Reds Break Off Beachhead Attacks

Mobilization Chief Names Clay, Weinberg Assistants

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Charles E. Wilson took office today as director of defense mobilization and immediately appointed General Lucius Clay and Banker Sidney Weinberg as his assistants.

Wilson, former president of General Electric, told reporters of the two appointments at the White House after taking the oath of office in President Truman's presence.

Wilson said Clay and Weinberg will serve without compensation.

Clay, former U. S. commander at Berlin, is relinquishing his duties as chairman of the board of the Continental Can Co.

Weinberg is senior partner of Goldman, Sachs and Co., New York investment banking firm. He was a vice-chairman of the War Production Board in World War II.

The oath was administered to Wilson by Chief Justice Vinson in Mr. Truman's circular office. The three men stood beneath a large portrait of George Washington.

W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, some of those duties Wilson is taking over in the mobilization job, stepped up after the ceremony smiling and said, "Let me be the first to congratulate you."

Wilson told reporters his immediate plans are to continue just what he is doing now — that is, surveying the job that must be done, and getting "just as many facts as I can."

Wilson took the oath of office well under 24 hours after the Senate rushed through confirmation of his appointment.

Already, in another step toward cushioning the shock of the defense buildup on the nation's economy, the government had asked 250 large corporations to give at least seven days' notice before raising prices on any major products.

Economic Stabilization Director Alan Valentine said this would give his agency time to study the proposals and decide if they were justified. If not, the agency could ask or order their abandonment.

Valentine telegraphed the companies to give such advance notices on any line in which they do an annual business of $500,000 or more.

The Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA), also told General Motors Corp., that its appeal for modification of an automobile price roll-back has been rejected.

Two firms asked to help hold the price line — International Harvester Co. and Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. — wired agreement to go along. Sinclair Oil Corp., officials said their company would comply. And Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) officials said compliance was up to affiliate operating firms but added they would be "surprised if the affiliates did not go along."

Commenting on the rapid developments in the fight against inflation, Rep. Sheppard (D-Calif) said today that lack of controls retroactive to June already has cost the military rearmament program $5,300,000,000 due to price increases.

Sheppard is vice-chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

And the Senate Appropriations Committee issued a statement sharply criticizing the soaring prices of rubber tires, uniforms, parachutes and other items vital to the defense buildup.

The committee estimated inflation has cut the value of defense appropriations since the Korean fighting began by approximately $3,000,000,000.

Survivors Numbed By Bombardment

TOKYO —(AP)— The Hungnam beachhead lay quiet today after allied land-sea-air barrages mowed down and rolled back the Reds' most menacing attack on the perimeter.

Frozen bodies of Chinese and white-robed Korean Reds littered the snow-crusted east flank of the United Nations defense ring where the attack was made.

Communist survivors apparently were numbed to a standstill by the fury of 'round-the-clock bombardment Wednesday by allied warships, planes and land artillery.

Field dispatches reported the shattered survivors were thrown back from the point of gravest peril to the allied forces holding their last sliver of northeast Korea around Hungnam of the Sea of Japan shore.

Quiet also was reported on the western Korean front.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported the Chinese had suffered heavy losses — at a ration of 10 to 1 — during the darkest days of the allied retreat from most of North Korea, Nov. 27 to Dec. 12.

The Chinese have been around the Hungnam beachhead in great force for days, but it was apparent that the battling retreat of U. S. Marines and 10th Corps doughboys farther north had badly crippled an estimated 10 Red divisions.

Red efforts to reorganize their forces were progressing slowly — too slowly to hamper the planned withdrawal of American forces on the Hungnam beach. U. S. losses there are reported extremely small considering the action involved.

AP Correspondents Tom Lambert and Stan Swinton, in the beachhead, reported enemy inactivity on the Hungnam perimeter had field commanders worried, although they said they were certain that steady pounding by warplanes, field artillery and big naval guns had hurt the Reds badly.

Warships continued to hammer Communist troop concentrations north of the beachhead.

Correspondent Lambert reported the Communists had replied only with mortar attacks on the east flank.

Swinton reported the air and artillery attacks fired five small villages. The Communists had been using the villages for assembly areas.

The Far East Air Forces reported continuing attacks on Communist forces throughout the U. S. Eight Army area in the northwest.

A top officer at General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo vigorously denied reports that Communists had used gas grenades against the Hungnam troops. The report, he said, was wholly unconfirmed and doubted at headquarters because the Chinese Communists had had no training in gas warfare and did not have gas masks.

British fliers from the carrier Theseus operating off the west coast reported a scarcity of targets along the main road and rail system connecting the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, Sariwon and Kumchon. They said there was an indication of night

Casualties in Korea for U.S. Total 11,964

TOKYO — (AP) — General MacArthur's headquarters said today American casualties in the worst fortnight of retreat in Korea totaled 11,964 killed, wounded and missing. It said other United Nations forces from abroad suffered 1,011 casualties in that period.

The total of 12,975 did not include Republic of Korea losses.

Headquarters said field commanders reported Chinese Red losses at a ratio of 10 to 1 — a total of more than 120,000.

The period was dated Nov. 27-Dec. 12, but the total also included relatively small losses suffered during "UN probing attacks beginning Nov. 24."

The Defense Department announced Nov. 30 in Washington that American casualties in Korea since the war began had reached a total of 31,028, saying this represented all whose next of kin had been notified through Nov. 24. This indicated that American casualties through Dec. 12 were in excess of 42,000.

The Washington list showed 5,307 dead, 21,114 wounded and 4,611 missing. The new MacArthur headquarters summary today did not break down its casualty figures to show how many were killed, wounded or missing.

Hardest hit was the U.S. Army Second Infantry Division which suffered 4,131 casualties during what MacArthur called the "reportorial 'disaster' period." The Second Division played a major role in blunting the Chinese Red counteroffensive on the northwest front.

The headquarters summary gave other allied losses as:

U.S. First Marine Division, 2,891.

U.S. Army Seventh Infantry Division, 2,097.

U.S Army 25th Infantry Division, 1,806.

U.S. Army First Cavalry Division, 443.

U.S. Army 24th Infantry Division, 146.

Other UN forces, 1,011.

Arm to the Teeth, Declares Hoover

NEW YORK — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover urged the nation last night to concentrate on fortifying the western hemisphere as a "Gibraltar."

He called on his fellow-countrymen to "arm to the teeth" to hold the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, with the island outposts of Britain, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

Mr. Hoover, speaking on radio and television, said it would be "sheer folly" to engage in land war with Communist hordes in Asia or the continent of Europe.

He urged the United States to "arm our air and naval forces to the teeth" to defend the frontiers he laid out.

Mr. Hoover said the Communists could never break through American sea and air power to invade the western hemisphere. "They can no more reach Washington in force than we can reach Moscow," he declared.

At another point, he expressed the opinion that the atomic bomb is "a far less dominant weapon than it was once thought to be."

The only living ex-president, making one of the most important addresses of his long public career, said "it is clear that the United Nations are defeated in Korea."

It would be "inviting another Korea," he declared, to send more troops or money to Western European nations before they had armed themselves as a "sure dam against the Red flood."

Defense of western continental Europe rests primarily on the European nations themselves, the 76-year-old former chief executive told his audiences across the nation.

Mr. Hoover said Western European nations should arm themselves with combat divisions of "huge numbers" before the United States lands "another man or another dollar on their shores."

His demand for a new foreign arms policy came one day after President Truman named Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of Western European forces and said additional U.S. troops would be sent there as soon as possible.

Mr. Hoover said his suggested

Can't Believe:

Music Frees Prison Bonds

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Frank M. Grandstaff, who composed the 70-page "Big Spring Cantata" in his prison cell, soon will be a free man.

It is believed he will be the first ever pardoned as an habitual criminal in Tennessee.

Before an announcement by Gov. Gordon Browning last night, the 49 - year - old convict-composer faced the prospect of spending the rest of his life behind prison walls.

Browning said, "I am giving him a pardon to let him get out of the state. All the matters for which he was convicted were very small offenses and I am not satisfied to leave him there."

The Governor said he would sign the pardon papers today or tomorrow. He added he understood Grandstaff will go to Indiana or Texas.

The cantata was the key that unlocked prison doors for Grandstaff's week of freedom in Big Spring in October, 1949. It was inspired by a book written by druggist Earl Philips. Grandstaff was guest of honor at the Big Spring centennial.

Grandstaff's record shows 20 offenses, mostly larceny. It was a Memphis larceny that brought

Battle Threatens Over Proposals

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A new congressional battle loomed today over former President Hoover's proposals to shorten America's defense lines and arm the Navy and Air Force "to the teeth" to defend the nation's Atlantic and Pacific frontiers.

Republican Senate Leader Wherry of Nebraska said Hoover's proposals "collide directly with those of President Truman and Congress and the public must decide who is right."

Most Democratic Party leaders avoided immediate comment but Senator Lehman (D-NY) said: "It appears to me to be a plea for a return to complete isolationism. If we followed President Hoover's suggestion, we would find ourselves isolated and without any friends in the world."

Senators of both parties agreed on one thing — that last night's broadcast proposals by the only living former president would echo in Congress for some time to come.

Bluntly calling the United Nations-U. S. efforts in Korea a defeat, Mr. Hoover warned against "another Korea" in Western Europe if this country feeds men and money there before the European countries organize their own defense.

Only two days before, President Truman had pledged that more American forces soon would join the combined West European defense force now being set up under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. As Hoover spoke, Secretary of State Acheson was flying back from the Brussels conference which authorized the combined non-Communist force.

Many Republicans in Congress were quick to cheer Hoover's sharp dissent from the Truman-Acheson policy.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, told a reporter he agrees with "many of the general principles" Hoover stated.

Taft said some would term the speech isolationist but added that "Mr. Hoover presents very forcefully a point of view which certainly should have the immediate consideration of the Congress."

Senator Russell (D-Ga), who soon will head the Senate Armed Services Committee, avoided direct comment but noted that Hoover was passing judgment upon the relative size of the Army, Navy and Air Force and on military tactics.

Russell said such policies should be determined by the joint chiefs of staff.

"They are in a much better position to judge those things than Mr. Hoover or I," Russell added.

Germans Demand Equality In Exchange for Armed Aid

BONN, Germany —(AP)— The western allies today embark on the laborious task of coaxing troops from a West Germany united in demanding "full equality" with the West or no rearmament.

Cognizant of a golden opportunity for diplomatic horse-trading, the Germans begin talks with the three allied high commissioners determined to wring sizable concessions for any participation in the international defense force headed by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

The North Atlantic Pact nations — which do not include West Germany — decided at their Brussels meeting Monday that 150,000 German soldiers were wanted for the European army they plan to raise to 1,000,000 men in two years.

But West German political leaders and newspapers have served notice they will have none of it unless:

1. Their nation is accepted as an equal partner by its one-time conquerors.

2. German troop units are not significantly restricted in size or composition of command staffs unless such restrictions apply to all member nations.

3. West Germany's status as an occupied nation is scrapped and the republic given full political independence.

Entrusted with the chore of arguing the Bonn government into joining up are the high commissioners of the occupying powers, John J. McCloy of the United States, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick of Britain and Andre Francois-Poncet of France.

They were authorized by the Big Three western foreign ministers to "explore the problem" of German defense contribution "as well as any changes in the present occupation arrangements which might logically attend" it.

"We will sum up the result of these exchanges and submit them, in due course, to our governments," the French high commissioner explained.

France, a key member of the continental Atlantic pact, is still almost as fearful of a revival of German militarism as she is of the Soviet Union. The French especially want to avoid formation of a new German general staff and the use of German units exceeding brigade strength of 5,000 to 8,000 men.

The starting proposal of the high commissioners to Bonn is expected to be one allowing German combat teams of 5,000 to 6,000 men each while prohibiting a German general staff or war ministry.

This, the Germans have ob-

Congressmen Flocking Home

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Failure of a majority of members to show up today threatened to force adjournment of the House until after Christmas.

Home-bent congressmen were leaving the capitol in droves last night and today.

Lack of a quorum — 218 of the 435 members — was indicated as only 179 members responded when their names were called by the clerk. This was 39 short of the majority required to do business.

Speaker Rayburn and House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts went into a long huddle at the speaker's rostrum to decide what to do and stall for time.

Unless 39 absentees are located and returned to the House, adjournment would be automatic.

Cookie's Home By Christmas

Beverly and Donna Graham have their Christmas wish — Cookie has returned home.

The two little girls—Donna is three and Beverly is eight — wrote a tearful plea Monday asking Santa to look for their little black and white puppy.

"We have been fairly good all year," they told Santa.

"There are many things we would like to have but most of all we would like to have our little puppy back —"

Mrs. Reuben Hilton, 717 N. West, read about the little girls' plight; looked at a dog that had been brought to their house; then went to see Donna and Beverly. It was Cookie.

Mrs. Graham said the girls had a fit—so did Cookie.

However, this will stop the regular visit of Santa Claus next Sunday night. This will be a double Christmas for Donna and Beverly.

Stricken Boy Still Has Hope

Howard Youngblood's only real wish for Christmas is to see his father for the first time, and unless news stories and assistance from his friends help, Howard may not get his wish and this may be his last Christmas. But he still has hope.

Howard, son of Mrs. Velma Faye Stone, 634 East Craven, is a patient in the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, with an incurable disease. His father and mother were divorced when he was six months old and he has never seen him since.

Mrs. Stone says she has no idea where Howard's father is. He is originally from Oklahoma. It has been learned from the county welfare officer here that his father, Arthur Al Joseph Youngblood, was in Borger several years ago. He served in the army during World War II, but no information of his whereabouts can be traced through the War Department.

The father has a sister, Mrs. Howard McBride, in Denver, it has been learned, but she has not been reached.

Howard is a cheerful patient, despite the fact that his father cannot be found and this may be his last Christmas. He enjoys letters read to him by his favor-

Navy Approves Wage Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) The Navy has approved a 22-cents an hour wage increase for 2,850 civilian employes of the Navy in the Corpus Christi, Texas, area, it notified Senator Connally (D-Tex) today.

The boost amounts to an average of 13 percent for the hourly employes concerned.

Pampa Offers Bell 50 Percent Boost

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was offered a 50 percent across-the-board rate boost at 6 p.m. Wednesday by Mayor C. A. Huff, speaking for the City Commission.

Ed Ernest, divisional manager for SWB, said the company would study the proposal and do some figuring before giving the commission any answer.

Mayor Huff told the telephone representatives that the 50 percent figure was just an offer and not an ordinance.

The offer probably will be kicked back and forth for several days before the telephone company and the city commission make a settlement.

During yesterday afternoon's four-hour session it became clear that the company was asking for a $9 business phone rate — dail or no dial. Heretofore the commission, and the general public were under the impression the $9 rate was for dial.

That belief was spawned when the company presented to the commission and citizens' committee two lists of figures several months ago — one list calling for a $7.50 business rate and $9 business rate on dial. This resulted in the general public turning against dial service here. But the telephone company made it clear yesterday they wanted the $9 business rate, scaled downward accordingly, whether the service remained manual or dial.

Mayor Huff made it plain, too, that the commission had no intentions of granting the sharp boost the company was asking.

The mayor countered the company's claim of having to show a profit to attract capital with:

"We have an obligation not only to ourselves, but to the public. We can't grant you boys a raise on a projected or prospective investment. We want to you to show a profit on what you have invested now; not what you will have in the future. It is not the duty of the citizens of Pampa to pay rates that will attract outside capital to invest in Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. So far as I know, AT&T has never gone broke yet."

Opening the 2 p.m. session with the phone representatives,

Senate Expected to Okay Emergency Defense Funds

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Speedy approval of another $20,000,000,000 in emergency defense funds was expected in the Senate today.

Most of the funds will go for more airplanes, tanks, ships, atomic bombs and manpower in the fighting forces—all asked by President Truman since the Chinese Communists surged into Korea.

The House, meanwhile, was expected to override Republican opposition today and vote Mr. Truman the additional powers he wants to speed the preparedness program. GOP objections put a brake on this legislation in the Senate.

In a Home-for-Christmas drive, the House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate two other measures on the President's "must" list:

1 — A bill setting up a nationwide civil defense system to deal with a possible atomic attack. This program is expected to cost $3,100,000,000 in federal and state funds over the next three years.

2 — A $1,600,000,000 military public works authorization, much of it for top-secret purposes.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), veteran chairman of the Appropriations Committee, pushed the $20,000,000,000 emergency defense bill through the committee with wartime speed yesterday. He expected to repeat the performance on the Senate floor today.

The bill is $2,000,000,000 larger than similar legislation already approved by the House.

Largest boost was $1,834,911,000 for the stockpiling of strategic and critical materials such as rubber, tin, numerous metals and other materials and commodities in short supply during the last war.

The House voted $840,000,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission while the Senate group raised this to $1,080,000,000.

Also added were multi-million dollar items to build 50 fast cargo ships instead of the 16 voted by the House, additional funds for the Tennessee Valley Authority, and additional aircraft research.

Only one big cut was made by the Senate committee. This was elimination of a $1,850,000 fund for the Southeastern Power Administration.

The House approved this when told it would be used to build electric power transmission facilities to Langley Field, Va., for research on supersonic speed aircraft.

The Senate committee said that a private utility company in that area should build this line.

The committee also agreed to offer one new provision on the Senate floor — a proposal to let President Truman divert up to $112,000,000 of Marshall Plan funds for aid "in the China area."

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) said ECA Administrator William Foster suggested this move because existing funds for econom-

Q. and A.

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. What position has Selective Service taken in regard to post-graduate study in science and medicine?

A. Selective Service encourages it and in many cases men can be deferred who are in such courses.

Q. My son served eight months in the Army but got out on a dependency discharge. But they say they are going to draft him. He has four dependents. One leg is shorter than the other. He has a twisted pelvis. Some days he can hardly walk. His back is very bad, too. Does it make any sense that the Army should want him? What should he do?

A. If everything you say about your son is true it sure doesn't make any sense that the Army should want him. Probably the best thing he can do is just let the Army take a look at him.

Q. I have just taken a draft exam and the way the doctor shook his head over me I'm sure I won't be taken. But do they consider your education? I finished high school.

A. They consider your education to the extent of giving you a mental test. If you pass it they assume you have had enough education.

Q. I find that I have to spend most of the allotment money I get paying the bills which my husband runs up. If I refuse to pay these bills can he have my allotment stopped?

A. No. But if he threatens to have it stopped you have to appeal to the Army to force an allotment on him for yourself.

Q. Our son has a young wife and does not have to go in service. Yet he wants to. We have pulled all kinds of strings to persuade him to stay out and take care of his wife. Is there any way we can appeal to the service not to take him? What is your advice?

A. Stop pulling strings and let him make up his own mind.

Q. Our regular doctor assured us that our son would not be drafted because of an ear condition. Yet he passed the physical. What can we do about it?

A. Appeal the classification with a letter from your regular doctor.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Discard Can Tell a Lot

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Certain plays in canasta convey definite meanings to an alert partner but are not conventions. The reason they are not conventions is that their meaning should be obvious. I call them "significant plays."

The simplest example of a significant play is a first or second round discard of an ace when your side needs ninety or a hundred and twenty.

The ace is the only natural card that counts 20 points. Hence, if you have a poor hand with one ace in it, that is the one card you want to hang on to. If you can draw two more aces you have made up a sixty-point meld and have taken a long step in the direction of acquiring your count.

Therefore, if a player discards an ace early it means one of two things. Either he has no idea what he is doing at all or he has a good hand and does not need aces to make his minimum count.

Some reader is saying right now "I wouldn't discard an ace anyway. It will tell my opponent that I have a good hand and also that I don't hold aces. Hence, it will give him safe discards for later on."

The answer to that reasoning is, first that any first or second round discard implies that you hold no more cards of that rank. Second, there is no law against a player with a good hand baiting his opponents by splitting three of a kind at his first turn to play, whether that three of a kind is aces or some lower denomination.

Also, if you start with a good hand the chances are that the man to your right won't have a good hand. In fact, the chances are that he won't have a good hand irrespective of what your hand is. There are lots more poor canasta hands than there are good ones.

Hence, unless he has a good hand he will be hanging on to any aces for their counting value.

The following question comes from San Antonia:

Q—What is the game samba?

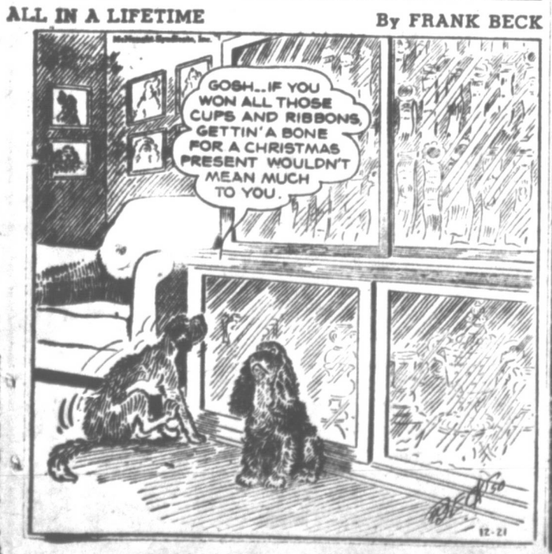

Samba is the name given to three-pack canasta. In this game canastas are rewarded with the regular 300 and 500-point bonuses. You are also allowed to meld sequences in the same suit and a seven-card sequence is called a samba and is given a fifteen hundred-point bonus. Of course it is a lot harder to make a samba than it is to make a canasta.

My canasta and bridge partner John Crawford has written a book on the game which will be on sale shortly.

13 Lucky Guys

by FRANK R. ADAMS

COPR. 1950 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Sgt. Eddie Engstrom's squad is wiped out in action and the men realize they are dead when they find themselves unseen in Westwaygo, the home town of all but Joe. The only living creature who can see them is Eddie's dog Duke. But they can see and Eddie sees the sweetest girl he'd ever seen—Margie Lou, who drives a bus. Maybe that's why Eddie has gone to [illegible] terminal alone.

XVII

EDDIE watched a dozen motor coaches come in, load and depart. But Old Ironsides did not show up. Maybe it had been in a wreck, or sold down the river to become a school bus. He would be disappointed if anything had happened to it. He felt almost as if he owned the old crate.

Under the instrument panel was where he had always hidden that lucky coin so he would never give it to a passenger by mistake when making change. It was about the size of a quarter and had a square hole in the middle—a Chinese coin, somebody had told him. [illegible]

[illegible] so worried about leaving for the [illegible] that [illegible] forgotten the darned thing.

[illegible] about given up hope when an old rattling, snorting [illegible] under the [illegible] hanging sled and stopped at the door of the waiting room.

"[illegible] here!" shouted the starter. "Leaving right away."

It was Eddie's bus. And Eddie's girl was driving it. Perhaps it was stretching the truth a little for Eddie to call Margie Lou his girl. But she was the nearest thing to [illegible] he had ever had. She was the [illegible] person toward whom he had felt a protective tenderness.

In his previous encounters with young women it had been a case of "everybody for himself." But Margie Lou was different. He would gladly have laid down his life for her, if he'd had one left.

Margie Lou didn't at the moment look like anybody who would launch even a couple of rowboats. She was in a gray-green uniform coat which was too large for her in several places and a cap which came down too far over her braids. The entire outfit had been inherited from a woman driver who had been fired the week before.

Eddie climbed aboard. "I see you're feeling all right now," he said.

Naturally Margie Lou did not reply, not having heard him.

The starter was marshaling passengers aboard as fast as possible. There was another bus coming up behind. "You're late," he told Margie Lou.

"Traffic jam at Sixth and Western," she said. "Workmen's cars coming off shift tangled with a [illegible]

[illegible] realized in a moment that the remark was not directed at him.

THE very definitely earthly body of Max Lengel was right beside Margie Lou's seat. [illegible]

"I won't bother her," said Max with a hearty good nature. "She's a friend of mine."

The starter was a big man, too, and his supper wasn't agreeing with him. "Get back in the bus like I told you."

"Don't get him angry," Margie Lou cautioned Max pleadingly. "Sometimes he gets awful tough."

The starter was on the step. The passengers who were waiting to get aboard grouped behind him patiently.

Margie Lou's advice to Max Lengel did not have the effect she intended. Max got the idea she admired the prowess of the husky bus loader. He couldn't bear to have one of his women friends admire anyone else.

So when the man shoved him Max shoved back hard enough to push him off the step. Unluckily for Max the starter had a grip on his coat lapels and dragged Max right with him when he fell.

They rolled around on the concrete platform for a while, neither side scoring a touchdown. When they finally got to their feet the majority of the waiting passengers had climbed aboard and now there wasn't room for an emaciated sardine to squeeze in anywhere.

"Take it away!" shouted the starter with what breath he had left.

Max made a tentative attempt to get a foothold somewhere on the bus but the folding door blocked him off. He compromised. "See you later, baby," he yelled at Margie Lou. "I'll bring you this big palooka's teeth to wear for a bracelet and some of his hair for—" It was about here that the starter hit Max for luck. The argument continued.

[illegible] from his muttered advice. Then, on a stretch of unobstructed highway, Eddie squatted down and peered under the instrument panel.

Contrary to his expectations, there was the coin with the hole in it, hooked over the crooked nail.

With a murmured thanks to Lady Luck, he reached for it. Nothing doing. He'd forgotten he couldn't pick up anything.

While he was absorbed in his baffled indignation, Margie Lou took her right hand off the wheel, reached forward under the instrument panel. When her hand came out the coin lay in the palm.

Actor Claims Movie Folk More Literate These Days

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Movietown folklore has long kept alive the notion that actors are grammar school escapees who can scarcely write their own names and don't know T. S. Eliot from Yogi Berra.

Richard Carlson says there may have been semi-illiterate actors years ago, but they are outmoded today.

"The current crop of movie actors is a pretty hep bunch," said Carlson. "A good number of them have gone to college and are well-informed generally. Guys like John Lund, Bill Lnudigan, William Holden, MacDonald Carey and Ronald Reagan, to name a few."

Also, the acting fraternity boasts three Phi Beta Kappas—Franchot Tone, John Howard and Richard Carlson.

Carlson denied that he and the other two key-holders get together to hold meetings and sing old Greek songs. Indeed, he has little time for such things since his African jaunt. The Congo brought a burst of activity to his double career as writer and actor.

Last year Carlson was not exactly flourishing. One of those [illegible] have a mealy role in the movie version of an artistic play. Or he could have a mediocre part in an epic for which he would have to spend a half year or more in Africa.

Carlson chose the epic. "I figured it is better to have even a mediocre role in a hit than a good role in a picture that wouldn't make any money," he explained.

Well, the African epic is a hit and things have been happening to Carlson ever since. Producers have been after his services and he is in the happy position of being able to turn down pictures.

But the big news of the Carlson career is his writing. When he returned from the Congo, he penned his experiences and sold them for a serial in Collier's. Mind you, this was without the aid of a ghost writer. The articles were reprinted in Reader's Digest and a publisher even sought book rights.

Not only that, but Columbia hired Carlson to write the story for a jungle picture. And next year he will return to Africa with his family and write and produce a series for television.

I asked him the mossy old question about whether he preferred to write or act.

"That's like saying who do I like best — my wife or my two sons," he dodged. But he added: "Writing gives the most satisfaction because you have more control over it; in acting you are the pawn of so many other elements. Writing is also harder work."

Capsule Review: "Halls of Montezuma" is a fine tribute to the U.S. Marine Corps. Like many other war films, it is the story of a small fighting unit in action. But unlike most of [illegible] and too great length. Richard Widmark gets far away from his snickering killer roles and gives a sincere view of the school-teacher-marine. The rest of the cast is excellent, especially Walter (Jack Palance), one of the finds of the year.

The value of homes built in the United States in a year varies from as much as 7.2 percent of the national income which was the case in 1935 to as low as 1.4 percent in 1933.

Government to Have a Time Keeping Down Prices, Costs

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (P) — The government will have a time keeping down prices and living costs if businessmen get greedy and chisel.

The government has enough machinery to crack down on some big industry but not enough, for instance, to tackle all the stores and small factories.

Tuesday night the Economic Stabilization Administration (ESA) asked everyone to freeze voluntarily — the price on what he sells.

But no one can be jailed for cheating and raising prices so long as ESA only asks business people to freeze their own prices. If ESA had "ordered" a freeze, then cheating could be punished by a jail sentence.

Although ESA under law has the authority to "order" a freeze, it isn't in a position right now to order price controls nation-wide.

It doesn't have a staff large enough to police prices over the whole country. Its staff numbers perhaps 150.

In World War II when OPA ordered price controls and policed them, it had 60,000 paid workers around the country.

Perhaps in a few months, maybe by March, ESA will have a staff large enough to permit it to issue a general price control order.

That's why the ESA has to limit itself to asking businessmen everywhere to operate on a sort of "honor system."

It asked them not to raise prices any further, and, if they have raised them since Dec. 1 without good reasons set out by ESA, then to roll them back to what they were on Dec. 1.

Suppose some big industry hereafter ignores this request and hikes its prices. What then?

If ESA finds out, as it will, and thinks the industry was making enough profit without the increase, then it can "order" that industry to roll back its prices.

ESA people say that their staff, small as it is, is still large enough to handle an industry problem for, while there may be a great many firms in an industry, they all more or less handle the same goods.

The automobile manufacturers are an example of an industry. ESA last week told them to roll back their recent price increases.

But what of the thousands of small storekeepers and factories around the country? As for them, ESA can only ask them to "let their conscience be their guide."

ESA simply doesn't have the staff to check on all of them if they want to disregard the request for voluntary price control.

If you as a citizen see what you think are price increases and want to complain, complain directly to the Economic Stabilization Administration here in Washington. You can't complain to some local ESA field office because ESA doesn't have any yet.)

Some businessmen will honestly feel, for one reason or another connected with their costs, that they have to raise prices to keep on making a fair profit.

If the government demands proof that the increases were justified, and they can show it, they'll be in the clear and their price increase will be allowed although every price increase puts a dent in the whole price control effort.

Of course, if everybody heeded ESA and prices stayed indefinitely where they are now and no other economic forces interfered, there never would be need for the government to slap a general price control "order" on the whole country.

That "order" seems sure to come when ESA is able to carry it out.

But housewives, meaning the family pocketbook, are caught on a hook.

True, ESA wants prices to go no higher. But by mid-October living costs in this country already had reached an all-time high.

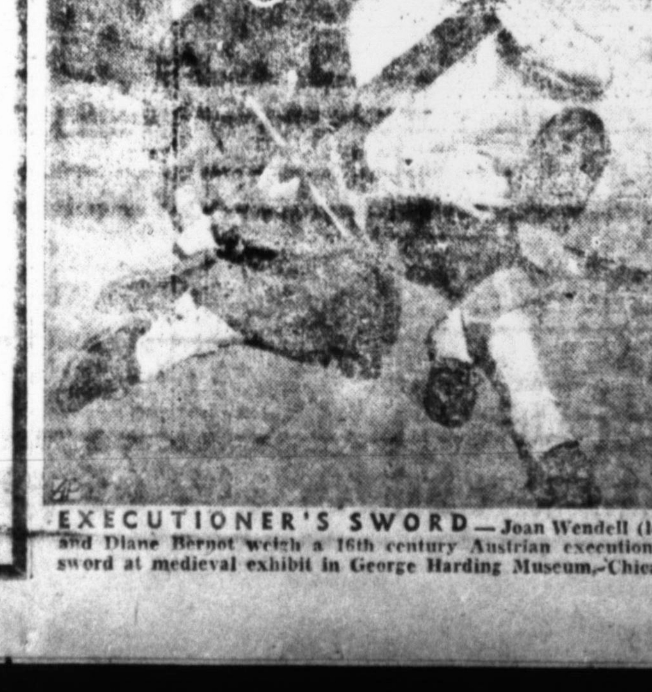

The next government figures on living costs are due Saturday. Since these figures are always a month behind, they'll show what living costs were in November, not in December. December figures will come out in January.

But there are indications that living costs, which had reached a peak in October, have still been climbing and reached an even greater peak in November.

Just so you won't be disappointed in what this attempt to control prices accomplishes in the next few months, remember:

There was, in spite of OPA, constant bickering [illegible] prices and price controls during World War II. Still they were kept down. The proof is: since OPA was wiped out in 1946, living costs have shot up over 20 percent.

Americans bought a record $22.6 billion worth of life insurance in 1949.

WAR WIDOW AT FIFTEEN—Mrs. Barbara Sullivan, right, 15-year-old expectant mother, has been notified by the War Department that her husband, Pvt. Lawrence Sullivan, 17, was killed in action in Korea. The young widow is seen in Louisville, Ky., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Decker, and a picture of the soldier husband.

Russia Said Building Ships

LONDON —(AP)— Jane's Fighting Ships — the world's bible of naval intelligence — said today Russia is building a navy "already far in excess of the normal requirements of defense."

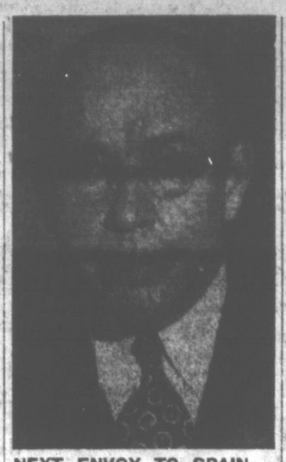

The new edition of the yearbook said Russian navy estimates for the year 1950-51 are 15,400,000,000 rubles, equivalent to $3,850,000,000, compared with the U. S. Naval appropriation of $4,168,000,000 for the same period.

The yearbook also noted that last February a Soviet Navy Ministry was created, independent of the armed forces.

Jane's said there are reports the Soviets have launched two 35,000 to 37,,000 ton battleships with towers for firing guided missiles and are constructing a third one.

The yearbook said 350 to 370 Russian submarines are believed already in service with 120 more in the works. It added that the Soviets have, or soon will have, 14 heavy cruisers of the 9,500-ton Kirov type, plus two ex-German cruisers of the 15,200-ton Polrava class.

Many ancient towns on the east coast of England have vanished under battering seas.

NEXT ENVOY TO SPAIN—Stanton Griffis, above, former U. S. ambassador to Argentina, will be named U. S. ambassador to Spain early next year, according to Washington reports. Griffis will be the first U. S. ambassador to Madrid since Norman Armour retired in December, 1945. The post has been vacant in accordance with a recommendation of the UN General Assembly.

Statewide Air Work Planned

DALLAS — (AP) — The first step toward organizing the state's 8,600 privately-owned planes for civil defense work is underway today.

Airport managers and private aviation leaders from the Dallas and Fort Worth area met here last night to hear Dr. E. O. Rushing, wing commander of the Civil Air Patrol, describe the move.

Flyers and owners of private planes are being asked to register immediately with the airport where their planes are hangered. The names will be turned over to county and state civil defense groups, who will contact them when they are needed.

The plan is simple and non-military, Dr. Rushing said, but the need is important because "this time the war will be here."

Special units of the defense organization will be set up in major population areas. Each of these units will be in contact with each airport in the state, the governor's office, the Department of Public Safety, the Texas Rangers, the Red Cross, and local civil defense coordinators.

Other speakers last night included Asbury Meadows, state director of aviation; George Haddaway, publisher of Southern Flight Magazine, and Texas Ranger Capt. M. T. Gonzaullas.

The Roman-built city of Dunwich, England, destroyed by North Sea waves, once was an important shipping center.

McLemore Comes Up With Idea for Department Stores

By HENRY McLEMORE

It's too late for department stores to do anything about it this year, but come the Christmas shopping season of 1951 and they should take a tip from postal inspectors and the FBI.

The Post Office Department and the G-men, as soon as they know a dangerous person is at large, plaster the country with his picture and a full description of his habits, eccentricities, etc.

This enables peaceful citizens, when they see this gent, either to skedaddle out of danger or put in a call for help.

What I want department stores to do next year is to plaster their walls with the pictures and descriptions of dangerous Christmas shoppers so that peaceful customers can spot them at the tie, lingerie, cosmetics, or corset counters, and steer away from danger.

By dangerous Christmas shoppers I mean those men and women who, in their wild desire to see to it that every friend and relative is remembered with a gift, will trample underfoot any and all who block their way to an article they want to purchase.

To help out the department stores I took down the particulars of a number of the most violent shoppers I encountered in the past week, and here they are:

Mrs. Beulah Tank: Age, 41. Also known as Mrs. Sherman Tank and Mrs. General Pershing Tank. Always heavily armed with two massive elbows, and uses them when challenged. Last seen breaking ribs of women in glassware department.

Mrs. Clem Slammer: Age 37, mild appearance. Normal housewife until Christmas shopping begins, then goes 'berserk.' Has left trail of bruised shins, cracked arches from Battery to the Bronx.

Joe Poppmopp: In middle fifties, gentle in appearance, but said to be most ruthless shopper at tie counters of any man loose today. Also known as Joe the Snatcher, because of his habit of grabbing tie he wants from hands of other customers.

Mrs. Grace Leapbody: Extremely dangerous Christmas shopper. Kidnapping is her speciality. Just when another customer, after an hour of waiting, has gotten a saleslady, Mrs. Leapbody leaps in and kidnaps her. Only in her late thirties, Mrs. Leapbody carries a cane and wears a gray wig to avoid assault by those whose saleslady she has kidnapped.

Arthur Pestman: This man is dangerous because of his ability to drive other customers out of their minds. Scores of New Yorkers are wondering today why they didn't throttle him when he took half an hour looking at gloves before deciding he didn't want to give his brother-in-law gloves at all.

Mrs. Clarence Cloudypuss: Age 48, weight 257. To be avoided on all elevators. Mrs. Cloudypuss always gets in the extreme back of the elevator and always gets off at the first stop, scattering passengers and shattering precious bones not belonging to her. Usually wears black and a scowl to match.

Andrade Tommy Thompson: Young, tall, given to banjo playing when not shopping. Nothing suits him. Holds up shoppers for hours while looking for something better. Asks for Tiffany things in bargain basements and vice versa.

This is only a partical list of the dangerous shoppers I have spotted. And you and you and you must know hundreds of others.

Shortages Change Autos

By DAVID WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — (AP) — If materials shortages don't halt production entirely they certainly will make many changes in next year's autos.

This is admitted by some car makers even before 1951 model output is in full swing. Some changes already have been made from the original pilot models that were put together for test purposes weeks ago.

They show up in a comparison of some of the display models and the vehicles shown in promotion pictures.

Generally, however, the first of the new models now leaving the factories have everything in standard materials and chrome trimming that the 1950 models had. But no sales executive or production chiefs will guarantee how long the glitter and extra eye-appeal may last.

Curtailment of aluminum will mean a few more cast iron pistons.

The plated trim that goes on most cars probably will give way first to stainless steel in many instances and eventually to contrasting paint. In some cases the material used to provide separate housings for parking lights will be saved by putting the light in bumper bombs or by combining it with the regular headlight.

The engineers agree they have no replacement for copper in car construction.

Buick's chief engineer, Charles A. Chayne, emphasized this recently when he said: "if we get no copper, you get no cars." Copper goes chiefly into radiator construction and into ignition wiring systems.

Air India Plane Wreckage Found

Money Moves Fast For Bank Cashier

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — A well-dressed woman has an extra $50 for her Christmas shopping, but police don't know whether it was a mistake or the work of a professional short - change artist.

The woman walked into the Pasadena First Trust and Savings Bank, laid four $10 bills in front of a cashier and asked for a $50 bill.

The cashier pushed out the fifty, but asked for another $10. The woman produced it, then said she might as well get a $100 bill while she was there. The cashier raked in the woman's five $10 bills and his own fifty, counted — and handed over the $100 bill.

PLAN EXPECTED

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House is expected to approve a master plan for civil defense today and also to give the military forces the green light to get started on $1,600,000,000 in top priority public works.

Traffic Violations Drive Gets Results

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)— A drive on traffic violations was ordered by Police Chief Jack Pyle.

The first two automobiles tagged:

(1) A police squad car, parked illegally in an alley in rear of city hall.

(2) The personal automobile of Police Capt. Dennis Jones, also parked in the alley.

Cash bonds were posted by the offending drivers.

Assembly Downs

PARIS — (AP) — The Foreign Affairs Committee of the National Assembly today voted 21 - 20 against the renewal of diplomatic relations between France and Spain.

The vote was on a Communist motion, but the Socialists took the lead in fighting against an exchange of ambassadors between France and Spain.

Diplomacy Renewal

Dear Santa:

Dear Santa Claus, I am 7 and in Miss Allen's first grade at Woodrow Wilson. I think I have been a pretty good boy although mother said I wasn't very good in choir the other night at church. I would like a gun, holster, and some games. Wilbur, my brother who is 5 1-2 years, wants a Hopalong Cassidy rifle, a claw hammer, and some games. He is good most of the time, too. Steve, 5 months, wants a little pink teddy bear and Santa, he has been the best of all. Don't forget all the other boys and girls, our neighbors and my teacher. We all love you. Steve, Wilbur and G. M. Wallis, Jr., 1901 E. Browning. Oh, yes, Santa, I think it's daddy who wants the electric train.

Dear Santa, I am in the third grade. I am eight years old. I have a sister who is three. We have been good most of the year. Would you please bring me a pair of golden guns. Bow and arrows and quiver. Hopalong Cassidy shooting gallery. And my sister wants a baby doll, a tricycle, dollbed and dishes, a toy ironing board. Oh, yes, Santa, I wants a b-b pistol, too. Your little friends, Brannie Ben and Patsy Jane Vaughn, 1027 S. Nelson.

Dear Santa Claus, I will be seven years old three days after Christmas. I have tried to be a good little girl this year. I would like for you to bring me a wrist watch, a big coo doll and a toy electric refrigerator. I love surprises, so if you can spare a few I would thank you very much. Your soft drink and sandwiches will be on the coffee table again. I love you, Sami Sue Cook.

Dear Santa Claus, I am 7 years old. Please bring me two Roy Rogers guns and a b-b gun and cowboy suit. Bring Martha some jewelry and a baby and buggy. Thank you, Love, Frank and Martha.

Dear Santa, please bring Jenny a new born baby and Katy a big doll and some red candy, any kind of candy for Jenny. Bring Mary a doll too. Thank you. Jenny, Katy and Mary Lebrick.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl 11 years old. I would like you to bring me a pair of shoes, a pair of levis and a plaid shirt. And I have a little sister 5 years old. Her name is Jackie. She wants a robe and house shoes, a set of jacks and some dishes and my mother would like a bottle of real pretty cologne and my father would like a tie. Love, always. Shirley and Jackie, 1816 Alcock.

Dear Santa, I am seven years old. I want a cowboy suit with chaps and two guns and a jacket with it, a handkerchief that goes around your neck and a hat and spurs all of this is Gene Autrys. And I want a record player with records this record player is mine and Dougs. Doug wants a cash register with play money I believe that is all Love Prince and Doug Allom.

Dear Santa Claus, I am 6 years old. I have been a preey good girl. I want some skates, a big life size baby doll and lot of clothes. I want a real baby's blankets and a bicycle. I want a bathinette, bingo set. I have a little sister 2 years old. She has been pretty good and she wants a big doll and a bingo set, a rocken horse, a rocken chair and doll clothes and one blanket. Also my cousin Linda Kay Lander. Love, Shirley Jean and Jude Marie Bonner, 1132 Starkweather.

Dear Santa Claus, I am seven years old. I wants a doll, doll trunk, and a set of dishes for Christmas. Please bring my 3 year old brother, Gary some guns, and a cowboy hat. Don't forget all the other boys and girls. Love, Nancy Love, Kewanee Camp.

Dear Santa, I hope I am not to late for you to see this letter as I just got to Pampa last week. I came from Hungry Horse, Mont. I am a little girl 7 years old, I want a doll, electric sweeper, blackboard, don't forget my brothers and 4 years old one and one 3 years old. Harold and Harley. They want guns and holsters and guitars. Love, Beverly Jean Blackman.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl 5 years old. I have a little sister 2 years old. We have both been good girls. I would like for you to bring me a blackboard that makes a desk, a cash register, a doctor kit, my little sister wants a big doll. Love, Cecelia and Laura Shipley, Skellytown.

Dear Santa, I am a girl 8 years old. I have been pretty good. I would like to have a big doll house and a doll. I have a sister and brother. Sharon wants a doll and a tryke. Clancy wants 2a guns, a rocket plane and some cars. Please bring us some candy and nuts and fruits and don't forget any boy or girl. I live in Cabot Camp, Carline Williams, Skellytown.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl 5 years old. I would like for you to bring me some blue jeans with horseshoes on the pockets, a Roy Rogers hat and skirt, and a rubber mouse for my puppy. Please don't forget my little friends, Butchie, Sissie and Nita. Your little friend, Carolyn Gallman.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl 5 years old. I want a big doll as big as my baby sister, a trunk to put its clothes in and a stroller. Also a blackboard with little baby doll, a teddy bear and a high chair. Her name is Sherry and she will be a year old Christmas day. That is all we want and thanks. Love, Darla and Sherry Snow.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl 4 years old and I try real hard to be good. I dry dishes for my brother and pick my toys up. I am not old enough for school so I go to Sunday school each Sunday. Please bring me a blonde headed doll, a play guitar, some dishes and books. I live at 927 South Faulkner. Merry Christmas Santa. Judey Gayle Sharp.

Dear Santa, I want a jacknbox, and a pair of boots and a basketball. I am 6 years old. I am good when I am sleeping. Ronnie Gabriel, 404 N. Nelson.

Dear Santa, I want a pair of boots and a pair of Roy Rogers guns and a wagon. I am 8 years old. 404 N. Nelson, Harold Gabriel.

Dear Santa, Thank you for the train and the dishes and the stove you brought me last year. I like them very much. Please bring me a ring and a bride doll. And a doll bathinette to Jocelyn. I'll try to be a good girl and help mother and not cry. Love, Cecily Morgan.

Dear Santa Claus, I am a boy seven years old. Please bring me a play cabinet, also some records and a broom and mop for my playhouse. Please bring my brother who is nine a bicycle and a gun. My name is James Veale. My brothers name is Dale Veal, Thank you.

Dear Santa Claus, I am a little boy seven years old. I am now in bed with the mumps. Please bring me a baseball glove long barrel guns, and holster. Some candy and nuts. I have a little brother two years old. And a little sister one year old. They want a doll, dishes, a telephone and a gun. We have all been pretty good this year. Remember my cousins in Pennsylvania. Come to see all the poor children. Love, your little friend, Bobby McCain, 924 S. Nelson.

MOVIE MAC—Looking as much like General MacArthur as the general himself, Robert Barrat, veteran actor, strikes a typical pose while portraying the general in a Hollywood movie. Barrat studies newsreels of MacArthur to get realism into his part.

Food Price Index Continues Climb

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index resumed its climb this week after holding unchanged last week, and rose three cents to $6.80 — highest level since Sept. 20, 1948.

At this new 1950 peak, the index is up 14 percent over the level of $5.96 just before the Korean war began, and 18.7 percent over the year-ago level of $5.73. The record high was 7.36 on July 13, 1948.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Pencil Marks Ruin Air Lab

KANSAS CITY, Kans. — (AP) — Just a few pencil marks almost ruined a laboratory room designed to be electrically perfect.

The room was built with infinite care by Transworld Airlines. It was to be used for testing radio compasses for airliners.

Such things as double layers of copper sheeting and copper screen were installed for insulation against outside electrical interference. Filters and shields were placed on wiring.

But when it was finished the room failed to test perfectly.

After hours of searching, electrical experts traced the trouble to 2 x 4 timbers separating the copper screens.

"The carpenters used lead pencils to mark the lumber in the framework," said Master Mechanic O. A. Gentry. "The graphite in the marks was acting as a conductor between the screens."

The marks were erased. The room tested perfectly.

Automobile Output Makes Record in '50

DETROIT — (AP) — This year's motor vehicle production is estimated by the Automobile Manufacturers' Assn. (AMA) at 8,015,750 units.

Passenger car output of 6,672,700 units is 30 percent above last year's record. Truck and bus assemblies numbering 1,343,050 top 1949 by 18 percent but are two and one-half percent below the record made in 1948.

Korea President Shows Envy For Peasant Returning Home

By HAL BOYLE

SEOUL — (AP) — An old man with a heavily loaded pack frame on his back trudged painfully over a new Korean foot bridge across the Han River into Seoul.

He came from the south and at that moment he was the only one coming from that direction. But hundreds of panicky Seoul citizens were fleeing back in the direction from which he was returning.

They were alarmed at the prospect that Chinese Reds would sweep down and take this capital of the South Korean Republic. They were headed toward the port of Pusan at the southern tip of the peninsula. And many hoped they could cross the sea and go on to Japan. They wanted to do anything to get themselves and their families away from war.

As the old man plodded wearily off the bridge into Seoul another old man stepped forward to meet him. The second old man wore a sweater between his vest and outer clothing to shield him from the cold. He was white-haired and distinguished looking with a serene face that didn't reflect his 75 troubled years of liv-

"Why are you coming back to Seoul when so many are leaving," said President Syngman Rhee to the first old man.

The elderly cousin answered the head of his government with a simple democracy of the aged who have lived a long time and worn out the distinction of caste or class or wealth or poverty that disturb the young.

"When the enemy crossed our border last June I started for Pusan," he said. "It took me three months to get there. Our country was very confused. It was a difficult time.

"Then when our troops threw the enemy back I started to walk back again to our capital. This time I traveled faster. It has taken me only two months on the road to get here."

The road between Pusan and Seoul winds for 300 stubborn miles across valleys and through cold mountain passes.

President Rhee gestured at the thousands of burdened refugees going southward out of Seoul and his face was sad.

"Why don't you now turn around and go away again with these people?" He asked. There was a trace of bitterness in his question because in his heart this is where Rhee feels his lifelong goal of a unified Korea can be achieved — by standing steadfast here in Seoul, his present capital and the city where as a youth he spent many years in prison for his revolutionary views.

The old peasant looked impassively at the retreating backs of his fellow civilians. There was no criticism in his gaze. But he said:

"I spent five months going down that road and back again. This time I will not go. I would rather stay. And if I must die I would rather die in my home where I have lived."

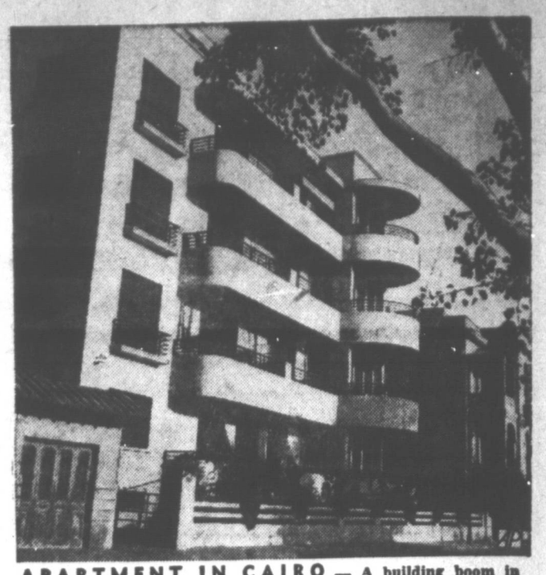

He shouldered his pack and moved on. As he left, the President looked at him with an expression of mingled pride, exultation — and maybe a bit of

The envy reflected the knowledge that the old peasant had a freer choice than he does.

For it is unlikely that if this city must be abandoned by the United Nations army President Rhee will be allowed to remain and be killed or taken prisoner by the Reds. It is unlikely that his advisers would let him. He has been too important a symbol of the goal of Korean independence for too many decades for them to allow that.

But Rhee would like to have the choice of the old simple peasant — and like him he wants to remain.

"I have lived long enough," he said privately. And at 75 he wants what every man wants — to know victory or final defeat in his own lifetime. And therefore he would rather die here in his old age than become a refugee again from the land of his birth.

General Motors' Price Fight Raises Curtain on the Future

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — General Motors' fight against a price rollback for cars is probably just a curtain-raiser. Other squabbles seem sure to succeed each other endlessly as the government tries out voluntary controls first, and then piecemeal mandatory controls of prices and wages, industry by industry.

All oil refiners may be next, the government warns today as it bears down on west coast producers.

But General Motors' stand — if it couldn't sell its cars at prices it calls reasonable, it wouldn't sell them at all — makes a thriller out of the curtain-raiser. This is especially so since GM is standing alone in this, although the rest of the auto industry has no love for the price rollback either.

The giant motor company apparently is so confident of its sales position in the highly competitive auto market, that it doesn't mind getting out for a time while the economic stabilization agency reviews the company's argument that rising material and labor costs justify the price hike it made on 1951 models.

Also GM apparently is so confident of the continuing demand for cars that it believes it can sell, later on, as many units as it can find the raw materials to make. Scattered reports from around the country that used car prices have risen this week would seem to bear this out. And GM doubtless expects that should it hold its prices down, the gray market would return, with the new cars it sells at list price quickly moving into a premium "new-used" market.

President Truman says auto prices will go back to where ESA says they shall go. Congress has given the President power to decree this. But there is another question which GM's stand brings up: the government has the right to direct production for defense, but apparently General Motors at least thinks the government hasn't the power to force any company to operate in the civilian market against its will — hence GM's counter-freeze on car sales.

Some even see an analogy here to the government's getting a court order against a labor union as such, without being able to force an individual union member to work against his will.

The auto company also is apparently confident of the support of its workers in its stand that higher prices are justified — although in the past auto labor leaders have insisted that pay boosts could be met out of company earnings without raising prices.

Union support for General Motors' stand, however, is tied to the five-year contract by which wages go up automatically by four cents an hour each year and also rise with the cost of living. Labor fears that a wage-price freeze would nullify these escalator deals.

Contrary to popular impression, the tropics are not fertile, says the Twentieth Century Fund. Deep-rooted tree crops often flourish there, but shallow crops usually do not thrive.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL — BY CHARLES DICKENS

Scrooge bounded out of bed to the window. "What's today, my fine fellow?" he shouted to a boy in the street. "Today?" replied the boy. "Why, it's Christmas Day!"

Scrooge ordered the biggest turkey in history sent round to Bob Crutchit's House.

Meeting the two philanthropists, whom he had only yesterday pushed out of his office, Scrooge gave them a donation to charity that made their heads swim.

Rosie the Riveter Staging Comeback as Men Depart

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Rosie the Riveter — the overtime gal in the blue jeans who helped shoulder America's World War Two defense effort — is coming back in increasing numbers.

At least in the Baltimore area, her sisters are busy swapping their peek-a-boo veils for welders' helmet in more than one important industry.

Officials of various firms here say that manpower shortages brought on by the twin causes of production expansion and accelerating military requirements are being met by hiring more and more women.

A spokesman for Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Co. said that firm has had a personnel increase of 1,500 in the last two months, and that it plans to keep hiring at the rate of two or three hundred per week.

As manpower becomes shorter, the percentage of women hired will increase, he said.

At the Bendix Radio Corp., 20 percent of the employees are women and recruiting of female workers is still in progress.

An official of the Yellow Cab Co. said it is currently using about 25 women drivers, and more women and older males will be added to the payroll.

But as for bus driving, the Baltimore Transit Co. would rather make it strictly stag. It's too fatiguing a proposition.

A spokesman said if the manpower situation gets much worse, the company will begin hiring women, but they'll be given streetcars to operate, not busses.

At Bethelehem Shipyards in Sparrows Point, an official made this statement:

"When you've got to build ships, and you run out of men, you go out and hire women."

At present, he said, a low ebb of shipbuilding activity in that particular yard precludes a hiring problem.

Meanwhile, smaller firms whose defense contracts require almost overnight expansion have indicated they'll be glad to open their payrolls to the working women.

Rosie's reputation for getting the job done rates high in the Baltimore area. Industrialists are remembering what she did during World War Two.

Mrs. Barrett Moore Is Program Leader For Miami Club

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Barrett Moore was leader of the program, when the Child Study Club met for the Christmas program in the home of Mrs. J. Clyde Loper. Her subject was music, and several musical numbers carrying out the theme of the season were presented. Mrs. Moore was assisted by Mrs. Eldon Saul and by a guest, Mrs. Roy Mathers, at the piano.

The special feature, given by Mrs. James Flowers, was a Christmas package containing scrambled words. Mrs. R. B. Haynes won first prize, and Mrs. Willis Clark and Mrs. John Harnly tied for second.

An exchange of gifts from the Christmas tree was part of the social hour, and one guest, Mrs. Mathers, was present.

The hostess carried out the holiday theme in decorations for the entertaining rooms, the refreshments, and favors.

Yuletide Program, Gift Exchange for Wesleyan Guild

Miss Alma Wilson led the program at the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild in the First Methodist Church Parlor Monday night. Misses Lillian Mullinax and Janie Branson were hostesses.

Miss Branson sang a solo, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," accompanied by Mrs. Flaudie Gallman. Miss Wilson read the Christmas story from the Bible and the group sang "O Come All Ye Faithful," accompanied by Mrs. Malcolm Denson. A solo "I Wonder as I Wander" by Mrs. Harold Wright was followed by a story, "Jimmy's Christmas Star," told by Miss Inez Clubb.

The program was followed by a gift exchange from the Christmas tree with Miss Ila Pool acting as Santa.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mmes. Ben Ogden, W. B. Fountain, Ray Wells, Roy Kilgore, Mildred Hill, Flaudie Gallman, Malcolm Denson, J. M. Turner, and Misses Inez Clubb, Alma Wilson, Ila Pool, Faye Ann Porter and Minnie Allen.

This original young woman extends her Christmas spirit to gay personal adornment. Unusual floral arrangement (above) pinned to her purse contains glitter-sprinkled berries which complement those dangling from ends of velvet-tubing hair-piece.

The bell serving as pendant for berry-trimmed earrings (above) is matched by those on necklace worn for evening of Yuletide fun. Both tinkle and twinkle are captured in necklace of crocheted metallic thread (center) tipped with jingle bells.

Used in gardening in place of horticultural sand, the mineral vermiculite is responsible for exceptionally heavy root growth because of its ability to contain several times its own weight in water. Yet, since it is composed of countless tiny air cells, it assures ample air circulation about the plant roots.

Begin Yuletide Feast With Oyster Bisque

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

A roaring fire, holly at the windows, and a delicious Christmas dinner — that's the way it's done at the New Boston Inn in the rolling Berkshire foothills.

Dinner near the burning logs begins with a fresh fruit cup. Then follow in spacious succession Mrs. Chapin's own oyster bisque, roast stuffed goose, chestnut puree, brown wild rice, creamed white onions, buttered green beans, red cabbage cooked with shredded onions, apple butter, red wine and brown sugar, Waldorf salad, celery, carrot sticks, olives and radishes, steamed dark plum pudding brought in aflame, with a foamy rum sauce.

The centerpiece is a bowl of bright red apples, red grapes and clusters of raisins studded and lots of nuts. That gets eaten along with pineapple cheese and crackers and finally waferthin mints. Then coffee and good will to men.

Mrs. Chapin's Oyster Bisque
(Serves 6-8)

Take 1 pint of freshly opened oysters and examine carefully for any bits of clinging shell. But these into small pieces and simmer together with their liquor in 4 generous tablespoons of butter. Use a deep saucepan for this, one large enough to contain finished soup.

Season oysters while simmering, to your taste with garlic salt, salt, white pepper and a dash of curry powder. When oysters are sufficiently cooked, generally in about 5 minutes, add 4 tablespoons of flour and blend in carefully using the back of a wooden spoon.

Now add very slowly at first, while stirring constantly, 1 1-2 quarts milk which has been heated together with 1 pint of light cream. Be sure this milk and cream mixture never boils, either before or after it is added to the soup. Stir all together well, cook slowly until thickened and now transfer your soup to a big double boiler and continue to simmer at slow heat until you are ready to serve.

Just before serving correct the seasoning and add 1-2 cup of good sherry if desired. Do not add the wine until you are ready to serve your soup or it will curdle. The soup may be served with the oysters in, or strained out. Garnish each portion with a spoonful of salted whipped cream decorated with paprika and minced parsley.

'Enrico Caruso' His Life, Death' Reviewed for Club

Mrs. Kenneth Baumgardner reviewed "Enrico Caruso — His Life and Death," for the AAUW Book Club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. J. C. Pattillo. The book, by Dorothy Caruso, wife of the dramatic tenor, gives a view of the singer which the public never knew.

Mrs. Caruso reveals him as an impulsive, highly lovable man who was generous to a fault, and also reveals his great simplicity of character. She states that Caruso was so simple that people often thought him unusually complex. The book states, also, that while his great love was his native Italy, he learned to love America deeply.

Mrs. Baumgardner played a collection of Caruso's recordings softly as a background for her review. She said that she thought the book's title inapt, for she feels that Caruso will live on forever through his recordings and in the hearts of music lovers everywhere.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Espar Stover, Mrs. Grace Odom, Mrs. John Plaster, Mrs. Walter Brown, Mrs. O. L. Brummett, Mrs. W. A. Rankin, Mrs. Ed Kingsbury, Miss Eloise Lane, Miss Oleta Marlin, Miss Grace Crump, Mrs. Baumgardner and the hostess.

Housewarming Is Compliment to The Coyle Fords

A housewarming was given for Mr. and Mrs. Coyle Ford, 926 E. Fisher, Friday, with Mrs. Francis Hukill and Mrs. J. B. Ayres as hostesses.

Miss Margaret Wallace presided at the guest register. Gifts were opened and displayed and refreshments served.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson of Borger, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Autry, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Autry, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ratliff and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy McBride, Mr. and Mrs. John McFall, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harrod and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Miller and Mr. and Mrs. A. McClendon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jamieson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Mack McKeen, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hukill and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ayres and children.

Mrs. J. H. Ayres, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. R. C. Grider and [illegible]en, Mrs. C. R. Taylor and [illegible] Louise, Mrs. Emmett Fo[illegible] and Miss Margaret Wallace.

Try These Tricks for Twinkling Holiday

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

In your holiday haste to hang the holly and trim the tree don't forget that you, too, are a part of the Christmas scene.

Personal adornment is as welcome for proclaiming your merry mood as the welcoming wreath upon your door.

Instead of lavishing your all upon your home, borrow a few bells and berries and bits of twine to concoct sparkling jewelry and floral pieces styled especially for holiday wear.

Both tinkle and twinkle are yours, according to floral designer Patricia Esterbrook Roberts, for very little effort—provided you're handy with crochet needles.

A comment-inspiring necklace may be fashioned from metallic thread. Begin by crocheting a wide gold band to fit your neck. Add slender, triangular points which have been reinforced with thin wire for upturning if you like. Tip each point with a shining Christmas-colored jingle bell. Matching earrings complete the effect.

For evening gaiety, flaunt your Christmas corsage upon your purse. Mrs. Roberts advises. There it will escape crushing and, if you place your handbag upon the table, will serve as an attractive decoration while you dine or dance.

For a Christmas flower she chooses red anthuriums, commonly known as "patent leather flowers." The yellow center of this flower rises like a candle from its glossy scarlet base. She combines with this scene-stealer holly leaves, red berries with glitter trim, and sprigs of pine.

Because of the dramatic effect of this corsage, Mrs. Roberts suggests a simple hair adornment. Black velvet tubing is attractive for this purpose. Double a length of tubing and carry the two strands around your head, pulling the two ends through the loop which is automatically formed.

To the ends, which should be allowed to dangle to your shoulder, attach holly berries which have been given a sprakle treatment. This is a simple operation. Dab a bit of glue upon the berry, then sprinkle it with glitter dust.

On the frolicsome side is an earring that combines sparkle-frosted mistletoe or pepper berries, huckleberry leaves and a bright plastic bell as a pendant. In making these, it's best to use special earring backs which have clips designed for holding floral arrangements.

A plastic necklace from the dime store, hung with matching bells,, makes an effective Yuletide companion for these gay Christmasy earrings.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer

"If men are to make a success of marriage they must recognize the deep-seated inferiority complex reassurance that they are loved," says a family relations expert.

Take that tip to heart, men, and you'll be surprised how much happier your home life will be.

For the woman who is sure she is loved is easy to live with.

It's the woman who isn't sure who makes life tough for a man in any one of a dozen different ways.

For instance, she may get suddenly extravagant, feeling that if Joe doesn't appreciate her, what's the use of pinching pennies, working hard, etc.

Or she may turn into a nagger. A woman who knows she is loved doesn't nag a man, but a woman who is taken for granted can easily turn into a nagger, trying to prove that her husband is as inadequate as he makes her feel.

INDEPENDENT TURN

Or she may get very independent feeling that if Joe is indifferent to her she will show him that he isn't necessary to her, either.

She may even become bitter and resentful enough to take out her grudge in public, making cracks at Joe in front of others, tearing him down instead of building him up.

Or she may do what a lot of women do who feel their husbands are no longer in love with them — lavish all of her love and attention on the children, drawing them closer to her and shutting their father out.

So it really pays a man to keep his wife sure that she is loved and appreciated. His happiness is as dependent on that as hers is. For if a wife isn't happy she will make sure that her husband isn't happy, either.

FLOWERS FOR THE SPEAKERS

Dear Mrs. Friend:

Now that fall has arrived and clubs are opening I will write you a question which has been on my mind for some time.

I am program chairman for my club and I wonder what is the correct thing to do about flowers for the speakers.

Mrs. E.

Dear Mrs. E.:

It is always wise to ask your speaker in advance what colors she will wear and choose your corsage accordingly.

If you entertain her at luncheon or dinner, usually other special guests are presented with corsages. In this case it is a pretty custom to have the corsages mark places at the head table.

RED CROSS NEEDS HELP

Dear Mrs. Friend:

I read in your column about Mrs. L. and I felt that I wanted to write you too, as I am a lonely wife whose husband has gone into the army.

I have a dog and a garden as she wished that she had but that isn't enough when you are left all alone.

I have been wondering about finding something to do that wouldn't take all of my time like a job would.

Could you suggest some part time occupation for war wives?

M. J.

Dear M. J.:

The Red Cross suggests that young women with time on their hands apply there for something to do. They always need more volunteer help and it is needed especially now.

SPECK SPECULATES

By SPECK REYNOLDS

Demand is exceeding supply in the Texas high school coaching profession — good coaches that is. In the past two weeks two grid [illegible] in this area were given [illegible] walking papers, Tricky Ward of Borger and Howard Bull Lynch of Amarillo. And, according to rumors, Dub Harris of Plainview will soon get a quit slip as coach of the Bulldogs.

District 1-AAAA, which includes Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock, Odessa, San Angelo, and Abilene, is the toughest school boy football conference in Texas. These seven schools will have to have the best coaches in the business if they expect to make a decent showing.

Lubbock recognized this because they handed Coach Pat Pattison a new three year contract at a reported sum of $8,000. In other words, the Westerners want to keep Pattison in their football camp. Midland is paying its coach $7,600 a year, and Amarillo will have to up its ante to around $7,000.

Where does all this leave Pampa?

We have one of the best coaching staffs in Texas high schools, but we're going to have to stop paying off in "peanuts" and give 'em a decent salary. Otherwise, the Harvester football team will be the doormat in District 1-AAAA.

A minimum coaching salary in this junior Southwest Conference should be around $6,500 a year. This isn't so much when you consider the pressure a coach works under.

Coaches do more than coach football. They also are fine character builders, and Coach Tom Tipps fits right in this category. Since Tipps has been at Pampa, the Harvesters have won the district title two years in a row and completed its' first undefeated regular season this year.

If we can't match other school's coaching salaries in District 1-AAAA let's withdraw from the district and start an intramural program at Pampa High School.

SWIFTEST—City College of New York won the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship and the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden with the fast break. Irwin Dambrot, 5, passed out to Al Roth, 7, as Ed Warner, 8, streaked up court. Ed Roman, 6, and Floyd Lane, 9, broke up court. Jim Kelly, 34; Gene Melchiorre, 23, and Aaron Preece, extreme right. Bradley Braves upset in each tournament, were unable to prevent the execution of this particular maneuver.

Basketball Teams Tumble From Unbeaten Cage Ranks

NEW YORK —(AP)— Stop Sam Ranzino and you pretty well stop the North Carolina State basketball team.

That's what Villanova (6-0) did last night in a battle of unbeaten fives. Deadeye sophomore Larry Hennessey poured in 33 points in leading the Philadelphians to a 68-61 victory at Raleigh.

Ranzino scored only 11 points under the careful guarding of another Villanova sophomore, 5 foot 10 inch Shorty Glassmire. The Wolfpack ace has been averaging 24 points a game.

Another Southern Conference power, North Carolina, also lost its first game. Eastern Kentucky walloped the previously-unbeaten Tar Heels, 85-62.

Purdue forgot three straight defeats and trimmed visiting Penn, 73-64. There went another unbeaten record. Neil Schmidt, a halfback who waited until his senior year to take up basketball, sparked Purdue with 19 points and teammate John Dermody added 20.

Army drubbed Ithaca, 69-37, for its second straight, and Navy caught Rutgers in the last 20 seconds, 53-49.

Tall Mark Workman scored 41 points as West Virginia (6-0) routed George Washington, 95-66. The 6-9 Mountaineer ace now has a 28.7 season average.

A Pacific Coast Conference favorite, Washington (6-0), had an easier time against visiting Pittsburgh than in Tuesday night's game. The Huskies won, 74-55. Pitt Coach Doc Carlson earned three technical fouls for criticizing the refereeing.

California, another PCC power, overpowered Rice, 86-40.

Columbia (6-0) stormed from behind in the last two minutes to defeat Tulane, 62-56, for the second straight night.

Cornell (6-0) had it easy with Gettysburg, 82-45. Syracuse used sharp passing and rebounding to defeat Temple, 82-60. Temple's Bill Mulkey scored 30 points. Seton Hall whipped Fordham, 66-49.

Illinois started rebounding in the second half to win going away over Washington State, 71-48.

Louisville overwhelmed William & Mary, 70-47, to make it a bad night for Southern Conference teams.

Detroit Lions Name Parker as New Grid Coach

KEMP, Texas —(AP)— Raymond (Buddy) Parker is the new head coach of the Detroit Lions professional football team and "tickled to death" he's got the job.

The 37-year-old veteran of 15 years of pro football didn't have one [illegible] when he went to the National League convention and emerged with the Lions as head coach.

Yesterday he was named head coach after Alvin "Bo" McMillin, another Texan, resigned with two years to go on a five year contract.

This will be Parker's second job of bossing a National Pro League team. He was head man of the Chicago Cardinals in 1949, but quit after that season when the club won only five games, lost six and tied one.

"Everybody wants to be a head coach," said Parker in justification of his elation at getting the Lions job on a one year appointment.

"We'll stick to the T formation," he said in outlining his plans for the future, "and I hope we have the same players back next season. I think they'll make us a definite championship contender."

Whether all of the players that gave Detroit a record of six victories and six defeats this year return next season more or less depends on the world situation, Parker feels.

"You just can't tell about that," he declared.

Parker, who played football with North Texas Agricultural College and Centenary, broke into the pro ranks with Detroit in 1935. That was the year the Lions won the title — the only time. He was traded to Chicago in 1937 and stayed with that club for 13 years as a top back and coach.

There has been some talk lately that Parker might be added to the coaching staff of the University of Texas, but he said he "hadn't heard anything about that."

California Tags Baylor, 86-40

(By The Associated Press)

Arkansas shot from behind to thump Mississippi, 45-31, last night and show a little of the form that tagged the Razorbacks the team to beat this year for the Southwest Conference championship.

But the Porkers' contribution to the circuit's sagging intersectional fortunes was the only bright note.

Baylor dropped a dismal decision to California, 86-40, while Rice battled gamely before bowing to Northwestern, 70-61.

It was Rice's deadly accuracy from the free throw line that kept it in the ball game against the Big Ten quintet and until center Joe McDermott fouled out midway in the second half stayed close to the Wildcats. But when McDermott, who scored 19 points, went out, that chilled the Owls' offense.

The 86 points California ran up against Baylor came within two points of tying the Modern U. C. scoring mark. The Golden Bears of the West Coast held a 41-13 lead at the half. Larry Horan paced the rout with 18 points and a dozen Californians netted points.

Ralph Johnson collected 12 of Baylor's points.

Arkansas used its height to great advantage in a second half rally to come from behind a 20-18 halftime deficit and hand Mississippi its second defeat in seven games.

Guard Jack Hess accounted for 15 points for Arkansas.

Northwestern was ahead, 34-30, at the half, but Rice caught the Wildcats at 38-38 and went ahead briefly on a hook shot by McDermott at 47-45. Then Northwestern pulled ahead.

The Owls sank 29 out of 38 free throw attempts.

Tonight, Rice entertains Columbia; Texas Christian tackles Oklahoma City University and Texas A&M meets Sam Houston State.

Harvesters Host Lubbock Cagers Friday Night

The Pampa Harvesters will seek revenge Friday night in the junior high gym against the Lubbock Westerners basketball team. The Westerners edged Coach Cliff McNeely's lads, 41-39, at Lubbock last Saturday night.

Pampa's cagers have a 5-1 record for the season. After losing to Lubbock, the Harvesters got back on the victory trail by defeating Spearman, 48-35, Tuesday night at Spearman.

The Harvesters have defeated Spearman twice, Stratford twice and Memphis once for their five wins. The lone loss was to Lubbock.

High Schools May Hold Spring Grid Drills in 1951

AUSTIN —(AP)— All schoolboy football conferences except six-man may hold spring training in 1951, the Texas Interscholastic League's Executive Committee announced today.

Dean T. H. Shelby, committee chairman, said the ruling was a result of the reshuffling of the old league conferences to equalize football competition.

The decision was primarily to avoid confusion among teams [illegible]

Thirty consecutive calendar days of training will be allowed. Fall football practice in all except the six-man conference will start Aug. 27, 1951. Six-man football will start fall practice Aug. 15.

Dean Shelby said the ruling will not apply to the spring of 1952 as a ballot will be submitted by the league to all member schools in April of next year to decide their future wishes regarding spring training. He said [illegible] for the 1951 spring.

ROTE ARRIVES

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Kyle Rote, SMU fullback, was due for his first workout today with the West, preparatory to the football game with Eastern stars Dec. 30. He arrived last night.

Randy Clay Visits Parents in Pampa

Randy Clay, New York Giant halfback, is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Clay of Pampa. The former Pampa and Texas University gridder played his first year of pro ball this season.

The Giants lost to the Cleveland Browns, 8-3, Sunday afternoon in a playoff game. Clay booted a field goal for the Giants' three points.

NEW SCORING MARK

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Hy Buller of the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League has established a new career record for scoring for defensemen in the circuit. With two-thirds of the season to go, Buller had 244 points on 68 goals and 176 assists for his career. The old record of 237 points was also held by a Cleveland player, Danny Sprout, now playing coach of Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

Model T Ford to Captain Southern Team on Offense

MIAMI —(AP)— Quarterback John (Model T) Ford of Hardin-Simmons will captain the South team on offense in the Shrine's annual North-South football game Christmas night in the Orange Bowl.

Bob Bossons, Georgia Tech center, was named captain of the defense team for the Rebel squad.

Workouts for the South squad were cut to one daily. Coaches Andy Gustafson of Miami and Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech had sent the boys through two practice sessions daily since Sunday in preparation for their Monday night date with the North team.

The Rebels put in their first rough work yesterday when Dodd pulled a surprise 10-minute scrimmage. Dodd said this was perhaps the only contact work the boys would get before the game.

"We have only four guards and four tackles and we can't afford to get anyone injured," he said. "If things go along all right we will have only one practice the rest of the week."

John Dottley, Ole Miss' plunging fullback, was running well in practice and Ford was sharp with his spot passes.

Bob Momsen, Ohio State guard, and John Miller, Northwestern halfback, were elected co-captains of the North squad.

Yale Coach Herman Hickman sent his 27-man squad through a 90-minute drill yesterday and came out with special praise for tackles Walter Clemmons of Yale and Ken Huxhold of Wisconsin.

Dick Dohney of Fordham shone in passing during the long drill. Three Army players will join the North squad tomorrow, bringing it to the full 30-man strength.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Bobby Riggs, who has a few minutes to catch his breath while his tennis troupe is taking a vacation, already is making plans for more and bigger promotions next year . . . In spite of the flop of the Riggs-John Jachym baseball venture and the failure of Gussy Moran and Pauline Betz Addie to draw huge crowds, Bobby figures on branching out into other fields . . . "You're not a real promoter until you've lost some money. Bobby is a promoter," says one of his associates . . . Football Record In Rushing Set By Cross, Wright

CANYON — (Special) — West Texas State hauled in the national offensive championship among the nation's small colleges as released in statistics reports from New York. The Buffaloes, Border Conference champions and Sun Bowl hosts, cleared out an average of 465.8 yards per game in their 10 outings of the season to far outdistance their nearest rivals.

The famed Buff Wright-Cross offensive punch performed by 195-pound Charlie Wright and 150-pound Cross placed one-two in the national rushing department to break the combination record of 1864 yards held by Army's Doc Blanchard and Glen Davis. The famous Army duo set the mark in their final year with the Cadets. Wright racked up 1203 yards mostly in blasts through the middle of the line while the fleet-footed and pint-sized Cross picked up 1197 yards. Cross averaged over 9 yards every time he carried the ball to pack in the national yards per carry title.

The two stars for Coach Frank Kimbrough will get a chance to round up more yardage to their credit when they let go at the Cincinnati University Bearcats New Year's Day in the traditional Sun Bowl clash in El Paso.

Harvester Banquet Speaker Takes Blame if Frogs Lose Grid Game

FORT WORTH — (Special) — L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, veteran skipper of the TCU football teams who will speak at the annual grid banquet in Pampa Jan. 4, has spent a life time in sports.

As a youngster in Waco, Meyer was water boy on the TCU teams before the school moved to Fort Worth in 1910. Later, as a Frog himself, the rugged 160-pounder earned 11 varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. Three times he was a Frog captain.

Tickets for the Harvester football banquet, Jan. 4, are on sale at Frank Leder's Jewelry, and ducats can also be purchased from Quarterback and CC members.

After graduation in 1922 and one season of coaching at Poly high in Fort Worth, Meyer returned to TCU as freshman tutor. His Wog teams in 11 years won 29 games, lost only 4. In 1934, he was elevated to varsity coach and since that time, has won 128 victories, suffered 73 losses and 13 ties.

Meyer's 17 years as head of the Frogs makes him dean of the Southwest Conference's active field coaches. But he wears his years well. He's still highly enthusiastic for any game from checkers to football—and he leads his teams with the same fire and determination as he did as a young skipper.

DUTCH MEYER

In his long career, Dutch has turned out some outstanding teams and players. In 1938, his club was undefeated and untied and ranked No. 1 in the land. He produced David O'Brien and Sammy Baugh, two of the greatest passers in football history.

Although his material rarely compares with that of other football powers in the section, Dutch is famed for getting the most from his lads. And he is still feared by all rivals for his many upset victories. For seasons now his Frogs have not been defeated by SMU — although the Mustangs twice won Conference titles in that period.

Meyer is a firm believer in boys. He sticks to his "kids" through hot and cold — and takes all the blame himself for a losing game or season.

"Watching your men develop into fine players and good citizens is the biggest kick I get out of coaching," he says. "I can't stand for people to criticize a boy who is out there doing his very best every minute. Let 'em jump on me, I'm old and tough. But leave those kids alone."

It is no wonder that Frogs of the past 17 years love and admire the little veteran. None ever returns to this area without stopping for a chat with "Coach."

In the era of T formation, Meyer has stuck strickly to his wingback and spread formation. His spread, in fact, has become famous in the land and he gets letters from all over the country on just how it operates.

PACE-SETTERS—Stanley Musial, left, won his fourth National League batting championship with .346. Iron Man Jim Konstanty, first relief pitcher to be named most valuable player, was in a record 74 games for the Phillies. Billy Goodman, the Red Sox' one-man ball club, showed the way to American League hitters with .354.

Close Games Forecasted for High School Grid Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

You couldn't ask for closer games than expected in Texas schoolboy football this week-end.

If they go according to the odds-makers' estimates, Kermit will beat Wharton for the Class A state championship at Sweetwater Monday by seven points while in the Class AA semi-finals Saturday Baytown will defeat Austin by six and Highland Park (Dallas) and Wichita Falls will battle evenly.

Wichita Falls and Highland Park play at Dallas while Baytown and Austin get together at Houston.

Odds favoring Baytown over Austin came with news that Austin would play without its top ball-carrier and safety man, Delano Womack. Womack is out with broken bones in his foot. He suffered the injury in the game with Harlingen last week.

Highland Park also has a good man out of action — Deaner Woodruff, regular halfback and punter — but will have several regulars who missed last week's game with Breckenridge back ready to play against Wichita Falls.

Wichita Falls and Baytown have injury lists but none of the regulars are likely to miss play this week-end. Mostly they were the bumps and bruises kind.

Kermit is the only undefeated, untied team left in schoolboy football but Whaton is unbeaten although once tied.

In Class AA there's not a single undefeated eleven. Wichita Falls lost four games, Highland Park and Austin one each and Baytown lost one and was tied once.

CHARLES BOYLES

BOB BOYLES

Three Pampans Make Loop All-Star Team at Sul Ross

ALPINE — (Special) — Three Pampans at Sul Ross made the Lone Star Intercollegiate Conference first and second all-star teams. Charles and Bob Boyles were placed on the first team and Charles Loffoon was named quarterback on the second squad.

Five Lobos were chosen by the coaches of the conference for the first team. They are:

Bob Boyles, junior tackle from Pampa, was placed at a guard position by the coaches. In his first year's play for the Lobos in 1949 he made the New Mexico All-Conference eleven. He has another year of eligibility.

Charles Boyles, senior fullback from Pampa, has lettered two years for the Lobos. He was individual rushing leader in the Lone Star Conference this year, was New Mexico All-Conference last year, and was chosen for honorable mention, Little All-America, this year.

Charles Laffoon, junior quarterback from Pampa, made the second all-conference team. He will return next year with the Lobos.

Other Lobo gridders listed are:

James Cleveland, end, a senior who is lettering for the fourth year at Sul Ross. Cleveland, who was all-district for Monahans High School in 1945-46, is extremely aggressive on both offense and defense. He has been chosen for honorable mention, Little All-America this year.

Dale Garner, senior from Colorado City, who is another four-year letterman for the Lobos. Garner, who was a tower of strength at tackle all year, was placed at a guard slot on the all-conference team. He made the all-conference team in the New Mexico Conference (of which Sul Ross was a member), in 1948 and 1949.

Ted Scown, senior halfback from Monahans, who was a Little All-America choice in 1948, and led the nation's high scorer that year. This is also Schown's fourth year to letter at Sul Ross.

Shamrock's boxing coach was unable to get the gym because a Christmas play in the gym is to be held there tonight.

Irish Schedule 14 Cage Tilts

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall's basketeers will play 14 games this season, in addition to attendance at three invitational tournaments and the District 2-A championship contests.

Shamrock is defending its 1950 2-A crown, with benefit of three of its main string back for this campaign — forwards Carrol Valentine and Vaughn Terry, and guard Vernon Tarbet.

So far, the Irish have won five of their first six games, losing only to White Deer in the third game of the McLean tournament week before last.

They have trimmed Kelton 39-25, Panhandle, 43-35; Briscoe, 30-29; Pampa B, 38-32, and McLean, 47-33 in the Shamrock tourney finals. They lost to White Deer, 49-34.

The Irish open the season here Dec. 19 against Wellington, in the only pre-Christmas scheduled game. The previous six games were in tourney play.

The schedule:

Dec. 19 — Wellington there; Jan. 2 — Samnorwood there; Jan. 4 — Canadian here (A&B Girls); Jan. 5 — McLean there; Jan. 9 — Lefors here; Jan. 16 —Clarendon here; Jan. 18—Wellington there; Jan. 19 — Mobeetie here. Jan. 23 — McLean here; Jan. 25 — Lefors there; Jan. 26 — Clarendon there; Feb. 2 —Mobeetie there; Feb. 9—Samnorwood here; Feb. 13 — Canadian there.

The tournaments: Jan. 11-12-13 Wheeler Tournament; Feb. 15-16-17 District 2-A Tournament at McLean.

Tri-City Boxing Match Called Off

Buff Footballers Drill for Cats

CANYON — (Special) —West Texas State's Buffaloes, raring to meet Cincinnati University in the Sun Bowl at El Paso on New Year's Day are spending long drill periods in heavy work this week. Coach Frank Kimbrough has had the Herd in practice duty going into the second week but will turn his charges loose for a brief vacation Friday.

Practice sessions will be cancelled from Friday noon until Tuesday morning, Dec. 26, in order for the squadmen to spend Christmas Day with their families. Rough two-a-day drills will be ordered from the 26th until Dec. 29. The full squad will move into El Paso on New Year's Eve to await gametime.

Coach Frank Kimbrough is set in let his powerful offensive machine roll against the equally potent Ohio Bearcats. All departments of the combination which ranked in the national small college offensive record with a per game effort of 465.8 yards have gone in for a complete checkup. Ample time has been spent in checking the performances of Charlie Wright and Bill Cross, the Buffs linebusters who this season broke the national rushing record of Army's Blanchard and Davis with a total of 2400 yards gained. The famed Army duo gathered in only 1664.

Passing drills featuring the tossing of quarterback Gene Mayfield are daily occurences on the field and Frank Wise, conference punting champion, is spending lengthy time booting the ball.

Coach Odis Crowell has his defensive and offensive forwards in daily contact work readying for the rugged Ohio linemen. Scout reports indicate the Bearcat forwards are among the best in the nation and a great line game is expected to devolope when the two squads clash.

Ticket allotments for West Texas fans have been sold and thousands of Buff supporters are due to be in the Sun Bowl Stadium to see the game.

The shortest international streetcar line in the world runs from El Paso, Texas, to Juarez, Mexico.

All-Tournament Team Picked at Shamrock Meet

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock's Fighting Irish won the Shamrock Invitational tournament here Saturday night with a 47-33 victory over the McLean Tigers, runners-up.

McLean Girls took the trophy in their division, with a 40-35 victory over Mobeetie.

Samnorwood Girls won the consolation championship finals with a 41-21 triumph over the Shamrock lassies.

In sweeping to the tourney crown, the Irish almost stumbled in the opening fray. They edged Briscoe, 30-29, in a hair-breath victory Friday morning.

It required a last minute goal by Vaughn Terry to knot the count and run them into the overtime period, which they won in the last fifteen seconds with a field goal and a free shot, after trailing 29-27.

In the second round Shamrock edged the Pampa Guerillas, 38-32, to advance to the finals against the McLean Tiger crew, which had previously disposed of Kelton, 35-27, and Mobeetie, 38-20.

Paced by Vaughn Terry, with 14 points, the Irish took the tourney over McLean, leading most of the way. Vernon Tarbet, Irish guard, netted 11 points to come in second.

In the girls division, McLean trounced Shamrock, 47-21, then turned back Kelton 21-15 to advance to the finals. The McLean-Mobeetie game was hard fought and close throughout, ending 40-35, McLean.

Vaughn Terry and Vernon Tarbet, Irish stars, were named on the all tournament team, as was Buddy Cockrell of the Pampa Guerillas.

Officials Roy Webster, Pampa, and Curley Risinger, Claredon, chose the all-tournament teams:

Boys — Forwards, Smith and Watson of McLean, Jones, Allison, and Leonard of Mobeetie; guards, Johnson, Wheeler, Miller, Kelton, Tarbet, Shamrock, and Helton of Briscoe; Centers, Cockrell, Pampa, and Terry of Shamrock.

Girls — Forwards, Totty and Morris of Mobeetie, Bailey and Gudgel of McLean, Shaffer, Kelton, M. Kidwell, Samnorwood, Barnett, Briscoe, Porter, Shamrock, and Brown of Allison; guards, Browning, Samnorwood, Bruner, McLean, and Worthington of Mobeetie.

Scores in the Irish tournament:

Boys — McLean 35, Kelton 27; Mobeetie 37, Wheeler 27; Shamrock 30, Briscoe 29; Pampa B 47, Allison 29; McLean 38, Mobeetie 20; Kelton 32, Wheeler 28; Briscoe 34, Allison 29; Shamrock 38, Pampa B 32; Briscoe 29, Kelton 22; Shamrock 47, McLean 33 (finals).

Girls — Mobeetie 42, Samnorwood 37; Kelton 25, Samnorwood B 4 6; McLean 47, Shamrock 21; Briscoe 29, Allison 11; McLean 21, Kelton 15; Shamrock 31, Samnorwood B 20; Mobeetie 50, Briscoe 27; Samnorwood 41, Allison 10; Samnorwood 41, Shamrock 21; McLean 40, Mobeetie 35 (finals).

Bear Cagers Meet Ibamen In All-College Tournament

STILLWATER — (Special) — Oklahoma A&M will meet Baylor's Bears in the opening round of the annual all-college basketball tournament in Oklahoma City Dec. 27.

It will be the 10th time Coach Hank Iba's Aggies have faced the Bears from Waco in the last 17 years and the Cowpokes are worrying about the law of averages. They hold eight wins to Baylor's one and some of them have been extremely close.

A&M will be attempting to regain the all-college title this year after having been tossed out of the throne room by Oklahoma City university last Christmas. Since the first all-college meet in 1936, the Aggies have succeeded in winning eight championships.

Thirteen Oklahoma Aggies have made the all - tournament team of the annual all - college during the 14 years it has been held, two of them making it more than once.

The list reads like an Aggie all-time team. Bob Kurland and Harvey Slade were honored three straight years by the all-college committee.

Making the all - star selection twice were Dick Krueger, Lon Eggleston, Weldon Kern, Ambrose L. Bennett, Bob Harris and Jess Renick, although the last named made it once as a Navy Zoomer, once as an Aggie.

Chosen one time each were Merle Rousey, Danny Doyle, Joe Bradley, J. L. Parks and Jack Shelton.

Whether the Cowpokes can add to that honor roll in this year's all-college classic probably depends on whether the Ibamen can reach the finals again this year. The teams entered are Oklahoma City, Arkansas, Alabama, Vanderbilt, Tulsa, Texas, Baylor and A&M.

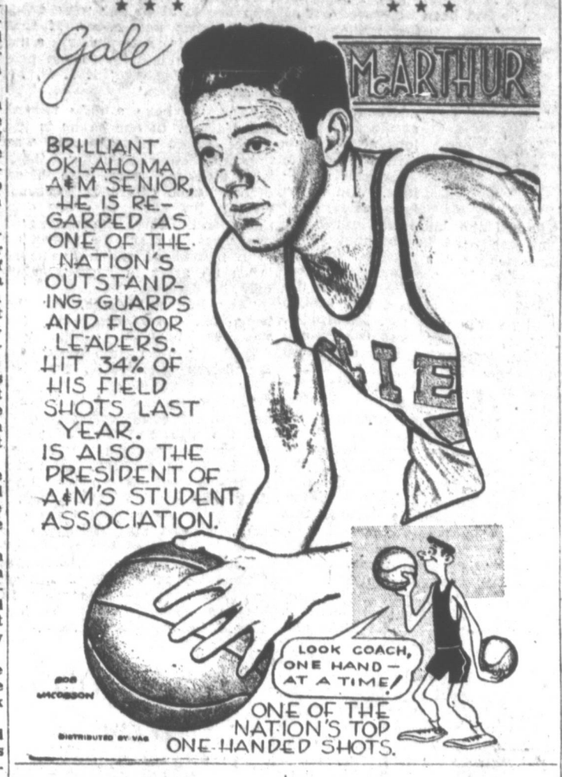

USC Looks for Football Coach

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The headache season sets in today for the man required to nominate a successor to Jeff Cravath, University of Southern California football coach who resigned yesterday under alumni pressure.

A day after Cravath bowed out, the list of possibilities for consideration of Trojan Athletic Director Willis O. Hunter is getting longer with each edition of the sports pages.

His nine-year regime, a record of 54 wins, 28 losses and eight ties. The team won two, tied two and lost five this season. The 9-7 victory over Notre Dame, traditional foe, wasn't enough to save Cravath's scalp.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Standards, mineral wool insulation in a house will hold back fire in an ordinary plaster wall at least an hour.

Bookies Favor Steers in CB

NEW YORK — (AP) — If the odds-makers are right in their early line on eight post-season football games, all will be close contests.

No favorite is rated better than a seven-point choice and three of the games are considered either toss-ups or one-point-edge affairs.

Oklahoma, top team of the 1950 college grid campaign, is a 6 1-2 point pick over Kentucky in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans Jan. 1. California, Texas, Miami and Wyoming are chosen in other bowl games.

Dec. 25 — North-South game at Miami — pick 'em.

Dec. 30 — East 6 1-2 over West in the East-West game at San Francisco.

Gray 7 over Blue in the Gray-Blue game at Montgomery, Ala.

Jan. 1 — California 1 over Michigan in the Rose Bowl.

Oklahoma 6½ over Kentucky in the Sugar Bowl.

Texas 7 over Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

Miami 1 over Clemson in the Orange Bowl.

Wyoming 7 over Washington and Lee in the Gator Bowl.

Neely, Stonestreet Represent Rice Owls

HOUSTON — (Special) — The 1950 football season is just a memory for the Rice Owls, but more gridiron activity is ahead for Rice head coach Jess Neely and center and tri-captain Lee Stonestreet. Both men leave Texas this week-end for San Francisco, where Neely will be on the coaching staff of the West team and Stonestreet will play center for that collection of Shrine-sponsored East - West all-star gridders in the annual game on Dec. 30 for the benefit of crippled children.

Harvesters Meet Midland in Cage Tourney Dec. 28

BROWNWOOD — (Special) — Sixteen Texas high schools, representing territories throughout the state, have registered for Howard Payne College's 8th Annual Invitational Basketball Tournament to be held December 28-29-30.

The Pampa Harvesters will meet Midland in the opening round Dec. 28 at 2:10 p.m.

J. H. Shelton, director of the tournament, announced today that tournament awards include three gold watches for winning coaches, three team trophies, and 20 gold basketballs for individual players. An all-tournament team will be selected by officials after the final game.

The first three years of the tournament, Brownwood High School copped winning awards. Since then it has been Abilene, Olney, Pampa, and Fort Worth Poly Tech.

Teams entered this year are Abilene, Brownwood, Olney, Kerrville, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Port Arthur, Temple, Pampa, Midland, Odessa, Burkett, Cleburne, Fort Worth Tech, and Milby of Houston and Fort Worth North Side.

THREE SURE STEPS TO SUCCESS

From Newspaper ROUTE

to COLLEGE

to a Business CAREER

THIS FALL, many a young man entering the college of his choice, is grateful for the important savings, training and experiences he has gained from spare-time work as a newspaper carrier-salesman.

His newspaper route has enabled him to go into business for himself, earn his own money, buy many of his own things, and build his savings fund faster. Also, it has supplemented his schooling with practical basic training in modern business methods, under a capable advisor. Moreover, it has offered him many special incentives to succeed as a carrier, develop his talents, and become a useful young citizen.

Your present newspaper boy is following this same formula for success—and aims to advance from route to college to career! So encourage him to make the most of this vital FIRST step—to earn, learn and save all he can during his carrier days! There's no better way for him to get a head start!

If COLLEGE is Your Son's Goal —point out to him all the benefits of being a newspaper boy, and urge him to apply for the next route open in your neighborhood. Phone or write our Circulation Dept.

Freedom Must Be Earned

"We all cherish our rights and they must be protected," said Representative James C. Davis of Georgia recently. "We all treasure our freedom and it must be vigilantly guarded. But these rights will not survive, nor this freedom long continue, unless those who enjoy them daily perform the tasks required for their protection and preservation. They are not self-perpetuating. They can be kept and rightly belong only to those who have the courage, the industry, and the determination to guard and defend them."

This is another way of saying that the man who takes freedom for granted, much as he takes the air he breathes, is ripe for slavery. Few of us would willingly surrender any basic liberty. Yet millions of us, in the hope of personal gain or advantage of some kind, seem eager to give government and those who represent government more and more power, more and more authority over our lives and actions. And each time government is given more power, it must be taken from the people. There is no other place from which it can come.

That we have witnessed a serious decline in the old American qualities of independence and self-reliance no man can satisfactorily deny. The tendency to look to the state to protect us from all manner of human misfortunes and exigencies has reached ominous proportions. And if the state is to be our guardian, we are the wards of the state, subject to its whims and dictates. After all, he who pays the piper will also call the tune.

Only for those who work for and actively defend freedom deserve to have it.

Right to Strike Is Really Abused

We hope that the railroad strike at this time will convince some of those people who have not yet been convinced that the so-called "right to strike" is not really a right at all but an abuse.

Many have confused the real right of an individual to quit work with the pseudo "right to strike."

There is morally no such thing as the "right to strike," be the strike in peace time or war time.

The difference between a group of employes striking and an individual quitting his job of his own free will is that the group strikes for the purpose of damaging (initiating force against) the employer's business and thus forcing their will upon the employer, while an individual quits to better his own conditions but not to damage his employer. The strikers quit working but do not quit their jobs. They expect to keep the jobs but at the same time quit and try to prevent others from taking their jobs.

A strike is initiation of force. Quitting a job (and not keeping others from taking it) is not.

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

Folks, I am off on another contest. I will call this one, "Things or people giving me a pain in the neck." As a sample, one big pain is the guy who says it is the lack of education that breeds communism. To me that is hooey. Taint so at all. The longest and biggest sounding words mostly come from our new crop of inexperienced intellectuals who stir up and promote socialism and communism in this land.

And another "pain" specimen — it is the amateur legal guys in Govt. swivel chairs who say the private oil business west of the Rockies should be ripped apart. What they really mean, they would like to take over and run it. In England the Govt. is adding steel to its political fumiddles. It already runs the coal mines, gas, air lines, most of the trucks, the Bank of Engand, etc., etc. And without getting away from oil, gasoline prices west of the Rockies and throughout the U. S. A. are far below prices in other lands — England included — far below.

MOPSY Gladys Parker

And last, but not least, in my pain in the neck category, is the lunch club that will invite in and then sit by and listen in silence to a guy who says, to get tranquility in our fair land we should let the Govt. do it.

Yours with the low down,
Joe Serra

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — When that great patriot, James Kevin McGuinness, died a little while ago, I reported that he had been whispered out of the motion picture industry as punishment for giving testimony against the Communist treachery at the 1947 hearings of the Committee on Un-American Activities. Jim never knew whose hand plunged the knife into his back. He was tried in absentia, knowing neither the charge nor the name of his accuser, and, after some remote negotiations with the secret terror, contact was broken and he was done for. Meanwhile, actors, writers, producers and others implicated in the treason have gone on to greater wealth and renown. The motion picture industry professes to have cleaned house but has done nothing of the kind.

Jim was an active leader of the American Legion's fight against treason, having resumed his dormant membership a few years ago when he decided that organization was necessary to wage the counterattack. Previously he had dropped out as a silent objection to the shameful misconduct of legionnaires at some of the national conventions in the "Twenties. But he always believed in the original principles of the Legion and so, when he realized that the motion picture industry was infested with actual traitors who were trying to betray his country to Soviet Russia, Jim went back into the fold. During the same period, Jim also lagged in his religious devoirs. I would not presume to discuss this phase of his life except to make the point that when the issue was joined, Jim fought as a Christian crusader and a gallant gentleman. He was deeply religious now, and, in his dying moment, called to his wife, "Lucie, I am dying! Hand me my prayer-book!"

Jim was a fine man, a martyr worthy of the same respect that is due the young men who gave their lives in Korea. He fought in the same cause. Had he been 21 or 25 when this war came, and not 57, he undoubtedly would have joined up as he did in 1917 when he fought in France as an infantry lieutenant.

I recently mentioned a beautiful patriotic pageant which Jim wrote for the national convention of the American Legion which was held in Hollywood under a promise by the movie industry to finance a great show in the Hollywood Bowl. Jim was a political outcast of the movie industry and his script was ruled out. One man even had the effrontery to propose that Edward G. Robinson, the movie actor who had been so mockingly defiant when Jim was fighting the Reds, should be selected for a leading part in the patriotic production under Legion auspices. He was told, however, that Robinson never would be allowed to use the Legion to clear his skirts.

You might savor the beauty of Jim's devotion to his country by reading these few samples of an oration written by Jim and delivered at the banquet by Father Edward Carney, of Lawrence, Mass., the national chaplain of the Legion:

"Humbly reverent, we lay the wreath of sweet remembrance before those, our comrades, who made the last the utmost payment to establish and preserve the freedom they bequeathed to us as the greatest gift of comradeship and love. We are alive because they are dead. We taste each day the luscious fruits of their sublime generosity. We know each day the brightness of the returning sun; walking in the free breeze of a land still free because of those who fell so that we might stand erect, owing no man anything but affection freely given. We see each night the silent brilliance of the stars with their promise of eternity; finding sleep in calm surety that no tyrant can shatter our rest by violent intrusions of our homes and seizures of our persons.

"Because of them, the fallen, we are the living. Because of them, the fallen, we are the free. Because of them we are now able to face the foul tyranny now enslaving half the world and say, clearly and without falter: 'That which was preserved for us by the blood of our brothers is God's gift to His sons. To fail freedom would be to deny Divine Grace; to betray our country and to foul the memories of our magnificent dead. Confronting the power your evil has assembled, we are unafraid. Freedom is of God and must endure. Tyranny and evil shall perish. . .'

"The scowling, cynical intellectuals of the left — having cautiously evaded the tumult and the agony of battle — are our enemies no less than the booted hordes who have trampled down the ideals and the goodness of Christian civilization everywhere they have marched. In the service of hatred they have murdered love. And their agents are many among us. I quote from Archbishop Ireland's address on patriotism: 'This country is America: Only those who are loyal to her can be allowed to live under her flag; and they who are loyal to her may enjoy her liberties and rights. If that allegiance is not plenary and supreme, he is false to the profesison of allegiance; if it is, he is an American.'

"Yes, we have a duty toward our traitors. In our hands is the bright sword of truth. It was put into our hands by those who died for truth. The blood of our heroic comrades has seeped into the earth of every continent and stained the waters of every sea. We are the guardians of a nationhood which has never taken up arms in aggression but only in defense.

"For life and death, for the body and the eternal soul, the was is upon us — the war forged by men who want for themselves the powers that belong to God alone.

"In the memory of that great and gallant army which poured out the rich, red wine of youth to keep us free, we pledge ourselves to be worthy of their sacrifices and to cherish the duty they so richly performed.

"May Almighty God bless our cause — and may He make us truly the sons of His freedom."

For those sentiments, Jim McGuinness was whispered out of the motion picture industry in his own country which he had served in battle in France.

The American Way

By GEORGE PECK

LESSON IN HORTICULTURE

On a recent trip to Canada I had the pleasure of meeting an English-born Canadian citizen, who had immigrated to Canada shortly after having served in the British Army during World War I.

Starting from scratch he had built himself a fine little business; is the proprietor of a greenhouse and lives in a beautiful home which he owns. He is thankful that the economic climate of Canada permitted him by virture of initiative and toil to become his own boss as well as to raise his own blooms.

His accomplishment is similar to that of millions of other Canadians and Americans who under a Capitalist Economy have been able to achieve security for themselves and their families, without any assistance from a paternalistic government.

My excuse, therefore, for writing this piece is not simply to recount one more success story, but to pass on something he said to me during the course of our conversation. It has to do with the reason why he left England to take up residence in Canada, in which latter country he subsequently became a citizen and a successful businessman.

As a young man he had exercised the prudence and wisdom of voluntarily joining and paying dues into a society which protected him against financial distress in the event of illness or accident, and also provided death benefits.

Then, the British Government, soaring the seeds which eventually blossomed into the socialistic regime which now paralyzes that nation, launched its compulsory free health program, which required all British citizens to pay into the fund.

No exceptions were made of the many who, like my Canadian friend, already thriftily had made provision for medical care of their own free will. They were forced to "kick in" for something they neither desired nor needed.

This was "the straw that broke the camel's back." Our erstwhile Englishman, now Canadian nurseryman, had become dissatisfied with other things that were taking place in England in the early 20's, but this shoving compulsory medicine down his throat was what finally decided him to tear up roots and go to Canada.

The things he foresaw and feared have come to pass. We now witness a formerly proud and self-reliant English people, bit by bit giving up the freedom which once permitted them proudly and truthfully to boast that "every Englishman's home is his castle."

But, thank the Lord, the spirit of enterprise is not completely dead in Britain. A recent survey by the British Institute of Public Opinion indicated that 48 percent of British adults under the age of 30 would like to leave England and settle in another country; this after only five years of socialistic government.

This would seem to indicate that the young men and women of England are "fed up" with the loss of liberty and individual initiative; that already they have discovered that the blossoms of regimentation are ugly weeds and not the beautiful flowers the socialist leaders led them to believe.

Compulsory government medicine was the entering wedge for socialism in England. There lies the lesson for us here in the United States of America where our "do-good," "starry-eyed" bureaucrats are trying to force compulsory health medicine upon us. Let's keep our doctors free of government regimentation and control so that they may continue to devise new and better methods for the prevention of disease and the alleviation of physical distress.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

By DAVID BAXTER

One of the best editorials I've come across in the past several weeks is from the pen of a young editor of the Tri-City Herald, in Washington State. It was aptly captioned, "The Right To Work." The editorial was of very high caliber, pungent and to the point, rivaling the high journalistic standard of a Chicago Tribune Tribune or Christian Science Monitor.

The subject had to do with five employes of a Richland, Wash. laundry who were fired by their employer because he had gotten into a contract with the unions and they demanded his employes' dismissal. The employes' didn't want to join a union and pay tribute to racketeers for the privilege of being allowed to earn a living.

Step by step, the Washington editor built up his case with all the brilliance of a first rate trial lawyer. He began with the point that "if an employe can't handle his job, if he is lazy, disorderly, lacks aptitude or interest, the employer will fire him. But the five employes . . . were not lazy or lacking in aptitude or interest."

Next came the reason for their dismissal. They didn't want to join a union, "so the union told the employer to let them go."

The editor then documents his statements by producing Associated Press reports. That's another sign of good journalistic breeding. Many writers simply say a thing is so because they say it is and seldom bother to document their opinions, then cover up, if challenged, stand on their dignity and refuse to answer questions.

Then come a government examiner (although the government has no more business sitting as an arbitrary judge over domestic affairs than you or I). In this case it was the discharged non-union employes who wanted him, although they may have made a mistake in principle there since, whichever way he decided, his very presence implied governmental immortality and meddling in something that was none of its business.

However, this particular examiner must not have been a very slick politician. He may even have been trying to be honest. In any event he ruled "unfair labor practice," told the employer to re-hire the employes (which again was none of his business any more than telling the employer not to re-hire them), and to withdraw his recognition of the union and "cease encouraging union membership upon employes." The examiner must not have been a personal friend of F.D.R., whose examiners invariably forced employers to recognize unions. It will be Dec. 1 before we will know whether the employer obeys the union, which has a contract on him, or the government examiner. It looks to me as though he would be in for some excitement no matter which way he jumps. A case of being caught between a hammer and an anvil.

As far as principles of morality are concerned, this is a good example of the evil that is bound to follow whenever government of any kind interferes in domestic affairs. No individual or government has a moral right to be set up as their "brother's keeper," starting force, as all socialists do, to cram their dictums down the throats of all and sundry. When either employers or labor run to government as a weapon to use against one another, they are making a serious mistake. They weaken themselves through this immoral practice, and at the same time strengthen greedy, bureaucratic politicians in government, who are only too glad to have such power handed them and who eventually emerge as the dictators over both labor and capital.

Our Washington editor makes the point that every living human has "the right to work." He also has the right to be independent. That means he has quite as much right not to join a union as to join one. No union would ever agree to that, thus showing the inherent dishonesty and immorality of the compulsory collective bargaining notion. The editor uses a beautiful bit of terminology. He writes, "America wasn't built for unions. It was built for individuals." Some congressman should quote that and read it into the Congressional Record, where school children can read it in future generations. Individuals. You have to be an individual to be independent. That's what the Declaration of Independence was all about. Collectivist slavedrivers are now trying to change that word "Independence" to "Inter-dependence."

"Why," asks the editor, "should an American have to do anything he doesn't want to do?" I'd like to see anyone answer that one on a basis of morality.

So They Say

The picayune faith we had before tha last two wars solved no problems then and that kind of flabby piousness won't come close to the needs of this day.
—Dr. D. R. Sharpe, executive secretary of Cleveland Baptist Association.

And let us remember that liberty and opportunity wither on the vine and die when government steps in to do for the individual the things the individual should do for himself.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — General "Ike" Eisenhower's top assignment when he arrives overseas to assume command of a non-existent western European defense force will be diplomatic rather than military. The grave nature of his problem explains why the agreeable and friendly head of Columbia University was chosen for this position.

He must inform Europe's statesmen and defense ministers that the American people and Congress are growing increasingly resentful of their failure to make greater sacrifices and preparations for a possible Russian invasion next spring.

This job has been unloaded on Eisenhower because President Truman and Secretary Acheson, in recent conferences with European leaders, did not think that such tough talk should come from them. They feel it is the peculiar work of a non-political military man, especially in view of Eisenhower's World War II associations and connections over there.

"ISOLATIONIST" — It will be no vague, hearsay or gossipy report on the American reaction that General Eisenhower will make to his continental colleagues. From his conferences at the White House, his intimate acquaintance with congressional leaders and his talks with visitors at Columbia, he realizes that this understandably bitter view has become a groundswell.

Prominent congressmen, military experts and veteran commentators have begun to ask this question:

Shall the United States continue to pour out men and money to fight the battles of a "paper" United Nations, collectively or on behalf of individual members — or should we devote our vast resources to preparing the western continent, including Canada and South America, for a last-ditch stand against the Russians?

The world - defense exponents are still in the majority, arguing that the United States, friendless and alone, could not save itself or western civilization. That is, of course, the official viewpoint and contention.

But the development of a new kind of "isolationist" attitude throughout the country constitutes a serious threat to United Nations solidarity. Word of that fact from Eisenhower's lips may awaken the Europeans.

CONTRIBUTIONS — General Eisenhower may reinforce his argument with his European opposites by presenting to them a balance statement which has been prepared unofficially by some of his erstwhile associates at the Pentagon Building.

It lists the amount of money and the value of military supplies which we have forwarded to fifteen nations now giving us any help at all in Korea, and the extent of their contributions in that "police action."

It was originally prepared for numerous inquisitive members of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans, and it has become a popular "Korean paper" on Capitol Hill. Here it is:

ALLIED — The fourteen nations allied with us in Korea in one way or another are the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Greece, Turkey, Canada, Australia, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Ethiopia, Iceland and India. Those countries have received approximately $51,000,000,000 from us since before World War II to the present moment.

The following total of their Korean contributions may not be correct to the last figure, for it was made as of the middle of December. In addition 2,600 troops and certain supplies are en route, and may have reached Tokyo or Pusan before this is published.

REINFORCEMENTS — However, these statistics present a fairly faithful picture of our foreign reinforcements:

Troops: 18,840, with a few thousand additional in naval and aerial units.

Planes: 118.

Warships: One carrier, four cruisers, fifteen destroyers, nine frigates, one air maintenance vessel, one patrol gunboat, one hospital ship.

Miscellaneous: Medical equipment and supplies, 900 tons of sugar, one field hospital unit, one field ambulance unit, and 125 tons of cod liver oil from Iceland.

In proportion to their resources, the Turks and the Greeks have been the most generous. India, which may be the next to suffer from the Stalin juggernaut, has sent no troops. She has contributed one field ambulance unit, and has offered 400,000 jute bags that have not yet been accepted.

BASEBALL — Professional baseball may survive or stagger through the 1951 war crisis and mobilization. Unless war breaks out, President Truman hopes it can continue for the sake of home-front morale.

But developments among the owners and at Washington suggest that even the big league ball will be second-rate stuff. Worn-out players ready for the fireside and slippers bring relatively high prices because they will not be caught in the draft. Brilliant youngsters are worth a dime a dozen because Uncle Sam may grab them during spring training or in the midst of a hot pennant race.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Nats and a good friend of Mr. Truman, is loading up with questionable Cubans because a poor player on the bench is worth two stars in the Army.

Incidentally, the big league moguls will not help their standing at the Capital if they go through with their plan to fire ex-Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler as baseball czar. He has many friends on Capitol Hill, and there will be demands for closing the parks if a few selfish and resentful owners he had to discipline for the good of the game throw him out at this critical moment. The owners would be wise to reconsider their unsult to a U.S. Senate alumnus.

The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.—Psalms 95:5.

The Nation's Press

WHERE TO DEFEND AMERICA

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

This is a good time to keep your shirt on.

The collapse in Korea has finally opened the eyes of many people in this country to the incompetence of our administration, the folly of our foreign policy, and the unreality of our allies. Readers of this newspaper can hardly regard these revelations as novel. People in this part of the country are therefore in a better position than most to appraise the situation calmly.

Our armies in Korea are in great danger. It may be that they will have to be withdrawn promptly from Korea if anything is to be saved from the debacle. Quite probably, that is what Gen. MacArthur wished to convey thru his repeated statements of the enromous disparity in numbers between his forces and the enemy.

But this country itself is in no immediate peril of sustained attack. None of our present or prospective enemies has the means to invade us. As the maps printed in yesterday's paper showed, an enemy might seek to terrorize us by bombing strategic points, and if he seeks to do so, he will almost certainly follow the route over the north pole.

An enemy would be enormously helped in this endeavor if he could employ bases in Alaska and Canada. We can guard against this dangers by preparing troops to seize any bases the enemy attempts to establish.

The national guard from the northern tier of states, composed as these units are of men accustomed to severe cold, could provide the protection. These guard division should be mobilized and trained intensively for precisely this mission. Beyond this, of course, the radar network in the north should prove of help in giving warning of invading enemy planes.

We repeat: Unless the enemy can take and hold air bases in the far north, this country is in no immediate danger of sustained enemy attack.

Federal Council Changes Name

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America has changed its name from the Federal Council to the National Council. The consolidation meeting started on November 28 at Cleveland, Ohio.

It has not chanaged its spots. People were beginning to know that the Federal Council was advocating socialistic and communistic doctrines. The Federal Council was becoming unpopular with church people. So the leaders decided to do what every communistic group does when it becomes unpopular, they changed its name. Of course, they contended that they were changing it so that other groups could merge with them, but they elected the same socialistic leaders. They elected officers who lean way to the left, and who do not believe in the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence that governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed. They elected officers who believe in a large arbitrary government instead of a limited government.

They of course elected the same executive secretary, Samuel McCrea Cavert. I have offered Samuel McCrea Cavert $1,000.00 if he would attempt to answer questions without evasion that would tend to show that what the Federal Council advocated was in agreement with the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence. I was willing to go any place in the United States where there was a public stenographer available and make his answers available in whole or in part to anybody who wanted to publish them. He would not accept. It is mighty strange that an executive secretary of a large religious organization will not answer questions about political and economic questions that organization is advocating for $1,000.00. No individual who has something to cover up will answer certain questions. No liar or no thief will answer certain questions. I know of no individual who is really a seeker after truth and who is trying to live in harmony with the Golden Rule and the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence who will not attempt to answer any question about what he is advocating or opposing.

As evidence that the Federal Council's left wing big government policies were not chanaged by the new name, the organization had Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, as their principal speaker. Introducing Secretary of State Acheson to the convention, Dr. Edward H. Pruden said:

"Though separated by many miles, it is a genuine privilege to present to this audience a distinguished statesman and an unselfish public servant who is a son of the parsonage. Occupying one of the most difficult positions in the world at one of the most critical hours in history, the speaker of the evening is performing his duties with marked intelligence, great patience and complete integrity."

Acheson talked to the group by wire.

And so the leaders of the new National Council regard Acheson as a distinguished statesman.

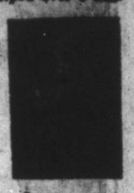

It is hoped that the good church people, who are the backbone of Christianity, will not be fooled by this communistic tactic of having the Federal Council of Churches go underground in order to try to fool the real Christians in the churches.

It is the socialistic tactics advocated by the Federal Council, now the National Council, that makes better jobs for the great majority of workers more difficult to get. It is absurd for them to contend that they are promoting Christian ethics.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

Wilbur Mudge, of Philadelphia, is the star salesman of an organization that has helped over 9 million men and women become more successful. As the leading salesman for International Correspondence Schools, Mudge himself is a living testimony to the possibilities of self-help.

His success secret is a simple one: He doesn't brag and brag. No one will ever be able to pull of Mudge what Woolworth is reported to have said after he had bought an expensive building. When a salesman asked Woolworth, he replied, "You never asked me."

Mudge asks everybody. Not long ago he was hailed into court for speeding. On the way he made an $87 sale to the traffic cop who gave him the ticket.

When Mudge had his house painted the painter charged him $200. Mudge promptly sold him a course in house maintenance for $240—then sold his two helpers short courses at $85 each.

When Mudge has a call to make at the end of a block he doesn't pass up the houses in between. Recently when a grocery delivery-man delivered his groceries he sold him a $110 course in retail management. When he carried his car to the shop he sold the mechanic a $110 course in auto repair.

Mudge has no "non-selling hours." Everybody is a prospect Mudge sells success. His opening remark is likely to be, "Hey, how would you like this job to pay you more, to give you more responsibility so you can ask the boss for even more after awhile?" Many of us are prejudiced in that we "pre-judge" situations and opportunities and decide beforehand —'there are no opportunities there' —'no use trying here' etc. Mudge keeps an open mind about Opportunities. And this mental attitude keeps him in front of one the world's best sales forces.

Bid For A Smile

A man discovered the joys of fishing rather late in life became even more insistent than ordinary anglers upon recounting his triumphs to skeptical acquaintances. Enraged by their thinly veiled hints that was a liar, he bought a pair of scales, and made his friends watch while he actually weighed the fish he caught. One evening a neighbor burst in excitedly and sought permission to borrow the scales. He was back in 10 minutes, his face flushed with delight. "Congratulate me," he cried, "I am the father of a 24-pound baby boy."

Carter—Why are you bringing your wife to the veterinarian?
Porter—She just bit a dog, and I want the doc to shoot her.

more certain it is that we shall give aid and comfort to our enemies, and the more likely it is that we shall also take the victory out of war.

The teacher was testing the power of observation of a class. Slapping a half-dollar on the desk, she said sharply: "What is that?" Instantly a voice from the back room called "Tails."

Fred—I understand your wife is quite ill.
Ted—Yes, she had a slight cold; tried to cure herself by reading a daily health hint and is suffering from a typographical error.

• Thoughts

Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many. — Matthew 20:28.

And we are his witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him. Acts 5:32.

The Omnipotent has sown His name on the heavens in glittering stars, but upon earth He planteth His name by tender flowers.—Richter.

Missionary Wants Aid in South China

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A missionary returning from China believes a little American aid would go a long way in overthrowing Communist rule in South China.

Revolts against Communists are common there, and not five percent of the people really want communism, said the Rev. Ezra L. Longway. Longway arrived from Shanghai. He has spent 32 years in China for the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

With American support, he said, Nationalists could take all territory south of the Yangtze River in six months.

TWO BIG "NO'S"—No to German rearmament and the atomic bomb, says this poster which greets visitors at the entrance to a Paris exhibition honoring Frenchmen who were held in Nazi concentration camps during World War II. Strong feeling against German rearmament has caused outbreaks of rioting and demonstrations by Communists in Paris.

Heavy Construction by Army Is Planned Throughout Texas

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Nearly $12,000,000 worth of construction at army centers in Texas is planned under the pending $17,820,000,000 defense appropriation bill.

The Defense Department has informed Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), head of the Senate Preparedness Committee, that it plans expansions in Texas as follows:

Fort Bliss, El Paso, $4,865,725 for guided missile and anti-aircraft firing programs.

Fort Hood, near Temple and Killeen, $3,600,000 for eight new barracks to house 225 men each.

Fort Worth Quartermaster Corps Depot, $3,110,000 for three warehouses and $186,000 to extend railroad tracks and utilities.

San Antonio General Depot, $100,000 to improve the sand blast equipment and paint shop.

Red River Arsenal, Texarkana, $50,000 for dehumidifying equipment an alterations to warehouses.

The House has passed the big bill and it is before the Senate appropriations committee.

At Fort Bliss, the 102-year-old military post which now occupies 442,722 acres, $2,954,400 would go into the guided missile center and $1,911,325 for anti-aircraft firing facilities.

A permant one-story building, with 24 supporting buildings of so-called mobilization type would be constructed and a guided missile laboratory and should would cost $753,000.

The department's report said tests to be conducted at the Fort Bliss guided missile center are for engineering and operational evaluation.

"These tests will probably continue for years," the report added, "and upon completion of the test phase, the buildings would be useful for training of personnel in operation and maintenance of this type of equipment."

Each of the warehouses at Fort Worth would measure 180 by 720 feet and contain 388,000 square feet of floor space. They would be used for storage of clothing and other quartermaster supplies, and for Australian wool.

The San Antonio general depot was reported scheduled to repair about $2,000,000 worth of engineers' equipment at the proposed shop, which would permit consolidation of operations now done in scattered buildings where space is available.

New Dress Halts Thief in Holdup

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Betty Jean Bandell, 21, was wearing a new suit when a gunman walked into the drugstore where she was shopping.

Ordered to lie on the floor, she snorted:

"I won't. I just paid $75 for this suit and I don't want to get it dirty."

She got away with it — and the gunman got away with $500. His soft-heartedness, however, put the holdup man in jail. Miss Bandell got a good look at him and was able to identify a suspect arrested later by sheriff's deputies.

Forest Service Plans Two-State Reseeding

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service plans to step up the pace of its reseeding program on rangelands in Arizona and New Mexico.

A year-end report issued by Walter Graves, forester in charge of Region Three, which covers the two states, says 5,000 acres were reseeded with crested wheat this year. That figure will be more than doubled in 1951.

The purpose of the program is to increase the ability of the land to support cattle. The report points out that where 30 acres of native forage were needed to support one cow for a month, after reseeding only three to four acres were needed.

FAIR PLANS

DALLAS — (AP) — Plans are continuing for the 1951 State Fair of Texas despite the gravity of the international situation. No state fairs were held during World War II. "We'll just use comman sense," said fair secretary S. B. Cox, last night. "If the fair becomes impractical we won't hold it."

Rot or decay in trees, sometimes termed dote or peckiness, is caused by action on the wood by fungi, low forms of life related to the mushrooms. The fungus threads penetrate the wood and break it down.

Studer Urges Inventory of Workers Eligible for Draft

Emphasizing the need for early action in cases of deferment for essential civilian workers, John Studer, local draft board member, advised today that employers take inventory of employes who are liable for induction under the Selective Service Law.

Studer pointed out that employers should submit any information to the local board regarding their employes before they are classified if possible, and "at any rate, the earliest possible date."

He also emphasized that any request for classification in a deferred class must be taken up with the local board and not state headquarters.

"The state headquarters will not and cannot do anything about such eleventh-hour requests," Studer continued. "The main function of the state offices are to help the local board coordinate information, and nothing else."

Under selective service regulations, there is no blanket deferment for groups and types of employes. Each request must be considered individually.

The activity of the employe must be found to be necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety or interest, according to Studer.

The man can be employed in industry or other occupation or employment, occupy an office, be engaged in study, research, medical, scientific or almost any endeavor. The local board decides, subject to appeal, whether his activity is deemed to be necessary to national interest.

Studer stressed the fact that deferments given on civilian occupations are not permanent.

"They are issued for one year or less," he continued, "and local boards have instructions to classify a registrant as available for service whenever the cause of his deferment ceases to exist.

A vast body of water that lay over the central U. S.-Canadian border area in prehistoric times is called Lake Agassiz by scientists after the geologist who deduced that it existed.

Wafflebottom Seats Removed by Editor

ORANGE — (AP) — Members of grand juries here have been taken out of the wafflebottom category.

Thanks go to Joe Parsley, the "Around Town and Country" columnist for the Orange Leader.

During several particularly long sessions of the panels this year, Parsley pleaded on page one for "Softer Sitting" for the jurors.

A report to District Judge F. W. Hustmyre from the present panel was tailed with a commendation to the commissioners' court for "having provided more comfortable chairs for the grand jury room."

Houston Has Largest Gain in Population

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Census Bureau says Houston made the greatest numerical gain in population in the South. The Houston figure is 594,688.

The bureau listed the five largest southern cities as Baltimore 940,205; Washington 802,178; Houston; New Orleans 567,267 and Dallas 432,927.

Miami was the fastest growing city in the South, the bureau said. Its population multiplied 146 times in 50 years. Tulsa increased 123-fold over 1900.

The South has 32 of the 106 U.S. cities with 100,000 or more people. Half a century ago, only five southern cities were in that class.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

1 Card Of Thanks 1

YE SHALL BE SORROWFUL, BUT YOUR SORROW SHALL BE TURNED INTO JOY. John 16:20.

Not now, but in the coming years,
It may be in the Better Land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears,
And there, sometime, we'll understand.

We'll catch the broken threads again,
And finish what we here began;
Heav'n will the mysteries explain,
And then, ah then, we'll understand.

We'll know why clouds instead of sun
Were over many a cherished plan;
Why song has ceased, when scarce begun;
'Tis there, sometime, we'll understand.

God knows the way, He hold the key,
He guides us with unerring hand;
Sometimes with tearless eyes we'll see;
Yes, there, up there, we'll understand.

Then trust in God through all thy days;
Fear not, for He doth hold thy hand;
Though dark the way, still sing and praise;
Sometime, sometime, we'll understand.

MRS. M. E. McLAUGHLIN

We take this means to express our sincere appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during the illness and death of our loved one. To those whose untiring efforts comforted her and at her passing; to the friends who served the family meals and for the lovely floral offerings, the impressing services at the Wells Street Church of Christ conducted by Brother Henshaw of Pampa and Brother Lester Hathaway of Mobeetie we are indeed grateful. Also we wish to acknowledge the last rites under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home. May God bless each of you is our prayer.

LAST BITTER BLOW—A Korean refugee, her sleeping baby harnessed to her back, tries to salvage what she can from her pack of possessions that fell under wheels of a train at Sariwon. The bundle fell as the mother tried without success to board the train with thousands of other civilians fleeing before advancing Reds in Korea. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Ed Hoffman.)

BRITISH TANKS TO BERLIN—A new British Comet 33-ton tank rumbles through the streets of Soviet-surrounded Berlin on its way to maneuvers in the Grunewald forest. The tank is one of 12 which recently arrived from Britain to bolster Allied defenses in the German capital.

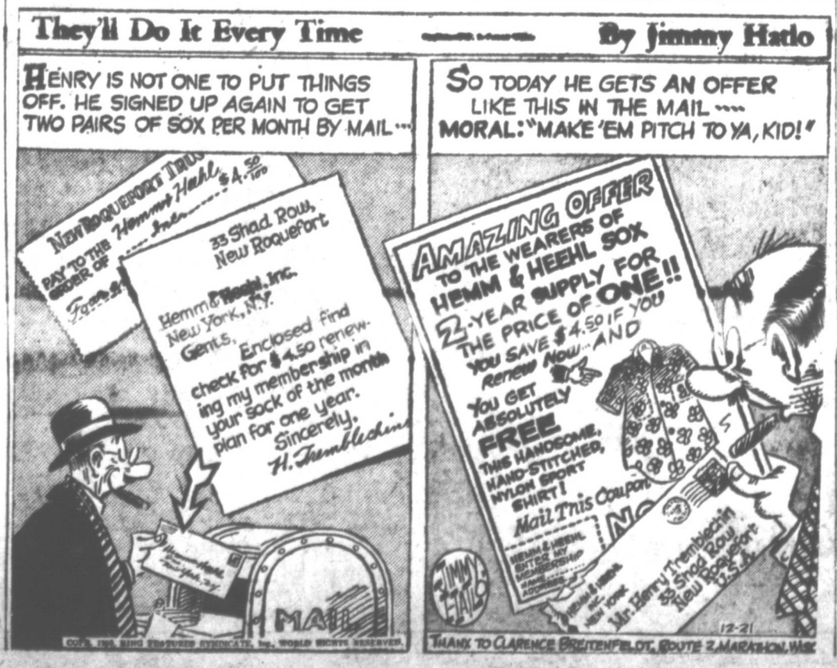

LASTING LEGHORN—Michael Lehnerer of Waukesha, Wis., holds a Leghorn hen which he says is 17 years old and still producing eggs. Usual life-span for hens is about five years, so this old bird has outlived her species more than a 200-year-old man would be outlasting his fellows.

STORK STRIKES TWICE—A mother and daughter shared a room in maternity hospital at Roanoke, Va., as each gave birth to a daughter within a few hours of each other. Seen with their new babies are Mrs. Ava Campbell, 41, left, and her daughter, Mrs. Doris George, 20.

Mysterious Metal Sphere Stumps New Mexico Expert

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(AP)— An 18-inch metal sphere found in a remote section of the Capitan Mountains, 130 miles southeast of here, has the experts stumped after nearly a month of investigation.

Discovery by deerhunters of the mysterious object and several other items was revealed last night by Dr. Lincoln LaPaz, head of the Institute of Meteoritics at the University of New Mexico.

Neither Dr. LaPaz nor any of the numerous investigators who have seen it can say what the sphere is or where it came from. It came to Dr. LaPaz' attention on Nov. 23 as a result of his recent investigations of meteorites.

The find was made public in hopes a new clue would turn up. Dr. LaPaz has returned to the spot where the objects were found.

Here's what the deerhunters found:

The sealed sphere, apparently made of duraluminum, a light metal, 18-inches in diameter and weighing 7 pounds 2 ounces; an object which looks like a large flower pot built of an unknown type of plastic in which nylon fibers are imbedded; a cheap alarm clock equipped with an expensive, hair-trigger micro switch and three packages of photographic film used in nuclear research.

The sphere is dented as though it had struck the ground with force, but is not broken.

Dr. LaPaz says it's anybody's guess what "The Thing" — as scientists have dubbed it — is, but he has two theories:

1 — That the sphere was ejected from a guided missile; 2 — that it was carried by a very large balloon.

The film packs are marked as having been manufactured Nov. 14, 1949, by Ilford Ltd., London, England. The number 29 is written in ink underneath, with a ditto mark under November. Investigators speculate the equipment was launched Nov. 29 last year.

On Dec. 5 and again on Dec. 15, 1949, Dr. LaPaz investigated reports from persons who said they saw green fireballs in the Capitan Mountain area.

'Highgraders' Get Silver Ore

COBALT, Ont. — (AP) — Highgraders have moved in on the booming Cobalt silver mine here. High grading is the mining industry's name for thievery.

When an American mining journal reported that ore holding more than 4,000 ounces of silver per ton had been struck at the Cobalt Lode Mine, according to one of the community's oldtimers, buyers flocked in and established contact with mine workers who steal the ore.

PURE ART? NO, PURE LARD—Sculptors Frank and Betty Dutt of Quincy, Ill., are using 400 pounds of pure lard as the medium for this creation at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. The statue shows two youthful pig-raisers bottle-feeding two infant porkers.

USDA Morns Lack Of Rain in Area

AUSTIN — (AP) — It was the same old story: drouth and more of it, from the U. S. Department of Agriculture this week.

About all the farmers and ranchers can do is odd jobs and feed the stock these days, the USDA's weekly crop and weather bulletin mourned.

Near zero temperatures a week ago appears to have damaged wheat in some northwest areas, the USDA said.

Livestock were showing some shrinkage despite supplemental feeding of cake and roughage. A heavy movement of cattle off northwest wheat pastures developed.

"General rain is urgently needed in all areas," the USDA said.

Beantowner's Bid Fires His Partner

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please make a few comments on South's bidding," requests a Boston reader. "As you know, this is a very staid and polite city. I could not possibly say what I think of South's bidding, but perhaps you — as a Texan — will be less inhibited.

"West opened the jack of spades, dummy covered with the king, and East won with the ace. East laid down the ace of diamonds, cashed the queen of spades, and gave his partner a spade ruff. West obediently cashed the king of diamonds and gave his partner a diamond ruff.

"East next turned his attention to the hearts, leading low to West's ace. West returned a heart to East's king, thus stripping South's hand of everything but the trumps. When East now led a spade through, West was sure of two more trump tricks. South ruffed with the queen, but West carefully refused to overruff.

"South, my partner (as you may have guessed), cheerfully observed that we were not vulnerable. This was small consolation, since the opponents had scored 900 points on a hand which they might not have bid to game. Even if they had bid game, they might not have made it. Even had they made game, it would have been worth only about half as many points.

"Will you take over now?"

My Boston friend is behind the times. It's a good many years since we shot a bridge player for making a horrible bid like that overcall of South's. I would say the odds are about even that South could make that same kind of bid in Texas and live to tell the tale.

There is, of course, no possible excuse for such a bid. With average luck, South can expect to win about four tricks. Why should he make a bid that calls for eight tricks? South has no reason to feel that he is indicating a favorable lead. With both red queens in his hand, he should be perfectly willing for North to make a normal opening lead if West plays the hand at no-trump.

There is some point in making a dangerous overcall to indicate the only possible favorable lead; or if there is some good prospect of making a game; or even if the opponents are very timid about doubling for penalties. In this case, South's bid did not indicate a good lead, there was no possible prospect of game unless North had a hand that was good enough for a bid of his own, and it is perfectly clear that West was not a bid timid about doubling.

Atlantic Pact Important To Survival of the U.S.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The decision of the twelve Atlantic Pact powers to create a million-man army — including Germans — for defense of Western Europe under General Eisenhower is a momentous development.

The consensus of military experts is that such preparedness is the only logical strategy with which to meet the Communist threat against the Democracies. Western Europe is the buttress against the Red wave from the East, and its loss not only would give Moscow control of Europe but would render the western hemisphere vulnerable.

In this sense the United States is acting partly in self-defense. As between Europe and Asia, the protection of the former is far more important to the security of the western world.

However, this doesn't mean Asia could be written off the books of the West. Japan and the strategic islands of the Pacific must be protected.

And in this connection the great danger America and her allies have to guard against is being drawn into a major war with a country like China and bled white.

On a showdown, Western Europe is the vital theater of the moment. The urgency of the European situation was emphasized by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson in a statement to the Atlantic Pact foreign ministers in Brussels yesterday. He declared the military forces of those countries are "not adequate, and must be built up with the utmost speed."

The efficacy of the Atlantic Pact defense force depends in major degree on participation of western Germany, which is the strategic heart of Central Europe. And the German government's agreement must still be obtained.

It has been left to America, Britain and France to work out this delicate matter with the Bonn government. However, hopes are high that the Germans will agree, since their troops would be permitted to participate as a unit, although they wouldn't be allowed to create a separate high command.

Germany's participation has, of course, been a matter of heated argument among the western allies, since both France and Britain at first disliked the idea of creating any fresh military strength in a country which had precipitated two world wars. However, horse sense finally won the day, as it was perfectly obvious Germany's inclusion was an essential to success.

Chinese Delegates Arrive in London

LONDON — (AP) —The Chinese Communist delegation which presented its government's case to the United States Nations arrived here by plane from Lake Success today, en route home to Peiping.

The Chinese gave no statements or interviews to reporters.

Prague is the next stop on their journey home, by way of Moscow.

Christmas is the Season when Everyone has the Spirit of Good Will in Their Heart

We in the Chiropractic profession, who have advocated good will throughout the year, can only emphasize at this season an attitude that should always exist with our fellow men. It is through our profession that we can convey to the millions of people seeking health and comfort and the true spirit of good will.

Our desire is that the evidence may be noticeable in the years to follow, to that world of people who love health, who appreciate honest efforts to make living more enjoyable and brighter, who love laughter and smiles, and all the good things that go with them.

To the public, our best wishes for the most Joyous Holiday Season.
