TORNADOES VICTORIOUS IN CLASH WITH TULIA ELEVEN GOAL LINE STILL UNCROSSED

In what the Tornadoes expected to be an easy game, they were morally defeated. The Tulia team comes from district one and is not classed as strong competition at all. Herford defeated them by the decisive score of 57 to 6. But the score was different when they played on Lamesa High Field Wednesday afternoon. On the opening kick off they returned the ball to the 16 yard line. Here they started a march for the Tornado goal line which was not stopped until they were in 12 yards or their destination. Here Cox connected with a 69 yard kick which completely tore up this scoring rampage. But they were not easily discouraged, they took the ball and began again, however never to such an advantage as the first. This was one team we must say, that never let up until the final whistle. From start to finish they were fighting as if it meant champions or nothing.

We might add too that the boys seemed to be real sports and the Lamesa boys enjoy playing them. The Tulia "Millers" seemed to have an entire team built around a triple threat man, Simpson, their full back. He was not an exceptional kicker but a good passer and an excellent runner off tackles. At ease could he realize 5 yards through center at any time. Other stars for Tulia were: Vandergriff at quarter; Captain Toone at tackle; and Butler at left half. Butler was also mentioned as ball carrier who could make yards at ease.

The Tornado team was led entirely by the running of Cox and McKenon. Cox has been showing up in the last two games but not since the Crane game has McKenon "peddled his goods," but he returned to form this evening seemingly at the time when he was stopped stiffest was when would make his yardage. He ended the game by making 16 at scoring distance. Line features for the evening were the smearing of end runs by Lowrimore, Medlin and Koger and Jordans playing the center of the line. He also returned to pre-game expectations. We must add too that Addison played a whale of an offensive game by catching three forward passes from Marr. Two for 14 yds. each and one for 10. The latter resulting in a touchdown.

The game was played rather slow with several players receiving slight injuries.

The starting lineups were:

Lamesa	Tulia
Lowrimore	Neil
Salsar	Ramsey
Jorden	Boone
Wommack	Grist
Gable	Elliff
Boswell	Toone
Medlin	Vandergriff
Marr	Goen
Cox	Butler
Moore	Baker
Treadway	Simpson
Center	Center
Right Guard	Right Guard
Right Tackle	Right Tackle
Quarter	Quarter
Full Back	Full Back

LAMESA'S DISPOSITION OF DEPRESSION

Editors Note—This is the first of a series of optimistic articles written especially for the Courier by Wm. A. Wilson, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. Copyright pending.

WHEN PROSPERITY TOOK A PLUNGE

"The day is done, and the darkness, Falls from the wings of night, As a feather is wafted downward, From an eagle in his flight."

With Longfellow in his "The Day Is Done," my town went into the 1929 "Depression" all was dark, yet with the spirit of hope and confidence of a Texan, Yea, A West Texan, never faltering, always trusting, with Longfellow again in the same poem the citizens of my town sang:

WHEN PROSPERITY FINDS ITS WAY OUT

"And the night shall be filled with music, And the cares that infest the day, Shall fold tents like the Arabs, And as silently steal away."

Thus we, in my town passed out of the night into a bright day with bigger lessons learned and better men and women, by having the financial shroud encroached about us—and more quickly was the dawn than the darkness—The Depression Was Over.

SOME FULLER

J. F. Williams who lives one mile west of Central Church, was in Tuesday and reported a cotton boll pulling record that outshines anything reported thus far.

He says that one Manuel Alvarez pulled 1550 pounds of bolls Monday morning until the sun was about an hour high, went to the house for lunch at the noon hour and quit in the evening at sunset. Williams says he knows the figures are accurate, for he did the weighing himself, and it will be up to him to pay the Mexican for his day's work.

Another man in the same field an American whom they call K. C., pulled 1471 pounds the same day.

Williams says that the Mexican offers to bet that he can pull as much as 2,000 pounds in a day. Does anybody want to call the bet? Taboka News.

PROPOSES ROAD PROGRAM FOR THE NATION

A $3,000,000,000 federal road program is proposed by Senator Norris of Nebraska to meet unemployment.

And Senator Norris has the right idea. Any plan which considers the mere feeding and sheltering of our 6,000,000 unemployed and their families is only a make shift. These 6,000,000 men want employment not charity.

A nation wide road program would give a majority of the 6,000,000 employment and the balance would be absorbed in industries given a new lease on life by the big road building program.

If the government does not care to levy taxes to pay for this big project, it can be made a toll system until the cost of construction has been met. Autoists would gladly pay a toll to ride over a connected system of paved highway.

But whether paid by taxation or tolls the main thing is that there is need for major building projects to give employment to our millions of unemployed. They would rather work than be objects of charity. We need a connected system of permanent highways throughout the United States and now would be an ideal time to construct them.

We hope Senator Norris can persuade Congress to adopt his road building program.

The American Red Cross begins its drive for funds with which to relieve human misery and distress this week. There will be many calls upon the purses of the generous in the course of the next two months. Unless some great catastrophe should call for the ministrations of the Red Cross, first consideration must, of course be given to the local chest of the President's Committee of Unemployment. We must take care of our own needy first of all. But besides giving to that most worthy of causes, every one who can afford to do so, should contribute at least the $1. annual membership fee to the Red Cross.

This great organization has proved itself always efficient, prompt intelligent and merciful. Through its unpaid workers it has distributed in the past year more than $11,000,000 to aid sufferers from the drought in the southwest. And it is using its funds on hand to help this year's drought sufferers in the northwest. In order to be efficient, the Red Cross must always be equipped for instant emergency service in time of special need. Its membership ought to include every adult person in the United States.

Better Cotton Will Bring Better Prices

In addition to raising less cotton, Texas must raise better cotton.

Representative Hubbard points out that cotton in Northeast Texas was bringing 9.15 cents this week because it showed a staple length of 1.31 inches. One thirty-second inch under the same classification sold for 8.80 and 31-31 length was sold 8.60 cents.

This is evidence of what others and myself claimed during the cotton session" Hubbard said. "If farmers raise staple length they won't have to worry over prices, cotton of that length fills an insistent demand. Staple and long staple cotton have almost been forgotten in some sections of the State. Where farmers raise good lengths they get much better prices and it costs only 25 cents a bale to obtain federal classification.

"When farmers raise the better lengths and have their cotton classified," Hubbard said, "it will eliminate hog-around prices, which has done much to destroy the market for better cotton, through no fault of the farmer. Under the hog-around system the buyer makes no distinction between long and short cotton, paying the same price, so the farmer makes no effort to grow staple. When he does this and has his product classified, it will mean many more dollars in his pocket. The other countries raise the short lengths and therefore compete with us. If we stick to better lengths, we will have no competition."

Rev. J. B. Baker will fill his regular appointment at McCarty Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. J. B. Gatlin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm V Gearheart and children attended the Assembly of the Church of the Nazarine in Sweetwater last week.

County Agents Doing Good Work

Beef slaughtering, bleeding, cutting, boning and processing is going on in many communities with the help of County Agents Miss Rozelle McKenney, Home Demonstration Agent and W. W. Evans, County Agent.

The following community demonstrations are being held this month at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Powers in Higginbotham community, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jeter, Weaver community, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hamilton, Woody community, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mullenx, Fairview, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rodgers, Patricia, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Speck, Midway, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Earnest, Five Mile, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Easterwood, Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hancock, Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker, Plainview and Randal communities.

These are community demonstrations in which interested men and women working together to follow the most approved method of preparing a variety of food be used in the most convenient that is clean, healthful and may and economical form throughout the year.

The average jersey steer yearling worth $52.00 will process out $50 or $60 worth of food if properly prepared and processed in the ten or twelve ways the demonstration women prepare it.

County Agent, W. W. Evans says that the first step in good beef is the proper bleeding. That means drawing all the blood from the animals body and not part of it. It means taking it out of the veins as well as the big arteries. This cannot be done in the best manner by cutting the throat. I have heard the old butchers say that that method was always used by Indian squaws, any way in bleeding we cut the big carotid arteries where they join together. At this junction many of the smaller veins join also and pumping of the heart aids the flow of blood.

Then in the cutting of the meat there is skill, separating the meat from the bones and the tender muscles from the tough ones is a practice that belongs to the farm slaughtering and not necessarily to the packing house and meat market. When the men and women get through with a fat jersey steer there is nothing left but about twenty pounds of dry bones and these may be ground and fed to chickens or hogs.

The men and women who get the experience at these demonstrations are able to assist others who may be interested." Evans said.

Miss Oro Thruston returned Sunday from Sweetwater where she attended the annual Assembly of the Church of the Nazarine. She was accompanied home by Rev. and Mrs. Fred R. Whitely and Mrs. Melvin Gooden of Dalhart.

Lesson for November 22

PAUL IN ROME

GOLDEN TEXT—I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 28:1-18; 28:16-31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in the Great City of the World.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Life-Long Ambition Fulfilled.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Prisoner Proclaims the Gospel in Rome.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Ministry in the World's Capital.

1. Paul Appeals to Caesar (25:1-12). In order to appreciate this action on the part of Paul it is well to get a synthetic grasp of the experiences which forced him to make this appeal.

1. His trial before Felix (Acts 24). The officials of the Sanhedrin were represented by Tertullus, a Roman barrister. He brought a fourfold charge against Paul:

a. A pestilent fellow (v. 5).
b. An inciter of rebellion (v. 5).
c. The ringleader of a sect (v. 5).
d. A profaner of the temple (v. 6).

To this charge Paul replied in a clear and dignified manner, setting forth the facts of his life, and demanded that his adversaries bring proof of their accusation. Felix was greatly moved by Paul's testimony concerning Christ, but postponed decision, expecting to receive a bribe from Paul.

2. Trial before Festus (25:1-12). Festus was the successor of Felix. Two years had elapsed, but the Jewish hatred had not abated. Paul's foes in Jerusalem sought to have him brought there for trial, intending to lie in wait and kill him on the way. Festus, willing to please the Jews, purposed to send him to Jerusalem for trial. For this Paul rebuked him, declaring that he very well knew that he was innocent. Seeing that it was impossible to get justice at the hands of Festus, he made use of his right as a Roman citizen and appealed to Caesar. Festus was taken by surprise and found himself in an embarrassing position, as he was unable to explain to Caesar as to why an innocent man should go to Rome for trial.

3. Trial before Agrippa (25:13-26:32). This was occasioned by the visit to Festus of Agrippa and Bernice. Upon their arrival, Festus told them of his perplexity. Therefore, they expressed a desire to hear Paul. Paul gladly made his defense before them and appealed to them to accept Christ.

11. Paul's Journey to Rome (27:1-44).
1. The ship (v. 6). It was in a vessel of Alexandria sailing from Myra to Italy.

2. The company (vv. 2, 37). Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus and Luke, were permitted to go with him. Besides these three there were 275 in the ship.

3. The storm (vv. 14-30). The ship made little headway on account of unfavorable winds. Paul advised that they winter in Fair Haven (vv. 9-12), but his advice was unheeded. In verses 14 to 30 we have a most graphic description of the storm. Tempestuous winds as well as soft breezes await God's faithful ones.

4. Paul's serene faith (vv. 31-36). God is as near to his faithful ones on a stormy sea as in the quietude of the home. Paul was not only calm, but bade the people be of good cheer (v. 23). He promised them safety though the ship would go to pieces.

5. The ship's crew safe (vv. 37-44). All turned out as God had promised.

111. Paul's Ministry in Rome (Acts 28:15-31).
1. Welcomed by the brethren (v. 15). They met him at the Appii forum, a distance of about forty miles from Rome. This was the first time he was thus welcomed.

2. Paul's lenient treatment (v. 16). He was allowed to hire a house and live apart, being guarded by a soldier.

3. Conference with the leading Jews (vv. 17-22). He allowed himself only three days to rest. His object was to have a fair understanding with the Jews. He explained the reason for his being there. The result was that the Jews took neutral ground, but expressed a desire to hear what Paul could say in defense of a sect which was evil spoken against.

4. Paul expounding the kingdom of God and persuading concerning Jesus (vv. 23-31). He pointed out a real kingdom, the Messianic Kingdom, with the historic Jesus as the King. The kingdom to Paul meant a definite reign of a definite person, not merely an improved state of society. This he showed from the Scriptures. He went through the Old Testament, carefully showing the kingdom teaching to be in harmony with the law and the prophets.

Personal Consecration
There is also need of a clear understanding of what consecration means. It is not an indulgence in pious yearnings and smug phrases. It is the willingness to face facts squarely, to deny one's self in behalf of others, to give, to work with one's heart and soul that God's kingdom may come upon earth.

Pleasures Not Lasting
The pleasures of sin are but for a season, but the punishment of unpurged sin is everlasting.

Soy Beans Good Feed Crop

The soy bean as a feed crop and soil improver is being grown more and more on a limited acreage in Dawson county. Fair success is had with this crop according to County Agent, W. W. Evans. It is not desirable as a hay crop for strations made here, but there are dairy cows judged by the demon- many varieties that have not been tested as indicates by the impor- tations made by the U. S. Experi- ment Stations of many new varie- ties.

World's Largest Soybean Collection is Harvested
More than 2,000 varieties of soy- beans comprising the largest col- lection of its kind in the world, are being harvested this year at the experiment farm of the Uni- ter States Department of Agricul- ture at Arlington, V. The soybean were brought from Japan, China Manchuria, Korea, and Formosa by W. J. Morse, who spent two years studying and collecting them.

Growing all these varieties at the Arlington farm of the Depart- ment is the first step in introduc- ing new varieties in different sec- tions of this country. Next year seed from these soybeans will be sent to experiment stations in var- ious parts of the country for fur- ther testing. No seed will be av- ailable for general distribution however.

Soybeans are being used in many experiments. In Japan the soy bean is popular as a green vegeta- ble. Many Japanese varieties are being tried in this country as green beans and the Bureau of Home Economics of the depart- ment is making cooking tests with different varieties as green vegeta- ble. In Manchuria the soybean is grown chiefly for the oil meal which are made from it. About 20 varieties are commonly grown in the United States, but these are

"Buffalo Hump" Was One of West's Most Dangerous Indian Chieftians

No other Commanche chief who lived during the past century was as much feared as Buffalo Hump. This thoroughly bad Indian and his band terrorized the north- western front of Texas for two decades during the middle of the century.

From his favorite camping site near Santa Anna Mountain in the eastern part of Coleman county, Buffalo Hump and his band sallied forth into the white settle- ments on their marauding expe- ditions. Buffalo Hump hated the whites with an intensity that seemed to grow with the years. No other Commanche chief was so bloodthirsty. No other chief so cruel and vindictive.

In 1848 when the government desired to make a new treaty with the Commanches, Len Wil- liams and Brooks W. Lee were sent to notify Buffalo Hump. They found him on Jim Ned Creek in Coleman county. He professed the greatest show of kindness for them. But while they were still in his camp, he instructed some of his braves to follow them and ambush them. E. Williams and Lee left the camp going north- ward in search of Sanaco and his band. They found Sanaco on the upper Pecan Bayou in Callahan county. Shortly after the arrival of the braves of Buffalo Hump came into camp and demanded the whites on the complaint that they had stolen goods while in their camp. Sanaco refused and gave the white men protection as far as the camp of Old Owl on the upper Clear Fork.

When the Commanche reserva- tion was established in 1855, Buf- falo Hump refused to bring his band on the reservation. He roved about for several months then came into the reservation. The Indian agent, John R. Baylor gave his people food and cloth- ing. The next day the band bet- took themselves to the prairies. Six months later they again ap- peared inside the reservation and Baylor repeated his kindness. A- gain Buffalo Hump went away to the plains. This exhausted Bay- lor's patience, and when the In- dians again appeared he informed their leader that they would either remain on the interior or starve on the prairies. Buffalo Hump remained on the reserva- tion but he was a constant trou- ble maker as long as the reser- vation was maintained.

When the Indians were moved from Texas in 1858, Buffalo Hump and his band settled on the Wich- ita reservation where he lived until his death in 1870.—Comman- che Chief.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Will Lamb honored the Tuesday Bridge Club Tuesday af- ternoon at her home. The enter- taining rooms were beautifully de- corated with autumn flowers.

At the conclusion of the games Mrs. J. E. Garland received a deck of cards for high score and Mrs. Bill Watson of Lubbock was presented with cards as guest prize.

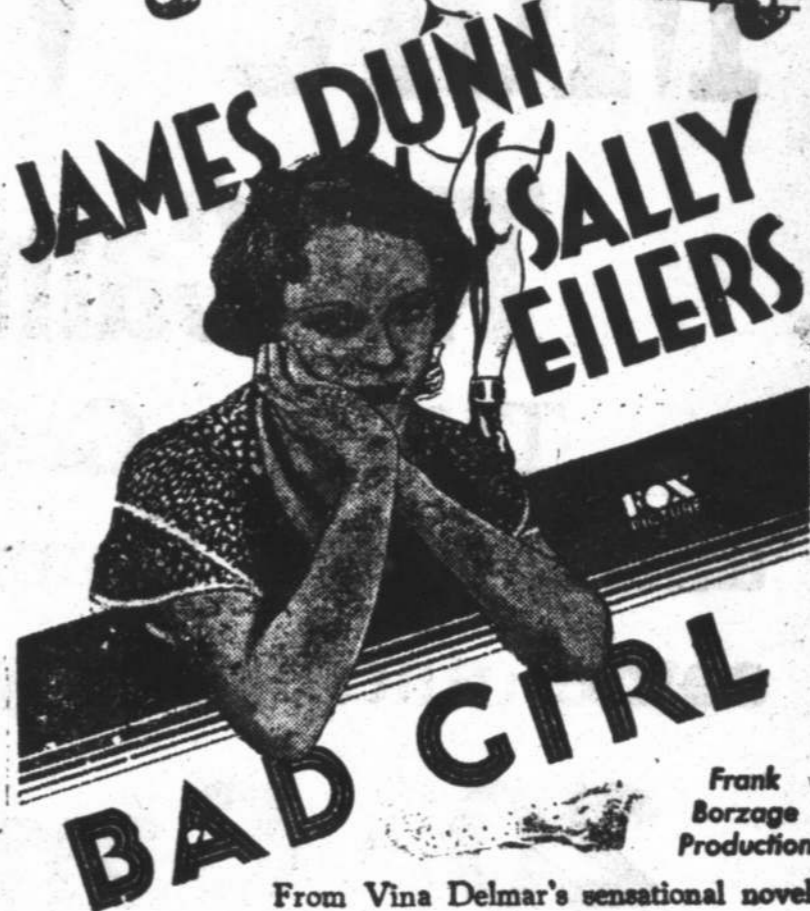

Assorted sandwiches, pineapples salad, individual pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee was served to the following: Mesdames Elzie Burleson, Tom Burnside, Roseco Holton, J. E. Garland, Gordon B. McGuire Jr., J. L. Syper, Frank Rose, Phillip Yonge, W. W. Con- nell, Burgess, Jim Little, Bill Wat- son of Lubbock and the hostess.

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING

1. Read only worth while books and magazines. Consult a librarian a friend, your parents or your teacher if you are not certain of a book.
2. Read thoughtfully, not too rapidly, not too slowly.
3. Concentrate. A wandering mind will fail to find the central truth.
4. Meditate. When some thought strikes you, let it become a part of your personality. Meditate on it.
5. Read with a pencil and paper. Do not be afraid to mark your own books. Jot down impressions in the magazines.
6. Read systematically. If possi- ble, devote a certain time each day to reading.
7. Keep a list of the books you read each year. Make yourself a book annual. Can you average a book a week? Write a brief re- view of each book read. Date each reading. This makes a splen- did reference book.

Combination of Brains and Milk Saved "Bossy"

A friend of the A. A. being in western New York, sends in the following story which he said a friend of his, long since dead, used to be fond of telling. I have heard a good many stories about good cows, but this one pretty nearly "takes the cake." Here it is:

A certain farmer, whose real name we will not mention but whom we will call "Jim," owned a herd of pure-bred Holsteins and never missed an opportunity to picture their good qualities.

"One day," said Jim, "I was coming home to dinner from the harvest field when I discovered that one of my best producers had fallen into an old well just back of the barn. I ran for help, but all of my neighbors had gone to the county fair, so it was up to me to get her out.

"Returning to the edge of the well, I glanced down at the helpless creature at the bottom and made a quick decision. Throwing off my hat and rolling up my sleeves, I lowered myself quickly into the well beside the cow and started milking.

"Bossy was always an easy milker, and I milked and milked until finally I scooped the 'old rig' right out the top of the well!"—American Agriculturist.

British Army Surgeon

"Yankee Doodle" Author? Although the origin of our first national air is regarded by some authorities as uncertain, a tradition has it that "Yankee Doodle" was written in 1755 by Dr. Richard Shuckburgh, a British army surgeon at the old Van Rensselaer manor near Rensselaer, N. Y., according to the Detroit Free Press. Anyway it is this old Dutch house for the rehabilitation and preservation of which an appropriation was obtained from the New York legislature.

The Shuckburgh legend states that the doctor was standing by the old stone well on the Van Rensselaer property when a detachment of Colonial troops marched back from the French and Indian war. Their ragged condition inspired in the doctor the words of "Yankee Doodle," which were written in derision. The original name of the song was "The Yankees' Return From Camp." Several versions have developed in the course of time. The melody was suited to the fife and drums of the Continental army; and during the Revolutionary war Washington's troops picked it up and popularized it.

Almost Broke Up the Show

A theatrical star is still wondering why, in a certain city, he got a lot of laughs in the wrong place. It was this way: In one of the acts of his play there was a character seated at a telegraph instrument who was supposed to send an important message. All the star, who didn't know telegraphy, heard was a series of meaningless clicks. But the actor who took the part of the operator had been in the signal corps. When he got to his home town, he figured that there would be some of his old outfit in the audience. He therefore started with the old call, and then began to tap out certain recollections of a humorous nature. It almost broke up the show.

Typewriter History

The first typewriter was introduced into England by Sir Alfred Yarrow, the famous ship builder. He bought the first dozen that came to this country from America 64 years ago. No one in his firm could use them, so he had to advertise for a typist. But as no one in England knew what a typist was, he had to advertise for "A shorthand writer who can play the piano!" Eventually he found a young man who quickly mastered the new instrument that is nowadays so commonplace an object as a fountain pen.—London Mail.

Real Old World Fete

At Tarascon, in France, we think of Tartarin, the hero of Daudet's romance, and of King Rene, whose castle is now a prison. The festival of the Tarasque, the cruel monster of nearly 2,000 years ago, at Whitsuntide, when St. Martha, of Bethany, dressed as a beautiful girl, leads the Tarasque by a silk cord is a great merrymaking. It is attended by people from all the neighboring towns, and the frenzy of the girls, with the fantastic costumes of the men, reward witnesses of this real old world fete.

One Excellent Reason

"Oh, what a funny-looking cow!" said the chic young thing from the city. "Why hasn't it any horns?" "There are many reasons," answered the farmer, "why a cow does not have horns. Some are born without horns and do not have any until the late years of their life. Others are dehorned, while still other breeds are not supposed to have horns at all. There are many reasons why a cow sometimes does not have horns. But the chief reason that this cow does not have any horns is that it isn't a cow at all. It's a horse."

Sapphire Supply

Sapphires of the finest color, the tint of the blue cornflower, come from Ceylon, source of many of the world's other precious stones. They are found in the gravel beds of the streams. Sapphires were discovered in Ham in 1875, and much of the world's supply comes from there.—Gas Logic.

"EYES OF TEXAS" WAS JOKE WHEN FIRST TIME SUNG

J. R. "Jim" Cannon, Amarillo business man was a member of the male quartet that sang "The Eyes of Texas" for the first time 28 years ago.

"It was a practical joke. We did not know what we were starting," Cannon said as he commented on the popularity with which the song was received and which later made it the song of the University of Texas and the unofficial state song.

He displayed a yellowed program, split down the middle and reinforced with a strip of paper pasted over the slit, on which the number was listed as "A Parody in Song." The program was given as a benefit for the Glee and Mandolin Clubs and the athletic department. It was a negro minstrel with a few special acts thrown in.

It all happened in the old Hancock opera house just a block off 4th St. Austin, Cannon said. "The Hancock was the talk of the state and the governor had a special box. Twenty-eight years ago, it was in the fall of 1903, the University was small enough for benefit programs and we were giving one that night.

"Dr. Lambdin Prather, who was president then, had attended the Washington and Lee University when Robert E. Lee was president. General Lee, it was said, never made a speech to the student body without bringing in the remark, 'The eyes of the South are upon you.' Dr. Prather, it seems, thought well of the statement, and after he became University president often quoted it, confining it only to Texas.

There was a standing joke among the students about the president's all-seeing eyes and the eye watchful State of Texas. So when John Laing Sinclair of San Antonio went into conference with the college quartet with some half formed words and the famous old tune, "I've Been Working on the Railroad" running through his head, he was starting something, but he didn't know it.

"That night the Hancock was packed with students and Austin citizens. President Prather was there. The program was well advanced when the quartet stepped out to give their parody. Before we finished the first verse the house was in an uproar and by the time "..... till Gabriel blows his horn" was reached, the audience must have been semi-hysterical, judging from their antics. They pounded the floor and shouted for an encore which we willingly gave again and still again.

"The students finally joined us and we repeated it till we were so hoarse we sang in a whisper 'We're Tired Out.' By the following day the band had learned the tune and words and marching up and down the campus playing, 'The Eyes of Texas are Upon You.'"

Cannon sang second bass in the quartet. Other members were J. D. Killheven of Miami, first tenor; R. A. Porter of Dallas, second tenor; W. D. Smith, San Antonio, first bass. The director was D. A. Penick, present tennis coach of the university, who has developed some of the world's leading tennis players.—Amarillo News.

Miss Asalle Key substituted in Ed Bailey's place at Grandview this week. Mr. Bailey resigned and accepted a position in Longview.

PINK BOLL WORMS FOUND AT GINS IN MIDLAND
Pink boll worms are still in the cotton fields of this area, investigation by Federal pink boll worm investigators discloses. One worm found the first of this month has been positively identified as a pink boll worm, the investigators said.
A second worm was found Monday which is identified by local pink boll worm specialists as a pink boll worm, but official word has not yet been received as to its identity. This worm was found in cotton ginned from Midland county. The first worm was either from Midland or Andrews county, the investigation showed.
The finding of these worms in the gin trash machine has been a big disappointment to the pink boll worm men themselves, as well as to farmers, for it had been generally hoped that no more worms would be found. Big Spring News

Texas Payrolls Show Increase
Austin Texas, Nov. 15—Payrolls of 673 Texas firms on October 15 showed 79,215 workers employed, a gain of 21 per cent over the total at the corresponding time in the previous month, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. This increase is the first since the report of May 15. Average weekly wages paid each worker amounted to 25.34, compared with $25.887 for corresponding firms on the monthly report of September 15.
"In thirteen of the industrial groups, the firms reporting to the Bureau increased the number of workers on the payrolls as compared with the month from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15," the Bureau's report said.
"The most notable gains in the point of actual workers was made in the cotton compressing and petroleum refining groups. Large relative gains were also made in the pure food products, cotton oil mills and quarrying groups. There has been a noticeable falling off in the number of persons employed by women's clothing manufacturing shops and by lumber mills, and a seasonal drop in the number of workers at ice cream factories. Only ice factories, men's and women's clothing manufacturing shops and quarries had as many workers as on Oct. 15, 1930.
"Dallas and Beaumont made a slight gain as compared with the previous month for the first time since July and May respectively, and joined Houston, San Antonio and Waco in showing more workers on the payrolls on October 15 than on the corresponding date a month earlier.

Valuable Signatures Reported Missing
Austin, Texas, Oct. 15—In an exhibit of documents bearing the signatures of 21 of the 58 signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, now being shown in the University of Texas archives, the place of John W. Bunton is marked only by his photograph. Although the University has many relics of the Bunton family, including two pictures of the patriarch of the line, the branding irons belonging to Mr. Bunton and to his brother, Desha Bunton, and other items, there is not a single paper bearing his signature. Every effort has been made to recover the missing papers, not only by Mrs. Mattie Austin Hatcher, University archivist, but also by Miss Browne Bunton of Kyle, granddaughter of John W. Bunton. An interesting story of "What might have been" is unfolded as Miss Bunton recalls numerous occasions on which she has been almost able to secure the documents. They now belong to her cousin, Oliver Wendell Bunton, whose whereabouts are unknown.
