Crossroads weather

Forecast for the Big Spring area: Partly cloudy with isolated late afternoon and early evening thunderstorms most areas through Tuesday. Lows Monday night mid 60s to upper 60s; highs Tuesday near 90. Sunday's high was 92 and the low was 44.

Line breaks: Water's out, car's in

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

Only a handful of homes and businesses remain without water today after an early Sunday water main break left residents in the Kentwood addition without water most of the day, Big Spring Public Works Director Tom Decell said.

Water pressure was restored to residents in the Kentwood addition before midnight, he said.

A faulty repair job on an 18-inch concrete cylinder pipe — that was completed "years and years ago" — resulted in the blow out of a 9 by 18-inch main water line in the 2100 block of Birdwell Lane about 4 a.m. Sunday, Decell said.

"I got a call about 4 a.m. from the manager of the water treatment plant advising me we had lost a tremendous amount of water in the last 15 minutes. That could only mean we had a main water line break," he said.

Rodney Dean Harris, 23, 2805 Coronado Ave., discovered first hand there was a problem, however.

About 4:45 a.m., the 1985 Nissan Maxima he was driving sank into a water-filled hole as he approached the 1700 block of Phillips Road, according to police reports.

Harris suffered minor injuries, although a passenger, Cynthia Olivas, 17, 1103 Lamar Ave., was not injured, reports stated.

Decell said five homes along North Phillips Road and several businesses located on FM 700 were still without water late Monday morning.

One of the problems facing city crews is that there is still water at the site of the water line break and the area must be completely dry before repairs can be effectively completed, Decell said.

"That's not to say we are not doing anything. We are aggressively pursuing repair of the problem," he said.

The Big Spring City Council has previously approved funding to purchase the equipment needed to repair the water line problem, Decell said.

"The problem has previously been identified and we have purchased the equipment to complete the repairs — it just hasn't arrived yet. I sure could have used it Sunday morning, though," he said.

One section of Birdwell Lane was closed to traffic because of the break, but was reopened Sunday night, Decell said.

He said he anticipates one lane of traffic on Birdwell Lane being closed again soon to complete repairs.

"It's just too dangerous for the men to work on this kind of project without closing part of the road," Decell said.

Because there are two entrances into the Kentwood addition, Decell said he doesn't anticipate the closing to be an unreasonable inconvenience for drivers.

Decell said he could not say specifically when the repair project will be completed.

Merging of libraries under consideration

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Is combining the Howard County Library with the Howard College Library an idea whose time has come? County commissioners voted July 25 to form a committee to consider the idea.

Both county librarian Judith Gray and college learning resources center/library director Judith Fleming will serve on the committee.

Fleming said Friday that the college library, which is built around the needs of the classroom, could not accommodate the addition of the county library's collection without building renovation.

She said it is too early to predict what changes — in staffing, salaries, services to the public, and materials available through the resulting library — would result if the two facilities are combined.

County librarian Judith Gray has said she feels the children's area of the library would be most affected by the combination of the two. Howard College librarian Judith Fleming said how to integrate a children's area is another concern that should be studied, but like many other questions, it could be solved through a proper building design for the combined facility.

County librarian Judith Gray has said she feels the children's area of the library would be most affected by the combination of the two. Fleming said how to integrate a children's area is another concern that should be studied, but like many other questions, it could be solved through a proper building design for the combined facility.

Parking and handicapped patron access are two more such questions, she said, as is a quiet place for college students to study.

Whether combining the libraries would involve a complete merger of both collections — that is, the books, periodicals, microfilm and microfiche, films, filmstrips, video- and audiocassettes and viewing equipment available to patrons of both libraries as they are now — is another matter the study panel should consider, Fleming said.

But both librarians spoke of the differences in the two libraries as being related to the needs of their customers. A college library is "designed around the needs of the classroom," Fleming said, "what the teacher needs (to teach a subject) and what the student needs to learn it."

One student, George Hubbard, said he thought the libraries should not be combined.

"I don't see why it wouldn't work, although they'd have to do something about the parking out there," Hubbard said of the college facility. He said children could use the facility during midday, when most students would not be distracted by their presence.

"But I wish they'd leave it the way it is," he said.

A contrasting opinion was expressed by Howard County resident David Harman, who said Friday, "I think they should do it if it will save the county money."

He said his children now use the county library extensively, and that locating a combined library on the college campus would make using the facility more convenient for them.

He also suggested turning the building now used as a county library into a courthouse annex.

Saturday, Howard County Commissioner William B. Crocker Jr. said the terms of the county's lease

Probation for more than 940

More than 900 probationers are under supervision of the 118th District adult probation office.

Three levels of supervision — minimal, medium and maximum — are used in regular probation, noted 118th District Chief Adult Probation Officer Frank T. Martinez. His office is responsible for 944 persons on probation from Howard County. Some 456 are seen through the Big Spring office and its satellite in Martin County.

The others are monitored through other county offices, he said.

Martinez said that offenders placed on probation for misdemeanors must also pay a supervision fee to probation officers. Judge James Gregg of 118th District Court said felony probationers also must pay supervision fees.

County Court Judge Milton Kirby said misdemeanor offenders must pay supervision fees and their fines; both judges said restitution payments are also required from some offenders.

"But we do a lot more than sit here and collect fees," Martinez said. In addition to the regular reports probationers must make, officers must visit them at home or on the job. Unemployed probationers must report more often, usually, than

Sheriff: Aguilar's arrest joint effort

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard is crediting the combined efforts of various law enforcement organizations with the capture of 21-year-old capital murder defendant Antonio Aguilar — arrested Saturday at a mobile home about three miles northeast of Big Spring.

"We had surveillance on the logical places we felt he might try to make contact," he said.

The mobile home where Aguilar was arrested had been under surveillance since he fled from a work detail July 21, Standard said.

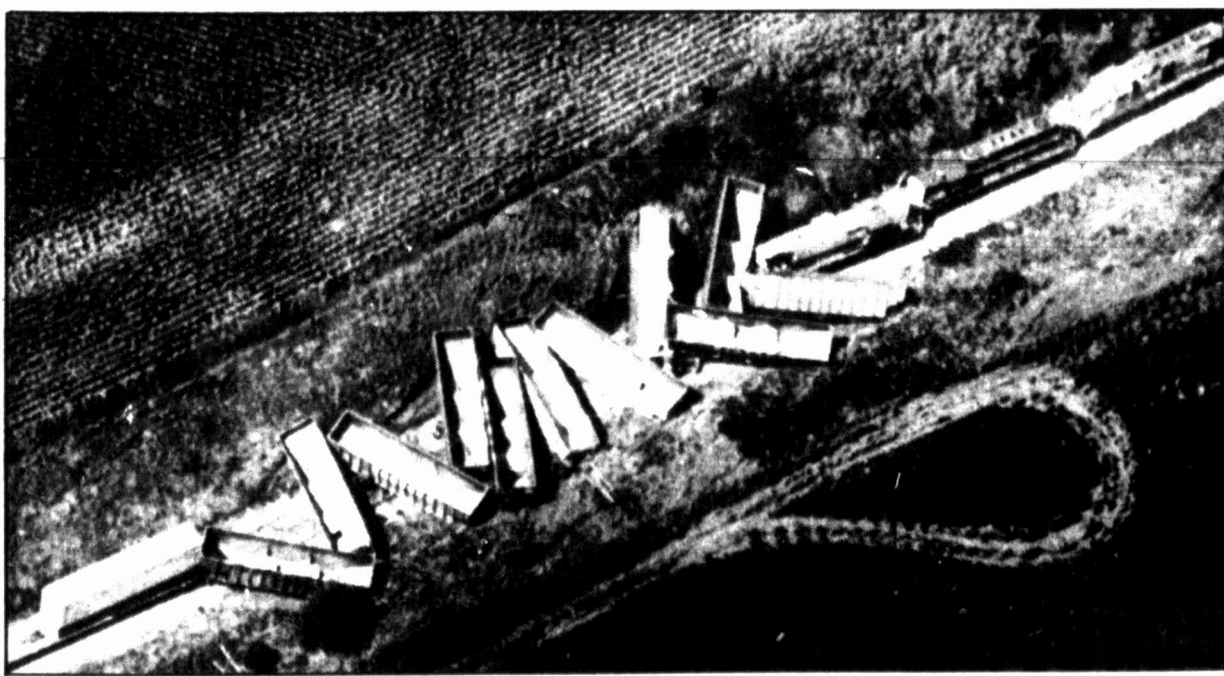

"There were two locations in state and three out of state that were under surveillance. In addition, authorities were notified throughout the U.S. and we asked the assistance of AP (Associated Press) in notifying the public," he said.

Sheriff's officers are busy completing reports to be turned over to the Howard County district attorney's office for filing of additional charges against Aguilar and a man with him who has not yet been positively identified, Standard said.

The man refused to allow sheriff's deputies to search the mobile home where the murder defendant was arrested until they obtained a search warrant, Standard said.

Speaker Wright's district collects most federal funds

FORT WORTH (AP) — More federal money per capita went to the district of House Speaker Jim Wright in 1986 than to any other urban area in the United States, The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story.

The newspaper reported Sunday that it tracked federal spending for the 1986 and 1987 fiscal years through 50 states and 3,041 counties.

Tarrant County, which includes Wright's hometown of Fort Worth, achieved its top ranking primarily through multibillion-dollar defense contracts, the survey showed.

The federal government spent more than $5.5 billion, or $5,481 per person, in Tarrant County in 1986. The next year, amid a steep decline in defense spending, the county dropped to the No. 4 spot with $4.4 billion, or $4,030 per person, the News reported.

No other county in Texas came close to Tarrant County's total of $9.9 billion, or $9,511 per capita rate, during the 1986 fiscal year.

Bexar County, home to six military installations, was second with $5,160.

The average U.S. county studied received a two-year total of $3,577 per person for 1986 and 1987, the News said.

Wright has represented Tarrant County residents for more than three decades, and the county's high ranking in part is considered a reflection of Wright's increasing influence in how tax dollars are spent.

Wright, who two weeks ago presided over the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta, faces an investigation by the House ethics committee into allegations that he improperly interceded on behalf of troubled savings and loan executives in Texas and that he wrongly profited from royalties on a book.

Wright's supporters said the ranking demonstrates his ability to "get things done" in Washington for his Fort Worth constituents.

"What's the point in having the speaker of the House come from Texas if he doesn't do the people any good?" asked Boston University President John R. Silber, a longtime Wright friend.

Political foes said the ranking reinforces Wright's image as a provincial, pork-barrel politician.

"Jim Wright generates more pork than is hanging in a Kansas slaughterhouse," said Don McNeil, the Alvarado, Texas, Republican who tried to unseat Wright in 1986. "It's the pork barrel capital of America."

"Pork barrel is an abused and grotesquely overused word," Wright said. "I think it's a sloppy word used indiscriminately to belittle projects that one doesn't understand and from which one doesn't benefit."

Tarrant County projects funded by the federal treasury could have sold themselves, Wright says.

Military spending comprises the greatest slice of Tarrant County's federal pie, with 83 percent of the $9.9 billion in funds received coming from defense contracts.

Doctors say Jordan's condition improving

AUSTIN (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan should remain hospitalized for about a week, but she is recovering from a near drowning in her backyard pool, doctors say.

"Right now, I think things look very good that she'll get totally back to normal," said Dr. James Little, a neurologist. "She's very close to normal right now. I think she will continue to improve. As best as I can tell right now, she probably will regain full mental functions."

Ms. Jordan's condition was upgraded Sunday afternoon from critical to serious but stable, and she continued to improve Sunday night.

Ms. Jordan, 52, was giving the thumbs-up sign Sunday to her intensive care unit nurse and able to talk to doctors and nurses.

Ms. Jordan, who gained national attention during the 1974 Watergate impeachment hearings, was flown by emergency helicopter to Brackenridge Hospital on Saturday after being found floating face-down in her pool.

Dr. William J. Deaton, a pulmonary specialist, said she came "within four to five minutes, 10 minutes at most" of suffering severe brain damage and possibly death.

Ms. Jordan's housemate, Nancy Earl, called paramedics, who restored her pulse and breathing.

"She does not know what happened and was clearly concerned about it and had indicated that she didn't think she would go swimming alone again," Deaton said.

Ms. Jordan was breathing Saturday night only with the help of a mechanical ventilator, but Sunday the device was gone and she was responding to questions and talking, doctors said.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, telephoned a message for Ms. Jordan, hospital spokeswoman Carolyn Hinckley Boyle said. Ms. Jordan made a seconding speech for Bentsen's nomination at the recent Democratic national convention.

Deaton said he expected Ms. Jordan to remain in intensive care for 48 hours and to be hospitalized for about a week.

The doctors said Ms. Jordan, who has been confined to a wheelchair for several years, suffers from multiple sclerosis. She swims as therapy.

State to weigh harsher sentences

HOUSTON (AP) — The 1989 Texas Legislature will weigh whether the state should toss some drug dealers into prison for the rest of their lives as a deterrent to narcotics trafficking.

This proposed penalty, which would follow a trend that has developed in other states during the past 10 years, is part of a package lawmakers are expected to consider when they revamp the state's criminal justice system.

Charles Terrell of Dallas, chairman of the Governor's Criminal Justice Task Force favors mandatory life as a deterrent and predicted this type of sentence also will be enacted for three-time sex offenders.

Air Force instructor convicted

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An Air Force training instructor said he twice went to commanding officers at Lackland Air Force Base and told them he could no longer take the stress of his job, but they refused to reassign him.

Staff Sgt. David O'Neal was sentenced to four months in jail after being convicted in a two-day court martial last week of mistreating recruits.

But O'Neal said two different commanders warned him that his career in the Air Force would be over if he left his job as a military training instructor.

Several months after his attempts to leave, he was charged with bloodying a recruit's nose, making trainees eat paper and other unauthorized behavior.

Lawmen fight murder trial

TYLER (AP) — An appeals court is set to hear arguments this week on claims of three white Sabine County lawmen that it would violate their constitutional right against double jeopardy to try them on murder charges for the jail death last Christmas of a black Louisiana truck driver.

Former Hemphill Police Chief Thomas Ladner, 41, and Sabine

County deputies James "Bo" Hyden, 43, and Billy Ray Horton, 58, were acquitted July 15 in Hemphill of violating the civil rights of the inmate, Loyal Garner Jr., 34, of Florien, La.

Trying them for Garner's murder would be trying them twice for the same offense, they said.

Garner and two companions were arrested Christmas night.

Six jailed in Juarez shootings

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Authorities have arrested two more men in connection with the shooting deaths of a Juarez journalist, her mother-in-law and friend, bringing the total number of arrests to six.

Juarez Chief of Police Fernando Mota Allen said two men were arrested Friday in Reynosa, Mexico, across the border from McAllen.

XHII-TV anchorwoman Linda Bejarano, 28, her mother-in-law, Lucrecia Martinez de Gomez, and a family friend Carlos Alfonso Garcia were gunned down July 23 after men identifying themselves as federal police stopped their car east of downtown Juarez, across the border from El Paso.

Charged with murder are federal agent Joaquin Garcia Mendez and three men allegedly working for him as free-lance policemen, or madrin. Other charges include abuse of power, using machine guns permitted only in the army and acting without authority.

Charges remain pending against the additional two men arrested Friday. They have been identified as Felipe Garcia Martinez, 26, and Raul Salinas Garcia, 25. Mota said both men were carrying cards identifying them as Juarez city police, but said they weren't on his payroll.

The men's cards bore the signature of Juarez mayor Jaime Bermudez. Handwriting experts will be asked to determine the authenticity of the signature.

There is no death penalty in Mexico. Each man could be sentenced to 40 years in prison if convicted, authorities said.

Police said they shot into the car at least 47 times because they had mistaken the Chrysler New Yorker for another car allegedly carrying drug dealers.

Ms. Bejarano's husband, Manuel Gomez Martinez, who survived the car shooting, has disputed the police version. He said police dragged Garcia screaming out of the car and shot him in the head execution-style.

Gomez, who is also an anchorman at the TV station, said at least 10 men were involved in the attack.

Sanitation cops sift beach debris for clues

NEW YORK — Lt. Tony Rossano, one of 13 city sanitation cops, sifts through syringes, blood vials and other disgusting debris, hunting for the culprit who's dumping the infectious medical waste which is tainting beaches in five states.

"It's like the detective work on a murder case," Rossano said. "We're doing interviews, surveillance, followup, just good old-fashioned police work. We trace every marked item we can."

These gumshoes of garbage look for names, dates and places so they can zero in on the offending source. But most of the seaborne slop, carried by the whims of tides, currents and winds, either has no markings or waterlogged labels are unreadable.

More than 1,000 items of medical waste, most of it syringes used to inject insulin or illegal drugs, have been bagged in an evidence trailer. Under particular scrutiny are people who were caught dumping before.

"It looks like repeated dumping by a smaller user," said Marlene Gold, who heads the Sanitation Department's enforcement team of five lawyers, 13 environmental sleuths and 10 extra officers. State and federal authorities are also part of the investigation.

This summer's floating filth first came ashore July 6 on a Long Island beach. Also contaminated are beaches in New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The refuse is mostly unmarked needles and vials, several of which tested positive for AIDS antibodies and hepatitis B virus. Other items included stained bandages, catheter bags, colostomy bags, respirator parts, prescription bottles, plastic tubing for intravenous drugs, rubber gloves and nine dead rats.

Infectious medical wastes, treated like industrial trash, are supposed to be placed in red bags to alert handlers of the contents. No red bags have washed ashore.

State investigators believe the rubbish may have come from several sources: illegal dumpers, runoff from city storm sewers, wind-swept garbage barges or sloppy handling of trash at city landfills.

Other officials say beach debris may be inevitable.

"From this whole episode, we now understand that needles on the beach are part of the ecology of New York," said Dr. Stephen Joseph, the New York City Health Commissioner.

In New Jersey, James Lyko heads a team of 13 lawyers and 25 investigators who drive along back roads trailing garbage trucks, videotaping work at garbage transfer stations and combing through litter.

"We are going to nail people for deliberate dumping," said Lyko, head of the state's task force on environmental protection.

Ocean experts say the trash may have washed out to sea from any number of inlets, then sloshed back to a different shore.

"The tides along the Eastern Seaboard carry things in and out. Once it goes out, it mixes. You don't know which inlet it came from," said Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Lawrence Brooks.

In Rhode Island, authorities say they have no doubt where unwelcome litter originated. They had 75 pieces of trash, including a prescription bottle from a woman in Brooklyn and a sign they believe belongs to New York City's Emergency Medical Services.

A University of Rhode Island computer model of winds, currents and tides during the last 30 days indicated the garbage came from New York, according to Ronald DiOrio, an aide to Gov. Edward DiPrete.

"It is all leading us back to the same general area — New York City," said DiOrio, head of the state's Task Force on Medical Wastes.

Police beat

Big Spring police reported investigating the following incidents:

• Alonzo Hilario, 25, 702 E. 17th St., was arrested on a warrant charging him with assault.

• Elroy Garcia, 30, Knott, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and failure to maintain single lane.

• A man who resides in the 2500 block of Gregg Street reported an unknown man damaged ceiling tile and sheetrock by striking it with his head.

• A man who resides in the 200 block of Northwest 2nd Street reported an unknown person took his pit bulldog valued at $500.

Sheriff's log

The Howard County sheriff's department reported investigating the following incidents:

• Ernest Ramon Gomez, 26, 1505 W. 1st St., was arrested on a charge of resisting arrest.

• Verba Graves, Gail Rt. Box 48, reported someone she knew assaulted her.

Drug dog contract renewed

FORSAN — Forsan Independent School District trustees heard reports on administrative policies for cafeteria operations, made two amendments to local policy and heard a report on first-grade students' TEAMS test results during a July 25 meeting.

The board also renewed its contract with Narcotics Consultants to provide a drug dog for the coming school year and determined to set a budget hearing for Aug. 15.

He said the TEAMS test results indicated a 98 percent mastery of reading, writing and math required for the district's 41 students. "That's as good as any school district in Texas," he said. "I haven't seen any 100 percent mastery results yet."

Deaths

Gilbert Yarbrough

Gilbert Yarbrough, 87, Big Spring, died Sunday, July 31, 1988 in a local hospital.

Graveside services will be 10 a.m. Tuesday in Trinity Memorial Park with Rev. Tim Thornton, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

He was born April 14, 1901 in Roanoke. He married Stella Kinchloe on Sept. 25, 1921 in Vernon. He was a Baptist and moved to Big Spring in September of 1986 from Mission Viejo, Calif. He had lived here for many years and had farmed most of his life before retiring in 1963.

He is survived by his wife, Stella Yarbrough, Big Spring; one daughter, Mrs. Akin (Evelyn) Simpson, Big Spring; one son, James G. Yarbrough, Honolulu, Hawaii; two sisters: Mrs. Jack Lewis and Marie Croom, Las Cruces, N.M.; eight grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Bob Simpson, Delbert Simpson, Nolan Simpson, David Simpson, Monroe Gafford, and Elmo Jones.

Charles Dickerson

Charles Wesley Dickerson, 85, Big Spring, died Friday, July 29, 1988 at a local hospital.

Services will be Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the First Methodist Church with Rev. Keith Wiseman officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

He was born Oct. 20, 1902 in Lamont, Ok. In 1926 he married Edith P. (Polly) Huston in Wichita, Kan., where he was a clerk with the Orient railroad. Later that year he moved to San Angelo as chief clerk for the Orient.

He came to Big Spring in 1929 to work for the Texas and Pacific, at first as secretary to the superintendent, then as chief clerk. He became a yardmaster in 1939, and was promoted to general yardmaster during World War II. He had a total of 44 years of railroad service when he retired in 1969. He was a member of the board of directors of the railway's credit union.

He was a longtime member of the First Methodist Church where he was active in the men's Bible study class.

Survivors are his wife; one son, Robert H. Dickerson, Houston; one daughter, Jan Dickerson, Williamsburg, Va.; two brothers: William B. Dickerson, Jackson, Miss., and Floyd Dickerson, Wichita; and three grandsons.

Lavenia Boyd

Lavenia Faye Boyd, 60, Vanderpool and formerly of Big Spring, died Saturday, July 30, 1988 at the Concho County Hospital in Eden.

Graveside services were Monday at 2 p.m. at the Vanderpool Cemetery with Rev. Bob Taylor officiating. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Rushing-Estes-Knowles Funeral Home.

employed persons, he said.

Furthermore, Martinez said, a person who is on probation and is arrested for another offense does not automatically have a motion filed to revoke probation.

"We do this individually," he said. "Sometimes you have an offense report, and it's a case of someone being in the wrong place at the wrong time."

"You don't want to fill the court system up with cases like that. You want to do this according to the individual and the circumstances. If it's something that you feel like won't be repeated, then you might not file a motion to revoke."

Once such a recommendation is made, the county attorney's office decides whether to file a motion to revoke probation. If so, a warrant is issued for the offender's arrest.

Felony probation revocation warrants are not usually bondable, Martinez said, although misdemeanor revocation warrants often are.

Once the motion is filed and the offender arrested, Martinez said, the next step is for the appropriate court to set a hearing date on the revocation.

When that date is set, he said, an offender is out of the hands of his office.

County Judge Milton Kirby agreed: "Once you have the (revocation hearing) papers filed and that person has been arrested, then it's a matter of waiting for a court date."

He said most misdemeanor revocation offenders have a bond set and are released from jail for a very simple reason. "We don't have enough room upstairs for all of them."

"If we had a 200-man jail," he said, "I wouldn't let any of them (misdemeanor revocations) out on bail."

"If you go to a county where they have enough jail space, you may find that they have a policy of not releasing (misdemeanor revocation defendants) on bail. But we simply do not have the jail space to do that here."

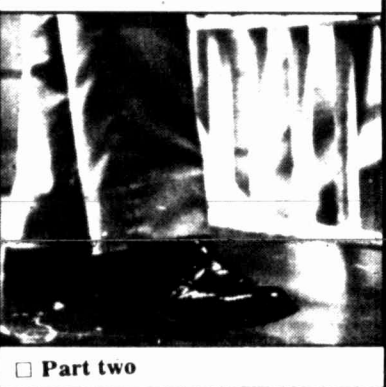

Because Kirby's county court, created by the state constitution, deals with misdemeanor offenders in Class A and Class B and also handles appeals from Justice of the Peace Courts presided over by William Shankles, Willie Grant and China Long, as well as appeals from the city magistrate's court, the county court calendar is frequently crowded.

Court Coordinator Mike Barton, whose work includes scheduling dates for revocation hearings, said he tries to have the hearing set within a month to six weeks after the offender's arrest.

"In most of my cases are all related," Judge Kirby said.

In the case of a first offender charged with driving while intoxicated, he said, probation is the most likely sentence. If a probationer is arrested for

Probation, Parole, or Prison

Part two public intoxication, that arrest results in an offense report being submitted to Martinez.

"By the time the probation of- fice files for a motion to revoke probation, (offenders) don't have just one arrest. They usually have three," Kirby said.

After the papers are filed, the case is placed on the calendar; on that date, Kirby hears witnesses and evidence from both sides concerning whether or not to revoke probation.

In county court, revocation means the offender is sent to county jail for up to two years; in district court, the offender will be sentenced to the Texas Department of Corrections state prison system.

dard said.

"We don't know if he is a main actor or a minor player. He hasn't given us any problems physically, but he hasn't cooperated with my request to talk with him (about his involvement)," he said.

Robert Puente, chief deputy of the sheriff's department, said the man has refused to even divulge his name.

Aguilar was initially segregated from other inmates in the Howard County jail, but is now being held in the main cellblock, Standard said.

When he was arrested, Aguilar had two shirts, a pair of pants and a comb in his possession, according to sheriff's department reports.

Prior to his escape, Aguilar had been held since October in the Howard County jail in lieu of bonds totaling $250,000 on two counts of capital murder.

He is charged in connection with the deaths of two Mexican nationals — Miguel Villareal Calixto and Norberto Gurrula Hernandez — whose bodies were found in the debris of a burned farmhouse near Luther on Oct. 11.

Standard said he is also charged with parole violations and will be returned to Huntsville "whether or not he is found guilty of the (murder) charges."

Aguilar was paroled after serving a portion of a prison sentence for a burglary of habitation conviction.

Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby said he anticipates receiving sheriff's department reports on Aguilar's capture later today and will soon file formal charges.

He denied a published report in a west Texas paper last week that he and the attorney representing Aguilar were close to working out an agreement to reduce the murder charges prior to his escape.

"That's totally false. I've made a point of not even discussing the case with his attorney," Hamby said today.

Standard said he didn't know if the capture of Aguilar would affect the status of Carl Thurman.

Thurman — a seven-year veteran of the sheriff's department — was suspended without pay for 30 days and demoted in rank last week following a review by Puente and Sgt. Barney Edens of the circumstances involving Aguilar's escape.

Thurman has the right to appeal the decision to a Howard County grievance committee, but has not yet done so, Standard said.

At the end of the suspension, a review will be conducted to determine whether he will be reinstated into the department with probationary status, Standard said.

Because of the escape, changes in the department's guidelines regarding trusty inmates have been made, Standard said last week.

for the building — a former U.S. Federal Building and Post Office — require it to be used for educational purposes, making conversion into a courthouse annex impossible.

Moving the college library from a campus location is also impossible, since a library is one of nine Southern Association of Colleges and Schools' standards for accrediting a college, Fleming said.

Fleming said the college library is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday during the regular college semesters, and from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday during the summer. The facility closes at 5 p.m. Friday during the regular semesters and is closed whenever the college closes, Fleming said.

The college library also is open on Sunday afternoons.

The county library is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. on Fridays. It opens from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

The county library houses a collection of approximately 58,000 books plus 4,063 other materials, such as genealogical books, videocassettes, films and filmstrips, audiocassettes and records, and compact discs. Equipment for using those materials is also available for checkout.

Statistics provided by the librarians indicated a circulation for the year to date of 11,667 pieces at the college library, 87,475 at the county facility.

Fleming noted that the college learning resource center, during her four-year tenure, has increased its nonbook materials — video and audio materials — and now has a collection of about 28,000 items including books.

The number of books that may be checked out and length of time they may be kept is more restricted, and audiovisual materials may not be checked out to the general public. Students may check out the materials for limited periods of time, such as a classroom presentation.

Otherwise, use of the audiovisual equipment, like that of the computers, must be made within the library, she said. Nonstudents are allowed to use audiovisual equipment and computers if they are not needed by students, she said.

There is no charge for a first library card at either facility. Both libraries offer interlibrary loan to patrons who need books not available in the facilities' collections; the county library also belongs to a library association that provides films and video materials, Gray said, on a circuit basis and through spot bookings, and Fleming said the college library can obtain materials from other college libraries.

Man killed in accident

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A one-vehicle accident on Farm-to-Market 700 resulted in the death of an Arkansas man Sunday night.

Michael A. Blackburn, 33, of Waldron, Arkansas, was pronounced dead on the scene by Justice of the Peace William Shankles.

Blackburn's 1988 Chevrolet was traveling northbound at a high rate of speed on FM 700 when it ran off the east side of the road and overturned about 500 feet north of Interstate 20, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

Blackburn, who was not wearing a safety belt, was ejected from the vehicle, reports said.

Views of other U.S. newspapers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from across the nation:

Richards' speech didn't say much

Ann Richards' keynote address to the Democratic convention was pungent ... but there seemed to be a curious vacuum at the heart of the speech.

The Democrats are having trouble defining exactly what it is they believe.

It's easy to see the Democrats' problem. Many parts of the country are still enjoying something close to full employment.

Helping the disadvantaged has gone out of style, and there's no money available anyway. Serious economic problems ... are abstractions to many voters.

And Democrats, burned in 1984 by Walter Mondale's honest but unpopular talk of raising taxes, aren't likely to get more specific about remedies.

In his dealings with Jesse Jackson, (Michael) Dukakis showed a streak of arrogance. (George) Bush, described as warm and sociable by his friends, could look good by contrast.

The Record, Hackensack, N.J.

Air routine may have saved plane

Had Iran Air Flight 655's routine communications with airport traffic controllers been monitored by the U.S. warship that shot it down, the tragedy might not have occurred.

While one must obviously be wary of accepting Iranian claims, the alleged transcript of talk between the airliner pilot and controllers ... is persuasive evidence that this was a regularly scheduled civilian flight.

Additional evidence compiled ... tends to justify the cruiser captain's last-minute decision. ...

It was a decision made in a combat situation, with various data suggesting that the plane might be an Iranian fighter on a descending course directly toward the Vincennes.

Why didn't Flight 655 respond to repeated warnings from the Vincennes? The answer to that one may never be known. ...

But this troubling thought remains: If only the Vincennes had carefully monitored civilian flights in the area it patrolled ... (the plane) very likely would not have been shot down.

The Westerly (R.I.) Sun

Urges Americans to save energy

Among the many government reports issued (recently) was one that should alarm most Americans.

That report, done by the Energy Department's semiautonomous Energy Information Administration, shows the United States may have topped out on energy efficiency and now may be sliding into its wasteful ways again.

Behind this growing binge is the relative low cost and abundance of fuel. ...

But energy costs can quickly turn around, as the oil embargoes of 1973 and 1979 showed. ...

Let's hope Americans can return to their energy-efficient ways without having to be jolted by high prices and lines at the gas pumps.

Grants Pass (Ore.) Daily Courier

Lotteries pose arena for addiction

Lotteries, adopted in 28 states and the District of Columbia, are the largest and most accessible form of gambling.

It is as simple as a trip to the grocery store and many Americans who would never venture to an off-track betting parlor will readily pick up lottery tickets.

But easy access also means easy addiction. Professionals who counsel gamblers are warning that chronic and compulsive gambling increases the longer gambling is allowed.

New Jersey was one of the first states to get on the lottery bandwagon 20 years ago. Under pressure from officials who must deal with the social consequences of gambling, lottery operators have labeled their 4,500 machines with the phone number of the State Council on Compulsive Gambling.

Lawmakers pass the buck again

By passing a bill that passes the buck for closing military bases, the House of Representatives earlier this month followed the Senate in admitting its incompetence in yet another field.

This comes three years after Congress ducked its responsibility on deficits by passing the Gramm-Rudman plan for automatic spending cuts and six years after lawmakers handed off Social Security's ills to a bipartisan commission.

Even though this was one more embarrassment, empowering an independent panel to handle base closing, it was the right move.

The Philadelphia Inquirer

U.S. gets chance to fund Olympics

To compete for an Olympic medal, you must train full-time for years.

How do you do that? With money. Last week, the U.S. Olympic Committee finally came to the obvious conclusion: If America wants to win gold medals, its athletes will have to be paid. ...

To help the young unknown athletes, the USOC hopes to raise $25 million this year from the sale of Olympic coins. ...

It would be hard to make a case for supporting them with tax dollars. ...

But if private citizens want to subsidize America's future Olympic athletes, they should be able to do so.

To many Americans, that would seem a small price for victory.

Supports U.S.-Soviet war on drugs

The United States and (the) Soviet Union are negotiating an agreement to cooperate in the battle against illegal drugs.

According to David L. Westrate, head of operations for the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, the agreement for a joint anti-drug effort by the two superpowers is expected to be signed this year.

The United States and (the) Soviet Union should lead the way in an international war on the world's drug lords.

Much of the world's wealth spent each year on military arms could be redirected toward the virtual eradication of illegal drugs from the face of the earth.

The U.S.-Soviet effort cannot start too soon.

Farmington (N.M.) Daily Times

SPEAKING OF GEOGRAPHIC ILLITERACY...

Review of the convention

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Michael Dukakis did nothing, in his acceptance speech, to damage his reputation. He is not an arbor (so what? Neither was Lincoln). He hewed a careful line designed not to alarm Americans of normal blood pressure (he said nothing about higher taxes or slashed defense expenditures). It is not unsafe to say that what he said was ... well, nothing.

The problems faced by Dukakis were presaged by Jesse Jackson, who proved he is the most effective orator alive in the United States. Jackson's problem, however, is that he doesn't really have a complaint that the Democratic Party can do anything about. What is a Dukakis administration supposed to do about illegitimacy or drug-taking in the ghettos? Or about school children who spend more time watching television than tackling geometry?

And we had a view of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, and what was the one complaint that stood out when he spoke? The "thousands" who are suffering in Texas and Louisiana and Oklahoma from low oil prices. He was careful not to say what inevitably follows from this complaint — namely, that we should all lament the breakdown of the OPEC cartel to drive the price of oil to $40 per barrel.

He did not invite his audience to rue the reduction of the price of a gallon of gasoline from $2.50 to $1. Are we really supposed to be angry with Ronald Reagan because Saudi Arabia and Iran were unsuccessful in maintaining the price of oil at the OPEC level?

It was all in sharp contrast with the events in San Francisco of four years ago — Reagan was strangely absent. In 1984, senior Democratic adviser Robert Strauss begged Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro please, please not to speak of Ronald Reagan as though he were Juan Peron who had staged a constitutional coup d'etat.

On the right

The Duke was careful this time around. Unlike Ferraro, who proclaimed the day after being selected as the vice presidential candidate, that Reagan was not a satisfactory Christian, Dukakis said practically nothing about Reagan or indeed about his policies.

It is clearly a corporate Democratic decision this time around not to inveigh against Reagan. The idea needs to be that somehow, under their administration, things would be better all around. The Democrats have nothing else to retail to the voter than this. In search of a concrete case against the Reagan administration, they are driven to the rhetorical extreme of a petulant nothingness.

Dukakis, touching on foreign policy, was never more clearly the example of a driver leading the racing pack preparing for the Indianapolis 500 who hadn't got around to getting a driving license. His entire analysis of the problem of a fresh Soviet salient in Latin America was to say that the Sandinistas are less of a threat than drugs.

Concentration on the meaning of what he said was difficult, given that the delegates cheered him at the end of every sentence. If he had said that the sun would rise tomorrow, they would have given him a standing ovation.

But political acceptance speeches, when they reach as successfully as Dukakis' did for utter rapidity, do not highlight analysis. They are merely rhetorical basso sostenutos for applause. For that factionalism that the Federalist Papers warned us against.

The reason for voting out Republican administrations is to vote in Democratic administrations. Dukakis gave us no other motive for taking that step.

He came in with a few furbelows. Three times he showed that he could speak in Spanish. The camera flashed to demonstrators with placards that read, "Speaking only in English is un-American." We must assume that in 1992, the Democratic contender will say a few words in Vietnamese. It is not predictable when, in the future, a Democratic contender will utter a few words in English of the kind Cicero would have applauded.

But the change Dukakis wants is a change from a modest advance, under Reagan, against the assignment of every problem of every human being into a Federal Department of Care. And care needs now to be absorbed and, dutifully, excreted the pabulum of Messrs. Jackson, Dukakis and Bentsen.

Prescription drugs will not be necessary to affect their spirit.

Protesting isn't what it used to be

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

ATLANTA — It is a bit distressing to see what has apparently become of the art of protest in this proud country, a country founded on the spirit of dissent.

One needs only to look at the recent Democratic National Convention to realize the truth of my words.

There was something called a "Designated Protest Site" across the street from the Omni on Marietta Street. You're not supposed to protest anywhere else.

There was even a schedule for protesters.

"O.K.," the protest director said, "Nationalists Movement's time is up. Somebody tell the Legislative Equality for Gays and Lesbians they're on."

Isn't protesting supposed to be more or less spontaneous? How can you rope the wind? How can you have a schedule for protesters? Do you think the Boston Tea Party had to obtain an official time?

Remember the 1960s. People made careers out of protesting back then, and nobody told them where or when they could march around with signs.

Do you know what would have happened in 1968 at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago if somebody had tried to build a designated protest site?

The protesters would have burned it down.

A former protester from that era was talking about the way it used to be:

"When I was in college," she said, "I had guys call and say, 'Hey, you want to go out for pizza or burn down the ROTC building?'"

I've looked over the protest schedule, and nothing sparked my interest.

There was a "die-in" Monday morning at 11 to promote the understanding of AIDS victims. We should feel great compassion for people afflicted with that disease, but a "die-in" isn't exactly how I want to start my week.

Tuesday, from 9 until 10:30 p.m., the Palestine Solidarity Committee was on stage. I missed that, too. I refuse to involve myself with the problems of the Middle East past 7:30. If I do, I have heartburn the next morning.

There was an interesting one Wednesday at 3 p.m. That's when we heard from the U.S. Congo Friendship Committee, a New York-based group that opposes the regime of Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire. Didn't he used to be a place kicker at Clemson?

Thursday, the best bet was Students for Jackson — they want bilingual education. I'm against that. Bilinguals should not be allowed to go to school with normal children.

A group seeking legalization of marijuana already had its demonstration. "We like pot, and we smoke it a lot," they chanted.

My own activist group, Spameaters of America, decided the protests at the convention were being so regulated, we didn't hold a rally.

Too bad.

Quotes

"Demonstrators like this ... do all they can to frustrate the system. If in so doing they are willing to spend more time in jail than they would have, if any, so be it." — Lee O'Brien, chief assistant solicitor of Fulton County, Ga., on 96 anti-abortion protesters arrested at the Democratic National Convention who refuse to give authorities their names. "If Leonardo was around today there is no doubt he would be using computers, and what we are doing is to show that there was no division in his mind between his science and his art." — Rosalie Cass, an organizer of a London exhibit that will use computer graphics to explore in three dimensions the work of Leonardo da Vinci. "Our society equates nudity with sexuality, but this is a totally non-sexual setting. People are just people here." — Mary Lou Schloss, 40, of Rochester, N.Y., a nudism activist who brought her husband and children to a nudism convention in Darlington, Pa.

Chemical leak sends 120 to hospital

SAUGET, Ill. (AP) — The second leak of a noxious chemical in 3½ months from a Monsanto Chemical Co. plant sent more than 120 people to hospitals, and at least nine were admitted although none had serious injuries, officials said.

Less than three gallons of phosphorous trichloride, a component of the herbicide Lasso, escaped into the air when a "rupture disk," designed to break when pressure built up in the tank, gave way Sunday morning, said Diane Bartolanzo, a Monsanto spokeswoman.

The leak was plugged within five minutes, and no evacuation was ordered, she said.

Man kidnaps, molests children

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — A man awaiting sentencing for kidnapping and raping a youngster has been charged with abducting and molesting two boys and trying to abduct a girl during a 24-hour spree through two states.

Richard E. Gardner, 24, of Weymouth, Mass., had been free on $3,000 bail while awaiting sentencing for the rape and kidnapping of a boy in Hingham, Mass., said Rhode Island Attorney General James O'Neil.

"I think this well demonstrates the need for bail reform," O'Neil said at a press conference Sunday.

Gardner's mother, Sylvia, said he had received psychiatric treatment as an outpatient and had gone to a counseling session Thursday.

"There was no indication that anything was wrong," she said.

Singleton's victim gets married

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — The woman whose forearms were chopped off after she was raped 10 years ago by Lawrence Singleton and left for dead has gotten married.

Mary Vincent, 25, and landscaper Matthew Brockman, 23, were wed Saturday in the presence of 75 guests, including her 2-year-old son, Luke, the Modesto Bee reported.

The location of the wedding wasn't disclosed. It has been reported previously that after speaking out publicly about the rape, Miss Vincent sought privacy in the Pacific Northwest.

Singleton, 60, was convicted of raping Miss Vincent and hacking off her arms with an ax after picking up the 15-year-old hitchhiker in September 1978. She was found abandoned and left for dead in a rural area.

Countdown resumes despite leak

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A space shuttle practice countdown continued today despite a fuel leak that raised the possibility of another postponement of a test firing of Discovery's engines.

The leak halted fueling of the shuttle's hydrogen tank after it had been loaded with 254,000 gallons, 66 percent of capacity.

The launch team proceeded to fill the liquid oxygen tank with a full load of 143,000 gallons, and conducted other elements of the countdown.

The fueling was the main goal of the first section of a two-part countdown leading to the critical test-firing of Discovery's three main engines. The firing had been scheduled for Thursday.

Democrats propose renewed aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are working on a proposal to give military aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels if the Sandinista government does not honor the peace pledges it has made, according to a key architect of the plan.

President Reagan has already called for renewed assistance in the wake of a crackdown on the opposition in Managua.

"There's an effort right now going on among Senate Democrats to come forward with our own proposal," Sen. David L. Boren, D-Okla., said Sunday on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press."

"As I said, one that would be balanced, that would hold out the stick, the possibility of a resumption of military aid if the Sandinistas continue to violate the peace pledges they've made."

Funeral procession

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Members of a leftist populist organization carry the coffin of Rigoberto Orellana, Saturday in San Salvador. His battered body was discovered at a downtown curbside Thursday after being run down by security forces, according to leftist leaders.

Nearly 2,000 people told to leave home

ALTOONA, Iowa (AP) — Nearly 2,000 people were kept out of their homes a second night as alcohol-fueled flames from a head-on train collision that killed two crewmen kept the sky aglow early today.

Firefighters waited for the volatile cargo to burn off before moving on the blaze and resuming their search for clues to the crash involving two freight trains.

About 100 to 200 people who live near this suburban Des Moines town had decided to end their voluntary evacuation by early today, said Polk County Sheriff's Sgt. Brian Holtz. Others waited at schools and churches or with friends and relatives.

"We are telling them of the dangers and leaving it up to them," said Police Chief Britt Adair.

Police and fire officials were preparing firefighting equipment and heavy construction gear needed to begin clearing the tracks sometime today of the 86 derailed cars. They said they hoped the fires burning in the two tankers carrying denatured alcohol would recede enough to allow them to safely attack the flames, begin removing debris and recover the victims' bodies.

Mayor Tim Burget said "controlled fires" feeding on the fuel that has been gradually escaping from the tankers were consuming the alcohol faster than expected.

"At this point, things are looking better all the time — it looks good at this time. We're getting confident nothing is going to happen," Burget said late Sunday.

Investigators were trying to determine how the two Iowa Interstate Railroad trains came to be on the same track. Railroad documents were being sought and interviews were scheduled with surviving crewmen, and other rail workers, said Edward Dobranetski, who heads the six-member National Transportation Safety Board investigating team.

Investigators were able to examine the controls of the wrecked eastbound train.

"We did not find anything out of order," said Dobranetski. "The emergency brake was being applied."

Explosion, fire kills at least one

LONDON (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped through the kitchen of a two-story army barracks in north London early today, killing one person and seriously injuring at least two, Scotland Yard said.

Radio reports said at least seven people were hurt in the 7 a.m. (2 a.m. EDT) blast and ensuing blaze at the barracks the military said housed members of the Women's Royal Army Corps. Anti-terrorist police officers rushed to the Inglis barracks in the wooded Mill Hill neighborhood and sealed off the area. Police said there was no immediate indication whether the explosion was caused by a bomb.

The Ministry of Defense said the barracks also is used as an army postal and courier depot.

China won't allow Pol Pot to leave

HONG KONG (AP) — Authorities in Beijing are refusing to allow former Cambodia ruler Pol Pot to leave China, where the leader of the murderous Khmer Rouge regime is hospitalized for unspecified treatment, a magazine reported.

The August edition of the Chinese-language Cheng Ming magazine, seen today, also said China will offer political asylum to Pol Pot.

While Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge ruled Cambodia from 1975-78, hundreds of thousands of people died in vast slave-labor camps and execution chambers as the government attempted to turn the country into a primitive agrarian society.

Vietnamese forces drove the Khmer Rouge into the mountain jungles of western Cambodia and installed the current Phnom Penh government in early 1979.

Mine sweepers may remain in Gulf

PERSIAN GULF (AP) — The USS Conquest, an old U.S. Navy mine sweeper and five others like it, may remain in the Persian Gulf until an estimated "couple of hundred" mines still lurking in the waters are found and destroyed, U.S. officers say.

While a cease-fire in the Iraqi war would probably keep new mines from being laid, those already deployed could pose a danger to shipping for years to come unless cleaned up.

The task falls to ships like the creaky, 800-ton Conquest, whose crew works these days in 130-degree deck temperatures, using a submersible robot to locate mines and trailing gear to cut the cables that moor them to the seabed.

King Hussein challenges PLO

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Relinquishing any Jordanian claim to the West Bank, King Hussein has challenged the PLO to try to make a Palestinian state of the territory his family ruled until it was seized by Israel 21 years ago.

The king's announcement in a nationally televised speech Sunday was the latest in a flurry of moves by the Jordanian leader that appeared to rule out the possibility of Jordan representing Palestinians in any peace talks.

On Saturday, Hussein dissolved the lower house of Parliament, half of whose members represented the West Bank. On Thursday, he canceled a $1.3 billion development project for Israel's occupied lands.

Group says Higgins won't be freed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Insisting Lt. Col. William Higgins used his United Nations post as a cover to spy for the United States, a pro-Iranian extremist group rejected a U.N. appeal for the American hostage's release.

Abbas Mousawi, a senior leader of the Shiite Moslem Hezbollah, or Party of God, said Sunday that the group considers the U.N. resolution "part of a plot against the Moslems and Mujahedeen (holy warriors) of this area."

"We consider the arrest of this agent by the sons of this nation as part of its defense of its dignity and existence," Mousawi said at a rally in the southeastern town of Mashgara.

Jackson agrees to meet with Koch

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Democratic presidential hopeful Jesse Jackson reportedly has agreed to meet with Mayor Edward I. Koch in an attempt to end their differences, which have threatened party unity.

Jackson said Sunday he had accepted Gov. Mario Cuomo's request to smooth over differences with Koch, who sharply criticized Jackson during April's New York state presidential primary campaign. The New York Times reported today.

"Governor Cuomo has expressed interest in the relationship being healed," Jackson told the Times. "I think that's good."

Koch said in a statement: "I agree that in the interest of party unity and the election of (Massachusetts Gov.) Michael Dukakis, it would be good to meet with Jesse Jackson."

Cuomo has invited the two to meet with him over coffee.

Cuomo said Sunday he talked with Jackson on Friday, and that he has told Jackson and Koch "how important I thought it was to put things together again."

MOSCOW — Yuri Tito, the head of the USSR's National Olympic Committee, became the first holder of a Soviet-issued Visa credit card Friday. VAO Intertourist, responsible for foreign travel in the Soviet Union, joined Visa International in January and is working to make the credit card available to any Soviet citizen.

OPEC official says oil prices will rise

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — OPEC Secretary-General Subroto said he expects the price of oil to rise in coming weeks because of the possibility of an end to the Persian Gulf war, according to a report published Friday.

Statements by Subroto, who heads the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, were published in the United Arab Emirates newspaper Al-Ittihad. Subroto was in the emirates for discussions on the oil market situation with U.A.E. leaders in advance of an OPEC pricing committee meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland on Aug. 3.

The state-run Al-Ittihad quoted Subroto as saying the world market "looks forward to positive results" from the pricing committee. It said he expressed his expectation of an increase in oil prices over the coming weeks.

In Subroto's view, the paper said, prices have been improving because of the prospects of a peaceful end to the nearly 8-year-old war between Iran and Iraq.

That settlement would lead to a positive impact on the oil market and oil prices, the paper further quoted Subroto as saying.

But it said he could not predict whether prices would increase beyond the OPEC benchmark of $18 a barrel.

The pricing committee, whose members are oil ministers of Saudi Arabia, Nigeria, Indonesia, Algeria and Venezuela, was meeting in wake of Iran's decision to accept a U.N. Security Council cease-fire resolution to end its war with Iraq.

Subroto has toured OPEC member states seeking assurances about compliance with the cartel's production quotas to help stabilize oil prices around the $18 benchmark.

Because of the war, Iraq has refused to accept its OPEC-decreed quota and produces almost double what it is assigned. Meanwhile, Iran is widely accused of discounting prices to market its crude oil under the wartime conditions.

That could change if the war came to an end, fueling hopes that prices could rise.

Other OPEC member states have also violated the cartel's production and pricing rules.

In June, the U.A.E. said it would ignore its OPEC oil production quota of 948,000 barrels and produce about 1.5 million.

Big League 'Stars fall to Austin

COLLEGE STATION — One bad inning was all it took for the Big Spring Big League All-Stars to drop an 8-2 decision to the Austin All-Stars at the State Tournament at Olson Field Sunday night.

Austin scored seven runs in the third inning, and it was more than enough to hand Big Spring a defeat in the tourney opener for both teams. Tournament format is double elimination for the four team affair. In the other game, Houston was leading Victoria 4-0 late Sunday night. Big Spring will play the loser tonight at 9.

The tournament was running behind because of a rain delay. Big Spring might have wished play never got started, at least before the fatal third inning.

Leading 2-0 going into the bottom of the third, Big Spring saw the Austin All-Stars put together four hits off ace Aaron Allen. This, coupled with three walks by Allen, was enough to score seven runs.

"They had one of those two out rallies," said Big Spring manager Terry Brumley. "I left Aaron in too long. I kept thinking he would get that last out and get out of the inning, but he didn't. Aaron walked eight batters. He was a little bit sore, but he didn't have his best stuff.

"They (Austin) really weren't hitting the ball hard. Aaron couldn't get his curve over for strikes, so they just waited on his fastball. They were hitting the outside pitches, just dinking them over the second baseman's head. They were a good team, they were swinging and we were looking."

Allen was relieved by Kevin Rychell, who pitched two innings, and Brian Mayfield, who went the rest of the way. Together they did a good job of shutting down Austin's hitting attack.

Meanwhile Austin left-hander Jeff Cox did a job on a normally strong hitting Big Spring team, scattering six hits while going the distance. Brumley said Cox wasn't an overpowering pitcher, although he did strikeout 11 Big Spring batters.

"He was a curveballer who threw the curveball for strikes whenever he wanted to. He was hitting the outside corner and we were just looking at 'em. He (Cox) really wasn't getting the ball down either. I don't know

GRAND BLANC, Mich. — Scott Verplank of Edmond, Okla. reacts to his birdie on the second hole Sunday during the Buick Open. Verplank won the tournament by two strokes.

Verplank gets head together and wins first pro tournament

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — A visit to a sports psychologist helped Scott Verplank get his head together. A weekend at the Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club did wonders for his golf game.

The two came together Sunday, when Verplank shot his third 66 in four days to win the $700,000 Buick Open, his first PGA Tour win in three years and his first as a pro.

PGA

The victory also cemented his new resolve not to let golf rule his life.

"It all started about a week ago when I missed the cut at the Hartford Open," said Verplank, who had known mostly hard times since winning the 1985 Western Open when he was still a collegian at Oklahoma State. "I said, 'Heck, I can't go on like this.' I was talking about going home. I couldn't go on the next 19-20 years like that."

Instead, he talked with Dr. Bob Rotella at the University of Virginia. Something clicked.

"He didn't tell me anything I didn't already know," Verplank said. "What he basically does is refresh your memory."

Verplank, the youngest player on the Tour at age 24, is a former NCAA and U.S. Amateur champion.

The Western Open victory earned him a two-year exemption, but he had to return to qualifying school last fall after finishing 173rd on the money list and losing his Tour card.

"In the past, I was always worn out," he said. "But I feel like I could go out right now and play again."

Verplank hadn't finished higher than a tie for 15th this season and entered the Buick Open 107th on the money list with $76,502.

"To be honest with you, I'd pretty much given up hope," Verplank said. "Hopefully, those days are gone. I've been thinking about this for a long time."

"Bob Tway and I both talked about this. We decided you can't let golf rule your life. I'm going to develop other interests. I'm not going to put all that pressure on myself."

Verplank finished at 20-under-

The string started with Jim Benepi in the Western Open and continued when Tom Sieckmann won the Busch Classic. Blain McCallister won the Hardee's Classic and Mark Brooks captured last weekend's Greater Hartford Open.

Doug Tewell, who started the final round four strokes off the pace, blazed his way through the pack with a tournament-best 64 to finish second, two shots behind Verplank.

"I keep being runnerup when people make their comeback," said the 38-year-old Tewell, seeking his first win since the 1987 Pensacola Open. "I'm just happy to finish second."

"It took a lot of guts for Scott to go back through Tour school. I couldn't pull against him. He had a hard time adjusting to just 'good these guys are. A lot of people look forward to playing the young hot-shots coming out."

"He's paid his dues. I just wish he hadn't paid them this week."

Fred Couples had a final-round 65 to finish at 271 and Tim Norris had a 66 for 272.

"I was undecided and I said, 'Scott, just relax and hit it,' and, boy, it went in," Verplank said.

Hawks sign two more

Corey Zielinski and Bill Alexander are the newest additions to the Howard College Hawks baseball team.

The signing of the duo gives Howard eight players signed for the upcoming baseball season.

Zielinski played for Bay City High School, where he helped lead his team to a 17-13-2 record, a second place finish in district play.

Zielinski, who has 4.5 40-yard-dash speed, was named to the All-Valley and All-District teams. In 61 innings of pitching, Zielinski posted a 5-3 record with one save. He had an earned run average of 2.50, striking out 111 and walking 44. At the plate he batted .175, and drove in four runs.

The Michigan hurler had an 2.666 grade point average in high school and plans on majoring in criminal justice. He is the son of Marshall Zielinski.

"Corey is a great kid," said Howard College assistant coach

COREY ZIELINSKI

BILL ALEXANDER

Frank Anderson. "He will be an addition to our pitching staff. He's late in maturing, but showing signs of good things to come. He has a great curveball. He's pitching for the summer team that produced present Hawks Jay Williams and Paul Spychalski."

Alexander attended Ada High School where he was a four-year letterman. This past season, Alexander, who has 4.72 40-yard-dash speed, was named to the All-State Honorable Mention squad. His summer American Legion team was the state champs.

In his prep season, Alexander batted .427, hit one homer, drove in 32 runs and stole two bases.

He has a 3.0 GPA and is undecided on his major. He is the son of David Alexander.

"David started for the Oklahoma All-Stars in San Diego against the California All-Stars," said HC coach Anderson. "He comes from a good program. We expect good things from him."

Okamoto takes a smoke, rests in shade; and wins a tourney

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Ayako Okamoto couldn't have been more comfortable, or much further from the action, when she learned she had won the $225,000 Greater Washington Open.

Okamoto, who had already finished her round, figured she was going to have to go back out into the 93-degree heat for a playoff. So she lit up a cigarette and sank into a chair in the clubhouse, waiting to learn whether she would spend her Sunday evening playing against Beth Daniel and Connie Chellimi.

LPGA

As it turned out, she didn't have to move at all. Daniel and Chellimi each fell out of contention on the closing holes, leaving Okamoto with her third victory of the year.

The victory wasn't assured until Daniel bogeyed No. 18 after hitting her tee shot into the woods and Chellimi left a birdie putt six inches short of the cup on 18.

Okamoto shot a 4-under-par 67 on Sunday to finish three rounds at 206, one shot better than Daniel and Chellimi.

The challengers fell away as Okamoto relaxed in air-conditioned comfort inside the Bethesda Country Club clubhouse. The event wasn't televised, so she had no way of knowing what transpired until a tournament official told her she had won.

"Outside it was very hot," Okamoto said. "I was thinking I would have to play a playoff and I needed the rest. I was very surprised when I found out I had won."

Okamoto, the LPGA Player of the Year in 1986 and 1987, started the day three strokes behind Chellimi, the second-round leader, but moved to the front with four birdies in a bogeyless round.

Okamoto, fifth on this year's money list, either parred or birdied the last 29 holes of the tournament in earning the $33,750 top prize.

"I never thought about winning today," Okamoto said. "I was just trying simple golf — to hit the fairways and hit the green. I felt no pressure and played very relaxed."

Chellimi fell a stroke behind when she missed a four-foot par putt on No. 17. Daniel tapped in for par to remain tied for the lead, but got into trouble with her very next shot. Her drive on the par-4 18th hole landed between two trees, and because she had no shot to the green was forced to play her next shot onto the fairway.

Daniel couldn't recover and had to settle for a bogey that cost her the tournament.

Chellimi, bidding for her first victory in 12 years on the tour, had one final chance on the 18th green. But her birdie putt came up short and she had to console herself with her best-ever finish in an LPGA event.

"You bet I'm happy," Chellimi said. "Almost $18,000 for one week's work. I had some chances, but I didn't make it happen."

White upsets Blue

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Michael Irvin and Darryl Clack scored touchdowns on trick plays to carry the White to a 24-14 victory over the favored Blue in the Dallas Cowboys' annual scrimmage at California Lutheran College.

Irvin, the Cowboys No. 1 draft pick out of Miami, snared a 21-yard fullback option pass from Todd Fowler, but the real crowd pleaser was a 70-yard "hook-and-lateral" touchdown.

Leading 17-14, the White put the game away in the second half when quarterback Kevin Sweeney hit Ray Alexander with a 19-yard pass. Alexander lateraled the ball to Clack who ran 51 yards for the touchdown.

Steve Pelluer hit passes of 46 yards and 35 yards to Kelvin Martin to set up both of Timmy Newsome's one-yard touchdown runs.

Eric Schubert kicked a 39-yard field goal for the White and Sweeney also flipped a 7-yard scoring pass to Fowler.

Two injuries were suffered during the scrimmage. Wide receiver Rod Barksdale suffered a knee injury after he caught a pass and cornerback Ron Francis hurt a shoulder.

MIAMI — Chico Villar (lower right with hat), the head coach of the Oklahoma All-Star soccer team, poses with team members Saturday afternoon at Miami International Airport. The team was going to Brazil for a tournament Thursday when it got bumped off their flight. Saturday they were staging a campout at the airport until they boarded a promised flight.

Red Sox win again; closing in on Tigers

By The Associated Press
Boston's lost summer is becoming a season to savor.
Mike Boddicker, who joined the Red Sox two days earlier, was a smashing success in his Boston debut Sunday, allowing eight hits over 7 1/3 innings in a 5-0 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.
Boston has won 17 of 18 games since Joe Morgan was named manager after the All-Star break and is 1 1/2 games behind Detroit in the American League East. The Red Sox have won their last 20 games in Fenway Park, one short of the club record set in September 1949 and two short of the AL record.
Boddicker, 7-12, acquired from Baltimore for minor leaguers Brady Anderson and Curt Schilling, threw 113 pitches, struck out six and walked one before Bob Stanley retired the last five hitters.
Boddicker was 79-73 over 6 1/2 seasons with Baltimore. The Orioles, recognizing their need to rebuild, almost traded him to the New York Yankees last winter. His division rivals seem to have a lot of respect for him even though he didn't succeed lately in Baltimore.

Don August, 5-5, gave up six hits and three earned runs in seven innings as Milwaukee lost for the ninth time in 10 games.
Rich Gedman drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and his third homer of the year.
Tigers 5, Rangers 1
Jack Morris won for the first time in five starts since June 27 and Dwayne Murphy had two hits and scored the winning run on his first day with the Tigers, who won for the sixth time in seven games.
Morris, 8-11, allowed seven hits, struck out eight and walked two in his sixth complete game.
Yankees 6, Blue Jays 3
Rickey Henderson led off with a single to reach base in the first inning for the 13th consecutive game and Jack Clark had two run-scoring singles as the Yankees won in Toronto.
Rick Rhoden, 7-6, beat the Blue Jays for the first time in five career starts, allowing five hits in six innings. Dave Righetti got the final five outs for his 16th save.
Athletics 6, Mariners 2
Jose Canseco homered twice, becoming the first player to hit 30 this season, and Dave Henderson also homered for Oakland at the Kingdome.

Canseco hit four home runs in the three-game series, 10 in July and is one short of his 1987 total of 31. It was his second two-homer game this season and the eighth of his career.
Twins 12, Indians 4
Tim Lincecum hit a two-run homer in the fifth and drove in the first run of a nine-run sixth, the Twins' biggest inning of the year.
Royals 4, Orioles 1
Charlie Leibrandt, 6-11, pitched a four-hitter and struck out a career-high 11 and Bo Jackson hit a three-run homer as the Royals improved to 9-0 this season against the Orioles.
Cal Ripken hit his 18th home run with one out in the ninth, the fourth consecutive game in which Ripken has homered.
Angels 7, White Sox 5
Wally Joyner's two-run homer in the seventh inning snapped a 5-5 tie and the Angels won the fifth straight. Joyner's homer run, his eighth, was his first off a left hander.

Mets' pitching staff handcuffs Pirates

By The Associated Press
The best pitching staff in baseball was better than ever this weekend.
National League
"There's an old adage that good pitching stops good hitting and that's the way it's gone so far," said New York's Ron Darling after his six-hitter led the Mets to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday. "They're a talented bunch and they're going to score runs, but hopefully not against us."
The Mets' talent was much in evidence as they lowered their earned run average to a major league-leading 2.96. Bob Ojeda shut out the Pirates Friday night and Sid Fernandez and Randy Myers combined to blank Pittsburgh on Saturday. New York has won five straight and now leads the second-place Pirates by five games in the National League East.

"This is one of the few series I've ever seen where you have to keep as many runs off the board as possible," Darling said. New York has given its pitchers little room to breathe, scoring only six runs in three games.
After Bobby Bonilla's RBI grounder in the top of the first gave the Pirates their first run following four straight shutouts at Shea Stadium, Darryl Strawberry's 27th homer, a two-run shot in the bottom of the inning, gave the Mets the victory.

Expos 2, Cardinals 0
Dennis Martinez pitched a three-hitter for his fifth victory without a loss in July as St. Louis was shut out for the 12th time, the most in the National League.
Montreal has won eight of 10 games against St. Louis this season.
Martinez, 12-7, struck out three, walked one and did not allow a hit after Terry Pendleton's infield single with one out in the top of the fourth. The right-hander has won eight of his last nine decisions and had an earned run average of 1.63 in July.
Danny Cox, 3-7, gave up seven hits in seven innings as he lost for the fourth time in his last five decisions.

Phillies 6, Cubs 3
Mike Maddux won the battle with his brother, Greg, scattering six hits in seven-plus innings, and Phil Bradley had a two-run single for Philadelphia.
Mike Maddux, 3-1, struck out four and walked one, but needed relief help from Bruce Ruffin after allowing a pair of singles to start the top of the eighth. Ruffin allowed Rafael Palmeiro's RBI single before finishing up for his third save.
Greg Maddux, 15-5, has beaten every team in the National League except the Phillies.
It was the second meeting between the brothers. On Sept. 29, 1986, Greg and the Cubs won 8-3.
Dodgers 6, Astros 1

Orel Hershiser became the National League's second 15-game winner as Los Angeles snapped Houston's four-game winning streak.
Los Angeles ended a three-game losing streak and moved 4 1/2 games in front of the Astros and San Francisco Giants in the NL West.
Padres 8, Reds 5
Dennis Rasmussen won for the seventh time in eight decisions for San Diego and Keith Moreland, Carmelo Martinez and Roberto Alomar each drove in two runs.
Rasmussen, 9-7, was acquired from the Reds June 8. He allowed eight hits and five runs before being relieved by Lance McCullers with two outs and the bases loaded in the seventh inning.

Giants 4, Braves 2
Kevin Mitchell's homer in the seventh inning broke a 2-2 tie in the first game and Will Clark beat out an infield hit with the bases loaded in the 10th inning of the nightcap as San Francisco swept a doubleheader and extended its winning streak to five games.
Atlanta has lost six straight.
The Giants rallied with two outs in the 10th against Paul Assenmacher, 5-6. With runners on second and third, the Braves walked Chris Speier intentionally, but Clark beat out a bad-hop grounder for the winning run and his league-leading 79th RBI.
Scott Garrelts, 3-5, earned his ninth save in the opener and got the win in the second game.

Big Spring drew first blood in the top of the second inning. Allen took a Cox pitch 370-feet

In the third inning Big Spring scored its final run of the contest. Left fielder Tony Perez singled to lead off the inning. Second baseman Chad Wash singled, moving him to third. Perez scored on a sacrifice fly by catcher Johnny Ellis.

Allen was the only Big Spring player to get two hits, also hitting a single. Perez, Wash, Crowover and Rychell all got one hit each.

Schrader wins Talladega 500

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Ken Schrader knew how to get to the finish line. It was the route to Victory Circle that proved elusive.
Following his victory Sunday in the Talladega 500 at Alabama International Motor Speedway, his first Winston Cup stock car triumph in 108 starts, the 33-year-old native of Fenton, Mo., was wandering around looking for the official place of celebration.
"I turned in where I normally do before I realized it wasn't the right place to be," Schrader said with a laugh.
"Hell, I did the first part. I figured they (track officials) would get me where I needed to be."
The first part wasn't all that easy, with Schrader coming out on top in a typical Talladega cavalry-charge finish. He drove from fourth place to first on the last lap to become the eighth driver to win his first Winston Cup race on the superfast 2.66-mile, high-banked oval.

Schrader, whose best previous finish was second a week earlier at Pocono, sliced through the pack and got to fourth with three laps remaining.
The crowd of about 80,000 was standing and its roar almost drowned out the sound of the powerful cars as Dale Earnhardt, the two-time defending Winston Cup champion, led going into the last of the 188 laps in the 500-mile race.
Geoff Bodine, who earlier had made up a lost lap caused by a flat tire, was second, with Sterling Marlin third and Schrader fourth, as they headed into the first turn.

Marlin moved to the outside, got past Bodine and pulled alongside Earnhardt. The cars of Earnhardt and Marlin bumped and both bobbed momentarily. Schrader's Chevrolet Monte Carlo then found an open lane and zoomed by on the high side of the banked track.
Bodine stayed in the middle of the track and held on to take second place, finishing one car-length behind Schrader.
Schrader is in his first season with the elite Hendricks Motorsports team, which also fields cars for Bodine and Darrell Waltrip. The winner said being with a top team made a difference in the way he drove at the finish.
Earnhardt, who stayed third in the season points behind leader Rusty Wallace and second-place Bill Elliott.

Dolphins, 49ers give English fans big thrills in American Bowl battle

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Bengals and Miami Dolphins got off to a winning start as the NFL exhibition season opened on two continents.
Playing in the annual Hall of Fame Game at Canton, Ohio, the Bengals defeated the Los Angeles Rams 14-7 Saturday in the kickoff of the NFL pre-season schedule.
On Sunday, the Dolphins beat the San Francisco 49ers 27-21 in a game played at London's Wembley Stadium. A capacity crowd of 70,505 turned England's national soccer shrine into a football carnival as they cheered on both teams in the third annual NFL-sponsored "American Bowl."

threw a touchdown pass and ran for another after Fulcher's interceptions set up both scores.
Earlier in the day, linebacker Jack Ham, tight end Mike Ditka, wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff and defensive tackle Alan Page were inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.
SIGNINGS
Guard David Huffman signed a series of one-year contracts with the Minnesota Vikings Sunday.
A team spokesman said Huffman, a nine-year veteran out of Notre Dame, would participate in his first workouts with the team today. No details of the contract were released.
Huffman became a full-time starter for the Vikings in 1987 for the first time in his career. His holdout — along with those of guard Gary Zimmerman and center Kirk Lowdermilk — has left Coach Jerry Burns short of experienced offensive linemen.

appearance, arriving for the second of the two workouts.
Sharpe on Friday signed a five-year contract, reportedly worth more than $2.8 million. During his holdout, he missed 20 practices and two intrasquad scrimmages.
"Obviously he's a million miles behind right now," Packers Coach Lindy Infante said. "We can't even get him in the huddle. We had an hour meeting with him and we coached him on the run."
Sharpe participated in some passing and punt drills but mostly watched Sunday's afternoon practice.
"I've been away from it a long time," Sharpe said. "I haven't put on pads since January. You've got to feel some rust."

NFL Notes

The Dolphins-49ers game had all the earmarks of a pre-season contest — lots of penalties, erratic play and brief appearances by the stars. While starting quarterback Dan Marino saw little action for Miami, third-stringer Dave Archer was the hero, scoring the winning points on a 4-yard bootleg with 1:28 left.
"Archer did an outstanding job by moving the young players down the field in the last quarter," Miami Coach Don Shula said. "It was a very exciting pre-season ballgame."
Meanwhile, the Bengals, trying to bounce back from a 4-11 season, were on a mission. For them it was more than just an exhibition game.
"Some people say it's only a pre-season game," said David Fulcher, a third-year safety from Arizona State who had two interceptions. "But for us, it's the first game on the road back." Quarterback Turk Schonert

The Pittsburgh Steelers agreed to terms with second-round draft pick Dermontti Dawson, a guard-center from the University of Kentucky.
Dawson, 6-foot-2 and 279 pounds, was the sixth offensive lineman picked in the NFL draft. He had been a holdout for 15 days.
Dawson, 23, of Lexington, Ky., started every game at right guard as a senior at Kentucky.
The Steelers declined to disclose terms of the agreement, but Dawson told a television station in Lexington that he would sign a four-year, $1 million contract.
Also Sunday, guard John Rienstra returned to the Steelers' camp, two weeks after leaving because of a stress-related disorder.
ARRIVAL
The Green Bay Packers returned to two-day practices Sunday and top draft choice Sterling Sharpe made his first camp, offensive tackle John Clay failed his initial physical examination on Sunday, a day after he was acquired from the Los Angeles Raiders.

Chargers Coach Al Saunders, who had expected Clay to participate in the club's morning practice, said the second-year player had a lower back problem and it was uncertain how long he would be sidelined.
"I'm very disappointed that he's not on the field right away," Saunders said. "He needs to practice and practice now. This becomes a position of urgency."
Clay was expected to start at left tackle, filling the void left by Jim Lachey, the training camp holdout who was sent to the Raiders in Saturday's trade. In addition, San Diego obtained two undisclosed draft choices.
The roster lists Clay at 6-5, 295 pounds, but he weighed 320 upon reporting to the Chargers, Saunders said. The team also learned Clay had missed about a week of full practice with the Raiders.

The wait is over for Agassi

STRATTON MOUNTAIN, Vt. (AP) — The way things were going, it should have taken Andre Agassi one more year to win the Volvo International tennis tournament.
Two years ago, at age 16, he was a quarterfinalist playing his first tournament. Last year, he made the semifinals before losing to Ivan Lendl.
This year, he expected another confrontation with Lendl in the finals. But Lendl, the world's top-ranked player, was ousted early and on Sunday Agassi, ranked fifth overall and No. 1 among American players, cruised to his fifth Grand Prix singles title this year with a 6-2, 6-4 win over Paul Annacone.
"I was just praying I wouldn't have to wait another year to win it," Agassi told the crowd of 12,000 after collecting his check for $114,000, the second biggest of his two-year career.
Annacone, seeded 13th and ranked 48th, took home $57,000 from his first final since 1985.
Agassi, 18, appeared on the tennis scene two years ago at the Volvo, where he entered as a qualifier.

Charismatic and appealing in denim shorts and long blond hair, he surprised everyone by ousting Tim Mayotte in 1986 before losing to John McEnroe. A year later, he beat Wimbledon winner Pat Cash en route to the semifinals.
He struggled early in this tournament, taking three sets to make the second round and the quarterfinals. Agassi said he'd had trouble adjusting from clay and play at sea level to hard courts and a higher altitude.
But on Sunday, he could do no wrong, employing powerful forehand passing shots and blooping lobs to beat Annacone in 65 minutes.
"I could have done a few things better. I could have broken him early on in the first set," Agassi said. "But you can't complain. I mean, in general I was playing just good tennis."
"I think it just goes to back up how I've been feeling about myself the last few months."

PUBLIC NOTICE
1988 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN BIG SPRING INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT
This notice concerns 1988 property tax rates for BIG SPRING INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate in taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the taxing unit proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.
LAST YEAR'S TAX RATE:
Last year's operating taxes	$5,350,418
Last year's debt taxes	$450,867
Last year's total taxes	$5,801,305
Last year's tax base	$584,809,058
Last year's total tax rate	$9920/$100
THIS YEAR'S EFFECTIVE TAX RATE:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and taxes to correct appraisal roll errors)	$5,801,305
This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting taxes on new property)	$597,197,422
This year's effective tax rate	$9714/$100

Party time

In Kentucky it's '88 and time to celebrate

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

EIGHTY-EIGHT, Ky. (AP) — It's '88 in Eighty-Eight, and people are getting ready to celebrate the odd convergence of a point in time and a pinpoint on the map.

The last time Eighty-Eight entered the spotlight was when voters here cast 88 votes for President Harry Truman and 88 votes for Thomas Dewey. That earned the town a feature in "Ripley's Believe It or Not."

Four decades later, this is the year for Eighty-Eight to call attention to itself again.

"The townspeople have really got excited about it," said Rosemary McPherson, owner of the 88 Market and the driving force behind The Eighty-Eight Celebration set for Sunday.

"That's on the eve of the big day," said Ms. McPherson, referring to Aug. 8 — or 8-8-88.

There will be a parade, an antique car show, gospel singing, and arts and crafts offerings.

The celebration includes a reunion for all who attended the now-defunct Eighty-Eight School, and a special invitation is going out to anyone 88 years old.

It's doubtful there's ever been anything like it in Eighty-Eight, a picture-postcard village with the market, a fire company, neat little houses lining a two-lane road and a red brick church anchoring the town at each end.

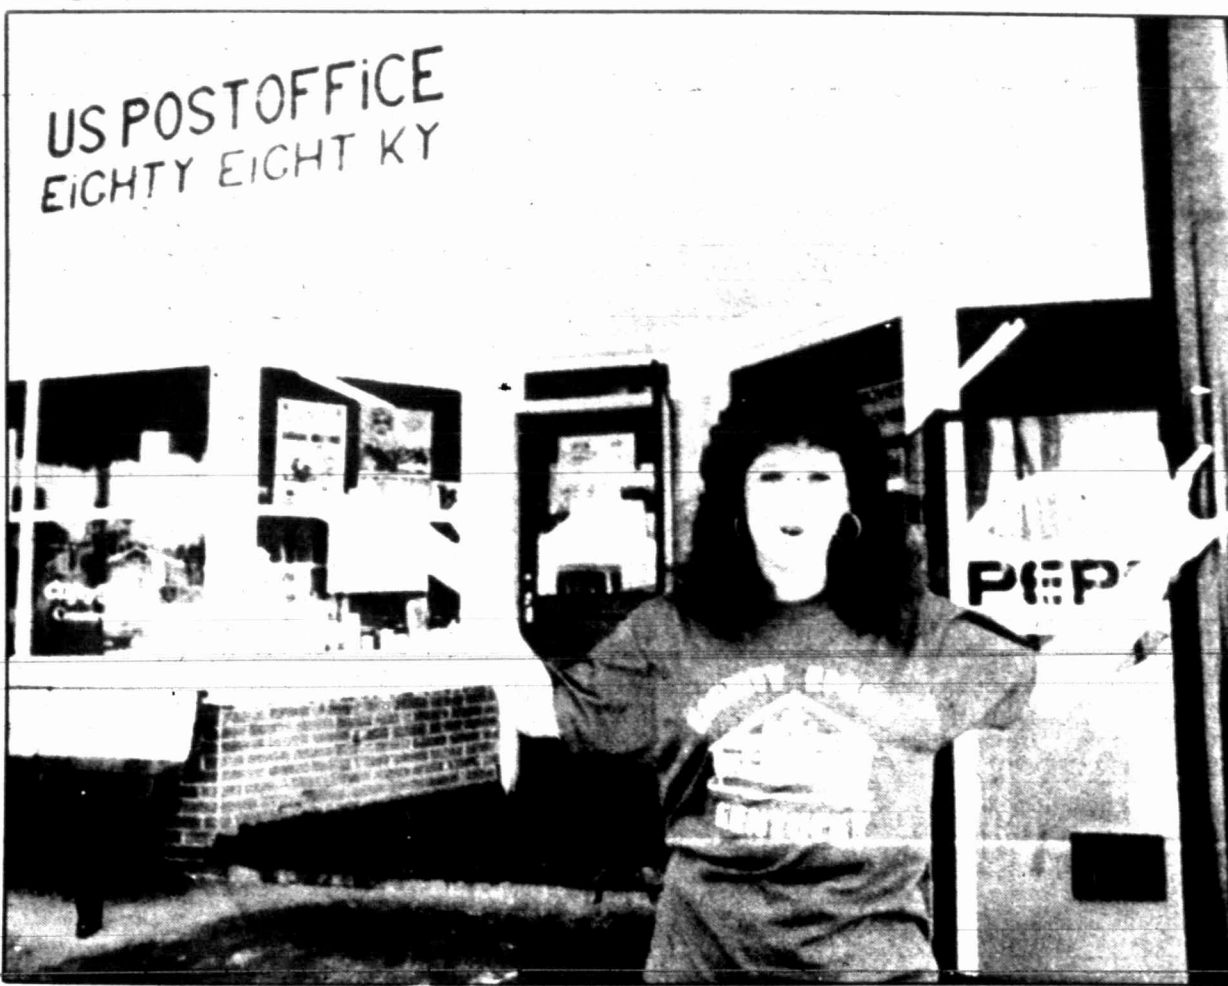

The first hint that Eighty-Eight's time had come was back in January when collectors sent their New Year's cards to receive the town's postmark.

One collector enclosed a note: "This is your year."

Until then, "I hadn't even thought about it," said postmistress Donnie Sue Bacon.

Soon, all manner of mail, including about 200 graduation announcements from students at the University of Southern California, began arriving for cancellation at Mrs. Bacon's cubbyhole post office inside Ms. McPherson's store.

"I'm happy that they're recognizing us," said Mrs. Bacon, 57, who had to make a concession to the town's sudden vogue. After 31 years of hand-canceling mail, she was trading her ink pad and rubber stamp for a self-inking

EIGHTY-EIGHT, Ky. — Rosemary McPherson, owner of the 88 Market in Eighty-Eight, Ky., stands in front of her store, which also houses the town's post office. The town plans a celebration for Aug. 8, or 8-8-88 in Eighty-Eight.

The town attracted other attention as well.

Daniel T. Gray and Karen Ann Davis of Bowling Green decided to get married here, and the Rev. Michael Thomason, who performed the ceremony, recalled the couple was quite specific about the time: 4:28 p.m. on 4-28-88 in Eighty-Eight.

"It was just sentimental," said the new Mrs. Gray. When the marriage license was filed, she added, "the clerk's office thought the minister put the date where you put the place."

Eighty-Eight's 200 or so residents were at first loath to make a fuss but finally yielded to the times.

Serious planning for a commemoration got under way in a town meeting in June at the 88

Market, which is something of an unofficial community center.

And Ms. McPherson, whose store already sold everything from baby food to country hams, has added a special line of merchandise for the occasion: Eighty-Eight caps and T-shirts.

"They've been going like hotcakes," she said.

The first T-shirt was ceremonially presented to local resident Elsie Billingsley, age 88.

How did the town get its numerical name?

The explanation given by some is that it lies 8.8 miles east of Glasgow, the Barren County seat.

That's not it, says Bobby Richardson, an Eighty-Eight native and Glasgow attorney who says he has the authoritative account.

It begins with Dabnie L. Nun-nally, who opened a general store and stagecoach stop here around 1850 and became the first postmaster sometime in the late 1860s.

Needing a name for the place, Nunnally opted for a number because "his figures were more legible" than his handwriting, said Richardson, who is Nunnally's great-great-grandson.

To pick the number, Nunnally counted the money in his pocket — 88 cents.

"That's the correct version, according to all the older people in the family who told me," said Richardson.

At some point — just when isn't clear — the town's name was officially spelled out.

But mail still arrives here sometimes addressed to "88, Ky."

Classmates from Big Spring High School class of 1968 prepare to have their picture taken for a reunion booklet.

Time to remember

BSHS class of 1968 reunites

After a year of preparation, Big Spring High School class of 1968 celebrated its 20-year reunion July 2 at the high school.

Before beginning their walk down memory lane, 86 former classmates and their families were served brunch. Joining the festivities were five former high school staff members, Nan Howard, Imogene Puckett, G.T. Guthrie, Morris Molpus and Nellie Mathis, said Nancy Marshall.

Several classmates continued their visit at the Spanish Inn, and at 8 p.m. classmates met at the Big Spring Country Club for period music and visitation.

Coming the farthest was Patty Goodman Barton; the baldest was Bob Purser; the greyest was Jimmy Belew; most children was a tie between Karla Wadsworth Clanton and Danny and Helena Wozencraft Nichols, with four children; the female who changed the most was Neva Bedwell Martin; the female who changed the least was Annette Fitzhugh Gault; the male who changed the least was Joey Baker.

Charles Lacy was recognized as being a grandparent; Bill Burchett had the youngest child.

Statistically, the class has produced 2.05 children per classmate; 37 have never been married; 43 have no children; five classmates have at least one set of twins; over 60 percent are still living with their original spouse; and 13 are known deceased, Marshall said.

Occupations include: four doctors, three in ministry, several in banking and finance related careers, several self-employed, several teachers and nurses, several counselors including one marriage counselor, three computer analysts, and several in the armed forces. One classmate wrote and said she led a very dull life and was "proud of it."

Although the class of 1968 has conducted 10-year and 15-year reunions, the 20-year reunion brought a different group back to reunite, Marshall said.

An Olan Mills photographer was on hand to take pictures of each couple. A reunion booklet will be compiled, complete with pictures, names and addresses.

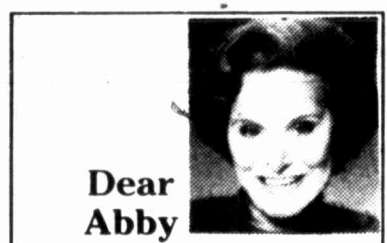

"Although a year of hard work, long hours on the phone, and many letters and postcards transpired, it was well worth the effort to keep us all as one, through the years to come. Dear Ol' Big Spring High," Marshall said.

Ohio court says one good turn legally deserves another

DEAR ABBY: Grandma created quite a stir among your readers concerning her usual $50 birthday gift to her selfless descendants who, after a while, thought they had it coming.

Did you know that it is a legally established fact that the practice of voluntarily giving gifts over a period of time implies an obligation to continue that practice?

Several years ago, when the mills of the American Rolling Mill

Co. in Middletown, Ohio, were really rolling, the company, out of the goodness of its corporate heart, began giving free turkeys to its employees at Thanksgiving.

Then the company fell on hard times, and in the early 1980s it decided to discontinue the distribution of some 15,000 turkeys as an economy measure.

The Steelworkers Union set up a howl and took the company to court. Believe it or not, the court took the position that through the company's generous practice over a period of years, it did indeed owe the employees their Thanksgiving turkeys! Small wonder they call them "gobblers!"

JIM GRIFFITH,
PORT RICHEY, FLA.

DEAR JIM: Thanks for an interesting story. It serves to reinforce the fact that which is legal is not necessarily moral or even fair.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I are both 32. We've been living together for 11 years (unmarried). We have two children, ages 10 and 3, and are expecting again in September. We are planning to marry in December and we'd like a church wedding with gown and veil, tuxedos and bridesmaids, etc.

Family members have expressed disapproval, stating that after 11 years and three children, this would not be appropriate.

My question: What, in your opinion, would be an appropriate ceremony for two people in our situation? We would be handling the entire expense ourselves. Your immediate reply would be greatly appreciated. Thank you.

MAKING IT LEGAL
DEAR MAKING: I agree with your family. A quiet, less formal wedding with close friends and family members, followed by a luncheon or dinner for those who attended, would be my recommendation. Congratulations.

Can you ear me?

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Do things on a large scale and you could earn a big payoff. Remind those who count of your worth. This is an exciting time for love relationships and romance. Try to reduce parent-child tensions. Show your appreciation for someone who has always been there when you needed him. You must be both assertive and cooperative at work. Your interest in the exotic will grow. Travel proves very profitable.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: architect Pierre Charles L'Enfant, writer James

Baldwin, actors Peter O'Toole and Carroll O'Connor, Nevada Sen. Paul Laxalt, movie star Myrna Loy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Reassess an agreement before you sign it. A phone call could shed new light on an important matter. Lady Luck moves to your side of the bargaining table. A relationship changes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid becoming the victim of your own generosity. The time is right for you to undertake something you have been wanting to do for years. Mate and children offer their full support.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): There could be fireworks at your place of employment today. Adopt a low profile and you will emerge unscathed. A misunderstanding can be cleared up by checking certain notes. A financial situation improves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You have the edge in a competition. Be confident, but do your homework, too. A good day to get better organized. Your productivity is up, along with your energy. Stay good-humored.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be willing to go halfway to reach a business agreement. Your financial resources need to be beefed up. A second job is one idea. More important, do what you can to cut expenses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Morning rumors are unreliable. Stick to facts and figures. Mate or close ally has the inside track on travel ideas. Work completed behind closed doors will prove profitable. Choose allies with care.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Do some comparison shopping before making a major purchase. Community activities will keep you on the go, possibly to the detriment of domestic harmony. Be sure to spend quality time with mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Financial backing comes from unexpected sources. Go slow; there could be strings attached. Invitations will result from the contacts you make today. Delays give you second thoughts about a relationship. Be candid.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An unorthodox financial arrangement catches you completely off-guard. Consult experts to protect your reputation. People you meet through mate will court your favor. Be gracious but non-committal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Adopt a conservative approach to handling finances. Correct mistakes made in the recent past. Procrastination could prove expensive. You will be more efficient at work once you know where you stand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Confusion reigns early today. Seek the details you must know to straighten things out. Be willing to admit mistakes. Expect news about a creative project. Your earning power grows. Plan ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A flash of insight helps you make a decision about forming an important alliance. A close friend offers invaluable advice on this matter and a legal question. Romance blooms in an atmosphere of trust.
