Pedestrian Plan Approved

DENVER (AP)—Four of five citizens favor the new "walk-in-any direction" traffic lights, a newspaper survey shows.

Under the system pedestrians can walk in any direction after motorists have had a turn at each cross street. The plan is confined to downtown Denver.

Sixty-nine per cent of visitors from other parts of the state who were polled also favored the innovation.

Blue Sox Trim Gruver Stars Saturday Night

The Blue Sox trimmed the Gruver All-Stars Saturday night, 3-0, with pitcher Dan Faries twirling a seven-hit shutout for the locals. Faries struck out 17 men.

Langley, on the mound for Gruver, was effective, giving up only two hits, but errors on the field allowed the Sox to get a two-run lead in the first inning and that was enough for Faries to work on.

A light sprinkle of rain in the fifth slowed down the game, but it was played out. Gibson and Brawley were the only hitters for the Sox.

Dud Bombs Kill Germans

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Bombs and shells from the last World War are still killing people in Germany. Rubble left by Allied air raids still hides many dud bombs.

Ten major explosions of wartime bombs or munitions within the last three years have killed 27 and wounded 21 persons. A recent U. S. Army report said its bomb disposal squads had disarmed some 1,400 items of unexploded ammunition during the first three months of this year. In the second half of last year, 122,000 duds were recovered.

For many years to come, peace-time Germany will be fighting bombs.

Atom Sub Interests Oldtimer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—An old "pig boat" man, who served on the first U. S. submarine, is angling for a ride as passenger when the first atom-powered sub is tested.

He is Edward J. Kree, 64, who says he was a crewman aboard the USS Holland in 1907. In those days, says Kree, there was no escape hatch, periscope or compartmented hull—only a torpedo and a dynamite gun.

Kree says an old shipmate, Capt. H. G. Rickover, USN, is in charge of constructing the atom submarine.

NALG Makes Big Strides To Benefit Its Golfers

By FRANK ECK
Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Less than four years ago Tommy Armour, pro at Florida's famous Boca Baton course, invited a dozen sports celebrities to his place to play a round of golf.

One of the stars was a major league ball player. He was all set for his first round of golf.

"Go over to the rack and pick out a set of clubs," the good-natured Armour told the player. The frustrated player returned and said:

"I can't find a set I can use."

"How come?" asked the puzzled Armour.

"I'm left-handed," replied the player. "Is there a law against it?"

The player—Tommy Holmes—spent the afternoon jitter-bugging, and playing tennis with former champion Fred Perry. At come along so fast that there is a constant demand for tournaments by people who "swing from the wrong side."

The National Association of Left Handed Golfers was founded 18 years ago by Ben Richter, a St. Louis pro. The NALG held its first tournament in Cleveland in 1934. Only 11 contestants showed up.

Richter refused to be discouraged and by 1936 he had a mailing list of 6,000 lefties. Today the NALG is 25,000 strong and will hold its 13th annual tournament at Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-Deleware course in the Pennsylvania Poconos Aug. 4 through 7th.

If being a left hander is a natural then a southpaw ought to be at home on the fairways and greens for golf has been called an unnatural game.

Right now the NALG is looking to get its winners involved some of the better tournaments like the Masters in Augusta.

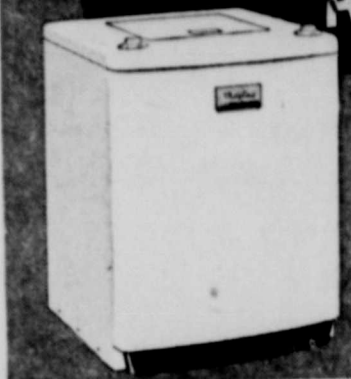

three times. Ross Collins, Monticello, Ark., scored last year at Tippecanoe in Youngstown, Ohio. The tournament is one of the most famous in the world, but there is also much fun for those who are so-called "Vacation Flichs" where the older and less serious player gets a whack at a prize. All have a good time and the spirit of the once down-trodden southpaw is something to be admired.

Equipment for the southpaw still scarce although great ones have been made on their own the last three years. It means that in the years ahead we might come up with some fine southpaw golfers.

Alvin Everett of Rowe, Ga., and Alex Antonio, a New Jersey pro, have won the tournament

Livestock and Poultry Need Proper Care During Summer

COLLEGE STATION — Live-stock and poultry, if given proper attention during the hot summer months, will produce profits for their owners. Our domestic animals, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, veterinarian for the Agricultural Extension Service, must depend on man to keep them with comfortable conditions. If proper attention is not given, the animals and down goes production. Especially important, says Patterson, is a continuous supply of fresh water for all animals and poultry on the farm. Lack of moisture from the body in hot weather is a heavy and unless available losses are sure to show up. These losses show up in weight, a drop in milk production by the dairy herd or in egg production by the poultry, a drop in production. Almost equal importance, the veterinarian, is the plenty of ventilated circulation of air is needed to remove the moisture given off by the animals. Moisture content of the air is more important than the actual temperature of the air in cooling the animal's body. Heat exhaustion is just as likely to occur in humid, stuffy, though shaded places, as in the sun. Don't overcrowd birds or animals, warns Patterson, for it prevents body heat loss and interferes with ventilation.

Supply feed, he says, in accordance with activity so that breeding, dairy, work animals or poultry don't become too fat. Keep animals in a thrifty condition and don't forget that salt is essential in body heat regulation and should be supplied in adequate amounts at all times.

Animals should not be driven about or forced to exercise during the hot part of the day nor should anything be done to excite them. Exercise and excitement build up body heat rapidly, says Patterson and therefore, livestock should not be disturbed during the hot part of the day.

Control the insects that disturb and injure the livestock such as flies, ticks, screw worms and wool maggots. Failure to provide comfortable surroundings for livestock may also result in digestive troubles and some types of livestock especially cattle, sheep, and hogs frequently contract pneumonia as a result of overheating.

Successful and profitable livestock and poultry production can be maintained during the hot summer months provided their owners make them comfortable and protect them from insects and diseases.

SINGAPORE — Penicillin and other antibiotic drugs are being offered for sale openly by grocers and street vendors in Malaya, the Malayan Pharmaceutical Journal discloses.

Youngsters 'Bulldoze' Tree

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The two youngsters were playing "tank" aboard two bulldozers when one of them accidentally pressed the starter on one of them.

The bulldozer started going backwards, went over an incline and knocked down a tree directly across a railroad track. It finally got stuck in soft earth.

When police arrived the boys, Louis Blair, 10, and Charles Bolton Jr., 11, were playing on a ditch-digger.

Texas Redbud Trees Bloom In Canada

HOWE, Texas — Some of Texas' famed Redbud trees are blooming in a Canadian churchyard.

The blooms are the result of the good will of Texans who thought the Redbuds would make an ideal birthday gift. Canada is celebrating its 85th birthday this year.

It was last year that L'abbé Narcisse Gagnon, 37 year old parish priest at Lac Baker, N. P., Canada, read of a beautification plan in this Texas town. He wrote asking for details.

His inquiry reached Mame Roberts of Howe. She spread the word. The Texas Redbud Association took over the campaign. The Wolfe Nursery of Stephenville agreed to provide 100 Redbud trees. Dean Fred Westcourt, horticulturist at Texas State College for Women at Denton helped on arrangements—and on advice to the Canadians.

A few weeks ago the 100 Redbud trees, complete with Dean Westcourt's advice on planting, were shipped.

"I received the Redbuds," the parish priest wrote. "I could hardly believe my eyes! One hundred Redbuds coming from Texas—Texas with all its beauty—Texas that was somewhat unknown to most of us. Texas seems so much nearer to us than it has in the past."

He thanked Dean Westcourt for saying "where they may be planted, what must be done and avoided in planting them, also many interesting details about them." One of the trees, he remarked, was in bloom when he uncrated it.

One of his 1,000 parish members, S. M. Patricia Chlason, wrote Mame Roberts:

"You have proved that across the border dwell not merely neighbors, but friends who have shared with us their flowers and beauty."

Canned Foods Help Stretch Slim Budget

COLLEGE STATION — Two hundred seven thousand, five hundred fifty eight families were assisted in 1951 with food preservation problems, according to the annual report of the foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This was the result of training and assistance given county home demonstration agents and local leaders.

In all, 2,431,937 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned and 24,423,409 pounds of food were frozen in accordance with practices recommended by the specialists. There were 331,440 quarts of food made into pickles and relishes.

The work in food preservation was always accompanied with plans for storage, food budgets, meal preparation and service. The report states that the preserved products were stored in 5,406 ventilated pantries, 32,680 home freezers and 36,470 frozen food lockers; that 55,786 families followed the Texas Food Standard in planning meals and improving diets and 129,551 families were assisted with food preparation and improved table service.

The specialists state that anyone may contact the local county home demonstration agent for specific information on food preservation methods. The bulletins B-194, HOME CANNING OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES and B-175, FROZEN FOODS, are free for the asking. Surplus foods preserved now, the specialists say, will stretch the food budget dollars this coming winter.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING?

It's the big NEWS of the year

THERE is a host of things that endear a ROADMASTER to anyone who loves to drive.

There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine—most powerful ever put in a Buick.

There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air.

There's its hushed and luxurious silence—it's poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop—and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflo Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space.

Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels—makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand—or a stretch of rough road—Power Steering smoothly goes into action—helps take up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder—on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

NALG Makes Big Strides To Benefit Its Golfers

By FRANK ECK
Ochiltree Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Less than four years ago Tommy Armour, pro at Florida's famous Boca Baton course, invited a dozen sports celebrities to his place to play a round of golf.

One of the stars was a major league ball player. He was all set for his first round of golf.

"Go over to the rack and pick out a set of clubs," the good-natured Armour told the player.

The frustrated player returned and said:

"I can't find a set I can use."

"How come?" asked the puzzled Armour.

"I'm left-handed," replied the player. "Is there a law against it?"

The player—Tommy Holmes—spent the afternoon jitter-bugging, and playing tennis with former champion Fred Perry. At

come along so fast that there is a constant demand for tournaments by people who "swing from the wrong side."

The National Association of Left Handed Golfers was founded 18 years ago by Ben Richter, a St. Louis pro. The NALG held its first tournament in Cleveland in 1934. Only 11 contestants showed up.

Richter refused to be discouraged and by 1936 he had a mailing list of 6,000 lefties. Today the NALG is 25,000 strong and will hold its 13th annual tournament at Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-Deleware course in the Pennsylvania Poconos Aug. 4 through 7th.

Alvin Everett of Rowe, Ga., and Alex Antonio, a New Jersey pro, have won the tournament three times. Ross Collins, Monticello, Ark., scored last year at Tippecanoe in Youngstown.

The tournament is one of the most famous golf when it comes to the championship flight, but there is also much fun for those in the so-called "Vacation Flight" where the older and less serious player gets a good time and a spirit of the once down-trodden southpaw is something to respect and admire.

Equipment for the southpaw still scarce although great strides have been made on their behalf the last three years. It is estimated that in the years ahead we might come up with some fine southpaw golfers.

If being a left hander is a natural then a southpaw golfer to be at home on the fairway and greens for golf has called an unnatural game.

Right now the NALG is looking to get its winners involved some of the better tournaments like the Masters in Augusta.

Livestock and Poultry Need Proper Care During Summer

COLLEGE STATION — Livestock and poultry, if given proper attention during the hot summer months, will produce profits for their owners. Our domestic animals, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, veterinarian for the Agricultural Extension Service, must depend on man to keep them comfortable and down goes production. It is a continuous supply of fresh water for all animals and poultry on the farm. Lack of moisture from the body in hot weather is a heavy and useless waste. These losses show up in weight, a drop in milk production by the dairy herd or a drop in egg production by the poultry, a drop in production. It is almost equal importance, the veterinarian, is the need for plenty of ventilation. Circulation of air is needed in the shade or in poultry houses to remove the moisture given off by the animals. Moisture content of the air is more important than the actual temperature of the air in cooling the animal's body. Heat exhaustion is just as likely to occur in humid, stuffy, though shaded places, as in the sun. Don't overcrowd birds or animals, warns Patterson, for it prevents body heat loss and interferes with ventilation.

Supply feed, he says, in accordance with activity so that breeding, dairy, work animals or poultry don't become too fat. Keep animals in a thrifty condition and don't forget that salt is essential in body heat regulation and should be supplied in adequate amounts at all times.

Animals should not be driven about or forced to exercise during the hot part of the day nor should anything be done to excite them. Exercise and excitement build up body heat rapidly, says Patterson and therefore, livestock should not be disturbed during the hot part of the day.

Control the insects that disturb and injure the livestock such as flies, ticks, screw worms and wool maggots. Failure to provide comfortable surroundings for livestock may also result in digestive troubles and some types of livestock especially cattle, sheep, and hogs frequently contract pneumonia as a result of overheating.

Successful and profitable livestock and poultry production can be maintained during the hot summer months provided their owners make them comfortable and protect them from insects and diseases.

Magnate in Popcorn Once a Bus Driver

(P) Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Here's a fellow who hit pay dirt with popcorn. William H. Beaudot sells ready-to-eat popcorn in 48 states, Alaska, Cuba and Israel. His popcorn is dispensed in stores, clubs and "any place where people walk in and out."

Formerly a bus driver for Chicago Transit Authority, he is one of the country's largest popcorn processors.

"I don't have a hobby now," he said. "It's a business. I started with a little kettle in the kitchen at home. I was working only three hours a day and six days a week, so I had a lot of time on my hands."

He first operated a part-time peanut-vending machine business. That was in 1941. He had increased his original five machines to 300, when he sold his business to go into the army. He was rejected.

Quits Bus Driving

Beaudot, 52, immediately started a new enterprise by investing in popcorn vending machines. He popped corn at home and delivered it to 25 Chicago movie theatres. He quit his bus-driving job in 1943. He began making his own warming and dispensing machines in 1948. Now he has 24,000 "counter warmers" in service.

Beaudot is president of the National Popcorn Manufacturers Association. There are 250 members in the group. He estimates that the popcorn industry soon will reach one-billion dollars worth of sales a year.

Beaudot buys selected popcorn from farmers. He travels through seven states and talks to farm groups to encourage popcorn planting. He says the leading popcorn producing states are Indiana, Southern Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Northern Texas and Iowa. Beaudot reports he never has had a failure with popcorn grown along the Ohio Valley. He uses 25,000 100-pound bags of raw corn a year.

Special Machine

To maintain a steady flow of popcorn to popcorn munchers, Beaudot devised a ten-popper turntable machine. Poppers are fitted over a gas blaze. An operator covers the corn with salt and coconut oil and pours it into an empty popper. In two-and-one-half minutes, it is emptied and refilled.

The popcorn is sifted by a screen cylinder. The residue is sold to zoos for animal feed. The popcorn is packaged in 2½-peck and 2-bushel bags. Beaudot says it will stay fresh for three months.

Beaudot's business now is a family affair. His son, Robert, 21, delivers popcorn. His wife, Helen, is secretary-treasurer.

MRS. WILLIAM BEAUDOT and an employe work with the big popping machine in the Beaudots' Chicago plant.

Maple Syrup Production Drops

LANSING, Mich. (P)—The 1952 maple syrup production in Michigan has been estimated at 92,000 gallons, 5 per cent less than last year, the federal-state crop reporting service said recently. Producers made only 6,000 pounds of sugar this year compared to 16,000 pounds a year ago.

Plenty of Graduations

GUELPH, Canada (P)—Graduations are nothing new to Archie Porter, registrar of the Ontario Agricultural College. Himself a graduate of O. A. C. in 1920, he has since watched 27 convocations at which degrees have been conferred on nearly 3,000 men and women.

Blindness Is No Handicap for ACC Professor

ABILENE (P)—Blind? Sure, Leonard Burford is blind.

Burford is 46 years old, stands six foot tall, weighs 230 pounds, and looks something like a professional wrestler.

His confident stride, his iron-gray crew-cut, his booming voice—these add to picture of physical competence. He's sometimes seen riding a bicycle.

More often, he's seen on the campus of Abilene Christian College here. For Burford is professor of music. He's been on the ACC faculty since 1932 and has headed the music department since 1937.

That his loss of sight hasn't obscured his goal was evident early in June. Burford received his doctor of education degree June 5 from Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City. Thus he joined the rare circle of blind persons who have gained their doctorates.

Burford also is the founder and conductor of the ACC A Cappella Chorus which has performed in scores of cities in a five-state area.

He also teaches voice, piano and theory. He himself is an accomplished pianist and singer.

He is one of the song directors of the College Church of Christ, and weekly he rattles the piano keyboard for the Abilene Lions Club, of which he is a member. He can fill fellow Lions' requests from Chopin on down to "Little Liza Jane."

He is devoted to his work in music. Almost any hour of the day you might find him in his studio office pecking away on his latest model Braille typewriter while preparing lesson plans.

Typewriting, whether the machine be built according to Hoyle or Braille, is another field in which Burford excels. He even typed the first draft of his 115-page doctor's dissertation, entitled "The Blind in Music Education of the Sighted." Recently he compiled 86 hymns for transcription into braille for distribution to the blind by the 14th and Vine Church of Christ, Abilene.

Although born on a farm south of Abilene, Burford moved into the city with his parents at school age. He embarked on his musical career when he was 8 and by the time he reached 12 he was certain music would become his life's work. He was graduated from ACC in 1925 with his B. A. degree and received his M. A. in 1937 from Teachers College, Columbia.

Leonard and his brother Jack, and sister, Mable, were all afflicted from birth with an eye condition, retinitis pigmentosa, which is believed to be hereditary; however, neither of their parents had the condition, nor could it be traced in their families. Leonard's vision was always the poorest of the three. He became totally blind when he was 28.

Mrs. Lillian Frances Burford mother of the three, became a widow in 1931. She was Burford's first music teacher. He also estimates that she did 90 per cent of his high school and college reading. Mrs. Burford received a huge ovation when he was granted an honorary degree in 1925 in recognition of her work with Leonard.

As for his hobbies, Burford explains: "I ride an old-fashioned tandem bicycle built for two. Usually I can get a student to do the guiding and I do the pedaling."

He dabbles in woodwork, but is careful to avoid machine tools. He couldn't do without his carpenter's mitre saw, which, he says, will enable "anyone to cut straightly, eyes or no eyes." Most of his energy in this line is devoted to making air conditioners.

Burford's sidekick is Ronald his seeing-eye dog. Once in New York, Ronald bore the brunt of his master's huge frame when Leonard slipped and fell. A sprained foot for the dog was the only casualty.

Being blind has helped Leonard learn to love people. "My faith in the human race has been increased since I lost my sight 18 years ago," he exclaims. "I honestly believe that a thief running on the street would stop to help me across, so kind is the human heart."

Red Terror Continues

KUALA LUMPUR (P)—The leading British rubber planting body in Malaya declares that despite countrywide resettlement of squatters on areas free of Communist terrorists, there is no improvement in the situation.

The United Planting Association of Malaya, in its report for 1951, said planters still lived in continual danger and could not relax security precautions.

Without the "steadfastness and courage" of the planters, said the report, "the situation in the rural areas would have rapidly deteriorated to a state of savagery and chaos."

German Scouts

KITCHENER, Canada (P)—First meeting of a Boy Scout troop composed entirely of German-speaking boys was held here recently. The six who attended, all members of families recently arrived from Europe, will form the nucleus of what may be a much larger troop. They now are in various stages of learning English.

Greek burials were sometimes made in jars that were molded around the body and then baked.

Air pressure, at 16,000 feet above sea level is about half that at sea level.

BEAUTY AND THE BEACH make a weird combination through Weegee's elastic lens. He claims this is a straight, not darkroom trickery.

Elkridge Will Be Missed
WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Kent Miller's great jumper Elkridge, retired last year at the age of 13 with the title of world champion money winner in the steeplechase, sport, will be missed by Delaware Park racing fans. It was at this track that the old campaigner set a record never equalled by any other American horse—winning the same stake five times.
Elkridge won the Indian River "Chase in 1942, '45, '48, '49 and '50. Last year he was second to Crooning Wind.

MISS TEXAS CROWNED—Pretty Connie Hopping of Lubbock is crowned as Miss Texas of 1952 by Ray Roberts (left) of Grand Prairie, President of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, in Galveston after she was judged winner of the Miss Texas contest. R. J. O'Donnell, Dallas, head of Interstate Theatres (right) looks on. Miss Hopping will represent the Lone Star state at the national Miss America contest in the fall.

from the southern states, cooperating with those from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have been studying the existing rental arrangements and seeking possible solutions to tenure problems. The economists have found that both tenants and landlords improve their lot when leases are used that really cover present day farming and livestock production. The use of up-to-date leasing arrangements meant more income to both tenants and landowners as well as better soil maintenance and improvement programs.

The latest findings of the co-operating economists are reported in the publication "Rental Arrangements for Progressive Farming" which is available at your local county agent's office. Other material on the subject of rental agreements, prepared by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, are also available.

Bates says the specialists, through studies and actual experience, have come to the conclusion that a good rental agreement should always be written. It should cover more than a single year or contain an automatic renewal clause. It should specify how the expenses, upkeep and labor as well as income are to be shared. It should encourage the tenant to produce livestock as well as crops wherever possible and profitable. Finally the lease should provide for permanent improvements on the land and in the home.

Bates believes the use of rental agreement containing the above items will improve landlord-tenant relations and add stability to the agricultural economy in the areas where farms are operated by tenants.

Farm Leases Need Revision For Livestock

COLLEGE STATION — Tenant operations are still an important part of Texas agriculture. Some 30 per cent of all Texas farms are operated by tenants. Like most other farming practices, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, many leasing arrangements are out-of-date.

He points out that lease arrangements set up for cash-crop systems of farming do not fit the situations brought about by the shifts to livestock production. Therefore, new rental agreements are needed between the tenants and landlords that clearly define the part each is to play in this livestock-crop system of farming.

During the past several years farm management specialists

Primary Run-Off Ballot Named; Only Two Races

County Democratic Chairman Otis Burk has released the names of the candidates whose names will appear on the ballots in the run-off primary election on August 23.

Only one state office and one district office remain unsettled in the first primary and the voters will select these candidates on August 23.

27 planes, there are 55 planes in the area which are kept at home.

Robson said that the facilities at the local airport are better than most of this size. Tom Penn holds an airline transport rating and is a commercial flight examiner, the highest rating the CAA gives. It is a well rounded operation, with spraying service, pipeline patrol work, sales and service of planes, student instruction and charter service offered.

During the week survey, the visitor from the longest distance was Ed Heidelberg of Sac City, Iowa, who brought a passenger to look for a used plane. Second longest visit was a man from Denver and another from Kansas City.

There were 10 planes landed on Monday, 16 on Sunday; 18 on Saturday; 24 on Friday; 8 on Thursday and 8 on Wednesday, Robson said.

Robson has made a statistical report and a narrative report which he will file with his district office. Similar reports from other airports will be used to support a CAA request for a change in the small airport program of the nation.

Church Women Sell Mustard Seed Charms

An Associated Press news-photo in last week's Herald told of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Flint of Kansas City, who make a mustard seed charm which they sell all over the country, and by coincidence, the United Council of Church Women started selling these same charms locally about the same time. Mr. and Mrs. Flint say a Bible verse started them in business . . . "If ye have faith as a mustard seed . . . Nothing shall be impossible unto you." They make a transparent plastic ball about a half inch in diameter and put a tiny black mustard seed inside. The United Council of Church Women are selling these charms and using the proceeds to buy Bibles which are given to young men entering the armed forces.

'Furniture Refinishing' Is Demonstrated at Waka Club Meeting

Dallas School Teacher Raises Prize Turkeys On Large Farm

By BRUCE HENDERSON

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex. (AP)—Miss Mina Lee Mitchell teaches English—but she talks turkey just as well.

Daytimes during the school year you'll find this square-shouldered bespectacled woman behind her desk in a Dallas junior high school, striving valiantly to convince a roomful of fidgety youngsters that literature and grammar are worth the effort. As prim a schoolma'am as you'll ever see.

Yet on early mornings, late evenings and week ends Miss Lee Mitchell rolls up her sleeves and goes to work as one of the top turkey breeders in Texas and the nation.

In her spare time Miss Mitchell manages the Lee and Smith Turkey Ranch, which annually breeds thousands of broad breast bronze turkeys. The ranch takes in 244 acres of rolling countryside five miles south of here in Northwest Ellis County.

It's an exhausting dual role, even Miss Mitchell admits. But she gets a kick out of both gobblers and children. She says they're a lot alike.

Combining two such unlikely endeavors as Shakespeare and poultry husbandry means a 40-mile roundtrip to Dallas each weekday for this woman who was born a banker's daughter. She frequently puts in 16 and 18 hour days in a routine that's killed tough men her own age.

An extraordinary person Miss Mitchell.

At 44 she's sandy-haired, blue-eyed, a fast talker and faster worker.

"Every teacher ought to have a hobby," she says crisply. "Preferably one that deals with living things. Keeps them fresh."

Miss Mitchell began her "hobby" in 1944 when she started raising turkeys for Ranch Owner Homer P. Lee. Their starting flock totaled eight hens and one tom.

The success of their venture was startling even in Texas—the land of Glenn McCarthys and Hugh Roy Cullens.

This year the ranch had sold more than 125,000 chicks through the end of May. It is one of about a dozen ranches in Texas which breeds registered flocks and is among the state's heaviest producers. Turkeys from the ranch have won state and national blue ribbons.

What's more, Lee—a silvery-haired, elderly fellow apparently well pleased with his manager—is now president of the Texas Turkey Federation, a group of turkey raisers formed in 1945.

Miss Mitchell is a charter member. (Nudge any federation member slightly and he will quickly tell you Texas holds second place among the nation's turkey-producing states).

Miss Mitchell likes to think of turkey raising like school teaching. You have to combine the right amount of theory with practice in each, she says. She took a fast course in poultry husbandry at Texas A & M College when she began her avocation.

Busy as her hobby keeps her, Miss Mitchell says schoolwork comes first.

Last fall she was seen scurrying around at the annual Texas State Teachers Association convention in Houston. She's a hard worker in TSTA and is chairman of reading research in her district.

Lots of times she brings her students to visit the ranch.

"You'd be surprised how much turkeys and the children are alike," Mina Lee explains. "Turkeys are inquisitive. They like to strut around and show off, too. They're hungry all the time. And when they are very young you have to show them everything—even how to eat."

Turkeys also have a dickens of a time with colds, sniffles and sinus if you don't take care of them, she says.

Miss Mitchell was born at Wilmer, Dallas County. Her father was a banker. She attended Texas State College for Women at Denton.

One reason she chose her hobby was to get some fresh air.

"I can't stand the city all the time," she sighs. "It's all right in the winter, I guess. But when spring comes I must get out in the open."

She's out of school on summer vacation now but plans to resume her routine in September.

Mina Lee Mitchell accuses her fellow Americans of snubbing the gobbler. She believes turkey meat is good enough to eat regularly than just on Thanksgiving and other holidays.

Miss Mitchell has taught school 27 years and can retire in three more. A reporter asked what she would do then.

"You know, young man, I think I'll go into the turkey business, she smiled, thus proving even English teachers and turkey breeders aren't without a sense of humor.

The Mennonite Church had charge of the "Story Hour" last Friday.

Walnut Acreage Declines

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Walnuts, once one of Orange County's chief crops, are fast disappearing from the agricultural scene.

The county produced almost 18 million pounds of walnuts from 17,150 acres in 1923. This year, only 510 pounds were harvested from the slightly more than 1,000 acres which are left.

Two main reasons for the decline, says Agriculture Commissioner D. W. Tubbs, are the codling moth and the husk fly. The moth enters the shell and attacks the nut meat, and the husk fly stains the shells, thus lowering the nut's market value. The walnut acreage has moved farther north in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daniel of Granbury are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Daniel, this week.

Miss Annabelle Daniel returned Monday morning from a visit with relatives at Delta, Colo., and her brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Orrel Daniel of Boulder, Colo.

We Need Enthusiasm

With the date for the first annual North Plains Fair rapidly approaching, it is becoming quite apparent that more enthusiasm should be generated among business and professional men in Perryton if the event is to go over properly.

Thus far, far too few business men consider the fair as "our project"—instead they consider it the work of someone else, with themselves as bystanders.

True, the business men have supported the fair to the extent of buying advertisements in the fair catalogue and a number have taken commercial exhibit space. But there is an absence of enthusiasm about the project which certainly should be present by now.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting last week, when the fair was to be discussed, there were not over half a dozen business men present to promote the fair. There were farmers and ranchers present, along with the fair association officials, but the business men were absent.

Only a handful of business firms have indicated that they will have an entry in the parade and there are actually a number of business men planning to go on vacation the last week in August.

A successful fair, like any other successful community project, needs the cooperation of all.

A little more enthusiasm, the desire to "talk it up," and a willingness to serve on committees when asked would go a long way toward insuring the success of the fair this year.

Sow Farrows 19 Pigs

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A prolific sow recently farrowed 19 pigs on one litter on a Tyrrell County farm. All pigs were apparently normal and healthy at birth.

The litter is the fourth farrowed by the half Duroc and half Poland-China sow. She bore 9 pigs in the first litter, 13 in the second and 16 in the third.

Libya Fights Typhus

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—The Libyan health ministry is fighting a widespread typhus fever outbreak. More than 80 cases were reported in a four-week period in Cyrenaica in districts as far apart as Agedabia and Tobruk.

From the SIDELINE with HAROLD HUDSON

Signs of the times: A Dallas five and ten cent store is now advertising a lawlay plan.

That "little" automobile which Carl Ellis has been driving around for the past week has attracted all kinds of attention from the curious. People are just naturally interested in automobiles, they turn out in numbers for the showing of new models each year, and when something like this English-made Jaguar comes to town, it receives the full inspection treatment.

This Jaguar may be low on the ground, but it's all automobile. We took a ride in the machine Monday and were allowed to drive it for a few miles. We have a picture of the Jaguar in this issue, but owner Carl Ellis is a little bit modest and does not appear with his car.

Anyway, although the Jaguar is only 4 feet 5 inches high, 14½ feet long and 5 feet 2 inches wide, it has a 190 horsepower engine in it. That's the same as a 1952 Cadillac, you know. This one is the super sports model, with two modified bucket-type seats and a gear shift knob that juts about eight inches from the floorboard of the car. It has four speeds forward and the speedometer registers 140 miles per hour.

The seats are upholstered with genuine leather and the panel work inside is of genuine birch walnut. The mammoth six-cylinder motor is dressed up with aluminum and chrome and has twin tailpipes, which make a rather throaty roar as the engine is revved up.

The Jaguar occupies a front position in the sports car field around the world. It has won the Grand Prix road race in France and scores of other tests of speed and endurance. In a race going on now in England, a Jaguar averaged 101 miles per hour for the first 24 hours of the race.

Carl took delivery of this car in Houston and says that the trip from Houston was a comfortable one. In fact, he says, this Jaguar is the most comfortable car he has ever driven and he is quite enthused about the way it handles on any kind of road.

We were out at the Ranger drive-in theatre Sunday night, and our attention was directed from the screen about midway in the picture by several little round blobs of light flitting around in the sky to the south of the screen. We thought these were some kind of optical illusion, but the things returned a time or two and then we figured maybe these were the flying saucers people are talking about.

We didn't dare say anything about seeing them until we found out later that other people saw the same thing. Even if we had a camera with us, however, there wouldn't have been much to photograph. These lights were about like a match head in the sky and there was certainly no detail to them. Are these flying saucers? Or are we seeing things and need to have our glasses changed? We're still wondering.

Many experts are concerned about the state of tension and unrest among the American people. This frenzied activity is depicted by a minister who says, "We've become so keyed up and nervous that it is almost impossible to put people to sleep with a sermon—and I tell you that's a bad situation."

They are asking for 300 donors to sign up for a pint of blood during the Red Cross blood drive to be held on Sept. 8, and citizens of this community will have an opportunity to make their pledges this week. For several years there has been some agitation for a blood mobile unit in Perryton and now we'll see how serious people are about wanting to give blood for the servicemen in Korea.

It will take quite a bit of effort to get 300 donors signed up, and it will be quite remarkable if all 300 actually give blood. It has been Red Cross experience that only half of those pledging blood actually give it, so if we get 150 pints out of the 300 donors, it will be an average response. Some of the 300 will be turned down for physical reasons and others will be out of town or unavailable when it comes right down to giving the blood.

They say it's a rather simple procedure, this giving blood. The arm is prepared with an anesthetic before the needle is inserted and you don't feel a thing. Then there is a period of rest and fruit juices to get you ready to go back to work.

The cost of living has advanced to an all-time high, the government says, and is now 189.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 period. This means that about 40,000 wage earners will get a pay hike as a result of the new index. The rest of us will merely be caught in a tighter squeeze between creditors and the tax collector.

They do things differently in Washington. A jury of five women and seven men convicted attorney Charles Patrick Clark of assault against columnist Drew Pearson recently, after Clark had wallowed Pearson on the jaw in a hotel lobby. Clark said he was made because of Pearson's remarks about him. The judge instructed the jury, however, that "mere words, no matter how insulting or opprobrious, do not justify assault." We'll bet a Texas jury would have turned Clark loose.

It's only two weeks until the North Plains Fair. Are you ready?

The capital of Uruguay is Montevideo.

Wolf Creek Philosopher Why Not Deduct Living Expenses?

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher may have hit on a popular idea, but we doubt if he gets anywhere with it.)

Dear editor: I read yesterday in a paper which my wife had lined the pantry shelf with where Congress not wantin to come out and vote itself a raise but still wantin one, had figured out a method which accomplished the same ends, and while the idea carried in the House, the Senate voted it down. I regret that the Senate is not as far-sighted as the House, and I wish you would use your influence if you haven't misapplied it and get the bill re-introduced, not only for Congressmen but for everybody.

Here's the way it would work: It would allow Congressmen to count their living expenses in Washington as legitimate deductions on their income tax. What ever it cost to live, the whole amount could be counted as a business expense and deducted. Now this is what I call the most advanced thinkin I've encountered in years. The income tax ain't too high, we just can't deduct enough items before we start figurin how much we owe, but if the government would let me count everything it takes to live out here as a business expense, it wouldn't make much difference to me how high the income tax went.

Accordin to the Congressmen favorin this bill, livin in Washington certainly ought to be deductible expense, and they're right, the same as livin out here on Wolf Creek ought to be. Just because a man has an income of so much a month ain't no sign he's able to pay any income tax on it. The more money you make, the more it takes to live. I've seen it happen over and over, and the man makin the most money frequently is the one shortest on cash.

Under this new proposal, though, whatever it takes to live on comes first, and what's left over is subject to an income tax. It's one of the most beautiful ideas I've seen in years, and is just the thing to meet inflation with.

This might not bring in much income tax, but I guarantee it would make business boom. Let's get it passed.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Perryton, Texas

You may like your present car... but this Aero Willys you're going to LOVE!

Come in and take a low-and-lovely Aero-Wing or Aero-Ace out on the road.

Take it easy at first. That's no ordinary engine under that down-swept hood—it's the power-crammed F-head Hurricane 6—and it will sprint from 20 to 60 in a matter of seconds.

Head into a hairpin curve and feel the road-steadiness you get with a 23-inch center of gravity. Idle it down, then stomp on it.

See how Willys' exclusive rubber-cushioned drive system swallows up tremor and vibration.

Drive at normal speed over rough, bumpy road and you'll say we're modest in calling it an "airborne" ride.

Check all else you get in an Aero Willys: Visibility that lets you see all four fenders. Seating width, front and rear, 61 inches. And mileage with the Hurricane Engine and overdrive—that, speed for speed, under the same conditions, surpasses every other six-passenger American car!

Veterans Forum

I am a World War II veteran, having served in the Pacific under the GI Bill. May I be placed in a classroom course in the field this coming fall, though the GI cut-off date passed?

Under post cut-off regulations, veterans may not be placed in correspondence courses, even if it's the same field.

My husband, who was a World War II veteran, died because of a service-connected disability. He did not use a GI loan to help me. I have not remarried.

Yes, under the law, unmarried widows of such World War II veterans may be eligible for a GI loan to help them themselves. I am getting a VA pension and permanent non-connected disability. In my own yearly income, I am not counting the money my husband left in as a seamstress? No. Your wife's income is and therefore is not used in getting your total yearly income for pension purposes. While on active duty during the war, I was disabled in a training accident and was paralyzed from the waist down. Would I be entitled to a VA grant for a "wheelchair home," or must the disability have occurred in time of war?

A. If you meet all the other requirements of the law, you may be eligible for a "wheelchair home," even though your disability was incurred during peacetime. There's no restriction under the law, as to when a veteran suffered his disability in service.

Italian Film Industry Prospers

ROME (AP)—The Italian film industry has burst into extraordinary vitality since the fall of Fascism and the end of World War II.

The nation exported 3,733 films made after the war to 63 different countries between 1946 and 1951. Studios, badly damaged by air attacks, have been rebuilt.

An official publication released by the Italian government disclosed that there are now over 12,000 movie halls, compared with 5,236 in 1942. Film imports have decreased rapidly as Italian production improved. While Italy imported 850 foreign films in 1946, only 342 were brought into the country in 1951.

BAGDAD ON THE SUBWAY has grown to be quite a town since O. Henry gave New York that nickname. The skyscrapers that have made the city a mecca for tourists from all countries and all states are now valued at one and a half billion dollars. The Real Estate Board of New York has issued a survey of office building construction on Manhattan Island for the past 50 years. It shows there are 1,172 office buildings on the fabulous island that forms the center of the city.

"New York is the center of the nation's largest industry-business management," the report says. "Of the country's 100 largest companies, more than 90 are represented in New York with headquarters or branch offices."

"New York has more than 68 million square feet (1,561 acres) of competitive office space—29 per cent of the nation's total in 102 cities. In addition, current building under way or planned will add 2 1/2 million feet, making a total postwar construction of 6 1/2 million square feet."

Forty per cent of all New York skyscrapers were built between 1925 and 1933. There was no new building of this type for six years during World War II, from 1941 through 1946.

Miners Run Mine

ELDORADO, Ill. (AP)—A brave bunch of miners dug deep for $10,000 to run an abandoned Southern Illinois coal pit themselves.

Dering Mine—the bread and butter of Eldorado area mine families for 34 years—was closed last fall. The owner said he was losing money and sold the mine for junk.

Eldorado diggers figured there was enough coal for 20 years. One hundred miners chipped in $100 apiece. Eldorado supporters matched that as a loan and the Eldorado Coal Corp. was formed. Miners pay the salvage firm a royalty on coal mined.

Their working president is Isaac Unthank who was injured in a mine accident and had to hobble around on crutches. All five directors are working miners.

Rudy Walker, a check-weighman, explained why he likes the setup: "We've got three bosses compared with 14 before. Overhead has been cut to the bone. We lack only 400 tons of coal a day of getting out as much as the former owner hoisted with 300 men." The co-operative now produces 900 tons of coal each day it operates.

Convertible Stops Red Harangue

NEW YORK (AP)—Actions often speak louder than words—even in the propaganda battle between East and West in Berlin. In this case it was the action of a convertible top being run up and down several times which turned the attention of a Berlin crowd from the harangue of a Communist speaker. When he had diverted their attention, James Flint, Religious Affairs Adviser for the West in Berlin, then told the crowd that a lot of average folks in the United States owned such automobiles.

The incident was reported by Al Crews, production chief for the Protestant Broadcasting and Film Commission, who recently returned from Berlin where he tape-recorded interviews with many East-zone refugees for use on a special church program.

GOD'S LIVING LETTERS

By Kirby Page
Sponsored by PERRYTON MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

The misery of an empty life and the longing for work drove Florence Nightingale forward until she became one of the most useful women of all time.

She was born in 1820 and lived for ninety years. She was reared in a home of wealth, privilege and social standing. Young women in her class lived shallow and frivolous lives. Florence was a deeply religious girl. Her diary is filled with the record of her desire to live a holy life. At thirty she wrote: "Now, Lord, let me think only of Thy will."

She confronted a high wall of opposition to her proposal that she devote herself to the nursing of the sick. In that day nurses were looked upon as mental servants on the same level with scrub-women. She persisted in her determination and began visiting hospitals. Then she studied nursing in England and in Germany. The outbreak of the Crimean War in 1854 opened before her unlimited opportunities to respond to her passion of mercy and to use her great gifts as an administrator. She established a new type of war hospital and cut in half the death rate of the wounded.

Miss Nightingale was utterly indifferent to contagion and personally ministered to patients afflicted with the Crimean fever. After six months she herself contracted the dread disease and was brought near to the point of death. Her health was broken and she remained an invalid for the remainder of her long life.

Throughout the earth she came to be known as "The Lady With the Lamp" because of her midnight rounds of the cots of the wounded. One soldier wrote that after she passed by "it was holy as a church." When news of her illness came: "Soldiers turned their faces to the wall and cried." It was said that Florence Nightingale helped men to understand the saints of the Middle Ages.

Freedom from chaos, confusion, and calamity is assured, as it is sought in spiritual instead of material values, stresses the Lesson. Sermon titled "Soul" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 17.

The Psalmist sang, "I have longed for thy salvation, O Lord; and thy law is my delight. Let my soul live, and it shall praise thee, and let thy judgments help me." (Psalms 119: 174, 175), which is the Golden Text.

This thought is further developed in the Bible verse: "It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the Lord" (Lamentations 3:26). And from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read: "We must destroy the false belief that life and intelligence are in matter, and plant ourselves upon what is pure and perfect" (p. 222).

Famous Names on Boys' Ranch Rodeo Card

The Eighth Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo will be held over the Labor Day weekend is scheduled to be a popular event both with the people in this area and the many celebrities who will be on hand to assist the boys.

Included in those expected to enter into the festivities are Roy Rogers' band, the Whippoorwills and Georgia Brown, direct from Hollywood and stars of stage, screen, radio and television, the world renowned Bit and Spur Riding Club of Kansas City, who's members feature silver mounted saddles and bridles on their blue blooded horses and the well-known acrobatics of Bud Lucas and his troupe.

These famous persons will be added attractions for the show, but the rodeo will be put on entirely by the young cowboys from Boys' Ranch. They participate equally well as the professionals in every rodeo event and also present some special acts.

The Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo are the sponsors of the Boys' Ranch Rodeo which will be held in the Tri-State Fair Rodeo Arena. The first performance will be at 2:30 on Sunday, August 31 and the second at 8:00 on Monday, September 1.

A big parade to be held downtown and a grand entry before each show is planned so that everyone will get a chance to see the Boys' Ranchers and the special visitors.

Proceeds from the rodeo will go to the Boys' Ranch expansion program and General Admission tickets which may be used for either performance will be on sale at $1.50 for adults and .75 for children. Reserved seats are priced at $2.25.

The cowboys from the Ranch are excitedly planning for the arrival of their well-known guests and the big two-day affair and hope to entertain a record-breaking crowd at a rodeo that will be bigger and better than ever before.

Tickets for the two performances may be ordered from Boys' Ranch, Box 1890, Amarillo, Tex., or they will be available at B. F.

READY FOR RODEO—One of the Boys' Ranch cowhands trains Aloysius for his part in the coming Eighth Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo. All the young Ranchers will participate in the various events and will be hosts to a number of celebrities who will appear during the two-day rodeo at the Fair Grounds Arena in Amarillo, August 31 and September 1.

True Story of James Brothers Theme of Film

"The Great Missouri Raid," which appears at the Ranger Theatre on Friday and Saturday, traces a career of banditry and bloodshed from its beginnings in Civil War bitterness to its growth into one of America's greatest crime sagas.

It is the true story of Frank and Jesse James, a story known to several generations of Americans by now, but which presents many formerly unknown episodes in the history of the James band.

The story picks up the James brothers near the close of the Civil War as they try to secure Union amnesty for their guerrilla activities. A vindictive Army major whose brother has been killed in an affray with the band stages an abortive ambush as they ride in to surrender, and then hounds them and their families until, in anger and desperation, they take to a life of crime. The succeeding footage unfolds in rapid and brilliant strokes their bold and bloody exploits which culminate in a spectacular train robbery—America's first.

Goodrich, Vance Hall Sporting Goods and Henry Blackburn's Sporting Goods stores in Amarillo and they will be on sale at the Rodeo Arena the two days of the rodeo.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Wernske and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wernske vacationed at points in Colorado last week end.

The battle of a free and vigorous press against the forces of big city corruption, where politics and crime has too often been found to go hand in hand, is pictured in "Deadline—U. S. A.," the new Humphrey Bogart picture which comes Friday and Saturday to the Ellis Theatre.

Bogart, who is reportedly in rare form in the kind of part he is best associated with, plays a crusading editor who will not be intimidated by the rackets machine headed up by boss Thomas Rienz, enacted in the film by the noted stage and screen character actor, Martin Gabel.

Giving sustenance to the Bogart drive are Ethel Barrymore as the reliant publisher of the newspaper he edits and Kim Hunter as the wife who sees her loyalty in a new light as a result of Bogart's efforts.

Russell, Mitchum Star In 'Macao'

Packed with action, and taut with suspense, "Macao," starring Jane Russell, William Bendix and Robert Mitchum, comes Sunday and Monday to the Ellis Theatre.

The story portrays three travelers, caught up in the coils of the teeming Portuguese colony off the China coast.

The three principals arrive simultaneously in Macao; Mitchum, a footloose wanderer trying to escape from a minor scrape back in the states; the glamorous heroine, a cabaret singer and feminine soldier of fortune; Bendix, ostensibly a happy-go-lucky salesman.

The underworld of Macao is ruled by a deadly criminal, played by Brad Dexter, now owner of the leading gaming house, practically ruler of the local police, and thoroughly safe within the three-mile limit, for Macao has no extradition treaties.

Knowing that one of the three new-comers is a police officer sent to bring him back to justice, the racketeer assumes it is Mitchum. In reality, it is Bendix, who, although his disguise as a salesman has protected him, is killed by mistake when assassins knife him instead of Mitchum.

Butcher Serves Donkey Steak

LUANDA, Portuguese Angola (AP)—A Portuguese butcher in Angola started a trade in stolen donkey meat recently.

It is not yet known how many donkeys have been stolen and killed. Local newspaper admitted that nobody in Luanda is sure of not having been served donkey steak during the last several weeks.

Dublin Rodeo Features Roy Rogers Act

DUBLIN, Texas—The Roy Rogers Liberty Act, featuring beautifully matched Palomino horses, will be one of the highlights of the 1952 Pre-Madison Square Garden Rodeo to be staged in Dublin, Texas, nightly Wednesday through Saturday, August 27-28-29-30.

The act is one of the most outstanding liberty horse acts in the world today. The horses are trained and presented by Glenn Randall, trainer of the internationally famous Trigger. Among their many precision drills in a 38-foot diameter ring are such features as the ring-curb march; the old fashioned horse walk; two, four and eight-horse wheel; and finally the grand finale of the Liberty Act.

Satin, the lead horse of the Liberty Act, whose keen intelligence inspires the other horses to perform, is continually heckled by the "ham" act of Elmer. Elmer has the habit of trying to steal the show by just doing half the things he should, when Randall's back is turned.

Dublin's World's Championship ship Rodeo is now in its 13th year. Everett Colburn, who produces the rodeo, live in Dublin. His famous Lightning C. Ranch is the source of the meanest and toughest stock for the biggest rodeos in America. In addition to his New York show in Madison Square Garden, and the World's Championship Rodeo in Dublin, Colburn also directs rodeos in Houston, San Antonio, Midland, San Angelo, Sweetwater, and Gatesville, Texas. In addition he stages events in Carlsbad, N. M., Selma, Ala., Boston, Mass., Ardmore, Okla. and Fort Madison, Iowa. Dublin is the headquarters of the rodeo corporation.

Just before Colburn takes his troupe of cowboys, cowgirls, sponsors and special performers and the rodeo stock and equipment to New York he stages the biggest rodeo of them all—in his home town of Dublin. Advance ticket sales are made to people from almost every state in the union.

Lupino Starred In Melodrama

Drama of an unusual kind is seen "On Dangerous Ground," which comes to the Ranger Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 20-21, starring Ida Lupino and Robert Ryan.

Miss Lupino portrays a blind girl who is devoted to her young brother, a mental case, and Ryan is cast as a two-fisted detective who meets her in the course of his professional duties, and comes to realize that his bitter outlook on life is all wrong.

In its strikingly honest presentation of a police officer's problems, and its thrilling man-hunt sequence across snow-clad mountains, "On Dangerous Ground" offers a convincing background for its intensely human story.
