Rescued Miners Tell Of Their Long Ordeal

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — Twelve miners brought to the surface today after being trapped nearly a week in a wrecked coal mine told of praying and singing hymns to keep up their courage as they waited out the long, dark hours.

Some of the sturdier ones told of the ordeal after their dramatic rescue early today from the Cumberland No. 2 coal mine, where they were trapped by a massive earth shift last Thursday night. The force of the shift tossed them against the roof of the tunnel where they were working more than two miles from the mine entrance.

Hugh Guthrie, 31, said he was buried up to his chest but remained conscious. He said he knew some of his comrades were dying along the coal wall. Other miners dug him out.

The 12 found themselves trapped in a pocket 100 feet long and 3 feet high. By some miracle, there was no gas and some fresh air seeped in through the debris, Guthrie said.

"At first we tried to dig our own way out but soon we got so weak we had to stop," he said. "We had no food and no water since Sunday or Monday, the last thing we ate were a few crusts of bread."

SAVED BATTERIES

"We rationed our lights and cut some batteries off the dead men but on Monday we were in darkness. I'd say Caleb Rushion kept us going."

Rushion, 35, perhaps the strongest of the group when rescuers arrived, sang hymns.

The air gradually became bad. There was no room to stand. In their struggle to stay alive when the last water was gone, they drank urine mixed with bark, they told physicians.

By Monday the men had given up hope of being rescued. Hope also had been abandoned on the surface, but the rescue crews kept digging.

Then Wednesday rescue crews stumbled on a broken air pipe leading to the entombed men and heard the muffled voice of Gortley Kempf, 37, say:

"There are 12 of us here, come and get us. Get us out."

Soon after, the men got their first sustenance in at least four days. Coffee laced with sugar and vitamins was fed to the men through a copper tube inserted in the air pipe.

The men waited while the rescue crews dug through about 60 feet of debris. Then a hole appeared in the wall of rubble that had trapped the men and the rescuers appeared.

WEPT ON RESCUE

"We were all so happy to see them the whole bunch of us just started to cry," Guthrie said.

The rescue raised hopes that other pockets of survivors would be found in the depths where 35 miners still are missing.

Their rescue brought to 93 the number saved. Twenty-six bodies have been recovered. There were 174 men below when disaster struck.

The news Wednesday that the 12 men had been located alive electrified the town, scene of two mine disasters in as many years. Church bells rang. Horns honked. Stores emptied. Families came running to the mine in a drizzle of rain, hoping and fearing.

Among them were those who already knew their men had died in the mine.

Even as they waited two more bodies were brought out from elsewhere in the mine.

Kempf already had whispered to his nephew Percy Weatherbee, the man who had tapped the air line with his pick, the names of the men trapped with him — Holloway, Brine, Leadbetter, Hunter, Rushion, Milley, Michniak, Maddison, Lowther, Guthrie, McDonald.

NZED WATER

"I asked 'How are you?' and Gortley answered, 'We're good but we need water badly,'" Weatherbee reported.

The rescuers, some near exhaustion from almost continuous efforts since Thursday, dug again with superenergy.

They clawed and picked at the nearly 60-foot-thick barrier of upturned stone and debris.

Slowly the conveyor rake which normally brings up the coal began to turn, this time to bring the rescued men to the surface. There was an unexplained halt for a time, then, at 2:20 a.m., some 13 hours after the discovery, Kempf was the first man brought out.

Completely covered with a blanket to protect him from the weather and to shield his eyes from the glare of television and newsreel spotlights, he was carried to an ambulance and rushed to the hospital. Waiting at the pit head were his wife and two teen-age children.

The crowd cheered wildly.

AGONIZING PACE

The big wheels of the cable-operated conveyor moved at an agonizing pace for the crowd.

Rope barriers kept them back. Floodlights bathed the scene. Doctors waited.

Finally, an hour after Kempf was brought out, the man-carrying rake arrived at the top with Joe McDonald, who had suffered a broken leg, Theodore Michniak and Eldred Lowther.

Then in succession came Bowman Maddison, Levi Miller, Caleb Rushion, Wilfred Hunter, Hugo Guthrie, who also was injured, Harold Brine, Joe Holloway Jr. and Larry Leadbetter.

The last four were carried out at 4:02 a.m.

At the hospital the rescued men were given plasma and Dr. J. G. B. Lynch, chief medical officer for the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., reported all were conscious.

"Most of them are just lying there, smoking cigarettes and enjoying the feeling of being human again," he said. "Nothing but their great stamina pulled them through the ordeal."

Rumors spread during the rescue operation that other pockets of survivors had been contacted, but officials of the company said they could not confirm these.

2 PLEAD GUILTY

Jailbreakers Get 10 Years In Pen

Two of three county prisoners involved in an unsuccessful attempt to break out of jail last Thursday night heard themselves sentenced to serve 10 years each in the state penitentiary this morning.

Both entered pleas of guilty to charges of robbery by assault, filed as aftermath to the jailbreak attempt. They were indicted for taking $262 from George M. Bogard, jailer, after beating him into submission with homemade blackjacks.

William Shipley, who stated that he was actually 18 years old instead of 24 as he had asserted in a statement made to officers, and who said that Shipley was his real name, pleaded guilty to the robbery charge and also to a charge of car theft. Shipley had been arrested under the name of Freddie Kemper. He confessed to the court that he had been in other trouble with the law in the past.

The statement he had made relative to the jailbreak attempt was read in court and he said the statement was correct.

"Judge," he added, "from the way that statement reads, it looks like I was trying to put all the blame on the others. That is not true. I was in just as much as they were."

Judge Charles Sullivan acquiesced to the recommendation of Gil Jones, district attorney, and sentenced Shipley to 10 years in state penitentiary for robbery by assault and 10 years for car theft. He specified the sentences are to run concurrently.

Bogard was a state witness. His face is still swollen and discolored from the beating he received. He told of the attack and confirmed that the money, his car keys and his jail keys were stolen from him by the trio.

O. F. Grothe, 35, Ackerly, who has a wife and two children in that community, also was sentenced to 10 years in connection with the same offense. He related that the plot was cooked up between himself, Shipley and Fred Markham, 21. Markham, facing six indictments, was not in court today.

Grothe related he formerly was a blacksmith in the Ackerly community and was serving 30 days in jail time and a fine of $100 for hot check writing at the time he conspired with Shipley and Markham to make the jailbreak attempt.

C. W. Cheney, 35, whose newborn child died Wednesday, told the court that his family was in destitute circumstances and that this impelled him to write the check for which he was indicted.

He has his wife and three other children, he related, who are in dire need of help. He promised to go to work and stay out of trouble if granted a suspended sentence. Jones informed the court that the man had no bad marks on his record and recommended two years suspended sentence. Judge Sullivan granted the request.

Joe C. Erwin, 18, and James Seary, 19, companions of Shipley in the car theft episode which drew the latter 10 years in prison, fared much better than their co-defendant. They pleaded guilty to stealing a car here and told of driving it over most of Texas and into Louisiana before they were caught at Texarkana.

Neither has a previous record of crime. They asked and were granted two-year probation for their offense.

Ysidro Perez, 45, cafe cook last August during the height of Greek-Turkish communal clashes were sentenced to death today.

U.S. Scientists Win Nobel Prize For Heredity Work

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Three American scientists won the 1958 Nobel Prize in Medicine and Physiology today for solving some of the basic riddles of heredity.

Their discoveries were credited by a member of the prize-awarding body with opening new avenues in cancer research.

The winners are Dr. George Wells Beadle, 55, of the California Institute of Technology; E. L. Tatum, 49, of New York's Rockefeller Institute; and Joshua Lederberg, 33, of the University of Wisconsin.

The Royal Caroline Institute of Medicine said half the $41,420 prize would go jointly to Beadle and Tatum "for their discovery that genes act by regulating specific chemical processes."

The other half went to Lederberg "for his discoveries concerning genetic recombination and the organization of the genetic material of bacteria."

"Genetic recombination" is a term for sexual fertilization in the bacterial world. Lederberg found that from the geneticists' point of view, "this corresponds exactly to the normal sexual fertilization in higher organisms."

Describing the work of the prize winners, Prof. Torbjorn Caspersen of the Caroline Institute said the research of Beadle and Tatum in the early 1940s "led to the discovery that the individual gene acts by directing individual steps in the course of chemical synthesis in the cell. All the substances in a cell are built up step by step in a long series of synthesizing processes."

"The individual steps are governed by individual genes by their regulation of the production of specific enzymes for each separate step."

Caspersen, himself a world authority on genetics, said this discovery "offered the first chance to understand the mode of action of the genes" and is one of the foundations of modern genetics.

Their research was based largely on a red bread mold called Neurospora crassa, which Beadle described as "one of the most useful genetic guinea pigs."

Any strain of this mold can be multiplied a million times in a couple of days without genetic change.

Using swiftly multiplying bacteria as genetic guinea pigs is viewed as one of the great advances in genetics.

Victim's Father Weeps On Stand At Caril's Trial

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The father of a slain schoolboy wept today as he identified at the Caril Fugate murder trial jury a picture of his dead son.

Fifteen-year-old Caril, charged with aiding and abetting the condemned killer Charles Starkweather in the slaying of Robert W. Jensen, watched the show of emotion quietly but intently.

Robert E. Jensen, operator of a general store in nearby Bennett, Neb., was the first prosecution witness in the first degree murder trial.

Young Jensen, 17, and his friend, Caril King, 16, left home for a short evening ride last Jan. 27. Bodies of the pair, both shot to death, were found the next day in a storm cave.

The two were among 10 persons slain during a three-day murder rampage in Nebraska and Wyoming last January. Caril was Starkweather's companion during the bloody flight.

Caril maintains she was not an accomplice but was a hostage, and Charles McArthur, her attorney, told the jury she was an immature person cowed by an armed and desperate killer.

County attorney Elmer Scheeche countered with the contention that Caril had ample opportunity to get out of the presence of Starkweather but instead she voluntarily accompanied him.

Caril is expected to take the stand to tell her story. Starkweather did not take the stand in his trial.

The hunt for Starkweather and Caril began after the bodies of Caril's mother, step-father and half-sister were found in their home. Caril has maintained she did not know of these deaths until she and Starkweather were captured in Wyoming.

But Scheeche told the jury Caril knew all along what had happened at her home.

Absentee Voting Will End Friday

Absentee voting for the Nov. 4 election comes to an end on Friday afternoon.

Approximately 40 such ballots had been cast at noon Thursday in the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk. Bulk of these votes, a check indicated, were persons who listed the reason for such voting as "over-age." Mrs. Petty said these voters ranged up to 85 years of age.

Any voter who is to be unavoidably prevented from going to his regular voting place on election day may vote by absentee ballot provided he applies for such ballot prior to close of business on Oct. 31.

RALPH GILBERT AT MURDER HEARING
Impassive defendant pleads not guilty

Gilbert Pleads Not Guilty In Clayton Stewart Murder Case

Ralph Gilbert, 21-year-old ranch hand, pleaded not guilty to murdering Clayton Stewart, 87, Wednesday afternoon when arraigned in district court.

Judge Charles Sullivan set Dec. 8 as trial date for the young San Angelo man, and was informed by the defense counsel that if the defense elects to offer a contention the jury is mentally incompetent, the issue will be submitted during the trial for the crime itself.

Gil Jones, district attorney, moved for a special venire of 200 which was granted. Wade Choate, district clerk, dumped all of the names on the six regular panels of the current court term into a box and from the 360 drew 200 names. These persons will be summoned to report on Dec. 8 and from them the jury will be chosen to try the defendant.

Gilbert's appearance in court for his arraignment indicated that he has not changed in any way from the strangely frank and open manner he displayed on the date he was arrested. He sat solemn-faced but not outwardly worried throughout the proceedings.

He had to be coached by one of his attorneys to make the right reply when the court asked how he pleaded. He hesitated for a second and looked to his lawyer for guidance. The attorney whispered two words and Gilbert mumbled "Not guilty."

He has been in the Howard County jail since July 18. He had been arrested 20 hours after he had ambushed Stewart, his employer, and had concealed the elderly rancher's body in a cedar grove on the Stewart ranch near Forsan.

He readily admitted the crime at the time of his arrest. Since that date, he has always willingly answered any questions put to him about the incident and never deviated in any material detail from the story he told originally.

The defense promptly asked that the case be set for Dec. 8.

The court agreed and instructed the clerk to draw the special venire and notify the prospective jurors to be in court on that date.

eral trips to San Angelo, former home of the defendant, in their efforts to set up a defense for their client. They have also been in correspondence with the U. S. Navy, from which service Gilbert was summarily discharged only a few weeks after enlistment. They have consulted with relatives, acquaintances, psychologists and medical doctors about their client.

Sometime in August when the case had tentatively been docketed for trial, the defense attorneys sought a continuance on the ground they had not had time to complete preparation of a case.

The continuance was granted. It had been anticipated the defense would seek a sanity hearing for Gilbert. Judge Sullivan queried the attorneys on this matter on Wednesday afternoon.

He was informed that the defense, if it does inject the sanity issue into the trial as a defense, will probably do so at the same time the trial of the case itself is being heard.

Judge Sullivan offered the defense choice of two possible trial dates—Nov. 17 and Dec. 8.

The defense promptly asked that the case be set for Dec. 8.

The court agreed and instructed the clerk to draw the special venire and notify the prospective jurors to be in court on that date.

Nixon Returns To Corn Belt On Final Tour West

Vice President Nixon returned to the corn belt today as he headed west on his final bid for election of a Republican Congress in next Tuesday's voting.

Nixon, en route to a weekend of campaigning in Alaska, stopped overnight in Chicago before traveling to Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Wichita, Kan., today.

Campaigning in California Wednesday night, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler renewed his suggestion that Democrats who won't support a civil rights plank in 1960 get out of the party.

At Greenwich, Conn., GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn Democratic "radicals."

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO appeared to hit mostly at Republican campaigners in telling a nationwide radio audience he wanted to "puncture the big labor, political scare balloon of 1958."

With the campaign going into its final days, President Eisenhower prepared to wind up his speechmaking with a nationwide radio-television talk in Baltimore Friday night.

Texas Cities Pace Nation In Safety

CHICAGO (AP)—Two Texas cities pace the nation in their population groups on holding down traffic deaths this year.

The National Safety Council said yesterday Victoria, Tex., Medford, Ore., and South Euclid, Ohio, with no fatalities in the first nine months of 1958, lead the 10,000-25,000 population class.

It listed Amarillo, with a score of 0.5 deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles, as co-leader with Hartford, Conn., and Lincoln, Neb., in the 100,000-200,000 class.

Cheats Death

Okey Donaldson, a buggyman at the Oglebay-Norton Company coal mine near Summersville, W. Va., is carried from the mine to a waiting ambulance after being trapped underground for over seven hours when a violent explosion occurred in the mine. Donaldson was one of four men who miraculously escaped death. Thirteen other men lost their lives in the accident.

Nobel Prize Winners Agree Pasternak Forced To Decline

By The Associated Press

Three Western Nobel Prize-winning authors agreed today that Boris Pasternak turned down his 1958 award because of pressure from the Soviet government, not because he agreed with the Kremlin's condemnation of his work.

The 68-year-old Russian writer was awarded the $41,420 prize a week ago for his poetry and his novel, "Doctor Zhivago," which describes the loss of freedom in Soviet society. The novel has been suppressed in the West but has been suppressed in the Soviet Union.

Wednesday, after a government campaign of vilification in which the Nobel committee was accused of playing cold war politics, Pasternak cabled the Swedish Royal Academy of Letters that he was refusing the prize "because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in."

"Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will," he added. Previously he had messaged that he was "immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished, abashed" by the honor.

France's Albert Camus, winner of the 1957 Nobel Prize for Literature, commented, "I don't believe Pasternak refused the Nobel Prize of his own free will."

Earl Bertrand Russell, 86-year-old British philosopher who won the 1950 prize, said he was "disgusted with the Russians' attitude to this from the start. Knowing the Russian way of life as we do, we may well think that Pasternak had no alternative but to reject this prize."

He joined another Nobel winner, poet T. S. Eliot, and several other leading British writers in a plea to the Soviet Writers Union not to victimize Pasternak. The union, a prime organ of government control of Soviet writers, already has expelled Pasternak from its ranks.

In a telegram to the union president in Moscow, the British writers termed Pasternak "one of the world's great poets and writers" and said: "We appeal to you in the name of the great Russian literary tradition for which you stand not to dishonor it by victimizing a writer reversed throughout the entire civilized world."

The signers included novelist Graham Greene, Aldous Huxley, E. M. Forster, Somerset Maugham, J. B. Priestley and Rebecca West.

Pearl Buck, American author of "The Good Earth" and the 1938 winner, said she was "deeply saddened" that Pasternak was not permitted to accept the prize.

"The rejection, which no doubt was made under pressure, does not alter his world stature as a writer," she added. "It does regret, most unfortunately, upon his government and his compatriots."

In Communist Poland, leading writers said they were sure only government threats had forced Pasternak's action. The Polish Writers Union, a hotbed of independent sentiment in the Red-ruled country, already had congratulated Pasternak on his honor and there was consternation at his rejection of the award.

In Moscow, the author was the target of the severest attack yet before a crowd of thousands in the Lenin Sports Palace, Secretary V. E. Semichastny of the Young Communist League pictured him as a slanderer who should leave his country. He said he was sure the Soviet government would place no obstacle in Pasternak's way if he wanted to go "to his capitalist paradise."

Pasternak was still living at his home in a writers' colony outside Moscow but asked Western reporters not to visit him there any more. He told them he acted on his own in rejecting the prize. "I speak for myself," he said.

Dr. Anders Osterling, secretary of the Swedish awarding committee, said Pasternak would still go down in history as the 1958 Nobel Prize winner whether the Russians like it or not.

"Our judgment cannot be changed by what is now happening," he said.

Fred Markham, Indicted Six Times, Faces Trial Nov. 17

Fred Markham, 21, California "bad boy" who boasts that his career in crime began when he was only 12, will go on trial in 118th District Court here on Nov. 17. He is facing six indictments—two of assault with intent to kill, two of burglary, one each for robbery by assault and attempted burglary.

He will be represented by Carroll Smith, appointed by the court. Markham told the court Wednesday afternoon he had no lawyer nor funds to employ one.

Meantime, if he should want to post bond and be freed from jail pending his trial, he must put up $30,000 in bail. It was agreed that Sheriff Miller Harris would require that any bond the youthful fugitive from China penitentiary might post would have to be better than gilt-edged.

The robbery by assault indictment returned against Markham on Wednesday by the Howard County jail. In the course of this break, they battered George Bogard, elderly jailer, over the head with home-made blackjacks. They robbed Bogard of more than $250.

The two charges of assault with intent to murder are the result of a bloody gun battle early on the morning of Sept. 28 when he was routed by police in an attempt to break into the Newsom Food Store on South Gregg. In that battle, he wounded police Capt. Walter Eubanks and Patrolman Marvin Blackwell, and was himself seriously shot by the injured officers.

The two burglary indictments stem from break-ins Markham staged earlier that night in which the Mort Denton Pharmacy and Vernon's Liquor Store were looted.

The attempted burglary charge was in connection with the Newsom Food Store incident.

West of Big Spring, the youth is wanted in half a dozen places for crimes he allegedly committed as he travelled toward Big Spring from China, Calif., where he had escaped from the minimum security prison.

To face trial on the same date with Markham will be his two companions in the jailbreak. They are O. F. Grothe, whose home is in Ackerly, and who was serving time for a worthless check charge.

Sheriff Proves Theory Right

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Judge John R. James objected Monday when two armed guards were posted in his courtroom for the trial of Earl Ward on a second-degree murder charge.

Ward wasn't going to run away, said the judge, and there was no need for the guns. Sheriff Arvid Owsley argued that Ward was a dangerous character, and the judge agreed to let one deputy, with pistol, remain.

Wednesday, as the jury deliberated Ward's case, he asked for permission to step into a corridor for a drink of water. Once there, he broke for freedom. The judge, at that instant walking down the hall, shouted for him to stop.

"He stopped, looked at me and walked back," Judge James said. It's probably that Ward also saw Deputy Clyde Hatfield's leveled gun when he stopped.

Ward, 41, of Tulsa, was convicted of stabbing an airman and sentenced to 12 years imprisonment.

He Was Obviously Telling The Truth

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Traffic officers stopped a 1949 sedan for a routine safety check. After investigation, they arrested Samuel Kidd, 38, on a charge of operating a vehicle in unsafe condition.

The officers reported the car had:

- No stop lights.
- No tail lights.
- No license plate light.
- No emergency brake.
- Insufficient driving brakes.
- A cracked windshield.
- A cracked left door glass.
- Two smooth tires.
- Malfunctioning windshield wipers.
- One headlight out.
- No horn.

Kidd told the officers he was employed in a junkyard.

2 Workmen Die In Utah Blast

SPANISH FORK, Utah (AP) — One thousand pounds of jellied explosives blew a shed and two workmen to bits Wednesday.

American Cyanamid Co. officials listed the two employees as "missing." The victims were Ross J. Jex, 40, Spanish Fork, and John David O'Neal, 30, Springville, Utah.

They were veteran powder men in the company's plant near here. The shed was one of several embedded in a hillside for safety reasons — making up the plant's gelatin packing unit.

Cause of the blast was not known. Probers said identification of the pieces of clothing and bodies they found was impossible. No one else was hurt.

U.S. Traffic Toll Continues Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic death toll continues to run below last year's totals, says the National Safety Council.

Up to Oct. 1, the toll was 26,180, six per cent lower than the 27,770 for the first nine months of 1957. The September toll of 3,300 compared with 3,330 for September 1957, a decrease of 1 per cent, and the 21st month in the last 22 to show a drop in traffic deaths from the same months of the preceding year.

Asian Nations Await Ike Talk

SEATTLE (AP) — Colombo Plan delegates meeting here looked forward today to a vigorous statement of future U.S. economic policy toward underdeveloped South and Southeast Asia, possibly from President Eisenhower himself.

A White House announcement that the President hopes to address the opening ministerial meeting of the 10th Colombo Plan session here Nov. 10 aroused both hopes and fears among representatives of 18 nations and three colonial governments gathered here.

There were fears from some delegates that any hard-hitting discussion of the cold war in Southeast Asia would embarrass neutral nations attending the meeting.

At the same time, there were high hopes that the United States would announce magnified efforts to save this densely populated region of 650 million people from economic stagnation.

U.S. officials attending the Colombo Plan meeting expressed certainty that either Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles, who also is due to come to preside at the five-day ministerial meeting, would state positive U.S. aims without becoming involved in controversial cold war issues.

Agreement on economic problems discussed at the meetings here have been possible because political issues sharply dividing the countries are left outside of their closed committee meetings.

Paths Cross For Candidates

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Republican Gov. Vernon Thompson stood outside a plant gate Wednesday and shook hands with all comers — including Wisconsin's Democratic senator, William Proxmire.

As Thompson waited in the early morning gloom for workers to arrive, a lone figure approached and the governor prepared to greet him in the best campaign style.

But as the figure drew nearer a startled Thompson faced an equally startled Proxmire.

"Oh, hello, Vern," said the senator. "Well, you were here first, so I guess I better go somewhere else." Hands were shaken all around and Proxmire headed for another plant.

Schizophrenia Nation's No. 1 Health Problem, Harrison Says

Dr. Preston Harrison made out a case Wednesday for the schizophrenic as the nation's No. 1 health problem.

Those affected to some degree by schizophrenia—a split personality—could be one of the next 10 persons you meet; they could be among your work-day associates; they could be in your family.

One out of every two hospital beds in the nation is devoted to treatment or care of mental patients, and 56 per cent of the mental patients are schizophrenic, Dr. Harrison, who is superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, explained.

Compounding the problem is the possibility that schizophrenia tends to increase with urbanization.

"There seems to be something in our urban culture that breeds schizophrenia," Dr. Harrison commented in his talk to the Downtown Lions Club.

From 1940 when there were 600,000 people in the territory served by the Big Spring State hospital, the population has now grown to 1,200,000. At the same time, the percentage of urban dwellers has grown from 45.5 up to 71.9 per cent.

It is small wonder when, he noted, that of the 691 patients admitted to the hospital in 1957, 416 were classified as schizophrenic. This was about 60 per cent, or well above the national average.

Schizophrenia falls into three general levels, he explained: 1) Ambulatory, the ones in everyday life who definitely have a mental problem and yet may be unaware of it; 2) the pseudo-neurotic, who may fancy some constant physical illness so vividly that sometimes even surgery may be indicated; and 3) the overtly psychotic who is wholly out of touch with reality.

The ambulatory schizophrenic seems to be inclined to the specific; he or she insists on a part of a problem or situation rather than seeing the whole; may lack coherence and logic in reason; may make observations which, although correct, are inappropriate; may not be able to go on an orderly train of thought and may jump A to Z rather than from A to B.

Left unaided, this person may deteriorate to the point that the problem becomes personally unmanageable, and the individual goes wholly out of touch with reality.

Can they be helped? Dr. Harrison had some flesh and blood examples who voluntarily demonstrated the various phases of progress up the ladder of recovery.

They quite frankly discussed with the club members their experiences and progress toward regaining mental health.

Dr. Harrison expressed his appreciation to the Lions Club for what it has done for the patients at the state hospital. In charge of the program Wednesday was John H. King.

Joe Pond, a past district governor, urged renewed emphasis upon membership enlistment during the next week. The district 2-T-2 campaign has been extended one week, he said. Bill Gray appeared on behalf of the Jaycees and urged that all citizens vote next Tuesday. He also called attention to pamphlets urging approval of a constitutional amendment authorizing annual sessions and annual salaries of $7,500 for members of the legislature.

Army Trains Young Doctors In Mass Medical Treatments

DALLAS, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Army is giving its young doctors intensive training in mass treatment, just as medical schools teach them to train individual cases.

The new mass treatment philosophy was outlined here recently by Brig. Gen. Elbert DeCoursey, commander of the Army's Medical Service School at Ft. Sam Houston.

"No one likes to think of the possibility of a flaming plane crashing in the midst of the State Fairgrounds, just as they don't like to think of an atomic bomb hitting Dallas," the general pointed out.

"But in our times, the saving of a vast number of lives during catastrophe depends on the readiness of the medical profession and hospitals to handle such cases."

He said the prime goal of the Army's training program for physicians entering the service is geared to mass casualty treatment. "The new philosophy is imbued with the idea that we must not let the many die or suffer while we save the individual."

In the mass treatment philosophy, he said, groups of doctors will work together in a planned pattern. Medical leaders will oversee the initial handling of injuries so that lives are saved first, limbs saved next, the more specific treatment, such as plastic surgery, comes when possible.

"You might compare the mass treatment philosophy to the mass production philosophy. There was an era when each automobile was made individually, with parts that would fit no other automobile. The demand for cars is now too vast to produce on the individual basis," he said.

DeCoursey said that although the Army is not yet needed on the moon, Army doctors are also doing vast research in the field of radiation which must be completed before man's journey to the moon will be possible.

A member of the Atomic Bomb

Casualty Commission sent to Hiroshima in 1945 to study implications of radiation injuries. DeCoursey said that commission doctors have continued to maintain studies of 20,000 survivors inflicted with varying degrees of radiation dosage.

"Little by little we are determining just how much radiation the human being can stand and survive. The results of those studies will guide medical decisions on human space travel where radiation is a major problem."

Whittenburg For No-Strings Aid

DALLAS (AP) — Roy Whittenburg, Amarillo Republican running for the U.S. Senate, said last night he favored federal help to state and local governments as long as no strings are attached.

He cited the hot lunch program in schools as a type of aid he favored. No strings are attached, as far as he knows, he said.

Whittenburg also said he favors foreign aid under the same circumstances.

"But you can't buy friends—either individuals or countries—with charity," he said. He plans to campaign in San Antonio tomorrow.

Jesse Sewell To Lecture At ACC

ABILENE—The eighth annual Abilene Christian College Lectures on Preaching will be held Dec. 1 through 5. Lectures will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Speakers for the lectures will be Jesse P. Sewell, president emeritus of ACC and pioneer preacher-teacher.

Sewell became president of the college in 1912, only six years after its founding, when he was 36 years of age. He guided the school through both academic and financial growing pains, and by 1919 had built the college to four-year status. When he resigned in 1924 ACC had reached an enrollment of more than 300 students with a campus value of $250,000 as compared to 100 students and a plant worth only $25,000 in 1912.

REQUESTS SLASHED

State Hospital Budgets Lowered

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board indicated recently that the 56th Legislature in January will keep state operating budgets close to present expenditures.

The board is the Legislature's full time budget agency, meeting throughout the year and double checking appropriation requests from the various state departments.

Although it approved about $128,000 more for the operation of state mental hospitals for 1960-61 than was budgeted in 1959, the board slashed the building program $2,864,555 below present expenditures.

It cut operating requests by eight million dollars.

Here's what the budget board did to the various operating budgets for these mental hospitals: Austin State Hospital, hospital board requested $3,300,000 annually; legislative budget board recommended $4,510,313; San Antonio, $4,421,358 to $3,394,295; Terrell, $4,000,000 to $3,152,870; Wichita Falls, $4,316,645 to $3,322,781; Rusk, $3,310,216 to $2,575,092; and Big Spring, $1,443,376 to $1,173,110.

The hospital board asked for $22,876,000 annually for its mental hospitals, and the lawmakers' board recommends $18,128,000. The recommendations are not final and all reports will be reviewed by appropriation committees in both the House and Senate next year.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said he had not been advised of the specific items proposed for elimination in the requested budget for the hospital here. He assumed it was a general, across-the-board reduction. Dr. Harrison was hopeful that the legislature might restore at least part of the proposed cut in order not to penalize the effectiveness of the hospital. The original budget requests were held to a conservative figure and naturally the delegation of $270,000 would be felt to a substantial degree.

Mystery Solved

GALVESTON (AP)—Mrs. Gordon Hendee discovered a parade of ants filling to and from her steam iron. She up-ended it and solved the mystery by slapping it sharply.

Then she up-ended the children and slapped them sharply, too. The water compartment was full of fruit juice.

Girl Drowns

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Maggie Uriegas, 8, drowned yesterday when the horse she and her sister were riding stepped into deep water of rain-swollen Palo Alto Creek southwest of here. The sister, Gloria, 11, scrambled to safety.

'Beyond Miracle,' Rescuer Declares

Editor's Note — Here is Earl Wood's story of how the rescue crew of which he was a member found 12 men alive in the Cumberland mine. Wood, 48, has worked in the mines for 31 years.

By EARL WOOD

As Told to The Canadian Press

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — We were working away in a shaft leading from the main slope, digging in a solid wall of coal, when all at once the coal began to move very loose and with a roar a cloud of dust and hot air blew into my face.

This was about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and we sat there half an hour or so waiting for the dust to settle. We were hopeful because we felt sure we had reached the opening we were hunting for. There was some gas and it was terribly dusty.

I went back again with two of the officials. We had high hopes that there might be a hole big enough for a man to crawl through.

All we saw was a stump of six-inch steel compressed-air pipe. It was broken off and we could not hear or see anything.

After we had been sitting and watching for some time we thought we heard someone speak. It was just a piece of a word and very faint but it hit us like an electric shock.

We looked back toward the loader, which was on the way back to the slope, and found about 40 feet away that the pipe was broken off.

We figured that the voice we heard must have been someone in the tunnel and we sat down to wait.

About 2 o'clock the superintendent and the engineer decided to check the air. Blair Phillips, the engineer, took his testing bottle and went to check the air coming from the pipe I had uncovered. I guess the reflection of the bottle must have sent light into the hole because the next words I heard I will remember all the days of my life:

"We are alive in here — How about some water?"

It was a great thrill and we all laughed and cried and hollered at the same time. I don't really remember what was said for the next few minutes but I can tell you we were whooping it up for a minute or two.

Two of the fellows with me—Arnold Reese and George Hodges—had a brother-in-law, Harold Brine, in there so we let them do most of the talking. They told us they were in pretty good shape although Joe MacDonald had a broken leg.

They still had time for jokes and when Scott (first name unavailable) a Scotchman with a burr to match, yelled to them, somebody from inside told him to take the marbles out of his mouth and talk English.

There were lots of other jokes but it might be better if I didn't tell them—They were good pit talk.

It was something we never dreamed could happen. I had given up all hope. It was far beyond a miracle.

dicted for theft, pleaded guilty to taking a billfold containing $123 from the pocket of his employer as the latter lay asleep on Oct. 26. He said he was drunk at the time he stole the money.

"Have you any family?" asked Judge Sullivan.

"Oh, si, Judge—I got plenty family," responded Perez.

Jones said that Perez has a wife and 13 children.

The court granted Perez a three-year suspended sentence.

Willie Weatherall, 54-year-old Negro who was indicted for forgery, also drew a three-year suspended sentence. It was related the forged check, which he presented at a store, was cleaned.

Daniel F. Clevenger, an often seen defendant in the county court for writing worthless checks, pleaded guilty to an indictment alleging worthless check repeater offense. Such indictments are returned where a defendant has been twice convicted of writing worthless checks. He was sentenced to serve three years in prison.

Several other defendants indicted by the grand jury earlier this week were scheduled to come before the court this afternoon for sentencing.

Rain Still In Forecast

Snow flakes promised for last night in the weather forecast failed to materialize and although it was chilly, there was no additional moisture.

The temperature toppled to a brisk 42 degrees.

Rainfall for the past 24 hours was gauged at the U. S. Experiment Station as .39 inch. This brings the total for October to 3.25 inches.

Cloudy skies, broken briefly in mid-morning by a weak-eyed sun, prevailed today. There was still no promise of any major letup in the current wet weather. The noon forecast continued to anticipate cloudy skies and occasional light rains for tonight and Thursday.

The pastors, heads of churches in small communities in neighboring Waukesha County, refused to let the children collect in tonight's trick or treat drive for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The priests are the Rev. Joseph Stier of St. Mary's Church in Pewaukee and the Rev. Casimir Kuszewski of St. Theresa's Church in Eagle.

They acted after reading a report which said that "16 or more members of the UNICEF organization are either convicted Reds or in some way affiliated with communism." The report was made by an American Legion anti-subversive committee in Washington State.

Catholic Pastors Prohibit Kids From Halloween

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two Roman Catholic pastors today held firm in their decisions to prohibit parish children from joining a Halloween fund drive for a U.N. child relief program tabbed as Communist-affiliated by an American Legion report.

The priests declined to change their positions after the director of the organization's U.S. committee said, "We categorically deny the charge and its implication."

Convict Who Stole Plane In Escape Gives Himself Up

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A San Quentin prison convict who stole a plane and fled with three others from an honor camp two years ago turned himself in Wednesday.

Gerald E. Baucum, 29, who had been living in Butte, Mont., said he married after the escape and later decided to "start a new life without being afraid to look at myself in the mirror."

Warden Fred Dickson greeted him with: "Congratulations, son. I know this is something you will never regret."

"I know that, too, warden," said Baucum, whose companions were recaptured within a month of the escape.

Baucum had served 3½ years of a 5-year-to-life sentence for a San Francisco holdup when he fled. The escape could mean another sentence of one year to life.

The San Francisco Chronicle had announced Wednesday that the fugitive would surrender.

Changes Noted In Edsel For 1959

Offered as America's "most practical" car, the 1959 Edsel has been repositioned in price and size. Offered in a selection of 10 models in three series—Ranger, Corsair and Villager station wagon—the 1959 Edsel features increased passenger space with no added overall length, reduced total weight and a wide selection of economy engines and transmissions. The new models are to be unveiled Friday at Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Runnels.

Sporenberg Youths Set CROP Drive For Friday Night

Ghosts and goblins of Sporenberg are scheduling a trick-or-treat collection for overseas relief Friday night under the sponsorship of the churches of the community. Young people plan to make Halloween of 1958 an occasion for sharing with hungry people overseas through CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program). Replacing the usual trick-or-treat for candy, apples, doughnuts etc., the young people will make house calls seeking contributions for the CROP campaign.

Proceeds will send government surplus food overseas through Church World Service to feed hungry people. Such surplus foods are supplied free of charge to approved voluntary relief agencies. Last year every $1 collected distributed over 300 pounds of food to starving people in other countries. Young people in Texas collected $49,058.67 in the 1957 Halloween trick or treat campaign and hope to do much better this year.

Harvell Baby Dies, Services Held Today

Graveside rites were held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the City Cemetery for the baby boy stillborn to Mr. and Mrs. Noel Harvell Jr. of Sand Springs in a hospital here Wednesday at 4:20 p.m. Services were conducted by T. E. Cudd, minister of the 14th and Main St. Church of Christ. Arrangements were in charge of Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home.

3 Airmen Die In RB47 Crash

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Three men died Wednesday when an RB47 jet from Little Rock Air Force Base plummeted into a cotton field and burst into flames. Air Force officials identified the dead as Capt. Walter Thomas Berninger, 36, Catawissa, Pa., instructor pilot; 1st Lt. Luther Edgar Connon, 30, Leavenworth, Wash.; and Maj. Harry George Johnson, 38, Lake Charles, La.

ON DISPLAY FRIDAY

Edsel Offers 'Practical' Car, With Size, Weight Trimmed

Edsel, America's newest car, is introducing for 1959 a full line of distinctively styled automobiles that point to practicality in size, weight and competitive pricing. They go on display Friday, and will be shown here by Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Runnels.

Responding to public interest in smaller cars, the Corsair series has been trimmed five inches in length, weight has been cut an average of 150 pounds per car, and all Edsels have been repositioned in the price market. Interior dimensions, wheelbase, and stamped body parts and the entire lineup of models has been changed. For 1959, Edsel has a complete line of cars in three series: Ranger, Corsair and Villager station wagons.

All car bodies are completely new in design, but they retain the "Edsel look," which the new line introduced in its first models last year. The Edsel grille is instantly recognizable, but has been adapted to the compact styling theme of the car. Dual headlights have been lowered and are an integral part of the grille. The vertical air scoop retains its outline but has been restyled by liberal use of bright metal to harmonize with the horizontal sweep of the car.

Distinctive side treatments identify each series. The rear light deck theme originated by Edsel last year is enhanced by lowering the taillights to give the car a ground-hugging appearance. Edsel's Ranger series includes a two-door and a four-door sedan, and a two-door and a four-door hardtop. Corsairs will be available in four-door sedans, two-door and four-door hardtops and convertibles. In addition, there are two Villager station wagons—six passenger and nine passenger four-door models.

The new body's weight saving on all models means one passenger ride "free" on each trip. In the Ranger series, for example, back seat leg room is two inches longer and front leg room is nearly two inches longer, with no increase in overall length. Wheelbase has been increased two inches in the Ranger to 120 for a smoother ride. Wheelbase on the Corsair also is 120 inches.

Police Car, Postal Truck In Collision

A police car and a post office truck were involved in a collision downtown Wednesday. Sgt. J. C. Walton was in the police car which was stopped, and driving the post office vehicle was William Bronaugh, Rt. 2. The accident occurred in the 100 block of W. 2nd.

Also Wednesday, Ross Westbrook, 307 E. 19th, and Vondorl Murphree, 109 Algerita, were in collision at 4th and Nolan. Charles Simpson of Abilene and Arthur Warkner of San Benito were involved in a mishap in the 100 block of Gregg.

'Guest' Turns Out To Be No Friend

DALLAS (AP)—William McCleery, 38, held a dinner party for a group of friends and acquaintances. After dinner the group settled down to watch a television show. One of the guests then shoved his hand in his coat pocket and announced he had a pistol. He took about $30, a watch and two rings from the guests, including his host, then fled.

Police launched a search for the man, but no charges were filed immediately.

spare tire is moved forward allowing clear storage area. Edsel's aluminum-clad exhaust system doubles the life of these expensive-to-replace items.

Self-adjusting brakes on all models continue at no extra cost. Edsel's range of four engines gives variety in price, economy and performance. Economy V-8 in the lineup is the 200 hp Ranger V-8, standard on the Ranger. Standard for the Corsair series is the 225 hp Express V-8. The high performance engine, available on all models at extra cost, is the 303 hp Super Express V-8. Edsel's Economy Six is the most modern in the industry with short-stroke pistons, overhead valves, and improved carburetion for maximum economy. The Six, Ranger and Express operate on standard gasoline.

Rites Today For Mrs. Reed, 66

Mrs. Minnie Lillian Reed, 66, wife of J. H. Reed, died at her home at 1305 E. 3rd St. Wednesday at 11:40 a.m. following a long illness.

Water Line Nears Finish

Only about 1,000 feet of line remains before completion of the water line being laid by R. B. Hodgson from the Edwards Heights reservoir to Webb AFB.

This morning, the crews of the contractor were working in the vicinity of the National Guard armory. Hodgson has already completed work on the sewer line, and the 1,000 feet remaining on the water line will complete his work for the city.

Hodgson will tie the water line into the existing system at Webb at the east gate to the base. Work should be completed this week or the early part of next week. City Engineer Clifton Bellamy said today that Hodgson would give the city an estimate Friday on cost of lowering a water line in Virginia St. The city would need about 800 feet of line lowered. Omar Jones asked the city Tuesday to lower the line so he could have the street paved, and if the price is reasonable, the city will probably give the job to Hodgson. He has the equipment needed to do the work.

Baptist Press Award Goes To El Paso Times Editor

DALLAS—William I. Latham, veteran reporter and editor for the El Paso Times, was named recipient Wednesday of the 1958 annual Press Award sponsored by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Latham will receive a $150 engraved wrist watch and a commemorative plaque in presentation ceremonies Nov. 5 at the convention's annual meeting in San Antonio.

The BGCT makes the award on behalf of 3,814 churches and 1,558,000 members each year for outstanding contributions to Christianity through religious news reporting.

Latham will be the only layman honored by the state's largest religious body at the convention.

The 47-year-old newsman is a popular speaker at men's groups in West Texas. He is chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church, El Paso, and teaches an adult men's Sunday school class.

A graduate of the University of South Carolina, Latham first joined the Times staff in 1946 as assistant sports editor. He had worked for two years earlier on the El Paso World-News. Since 1946 he has been managing editor of the Times.

From 1937-41 he was telegraph editor on the Douglas, Ariz., Dispatch, returning to the Times in 1941. He was city editor when called to active duty with the Army in 1942. After serving as company officer with the 6th Division in the European and Pacific Theaters, he was named managing editor of the Times in 1946.

He is first vice president of the El Paso downtown Lions Club and was cited as "Lion of Distinction" in 1952 for a talk on "Why I Go To Church." He is vice president of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association; vice president of the Southwestern Sun Carnival in charge of the city's annual Jan. 1, Sun Bowl parade and related activities; chairman of the clergy section of El Paso's United Fund Drive.

Latham is married to the former Martha Jane Stark of El Paso. They have four daughters and one son.

Detroit Polio Toll Climbs Up To 23

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit area's 1958 polio death count has climbed to 23, compared with three at this date last year.

The latest victim was Margaret Lesperance, 40. Health officials said she had received no Salk anti-polio shots.

Three new cases in Detroit brought the 1958 total to 620 for the year compared with 177 last year.

In the outcounty area, two new cases brought the year's total to 193 compared with 72 last year.

Asks Mediation

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba today asked French Premier Charles de Gaulle to pave the way for Tunisian-Moroccan mediation of the Algerian rebellion by releasing the top Algerian rebel leader imprisoned in Paris.

The rebel leaders were captured two years ago.

Unaware

Zaverio Roncalli, 75-year-old brother of the newly-elected Pope John XXIII, was unaware of the high honor impending for the humble farm family as he went about his chores in the native Roncalli hamlet of Scio II Monte, near Milan, a few days ago. Zaverio, toting a basket of corn, is one of three surviving brothers and one sister of the pope and all live with their families in the little town.

German Reds Make Immigration Claim

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany claimed today that 340,616 people have left West Germany and West Berlin over the last four years to resettle in the satellite nation.

The Interior Ministry published the figures to counter the publicity given the constant westward flow of East German refugees, which averages more than 4,000 weekly.

Plane Crash Kills Noted Actress' Son

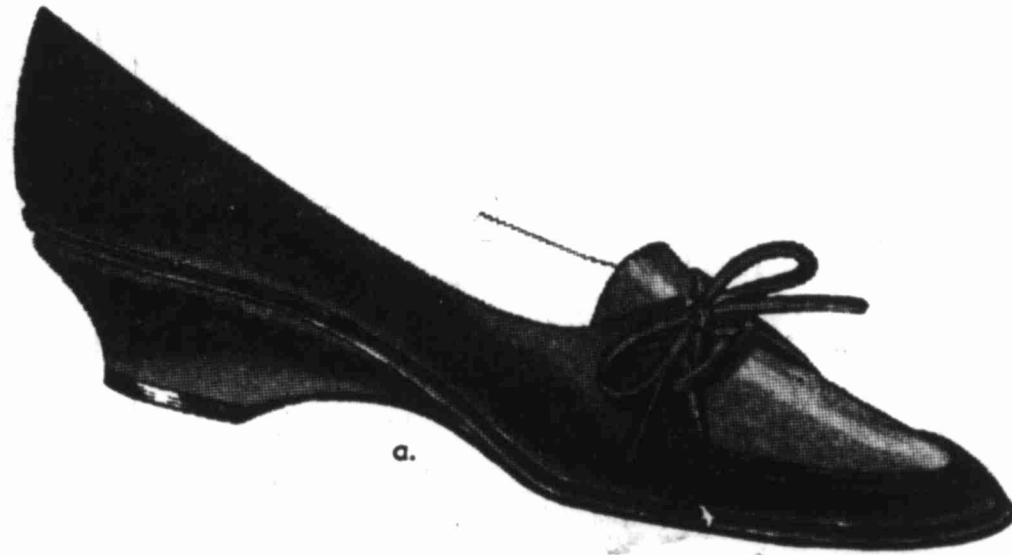

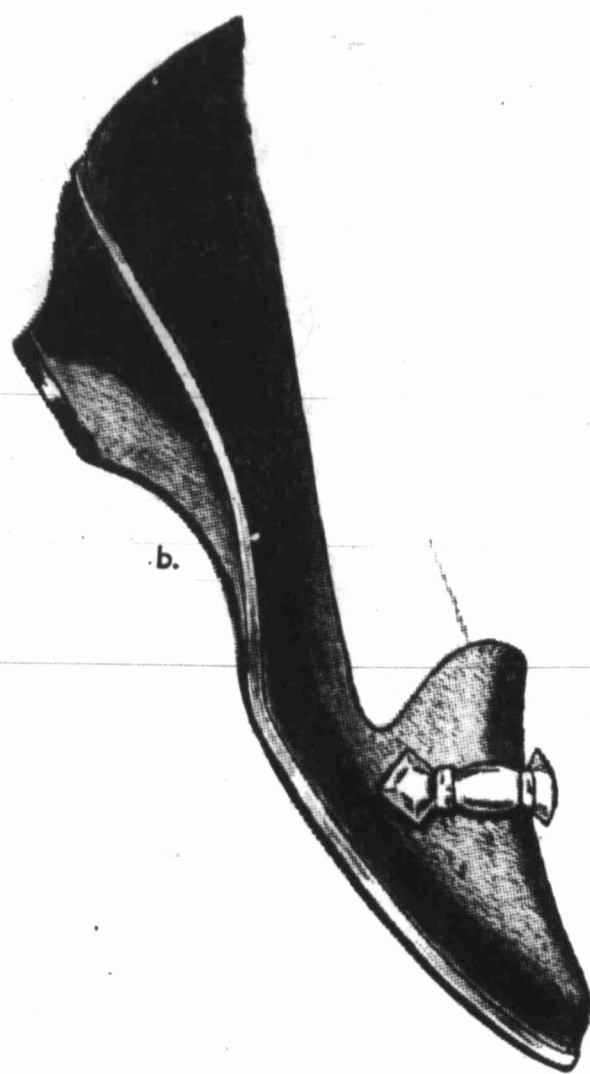

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Collision of two light planes over the San Fernando Valley killed three men, including actress Maureen O'Sullivan's 19-year-old son.

He was Michael D. Farrow, first of seven children of the Irish-born actress and movie writer-director John Farrow. The parents are in London, where the elder Farrow is completing production of a picture.

Michael, who had a student flying certificate, was killed Wednesday in one plane with David H. Johnson, 21, a flying instructor at a small airport in suburban Palmdale.

The other victim, flying alone in the other craft, was Donald W. Preneville, 39, of nearby Glendale. The single-engine planes collided at about 600 feet in clear, sunny weather and fell 200 yards apart at opposite sides of a gravel pit near the airport.

Poor Woman Wins $56,000 Fortune

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Garnet Cecil, 41, won $56,000 on a sweepstakes ticket Wednesday. She said the day before she had been forced to borrow a dollar for food.

The ticket was purchased by her husband Noah three weeks before his death last June. At the time, Mrs. Cecil said, she thought her husband had been foolish to buy the ticket. "He had only $4 left until payday," she said.

The ticket on Winner Falls of Shin, a 25-1 shot, was made out in her name.

Cecil had bought another ticket at the same time, made out to himself. It was just one of the millions of losers.

Good Fishin'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — More fish die of old age in Tennessee Valley Authority lakes than end up in the frying pan. That's the complaint of TVA's Fish and Game Division. Its report issued Wednesday said that best estimates are that "no more than 20 per cent of the available game fish crop is harvested in any one year."

Social Security Check-Ups Urged By District Officer

It's good business to check your social security account at least once every three years, H. P. Thomas, district manager of the Odessa social security office, said today.

Thomas explained that the record of earnings kept by the Social Security Administration forms the basis on which eligibility and benefit amounts are determined. "An error in your social security account," he added, "might affect the amount of benefits you or your survivors could receive."

Under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance system, employers send in periodic reports to the government showing the wages paid to each employee. Self-employed people report their own earnings as a part of their annual income tax return. The Social Security Administration credits these earnings to the accounts of some 120 million social security card holders. When a worker dies, retires, or becomes severely disabled, the earnings record reflects the length of employment or self-employment and the level of earnings on which eligibility and benefit amounts are figured.

Sometimes, Thomas said, the earnings are not properly reported or the social security account number is omitted or wrong. When this happens, the social security bookkeepers cannot credit the earnings to the proper account until the matter is straightened out. Thomas urged employed and self-employed people alike to check on their social security earnings account at least once every three years to assure themselves that the record is correct. The statute of limitations makes it more difficult to correct errors more than three years old.

Section II of the 61st Pilot Training Squadron holds the distinction of having the most honor graduates among all the pilots who have received their wings at Webb AFB. The section claims 10 of the 15 honor graduates who have been named since the honor program was initiated. In recognition of the record, Lts. Peyton Lamb, Jimmie W. Lloyd and Anthony D. Reed have constructed the plaque, above, with name plates for Section II's honor graduates. On the list are R. Gilbert, D. R. Sorensen, G. E. Penn, K. L. Haderlie, D. T. Fitzgerald, R. P. Powell, R. M. Corbett, E. F. Barrette, W. R. Horney and David W. Andrews. There are seven blank plates which Section II expects to fill with the names of future students.

New Hoover-Type Group May Continue Streamlining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The end of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report has brought a hint that a new group may be formed to hunt for further ways to streamline government operations. The citizens committee, announcing it has gone out of business, said 64 per cent of the government reorganization proposals made by the second Hoover Commission have been put into effect. The citizens committee was formed to push for adoption of

Student Boarders Are 'Second Children' In Big Spring Homes

By BOBBY HORTON

For the past few years out-of-town students coming to Howard County Junior College have had to rely on local citizens for their "home away from home" while getting their education.

Now, with a dormitory project for the institution about to enter the construction stage, it won't be many months before many out-of-town students vacate the private rooms for a campus home. Local homeowners have provided a service in this manner, but all of them consider keeping young people a much more pleasant experience, than a task. It's true the students present problems at times, but for the most part college roomers are second sons and daughters, as far as their hosts are concerned.

The A. L. Fortsons, 1106 Sycamore St., have been keeping young men in their upstairs rooms for the past seven years, since the college was moved to the eastern section of the city.

About the only trouble in keeping boys, said Mrs. Fortson, is that they sometimes keep late hours and make noise. Since their room is upstairs, however, noise carries more.

"I don't ever pester them about the rent, because I know how it is with their money; in fact, we've let the boys eat with us whenever they were getting low on money," said Mrs. Fortson.

MARRIAGE 'BAIT'

She has noticed that all the students enjoy college at H.C.J.C. Every now and then a few extraromantic boys stay with them, but usually they're fine. The good ones are hard to keep, she's found out. In the last three years the boys she liked the most were soon picked off by girls and were married.

Most people are inclined to favor having boys in the home. For instance, the Fred Lancasters, 1707 Aylford St., are keeping a boy this term and are proud of the fact.

"We have a son overseas in the service," said Mrs. Lancaster, "and we treat our roomer just as we would our boy. . . boys are much easier to keep than girls; in fact, we wouldn't trade." The Claude Ramseys, 205 Jef-erson St., are keeping a couple of H.C.J.C. athletes and originally had the intention of keeping four. They decided four might like to visit back and forth between rooms too much, however, so they settled for two.

"When we were gone recently," Mrs. Ramsey remarked, "they took care of our dog, and they are a lot of company to my husband and me because we live alone. They've been very considerate. I told them I would make their beds when they didn't have time, but usually I keep the door closed and just leave things up to them."

ROOM FOR PARENTS

Mrs. Ramsey said she made it plain to the boys that anytime an event attracted their parents to Big Spring, the two other rooms were open for overnight use.

Maj. and Mrs. E. L. Pettus, 602 George St., have a garage apartment, separate from the house, which they rent to a college athlete.

"Since it is apart from our home," stated Mrs. Pettus, "we have no problems about noise. And we are more than glad to rent it and help a boy have a place to stay."

"We are just wild about them," exclaimed Mrs. W. E. Fielder, 509 E. 17th, referring to the three boys she keeps in a small apartment. She is another who had rather keep boys than girls, simply because she likes them more. Boys seem to have more fun and get along better.

"I take them to task, just as I would my own boys. I think that is the best way to handle them," she added, "and most boys are good boys—if they're not, they are just sick."

The boys cook their own meals—in fact, one informed her last week of a fine chicken dinner they had—and asked her to look in and see how clean they keep the place. They seem to study a lot, and last year, she said, the boys "came

ROMINE WINS ROPING AT BOSTON

Johnnie Hawkins Takes Slim Lead In Race For Bareback Bronc Riding Title

Johnnie Hawkins, who lost the world's bareback bronc riding championship last year by only 18 points, took the lead for the 1958 title last week at Boston when he won more than the defending champion Jim Shoulders, the man who beat him last year.

Shoulders now leads for the all-around championship, which he has won three times before, by 5,895 points. With only two major rodeos left this season, Hawkins now leads by 394 points, 14,928 to 14,534. The tight title race focuses attention on the Grand National rodeo, which begins in San Francisco's Cow Palace Friday. Winner of the bareback riding at San Francisco should win $1,500 and as many points for the title.

Only one other close race is left, in steer wrestling and none of the top three contenders placed at Boston. Wilbur Plaugher, Prather, Calif., still leads, 311 points ahead of Jim Bynum, Forrester, Texas, and 2,273 points ahead of defending champion Willard Combs, Checotah, Okla.

In saddle bronc riding, front runner Marty Wood, former Canadian champion from Bowness, Alberta, picked up points he didn't really need when he placed second in his specialty, for $668, at Boston. Wood now stands 3,904 points ahead of the field. Deb Copenhaver, Post Falls, Idaho, won $2,478 at Boston.

Runaway calf roping champion Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, picked up another $497 in day money at Boston to push his total for the year to $21,484, more than 7,000 points ahead of the field. Top calf roper at Boston was rookie Harry Charters, Melba, Idaho, who placed second in the average but picked up the most day money in the 8-go-round contest to win a total of $1,093. Herschel Romina, Big Spring, Texas, placed first in the average to win the roping there for 1958.

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—This Marine Corps training center has another case of alleged recruit maltreatment. Six young Lisbon, Ohio, trainees charged they were slapped around and forced to contribute to a $600 payoff to three drill instructors. A formal investigation is under way and the instructors, now at Camp Lejeune, N.C. have been relieved of duty and restricted to base pending the outcome. They were identified as S.Sgt. Ralph A. J. Grant, Racine, Wis.; Sgt. Ronald J. Heller, Milwaukee; and Sgt. William B. Poss, Augusta, Ga.

Ike Supports Dallas Candidate

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower has thrown the prestige of his office into the Dallas congressional race. The President sent Rep. Bruce Alger, Texas' only Republican member of Congress, a telegram praising his contributions to the cause of good government and wishing him success. Alger, who is seeking a third term, is opposed by former State Rep. Barefoot Sanders, Democrat. The President's telegram said: "Congratulations on the vigorous campaign you are waging. I want you, our friends and neighbors—my good friends in the Fifth District of Texas—to know how highly I value the contributions you have made to the cause of good government. May you have every success on Nov. 4." Alger, who has been criticized by Democrats for opposing some administration programs, commented "It proves that Republicans can have differences and still work together as a team."

Deputy Sought

WACO (AP)—A search continued today for Deputy Sheriff Roy Barton of Bell County, reported missing since Monday. The Department of Public Safety said Barton, 37, was last seen Monday at a hospital in Temple, where he had been visiting his critically ill father. The father died Tuesday.

Blacksmith Course Gains Popularity

By BOB VOGES
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—"His brow is wet with honest sweat, He earns what'er he can, And looks the whole world in the face. For he owes not any man." Longfellow was writing the above about the village blacksmith, a trade you might think obsolete in this atomic age. But a lot of young college trainees are finding out there's still money in the business of shoeing horses. The demand for trained blacksmiths is such that Michigan State University starting offering two courses in horsehoofing this fall instead of one, as in previous years. The 13 week short course dates back to 1924. Originally, it was aimed at assisting farmers with their personal blacksmithing problems. The students still are mostly farm youths. But with horses gradually disappearing from the farms, they enter the field to learn to service riding and race horses. The master blacksmith at MSU is Jack MacAllen, who learned the trade from his grandfather in Scotland. The students first study the anatomy and care of horses and learn how to operate a forge. They practice on the feet of dead horses. When they've mastered the basics of the trade, they graduate to shoeing live horses on the hoof. Only one other college in the nation, California State Polytechnic, offers a similar course. It's taught by William R. Hoover, one of MacAllen's early apprentices.

Fire Destroys Resort Hotel

Flames sweep through the five-story wooden Moorland Hotel, a 130-room ocean front structure at Gloucester, Mass. The building, used during the summer season, was vacant at the time. Damage to the structure was estimated at $100,000.

'Suicide Control' Is Urged By Medics

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A nationwide "suicide control" system was proposed today by a public health specialist.

Dr. Edward Press of New York, director of field services for the American Public Health Assn., suggested:

1. Establishment of a kind of "suicide control center" in every community of substantial size. The around-the-clock center would receive reports of all attempted suicides in the area. It would promptly initiate a system aimed at preventing a further attempt in a given case — a system involving various local government agencies.

2. Establishment of a nationwide network of state and local "societies for the prevention of suicides." These would operate something like present organizations aimed at the control and prevention of such conditions as cerebral palsy, deafness and blindness.

Dr. Press outlined his suggestion at the 86th annual meeting of the APHA.

Under his idea, any person attempting suicide would be transferred, after receiving physical treatment, to the psychiatric division of a hospital and kept under constant surveillance for at least 48 hours.

Once the patient were returned to his home, follow-up visits, aimed at rehabilitation would be the responsibility of the local health department.

"Suicide, with from 16,000 to 18,000 annual fatalities in the United States, claims more lives than such conditions as diabetes, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and infantile paralysis combined," Dr. Press said.

"In addition, the problems, costs and sorrows surrounding both the successful and the much larger number of unsuccessful attempts make the impact of the over-all aspects of suicide a major national problem."

Sarah Churchill In 'Peter Pan'

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill's 44-year-old actress daughter Sarah is going to come back to the London stage as Peter Pan, the boy who never grew old. She announced she will play the part in the annual Christmas production at the Scala Theater, not one of London's plushiest but the traditional place for Peter Pan. Miss Churchill has been appearing sporadically on the stage and in television in America for the past nine years. For the past two weeks she's been playing in repertory in Worthing, on England's south coast.

Peter Pan at her age is not unusual. Mary Martin first played the part at 41 in the United States and was a big hit. Like Miss Martin and all the other Peters, Miss Churchill will wear tights and fly about the stage suspended from a wire. Said producer Angus Macleod of his new star: "I found she has personality, a strong voice and a figure which will look good in tights."

Yarborough Enters Illinois Campaign

The Texas Democrat predicted his party will hold 60 Senate seats next year.

"This is only a conservative estimate," he said. "The Democratic Party is running strong. Proof of this trend is when Eisenhower has to climb down to the level of Nixon in making wild and reckless charges."

Yarborough, ignoring his own opponent, Republican Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo, concentrated his fire on the national administration.

"The people of the nation are going to flunk the Republicans for their record of absenteeism and their golf playing and South American cruises," Yarborough asserted.

2 E. Texas Women Killed In Accident

MARSHALL (AP)—Two East Texas women were killed yesterday when their auto struck a tree.

Another woman and her 2-year-old granddaughter were injured.

Dead were Mrs. Marnie Wilson and Mrs. Sadie Huffman, 67, both of Harleton, 19 miles northwest of Marshall.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Maud Smith, also of Harleton, and her granddaughter, Debbie Smith of Marshall, were injured.

Lebanese Premier Has Rugged Helpers

By WILTON WYNN
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rebel leader Saeb Salam was talking to American newsmen. Outside machine-gun-toting rebels were whooping it up in a victory celebration.

The door burst open, and a band of beery street brawlers burst in carrying a well-dressed little man on their shoulders. They abruptly deposited the Prime Minister of Lebanon on the floor in front of Salam and left the room.

Rachid Karami, Lebanon's new prime minister, is accustomed to this kind of treatment from his boisterous followers. Soft-spoken and smartly dressed, Karami comes from Tripoli, a hotbed of pro-Nasser Arab nationalism, famed for its street brawls and violence. It takes a robust politician to keep such a following in line, but Karami so far has measured up.

He was a key figure in the Lebanese rebellion against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun last summer. Karami's rebels took over the old section of Tripoli, threw up heavy barricades all around, and held out nearly five months.

There was almost continuous firing and sniping between rebels and army. Tripoli was gripped by a general strike. Garbage was left to lie in the streets. Food and medicines were scarce. Those were trying months, but rebel morale was kept high, largely by the relaxed, unruffled temper of 37-year-old Rachid Karami.

The rebellion ended with the election of Gen. Fuad Chehab, Lebanese army commander, as president of the republic. Next day he named Karami prime minister.

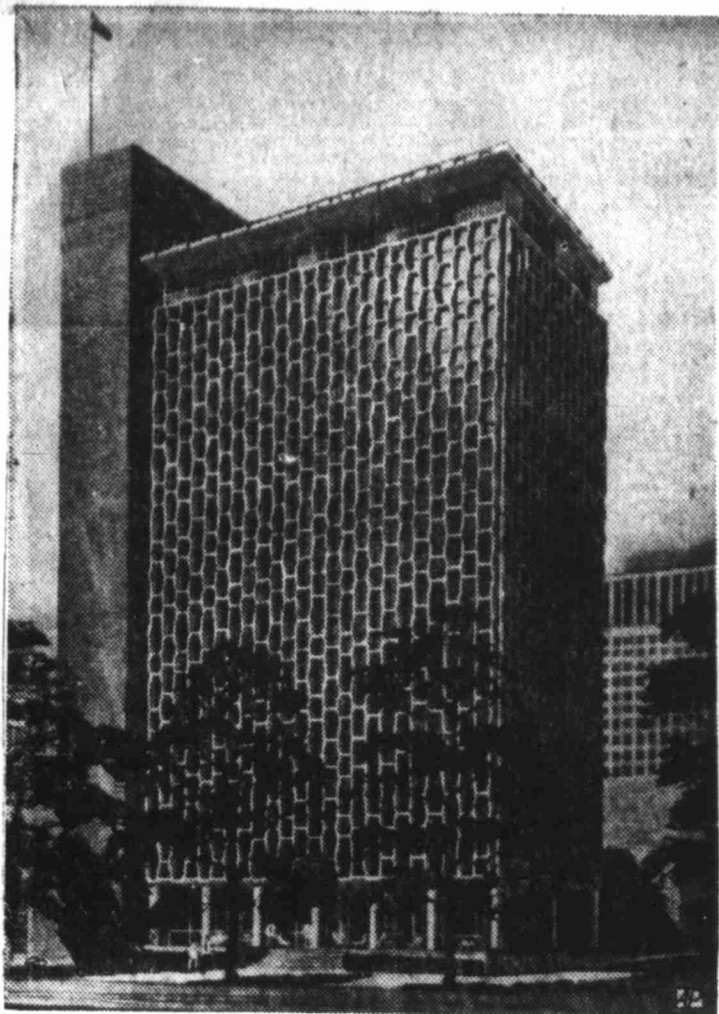

It was hard for Karami to hold his followers down after that. When he tried to walk through the Basta quarter of Beirut to see his friend Saeb Salam, rebel fighters left their barricades and lifted him to their shoulders. They carried him all over Basta before delivering him to Salam.

Another crisis developed when Karami named the members of his Cabinet. It looked as if a counter-rebellion might break out. To ease the crisis, Karami placed his resignation at the disposal of the President. Followers, many of them armed, collected outside his house.

"We just want you to know that if you resign, we will kill you," a big man said.

Karami stayed in office. He is considered one of the most pro-Nasser leaders of Lebanon. He once called Nasser a superman and said that he personally favors federation of Lebanon with the United Arab Republic—provided all the Lebanese want it.

To balance these views is his recent policy statement promising to maintain Lebanon as an independent Arab state.

Honeycombed Home

Here's architect's drawing of the first and only U.S. Embassy building within the United States. It will house U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

U.S. Delegation At The U.N. To Get A Fancy New Home

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The first and only U. S. Embassy office building within the continental United States is going to be built here.

Plans for the building were announced by Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations. Construction will start Nov. 1, he said, and the new home will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1960.

Jury Convicts Mrs. Bowles

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP)—District court jurors decided last night Mrs. Elma Bowles, 28, shared her husband's guilt in the shotgun slaying of her brother-in-law. They let her off, however, with a five-year suspended sentence.

The jury convicted her of murder in the death of James Harvey, 35, at Loebe, Tex., last May 4. Witnesses said Harvey slapped her and Mrs. Bowles tried to hit him with a board the day before during an argument punctuated by curses.

Pope Starts Reign In Tight Clothing

By STAN CARTER
ROME (AP)—Pope John XXIII started his pontificate in too tight robes even though the papal tailor had a set of stylish stouts cut to his size.

The tailor, Annibale Gammarelli, disclosed today that Angelo Cardinal Roncalli was one of the four prospective pontiffs to whose varying shapes he cut a papal wardrobe in advance. The idea was that the new Pope could appear properly dressed immediately after the College of Cardinals elected him.

Cardinals Repeat Homage To Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The College of Cardinals paid formal homage to Pope John XXIII today for the third successive day. The new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was seated on his throne before the altar of the Sistine Chapel. One by one, the princes of the church who elected him two days ago approached, knelt and kissed his hand.

It had been anticipated that the pontiff would order the coronation the following Sunday, Nov. 9, in line with custom that a pope is crowned (1) within two weeks of his election, (2) on a Sunday, and (3) as late as possible so that foreign governments would have sufficient time to send representatives.

Actress Reverses Stand On Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Judy Garland, who said in an affidavit last March that husband Sid Luft had beaten and tried to strangle her, has denied it on the witness stand.

"I'd say he had a very good disposition," the singer testified Wednesday. She was helping Luft resist the effort of his ex-wife, actress Lynn Bari, to gain custody of the Luft-Bari son, John, 10.

Luft won custody last month on grounds the youngster needed home and family life instead of living in a boarding school. Miss Garland was subpoenaed to answer questions about the boy's adjustment to life in the Luft-Garland home.

Miss Bari's lawyer picked up the divorce complaint. Miss Garland filed last March in which she said in a sworn affidavit that Luft had beaten and attempted to strangle her.

"Has he ever attempted to strangle you?" the attorney asked.

"No," the singer replied in a low voice.

"Did he ever beat you?"

"No."

Miss Bari's present husband, Dr. Nathan Rickles, Beverly Hills psychiatrist, testified earlier to a telephone exchange with Luft when the boy was being prepared to go to the Luft home. He said Luft called him an unprintable name and said if the child weren't delivered in half an hour "he

Burning Autopsies Planned For Today

DENVER CITY, Tex. (AP)—Investigators hoped autopsies planned today would shed some light on the mysterious fire deaths of Mrs. Ray Stephenson, 35, and two small children.

They burned to death Tuesday at their home here in West Texas, but the flames did little damage to the bedroom where the bodies were found.

The children, Johnny, 5, and Carol, 11 months, lay in a bunk bed and Mrs. Stephenson on the floor.

Officers said an inflammable liquid, possibly paint thinner, had soaked bits of clothing beneath the mother's body.

Neighbors discovered the tragedy about mid-morning. Stephenson was at work and a second son, Joe, 8, was at school.

Rain, Snow Soak Parts Of Texas

Heavy snow fell Thursday at Marfa in the mountains of far West Texas. More rain soaked coastal and Central Texas and clouds covered nearly all the chilly state.

The mercury at sunset showed 32 at Marfa, right on the freezing mark. Snow fell off and on throughout the night. Heavy snow was reported Wednesday in the Ft. Davis area, ranging up to 3 or 4 inches at places. All roads were open.

Rains extended north from the Coastal Plains as far as Austin and Waco.

Rain soaked nearly all of Texas Wednesday and the first snow of the season fell over Guadalupe Peak, Fort Davis, Alpine, Marfa and as far east as Midland. Sleet hit the Davis Mountains. Most of the snow was mixed with rain and the falls were light.

Highs Wednesday ranged from a cool 59 at Dallas and Fort Worth to a cold 40 at Van Horn.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Wednesday included: Co. 1.52 inches, Victoria 1.09, Beeville 1.07 and Laredo an even inch. Abilene, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, El Paso, Galveston, Houston, Lubbock, Midland, Presidio, San Angelo, San Antonio, Waco, Van Horn, Lufkin, Palacios, Kingsville, Junction, College Station, Wink, Big Spring and Del Rio all showed less than an inch.

Llano, Colorado City and Eagle Pass also reported rain.

Rains of up to six inches, unofficially, drenched parts of South Texas. Some creeks spilled over their banks and closed schools at Poth, south of San Antonio.

Small craft warnings were hoisted all along the Texas coast as gusty winds buffeted the area the second straight day.

A few snow flurries fell at El Paso Wednesday night and gusty winds and light rain hit Corpus Christi.

The Rio Grande continued to fall in the Lower Valley. The river was expected to remain at flood stage from below Rio Grande City to Brownsville for a few days, however.

Light rain and drizzle continued Thursday in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Brownsville had .53 inch in 24 hours giving the city 17 inches for October, the most ever recorded there during October.

McAllen had .79 inches and Edinburg .41.

Other rain reported in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. included Austin .59, Beaumont .37, Corpus Christi .54, El Paso .29, Galveston .56, Houston .46, Laredo .28, Midland .19, Presidio .16, San Angelo .40, San Antonio .70, Victoria 1.04, Waco .16, Van Horn .23, Lufkin .20, Palacios .52, Beeville .84, Kingsville .45, Cotulla 1.26, Junction .24, College Station .51, Wink .30, Big Spring .55, Del Rio .23, and Harlingen .24.

At Poth in South Central Texas near Kenedy, Supt. Jack Lane ordered schools closed until Monday because of wet weather and soggy roads which school buses couldn't negotiate. An unofficial 8 inches of rain fell in the area in three days and Lane said there was no sense in endangering the pupils.

Conviction Given In Gonzalez Case

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP) — Rachel Gonzalez, 22, an attractive brunette, was convicted today of killing the father of her illegitimate child. She was given a 5-year suspended sentence.

Miss Gonzalez broke into tears when the verdict and sentence were announced. She was enveloped by her family and friends after Dist. Judge D. B. Wood pronounced sentence.

The woman was charged with gunning down Deputy Sheriff R.R. Solis of Brownsville in his own doorway. Solis' wife was in the house at the time.

The verdict followed two hours of deliberation by the jury, which returned at 12:25 a.m. A night session was held for final arguments.

Miss Gonzalez testified yesterday Solis had threatened her and told her to leave town. She said she first met him when he approached her on a Brownsville street in October of 1956. She said he telephoned her frequently and she started dating him.

In July of 1956, she said, she discovered she was pregnant. When she told him, she testified, Solis told her for the first time he was married.

She said he gave her $50 for an abortion. Instead, she said, she visited a sister in Idaho where the baby was born. She said she stored papers permitting it to be adopted.

Miss Gonzalez said when she returned to Brownsville, Solis threatened her and told her to leave town.

She said she bought a pistol and tried to shoot Solis but the weapon misfired. On Jan. 15 of this year, she said, she went to his home.

She said she met her at the door with a pistol and raised it as if to shoot her. Then she shot him, she testified.

A Bible Thought For Today

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." (Romans 12:1)

Rain? Smile Brother, Smile!

While many are mulling and grumbling about the rain, let us spread a little Pollyanna cheer.

So long as we don't catch a premature early hard freeze, the rain won't hurt much if producers can manage not to pick their cotton until the sunshine has come out and given it a good drying. We could have a little trouble from spotting, but so far this has been minimized following earlier rains.

We're a firm believer that rain generally helps a lot more than it hurts out in this country. We're also still familiar with the crucial state of affairs only a couple of years ago when our territory reeled from the effects of a prolonged and punishing drought. A lot of people said then—and we're not forgetting that we were among them—that if it ever rained again, we'd never complain.

So we're not complaining. Actually, we're thankful that the good Lord is planting another telling blow to the solar plexus of the drought. We're thankful that pastures and fields will be given excellent chance for cover. We're thankful that ranges will have a chance to go into the winter with mending grasses and a good strong crop of winter weeds and winter grasses already on the way. We're thankful for reports that the ground's the wettest that many can remember.

Even though it does delay the cotton and feed harvest, rain at this time of the year is almost like money in the bank when it comes to a good start and good prospects for crops and ranges next year.

Long Fight May Have To Be Longer

Printer's Ink in its October 3 issue asks a pertinent question: "Small business fights to grow; does Washington hold it back?"

Further: "There's a fire smouldering between government and small business, the nation's backbone of marketing. Why did Congress pass a bill supposed to help small business that 60 national trade associations didn't want?"

What is small business? You'd be surprised to know that there are 66,000,000 small businesses in this country—manufacturers, retail or service concerns, as against only 20,000 firms labeled as big business. The dividing line is 1,000 employees. If a business has more than 1,000, it is denominated as big; if fewer than 1,000, it is called small.

The longest shadows are cast by the giant industrial enterprises which number 20,000, but as Printer's Ink points out the business world is largely peopled by small businesses.

For years we have heard a lot of concern expressed by Congress over the plight of the small business man. Laws have been passed in his behalf, and politicians have built reputations as his champion; but a great many small businessmen have felt that they were too often brushed off as poor relations.

Both Houses of Congress have special small-business committees. Many hearings have been held on problems peculiar to that category; such as unfair competition, how to get a larger share of defense spending, taxes and so on.

One goal sought by small business has been a change in the tax structure to allow a small businessman to retain more of his earnings for modernization and expansion. The Senate small business committee held extensive hearings late last year and learned that this one boon stood foremost in the thoughts of small businessmen—a contention with which the committee unanimously agreed.

A bill to that effect was introduced in the 85th Congress by Rep. Frank Icard (D-Tex.), a tireless champion of the small businessman. It was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee by a 13-2 vote. Later the bill was killed because some thought benefits should be lessened.

(Printer's Ink reports Treasury representatives sat in on the closed sessions of the committee, "and it seemed to some close observers that it was these administration representatives who were chiefly responsible for defeating the bill.")

So the Icard bill went out the window, and the 85th Congress adopted the administration's small-business tax bill which did not contain the earnings-retention feature as embodied in the Icard-Curtis measure.

The administration bill included an increase in the amount of earnings a small corporation could retain, but 85 per cent of small businesses are not incorporated, and therefore could not possibly benefit under this legislation.

If the magazine correctly reflects the feeling of the small-business community, the fight has just begun. Champions of small business are accustomed to backsets in the long fight for survival, and they don't give up easy. Rep. Icard ought to have more militant help from our small business men.

A Senator's Interest In Medical Research

PORTLAND, Ore.—The stuff of partisan politics is for the most part as fleeting as the morning mist, and the current campaign is surely no exception. But now and then men and events combine to produce political drama of a higher order.

Shortly after the last session of Congress ended Senator Richard Neuberger returned to his home here in Portland. He had been feeling a little under the weather and he went to his doctor for a physical examination. At a certain moment in the examination the doctor said, "I don't like this, I'm afraid you'll have to go to the hospital at once."

It was cancer. There was an immediate operation and then Neuberger began to undergo a series of cobalt radiation treatments that are still continuing.

In this incident itself was nothing novel—it happens to several hundred thousand Americans every year—except for the fact that the Senator had devoted a great deal of his time and energy in his first four years in the Senate working under the leadership of Senator Lister Hill to get larger Federal appropriations for medical research and particularly for cancer.

He had proposed a massive attack with a fund of a half-billion dollars, arguing that if we can spend $42 billion a year for armaments surely we can find a small fraction of that amount for a killer that causes so much suffering.

Now the doctors have said that Dick Neuberger will recover. He describes lying on the table and looking up at the cobalt cone and reflecting on how only a short time ago the therapy he is receiving was unknown and how without it he might have been condemned to terrible suffering and death.

Having come out from under the shadow with a reprieve, Senator Neuberger intends to dedicate himself from here on out to the advancement of medical research. Already he is beginning to inject this in the speeches he is making in the limited amount of campaigning, in behalf of other candidates, that his doctors permit him to do.

What seemed important before is singularly unimportant now. First things are to come first and one of these first things is a project that the 45-year-old Senator intends to push with all his zeal. That is for an international medical year which would correspond to the International Geophysical Year. This would bring together the greatest medical scientists of every nation to consider the scourges of mankind and what to do about them as well as to report on the enormous potentials for health and good living still unrealized.

They would work in the same way that the geophysicists and the astronomers worked during the IGY to pool their knowledge of the earth and outer space. This is a stirring concept. Besides expanding the horizons of medical knowledge and holding out new hope to millions of sufferers it would help just as did the IGY to break down the barriers of a divided world.

No one who witnessed it can forget the fortitude of the late Senator Robert A. Taft in his last days. Although he knew he was dying of cancer pronounced incurable, he bobbed into the Senate on crutches until almost the end of a stern sense of duty. While Taft was not one who looked kindly on Federal appropriations for other than the traditional functions of government, perhaps if he had lived he would have seen the need to press the attack with Federal assistance on a disease that will kill 25,000,000 Americans now living and inflict terrible and crippling punishment on millions of others.

This is just what Senator Neuberger intends to do with the very considerable ability that is his. He talks about the fact that Americans spend $15 billion a year for liquor and tobacco alongside which the amount devoted to medical research is not even the proverbial drop in the bucket. This is politics and with the Senator's capacity for publicizing his causes we shall hear a great deal more about it. But it is a rare kind of politics.

The Elephant Walk Is Slippery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, determinedly striving to push the Republican elephant into a stretch gallop, has found the going heavy and the footing slippery.

The durable Nixon was showing fatigue and irritability when he stopped here between tours this week. He had taken some rude blows. He was obliged to defend and explain the damaging words and actions of other Republicans. And he had seen new threats develop to his own political future.

His temper frayed out in Minneapolis, where he barked an angry denial to a charge that hadn't been made—that he had avoided a stand on civil rights. Earlier, in Chicago, he had glared at a photographer who mislabeled him "Mr. Truman." The impolitic glare was captured on film.

As the vice president took off Wednesday for a final grueling, hop-skippping tour to Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Montana, Washington state and Alaska, it seemed to some of his supporters that sheer bad luck was dogging his footsteps.

For Nixon, a record of success in this campaign is important to his own presidential aspirations in 1960. Any outcome short of a Democratic sweep could be credited partly, at least, to his talents as a vote-getter.

Certainly his efforts have helped to revive dispirited Republican organizations in many spots. Further, he has helped to add more than a million dollars to GOP finances by his fund-raising appearances and his personal efforts.

But there was still doubt whether any significant shift in voter sentiment has been wrought by Nixon or by President Eisenhower in their strong attacks on "radical" and "spendthrift" opponents.

An Associated Press check across the country indicated that neither the Republican headlines nor their opposite Democratic numbers, former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, had changed the minds of many voters.

So it was uncertain whether, as Nixon proclaimed in Lincoln, Neb. and elsewhere, the GOP has rebounded from what looked like sure defeat and that the campaign has become a brand new contest.

Neither Nixon nor Eisenhower, it became apparent has succeeded in healing the seemingly ruinous split of the top California Republicans, Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin Knight. The intraparty bitterness could do nothing but damage to Nixon's party in Nixon's state — and to Nixon's prestige as a leader of the state GOP organization.

And suddenly an alarm bell rang in a state which may be even more vital to Nixon's 1960 aspirations. The political pollsters decided that personable Nelson Rockefeller has edged to the fore in the New York governorship race against Gov. Averell Harriman. All Republicans could cheer, but what would the emergence of this new political phenomenon do to Nixon's chances for the nomination two years hence?

Rockefeller's gains owed nothing to Nixon. Would a Rockefeller victory give the party a potential new standard-bearer?

Other incidents plagued Nixon. The Gallup poll people issued a late-campaign report: it spoke of a Democratic landslide. How come this, asked reporters, if Nixon's optimism was justified? Nixon said that hard work could change the outcome, and that the poll results already were outdated.

And why did Eisenhower—or if not the President, somebody else at the White House—receive the leadership of the thousands of Negro and white students who staged a pro-integration rally in Washington last Saturday? Nixon's associates did not disguise their view that the White House had goofed.

And why did Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) have to choose this crucial fortnight to remark that "on Nov. 5 Dick Nixon will assume the mantle of leadership of the Republican party"? Nixon, who has tried to keep his own aspirations out of this campaign, denied it.

The vice president is a fighter who fights hardest when the battle is toughest. He'll be punching, right up to election day. But if he didn't know before, he must now realize that the tides of politics are treacherous indeed.

A Norfolk clerk, receiving a pay envelope containing a blank check, moaned: "My deductions have caught up with my salary."

Around The Rim

No One To Toot The Horn

After taking a recent look at my old hometown, I'm sold on the wisdom of having a busy Chamber of Commerce (no charge for this, Mr. Quimby).

My ex-town got caught up in the post-war urbanization movement, and before the dust settled it was discovered it was not one of those urban areas to which everyone was migrating. With a good Chamber of Commerce on the job before the resettlement started, the town might have found itself with growing pains.

It had a great many advantages. For one, it had a fairly good high school which might have become the hub of the vast consolidation program which has developed. It was located on a major highway, had a railroad of sorts, and was equipped with a variety of stores, repair shops and the like.

Probably its greatest asset was its location between two West Texas "mountains" which some imaginative pioneer, possibly with a future Chamber of Commerce in mind, had given the colorful names of "Bald Eagle" and "High Lonesome." (Just think what you could do with scenic attractions like those, Quimby).

One of the peaks was undermined with little caves (where the schoolboys used to gather to learn how to smoke) and at its foot was a small lake "abounding in fish."

There was plenty of railroad siding and lots of highway frontage for industry, and the land was cheap.

Water wasn't any problem. In addition to the lake, the town had wells and a stream ran not too far away.

Most of these resources were neglected, though, and when the big shift to the cities started, the town had no one to boast of its potential. Even its own people started moving out, lured by the beautiful word pictures Chambers of Commerce drew up in other towns.

Now the school is gone, along with most of the business places and citizens. Only a tiny grocery store and a couple of service stations are left and unless you look carefully, you're apt to miss them as you whiz past.

All because the town didn't have a Chamber of Commerce to let the outsiders know it had more to offer than any other spot on earth. C'est le guerre.

De Gaulle Restores French Self-Respect

PARIS—Once upon a time, any visitor to Paris could diagnose the current political unrest or take the national pulse merely by reading the handwriting on the wall.

All the crises and turmoil of the Fourth Republic since World War II have been splashed on the walls of Paris by its malcontents, beginning with the Communist-inspired "Yanks, go home." The "Americans, go home" signs faded long ago into other grievances or demands.

When I was here last April, just before the crisis that brought Gen. Charles de Gaulle to the helm, the walls of Paris were covered with signs reading: "De Gaulle to power," "De Gaulle must go," "Algeria is France" and "France is Algeria."

Now, miraculously, the walls are clear. I have seen only one, a huge sign on the abutment along the Seine under Notre Dame Cathedral (where the biggest, angriest "Americans, go home" sign used to be), reading: "No to de Gaulle," a futile sign left over from the last French election.

Doubtless this is only a small straw in the wind, but it is a symbol of the present unity. I hope the word is not too strong of the French people. I am not so vain as to believe that I can diagnose the complicated French political situation within 72 hours without realizing that there is a yeast at work, and that two mighty forces of the spirit are in operation. Le Grand Charlie has restored to the French two invaluable and hitherto missing ingredients—hope in the future and self-respect in themselves as a people and nation able to solve their problems.

"How long will the honeymoon between De Gaulle and France last?" I have asked my French and American friends, long resident here. In other words, how long before there is again handwriting on the walls?

"Indefinitely," say the French and the Americans.

"De Gaulle has given France back her confidence and self-respect to such a point that even the Communists have had to quit attacking him openly," said an American who has lived here since the last war. "Every Communist attack on him meant loss of membership. That's one reason the walls are clean."

"God takes care of drunks, children, the Irish and the French," explained an old French friend. "He has now gotten around to us again. For the first time, we feel that the Algerian situation can be settled honorably. By French standards, we are more prosperous than we have ever been before, although we had had crops this year because of weather."

"There are indications that inflation is abating a little; the austerity program begun under the Gaillard government has been continued by De Gaulle. And our birthrate is the highest in Europe; we have an exploding population. For the first time since Napoleon, more people are born annually in France than die."

"Despite the legend that the French never pay their taxes," he continued, "we are far more heavily taxed than you Americans, and we pay up. Our luxury taxes make you look giggling. We pay a 200 per cent tax on gasoline, for instance. Let me assure you that the French tax inspector is a race apart. He can wring blood from a stone, and he does."

"If De Gaulle can solve two problems—the dreadful housing shortage at home and the Algerian situation—he will be the savior of France," this man said, and added two last sentences of admonition:

"Never forget, France is a country of miracles. I think we are at the verge of one."

Union Rights And Individual Rights

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is very skillful in public debate but on the television Sunday she misinterpreted the real issue in the "right to work" controversy. She is not alone in her view, however, for there is widespread misunderstanding by many people of the underlying purpose of the "right to work" issue in the six states where it is on the ballot this year.

Mrs. Roosevelt was asked why, although once a member of the Commission on Human Rights in the United Nations, she today fails to champion the cause of the worker who is threatened with the loss of his job unless he joins a union. The transcript of the interrogation reads in part as follows:

"Q. In your column, Mrs. Roosevelt, in 1941—March 13—you said: 'I do not believe that every man and woman should be forced to join a union'—

"Mrs. Roosevelt: No, I don't. I don't think you should be forced to join a union, but that means, then, you go work where there is no union."

But that's just the problem. For when a man has learned only one trade and is not skilled in any other occupation, he should not be compelled to give up his means of livelihood and try to get work in some non-unionized plant—if there are any left in his industry. He could, of course, sell his home and move to some other state or to a foreign country. What a travesty on American freedom and the Bill of Rights!

What Mrs. Roosevelt said, in effect, also is that, when in a plant a majority of the workers want a union, the minority should join and that, since this is a "rule" which the employer and the union have agreed to, the worker should abide by it no matter what his conscientious beliefs may be about joining unions.

Not so long ago the "self-styled liberals" were denouncing so-called "McCarthyism" when some employees of the government were being fired from their jobs because they couldn't get "clearance" or when certain workers were being "blacklisted" in private industry because of their "beliefs."

But today the erstwhile champions of "freedom of belief" and "freedom of association" are turning a cold shoulder to the workman who doesn't believe in membership in a union.

Take the recent case of the man in Emporium, Pennsylvania, who had been working for many years at the same job in a plant when the employer suddenly found himself compelled to sign a form of "closed shop" contract with the union. The union had a history of having once been expelled from the CIO as Communist-dominated. The worker, as a respected member of the local school board, had taken an oath to have nothing to do with Communists. To be on the safe side, he refused to join the union and then was deprived of his job.

The principle is just the same whether a union is or isn't dominated by Communists. The individual in free America ought never to be compelled to join any private organization, whether benevolent or otherwise, as the price of holding a job.

When Mrs. Roosevelt was on the "Meet the Press" television show last Sunday, she gave the impression that, without the principle of total union membership for all employees in a plant, unions could not maintain collective bargaining rights.

The fact is that the right to collective bargaining is achieved by law whenever a majority in a plant express their desire to have a particular union and then maintain collective bargaining rights.

Cantaloupe Makes Delightful Salad

To create a main-dish salad pretty enough for a picture, follow these directions for cantaloupe salad. The fact that the dish is not loaded with calories further recommends it.

MAIN-DISH CANTALOUPE SALAD

Ingredients: One medium-sized or large cantaloupe, 1 orange, 1 carton (8 ounces) cream-style cottage cheese (small or large curd), ¼ teaspoon sugar, ¼ cup chopped pecans, 2 small bananas, watercress or other greens, 6 pecan halves, French dressing.

Method: Halve cantaloupe and scoop out seeds; cut off ends. Cut each half into 3 rings. Grate rind from orange; mix ¼ teaspoon orange rind with cottage cheese, sugar and chopped pecans.

Squeeze juice from orange. Peel bananas; flute lengthwise with fork tines; slice thin; add to orange juice. Place a cantaloupe ring on 6 individual salad plates; arrange a mound of the cheese mixture in the center of the rings. Place drained banana slices over cantaloupe rings; surround with water cress; garnish with pecan halves. Serve with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Rush Parties Of ESA Continue

A ghost peeped from behind a miniature haystack, and a skeleton grinned in an arrangement of pyracantha on the tea table at the home of Mrs. Tolford Durham Wednesday evening. She and Barbara Ann Ewe were hostesses for the second rush activity of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Black cats, a witch candle and a lighted jack o'lantern added to the Halloween mood.

Rushes who were honored at the party included Mrs. Charles Fraser, Mrs. W. P. Holland, Mrs. J. W. Furlong, Mrs. Bill Davis, Miss Joe Newman, Gwynn Moza-ha, Mrs. Earl Lothringer, Mrs.

Bert Smith and Mrs. C. W. Deats Jr.

Entertainment for the group was a book review given by Mrs. B. L. LeFever. She chose My Heart Lies South, by Elizabeth Borton Treviño, which is an account of the adventures and misadventures of a California girl who married a native of Monterey, Mexico, and made her home there.

A gift was presented to Mrs. LeFever.

Announcement was made of the next gathering of the sorority, which will be a model meeting. It is scheduled for Nov. 6, with the place to be announced.

Methodist Women Hold Special Observance

Meditations based on the theme hymn, "All The Art Mine," by John Wesley, were heard by the First Methodist WSCS, assembled Wednesday morning at the church for the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial observance.

Principal speaker for the morning session was Mrs. Ray N. Johnson of Abilene, wife of a Northwest Texas Conference evangelist. She was introduced by Mrs. C. M. Frost, who read the scripture.

Dwelling on "The Lesson of the Cross," Mrs. Johnson said that our little sins place Christ on the cross each day. To witness for Him, we must plant Jesus in our hearts and show that we serve a risen Christ.

Scriptural readings were led by Mrs. J. W. Dickens, and a period of intercessory prayers was opened by Mrs. Jordan Grooms.

Mrs. W. M. Romans offered the meditation at luncheon, after which the afternoon session was under the charge of Mrs. L. W. Harris on the theme, "To Tell To All The World That God Is Might."

An offering was taken, which will be added to all offerings collected at observances throughout the world of Methodism. The moneys will go to the foreign mission fields and to the deaconess pension funds.

Mrs. Bob Langley, Mrs. Mary Guillems, Mrs. K. D. Heston, and Mrs. C. E. Hill told of the work in Cuba, Mexico, and Bolivia; Mrs. James W. Forester reported on the Deaconess Fund. The dedication of the offering preceded communion service conducted by Dr. Grooms.

Let Accessories Add Color For Small Bathroom

Give careful thought to the accessories and smaller articles in your bathroom if you're redecorating this fall. These will add the right touches to the room that's in keeping with today's more colorful, glamorous baths.

Here are some general suggestions recommended by home decorating experts:

Use plants in pretty pottery containers which contrast with the background color of the walls.

Match the color of your tissues with the dominant pastel tone of the room. Quality bathroom tissue now comes in pink, aqua, yellow as well as white, just as facial tissues do, so this is easy to manage.

Hang glass-covered pictures in gay prints or bold black and white sketches on the walls if the walls are not patterned with paper.

Fill apothecary jars with the soap, or detergent that you keep in the bath for nightly sudsing of hose.

Simple Trick For Lips In Three Steps

Unwishty streaks or "feathered" lipstick will detract from the smartness of your new fall costume. If this is one of your make-up difficulties, follow this simple one-two-three technique. It's well worth the extra minute it requires.

First, dry lips thoroughly with a tissue. Then dip lipstick brush in lipstick and outline the lips. Draw outline on upper lip, from left corner of mouth to center, then from right corner to center. Next outline lower lip in the same manner. Fill in with lipstick. Let color set a moment and blot off excess with clean tissue.

It's Fun To Monogram Your Linens

AP Newsfeatures

Every woman likes monogrammed bathroom accessories, such as towels and shower curtain.

Nowadays it's easy to do your own monogramming, with the aid of the new automatic sewing machines or attachments.

Local sewing center experts suggest a coordinated bathroom set of aquafibre shower curtain, soft terry towels and bath mat of antique gold and moss green, with contrasting satin appliqued monograms. Use gold applique on the green towels, green on the gold.

Most pattern companies offer transfer patterns for monogramming. Here's how to do it:

Trace design on cotton satin. Back with organdy cut out, leaving an inch margin all around and baste in place on towel or curtain.

Set your automatic slant-needle sewing machine or automatic zig-zagger attachment for a narrow satin stitch, and stitch slowly around outline of monogram.

When stitching is completed, cut away excess fabric close to the line of stitching.

This also is a great idea for Christmas gifts, if you start early.

May Not Value Men's Dislikes, But They Sway Women's Styles

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Yves Saint-Laurent, 22-year-old successor to the late Christian Dior, doesn't care whether men like his clothes or not, just so women wear them.

"Consider men? Never! Why should I?" asked the youthful Parisian designer, in New York for the opening of his American spring collection.

Reminded of the almost universal male protest against the recent chemise and trapeze silhouettes, the slight, bespectacled youth shrugged and remarked:

"Sometimes a fashion which conceals the figure is more intriguing than one which does not. I think a woman should look mysterious—not too much revealed."

His current collection, however, is highly revealing above the belt, running to plunging necklines and off-shoulder effects which appear somewhat hazardous. Belts are high, but the general silhouette is rounded, both above and below the belt, with a number of full skirts in both daytime and evening fashions.

Saint-Laurent inherited the mantle of the storied Dior about a year ago, and his life since has been devoted solely to carrying on the great tradition of his mentor, acknowledged dictator of world fashion. But when asked if he found it hard to live up to the standard of Dior, he replied:

"Not at all!"

For four years, since the age of 18, Saint-Laurent has been designing for the house of Dior, and he indicates that he has no doubts as to his ability to carry on. His New York appearance wound up a two-week tour of the United States, during which he visited Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago. He sails for Paris Saturday aboard the liner United States.

Fame and fortune have made no difference in the young man's life, he insists. He has bought no sports cars, diamonds or fancy clothes. He has wasted neither time nor money on wine, women or song. He has no hobbies, no sports, no interests except fashion.

"That is my pleasure, to design," says he. "I am happy only when I am creating. I have no time for other things."

Mrs. Thurman Is Sorority Speaker

Meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gerald Harris, nine members of the Xi Delta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi heard Mrs. Ira Thurman in highlights of her travels in Venezuela.

The group voted to enter a float in the homecoming parade. Mrs. Bill Casey and Mrs. Tip Anderson will be in charge of this project.

A report was given of the West Texas Area Council meeting in Abilene last weekend. Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Ray Dunlap, Mrs. Dee Thomas and Mrs. James Tidwell attended from the unit.

Mrs. J. R. Chaney was introduced as a pledge.

The next meeting is set for 7:30 p.m., Nov. 11, with Mrs. Earl Lusk, 313 Lincoln.

Hollywood Films Nudes—But It's For Overseas, Not Us

By ROBERT THOMAS
 AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For virtually the first time since the Roaring 20s, nudity is being filmed on the Hollywood movie stages.

But seekers of the sensational won't be able to see Hollywood's answer to Brigitte Bardot. The results are strictly for overseas consumption.

Nudity is a recent revival in the movie capital, and it may well have been prompted by the clothes-hating BB, plus the exposure in Italian, Swedish and other films. The trend is frowned upon by most industry leaders, who are steering clear of it.

The industry's censorship code contains this section:

"Complete nudity, in fact or silhouette, is never permitted, nor shall there be any licentious notice by characters in the film of suggested nudity."

The industry leaders feel there should be only one version of Hollywood films: those adhering to the code. But some independent producers are seeking a double standard, with a souped-up version for foreign audiences.

"We can't compete with the French and Italian films unless we give them more realism overseas," argues Al Zugsmith.

He's attempting it in three films he has made independently for MGM. Jody Fair appears stripped to the waist in the foreign version of "High School Confidential." Bobi Byrnes does the same in "Night of the Quarter Moon" and "The Beat Generation."

"I hope some day we will be able to do the same in domestic versions," the producer said. "We are shackled here by many rules that are archaic."

An inside source reports that the Motion Picture Export Assn., which controls foreign distribution of major studio films, is cracking down on such exposure. The source reported:

"We feel that modesty is the best policy in the long run. Brigitte Bardot can have a vogue for a while and then will disappear. She's just one little French girl. But if we started exposing

TV 'Bad' Girl Is Trying To Be Good

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The majority of girls in TV Westerns are not exactly the type you'd want to introduce to your mother. When they aren't trying to reform after a dubious past they're usually making eyes at a dubious future.

Carole Mathews, a tall, beautiful brunette, hopes that an exception to this generalization is Wilma Flanders, the young widow who appears to have a crush on Marshal Matt Wayne in "The Californians" (Tuesdays, NBC-TV).

Miss Mathews knows Wilma better than anyone else because she plays the role of Wilma. "I want her to be a good-hearted girl, not a bad girl," says Miss Mathews.

Wilma, to be sure, is no prude. She runs a gambling house — though everybody goes to great pains to emphasize that it's an HONEST gambling house.

Furthermore, Wilma is a widow. And, if you've been watching the TV set very sharply, you'll have observed that comely young widows have become highly respectable creatures on nighttime teleplays recently.

Miss Mathews said that viewers now seem to have accepted the fact that Wilma is Matt's girl friend. No hanky-panky, you understand. Just good friends.

True, Wilma never has kissed Wayne, played by Richard Coogan.

And why not?

"I really don't know why not," said Miss Mathews. "As a matter of fact, that's a very good question. Why can't I kiss my leading man? Why don't leading men in Westerns ever kiss a girl?"

Would Wilma like to kiss Matt?

Miss Mathews, an adroit diplomat, said thoughtfully, "I don't think it matters much how Wilma feels about it. The important thing is what would be the audience reaction. I'd like to know if they objected to a very warm, tender relationship between Wilma and Matt."

"On the other hand, perhaps the audience prefers the sense of anticipation that they may someday kiss rather than the fact that they do."

Answer The Halloween Goblins' 'Trick Or Treat' With Cookies

Orange and black showing up in the shop windows give the clue that Halloween is just around the corner.

That means the womenfolk are trying to think of goodies to provide for the throngs of goblins and ghouls who will come to their doorsteps shouting Trick or Treat.

Cookies never fail to please, so here are a few recipes to supplement your present collection:

TRICK OR TREAT COOKIES

1½ cups corn flakes
1½ cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1-3 cup chopped salted peanuts

Crush corn flakes slightly. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Blend butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Stir in corn flakes crumbs and peanuts.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets; flatten slightly with fork. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 8 minutes.

Yield: About 5 dozen cookies.

1½ inches in diameter.

SUGAR AND SPICE COOKIES

Ingredients:
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. allspice
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ cup mild light molasses
1 cup finely chopped walnuts

Method:
Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and allspice. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Beat in molasses well. Add dry ingredients; stir well. Stir in about two-thirds of the chopped walnuts.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet about 2 inches apart. Sprinkle tops with remaining chopped walnuts. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until baked through and lightly browned—about 13 minutes. Remove from pan at once with wide spatula to wire rack to cool.

Makes 4 to 5 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

APRICOT BROWN SUGAR BARS

Ingredients:
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ lb. (½ cup) butter or margarine
½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1 large egg

COOKIES—ALWAYS IN DEMAND

1 tsp. vanilla
1-3 cup chopped soft dried apricots
1-3 cup chopped walnuts

Method:

Sift together the cake flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugars with egg and vanilla. Stir in sifted dry ingredients until smooth; stir in apricots and walnuts.

Turn into greased baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches); bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 23 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean; do not overbake.

Place pan on wire rack to cool; cut in small bars with sharp knife and remove with spatula. Store in tightly covered container.

BUTTER WAFERS

Ingredients:
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg (slightly beaten)
1 tsp. milk
1½ tps. pure vanilla extract.

Method:
Sift flour and sugar together into a mixing bowl. Add butter and work it in with tips of fingers or pastry blender. Mix slightly beaten egg, milk and vanilla; stir into flour mixture. Mix well to form a dough.

Shape into ½-inch balls; chill before shaping if desired or necessary. Place balls 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten to 1-16-inch thickness with the bottom of a glass covered with a damp cloth.

Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 6 to 8 minutes or until lightly browned around edges. Do not bake too brown. Remove with spatula to wire rack to cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 5 dozen.

DATE COCONUT BARS

Ingredients:
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsp. double-acting baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 cup light brown sugar (firmly packed)

1 tbs. butter or margarine
½ cup finely sliced dates
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 cup shredded coconut (cut in short lengths)

Method:

Sift together the cake flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until they begin to get thick; gradually beat in brown sugar. Mix in melted butter, dates, lemon rind and coconut. Add flour and water; mix thoroughly.

Turn into buttered 9 by 9 by 2 inch pan; bake in slow (325 degrees) oven about 35 minutes. Cool in pan and cut into bars. Store in tightly covered container.

Use Leftover Rice For Tasty Dessert

Have some leftover rice in the icebox? Put some custard ingredients together and use it for a tasty dessert for supper. This recipe will tell you how:

PHYLL'S CUSTARD RICE

Ingredients:
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk (scalded)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups cooked rice
Fresh or drained canned fruit

Method:
Beat eggs in the top of a double boiler just enough to mix yolks and whites; stir in sugar and salt. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly and vigorously as you do so.

Cook and stir constantly over very hot (but not boiling) water until thickened and mixture will coat a metal spoon—about 15 or 20 minutes. Cover (to prevent film from forming on top) and cool; stir in vanilla and rice.

Spoon into dessert dishes. At serving time, garnish with fruit. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note:

To scald milk, heat in very heavy saucepan over low heat until bubbles appear around edge.

Do You Read The Label On That Canned Food?

How carefully do you read the label on the can of vegetables or the package of frozen food you buy? That's something the U. S. Department of Agriculture wanted to find out, as a guide to its own rules and regulations and to the processors who freeze and can the foods we eat. So the researchers took a cross-section of homemakers in three cities in different parts of the country and came up with these facts.

The most important item on the label of a can or package to most homemakers was the brand name, which almost every one wanted to see. When it came to other information, there was a wide difference of opinion.

Some homemakers preferred labels that indicate "Three Servings," or "Five Servings." Quite a few women reported that they seldom paid much attention to label information. However, they said they would be unhappy if all information were removed except the brand name.

Most homemakers said they pay little attention to recipes or directions on how to use canned foods. But it was different with frozen foods, for they liked to have directions on how to thaw and how to cook.

Some homemakers looked to see how many ounces the can or frozen package contained. Others seldom read that part of the label.

Mrs. Joe B. Kitching, already through one of her annual fruit cake bakings, gets a hand here from her children. They are wrapping the loaves for storage until holiday season. Joe Bob and Billie watch as Donetta and Becky pose for action. Under the table lurked the youngest child, camera-shy John T. 4 1/2. Mrs. Kitching has used the recipe for these cakes ever since high school days.

Fruit Cakes Are Traditional Holiday 'Staples' For Kitchings

Friends of the Joe B. Kitchings, 514 Washington Blvd., know that Christmas is not far off because Mrs. Kitching has already baked her fruit cakes. Actually, it is only the first of two traditional bakings which are annual procedure. She wants to be certain there is plenty of the luscious cake around for serving to guests, along with hot spiced tea or steaming coffee.

With fruit cake, Mrs. Kitching has no worries that the five children will consume it in short order. It is not their favorite cake, but they are willing to help her cut up the citron and candied pineapple. And they can help her wrap the loaves in foil for storage. Mrs. Kitching's formula for keeping it moist until the holidays is to use apple juice in the batter and to store it with orange sections. The mellowing period is of prime importance.

The Fruit Cake recipe which is her standby for the holidays is included in this story. It is interesting to note that this is the recipe she has used since she was a sophomore studying home economics in high school at Elida, N. M. Because this cake is brimming full of raisins and currants, she decorates the tops only with pecans. But some years she also makes Flourless Fruit Cakes, and these she crowns with candied fruit flowers.

Meals in this household must be of the type that can either be prepared in advance or concocted of quick recipes. Mrs. Kitching maintains the office of her husband's business, Kitching Electric and Refrigeration, 5 1/2 days a week. In addition to the youngsters' school activities there are such outside preoccupations as piano lessons for the girls, Explorer scouting and DeMolay for the oldest son, Joe Bob, who is 15 and a ninth grader. The girls are Billie, 12, who attends seventh grade at Runnels; Becky, a 9-year-old fourth grade student at Washington; and Donetta, 7 and in the second grade. John T., 4 1/2, attends Christian Day School. Although the other children have lunch at the school cafeterias, John T. joins his parents for the noon-day meal at the shop.

With the daily schedule chock full, our featured cook relies heavily on the pressure cooker, the deep freeze, and the electric roaster oven which is, incidentally, where she cooks her fruit cakes. Desserts are her specialty, not alone because they have great appeal for the family but because the family entertains informally often. A foremost refreshment is Banana Nut Bread, served warm with whipped cream. This also doubles as a delightful breakfast dish, toasted and buttered.

As a member of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Wesley Methodist Church, Mrs. Kitching takes time to do her turn, kitchen-wise, when the women have a meal to prepare. She is also a new name on the roster of the Altruism Club.

Try these recipes she shares:

FRUIT CAKE
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder

1/2 tsp. each cloves, cinnamon and mace
1 lb. butter or oleo
1 lb. dark brown sugar
10 eggs, well beaten
1/2 lb. each candied cherries and candied pineapple
1/2 lb. candied orange, lemon peel and citron
2 cups pecans
1 cup walnuts
1/2 cup almonds, blanched and chopped
1 lb. raisins
1 lb. currants
1 lb. sliced dates
1 cup honey
1/2 cup molasses (or dark corn syrup)
1/2 cup apple cider or other juice

Sift flour, baking powder and spices together. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add well beaten eggs and mix, then mix in all fruits, nuts, honey, molasses and cider. Add flour gradually, mixing well after each addition.

Bake in greased pans lined with greased brown paper, in slow oven (250 degrees) for 3 1/2 to 4 hours. Remove paper while still hot. Makes about 10 pounds fruit cake. Wrap in foil and store in tin box or freezer. Better after several weeks storage.

FLOURLESS FRUIT CAKE
1 lb. candied cherries
1 lb. candied pineapple
1 lb. candied dates
1 lb. coconut
1 lb. pecans and walnuts
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cans sweetened condensed milk

Combine fruits and nuts with 1 1/2 cans milk. Press into loaf pan lined with greased brown paper. Pour remaining 1/2 can milk over top of loaf. Decorate with fruit or nuts as desired. Bake at 300 degrees for about one hour or until brown.

NOTE: This is a cake recommended for those unable to eat spice, or who do not care for raisins.

QUICK PIE CRUST
Sift together into pie plate 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 tsp. sugar and 1/2 tsp. salt. Pour over this 1/2 cup liquid or melted shortening and 2 tsp. milk. Mix thoroughly and press around pie plate firmly with hands.

Bake until brown and fill with favorite cream filling or instant pudding for a quick dessert.

BANANA NUT BREAD
1-3 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 bananas
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup pecans

Cream butter, sugar and bananas. Add egg and beat. Sift dry ingredients together and gently stir into mixture alternately with buttermilk and vanilla. Add 1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts. Bake in greased (but not floured) loaf pan for about one hour at 350 degrees.

HOT SPICED TEA
Boil the following for five minutes and strain.
3 cups water
12 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
2 1/2 cups sugar
Rind of 1 orange, grated

In another pan, bring to boil 1 cup water and add 2 tsp. black tea. Strain. Mix with above syrup and add 1 cup orange juice, 1 qt. pineapple juice and 1/4 cup lemon juice. Heat to just below boiling point and serve either from punch bowl or tea pot.

Will keep in refrigerator and is just as tasty when reheated.

BAKED CUSTARD
4 eggs
4 cups milk
1 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt

Beat eggs until light and fluffy; add 1/2 cup sugar, nutmeg and vanilla. Combine milk, 1/4 cup sugar and salt in saucepan and bring to boil. Pour over egg mixture and beat until well mixed.

Pour into glass baking dish and place in pan of water in oven or in roaster oven containing about 1/2 inch water. Bake about 40 minutes at 275 degrees or until knife blade comes out clean when inserted.

May be made in any quantity, remembering always to use 1/4 cup sugar and 1 egg to each cup milk, and adjusting flavoring accordingly.

Teen-ager Treat

When your teen-agers' friends come calling let them make their own sandwiches from a tray of sliced bread, soft butter, sliced ham and corned beef, mustard and relishes. Have bowls of carrot sticks and potato chips on hand for munching, soft drinks for a beverage and frosted cupcakes or cookies for dessert.

Parslied Butter

Add minced chives and parsley to butter by creaming together, then serve a dollop of the mixture on broiled chops or steak.

It's Time To Be Thinking Of Those Fruit Cakes

Notice those grocery racks filling up with citron, candied cherries, and pecans? They should be reminder enough that you can successfully bake your Christmas fruit cakes far in advance and be that much ahead.

Experienced cooks will tell you that a mellowing period will improve the cake's flavor, especially if doused from time to time with a good wine, brandy or fruit juice to keep it moist. Another trick used by many is to slip an apple into the container.

There are infinite variations for fruit cake; some like it light, others dark. One school calls for a batter loaded with fruit and nuts, while another prefers the plainer version. It is well to remember, too, that the cake may be baked in attractive loaves, the traditional round mold, or in small baking cups to make charming bonbons for individual servings or to pack into gift boxes.

One of these recipes may suit your needs:

TWO-WAY FRUIT CAKE
2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup currants
1 cup finely pitted dates
1/2 cup finely cut candied cherries

1/2 cup finely cut citron
1/2 cup finely cut candied orange peel
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt

1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. allspice
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. mace
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
4 eggs
1/2 cup old-fashioned molasses
1/2 cup orange juice

Rinse raisins and currants in hot water and drain; mix with dates, candied cherries, citron, candied orange peel, grated orange rind and Brazil nuts. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, allspice, cloves and mace; mix 1/2 cup with fruit-nut mixture.

Cream shortening and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly one at a time. Mix molasses and orange juice; add to creamed mixture alternately with remaining flour mixture. Fold in prepared fruits and nuts.

Turn into 2 greased and waxed paper-lined 6 x 3 x 2-inch loaf pans, or one 6 x 3 x 2-inch loaf pan and 36 1 1/4-inch paper baking cups, placed in small muffin pans. Bake in a slow (325 degree) oven 1 hour and 35 minutes for the loaves, and 30 to 35 minutes for the cup cakes.

Remove from oven and brush with glaze. Decorate with Brazil nut chips, candied cherries and angelica. Makes 4 pounds fruit cake.

GLAZE
Stir 1 tablespoon light corn syrup, 3 tbsps. orange juice and 2 tbsps. light brown sugar together in saucepan over low heat until sugar is dissolved; bring to a full boil. Remove from heat. Brush on fruit cakes.

GOLDEN FRUIT CAKE
3 cups light or dark raisins
1 cup dried apricots
1 cup cut citron
1 cup candied cherries
1 cup walnuts
1 cup roasted unblanched almonds

1 1/2 cups cooked prunes
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, packed
2 tbsps. grated orange rind
5 eggs
2 2/3 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. allspice
2 tps. cinnamon

Rinse and drain raisins. Rinse apricots and cut into strips. Combine raisins, apricots, citron, cherries, chopped walnuts and almonds. Cut prunes from pits into small pieces to make 1 cup pulp. Cream shortening and sugar together thoroughly. Blend in rind and eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Sift flour with salt, baking powder and spices. Add to creamed mixture alternately with prune pulp. Pour batter over fruit and nuts and mix thoroughly.

Line 2 loaf pans about 8 1/2 x 8 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches or 1 9-inch tube pan with 2 thicknesses of greased brown paper and one of greased waxed paper. Pour in cake mixture. Bake in 250 degree oven 3 hours (loaves) to 3 1/2 hours (tube pan), with shallow pan of hot water on bottom of oven.

Remove from pan to cool, but leave paper on cake. When cool wrap in cloth moistened in brandy to ripen. Makes about 6 pounds of cake.

Enrich Fruit Salad With Honey Dressing

For the perfect topping for fruit salad, whip up a dressing rich in honey.

1 egg, slightly beaten
1/4 cup honey
Dash of salt
3/4 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup cream, whipped
1/4 cup coconut, toasted

Combine egg, honey, salt and lemon juice in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly — about five minutes. Fold carefully into whipped cream. Chill.

Just before serving, fold in toasted coconut. Serve with fruit salad. Top with additional toasted coconut. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Big Flower Crop-Plenty Of Honey

When there is a good crop of flowers, there is a good crop of honey.

This must have been a good year for flowers because the Agricultural Marketing Service has taken a peek into the nation's beehives and finds them filled with 252,134,000 pounds of honey—about four per cent more than a year ago.

To make this much honey, it took 5,401,000 colonies of bees, about 105,000 colonies more than last year. These bees were busier than usual since they produced an average of 46.7 pounds of honey per colony—up nearly two pounds from last year and up 3.2 pounds from the 1952-56 average.

Ten states produced 61 per cent of the honey this year. They are California, Minnesota, Florida, Wisconsin, Texas, Idaho, Iowa, New York, Michigan and Arizona.

Since honey is so plentiful, combine it with another plentiful—apples for Honey Apple Crisp. For four servings, you'll need 2 cups pared and sliced apples, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ cup liquid honey, ¼ cup all-purpose flour, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Place apples in shallow baking dish. Combine the sugar, lemon juice and honey. Spread over apples. Mix the flour, brown sugar and salt; cut or work in butter or margarine until mixture is crumbly.

Cover apples with flour mixture and bake at 375 degrees F. for 30 or 40 minutes or until the apples are tender and crust brown.

Use Up Ham In Hot Scalloped Potatoes

Does getting rid of a ham pose a problem at your house? Some say it becomes a little monotonous before the last bite is consumed.

In that case, why not buy half a ham, cooked and boneless, and glaze it with a sugar mixture. When you have sliced and served it at a couple of meals, dice what's left and add it to scalloped potatoes.

Here are the recipes:

GLAZED HAM

Ingredients:

Fully-cooked boneless half ham (about 5 pounds)

Whole cloves

½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar

2 tbsps. flour

1 tsp. tarragon vinegar

Method:

Cut off any brown surface from fat on outer surface of ham; insert cloves in entire ham, about 1 inch apart. Do not score ham. Heat according to wrapper directions.

About 30 minutes before end of cooking time, mix together the sugar, flour and vinegar. Pat heavily over top of ham and lightly over sides. Return to oven. Do not baste.

If desired, glaze at bottom of pan may be skimmed of excess fat and used as a sauce. Add a little water to pan and stir over low heat to get up any of the

Make Fish Puffs With Delicious Dip

For the lightest, most delicate fried fish you have ever eaten, try dipping fillets in a frothy Spanish type batter, then fry until golden in olive oil. To make the batter, blend 2 tablespoons flour with 2 tablespoons water, add a tablespoon of fine or medium-grained sherry, ¼ teaspoon salt and 2 egg yolks. Beat until smooth and creamy.

Separately, beat the 2 egg whites until stiff, then fold the egg yolk mixture into the whites. Cut the fillets into pieces easy to handle; dip each fillet in the frothy batter, and fry in hot olive oil. You will need about ¼ cup olive oil, enough to cover the bottom of a heavy frying pan to a depth of ½ inch. Batter is enough for 6 fillets; especially good with cod, flounder or haddock.

What's Cocoa

Cocoa is just powdered chocolate from which a portion of the cocoa butter has been removed. Instant cocoa is usually a mixture of cocoa, sugar and an emulsifier.

Pork, A Good Buy Now, Teams With Fall Fruit

Pork chops are a favorite for these crisp October days. They are the ideal dish to accompany many fall fruits and vegetables such as apples, cranberries, pears, sweet potatoes, turnips and collards.

Unless you have bought some recently, you'll be surprised to find pork chops so attractively priced. As hog prices have declined, so have fresh pork prices. This happens every fall, because most pigs are born in the spring, and are ready to come to market about six months later, points out the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Here's a treat — skillet chops—suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. You'll need two frying pans.

Pickled Green Beans Are Novelty

Either pork or beef will be perk-ed up considerably when served with sweet pickled green beans. Directions for preparing the beans are given here.

SWEET PICKLED GREEN BEANS

Ingredients:

¼ cup cooking liquid from snap beans or water

½ cup cider vinegar

½ tsp. salt

White pepper

¼ tsp. turmeric

¼ tsp. curry powder

¼ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar

1 pound snap beans (cooked)

Method:

Put the bean cooking liquid or water, vinegar, salt, dash of pepper, turmeric, curry powder and sugar in a saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Pour over snap beans. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

DEAR ABBY

ON ACTIVE DUTY!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the court is a sly one and she thinks she is getting away with something. She can fool her husband but she can't fool me. When she leaves her window shades halfup, that means, "THE COAST IS CLEAR." When she hangs something upside down on the clothesline it means, "NOT TONIGHT." It took me two years to figure this out. I am 96 and if I could see this in print, I would die a happy man.

DEAR "HAPPY"—Happy?

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow aged 44 and am about to marry a man 48 years old. I have a married daughter and a son in service and I don't want to start another family. This man says I have nothing to worry about as he had a bad case of the mumps when he was 38. Tell me, do I have anything to worry about?

DEAR GLADYS: Don't count on it. Ask your fiancé to see a doctor. He will be able to answer your question after a simple laboratory test.

Thief May Be In Music Business

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Police are looking for a thief who may be in the music business by now.

They reported that someone broke into the car of Charles Donnell, a musician, and stole a bass drum, snare drum and a set of tomtoms.

Oh, yes. The thief also took a public address system and all of Donnell's sheet music.

Snake Bite Kits Peddled In Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — If you're worried about snake bites, see Tucson City Purchasing Agent William Bray. He is peddling surplus snake bite kits.

The city has had the kits in stock for the last 10 years with little demand. Bray has seven left and he'll sell to the highest bidder. The kits originally were bought to aid city workers bitten by snakes while sweeping the streets.

Import Study Panel To Meet In Midland

AUSTIN (AP) — The Governor's Oil Imports Study Commission announced another meeting will be held in Midland Nov. 14 to study recent developments in the oil imports control program.

French Robertson of Abilene, chairman, said it also will hear evidence on the effect of oil shipped into Texas from western states, its possible connection with oil imports and the effect on Texas production.

Contented Ones

DANVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Montelle L. Davis insisted this advertisement in the classified section of the Danville Republican on his 20th wedding anniversary.

"I will be responsible for all the obligations of my wife, Vivian Davis. During 20 years of marriage she has given me great happiness, comfort, counsel and two fine children. As we begin our 21st year, I am proud to assume any and all her wishes."

Strong Squeeze

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Even a water glass can be dangerous.

James L. Skidmore, 15, of Beatrice, Neb., was playing cards at the home of a friend in Lincoln.

Holding a water glass in his hand, he gave it a squeeze.

ing around trying to get a date for the boy who got stood up. When I got home and told my parents we didn't go to a show they got mad and said, "No more dates!" Do you think this was fair to me?

JUDY
DEAR JUDY: No! Your parents should give you another chance because when you left the house you didn't know you were going to spend the evening any way other than you had planned. However, next time, tell your date that you had permission only to go to a show and a last minute change of plans is out!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married about six months. She handed me a bunch of bills for clothes she bought before we were married. Do you think I ought to pay them? She's a doll and I love her but I hate being . . . "A SUCKER."

DEAR SUCKER: That's like expecting the fish to pay for the bait he was caught with. If you love her—go ahead and pay them.

DEAR ABBY: Get this. My husband laughed when I said I was going to write to you. In our three and a half years of a happy marriage we were blessed with three lovely babies. But three in 27 months! I am not asking for a medal or sympathy but, believe me, it's been awfully hard on me. My husband complains because the place is messy and there are diapers drying all over, (we live in a trailer) and he gives me the dickens because I don't cook his favorite dishes. How can I do anything but take care of the babies? I have nobody to help me. The worst part of it is I think I'm pregnant again.

WORN OUT
DEAR WORN: If it is not contrary to your religious principles, you should look up the Planned Parenthood organization in your directory. You do yourself, your husband and the little ones no favors by multiplying at this rate under these conditions.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MISERABLE: Talk to the Hillel Director on your campus. He has the answer for you—but you must listen with an open mind.

Papal Heraldry Notes The Past

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The coat of arms of the new Pope, John XXIII, carries reminders of his two most recent posts.

On the silver and red shield are the Lion of St. Mark, a symbol of Venice, and the Fleur de Lis, once a symbol of French kings.

Pope John was papal nuncio to Paris from 1944 to 1953 and patriarch of Venice afterward.

Detergents Blamed For Rise Of Rash

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Skin irritations on women's hands have increased tremendously since detergents have been manufactured as substitutes for common soap, a Mayo Foundation dermatologist says.

The specialist, Dr. Louis A. Brunsting Sr., told the Oklahoma City Clinical Society that detergents may destroy layers of skin leaving no defense against skin trouble.

Back Tracked

HONOLULU (AP) — An island woman motorist approaching a railroad crossing saw a train on the tracks but decided to proceed because the locomotive was at the far end of the train.

She thought the train was leaving the crossing. Mrs. Solina Agudong explained to a police officer. But it wasn't.

The locomotive was pushing the cars—which, in turn, pushed in the side of her automobile.

Texas Law Lax On Control Of Midwives

TYLER, Oct. 30 (AP) — A Smith County father acted as midwife for his own child recently. A few hours later, the new mother was hanging clothes in her back yard.

That set up a storm in the neighborhood. Women protested to Dr. D. T. Bundy, county health physician.

The father, a terse and independent soul, passed the word that his helping at the birth was strictly private business and he didn't expect anyone to interfere. They didn't.

For he had not administered drugs. And that's about the only Texas law control midwives.

In Smith County last year, professional midwives delivered 350 Negro children and two white children. In Tyler alone, 103 births last year were with the assistance of midwives.

They can use only one drug legally. That is snuff, the dipping and snuffing kind.

Snuff serves to induce sneezing seizures, which supposedly produce strong birth pains and the required muscular contractions.

They may use silver nitrate on the new-born infants.

But in Smith County, a great deal of cooperation takes place between midwives, physicians and various health organizations, resulting in practical control.

Currently about 20 Negro women practice as midwives in Smith County, charging a rate of about $25 to $35.

This is considerably under the fees charged by licensed physicians. But the patients discover the lower price means a lack of some of the more modern care in childbirth. But health authorities do what they can.

With the cooperation of all concerned, midwives take medical examinations each six months.

Also, the patient of a midwife takes a physical examination by a licensed doctor as the time for birth approaches. This is aimed at making sure a normal birth is likely.

Midwives also attend classes regularly held by health units here.

THE DAY THE NEWSPAPERS DID'NT COME OUT

Newsboys had no papers to deliver or sell. The city's newsstands were bare. No papers to be bought anywhere. Strikes had halted production of the town's newspapers and overnight this important part of the lives of thousands ceased to exist.

Other media tried to fill the gap, but without much success. Radio cannot illustrate the day's news. TV is impractical on the bus or train to and from work. Neither furnish a memorable printed record for study or comparison. Magazines miss the spontaneity of a fast-breaking story.

The city's business suffered. Merchants missed the throngs who responded to their newspaper ads. National advertisers discovered that their brands remained on dealers' shelves longer.

The right to know the truth is fundamental to the exercise of all your American rights. By keeping forever open your channels of accurate information, your newspaper guards your freedoms.

This actually happened recently in several of the nation's cities. Newspaper shutdowns left voids in the routine of thousands—voids which clearly demonstrate the vital importance of the newspaper.

Your newspaper reports and interprets current issues. It keeps you aware of matters that affect your job, health and safety, children's education and future. It helps make your community a better place in which to live, work and play. It relaxes and entertains you in a score of ways. And, most important, your newspaper guards your freedoms.
