80,000 Steel Workers Get Contract

U.S. Demands Envoys' Recall

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.— The U. S. demanded today that Czechoslovakia recall at once two diplomatic employes in retaliation for Prague's action in ousting two American embassy attaches and jailing a clerk.

The State department announced that the American government requests the "immediate withdrawal" by the Russian-dominated Czech regime of Consul General Erwin Munk at New York and Jan Horvath, housekeeper at the Czech embassy in Washington.

Conference Is Held

Czech Ambassador Vladimir Outrata conferred a few hours later with Undersecretary of State Webb and after a 15-minute talk said that he got no explanation for the demand.

The "iron curtain" envoy was asked by reporters whether he considered the U. S. move an act of "retaliation." He replied:

"That should be clear to you."

Outrata said the Munk and Horvath now are preparing to leave the U. S., but that the time of their departure is not yet certain.

He said that under the circumstances no diplomatic protest "is possible."

Consulate Is Closed

In New York, the Czech consulate was closed and Munk could not be reached for comment on the withdrawal demand. An attendant said that the consulate was shut "because the staff is celebrating All Saints' day and the 31st anniversary of the Czech republic.

At that same time, the U. S. was enmeshed in a growing diplomatic squall with the Chinese Communist government over the arrest in Mukden of U. S. Consul General Angus Ward and four of his staff.

The State department cast grave doubts on the claim of the Chinese Reds that Ward and his associates had beaten a Chinese employe.

State department spokesmen Michael McDermott said that Consul General O. Edmund Clubb, at

Two Others Held After Incident At Post

Kidnapping, Robbery Suspect Is Sought

POST, Oct. 31, (Special) —Sheriff E. M. Bass of Garza county said he had kidnapping and armed robbery warrants for Royce W. Barry, 25, who is believed en route by automobile to California.

The fugitive is believed to be accompanied by his wife and a young daughter, Sheriff Bass said, explaining he learned that Barry elicited aid of another person to "sneak them out of a house at Seminole early this morning."

Woman Is Robbed

Barry and two other men were charged in connection with the Saturday kidnapping here of Jack Lewis and the subsequent robbery of Lewis' wife, the sheriff said.

The Lewises said the trio picked Lewis up and demanded that he give them money. He said he had none, and explained that they required him to accompany them to his residence, where they held a 1917 trench knife to Mrs. Lewis' throat. She said she gave them $33, and they left.

Two Others Held

The other two men charged were under arrest, the sheriff said.

They were identified as Max Smith, 23, of Post and Robert James Riggs, 21, formerly of Illinois. Riggs and Barry had been transferred here Friday with an oil field rig crew from Seminole.

Sheriff Bass and his chief deputy Vernon Lobban arrested one of the men, and were assisted by Jim Riddles and Noel Newberry of the state highway patrol in arresting the other.

Officers were told that the men armed themselves with the knife and a 12-gauge shotgun after one of them claimed $30 had been stolen from him in the course of gambling in a Post cafe.

The suspects happened up on Lewis, who had not been in the game, officials were told.

The complaints were filed in the justice court of J. D. King

Solons Denounce Denfeld Ouster

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Four Congress members jointly accused Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of the Navy Matthews today of resorting to "trickery, broken pledges and smear tactics" in the row over national defense.

The two Democrats and two Republicans demanded that Congress act to prevent "gag rule and intimidation" of congressional witnesses.

They denounced what they called "injustices" in the firing of Adm. Louis E. Denfeld as chief of naval operations.

HST Orders Ouster

Denfeld was ousted by President Truman last week on Secretary Matthews' recommendation that it was vital "for the good of the country." The ouster followed Denfeld's critical testimony against high defense policies during recent hearings before the House armed Services committee.

Today's four-man blast was signed by Reps. Sasscer (D.-Md.), Herber (D.-La.), Arends (R.-Ill.), and Cole (R.-N.Y.).

The White House had no further word on reports that Vice Ad. Forrest P. Sherman, now flying back to Washington, may succeed Denfeld as the Navy's top admiral.

Stopping over in London, en route from his post in the Mediterranean, Sherman said he had "no comment."

The admiral, 54, commander of the U. S. Sixth Task fleet in the Mediterranean, talked briefly in London with Ad. Richard L. Conolly, commander-in-chief of the

Brownfield Man Dies Of Polio In Lubbock

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 31 (Special)—Funeral services will be held here at 2 p. m. Tuesday for the 39-year-old father of three children who died Monday in Lubbock General hospital of poliomyelitis.

R. V. Collum, a resident of Brownfield since 1945 and an employee of the Columbia Carbonblack plant in south Terry county, died at 3:10 a.m. Monday after being admitted to the Lubbock hospital Friday. He is survived by his wife and three children and was a World War II veteran.

Funeral services will be held at the Brownfield North Side Baptist church with Rev. A. J. Franks officiating. Burial will be in Terry County Memorial cemetery under direction of the Brownfield Funeral home.

Collum's wife and children, Sandra Kay, Bobbie Jannice and Robert Denver, all live in Brownfield. Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. W. K. Collum of Brownfield; three brothers, William A. Collum of Big Lake, Stanley of Lovington, N. M., and Glenn of Brownfield; and three sisters, Mrs. Forrest Pittman, Sundown, Mrs. Frank Reed, Brownfield, and Mrs. Lois Pruitt, Steanville.

LINDA GARNER WINS FIRST PLACE

500 Youngsters Take Part In Annual Hallowe'en Parade Here

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanceh Staff Writer

SPOOKS and goblins and witches had their fling last night at the annual Hallowe'en parade, sponsored by the City Recreation department.

And so did schmoos, hoboes, gypsies, mummies, negro piccaninnies, scarecrows, and at least two Frankensteins, to describe a few of the costumed participants in the parade.

An estimated 500 youngsters took part in the annual Hallowe'en parade which wound through downtown streets last night, and in the costume judging later on the Sears, Roebuck and company parking lot. A crowd estimated at 10,000 watched the parade from city streets.

The event was directed by personnel of the City Recreation department, including A. Curtis Hamilton, Miss Zora Gifford, Curtis Barrett, Mrs. Paul Turpin, and Bill Selke.

Judges were Miss Quepha Rawls, Holland Cox, and Rev. Charles Lutrick.

First-place winner was Linda Garner, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Garner, of 3116 Thirtieth, who was cos-

Freezing Is Forecast For Area Again

THE mercury was due to drop to the freezing or below mark for the second morning in a row today, the Weatherman said late last night as the South Plains shivered in its coldest weather of the fall season.

After dipping to a chilling 25 degrees Monday morning, a killing freeze that was expected to cut the area's bumper cotton harvest slightly, the mercury managed to crawl back to a high of 61 degrees Monday afternoon.

However, chilling weather returned along with the Hallowe'en spooks last night and the temperature started another downward trend which the weatherman said would drop to 30 to 32 degrees by early this morning. A high in the high 60s was forecast for this afternoon.

New Cold Front On Way

The warmup today and Wednesday is expected to be short-lived, however, as a new cold front, which swept into the United States from Canada last night is expected to arrive over the Panhandle and South Plains late Wednesday night or early Thursday.

It was not known whether precipitation would accompany the new front or not, but the Weather Bureau station north of Lubbock said that "temperatures definitely would be lower than normal."

The new cold blast of air covers a wide expanse and was shoving into the nation from the northwest, the Weather bureau said. Strong southerly winds were forecast for Wednesday before the front arrives.

May Speed Picking

Cold weather gripped almost the entire state Monday with the chilling cold front moving into the Junction-San Antonio area where a forecast in the low thirties was forecast last night. Temperatures in the thirties also were expected in North Texas, the Associated Press reported.

Meanwhile, farmers and other South Plains residents surveyed results of the season's first killing frost. Although the freeze may hold up somewhat on cotton output, the cold snap also has its good points.

Negro Charged In Slaying Here

Bond of $5,000 was posted Monday by Nodie Lockett, 42, a Lubbock negro, charged in the shotgun slaying earlier in the day of another negro, Robert Johnson, 36.

Johnson, known as "Mus'hav'it," died about 8:30 a. m. near a gasoline station at 106 Broadway, his body riddled by three loads from a 12-guage shotgun.

Lockett surrendered in connection with the case. He signed a statement before A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, admitting the shooting.

He told Salyars he had stopped his car to have its battery charged when Johnson drove up. He said he began firing after Johnson made what the defendant believed was a threatening gesture. Other witnesses said the principals had gambled all night at Johnson's house and had quarreled. Lockett, they said, became indebted to Johnson for $170 and had been told to pay by 9 a. m.

Both had misdemeanor records, Salyars said, and each had been charged, but not convicted, in connection with shooting cases.

Burglary Complaint Filed

A burglary complaint filed here Monday named a 20-year-old Lubbock youth who only recently appealed from a judgment of five years in the state penitentiary following his conviction on a similar charge.

The complaint, sworn to by Pete Hubbard, city policeman, before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, accuses J. A. Avery of 3300-block Ave. A, of burglary of F&W New and Used store, at 1415 Ave. F.

AGRICULTURE SECRETARY IS GIVEN NEW AUTHORITY

HST Signs New Long-Range Farm Price Support Bill; Anderson Sees Need For Program Until 1960

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—President Truman today signed the new long-range farm bill and the chief author of the measure predicted farmers will continue to need government price support aid until 1960 or possibly until 1975.

The new law giving the agriculture secretary broad authority in fixing price supports did not give Mr. Truman exactly what he wanted, but the President signed the measure without issuing any statement.

90 Per Cent Parity Provided

The measure provides for 90 per cent of parity price supports on basic crops — cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, peanuts and rice—through 1950 if either acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect.

In 1951, the secretary may establish supports anywhere between 80 and 90 per cent of parity. The following year the minimum support figure drops to 75 per cent and remains there, regardless of whether quotas or allotments are in effect.

President Truman sought a bill continuing flat 90 per cent supports on basic crops indefinitely.

The bill is expected to have little immediate effect on consumer prices with the possible exception of egg prices. Eggs are one of the commodities on which the agriculture secretary is permitted to decide whether any support program will be in operation.

Meanwhile, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) former secretary of agriculture in President Truman's cabinet and chief author of the new bill, forecast that it may take until 1960 or possibly 1975 to overcome the burdensome effect of crop surpluses.

Anderson said that by 1960 the U. S should "come close to a balance" on food production and consumption.

The senator contended it was "easy to picture" an era without food surpluses by 1975. He explained in an interview:

"Food consumption is high now because of higher wages. Let's assume that this situation will pretty well continue for 25 years.

"We also have had an increase in the population. If that increase continues, you can see that the consumption of food will continue to rise but farmland will remain just about static. Thus we can easily foresee a period without big food surpluses."

Anderson said that if the picture he drew materializes, it should be possible to abolish price supports by 1960 or 1975 "without any strain whatsoever."

"Under the new bill signed by Mr. Truman, cotton and peanuts must be supported at 90 per cent so long as supplies do not exceed 108 per cent of normal. Corn, wheat, rice and types of tobacco not subject to marketing quotas must be supported at 90 per cent when supplies do not exceed 102 per cent of normal.

As supplies rise above normal, the theory is that the support price will be reduced until it becomes 75 per cent of parity for any commodity whose supply is 130 per cent or more of normal.

But the secretary may set support prices above the minimum level and as high as 90 per cent at any time he desires.

The new law supplants the high wartime price support system under which the six basic commodities plus so-called Steagall commodities, including eggs, milk, butterfat, farm chickens and others, are supported at a flat 90 per cent of parity.

Four Fliers Killed Near San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Two dog-fighting trainer planes collided in flight near here today, killing four Randolph Air Force base fliers.

Two farmers watched in horror as the low-flying planes zoomed together and brought quick, fiery death to their occupants. The charred bodies were unrecognizable.

The two planes crashed 10 miles southeast of Randolph Field.

Capt. Kent P. Carlson, 31, Portland, Ore.

First Lt. John L. Mesick, jr., 28, Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Second Lt. Lovick P. Moore, jr., 21, Temple, Tex.

Second Lt. Shelby L. Castleman, 24, Canton, Ohio.

The base said Carlson's wife and one child live in Schertz, Tex. Mesick's wife and child live in San Antonio. Moore's father now lives in Rogers, Tex., and Castleman's father, Charles W. Castleman, lives in Wilmerding, Pa.

WE MUST NOT FAIL!

The Chest Campaign

LUBBOCK'S Community Chest drive is two weeks old today and less than half of the $98,850 essential to the Chest's operation for the coming year has been pledged.

That is a bad record for any city. For Lubbock, here-to-fore always civic-minded, it is very bad.

There are two major reasons for the slowness of the Chest drive thus far.

The first is that people are not giving as the needs demand.

The second is that workers have been too few and, in some instances, not sufficiently active.

These two situations must be corrected and quickly—else the Chest drive will fail. Furthermore, a failure is likely to cause the Chest method of caring for our sociological and character-building needs to be dropped.

Either or both of these occurances would be harmful to Lubbock.

We cannot, we must not, fail to meet our responsibilities in caring for the eight agencies in the Chest. We cannot, we must not, go back to the old "single drive" system, under which too many people are asked to do too much work—and under which there is no control at all over the amount of donations sought by individual agencies.

It is unthinkable that Lubbock will fail its Chest responsibilities.

A city currently spending several million dollars for new church buildings certainly cannot justify failure to contribute a fraction of that sum to caring for needy and promoting good citizenship. A city which spends more than $500,000 per year on spectator sports and an additional $1,000,000 on casual entertainment surely can, and will, dig up a mere fraction on these two sums for use in character building and help for neighbors who cannot help themselves.

We urge Chest workers to work harder—and we urge others to join them in their labors.

We urge Lubbock's rank-and-file to support the drive with their dollars as they know they should support it.

Lubbock must not fail here.

AGREEMENT ON GERMANY SOUGHT

Vishinsky May Seek New Talks In Meeting With Sec. Acheson

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 31. (INS)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky planned today to sound out the United States on an early four-power conference to settle basic cold war problems, particularly Germany.

Vishinsky presumably acting on Kremlin instructions, is going to Washington for several days early next week to confer at his own request with Secretary of State Acheson.

Because of his visit Soviet plans for a celebration of the "October revolution" on Nov. 7 were shifted from New York to the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Reliable sources closely in touch with behind-the-scene diplomatic moves at the UN indicated that Vishinsky has in mind an across-the-board discussion with Acheson on the major issues inflaming relations between Russia and the western world.

Expectations are that Vishinsky will urge an early meeting of the council of foreign ministers, pressing upon Acheson the fact that until the problem of German is settled, there can be no encouraging outlook for stable peace or for easing the cold war.

Although Acheson, Britain's Foreign Secretary Bevin and the French have viewed with distrust and suspicion recent Soviet "feelers" and are extremely reluctant to commit themselves to another

Murray Signs Pact With Major Firm

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31. A jubilant Philip Murray signed a strike-ending agreement for 80,000 Bethlehem Steel Co., workers. He said he hoped it would hasten an end to the month-old, industry wide shutdown.

A $100 monthly company-paid pension, including federal social security, will go to employes with 25 years service at age 65 or over. A Bethlehem statement said the agreement was subjected to ratification by the stockholders.

Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers, said the strike ends at midnight tonight in plants of Bethlehem, second largest producer in the nation. The nationwide walkout has idled more than 500,000 basic steel workers.

U. S. Steel Makes Offer

Less than an hour after the announcement here, United States Steel Corp. offered to renew negotiations.

"Big Steel," speaking through President Benjamin F. Fairless, said in a statement:

"We renew our earlier proposal to sit down with the Steel Workers union in an endeavor to negotiate a mutually satisfactory program of insurance and pensions for our employes.

"Of course we will study the Bethlehem settlement which was announced tonight."

In talking with reporters, Murray said, "the solid front has been broken."

Many Rumors Reported

He admitted that there had been "a great many rumors of offers from other companies as a result of the Bethlehem settlement which had been in the air for about 48 hours."

Answering questions, Murray added: "Nobody in the government had anything to do with this deal."

The CIO leader pointed out that the agreement provides that the steelworkers cannot strike to improve the pension plan until after five years. A strike over wages could occur after Dec. 31, 1950.

Murray estimated it would cost the company $300,000,000 to finance for the next five years the pension-insurance program agreed rival of relatives, the Roy G. Wood Funeral home of Plainview has announced. Ritchey, who lived near Hale Center, died at 1:30 a.m. Monday in Plainview hospital.

Three Remain In Hospital

Meanwhile, three other persons who were riding in the Gayton car at the time of the accident about eight miles southwest of Hale Center remained in hospitals. They are: Mrs. Gaytan, 40, and her daughter, Agrora, 18, both in the Plainview hospital; and Joe Martinez, 19, of Hondo, who was described in fair condition at Hale Center hospital.

Mrs. Gaytan is in serious condition with head injuries and possible internal injuries, hospital attendants said. Her daughter suffered an eye injury. Another daughter, Oriola, has been dismissed from the Hale Center hospital.

Gaytan and the youngest child were killed outright in the crash.

An Explanation Of Those 10 Amendments

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THIS and succeeding articles will summarize briefly the explanations of and the basic arguments for and against the 10 proposed amendments to the State Constitution upon which Texans will vote next Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Let's look at them in the order they appear on the ballot:

NO. 1

An amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide civil service in counties for county employes upon a vote of the people therein.

THIS proposition is almost self-explanatory. However, it would apply only to counties of 75,000 or more population as shown by the last preceding federal census. Lubbock is the only county in this area which would be affected.

The basic arguments for it are the desirability of civil service and the fact that it could not be put into effect in any county unless the qualified voters of that county approve it.

The chief arguments against it are these: First, it is an attempt by the Legislature to stick its foot further into the door in dictating how local and county affairs shall be run; and, second, it would mean added expense in the counties adopting it—and the authority to increase the tax burden is the temptation to use it.

The weight of the argument appears in favor of approval of the amendment.

An amendment relative to sessions of the Legislature and the compensation of its members.

THIS is by far the most important of the amendments submitted. It would provide salaries of $3,600 a year—$300 a month—for all members of the Legislature. There are 181 of these—31 senators and 150 representatives. They now receive $10 a day during the first 120 days of any regular or called session, and $5 a day thereafter. It would also provide for annual sessions, instead of every two years, during odd-numbered years. It would go into effect next year if a special session is held in January, and Gov. Allan Shivers says he plans to call such a meeting.

The arguments for the amendment are that legislators now are underpaid; that annual salaries would cause better qualified people to seek legislative positions, and that annual sessions would be more business-like on the theory that the Legislature could better fore-

DEATH ENDS BRILLIANT CAREER

Former U. S. Secretary Of State Stettinius Dies Of Heart Attack

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 31 (INS)—Former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, one of the chief architects of the United Nations, died today of a heart attack.

The 49-year-old industrialist-statesman died at the Greenwich home of his brother-in-law Juan Trippe, head of Pan-American World airways.

Stettinius, hailed as the "boy genius" of American industry, and who later became one of the youngest cabinet officers in history, was found unconscious in his bedroom this morning by his wife, Virginia. He died a half hour later.

Dr. Stanley Knapp, Greenwich medical examiner, said Stettinius' death was caused by coronary thrombosis and arteriosclerosis.

Stettinius Headed Program

Stettinius, wartime head of the lend-lease program, had been suffering from a heart condition since early sprinf. He had been convalescing at the Trippe summer home in East Hampton, L. I., and went to Greenwich a month ago.

The handsome, silver-haired Stettinius was secretary of state from Nov. 1944, to June 1945, the period in which allied victory in World War II became assured.

He was only 44 when the late President Roosevelt named him to the cabinet post.

As secretary of state, he headed the American delegation to the San Francisco World Security conference which drafted the charter for UN.

Yalta Groundwork Laid

During his brief term, Stettinius helped lay the groundwork for the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference at Yalta, and accompanied Mr. Roosevelt abroad for the meeting.

Stettinius resigned as board chairman of U. S. Steel Corp. to go to Washington in 1940 to become a member of the advisory committee to the National Defense council. His rise in government was meteoric.

In quick succession he became: Director of priorities, lend-lease administrator; assistant to the President; under-secretary of state, and finally, with the retirement of Cordell Hull, secretary of state.

Private Schools Attended

He was born a rich man's son in Chicago in 1900 and was educated in private schools, before graduating from the University of Virginia in 1924.

He married Virginia Wallace two years later, and they had three sons, Edward R., Wallace and Joseph.

Secretary of State Acheson said he was "saddened and shocked" by Stettinius' death, and lauded his predecessor as a man who "made many contributions to the winning of the war and toward the building of a secure peace."

Leading UN officials paid tribute to Stettinius.

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie said his name "will live in history as one of the chief architects of the United Nations."

General Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo, declared the "United Nations has lost one of its best and most loyal friends."

The family said funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at the St. James church in New York. Burial will be private.

It was requested that flowers be omitted and instead contributions be sent to the New York Heart association or Roosevelt hospital in New York.

Woman Admits Fatal Shooting Of Admirer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31. (INS).—A shapely blonde Hollywood telephone operator told police today the story of her tawdry affair with an elderly furrier which she ended with a blast of gunfire when she became tired of his attentions.

Patsy Rogers, 25, confessed that she shot and killed 71-year-old Harry La Pides — then calmly sat down and smoked a cigaret.

"He used to bother me, call me up all the time after I decided to quit going with him," police quoted her. "He would telephone my house at all hours and disguise his voice because he knew I wouldn't talk to him."

She said that she finally went to La Pides' store to "tell him to quit bothering me, that I didn't want to see him any more."

He sent her after a bottle of wine for him, she said, and when she came back after getting a cup of coffee the bottle was empty. Miss Rogers told police that the furrier said to her:

"'Well, how about it, honey?'

"I said 'sure, but not what you're expecting,' and then I pulled out my gun and let him have it."

She said she had met La Pides in a Santa Monica bar about a year ago, adding that during their association he showered her with furs and diamonds.

The blonde had been picked up for drunkenness Saturday night and the dead man's ring, wallet and keys were found in her purse.

Y., funnyman Joe Jackson, jr., wears a 64-year-old clown costume that belonged to his late father as he trys out the jeep station wagon he will use for touring Europe. Joe, who carries on a comedy act originated by his father, will use the station wagon for a dressing room and living quarters with his wife.

Truman Notified Of Successful Proposal

Barkley, Future Wife Seek Wedding Ring In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31. (INS)— Vice-President Alben Barkley and comely Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, who said "yes" to the veep's marriage proposal after a whirlwind three-month courtship, shopped in St. Louis today for a wedding ring.

The vice-president and his handsome 38-year-old bride-to-be announced last night they would be married in St. Louis on Nov. 18.

Courtly and gallant as ever, the Kentucky statesman notified newsmen he had important news and in legislative style yielded the floor "to the senator from Missouri."

Widow Announces Plans

Mrs. Hadley, with the charm which captivates all who meet her, said:

"Mr. Barkley and I will be married in St. Louis on Nov. 18."

The vice-president said he had notified President Truman of his successful marriage proposal a few minutes before the formal announcement, and immediately set off speculation that the President would be best man.

But in Washington, presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that Mr. Truman probably will not be able to attend the wedding because of an important state committment —the formal dinner given by the Shah of Iran.

It was not immediately determined whether Mrs. Truman or Margaret would be present at the ceremony.

Barkley admitted to newsmen that he had made his proposal without buying a ring, and made a date with Mrs. Hadley to tour St. Louis in quest of a ring.

Mrs. Hadley, mother of two daughters, motored to the Park Plaza hotel and breakfasted with the vice-president this morning.

After lunch they headed for an unnamed jewelry store.

Barkley said he plans to leave for Washington, Pa., tomorrow for a speaking engagement. He seemed, at 72, as happy as at any time in his life. In fact, he told photographers snapping him standing between Mrs. Hadley and her 14-year-old daughter, Jane:

"Boy, if I don't look happy between these two, I shouldn't ever look happy again."

Mrs. Hadley's other daughter, Anne, 17, was notified of the forthcoming marriage by telephone at a school she is attending in New Orleans.

The marriage announcement climaxed the veep's whirlwind courtship of three months, which included many flying trips to St. Louis.

He never denied the possibility of marriage, and his gallantry and good humor had the entire nation backing him on his matrimonial quest.

British Princess May Visit U. S., Canada During 1950

LONDON, Oct. 31 (U.P.)—Buckingham palace sources said today that Princess Margaret may visit the United States and Canada next summer.

The trip, if approved by King George VI, will start as an official state visit to Canada and wind up as a private visit to America, these sources said.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 66, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

Stettinius Defends Agreements Reached At Yalta In Last Book

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of Edward Stettinius' last big projects was the preparation of a bok, "Roosevelt and the Russians," defending the much-criticized agreements at Yalta.

The book was for publication Nov. 3, but was released immediately by Doubleday and Co. on word of the former secretary of state's death.

Stettinius presents the background and the events of Yalta from the standpoint of a leading participant. The atmosphere he depicts is one of Russian rather than allied concessions for the sake of agreement. You get the impression that if Roosevelt relied too heavily on the agreements it was because of Stalin's display of a great desire to agree.

U.S. Concessions Balanced

With the atom bomb not yet proved and the Japanese war then expected to last two more years, Russia's entry in that sector meant the engagement of vast numbers of Japanese troops while the American invasion of Japan was being prepared. This is cited as balancing the concessions made to Russia in Manchuria and the Kuriles.

Stettinius appraised practically every one of the agreements as a victory. He cites Russian acceptance of the American conception of the UN Security council as against the voting privilege for each of the 16 Russian republics which Stalin originally sought.

He cites the "free election" pledge for Poland and "Democratic" processes for the German satellites, the military coordination agreement for Europe, Soviet concession of an occupation zone in Germany for France, and points out that Soviet intentions were softened at several points where she was in a military position to take rather than to bargain.

Stettinius asks, in effect, who could know that the pledges would be violated or that Russian help against Japan would not be needed.

Maximum Effort Natural

I have always felt that the deal for Russian entry into the Japanese war was the most easily defended of all the Yalta agreements. War is an all-out thing. Roosevelt thought a quick end to it would save a million allied casualties. To make the maximum effort in such case—even to pay heavily—is natural practice. Perhaps there should have been better appraisal of Japan's position, even without the atom bomb, but that is hard to say.

But the political agreements reashed at Yalta contained little or no guarantee of implementation. Even the words in which they were written were not defined, and are differently interpreted in East and West. Like that little word "democracy."

To be harsh, one might say that the western negotiators at Yalta had not studied their Russian lessons well. To be charitable, it is necessary to remember that western diplomats now have five more years of intensive negotiations on which to base their suspicions of the Kremlin.

Last Survivor Of 'Accursed' Georgia Ghost Town Dies

OLIVER, Ga., Oct. 31. (U.P.) A 105-year-old former slave was buried here today, and with him went the last living memory of a Georgia community that became a ghost town after it was cursed by an eccentric clergyman.

"Uncle Richard" Bryant, who died here Friday, was the last survivor of ill-fated Jacksonboro, Ga.

Jacksonboro was the seat of Screven county and a thriving town when Lorenzo Dow, an itenerant evangelist, arrived in 1820. Dow didn't find the town to his liking and his denunciations of the "riotous living" there was too much for the citizens.

Ordered Preacher To Leave

They ordered Dow to move on. As he withdrew, the preacher turned and delivered a curse on Jacksonboro, predicting that the whole town would disappear except for the home of Seaborn Goodall, who had showed the clergyman hospitality.

By the time "Uncle Richard" was born in 1844, Jacksonboro was shrinking and gradually disappearing. It was that year that the county seat was moved to Sylvania.

Enraged Man Kills Wife With Hammer

DETROIT, Oct. 31 (AP)—A Toledo businessman, enraged by his wife's interest in teaching music, beat her to death with a hammer early today and then fatally wounded her mother.

Tossing aside the hammer, he jumped in his car and raced to Detroit to tell his daughter about it. He was stopped twice on the way for speeding and released when he told officers he was "on a very important errand."

The 67-year-old building material salesman, John A. Harding, was held for Toledo police.

"I couldn't resist it," he told Patrolman Walter O'Dell of Grosse Pointe woods. "I've had the impulse for weeks."

Officers in Toledo notified by authorities here, rushed to the big, rambling Harding home. They found Mrs. Mildred Harding, 46, dead, and her mother, Mrs. Maude Thompson, critically injured.

When Harding arrived at Grosse Pointe woods, an elite Detroit suburb, he aroused Mrs. Robert Goodhand, his daughter by his first marriage.

"He seemed breathless and depressed," she told police. "He started to tell me something and finally blurted out, 'you might as well know. I've just killed Mildred and her mother. I hit them with a hammer. I'm pretty sure they're dead.'"

By the time police officers called by Mrs. Goodhand came to the house, however, Harding had grown calm.

Dancing Star Mourns Death Of Young Hollywood Dentist

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31 (U.P.)—Grief-stricken June Haver, whose first six-weeks marriage ended in divorce, today mourned the death of the man she once said she wished she'd married instead.

Dr. John Duzik, who carried the torch for the dancing star when she married his rival but finally won her back a few months ago, died yesterday in St. John's hospital in Santa Monica, Calif., of complications following abdominal operations. He was 34.

Miss Haver, 22, was at the bedside of the handsome dentist, whom she jilted two years ago before she married musician Jimmy Zito, her childhood sweetheart. She hardly left his bedside since he was stricken a month ago.

"I should have married John," she said after her marriage failed. "He's the one."

Plan To Grant More Cars To Disabled Vets Is Vetoed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (INS)—President Truman vetoed today legislation which would have broadened the federal program of buying automobiles for legless and one-legged World War II veterans to include those who lost hands or suffered eye injuries.

The vetoed measure would have furnished $1,600 to buy a car for each veteran so injured. Automobiles also would be furnished those who lost the use of limbs as a result of combat.

In vetoing the measure, Mr. Truman said similar legislation already had provided automobiles for veterans of World War II who had lost one or both legs, or the use of their legs and that most all of such veterans already had been compensated.

He said that the new legislation would have extended such compensation to veterans of the first World War as well as providing for vehicles for veterans of the second conflict with arm disabilities as well as impaired vision.

He said that the result of the new legislation would be to "abandon sound principles of rehabilitation."

The president declared that if the bill were approved it would not be "clear how or where we can stop this progressive expansion of granting automobiles short of one for every disabled veteran."

Rites Set Today For Lubbock Cotton Man

Funeral services for W. A. (Add) Clark, 60, Lubbock cotton buyer who died at 5 p. m. Sunday, are to be read at 10:30 a. m. today in the chapel of Sanders Funeral home.

Clark died in his residence at 2418 Twenty-seventh after suffering a heart attack.

Born Oct. 12, 1889, Clark had lived in Lubbock since he was six months old.

One of the earliest cotton buyers in Lubbock, Clark operated the Clark Cotton company with offices in the Rogers building.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at Sanders Funeral home. Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate.

Survivors include his wife, of the home address; two sisters, Mrs. George Hall of Lubbock and Mrs. Sameuel E. Ross of Evanston, Ill.; a brother, Sid Clark of Lubbock; a daughter, Mrs. Marion F. Harris of Muleshoe; and two granddaughters.

Pallbearers will be Roscoe Clark, Jim Bill Clark, Jack Boren, Raymond Tapp, Joe Shirley, and Gene Booth.

Burial will be in East Lawn cemetery.

CAP Planes Continue Search For Missing Plane With Two Aboard

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (AP)—Civil Air patrol planes today began their seventh day of searching for a light plane missing on a flight between Tulsa and Houston.

More than 30 CAP planes combed eastern Oklahoma yesterday for the craft. The plane disappeared after leaving Tulsa Oct. 21.

Orville Sweitzer was pilot of the plane and J. J. Harrington, a consulting geologist, was a passenger. Both are Houston men.

Since last Tuesday CAP planes have searched the area between Tulsa and Red River and Seminole and the Arkansas line.

HEALTH ESSAY

REMEMBER that old song that forecast "a change in the weather, a change in the sea, and from now on there'll be a change in me?"

The doctors don't quibble with that philosophy, because the chances are that the changes in the weather will make a change in you.

When the nip of fall settled down over these sprawling South Plains, Texans put more pep in their steps. Why? One of the most important varying outside influences of man is the degree of stimulation he obtains from his climactic environment, particularly those phases that control the ease or difficulty with which he loses his body heat. When the weather is cooler, body heat is lost more readily, internal metabolism increases and you have more vitality, more pep in your step.

And speaking of the nip in the air, we'd venture that the few Lubbockites who welcomed the change in the weather were those who suffer from hay fever. It's wonderful for them to know that the pollen grains that cause hay fever are on the way out.

ALLERGIES, aches and pains and colds are some of the liabilities of the changing seasons. The cold in the head certainly is not limited to the fall, but the rapid changes in temperature out here lead to overheating and sudden chilling of the body, which probably is an important factor in the production of colds.

We hope you make the most of the change in the weather, but be on the lookout for "raspy gasps," "groany bones," and "code nodes."

IN THE MAIL

HERE is a recipe for uncooked chow chow that was mailed in by Mrs. Max Groce who lives on route 2, Petersburg.

One gallon green tomatoes, six sweet peppers, twelve medium onions, one bunch of celery (may be omitted), one medium cabbage. Grind and drain for 20 minutes. Two pints vinegar, four cups sugar, one-half cup salt, two teaspoons tumeric, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon white mustard, one teaspoon mustard seed, juice of four lemons.

Mix the vinegar and other items and add to the first ingredients, all cold. Put in jars and seal.

If you desire a hot chow chow, add hot pepper to taste.

MINOR MIRACLE

THIS is the story of a Hallowe'en gift that made a little girl happy. It also is proof of that which always gladdens the hearts of children—evidence that prayers are answered.

Two months ago, Boots, puppy belonging to Kara Plowman, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Plowman, 901 College, was poisoned and beeame so ill he was taken to the hospital. Despite careful attention, the dog did not improve and finally was brought home. When the little pet got no better, the Plowmans asked that he be taken to the pound, explaining to Kara that he was too sick to be kept at the house.

Nightly since the dog's absence, Kara has prayed that her little puppy dog might be restored to health. Her parents were worried because they did not know how to explain that likely Boots would never be reunited with his young owner. And now the miracle:

Monday morning the Plowmans went down town and found a parking spot right away (which in itself is something of a miracle!) and right there where they parked was Boots, yelping and dashing back and forth and clamoring to get in the car. The little animal answered to its name and when it got out of the car at the Plowman home ran inside and dashed frantically from room to room.

The Plowman's have no idea how the dog made its way out of the pound, how it regained its health or why it happened to be in the exact place where they chose to park their car.

As for Kara, she cares nothing about the whys and wherefores. She just knows that Somebody heard her when she petitioned that her little dog be permitted to be well again.

Officers Are Installed By Church Women's Federation

The 1950 officers of Church Women's Federation of Lubbock were installed by Mrs. J. H. Hankins at a regular fifth Monday meeting conducted yesterday afternoon at First Presbyterian church. On the new slate are:

Mrs. J. L. Barstow, president; Mrs. J. S. Nevitt, vice president; Mrs. M. L. Hines, secretary; Mrs. C. M. Neel, treasurer; and Mrs. G. C. Beard, historian. The officers were charged by Mrs. Hankins to be diligent and earnest in carrying out their duties.

"Lead Kindly Light," the latest book of Vincent Sheean which deals with the life of Mahatma Gandhi and conditions in India, was reviewed by Mrs. Ben Brewer. A devotion from the book, "A Testament of Devotions," (Thomas Kelly) was presented by Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church. Mrs. Paul Glasgow sang "The Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. R. C. Douglas, jr. The program was opened as the assembly sang "The Church's One Foundation." Mrs. H. G. Knight spoke on "Church Gardens" as a part of the program.

During a business session presided over by Mrs. Paul Cates, retiring president, the Federation voted to continue the library at the Community center in cooperation with the City Recreation department. An offering of $23.80 taken at the Monday meeting will be added to the library fund.

Mrs. Barstow appointed the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Paul Cates, program; Mrs. Lee C. O'Neil, housing and social; Miss Lula Mae Cravens, projects; Mrs. Walter P. Jennings, membership; Mrs. Albert Skibell, telephone; and Mrs. Charlotte Carter, publicity.

One hundred five persons attended the program and tea hour which followed.

Queens Are Crowned At Carnival Held In Shallowater

At the Shallowater school Hallowe'en carnival held in the gymnasium Friday, a "High School Queen" and a "Grade School Queen" were crowned.

Alice Russell, a senior student, and Jeanie Newman, of grade school, received the honors. Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Russell of Lubbock, Rt. 3, was escorted by Newman Lusk, a senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lusk of Lubbock, Rt. 3. Town Talk

MRS MAYNARD KNIGHT and two children of San Angelo, have been guests in the home of her mother, Mrs. T. W. Thomas, 2603 Thirty-fifth, for the past few days. The young Knights stayed with their grandmother, while Mrs. Knight was in Chicago, and she visited here in Lubbock on her return trip.

One entertainment given honoring the San Angeloan during her visit was a Thursday bridge luncheon with her sister, Mrs. Earl Miller, 3216 Twentieth, as hostess in the party room of the Lubbock Country club.

Flowers were arranged on the tables, and covers were laid for Mesdames Bill Larmer, Roy Riddel, jr., Bill Potts, John Wilson, J. M. Moxley, Clarence Mast, Lewis Kerr, Atmar Atkinson, Dub Rushing, Robert Allan Hill, jr., Gordon Thompson, M. D. Watkins, Curtis Hamilton, Sam Weaver, jr., the honoree and the hostess.

Lucky were the young "trick or treaters" who sopped at the Creston Fish home, 3014 Twenty-fourth, on Hallowe'en night for charming Mrs. Fish has made it a tradition to keep a hot pan of ginger bread ready and wating for the little "spooks" who call on her.

Not only is the gingerbread a delicacy for Hallowe'ening children, and a pleasant change from the handfuls of hard candy and popcorn they consume, but Mrs. Fish enjoys giving the youngsters something they enjoy and also something which is better for their "tummies."

Mrs. G. M. Martin and little daughter, Vicki, of Kermit are spending several weeks as guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. Z. Abell, 1641 Broadway.

Attending open house Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wiley, 2814 Thirty-sixth, on their silver wedding anniversary were several out-of-town guests.

Joining in the celebration were Messrs. and Mesdames Sam McDonald of San Angelo; John Allen Duncan and daughter, Barbara Allen, of Littlefield; J. M. Rankin and T. E. Alexander, all of Ralls; Victor Hudman and sons of Post; and L. M. Blanton and children of Hart. Roy Brown and children of Big Springs also attended.

About 150 guests called between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Among the 10,100 students attending Northwestern university's Evanston and Chicago colleges this fall are 82 Texans.

Students from the South Plains area are Sam Thomas Allen, Lamesa; Travis Parker Stuart, Lubbock; James Paul Johnson, Muleshoe; and Misses Martha Luan Carter and Nancy Jean Carter of Plainview.

Entertaining with a Hallowe'en party at the Lubbock Country club Sunday night were Mrs. Horace Humphries and daughter Jan, of 2219 Thirtieth and Mrs. Tobe Foster and children, Toby and Jan of 1718 Thirtieth.

Pop corn balls, cookies and hot chocolate were served to the 28 children attending. Gaily-colored Hallowe'en horns were given as favors.

Decorations consisted of black witches, leering skeletons, black cats and brightly-colored streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kirshner of St. Patrick, Mo., have been guests for the past week in the home of Mrs. Kirshner's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Leslie.

Mrs. A. L. Clark of Los Angeles is a guest of her sister, Miss Adelia Anderson, of 1911-B Twenty-second. The California visitor is the former Florence Anderson.

Honesty And Accuracy Of News Seen As Test For Free Press

MINERAL WELLS, Oct. 31. (AP) The honesty and accuracy of our news may prove to be the ultimate test of our ability to maintain a free and independent press, a Washington editor said here today.

B. M. McKelway, editor of The Washington Star and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told the southern newspaper publishers association's 47th convention that:

"We are justly proud of our fine newspaper plants. But let us remember that our greatest investment should be in the men who produce our newspapers—men of character, honest men with a respect amounting to reverence for the role of a free press in a free society.

Have Obligation To Prove

"It is upon their character, their understanding, their faithfulness to a public trust and their responsibility to the best interests of the people they serve that we must depend, in the end, for the preservation of free and honest newspapers.

Another speaker, Col. Henry A. Byroade, director of the office of German and Austrian affairs, of the U. S. State department, discussed our German policy and the problems of operation in that country.

"Our long range goal," Byroade said, "envisages a German people secure against themselves, through a self-sustained economy, and deeply-rooted Democratic institutions . . . To bring about the assimilation of Germany into a free Europe and the assumption of a co-operative responsibilities by the Germans in the European community."

Sen. Johnson On Program

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas told the opening session of the convention that the nation must know the story of the South, if it is to attain its sanity in the debate of civil rights, and that story can be told only by the southern press.

"If the voice of the south is to be heard and heeded," the Texas senator told some 500 delegates from 14 Dixie states, "it must be a tolerant voice — the voice of reasonable men speaking in unreasonable times."

The "shrill cries of hate and prejudice," Johnson continued, "serve no useful purpose."

Hate, he said, "has too long been a burden upon the intelligence of the south."

Misunderstanding Scored

It is an "ugly reality," the senator went on, "that misrepresentation and misunderstanding of the south is the primary political capital of the extremist on both the right and the left.

"I believe," said Johnson, "that if much-discussed welfare state ever becomes an American reality it will do so in the disguise of legislation designed and enacted to accommodate the overemphasized needs of the south or to correct the over-dramatized faults of the south."

The junior senator from Texas told the publishers "if the south is to be the great American laboratory in which the social and economic ferment of our time is analyzed, the scientists who find the answer in that laboratory should be southerners.

Must Interpret South's Role

"That is your role as publishers," Johnson continued, "as the men and women who must interpret the 20th century to the south."

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, executive vice president of The Houston Post and president of the SNPA, in her President's report, called the birth of the southern newsprint industry "the most concrete aim — in the year or in the decade — of southern journalism."

The Southland paper mill at Lufkin, Mrs. Hobby declared, "proved that newsprint could be produced commercially from southern pine, and this inspired our own members to start a movement for the erection of another mill.

"Within a few months," Mrs. Hobby continued, "the Coosa river newsprint mill will go into production at Coosa pines, with a capacity of 100,000 tons annually. It represents on investment of $32,000,000."

Mrs. Hobby added that "great though the value of these two plants to the newspaper publishers, they have a greater significance to the south. They have stimulated a reforestation program which will be valuable to the whole southern economy. It behooves every southern newspaper to do all it can to further the reforestation program."

Touching on rising costs of production and narrowing profits, Mrs. Hobby stated "the rushing pace of business today has created a situation wherein the publisher can no longer muddle through his amiable, idealistic, impractical way to financial success."

Famed 2nd Armored Division Band Will Play At Plainview

CAMP HOOD, Oct. 31 (Special) —The well-known Second Armored Division Band will make an appearance in Plainview on Armistice Day, but not without some difficulties.

When Harry McCain of Plainview asked that the band appear for the Armistice celebration there, the band had already scheduled a Thursday night radio program and an appearance at a football game Saturday following Armistice day.

Upon learning of the schedule, the Fourth Army requested the Air Force "to lend a couple of planes for the day."

To Use Planes For Trip

The Air Force came up with two C-47's which will transport the band to Plainview, but the bandsmen still had no way to get their instruments to the Plainview appearance. If their instruments were brought ahead by truck, they would have none for their Thursday radio show.

Finally enough private instruments were found to meet the radio schedule, and have instruments for the Plainview appearance.

Members of the band are a part of the Second Armored Division that gained fame in Africa, Sicily and Europe. Maj. Gen. A. C. Smith is now commanding general of the division and of Camp Hood.

The band has appeared throughout Texas in military parades, festivals and civic celebrations. It gives a show over Radio Stations KTEM and KTEMFM in Temple every Thursday night.

Camp Hood, located 30 miles west of Temple, has been designated by Congress as a permanent Army installation. It is the permanent home of the Second Armored Division.

At present the division is going through combat training with mobile units of armored infantry, armored Cavalry, self-propelled artillery, armored engineers and all types of tanks.

Death Of Young Foxes Costs U. S. $3,500 In Settlement

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31. (INS) —The United States government "bought" $3,500 worth of dead foxes today.

That was the amount of an out-of-court settlement in a $31,000 damage suit brought by W. C. Liddell, Owatonna, Minn., against the government.

Liddell complained that in April, 1947—despite repeated pleas to the Army Air Force, a flight of maneuvering planes passed over his ranch and so frightened female foxes on his ranch that they destroyed 100 of their young.

Comets got their name from their long wispy or hairy - looking tails since the Latin word for hair is "coma."

Faulty Part Believed Cause Of Rail Crash

AZUSA, Calif., Oct. 31 (INS) – Railroad officials indicated today that a break in a switch point rail, or a rail spread, probably caused the Sunday afternoon wreck of Santa Fe's crack streamliner, "El Capitan."

No lives were lost and only 22 of the total 252 persons aboard were injured. none seriously when the speeding train left the tracks.

Sabotage was discounted by investigators in their preliminary probe of the couse of the accident.

Santa Fe's deluxe "Super Chief" sleeper had passed over the same point an hour earlier.

Engineer Henry Mayer of San Bernardino, Calif., said the train was traveling at about 60 miles per-hour when the crash occured. The accident happened one mile and a half east of Azusa, just 45 minutes after the Chicago-bound all-chair train left Los Angeles' Union station.

Mayer said the diesel locomotive seemed to drop as it fell through the broken rail. He told officials:

"I hit the emergency air when I felt her starting to go. I started turning off the fuel valves and just rode her down."

The uninjured passengers were returned to Los Angeles and put on a new train which left for the East over Santa Fe's secondary tracks.

Screaming confusion greeted the initial shock, but passengers soon became calm when it was realized there was no further danger.

One woman passenger said she didn't become alarmed until she saw the car behind her in the train shoot past her window.

Mrs. Edna Mitchell, 40, of Kansas City suffered a heart attack from the excitement.

Congress To Feel Pressure Urging Postal Salary Boost

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (INS)— President Burris Jackson of the Postmaster association today told a national conclave of the men who carry the mail that Congress would be pressed for salary boosts for postmasters, postal superintendents and supervisors.

Jackson, postmaster of Hillsboro, Tex., said continued pressure would be applied in behalf of the bill.

The Texan's speech officially opened the four-day convention in Chicago.

A ceremony dedicating the placing into service of a new distributing machine was conducted at Chicago's new post office building. The innovation, known as the Sestak machine after its inventor, reportedly saves 35 per cent of time in distribution of mail.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) addressed the degelates at the ceremony.

An estimated 5,000 postmasters are attending the convention.

Three Persons Killed In Crash, Explosion Of British Jet Plane

YEOVIL, England, Oct. 31. (INS). A top-secret jet fighter plane exploded in mid-air and crashed into two houses today, killing the pilot, a 6-year-old girl cyclist and a woman.

The British Navy plane, piloted by Squadron Leader Michael Graves, had been in the air about 30 minutes when it exploded and spiralled down in flames into the two houses on the edge of Yeovil airport.

Mrs. A. E. Clarkson, Wife Of Houston Post Official, Dies

MINERAL WELLS, Oct. 31 (AP) —Mrs. A. E. Clarkson, 71, wife of the secretary-treasurer of the Houston Post, suffered a fatal heart attack shortly before 2 p. m. today while attending a luncheon session of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association convention at the Baker hotel here.

She died in the arms of Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, executive vice-president of the Houston Post and president of the SNPA, who had rushed from her place at the head of the table to the side of the stricken woman.

More than 200 convention delegates were present in the hotel's rendezvous room listening to an address by B. M. McKelway, editor of the Washington, D. C., Evening Star.

Mrs. Clarkson, familiar figure at publishers conventions for many years, had complained to her husband of feeling ill. As he was helping her from the room she collapsed midway between the speaker's table and the exit.

While Mrs. Hobby, Clarkson and several publishers sitting nearby rubbed her wrists and daubed her face with water, Lloyd Gregory, vice-president and general manager of the Houston Post, went for a doctor.

Mrs. Clarkson was pronounced dead by the hotel's house physician, Dr. Edward Yeager, upon his arrival a few minutes later.

Mrs. Clarkson, the former Kate Aldridge Wells of Millican, was member of a pioneer Texas family. She married Clarkson in 1909. She had been a resident of Houston for 66 years and was active in the First Presbyterian church there.

Eisenhower Locates Wartime Waiter-Handyman In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 31—(AP)—Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower's search for his wartime personal table waiter and handyman is at an end.

The former soldier who General Eisenhower called his "right hand" during the European military campaigns in Henry Clay Williams, 41-year-old negro, now employed as a clerk at the Chicago post office.

The search for Williams began several weeks ago, shortly after General Eisenhower mailed out autographed copies of his book, "Crusade in Europe."

Williams' copy of the book was mailed to Dallas, Tex., where he enlisted. But Williams had left Dallas and the book was returned.

News of the request narrowed the search to Chicago through a friend of Williams in Dallas, and Williams was found Saturday night.

Plains Fire Hydrants Fail To Provide Aid

PLAINS, Oct. 31. (Special)— Residents of this 41-year-old town recently had an initial view of fire hydrants on the home grounds. Within a week, a disastrous fire wholly destroyed Coke Drug Store and threatened the postoffice, a grocery and a cafe. The new hydrants were dry, pending erection of a storage tank.

Yoakum county commissioners, as an economy move, purchased a water well and piped its water to the swimming pool now under construction, to the school and both old and new courthouses, as well as the fire hydrants. Purchase of fire fighting equipment and creation of a fire department are being discussed by the officials.

Situated on U. S. 380, the town is not incorporated. Fast and heavy traffic constitutes a hazard which, reportedly, might be reduced by a city police department. A sewerage disposal system to replace the present cesspools is also under consideration.

Jump Reported In Nation's Roll Of Unemployed Persons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (INS)— The census bureau said today that unemployment increased by 225,000 the first week in October—the first jump in jobless rolls since July.

Officials said the coal and steel strikes were the largest factor in boosting the total unemployed figure to 3,576,000. In September the number of jobless was listed at 3,351,000.

The bureau reported that the civilian labor force declined from 59,411,000 in September to 59,001,000 in October.

A drop of 448,000 in farm employment was partially offset by an increase of 36,000 in industrial jobs, for a net decline of about 412,000.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer said the October report "reflects the work stoppages in coal and steel rather than any basic changes in the level of economic activity."

President Of Braniff Airline To Be Honored In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (AP) —The portrait of T. E. Braniff, president of Braniff International airways, will be placed alongside that of other famous Oklahomans in the State Hall of Fame Nov. 4.

The State Historical society will hang the portrait.

Braniff is a pioneer Oklahoma City business man who now lives in Dallas.

Funeral Rites Are Held For Lubbock Independent Trucker

Funeral services for Elbert "Slim" Harp, 47, independent trucker, of 2224 N. Ave. H, who died Sunday afternoon in West Texas hospital, were held at 3 p.m. Monday in the chapel of McDonald Funeral Home.

E. E. Cowan, minister of the Church of Christ at Fourth and Ave. B, officiated. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery under the direction of McDonald Funeral home.

He is survived by his wife; a son, John, of Beverly Hills, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Opal Cox, Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. O. P. Slaton of Portales, N. M.; and three brothers, Alfred of Los Angeles, Elmer of El Paso, and Russel of Van Horn, Tex.

Pallbearers were to be Cecil Thompson, Douglas McCrummes, J. A. Cowan, Jake Scharenburg, D. Dillard and Paul Huffstedler.

In the 20 years after 1929, when Turkey replaced the old Arabic script with the Latin alphabet, she published 40,000 books compared to only 30,000 published during the two centuries before 1929.

Noted Throat Specialists report on 30-Day Test of Camel Smokers...

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

Yes, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days!

THE TEST BEGINS in their well-run home. Though the Coles have smoked other brands in the past—it's Camels exclusively for the next 30 days. Each will make a weekly visit to the doctor for a careful throat examination.

IT'S FUN! Smoke Camels, and only Camels, for 30 days. Compare them in your "T-Zone" (T for taste, T for throat). Let your own throat tell you about Camel's cool, cool mildness. Let your own taste tell you about Camel's wonderful flavor.

Visit Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Fresh Meadows, N. Y. (left), who made the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test under the observation of a noted throat specialist!

DICK COLE is a manufacturer and his own boss. As he interviews a salesman, he pauses to light a Camel. "I didn't know how much fun smoking could be", he confides, "until I changed to Camels!"

LILLIAN COLE'S hobby is interior decorating and her home shows it. She reports: "I don't know who's enjoying this test more—my husband or me! Every Camel tastes so good and smokes so mild!"

30TH DAY—Their throat specialist's findings: NO SIGN OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS! "This was no surprise to me", says Mr. Cole. "Camels agreed with my throat from the start". Mrs. Cole adds, "I've changed to Camels for keeps!"

LEHMAN FAVORED OVER DULLES

Democrats Expect To Win Four Of Five Major Races Next Week

BY REX CHANEY
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. — Democrats predicted today that they will win at least four of the five major congressional and gubernatorial offices at stake in next week's scattered election contests.

Republicans at national headquarters here were making no predictions. But some of them privately conceded that the Democratic forecast of four victories may prove correct.

Here, in brief, is the Nov. 8 election picture:

Lehman Is Favored

New York senator — Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, is about an 8 to 5 betting favorite to beat Sen. John Foster Dulles, Republican, who was appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to the Senate seat made vacant by the resignation of Sen. Robert F. Wagner, Democrat. Informed sources here said President Truman will make a radio address in support of Lehman next Saturday night.

New York congressman — Mrs. Edna Kelly, Democrat-Liberal, is an odds-on favorite to beat George H. Fankrichen, Republican, and Max Torcin, American Labor, for the 10th congressional district seat formerly held by the late Andrew L. Somers, Democrat.

New Jersey Race Tight

New Jersey governor — Republican Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, seeking reelection, and Elmer H. Wene, former member of the U. S. House of Representatives, are matched in a race that both Republicans and Democrats agree is close. Republicans believe that Driscoll will pull through after a hard fight, while Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle, jr., said he expects Wene to win by a narrow margin. Another factor favoring Driscoll is the revolt against Wene by powerful anti-Hague Democrats who charge that Wene is the candidate of former Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

California congressman—Democrats expect to capture the 5th Congressional district seat held for more than 24 years by the late Richard J. Welch, Republican. The Democratic candidate is John F. Shelley, president of the California State Federation of Labor and former Democratic state senator. His opponents are Lloyd B. Cosgrove, attorney and close friend of the Welch family, and Charles R. Garry, attorney who supported Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party in 1948. Welch's old district — the 5th California — is in San Francisco and is largely industrial.

Demo Win In Virginia Seen

Virginia governor — John S. Battle, Democrat, is a heavy favorite over Walter Johnson, Republican, in an election that Republicans don't expect to be close.

Boyle thought that in New York Lehman would win but that it wouldn't be "a runaway." The betting commissioners seemed to take about that same position, quoting Lehman an 8 to 5 favorite around New York City and 9 to 5 around Albany.

Republicans said the heavy registration may indicate strength for Dulles but that the picture is too confused for them to make a prediction. There are complicating factors in this race, including even religious issues, that made old-time politicians hesitant about making forecasts.

While both Republicans and Democrats are taking an active interest in the major contests, they are keeping a weather eye on the many municipal and minor state contests as a possible barometer on whether the national trend is Republican or Democratic.

Much of the interest in the municipal election field was centered on New York where Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer, a candidate for reelection, has a tough opponent in Newbold Morris, who is running on the Republican - Liberal - Fusion ticket. Also in the race is Rep. Vito Marcantonio, the candidate of the major municipal elections:

Boston — Incumbent Democrat James M. Curley, last of the big city "bosses" is opposed by four candidates.

Cleveland, O. — Incumbent Democrat Thomas A. Burke almost certain to defeat young GOP candidate Franklin Polk.

Pittsburgh, Pa. — Incumbent Democrat David Lawrence vs. Republican Timothy F. Ryan.

Albany, N. Y. — Incumbent Democrat Erastus Corning expected to have little trouble in winning. Corning has the support of the powerful O'Connell machine. He is opposed by GOP Charles E. Walsh, jr.

Buffalo, N. Y. — Chief City Judge John D. Hillery, a Democrat, is opposed by Republican Joseph Murk.

Syracuse, N. Y. — A local sales tax is the big issue in the race between Democrat Thomas J. Corcoran and Republican Leon H. Abbott.

Detroit — A non-partisan race between George Edwards, president of the Detroit city council and City Treasurer Albert E. Cobo. No big issues.

Police Posse Captures Two Escaped Arizona Convicts

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 31. (INS) —Two of six convicts who fled the Arizona State prison last night were back in custody today after their capture near U. S. Highway 80 north of Florence.

The pair, captured by members of a police posse, were Earl Risner, 19, and Cecil Thomas, 23, who were serving burglary sentences.

No trace of the remaining four had been found despite the use of bloodhounds, prison Warden Lon Walters reported. Road blocks also were in effect on all routes in the area.

Walters feared that the group might attempt a kidnapping so they would have a hostage to take them through the road blocks. He said that they were "a wild bunch of kids."

The group made its escape from the prison annex for first offenders by climbing over a barbed wire fence. The four still at large were named as James E. McCormick, 17, serving a term for armed robbery; Elias Doulamis, 18, burglary; Charles Schultz, 20, burglary, and Dan Robertson, 19, forgery.

The break was the second in Arizona within ten days. Jack Tatum, 27, is still at large after he and four companions made an escape try from the Maricopa county jail in Phoenix on Oct. 22. Two of them were killed and two recaptured.

San Antonio Appeals Court Judge Retires From Bench

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today announced the retirement of Judge Edward W. Smith, 77, from the Fourth Court of Appeals at San Antonio.

Judge Smith has served on the Fourth court bench since 1920 and as chief justice since 1935.

Retirement for the judiciary was provided by an act of the last legislature.

Gov. Shivers said he would appoint a successor "within a few days."

MEET THE WOMEN — Mrs. Bob Garner, co-owner and assistant manager of Garner's Employment service, 1006 Fourteenth, has lived in Lubbock six years. She is a native Texan and is a graduate of Texas State College for Women, Denton, where she majored in business and personnel work. Mrs. Garner is immediate past recording secretary of the Business and Professional Women's club of Lubbock and currently is bulletin chairman of that organization. She also holds membership in Altrusa club and the First Baptist church. Mrs. Garner's chief hobby is flower gardening. Mr. and Mrs. Garner reside south of Lubbock on Tahoka highway. (Staff Photo.)

Korean Head Seeks Increased U. S. Aid

INCHON, Korea, Oct. 31 (INS) —South Korea President Syngman Rhee called for greater American assistance to his divided nation today as he warned the peninsula may soon be embroiled in a bloody civil war.

President Rhee, speaking aboard an American warship in the South Korean port of Inchon, declared that "we do not expect our friends to do our fighting for us," but he emphasized that his little nation is depending for its life on American material support.

Referring to the Communist north and anti-Communist south split on the Korean peninsula, the elderly statesman told the 1,090 officers and men of the heavy cruiser St. Paul that his country is "a living body cut in half." He went on:

"We cannot live much longer like this and we will not much longer. When we have to settle this thing by war we will do all the fighting that is needed."

President Rhee warned that his fledgling republic would be unable to continue its anti-Communist drive if the United States should halt ECA aid now flowing into South Korea. He added:

"We are like children waiting for Christmas. You are our Santa Claus—come down our chimney."

The statesman was the guest of honor of Vice Adm. R. S. Berkey commander of the U. S. Navy's seventh task fleet, aboard the St. Paul which is to leave Inchon harbor later today.

The cruiser and several other American warships pulled into the harbor several days ago on a "goodwill" visit to South Korea, one of a number made this year.

Ten Attorneys Draw Battle Lines In Suit For 43 Cents

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31 (INS) —Ten attorneys drew battle lines today in a 43-cent lawsuit.

Kenneth D. Hessler of St. Paul brought a court action to test the legality of a Minnesota law authorizing a two per cent surcharge on fire insurance policy premiums to provide money for firemen's relief associations.

Ten attorneys representing the City of Minneapolis, the attorney general's office insurance companies and others were present when the case was called for trial in Ramsey district court.

They view the suit as a test case involving many thousands of dollars annually.

Last Services Are Held For Longtime Brownfield Resident

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 31. (Spl.)— Funeral services for Mrs. T. M. Cargill, 76, resident of Brownfield since 1922, who died in her home here Sunday morning after a lengthy illness, were held at 3 p.m. today in the First Baptist church of Brownfield.

Rev. W. T. Sparkman, pastor of the West Side Baptist church, officiated. Burial was in Terry County Memorial cemetery under direction of Brownfield Funeral home.

Survivors include the husband of the home address; a son, Henry Cargill of Brownfield; and four daughters, Mrs. W. F. Snitker of Plains, Mrs. H. R. Thames of Meadow, Mrs. H. C. Myers of Kilgore and Mrs. E. R. Kelly of Quernado.

Bryant Becomes New Service Officer Here

James C. Bryant at 9 a. m. today becomes the Lubbock county service officer.

All details for the transfer of the office from Jack Hall to Bryant were completed late Monday afternoon. Bryant comes to the job from a post with the regional office of the Veteran's Administration here. With the VA he had worked in the rehabilitation division since his discharge from the army.

The county service office is now located in the American Legion hall at 910 Texas Avenue, where it will remain until the new courthouse is completed. Offices will then be set up in the building on the square.

Bryant said the office is for the benefit of all veterans of the county.

Texas Congressman Urges Banishment Of Traitors To Special Pacific Island Prison

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Rep. Burleson (D-Tex) says that the government should banish traitors and criminal conspirators, including convicted Communists, to a Pacific island. Burleson says that if they are sent to a federal penitentiary they will be able to continue their activities. He adds that he is considering legislation authorizing such an island prison.)

By REP. OMAR BURLESON
(D) TEXAS
(Written Expressly For INS)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. — In theory and in fact those convicted of crime are incarcerated to (1) Take them out of the society against which they have committed a depredation, (2) As punishment, (3) By example as a deterrent to criminal acts by others, and (4) To reform.

We in this country like to emphasize reform. Perhaps we like to do so because it is a sort of psychological salve. But can anyone imagine that the eleven conspirators recently convicted in Judge Medina's court in New York can be reformed in the short time they will spend in a federal prison, presuming their cases are upheld on appeal?

As for taking these people out of society, they will have a fertile field in which to continue their work within a federal penitentiary. Commensurate with the crime, the punishment involved is the same which might be visited upon an alley cat picked up by some kindly soul and confined to the thick rugs of a living-room in front of a fireplace.

Let those who may insist upon identifying these people as "political" prisoners do so, but the distinction should be made between a "political belief" and a "conspiracy," as was so ably expressed by Judge Medina in his charge to the jury. It is not political in the sense that a minority is prosecuted because of political beliefs but because those beliefs carry revolutionary plans calculated to overthrow this government by force and violence. "Axis Sally" Gillars, "Tokyo Rose" and others fall in the same category. In present day movements, and because the line of ideology has become tightly drawn, other prosecutions under the law will undoubtedly occur.

Place of Exile Needed

Since there is this particular type of criminal conspirator and traitorous individual, it seems to me we need a place of exile where they can be confined and not send them to our federal penitentiaries to continue their activities. Nor should they be allowed to return to grow as martyrs in the eyes of their kind. They cannot be deported because they are not aliens.

Therefore, this government should provide a place of banishment on some island in the Pacific, and I saw several during my service in the Navy suitable for the purpose. I shall seriously consider introducing such a measure in the next session of the 81st Congress. The deluded, the frustrated, and those seeking an outlet for tendencies inimical to the welfare of this nation will think many times before they become involved in such activities if they stand the chance of being exiled from the blessings they enjoy in this land.

Hiss To Stand Second Trial On Perjury Charge Nov. 17

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (INS)— Federal Judge William Bondy today ordered former State Department official Alger Hiss to stand trial on Nov. 17 for the second time on perjury charges in connection with an alleged Communist spy ring.

Hiss was tried earlier this year on the same charges but the case ended when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The former high State department official has been accused by one time editor Whittaker Chambers of being part of a government group which passed secrets to a Communist spy ring.

Hiss' denial of allegations in this respect before a grand jury brought on the prejury charges.

Communists' Actions Against U. S. Envoys Abroad Assailed

BY BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — The passing show:

When are we going to get tough with the arrogane bums who are kicking our consular people around? Faithful, decent U. S. representatives behind the iron curtain are today undergoing indignities which, in Teddy Roosevelt's time, for instance, would have resulted in tremendous and indignant reprisals.

The American public learned only yesterday, for instance, that the Chinese Reds have held 56-year-old consul General Angus Ward under virtual House arrest for more than a year, Now he and apparently his wife and staff may be in prison. Other iron curtain consular employees definitely are.

Incident Is Played Up

Ward is charged with "bruising the buttocks" of and inflicting a forehead cut measuring "four by five millimeters" on a former servant. Four by five milimeters equal an eighth of an inch by less than a quarter of an inch. But according to the Communist radio in Mukden, "the entire population is demanding punishment of this savage and brutal act perpetrated by American imperialists."

The State department suppressed Ward's predicament for a year, and could tell much more than it does. Its people are followed night and day by iron curtain secret police, who flood U. S. offices abroad with their own employees.

Forced To Leave Office

Career officers now live in dread of reassignment to Communist-controlled countries. One veteran U. S. consular officer was forced to leave a certain iron curtain country without many of his personal possessions, after nearly falling victim to an assassination plot.

There is no doubt that the State department's oddly conciliatory manner, and its refusal to share the facts of these affronts with the American people, will continue to embolden the offenders. We do not even take it up with U. N.

If somebody over there calls our policy "yellow", one of these days, we're going to have a tough time denying the charge.

Can Get Together

While the neck hair of our top military brass was bristling in Washington, the Air Force and Navy were quietly getting together on a lower echelon. The results were announced over the weekend: Eight air force pilots, majors, captains and first lieutenants, were assigned by the continental air command to a year's training with the Navy's Air Force, Nine Navy and two Marine pilots went to work in Air Force fighters and bombers.

New Hope For Many

The weekend brought new hope to sufferers of certain types of cancer. Lacing their excitement with the customary words of caution, and an outline of the limitations of the new treatments, cancer scientists hailed the effect of cortisone and acth on six of eight patients. Strides, too, were announced in the treatment of cancer of the esophagus, and uterine and bowel cancer.

In two of the patients treated with acth, a hormone secreted in the pituitary glands of hogs (and so rare that it would take billions of pigs to supply any large demand), tumors of the lymph glands of the neck, arms and other regions disappeared after 30 days. There was no regrowth ten weeks after the treatments were halted.

There were improvements noticed in four others treated either with acth or cortisone, the partially synthesized hormone derived from the lining around the adrenal glands of cattle. The two patients on whom neither treatment worked had cancer of the breats and cancer of the prostate. On these the experiments continue.

Men and women are being saved from death by cancer of the esophagus today by incredible new surgical discoveries which, in some cases, see a patient's stomach transplanted high in the chest. Yet a dozen years ago, the American Cancer Society points out, cancer of the esophagus was rated a lethal disease. Surgery was rarely performed "because of the prohibitive mortality which attended the then-current procedures."

The announcement about cortisone and acth, heretofore hailed as panaceas for victims of arthritis, possibly rheumatic fever and possibly certain forms of insanity, carefully pointed out that the results are not, as yet, conclusive.

"However," said the extremely conservative Dr. Rulen W. Rawson, head of the vast Sloan-Kettering Institute's clinical investigation, "The new avenues of inquiry . . . might turn into the greatest development since the discovery of bacteria."

Serious men of medicine can bring themselves to say such words only when they are on the threshold of startling new vistas of hope.

Houston Shrine Circus Hex Is Renewed As Prize Tiger Dies

HOUSTON, Oct. 31 (U.P.)—Roger the Tiger devoured a bad piece of meat last night and died early today, strengthening a hex that has followed Houston's annual Shrine circus.

Roger, eight-year-old Sumatra product, was found by an attendant in Sam Houston coliseum, where most of the animals are being kept for the circus opening Wednesday.

The big tiger died in the prime of his life, according to animal trainer Joe Walch, in whose act Roger was to appear with several other tigers and an assortment of lions.

Walch said he had a substitute for Roger, and that the act would go on as scheduled. It is advertised as the only act featuring a trainer who operates without a whip or a chair.

Last year, a lion that was to have walked a tight-rope caught cold and died before he could perform.

Two years ago, two tigers in the Clyde Beatty animal act clawed each other badly while awaiting to appear. One of them died.

Goliad Holds Bi-Centennial Celebration At State Park

GOLIAD, Oct. 31 (Special)—Approximately 25,000 Texans and out-of-state visitors helped Goliad remember its battle-scarred past at a three day bi-centennial celebration at Goliad State park last week.

The observance began with a field mass in a courtyard adjoining La Bahia Mission, where Col. James W. Fannin and his men were massacred during the war for Texas independence. The Most Rev. R. E. Lucey, archbishop of San Antonio, presided at the mass.

The mass was followed by a pageant depicting Goliad under six flags and recalling the meeting at which the Texas declaration of independence was proclaimed. Other events of the celebration included Quarter horse races, a rodeo and the coronation of the queen. The observance ended Friday.

Brownfield Hog Breeder Wins Numerous Awards At State Fair

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 31 (Special) —A. D. Wenzel, Brownfield Berkshire hog breeder, is back from Dallas with a bushel basketful of ribbons and cash premiums, which he won on the showing of 15 of his prize hogs at the State Fair of Texas.

He won a total of $268 in premiums and 32 ribbons.

Of the 15 hogs exhibited, he had two grand champions, two reserve grand champions, five champions, two reserve champions, ten first places, three seconds, six thirds, one fourth, and one fifth place.

NEWS BRIEFS

Funeral services for Charles W. Rowland, 70, of 1402 Main street, who died suddenly late Saturday night near Playmor Skating rink, were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist church of Plainview. Rev. Cecil A. Ray, pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist church of Lubbock, officiated. Burial was in the IOOF cemetery at Plainview under the direction of Roy G. Wood Funeral home of Plainview. Rowland had resided in Lubbock for the past three years and was a former Plainview resident.

Members of the Hub City Kiwanis club will go to the American Legion home in a body at noon today to take the chest X-rays in the mobile X-ray unit sent here by the State Department of Health under sponsorship of the club. The X-raying will take the place of the club's regular luncheon program. The mobile X-ray unit will be here until Nov. 12 in a Lubbock county chest survey for tuberculosis.

Graveside services were conducted Sunday afternoon in Eastlawn cemetery for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Whitehead of 2515 Ruby street. The infant was born in West Texas hospital and lived only a few minutes. Hershel Dyer, minister of Pioneer Park Church of Christ, officiated. Rix Funeral home directed burial.

Dr. Alton Boone, chiropractor, has announced he is taking over the practice of his mother, Mrs. Lillian Boone, who was injured in a fall last week. His office is at 1520 Broadway.

Lou Walker, local insurance agent, currently is on 45 days' temporary duty as assistant to Major James Samsel, Lubbock Organized Reserve corps instructor. Walker, a first lieutenant in the Medical Service corps reserve, also commands the 329th Malarial Control detachment, which has headquarters in Lubbock.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Ann Taylor, 69, Paducah resident who died at 9 a. m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital, are to be held at 3 p. m. today in the Missionary Baptist church of paducah.

Interment will be in Paducah cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Mrs. Taylor had lived in Paducah 27 years. She has been a patient in the local hospital for several days before her death.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Floyd Weir, Fort Worth; Mrs. Pearl Slack and Mrs. Otis Weir, both of Lubbock; Mrs. J. D. Odom, Fort Worth; and Mrs. W. A. Van Broddyn, Muskegon, Mich.; five sons, W. N. Taylor, and J. H. Taylor, jr., both of Lubbock; A. J., Guy and Joe Taylor, all of Paducah; one brother, J. C. Rone, Lynn; three sisters, Mrs. Sue Farmer, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Jesse Free, Bonnville, Miss.; Mrs. Cliff Sarton, Memphis, Tenn.; 34 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Carr Given Cup At Toastmasters' Club

Warlick Carr, speaking on the subject of "Our American Heritage," won the president's cup as best speaker of the evening at the Toastmasters' club, Hub Chapter 660, Monday night in the Hilton hotel.

Carr's talk headlined a program which featured C. J. Hollingsworth, W. D. Rogers and Lonnie Langston as speakers and Gene Quest as topic master. Critics were Dr. Weston Pettey, Winston Robertson, A S. Meinecke and Dr. Jim Reynolds.

Leland Culp, Louie F. Moore and Maj. Dean Brown were announced as new associate members.

Dr. Mina Watkins was toastmaster for the program.

Rep. Mansfield Turns Down Information Service Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP) — Rep. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) today turned down President Truman's offer to appoint him as an assistant secretary of state in charge of the department's information service.

Mansfield was asked to succeed George V. Allen as head of the "Voice of America" and other department cultural and informational programs. Allen has been named ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Mansfield announced at the White House that he had decided "with deep regret" that he could not take the job. He said he felt his first duty was to remain in Congress.

Officials To Seek Change In Law On Coverings For Wells

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Two Travis county state representatives today promised effort at the next legislative session toward amending the Texas law requiring the covering of open wells.

Pearce Johnson and Johnnie B. Rogers both said they would be willing to sponsor an amendment and agreed that it would be speedily approved.

The tumble 3-year-old Bobby Gow took down an eight-inch well pipe Friday proved the Texas law inadequate.

The statute provided for the covering of wells, cisterns and the like with openings 10 inches in diameter or more.

HST Okays Measure For Aid To Albuquerque Hospital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)— President Truman today signed a bill allowing the government to aid in construction of a county hospital at Albuquerque, N .M.

The new law authorizes expenditure of $1,500,000 for the hospital, to be built in co-operation with Bernalillo county. The county in turn will make not less than 100 beds available for Indian patients.

A bill to transfer a tract of Indian land in Albuquerque to Bernalillo county as a site for the hospital already had been passed by congress and signed by the President.

Husband Of Murder Suspect Ends Term

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 31. (U.P.)—The male half of a married couple jailed in two separate states was freed here today, police said.

Mauritz Peterson, 27, was free after completing a six-month sentence for hit-and-run driving and failure to provide for a child of a previous marriage.

His wife, Sandra, 17, was being held by juvenile authorities in Brady, Tex., pending her trial for the alleged murder of realtor Lewis Patterson.

Peterson's request for parole to go to his wife last month was turned down.

Now he said he would go to Texas to do what he could to help his wife. She cannot be tried for murder under Texas law until she is 18 years of age.

Thirteen Hunters Claimed In Colorado Hunting Season

DENVER, Oct. 31. (AP)—With Colorado's big game hunting season over for the year, save in certain small areas, the toll of hunters stood today at 13 killed and two missing.

Six hunters lost their lives because of heart seizures and seven were shot to death. Fresh snows halted the search for one of two missing hunters and officers said his body might not be found until next spring.

Aid From Red China Flooding North Korea, Official Claims

TOKYO, Oct. 31 (INS)—The South Korean minister of defense declared today in Tokyo that men and munitions are pouring into Communist North Korea from Red China.

The minister, Shin Sung Mo, is visiting allied occupation officials in the Japanese capital.

Shin told a news conference that 80,000 veterans of the Chinese Communist army are massed in South Manchuria near North Korea and that two divisions of these troops have already been moved into North Korea.

The visiting defense minister charged that the Soviets have agreed to equip two North Korean armored divisions as well as 250,000 infantrymen.

In addition, Shin said, the Soviets will furnish the Communist regime above the 38th Parallel with 20 fighter planes, 30 bombers and 100 reconnaissance aircraft.

While in Japan, Shin will take delivery of six 2,000-ton ships for South Korea. The vessels, now being overhauled at Yokohama, are part of the Marshall plan aid going to the South Koreans.

Bell Wants To Abolish Extra Point

'Not Fair' Says Methodist Pilot

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)— Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, whose team beat Texas 7-6 Saturday, said today he still thinks the point after touchdown should be legislated out of football.

Bell advocated abolishing the extra point try several years ago but says he couldn't get any support on the National Rules Committee of which he now is a member.

"It isn't fair," He declared. "A team can play you on even terms — even be better than you — and score a touchdown the same as you, yet it loses because one boy kicks the ball between the goal posts and another doesn't."

Bell chose an opportune time to renew his opposition to the extra point. The first time he came out against it was after the 1947 Southern Methodist-Texas game when SMU won 14-13.

"I think if we'd get rid of the point after touchdown we would see better and more thrilling football," He said. "The teams would open up more, try to score touchdowns instead of sitting back and protecting a one-point lead.

"I wouldn't do away with place-kicking, however. I think the field goal still has a place in football. After all, a team has to carry the ball down there in order to get a chance at a field goal."

He added that there was no greater thrill in football than the field goal. "It is a spectacular thing," Bell said.

Doak Walker's point after touchdown in 1947 knocked Texas out of the Southwest Conference championship. His extra point Satrday knocked Texas out of the Conference race.

"The only thing Doak did in practice Friday was practice kicking extra points," Bell said. "He tried a dozen. It paid off, of course. But I still think we shouldn't have it in football."

Walker was out of uniform for 10 days because of an attack of influenza. He appeared in only 11 plays against Texas and never did carry the ball. But his one appearance to kick the extra point won the game for Southern Methodist.

Tickets For Odessa Game Going Rapidly

"Monday was one of the busiest days of my life," said E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager at Lubbock High school, following a steady rush for tickets to the Odessa-Westerner football game to be played November 11 in Odessa.

And after more than 4,500 tickets were disposed of to persons applying for them last week, Lowrey paused to praise the sportsmanship and cooperation of the persons who waited in line for their ducats.

Slightly better than half the tickets sold were choice reserve seats, the rest being end zone tickets. But those lucky enough to get even end zone ducats were happy to get them, Lowrey reported.

An additional 1,000 tickets remain to be picked up by fans who reserved them, and Lowrey urges everyone having tickets put back to pick them up today if possible.

No deadline has been set for paying for and picking up tickets, but Lowrey said he hopes to have them off his hands as soon as possible.

An additional 1,500 student tickets will go on sale later in the week. With these sold, approximately 7,000 fans from Lubbock will be in possession of tickets for the game.

Another 14,000 tickets are being sold in Odessa, with special bleacher sections being added to give Broncho stadium a seating capacity of 21,662 for the grid battle.

Techsans Begin Preparations For Border Game With Texas Western

Salem Moved To Quarterback Slot

Varsity players seeing the most action Saturday again were given a rest by Coach Dell Morgan yesterday as Texas Tech began preparations for three consecutive Border Conference games, the first of which takes place this Saturday in El Paso against Texas Western.

Remaining varsity players, without benefit of freshmen, were sent through a long dummy scrimmage and then a long session of head knocking. It was good practice, with a great deal accomplished.

Salem At Quarterback

Albert Salem, who came to the Red Raiders from Texas Western, was back in the signal-calling spot yesterday. Salem pleaded with Coach Morgan for another chance at quarterback, a position from which he was shifted to right halfback when a flock of injuries knocked out most of the existing halfbacks.

Salem was throwing the best passes of the season in yesterday's drill, running well with the ball himself and operating the Raider machine in good shape. While he probably will not start against Western, he might see a lot of action.

Tech Spirits Soar

Encouraging to Raider followers yesterday was a return of high spirits on the Tech squad. Players appeared more eager and determined than they have at any time this season.

Part of that is due to their realization that they now have a chance to win since they will be playing teams more nearly in their class. But part of it is due to the fact that they have a strong desire to beat Western as badly as they did last year.

If Tech can build a passing attack this week, they stand a good chance of beating the Miners. It was through the air that Hardin-Simmons did the most damage last week and Coach Morgan is hopeful of finding a similar spark in the Raider camp.

Tech's passing game hasn't been its strongest weapon this year and Saturday it failed woefully. In the early part of the Rice game, passes that hit receivers were dropped and later, when receivers were open, passes overshot their mark.

This will be Tech's third conference fray. They hold victories over two foes, but need to sweep all three remaining games to defend their title successfully. This could be the make or break weekend.

Coaches Hill, Pattison, Morgan Speak

Fans Find Out 'Why' At QB Club Meeting

Football fans found out why Lubbock and Dunbar High schools won their games, why Texas Tech lost its game and pictures of why Southwest Conference teams have a habit, when they are good, of winning theirs, last night at the Quarterback club meeting.

Damon Hill, Panther coach, was brought forward early in the meeting to relate how his team won its game this week and to explain why he had missed the last two meetings. Coach Hill said that he got all fouled up the first week and last week had sickness in his family that prevented his being present.

The Dunbar mentor said that since he had last appeared, his team had won two games and lost one, being beaten by Abilene in that city. He related that Abilene had many of the same boys that had played for the last three or four years were still playing, especially one big boy named "Shine."

Coach Hill Pessimistic

Coach Hill said that his next game was Armistice Day in Lubbock against San Angelo, the team the Panthers must beat to win the district. The Panther coach shook his head and declared that he didn't see how his boys were going to beat San Angelo, that the visiting eleven was big and reminded him of the Westerners for size.

Coach C. R. Pattison of the Westerners said that he had been a little worried about the mental outlook of his boys after beating Amarillo, but that by the time the game with Lamesa was here, their outlook was about perfect.

Coach Pattison mentioned Wayne Stroud's 98-yard run, pointing out that it wasn't a fluke, but it was a case of perfect timing by all the players. He said that it was the type of play every coach hoped to have happen, but that it was one of chance, that it wasn't planned.

Praises Second Team

The Westerners, according to Coach Pattison, played good ball, but he singled out the second team for especial tribute. He declared that had they played more, they might have duplicated the varsity.

Coach Pattison also warned fans that they were taking Odessa too lightly, that the Bronchos had a fine team and would be ready for Lubbock. He pointed out that Abilene actually had one of the better teams in the state and probably played one of the best games of the season to beat Odessa, so that that game could not be used as a yardstick by which to measure the two elevens.

Coach Dell Morgan of Tech related highlights of the Rice game, expressing disappointment that the Red Raiders didn't score. He told of the Raiders running the proper play for a touchdown twice, and each time the plays failed because players didn't remember their assignments.

Cotton Bowl Movies Shown

The Raider Coach also said that Tech should beat Texas Western by a touchdown this week, even though the Miners would be up for the game since it was homecoming. He said that Tech scouts reported that Western had a 14-13 lead at the half, only to flub the game in the final two periods when Hardin-Simmons came back more determined.

Pictures of the 1948 and 1949 Cotton Bowl games and highlights of 1947 and 1948 Southwest Conference games concluded the night's program. A small crowd attended.

Arrangements have been made to hold all future meetings of the Quarterback club in the, Hotel Lubbock, hosts for last night's meeting.

PLATOON LISTENING

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 31 (AP)—A university of Iowa football enthusiast here is using what he calls "platoon listening" for the Iowa games. He keeps two radios turned on. Why? Because he said one announcer is better when Iowa is on offense. Another has the edge when Iowa is on defense.

Baylor's Bears Only Undefeated, Untied College Grid Team

(By The Associated Press)

The only undefeated, untied college football team remains in Texas as the campaign enters its final month.

Baylor's Bears stand high and dry with six victories. Texas Western fell out of the list last week, beaten by Hardin-Simmons 33-14.

Hardin, with a 7-1 record, and Texas Western with 6-1 are next in line while Rice and Texas A. and I. each has 5-1.

Baylor gets a strong test this week, playing Texas at Austin.

Standings of the leading Texas college teams:

Teams	W	L	T	Pts	OP	Pct.
Baylor	6	0	0	158	46	1.000
Hardin	7	1	0	231	69	.875
Texas Western	6	1	0	177	60	.857
Rice	5	1	0	181	63	.833
Texas A. & I.	5	1	0	143	82	.833
Southern Methodist	4	1	0	95	88	.800
Hardin-Simmons	5	1	1	197	95	.786

Bobby Vann Lost To SMU Due To Injuries

DALLAS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Bobby Vann, regular tackle, has been lost to Southern Methodist, probably for the remainder of the season from injuries suffered in the game with Texas Saturday.

Two cartilages were torn in his knee and his wrist was broken.

Bobby Collier, the other regular tackle, had his shoulder hurt but Coach Matty Bell said he thought Collier would be able to play Saturday against Texas A. & M.

Frank Payne, veteran halfback, still is out with a broken finger and won't be available for two or three more weeks, Bell said.

"We're in a terrible shape and those Aggies are going to be mighty tough for us," Bell commented.

TCU's Frogs Take One Day Vacation From Grid Practice

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31 (AP)—TCU's Frogs took a one-day vacation Monday before launching preparations for their November 12 Southwest Conference game with the University of Texas.

Dutch Meyer, Frog coach, appeared at a weekly quarterback luncheon Monday noon and explained TCU's 40-14 loss to Baylor as just "A bad day."

"It's a short story," said Meyer. "We just took a bad beating. Everything we did was bad."

Army, Fordham In Weekend Meet

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (INS)—One of the hottest games on next weekend's collegiate football slate will be played before no more than 27,000 spectators.

That's the capacity at Michie Stadium at West Point where Army and Fordham, both undefeated, are due to tangle.

The game was booked for Yankee Stadium, but Army officials decided last winter to switch it up the Hudson River to West Point.

In either Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds, the game would be a cinch to attract at least 60,000 persons.

It would have come close to being the outstanding college game in New York this season. Next week: Notre Dame-North Carolina contest at Yankee Stadium glimmers a little less brightly now that North Carolina has taken two straight beatings.

Of course, it's to late now to switch the Fordham-Cadet affair because of ticket problems and so forth.

In any case, the Polo Grounds wouldn't be available Saturday. There's another game booked there: Wilberforce vs. Morgan State.

Ed Danowski's Fordham team is a real "sleeper." The Rams lost six out of nine last year and Danowski almost lost his job. But Army isn't selling the Rams short. Lt. Doug Kenna, former star Cadet back, scouted Fordham in its trouncing of Syracuse and Georgetown and reported:

"It gets more surprising and improves 100 per cent week by week."

Fordham's competition—Kings Point, Scranton, Syracuse and Georgetown—hasn't been of peerless caliber. But, other than Michigan, look whom Army has beaten:

Davidson and VMI, both minor leaguers and three sub-par easterners, Harvard, Columbia and Penn State.

Top Cagers Open Play Tonight

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The strangest and possibly the best, basketball team in history will play its first official game tomorrow night.

At Butler fieldhouse in Indianapolis, the Indianapolis Olympians, including four ex-All Americans from the University of Kentucky, who not only play on the team, but own it outright, will play their first game in the National Basketball Association.

It will be the first big night all over for the infant NBA, a 17-club formed by wedding the old National Basketball league and the Basketball Association of America. While Denver plays at Indianapolis, New York plays Chicago and Tri-City plays St. Louis in a double-header at Chicago and Sheboygan is at Rochester.

The four Kentucky stalwarts—player-coach Cliff Barker, Ralph Beard, Alex Gorza and Wah Wah Jones—formed, with Ken Rollins, now of the Chicago Stags, the greatest college quintet of all time. They were given $50,000 by desperate NBL owners while the war between the two leagues was still hot to form an Indianapolis franchise, as player-owners. This they did.

Everyone else on the squad of the Indianapolis Olympians, including Babe Kimbrough, old-time sports editor and now general manager of the team, is on salary.

That includes Bob Evans, a star from Butler who will probably be the fifth man on the floor for Indianapolis when Baker, Bard Groza and Jones take the court against the Denver Nuggets tomorrow night.

It is a soon-to-be-answered question whether the players who brought victory to the United States in the Olympics and absolute supremacy to Kentucky in basketball can throw their weight around among the professionals.

The suspicion is that they can. What are professionals, after all, but boys from college?

Forty-Niners Are Leaders In Offense

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (INS)—Figures do lie.

The San Francisco 49ers—third in the All-America Conference standing—are running away with total offensive honors in the pro football circuit.

Although they lost, 30 to 28, to Cleveland yesterday, the 49ers outgained the Browns, 477 yards to 400. The Frisco per-game average now is 395.7 yards to 384.5 for the Browns.

Cleveland, however, leads in passing. With automatic Otto Graham doing most of the chucking, the Browns have averaged 248.4 yards per game in the air.

The Brooklyn-New York Yankees—tied with Cleveland for first place in the Conference—are the defensive stalwarts of the loop. The Yankees have allowed only 97 points, an average of 239.4 per game and only 79.1 by rushing.

Cleveland Indians Drop Four Class D Clubs From System

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31. (INS)—The Cleveland Indians announced today they have dropped four Class D clubs from their minor league holdings.

The reduction left the Indians with 13 teams in their farm system.

Cut from the roster were Cordele, Ga.; Stroudsburg, Pa.; Iola, Kan.; and Union City, Tenn. Cordele in the Georgia-Florida league was owned outright. The others operated under working agreements.

Ike Williams Will Defend Crown Against Freddy Dawson

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31 (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., has signed to defend his crown in a 15 round bout against Freddy Dawson of Chicago on Nov. 28 at Convention Hall, promoter Phil Glassman announced tonight.

Williams and Dawson have met three times in recent years in non-title bouts with the champion emerging the winner each time.

Baylor Tops SWC In Defense Play

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)— A look at the statistics of Southwest Conference football shows why Baylor's Golden Bears are undefeated and untied.

The Bruins have allowed six foes an average of only 198 yards per game and offensively the passing combination of Adrian Burk to J. D. Ison is not only devastating but amazingly accurate.

Burk is moving up in the race for passing honors. To date the Baylor quarterback has thrown 108 and connected with 69 for 869 yards and 10 touchdowns. He hasn't passed as much as most of the others but his percentage of completions is much higher and his throwing has been more effective.

Ison is tied with Morris Bailey of Texas Christian in the number of passes caught and has scored more touchdowns. Ison has snared 29 throws for 304 yards and four scores. Bailey's 29 catches have produced 417 yards but only three TD's.

Baylor's defensive record is tops. Texas is second in defensive, giving up 216 yards per game. Offensively, Texas is in front with 2,735 yards in seven games — an average of 390. Rice is second with 376 per game in six tests.

Bob Smith, Texas A&M fullback, continues to lead the ball-carriers. He has taken the ball 97 times for 451 yards. Randall Clay of Texas has moved into second place ahead of the idle Leon Campbell of Arkansas. Clay has carried 90 times for 398 yards. Campbell is third with his 384 yards on 44 rushes.

Lindy Berry of Texas Christian continues to lead the passers with 77 completions in 154 throws for 1,047 yards and eight touchdowns. Second is Paul Campbell of Texas with 66 connections on 128 passes for 996 yards and four touchdowns.

Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist stayed in front in punting with an average of 44.0 yards on 14 boots. Jimmy Hickey of Texas Christian moved into second place with 40.6 in 17 kicks.

Dan Wilde of Texas Christian is the top punt-returner. He has carried back six for an average of 22 yards. Rex Proctor of Rice is second with 20.2 on seven.

In total offense, Berry leads with 1,169 yadrs in 236 plays. Campbell of Texas is second with 940 on 152.

Sanders Moves To Finals In City Elementary Grid Playoff

Sanders school advanced to the finals in the city elementary football playoffs Monday with a 19-18 victory over Wolffarth.

Coached by William Lowrance, the Sanders team will play Brown school at 7 p. m. Friday at Chapman field for the city flag football championship.

Powerful Odessa Next On Schedule

Westerners Remain Idle This Weekend

WAYNE STROUD
On Schoolboy Honor Roll

With seven victories behind them in as many starts this season, the Lubbock Westerners will remain idle this Friday and prepare for their next game in Odessa on November 11.

Last week the local eleven successfully opened its bid for District 3-AA grid honors with a resounding, 41-14, triumph over Lamesa. Previous non-district victories were over Amarillo, 47-7; Pampa, 33-20; Vernon, 42-12; Plainview, 42-6; North Side, 38-0; and Childress, 38-0.

Squad In Top Shape

Coach Pat Pattison said Monday at practice that the Westerners were in good shape after the battle with the Golden Tornadoes. Only a few bruises and minor scratches were suffered in the contest, and these are not expected to slow down workouts this week.

Over the weekend members of the squad were given injections to help ward off colds and influenza, and the last shot Monday left some of the players with sore arms.

In the game with Lamesa the first team again played less than one-half the game, leaving after 19 minutes of the tussle with a 27-0 advantage. The score was eventually lengthened to 41-0 before Lamesa found paydirt in the fourth quarter.

Varsity Not Penalized

One encouraging thing about the Lamesa victory was that the Lubback varsity was not penalized a single time the entire time it played. But in the last half the substitutes more than made up for the oversight with penalties totaling 70 yards.

Blocking the first half was extremely sharp, and Halfback Wayne Stroud's 98-yard return of a Lamesa punt was made possible by precision work of the whole squad in cutting down Lamesa defenders. Following a crushing key block by Fullback Malcolm Young, Stroud went to his right sideline and found an open corridor leading to the Tornado goal line.

In practice Monday the Westerners went a normal drill, and accent was on blocking and running of plays. One of the items stressed was protection of the passer until he was able to rid himself of the pigskin. Quarterback Bobby Brown has found himself hemmed in on more than one occasion this year by hard-charging defensive linemen on passing plays, and improvement along this line should help him spot receivers without fear of being thrown for losses.

Running of plays found the offensive and defensive teams working with enthusiasm, and although the body contact was limited in early practice it was easy to see that some of the offensive drives would have gone for long yardage.

Heavy scrimmages will probably be held later in the week, and defensive drills against possible Odessa plays will come in for lots of attention.

The 56-28 defeat hung on the Cleveland Browns by the San Francisco '49ers at the start of the 1949 season was the worst defeat ever suffered by Coach Paul Brown.

Frick Wants The Spitter Restored

BY PAT ROBINSON
INS SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — Ford Frick, National League prexy, says the spitter should be restored to a pitcher's repertory.

This, he believes, would help check the constant parade of pitchers we've seen in the years since the spitter was banned.

With all due respects to our former colleague, we think this is just pure bunk.

No good pitcher ever needed a freak delivery. All the best of them ever needed was a fast ball, a curve and a change of pace. And, of course, control.

Some of the greatest never needed anything but speed and control. In proof of which we offer you the careers of Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove.

Quinn One Of Greatest

The spiter, as Burleigh Grimes used it, was rather an unsightly performance. But Jack Quinn, one of the greatest of the spitball pitchers, barely moistened the tip of his fingers with his tongue.

We don't care whether the spiter comes back or not. But we do insist that the good pitchers don't need it, and it won't help the palukas much, if any.

If Frick is sincere about helping the pitchers, all he has to do is instruct his umpires to recognize the strike zone as written in the rules book.

Definition Of Strike

The rule defines a strike as a ball which crosses any part of home plate between the shoulders and the knees. Get that — between the shoulders and the knees.

Now we submit that the umpires for some reason are not calling them that way and we will leave it to any pitcher, any coach or any manager if we are not correct in saying this.

The umpires these days simply won't call a strike above the letters on a hitter's shirt which is quite a bit below the shoulders. And they are loath to call one as low as the knees.

Why? We dont' know but we do know that failure to give the pitcher his just deserts is making it so much harder for him to have control.

The pitcher has less target to shoot at and when he has to come in with one over the middle he gets bumped and he's quickly out of the ball game.

Umps Shorten Zone

We were discussing this subject with Earle Brucker, veteran catcher and erstwhile coach of the Athletics, one day last summer and he stressed the fact that the umpires are constantly shortening the strike zone.

And while we are on the subject, we hope Frick isn't so naive as to believe the spiter he favors so much, hasn't been used since it was banned by official edict. Or that it isn't used sometimes today whenever a pitcher can get by with it.

Five Texas Players Injured Seriously

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Five members of the Texas varsity were nursing serious injuries today following the Longhorn's 6-7 loss to SMU Saturday.

Two backs, Billy Pyle and Byron Townsend, remained in the hospital.

Pyle, the brilliant little defensive specialist from Wichita Falls, may be lost for the remainder of the season because of a twisted knee.

Townsend, has a bruised hip.

Both the Longhorns' first string ends, Paul Williams and Ray Stone, are being treated for leg and groin injuries, respectively.

Tackle Jim Lansford has an injured leg.

O. L. Slaton Warriors Gain 6-0 Win Over Carroll Thompson

Fullback Tommy Lyons' 30-yard gallop for the lone touchdown of the day gave the O. L. Slaton Warriors a 6-0 victory over the Carroll Thompson Calfropers yesterday afternoon at Chapman Field in a seventh and eighth grade conference football game.

Lyons picked up good blocking to score the only touchdown of the day. Speedy Warren was outstanding for the losers, while the entire Warrior team turned in a good performance.

Friday afternoon the Warriors play J. T. Hutchinson in its concluding conference game. A victory would give the Warriors the conference championship. They have won two, lost one and tied one now.

WILDLIFE BARBECUE

MARSHALL, Oct. 31 (AP)—Antelope, elk and moose will be served tomorrow at the second annual barbecue of the East Texas Wildlife association. H. L. Johnson, of Tyler, was today named judge of the dog show to be held in connection with the event. More than 1,000 are expected to attend.

Baylor's Bears Challenge Coach Blair Cherry's Steers Saturday

Texas Leads Series With 27 Victories

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (Special)—Another of the University of Texas' dwindling victory streaks will be challenged next Saturday afternoon, when the Longhorns return to their Memorial Stadium for a two-game stand.

The challengers on this occasion will be Baylor university's Bears, once again the surprise of the Southwest Conference football race. Away to a good start in the '49 chase, the Bears are rated one of the best bets to overtake favored Rice Institute.

The Longhorns will be defending a string of successes over Baylor that numbers six victories and one tie since the Bears scored their latest triumph in this half-century series. Baylor's last decision was scored at Waco in 1939, 20-0.

But to most Baptist fans the 7-7 deadlock with Texas' great 1941 team was as good as a victory. The Longhorns were riding high that season, being ranked No. 1 in the nation prior to that meeting.

In the all-time rivalry, that started in 1901, Texas ha swon 27, Baylor 8, and three games have ended in ties. Two of those deadlocks, the one in 1941 and another in 1923—cost the Longhorns conference championships.

Baylor always has been a greater menace than one-sided standings might indicate. So it was last year, when the Longhorns had to come from behind in the final minutes to salvage a 13-10 victory.

Texas has seen a cherished winning streak slip from its grasp in each of the past two seasons. In 1947 it was Southern Methodist breaking the blight after the Longhorns had won six meeting in a row.

And in 1948 the University of Oklahoma interrupted a Steer string of successes after it had reached eight conquests.

After facing Baylor before what is expected to be a near sellout crowd, the Longhorns will wind up their home season the following week against TCU.

Medical Department Set Up For Athletes

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (INS)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission today opened a fully equipped medical department—the first of its kind in the country.

The new department includes devices and instruments for testing physical fitness of boxers and wrestlers and according to Joseph Triner, chairman of the commissioner, "Gives the State of Illinois the lead among commissions in looking after the physical and—insofar as possible—the mental welfare of the boys and men who come under its jurisdiction."

A boxer or wrestler who fails to meet the physical requirements prescribed by the commission medical staff will be referred to the medical department for thorough tests and examination.

The department is also charged with arranging for hospital facilities for fighters and wrestlers and keeping an oxygen tank at all matches and bouts.

The staff will also keep a master file on the medical records of all athletes under the commission jurisdiction. It will show past illnesses and ring injuries including won and lost records and knockouts.

Rice's Wyatt, Roberts Still On Doubtful Playing List

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Coach Jess Neely of Rice Institute hopes to see all his injured players except Halfback Van Ballard ready for Saturday's conference tilt with Arkansas.

Two players still on the doubtful list are Halfback Sonny Wyatt and Guard S. J. Roberts.

Neely said Wyatt is recovering slowly from a shoulder injury. He is uncertain about progress being made by Roberts who is out with a rib separation.

Gerald Weatherly, big center, is recovering from an ankle injury.

LOUIS SLATES BOUT

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 31 (AP)—Joe Louis, retired heavyweight champion, signed today to meet Joe Cheshul, young Bayonne heavyweight, in a ten round no decision bout Nov. 22 at Newark armory for the March of Dimes.

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

They're nearing the finish in the South Plains schoolboy football races, and it still looks as though the top contenders will battle right down to the wire before district championships are decided.

With only three weeks to go, not a single clear-cut district titlist has been determined. In fact, the major engagements are yet to come.

District 3-A is the most muddled of all. Floydada and Spur currently are leading the pack, but they have Lockney, Crosbyton and Ralls breathing down their figurative collars.

In 4-A North, this week's Littlefield-Sudan scrap should settle matters, although Levelland still has an outside chance to slip in for at least a share of the crown.

Post and Slaton have things all to themselves in 4-A South. The circuit championship now hinges entirely on the outcome of their Nov. 11 meeting at Post.

Wink is out in front in District 5-A, but will have to beat Kermit, its top rival, to sew up the pennant. This game also is set for Nov. 11, at Kermit.

Olton's Mustangs lead the 3-B pack, but Dimmitt and Hale Center are definitely in the running, while in 4-B, Ropesville, New Deal and Whiteface all are challenging front-running Meadow.

Yessir, "it's anybody's ball game," at this stage.

Personally, I'm glad to see such wide-open title chases. There's nothing like competition to stimulate interest—which helps explain why the 1949 football campaign has been one of the healthiest in South Plains history.

At least two homecoming observances are scheduled in the area this week — at Seagraves (which plays Tahoka) and Levelland (which meets Muleshoe)... District 5-A fans are raving over Bud Rollins, Wink's 190-pound, wheelhorse running ace. Against Pecos last week, Rollins racked up more than 280 yards net from scrimmage and scored four touchdowns to lead the Wildcats to a 40-18 triumph. Unusually fast for his size, the Wink lad is said to be a top-notch collegiate prospect...Pat Farris, Lubbock Cowhands' coach, wants to match his team against any available Class A eleven this weekend. Anyone interested can contact Farris through the Lubbock High school athletic department...Local independent basketball team managers should keep in mind tonight's organizational meeting for winter city leagues. It starts at 7:30 o'clock in room 106, City hall... Congratulations to Chick Trout, for winning this year's City Open golf tourney, and to the Westerners' Wayne Stroud, for his inclusion on the honorable mention list of this week's Dallas Morning News grid star poll. Incidentally, Coach Pat Pattison describes Stroud's 98-yard punt return against Lamesa as "the most perfectly executed punt return I have ever seen." I'd like to add my "ditto" to that. The play's timing was flawless, as Lubbock blockers cut a five-yard swath along the east sideline at Jones stadium.

The Westerners Mothers club will honor the 1949 squad Saturday night with the annual Thanksgiving banquet, to be held at the George M. Hunt school cafeteria. Which gives me a timely opportunity to commend the Mothers' club for its perennial, and whole-hearted, support of the Westerners...The junior high teams of Tahoka and Seagraves are to meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at Seagraves...Thanks to V. N. Citoren and to "a friend in San Angelo" for recent letters to this department...I could be wrong (and often have been), but I look for undefeated, untied Grand Prairie to do an "el foldo" against Highland Park this weekend. Despite its high ranking in Class AA circles, Grand Prairie has not yet bumped into any first-rate competition...First-hand observers tell me that McMurry's Brad Rowland is even better than press releases state—if that's possible... A friend of mine, discussing the merits of the 1949 Westerner backfield, summed things up pretty well with, "A greyhound can catch a jackrabbit, but he can't catch four jackrabbits turned loose at the same time. And that's what this Lubbock team has—four jackrabbits in the backfield."

Some Lubbock fans are complaining that this city didn't receive a fair allotment of tickets for the Odessa game. On the other hand, some Odessa residents are peeved because "they sent too many tickets to Lubbock." Which just goes to show that you can't please the red-hot grid fans all the time. Personally, I feel that the final distribution of ducats in this case was reasonably fair to all concerned...In case you're interested, the latest odds have Lubbock a 13-point favorite over the Bronchos...A recent Tokyo appearance of the San Francisco Seal baseball club drew 100,000 fans—believed to be an all-time record. Bill Macdonald, a member of the 1947 Lubbock Hubber mound staff, is with the Seals on the Japanese exhibition tour, and tossed a 16-0 shutout in his latest start against a service team...Leo (Muscles) Shoals, first baseman for Reidsville in the Carolina league, was Organized Baseball's leading home run hitter for 1949 with 55 circuit swats, The Sporting News reports. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner was second with 54, while D. C. Miller of Lamesa and Jerry Witte of Dallas tied for third with 50 roundtrippers each.

Syracuse University's new gymnasium is expected to be ready next fall. Archbold Gym was destroyed by fire two years ago.

WTSC Preps For Flagstaff Squad

CANYON, Oct. 30. (Spl.)—West Texas State's hustling Buffaloes, fresh from a convincing 55-20 upset of heralded Trinity University here on Homecoming Day are bearing down in practice this week for their conference encounter with Arizona State in Flagstaff next Saturday, November 5.

The hard-charging crew of Coach Frank Kimbrough will be favored to take the Lumberjacks into camp. Every player is in the best physical condition of the season. There will be none out on the injured list.

Gene Mayfield, terrific quarterback from Quitaque, added 118 yards to his total yardage count in the Trinity tussle to zoom to the leadership in total offense in the Border Conference. Gene has racked up 750 yards through the air and on the ground in six contests. Big Charles Wright, Canyon tailback, moved into second place in the yards gained rushing department of the conference with 403 yards.

Frank Wise, lanky booter from Coleman, is lodged in second place in punting in the conference with an average of 40.9 per boot. The team as a whole leads the conference in kicking with an average of 42.3.

Hardin-Simmons of Abilene will furnish the oposition for the last home game of the season for the Buffs November 12. Comparative scores point to a tough contest in that Hardin-Simmons had to come from behind to tie Houston University 27-27 a week ago while the Houstonians barely edged the Buffs 14-13. In that game the West Texans had one TD called back and moved to the 'inch' line on three occasions.

Tickets for the Hardin-Simmons game may be secured by writing or phoning Clark Jarnagin at the College Book Store on the campus.

SISTER ACT — Alice, 21, pitching out of a trap, and Marlene Bauer, 15, of Los Angeles, lent attractiveness to the Women's National Open championship over the Prince Georges Country club course at Landover, Md. Marlene recently became the youngest golfer ever to reach the semi-finals of the National Amateur. And professional golfers prophesy great futures for both young links women. In shorts, they look like golfers.

War veteran John Ferguson, 27, is the oldest man on the University of Miami football team. He is a fullback and a junior.

Old Time Player Suffers Stroke

HOLLOWOOD, Oct. 31. (AP)—The doctor who treated Grover Cleveland Alexander for a mild stroke turned out to be a baseball fan who used to watch Ol' Pete pitch for the St. Louis Cardinals nearly a quarter century ago.

Alexander went out for breakfast yesterday morning and collapsed in a drug store. An ambulance took him to Hollywood receiving hospital.

Dr. Kearney Sauer found himself talking more about baseball than about Ol' Pete's ailment. Alexander, 62, stayed at the hospital a couple of hours, then returned to his home.

"I was a medical student in St. Louis until I came out here in 1927," Dr. Sauer said. "I told Alexander that more than once I watched him pitch for the Cards in 1926."

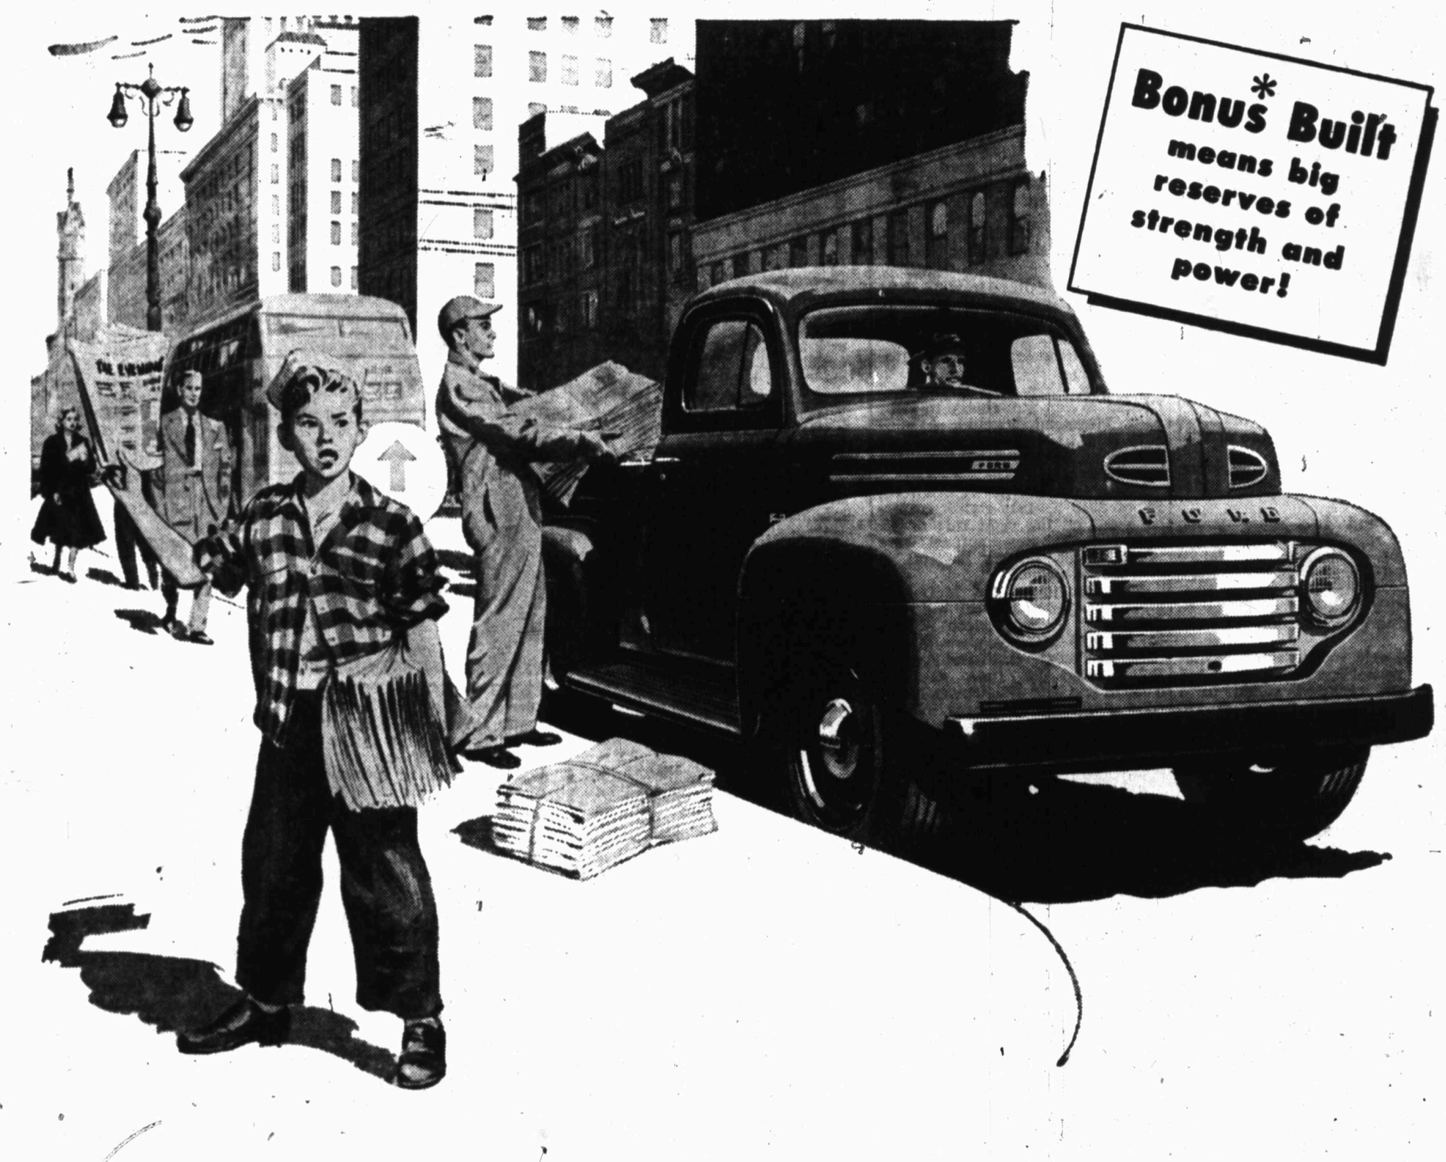

That was the year Ol' Pete struck out Tony Lazzeri, New York Yankees slugger, with the bases full, two out, and the Cards hanging on to a 3-2 lead in the seventh inning of the seventh deciding World Series game at Yankee Stadium. The Cards won the game and the series.

Lubbock Cowhands Seek Game With Class A Team In Area

The Lubbock High School Cowhands have an open date this week and are anxious to play some Class A team in the immediate area if such a game can be arranged.

Cowhand Coach Pat Farris said Monday that his team could play any day or night near the end of the week. Teams interested can contact Coach Farris or Westerner Coach Pat Pattison for further information.

Texas Voters Facing Important Decisions On 10 Amendments

see and make provisions for state needs one year ahead than two years ahead.

Many Bad Angles

The arguments against the proposition are many.

The contention that annual salaries would mean better legislators is disputed. This strictly is a matter of opinion.

The view also strongly exists that $3,600 a year is more than the job is worth. Probably $300 a month would be small during the few months the Legislature is in session. But it would be quite a lot of cash to hand out during the next six to eight months of the year while the Legislature was not in session and the legislators were doing nothing.

The amendment proposes absolutely nothing in the way of curbs upon the notorious practice of some legislators of making extra money on the side—or of accounting for that money. It is a fact known to Austin observers that some legislators expect extra pay for everything they do. They will introduce and support any bill for a price. The contention that annual salaries would reduce the temptation to make extra cash on the side is contrary to human nature. Those who have their hands out now would still have them out under the annual salary proposal.

ASIDE from that, legislators aren't so bad off in the way of compensation now. When mileage, expenses and various other emoluments of office are added to their per diem pay, they do fairly well. And their prestige as legislators brings nearly all of them extra business in their private capacities—some of it legitimate business—not only while they are in office, but afterward.

As to the annual sessions: Texas has done pretty well with biennial sessions. If urgent business arises, a special session always can be called. Few have been called in the past, which suggests that the state usually can get along just as well without them.

Would Increase Taxes

And common sense people know from practical experience that every session means additional taxation. Taxes are bad enough with the legislature meeting every two years. What would they mount to if meetings were held every year?

Then, there is another thought:

If this amendment is approved, it is a leadpipe cinch a special session will be held in January so that legislators can begin collecting that $300 a month during the entire year.

Maybe the session will be held anyway. But a good many legislators may cool off toward the idea if the $300-a-month incentive is removed. Some legislators think the session unnecessary. The governor himself has questioned its necessity.

Possibly a majority would swing to that view if the amendment is defeated.

If so, it would mean dollars in the pockets of most Texans.

Negro Posts Bond

sidewalk led them to the suspect.

He was arrested as he left a hotel in 1300-block Ave. F and was about to step into a taxicab.

Blood on a sidewalk connecting the store and the hotel was followed by police investigators, after they had found stains under a broken window at the store resembled blood.

The defendant had a handkerchief around a cut hand.

Upstairs in the hotel, he showed officers where two pistols that later were identified as having been taken from the store were hidden under the cushions of a chair.

At a hospital where he was treated, he voluntarily gave a blood specimen to be sent with other evidence to a state laboratory. It will be compared with the stains found at the scene of the burglary.

Avery "verbally admitted" to four officers of the police that he had broken and entered the store and stolen the pistols, the official report said.

Al Davis, owner of the store, had not reported any other property taken.

Avery and two other young Lubbock men were convicted recently of a burglary of Palace Drug and Jewelry company here. He entered into a $5,000 recognizance with 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue in connection with the appeal.

Police said two cases of permanent type antifreeze valued at $15 had been reported stolen in a burglary of S&W garage at 710 Thirteenth. Bud Fredler, owner, said a padlock had been pried open on a front door.

Exploders Are Taken

Three exploders were reported by J. C. Lusk, supervisor, to have been taken in a burglary of Republic Exploration company's storage house at 1411 Nineteenth. He said D. M. Collins, foreman, had gone there to get equipment and found four boys, who told him they had spent the night camped out there. Several hours later he returned to find that a door had been pried open and the property taken, the sheriff's department was informed.

Mrs. Bessie Casey, of 2106 Twenty-fifth, complained to police Monday that clothesline valued at $10 had been taken recently from her yard.

The sheriff's office announced the arrest of Robert Lee Powell, 25-year-old negro, of 2810 east Ave. K, on a charge of child desertion. Bond for Powell was set at $1,500 by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

Three Injured In Area Mishaps

Three persons were injured in traffic mishaps in or near Lubbock Monday morning.

Dr. Glenn Bradley Payne, 33, of Slaton, suffered back and possible internal injuries in a car-truck crash about 10:30 o'clock on the old Tahoka highway one mile south of the Slaton road curve.

He was driving westward when his car was struck by a truck driven northward by Ernest Evern Jones, 43, of Lubbock route 6, investigating state police said in their reports.

A charge of failure to yield right of way was filed against Jones in the justice court of C. E. Lynn, officials said.

Dr. Payne's car "rolled" after the collision.

He was taken in a Bryan McDonald & Son ambulance to Lubbock Memorial hospital. Attendants said he suffered no broken bones and described his condition as satisfactory.

Police said George W. Bradford, 56, of 2310 Twenty-eighth suffered a cut on the right side of his head and that three sutures were taken at St. Mary's hospital in closing the wound.

He was taken by McDonald ambulance after his car and one driven by Henry Monroe Wilgus, 32, of 2816 Merthel were in collision at Twenty-sixth and Ave. T. Police fixed the time at 9:25 o'clock, and said Wilgus was handed a summons to appear in corporation court on a charge of negligent collision by failure to yield right of way.

Mrs. Myrtle Jean Nettles, 18, of 3701 Ave. H was released after examination at West Texas hospital, police said. She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Lloyd Keith Nettles, 19, when it struck a truck operated by D. S. Chambers, 49, a construction worker of 1712 Ave. F. Chambers was not reported injured. The mishap was at 6:57 o'clock, at Seventeenth and Ave. G.

Nettles was charged with negligent collision by failure to yield right of way, officials said.

In the Czech controversy, Prague recently gave Isaac Patch, jr., and John C. Heyn, attaches at the U.S. embassy, 24 hours to leave the country and arrested embassy clerk Samuel Meryn.

The Red-puppet Prague regime charged that the trio and others were involved in a big spy ring seeking the overthrow of the Czech government.

Secretary of State Acheson bluntly denounced these charges as "trumped up" and false in every detail.

Power Of British House Of Lords Trimmed By Laborites

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP)—The heavy Labor majority in the House of Commons tonight rammed through a bill to trim the powers of the House of Lords.

The vote was 333 to 196. This was the final passage of a bill to enable Commons to enact a hotly controversitl measure nationalizing the iron and steel industry.

It was the third time in two years commons has passed the same bill under constitutional procedure permitting them to override a veto by the Lords.

The new law will let the upper house hold up a bill only one year instead of two years as heretofore.

Damage Is Light In Hallowe'en Pranks Throughout City

Pranksters, onlookers, and some fittingly described only as vandals joined to make last night a "fairly average" Hallowe'en from the official point of view.

The topper from the viewpoint of sheriff's deputies was a call which sent two patrol cars several miles southwest of the city on the Slide road to investigate a "body" lying in the highway. The apparent "victim" of a hit-run driver turned out to be a convincing dummy made of blue jeans and a blue shirt stuffed with cotton bolls. The setting for the "dead man" was given an artistic touch with a water splotch to serve as blood, and a hat, slightly covering a rock head.

Damage Held Down

While property damage in the city was held down by the special Hallowe'en parade, at least a few children managed to keep residents in the outlying sections of the city nervous. Small-time arson led the activities of the junior masked set, officials said.

A resident of 2500 block Thirty-third called the police department for fire equi... when he surprised several small boys in the act of piling well seasoned lumber in a manner suitable for burning on his front porch.

A resident of the 2800-block Twenty-sixth concentrated on the safety of her own garbage can long enough to give a few busy boys time to set fire to another garbage can on her front porch.

And still along the fire line, two city patrolmen doubled as firefighters when they found a gasoline blaze roaring in the middle of the street in the 2000-block Ave. X.

Damage reported was mostly to porch lights. Several were broken in the 1700 block Thirty-first. Trees were piled across Twenty-eighth at one point.

Biggest effort of the night was made at a school building at the O. L. Slaton junior high in 2800 block Ave. Q, police said. There, probably a throwback to the days of the lighter buggy—an old model car was found atop a porch roof on the building.

Associated Press Editors To Meet

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31 (AP)—How can the bewildering news of the atomic age be made easier to understand?

Three hundred members of the Associated Press Managing Editors association will open a five-day meeting here tomorrow and hope new answers to the question will result from their deliberations.

Simplifying the news has been a prime objective for 16 years in the association, composed of editors of American newspapers served by the Associated Press.

Beginning tomorrow morning at Hotel Texas, committees of managing editors will report to the AP membership on efforts being made to simplify the AP report.

L. R. Blanchard, executive editor of Gannett newspapers, an eastern chain, and Norman Isaacs, managing editor of the St. Louis Star-Times, will report on the "Continuing Study."

Editors will begin registering at 9 a.m. (CST) tomorrow. Robert McLean, Philadelphia Bulletin publisher and AP president, will speak at 2:30 p.m., Thursday.

Another speaker will be Bert Andrews, New York Herald-Tribunes Washington bureau chief and Pulitzer prize winner.

Murray Signs Steel Contract

upon tonight.

Murray called the union's gain a 12-cent package and said the pension part of that would amount "to more than a dime" in cost to the company.

Meeting Is Canceled

In Washington, government Mediator Cyrus Ching said:

"In view of a settlement announced tonight, the meeting which I have called for tomorrow morning, to which representatives of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., have been asked to attend, has been postponed subject to later call if the circumstances justify it."

NEW WALKOUT CALLED

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31.. (AP)— The Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. negotiations broke up at 10:305 p.m. (CST) without agreement and the CIO United steelworkers called a strike for one minute after midnight.

He said this action was taken to give these companies time to consider their position in the "light of the Bethlehem settlement."

U. S. Steel has maintained the position that it would pay up to 10 cents for insurance and pensions as recommended by the President's steel fact finding board. But it has insisted that its 270,000 workers contribute a portion, too.

In the Bethlehem settlement, both company and employes will contribute 2½ cents an hour toward a social insurance program to supplant the present welfare plan which the workers have financed entirely.

After a dramatic hotel room session lasting for nearly three hours, Murray and Joseph R. Larkin, Bethlehem vice president in charge of industrial relations, went into a news conference attended by at least 250 reporters and interested persons.

Murray said he regarded the settlement — first with a major steel company since the strike began Oct. 1 — as "a vindication of the union's position that there is a social responsibility in industry to take care of the aged and their families."

"I sincerely hope," said Murray, "this will bring about a settlement with the rest of the steel industry."

Although Larkin made the agreement in its final phases, the announcement of Bethlehem's position was made in a statement by Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Co.

Agreement Is Explained

Grace said that the agreement "provides for a continuance of the company's 26-year-old non-contributory plan, with amendments and a contributory social insurance program, providing death, sickness and accident and hospitalization benefits.

"The cost of the insurance program, which is not to exceed five cents per hour, will be shared equally by the employes and the company," Grace said in the statement, released by Larkin.

"The principal amendment to the pension plan, which is subject to stockholders' approval, will provide that the present minimum pension of $50 a month will be increased to $100 a month for pensions to be granted to employes with 25 or more years of service at age 65 or over.

"Pensions payable under the plan are reduced by amounts payable under the federal social security act.

"The present agreement with the union, covering terms and conditions of employment, is extended to Dec. 31, 1951, with a reopening on wage rates on Dec. 31, 1950."

Murray said that the strike settlement overtures were made last week in New York at meetings attended by Murray Latimer, insurance consultant retained by the union. The chief said details of the agreement were approved unanimously by the steelworker' negotiating committee here yesterday.

Bethlehem's board of directors met in New York to pass on the agreement, and later the Bethlehem officials came to Cleveland to sign it.

The social insurance phase of the new agreement will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1950, the union said. The steelworkers' announcement expressed the opinion that final pehsion details would be worked out to become effective at that time or within a month or so later.

The move by Bethlehem, supplanting U. S. Steel Corp., as the key company in dealing with Murray, probably was the first time that "Big Steel" trailed in making a contract since the industry was organized by the CIO more than a dozen years ago.

Hotel lobbies, crammed with delegates to the CIO convention, were full of reports that the Bethlehem agreeemnt soon would be followed by pacts with Jones & Laughlin, Allegheny - Ludlum, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic Steel Corp.

Return To Religion Urged By Truman In Radio Speech

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—President Truman wants Americans to turn to religion in their search for a peaceful world.

In a radio broadcast from the White House last night, he said that the world would be much better off if men took a more active part in religion. He said they would profit especially from the lesson of the sermon on the mount.

"I believe," Mr. Truman said, "that every problem in the world today could be solved if men would only live by the principles of the ancient prophets and the sermon on the mount."

The President spoke on a broadcast opening the inter-faith campaign of religion in American life. The campaign is sponsored by 20 religious bodies, including the Federal council of churches and the Synagogue council of America.

FIRST CLASSES ARRIVE AT RAFB — Units of the first two classes of cadets arrived at Reese Air Force Base for training Monday, the vanguard of many more to be trained at the big base west of Lubbock. The groups arriving Monday were from Enid AFB, Okla., Randolph Field, San Antonio, and San Angelo AFB. Shown are a group of advanced cadets as they unloaded from a transport plane after flying in from Enid. In the photo, above, left to right, is shown Cadets Edward E. Morrow of Kemmerer, Wyo.; Daniel E. Williams, Richmond Calif., in the plane; Mike R. Chopp, Bentleyville, Penn., in the plane; Fredrick L. LeBlond, Lewiston, Maine, in the plane; Richard A. The other two groups will train in basic trainers then finish up in B-25s. (RAFB Photo.)

Vishinsky Sets Trip

round of CFM meetings, Vishinsky's new approach will have to be given consideration. At UN, for example, several key delegates have been told by one of the Russians that the problem of Germany will be settled "in a year or two."

German Union Plan Seen

It would be no great surprise to the west if Russia proposed that the CFM be sumoned to give active consideration to the unification of Germany, including the withdrawal of all occupation troops. In the past, western authorities have branded such Soviet bids as maneuvers to give Communist factions a free hand to seize control of the split country.

There is a strong impression among western delegates at Lake Success that Russia established the east German government primarily for bargaining against the Bonn republic. Extensive damage to Soviet political aspirations is believed to have been caused by the Anglo-American-French determination to stand on a split Germany rather than yield to a Soviet-influenced form of government.

The reported spread of "Titoism" in satellite nations is regarded at Lake Success as another reason for the apparent change in tactics by the Kremlin on major issues. Refusal of western nations to lend themselves either to "appeasement" or propaganda maneuvers as readily as in former years has contributed to the formulating of new Soviet tactics.

Peace Pact May Be Included

It was pointed out at Lake Success also that Vishinsky's proposal for a big five peace pact is coming up for debate in a few days. Tied into this issue, which the United States and Britain intend to smother with counter - resolutions on the grounds that it is largely a propaganda maneuver, is the small-power drive for taking up the atom control problem.

Consequently UN sources believe that Vishinsky will attempt also in Washington next week to clarify the "level of minimum" demands on which a new footing could be achieved on the question of atomic control. He will point out to Acheson that Russia's acknowledged possession of the atom bomb has changed the situation between them considerably.

Other questions probably to come under review between them are the general status of the "cold war" and prospects for easing it, along with arms reduction and curtailment and the battle between Marshall Tito and the Cominform.

UNUSUAL ASSAULT CASE INVESTIGATED AT POST

POST Oct. 31, (Special)—There wasn't much that Antonio Villa, about 45, of Post could do about it, Sheriff E. M. Bass said, referring to a weekend assault here.

"One negro held a gun on Villa so that another could stab him with a knife," the sheriff explained.

Villa was able to "get about" today, despite a three-inch-deep wound.

Two suspects were sought.

NEWS BRIEFS

Funeral services for Don Preston Rives, 48, of Twitty, a Wheeler county commissioner, was killed and three others injured in a car crash east of McLean in the Panhandle Sunday, the Associated Press reported. Rives was the uncle of Mrs. Paul Turpen of 2915 Nineteenth. Services are set for 2:30 p. m. today in Shamrock.

Firemen were called about 7:20 p.m. Monday to the home of Ruby Hilton at 2324 Sanders where they said a fire which started from a cigaret dropped on a divan spread to curtains, damaging a wall and the ceiling in one room of the residence.

Two Lubbock youths were injured about 9:15 p. m. Monday when they were thrown from a car as the vehicle turned a corner in the Green Acres residential addition of the city. They were identified as Richard Bush, 14, of 2601 Twenty-fifth, and Dane Grant, also 14, of 3402 Twenty-first. Both were admitted to St. Mary's hospital where they will undergo x-rays today. Hospital attendants said both boys suffered injuries to their knees, and young Grant an injury to his head.

Freezing Forecast

mature cotton stalks, pickers may speed up the cotton-picking operations by use of "stripping" methods, increasing their output materially and hastening the harvest of an all-time record crop.

Lubbock's minimum at 6:30 a.m. Monday was one of the coldest in the state. The 25-degree reading compared with 26 at Amarillo, 34 at Wichita Falls, 30 at Big Spring, 35 at Abilene and 34 at San Angelo. At Tucumcari, the reading was 25, with 23 at Clayton, N. M., and 24 at Dalhart.

Would Reduce Estimate

K. N. Clapp, Lubbock representative of Anderson, Clayton & Co., and longtime cotton observer, had estimated the South Plains cotton crop at 1,523,000 bales if a freeze did not come before the "normal" freeze date of about Nov. 10. He said a freeze the second week of November would reduce his estimate by 40,000 to 70,000 bales and that an earlier freeze would reduce the total figure even further.

Sunday's situation was perfect for a new low for the season. Heavy cloudiness during the day kept the area cold during the day, and then, as the sun set, the clouds suddenly dissipated, allowing earth heat to escape by radiation and the temperature to plunge rapidly. Cloudiness at night usually serves to hold heat close to the earth.

Class Favorites Are Named At Texas Tech

Class favorites were chosen in run-off elections at Texas Tech Monday with several area residents receiving honors.

Senior class favorites include Alice Hix of Abernathy, and Bill McCasland of Lamesa; junior favorites, Dotsie Stephenson of Fort Stockton and Andy Behrends of Dimmitt.

The sophomore class favorites include Rhetta McMasters of Abernathy and John Shinn of Meadow; freshman favorites, Pat Montgomery of Lubbock and Jerry Powell of Dumas.

Names of students elected Miss Texas Tech and Mr. Texas Tech will not be announced until publication of the college yearbook, La Ventana, in the spring.

Eight Persons Enter County Court Pleas

Eight pleas were entered Monday in County court.

Judge Walter Davies assessed a fine of $75 and costs and ordered revocation of driver's license in each of the following cases: J. O. Thomas, 35, of Lubbock, L. G. Garrett, 34, of Kerens, Jesus Amador, 51, of San Antonio, and Jose Garza Malnado, 23, of Aspermont. All pleaded guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Roy Aldrich, 30, of Lubbock, was fined $100 and costs on a plea of guilty of illegal possession of a pistol.

Trial appearance bond of $400 was set for Carl W. Blackburn, 30, of Lubbock, who pleaded innocent of drunk driving.

Bond of $500 was set for H. C. Smith, who pleaded not guilty of a charge of liquor law violation.

County Judge Walter Davies fined Pat Kirk, of California, $100 and costs of $27 following the defendant's plea of guilty to a charge of transportation of liquor. Kirk was taken into custody in his parked car on a downtown street by liquor board officials Monday afternoon. He allegedly had in his possession seven pints and two 4/5 quarts of whiskey.

Women's Missionary Union Adds 1,267 New Units In Year

EL PASO, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Women's Missionary union of the Texas Baptist general convention added 1,267 new units during the past year, a speaker said today.

Miss Eula Mae Henderson of Dallas, executive secretary-treasurer of the WMU, reported to more than 500 delegates and visitors today. The missionary union met in advance of the general convention, which opens its annual session tomorrow.

Miss Henderson said the union now has the highest number of standard organizations in its history.

Women's Groups Listed

In a breakdown of the increases, she listed 211 women's missionary socities, 164 young women's auxiliaries, 326 new girls' auxiliaries, 309 royal ambassador groups, and 256 sunbeam bands.

An audit of funds collected for mission work has not been started, Miss Henderson said.

She listed these special offerings, as of last Friday: Lottie Moon offerings for foreign missions, $531,770.97; Annie Armstrong fund for home missions, $128,867.81; Mary Hill Davis offerings for state missions, $87,812.90; and minsterial offerings, $20,510.71.

Lubbock Churches Included

Miss Henderson announced 15 churches had met standards of excellence set up by the WMU for A-1 full graded unions. They are Second church, Alice; First church, Brownfield; First church, Brownsville; First church, Coleman; Temple, Meadow park and First and Second churches of Corpus Christi; First church, Dimmit; Diamond Hill and Travis avenue churches, Fort Worth; First church, Groves; First and Southside, Lubbock, and First church, Springlake.

Sixteen associations rated standard are Bell county, Blanco, Brownfield, Collin county, Corpus Christi, Grayson, Gulf Coast, Kaufman, Lubbock, Rehoboth, San Antonio, San Felipe, San Jacinto, San Marcos, Sweetwater and Winter Garden.

Denfeld Ouster Hit

Eastern Atlantic-Mediterranean fleet, before boarding an airways plane again for New York.

U. S. naval headquarters in London said Sherman had been ordered to return to Washington from Lebanon.

Capitol Hill resentment over the crackdown on Denfeld broke out anew in the bi-partisan statement by the four members of the House Armed Services committee. The committee chairman, Rep. Vinson (D.Ga.), has already said the affair will be "dealt with" when Congress returns next January.

The four lawmakers scoffed at explanations that Denfeld was fired because he lacked qualifications for the key Navy job.

Explanation Is Scored

That explanation, they said, "takes the prize for outright quackery and injustice."

Johnson had denied last Friday that Denfeld was kicked out as a "reprisal" for his testimony. Johnson implied Denfeld was removed because he lacked "the necessary qualifications."

The four congressmen said it is "a sorry and ominous day in the United States when military leaders cannot answer questions by Congress without political subservience and without having their heads chopped off."

The situation now goes beyond the "injusitices" to Admiral Denfeld and the controversy over unification of the armed forces, the statement said.

"The issue is the right of the people to know and the right of their representatives in Congress to find out," it said. "The issue is whether Congress will be able to carry out its constitutional mandate or not."

Denfeld was re-appointed to his high Navy post for a two-year term only three months ago, with the approval of both Matthews and President Truman.

"Evasive and misleading excuses and specious arguments do not cover up this reprisal," the four-man statement said. "Neither do they reflect credit on high public officials who should be above such trickery."

Carp which have long been netted from Minnesota lakes as a nuisance, have been found to make tasty food when canned.

Veterans' Disability Payments Boosted

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (Spl.)— Veterans of World wars I and II and of the Spanish-American war will receive increased disability and dependency payments estimated at $112 million annually under the provisions of a bill signed recently by President Truman, the Texas Military district has announced.

The Veterans administration estimated that 2,024,000 veterans will be affected by the section liberalizing disability and death benefits.

Men of World war I with disabilities presumed to be service-connected will get full compensation instead of the current 47 per cent.

Provisions of the bill applicable to veterans of all three wars increase the length of time for which payments may be made for arrested cases of tuberculosis and set up a new disability schedule based on $150 monthly for total disability and $15 for 10 per cent disability. The old rates were $135 and $13.80, respectively.

In addition, the bill grants increased monthly allowances to widows with a child or children, and states that veterans with 50 per cent or more disability will receive additional payments for dependents.

Abilene Board Members End School Inspection Tour Here

Members of the Abilene school board Monday inspected the O. L. Slaton Junior High school, the M. C. Overton and Cottage schools here to gain new ideas before starting on a construction program for improving the school system in their own city.

Making the tour were Horace M. Condley, president of the Abilene school board; W. E. Traley, vice president; Mrs. George Swinney, board secretary; R. B. Leach and Mrs. Thomas Roberts, board members; S. C. Olds, Abilene architect, and Nat Williams, superintendent there.

They were shown the schools by Lubbock School Superintendent R. W. Matthews. They left for Brownfield shortly before noon Monday to continue their two-day tour of South Plains schools.

Western Europe Urged To Aid Trade By Removal Of Barriers

PARIS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, Marshall plan boss, warned western Europe today to show results early next year in promoting free trade by knocking down national tariff barriers and erasing complex money controls.

He made it pretty plain it might be hard to get more aid funds from the U. S. Congress unless the Marshall plan countries showed more willingness to join in a single economic unit.

Goods in the big western European market, he said, must move freely across the many national boundaries — like trade between the 48 states of the U. S.

Failure to achieve economic unity, Hoffman warned, means "disaster for nations and poverty for peoples."

He made his call for concrete action by early next year in a prepared statement to the general council of the Organization for European Economic cooperation (OEEC), the European organization that helps administer the Marshall plan.

Hoffman said the Marshall plan countries have made "truly amazing progress" in restoring industrial and agricultural production in the last two years. But he said cooperative action between nations is needed if western Europe's economic porblems are to be solved.

Hoffman said:

"This, I believe, means nothing less than an integration of the western European economy.

"The substance of such integration would be the formation of a single large market within which quantitative restrictions on the movements of goods, monetary barriers to the flow of payments, and, eventually, all tariffs are permanently swept away.

"The fact that we have in the United States a single market of 150 million consumers has been indispensable to the strength and efficiency of our economy. The creation of a permanent, freely trading area, comprising 270 million consumers in western Europe, would have a multitude of helpful consequences.

"It would accelerate the development of large scale, low-cost production industries. It would make the effective use of all resources easier, the stifling of healthy competition more difficult."

Hoffman said it was his "considered request" that the Marshall plan countries have by early 1950 "a record of accomplishment and a program which together will take Europe well along the road toward economic integration."

Hinting that the United States was going to demand concrete results from its aid funds, Hoffman continued:

"The people and the Congress of the United States, and, I am sure, a great majority of the people of Europe have instinctively felt that economic integration is essential if there is to be an end to Europe's recurring economic crises.

"A European program to this end—one which would show real promise of taking this great forward step successfully—would, I strongly believe, give new impetus to American support for carrying through into 1952 our joint effort toward lasting European recovery."

Hoffman's speech climaxed numerous recent demands that Europe do something more positive toward unification while the American aid program is still in effect.

As Hoffman spoke, the OEEC council had on its agenda a British proposal for all member states to eliminate trade quotas on 50 per cent of their commerce with other members.

Patients Strain Staff Facilities

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of stories on state-supported hospitals and special schools.)

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 31.—Critically overcrowded, under-staffed and under-equipped. That's the story of the San Antonio state hospital as I saw it today.

It would take four to five million dollars immediately to bring this one mental hospital up to a point approaching adequacy, and 22 million for it to do a real job.

That was the estimate of officials who opened the doors of the hospital today to newsmen on an inspection tour of the institutions where Texas cares for wards of the state.

Chief Needs Listed

Dr. Pearl V. Matthaei, clinical director and second in command to Dr. J. B. Anderson, superintendent, listed these chief needs of the hospital:

1. More personnal including doctors, nurses, attendants and specialists in many fields.
2. Better trained personnel.
3. More and better buildings.
4. Improved recreational and occupational therapy facilities.

They've used every available inch of space to house patients in this hospital where the newest building is 11 years old and where bricks are shaking loose around the window frames of some of the older ones built half a century ago.

Halls, Porches Jammed

They've jammed patients into the halls and scores are sleeping in beds packed side-by-side on screened porches in all sorts of weather. That includes last winter's zero nights.

"We just piled on the cover," an attendant said, "and still lots of them were cold."

"Them" were the patients — the one of 20 Texans who at one time or another in their lives will need treatment for a mental ill either in a state or private hospital. It could easily be you or me or some one of our families.

Admissions have doubled in the last 10 or 12 years as population has increased; methods of treatment have developed to permit an increasing rate of release; but "we are still getting them at a faster rate than we are turning them loose," Dr. Matthaei said.

Aching Heart Results

A five-hour walk through the whole plant left me with an aching heart.

Although the great dinning hall where 1,600 patients ate lunch at one time gave off a definite sour-milk odor, my total impression of the place was not that it was unclean but that it was inadequate.

The beds and rooms and halls were spotlessly clean. The kitchen

Feeding Project Is Underway

An agricultural research project which may determine whether lambs can be used to harvest field crops successfully is now underway at Texas Technological college.

Involving 182 lambs, the experiment will seek to determine if a group of the lambs can fare as well on African millet as another group can on a dry lot with a standard alfalfa, cottonseed meal and milo diet.

Already in its third week, the animal husbandry department experiment has achieved positive results so far, Chairman Ray C. Mowery said. However, he pointed out, Sunday night's killing frost destroyed the foliage on the millet and the lambs must now depend upon the stalks for nourishment. If they fail to gain weight, they will be withdrawn and put on standard rations.

A group of 162 lambs are being fed on four acres of the African millet and Mowery estimates that amount is enough pasture to feed them at least 60 days. If they fare comparatively as well as the 20 being kept on standard rations the research will prove that such crops can be harvested without cost while fattening lambs, he said.

Average weight of the lambs when the experiment was begun Oct. 14 was 77 pounds, according to Harry Blenden, Lockney graduate student in charge of the research. First weighing of the animals will be next week, with periodic checks thereafter.

Following completion of this phase of the research, Mowery said that the lambs will be transferred to milo for further study to determine if they can harvest that crop successfully. He invited farmers of the area interested in allowing sheep to harvest such crops to visit the college farm.

Painter Plunges To Death From Top Of Dallas Business Building

DALLAS, Oct. 31 (AP)—A 31-year-old painter fell to his death today from atop a four-story downtown business building.

He was Joe Wavrusa, of Ennis, who was working at the W. T. Grant building.

An eye witness said a gust of wind apparently caused Wavrusa to lose his balance and fall to the sidewalk.

Andrews Well Completed For Production

Test In Gaines Makes Showing

Samedan Oil Corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland No. 1-E-A Andrews, Central-South Gaines county possible discovery from the Ellenberger has found more pay section in that formation, and is to drill deeper.

The latest show of production was in a drillstem test at 11,947-970 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes. There was a fair blow of air at the surface during the first 45 minutes of the period.

Recovery of 2,000 feet of oil cut water blanket, 1,000 feet of heavily oil cut water blanket, and 600 feet of heavily oil cut drilling mud. There was no signs of formation water.

The venture is to drill 25 feet deeper and run another drillstem test.

This exploration entered the Ellenberger at 11,895 feet, on an elevation of 3,332 feet. It took a three hour drillstem test at 11,913-945 feet.

Some gas developed at the surface, while the tester was open. Recovery was 1,620 feet of clean oil, and 3,000 feet of oil cut water blanket. There was no formation water. No fluid came out at the top while the tool was open. The oil fill up in the drill pipe during this test was estimated to have been at the rate of eight barrels per hour.

This wildcat, which is on the northwest side of the Robertson field, has shown for possible production from the lower Parmian, and also from the Devanian.

The regular production in the Robertson field is from the Glorieta and Clear Fork of the Permian.

No. 1-E-A Andrews is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey. It is 15 miles southwest of Seminole.

Cities Service Oil Company has dually completed its No. 1-C Cowden as a commercial producer from the Clear Fork and from the Devonian on the northwest side of the Dollarhide field in extreme Southwest Andrews county.

The new well is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 15, block A-52, psl survey.

From the Clear Fork it flowed 20 hours through a 25/64th inch tubing choke to rate a 24-hour potential of 548 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil, plus three tenths percent basic sediment and drilling water. Gas-oil ratio was 417-1.

The flow was from perforations in the casing between 6,535 feet and 6,645 feet. That interval was treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

It rated a 24-hour potential of 604 barrels of 41-gravity oil and no water from the Devonian, flowing six hours through a 25/32nd inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio was 1,230-1.

Completion from the Devonian was from open hole between the top of the pay at 7,769 feet and the total depth at 7,830 feet. That section was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid.

New Test Planned

L. M. Lockhart of Corpus Christi has filed an application with the Railroad commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill his No. 1 H. E. Rosser as a 6,800-foot exploration on the south side of the southeast extension to the North Snyder field in North Central Scurry county.

No. 1 Rosser is to be located 467 feet from north and west lines of the 100-acre Rosser lease in section 177, block 3, H&GN survey, and three and one-half miles

CITY LEADS IN CHURCHES

Religious Activity In Lubbock Lauded By Cleburne Minister

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Lubbock was described as "the most religious city I know" Monday afternoon by Reuel Lemmons, minister of the Central Church of Christ in Cleburne who has preached in various cities of the United States and who preaches once weekly to a guaranteed 1,800,000 listeners in Africa and other countries over the world's largest commercial radio station.

Lubbock has more churches than other cities of corresponding size which he has visited and "a greater percentage of your population is going to church than in any other city this size of which I know," he said. Yet, he added, "even here there are more people who don't than do."

Status Attributed To Soil

He attributed Lubbock's religious status to the fact that "these people still live close to he earth. They draw their living from the soil. Man has always been kin to dust. In cities where the source of a man's living is more intangible it is natural that his religious interests disappear."

He said that "usually the bigger the city, the more worldly you find it."

Minister Lemmons, who is preaching at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily in the fall meeting of Broadway Church of Christ, preaches once weekly by transcription over Lorenque Marques radio station, operated by the British government in East Africa as a propaganda mouthpiece. The station's advertising rates are based on a guarantee of 1,800,000 listeners. The station broadcasts to listeners in Africa, southern Europe and parts of the Near East, including India.

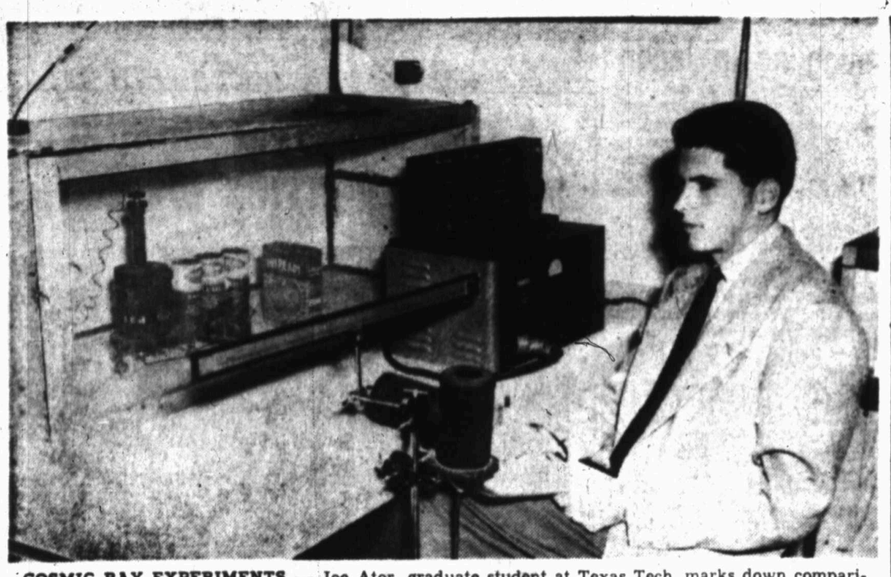

Copies of the minister's sermons are sent to the British propaganda ministry and to the United States State department.

Little Time Allowed

When the British government invited Churches of Christ to present the program in March of 1948, it gave the churches only from Tuesday to Saturday to accept or reject. A Church of Christ missionary, Eldred Echols, cabled Lemmons, who marshalled forces at Cleburne, went to work to prepare copies for the two governments and to have a transcription ready to be placed on an airplane the following day, bound for Johannesburg, Africa.

He said that in his "Back to the Bible" broadcasts he stresses "undenominational Christianity" and has "laborously tried to remove the sectarial from the program." He now receives mail from preachers and laymen of different demoni-

COSMIC RAY EXPERIMENTS — Joe Ator, graduate student at Texas Tech, marks down comparisons of cosmic ray intensity on the earth and the electricity in the air. At right are three Geiger counters atop a recording machine from which Ator takes readings every minute to see how many cosmic rays have penetrated the earth's atmosphere vertically. At left is apparatus necessary to measure the electricity currently in the air, from which readings are taken every 15 seconds. Ator believes the cosmic ray intensity affects the electricity. Lubbock Man Hurt In Crash Is Improved

Vol R. Harris, 28, of 2101 Thirtieth, whose Vultee BT-13 airplane crashed into a cotton field east of Idalou Sunday afternoon, was reported by hospital attendants at West Texas hospital as "better" Monday night.

X-rays made Monday for possible internal injuries revealed none, attendants said. Harris suffered a broken ankle, cuts and bruises in the crash.

Meanwhile CAA officials said that a search for a crashed plane in the Buffalo lake area would go on Tuesday morning after nothing was found in a search Monday.

T. E. Bradshaw of 1109 Sixteenth reported seeing a burning plane crash near Buffalo lake Sunday afternoon while he was driving into Lubbock on the Tahoka highway. Two unidentified hitchhikers had given a similar report to CAA officials.

No missing planes had been reported to the CAA last night, however.

Ennis School Official Proves To Be Main Carnival Attraction

ENNIS, Oct. 31. (AP)—Students poured their dimes into the till of one attraction at their school carnival.

For 10 cents they got three baseballs to throw at a target. When they hit the target it dumped a man into a big container of water.

The target: Superintendent of Schools J. F. Gardner.

FORCE OF BOMBARDMENT SOUGHT

Tech Researcher 'Counts' Cosmic Rays Striking Surface Of Earth

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Shades of Buck Rogers! There's a guy at Texas Tech monkeying around with cosmic rays.

Only Joe Ator, Lubbock graduate assistant, isn't experimenting with ray guns and such. He's carrying on a highly scientific investigation into the intensity with which cosmic rays strike the surface of the earth.

Three Geiger counters and a recording machine mounted in the science building make up the equipment used by Atop. As cosmic rays strike the counters the recording machine makes a clicking noise. This happens on the average of twice a minute, but wide variations in their intensity have been noted on different days.

Groundwork May Result

Tech physicists believe that the variations in this intensity may cause the electrical state of the atmosphere in a particular region to fluctuate accordingly. Ator's basic research is hoped to provide the groundwork for future more detailed studies into the matter.

Cosmic rays, explains Ator, consist of particles of atomic size which have a very high energy. Higher, in fact, than the energy man has been able to impart to atomic particles with cyclotrons and similar ion-accelerating devices. They come from an unknown source outside the earth's atmosphere, with theories on their origin ranging from the stars to other far-distant points.

Just what does the scientist hope to prove, then? Well, nothing. Nothing in particular, that is, except that there is a relationship between atmospheric electricity and cosmic rays. He hopes the information gleaned from his research will be helpful in future more detailed studies.

Ator doesn't know if it might be possible to harness the energy provided by the rays. And he isn't particularly interested— insofar as his experiments are concerned at any rate. He is interested in the varying degrees with which the rays strike the earth and the corresponding electrical intensity of the air at that time.

The graduate student has been carrying on his research with the aid of the three Geiger counters, arranged vartically so that only those rays striking the earth perpendicularly will be recorded on his machine. This arrangement was made in order to keep out the natural radio activity of certain particles in the earth from interferring with the experiment.

Also, Ator explained, the theory has been disproved that all cosmic rays strike the earth vertically. Many of them are deflected when they come into contact with the earth's magnetic field. The vertical

South Plains Farmers Eligible For Construction, Repair Loans

South Plains farmers who want to construct homes or other farm buildings or make improvements to their properties may now borrow from funds just made available to the Farmers Home administration, John E. Key, county supervisor of the FHA, said Monday morning.

Congress last week appropriated money for an extensive improvement program, of which Texas is scheduled to receive $17,737,400.

It is not yet definite how much of the Texas fund will be available to West Texas farmers, but if the Lubbock district, one of 10 in the state, receives one-tenth of the sum, then $173,740 would be available to farmers of the area.

Must Own Farm

These loans are made by the FHA to finance new construction and to improve, alter, repair or replace a dwelling or other buildings essential to farm operation. To be eligible for a loan, an individual must be a farm owner, unable to get a loan elsewhere and make the needed improvements. One must be able to repay the loan from farm and other income, on a five, ten, fifteen, twenty or thirty-three year basis.

Farm laborers and tenants are not eligible for the loans, but an owner may borrow money to build or repair houses and other buildings for his tenants.

The loans are payable at four per cent on the unpaid principal balance.

All applicants and farms must be certified by a local committee before the district FHA supervisor approves the loan. Charles M. Richter is district supervisor for this district, which extends roughly on a line from San Angelo to Roby, north to Lubbock, and west to the New Mexico line and El Paso.

The committeemen in Lubbock county are R. C. (Judge) Hopping, Cecil I. Brashear and W. R. Sage.

Applications will be accepted in the office of the Farmers Home administration in room 208 of the federal building.

The appraised value of the farm unit will determine the amount of each loan that may be made. Funds provided by the act may not be used to refinance any existing indebtedness, and a first mortgage is not required. The loans will be secured by a mortgage on the farm subject to existing liens, if any.

The Grand Banks area off the coast of Newfoundland in the path of the world's busiest water trade routes, is the iceberg danger zone.

WEATHER WOLVES

Wolves in London's Regent's Park Zoo have a reputation as weather forecasters. They break out in a frenzied pandemonium of howls about 12 hours before periods of wet weather.

The faces of the four presidents sculptured into the rock of Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota's Black Hills can be seen from the air at a distance of 60 miles.

14 Face Charges Of Smuggling In Japan

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 31 (INS)—The trial of six Japanese and eight Chinese charged with attempting to move contraband valued on the black market at more than a million dollars past allied customs guards, opened in Yokohama today.

The trial before the allied military commission in the Japanese post city is the outgrowth of a raid on a former liberty ship which was intercepted with $250,000 worth of contraband drugs and plastic products aboard.

Allied prosecutor Capt. Harold Oppenheim of Harrisburg, Pa., said the black market value of the goods would range as high as $1,400,000. He said the capture of the defendants was the biggest smuggling case in the Orient since the war.

The ship itself is being held at Yokohama pending disposition of the case and may be confiscated.

Among the accused smugglers is the ultranationalist Japanese Taku Mikami, once sentenced to 15 years in prison for his part in the murder of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai in the short-lived Japanese military putsch of 1932.

Another of the Japanese defendants is a wartime imperial army agent, Takeshi Hashimoto, also charged with illegally leaving and reentering Japan last summer.

Bail for each defendant was set at a record five million yen, the equivalent of $14,000.

THEN AND NOW:

About Depressions

JUST 20 years ago this week, one of the worst depressions the United States has experienced was beginning. If anyone realized what was happening, they kept quiet about it.

But the experience understandably causes those who recall it to fear that something similar, or worse, might happen again. There are sound people — those who are not alarmists, or chronic pessimists—who fear we might be on the edge of another depression now.

Perhaps we are. But this seems a peculiarly appropriate time to take an inventory of the prospects apparent to everyone in an effort to arrive at some sensible evaluation of the danger that may exist.

This inventory, definitely, is most reassuring.

True, prices are high—higher, generally, than they were in 1929. But that is about the only parallel of today with th depression year which seems pessimistic in its implications.

Some of the favorable and reassuring comparisons are these:

Many, many more people are employed, in total number and in ratio to population, than when the depression started. Their average earnings are much higher, both in dollars and in relationship to living costs.

Their assets in cash, savings, bonds and convertible life insurance are many billions of dollars larger, providing a huge backlog if times should turn bad. Several million families who were paying rent in 1929 now own their own homes.

Another highly important item is represented by government subsidies of many kinds to support farm prices. There wasn't anything like this 20 years ago.

Furthermore, this nation has an enormous backlog of needed work of many kinds, amounting to scores of billions of dollars. Some estimates run as high as 200 billion. This could be made to provide a great many useful and justified jobs, if necessity arises.

None of this denies the possibility of a depression. But it is evidence that, if such a catastrophe should occur, it will be of our own making and without economic justification.

The outlook, in short, is very cheering, indeed.

A Valuable Asset

FORMAL commissioning of Lubbock's Naval Reserve Training Center in a colorful formal ceremony last week provided an excellent object lesson in the benefits of civic and inter-service cooperation.

The training center, which cost $400,000 to build and brings to the city an annual payroll of $40,000, was made possible only through combined efforts of many agencies and institutions.

The ceremony formally opening the center was enlivened and heightened by inter-service cooperation between the Naval Reserve and Reese Air Force base, which provided its band and whose high-ranking officers were guests of honor; the Texas National Guard, whose officers were represented, and the Texas Technological college Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Seats of honor were placed for officials of Texas Technological college whose efforts enabled the building to be placed on the campus; for city and chamber of commerce officials and others who aided in securing the establishment for Lubbock. The formal ceremony served as much to express appreciation to those men and women for their efforts as to place the unit into full operation.

As a result of this combined effort, Lubbock now possesses a Naval Training center through which, in peacetime, young men may devote a portion of their time to training that in some future emergency may well serve this locality and the nation.

Neurotics and hypochondriacs provide a physician with a considerable portion of his income, but it's the hardest money he earns.

Another poor judge of distance is the person who says that ideologically he is a little left of center.

It's An Old Story.

Someone To Love

BY IRENE LONNEN ERNHART
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan has been unhappy because of Liz Conover. Liz jilted Tod, Tod married Jenny and now Liz is after Tod again. At first there were financial difficulties, the arrival of twins, Dale and Phillip, and a housing shortage. But skimping ended when Liz gets Tod a job with her father's firm. Tod, a former All-American football player, becomes a topic of gossip when he is seen escorting Liz places. Tod insists he must see Liz when they work in the same office. Tod buys a home and there is a housewarming. Jenny and one of Tod's old friends, Rick Morris, slip off to look in on the twins when they overhear a conversation across the hall from the nursery.)

XXVI

"I DO feel sorry for Tod!" It was Liz's voice, husky and low. "I really do. Because it's my fault he married Jenny to begin with."

"Has he made up his mind to ask her for a divorce?" someone else said.

Liz's answer was not direct, but it might as well have been. "He certainly can't go on for the rest of his life like this!" she said.

There was a short silence. Jenny's knees were trembling, and the dimly lit nursery spun around her.

"Don't you suppose she knows he's not in love with her?"

"Of course!" Liz exclaimed. "She knew very well he wasn't in love with her when he married her, but she was always crazy about him."

"I suppose now that he's really making money she'll be hard to get rid of."

"He'll have to pay her off, naturally. She never did have anything before she married him. You know where she came from, grew up down there in the ratty end of town. Her family didn't amount to anything."

Jenny couldn't bear any more. She brushed past Rick, out into the hall and fled down the back stairs, her whole body hot and trembling.

Rick caught up with her at the foot of the stairs. "For heaven's sake, Jenny, don't let a couple of cats upset you."

"Oh, Rick, I don't know what to do or what to think."

One thing was certain. She couldn't rejoin the party. She couldn't face that barrage of smug, cynical faces.

"Why don't we go for a ride," Rick said. She turned to look at him, saw the compassion in his eyes. He was the only real friend she had in the world. She nodded.

EVERYTHING added up. She had been pretty stupid all along. Something had cautioned her, even before she had married him. Her heart had told her that her own love wouldn't be enough. But she hadn't listened to any of those inner warnings. Tod didn't love her, never had.

Rick said anxiously at last, "Jenny darling, just because Liz Conover says a thing, is no sign it's the gospel truth."

"I know what the truth is, Rick," Jenny replied dully. "Things are not right, and never have been, between Tod and me. And it's—just like she said, it—it can't go on."

"Oh, Jenny, come now," Rick protested.

"I'd like to go back. Tod'll wonder where we disappeared to."

He turned the car around. Jenny felt the clean fresh spring air blowing on her face.

All the cars were gone from the drive when they returned. Tod, his face flushed, opened the front door for them.

"Well, where on earth have you two been?" he said thickly. "Sure looked fine, your being gone so long."

Jenny walked past him, a cold flood of resentment rising in her.

"You could at least have stuck around to say goodbye to your guests. It looked a bit odd the way you and Rick disappeared."

Jenny whirled and faced him furiously. "What difference does it make!"

"What difference? It makes a great deal of difference. This party wasn't strictly for social reasons, you know. There were several people here that Liz thought could do a lot for me."

"Liz!" Jenny fung the name at him. "Always Liz."

"Oh, so that was it. Jealousy."

"No that wasn't it!" Jenny said. She would have liked to pick up something and hit him with it. The rage that sprang through her was frightening. "I'm not jealous of Liz. I'm just disgusted and sickened all the way through by the mess we've made. I've known all along that our marriage was a failure, but it took tonight to make me face it."

"Jenny!" Tod exclaimed. The words were full of shocked disbelief. "What's come over you?"

"Just this, Tod. I want you to give me a divorce."

"A divorce?" He stared at her stupidly, as though he couldn't quite believe he had heard her say it.

"Yes, a divorce!" A vague sort of relief replaced her anger, now. It was as though a long period of hidden tension were somehow ended. But Tod's next word's shattered the relief as suddenly as it had come.

"So you can marry Rick?"

"No!" Jenny cried. "So that you can marry your precious Liz."

TOD turned away and fumbled in a small white porcelain box on a table for a cigaret. He lit it carefully.

"I don't understand what brought this on Jenny." His voice had lost its thickness now. "Something must have happened tonight that I don't know about."

"Something did, Tod. I realized tonight that you've never been in love with me. You've never gotten over Liz."

Tod still stood with his back to her, smoking, his big shoulders hunched. He didn't turn or reply immediately. The silence was tense while Jenny waited vainly for him to deny her words.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

WHEN a newspaperman asked Mr. Truman about his general policies and philosophies, the President referred him in reply to the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of St. Matthew.

It may be taken for granted that all of you are familiar with the Gospel of St. Matthew and particularly with the three chapters referred to by the President. If not, please refresh your memories and ponder what you read.

BRANDEIS

Any man or woman who could go through life according to this gospel would certainly be more perfect than any human being I have ever known.

Not having been present at the interview, I am sure, that Mr. Truman meant only that he is trying to live according to Matthew and not that he is actually doing it.

In certain respects, however, the President is living according to Matthew.

For instance, in Verse 16 of the Fifth Chapter it says, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works." That Mr. Truman does in ample measure.

On the other hand, in Verse 44 of the same Chapter it is written, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you." That, I am afraid Mr. Truman does not do.

Again I say, as I have said before, this is not a political column. But neither is the Bible a political book, and when the President of my country quotes or refers to the Book which is mine as well as his, I have a right to analyze him with you.

The first Verse of the Sixth Chapter admonishes, "Take heed that you do not your alms before men, to be seen of them," and in the second verse it goes on, "Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before

ON MEDICAL PROGRAM

Federal Plan Pushed

By ROGER WARREN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The recent drastic slash which the British give-away pill and drug budget received or the kicking around which the Administration's compulsory health insurance plan suffered in the 81st Congress have not taken the gimp out of Washington's socialized medicine men.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing and his zealots are determined to try again and again and again. They look on every down as progress toward the goal posts because every time political medicine is discussed, the public becomes more curious about the possibilities.

They are even pleased—so they say—that the American Medical Association is raising a three and half million dollar war chest to fight their plan since that campaign, too, will focus attention on the problem.

They explain that Republican attacks will compel small fry Democratic politicians as well as the great lords on Capitol Hill to study the project to answer the blasts. This study, in the opinion of Ewing apostles, will turn Democratic precinct captains into crusaders.

COMPETITION: The lookouts at the Federal Security building report that the agitation already has aroused people to the need of better health service and has caused an increase in voluntary health insurance policyholders.

Opponents of the Truman project argue that already 50 million people enjoy voluntary coverage and that the numbers are growing daily—so why put the government into competition with private business?

Ewing retorts that actually only three and a half million have protection against the costs of complete medical care; the remainder have only limited protection. The payments under voluntary setups were only one-tenth of the medical bill paid by consumers.

"Even granted that 50 million are covered," says Ewing, "what about the other 100 million with none?"

Ewing's latest strategy to win friends and influence Congressmen is to sell the compulsory health insurance idea to big business, especially the drug, medical equipment and building construction industries as a new source of huge profits.

BUSINESS: Ewing missionaries will tell business men that as more and more patients are enabled to get the advice of government-paid doctors, they will bring prescriptions for the local apothecary to fill. Having been educated in health needs they will also stock up on patent medicines.

As physicians are added to Uncle Sam's pay-roll, they will spread into districts unserved by the medical profession now. New outlets will be opened for retail pharamcies.

"If the bill is passed," predict the Ewingers to the drug trade, "al you will have to do is oil your cash registers and rake in the profits."

The same type of arguments are to be used on manufacturers and sellers of surgical instruments, bandages, x-rays, wheelchairs, trusses, operating tables and other office and hospital equipment.

"The increased purchasing power means business for you," they will be told. Then the public will be informed that mass production of these now expensive items will cause a drop in prices and country doctors can afford gadgets which now are only within the range of city practitioners.

HOSPITALS: Finally the building trades will be urged to put pressure on Congress because the compulsory health insurance project will form the construction of new hospitals, clinics and other medical buildings. In other words, private enterprise is to clean up on socialized medicine.

But if businessmen in these categories are tempted by the vision of easy money, they might be less influenced had they talked this week with Congressmen back from England, where they investigated first hand the Labor government's health setup.

British medical authorities explained to the visiting solons that a person can select his own doctor if that physician has less than 4,000 patients on his list.

If the patient is admitted to the list and is dissatisfied, he cannot switch doctors without the permission of the Ministery of Health in London. Dentists can do minor jobs but as they are on a fee basis, they must consult London before they can do bridge work or other elaborate dental repairs.

TAPE: As a result the doctors are all snarled up in red tape. Medical privacy no longer can be guaranteed because medical records are now government records, which civil service clerks can peruse.

Congressman Leonard W. Hall of New York, who was astonished at what he learned abroad, says that the average British physician treats from 75 to 100 patients a day.

"I will leave it to you," he says, "what kind of service the British people get from that assembly line. The doctor receives no more money for treating one patient 150 times a year than he does for treating another once."

ENTERPRISE: Federal Security Administrator Ewing is out to rally business to his support. Health Minister Bevan, his opposite number, who runs the English Socialist plan, no longer has to sell the idea to business, so he is less tender of its feelings.

Bevan frankly told the Congressman that wherever private enterprise interfered with his program, private enterprise would have to go.

"The ear phones made by a private manufacturer were too expensive," the English czar explained to our Congressmen, "so I arranged for phones to be manufactured at a much cheaper rate."

According to a statement issued yesterday by D. D. Martin, city auditor, the total operating income of the Lubbock municipal light plant aggregated $175,562.19 for the past 12 mnths, showing a net surplus of $60,624.71 for the fiscal year ending July 31.

Current sales engineered to general commercial and municipal consumers totaled $174,430.93.

Failure to pay bills promptly cost Lubbock consumers $1,130.26 as reflected in the record of forfeited discounts.

Depreciation, compared on an appraised valuation of $446,901.08, is listed at $44,499.96.

Believe It Or Not -

AMONG UNION, INDUSTRY HEADS

Basic Understanding Is Needed

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is a temptation, under the harrassments and anxieties over strikes involving such giant industries as coal and steel, to seek a scapegoat by castigating "big labor" or "the monopoly of labor," as it is frequently put.

But it is not so simple as that, and yielding to that temptation solves nothing.

Why do we have "big labor" today? It's because our basic industries are organized into a few big units that control the bulk of production, each doing billions of dollars of business a year, stretching across state lines. Being mass production industries, turnout their products on an assembly line basis, each of them employs hundreds of thousands of persons, which, of itself, endows them with a public character that imposes tremendous responsibility on their managers.

They are economic states within the political state.

Since the hundreds of thousands of persons employed in one of these giant industrial empires do the same sort of work and have the same sort of problems, it is essential that the union embrace all of industry to protect their common welfare. Which means what has come to be called "industry-wide bargaining."

But it's deeper than that, as the historical background shows.

Who started the trend toward concentration and monopoly? It wasn't labor. It began with industry and it began a long time ago. Even as long ago as 1890 it disturbed some of the thoughtful public men so much that a federal statute was enacted to try to curb and regulate this concentration—the Sherman Anti-Trust act. That, of course, hasn't stopped it. Perhaps nothing could. Perhaps we were headed inevitably in that direction.

THE "trusts," as they were called then, gained tremendous power in politics because of their economic power. They overawed politicians big and little. For a long time they were able to resist the organization of their workers into unions. Bloodshed was part of the angry, bitter saga of unionization.

Steel, for instance, finally yielded to organization only yesterday, figuratively—in 1935.

These great industrial empires still are the most powerful force in our politics, despite careless talk about labor now being the "big monopoly." It was they who put over the Taft-Hartley act, for example, proving they are still stronger in Congress than labor, a fact that anybody who knows anything about Congress knows. If some of the big empires had had their way completely, that law would have been much more restrictive and would have opened the way to break big unions that operate in big industry. But milder counsels eventually prevailed, including that of the more enlightened industrialists.

Unions On Defense

The organization of labor into big unions is a natural defensive maneuver in this advance of monopoly which has gone so far, for instance, that 63.4 per cent of primary steel production is now controlled by six companies, 68.7 per cent of automobile production by only three companies, and 100 per cent of aluminum production by three companies, according to a recent Federal Trade commission report.

Industrial and financial monopoly, of itself, is the problem, not labor's necessary organization to protect itself against this concentrated power. It is because control of so much of our industrial capacity is concentrated in so few great corporations that a strike in any one of them can so quickly paralyze a considerable part of our industrial mechanism.

EARNEST people are giving serious thought today to the underlying problem of monopoly and concentration of industrial control.

That is, indeed, the point of attack, not labor. Meanwhile, this concentrated organization of our industrial society requires real statesmanship among managers of big industry and leaders of labor. Unless they can demonstrate that in such crises as those today in coal and steel and settle their differences without the intervention of government, as President Truman has kept insisting that they do, then the time will surely come when government will be compelled to assume a new role permanently, on behalf of the public, and some other form of society will be the result.

That is the real stake in what is going on today.

Carping about "big labor" won't meet the issue.

AWARDS ARE MADE

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Eli Lilly $3,000 post-doctorate fellowships at the University of Texas have been awarded a Hungarian and two Texans. The awards went to Dr. Thomas J. Gaines Discovery Is Indicated; Andrews Well Is New Producer north of Snyder.

It is contracted to test the Canyon lime reef, using rotary tools.

Barnsdall Oil company has taken location for its No. 3 O. C. Rinehart on the southeast side of the North Snyder field.

Slated to begin immediately, the venture will drill to 6,900 feet to try for Canyon lime production.

The drillsite will be 467 feet from south and east lines of tract 7, section 26, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. That makes it five miles north of Snyder.

To Continue Drilling

Ray-Harris Drilling company of Dallas, and associates No. 1 Laura B. Smith, deep wildcat in Central-South Scurry county, 15 miles southwest of Snyder, and one and three-quarter miles east of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field, had no shows of oil, gas or water in a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger at 8,053-61 feet.

The prospector is to make more hole. Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 8,052 feet on an elevation of 2,315 feet.

A 45 minute drillstem test was run at 8,053-61 feet. There was a very slight blow of air at the surfect during a part of the period. Recovery was 15 feet of drilling mud, with no signs of petroleum or of formation water.

No Showing Made

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 159, block 97, H&TC survey. This venture was low on the Pennsylvania lime horizons and failed to develop any signs of oil or gas in any of those sections.

Stanolind Oil & Gas No. 1 J. G. Whatley, Central-North Scurry County exploration, three and one half miles north of the northwest side of the North Snyder-Canyon field, and 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 548, block 97, H&TC survey, had slight shows of oil, gas and salt water in the top of a dolomite section which is said by unofficial observers to be the Ellenburger.

The test was at 8,200-35 feet. The tool was open 90 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud and 180 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud, which was heavily cut with salty water.

The venture had drilled ahead to 8,260 feet in dolomite, and was preparing to run another drillstem test.

This wildcat drilled through the Pennsylvanian without developing any shows of possible production. It was structurally low to the North Snyder field.

C. L. Norsworthy, jr., and associates No. 1 Feldman is testing the top of the Ellenburger, through perforations in the casing between 7,314 feet and 7,326 feet.

After the pipe had been perforated the project kicked off and started heading oil early Monday. At the time this report was prepared no gauge on the oil being produced had been made and no estimate was available on the fluid being pushed out at the top.

Made Sleight Showing

This Central-East Scurry county wildcat, ten miles east of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 63, block 3, H&TC survey, has shown some oil producing possibilities from the open hole between the bottom of the 5½-inch casing cemented at 7,340 feet, and the total depth at 7,357 feet.

The section between 7,308 feet and 7,340 feet is thought to offer the best possibilities of making a commercial oil well and a discovery. Petroleum yielding ability of that zone should be determined during this week.

The prospector failed to logged any possibilities of production in any of the strata above the Ellenburger which was entered at 7,308 feet. Elevation is 2,251 feet.

Hospital Needs Aid

was clean and they said the smell in the dining hall was from food spilled by patients penetrating the cement floor and defying mops and sanitary solutions.

Everywhere you look patients are sitting, or standing and staring, and there was nothing for them to do.

For many of them, there was nothing they could do, but 250 are working in sewing and woodworking and similar shops. If they had more space and more trained teachers and equipment for this specialty, scores of others could be given this training that helps many back to mental health.

Statistical Picture Given

This is a statistical picture of the over-crowding;

There are 913 patients in 12 male wards which should hold only 400 patients under current acceptable standards. There are 1,073 patients in 13 female wards where by those same standards there should only be 600.

As to the doctors: There are 11 on the staff, two are in administrative posts. There are four psychiatrists especially trained to treat the mentally ill. As so the psychiatrists, it averages out to around 740 patients per specialist.

Nobody in the hospital had any figures, or any ideas they would officially give, on how many psychiatrists there ought to be per 100 patients.

They just shrugged and said they did the best they could with what they had.

Looking At Life

thee, as the hyprocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men."

When observing some of the appointments made by our President and the "sounding trumpets" that goes with them, I wonder how sincere he really is about the gospel of St. Matthew.

INCIDENTALLY, as long as I am on the matter of appointments, may I just quote one more verse (Verse 15), of the seventh Chapter?

"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves."

By the way, as I was re-reading the chapters referred to by the Prsident and kept on reading past them, I was again impressed with the Book's wisdom, not just its religious wisdom, but with its practical philosophy.

This Book, conceived centuries ago, deal with every human problem that can possible confront us.

Once more I repeat—make your religion and your Bible part of your life rather than just a Sunday duty—and you will soon get much more out of life and understand life's values ever so much better.

If that is what the President meant in his interview, my hat is off to him.

No Decision Reached In Roofers Union 'Walkout' In City

The dispute between Lubbock roofing contractors and the local Roofers' union appeared at a stalemate Monday as contractors and union officials alike awaited the arrival of an international representative of the union.

Meanwhile, approximately one half or more of the Lubbock roofers continued to report to work despite what union officials described as a 'voluntary walkout" of workers, demanding a 12½ cents hourly wage boost.

Arrival Expected Soon

Troy Ross, business manager for the union, said he could not say when the international representative would arrive in Lubbock, but expressed the belief it would be within the next two or three days.

A statement made Saturday by L. W. Rampy, co-owner and manager of the Texas Roofing company was reaffirmed by him Monday to the effect that all of the company's 30 roofers had continued to work at their present $1.62½ hourly wage.

"Not a man was missing Monday," he said.

Asserting he had not talked to many of the men, Ross said he could not say how many of them were working. Company officials of both the Lydick and Hamilton roofing companies could not be reached, but Ross expressed the belief that a much lower percentage of workers were on the job at those places than Rampy said were working for him.

Ross also said he feels the dispute will be ironed out 'satisfactorily' when the international official arrives. He did not explain what he meant by satisfactorily, but did declare anew that the union demand is being made because the roofers are 'the lowest paid union group in Lubbock.

The walkout has not yet affected Lubbock's building program, according to contractors, but could prove damaging if it is sustained for a long period of time.

Members of the roofing union are working under only a verbal contract with the contractors, according to Ross. Terms of a written contract no longer in effect would have required a 90-day notice of wage increase demands, but that clause is not binding under the verbal contract, he said.

The roofers first demanded a 25-cent hourly increase when they met with contractors two weeks ago, but cut it in half with the understanding they would quit if the lower demand were turned down.

Scientist 'Counts'

arrangement of the counters prevents the counting of these rays, also, and makes the experiment more scientifically accurate.

Particles Believed Important

The rays themselves, in penetrating the earth's atmosphere, interact with gas molecules present in the air and leave in their pathway millions of electrically charged particles. The varying numbers of those particles are what the Techsan believes have a bearing on the electrical state of the atmosphere.

Ator's research does not attempt to find a correlation between the cosmic ray intensity and the weather conditions of a particular area. All his counting has been done on clear days and, he explains, the radiation would have only a minor bearing upon the weather anyway. It might, and probably does, partially govern the electricity in an electric storm, he said.

The same system used by Ator has been used before in studies of sandstorm electricity in West Texas and showed that the air may have a potential of 6,000 to 8,000 volts at the South Plains level. That can be compared with the six volts of electrical potential carried by an automobile battery.

Prediction Not Sought

However, the present Tech experiment is not aimed at finding a possible way of predicting sandstorm activity, according to Dr. C. C. Schmidt, head of the physics department and supervisor of the project.

Ator's experiments were begun last year by H. W. Ballew, currently with Magnolia Petroleum corporation. The project is almost complete now except for the recording of conclusions and Ator hopes to receive his master's degree in January and then enter research for some industrial company himself.

"While the experiments, like many others, may not have found anything materially important, they have added to the general knowledge about cosmic rays and may aid in future studies about them and atmospheric electricity," he said.

STOCKS SUFFER SETBACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)— A set-back in the stock market today accompanied reports of an impending break in the long steel strike.

Steel shares themselves held out against the gradual decline and were unchanged to higher until late in the day when they reacted to close with narrow gains and losses.

Wall Street was rife with rumors of a steel strike settlement, but the market closed before a statement scheduled for late afternoon was made by Philip Murray, head of the CIO and the Steel Workers union.

Any buoyancy in the steel section was off-set by a decline in motors led by Chrysler. This popular stock added nearly 4 points in the last two trading days. At the opening it started higher again and set a new high for the year before sliding off into the minus column where it ended off ⅛ at 58⅝. Profit taking was the reason.

Rails also were reactionary. Their losses were in fractions to more than a point, the widest reverse of any of the major groups. Rail lines were reporting mounting losses in revenue from the coal and steel strikes.

U. S. Rubber lost a point at 33¾ after an unfavorable earnings report.

Douglas Aircraft, ex-dividend, lost 2¼ at 65½. Curtis Publishing Co. $7 preferred dropped 5 at 140 after declaration of a dividend payable Jan. 1 of $17.50 on account of arrears. During all of 1949, $17.50 was paid.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .3 of a point at 67.6 with the industrial component of the average off .3 of a point, rails down .4 of a point, and utilities unchanged.

The market was broad with 1,110 issues traded of which 272 closed higher and 540 ended lower. Despite that performance, there were 37 new high marks for the year reached by stocks with only 4 new lows.

Trading was fairly active with 1,140,000 shares changing hands.

U. S. Steel, third most active issue, was unchanged at 25. Youngstown Sheet and Tube also was unchanged at 68⅛.

Stocks going lower with closing price and net change, included Republic Steel off ¼ at 21½, General Motors ⅜ at 67⅝, J. I. Case 1 at 40½, United Aircraft ⅝ at 23⅞, Lockheed ¾ at 22½, Philco 1⅛ at 27½, Zenith ½ at 28, Harbison-Walker 1¾ at 19½, General Electric ¾ at 37⅞, Santa Fe 1⅜ at 93⅜, Nickel Plate 1¼ at 62½, and United Air Lines ½ at 13¾.

Others declining included Certain-Teed, Loew's, Warner Brothers, Texas Co., Sinclair, Dome Mines, International Nickel, American Cynanmid, Du Pont, Westinghouse, and American Tobacco.

Some on the upside included Bethlehem Steel up ½ at 30⅝, Jones & Laughlin ⅝ at 26⅞, Admiral Corp. ¼ at 27½, Melville Shoe ⅝ at 23¼, Air Reduction ¼ at 22, Homestake ¼ at 49¼, and Phelps Dodge ¼ at 45¼.

Stocks in the curb market were mostly lower.

Railroad bonds were somewhat lower in the bond market while other loans were unchanged to a little higher.

Oats—No. 2 white 89½-90½.

Corn—No. 2 white 1.53½-1.57½.

Sorghums—No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 2.14-2.19.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 31 (AP) — Grains eased a bit toward the close today, ending a dull session with most contracts lower.

The near-by deliveries lost some ground in relation to deferred months. This was particularly true in December wheat, which fell about a cent at times.

Wheat closed unchanged to 2 cents lower. December $2.12¼-⅜, corn was unchanged to ⅜ lower, December $1.16⅜, oats were ¼ lower to ½ higher, December 72½, rye was unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.42¼, soybeans were unchanged to ½ higher, November $2.23-2.23¼, and lard was 20 to 28 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $9.97.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today. Aggressive mill buying held nearby deliveries firm. Mills appeared to have raised their buying limits in the face of a good demand for goods. Sentiment also provided that supplies of good quality cotton will tighten as a result of the loan and unfavorable weather in the cotton belt which has lowered grades. Attention was drawn to low temperatures in parts of the western belt where much cotton remains to be harvested. Forecasts of freezing temperatures tonight in that area were made. New crop deliveries were hesitant, pending administration's action on the farm bill recently approved by Congress. Hedge selling was light.

Heavy mill buying and short covering in the final hour of trading lifted prices to the best levels of the day.

Futures closed 45 cents to $1.15 a bale higher than the previous close.

One woman living at Durban on the Indian ocean, 14,000 miles away from Cleburne, telegraphed to learn when Lemmons would be in Durban to baptize her. The telegram was received at the radio station and forwarded by cablegram to Lemmons. He at present has no plans to go to Africa.

Unity Set As Goal

Lemmons said he attempts in the broadcast "to emphasize individual study of the Bible and an attempt to unite all Christian factions or parties on the Bible alone as a sole rule of faith and practice."

A manufacturing firm requests 400 sermon copies to put into pay envelopes of employes. A leader in one denomination asked for copies to distribute to ministers of his denomination.

In connection with the radio program, a free correspondence course to the old and new testaments is offered and enrollment "is growing faster than we have material to supply," said the minister.

Africa Selected By Workers

The Church of Christ work in East Africa was an outgrowth of a meeting of young people at Abilene Christian college seven or eight years ago. They looked over a map of the world to see where to go as missionaries. Africa appealed to them as "the last frontier." The work was started under direction of the College church in Abilene. Echols, one of the group of young people, left for Africa as an advance scout. When he arrived in Brazil, Germans were sinking Brazilian ships.

The Central Church of Christ in Cleburne had some experience in international work and was asked to take over the work. Echols was referred to Argentina, but before he reached there a revolution had taken place and the Germans were sinking Argentine ships. He went from there to Guiana, then to Cape Town, where the South African government gave him 24 hours to get away from the country because he was on a Dutch ship, classified as a belligerent ship.

Missionary Okays Echols

The Central Church of Christ communicated with state departments of six countries in trying to find a place for Echols. In Southern Rhodesia, a missionary vouched for Echols and he was given permission to remain for the duration of the war.

Churches of Christ operate five missions in the Rhodesias.

Four Church of Christ preachers recently sailed to do follow up work as result of interest generated by the radio program on which Lemmons preaches.

The Central Church of Christ sponsors 10 missionaries in addition to the four in Africa. Lemmons goes by airplane each year to Panama, where the church sponsors three missionaries.

The fall meeting in which he is preaching here will close Sunday, when services will be conducted at 8:30 a. m., 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Man Arrested In Port Arthur On Charge Of Stealing Trawler

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 31 (AP)—A Lake Charles, La., man was arrested by Port Arthur police on a charge of stealing a $35,000 shrimp trawler.

The craft was docked here early today. Arrest was on a warrant issued by Sheriff H. A. Reid, jr., of Lake Charles.

Even the experts are unable to tell us for certain where chimney swifts spend the winter.

Navy Secretary Reverses Court Martial Ruling On Texas Seaman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Navy Secretary Matthews has decided that a seaman who played on his station's baseball team, ate in the station mess and kept his name on his bunk wasn't AWOL even though he didn't show up on the job he was supposed to do.

He made this decision in setting aside court martial findings in the case of Seaman Louis B. Williams, of Hutchins, Texas, who was convicted of being absent without leave from his base at Pearl Harbor.

The Navy says that Williams reported to the base on July 15, 1945 and was assigned to an escape tank unit, but that records failed to show that he was ever notified officially of this assignment.

The court found he had been AWOL for 1123 days. Both prosecution and defense witnesses testified, however, that he was on the base all the time—played on the baseball team, ate in the mess and lived in the barracks.

The court originally reduced him in rank to a seaman recruit and gave him a three-year jail sentence, after which he was to be given a bad conduct discharge. The commander of the 14th Naval district remitted the jail sentence, however, and when Matthews reviewed the case he wiped out the reduction in rank and bad conduct discharge.

Navy said the problem of William's back pay will be handled at Pearl Harbor. Whether he is being restored to duty also is a question for authorities there. It isn't known here whether his term of enlistment has expired, or whether he has signed up again.

Services Slated For Tom Starch Of Ralls

RALLS, Oct. 31 (Special)—Tom Starch, 67, a resident of Ralls for 32 years, died here Monday afternoon in the Spikes hospital.

Pallbearers will be Ira Prewitt, Linnie McDormett, T. H. Holmes, W. W. Gleaton, John Sanders, Dewey Criswell, Marvin Greer and A. L. Winfrey.

Truck Smashes Into Front Of Farmhouse, Moves Building

HILLSBORO, Oct. 31. (AP)—A truck smashed the front of a farm house today, shattered all the dishes and moved the building six inches.

No one was injured. Owner Hiram Pharris said he thought at first "it was the Russians."

REDS LOSE INITIATIVE TO WEST

U.S. Defeats Soviets For First Time In Annual 'War Of Words'

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 31.—The United States has defeated the Russians for the first time in the annual war of words between East and West in the United Nations General Assembly.

President Truman's repeated declarations in favor of the world organization and especially his speech at the headquarters dedication ceremonies in New York this week took the initiative away from the Soviets.

In 1946, the then Russian Foreign Minister Molotov seized the assembly spotlight whenever the United States or its allies seemed to have the world's attention.

Molotov Wins Battle

Molotov easily won the final battle in that year by his dramatic presentation of a global disarmament plan from the rostrum.

The next year Foreign Minister Vishinsky was the Soviets' top spokesman. He made so many charges and motions in the assembly that the western delegations spent most of their time in reply or in debate.

The most sensational of Vishinsky's charges branded a number of leading Americans as "warmongers."

Last year the Russian delegation capitalized on the critical international situation and the war atmosphere in the Paris meeting city.

With Vishinsky pulling the strings, the eastern delegations pulled off various maneuvers which kept the West on pins and needles.

Vishinsky took part in a number of closed-door conferences on the Berlin blockade, but in the end he vetoed a small power formula for solving it.

He declared Russia had the atom bomb and proposed a plan for atomic and convention arms reduction.

He capitalized on Secretary of State Marshall's reluctance to take part in assembly debate and virtually ran things to suit himself.

Reds Set on Heels

But in 1949 the story is wholly different. President Truman set the Russians back on their heels with the Atlantic pact and has told the Russians they are fooling nobody by paying lip service to the ideals of the UN while pushing Communist encroachment.

At the assembly sessions, Secretary of State Atcheson has been a frequent participant, making speeches aimed against Russian power objectives.

The effect of this on the small power delegates has been tremendous. They have gained courage and no longer shrink before a Russian frown.

Expected Blowup Fails

They defied Russia in supporting the United States in electing Yugoslavia to a seat in the Security council. Vishinsky's threatened blowup failed to materialize. He merely sulked.

The fight goes on as the assembly tackles one controversial issue after another. But Vishinsky's former thunder has diminished to a faint rumble.

These changes have not been accidental. The fact is that Truman and Acheson quietly and systematically remedied weaknesses in the United States representation at the UN. They tranformed it into a power team well able to cope with the Russian group.

Acheson himself is more than a match for Vishinsky in skilful diplomatic discussion.

U. S. Team Left on Own

He has evidently realized that all too often in the past the American team has been left on its own.

To overcome this weakness, Acheson made an unwritten rule that assistant secretaries of state must at all times represent the United States at the UN when an issue comes up that falls within their jurisdiction.

Thus when an issue like atomic controls is debated, the chief spokesman is Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson, aided by the regular committee representative.

Acheson also has assigned permanently to the U. S. delegation some of his key advisors. Among these are Ernest A. Gross, former assistant secretary of state in charge of congressional affairs, and John C. Ross, one of the state department's top technicians.

State May Create Water Study Panels

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—A state legislative steering committee recommended today that the legislature's interim water committee be split into four panels.

Each panel would study part of the Texas water problem.

Sen. Geo. Moffett of Chillicothe, Hardeman county, chairman of the steering committee, compared the water committee's job to that of the Gilmer-Aikin committee.

"Instead of tackling educational problems," he explained, "we will study water problems involving surface and stream flow waters."

The steering committee will report back to the main committee on Nov. 14, he said.

At that time the steering committee will recommend two candidates for the job of executive secretary of the water committee.

The four studies suggested by the steering committee are:

1. Equitable use of Texas water resources.
2. Administration of water laws and rights including enforcement.
3. Encouragement of additional storage of storm and flood waters by legislation and constitutional amendment.
4. Pollution of Texas waters.

The main water code committee is composed of six senators, six representatives and nine public spokesmen.

Attending the Dallas meeting besides Moffett were Sen. John Bell of Cuero, De Witt county; Rep. W. S. Fly of Victoria, Victoria county; and John D. McCall of Dallas.

The fifth member, Rep. Preston E. Smith of Lubbock, was not able to attend.

Bagged Buck Deer Surprises Confident Colorado Hunter

Steel Shortage To Force Slow-Down In Auto Plant

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 31. (AP) — The Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., announced today gradual plant close-downs will begin next Monday, due to lack of steel supplies.

The company statement said "All passenger car production will be discontinued by Nov. 23, affecting a total of approximately 2,500 men."

Abilene Man Holds Honor For First Tech Admission

Ever wonder who was the first person to be approved for admission to Texas Technological college?

His name is Winfield David Watkins, now vice-president and general manager in charge of gins for the Western Cotton Oil company in Abilene, according to a photostatic copy of a letter signed by Paul W. Horn, first president of the college.

The copy of the letter was sent to D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' association by Watkins' family and says in part, "this is the first application to be approved." The letter was dated April 22, 1945 and addressed to Watkins at ralls.

Watkins never received a degree from the college, according to registrar's records.

Doctors Debate Use Of New Miracle Drug In Effort To Save Life Of Girl In Chicago

BY ROBERT N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 31—Patricia Owens, 12, of Patsburg, Ala., rested in Bobs Roberts Memorial hospital for children at the University of Chicago today while doctors debated use of the new miracle drug, acth, in an effort to save her life.

Pat, attractive daughter of a shipping clerk, is seriously ill with rheumatic fever, the major killer of children. She was flown to Chicago over the weekend in a special Army plane after her condition turned critical and death seemed inevitable.

For 14 anxiety-filled days before she was flown to Chicago, the girl underwent treatments at Jackson hospital, Montgomery, Ala., under the direction of Drs. Randolph Penton and Ted Marrs.

Doctor Recalls Meeting

Then when things seemed most hopeless, Dr. Penton recalled a medical meeting he had attended at Chicago recently. At that meeting, he had heard Dr. Hugh McCulloch, medical director of Larabida sanitorium of the Chicago Heart association, describe the experimental use of acth in rheumatic heart disease.

The Alabama doctor telephoned Dr. McCulloch. Larabida has four beds at Bobs Roberts for acth treatment. Late Friday one of the girls was so improved, it was decided she could leave the hospital and Dr. McCulloch agreed to give the bed to Pat.

Acth is made by Armour and Co., from pituitary glands—hat shaped structure above the kidneys—of hogs. It stimulates the adrenal gland in the production of 28 hormones, including that other miracle drug, cortisone.

Use Rigidly Supervised

Both acth and cortisone are in extremely short supply and used experimentally only under the most rigid supervision in specially selected hospitals and clinics.

Both drugs have given good results in the treatment of arthritis and other diseases.

The idea for cortisone was credited to a team of Mayo clinic doctors, who noted that during pregnancy women with arthritis gained relief from the excruciating pain and crippling effect of the disease.

They reasoned that there must be some change in the body and tracked it down to the functioning of the adrenal gland and eventually to the production in that gland of a hormone first labelled compound E and later corticone since it is produced in the cortex, or lining, of the gland.

Why "BC" Relieves Headache and Neuralgia So Quickly

• Many people wonder what there is about the "BC" formula that enables it to relieve simple headaches, neuralgic pains and minor muscular aches so quickly. The answer is simple. In "BC" Headache Powders and Tablets you get the full relief-giving effectiveness of not just one, but several of the world's most popular pain-relieving ingredients. In combination these quick-dissolving, fast-acting and medically tested "BC" ingredients are remarkably effective—far more so than either would be alone.

Remember this important fact the next time you have a headache. Also remember that when taken as directed, "BC" can be safely used. "BC" has stood the test of time. It is a preparation you can use with complete confidence. You'll find that nothing is more comforting or relieves faster. And now you may have "BC" in either tablet or powder form. In both you get the same famous "BC" formula—the same fast relief. Two "BC" Tablets equal one "BC" Powder. Convenient 10c & 25c sizes.
