Resident Of Muleshoe Is Electrocuted

(Special To The Avalanche)

MULESHOE, April 11 — Joe Kenneth Dillard, 20, an employe of the Southwestern Public Service Co., here, and a resident of Muleshoe for slightly more than a year, was killed about 2:30 p. m. today after his body came in contact with a company truck which had accidentally become highly charged with electricity.

Dillard, a lineman for the utility company, was working with a construction crew which was erecting powerline poles in the Lariat community, about 13 miles northwest of Muleshoe.

It was reported that Dillard and several other workers were raising a pole, working it up through the lines, when the pole slipped and the wire on it energized the "A" frame of the company truck below. Dillard, it was understood, stepped backward, and his head touched the truck frame. The heavy electrical charge killed him almost instantly, it was said.

Dillard had been an employe of the company about four years, it was reported, and had formerly lived at Plainview. He was born July 7, 1928, at Petersburg.

Funeral Plans Indefinite

Muleshoe Funeral home reported that funeral arrangements still were indefinite, although it was thought that services would be conducted in the Muleshoe Church of Christ, with J. E. Randol, minister, officiating. The body is at Muleshoe Funeral home. Place of interment was not known.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Freda Dillard; two children, Sandra Beth, 3, and Rita Gail, 9 months; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dillard of Plainview; four brothers, Jim, Buster and Gene, all of Plainview, and Wesley of Silverton; four sisters, Mrs. F. E. Sinclair, Mrs. J. W. Case, and Mrs. Christine Watkins, all of Plainview, and Mrs. S. C. Thompson, of Edmonson, Tex.

Gen. Clay Plans To Quit Post

BERLIN, April 11 (INS) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay said tonight his plans to retire as U. S. military governor in Germany "are definitely made" and implied he may carry them out even before establishment of a West German state.

The American military governor in an exclusive interview with International News Service said that his retirement date will be "independent of when the West German federation is established."

Clay indicated he may retire before then if there is any undue delay in setting up the separate government.

He conceded if this is the case, another U. S. military governor would take over in Germany in the interim period before the arrival and installation of a high commissioner.

Under the West's occupation statute now in the hands of German leaders for their consideration, the United States, Britain and France would replace their military governors with commissioners when a German government is set up.

Clay declared that the occupation statute, which came under sharp Communist attack today, does not slam the door on future Soviet co-operation with the West in Germany but added:

"It will be up to the West government to decide whether the Soviets will be allowed to join (their zone) to a united German government.

Post Boy Hospitalized With Severe Burns

Larry D. Evans, 6-year-old son of Mrs. Clarence Martin of Post, was in critical condition early this morning in Lubbock Memorial hospital as a result of burns suffered early Monday night at Post.

The child, according to hospital attendants was burned "all over his body."

Ambulance drivers from Hudman's Funeral home at Post, who carried the child to the Lubbock hospital about 9 o'clock last night, said they understood his clothing had caught fire while he was playing with other children about an open fire. They said the children were playing with "fireballs," gasoline soaked bundles of rags which are set on fire and twirled at the end of a wire or string.

Members of the family were not available last night for comment upon the incidents which led to the child's injuries.

Senate To Get Pact Today

BY GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Truman tomorrow will ask formal Senate approval of the North Atlantic defense treaty. All indications pointed to an overwhelming vote of ratification.

There was, however, considerable speculation over how far Congress will go in voting funds to re-arm western Europe.

Sen. Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, declared in advance that the foreign arms program must be "co-ordinated" with over-all federal spending. A number of other congressional leaders hold the same view.

Expense To Be Studied

President Truman plans to send a 1,000-word message along with the Atlantic treaty, giving in detail his reasons for asking quick ratification.

The implementing military aid measure — unofficially estimated to total about $1,800,000,000—will be submitted in about a week, barring last-minute Budget bureau complications.

Connally said this expense should be worked into current appropriation estimates of 15 to 16 billions for national defense and the $5,500,000,000 for Marshall plan aid to Europe. He declared:

"It's all one big picture. And it ought to be so arranged that we will not have one conflicting with, or hampering the other."

Nourse's Views Praised

Senate Republican leader Wherry, Neb., took a similar view, asserting that "we should get the whole program on the table, see what we can afford, and then do what we can."

Both men were echoing the sentiments of Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Economic Advisory council. Nourse told a closed-door meeting of top military brass last week that the whole budget would have to be reviewed and reworked to fit in implementation of the Atlantic treaty.

The economist lauded the Atlantic alliance, but said it now be-

Bill To Repeal Taft-Hartley Act Cleared For Debate In House

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The administration bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor act moved one step nearer bitter House debate today.

The Rules committee cleared it for eight hours of general House debate. That means about two days. It is to start April 26.

After general debate, the bill will have to run the gauntlet of attempts to amend it. House members estimated this may put off a final vote for another two or three days. Senate debate probably will not start until several weeks after that.

Dairy Exposition Entries Set Record

Winners Are Named In Plainview Show

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, April 11 — The greatest number of entries in the history of the show were on hand Monday when the judging got underway in the 22nd annual Panhandle - South Plains Dairy Show, and officials said quality of animals also was among the best yet shown.

A total of 502 of the finest registered dairy cattle were signed up before the deadline Saturday night. This figure topped the 1946 record of 435.

There were 190 Jerseys, 175 Milking Shorthorns, 85 Holsteins and 53 Guernseys in the record total.

Both Manuel W. Ayers, general superintendent and Raymond Lee Johns, manager of the show, said that the size of this year's entry list had surpassed their most optimistic expectations. Not only was there a larger number of heifers and bulls entered in the show but the quality was generally above that of previous years. Entrants also came a greater distance this year. The show continues through Friday.

The first day's events devoted to club boys started off with contests in dairy cattle and dairy products judging. Awards were given to school teams all FFA members and to individuals. In cattle judging the Plainview team walked off with the top honors. Other schools in the order of rank were: Tulia, Plains, Dimmitt, Canyon, Hedley, Claude, Muleshoe, Tahoka and Sudan.

The individual honors went to R. Shaw, Sudan, who was also a member of his school's team. A. Orr, Brownfield; V. Thomas, Plainview; L. Moore Plains; E. House, Tulia; M. Jones, Farwell and B. Harris, Hedley, placed in that order.

The dairy products judging first place went to the Clarendon school FFA team and the individual high scorer was Gene White, Plainview, milk division and Stanley Bailey, Hedley, cream.

Other teams and individuals placing in second and third positions were: Hedley and Olton schools; Earl Powell, Olton and Bobby Whitaker, Clarendon, milk; Doyle Littlefield, Clarendon, and Clifford Carlisle, Olton, cream.

Mystery 'Fire Ball' Seen By Air Force Pilot In Delaware

(By The Associated Press)

NEWCASTLE, Del., April 11—An Air Force pilot reported he saw a "ball of fire" fall to the ground near Newcastle.

The CAA said it had no news of any crash.

Police, still investigating, said they have found no evidence of any crash.

Officials of Olmsted field, at Middletown, Pa., reported the unidentified pilot — en route from Washington to Mitchell field, N. Y.—spotted the "ball of fire" at 8,000 feet.

The pilot said he followed the "flash" down to 4,000 feet and then lost trace of it.

Courthouse Plans Near Completion

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

Plans and specifications for Lubbock county's proposed $1,250,000 six-story courthouse will be completed by May 1 and a date for receiving bids on construction contracts may be set at the next commissioners court meeting April 25.

The county commissioners devoted most of Monday afternoon to a conference with L. H. Kirby of Haynes and Kirby, Southwestern Bell Telephone company representative, to work out details of a flexible private branch exchange telephone system for the courthouse.

Kirby told the commissioners plans can be completed by May 1.

The building will face Texas avenue. With overall dimensions of 178 by 96 feet, the building will be set back 63 feet from Texas avenue, leaving space for grounds and trees. The ends will be equidistant from Broadway and Main.

In other action, the commissioners adopted a resolution creating a joint city-county air-zoning board to control heights of buildings in an area within a three-mile radius from the center of Municipal airport.

Forrestal Resting From Overwork

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Navy physicians said today James V. Forrestal, recently retired secretary of defense, is suffering from "occupational fatigue" which is "definitely the result of excessive work during the war and postwar years."

They said he needs rest, and that he is progressing satisfactorily at the Naval Medical center at Bethesda, Md.

Forrestal, 57, has been a patient at Bethesda for 10 days. He was flown there from Florida, where he had gone after turning over his cabinet position to Louis Johnson.

Rear Admiral N. L. Pugh, deputy chief of the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, told reporters that fatigue such as Forrestal is suffering from affects the victims both physically and mentally.

Pugh said, however, that he has talked with Forrestal and the former defense chief "talked very rationally."

Capt. B. W. Hogan, acting medical officer in command at Bethesda, said Forrestal in recent weeks lost 25 pounds.

"At the present time he has marked low blood pressure, a secondary anemia, and a neuromuscular weakeness which is characteristically seen in states of exhaustion," Hogan said.

Earlier, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) had told the House that Forrestal is "a very sick man and probably delirious at times."

Solons Make New Demands For Economy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 11—Congress echoed today with demands for cuts in federal spending. Economy cries rang out in floor debate and in committee.

Members of both parties joined in as some reductions were approved and budget tightening was demanded. This is what happened:

1. The House Appropriations committee chopped $734,680,599 from the bill providing money to run the Veterans administration and 27 other agencies. It left a total of $7,576,886,231 for the year beginning July 1. President Truman had asked $8,311,566,830.

VA Takes Big Slash

The veterans agency took the biggest cut of a half billion dollars. It was left with $5,145,431,940. But while making these reductions, the committee refused to cancel $237,000,000 in hospital building authority, as the Budget bureau suggested.

2. Senator Byrd (D-Va.) and Knowland (R-Calif.) declared they will call for an overhauling of military budget practices. This followed a declaration by former President Herbert Hoover that the armed services had "padded" their money requests. He said it is "almost impossible" to figure out the budgets of Army, Navy and Air Force.

Hoover said waste and extravagance characterize military spending. He submitted a study which told of a $30,000,000 "clerical error" in a National Guard appropriation request. Hoover said the Army asked funds to modernize 102 tanks at $100,000 each, but didn't have the tanks.

GOP Hits Spending

3. Some Democrats and Republicans demanded a reduction of the $5,380,000,000 European recovery bill, being debated in the House. Rep. Taber (R-NY) wanted to knock off 20 percent. He said he would support "reasonable foreign aid" but he challenged the need for the amount asked.

There appeared little chance for a reduction, at least before actual appropriations come up for a vote. The present bill is an authorization, which sets a ceiling on the amount Congress may vote.

4. Republicans sharply criticized the cost of the administration's proposed re-shaping of the federal farm program. GOP cost estimates ran from $5,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 a year. However Secretary of Agriculture Brannan

Crosby Sets Beer Vote For May 7

CROSBYTON, April 11 (Special)—The Crosby County Commissioners court Monday ordered an election to be held May 7 to determine whether or not the sale of beer of not more than four per cent alcoholic content be permitted in Crosby county.

The move had long been rumored and widespread interest has been shown over the South Plains in the circulation of a petition in Crosby county calling for the election.

Ralls Editor Sponsored Move

The petition was presented to the court today, containing 400 signatures. Of the total, 266 names were certified. Only 200 were necessary for the court to take action calling the election.

Earnest Joiner, editor and publisher of The Ralls Banner, and an outspoken foe of what he has termed "open bootlegging" in Crosby county, sponsored the petition "in an effort to settle the issue legally," he explained some time ago when first announcing plans to circulate the petition.

Joiner also explained that there was a question in some Crosby county lawyers' minds as to whether the city of Ralls legally had even been voted dry. In 1941, a technicality involving the commission in the typing of the

Tech Directors Discuss New Building Plans For College

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 11—Texas Tech's board of directors voted here today to accept the sprawling 16,093-acre Pantex ordnance plant near Amarillo from the War Assets administration and discussed at length a proposed building program under provisions of the college building amendment.

But the question of who will replace the three "lame duck" members on the board kept bobbing up throughout the day's meeting. Three members of the board, Kyle Spiller, Jacksboro; O. B. Ratliff, Lubbock; and Robt. Price, El Paso, attended today's meeting only on the insistence of Chairman Chas. C. Thompson after three other members had reported they would be unable to attend. The trio's terms expired on Feb. 19 and Gov. Beauford Jester has failed to submit nominations to the Senate as replacements.

Appointments Delayed

Again today, Jester said he had not made up his mind on the appointments, so Chairman Thompson appointed Ratliff to serve with Chanslor Weymouth, Amarillo, and himself on the Pantex committee.

Acceptance of the Pantex plant contract, carrying 21 WAA stipulations, which if adhered to strictly might be an expensive operation, came from board members after it was explained that several of the stipulations would not have to be carried out to the very letter of their terms.

Tech's President D. M. Wiggins revealed that the Pantex gift was the largest to be made by WAA to an educational institution in the nation and declared that there was a clear understanding between Tech officials and the WAA that the vast plant would be used for agricultural research work only and not operated as a branch of the college.

Buildings Demanded

Weymouth, Thompson and Ratliff will work with Dr. Wiggins in a survey of the vast plant and suggestions on disposal of leases on certain buildings, equipment, etc.

Immediate demands for buildings costing $3,750,000 which would include addition of two wings to the Administration building, a music hall, science building and engineering wing were discussed at length by the board in this afternoon's session, but final ac-

Moon And Earth To Give South Plains Rare Show Tonight

Lubbock and South Plains residents will be given an unusual show tonight when the moon moves to within a mere 222,500 miles of the earth and the earth's shadow, three-quarters of a million miles long, engulfs it in a total eclipse, visible throughout North and South America.

Dr. R. S. Underwood, professor of mathematics at Texas Tech, said last night that partial eclipse begins at 7:32 p. m. Lubbock time, when the moon enters the outer fringe (or penumbra) of the earth's shadow. However, he said, the average person won't see much until 8:28 p. m., when the moon enters the direct shadow (the umbra) and, moving from west to east, will go into total eclipse from 9:28 until 10:54 p. m.

Fair Skies Forecast

However, even at mid-eclipse, the moon will remain visible, Dr. Underwood said, since the earth's atmosphere refracts, or bends, light toward the moon, causing it to give off a dull, ruddy hue.

Although the moon comes out of total eclipse by 10:54, it will be partially eclipsed until after midnight, or 12:50 a. m., to be exact.

Brightness varies considerably because of different atmospheric conditions, such as

One Dead, 14 Hurt As Reservoir Roof Collapses In California

SANTA MONICA, Calif. April 11 (AP)—With a deafening roar the concrete roof of a five million gallon city reservoir collapsed today, killing one workman and injuring 14.

The body of Robert Lacy, 62, killed his first day on the new construction job, was recovered after 50 frantic workmen dug for three hours. Fire Chief Charles N. Carrell said he had been crushed and apparently died instantly.

Of the other 14, some were partly buried, others thrown from the roof to the ground 15 feet below.

Work Rushed On New Arms, Official Says

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11—David E. Lilienthal disclosed in top secret testimony made public today that the United States developed "important" and "successful" new atomic weapons in 1948.

The Atomic Energy commission chairman urged that America continue to stockpile her A-bombs to deter any aggressor nation.

Lilienthal's hush hush testimony, only parts of which were published, was made before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Changes Are Made

The atomic energy chief reported that the major activity of the commission in 1948 "continued to be the production and improvement of atomic weapons." Lilienthal asserted:

"Important changes were made in all these fields in 1948.

"New designs of weapons have been tested and found to be successful and further developments are now in progress."

Meanwhile, the House Appropriations committee slashed nine per cent from President Truman's money request for 29 independent federal agencies, including the atomic Energy commission.

The committee voted $7,576,886,231 for the 1950 fiscal year starting July 1. This was $1,734,680,599 below Mr. Truman's request.

Secrecy Surrounds Hearing

Hardest hit by today's action was aid for veterans, which was cut by $500,000,000, leaving the veterans' administration $5,145,431,940.

The Atomic Energy commission got $1,090,120,399, a slash of $76,879,603 in budget requests.

Conditions of utmost secrecy surrounded Lilienthal's appearance before the subcommittee hearing AEC money needs.

At times during his testimony members of his own staff were asked to leave the hearing. Commission officials also frequently "went off the record" in answering questions.

Bombs Don't Deteriorate

Lilienthal warned that American monopoly on the industrial "know-how" of making A-bombs "will surely not be an indefinite one."

He reported that last year 20 atomic energy plants were under construction or major alteration.

Lilienthal declared, in response to questions, that there is no deterioration of stored plutonium and uranium, key elements of atomic energy.

He said that for this reason

Trial Opens On Farmer's Claim Blowing Sand Damaged Wheat

A "DUST MULCH" on land farmed in Deaf Smith county by G. K. Horton was moved in a heavy windstorm so that it damaged growing wheat on the adjoining land of Charlie Hooper several hundred yards, it was testified Monday afternoon in 99th district court.

Hooper is suing Horton, Lubbock man and former county commissioner, for damages in connection with a claim that Horton's land blew in 1945 through 1947 onto Hooper's land.

Horton was called by the plaintiff as an adverse witness. He was followed to the stand by Hugh Clearman, Deaf Smith county agricultural agent, then by Clarence Davis, former Deaf Smith county deputy sheriff, both of Hereford.

Clearman and Horton were questioned exhaustively into the methods of Deaf Smith wheat farmers in their plowing — as to whether so-called one-way plows prevent dust erosion as well as chisel and lister plowing. Clearman, particularly, was called upon to define the differences in the methods. One-way plowing usually is done by disking shallowly, it

Officials Report Child Trapped In Old Well Died Of Suffocation

By OWEN CALLIN
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 11—The coroner's office announced tonight that Kathy Fiscus suffocated in the old abandoned well from which her body was recovered late Sunday after a dramatic rescue attempt that wrung the heart of the nation.

Victor Wallace of the coroner's office denied first reports that the 3½ year-old youngster drowned in seepage water at the base of the tube, or that she might have been strangled by a rescuer's rope.

Wallace said:

"There were brush burns and abrasions of the face, right arm, right side and upper back. No bones were broken and there was no evidence of any rope having been around any part of the body."

The findings ended widespread rumors that a rope thrown down the well after she had fallen at 5 p. m. Friday had settled around her neck and that she had strangled to death when rescuers attempted to pull her to the surface.

Funeral services for the tiny blue-eyed girl will be held at 11

Sforza Asks UN Trusteeship For Former Italian African Colonies

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 11—Italian Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza appealed to the United Nations today for generosity and asked a UN trusteeship for Italy over Somaliland, Tripolitania and Eritrea.

Sforza said present day Italy is not to blame for the former Fascist regime.

With Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Britain's Hector McNeil and John Foster Dulles as U. S. delegate listening attentively, Sforza said:

African Re-Awakening Cited

"The problem today is not to punish a nation like Italy, which in spite of enormous difficulties, both political and economical, has regained its peace and has been received as an ally by some of the greatest nations of the world.

"It would be more true to say that the problem which confronts us today is among the most complex in contemporary history: It is the problem of the re-awakening of the peoples of Asia and Africa."

The white-bearded statesman carefully steered away in his first appearance before the United Nations from aligning himself with the viewpoint on the African territories expounded last Saturday by Gromyko.

Vigorous Debate Likely

Sforza remained tactily silent on strategic Cyrenaica, over which Britain wants to remain the administrator. He stood at odds with Anglo-American policy by asking for Eritrea, which the western powers said should go to Ethiopia.

Argentina, Peru and Colombia lined up fairly close to count Sforza's demands. This foreshadowed a vigorous debate, with a strong bloc in deviation from Anglo-American policy. France last week defined a policy close to the basic lines enunciated by Sforza.

Arabs Side With Italy

With the Arab world likely to lean close to the Italian viewpoint for reasons of their own, the 58-nation Political committee now grappling with the problem of African territories may have to refer the issue to a working committee. Gromyko called for all former Italian colonies to be placed under the UN Trusteeship council, which would give the Soviet Union an administrative toehold in Africa.

In pleading against the partitioning of Libya insofar as Tripolitania is concerned, Sforza reminded the committee that "the peace of the world is still in danger."

Selection Of Jury Starts At Franklin

FRANKLIN, April 11 (AP)—Selection of a jury was begun today in the trial of S. B. Jones, charged with the $81,000 worthless check swindle of Franklin's First State bank.

Earlier, Judge W. S. Barron overruled a motion by the defense to throw out the indictments against Jones.

In six indictments, returned Feb. 21, Jones is charged with defrauding the bank. The loss was a major cause of the bank merging Dec. 18, 1948, with the First National Bank of Franklin.

The defense lawyers based their motion to quash the indictments on two allegations:

1. That three of the grand jurymen who indicted Jones had not paid their poll taxes.

2. That the district clerk failed to record the indictments on the minutes of the court.

During the Thanksgiving holidays last year, the First State Bank of Franklin cashed $81,000 in worthless checks. The checks were drawn on another bank.

Jones, a former Hearne, Tex., insurance man, was arrested in Mexico near Matamoros Dec. 14, 1948.

Besides his insurance business, he was engaged in business in the Rio Grande valley, selling used cars, refrigerators and barbed wire to Latin American countries.

Ten new gas wells were completed during the week to build the year's total to 208, 41 ahead of year-ago figure for the comparable period.

Ten oil wildcats and five gas wildcats were among the week's completions.

Washington Woman Falls To Death In Amarillo Bus Station

AMARILLO, April 11. (U.P.)—Mrs. Mary E. Parks, Yakima, Wash., died at a bus depot here yesterday while enroute to Chickasha, Okla., to visit a son. She and a fellow passenger were conversing when Mrs. Parks apparently suffered a heart attack. She fell forward, her head striking a sharp object. Physicians said the head blow, rather than a possible heart attack caused her death.

Her sons, E. L. Parks, Yakima and Gary Parks, Port Arthur, were enroute to Amarillo today. The name of the Chickasha son was not learned immediately.

SAN ANGELO, April 11. (AP)—The murder trial of O. D. Northcutt, 43, of Amarillo, was continued in 112th District court here today until Monday, May 9.

Northcutt's attorney, George McCarthy of Amarillo, said he needed additional time to prepare the defendant's defense. Northcutt pleaded innocent when the case was called today before Judge J. B. Randolph of Fort Stockton.

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

Follow good neighbor
Reece
Around the Clock

From 4 to midnight, Sanford M. Reece works at a South Bend radio station—the high spot of his busy day's program!

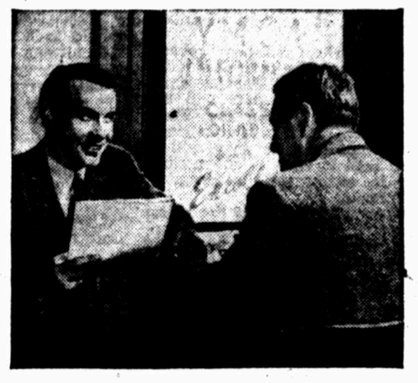

You'll see how to get a lot of living out of 24 hours of day!

How to support a family in spite of high living costs . . . how to become a good neighbor in an "adopted city". . . how to make the kids tolerant, useful citizens—These were the problems that faced Sandy Reece when he moved to South Bend, Indiana, four years ago.

To solve them would be a large order. And like everyone else, he had only 24 hours a day to do it in! Was there a way to make every minute count? Could he find time to earn extra money, help out in community projects, be a good father, too . . . ?

From 9 to noon, Sandy writes radio shows at home. Such free-lance jobs, plus extra broadcasts, radio writing class at Notre Dame, add $1250 a year to his regular pay as announcer. Wife Ginny handles files, helps schedule his time.

Afternoons, Sandy devotes time to his town! He helped arrange YMCA's adult education program, produced school pageant. "Working with your neighbors, you feel more at home," he says.

"Puppet time" for Sandra and Buddy! They're making puppets of their own, and planning a show for neighborhood kids! The Reeces believe that doing things as a family helps the children feel secure.

Between his shows at the radio station, Sandy is active in South Bend's little theatre group. It's a big source of inexpensive fun for him and Ginny. A drama major when he was at college, Sandy directs, Ginny acts, they build the stage sets together . . . and South Bend citizens get good plays!

Like their hours, they "stretch" their money! By such things as smart use of leftovers, Ginny feeds the whole family on $20 a week. House costs $65 a month. Their life insurance program is budgeted at $60 a month. It was planned with their life insurance agent to include "college fund" for Sandra, Buddy and little Robin. By planning this future for his family and arranging his time to do more than just his job, Sandy Reece is a good neighbor—and a good citizen!

Time for fun with the kids is in Sandy's program too! He's an amateur movie fan. In time to come, his family hopes the novel he's writing will be a best-seller!

U. S. Air Force Still Welcomes Information On Strange Objects

By GEORGE MOISE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11—The United States Air Force has clamped a lid of secrecy on its investigation of reported "flying saucers," which recently were reported to be Russian guided missiles.

The Air Force accepted all responsiblity for investigation of the phenomena after they created a nationwide sensation almost two years ago. At that time the USAF said it would welcome any reliable information on "flying saucers."

Should Report Information

Reliable information is still welcome, regardless of its source and Air Force officials said they would be glad to receive any pertinent data.

The Air Force is known to feel that it is the duty of any citizen having what he considers important information on the subject to report it to official circles.

The Russian guided missile report of last week broke a long silence on the subject, but the USAF maintained its secrecy. In a carefully qualified statement, it said:

Some Incidents Mysterious

"Many of the reported incidents have been definitely determined to be meteorological balloons or natural celestial phenomena. However, there are some incidents reported by reliable and competent observers which are still unexplained."

It was learned that secrecy has been imposed for two reasons.

First, any investigation into the possibility that the reported saucers might be guided missiles involves investigation of the United States' own missile program, which is in the top secret classification.

Second, the Air Force didn't know just how much it might find out in its investigation, nor whether it would find anything. It is standard, if not official, military practice to make such matters secret. Some observers suggested that the USAF is keeping the matter a secret because it doesn't know anything itself.

Hoax Also Explained

The Air Force refused to expand on the "incidents reported by reliable and competent observers which are still unexplained." It was assumed, however, that one such incident was that of the airline pilot who first reported in the summer of 1947 that he saw mysterious saucerlike flying objects. He said he followed the objects without being able to identify them.

At the same time it was known that the USAF has sorted out the vast number of fantastic and imaginative reports received. These include one in which a Wisconsin prankster tossed a circular saw blade over a garden wall, only to have it reported as a mysterious missile that descended from the stratosphere.

Another incident resulted in "exile" for an Air Force public relations officer in the West. This enthusiastic gentleman, without prior reference to Washington, announced to local newsmen that he had found a "flying saucer."

The "saucer" turned out to be part of a weather balloon assembly which had fallen to earth.

STRIPES—Peter Russell, designer, shows a sage green cloth suit with candy-striped hat, gloves, blouse and sunshade at a television show staged by London designers in Alexandra Palace.

Spring Lamb Prices Set All-Time Record

CHICAGO, April 11 (INS)—Spring lamb prices advanced to an all-time nigh of $40 per hundredweight today at the East St. Louis, Ill., livestock market.

The price, a record high for the nation's markets, was paid for small lots of choice spring lambs for the eastern trade.

The previous high at St. Louis was $33.50, paid in July, 1948.

While spring lambs were as much as $7 higher than last week at St. Louis, the general market there was strong to 50 cents higher than Friday's average.

Hog Prices Drop

Hog prices meanwhile, continued to skid on slow buying.

Indianapolis reported hogs 25 to 75 cents lower than last Friday with top $19.75 a hundredweight, the lowest since OPA controls were removed in October, 1946.

Hogs were 25 to 50 cents lower at Chicago. Practical top was $20, the lowest level since February 9. A few sold up to $20.25. In February, prices were the lowest since Oct. 15, 1946.

St. Louis reported hogs mostly 25 to 50 cents lower than late last week. Top was $19.25.

Cattle and lamb prices were irregular at most major markets.

Culberson Sees End To Oil Shortages For United States

AUSTIN, April 11 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson predicted today that "very shortly it will be possible to forget about any oil shortages in the United States.

Culberson issued a statement following an announcement that the Small Business Men's committee of Congress will meet May 25-26 in Dallas. The committee will look into the effects of foreign oil imports on the American oil industry, particularly from the angle of small independent producers.

Culberson pointed out the various actions of the commission since last October in its effort to conserve oil and gas and to stabilize the industry.

IN NO HURRY TO CHANGE

LEHIGHTON, Pa. (U.P.) — Louis Dubenow, a traveling salesman from Los Angeles, was picked up driving a car with 1947 plates. Dubenow, police said, had been using the license for 15 months and was carrying the 1948 and 1949 tags with him. He was fined $10.

MONTREAL April 11 (AP)—Gypsy, a 19-inch tall monkey with an 18-inch tail, was trying to cadge a beer from her beer hall owner, Ed Fyfe, when a tipsy customer tickled her tummy.

Gypsy bit the customer. The customer walloped Gypsy. Fyfe socked the customer.

The story came out today in police court where Mrs. Fyfe said she was convinced that it was all part of a Saturday night plot to kidnap Gypsy.

Actress Is 'Central Figure' In Hollywood Night Club Fight

HOLLYWOOD, April 11 (INS) Curvaceous Ava Gardner today admitted being the central figure in a one-punch night club fight between Howard Duff, "Sam Spade" of the radio, and playboy Don Junior.

Ciro's ultra-exclusive fistic arena was the scene of the short bout which occurred Sunday morning.

Junior threw the punch, witnesses said, and before Duff could counter, it was over as waiters separated the "gladiators."

POOR PALEFACED POLLY!

*Maybe her paleness comes from a Borderline Anemia

Girls who look pale and unhealthy are usually more pitied than popular. And their energy and their dispositions seem to suffer, right along with their looks.

That's true—but did you know that faded red blood cells are often the cause of fading color and vigor? If you're too pale and tired, you may have a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Medical studies reveal that up to 68% of women—many men and children—have this tiring blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes—always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded, shrunken and faggedout blood cells. To feel better—to look better—to act more alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor, who is on a two months European tour has sent back the first of a series of columns which she will write during her absence. The column is written about her brief stay in New York but was mailed in Europe.)

NEW YORK—We think Texans in New York like nothing better than to find someone who likes their state and its residents. And thus it was on the day before the writer, Miss Ruth E. Ford and Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Pointe, Mich., sailed aboard the Nieuw Amsterdam for Europe that we accepted an invitation from Roland C. Irvine, vice president of the Chase National bank, to pay a visit to his office, where we spent a delightful two hours and were his luncheon guests in a private dining room at the bank.

Mr. Irvine has visited Texas a number of times and in fact is a native of our neighboring state Arkansas. He calls his office "Texans' headquarters" and it must be that all right, because before we left we met Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dowd of Corpus Christi who came by to say hello before leaving for Bermuda.

The genial banker is a dead ringer for Jim Farley, which he says he believes because he is so often mistaken for him and carrying the likeness past actual looks in a large frame, beaming face and bald head, Mr. Irvine has a remarkable faculty for remembering names and places and tells one quick story after another.

WHEN we came back to the Roosevelt after a delay at the American Express office awaiting the arrival of our entry visa for France, we found a notice to call Erich Brandeis at Westport. Conn. Mr. Brandeis, whom we met and liked immediately on a visit to New York in 1946, had just read the Sunday paper telling of the proposed trip and he called to offer his services in obtaining press privileges. The next day he came by the hotel on his way to a luncheon and we briefly outlined our trip and chatted again of our mutual liking for Lubbock, its people and the Charlie Guys. Mr. Brandeis has been watching his diet since he had a flareup with his heart and he looks quite fit.

Gordon Gaines took us to lunch and, as always, we were glad to see the handsome young man from Lubbock who is combining a career with studies toward a degree from Juilliard.

THERE is something exciting about the sight of a ship's departure if you are viewing it in the movies but much of the glamour is lost if you have spent a hectic hour in getting your baggage aboard and gone from pillar to post in declaring your camera, as requested (which we were told, when we finally got to the last office, was not necessary since it was made and bought in America.) In the rush of the last minute, the writer misplaced her cosmetic case. Since we had determined not to worry about anything we were more or less resigned to the loss, but about two hours after the ship sailed we saw an attendant hurrying along the corridor with the case and we claimed it.

We stayed on deck until the Statue of Liberty had faded into that greenish-gray mist peculiar to harbors and then went below. The hectic rush of the week before in working, in getting ready to go and in saying goodbye to relatives and friends had caused us to feel as taut as violin strings and when we went below we were almost overcome with the beauty of our cabin. Our friends at the Chase National bank had sent orchids and a bon voyage basket of fruits and candy (in addition to having bought tickets to the clever musical comedy, "Kiss Me Kate" the night before) and friends from Lubbock, Dumas and New York also showered us with baskets of delicacies and flowers. Our cabin was not exactly the size of a bridal suite but it looked like one that night and we sat on our bunks and were enjoying the beauty of the gifts when the steward arrived with a sheaf of "good sailing" telegrams and letters.

We were the happiest passengers on the good ship that night. Our laugh of delight could be heard down three corridors when we rang for the elevator to go to our first meal aboard and discovered a gigantic basket of flowers from ten club friends that had been placed there while a hectic hall hand was dashing about on other duties. He may have wondered what happened to the flowers, but if he reads this he will learn that we made the room delivery for him.

IT was our luck to draw a waiter who neither spoke nor read English and we more or less left our ordering to him when we discovered he brought us what he wanted us to have. The food was excellent and we have an idea that Mr. Brandeis was right when he said we likely would gain ten pounds on the excellent Dutch meals.

Pathetic Story Is Told

Parents' Precautions May Save Lives Of Children

By ELLEN MILLER
Of the Woman's Staff

Little Kathy Fiscus is dead.

Probably every parent in Lubbock has heard the pathetic story of the three-year-old California tot who tumbled into an abandoned well and was found dead despite almost incredible efforts to rescue her.

And probably every mother who heard the story held her own children close for a moment, and perhaps breathed a silent prayer that these very special children would be spared accidental death in childhood.

People are shocked, that the well was left unplugged, its jaws waiting to swallow a child alive. People are always shocked after a preventable accident occurs.

Accidents Probable

All in all, it is improbable that a child in this area would fall into an unplugged well. But it is highly probable that in the coming months children in this area will shoot themselves with "unloaded" guns, will drown because they have not learned to swim, will be run over because they have not learned to watch for cars, and will be poisoned because parents have carelessly left cigarettes, shoe polish, lye and adult medicine around where children can reach them.

One-fifth of all accidental poisonings occur during the second year of life. And materials most frequently responsible are ordinary household items, such as laxative and tonic pills that contain strychnine, kerosene, gasoline, benzine, oil of wintergreen, lye, insect and rat poisons and nicotine in cigarettes and insect sprays. One eaten cigarette or a teaspoon of gasoline can be dangerous for a one-year-old.

The "no no" system may be all right in teaching children not to tear up books and not to eat all the cookies in the jar, but it is not dependable in teaching them to keep away from poisons. Materials that are truly dangerous should be kept out of a baby's reach, under lock and key if necessary. That cabinet under the sink may be a convenient place for cleaning powders, ammonia and shoe polish, but it may be a death trap if a toddler gets into the kitchen.

And poisons, of course, are not the only items that can hurt a baby. Guns should be kept totally out of grabbing distance. Kitchen knives should be kept out of reach. And babies should be taught early not to run with sharp pointed pencils, scissors or other sharp instruments.

Infants should not be left alone in a tub of water . . . if the child can't be taken out of the tub into a cold room, its mother should just let the telephone ring. Whoever it is will call back, but if baby drowns in a few inches of water while mother answers the telephone, there is very little that can be done.

Electric cords should be kept in good condition, and babies should not be allowed to chew them. Unused electric plugs should be covered, either with a "blind" or with Scotch tape. Empty talcum powder cans are not suitable toys, for the powder remaining in an "empty" can is capable of causing a lung disorder if sucked into the lungs.

Broken glass should not be allowed to accumulate around the house. And babies should be kept away from strange dogs and other pets when the child is at an age when he might frighten or hurt the animal. Screens on upstairs windows should be securely fastened.

Others Not Accident-Proof

These precautions are for the very young. But older children are hardly accident-proof.

All children should learn to swim, and should not be permitted out on a lake in a boat until they are proficient. Wading, even in a familiar lake, is dangerous until a child can swim, because there is always danger of an unexpected hole on the lake bottom where a child could suddenly sink into water over his head.

By the time a boy is old enough to go hunting with his father, he is old enough to learn how to handle a gun, including laying it down on the ground while he goes through a fence.

And before a youngster is permitted to take the family car alone, he should have been taught safety very thoroughly. Not only should parents urge safety when their own children are driving, but they should encourage their offspring not to ride with other reckless drivers.

Parents should know a little about first aid treatment. Information can be obtained from the family physician that may in an emergency, save a life.

There is something bitterly heartbreaking about the death of a happy child.

Not all fatal accidents that befall children are as spectacular as the one that claimed little Kathy Fiscus . . . but many would be just as easily preventable, and all are as cruel to the ones who love the child.

GRAIN PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Near-Record Winter Wheat Crop Of Over Million Bushels Seen

WASHINGTON, April 11 (U.P.)—The Agriculture department today forecast production of 1,019,886,000 bushels of winter wheat this year.

That would be the second largest winter crop in history. It compares with last winter's crop of 990,098,000 bushels and the record high of 1,068,048,000 in 1947. The winter crop during the 10 years (1938-47) averaged 726,553,000 bushels.

Record Supply Seen

The forecast, based on April 1 growing conditions, raised the prospect that U. S. wheat supplies this year may be the biggest ever. If so, production controls may have to be imposed on next year's crop. Producers are required to accept controls when surpluses begin developing or sacrifice government price support guarantees.

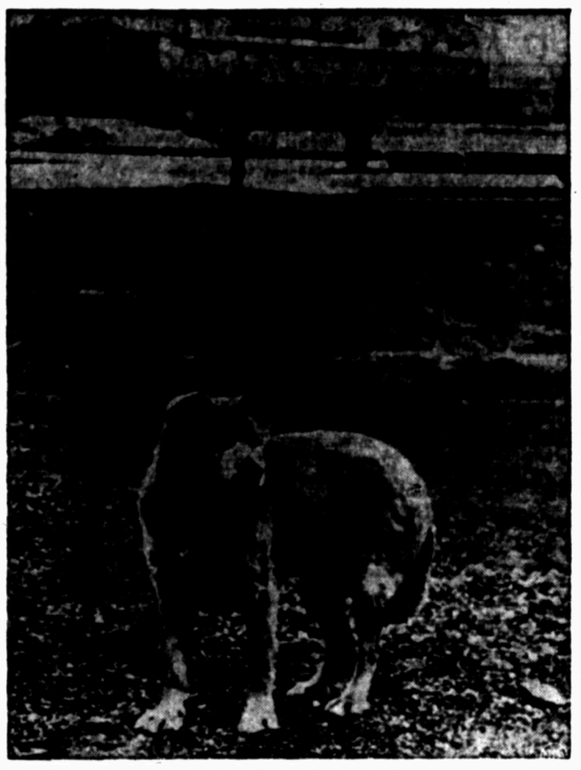

The forecast today was a boost of 55,000,000 bushels over the production estimate made last December. The yield per seeded acre was forecast at 16.6 bushels.

Spring Crop Not Estimated

No estimate of the spring crop was given because it still is being planted. If the farmers carry out their spring planting intentions, the department has estimated the spring crop, given average yields, would total 291,000,000 bushels.

That would boost total wheat production for the year to 1,311,000,000 bushels. Only once before have farmers produced more wheat than that — 1,367,000,000 bushels in 1947. Last year's crop was 1,228,000,000 bushels.

A total crop of that size — when added to the reserve stocks of 300,000,000 expected to be left over from last year's crop—would bring the total supply for the marketing year beginning next July 1 to 1,611,000,000 bushels.

HE COVERS THE WATERFRONT—Last June chief engineer Sigvald Faines sailed aboard this Norwegian tanker from Elizabeth, N. J., and left his dog, Brownie, who overstayed his shore leave, behind. After nearly 10 months of waiting for his master's return, Brownie is still a one-man dog. He meets every incoming tanker, sniffs at the crew, but rejects any offer of friendship. Nobody knows where Faines is, but faithful Brownie still takes up his waterfront post just in case.

Witnesses Testify In Suicide Of Soldier At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, April 11 (AP)—Five persons told Sheriff Hammett Vance they saw Master Sgt. Milton Wyatt of Fort Sill, Okla., shoot himself to death here today.

The sergeant, walking down the old Burk road, raised a .32 caliber Belgian automatic to his chest and pulled the trigger, they said.

He was dead before an ambulance got there.

Wyatt, identified from papers in the pocket of his uniform was wearing several combat ribbons.

H. M. Newman, justice of the peace, returned an inquest verdict of suicide.

Lubbock Insurance Salesman Picked For Firm's Honor Roll

J. R. Eagan, Lubbock representative of Amicable Life Insurance Co., has been nominated for the all-star honor roll chosen annually by the Insurance Salesman, trade magazine, according to information received here Monday.

The roll is composed of one field representative nominated by his company as its outstanding man of the year. Eagan's selection was based on his sale last year of more than $500,000 in new insurance. An article by Eagan, "I Avoid Canned Talks," appears in the same issue of the publication.

Alger Hiss Perjury Trial Reset May 2

NEW YORK, April 11. (INS)—Trial of Alger Hiss on perjury charges stemming from the Whittaker Chambers spy probe was postponed today, for the third time, to May 2.

Both Thomas J. Donegan, special assistant U. S. attorney general, and Hiss' attorney, Edward McLean, agreed to the postponement.

Hiss, now on leave as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, was named in a two-count indictment returned by a special New York federal grand jury investigating Communist espionage.

Both Hiss and Chambers, admitted former Communist courier, testified before the jury.

Snake Interferes With Radio Broadcast At McAllen Station

McALLEN, April 11 (U.P.)—A lower Rio Grande valley radio station went off the air yesterday because of one too many cables.

Engineer Maurice Cofer was on duty at station KRIO in McAllen when his station suddenly went off the air. He looked around and saw an arc among the five cables.

Then he remembered the station had only four cables in the first place.

The fifth cable, the one causing all the trouble, was a three-foot blacksnake.

Cofer pried the snake out, killed it, and the station went back about its business of broadcasting.

Car Without Motor Poses Tough Problem For Fort Worth Judge

FORT WORTH, April 11 (U.P.)—City Judge William Gilmartin faced a tough question today, to wit:

Can a policeman issue a traffic ticket for operation of an automobile without a license when the vehicle doesn't have a motor?

But the judge disposed of it smoothly. When he learned the defendant was only 16, he said the case would be turned over to county juvenile authorities.

When stopped, the youth told the officer the vehicle had no motor. The dubious officer looked under the hood and found the boy was right. He had started the vehicle from the top of a hill and was coasting downhill.

Tavern Keeper Convicted In Bandera Killing To Ask New Trial

SAN ANTONIO, April 11. (AP)—Vance West's attorney, Will Morris, sr., said today he would ask a new trial for West soon.

West was convicted in district court at Jourdanton yesterday of slaying Bink West. He got five years in prison.

The men were not related but were former business partners. The shooting occurred in a Bandera tavern last Aug. 12.

SAPPORO, Japan, April 9. (AP)—From the hills of atomb-bombed Nagasaki to the snow-clad peaks of Hokkaido, the cry of "swing your partners" rings out as Japan takes to the square dance.

Responsible for the vogue is Winfield Niblo of Denver. An employe of the civil information and education section of the military government, he teaches square dancing as a sideline, just for fun. The Japanese love it.

For the last couple of years the pastime has been restricted to the southern islands, where Niblo formerly was stationed, but now he has brought it to this northern territory.

Royalty Takes Try

On a recent weekend Princes Takamatsu and Mikasa, brothers of the emperor, were persuaded to try it. In Sapporo for a ski meet, they visited the municipal auditorium where Niblo and Agnes Morris of Philadelphia were instructing 1,000 Japanese.

"Four young ladies provided expert instruction for the princess and appeared bothered not at all by their royal partners," said Niblo. "The girls pushed them this way and pulled them that way with reckless abandon."

Princess Win Applause

With the six-piece city hall band turning out recognizable facsimiles of "Little Brown Jug," "O Susanna," and "Nellie Gray," the princess won what the local paper called "thunderous clapping of hands" from the spectators.

"The princess breezed through the Virginia reel like a couple of native Virginians," said Niblo.

Prince Takamatsu said afterward he like the "friendly atmosphere" at the dance, while Mikasa said he'd like for his family to join the fun some time.

McNUTT PLANS TRIP

NEW YORK, April 11. (AP) — Paul V. McNutt said today he would leave Wednesday on an extended visit throughout the Far East.

VISIT AIRLINER—Shown as they left a Pioneer airliner are several of a group of second grade students of Roscoe Wilson school, who visited Municipal airport Monday as one of the culminating activities in a transportation unit of study. From left to right, they are: Geraldine Morgan and John Williams, front row; Lovetta Hopkins and Bob Nance Evans, second row; Bob Hall and Mary DeShazo, third row; Hal Normand and Linda Haynie, fourth row, and Lynn Daughtrey and Betsy Garrett, back, partially hidden. Twenty-nine students were taken to the airport in a Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches bus. They were accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Collinsworth, teacher, and Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal. Three second grade classes are studying transportation. A class taught by Mrs. Cecil Lofland visited the airport last week and a class taught by Miss Trula Maud Jetton made a train trip recently. # Endurance Fliers Near Record Mark Over California

FULLERTON, Calif., April 11 (INS) — Endurance fliers Dick Riedel and Bill Barris were circling over the Fullerton airport late today after completing the nation's first non-stop, round-trip coast-to-coast flight.

The fliers are less than 100 hours away from breaking the 726-hour endurance record for small planes.

The plane arrived from Tucson, Ariz., at 2:00 p. m. this afternoon. At that time they had logged 650 hours.

Two hours later, they maintained the steady flight after loading up with fuel from tanks lifted into the plane from the top of a speeding jeep.

The pair took off on March 15 bound for Tampa, Fla. They made the flight in easy stages, circling over a number of airports as they refueled via the pickup method.

Riedel and Barris plan to remain aloft an additional two weeks after breaking the record.

If the plane continues at its current pace, the fliers will equal the record at 10:00 a. m. (CST) Thursday.

Hubbers Pound Out 10-4 Win Over Vernon

Abilene To Be Host Tonight

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

VERNON, April 11. — A slim crowd of approximately 100 sat through a cold game here tonight as Lubbock's Hubbers defeated Vernon, 10-4, in an exhibition game that was called by mutual agreement after the seventh inning. The temperature was in the low forties.

Herby Pitts turned in a nice performance on the mound, but in the third inning he got into trouble as the Vernon team got to him for four hits, three walks, and four runs, along with an error. But in the final four innings only four men reached base.

Veterans stood out for the Hubbers, and Jackie Wilcox collected two hits and knocked in four runs. Frank McAlexander hit safely twice in three times at bat. Newcomer Al Duarte, playing his first game for the Hubbers, hit three for four.

Lubbock exploded for four runs in the first and sewed up the game in the third with four more.

McAlexander singled to lead off and went to second on a passed ball. Bubba Kaine walked and Mike Dooley doubled to left center scoring McAlexander and sending Kaine to third. Pitts walked, and Wilcox drilled a single to right field scoring Kaine and Dooley and sending Pitts to third.

Pearson grounded into a double play, the lone double-killing of the day, Pitts crossing the plate on the play. Duarte beat out a hit to third base. Jim Prince hit, but Joe Wisniewski fanned to end the inning in which the Hubbers batted around.

Pitts picked a man off first base in the first inning in a good play, and Mike Dooley made a fine throw to Wilcox in the second inning to catch Don Vietch sleeping off base in the second. Kaine made a great stop behind second of Lou Ehlinger's drive, and threw to Wilcox to force a runner at second base in an almost impossible stop of the ball.

Royce Mills, veteran Hubber pitcher, coaching at first base, was thumbed off the field in the sixth inning for protesting a decision at first.

Tuesday night the Hubbers stop in Abilene for a game before coming on to Lubbock Wednesday.

LOCKNEY, April 11. (Special)—Lockney boxers defeated Plainview High school fighters, 9-3, in bouts here tonight before a good crowd.

In the 157 pound class Jerry McCullock, Lockney, scored a KO of Kelly Bowers of Plainview in the second round of a very fast fight, and Don Booth, 134, decisioned Bill Bailey, Plainview, in one of the best fights of the night and one that had the crowd very excited.

TULSA ADDS MCMURRY

TULSA, Okla., April 11 (AP)—The University of Tulsa announced tonight McMurry college of Abilene, had been added to its school's 1949 football schedule. The game, to be played here Saturday night, Sept. 17, as the season's opener, gives Tulsa six home contests on an 11-game card.

Diamond Squad Invades Altus

Westerner Track And Baseball Teams Face Heavy Weekend

A big weekend looms for the Westerner track and baseball teams. On Friday the track squad competes in the preliminaries of the South Plains Relays and the baseball team plays the first of three games with Altus, Okla.

Saturday at the Texas Tech oval, the cinder squad made a good showing in the district meet, winning nine first places in the events and tieing for another first. High man of the meet was Donald Decker who won the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and the 200-yard low hurdles.

Face Stiffer Competition

But this week the competition will be much stiffer, and the locals will be doing good to place in the first three positions in team standings. Near top shape should be reached this week if the weather continues fair and warm, and most of the injured sprinters have recovered from sprained muscles.

Malcolm Young, who last week was limping from a pulled muscle, finished second in the 220-yard dash in the district meet. And Wayne Stroud is regaining his strength after being sidelined with a throat infection several weeks ago.

LUBBOCK NINE TO FACE TOUGH FOE AT ALTUS

Coach Fred Taylor's baseball team has won its eighth straight contest, that being a 12-1 victory over an independent team from Texas Tech.

But this week the high school nine will be up against its toughest opponent of the season thus far. The Oklahoma team has been a consistent power in high school circles and should be a match for the Westerners. One game will be played at 8 o'clock Friday night, one Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and the other at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Only two starting pitchers will be available for the three games with Altus. Mac Taylor dropped from the squad yesterday, and Jim Wilson is no longer coming out for the team. That leaves Jimmy Hamilton and Lefty Bennie Day, a sophomore.

Pitchers In Good Form

Thus far the two boys have shown promise as pitchers and have been partly responsible for the good record of the team to date. Hamilton has been consistent all season, and Day has been developing fast after a slow start; however, he still has a long way to go, being rather wild at times. When he conquers his wildness, he should be a valuable pitcher.

Coach Taylor said that he may have to rearrange his lineup to have enough pitchers to last throughout the three-game series. Morris Turner, now catching, may be called upon to go four or five innings on the mound, and Charles Galey, Jimmy Sexton, and Jimmy Richards are other possible prospects.

An intra-squad game may be played today at Chapman field diamond, provided several new players can be rounded up. Only 17 boys are on the roster at present.

Washington Clips Minneapolis In Basketball 'World Series'

WASHINGTON, April 11 (INS)—The underdog Washington Caps grabbed their second victory from Minneapolis tonight, 74 to 65, in the fifth game of the American basketball "world series."

The victory for the second time kept Minneapolis, which won the first three games, from clinching the series. The two teams now go back to Minneapolis for the last two games.

Cleggy Hermsmen, Washington star, gave his team an early lead with a scoring spree in the first period. Hermsmen later faded from the scoring picture, but the Caps were able to maintain their lead to the end.

Hinrichs Leads Yanks To Win Over Dallas

DALLAS, April 11 (AP)—Divinity student Paul Hinrichs came up with another fine pitching performance today as the New York Yankees downed the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League, 9-6.

Hinrichs, a student at the Lutheran seminary at Concordia, Mo., worked the last five innings against his former teammates and allowed only one run. Hinrich helped win his own game by belting home a run with a triple.

The rookie Yankee hurler, who has been turning in unusually impressive performances throughout the spring training circuit, played with the Lubbock Hubbers of the WT-NM league in 1947.

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Damage Suit Against Phils

CHICAGO, April 11 (INS) — A federal judge today ruled against the Philadelphia Phillies' motion to dismiss the $250,000 damage suit filed against them by former pitcher Art Lopatka, who was injured while with the Phils in April of 1946.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan gave the Phils 30 days in which to reply to the suit of Lopatka, now business manager of the Chicago football Hornets.

Lopatka said the Phils cost him his baseball livelihood by failing to treat his injury properly and insisting that he keep on pitching.

Duarte Signed By Hubbers

GREENVILLE, April 11. (Special) — Al Duarte, heavy-hitting outfielder, signed a Greenville baseball club contract today and immediately was assigned to the Lubbock Hubbers.

George Schepps, Hubber general manager, talked to Duarte only a few minutes before announcing that the Portuguese fielder had agreed to terms. He boarded the Hubber bus and was due to see action against Vernon at Vernon.

Former Amarillo Player

Duarte is in his fifth year in organized ball, breaking into the game with the Amarillo Gold Sox in 1940. The following year, after hitting .346, he went into the Army and served for five years. One of those years he played in Hawaii, his native country, with an Army team.

He returned to Amarillo for the seasons of 1946 and 1947, gaining recognition as one of the best outfielders and hitters in the West Texas-New Mexico league. He hit .327 in '46 and .356 in '47, while being among the top men in runs batted in and doubles.

Duarte went up to Greenville of the Class B Big State league last year and hit .332 in 106 games. After playing in 100 tilts, he broke his leg while filling in one night at first base. He was out of action several weeks, but finished the final six games of the season.

Has Good Record

His record during 1948 was outstanding. He batted 389 times, scoring 75 runs, got 129 hits good for 201 bases and drove in 77 runs for the eighth place ball club. Duarte had 23 doubles, five triples, and 13 home runs to his credit and fanned only 19 times.

Duarte is 27 years old, stands five feet nine inches and weighs 160 pounds. He throws and bats left.

Manager Jackie Sullivan expressed a desire from the beginning to obtain Duarte, if possible, and the fleet outfielder readily consented to play in Lubbock, where he is no stranger. He is happy over the prospect of playing for Sullivan and the Hubbers.

Acquisition of Duarte gives the Hubbers three veteran outfielders, Chick Fowler and Lloyd Pearson rounding out the list. Whether all three will be kept remains to be seen.

Joe Campbell, a limited service infielder and outfielder, today refused to accept Hubber terms and was scratched from the original list. As a result, Sullivan is bringing 16 players into Lubbock, instead of the 17 planned. Campbell probably will be sent to Corpus Christi of the Class D Rio Grande Valley league.

Players making the trip into Lubbock include Mike Dooley, catcher; Royce Mills, Oscar Kuver, Cotton Russell, Herby Pitts, Don Hensiek, and Charles Willis, pitchers; Jim Prince, Jack Wilcox, Frank McAlexander, Bubba Kaine, and Sullivan, infielders; and Fowler, Duarte, Pearson, and Joe Wisniewski, outfielders.

Lubbock Fighter Gets 'Revenge' Bout

Henderson, Mougin Fight Here April 26

Scheduled for a rematch with the only boxer to defeat him, Bill Henderson, lightweight, will meet Jean Mougin Tuesday night, April 26 at Chapman fieldhouse in a 10-round match.

Tickets for the fight card sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will go on sale this morning in the lobby of the Hilton hotel at $4.80, $3.60 and $2.80 per ducat.

The young Lubbock fighter has a fine string of victories in the ring, winning 15 of 16 contests. Last Friday he scored a TKO over Paul Guerrera of Juarez in the main event of a five bout card at Sled Allen's arena when the Mexican boxer could not appear for the sixth round.

El Pasoan Is Promoter

Promoter of the bouts will be Dicke Griffin of El Paso, who promoted the first Henderson-Mougin meeting at El Paso, in which Mougin came off the canvas to defeat Henderson in 1:50 of the ninth round.

Known as the "Blonde Tiger of France" the French boxer lost his lightweight title in the last fight before coming to this country and has won many fights in this tour of the United States. Andre Dupre, former handler of Marcel Cerdan, is directing the efforts for Mougin.

Approximately 36 rounds of action is planned for the fieldhouse on the fight program, and the names of the other fighters will be announced later.

Jaycee officials at their regular Monday luncheon estimated that there would be approximately 600 ringside seats sold, 800 reserved seats, and 1,900 general admission seats.

To Sell Baseball Tickets

At Monday's luncheon, R. S. Wilkinson announced that the Jaycees also will sponsor sale of tickets for the Lubbock Hubber's opening WT-NM league baseball game April 20 with Clovis. The club will receive a percentage of the ticket receipts, with each ducat priced at $1. These tickets also will be on sale in the Hilton lobby at the Jaycee booth.

Club members voted to modify the by-laws to permit earlier nomination and election of officers.

Named to the nominating committee this year are Roy Forkner, chairman, and Gordon Sanders, Hoyse MucMurry, Roland Simpson and Bill Linn. The committee will nominate two persons for each club office, and a list of 15 nominees for the board of directors.

L. B. Millsap presided, with invocation by Bill Tinney. One out-of-town, Rupert Austin of Lamesa, was introduced.

Lamesa Drops 3-2 Tilt To Abilene

LAMESA, April 11 (Special)—Handing the locals their second defeat in three exhibition starts, the Abilene Blue Sox edged the Lamesa Loboes, 3-2, in Abilene Sunday.

Approximately 1,000 fans saw the practice bout between the two West Texas-New Mexico league clubs.

Coming from behind the Blue Sox went on to win the game, counting three runs on three hits and three walks in the eighth frame off righthander Paul Cooke. Lamesa's Lefty Bill Jones shut out the Sox on three hits in the first five innings.

Lamesa's pair of tallies came in the first inning on doubles by Rightfielder Leo Rheingans and Manager-Centerfielder Jay Haney.

Both teams collected seven hits in the well-played contest. Rheingans and Leftfielder Dan Pinto paced Lamesa's attack with two hits each, while Abilene's George Lopez, second baseman, was the hitting star of the day, getting three for three.

Dodgers Selected To Win National League Pennant

Improved Pittsburgh Pirates Picked To Give Flatbush Team Hard Battle

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 11—Burt Shotton's Brooklyn Dodgers are my pick to win the National league pennant, but only after a terrific struggle with the improved Pittsburgh Pirates.

Boston and St. Louis will have something to say as to which team will represent the senior circuit in the World Series. But the pendulum swings to the Dodgers because they have the youth, aggressiveness, speed, poise, balance and reserve strength the others lack.

Pirates Have Power

The Pirates have more power, equal defense, and may even top Brooklyn's pitching, but the Bucs are slow and aged, and their bench is only mediocre. Should Ralph Kiner, Stan Rojek, or Bob Chesnes be forced out of action for long, all the managerial genius of Bill Meyer could not bring Pittsburgh a pennant.

The Dodgers are rich in reserves who can give an excellent account should anything happen to any first line athletes.

They are not going to cop any individual titles—not a home run champ or batting king in the carload—but they'll win ball games.

Boston's decision to stand pat is not calculated to do the defending champion Braves any good. However, they still have enough to finish a strong third. The Cardinals have too many "ifs" to make a serious fight of it. But any club with Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter, Marty Marion, and Harry Brecheen should finish in the first division.

Wealth Of Material

Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and Cincinnati complete the field in that order, as we envision it.

Shotton has a wealth of material at hands. He certainly is not going to make the same mistake that Leo Durocher, his predecessor, made last year—allowing Branch Rickey to experiment with inexperienced youngsters for half the season before finally deciding on a set lineup.

Burt has his men already picked with the exception of first base and leftfield. Jackie Robinson at second, and Pee Wee Reese at short, are without peers.

Billy Cox, a rejuvenated ball player, has outstripped five others for the third base job. The first baseman looks like Gil Hodges.

The catching, handled by Roy Campanella and Bruce Edwards, is the best in the league.

Has Fine Fielding

The pitching is not great, but has potentialities. Ralph Branca, 21-game winner in 1947, and Rex Barney, a 15-game winner last year, figure to head the staff. Joe Hatten, Preacher Roe, and Harry Taylor complete the starting five. Willard Ramsdell, Erv Palica, and Paul Minner will handle the relief.

Carl Furillo in right, Duke Snider in center, and Cal Abrams, who has won the left field job from Gene Hermanski, shape up as a fair hitting, fine fielding, and spectacular throwing outfield. Hermanski, Mike McCormick, and Tommy Brown give them ample protection.

The Pirates will present two new faces in Center Fielder Wally Judnich and Les Fleming at first, and a couple of old ones with new ideas in Right Fielder Wally Westlake and Catcher Ed Fitzgerald. Westlake has been the most consistent hitter in camp.

Aged Pitching Staff

Home run king Kiner rounds out a hard hitting outfield.

The infield is spotty with only Rojek at short a standout.

The pitchers are the real methuselahs of the club. Meyer worked wonders with his creaky mound corps last year. The question is can he do it again? Rip Sewell, the Cub-killer is 41; Ernie Bonham 35, Hugh Casey 35, Kirby Higbe 34, Bob Muncrief 33, Elmer Riddle 32, and Murry Dickson 31.

Chesnes, 27-year-old sophomore who came through with 14 triumphs in his freshman year, appears ready to take over as the pitching leader.

The Braves have the best pitching with a staff headed by Johnny Sain, the league's biggest winner last year, Warren Spahn, and Vern Bickford. They have a fine shortstop in Alvin Dark and a power hitter in Bob Elliott. However, the catching is just fair, and the outfield is weak. Pete Reiser, the Brooklyn castoff, is a question mark and Jeff Heath hasn't completely recovered from his broken ankle.

Cards Coming Apart

The Cards appear to be coming apart at the seams. Whitey Kurowski can't throw from third. First base is uncertain; the catching is not satisfactory; and Slaughter and Musial can't play the entire outfield. The pitching is good.

The Phillies are a fine, young hustling team with uncertain pitching. The infield is good; the outfield is strong; and the catching is fair. If Hank Borowy, Russ Meyer, Ken Heintzelman, Schoolie Rowe, Robert Roberts and Curt Simmons can deliver on the mound, they'll surprise a lot of experts.

Poor hurling once again figures to plague the Giants. Only Larry Jansen can be counted on. The power is there but the chuckers will give up more runs than Johnny Mize, Sid Gordon and company will furnish.

The Cubs have improved but not enough to advance more than one notch. They still are weak in the box, except for outfielder Andy Pafko, they haven't a .300 hitter.

The Reds haven't a solid man in the lineup. With the future of Ewell Blackwell still uncertain, it looks like a long, weary season ahead for the Redlegs.

Brown And O'Keefe Win Bowling Crown

Finals in the Men's City Bowling league tournament were held Sunday at Playmor Lanes in doubles and singles, and Ben Brown and Jay O'Keefe took the doubles championship with a combined, 1,206 score.

Six doubles teams finished in the money. Jim Buckner and Bill Nelms finished with 1,201; Ersel Blackburn and Bob Gressett had 1,200; Carl Roberts and Hank Rogers totalled 1,182; Gene Roberts and Lowell Caddell tipped the pins for 1,173; and Morris Cooper and George Tate scored 1,162.

The tournament was run with handicaps being awarded bowlers with lower scores to more evenly balance the competition.

Taking the singles title with 677 was Homer Wright. Finishing second was Frank Douglass with 640; Ray Ellis and Ken Kimble tied for third with 628; Aubrey Faulkner had 626; Al Simmons scored 624; James Battin carded 609; L. Bell finished with 605; and Jim Bragg placed with 604.

Winner of the all-events division, an aggregate of team, double, and single games, was Jerry Henderson. With the aid of his handicap he had 1,837 pins. The all-events scratch award went to Ben Brown, without a handicap, who had 1,770 pins.

Winner of the team award after the games Friday night was the S and Q Clothiers team with 2,975 pins. On the quintet were Red Meyers, R. Z. Abell, Clyde Curlee, Ken Kimble, and Tubby Reed.

Scouts Must Be Human Travel Folders

Dodgers Can Use Climate And Scenery As Lure For Rookies

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 11. — We think we have discovered how the Brooklyn Dodgers are able to sign upwards of 500 players. The scouts are human travel folders.

The organization owns 12 clubs outright and has working agreements with 13. These clubs are so located that practically any youth who yearns to travel can be accommodated.

Can Paint Vivid Picture

You can just imagine a Brooklyn scout approaching some crossroads kid who never has been farther from home than the county fair and starting to paint, in color yet, vivid word pictures of far away places with strange sounding names which might be visited by the boy if he is wise enough to put his future in the hands of Branch Rickey.

"How would you like to go to Hollywood, son?" the ivory hunter will begin. "Just think, Hollywood, with its movie stars, its glamor. We have a club there, you know.

"Or maybe you'd like to go to Canada, visit Montreal, the Paris of North America. The climate is wonderful. Not hot, not cold, just right.

"Maybe you like warm weather. Well, we have a club at Miami.

"Or take Santa Barbara, a millionaires' paradise, just think, you might go there for nothing, even be paid for it, while others pay for the privilege of living there or visiting there. Asheville, another spot noted as a resort, is another one of our sites.

Clubs All Over Nation

"Maybe you'd like to see the mountains. Well, we have an up-and-coming club at Pueblo, Colo.

"If too much altitude doesn't agree with you, you might be sent to Pulaski, in the Appalachian area.

"You've heard of the lake regions which are such popular summer resorts in Wisconsin and Minnesota. Who can tell? You could enjoy all the benefits if you were assigned to our Sheboygan or St. Paul club.

"Those are just a few of the places you might see and enjoy. If you'd like to take a look at Texas we might send you to Fort Worth. Ponca City, Billings, Lancaster, Mobile, Greenville, Valdosta, even Cairo—Illinois, not Egypt—are possibilities.

"So what do you say, boy. Just put your name down here. Who knows, you might even wind up in Brooklyn.

"Why, let me tell you about Brooklyn now . . ."

Star's Broken Wrist May Slow Minneapolis In BAA Playoffs

WASHINGTON, April 11. (U.P.)—George Mikan's broken right wrist appeared today to be the only thing standing in the way of a Minneapolis victory in the Basketball Association of America playoff finals.

Just how serious the loss of Mikan is for Minneapolis won't be known until the Lakers and Washington Capitols take the floor tonight in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series. But for Washington, down 3 games to 1, it definitely is a ray of hope.

Annual State Wildlife Competition Planned

BROWNWOOD, April 11. (AP)—The Texas Wildlife federation has decided to make annual its sportsmen's competition.

The first meet, featuring hunting and fishing contests, ended Sunday. It was spread over three days.

Dr. Frederick H. Weston of San Antonio was named president. He succeeds Dr. Roy A. Webb of Pampa.

Regional vice presidents are Louis Bonner, Houston; Dave W. Brittain, Amarillo; Si Perkins, Brownwood; Melvin C. Joy, Bryan; and John Cadwallader, Fort Worth.

The federation approved a bill by Rep. Deno A. Tufares of Wichita Falls to set up a nine-man game, fish and oyster commission to replace the present six-man commission.

Tufares promised to include an amendment suggested by the federation that no commissioner could immediately succeed himself to a six-year term.

CARD FARM CLUB LOOKS STRONG

Houston Buffs Swing Into 1949 Season With 'Everything New'

By MORRIS FRANK
Sports Editor Houston Post
(Written For The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 11—Not only something new—but just about everything new—has been added to the Houston Buffaloes for 1949.

Houston swings into the '49 Texas League campaign with a new manager, a host of new players, a new coat of paint on the stadium seats. Some old problems are around however—power—and maybe pitching.

The new skipper is big Del Wilber, the former St. Louis Cardinals catcher.

The Buffs, who finished third in the 1948 campaign, should have a good baseball team. How good depends on that annual letter from home.

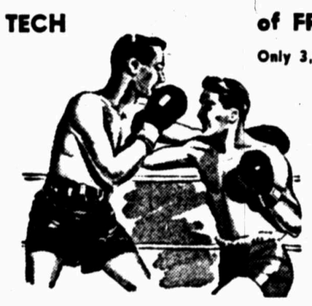

The letter, of course, is the epistle from the APA club, the St. Louis Cardinals. And until the Cards start cutting off, the definite roster of the Herd cannot be ascertained.

But Wilber's club at this setting may be summed up as long on leather—short on good. Good defense—timid power.

Among the crop of new pitching candidates are Mike Clark and Augie Bandie, righthanders from Columbus, Ga.; Jim Curley from Pocatello; Chico Morilla last year with Miami Beach; Ross Grimsley, a southpaw from Columbus, Ga., Nelson Nocheck from Lynchburg.

Pitchers Lack Experience

Only four pitchers with the club now are of double A or better experience. Glenn Gardner was with Rochester the past few years.

Tech Building Program Talked

tion was deferred until a May 9 meeting in Lubbock.

The May 9 meeting will be held prior to the inauguration of Dr. D. M. Wiggins at Tech's president on May 10.

The administration wing additions would cost an estimated $345,000 per wing and besides additional offices for administration would provide approximately 40 more classrooms with a capacity of 50 students each.

Repairs Okayed

Acceptance of Pantex and the building plans discussion highlighted today's meeting in the Stephen F. Austin hotel.

Other matters acted on included:

Approval of $25,000 in additional funds for cleaning up, repainting and replastering of the Textile building and other repairs of campus buildings.

Approval of an additional $5,000 for maintenance of buildings;

Approval of a pay schedule of $1,000 each for 29 graduate assistants in lieu of part-time instructors and laboratory assistants;

Authorization of removal of the old book store building just to the left of the Broadway entrance to the campus;

Changing of the name of the graduate committee of work to the graduate council;

Leaves Are Granted

Granting of leaves of absence for the 1949-50 session to John E. Harding, assistant professor of economics and management, to work on his Ph. D degree at the University of Colorado; and to Ivan Little, assistant professor of philosophy, to work toward his doctorate;

Approval of a summer geology field trip at Las Vegas, N. M.;

Acceptance of a scholarship of $50 per semester from Mr. and Mrs. W. D. T. Storey of Littlefield in memory of their son, David Storey, killed during the war;

And approval of hard surfacing with curb and gutter of a parking area for 383 cars south of the Administration building to cost $13,000.

Solons Are Guests

Senators Kilmer Corbin of Lamesa and Pat Bullock of Colorado City were guests of the board at a luncheon at noon. This afternoon, following adjournment, board members greeted members of the state teachers college board, who met here today also.

The Pantex plant has more than 400 buildings. Structures on the property range from temporary wooden buildings, some small, to permanent structures made of steel and concrete. Networks of railroad tracks and utility lines are located on the land.

Research Is Conducted

Texas Tech began farming 8,500 acres of the land on lease basis in 1947, operating a research project on wheat poisoning.

The application from Texas Tech board of directors to the War Assets administration for the Pantex plant was dated March 3, 1948. Prior to that time, however, negotiations preparatory to the application had been underway.

The move to accept the contract was made by Leon Ince, of Houston, and seconded by Kyle Spiller of Jacksboro.

Present at this morning's meeting were Chairman Charles C. Thompson, of Colorado City; Ince; Spiller; Charles Wooldridge, of Dallas; O. B. Ratliff, of Lubbock; and Robert Price, of El Paso. Three members, A. G. Mayse of Paris, Mark McGee of Fort Worth, and Chanselor Weymouth of Amarillo, were unable to attend today's session. Mayse was ill, McGee was occupied with legal business, and Weymouth reported that he had been unavoidably detained.

As a result, Chairman Thompson experienced considerable difficulty in gathering a quorum for the meeting—thanks largely to the failure of Gov. Beauford Jester to appoint new members to the board since Feb. 19. Those members whose terms have expired showed reluctance to attend meetings, and particularly to act upon important matters such as the Pantex contract.

No word has been forthcoming from Jester's office regarding the Tech appointments, but the grapevine report says Price is due for reappointment and Blake Smith of Mexia and Raymond Pflueger of Eden have the inside track for posts now held by Ratliff and Spiller.

Reports also say that Senator Kilmer Corbin of Lamesa has tangled with Jester over the appointments and has declared he will oppose Col. E. H. Spence of Big Spring for appointment to the State Board of Water Engineers unless he (Corbin) is given some recognition in the Tech appointments.

Austin Hotels Jammed

Senator Corbin today confirmed reports of his difficulty with Gov. Jester regarding the appointments.

As the board got underway in its meeting, Austin hotels were lobby full with members of the Texas Farm Bureau federation here for mass lobbying for House Bill No. 59, levying three-fourths of a cent tax on 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas for building of farm to market roads in Texas. Wearing their green and white buttons, the farm bureau people were making themselves heard in support of the measure.

Also present at today's meeting were three Tech administrative officials. They were Dr. Wiggins; W. B. Gaston, business manager; and Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

Senate Okays Bill For Air Force Test Range

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The Senate passed today a bill authorizing the Air Force to set up a 3,000-mile testing range for guided missiles at a top cost of $75,000,000.

Neither the bill nor the Senate Armed Services committee report on it says where the range would be located.

was testified, and leaves the ground flat and with a tendency to have few clods on top.

Chiseling and listing usually go deeply and pull clods to the top of the ground so that wind erosion can be controlled to some extent by breaking up currents, the county agent said.

Blown Across Fence

Horton said he, like most of the Deaf Smith wheat farmers, used a one-way plow some of that period, but told the jury and Judge G. V. Pardue that he had sweeps attached part of the time and that he recalled chiseling his land after a heavy windstorm in 1946. He also produced some clods on top of his soil by one-waying his land in 1946, he said.

Clearman testified that Deaf Smith land not covered by a crop or clods in December through March constitutes a "blow hazard." He said Horton's land showed evidence after the windstorm of having sifted across a fence so that it caused damage to wheat on the adjoining edge of Hooper's field.

A member of plaintiff's counsel said damages sought would be "between $2,000 and $3,000. He said the chief contention is that Horton did not farm in accordance with good farm practices prevailing in the Deaf Smith area.

To Continue Case Today

Judge Pardue, recessing court at 5:45 p.m., ordered that the jury, witnesses and counsel be back in court at 9 a.m. today to continue with plaintiff's evidence.

The jury is composed of John J. Christman, J. D. Stennett, Frank D. Herron, K. D. Martin, J. M. Locklar, H. V. Feazell, Virgil Cocanougher, W. M. Ryan, N. Harold Munn, W. E. Belcher, W. H. Waln, and Earnest Marquis.

The Lubbock law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam, and two Hereford attorneys, James Witherspoon and John D. Aikin, represent Hooper. Counsel for Horton are the Lubbock law firm of Nelson and McCleskey and two Hereford attorneys, O. L. Bybee and W. H. Russell.

The case was removed here on a plea of privilege, Lubbock county being Horton's residence.

Funeral Arrangements For Gulf Drowning Victim Not Completed

Funeral arrangements for Gaston Lloyd Cobb, 36, former Lubbock resident, who drowned 10 days ago in a Gulf of Mexico storm, last night still were pending arrival of the body here, Sanders Funeral home reported.

Cobb's body, sought since the 50-foot trawler "The Gull" disappeared April 1, washed ashore near the Galveston pleasure pier Saturday night. It was clad only in underwear shorts.

Friday the body of Capt. Robert Broussard, who was with Cobb aboard the trawler, had been discovered in Galveston bay.

Cobb is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cobb of 2516 Twenty-third, and five brothers and five sisters. They are Lloyd of Amarillo; Tillman of Lubbock, Byron, now stationed with the Army at Fort Bliss; Will Alf of Big Spring; Wayne, stationed with the Navy in Japan; Miss Mozelle Cobb of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Henry Pitts of Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Leslie Wofford, Arlington, Va.; Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Muleshoe; and Miss Joan Cobb of Lubbock.

Miss Mozelle Cobb, Mrs. Pitts and Mrs. Wofford arrived by plane Sunday night, it was reported.

Cobb's body is scheduled to arrive here at 8:25 o'clock this morning and funeral services probably will be conducted Wednesday.

Wallace said that there was no evidence of drowning, explaining: "Had she drowned there would have been water in her stomach. There was none."

First Pit Abandoned

Kathy, who was playing in the vacant San Marino pasture, vanished from sight of her sister, Barbara, 9, and her cousin, Gus Lyon, 5. She was toddling along behind them and when they turned around to look for her she had vanished.

Parents and neighbors found the 14-inch well down which she had fallen. The moment Kathy's cries were heard, there started the "operation rescue" that aroused a world's sympathy and concern.

Rescue workers dug an 85-foot pit beside the old well pipe when it was found that it was impossible, because of the narrow size of the shaft, to reach Kathy. That was abandoned because of the danger of caveins. Drillers then put a shaft down beside the abandoned well past the 96-foot mark where Kathy's body was lodged.

A diagonal tunnel was bored over to the old well. A piece of the pipe was removed. Kathy's body was taken from the well after 52 hours of ceaseless heroic effort.

The dramatic "inside story" of the finding of Kathy's tiny body deep in the iron wall was revealed today by two of the fearless rescue workers — H. E. "Whitey" Blickensderfer, 43-year-old unemployed hardrock miner of Rosemeat, Calif., and O. A. Kelly, 49, Temple City, Calif., machinist.

From his bed in Huntington Memorial hospital, where he was recovering from severe exhaustion and leg cramps as the result of his 48-hour battle with the elements deep in the bowels of the earth, Whitey told reporters:

"After we finally cut a window in the 14-inch well casing about 6 p. m., Sunday, I could see Kathy about 22 inches below me.

"She was not submerged in water as far as I could tell. I didn't see any water.

"But I knew she was dead.

"The same type of debris, straw and weeds and dirt that we found higher up in the well was wrapped around her body.

"I tried to reach her but my arms were too short. That's why Kelly, who helped cut the window in the well casing, moved in then. His arms were longer."

Whitey said he first spotted the tiny body about 6 p. m. Sunday and that the reason Kelly took so long after he took over the job was because the little girl's leg had buckled under her.

Dr. Robert McCullock, a friend of the Fiscus family, made the descent into the shaft and pronounced her dead.

Both Whitey and Kelly said they withheld the news of Kathy's certain death after they emerged from the shaft because they were "under instruction" to keep silent until a doctor had examined her.

"I don't look upon myself as a hero. It was the work of simple humanity," Kelly added.

Like the thousands of silent onlookers who quietly watched, rescue workers bowed their heads and wept when Kathy's tiny body, wrapped in a blanket, was brought out of the shaft in the arms of Bill Yancey at 9:53 p. m. Sunday. (PST.)

It was the most dramatic moment of the long and futile race against death. Tears streamed down the cheeks of hardened sand hogs when Yancey silently handed the still form down from the opening of the shaft.

Dr. Paul Hanson, the Fiscus physician, made the official announcement that Kathy was dead following Dr. McCullock's descent into the shaft.

He told the assembled workmen and crowd of 15,000:

"Kathy is dead. She probably has been dead since she was last heard from Friday night. Shortly after she toppled into the well . . ."

Exum were named members of the board. Previously, the city commission had passed a similar resolution and appointed Robert J. Walker and Ray F. Hinchey to the board.

Resolution Adopted

The commissioners court adopted the resolution after City Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson and the city airport director, Ed Colby, appeared to explain the purpose of the board and to point out that the Civil Aeronautics authority requires such a board to control building heights on federally-financed airports.

Colby pointed out that $6 million has already been invested in Municipal airport and that uncontrolled building near it might render runways partilly useless.

The commissioners authorized purchase of a maintainer for Commissioner Ottis Isom's precinct 3 to be paid out of road and bridge fund 5. Probable cost of the maintainer will be $12,000. It was explained that Isom's precinct has 459 miles of roads, or nearly twice the mileage of some other precincts.

Waggoner Carr, county attorney, appeared to request authority to hire an attorney to assist him during the current "emergency" clean-up of bootleggers demanded by a 99th district grand jury last week.

The court agreed to hire the attorney on a temporary basis.

Other business of the court was routine.

They accepted a contract from the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad to permit the county to construct a road across Santa Fe property two miles northwest of Shallowater.

Another $2,000 was added to the Shallowater park fund.

Returns of the April 2 school district trustee election in rural and common school districts of the county were canvassed.

The commissioners authorized payment of the following obligations:

Transfer from the general fund to charity fund, $500; payment for two duplicators purchased from Hester's Office Supply company, $300; periodical payment to the City-County Welfare association, $2,000; payment to Fred Gentry for paint and painting at Shallowater park, $650.

Payment of two bills totaling $381.56 and $1,700 to Fred Berryhill Equipment company and Conley-Lott-Nichols for parts and storage tank, precinct 2; payment of $7,894.44 for purchase of a maintainer, from West Texas Equipment company for precinct 3; an old maintainer having been traded in for $4,000; and payment of $8,646.49 to Berryhill and $1,295.89 to W. T. McClure Machinery company for a maintainer and parts and repairs for precinct 4. An old maintainer was traded in for a $3,500 allowance.

The Baker company was awarded a contract at $30 a year to maintain a calculating machine purchased by the county a year ago.

A plat of Circle addition, located just west of the traffic circle on Tahoka highway, was approved upon request of the developer, M. A. Sanders. The city planning commission had previously granted its approval.

County Judge Walter Davies presided at the meeting, attended by all four commissioners: R. O. Short, precinct 1; George G. Green, precinct 2; Ottis Isom, precinct 3; and Pat Corley, precinct 4. Louie F. Moore, county clerk, and J. Y. Boyd, auditor, also were present.

Reese Named To Head Teachers

A. B. Reese, distributive education teacher in Lubbock Senior High school, last night was re-elected to serve his third term as president of the Lubbock Classroom Teachers association, when members of that organization met at O. L. Slaton Junior High school for a business meeting and election of officers.

Other officers named for next year include J. Herbert Priddy, teacher in Central Junior High school, vice president; Miss Ouida Buzbee, teacher in K. Carter school, secretary; and Miss Bessie Bullock, commercial teacher in Senior High school, treasurer.

Committee Reports Made

Reports of all committees were heard, including the welfare committee, headed by N. J. Robnett; and the legislative committee, whose chairman is W. C. Watts. A treasurer's report also was given.

The group voted to put out four association bulletins next year.

Members were remined of the association banquet, which is to be held in Hilton hotel the evening of April 25, at which Frank Potter, of Houston, executive secretary-treasurer of the Texas Classroom Teachers association, will speak.

Outgoing officers include Norman Heath, teacher in O L. Slaton Junior High school, vice president; Mrs. Novelle Newsom, teacher in Senior High school, secretary; and Miss Martha Mathis, teacher in Central Ward school, treasurer. All had served two years.

Approximately 160 members attended.

Eclipse Of Moon

cloudiness, suspended dust, and the like. However, residents of Lubbock and vicinity stand a good chance of seeing the lunar eclipse without atmospheric handicaps. The U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock said last night that the vicinity is in store for mostly fair skies today and Wednesday.

At least, the moon isn't likely to pull one of those rare disappearing acts that had astronomers pretty worried back in 1844.

To Check Calculations

A dispatch last night from International News Service quoted Robert R. Coles, associate curator of New York's Hayden planitarium, as explaining that in that year (1844) unusually heavy cloud formations kept the sun's rays away from the moon, and the moon just slipped from sight. The same thing could happen tonight, Coles said, but likely won't.

He said that conclusive proof that the earth is round wil also be visible to the naked eye if things go as expected. The proof: The curved shadow, resulting from the curvature of the earth, will cover the moon.

On a more scientific basis, Coles explained that the eclipse gives astronomers an opportunity to check their calculations of the speed and motion of the earth, sun, and moon.

They know, Coles said, that the moon travels through space at some 2,000 miles an hour; that the earth is moving at about 66,600 miles per hour, and that tonight the moon will come within 222,500 miles of the earth—the closest it ever gets, incidentally, for it's usually 250,000 miles or so away.

Dr. Underwood explained that lunar eclipses usually occur in pairs. So in case you miss tonight's show, you may catch the next, the night of October 6.

In brief, he said the two are dependent on each other, but warned that there is a limit to public spending which must be viewed realistically.

When Nourse's speech was made public, congressional spokesmen of both political parties seized upon it avidly and, with few exceptions, applauded the appraisal he gave of U. S. economy.

The Ralls newsman tonight also explained that many new residents had moved to Crosby county, including more than 1,000 returning servicemen, and that the election would give them an opportunity to express themselves.

The potential vote in Crosby county is 2,003. An estimated 1,800 ballots is expected in the May 7 vote, Joiner said.

Lamesa Holds Meet On National Affairs

LAMESA, April 11 (Special)—Stressing the importance of the adoption of "protective thinking in legislative matters" on the part of United States citizens, M. C. Ulmer, president of Midland's First National bank, tonight warned members of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and their guests that the world of tomorrow would come only through human effort.

The occasion was a National Affairs conference held tonight in the Mesa room of Liddel's restaurant here. The conference sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and by the United States Chamber of Commerce, was attended by some 150 persons.

Ulmer, the principal speaker for the gathering, urged a return to the old and basic principles of free enterprise and warned against an increase of federal controls.

Connally Baldwin, president of the Lamesa chamber, gave the official welcome and introduced guests, who attended from Seminole, Big Spring, Seagraves, Brownfield, Lubbock, Hobbs, Fort Worth, and Midland.

He introduced H. J. Dollinger, assistant manager of the Southwestern division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who in turn presented Ulmer.

Following the principal address, Tom V. Watson a graduate of Lamesa High school and of Texas Tech college, who is national affairs advisor for the Southwestern district of the chamber of commerce, spoke on "You and the 81st Congress," in which he discussed various legislation currently before Congress. He also discussed the opinion polls which the United States chamber is taking among its members, information from which it is sending to Congressmen.

A round table discussion was conducted, with Dollinger as moderator.

Invocation for the gathering was offered by Rev. Troy Dale, assistant pastor of the Lamesa First Baptist church. The conference is one of five which are to be held in the area.

the energy in a stockpile of bombs could be used either for war or peaceful purposes at any time in the next thousand years.

Control Believed Possible

The chairman added, however, that in the light of present events, there is no evidence to indicate that there will be a complete outlawing of atomic energy weapons.

Lilienthal declared that plan of elder statesman Bernard Baruch for international atomic control would be effective in preventing the surprise use of nuclear weapons in war.

Lilienthal asserted:

"My own feeling is that the prospects in the future for peace are by no means dim and that peace will include some effective control, some foolproof control of atomic weapons as a surprise weapon.

"However, today a fellow would be foolhardy to think that this is an early prospect."

The chairman indicated strongly in his testimony that the use of atomic energy to power naval vessels will be developed in the not so distant future.

Panhandle-South Plains Dairy Show Draws Record Entry List

shown were; Jersey, Aldan's Masterman Hazel, owned by Earl Edwards, Floydada; Holstein Hales Inka Lulu Lee, owner Ruby Lee Hales, Amarillo; Guernsey, Napoleons Skinnys Dianna, owned by Dan Throckmorton, Levelland; Milking Shorthorn, Circle V 2nd. owned by Max Vaughn, Olton.

E. R. (Hico) Eudaly, judge of the calf club entrants who has been attending the Panhandle-Plains show since it first started, said that there could be no doubt of this year's show being the best yet. Eudaly, a livestock expert with Universal Mills, Ft. Worth, said that everyone of the 69 dairy cows on exhibition the first day were highest quality.

"They not only look good," Eudaly said, "but they show better than in most of the past years. This indicates a lot of work is being done by the boys, their FFA vocational agriculture teachers and the county agents."

A. M. Meekma, assistant dairy husbandryman at Texas A. & M., aided Eudaly in the calf club judging.

Ollie F. Liner, Parmer county agent, was superintendent of the first day's show and R. H. Gibson, new Floyd county agent, was his assistant. To help the show move along R. N. McClain, Brownfield, and W. R. Kimbrough, Crosby county agent, assisted the superintendents.

Liner was another official who was more than well pleased with the response to this year's exhibitions and sales.

"We have known that interest in dairying has multiplied since the end of the war but we are still surprised at the large numbers of entries and the fact that we have drawn visitors and contestants from such distant towns and counties" Liner added.

In the judging contests the officials were Dr. J. J. Willingham and L. M. Hargrave, both of Texas Tech. Each of these two officials voiced opinions similar to those above. They indicated that efforts of the college and the extension service of A&M were paying off in increased interest in dairying. Both agreed that the Panhandle-Plains area was well suited to high grade dairy cattle and that the near future would see a considerable increase in the number of herds as well as a big improvement in the quality of the herds.

WEEK'S EVENTS AT SHOW

According to show manager Johns, the naming of a queen for the show was dispensed with this year. Activity was geared to those things in which the most persons were interested, he said. A picnic luncheon was served to all the club boys at the city shelter house at noon and a big combination circus and vaudeville show was held in the city auditorium Monday evening.

The show included a variety of acts such as, band numbers, a trained dog act, a magician, hillbilly tunes, jugglers, comedians and dance numbers. The show was produced by Limie Stilwell, Ft. Worth.

The body of Jon E. Bannister, 38, was found in the lake today. Missing are Fred R. Muerdter and Anthony R. Munoz. All three men were executives of El Paso motor firms.

The three men were thrown into the lake yesterday when a violent storm capsized their fishing boat. Equipment from their 16-foot motor boat was found near Bannister's life-preserver clad body.

The lake is formed by Elephant Butte dam. It is on the Rio Grande.

The El Paso party consisted of two boats. The second boat made shore safely.

Landlords Advised Of Changes Under New Rent Control Act

Landlords who have property that was decontrolled because of not having been rented for any successive period of 24 months between February 1, 1945 and March 30, 1948, are advised by area rent director Roy B. Carnes that these properties are now under control again.

If the units were registered before decontrol, owners need not re-register them. Owners must show registration statements to present tenants, Carnes said. Landlords cannot charge more than the maximum rent shown in the registration statement, plus or minus approved adjustments.

All property coming under the rent control act for the first time must be registered. The office of the area rent control director, 1108 Fourteenth, will assist landlords in preparing necessary statements, or forms will be mailed if they call Carnes at 8591.

Germans Unenthusiastic Over Allies' New Policy For Nation

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Initial German reaction to the Allied occupation statute under which they are supposed to govern themselves has thrown a damper on the optimism which surrounded the agreement of the western powers last Friday.

Members of the parliamentary council trying to agree on a constitution for western Germany already were at odds among themselves and with the Allies over centralization of authority in the proposed government.

New Agreement Reached

Already they were suffering from the fact that many Germans would take anything they did as recognition of a divided Germany.

Then came Friday's announcement that the Allies had agreed on their own attitude toward Germany. The German federal state, subject only to limitations of the occupation statute, was to exercise full legislative, executive and judicial powers. A great step was to be taken toward Democratic German self-government. Although military occupation would necessarily continue, military control would end with establishment of the new government. At the same time, or before, diverse Allied administrative methods in the western zones would end. An Allied high commission would be established to work with the German government.

To be sure the Ruhr was to remain under international control. But Allied agreements were being worked out to save for Germany a large part of the remaining industrial plants originally scheduled for dismantlement.

Allies Hold Veto

The Allies and Germans, working together, would present the Russians with a situation which might tempt them to renew negotiations for revived four-power control, creating new possibilities for German union.

Every power possible, with due regard for security and international Allied obligations, was to be delegated to the western German government. France was to have a veto in a limited field, and the high commission would have a veto over the German government in certain cases, but the real objectives was to retain supervisory, not directive, control.

This sentiment is repeated in the occupation statute itself.

But in reality the broad terms of the statute mean the Allies, if they wish, can nullify any action of any German parliament merely by holding that it contradicts the purposes of the occupation.

All Acts Face Review

Every act will be subject to Allied review. It can go into effect only if, after 12 days, the Allies have not disapproved. But the statute also provides for "conditional" disapproval, apparently meaning that this time can be extended indefinitely, and that legislation can be vitiated even without formal disapproval.

There is every reason why the Allies should maintain close control over Germany. Their entire program in Europe depends on it, and perhaps even their very lives.

The Allies are seeking to assure the Germans of their good intentions in administering the occupation statute. But it's a good guess that even the least virile Germans will choke over the dose of responsibility without authority they are being asked to accept. And that there are going to be increasing political struggles in western Germany in any event.

Senate Blocks Three Major Money Bills

Natural Gas Tax Plan Is Held Up

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 11—The Senate today sent back to committee three major, must money bills and the House joined the go-slow movements by taking the same action on a natural gas tax measure for rural roads.

Senator Jim Taylor of Kerens, chairman of the Finance committee, said he took the action to mean that the Senate wanted the bills trimmed to more nearly meet available income.

Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake told the House that sending his feeder road tax measure back to committee meant that it was a "dead duck" this late in the session. Later he told reporters he would keep on fighting for its enactment.

House Vote Close

The House vote recommitting the session's first major tax bill to committee was 69 to 68. Debate on it brought some of the session's harshest words.

Ordered back to Senate committee for a financial haircut were Senate bills appropriating funds for state departments and colleges, and a House bill providing cash for eleemosynary institutions during the next two years.

The vote on the departmental bill was 18 to 13 for recommitment; the vote was 17 to 14 on the college bill and 16 to 15 on the eleemosynary bill.

Recommitment Opposed

A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris, fighting especially against recommitment of the eleemosynary bill, warned the Senate the action would prolong this session from a month to six weeks. He wanted to follow the plank of making appropriations for one year only, then come back next January in special session for a final decision on the taxation-spending issue.

Other Senators opposed the recommitment plan, saying the Senate could rush through a rural road bill costing $30,000,000 in two days, but would by-pass a chance to adequately provide for needs of such state wards as the insane.

These additional legislative developments came today:

Gov. Beauford H. Jester rejected a plan to delay action on the controversial Gilmer-Aikin school bills at this session, holding them for a special session. He urged quick enactment now.

The House voted 109 to 24 giving final approval to a bill appropriating $500,000 for establishment of a branch of the University of Texas medical college at Temple. The measure goes now

Tech Scholarship Rules Tightened

In a meeting in Austin Monday the Texas Technological college board of directors took action on scholarship requirements which Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Tech, said "will bring Texas Tech's graduation and institutional requirements up to the level of the better institutions of Texas."

"The purpose of the new requirements is to reduce the tendency of some students to make of college a glorified country club and to give more diagnostic and remedial attention to those who really face serious difficulties," Dr. Jones went on to say.

Point System Revised

Under the new regulation a grade point average of 1.00 (a "C" average) will be required on all courses for which the student registers in meeting degree requirements. Thus, a second registration in a course previously failed adds another three points to the total required. In this way failures will cost in time as well as money.

The old system stated that a student had only to have the same number of grade points as he did course hours in order to graduate. Under the old regulation a student was able to fail a given course one or more times and only have three grade points added to his graduation requirement.

Another action taken by the board in revising scholarship probation will place emphasis on sustained progress toward graduation. At the present time a student may continue at Texas Tech for an indefinite period of time by managing to pass 10 hours of work during a semester.

Quality To Be Emphasized

The new requirement, which goes into effect in the fall semester of 1950, says a student who lacks 15 grade points of attaining a 1.00 grade point average shall be placed on probation. Thus a student whose record accumulates too many "D's" as well as "F's" will at all times be clearly reminded that attainment of quality must accompany accumulation of credit hours.

The same viewpoint is emphasized by the additional quality requirement on the grades which must be made to remove the student from probation. The student must make passing grades in nine

Ex-Jap Officer Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Beheading American

YOKOHAMA, April 11 (INS)—An onetime officer in the Japanese army entered a plea of guilty today to the "revenge" beheading of an American airman during the war.

The officer, Lt. Norifumi Otosu, made his plea at the opening of his trial by a U. S. military commission in Yokohama.

Otosu is charged with atrocities allegedly committed as revenge for the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

In addition to the murder of the captured B-29 crewman, Otosu has admitted that he was present when Japanese soldiers practiced archery and swordsmanship on American prisoners of war.

The U. S. Army announced Otosu's arrest last Thursday after a two year search.

Oil Recovered In Andrews Test

More evidence of Devonian production developed on a second drillstem test of that formation at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, wildcat two miles east of the Dollarhide field in southwest Andrews county.

After recovering 450 feet of clean oil and oil and gas cut drilling mud on a test in the top of the Devonian at 10,035-060 feet, the venture drilled ahead to 10,090 feet and ran another examination.

Packer was set at 10,068 feet. The tool was open four hours, using a 1,410-foot water blanket. Gas reached the surface in nine and one-half minutes after the tool was opened.

No Water Encountered

Recovery was the water blanket, cut with oil and gas, 270 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud and 180 feet of clean oil. Gravity of the petroleum was 40.2 degrees. There was no water.

The development was to drill ahead. It is scheduled to continue to the Ellenburger, testing all shows of possible production on the way.

This prospective discovery is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey.

An outpost to the Ellenburger production in the Flanagan field of south-central Gaines county has been staked by Shell Oil company, Inc., as its No. 1 Selma Andrews, et al.

The drillsite is 660 feet from west and south lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey, about nine miles southwest of the town of Seminole. Elevation is 3,330 feet.

It is to be a 12,600-foot, rotary tool exploration to test into the Ellenburger, starting immediately.

Faint prospects of Strawn-Pennsylvanian production developed on two drillstem tests at Humble No. 1 Edmondson, Northwest Scurry county wildcat.

Oil, Gas Recovered

The first examination was for one hour at 7,500-27 feet, with a good blow of air throughout the test. Recovery was 120 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Operator drilled ahead to 7,547 feet, set a packer at 7,500 feet, and drillstem tested for one hour again, this time recovering 190 feet of oil and gas cut mud.

EIGHTY-SEVEN SEEK POSTS

Texas Tech Students To Name Officers In Election Today

By JERRY HALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Eighty-seven students are seeking various student offices for the 1949-50 school year in the annual elections which are to be held at Texas Tech today.

Clint Formby, student body president, said the only office which there was not at least one student running for was the editorship of The Toreador, campus newspaper. He indicated that the Publications committee at the college would appoint someone to the position at its next meeting. Runoff elections will be held April 20.

Two weeks of colorful campaigning saw posters cover the campus and all the other familiar political tactics came to a close last night at the college with a big pre-election rally. Each of the candidates was introduced and those seeking major offices were allowed to make a short speech in their own behalf. The rally was sponsored by the Tech Chamber of Commerce.

Students and offices they seek are: For president of the student body, Curtis Sterling, Snyder and Bob Stewart, Jacksboro.

For vice-president of the student body, Marshall Gettys, Amarillo and James Rider, Waco.

For business manager of the student council, Raymond Brigham, Stamford.

For secretary of the student council, Margaret Clark (re-election), Van Horn; Kitty Witty, Hamilton and Jane Skinner, Electra.

SPECIAL SESSION ON PLAN IS REJECTED

Jester Calls For Final Action Now On Gilmer-Aikin School Plan As Special Session Proposal Dropped

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 11—Gov. Jester said today that now is the time for the legislature to hold final examinations on the Gilmer-Aikin school bills. He said "no" to the idea of postponing them until a summer school special session.

John Crosthwait of Dallas, one of two representatives who had asked the governor to okay the special session idea, said he would drop the idea.

Governor Disagrees

Disagreeing with legislators who said the House has reached a stalemate on the controversial school reorganization measures, Jester said further delay would put the state's public school program on the spot for 1949-50.

"As to the so-called House deadlock, a careful study of the voting records on key amendments proposed by opponents of Senate bill 115 (by Jim Taylor of Kerens) should convince one that the House has already spoken quite clearly upon the most controversial aspects of that bill," the governor said in a prepared statement.

He issued the statement prior to a conference this morning with legislators who spoke both for and against the special session suggested by Crosthwait and Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City. Crosthwait favors the G-A bills; Horany opposes them.

Jester said the House now needs only the opportunity to vote for or against the bill in order to break the impasse.

He recommended that the legislature hasten final action on whatever legislation the schools are to operate under the coming year. Chaos will result if the schools do not know soon what to expect, he said.

"As governor, I have carefully refrained from interfering with the legislative process, except as the governor is constitutionally empowered and directed to do so," Jester observed.

hours and also accumulate a minimum of nine grade points in a given semester or a minimum of eight hours and eight grade points during summer school.

Other Standards Raised

Another new measure to emphasize quality has been placed under the heading of "Enforced Academic Withdrawal" and says a student who lacks 30 grade points of attaining a 1.00 grade point average shall be dropped from school not later than 20 days after the beginning of the term in which the deficiency develops.

This is being compensated somewhat by the fact that heretofore a student could not apply for readmission to the college if he had been dropped from the rolls more than three times. Now he is allowed to enroll after the third time if he cooperates fully in all studies of his individual situation including his choice of curriculum according to vocational aptitude and interests as revealed by aptitude and achievement tests.

None of the above requirements will go into effect before the fall semester of 1950 as one year notice is required before taking such measures. All entering students, both freshman and transfer, will be subject to the new ruling at that time.

Money Bills Blocked

to the Senate.

Parole Bill Approved

The House advanced a bill to license chiropractors, giving it a preferred spot on the calendar. It may reach it tomorrow.

A bill revising the state probation and parole system was approved by the House, 118 to 3. It permits appointment of volunteer probation and parole officers in counties where there is insufficient need for paid workers.

The measure also would allow district judges to grant probation to persons convicted of murder and those whose sentences would be over 10 years and to persons who have been previously convicted.

By Rep. George Parkhouse, the bill now goes to the Senate.

Also approved and sent to the upper house was a bill by Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty to create an additional district court for Hardin, Tyler, Liberty and Chambers counties.

The House vote to recommit the McLellan tax bill came after one member warned that enactment of such a measure, with its funds earmarked for rural roads, would not help solve the general fiscal problem. Pending appropriations bills in their present form heavily overbalance available income. The legislature's biggest problem is to decide what it will do about it.

Solons Swap Blasts

Hundreds in the packed House gallery burst into loud applause when McLellan, author of the bill, shouted to the legislators to face the issue.

Several representatives were on their feet immediately demanding the gallery be cleared. The speaker rapped for order and the spectators remained.

Hot words flew when Rep. Preston P. Mangum of Dallas asked McLellan how much he was getting paid for handling the bill.

"They offered me a certain amount of mony," McLellan said. "They still owe me part of my salary."

"How much have you got?" Mangum persisted.

"I'm willing to check what I got from the Rural Roads association with what anybody got from the oil and gas interests," McLellan shouted.

Then Speaker Durwood Manford pounded his gavel and got complete silence.

"The question of individual personalities is not a subject ever to be debated in this House," Manford said.

Members urging that the bill be sent back to the Revenue and taxation committee said it needed more study, that it had "hidden measures in it."

EGG REARS UP

half miles northwest of Snyder and 330 feet from north and east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey, made water in the Canyon-Pennsylvanian.

It was drilling ahead beyond 7,570 feet through lime and shale.

Lone Star Producing company was making hole toward the north-central Scurry county Ellenburger with its No. 1 Maule, wildcat west and slightly north of the North Snyder area, where production is from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian.

The prospector had reached 7,802 feet and was boring on through lime and chert.

A one-hour and 10-minute drillstem test at 7,674-7,705 feet recovered 180 feet of salt water.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey.

Runs Into Water

The big water in the San Andres-Permian came in for C. H. Murphy & Son No. 1 E. T. O'Daniel, central Gaines county wildcat, two miles southeast of Seminole and 660 feet from east, 1,980 feet from south lines of section 16, block C-44, psl survey.

An eight-hour drillstem test was run in the San Andres at 5,376-5,441 feet, with a steady blow of air at the surface throughout the examination. Recovery was 2,608 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas.

This venture has shown slight possibilities of a San Andres strike on cores higher in the formation, but observers think it doubtful that commercial production could be developed.

Operations were waiting on orders. The prospector may drill ahead to test into the Clear Fork-Permian.

A commercial oil well has been completed on the north end of the Fullerton field in northwest Andrews county by Superior Oil company.

It is the concern's No. 1 C. W. Logsdon, 660 feet from north and 1,975.6 feet from west lines of section 2, block A-37, psl survey.

On a 24-hour potential, the well flowed 266.5 barrels of oil per day. Corrected gravity was 38.8 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 1,194-1.

The open hole pay section at 6,890-7,015 feet was previously acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Britain expects 16,000 penny-in-the-slot machines to go back into service for the first time since 1942, when sweets go off the ration on April 24.

Leader Of South Korean Red Insurrection Reported Captured

SEOUL, April 11 (INS) — A spokesman for the South Korean government announced today the capture of Lee Chung Up, described as one of the leaders of last autumn's insurrection in Korea.

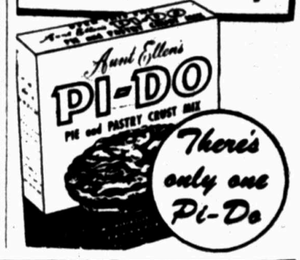

Lee was said to have taken a leading part in the Yosu-Sunchon rebellion that shook the southern tip of the Korean peninsula for about a week.

The government spokesman declared that Lee has promised to reveal the plans and activities of Korean Communists in South Korea.

The United Nations commission in Korea announced meanwhile that it would visit the island of Cheju next week to investigate repeated Communist disturbances there.

The announcement followed a brief visit to Cheju by President Syngman Rhee. He was reported to have been greeted by 150,000 of the island's residents.

CHINESE TENSION INCREASED

Reds Threaten Invasion Of South China In New Yangtze Assaults

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, April 11 — A small Communist force crossed the main Yangtze channel to an island near the south bank today, emphasizing the threat to invade South China unless the government quickly yields to surrender terms.

Semi-official sources in this gloomy capital said the Reds had postponed from Tuesday until Friday the deadline for a government reply to last week's surrender ultimatum.

River Positions Assaulted

Three powerful Communist armies, however, were pressing steadily their assaults on the few remaining north-bank positions of the nationalists.

One attack was in progress only six miles upstream and across the river from Nanking. Artillery fire was audible in the city during Sunday night.

The attacks were like a loaded gun, held menacingly to the government's head as it prepared to respond.

Neutral military observers found no positive hints as to when or where a crossing to the south bank of the big river might come. They believed the Communists might be making threatening gestures while delaying a crossing in hopes of achieving some objectives politically.

Island Engagement Reported

The government's military news agency said about ten boatloads of Communist troops crossed to an island 65 miles east of Nanking. It is separated from the south bank by a narrow backwater. The agency said Nationalist troops went onto the island to meet the attackers.

It said another minor crossing attempt was made late Sunday 140 miles southwest of Nanking but was beaten off by government artillery which sank 10 sailboats.

Elsewhere up and down 650 miles of the twisting river, the Communists were attacking Nationalist north-bank bridgeheads at scattered points.

City Captured

One of the strongest onslaughts was against Kwachow, 40 miles east of Nanking. If the Communists can mount artillery at that point, they can bring the big south-bank city of Chinking and the Shanghai-Nanking railway under artillery fire.

Gen. Tang En-Po, Nanking-Shanghai defense chief, was reported personally directing the fight to save Kwachow. No other details were given, however.

Other attacks continued at Anking, on the north bank 150 miles southwest of Nanking, and opposite Wuhu, on the south bank 50 miles southwest of Nanking.

Two hundred and fifty miles upstream from Nanking, Manchurian Reds were conceded to have captured Kuangchi, just north of the south-bank city of Kiukiang.

Other Manchurian forces were pressing slowly down towards Hankow, major defense center 375 miles by air upstream from Nanking. They last were reported 30 miles and more away, but a large body of reinforcements was moving south 110 miles north of Hankow.

Calvert was one of the boys educated at the Texas State Orphans home at Corsicana when Minatra was superintendent there from 1919 to 1925.

Montgomery Ward Mail Order Division Official Resigns Post

CHICAGO, April 11. (INS)— Charles M. Odorizzi, vice president in charge of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s mail order division, resigned today—the 10th top company official to step out in the past year.

Odorizzi announced his resignation in the following statement:

"When a number of officers resigned last summer I agreed to remain in the belief that after such a serious top management blowup, it would certainly be the last and a sincere effort would be made to bring reasonable stability to the company officer group.

"Those expectations have not been realized.

"After 12 years with the company, I regret very much that I therefore find it necessary to submit my resignation in order that I may plan my future."

Sewell Avery, chairman of the merchandising firm's board of directors, refused flatly to discuss the Ordorizzi resignation.

COMMUNIST AGENT CLAIMED IN WASHINGTON

GOP Senator Charges 'Successor' To Chambers Is Masterminding Red Espionage Within Government

By ROSE MCKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), charged today that a "successor" to Whittaker Chambers is "master-minding" Communist espionage within the federal government.

Mundt said that Chambers told the House Un-American Activities committee that a Communist agent was planted in Washington to succeed him when Chambers broke with the Red underground.

Chambers is the confessed Communist courier who testified that Alger Hiss gave him State department secrets for relay to Moscow. Microfilmed copies of confidential government papers were found in a hollowed out pumpkin on Chambers farm last fall.

Man "Blundered"

Hiss, a former State department policy official, is awaiting trial on charges he lied when he said he never gave secret information to Chambers.

Mundt said that "Chambers learned his successor in the underground was appointed but he never got the man's identity." Mundt, a member of the House Un-American Activities committee before his election to the Senate last fall, continued:

"Chambers had lunch one day in Washington with a man who remarked:

"'I'm having lunch tomorrow with your successor.' Chambers replied, 'Give him my regards.' At this point the man apparently realized he had blundered. He got red in the face, according to Chambers, and left the table. Chambers never saw him again."

House Group Scored

Mundt said it was "clear" to him that "someone is master-minding Red espionage at the present time." Unquestionably, he declared, the "master" is Chambers' successor.

The senator accused the House Un-American Activities committee of "doing nothing." He concluded:

"With the Judith Coplan case breaking, I should think the committee would call her associates in the Justice department and try to find out who promoted her to a position of trust.

"I should think the committee would attempt to determine who put her in touch with the Russian."

Joint Committee Urged

Miss Coplan was arrested by FBI agents in New York along with Valentine Gubitchev, a Soviet official with the United Nations. The two were trailed and arrested as they met. Miss Coplan had secret government papers in her purse.

Mundt said he would wait until July 31 and then if the House Un-American Activities committee has not resumed its spy hearings, he will renew his demand it be enlarged to a Senate-House commission.

The senator disclosed that as a result of the Hiss-Chambers hearings, the Mundt-Nixon anti-Communist bill has been revised.

The chief change, he said, was a new provision making it illegal for a government employe to disclose restricted data without authorization and lifting the statute of limitations on any such violation.

The revised bill would also establish safeguards for anyone who was erroneously listed as a Communist.

A series of oil discoveries in the Sinai Peninsula highlighted Egypt's drive for more petroleum production, early this year.

Man Misses More Serious Charge As Radio Price Cut

SEGUIN, April 11 (AP) — Caught for stealing a radio, a man was charged with a misdemeanor.

In a way he was lucky, police said.

A few hours before it was stolen, the radio was placed on sale at a price under $50. At the original price of $59.50, the theft would have been a felony.

Ex-Governor Of Michigan Dies

POULAN, Ga., April 11 (INS)—Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, died in his sleep late today.

His physician, Dr. J. J. Crumley, said the 89-year-old philanthropist took a turn for the worse about 3:30 p.m. and died about two hours later.

Present at his bedside was 55-year-old Stellanova Osborn, his secretary for 18 years and bride of two days. Others there were a nurse, and the Rev. W. C. Smith, who married the couple 48 hours before.

A son, George, was reported to be on his way from Myrtle Beach, S. C.

The turn for the worse came after a rally at noon that Dr. Crumley called "amazing for a man his age."

Late Sunday night and early today Osborn's condition had been described as "critical—even hopeless." But Dr. Crumley said the "grand old man of Michigan" regained consciousness about noon, "and even talked a little."

Osborn had been a semi-invalid for several years. Last week he contracted pneumonia but rallied, and arose from his sickbed Saturday to marry his adopted daughter, Stellanova. The adoption—which took place in 1937—was dissolved before the marriage.

Dr. Crumley said Osborn suffered a heart attack shortly after the wedding, and a series of hemorrhages followed.

For Better Life in Texas

Recreation and Health

Big Texas is noted for its great outdoors, but deep in the hearts of its crowded areas, Texas cities provide parks and recreational facilities for the health and happiness of our people. By the purchase of $20,862,424 of Texas State, County, and Municipal Bonds during its nearly half century of service to Texas exclusively, Southwestern Life has helped these communities to provide these facilities. Protected by Southwestern Life Insurance, Texans relax in security to enjoy better life in these Texas parks and playgrounds, planned for your recreation.

The San Jacinto Monument, tallest stone memorial in the world, 570 feet, commemorates the victory of the Texans over the Mexican army near Houston April 21, 1836, the beginning of independence and better life in Texas.

PRESS FREEDOM DEFENDED

Men Who Escaped Iron Curtain Prepare Answers To Pole's Claim

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, April 11—A Communist Pole named Drohowski made a speech in the UN the other day condemning U. S. newspapers. It was the usual tirade, leading up to the charge that all U. S. editors take their instructions from Wall Street and warmongers.

It might have passed unnoticed, as so many anti-U. S. blasts do in UN but a group of men who are not Americans, yet who feel so strongly for this country that they gravely resent slurs against the freedom of the press, will bring the matter to a head—they hope.

They are the exiled leaders of the international peasant union—men of the Democratic calibre of Poland's Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, Bulgaria's Dr. Georgi M. Dimitrov. Yugoslavia's Dr. Vladko Macek; Czechoslovakia's Dr. Josef Cerny, Hungaria's Ferenc Nagy and such other escapees from the iron curtain as Johannes Sikkar, Dr. Kazys Grinius, Grigore N. Buzesti, Dr. Milan Gavrilovic and Dr. Fedor Hodza.

Account Is Prepared

They have prepared a first-hand account of the tragic consequences the press of their native countries suffered just before and after the Communization of those states. This they would like to turn over to the U. S. delegation at UN, for use in replying to Drohowski's obscene charges.

I have seen some of their evidence, especially that of Mr. Mikolajczyk. He has daily copies of Poland's last Democratic newspaper, the Gazeta Ludova, from the day it was able to reappear after the war until the present.

The common practice in the iron curtain countries is for the invader to "nationalize" the newsprint and paper-producing factories and thereafter give paper only to those who will promise to speak the party line. Proofs of papers must be submitted in adance to a Communist censor—whose red pencil markings make Mikolajczyk's early editions of Gazeta Ludowa look like a butcher's window.

Obituaries Are Killed

In the case of the Polish paper in question, even the obituaries of priests, Democratic officials and lovers of free speech were censored. So were any pastoral letters that reflected on the new rulers, on such matter as expressions of thanks for UNRRA aid.

For a time Mikolajczyk, as prime minister of the last Democratic Polish government, ordered the paper to appear on the streets with huge blank spaces appearing here and there, where matter was killed.

But the Poles got the meaning of this quickly, and began to regard a semi-empty paper as a message of hope. After that, the Communist government which had been thrust upon the courageous nation ordered that the paper must be filled with type of any "friendly" kind—but type.

A special "law of the press" destroyed all non-Communist papers in Bulgaria. Among the rules was one that each surviving paper use most of its newsprint running digests of Pravda and other Soviet sheets.

In Czechoslovakia, after Masaryk's death, eight independent dailies and 50 periodicals with a mind of their own were summarily suppressed. Reporters and editors who protested at mass meetings have been seized and either jailed or exiled.

The Communist government of Bulgaria, in three government orders, took command of all publications, their distribution and sales. In Romania the order that killed remaining Democratic organs came directly from the commanding general of the Red army in control.

For a brief period after Truman, Attlee and Stalin met at Potsdam, three non-Communist papers (out of a previous 40) were permitted to print again. But they have long since disappeared. As for Yugoslavia, Dr. Macek is prepared to submit evidence to the U. S. delegation at UN that his country's last free newspaper, "Slobodni Glass" (The Free Voice), run by the widow of Croatian peasant leader Stepan Radic, was destroyed by a Communist mob in September, 1945.

"The managing editor of the publication, Ivan Bernardic, was dragged before The People's Court and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment at hard labor," Macek's portion of the report states.

It is to be hoped that the UN delegation accepts the offer of these men who have suffered so keenly in their fight against the enormous power that enveloped them and everything they stood for.

I'd like to see Drohowski properly answered.

U. S., Soviets Refuse To Sign Radio Pact

MEXICO CITY, April 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union and the United States have refused to sign an 85-nation agreement to allot short-wave frequencies.

The U. S. objected that time given her under the plan was too little, but the Soviet's reason for not signing was unclear since the conference gave her the lion's share of air-space.

Great Britain alone of the great powers agreed to the proposed division.

Three more conferences will be held to try to reach an agreement before 1952. This one droned on since October before breaking up in failure yesterday.

Its purpose was to divide times of broadcast on the eight bands between six and 26 megacycles in such a way as to end one country's interfering with another's broadcasts.

The U. S. at the conference accused Russia of jamming American short wave broadcasts.

Services Set In Fort Worth For Wife Of Pioneer Cattleman

FORT WORTH, April 11 (U.P.)—Funeral services will be held here at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow for Mrs. C. A. O'Keefe, widow of a well-known pioneer Texas cattleman and builder of the Blackstone hotel.

Mrs. O'Keefe, 83, died at her home here yesterday. Her husband died in 1929.

Mrs. O'Keefe was prominent in social and charitable activities in Fort Worth. She made four world cruises in addition to trips to many foreign countries and numerous transcontinental trips.

Court Defers Action On Banker Held In New York Shortage

NEW YORK, April 11 (U.P.)—Pleading of Richard H. Crowe on charges of taking $883,660 from the National City bank was deferred today until April 26 when his attorney requested time for his examination by "competent psychiatrists."

Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol had no objection, and Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe granted the adjournment. He was expected to sign an order within a day or two committing the 41-year-old former assistant branch manager to Bellevue hospital.

Crowe's attorney Peter F. Gulotta, said that the defense desired to retain "psychiatrists of our own choosing" and it was understood that he and Saypol would confer on details of the mental observation procedure.

The usual period of psychiatric observation at Bellevue is 10 days to two weeks. The judge said the court would receive a report from the hospital at the end of that time.

Gulotta had indicated earlier that Crowe would plead innocent by reason of insanity to charges in the four-count indictment which carries total maximum penalties of 45 years in prison and $30,000 in fines on conviction.

Pennsylvania Woman Finds Elephant Among Radio Prizes

DONORA, Pa., April 11 (AP)—Mrs. Freda Perry, wife of a Donora steelworker, won a circus elephant and other prizes totaling $23,600 last night for correctly identifying an old English tune—"St. Paul's Steeple"—on the American Broadcasting company's "Stop The Music" program.

Mrs. Perry and her husband were tickled pink about the prizes.

But the elephant . . .

"Gee, I don't know what I'll do with that elephant," said Mrs. Perry.

Murder Charges Filed In Death Of Tarrant County Ex-Convict

FORT WORTH, April 11 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today in Justice Whit Boyd's court against William Luther (Buddy) Looper, who admitted he fired the pistol shots that killed Melvin Lee (Blackie) Lawson, Tarrant county's "bad boy."

Looper, 51-year-old Keller rancher and liquor store owner, told a Star-Telegram reporter, "I was just defending myself."

He said he had never laid eyes on Lawson until yesterday afternoon, when the latter walked into a cafe and boasted that he was "the toughest man in Fort Worth."

Looper said he left the cafe, together with other patrons. Lawson followed him to the street, Looper said, and brandished a knife. "I took my revolver from the glove compartment of my car. Then I emptied the gun at him. I couldn't do anything else but I don't look for trouble and I don't want anyone bothering me. I am sorry I did it," Looper said.

Looper was released on $5,000 bond last night.

Lawson was a well-known figure at police headquarters and the sheriff's office here. He was released from the state penitentiary in January after serving time for maiming. Police records showed he had been arrested 82 times.

Store Manager Hurt In Houston Robbery

HOUSTON, April 11 (AP)—M. G. Bauer, 41, manager of the Piggly Wiggly grocery store on south Main, was slugged and robbed of $6,550.70 cash at the store shortly after 7 a. m. today, Bauer reported to police.

The store manager said the thief's loot represented the store's receipts over the busy weekend.

The store manager said he was slugged as he carried the money in a money bag from the store safe to the business office on the second floor where it was to be counted.

Six other persons were in the store at the time of the robbery, but they knew nothing of the hold-up until Bauer staggered up to one of the store employes holding his head.

SQUIRREL GETS TOUGH

AKRON, O. (U.P.)—A mad and maybe hungry squirrel with some jungle habits bit three persons here, including one policeman. Patrolman Robert L. King suffered bites on both legs when he reported to the scene of the squirrel attack. Two men already had been bitten and the squirrel was chasing a third man when King arrived.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

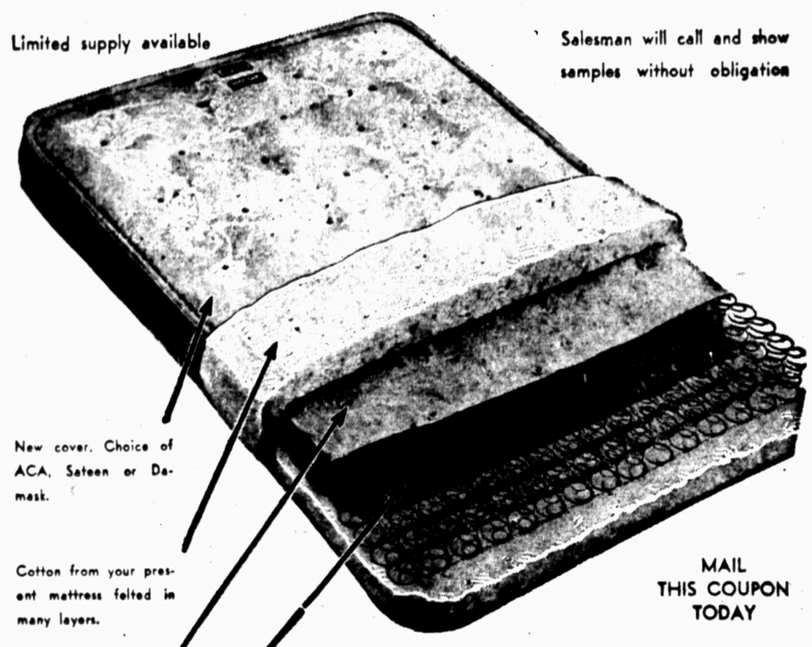

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

SECRETARY DEFENDS PROGRAM

Brannan Admits Support Plan Would Increase Price Of Pork

By JOHN BOOTH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11—Agriculture Secretary Brannan said today that the government's projected hog price support program will mean an increase in pork prices for housewives.

Brannan made his statement in testimony before the House Agriculture committee in connection with his proposed plan to bring down retail food prices and stabilize farm economy at a fair level.

The secretary said the price pegs will be set "before the end of this year." He added that he expects some public criticism because "consumers will be paying a high price for pork at the same time."

Major Wheat Crop Seen

Meanwhile, the agriculture department predicted a winter wheat crop of 1,019,686,000—the second largest on record.

This forecast coupled with a prospective spring crop of 291 million bushels would mean one of the largest wheat yields in history.

Brannan admitted that the present support program will cost "a considerable amount of money," but he declined to venture an overall estimate of the current plan on his new proposal.

Under questioning by Rep. Andresen (R-Minn), and other committee members, however, Brannan insisted that the new plan will be less expensive.

But Andresen contended that the Brannan plan will cost between five and ten billion dollars a year. He said that Congress must "recognize that somebody's got to pay the bill."

Secretary Raps Critics

The secretary struck back at critics of his program who claim it would mean tighter government regulation of farm production.

He declared that his plan contemplates no major extension of legislation now in effect or of the so-called Aiken-Hope bill which goes into effect Jan. 1.

He explained that production payments provided in his plan are designed to "keep up production for the benefit of all consumers."

He said it is also aimed at encouraging farmers to stay within production goals and observe orderly marketing practices.

Brannan's statement apparently was directed at charges that his proposal would impose virtual federal dictatorship over individual farm operations.

The secretary said the production payment idea is included in the bill sponsored by Sen. Aiken (D-Vt), one of his critics.

He declined to speculate whether his plan would lessen the need for selective price control authority as asked by the President, but added:

"It would certainly reduce the need for price controls on agricultural commodities."

Under the proposed subsidy system, the government would pay the farmer in cash the difference between the going market price and the support price of selected commodities. This list would include meat animals, milk, poultry, eggs, fresh vegetables and fruit.

Meanwhile, the regional economic conference of the American Legion heard government officials report that farmers face a brighter future now than after World War I.

One official reported that New England, where he said 20 per cent of the farmers are 65 years of age or more, offers better prospects for young men.

Minimum Wage Increase Urged

WASHINGTON, April 11 (INS)—Labor Secretary Tobin told Congress today that enactment of a 75-cent wage minimum would be only a "starting point" for an eventual dollar-an-hour floor on pay.

Testifying before a Senate Labor subcommittee on the administration proposal to boost the wage-hour minimum from 40 to 75 cents, Tobin said:

"I want it clearly understood in the record that I do not consider that rate (75 cents) to be an adequate minimum.

"I regard it merely as a starting point . . . a dollar an hour would approach for the first time a realistic minimum necessary to health, safety and general well-being."

Taft Suggests Plan

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) suggested during the hearing that an "escalator" principle might be adopted fixing the minimum in each industry at a percentage of the average pay for that work.

Thus in manufacturing, Taft said, the minimum might be 60 per cent of the average wage. Tobin commented that there was a "basic soundness" in Taft's proposal, and said he would think it over.

Taft said that if minimums were fixed at a percentage of the average, it would be unnecessary to change them "every few years."

William R. McComb, wage-hour administrator, told the subcommittee that the 75-cent minimum would give wage boosts to about 2,750,000 American workers.

Parts Of Bill Outlined

McComb also said the administration's bill, introduced by Sen. Thomas (D-Utah) would:

1. Increase the coverage of the federal wage-hour law from about 23 million to 30 million workers.
2. Provide a system of step-ups for attaining a dollar-an-hour minimum in certain industries.
3. Strengthen child labor provisions.
4. Remove confusion resulting from "overtime on overtime" problems.
5. Centralize the administration of the wage-hour act in the Department of Labor.

WHY EXAGGERATE?

Our Crime Problem

NO ONE casually familiar with Lubbock will deny that this city has a crime problem. Most cities are in the same boat, because the crime problem is national and worldwide.

Whether conditions here are much worse or, for that matter, at all worse —than in the average community few persons are qualified to say. Probably our problem is somewhat worse than average. Rapid growth usually is attended by an increase in crime.

But we do take exception to reports of the kind which tend to picture Lubbock as a gangster-ridden city where violent crime is so rampant that law-abiding people are in fear of losing their lives and property. There have been several such reports lately. The informed people of Lubbock know they present a flagrantly distorted picture of true conditions. We insist that this is a law-abiding community, made up overwhelmingly of law-abiding people, and that it is one of the best places anywhere to raise a family.

This does not disparage in slightest degree the desirability and importance of vigorous action to correct objectionable conditions which do exist. Whether the best method of dealing with the problem is by increasing the number of law enforcement officers, or by improving law enforcement efficiency, or both, is a matter of opinion. Our belief is that officers more carefully chosen, better trained and concentrated upon serious crime, rather than keeping regiments of able-bodied men riding herd on parking meters, might help the situation in Lubbock considerably. It sometimes looks like it is safer to stick up a store or to crack a safe in Lubbock than to park at a meter after a nickel's worth of time has been used.

PERHAPS the 99th District Court Grand Jury was correct in reporting that an especially aggravated problem of law violation — particularly liquor law violation — exists in some of the suburbs, including areas adjoining the eastern City limits. We do not agree, as the report implies, that conditions are suggestive of a miniature Chicago when that city was the acknowledged gang-crime capital of the world. But the areas doubtless have special problems.

We do not agree either, with the Grand Jury's thesis that it should be necessary to bring those areas inside the city to provide them adequate policing. We would like to see them annexed to the City for several reasons—health, building regulations and others. But they are entitled to, and should have, adequate policing from several already existing law enforcement agencies—the sheriff's office, Texas Rangers, Liquor Control Board and others—while outside the City. If the various agencies lack the manpower to do their job, it should be provided, with a large share of the responsibility falling on the County Commissioners' court. It does not help those areas now to say they should, or must, get inside the City in order to obtain police protection. They need protection, now and, judging from the Grand Jury report, are not getting it.

Meanwhile, no useful purpose is served Lubbock by exaggerating even for well-intended emphasis — the extent of our problem. And we have our problem—no one denies it.

But this is a good city; a law-abiding city; a fine place to live. It has its faults. But reports which suggest this is a hotbed of crime not only are injurious; they simply are not true.

Oh, I Favor The Through Highway—

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, vacationing in the desert, are entangled in a murder involving the "Queen," an 18th Century Spanish treasure galleon, which sailed up the flooded Colorado River and was stranded on the desert. The clue to the lost ship are in directions given in cipher by the murder victim to Johnny. Sin's trick memory retains these directions and Johnny offers them to Barselou, who is holding the Conovers prisoner, if Sin is released. Barselou agrees, but after Sin is released Johnny is slugged as he tries to escape.)

XXVIII

JOHN HENRY moaned and opened his eyes. Gray light, like a shower of pins, stabbed them and he shut them again. A slow fire was baking one side of his face, the other was ice-cold.

"Johnny, Johnny!" he could hear Sin's voice near him. "Darling —please wake up—oh, please—"

"Oh, darling!" Sin breathed from somewhere in back of him. "Thank God! I was so scared."

His head began to clear. They were in some sort of dim vault under a low ceiling. Cardboard boxes of all sizes were stacked against the opposite wall. Down the center of the room ran a row of wooden pillars and, at eye-level above the cartons, were three small grimy windows. John Henry decided this must be the cellar under the Bar C Ranch.

"What's happened?" he managed.

"How's your head, honey?"

John Henry moved it gingerly to and fro. "Holy cow!" he complained. "What a headache!"

"Try to sit up. Maybe you'll feel better."

He discovered when he tried it that his arms were asleep. They were bound in back of him. His legs, too, felt numb and a moment's careful focusing showed him his ankles had been tied together and then his legs doubled back. A rope connected his wrists with his ankles.

He wriggled to a sitting position, groaning en route. Then he wormed around to look at his wife.

Sin had been similarly hobbled. Her red hair was mussed and her bright eyes had obviously held recent tears.

JOHN HENRY groped for memory. "Sin—what are you doing here?" Why aren't you in Brawley?"

"Your poor head, honey!" Sin exclaimed, ignoring the question, her eyes fixed on the lump which showed through the matted brown hair.

"Never mind me," he commanded. "Just tell me what all happened."

Sin obediently repeated the gibing explanations she had gotten from Vernon when he had added John Henry to the basement prison. Vernon claimed the Conovers hadn't fooled him at all. When they had turned the Mercury toward Barselou's ranch, it had just saved him the trouble of an open fight. The bellboy had followed them quietly and listened outside the casino door. When Sin came out, he had shoved a gun into her spine and a cloth over her mouth. A few minutes later, she had been left, trussed, in the cellar — where she had been ever since. Vernon had then driven Faye Jordan's coupe around the drive and a short distance down the road to persuade John Henry that Sin had actually left.

The story didn't help John Henry's head at all. He sighed. "I should have left Faye Jordan alone," he admitted gloomily.

Sin didn't argue about this. John Henry wriggled around a bit and whistled a noiseless tune between his teeth. "But I don't think Faye knows anything about this ship business," he added suddenly.

"Well, then who was it that put something in your drink and searched you?" Sin demanded.

"I thought it was Faye, all right. But why couldn't it have been that bartender of Barselou's?"

"Why'd they let you go then, honey?"

"I didn't have anything. Barselou still wasn't sure we were the right people," said John Henry. "All that happened before you got caught with Barselou's maps. That put a clincher on our guilt."

"But we didn't know anything," Sin protested.

"WE HAD the route to the ship —that's enough evidence for him," John Henry replied. "It just goes to prove that there's somebody else mixed up in this race for the Queen, all right."

"Mr. and Mrs. Jones?"

"Sure, Sin. I don't know where Robottom fits in but he thinks we're the Joneses. Barselou thinks we're the Joneses. Anglin was looking for them when he stumbled into our cottage by mistake." John Henry's voice took on excitement. "That's it, Sin. There are two sides. Barselou on one and the Joneses on the other. Anglin was playing on both teams and didn't score anywhere. Barselou didn't kill him. So who did?"

"You want me to say the Joneses."

"Un-huh. So the next big question is the Joneses. This is damned important, baby. Are they man and wife or a team of acrobats or what?"

He stopped. A scratching noise came from one of the high windows in the cellar wall across from them.

Sin gulped a couple of times and whispered, "What is it, honey?"

John Henry shushed her gently and kept watching the ground-level on the other side of the basement.

It was being shoved firmly from the outside. It stuck for a moment, then screeched inward and upward.

Crouched on the window sill, peering in at them curiously, was an animal. Behind a malevolent head with pointed ears, the creature's body filled the window. Its size made it impossible for the huge beast to be what it was.

A gigantic black cat.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

A LADY in a small Alabama town has written my column for me today.

I don't know her. I shall probably never meet her. But I envy her, and I take my hat off to her.

BRANDEIS

This column of hers will also show several people what kind of poetry I admire. These people censured me for having poked fun at poetry and told me that I wouldn't know good poetry if I saw it.

Today's column came to me in the form of a letter. It is written on ruled paper and in not too excellent English. It doesn't rhyme. It isn't literature. But it is the expression of a simple yet noble heart that has solved the riddle of happiness.

Here it is:

"I am one of your many readers who enjoy your column. I think one of God's greatest gifts to mankind are people who can express their hearts.

"Some express their heart's feeling by music, some by singing and some by dancing. I am one of those who can do a little of all, but cannot express the feeling of my heart and soul.

"What wouldn't I give to be able to let others feel as I do when I see a sunset or the contentment and happiness a farmer feels when he stands against the fence surveying his day's work, or when I see the suffering on a dirty little face as he looks at his pet dog whose life has just gone out!

"If I could only find words to express the feelings of a mother with her new-born babe, or the beauty of a mare watchfully grazing while her day-old colt unsteadily waddles about.

"I always find something beautiful or gay or sad in everything I see. If I could only express myself as you do, to let others see the beautiful things God has given us to enjoy! I think that would be the greatest service one could do for his fellow men.

"I know I'll never be able to do that, but I do know my two sons, aged two and four, will enjoy the simple stories I will tell them some day as we sit by the fire. If I can only let them see the beauty of God's world, and, as they grow older, I hope the day will never pass without a beautiful picture having been left in their hearts.

"MR. ERICH, my husband and I love life, as I know you and your wife do. We can laugh at our troubles together, and we really have our share. But it makes us enjoy our lives, and the good times we have together will never be forgotten.

"The radio next door is playing an Irish lullaby. Tears come to my eyes as I remember my Papa, who was Irish, and who probably rocked me to sleep with that same lullaby, while Mom did the churning or finished up the ironing.

"Well, I could go on like this for hours, and you would never understand what I am trying to say. But perhaps you would at that. It is the very simple words in your column that makes it so enjoyable."

That, my friends, is poetry. That is literature.

And, on second thought, I will mention my writer's name. She deserves it. She is Mrs. O. G. Sealy, of Chickasaw, Ala.

God bless her and her family.

NEW THREAT SEEN

Social Plan Pushed

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Many Americans on and off Capitol Hill have nursed a spoken or unspoken grievance against continuing financial support of Britain because these taxpayers' funds contribute to a system of socialization which promises security "from the cradle to the grave." Even those who sympathize with the experiment think England should defer these reforms until circumstances are more propitious.

TUCKER

But a calculation of the costs, of the social security extension requested by President Truman shows that if the White House program is approved by Congress now or in the next few years, there will be hardly any difference between the American and British systems.

PAYMENTS: As a matter of fact, the higher standard of living on this side of the water means that the United States will surpass the mother country in caring for the average individual from the day of his birth to the hour of his death—and afterward.

Based on a 5½ per cent annual contribution on maximum base pay of $4,800, the individual will shell out $264 for federal guardianship by 1955. His employer will turn over a like amount to the government. The percentage will increase to 9 per cent for each by 1990, or a yearly total of $864.

These payments, of course, will be in addition to all other income, corporation, inheritance and nuisance levies. The grand total bill for merely the social security benefits is estimated at approximately $12 billions for 1955.

IFS: Here is how the federal government will serve as a day-to-day, year-by-year, guardian angel of a practical and dollars-and-cents nature to the individual, if the Truman program wins Congressional sanction and if future economic conditions enable it to function as advertised—two big "ifs":

(1). A pregnant mother will receive free pre-natal care, hospital or home nursing, medical attendance and delivery of the child. As the youngster grows older, he and all members of his family will be given periodic checkups, treatment at home or in a hospital in time of illness, and will be fitted with such artificial aids as eyeglasses, braces, teeth, crutches etc.

(2). When the child attends school, the pay of his teachers and the cost of school buildings and equipment will be financed partially by Uncle Sam. Under a proposed educational program entirely separate from spending measures or the social security expansion project, he would be financed for at least two years at a junior college, and specially deserving students would enjoy four-year scholarships at any college they select.

WAGE: (3). When Junior comes of working age, the government watches over him.

He will be guaranteed a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, with time and a half for overtime. If he is injured, he gets $45 a week for 26 weeks, if he is married and was earning $4,800 a year. If disabled permanently, he will quit with a life pension, based on his salary and length of service.

If he loses his job, whether through discharge or his own choice, he will be paid $30 weekly for 26 weeks if single, and $45 if married. During that period he may turn down offers of employment without losing these benefits.

RETIREMENT: Under Truman expansion proposals, a worker will be entitled to retire at 65 with a monthly check of $96.60 if he has no dependents, and $144.90 if he has others to support. For women the retirement age would be 60.

Should the Rankin pension bill become law, an old soldier at 65 would receive an additional $72 a month, provided his income does not top $2,000 a year if carefree, and $3,000 if he has a wife or children dependent on him.

Upon death, funeral expenses not exceeding $289.80 would be paid by the government. The widow would receive monthly benefits ranging from $100 to $150 a month.

PYRAMID: Even if Congress should approve this before-the-cradle to beyond-the-grave system, which is now doubtful, there is a hitch to the program which its backers do not like to discuss or concede. The obstacle does not derive from the laws of politics so much as it does from the laws—or trends—of population.

The experts report that the U. S. is becoming a country of older people. Unless the movement is reversed, the top of the social security pyramid club may become heavier than the base which supports it.

ONE-THIRD: When Social Security was inaugurated, for instance, there were about 8,000,000 over 65. Now there are approximately 11,000,000. In 1970 there may be 20,000,000. Eventually the over-65 group may number one-third of the American people.

Thus the individual's payment into the retirement annuity fund may rise to the point where, with other taxes, so many billions will be withdrawn from the productive money stream that the economic machine may break down for want of power.

If so, millions of young people who start paying into the social security fund within the next few years may find the federal cupboard empty when the time comes for them to collect.

DISGRACE: "Please write a word in your column on behalf of World War I widows whose husbands have died of non-service-connected disabilities. Because these widows earn $1,000 a year or more, they cannot receive a pension. I could go into detail about living expenses, food, clothing and doctors' bills. But because I earn a few hundred more than the $1,000 limitation, I am not entitled to this pension."

Answer: To Mrs. S. F. of San Francisco, and to many others raising the same problem: This is one of the most neglected injustices on Capitol Hill. In view of present prices, the ceiling should be at least $2,000. I believe, however, that Congress may quit playing politics with the issue of soldiers' pensions long enough to remedy this disgrace.

'War' Talk By U. S. Leaders Hit

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The generals have been sounding off quite a lot recently, scaring us wellnigh to death. But they really opened up, with all stops out, as they took time off from their offices on Army Day last week, mounted stumps here and there with the brass clinking, pulled out their manuscripts bristling with frightening phrases, and let the oratory roll with the ominous thunder of war drums.

Despite all the noise and furor, there were two factors which might offer some consolation to the war-weary and peace-hungry citizen who is the target of much of this high-pressure psychological warfare and, if this particular citizen is any example, getting sickened and disgusted with it.

Will Stop Talk

One was the announcement that hereafter there will be only one day a year set aside for the parades and speeches, which will be known as "Armed Service Day," instead of the four we had yearly for Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. The reason is to promote the idea of unity in the services, which is a good one.

But it will have the added blessing of giving the citizen only one day of the sort of histrionies to which he has been subjected for four days hitherto, which is a distinct gain, especially in these times of tension.

It might be a good idea also to have every year a day of "silence," which might be called "peace day," on which the citizen could pick up his newspaper and listen to his radio and watch his television without reading or hearing about or seeing a single soldier, tank, airplane, rocket ship, warship or fiery speech from a general or admiral. A "silence week" would be still better if it would be possible to squeeze one in among all the weeks for this and that which we already observe every year. And it would help to start it soon as an antidote to all the military stuff crammed down us in recent weeks.

The other consoling factor in the Army display this week was that some of the military seem to have become conscious of the criticism of the gunplay and cries of alarm and the way the military has been throwing its weight around in a manner unseemly in peacetime for a government supposedly in charge of civilians—or, at least there was a hopeful sign in some of the things in their manuscripts.

For example, General Lawton J. Collins, vice-chief of staff, in his speech at Pittsburgh: "Our foreign policy is not made, and should not be made, by the army." That's good to hear. It would appear that the caustic criticism of Herbert Hoover's commission on reorganization of the government might have had some effect. The commission's task force report on the national defense establishment said the military has been arrogating to itself too much influence in the field of policy.

Excuse Is Given

Then there was General Albert C. Wedemeyer who, in a speech before the Union League club in Philadelphia, had the grace to admit that he might be charged with preaching a doctrine of fear in some of the things he said before the group. This was a recognition, at least, of the sort of psychology that seems to be the aim from what has been going on in recent weeks. Then he admitted and excused this approach, thus:

"A powerful nation is using fear to intimidate neighboring peoples and to hold satellites in submission. We are therefore compelled to employ fear of inexorable retribution against that powerful nation if we are to stop her arrogant and ruthless aggression."

Here is a clue to the apparent strategy—to scare Russia, to scare our own people, and to scare Congress. The last in the interest of getting all the appropriations the military wants, including those to arm western European nations in the Atlantic Pact.

Russia just screams back, and in a rising crescendo, with all sorts of boasts about her might, and feeds her own people with propaganda that we are getting ready to make war on them, all of which creates a highly emotional state in which it becomes more and more impossible to sit down around a table and negotiate our differences.

It's like two bullies swaggering up and down opposite sides of a street shouting their prowess and daring the other to do something, altogether a very depressing and discouraging spectacle, as well as being silly.

Witness Testifies He 'Informed' On Union

NEW YOK, April 11 (AP) — An FBI contact man inside the Communist ranks testified today he also turned informer on the CIO United Office Workers union.

Herbert A. Philbrick, the witness, said he joined a Boston local of the union a month ago. Since that time, he added, he has been sending reports on the local to the FBI.

He did not indicate what the reports contained or what use, if any, the federal agents made of them.

Philbrick resumed his role as a star prosecution witness against 11 top American Communists. They are being tried on charges of conspiring to overthrow the United States government.

A young advertising man, Philbrick said he was a member of the Communist party for several years. During that time, he said, he passed on to the FBI whatever he learned from inner party sources.

He testified that party leaders told him to keep his Communist membership a secret.

"I was given specific instructions," he said . . .that if I was ever asked I was to swear I was not a member of the Commuist party."

Marxist training, he added, still was being pushed by the faithful as late as two weeks ago in the Boston area.

In cross-examination, the defense brought out that Philbrick enjoyed many of the fruits of capitalism while a Communist.

U. S. Expenditures On European Transport System To Decrease

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The extent of recovery of Western Europe's transport system in the last year means that less American money needed to be spent on it now, it was estimated today.

The Economic Co-operation administration reported that something less than the $140,000,000 spent on transportation in the last 12 monhts will henceforth be needed. It did not estimate how much less.

Shipments Incomplete

Actual shipments of trucks, rail cars and other equipment will be larger, however, because the bulk of what was contracted for in 1948 still remains to be shipped.

Recovery plans call for expanding western Europe's truck fleet by 1,000,000 trucks between now and mid-1952, when the four-year program ends. More than $40,000,000 is earmarked for this program in the coming fiscal year alone.

The Netherlands, ECA said, has more trucks today than in 1938, the last prewar year—about 34,000 now as compared to 28,000 when war broke out.

Stocks Obsolete

France also has more than before the war, largely because her own truck industry has bounced back into production rapidly, but throughout Europe much of the rolling stock in use is either virtually worn out or obsolete. ECA said the replacement program therefore is of high importance.

A marked improvement in rail operations is indicated by the fact that railroads are carrying more tonnage than they did in 1938, even though the number of freight cars is 10 per cent below prewar. American help for the railroads has been restricted mainly to materials and equipment. France, however, is currently assembling 2,500 freight cars shipped from the United States.

THIEF LOOTS FREEZER

KOKOMO, Ind. (U.P.) — Luther Howell is putting a padlock on his deep - freeze unit. While his family was away from home, a thief broke in and stole 40 pounds of meat from the freezer.

MONKS REPAIR BOOKS—Monks of the Greek Order of the Basilians, Grettaferrata, Italy, work on one of the old books and manuscripts they restore in monastery workshop.

Scottish Rite Club To Meet Thursday

Maundy Thursday program of South Plains Scottish Rite club will be at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in Lubbock hotel, rather than Monday as had been announced, officials said Monday.

Others on the program will be Dr. Jack Lewis and Chas. A. Guy, both of Lubbock, and Clovis Kendrick of Brownfield.

Attendance was expected to approximate 75 to 100 Masons.

Officers of the club are Guy Swain of Levelland and Sundown, president; Louie F. Moore of Lubbock, first vice president; Jim Graves of Levelland, second vice president; and Ed Parker of Lubbock, secretary.

One Man Killed, Another Hurt As Engine Rams Caboose In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., April 11 (INS)—One man was killed and one injured today when a caboose running wild was rammed by a Diesel engine on the Union Pacific railroad tranks in Portland.

The dead man was identified as Dan Wilson, foreman-conductor on the caboose. Witnesses said the caboose was rammed as the engine chased it around a corner.

The wreck took place near Providence hospital, where the injured man was taken. He was identified as John Repp, of Portland. His condition was reported critical.

Top Hitler Aides Are Convicted

By DONALD DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 11—Five of Hitler's top government officials were convicted by a U. S. War Crimes court today of helping him plan aggressive war.

They were the first Germans to be convicted of war plotting by an all-American court. Not since the International Military tribunal convicted Herrman Goering and 18 other high Nazis nearly three years ago had any German been found guilty on this charge.

Today's verdicts began the final act of this last war crimes trial before an American court.

Nobleman Convicted

One of those convicted today was Baron Ernst Von Weizaecker, state secretary in Hitler's foreign office and one time Nazi ambassador to the Vatican. He was found guilty of plotting aggressive war against Czechoslovakia.

William Keppler, 66, Hitler's economic adviser and founder of the "circle of friends" of the Gestapo chief, Heinrich Himmler.

Ernest Woerman, 61, chief of the political division of the foreign office.

Henrich Lammers, 69, one-eyed chief of the Hitler Reich chancellery, described by the court as one of the most powerful men in the Nazi hierarchy.

Sentences Withheld

Paul Koerner, 55, industrialist who was Goering's deputy in the four-year plan. The court said his job was to "make Germany ready for war in four years."

The sentences probably will not be announced until Thursday, when the three-judge court completes reading its 933-page finding.

There were 21 defendants tried on seven different counts, of which plotting aggressive war was the first. Nine defendants were acquitted of this charge. The other seven were not accused under it.

The 21 defendants all were diplomats or high officials of the Nazi government. The prosecution called them the "core of Nazi conquests" without whom Hitler could not have waged his war.

Weizsaecker was the chief defendant. His attorney, Warren E. Magee of Washington, D. C., put up an impressive defense. Weizzaeker claimed he actually had been anti-Nazi remaining in office only to oppose Hitler's program.

GOVERNOR PANHANDLES

MARION, N. C. (U.P.) — Harold Minges, veteran chauffeur for governors of North Carolina, knows the highways of his state by heart. But once he forgot that gas stations close on Sunday. He ran out of gas while piloting Gov. Kerr Scott across a lonely stretch near here en route to a convention. The governor helped flag down a passing car to borrow gas for the state's No. 1 auto.
