Mengele's son says Nazi dead

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Josef Mengele's son says his Nazi war criminal father is dead, and was probably the man buried six years ago near Sao Paulo, Brazil, a family spokesman said today.

"Rolf Mengele assumes that the remains dug up in Sao Paulo are those of his father," spokesman Herbert Bauermeister told reporters.

The long hunt for the former Auschwitz death camp doctor, accused in the murders of 400,000 Jews and others during World War II, had taken a dramatic turn last week when Brazilian investigators said they had information that a man who drowned and was buried there in 1979 was Mengele.

TABS test results due report tonight

Local results of the statewide mandated test for students in grades 3, 5 and 9 will be reported to the Snyder school board Tuesday.

The report will be part of the regular June meeting, set to begin at 7 p.m. in the school administration building.

The tests are called TABS, an ancronym for Texas Assessment of Basic Skills. They are designed to measure local students against others across the state in three basic skills areas: reading, writing and mathematics.

The results to be reported Tuesday will be from tests taken here last February. As part of the law which created the TABS tests, results must be reported annually to the school board.

In line with Tuesday's TABS report, trustees will also approve the school district's five-year plan — another state mandate. This plan sets future educational goals for the district.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board will also formally accept the resignation of Place 1 Trustee Lillie Sullivan. She notified administrators and her fellow board members June 3 of her intent to resign due to her expected change of residency from Snyder ISD to the Ira school district.

She is a high school teacher at Ira and expects to move into housing provided teachers there by the district.

In line with her expected resignation, the board Tuesday will also be required to elect a new board vice president, a post formerly held by Sullivan.

In other school business, trustees will:

—Consider bids to reroof a portion of the junior high campus. The affected area includes the main building, band hall and homemaking complex.

—Consider six dates for general assemblies at the high school, part of new "extra-time release" requirements under House Bill 72. On these days, the regular class periods are shortened to allow a school-wide assembly at the end of the day after all classes have met.

—Consider the resignations of

Q. — What was that large section of pipe being uncovered by city crews near the Deep Creek area?

A. — A large section of main sewer pipe was uncovered due to the ongoing work to reroute the Deep Creek channel. Later this year — likely during the cooler months of fall — the city will also be lowering the main water feed line which comes from Lake J.B. Thomas.

In Brief

Talks begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are entering negotiations on the 1986 budget vowing to stand fast against a freeze on Social Security benefits, while Republicans are insisting on deeper cuts in domestic programs than approved by the House.

And, with bargaining set to begin on a compromise plan, Budget Director David Stockman is contending that deficits are likely to be higher over the next few years than either administration or congressional economists had forecast.

Both the Republican-led Senate and the Democrat-controlled House have passed budgets that claim $56 billion in savings next year.

But there are fundamental differences in how these deficit reductions are achieved — differences that will have to be worked by a House-Senate conference committee.

That panel, formed just to develop a compromise 1986 budget, was holding its first meeting today.

Local

Jury due back

A local jury was asked to return at 1 p.m. Tuesday to hear further testimony in 132nd District Court related to the civil lawsuit trial being brought by Ronald E. Fisher against GCO Drilling Co. and Texas Oil and Gas Co.

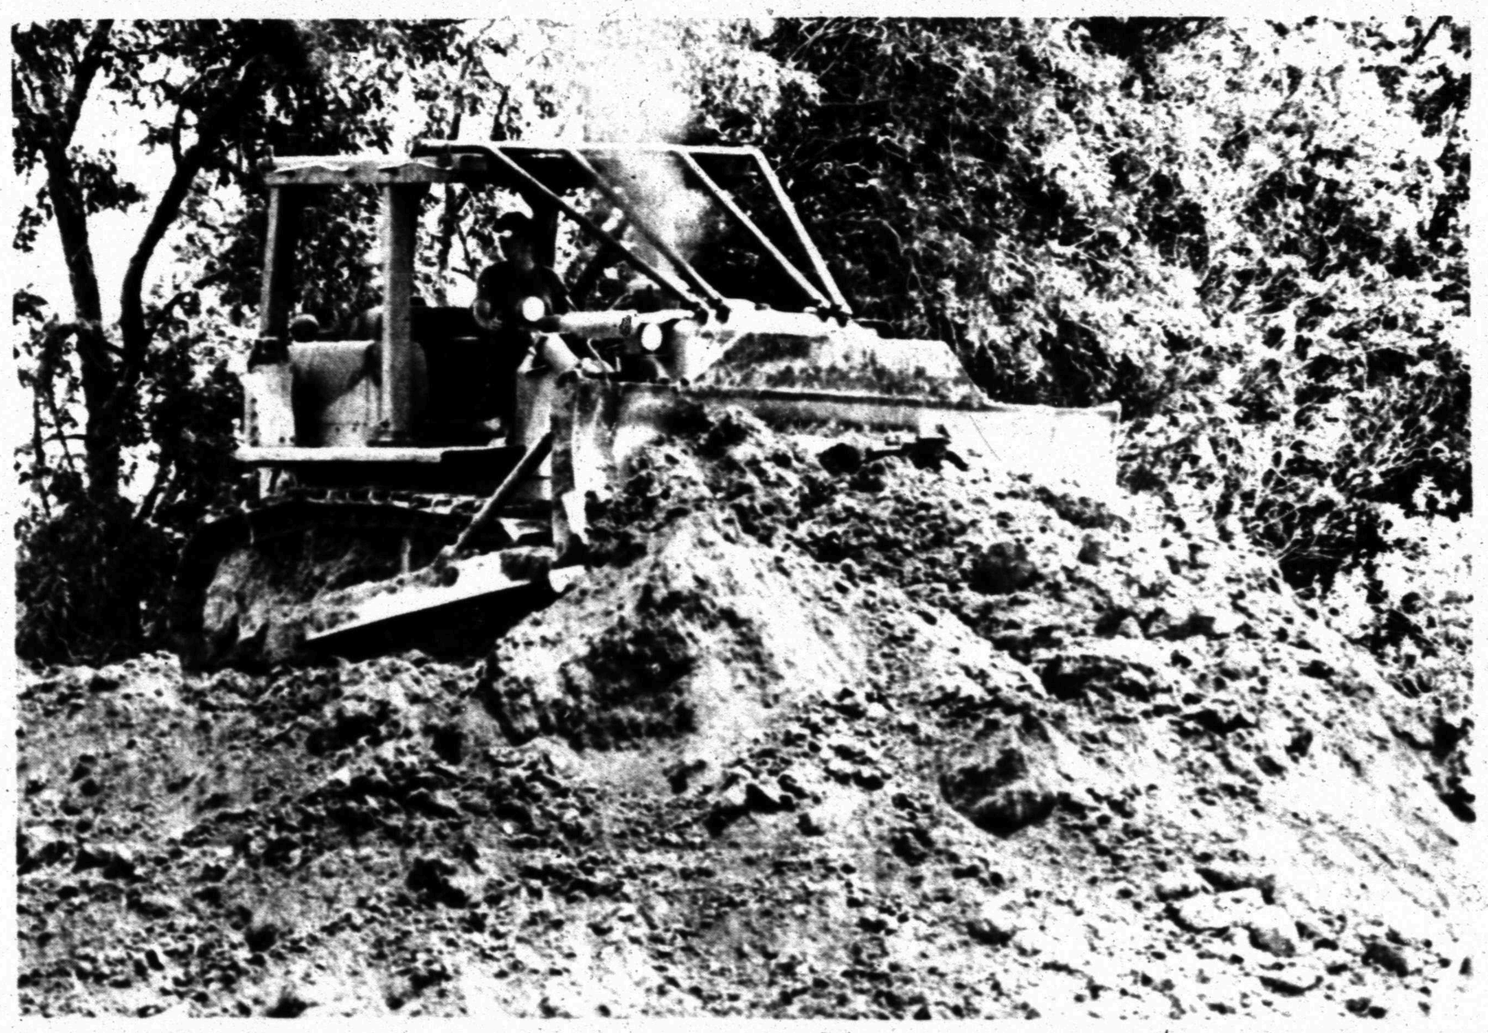

The jury was initially seated Monday afternoon and then dismissed to return to begin hearing testimony at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

At that time, however, the jurors were again dismissed and asked to return to court at 1 p.m.

SUMMER DUTY — Some members of Detachment 2, Company D of the Texas National Guard's 111th Engineers are spending their two-week summer camp here in Snyder, continuing with the guard project of cleaning up Deep Creek between 30th and 37th St. The remaining 100 or more men comprising Company D are now at Fort Hood in Central Texas as a line company for the combat engineering battalion. Guard's job duty 'at home'

Members of Detachment 2, Company D of the Texas National Guard's 111th Engineers began their two-week annual training Sunday, but for some the annual summer camp will involve work right here at home.

For the two-week period, the NCO in charge is Staff Sgt. Terry Rumpff. He is overseeing guardsmen working as recruiters for their summer camp period as well as a three-man crew who will spend the next two weeks continuing with the Deep Creek cleanup project.

For the remaining 100 or more men comprising Company D, summer camp will entail work at Fort Hood in Central Texas as a line company for the combat engineering battalion.

This marks the first summer camp for the guard unit as a line company. Until it was reorganized this year, it served as a pontoon bridge company.

Approximately 40 of the men comprising the local company are from Snyder. The remainder are part of platoons based in Stamford and Sweetwater.

Company commander is Capt. Wenzel Swain of Abilene.

WTC board tables investment switch

Western Texas College trustees discussed then tabled for now a proposal to change investment companies used for a supplemental retirement plan offered WTC staffers.

The recommendation to change came from the College Welfare Committee, which oversees the plan. The ability to receive higher interest rates for the investment (from 9½ to 11½ percent) was one of the reasons cited for the proposed change in a letter addressed to the board.

The committee's recommendation was to switch from the current investment firm, Southwestern Life of Snyder, to Tom Cook and Associates of Amarillo.

It was noted these funds would have to be withdrawn at a loss, but the letter stated this could be recouped within four to five years.

Trustees decided to table the issue until further study, possibly to include some board members meeting with members of the committee.

Under the current plan, college staffers can place up to 3 percent of their earnings in the plan, an amount the college will then match.

The staffer's portion may be withdrawn at any time and after three years, 50 percent of the college's share may be taken out. This increases on a graduated scale and after they are in the program a minimum of eight years, staffers may withdrawn 100 percent of the funds invested.

During the president's report, Dr. Don Newbury said that summer school enrollment stood at 659 students. There is a total of 47,264 academic contact hours and 6,176 vocational-technical contact hours.

Newbury also briefly mentioned that interest remains high for the construction of a nine-hole golf course. Several board members added they had received letters and other indications of interest also.

Hirings approved

Western Texas College trustees employed seven new college staffers for the 1985-86 school year Monday during the regular June session.

Staffers employed include Annette Williams, management program instructor; Michael Harrison, physical education instructor; Cathy Chavez, office occupations instructor; Lonnie Buck, automobile mechanics instructor; Donovan (Buck) Buckland, golf course and landscape technology program instructor; Jerry M. Dennis, who will rejoin the faculty as a diesel mechanics instructor; and Stan Weatherred, construction technology instructor.

Williams, the new instructor for the WTC management program, has taught computer science courses at WTC on a part-time basis since January, 1984.

A graduate of Snyder High School, she attended Texas Women's University and received the bachelor of business administration degree in marketing from the University of Texas at Austin. She is currently working on her master of business administration degree.

Williams has also taken computer courses at Sam Houston State University. She worked as office manager and a computer operator for Cynara from December, 1983 to May. She has also done retail sales work.

Harrison, joining the staff as a physical education faculty member, was graduated from Monterey High School in Lubbock and received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Texas Tech University in 1979. He will complete requirements for his master's degree from West Texas State University in July.

Harrison joined the faculty at

Indictment brings arrest

Scurry County sheriff's officers have jailed one of two suspects indicted June 3 by the Scurry County grand jury for delivery of controlled substance charges.

Now being held in the Scurry County Jail in lieu of bonds totaling $10,000 is 18-year-old Hubert Newby of 1912 Ave. R.

He was indicted for two counts of delivery of LSD — offenses alleged to have occurred last March. Newby's bond was set at $5,000 for each charge. He was arrested just before noon Monday.

A second suspect indicted by the June grand jury on a similar charge had not been arrested as of noon Tuesday.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Nothing gives a used car more miles per gallon than the guy trying to sell it."

At times Wall Street must be a pretty grim place. We can just imagine some of those guys who watch as their favorite stock issues come crashing down.

A former Wall Street bond salesman has tried to cash in on the need for a little humor there by writing a book that tries to look on the bright side of bankruptcy.

The 96-page volume contains some 200 "bullish" jokes about economists, retail investors, bond traders and corporate finance officers.

A sample of his jokes include the guy who bought stock in an umbrella company. A week later, it folded. He also tells about the guy who bought a hundred shares in a company that just had a record quarter--it made 25 cents.

Eight publishers rejected the book before it got in print, and reviews have been mixed. Now the author is looking for a payoff, but envisions just two kinds of profits--stand... and poor.

Bankruptcy isn't all that funny, and an Oklahoma oilman was dead serious when he asked the court for living expenses. He didn't envision scraping by on just a few bucks.

J. D. Allen was accustomed to thinking big and his personal and corporate debt is estimated at $512 million. In 1983, after borrowing heavily from the now defunct Penn Square bank, Mr. Allen filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the bankrupty act.

His request for living expenses included $8,000 per month. That, he stated, included $1,000 for rent, $1,200 for food and entertainment, $600 in auto costs and $1,350 for "miscellaneous."

Naturally, creditors objected and said the man ought to get a job instead. Mr. Allen appeared willing, so he asked for $1,200 a month for travel necessary to see his attorney--and look for a job.

'Auxiliary' operations for campus reviewed

Western Texas College trustees met for 45 minutes Monday night prior to the regular June meeting to discuss the expected revenues and expenses related to "auxiliary" campus operations for 1985-86.

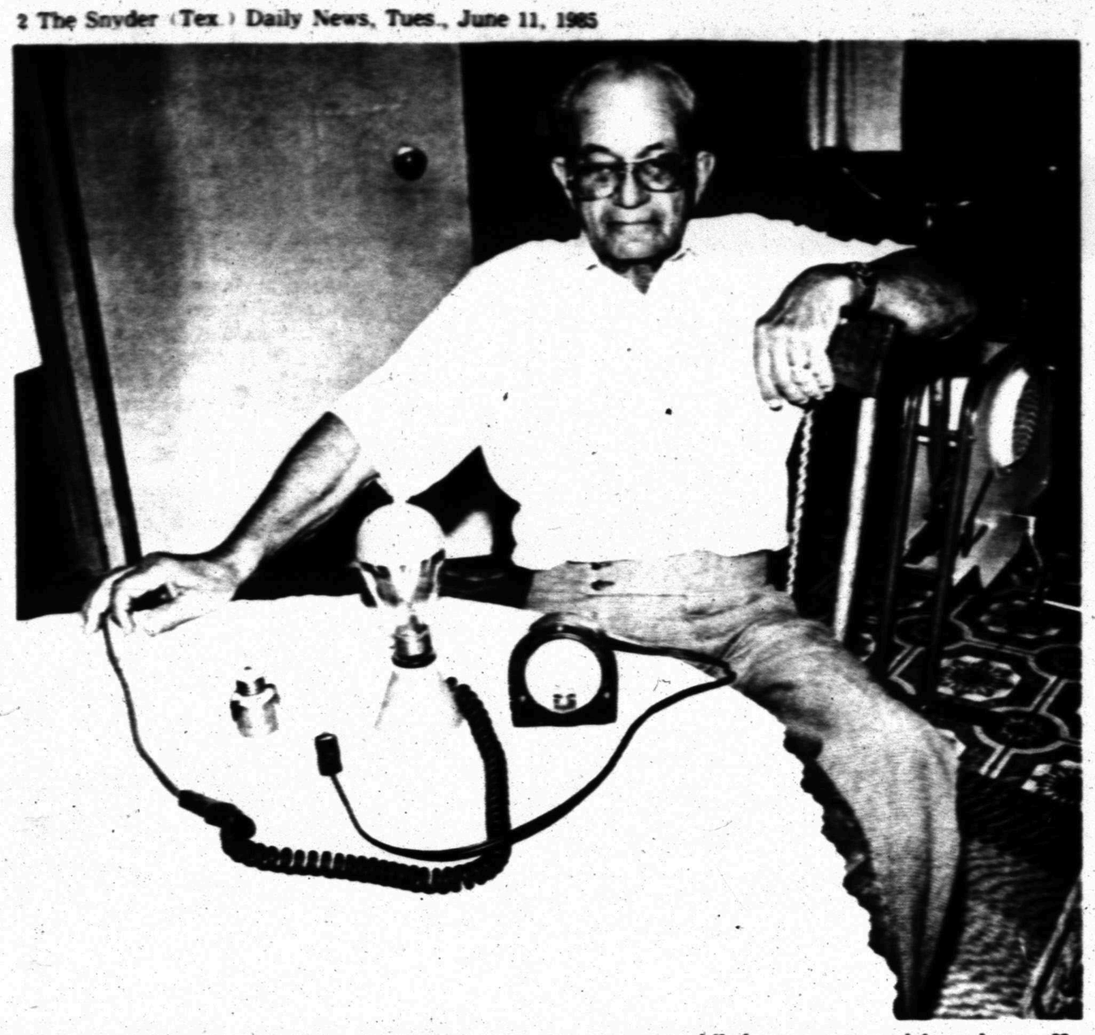

These include such campus facilities as the bookstore, cafeteria, dormitory, golf course and student apartments — all of which are self-supporting operations which do not involve college district tax dollars.

As quoted Monday — with the exception of the golf course operation — all are projected to operate at a slight profit margin next school year.

The figures were for review only and Gay Hickman, vice president for business and finance, said they will now be reviewed again until "revenues will either equal or exceed expenses."

Revenue and expense figures quoted for these — with expenses listed in brackets — include: bookstore $172,608 ($167,250); cafeteria, $164,360 ($152,061); dormitory, $126,350 ($100,901); golf course, $241,000 ($252,511); and apartments, $835,318 (apartment one, $3,544, and apartment two, $4,092)

Under revenue, the college also expects investment income earnings of some $75,000 next year.

The lightbulb, which is quite different from its modern counterpart, actually only gives off the light equivalency of a 25 watt bulb. Hale, a retired electrician, acquired the bulb several years ago while he was was rewiring a house. He actually had two at the time, but one has since been broken. The voltage meter was manufactured by a company that went out of business 64 years ago. (SDN Staff Photo by Shirley A. Gorman)

Sacramento trial for man who sparked MADD group

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The man who is credited with sparking formation of Mothers Against Drunken Drivers is to be tried in Sacramento County Superior Court on his last charge.

Sacramento Municipal Court Judge Gary Ransom made the decision Monday after three witnesses testified at a preliminary hearing for Clarence W. Busch, 52, who was being held without bail.

Busch, whose hit-and-run killing of a 13-year-old girl walking along a road in 1980 resulted in the formation of MADD, faces felony drunken driving charges from an accident last April in which the other driver was injured.

The injured driver in the latest accident, Carrie Sinnott, 19, of the Sacramento suburb of Carmichael, testified that she was driving across an intersection on a green light when a car driven by Busch slammed into the left front of her automobile.

Sinnott said she didn't see the other car until it hit her. "I just looked and there he was," she testified.

A doctor testified that Sinnott suffered no broken bones but had neck and back sprains and contusions on the shoulder and one hand.

California Highway Patrol Officer Lloyd E. Boden testified that he first contacted Busch as Busch was "rifling through the glove box of his vehicle," half in, half out the open passenger door.

Boden said he smelled alcohol and noted that Busch's speech was slurred and his eyes bloodshot.

Busch failed a field sobriety test, Boden said, and was placed under arrest.

A blood sample revealed a blood-alcohol content of 0.20 percent, twice the standard for drunkenness in California.

Oklahoma escapees nabbed

PARIS, Texas (AP) — Two inmates of an Oklahoma prison who forced a guard to drive them to Texas are back in custody again after being cornered outside of town by tracking dogs, police said.

The two men, John Thomas Stewart, 21, and Ward Martin, 25, had jumped a guard Sunday night at the McLeod Correctional Center in Farris, Okla.

They had forced him to drive them across the state line about 60 miles to Paris, where they fled on foot after releasing him unharmed, according to prison officials.

Paris Police Chief Charles Whitley said two patrolmen spotted the two late Monday crossing a road in a wooded, largely undeveloped area on the southeastern edge of town.

Mother's Wild Goose Tale Became a Bedtime Favorite

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Whenever you mention that poem, "I Had a Mother Who Read to Me," I have to laugh because my mother never read to me. I used to beg her to read to me, but she couldn't be bothered with that tedious business. Instead, she'd tell me bedtime stories that were more or less true.

The one I liked the best was the one about how she and her cousin Alice tried to make whiskey.

They filled a large crock with water, wheat, oats, grains, raisins and raw potato peelings, and any other garbage they could find. After a couple of weeks, the mixture in the crock smelled so bad, my grandmother insisted they get rid of it, so Mom and Alice carried the crock down by the river and dumped it on the bank. Naturally Grandma's geese followed them and gobbled it all up. Pretty soon, Grandma looked out the window and saw all her geese lying about in the yard. She thought they were dead, so she got the girls to pluck all the down from the geese and told them that as soon as their grandfather got home from the lumber mill, he'd have to bury those dead geese. (The geese were not dead; they were drunk!)

The next morning the geese were running around the yard stark naked, so Grandma crocheted little jackets for them to wear, and that was the last time my mother and her cousin Alice ever tried to make whiskey.

Statlers, B. Mandrell top country winners

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Statler Brothers reign as favorites among country music fans, who voted them six Music City News awards as the emotional Barbara Mandrell returned to performing and to an award for 25 years of showmanship.

The Statlers, a quartet discovered by country star Johnny Cash 25 years ago, won six awards Monday night at the 19th annual fan-voted awards. The four, who have cultivated a legion of loyal fans, capped off the evening by winning the top award — entertainer of the year.

They also won vocal group of the year, top video for "Elizabeth," No. 1 album for "Atlanta Blue," best comedy act and top country music TV special for "Another Evening With the Statler Brothers: Heroes, Legends and Friends."

"It's a very special night," Don Reid of the Statlers said after the show, a syndicated television special from the Grand Ole Opry House. "We can't say thank you enough."

Miss Mandrell, who six years ago was the opening act at shows with the Statlers as headliners, was seriously injured in a traffic accident Sept. 22. Her performance Monday was her first public singing appearance since she was hospitalized with a broken leg, severe concussion and other injuries.

"I love to feel the love that goes on," she said after the show, in which she sang "There's No Love in Tennessee," about an absent lover, then moments later tearfully accepted the Living Legend Award for her career achievements.

Miss Mandrell, 36, who is expecting her third child in September, said, "I thank you and I thank God for all this time with you."

The musician-songwriter-actress received a standing ovation when she was introduced and told the crowd later, "My heart is gigantic right now."

Lee Greenwood won two awards, male vocalist of the year and single record of the year for "God Bless the USA." He was picked for single record over "My Only Love" by the Statlers. It was the only award the Statlers were finalists for that they did not win.

Winners were picked by subscribers to Music City News, a monthly country music publication. A delayed telecast will be shown in some areas.

The major manufacturers of nonprescription drugs are now adding information about inactive ingredients to their labels. This information is of little interest to most people, but of vital importance to a few who must avoid certain ingredients because of allergies. Until now it has been difficult for them to get the information they need to choose a nonprescription drug that is suitable for them.

The registration table was covered with a white eyelet cloth and centered with a miniature arrangement matching the serving table centerpiece. Sharon Meador assisted the guests.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a food processor. They included Marie Dollins, Buice Harrell, Velma Smith, Carolyn Bostick, Jenny Peveler, Ruby Deaver, Carolyn Martin, Sonya Hanks, Mrs. James Beckham, Jan Harrell, Evelyn Thomas, Jean Howell, Mrs. Vollie Shipp, Jeri Daugherty and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson.

The location of appliances can affect their efficiency. A refrigerator placed near a radiator, range or in the direct sun is forced to work much harder than necessary. The same is true for a range installed near a frequently opened window or door — it has to overwork to keep hot. Laundry appliances should be placed in warm areas to give optimum performance.

Deceit is not enough

The thrust and parry of card play should combine deception with discernment. This combination is especially important when a declarer is trying to tempt a specific defender to be the first to take a trick in a suit. Today it's easy to see that declarer's purposes are best served if West wins the club ace before East takes the king. (When West wins the ace, he will establish his spades but will no longer have an entry to cash them.) But how to bring about that result?

The opening lead of the queen of spades was ducked all around. South won the next trick with the king and realized the futility of playing a club from his hand. Instead, he crossed to dummy with the diamond king. Now he played a low club from dummy, counting on East, as second hand, to play low. East, however, was a step ahead. He rose quickly with the club king and returned his last spade. Ultimate result: down one.

"What do you take me for?" cried East. "You couldn't have the club ace or you would have played the queen from dummy."

A good point. Declarer was right to start the clubs from dummy, but the queen was clearly a better choice than a low card. East, with the king guarded twice, would have had grave misgivings about covering the queen with it. In this effort declarer gets a passing grade for deception but fails in discernment.

Prepared horseradish to taste

In a large skillet gently cook apples and onion in the butter over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until apples lose their opaque look. Off heat stir in horseradish. Serve warm. Good with frankfurters. Makes about 4 cups.

Rescheduled this evening...

Rains plague college series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Texas players and coaches say the rainout of the NCAA College World Series championship game with Miami won't benefit either team. The Hurricanes disagree, claiming a refreshing edge from the extra day of rest.

"I don't think it can help either team," Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said. "It's difficult to get up after so many days and so many delays."

The two teams will try again tonight to get the 1985 title game in at 6:10 p.m. CDT.

Miami pitcher Kevin Sheary, who already has won two games in the doule-elimination tournament, is scheduled to start for the sixth-ranked Hurricanes. He said he can make use of the extra day of rest, as could ace reliever Rick Raether, who also has won two games for Miami in the CWS.

Raether, 7-2 with 20 saves this season, said the rain delay won't detract from the Miami momentum gained from Sunday's 2-1 victory over Texas.

"We'll come back tomorrow ready to play. We can't lose momentum when you're playing for the national championship."

The two teams have split their two previous meetings at the national collegiate baseball tournament.

Texas, third-ranked and 64-13 on the season, won the first encounter of the tournament 8-4 on Wednesday. That game, originally scheduled for Tuesday, also was rain-delayed.

Miami, 63-16, won Sunday night's contest 2-1 in the double-elimination tournament as the Hurricanes used two unearned runs to defeat Texas ace Greg Swinell, 19-2.

Gustafson said the extra day gives him the opportunity of changing his starting pitcher. Michael Poehl, 7-1 and a first-round Major League draft selection last Monday, was scheduled to start in the title game.

"This makes a possibility of a switch to (Bruce) Ruffin. I hate not to start Poehl because he's ready to go but Ruffin has been our No. 2 guy all year."

Ruffin, 13-2, likely will go against Miami's Sheary, 6-4, if the game is played tonight, but if rain forecast for today delays the finale another day, Gustafson said he may come back with Swindell, who has two wins and three complete games already in the tournament.

Walker surpasses pro rushing mark

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - Now that the distraction of breaking Eric Dickerson's pro football single-season rushing record is over, Herschel Walker says the New Jersey Generals can do something important - like winning the United States Football League title.

Walker surpassed Dickerson's record on Monday night as he gained 162 yards and scored two touchdowns in leading the New Jersey Generals to a 31-24 victory over the Jacksonville Bulls.

Walker's season total now stands at 2,129 yards, topping the professional standard of 2,105, set last season by Dickerson of the National Football League's Los Angeles Rams.

Both Walker and Dickerson accomplished the feats in 16 games, although Dickerson had 379 carries in setting his record. Walker broke it on his 384th carry of the season.

Sawyer signs letter to compete at WTC

Golf Coach Dave Foster has announced that Scott Sawyer from El Paso has signed a letter of intent with Western Texas College for the fall semester.

"Scott has won many high school and summer tournaments over the last four years," Foster said. "He is presently up for the Sun Country Scholarship Award. He is a proven player, a hard worker and a winner. He will be a big asset to the Western Texas College golf team and to the college as a student."

Sawyer played at Clint High School and was highly recruited by several colleges in Texas and New Mexico. He was district medalist in 1985, regional medalist in the Big Spring tournament where he shot 75-72-137, and placed 12th in state competition. As a sophomore in 1983 he placed 11th at regional and in 1982 had placed ninth at regional. He was a four-year starter for his high school team and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The Westerners will be returning four sophomores from the 1984-85 team.

U.N. seeks access to sick member of Finnish hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.N. officials have asked the Israeli-backed South Lebanon Army militia for permission to send a medical team to treat one of 21 hostages from a contingent of Finnish U.N. peacekeeping soldiers.

Meanwhile, a pro-Syrian Palestinian group in the southern Lebanese port of Sidon claimed responsibility Monday for firing two rockets over the border into Israel shortly before Israel pulled its last combat soldiers out of Lebanon.

There was no word on the whereabouts of Thomas Sutherland, 54, of Fort Collins, Colo. Sutherland, the dean of the agriculture faculty at American University of Beirut, was kidnapped in Beirut on Sunday. There was no claim of responsibility for the abduction.

He was the eighth American, and 20th foreigner, kidnapped in Beirut since March 1984.

U.N. spokesman Timur Goksel said U.N. officials met Monday with the South Lebanon Army militia, which took the Finns hostage last Friday, and the Israeli army. It asked to send a medical team to treat one of the 21 Finnish hostages, who had become ill, he said.

The Christian-led militia is holding the Finns hostage to force Amal, the Shiite Moslem militia, to release 11 South Lebanon Army members. The leader of the 11, Ali Jebber, has told reporters he and his men are Moslems who were forced to join the militia.

Goksel said "both sides made their point" at the meeting in the village of Ibel Saki. It was "the first time we'd sat at the table and said what we wanted to say to each other," he said.

"Basically, we said we want the Finns released, and they said they want access to their missing comrades," Goksel said. "We can be prepared to meet again at a half-hour's notice."

In Copenhagen, Denmark, Israel's foreign minister said his country was trying to protect the Finnish hostages, but that it was not "giving orders" to the South Lebanon Army, which it equips and trains.

"We are making all possible efforts to put an end to this incident and to ensure that nothing will happen to the Finnish soldiers. We are not controlling this army (the SLA)," Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir told reporters.

The rockets fired over the border into northern Israel were the first since Israel began withdrawing its soldiers in February, after an invasion in June 1982 to stop such attacks by Palestinian guerrillas.

Israel's military censor would not permit publication of the exact location of the settlement for security reasons. However, the rockets apparently fell harmlessly in an open field.

'Peace committee' may work on conflict

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Baptists assembled here in the greatest number in their 140-year history Monday to deal with a power struggle convulsing their huge denomination, and an emergency effort to resolve the split was announced.

A special ad hoc committee of Baptist state presidents late Monday unveiled the emergency move for mediation of the conflict between fundamentalists and moderates for control of the denomination's national agencies and seminaries.

"We've come to the point where something had to be done to help resolve our problem," said attorney Charles Pickering of Laurel, Miss., president of the Mississippi Baptist Convention and chairman of the ad hoc committee.

CBS to offer late night cops

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Hoping to unseat NBC's Johnny Carson as king of the late-night television ratings, CBS will offer original cops-and-robbers series this fall instead of only reruns.

Bud Grant, president of CBS Entertainment, says first-run episodes and repeats of both "T.J. Hooker," starring William Shatner, and "Night Heat" will run for two nights and reruns of old action series the other three weeknights. CBS recently purchased "Hooker" after ABC canceled it in May. "Night Heat" began on CBS last season.

Grant's idea of adding one night of all-new programming each season for the 11:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Eastern time slot would mean Carson's "Tonight Show" would be the only network repeat on some nights. At ABC, the competing "Nightline" is a live news show.

Von Bulow accepts cheers from well wishers, visits

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Well-wishers cheered as Claus von Bulow emerged from his retrial cleared of charges he twice tried to kill his heiress wife, whose son said, "We know and he knows he tried to murder our mother."

Von Bulow, 6-foot-3 with an erect bearing and penetrating blue eyes, nodded briefly and smiled as he strode victoriously through the crush of supporters, photographers and reporters, many of whom shouted their congratulations and shook his hand. The crowd later booed prosecutors who spoke to reporters.

But a block away from the Providence County Superior Courthouse where von Bulow on Monday was acquitted after a four-year legal battle, his stepchildren portrayed the 58-year-old Danish-born aristocrat as a villain who got away.

"We know and he knows he tried to murder our mother," said Prince Alexander von Auersperg, the son of Martha "Sunny" von Bulow, who lies in an irreversible coma in a New York hospital.

"Neither Claus von Bulow nor the jury's verdict can take away what our mother was — a caring, loving and giving person," he said.

Von Bulow, saying, "I am grateful it's over," returned Monday night with his girlfriend, Andrea Reynolds, to the New York apartment they share overlooking Central Park. The apartment is owned by Mrs. von Bulow, who is hospitalized nearby.

The state alleged von Bulow put his wife into her coma in 1980 and a temporary coma a year earlier by injecting her with insulin during Christmas visits to the family's Newport mansion.

Von Bulow was convicted in 1982 on two attempted-murder counts, which were overturned by the Rhode Island Supreme Court last year on state constitutional grounds.

During the nine-week retrial, von Bulow repeatedly expressed confidence he would be cleared. But he admitted to being concerned, saying, "It's been five years of worry. After the first worry, the rest kind of comes automatically."

H. Lucas lie detector results say he killed 3

WACO, Texas (AP) — Alleged serial killer Henry Lee Lucas' new attorney says his client had passed a polygraph test indicating involvement in no more than three murders.

The lawyer, Gary L. Richardson, also said Monday that there he has evidence that Lucas might have been drugged around the time that he confessed to hundreds of murders. But Richardson offered no evidence at a news conference in Waco.

Richardson, who has offices in Tulsa, Okla., and Dallas, said he has signed a contract with Lucas to represent the former drifter, who at one time claimed he had killed more than 300 people.

Lucas has since recanted his confessions and Richardson said that a Department of Public Safety polygraph examiner, whom Richardson declined to name, recently asked Lucas "whether he had killed 600 people, 500 people, 400 people, 300 people, right down to the number 3."

Richardson said Lucas "was asked about specific counties and specific states."

Lucas has told law officials he can "beat" polygraph examinations.

ATTEND REUNION--Fluvanna held its five year reunion Friday and Saturday. Various classes also held their reunions in conjunction with the celebration. The D. V. Merritt Jr. home was the site for the class of 1941 reunion Friday night. Dropping by for a special visit was from left, E. O. "Red" Wedgeworth of Mineola, Tex., retired, who served as Fluvanna superintendent from 1928 until 1942 and Gilbert Mize of Perryton who served as principal and coach from 1935-1942. Mrs. Merritt is pictured serving them punch. (SDN Staff Photo)

PROFESSIONAL TERMITE PROTECTION is offered by Craig Alexander and Dwaine Merritt of Alexander's Pest Control. (SDN Staff Photo)

Alexander's Pest Control will help you fight termites

As a home owner you can't ignore the threat of termite damage. The cost of the termite problem in the United States is approaching $1 billion a year with about one in every 50 homes being damaged.

Craig Alexander, owner of Alexander's Pest Control, tells us that this time of year is the most active for termites and that termites will do more damage to homes this year than all fires, tornadoes and hurricanes combined.

When termites swarm in the spring, they are often mistaken for flying ants, because both have wings. Swarming termites quickly shed their wings, though, and burrow into the ground to start new colonies.

Chemical treatment is the only method of termite prevention and control ever proven to be totally effective. Alexander's Pest Control surrounds your house with a chemical barrier, so termites can't get in. This also kills any termites which may already be inside.

Instead of hoping termites don't attack, make sure they can't. Instead of being worried, be protected. All it takes is a call to Alexander's Pest Control at 573-7133.

Your home is the largest investment you have, so you don't want to take any chances with it. Call the professional - Craig Alexander.

Health insurance bill becomes law

AUSTIN (AP) — Retired teachers and other public school employees are going to be eligible for health insurance coverage beginning next year under a bill signed into law by Gov. Mark White.

"Today marks the most historic event for retirees in Texas since the retirement system was established in 1937," White said Monday as he signed the legislation.

"No longer will we see retirees going without basic health insurance so they can meet their other living expenses," he said.

The legislation, authored by Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana, will establish a group insurance plan for retired school employees at no cost to the retiree for basic coverage.

To fund the program, current teachers and other school employees will make nonrefundable contributions equal to 0.25 percent of their salary starting Sept. 1. A state contribution totaling 0.35 percent of employee salaries starts in September 1986. That total increases in following years.

Howard said the program would cost about $26 million initially.

He and White hailed the contributions being made by currently employed teachers for their already retired counterparts.

"Active employees have shown by this action that not only do they care about their own future situations, they also care about their associates who are already retired," the governor said.

"No longer will we see people dropped from the local (school) district's health insurance program because the district cannot afford to keep retirees in the group," he added.

"It was an unselfish effort on each one's part," Howard said. "All of them have worked together for the common good of all."

Howard said most school districts in Texas don't provide health insurance for retired teachers. Due to the high costs of such coverage for the elderly, he said, many are forced to do without.

"Most have to get it on the open market. At their age, it's high and they can't afford it," he said.

Also Monday, the governor signed legislation to make it a crime to illegally tap into cable television services or to decode or unscramble cable signals. Satellite reception dishes wouldn't be included, officials said.

The legislation, authored by Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, would make it a class B misdemeanor, punishable by up to a $1,000 fine and six months in jail, to use such equipment, officials said. Manufacture or sale of such devices would be a class A misdemeanor, punishable by up to a $2,000 fine and a year in jail.

Aides to Uher said some people have purchased basic cable television service, then used special decoder equipment to obtain extra-cost services such as Home Box Office and movie channels.

That bill takes effect Sept. 1.

Regional banking pleasing

DALLAS (AP) — Some Texas bankers believe the U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing regional banking may spur both Congress and the Texas Legislature into taking more steps toward interstate banking.

In a case involving New England banks, the high court ruled Monday that states may join together to create regional banking systems, a move that could speed major restructuring of the banking industry.

A state bill to permit Texas banks to acquire banks in neighboring states fizzled in a legislative committee this year. Although supported by large holding companies, it was strongly opposed by the small, independent bankers.

Some industry experts believe the failure to get such a bill passed could place Texas banks at a competitive disadvantage, now that the court has opened the door for other regional banking systems.

But Gene H. Bishop, chairman of MCorp of Dallas, said he isn't worried about Texas losing its edge.

"We now have a number of banks among the 25 largest top holding companies, and I do not see any major shifts in that standing before we will see national legislation," Bishop said.

He added that he believes the court ruling will "push Congress to act, and that is a plus."

Gerald W. Fronterhouse, president and chief operating officer of RepublicBank, said the court decision was a sound one because it recognizes that regional banking compacts are a "crucial investment step" toward the orderly phase-in of nationwide interstate banking.

At the same time that leaders of major banks were praising the decision, the head of a group representing small, independent banks opposed to interstate banking said he also finds no fault with the court's decision.

John Shivers, president of the Independent Bankers Association of Texas, said the language in the high court's opinion adequately upholds the rights of states to govern their own banking matters.

However, Shivers disagreed with many of the state's major bankers by saying he now doubts that Congress will force interstate banking legislation on everyone.

Swift to close Hereford plant

HEREFORD, Texas (AP) — Swift Independent Packing Co. officials say they will keep the packing plant in Hereford even after it closes on Saturday, just in case better times prompt its reopening.

Swift announced Monday the plant would close — a move that will cost 490 employees their jobs. An estimated 325 of those live in the Panhandle town of Hereford.

The action "was dictated by continuing losses at the facility," said John A. Copeland, chairman of the Chicago-based company.

Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher said the plant closing was "kind of a low blow. We're rather surprised and disappointed, to say the least."

WTC agenda from Monday

Bill Jones, board president, commented, however, "we are in the same position that we have been in the past in that we don't have the land or the funds to build one."

It was estimated that a nine-hole golf course would cost some $500,000 above any costs related to a land purchase price.

Trustees also briefly discussed some slight changes in the wording of the contract with the Scurry County Rodeo Association for use of the rodeo grounds by the WTC rodeo team.

These related to maintenance requirements; whether any "temporary" structures erected by the college could be removed later; and a clarification regarding liability, adding the words that other entities using the facility "shall hold harmless" both WTC and the rodeo association.

Newbury also reported that the college will receive 97.5 percent funding from the state for the 1985-86 school year.

Trustees also accepted several bids. The first was from Midwest Bioservice in the amount of $3,255 for monocular microscopes. Other bids submitted were Sargent-Welch Scientific, $3,910; Fisher Scientific, $3,403 (alternate bid did not specifications); and Frey Scientific, $4,271.

A bid of $2,895 was accepted from Bailey Boiler Works of Lubbock for a gas water heater for the indoor swimming pool. The other bid of $3,175 was from Snook and Aderton of Lubbock.

Trustees also purchased two plain paper copiers Monday night.

A bid for an IBM copier was accepted from IBM-Lubbock in the amount of $20,400 (including equipment maintenance the payment will be $903.84 per month).

Another bid for a a Xerox copier was accepted from Stephens Office Supply in Snyder in the amount of $11,870 (including maintenance agreement the payment will be $418 per month.)

Other bids submitted were $48,905 from Stephens Office Supply for a Xerox copier; IBM-Lubbock, $11,067 for an IBM (did not meet specificiations); AB Dick-Abilene, $10,390 (did not meet specifications) and Business Copy Products Lubbock, $13,284.

Trustees also ratified a bid for batteries for the golf carts from E-Z Go Textron Co in Atlanta, Ga. in the amount of $3,332.

Bill Jones presided Monday and all trustees attended including Bill Wilson, R. C. Patton, Bob Hargrove, Edwin Parks, Jr., Roy Baze, and Howard Sterling.

A general cleanup of the creek is being completed also, to include the leveling of trees and brush.

The guard has been working on the project for more than one year now, normally during its monthly weekend drills.

Swimming pool is opening soon

GARY, Ind. (AP) — A municipal swimming pool will open as scheduled later this month, despite outrage over the drownings of five children who tried desperately to claw their way out of the slime-coated pool.

The five youngsters apparently sneaked into the Fisher Park pool Sunday night to catch frogs, and were found dead a short time later, officials said.

Repeat test to be certain

DEAR DR GOTT — On a recent blood test, my glycohemoglobin level was unusually high — about three times the norm — yet no treatment or diagnosis was given. What could cause this, particularly while in a fasting state?

DEAR READER — Glycohemoglobin is a molecule formed by the combination of blood sugar and hemoglobin, the red pigment in blood cells. It reflects, in a general way, the average level of total sugar in your system over a period of weeks.

Obviously, an elevated glycohemoglobin would indicate the presence of excess blood sugar — that is, diabetes.

Like any laboratory test, glycohemoglobin shows biological variation, false positives and negatives. In addition, certain drugs can interfere with normal laboratory values by disrupting chemical analysis performed in test tubes.

I am tempted to conclude that you are a diabetic. Before making such a rash presumption, however, I suggest that you see a doctor, who, by questioning and examining you, can resolve this apparent discrepancy. As a general rule, it's wise to avoid placing too much emphasis on a single laboratory test without correlating it with other factors having to do with your state of health. For one thing, you would probably want to have another glycohemoglobin determination made in conjunction with other tests — like a blood glucose test.

DEAR DR GOTT — For several years, my shoulder has been sore and occasionally very weak. When relaxed, it begins to twitch and spasm uncontrollably. A doctor told me that I didn't have any nerve damage, arthritis or other definite condition, but suggested that I wear a cervical collar (which didn't help). His other suggestions were steroids or trigger-point therapy. How do these work, and what could cause such a problem to continue for so long?

DEAR READER — If your shoulder problem is due to something other than nerve irritation, I am hardly surprised the cervical collar was ineffective. A cervical collar (and similar devices) work by limiting play in neck movement, thereby reducing pain from nerve or muscle strain.

I am baffled by your question and would need more information about your shoulder. For example, soreness and weakness are common problems that affect almost anybody's shoulder from time to time. When you mention uncontrollable twitching, however, you are adding an ailment that is not common. Muscle spasms are usually the result of diseases affecting nerves and muscles — in other words, conditions more serious than simple strain.

I would feel more at ease if you could find a doctor who could pinpoint your chronic shoulder syndrome, rather than just being unable to diagnose a "definite condition." Certain unusual neurological diseases of the spine can cause weakness, pain and twitching in various parts of the body. A pinched disc in your neck could cause the type of shoulder problem you describe.

Steroids and other therapy seem to me to be dangerously non-specific in your case. I recommend that you attempt to discover definite answers. Start with a good neurologist.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

5-point peace plan to include U.S.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Shimon Peres has proposed a five-point plan for a Middle East peace conference that would include U.S. participation and exclude the Soviet Union from a direct role.

The plan was presented as an alternative to the approach outlined in Washington earlier this month by Jordan's King Hussein, who has agreed with the Palestine Liberation Organization on a joint negotiating position.

Jordan has called for a conference to include the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council and the PLO. The permanent members are the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China.

In his speech to Parliament on Monday, Peres rejected Jordan's idea of an international conference and PLO participation.

But he countered with a proposal to "enlist the support" of the five powers for direct talks between Israel and a Jordanian-Palestinian delegation.

Peres said under his plan the United States would be the only outside power to attend a peace conference. He also said he would seek early consultations between Israel and a joint Jordanian-Palestinian delegation to determine an agenda for the conference, which he proposed should be convened within three months.

"It's possible that there is a change of atmosphere in the Middle East," Peres said. "It is possible that an opportunity has arisen that must not be missed. We do not want to belittle such a possibility or slam the door on such an opportunity."

While asking the United States to continue consulting the parties to the conflict, Peres objected to Jordan's call for preliminary U.S. talks with a Jordanian-Palestinian delegation to prepare for negotiations with Israel.

Hussein "must understand that he has to sit with Israel, and not try to place Israel in some darkened waiting room until everything is concluded," Peres said.

Peres also criticized the proposed sale of U.S. jet fighters and mobile anti-aircraft missiles to Jordan, which he said Hussein was demanding as a "down payment" for his willingness to join the peace process.

In Amman, Jordan, PLO spokesman Nabil Amer said, "I think there are no new points in the speech." Amer said Peres' proposals are "against all the points of the agreement between us and them (the PLO and Jordan)."

Reagan wins some surprised applause, harsh criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan won applause from congressional liberals and moderates with his decision not to undercut the SALT II treaty, but one angry conservative said, "the Soviets are popping their vodka bottles and laughing at how stupid the United States is."

The president decided Monday that when a new Trident submarine, the USS Alaska, undergoes sea trials later this year, the United States will dismantle an older Poseidon missile-firing submarine in order not to exceed the missile limits set by the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty known as SALT II.

Sen. Steven D. Symms, R-Idaho, said the decision should give Moscow cause for celebration.

"We're actually talking about going ahead and dismantling a perfectly good submarine," Symms told reporters.

"I think it smacks of unilateral disarmament; I think it smacks of appeasement. It harkens back to the days of (former British Prime Minister Neville) Chamberlain knuckling under to Adolf Hitler," he said.

"My view of it is that ... the Soviets are popping their vodka bottles and laughing at how stupid the United States is that we would dismantle a perfectly good weapons system to comply with a treaty they never did comply with," Symms said.

Symm's outraged rhetoric was not matched by other members of Congress who commented on Reagan's decision, including Idaho's other Republican senator, James McClure, who noted: "It's fair to say some are not happy about the Poseidon decision."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he believes Reagan has "wisely rejected the dangerous counsel of right wing opponents of arms control who want to scuttle this important agreement."

Mentally retarded girl jailed due to ID mixup

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas woman says her severely retarded daughter is afraid to come home and may never trust a policeman again after she spent five days behind bars for a crime she didn't commit.

Dallas police arrested Maritta Jefferson, 25, Dec. 7 when she flagged down their patrol car because she was being harassed by a man as she walked to her sister's home, The Dallas Morning News reported Monday.

She carried no identification, and police arrested her for an outstanding shoplifting warrant against a Mary Ann Johnson, records show. Ms. Jefferson spent five days in jail until her mother could raise bond money and convince court officials of the misidentification.

She recently ran away and is now afraid to come home because she fears she'll have to go back to jail, says her mother, Daisy Shipman.

"Why should she try to get out of trouble when she'd never been in any trouble?" said Mrs. Shipman. "They kept asking her if she ever went under the name of Mary Ann Johnson. She had no identification, so they tried to pin this on her."

"I doubt she'll ever trust a policeman again," Mrs. Shipman said.

Fingerprints and a photo of Mary Ann Johnson, the woman wanted on the shoplifting warrant, were on file at the jail. But the records went unchecked until Mrs. Shipman got County Criminal Court Judge John McCall interested in the case.

When she later explained to her daughter that they would have to go to court to correct the arrest records, Ms. Jefferson panicked and ran away from home May 7.

"She knew she was supposed to go to court," Mrs. Shipman said. "She'd call, but she'd never tell us where she was. All she'd say is that, 'I don't want to go down there. I won't go down there.'"

Ms. Jefferson was arrested a second time May 30, when two other officers found her in a Dallas bar and charged her and several other patrons with public intoxication. This time, she stayed in jail eight days and was released last Thursday.

Mrs. Shipman said her daughter was tested with an IQ of 44 in 1980. "She's between 6 and 7 years old mentally," Mrs. Shipman said.
