elk City, Oklahoma, Seymour, Texas, and Dallas, Texas, and left in its wake young cotton and wheat crops flattened out, many houses unroofed and windows broken, but, as revealed by early reports, no loss of life.

Three persons were injured indirectly, one seriously, at Wichita Falls. Charlie Tracey was gravely hurt in an explosion at a laundry which was struck by lightning. Two men were injured at Dallas when their automobile was overturned by wind.

Buildings Blown Down

A small building was blown down off at Iowa Park, and roofs taken off of others in the wide area centering around Wichita Falls. Trees were blown over and plate glass windows smashed in two shops in the business section of Dallas.

Telephone and telegraph wires throughout the storm area were temporarily put out of commission and communication with several towns were broken.

Brownfield, to the southwest, received several inches of rain, one of them falling in the immediate vicinity of the town and lasting for several minutes. The streets were filled with water for several hours afterwards.

To the west and southwest the rain was in spots, according to reports. Various points received both rain and hail while others were not touched by either.

Slaton and vicinity were visited by only light showers, reports said from Plainview, west to Olton and from Abilene, north to Amarillo, roads were slippery and in some instances were closed for a time because of automobiles slid into ditches yesterday and near Abilene occupants of two heavy cars miraculously escaped injury when the machines slid together, wrecking both of them badly.

Heavy Hail Falls At Meadow Sunday

Gardens, grape vines and automobile tops were also damaged by the large hail stones.

The rain was not needed at this time but did no harm, farmers said today. Crops were in the best of shape and were three weeks to a month ahead of time when the hail fell.

LUBBOCK COUNTY SCHOOL TAX RATE TO BE REDUCED 20 CENTS, JACKSON INDICATES TODAY IN BOARD ORDER

The school tax rate in the city of Lubbock will be reduced from one dollar to eighty cents.

That is the essence of a statement secured today from A. C. Jackson, School Tax Collector, regarding the school tax situation for the coming year.

"In all probability, the rate will be lowered twenty cents," Mr. Jackson said, "making it eighty cents on the hundred instead of the one dollar now assessed. At least there is to be a considerable reduction because the board ordered it in their recent meeting."

The reduction of the rate is the lowest tax rate that the city has experienced in several years. The one dollar rate has been in effect several years since 1925 prior to that time 90 cents was charged.

The reduction of the rate is brought about through the employment of the new unit tax system which the school board used this year in cooperation with the city officials.

With the announcement that the school tax would be reduced, and it is almost certain, officials said today, that the city tax rate will also be lowered. The city equalization board is still working with tax matters and as soon as their work is finished an announcement regarding the city rate is expected.

MAYE and MOM Their Letters

Well, dear, the storm is over, and all is well on the Potomac. At least temporarily. Alan hasn't bought a revolver, nor have I attempted suicide.

It wasn't your letter, or it wasn't any conciliatory moves on Alan's part that brought about the reconciliation. It was a friend of Shirley's. I had luncheon with her the day after Alan and I had our little run-in—when we were still giving each other silent treatment.

Janet, that is her name, is a stenographer. And I hope to tell you she is something to feast the eyes on—cute, slim, snappy, with a face so young you can't believe it ever could sag or droop. Just how any man could have her around and not fall desperately in love with her, is more than this poor brain could figure.

For no reason whatever, we got on the subject of employers and their wives. Janet said she wondered why so many women were jealous of their husbands' stenographers. Or why they imagined that they had no thought in their heads but to vamp their employers.

Then Janet told me about her boss. It seems he's really an awfully fine person, and a promising architect. Janet said he is married to a woman about five years older than he is, and that she devotes her life to being jealous of hubby.

Janet said the wife is always popping in out of breath, apparently hoping to find them in some compromising position. Janet says she can just feel her voice get full of sniffs if she calls up after five and Janet answers the phone. And she always treats her like a servant when she talks to her.

"And the ridiculous part of the whole thing is that her husband is absolutely crazy about her, and when the wife Janet admitted she couldn't understand why Janet said that if most women really knew what stenographers thought of their bosses, they would never bother to be jealous. As she talked, I seemed to see the light. After all, I do hate jealousy. And I hate not to be a square shooter.

So, when Alan came home, I just hit from the shoulder—told him everything and laughed at the romantic evening I had planned. Alan was a brick. Then he said that I had confessed, he would too—he had worked until late and then had taken his stenographer out for a bite, and they had sat and talked, and he found how late it was. He came home how late it was. He came home with apologies, feeling really quite contrite and ran into the little act described in our last issue.

The honest confessions cleared the atmosphere and we had quite a romantic evening. Yours for truth.

One-Minute Interviews

Chivalry Still Lives, Even In Political Life

Women holding any sort of jobs today, and especially women in public office, must work as human beings and not as women, according to Genevieve Cline, the first woman customs appraiser of America, who has been nominated by President Coolidge to the bench of the U. S. customs court of New York. This appointment would make Miss Cline the first and only woman federal judge in America.

Once upon a time women expected chivalry from men and got it, she says. "We still get it, but in a different way. We get it by playing fairly and squarely and not asking for special favors just because we are women."

"We must remember that all women in public life are being watched with more scrutiny than any man on any job ever received. Our success or our failure is the success or failure of all women in public life. We must not endorse women for public office merely because they are women. We must insist that all women for whom we vote are as well qualified for public office as any man."

"Women on jobs must take criticism and suggestion from both men and women with a little better grace than many of them do. Living and working is neither a man's nor a woman's job. We all must play the game and do the job together."

Thought For Today

The Lure

The top of Mount McKinley in Alaska, is believed to be the coldest point on earth.

Never-ending winter reigns on this forbidding mass of rock and ice. Twenty thousand feet above sea level, close to the inhospitable Arctic circle, the lonely mountain is the very incarnation of storm-bound desolation. The winds that lashed barren crags howl unheard in all recorded time. Only three men have climbed to the top.

One of the three is Harry Karstens, superintendent of Mount Mc-Kinley National Park. His plans to go back there this year. In 1919 when he and two companions climbed to the top they left a temperature-recording instrument there. He wants to get it and see what extremes of cold have griped the towering peak since his other visit.

There is something about extreme hardship and danger that seems to act as a magnet for some men. Peril, loneliness, discomfort —there are men to whom these things are a perpetual challenge.
Mount Everest, lofty and unconquerable in the Himalayas, has entombed on its slopes the bones of many men who gave their lives in an effort to reach the top. The wild Arctic wastes have seen the death of many men who had no good, common-sense reason for going north of the British Isles.

We are always told that these men are trying to increase the scope of scientific knowledge. If Editor Homer Sien, of the Floyd County Hesperian, regains his thermometer, it is explained, he will add a great deal to what scientists know about the extremes of cold in the Arctic high altitudes.
Doubtless this is all very true.
But it doesn't seem to tell the whole story. It is easy to see that the very difficulties and dangers are the real attraction.

These frozen wastes are forever beckoning. It is as if their storm-bound desolation kept repeating:
"We are unconquerable, and the man who tries to conquer us dies." While some men are always muttering, "It's that so?" lighting his pipe and going up to have a try.
It is not true that men can only be attracted by appeals to their love of ease and wealth. That is a lie invented by the dollar chaser.
Cold, peril, darkness and loneliness could always draw men away from indomitable strain in the human race, a hardy recklessness that can never be submerged.

Politics

The United States Chamber of Commerce has done well in passing a resolution repudiating "all those who indulge in commercial and political corruption."

Everyone with any sense, of course, knows full well that the standard of ethics among business men is as high as in any other class of Americans. Yet the various ramifications of the Teapot Dome case have been unpleasant and disturbance. For a time it looked as if the leaders of business were going to let the public assume that Sinclair, Stewart and the rest were fair representatives of the business world.

Now they have spoken, and spoken in a way to give small comfort to Messrs. Sinclair and Stewart.
The chamber is to be commended for its attitude.

A Kansas woman was granted a divorce because her husband struck her with one of her own biscuits.
The judge decided it was extreme crudity.

The farmer gets only a dollar a bushel for corn. It seems to be much more profitable to sell it by the quart.

We haven't heard much yet, but

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says narrow streets can't accommodate much auto traffic and narrow minds are similarly handicapped in handling busy streams of thought.

The latter part of every week the publications of the South Plains and West Texas come to The Plainsman desk and he finds so much of interest in them that he wishes it were possible for every man and woman in Lubbock to see them. If more of us were able to keep in touch with the doings of our section, as portrayed in the weekly press, we'd be more than ever sold on our territory.

Sketching through recent editions of a number of papers of the section The Plainsman finds that airports are being discussed and planned in practically every place of any size at all. Midland business men have been so wide awake that they already have an airport, which, with the exception of the flying field at Fort Bliss, near El Paso, is the best between Los Angeles and Fort Worth. The Midland port has been classed as "Excellent Plus" according to the Midland Reporter, and as a result will be a control stop for three classes of planes in the approaching coast-to-coast air races.
Thus, Midland, a hustling oil town with plenty of financial backing and foresight, is in the vanguard of aviation in West Texas.

Several other places report better building years, their citizens enjoying the sight of new residences and business structures going up all around.
Plainsman says the News of the place has passed the half-million dollar mark and is still going strong, while the Daily Banner the Abernathy Review the Scurry County Times of Snyder, the Floyd County Hesperian of Amarillo and the Herald at Big Spring all point with pride at the "new towns" are making in building.

The Service feels the need of a Federal building and is not hesitant about saying that better postoffice facilities should be afforded by Uncle Sam. Howard county is busy with a better high school campaign backed by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and our friend Garland Woodward, former Lubbock attorney and one time president of the Kiwanis club here, is one of the big guns in the Chamber of Commerce there. Howard county by the way is adding a public health nurse to its list of officials.

Ninety percent of the taxes for last years have been paid in, says The Plainsman News in commenting upon the excellent financial condition of Hale county and

Editor Homer Sien, of the Floyd tomers that Floydada has let a

In a page 1 box the Scurry County Times tells the world that there are not enough homes in Snyder and that the Chamber of Commerce is receiving from one to five calls for modern homes and apartments every day. Lots of new people are moving to Snyder, says the Times, which means that the Scurry county capital is keeping step with the rest of the territory from a standpoint of progress and growth.

The Plainsman has read them all—the papers from Sinton and Tulsa, from Brownsville and Lubbock, from Amarillo and Southland, from Lordsburg, Crescent, Idalou and Dickens and he finds the same tale in different words in each and every one of them. West Texas is forging ahead and forging ahead rapidly. The business leaders are sensing the situation and are using foresight.
They have the faith upon which cities are built and are setting about to the task of building them and the world is slowly but surely finding out the truth about West Texas.

Lubbock, of course, is having a splendid year. Those of us who reside here are delighted with present conditions and prospects for future progress. Yet it should make

Here Are The Reasons Why Correspondents At Washington Don't Forecast Much—According To Hon. Rodney Dutcher

In New York
By Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, June 4.—Manhattan's girls are in an open revolt against those cafes which have steadfastly refused to allow women to have a cigaret with their coffee.

Discovery of such places in the very heart of the bright lights belt has for years been a great disappointment to visitors who look upon New York as the last word in "free and easy"—next, of course, to Paris. Yet Victorian customs are observed quite as rigidly in Manhattan as elsewhere.

The other night I beheld two young men being tossed from a notorious speakeasy for daring to flirt with two unaccompanied young ladies. Piqued to the point of desiring revenge the young men informed a passing policeman that hard drink was openly served in the resort. "Yeah," smiled the copper. "Well if ya want ice cream soda why don't ya go to a drug store?"

IN a place on Forty-second Street where mildy is not allowed to smoke, a dignified, white-haired gentleman who looks as though he might have stepped from Victoria's Court, goes gliding about with a white card poised in his left hand. These cards read: "Ladies will kindly refrain from smoking."

The other day a group of young women decided to defy the ruling.
Taking out their cigarettes, they began to puff away when the elderly man approached and deposited his card. One of the group looked at it and then, in excellent French, informed him she could neither read nor comprehend the English language. By the time a translator had been rushed up, they had finished their cigarettes and coffee.

They returned the following day and were spotted at once. While they ate, the white-haired vigilante secured an interpreter and had him read. Seeing that the game was up another spokesman for the group explained, in excellent German that she could neither read nor understand the English language. That was her story, and she stuck to it.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, June 4.—In a presidential year the favorite words of the Washington correspondent are "but on the other hand."

In such a year he deals with westward and never predicts anything without leaving himself a large loop-hole to crawl right back through. Surely anyone who reads Washington political stories at all must have been struck with the frequency of "many say this, but others say that" formula.

It does seem as if a political writer ought to be able to come out and give his readers the low-down and what's what and what's going to happen. If he can't read the future himself he ought to have enough political friends who can tell him about it.

But it doesn't work out that way at all. At the moment it doesn't take a very bold spirit to predict that the national conventions will nominate Hoover and Smith. Many of "us boys" are beginning to do it.
And yet quite a few others will play safe right up to the conventions.
After that most politicians and correspondents will both enter a long period of doubt running right up to election night.

"So-and-so ought to win, but—" One reason such expressions are written in news dispatches until it's all over is that anything can happen to spill the beans; that a fellow hears so many contradictory stories for the truth is that the politicians who are supposed to be so smart and shrewd that they are able to forecast all political results in advance even if they aren't themselves arranging them are usually just as dumb as the correspondent.

The correspondent's persistent question is "What do you know?" and so is the politician's question. "What do you know?" and so is the politician's question.
They are both asking the same question around here. Conceded that Hoover could be nominated, and there are still one or two rather potent politicians who insist that Smith will be blocked.

The boys aren't ever quite sure where lies logic. Thus we find a group explained, in excellent German that she could neither read
nor understand the English language. That was her story, and she stuck to it.

STEWARDSHIP

All life is a stewardship. That we think, was the purpose of the Lord in the presentation of the parable of the wicked and unfaithful husbandmen who seized the vineyard of their master. First the vineyard keepers murdered the servants of the master, and finally they killed and cast out the son who was sent as a special emissary to receive an accounting. Then the story continues—the Lord of the vineyard came in all his might and destroyed the unfaithful keepers, and gave the vineyard to others. Assuredly, the parable is a warning to us as well as to those who heard Jesus tell the story.

God places men and women on the earth and endows them with everything necessary to their comfort and happiness. He gives them physical and mental strength, and provides them with limitless opportunities. Having done so, God expects that men and women should him a fair portion of the fruits of their lives, giving an accounting in the manner in which they have administered the trust placed in them.

If the life is wasted, if it yields no fruit to the God who gave it, if his ownership is repudiated and his emissaries denied entry into the heart, then what can one expect except the punishment that is merited by an unfaithful servant?

The lesson also has an application in public life. Every man or woman who is elevated to a place of public trust and responsibility should be diligent in the execution of every duty, constantly recognizing the fact that honest and unselfish service is demanded by the public. Our United States supreme court recently delivered a scathing denunciation of men in places of great responsibility who had failed in their handling of an important public trust, and such corruption is universally condemned wherever there is the least bit of righteousness in public opinion.

Yet, should we condemn the unfaithful public official if we are unfaithful stewards in the handling of our own lives? Is a responsibility to the government any more insistent than a responsibility to God?
Assuredly not, for if there is an absence of gratitude or honesty or sincerity in our make up, we must recognize God as the great Giver of all life, who not only gives it but controls it and blesses it from day to day. Moreover, if we do not love God and serve him because we believe in him, but only in mind the fact he is going to demand an accounting of us and that his judgment is inexorable. Those who have been faithful in the stewardship of life will be rewarded for their fidelity, and those who are unfaithful will be destroyed, as completely and as definitely as were the unfaithful keepers of the master's vineyard who selfishly denied the right of the Lord to share in the fruits of their labors.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Every person that is entrusted to carry on the work of the people in public office should be diligent and honest in the performance of their duty. This is a duty that they owe it, and it is an obligation that they take at the time they are sworn into office.

People should elect only such men to office. Men should not be placed in office just because his name is Smith or Jones or Brown or something else, but he should be placed there because of his ability to serve, and his ability to do the work that his office calls for.

FRENCH JIBE CHANNEL FAKER French holiday makers of Men-ton poked fun at the English colony during the recent carnival by displaying a float alluding to the London woman doctor who "swam" the English channel in a boat. The float showed the figure of a woman holding on to the leg of a giant duck by whose aid she was apparently getting across the channel. As duck in the French language is "canard," and the English instantaneously recognized what the word meant, in English, the bit was met with much laughter on the part of both the French and the visitors. On the float was also a boat, pushed by the duck, the manager of the swimmer, the weather experts, and the man who had certified that she had performed the feat, watching her do it through a blind telescope.

The real doubting will come after the nominations and with Smith running, it is easy to understand why. Already the political wisen-men are busy asserting facts and factors and trying to guess just how they will operate. In another month the "some insist that—while others believe—" stories will blow out more profusely than ever.

How large is the anti-Catholic vote? Can Smith get all the foreign element? vote and how important will it prove to be? What will the farmers do in the doubtful states?
How many votes can be won by Smith's personality? How many lost by his Tammany antecedents and what? If Hoover is nominated, how effective will his radio campaign be? Will his poor platform appearance handicap him at all? Will the border states white voters react unfavorably to his anti-segregation policy at the census bureau? What will become of the 5,000,000 La Follette voters of 1924? How many people aren't sharing in American prosperity and will they vote accordingly?

How can anyone answer such questions as these? Even the count of the vote won't answer some of them.

But they're all material for speculation. And there will be a lot more speculation than prophesying.
Republicans will be able to sleep nights, remembering their land-slides in the last two elections.
Democrats will rise in the mornings, full of hope, realizing that 1928 has

BARBS

Oysters and Sopranos

UNDERSEA radio experiments off Hatteras and Beaufort, N. C., had to be discontinued "because singing oysters made so much noise that the delicate radio mechanism was affected." We suggest some of these oysters be signed up in place of the unsung ones. Probably the oysters threw a wrench into the radio works with a few ditties about those old crustacean mothers of theirs.—Or, probably the urge to song was provoked by thoughts of going back, back, back to where the allies seaweed groves.
—But it's barely possible some oyster has written a hit and called it "Bye, Bye, Bivalve" and the oysters are all carolling it in their beds.—Any way, it seems to be a job for some censor or other. It sounds like a shell game to us.

A rookie policeman in New York heard shots, investigated and caught a gunman. Well, he's a rookie, and it can be overlooked this time.

It's an odd thing, but those backpack Hoover believe Goldidge can keep cool without being taken in a draft.

RAW SALADS

Fresh vegetables, diced, grated, or sliced finely make headliners and appealing salads. Water cream, mayonaisse or mint should garnish them.

SUGAR PORK

A pork roast will get browner and tastier better if you rub a teaspoon of brown sugar into it with the flour you coat it with.

WALL STREET TRADING
NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market opened with an outburst of strength. DuPont opened 7 points higher at 40 1/2. Case Threshing Machine was up 2 to 3 1/2 and Allied Chemical 1 1/2 to 1 3/4. A new high record. Armour A opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 19 1/2, up 1 1/2, and a new peak. General Motors first sale was a block of 7,000 shares at 201 followed by an advance to 202. Gains of a point 1/2 in Chrysler, Packard and Prepost Texas were offset by similar declines in U. S. Rubber common and Radio.

The sharp recovery in prices Saturday undoubtedly influenced considerable short covering, and some new buying in stocks under sponsorship of powerful pools.

Case Threshing Machine quickly extended its gain to 7 points by touching 32 1/2. New peak prices also were recorded by Anaconda Copper. Advance Rumely common, Briggs Manufacturing, Cerro de Pasco, Easton Axle, Hupp Motors, Warner Bros. Pictures A and Warner Quinlan, the gains ranging from fractions to nearly 5 points.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with sterling cables unchanged at $4.88 3/8. French francs declined fractionally to 33 1/2 cents on selling, presumably inspired by the uncertainty of stabilization plans.

The closing was weak. Speculative selling for the short account met with much success in the final hour. The jacking up of call money for new loans to 7 per cent for the first time since June, 1921, coincided with extensive liquidation of high-priced shares, caused many representative issues to sell from 15 to 18 points under last week's closing figures. Radio went down 18 points. Curtiss 9, Wright 8, General Motors 7 1/2, Case Threshing 7, General Electric 6, and Du Pont, American International and Western Union 5, from where they left off last week.

GEOLOGY CLASS AT TECH BEGINS SUMMER'S JAUNT

Out for a 5,000 mile jaunt which will carry them through the majority of the western mountains, ten students of Texas Technological college under the direction of Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the department of geology, left today on the second annual summer geology field trip of the school. The trip is being made in the college bus and the students are to be away from Lubbock for six weeks.

The party will go through Colorado by way of Denver, visiting all the leading points of geological interest there and then onto Cheyenne, Wyoming. From there they will visit the Yellowstone National Park and then continue on to the Glacier National Park. On their return they will visit Idaho, Utah, Nevada and various other places.

Besides studying the various formations on the trip, the students will visit all the leading mines in the section, paying special attention to the general geology of the section.

The students making the trip are: Ira Clingensmith of Hart; Claig Perry, of Coleman; Paul Hargrove, of Colorado; Carl Schultz, of Dallas; L. B. Worley, of Snyder; Russell Thompson, of Ballinger; Frank P. Wilson, Wayne Burkhardt, Daniel Boone and Ned Camp, of Lubbock.

eleventh coach and set fire to four other coaches which were destroyed by the blaze. The number of casualties was not definitely known.

Included among the wounded were Wu Chun Sheng, governor of Heilunkiang province, and minister of agriculture of the former Peking regime. They were in the next car to that of Chang Tso-Lin.

Chang To Continue North China Rule TIENTSIN, China, June 4 (AP)—Although Chang Tso-Lin has withdrawn to Manchuria, and the presidential palace at Peking, which he occupied as northern dictator, is empty, he apparently intends to rule north China as long as possible.

Premier Pan Fu, who accompanied Chang as far as Tientsin telegraphed the secretary of the northern cabinet and the ministers of foreign affairs and interior instructing them to refer matters to Mukden, from which yplace mandates would be telegraphed to Peking. He announced that he would join Chang in Mukden and establish the temporary office of the cabinet there.

Government Transferred
This was generally interpreted as the transference of the government to Mukden, leaving ministers at Peking to attend to internal and external affairs pending further military reverses at the hands of the nationalists. If further reverses should occur it was expected that the ministers would go to Mukden.

Meantime northern troops remained holding a front to the south of Peking and the west of Tientsin toward which a large force of Shantung troops under Marshal Sun Chuan Fang of the northern military alliance were moving.

All the foreign defense troops, including American marines were taking precautions in Tientsin. The Japanese concession was practically closed to traffic. Railroad stations, light and water works were guarded by the international defense forces.

League May Take Up China Protest
GENEVA, June 4 (AP)—The protest of Chinese business men and bankers against the Japanese occupation of Shantung may possibly be discussed privately by members of the council of the League of Nations. President Aguero Y Bethancourt told the Associated Press today. He made the statement prior to the opening of the first meeting of the fiftieth session of the council.

WOMEN LAUDED FOR SUCCESS AS OFFICE HOLDERS

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, June 4.—Women are making a success not only of their use of suffrage but as officeholders. Mrs. William B. Alvord of Detroit, chairman of the department of American citizenship of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told the nineteenth biennial convention of that organization today.

Reporting on the results of a questionnaire designed to survey the participation of women in government and citizenship, Mrs. Alvord said that despite discouraging notes coming, rather than they had lost their position, experts said.

"10:20 a. m. coast time—near surface now, 3,000 feet. Everything O. K."

here and there, the returns showed that women were responsible for new schools, hospitals and other needed public improvements, as well as for "a ne wtone" at the polls, simply because they are working hard for the things they want.

In regard to the efficiency of women office holders the replies on the questionnaires were almost unanimous in agreeing that feminine office holders are "very efficient."

This part of the questionnaire also reveals that women are becoming candidates for all offices.

Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams, vice chairman of the division of Indian affairs reported that the federation had made great progress in its efforts to obtain justice for the American Indian.

A word from the publisher...about advertising

The products you see consistently advertised in this paper are worthy of your confidence.

It takes two things to make a consistent advertiser. One is a strong conviction that he has a product that will hold its place in public favor despite competition. The other is actual proof of that—the increasing popularity of his product.

If his product will not stand the test of comparison he would simply be throwing his advertising investment away. If the buying public rejects his product after it has been offered in advertising he has thrown his advertising investment away.

That's why the merchant who advertises his merchandise consistently is very sure of his quality—and why you may be sure of it, too.

Read the advertising here in your newspaper—it will guide you to the buying of worthy merchandise.

HARMONY

Here's a university man's idea of it

He wears a Hart Schaffner & Mark Dixie Weave suit because it has the authentic style that puts him in harmony with other well dressed young men.

Its fine, porous fabric puts him in harmony with the weather no matter how hot—th. t's how cooling they are

Even the price harmonizes with his ideas of value—

STOCK MARKET NOW PLAYED BY MANY NOVICES

EYES OF THOUSANDS TURNED DAILY TO TRANSACTIONS

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL, (Associated Press Financial Editor) NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market, once the preserve of big business, has become the speculative playground of the world. Actors and automobile salesmen, bankers and bootblacks, college professors and clerks, doctors and doormen, society matrons and stenographers—rich and poor everywhere—have put their surplus funds into securities and created the greatest stock market in the history of Wall Street.

Each business day the eyes of tens of thousands of persons are focused on 7,300 stock exchange tickers, located in 137 cities of the United States and Canada, as they grind out the rapidly changing fluctuations of hundreds of stocks with their message of hope or despair. Thousands of other persons center their attention on the 1,200 tickers of the New York curb market, scattered among 22 cities east of the Mississippi and in Eastern Canada, and on those of the Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and other large exchanges.

Stock market gossip has become a common subject of conversation over countless dinner and bridge tables, on passenger steamships, in Pullmans and in numerous other places, in many of which stocks or bonds were seldom mentioned before the present big bull market broke its way into the front pages of the newspapers. Financial pages of newspapers, skimmed over and seldom read by many readers years ago, are now a subject of absorbing interest to millions of persons.

In New York, hundreds of shop girls and young men, in the low salary class are to be seen running over the stock tables in the subways and on commuters trains almost as intently as bankers, brokers and other men of affairs. Some of them turn to the financial pages "just to see what the boss's stocks are doing," while others frankly confess that they have taken flyers in the market, and, curiously, airplane issues are among the most popular of the five stocks.

Several large commission houses have openly attempted to discourage speculation on the part of persons of small means by demanding full payment in cash on small lots of securities, or a minimum credit balance of $2,000 with 25 to 50 per cent margin on securities purchased. These demands have been met, and the fact that 144 mutual savings banks in New York showed a net loss of $15,562,272 in deposits during April has been construed in some quarters as an indication that such deposits have been used for the purchase of securities.

Women, who were barely seen in brokerage offices years ago, are now a big factor in the market. In New York City one large firm has devoted an up-town office exclusively to their use and others have set aside special rooms for them. Scores of women pay daily visits to stock offices and play the market like seasoned male veterans. Brokers report that women are more inclined to play hunches than men, but that they also possess greater staying qualities in stocks which they have reason to believe contain special merit.

Much investment buying. While speculation has been a primary factor in bringing about the recent series of 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 share markets, and the increase in broker loans from $1,138,785,000 at the end of January 1927 to nearly $5,000,000,000 at the end of last month, there has also been a continuous increase in investment buying. Despite the widespread public participation in the market, leading brokers report that speculative accounts are unusually well margined, and that hundreds of thousands of shares of stock have been paid for and taken out of the market. This seems to be borne out by the steadily increasing number of shareholders in the country's leading railroad, public utility and industrial enterprises.

New Mark In Auto Sales Is Predicted

June shows promise of being an even greater month than May in the matter of the sale of new automobiles, the records in the office of County Tax Collector I. F. Holland show. The registration of new automobiles for May fell short of the 200 mark only by a few machines. A total of 695 new cars have been registered since Friday, May 1. Machines were registered today by G. B. Derrick of Ladou and W. P. Soash of Lubbock.

Buildings and roofs were damaged. It was reported the storm destroyed a gin at Jernyn, 30 miles east of here. Haskell also reported considerable damage from the hail and rain.

Communications In Fort Worth Out

FORT WORTH, June 4 (Special)—Telephones and electric lights were put out of commission here last night when an electrical storm swept the city. A total of 25 of an inch of rain fell during the night and it was still raining at mid-forenoon today.

SURPRISE HOP

off Halifax. Stultz turned back and landed in the harbor here. Plans call for a stop at Trepansey only long enough to fuel the plane, then she will head out across the Atlantic for London, her destination.

The flight is the first attempted by a plane equipped for landing on water, and is expected to prove the practicability of airplane service to Europe.

Scientific Journey. "It is understood that the backers of this enterprise are interested primarily in scientific experimentation of air transportation over water," said a statement from Mr. Putnam.

How well the secret was kept is shown by the fact that even Miss Earhart's superiors in the Boston social service work seemingly were unaware of her plans. She had asked for a leave of absence, which was granted, but had not told of her plans for the ocean flight.

The take off in Boston, shortly after dawn, was made without benefit of newspaper reporters. Even Miss Earhart's mother and sister were not present, being informed of the take off by telephone. A fourth member of the party, Lou Gower, who had intended to accompany the party, was unable to do so because of a cold.

Three Wright Motors. The Friendship had a wing spread of 71 feet and was powered with three 220 horsepower Wright whirlwind motors. Its weight, with crew, fuel supply and pontoon, is slightly in excess of 12,000 pounds. It is equipped with a 600 meter sending and receiving radio equipment and emergency radio equipment for sending messages in event the plane is down with motors silent.

"Lindbergh" Girl Is Picture Of Colonel

BOSTON, June 4 (Special)—This city's "Lindbergh" girl today was determined to be the first of her sex to emulate the famous birdman.

She was Miss Amelia Earhart, 30-year old social service worker and airplane pilot, who with Wilmer Stultz, noted aviator, and Lew Gordon, a mechanic, took off from here yesterday on the first leg to Hell-fax, N. S. of what they hope will be a trans-Atlantic flight to England.

Looks Like Lindbergh. An artist has remarked that Miss Earhart looks more like Lindbergh than Lindbergh himself. When her picture was published along with news of her flight comments about the similarity were general. She has short curly blonde hair and a Lindberghian smile. Her features are notably like the colonel's.

For three weeks preceding yesterday's sunrise takeoff, Miss Earhart had stayed at a hotel under the name of Dorothy Binney, the maiden name of Mrs. George Palmer Putnam, wife of the New York publisher who is one of the backers of the flight.

Two Other Women Spurred To Action

NEW YORK, June 4 (Special)—A woman's secret start from Boston on a trans-Atlantic air expedition today spurred two other women to activity for such ventures.

Surprised and hurt, Miss Mabel Bull, "Queen of Diamonds," who thought that Wilmer Stultz was to fly her to Europe in Charles Levine's Columbia this summer, broke into tears when she learned Stultz had flown from Boston to Halifax with Miss Amelia Earhart.

Telephoning the newspapers for information, Miss Bull said: "I can't understand it. Wilmer was down here only a few days ago and I asked him when he was coming back to fly the Columbia. He said in just a few days and that he would be here today sure."

Here she started to cry, her sobs being plainly audible. "And now he has gone and taken off with this other woman." After a moment her voice steadied and she continued, "My car is waiting down here now and I am going right out to Curtis field and see if I cannot take off at once. Captain Boutellier will fly with me."

She found the Columbia being locked up in her hangar, however. Mechanics estimate it would take two days to get the plane into shape for a ocean flight.

Miss Bull made several attempts to fly back from Europe last summer and after the successful flight of herself, Levine and Stultz to Havana last winter she announced she had hired Stultz to fly with her to Europe this summer.

ITALIA SEARCH

ible Italia, unheard from since May 25, was in full swing today after a week of extensive preparation. The ice breaker Braganza was plowing through northern Spitzbergen with search parties of Italian airplanes ready to disembark at strategic points to seek the crew of the Italia.

Early today the sealer Hobby arrived at King's Bay carrying Lieut. Lutzow Holm, crack Norwegian flier and a naval monoplane from which he will survey the polar sea off Spitzbergen. Lieut. Holm held a conference with King's Bay officers and then announced that he would be able to leave King's Bay with his plane on the Hobby later in the day.

Party Is Put Ashore. The Braganza, en route to Rein-deer land, put a search party ashore at Cape Verlegen Hook which is midway between Moffen Island and the Straits of Hinlopen. The party made a rapid survey of the

Rancher Held For Neighbor's Slaying

PAWBUKA, Okla., June 4 (Special)—Bob Kennedy, rancher of the Big Bend district of western Otago county, was held today in the Fairfax city jail following the fatal shooting yesterday of Bill Cochran, 33, another rancher and Kennedy's nephew by marriage.

Jeff Hutchinson, deputy sheriff Fairfax, was told that the shooting followed an argument over a woman between the two men's ranches. The shooting occurred on Kennedy's ranch. Cochran was killed instantly.

WAI WANTS ROYAL GUEST THIS SUMMER

HONOLULU—The Territory of Hawaii wants at least one royal visitor to be present at the 150th anniversary celebration of its discovery by Captain James Cook, H. M. the Prince of Wales, has been extended a special invitation to attend the sequentennial here. August 15 to 19.

Governor Wallace R. Farrington expressed the hope that His Highness would accept the invitation, which the Prince greatly enjoyed his last visit and at the time he desired to return for an extended stay.

Native pageants and ceremonies, including the landing of Captain Cook and his reception by the natives at Waimea, Island of Kauai, are one of the features of the event. At Kealahou Bay, on the island of Hawaii, a tablet marking the spot where the discoverer killed will be dedicated. Native pageants and receptions will be provided in Honolulu.

ENGLISH GIRLS FADING—Suggestion by Senora Herrera, charming wife of Senor Luis Herrera, head of the Uruguayan mission in London, that English girls are not so beautiful as before World War has caused a lively discussion in England.

Senora Herrera is a leader of society in South America, and was in London before the big conflict. She declared that the girls then were, but womanly, modest, but they had gorgeous combinations with rich waves and curls.

in their hair. In her opinion they were the most beautiful girls in the world. At their best, the senora said, modern girls are just pretty and live the lives of acrobats. The remarks have caused much argument and some antagonism among both male and female champions of English girls of today.
