23 Dead In Series Of Fires

By The Associated Press

Fires last night across the nation took at least 23 lives, 18 of them children.

The worst blaze swept through a two-story building in Atlanta, Ga. Ten youngsters perished together in one bedroom, and in another an infant and his mother died. All were Negroes.

At Romeoville, Ill., flames destroyed the trailer-shack home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Wright, killing three of their daughters and two sons. The parents and another son were seriously injured. The other two Wright children were reported in fair condition.

Two elderly invalids and a 12-year-old boy perished in a fire that destroyed their three-room frame home at Memphis, Tenn. All were Negroes.

The bodies of two persons, one a 70-year-old man and the other unidentified, were recovered after a fire destroyed a small dwelling at Carver, Mass.

Overheated stoves were blamed for the fires in Illinois and Massachusetts. Cause of the other blazes was not determined.

Airflow Of 32,400 MPH Is Reached

TULLAHOMA, Tenn. (AP) — An airflow of 32,400 m.p.h., or twice the speed required to place a satellite into orbit, has been reached in a wind tunnel test at the Arnold engineering development center here.

An Air Research and Development Command spokesman, in announcing the achievement, said the peak run lasted about a tenth of a second.

The test is termed escape velocity — the minimum speed required to propel planes or missiles out of the earth's gravitational field into space.

The test velocity was attained in Tunnel Hotshot II, part of the facilities here.

Temperatures exceeding 40,000 degrees Fahrenheit were caused by the friction of air passing over a model of a missile nose cone. Electrical discharge that heats the air created pressures up to more than 30,000 pounds per square inch.

The tunnel is arc-driven. The airflow is heated and pressurized by an electrical discharge generated by energy from a unipolar generator developed by Allis-Chalmers Corp., in Milwaukee, and stored in a huge inductance coil produced by Westinghouse Electric Corp., at Pittsburgh, Pa.

SPOT MUSE

THE WEATHER has been unusually mild here during the same time a cold wave is causing numerous deaths in the northeast. The temperature didn't even get down to freezing here last night, the first time in many days for above-freezing weather at night.

THE LAST TIME the thermometer stayed above the freezing mark during a night was Feb. 5, 13 days ago. That time, the mercury dipped to 33, only one degree above the freezing mark.

DA Won't Ask New Stay For Shaver

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dist. Atty. Hubert Green Jr. said today he would not recommend a further stay of execution for convicted child slayer Jimmy Shaver.

Shaver is scheduled to die Thursday for the 1954 rape-slaying of Chere Jo Horton, 3.

Shaver was saved from the electric chair 13 days ago by a last-minute "confession" by a county jail prisoner, Donald Summers. Green said Summers' confession is a hoax.

Weather Blamed For 182 Deaths In Nation

By The Associated Press

Numbing temperatures today gripped the eastern section of the nation—still trying to dig out from the weekend's heavy snowfall. Even the South had below-freezing weather.

The mercury dropped to 29 below in Lebanon, N.H.; 27 below at Newport, Vt.; and 25 below in northern New York.

At least 182 deatns across the nation were attributed to the snow and cold.

No immediate relief was in sight from the protracted cold spell—now in its 10th day.

At the Newark, N.J., airport the thermometer has not been above freezing since Feb. 8.

Schools were closed in many communities, and businesses were shut in some.

Motorists who had trouble getting through snowdrifts during the week now had the added problem of trying to get their cars starfed in the frigid weather.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said westbound trains were three to four hours late, and eastbound one to two hours late.

Below-zero temperatures were the rule rather than the exception in most of New York State, though New York City's lowest reading was four above.

Saranac Lake and Stillwater Reservoir, in upstate New York, had 25 below reading to match their 25 or more inches of snow. Other below zero readings in New York State were: Glens Falls 22, Albany 18, Oneonta and Plattsburgh 13, Syracuse 6 and Buffalo 4.

By a strange quirk, the temperature at Caribou, Maine, often a cold spot, was 17 above, warmer than some parts of the Deep South. Southern temperatures included Augusta, Ga., 12 above; Charleston, S.C., 14 above; and Savannah, Ga., 15 above.

New England temperatures, all below zero, included Montpelier, Vt., 26; Portland, Maine 16; Burlington, Vt.; 18; Concord, N.H., 7; Boston, 4; and Bradley Field, Conn., 5.

Twenty-four families in Stamford, Conn., were given shelter in a high school gymnasium after the heating systems failed in two tenement houses they occupied. The temperature was zero.

The temperature in New Jersey dropped to 10 above at High Point. About 500 motorists in East Orange, N.J., finally dug their automobiles out of snow drifts and found each had been tagged with an overtime parking ticket.

The cold spell in Washington, D.C., was its worst in 16 years. The temperature dropped to five above in the District, which had a 14 inch snowfall Saturday. Public schools in the area were closed for a second day. Government workers had another holiday, this time at Uncle Sam's expense. Those who stayed out yesterday were docked a day's leave.

Middlesboro, Ky., not only had zero weather, but a third of the coal mining town was without heat, awaiting emergency supplies of heating gas.

A shortage of natural gas caused hundreds of schools and industries to close in Georgia. Zero temperatures were reported in the north Georgia mountains.

Some parts of Virginia and Tennessee had below-zero readings. A schoolgirl at South Fulton, Tenn., suffered cold exposure as she stood outside a schoolhouse, unaware it was closed for the day because of the cold weather.

Northern Indiana was hit last night by a new blizzard that added 20 more inches to the already snow - plagued area. The fall raised the total in South Bend to 35 inches.

Michigan City, Ind., already covered with an estimated 54 inches, escaped the brunt of the new storm, getting only a little more snow.

Ice on the upper Ohio River brought water traffic there to a virtual standstill.

Light Rains Falling In South Texas

By The Associated Press

Drizzle was falling in South Texas Tuesday while skies were clear or clearing in the Panhandle, in the far west and in the extreme northeast parts of the state.

Rainfall totals for 24 hours were less than one-tenth inch.

Overnight lows ranged from 21 degrees at Texarkana to 58 at Brownsville.

In northeast Texas—at Tyler, Longview, and Texarkana—and in northwest Texas—at El Paso, Dalhart, Wink, and Amarillo—clear skies greeted the sun.

Fog and clouds and drizzle covered the rest of the state. Light drizzle fell at Galveston, Corpus Christi, Beeville, Alice, Kingsville, Laredo and Houston. The Lubbock area had traffic endangering fog.

Freezing weather was in the forecasts for the Panhandle-Plains area, upper South Central Texas and northeast Texas.

Speedy Suspension Of Debate Is Seen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S.-British offer of "good offices" to help solve the French-Tunisian dispute was expected to bring a speedy suspension to U.N. Security Council debate today on the charges growing out of the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

Although both France and Tunisia accepted the British-American offer, neither made a move to avert the Council meeting scheduled after Tunisia complained to the U.N. and the French filed a countercharge.

However, diplomats both at the U.N. and in London were confident both nations would now try to avoid a bitter debate which the Communists could exploit.

These sources predicted each nation would make a restrained statement explaining its charges, and that the necessary 7 of 11 Council members then would be mustered to adjourn the debate, giving the good offices a chance to work.

U.S. officials in Washington said they would offer "concrete suggestions and proposals" on outstanding problems between France and her former protectorate. Instead of a single conference bringing both sides together, a coordinated diplomatic drive will be made in Paris and Tunis.

Tunisia requested the Security Council meeting to consider her charge of French aggression in attacking Sakiet Sidi Youssef Feb. 8, killing 79 men, women and children.

France countercharged that Tunisia is sheltering rebels who have been in revolt in neighboring Algeria for more than three years.

Integration Viewed As Boost To Kentucky Private School

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP) — Push integration of public schools in this section and the Grove Center Academy will flourish, predicts Wright Waller Jr., chairman of the academy school board.

Grove Center Academy was established last September by parents who rebelled against sending their children to the newly integrated Sturgis Consolidated School.

"We'll either stop integration or we'll have more here (at Grove Center) than we can accommodate," Waller said.

Outwardly the academy, founded on dissatisfaction and borrowed money, looks like any other Kentucky school. Inside, however, prominently displayed in the classrooms are Confederate flags and posters attacking the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

All but one of Grove Center's 125 pupils transferred from Sturgis High, where 17 Negroes began attending classes in 1957 protected by Kentucky state police.

Waller, 34, who operates a farm implement firm, serves in the dual capacity of president of the Union County Citizens Council and chairman of the academy school board.

Waller said some 300 Negro students attending Dunbar High here have little enthusiasm for changing to all-white schools.

Union County has about 15,000 residents, roughly 10 per cent of them Negroes.

Only Sturgis with 1,033 students has thus far been racially integrated in the county.

It is anticipated that prointegrationists will push for desegregation in Morganfield next fall.

The academy, operated by Principal Paul A. Duet and five teachers, has classes in mathematics, English, history, civics and general science. No languages are required but Duet teaches an elective course in German.

The school will come before the State Board of Education next June for consideration for accreditation.

7 Red Agents Reported Aboard Missing Airliner

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korean police said today they had evidence at least seven Communist agents boarded the commercial airliner which flew to Red North Korea Sunday.

The police statement came after a North Korean newsman covering a U. N. truce commission meeting at Panmunjom hinted that a fight took place aboard the plane before it bypassed Seoul and landed in Communist territory.

The Communist newsman told South Korean reporters some of the 34 persons aboard the plane were wounded and receiving medical treatment. The plane was piloted by two Americans.

The Communists at the Panmunjom meeting rejected the U. N. Command's demand for return of the airliner and the occupants. The Reds insisted on direct negotiations with President Syngman Rhee's South Korean government.

South Korean police said they believed the seven Communist agents — including two women — seized the Pusan-to-Seoul plane at gunpoint. They discounted speculation that the Communists wanted to kidnap any of the passengers. The agents are former war prisoners who were released in 1953 but did not return North.

The police said the plot to seize the plane apparently was masterminded by Kim Hyung. 34. He boarded the plane at Pusan with his 21-year-old wife and their baby, giving a false address in Seoul. Kim's wife worked as a hostess - entertainer until four months ago in an expensive Seoul restaurant frequented by government officials and politicians.

At Panmunjom, South Korean Ministry official termed "impossible" the Reds' demand for direct negotiations with the Rhee government for return of the plane. South Korea did not sign the armistice agreement suspending the Korean War and has refused to recognize the Communist regime.

Col. Kim Joon Kyung of North Korea claimed at the secretariat meeting that those aboard the plane had "defected because they could not stand any more of the U.S. aggresive policy against South Korea." Kim said the issue was not a proper subject for consideration by the armistice commission set up to police the truce.

U.S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl the U.N. member of the secretariat, termed the Communist explanation of the plane's flight north "utterly fantastic." He asserted that "since one or more Communist agents" kidnaped the plane and its passengers, the issue was a proper one for the armistice group.

The pilot was Willis P. Hobbs, Vallejo, Calif., an American civilian employed by the Korean National Airline. A U.S. Air Force officer, Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan, Buchanan, Mich., was flying as copilot to log additional flight time.

They were believed forced to fly to North Korea by Communist agents in disguise aboard the plane, which was bound from Pusan to Seoul.

Girl Due To Sign Charge Against GI

AUSTIN (AP)—Police said a 19-year-old girl would be asked today to sign a statement formally making a fresh charge of attempted rape against Stanley Norman Press, Ft. Hood soldier.

The 23-year-old Atlantic City, N.J., soldier was charged yesterday with the rape and sodomy of two young Austin girls, who he brazenly abducted off downtown streets.

Press has refused to talk, except to say, "I'm sick. I don't feel good," police said.

He took the young women out, one at a time, to the wooded hill country near here where he criminally assaulted each girl and forced one to commit an unnatural act, Sheriff T. O. Lang said.

Deputy Sheriff George Pope said the youngest accuser of Press' picked Press "unhesitatingly" from a lineup yesterday and Press almost fainted.

The girl said Press held her overnight in a motel at San Marcos, 25 miles south of here.

Police yesterday searched Press' red convertible and found numerous boxes containing various clothes, believed to be Press', to smaller well-wrapped boxes containing perfume.

More than 61 names and addresses of Texas women were found on slips of paper in Press' billfold and in an address book he had. The book was indexed according to cities and towns in Central Texas with names of women from San Antonio, Florence, Austin, Killeen, Belton, Temple, Waco and Taylor.

Fire Sweeps Through Building In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—A general alarm fire swept a three-story brick building in downtown Atlanta early today and threatened to engulf an entire block before being brought under control.

Firemen said flames raced through the Jacobs Sales Co. building, feeding on paint, lacquer and other building materials.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately. No damage estimate was available.

Railroad Asks Halt To Passenger Service

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A Railroad Commission examiner heard further testimony today on an application by the Southern Pacific to halt certain passenger service between El Paso and Houston.

A railroad official testified yesterday the company is losing money in the operation of two passenger trains, the Argonauts, between those points.

Tax Cut Now Ruled Unwise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders of Congress agreed with President Eisenhower's key Cabinet officers today that it would not be wise to cut taxes as a business stimulant at this time.

After a breakfast conference at the White House, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told reporters the decision was subject to review before Congress adjourns in late July or early August.

Tax reduction was the subject of discussion, Knowland said, along with the question whether the government should launch a major public works program to counter the recession.

Both the administration chiefs and the minority Congress members agreed, Knowland said, that unemployment will start declining in March and business will turn up fairly soon thereafter without artificial stimulus.

"If the anticipated improvement did not take place before midyear when Congress near adjournments, public works would get serious consideration," he added.

The congressional delegation, headed by Knowland and Rep. Martin (R-Mass), House minority leader, got a briefing on the economic outlook from Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Knowland said the Cabinet officers cited several government programs which will furnish a beneficial stimulus to the economy.

Knowland ran down the list of spending and credit-easing programs named by President Eisenhower in his special memorandum last Wednesday. The programs, all previously recommended to Congress or already in operation, included a post office construction program, highway building, measures to ease housing credit, stepped-up military spending and credit-liberlizing measures of the Federal Reserve Board.

Knowland repeated Eisenhower's assurances that unemployment, which jumped 1,120,000 last month to a total of 4½ million, will show a decline in the March report, to be issued in April. Joblessness normally drops at that season of the year when farming and outdoor work pick up.

The government measures so far taken cannot be considered pump priming, Knowland told reporters, because they are "constructive in nature and will bring a beneficial chain reaction."

Proposals to set a tax reduction in motion, Knowland said, would be unwise at this time because of heavy government obligations and the importance of not increasing greatly the national debt.

Bell System Reports Record Net Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—The Bell System, consisting of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its principal telephone subsidiaries, reported today a record net income of $852,904,279 for 1957, compared with $777,791,083 in 1956.

As in every previous year since the end of World War II, the figure set a new high.

Bell's gross rose to $6,313,833,200 from $5,825,297,685 in 1956. Bell assets rose to $17,677,875,672 from $16,206,571,233.

Egypt, Sudan In Frontier Dispute

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt and Sudan waged a war of words today over some 6,000 square miles of desert frontierland claimed by both nations.

The Egyptian government charged that Sudanese troops had crossed the frontier and entered the territory claimed by Egypt on the Red Sea coast. Egypt told her ambassador to demand withdrawal of the troops.

A communique served notice that Egypt planned to send electoral teams into the disputed area so residents could participate in the Feb. 21 plebiscite to approve the union of Egypt and Syria. It said the group would be accompanied by a frontier police detachment.

Sudan's foreign minister, Mohamed Ahmed Mahgoug, arrived in Cairo and went into immediate conference with the Egyptian foreign minister, Mahmoud Fawzi, and the interior minister, Zakaria Mohieddin.

The Egyptian communique expressed hope the dispute would be settled amicably. It complained that the Sudanese had made the issue public after agreeing to keep the negotiations secret.

Sudanese Prime Minister Abdullah Khalil disclosed last night in Khartoum that his government had protested Cairo's efforts to take over the tract in a move to re-esablish Egypt's southern boundary at the 22nd parallel.

He said the area possibly contains rich mineral deposits. Egypt countered that there is nothing of value in the sector except a manganese mine operated by an Egyptian company on an Egyptian granted concession.

Princess Marijke Discards Glasses

THE HAGUE (AP)— Princess Marijke, two years ago the subject of a royal crisis, today celebrated her 11th birthday.

Photos of her in Dutch dailies showed her without glasses and busy reading or writing.

In 1956, when Princess Marijke was usually shown held by the hand of one of her elder sisters, Netherlanders learned the Queen Juliana had consulted Greet Hofmans, faith healer, over her daughter's sight.

At that time there was talk of a rift between the Queen and her husband, Prince Bernhard, over the faith healer's influence.

Four Men From Miami Called To Testify Before Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House investigating committee called four men from Miami today for more information about alleged payments to a federal communications commissioner in a Miami television case.

For the time being, the committee said it was through interrogating Bernard Schwartz, the counsel it fired last week and the one who made the allegations.

First witness for today was Herbert Sharfman, the FCC examiner who recommended in 1955 that Miami's TV Channel 10 be given to WKAT, owned by A. Frank Katzentine.

In February 1957, the FCC on a 4-2 vote granted the channel instead to Public Service Television, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of National Airlines. The award is now before the courts.

Summoned from Florida to testify were Paul R. Scott and Robert H. Anderson, now a circuit judge, whom Schwartz identified as members of the law firm representing the successful applicant; Thurman A. Whiteside, who Schwartz said wrote at least $2,650 in checks to FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack while the case was pending; and Perrine Palmer Jr., described by Schwartz as a leading Miami political figure and a close acquaintance of Mack.

Whiteside has said he lent Mack money for many years, but both he and Mack have denied Schwartz's charges of a payment. Mack, who has called the charges "unsubstantiated" and "distortions," is to testify Thursday.

Asked if Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, would be called, Chairman Harris (D-Ark) told reporters, "We're going to try to get all the facts we can. We would be very glad to have any facts Sherman Adams would give us."

Adams' name came up in connection with a proceeding involving North American Airlines which was before the Civil Aeronautics Board. The board charged the nonscheduled carrier with violating regulations and sought to halt its operations.

Schwartz testified that in 1953 Adams discussed the airlines' case with Harmar B. Denny, then acting chairman of the CAB, on behalf of the airlines' attorney, Murray Chotiner.

Chotiner, a Los Angeles lawyer, is a former campaign manager for Vice President Nixon.

Harris read into the record two letters from Adams to Chotiner. One said Adams had talked with Denny about steps North American could take to delay the effective date of an order revoking its operating authority. It ended: "Is there anything further in this case that I can do?"

The second letter said Adams was "looking into the matter."

Schwartz said he didn't know whether Adams' actions had any influence, but said he considered them "grossly improper." He added that the AB agreed to delay its order pending a court review and North American got a four-year delay before being forced out of business.

In the Miami case, Schwartz said there were many allegations in Florida and elsewhere that Col. Gordon Moore, brother-in-law of Mrs. Eisenhower, engineered the TV license award to Public Television.

One Loss Is Limit, Says Von Braun

CHICAGO (AP)—The Army's top missile expert says Americans have "lost a round" to the Russians and "cannot afford to lose much more" if they hope to survive.

Dr. Wernher von Braun last night gave this appraisal after saying that the Pentagon has agreed to finance "five different firings involving satellites or other space projects."

But he declined to elaborate on the nature or immediacy of the launchings, saying, "We believe very strongly in cackling only after we lay our eggs."

Von Braun, who is chief of research and development of the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency, told a news conference when asked about the five projected firings: "We are not sitting on our hands."

Later, the missile expert told the National Military-Industrial Conference at a dinner meeting: "I would recommend that we brace ourselves for other Soviet 'firsts' in the new field of astronautics.

"We are behind and we cannot catch-up in a day or two. It will require several years of concentrated effort to come abreast, and even longer to pull ahead."

"Perhaps the launching of Explorer helped to redeem our promises, but no amount of explanation or justification can hide the fact that we have lost a round. We cannot afford to lose much more."

On the heels of Von Braun's remarks to the conference, Walter Williams, undersecretary of commerce, said today the nation's industry is ready to meet the Soviet missile challenge.

New Blizzard Brings Snow

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A new blizzard that left as much as 20 inches of additional snow in some sections hit northern Indiana last night, adding woes to the already snow-plagued Lake Michigan area.

South Bend ws left with nearly 35 inches of snow. Michigan City, already covered with an estimated 54 inches, reported a little more during the night.

The Weather Bureau forecast more snow for the lake area today but predicted it would diminish to flurries by tomorrow.

South Bend stores closed early for the first time in 20 years.

Most industry remained closed in Michigan City. Workers couldn't find room to dump snow removed from clogged streets.

Schools in South Bend and most of St. Joseph County were added to the closed list. Other schools are closed throughout the heavy snow belt from Chesterton, 10 miles southwest of Michigan City, to Rolling Prairie, 15 miles to the east. La Porte and Michigan City schools also remained closed.

First Grader Waits In Vain

SOUTH FULTON, Tenn. (AP) — Deborah Lynn Beard was puzzled when she arrived at school to find the doors locked yesterday.

Deborah a 6-year-old first grader, waited.

Temperatures were below zero and her face was blue with cold. Still she waited, unaware the school had been closed due to bitter weather.

She waited an hour and a half. At 9, Herman Roach, a bus driver, stopped at a gasoline station across the street. He saw Deborah hunched on the steps, her head drooping almost to her lap.

He called to the little girl. She tried to get up and fell forward. He carried her to a nearby house. A physician was called.

Deborah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Lynn Beard, is recovering from a severe case of exposure.

Beard said one of his employes drove Deborah to school. No one of the family had heard that the school had closed.

Because of an increasing number of traffic fatalities, automobiles in Sweden are now being equipped more and more with safety belts.

Gas Shortage Grips Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—A shortage of natural gas caused hundreds of schools and industries to close in Georgia today during one of the bitterest cold spells ever to hit the stat.

Temperatures dropped to zero in the north Georgia mountains and five degrees in Atlanta.

All gas-heated public schools in the Atlanta area were closed because of the gas shortage. The Atlanta Gas Light Co. requested the closing in order to supply gas to homes.

Schools were closed in 20 counties.

A spokesman said the gas company had cut off gas to 775 regular large customers, including such industries as the Ford assembly plant and General Motors.

Hospitals, private consumers and industries, such as dairies, which rely solely on gas heat were not affected, the spokesman said.

The company serves 58 communities in 29 counties.

The spokesman said a special 18-car train, with a 10,000-gallon capacity of liquid petroleum per car, is being sent to Atlanta from various points in the South to relieve the shortage.

GM Reports Profits Down

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. reports sales were up but earnings were down last year in contrast to Ford and Chrysler reports of both increased profits and sales for 1957.

The giant General Motors, largest of the Big Three auto companies, said in its annual report yesterday that earnings for 1957 were $843,592,000 compared with $847,396,000 for 1956, a decline of one-half of one per cent.

Ford previously reported earnings for 1957 were up $46,200,000 to $282,800,000. Chrysler said earnings for the year were more than six times higher than 1956, jumping to $119,952,406.

GM sales totaled $10,989,813,000, second only to the record $12,443,277,000 posted in 1955, the auto industry's banner year. Sales in 1956 were $10,796,443,000.

Ford sales for 1957 came to $5,771,300,000 or 24.2 per cent greater than in 1956. Chrysler, capturing its biggest share of the auto and truck market since 1953 reported record sales of $3,564,982,310, up 33 per cent over 1956.

General Motors blamed its drop in profits on higher costs.

Milwaukee Should Enjoy Free Cooling

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukeeans, who could cool off at no cost this morning just by stepping out into three below zero weather, may have to pay a $10 tax to cool off in the summer—if they use husky water-cooled air conditioning units.

Wisconsin's Public Service commission gave Milwaukee permission to impose the annual surcharge on units of more than three-ton capacity unless the machines are equipped with water conserving devices.

Houston Symphony Orchestra To Be Presented Here Friday

The Snyder Civic Music Association will present one of their outstanding programs Friday evening in the High School Auditorium. The people of Snyder have made this presentation possible through their memberships to the Civic Music. With the many fine programs slated for this year it stands to reason, many prsons will be a little sorry they did not join the group.

Below are a few of the press comments which have been made of the Houston Symphony which will appear here Friday night.

VIRGIL THOMSON, New York Herald Tribune: — "The Houston Symphony Orchestra is a virtuoso group comparable throughout to the Northern orchestras. A powerful and solidly blended string body, completed by excellent woodwinds and brasses and topped off by impeccable soloists in all the sections, gives the color range completeness and flexibility."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE: — "A crisp competent orchestra. The players are young, they sit on the edge of their chairs at the performances, there is a cold, clean line to the best of their work. And they can handle an adroitly scaled mass of climatic tone."

ST. LOUIS STAR-TIMES: — "In a program that varied from Bach to Prokofieff, the Houston Orchestra showed its versatility . . its performance was marked with vigor."

THE COMMERCIAL APPEAL (Memphis): — "New Texas boasting material is seen in Houston Symphony."

THE MIAMI HERALD: —"Packed house thrilled by Houston Symphony."

THE ROANOKE TIMES: — "Houston Orchestra gives inspiring presentation."

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT "The players measured up to the merciless demands (of Beethoven's Third Symphony) without a sign of faltering and with virtuostic touches generously scattered, like spangles on an orchestral cloth."

TITLE WINNER—Jean Carter, a red-haired beauty from Atlanta, Ga., is the 1958 Maid of Cotton. She won the title in competition with 19 other Cotton Belt beauties in Memphis, Tenn.

1958 Maid Of Cotton

What does it mean to be Maid of Cotton?

Jean Carter of Atlanta, Ga., told an audience of some 6,500 persons in Memphis, Tenn., that "the Maid of Cotton must be many things — demure as organdy on occasion, gay as print when the mood is right, sensible and serviceable as calico."

These words, from a speech made during contest finals on January 3, helped the 20-year-old Georgia beauty win the title of 1958 Maid of Cotton.

Jean is all the things she described and much more. Prior to her selection as Maid of Cotton, she was an honor student, campus beauty, and cheerleader at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. She has red hair, brown eyes, and is five feet, eight inches tall.

As fashion and good will envoy for the cotton industry, Jean will visit more than 40 major cities in the United States, Canada and Europe. She flew via British Overseas Airways to Jamaica on January 28 for the opening of her 50,000-mile international tour.

The Maid of Cotton tour is sponsored annually by the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival Association, and the Cotton Exchanges of Memphis, New Orleans, and New York.

Slim Lead Is Followed In Extortion Try

By RAYMOND WATERS
Hobbs News-Sun Staff

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Texas police followed up one slim lead today in the attempted extortion of $20,000 from a Hobbs banker.

Officers at Odessa said the male member of a couple seen near the spot where banker A. C. Kimbrough was ordered to deposit $20,000 has agreed to take a lie detector test.

Sheriff Jewell McAdoo said the man "told a straight story" and was apparently in the clear.

Kimbrough, chairman of the First National Bank here, was called yesterday by a man who said he had kidnaped and was holding the banker's wife and 84-year-old mother-in-law. He issued instructions for leaving $20,000 under a yucca plant 14 miles south of here—but failed to show up.

The banker took $4,000 in cash and drove alone to the deserted spot where the man's voice had told him he would find his wife, Emma, 65, and her mother, Mrs. Lula Russell, safe if he left the money.

When he failed to find the women, he turned back and recovered the money, then began to look on other side roads for the kidnapers.

But Mrs. Kimbrough and her mother had not been kidnaped. They were in Seminole, Tex., 29 miles east of Hobbs, where Mrs. Russell had been confined to a hospital Sunday afternoon.

They knew nothing of the extortion call until Chief Earl Westfall of the city police called the Gaines County Hospital to check their whereabouts.

By the time he had learned they were safe, Kimbrough already had left on his solitary and dangerous mission. The call to Kimbrough came at 10:45 a.m. when a deep, masculine voice with no drawl, accent or brogue asked him: "Is this A. C. Kimbrough?"

When acknowledged, the voice continued: "Well, your wife has been kidnaped and we want $20,000."

"I thought it was a joke," the banker, 68, said, "and asked him 'What do you mean, man?' The man said 'We have your wife and we want $20,000, and it will be too bad if we don't get it. We mean business.'

The man replied, "She's with your wife and we don't want any monkey business."

The man warned Kimbrough not to go to police and not to call the FBI.

"We've got police radios," he said.

Kimbrough took the money from his account in $100, $50 and $20 bills. Serial numbers were recorded. Then he called the Albuquerque FBI Office and the Hobbs chief of police.

Westfall asked Kimbrough to give him five minutes before starting with the money. Kimbrough agreed.

Westfall called two pilots and asked them to fly over the area.

"If Kimbrough finds his wife and mother, he will wave a handkerchief at you," Westfall told them, "and you are to follow any car that stops at the cattleguard."

Westfall then set up roadblocks by telephone, and all available city police, sheriff's officers and state police began converging cautiously on the scene.

When he reached the highway he saw a car parked on another road to the east. In it was a woman. A man stood outside. He drove to the car, stopped and said:

"I'm supposed to meet a fella down here and I'm not sure I'm on the right road. Have you seen another car?"

The man answered no.

Kimbrough searched other dirt roads west of the highway, then came to a roadblock where he learned his wife and mother-in-law were safe in Seminole.

Kimbrough joined Sheriff Jewell McAdoo and undersheriff J. C. Fort to search for the car in which he had seen the couple. They were no longer there.

About an hour later, Odessa authorities picked up the car there, 75 miles from where Kimbrough had seen it.

SPY TRIES HEAVY DIET

NEW YORK (AP) — Convicted Russian spy Jack Soble swallowed a quantity of rivets, nuts and bolts shortly before being brought here from prison for further questioning on espionage, U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams announced today.

Soble underwent a 2-hour and 20-minute operation at Bellevue Hospital for removal of the hardware from his stomach.

Physicians reported him doing very well after the surgery.

Soble, 55, was brought here Sunday from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where he has been serving a seven-year sentence.

Williams said that the prisoner will be returned to a cell at the federal house of detention in four or five days to await call before a grand jury which is investigating espionage.

Soble has been working in the Lewisburg warehouse where he had access to the hardware, Williams said.

"On Sunday afternoon he complained about being sick and was taken to Bellevue and X rayed," Williams said.

"Following those X rays, my office was told by the doctors that operative procedures would be necessary to save his life, and I authorized an operation for Monday morning."

Soble was sentenced to prison last Oct. 8 after pleading guilty to spy charges. He helped federal authorities trace an espionage ring he had headed for a decade.

Youth Hauled From Ft. Worth Building

FORT WORTH (AP)—Screaming he was going to kill himself because he was the black sheep of the family, a youth clung precariously to a steel beam eight floors above the ground for 75 minutes early today before police pulled him to safety.

Spotlighted by fire trucks and television cameramen, James Love, 17, a lumber hauler, maintained his perch for an hour and a quarter in the near-freezing weather atop the framework of a freight elevator shaft being constructed at the new criminal courts building here.

Cold and trembling, he readily accepted aid when two officers managed to reach him at 4:15 a.m. He was taken to a police station and booked for drunkenness.

Love's climb to the top of the elevator shaft climaxed an evening that started after a Dallas girl friend jilted him. Driving to Fort Worth, he picked up another girl friend who works in a tavern, police recounted. After visiting an after-hours dancing spot and drinking beer, the girl said Love suddenly told her:

"I think I'll climb up on a building and look at the city." Then he drove to the courthouse.

He ran to the elevator framework and scampered up to the eighth-floor beam.

Firemen held a life net until their arms ached and they had to put it down.

An hour after Love had taken up his perch, policemen John English and H. G. Phillips started making their way up the steel framework.

English touched Love with his hand. The youth agreed to go down with them if he could. Then gripping the trembling youth to keep him from falling, they worked their way back to safety.

Little Rock Negro Expelled

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock School Board last night expelled Minniejean Brown, one of nine Negroes admitted to Central High School last fall.

Supt. Virgil T. Blossom, who recommended the action against the 16-year-old girl, said Minniejean could not attend a public school, white or Negro, in the Little Rock district until next September.

The decision to expel Minniejean, who already was under a two-week suspension, came a few hours after Blossom disclosed that three white students — two boys and a girl—were suspended after racial incidents Monday at the 2,000-pupil school.

W. B. Brown, father of the Negro girl who claims she has been the main target of segregationist students during the five months the Negroes have attended Central, labelled the suspension as "very unfair."

The announcement came about two hours after Minniejean and her parents met with the board in a closed session.

Mrs. Brown said: "I shall consult my attorneys immediately and be governed by their advice."

Clarence Laws, NAACP field secretary at Little Rock, termed the decision "a clear abandonment of justice and fair play."

School officials have declined to give reasons for Minniejean's latest suspension. The suspension followed a corridor clash between the Negro and a white girl. Minniejean has said the white girl struck her with a purse after "I called her white trash, because she was bothering me." Minniejean previously was suspended for about two weeks for throwing food on two white boys in the school cafeteria.

Blossom identified the suspended white students as Howard Cooper, Billy Ferguson and Sammie Dean Parker. In accordance with board policy, he declined to give details.

A. E. Cooper, father of the 16-year-old Howard, said his son was punished for wearing a billfold-sized card bearing the words, "One down, eight to go." The reference obviously was to Minniejean as the board was expected to sustain Blossom's recommendation.

Young Cooper said he was wearing the card "to show what I believe in."

Houston Studying Integration Step

HOUSTON (AP) — Acting School Supt. G. C. Scarborough said yesterday that the Houston School Board would take what it considers its first step toward racial integration of schools.

The step will not soon lead to desegregation of the city's schools.

He said the program would allow Negro elementary school teachers and principals to observe Negro students being instructed by white supervisors. He said the program was planned after a study showed that in some cases, Negro students were as much as three grade levels behind white students.

It was this difference in learning levels which the board used as an argument for delaying desegregation during trial of the case before Federal Judge Ben C. Connally in May, 1957.

The action consists of an upgrading program for Negro school officials and students in the first grade through the sixth. Dr. Charles Nelson, assistant superintendent, said the program would raise the level of pupil achievement in the next three years.

Scarborough said that to mix children learning levels into classes would be a "great hardship on the teachers."

One point in the program would be the construction of a special temporary building designed so groups of Negro teachers and principals could secretly observe—through the use of a one-way mirror—as white supervisors instruct Negro pupils.

School board minority member Dr. W. W. Kemmerer said last night that Scarborough was given his job as acting superintendent as a political payoff. Kemmerer made the statement at a meeting of the Houston Assn. for Better Schools.

"I do not think teachers or principals should have anything to do with actively campaigning for a school board member," Kemmerer said.

He said that "after the last (school board) election, one of our high school principals came up to one of the newly elected four board members and shook hands with him. The principal was told what a fine job he did helping in the election. That man is now acting superintendent."

Kemmerer told a reporter that the board member in question was Dr. Henry A. Petersen.

Panel Slates More Studies

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Tax Study Commission continues its look at taxation in Texas on all levels Thursday. A University of Texas professor is expected to point out new ways to get more tax dollars.

Dr. Cary Thompson has been invited to appear before the commission at its second meeting in San Antonio, Chairman Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria said.

"I plan to talk about the possibilities of using some other kind of taxes," Thompson said.

Several individuals and groups have indicated they also would appear, Fly said. They include:

The Municipal Assessing Officers Assn.; Bexar County Commissioner Sam Jorrie; former House Speaker W. O. Read; the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, represented by executive vice president Herschel Nix of San Antonio; the San Antonio Taxpayers League; the American GI Forum; the Texas AFL-CIO; and the Southeast Taxpayers League of San Antonio.

Summerfield Favors Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield says he favors a salary increase for postal workers but contends it is a "cruel hoax . . . to give false hope that exorbitant pay increases will be realized."

Summerfield declined, however, to predict whether President Eisenhower would veto a Democratic-sponsored bill to give the nation's half million postal workers a 7½ per cent pay boost plus flat increases for workers in lower pay brackets.

"I have not explored that issue," Summerfield told the House Post Office Committee.

The House group is considering an administration-backed bill for a 6 per cent increase. Summerfield estimated the cost at approximately 160 million dollars a year. The rival Democratic bill, expected to come up for a Senate vote this week, would cost an estimated twice as much.

Pact Okayed By Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's Parliament today unanimously approved the proclamation of Jordan-Iraq federation signed last Friday.

King Hussein, who signed the agreement with Iraq's King Faisal II, was enthusiastically received when he appeared in military uniform before the joint session.

Iraq's ambassador to Turkey said in Istanbul earlier that the federation would not take Iraq out of the five-nation Baghdad Pact.

The new Arab union of Egypt and Syria received formal recognition from Japan. Yutaka Tsuchiya, ambassador to Egypt and minister to Syria, was appointed ambassador to the United Arab Republic.

Silent Service Is Conducted In Church

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Seventy-five members of the congregationsang lustily a t a revival service opening at the Hampton Place Baptist church but you couldn't hear a note.

The Rev. Leslie Gunn of Oklahoma City delivered a sermon. Again no sound.

All the church members are deaf. Their songs and the evangelist's sermons are in sign language.

Business Is Called Normal

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is in a "normal" condition these days after going through a prolonged boom, an economist said today.

Walter Hoadley Jr., treasurer of Armstrong Cork Co. and president of American Statistical Assn., told the American Paper & Pulp Assn.:

"Business will be marked by an irregular course all year, without basic improvement or deterioration. In fact, during this interim period, it should be possible to prove by selective statistics either that general business is getting stronger or weaker, but in the end observed changes do not promise to be great."

John Vogel, economist of the APPA, sees an upturn in the second half of the year as "the net effect of governmental action, the end of inventory liquidation and the so-called built-in stabilizers."

Four Directors Are Named By Junior Livestock Assn.

A barbecue supper honoring all 4-H Club and Future Farmer of America boys and girls in Scurry County was given last night in the exhibit building in Towle Memorial Park by the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association.

Barbecue was served to about 125 persons.

Election of four directors was held immediately following the supper.

Max West, one of the three outgoing members of the board of directors of the association, was one year of the unexpired term of Edwin Parks, who had to resign recently.

West, Holman Odom and Jack Martin are the out-going directors.

Eected to the three two-year posts on the board were C. V. (Whit) Thompson, Jr., Freddy Bullard and Bill F Zimmerman.

Odom, the president, has served as a member of the board of directors of the association for the past 10 years.

Also nominated in the board election last night were Richard Stoker, Alvin Koonsman and Alfred Beavers.

Odom briefly discussed the 1958 Scurry County Junior Lovestock Show which will be held here Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week, and the sale of show animals which will follow the show's last judgings on Saturday afternoon.

He urged everyone who can purchase a show animal to do so, or for a number of persons to join together to purchase one animal.

Odom also reported that this has been the association's most successful year.

"We now have approximately 240 members in the association constituting the largest membership in the history of the organization," he added.

Child Sees Snow For The First Time

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Raymond Christenbury, 11, saw snow yesterday for the first time—right on his front porch.

Frank Poleck, a family friend, arrived on a visit from Fulton, N.Y.

The back of his pickup truck was loaded with 200 pounds of snow.

Raymond immediately built a snowman.

Dec. 11 Marks Beginning Of Disastrous Florida Winter

By BEN FUNK

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — The first cold wave of Florida's worst winter poured down the peninsula the night of last Dec. 11.

There was plenty of warning. The Federal-State Frost Warning Service alerts Florida people at least 24 hours ahead of time.

The cattle rancher, the vegetable grower and the citrus farmer had time to get ready.

After midnight, as temperatures dropped to the damger point J. O. Pearce Jr., a cattle rancher near the shore of Lake Okeechobee, became concerned.

West of Okeechobee, in the great winter vegetable-growing region around Immokalee, Ewell Moore studied the plunging thermometer with dismay.

Northward, in the citrus area near Orlando, Ernest S. Dill worried about the 70-acre citrus grove he had carefully cultivated since 1927.

Thus began the most disastrous winter Florida has ever known.

Since Dec. 11, other cold waves have followed in fearful regularity. In between, torrential rains have fallen.

On brown pastures, where at this time of year the clover ought to be standing tall and green, cattle are starving.

In the citrus belt, 30 million boxes of fruit have been killed.

Truck crops on which much of America depends for its fresh salads in wintertime have been ploughed under, frost-blackened and dead.

Pearce has been forced to sell 1,000 of his 3,000 cattle because there is no feed. He has burned 35 carcasses of cattle killed by pneumonia.

He estimates next year's calf crop will be only 20 per cent of normal. It will take three years to rebuild the depleted herds.

Pearce, president of the Florida Cattlemen's Assn., predicted recently that if the bad weather continued through February, 275,000 head of cattle would die in south Florida.

At Immokalee, there has been ice on the vegetable fields, 20 to 25 inches of rain in six weeks—continuous cold and biting winds.

Moore has ploughed under one crop of tomatoes, cucumbers, corn and watermelons and half of another. His third crop of the winter is just beginning to sprout.

The temperature Dec. 12 dropped to 24 and killed the foliage on many of Dill's citrus trees, which had been heavily burdened with one of the best crops he'd ever had. Much new growth which had popped out on the trees after the December freeze has now been killed. About 6,000 boxes of fruit froze on his trees.

Conelrad To Get A New Assignment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conelrad, the radio and television signal designed to broadcast warning of an enemy attack, is getting a new job—alerting listeners for emergency storm and flood warnings.

Announcing this today, the U.S. Weather Bureau said the Conelrad attention signal will be employed, however, "only in the most serious emergencies."

As examples, the bureau listed hurricane's suddenly changing course, a tornado approaching a city or a flash flood building up from torrential rains and sweeping down a river valley.

After the warning signal has been sounded, the weather bulletins will be broadcast on the station's regular frequency, rather than on special Conelrad frequencies.

The bureau said it will take several months to complete arrangements with radio and television stations but that it expects the new storm warning system to be in effect in most areas in time for the 1958 tornado and hurricane season, presumably by late summer.

Under an actual defense alert, radio and TV stations must go off the air and any transmissions are broadcast only on the special Conelrad frequencies of 640 and 1240 kilocycles.

Symington Bills Himself For Taxes

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sen Symington (D-Mo) did some figuring and billed himself for personal taxes.

The senator was puzzled when he failed to receive a 1957 tax bill from the St. Louis County collector. He had paid county taxes for many years.

Symington went to the collector's office to inquire why he had been skipped. No one seemed to know.

He still didn't get a tax bill, so he decided to bill himself.

He compared his 1955 and 1956 returns and figured there had been a 16 per cent increase. So he added 16 per cent to his 1956 payment and sent a check for $57.07 to the collector's office.

Lesson Given In Grooming

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Trips to a barber, a clothing store—or both—were ordered for 13 teenage boys suspended from a high school for failure to comply with a "good grooming" code.

Suspensions were ordered yesterday by Glenn Anderberg, dean of boys at Waukegan Township High School.

Anderberg said the boys will be readmitted when they trim their "ducktail" haircuts and wear pants that are not too tight or too droopy.

"We set up the rule when we learned that boys that dress like cowboys tend to act like cowboys," Anderberg said. "Those that dress like students, act like students."

Anderberg said it was encouraging to note that only 1 per cent of the school's 1,300 boys failed to comply with the new code, drawn up by the faculty.

"Generally, we're very proud of our students," he said.

The rule applies only to boys.

"We have no trouble with our 1,100 girls," Anderberg said. "They're all proud of being young ladies and they look very sweet and charming."

Man Capable Of Space Trip

Separate events which occurred over the weekend indicated that manned space ships may be expected in the near future, and that mechanical "bugs" rather than human frailties still present the most formidable obstacle to such a feat.

At San Antonio, Airman Donald G. Farrell completed a seven-day "trip" in a make believe space ship. Apparently he suffered no ill effects from the experience.

Although every effort was made to simulate conditions on a space ship, actual flight on such a vehicle likely will involve more than Airman Farrell encountered. Still, the relative ease with which he withstood the week-long test is indication enough that man will be able to take it when the proper vehicles are provided.

A few hours earlier, a mechanical "bug" disrupted a test launching of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile at the last moment. Something went haywire after the button had been pressed, and the blastoff was discontinued almost by the time it started.

The Atlas is about the nearest thing to a "proven" space vehicle this country has at the moment, and it is the only intercontinental ballistic missile the free world possesses.

So far, successful firings have been in the minority at the Cape Canaveral launching area, despite the fact that an earth satellite has been thrust into orbit and several shorter range missiles have performed according to blue prints.

The long haul on space travel development still confronts us, but man apparently is equipped to ride anything he can build.

Letters May Stall All Hope For Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There'll probably never be a summit conference if President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Bulganin keep on writing each other letters about it. Their letters sound increasingly bitter. They've reached a deadend.

After two months and five letters—three from Bulganin to Eisenhower, two from Eisenhower to Bulganin—the two heads of government have arrived exactly nowhere. They've agreed on nothing except that peace is better than war.

Both men are probably fed up with the long-winded exchanges. Eisenhower is. He plainly suggested it's time to cut out the letter writing and try something else.

"We must," he said, "find some ways other than mere prolongation of repetitive public debate."

But, judging from Bulganin's past performance, he'll probably write more letters and Eisenhower, out of international courtesy, will probably answer them.

There's been talk in Washington for weeks now that the Eisenhower administration — despite the barren results of the letter writing — is reconciled to the idea that a summit conference will be held this year, perhaps in the summer.

But Eisenhower's latest letter to Bulganin—sent yesterday— shows no signs of it. He practically accused Bulganin of being either a windbag or a phony.

He told him: "With respect to the meeting of heads of government, the cumulative effect of your last three missives is to leave considerable puzzlement as to what you think another such meeting like the summit meeting in 1955 could contribute to a genuine settlement of our problems."

All this doesn't necessarily mean the end to efforts toward a summit meeting. Although Eisenhower indicated he's getting bored with the letter exchanges, he held open a door.

He suggested:

1. Some arrangements for a summit meeting might be worked out through the American ambassador in Moscow and the Soviet ambassador here. Arrangements in this case mean some agreement on what should be discussed at the summit.

2. The foreign ministers might try to work out something. On this one point Eisenhower seemed to yield a point. He didn't say Secretary of State Dulles and the Soviet foreign minister would have to meet.

Bulganin, in his last letter, took a swipe at Dulles by ruling out a foreign ministers' meeting as useless.

Eisenhower didn't insist on such a meeting as necessary before a summit meeting. He talked vaguely of an "exchange of views" between the foreign ministers.

But he didn't let Bulganin push Dulles out of the picture. Eisenhower said Dulles would have to have a hand in any arrangements that were made. The next move is up to the Soviets.

Schwartz Has A New Word

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Schwartz, the erudite former counsel and later star witness of the House subcommittee investigating regulatory bodies, sprung this word on his questioners.

"Overdichotomize."

That, he told the subcommittee yesterday, is what some members of commissions do when they insist on fine distinctions between the judicial and the legislative aspects of their work.

Nobody asked him for a definition. Webster's Unabridged says dichotomize means to divide into two or more parts, as for analysis.

New Life Can Begin At 70

EDITOR'S NOTE—If you want to stay young, actor Ed Wynn thinks, you must think and act young. Wynn has certainly done that—but he had to overcome moments of despondency when, nearing 70, he felt that life had shouldered him aside. This is the first of four articles by prominent people on the subject of old age.

By ED WYNN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It isn't given to many people to start a whole new, exciting career after the age of 70, but I have been so blessed.

For 54 years, I thought that God put me on this earth to make people laugh. I never worked at any other profession.

As I neared my 70th year, I was told I could not get work as a comedian. The men who run the television shows said the trend was against comedy, that the people wanted drama for their entertainment.

This was hard for me to take. I had never been anything but a star. I had produced and owned my own shows on Broadway. I had starred in the golden days of radio as the Fire Chief. I had won top awards in television, which I pioneered on the West Coast; mine was the first show to go across the country from west to east.

I was depressed. I felt that I had been passed by. But my son Keenan and others urged me to keep active. I was offered a serious role in the movie, "The Great Man." I was hesitant because I had never played a dramatic role in my life. But I did it.

The results were beyond my wildest dreams. I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find, and I was sought by many film and TV producers for serious roles. I was also in demand as a comedian, earning as much money as a guest star on TV as I had ever been given.

Naturally, this has been highly gratifying to me as an artist. But I have enjoyed even more the inspiration that my example has apparently given to other mature citizens.

I have been asked by several organizations and governmental groups for my ideas on such matters as growing old and retiring, and I have been happy to oblige. One of the most recent came from the New York State Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging.

Some of my ideas are strictly personal. I may be unique in that I feel I have always had a Peter Pan mind. I have thought of myself as young all my life, and I still feel that way at 71. This latest boost to my career has been so exhilarating that it takes me back 25 or 30 years in outlook.

This is corroborated by my doctor, who says that I am in the physical condition of a man much younger than my years. I feel that if you want to stay young, you must think and act young.

I don't mean that you must kick up your heels at a night club, though I do enjoy late parties if the company is stimulating. The important things is not to let yourself be caught in the aging process. I have no desire to sit around and talk about the old days with my contemporaries. I'd much rather discuss the present and the future with younger people.

I remember with great fondness the party Keenan gave for me on my 70th birthday. Out of a sizable crowd, not one guest was over 40.

I believe there are great dangers in retirement. No one should retire or be forced to retire on th basis of age alone. Disability should be the basis for retirement, especially in hazardous occupations where age might impair coordination.

All Americans can be heartened by the example of President Eisenhower, despite three attacks of serious illness, he is still going strong at 67 and will not retire.

If you must retire, I feel the most important thing is to keep your mind active. Find new interests, new activities, new friends to keep your mind alive.

I believe it's a good idea for retired people to move to a new neighborhood instead of living years. The reason is that your younger, unretired friends may be too busy to spend time with you and you are liable to become a very lonely person.

Move to some other town where there are retired people and you will have companionship. One of the dreadful things about old age is loneliness. It can be avoided if you remain an interesting person yourself.

Another danger of old age is exaggeration. If your mind isn't active, your fears can be blown up beyond all proportions. You begin to worry that each ache and pain is a portent of death, that your children don't want you any more. You worry about your financial status, even about crossing a street.

I've found a formula for avoiding these exaggerated fears of age. YOU take care of every day; let the calendar take care of the years.

My only other advice for a long life is just this:

Keep breathing.

(Tomorrow: Geraldine Farrar.)

St. Laurent Quits Office In Canada

QUEBEC (AP)—Louis St. Laurent, grand old man of Canadian politics, last night announced his retirement from political office after 17 years.

The 76-year-old former Prime Minister said he would not seek re-election to Parliament in the general election, March 31. He said his health was too uncertain.

St. Laurent resigned as prime minister last June after his Liberal party lost its first national election in 22 years. On Sept. 6 he announced he was giving up the party leadership, which a convention last month gave to Lester B. Pearson.

The French Canadian leader is expected to practice law in Quebec with two sons.

St. Laurent was a $50,000-a-year corporation lawyer in December 1941 when Prime Minister Mackenzie King named him justice minister and attorney general. Early the next year he entered Parliament by winning the Quebec East seat.

In 1946 he became foreign minister and helped found the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. When King retired he picked St. Laurent to succeed him.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

LAKE VIEW'S STAR forward, Rex Wilson, needs 24 points against the Tigers tonight to repeat as the individual scoring champion in District 3-AAA.

Wilson goes into tonight's game with 120 points with one game to go. Richard Compton of Colorado City leads with 143 points but the Wolves have already finished the season.

No one else is close to these two fellows in individual scoring.

In fact, only one other player at the moment is hitting in triple figures — 100 points or more. He is Paul Holcomb of Sweetwater who has scored 104 points with one game left.

The only other player who is virtually certain of topping the 100 mark is Jimmy Tomlinson of Lake View who needs only two points in tonight's finale with the Tigers to reach the century mark.

Reed Closest Tiger To Century Mark

It doesn't appear that the Tigers will have a single player to reach the 100 mark in district play. Leon Reed, with 78 points, is closest to the century figure among the Tigers. Bill Phillips is next with 77 and John Ward follows with 73.

It's possible that one of the three could make it but since the Tiger scoring is generally distributed evenly, it isn't likely that the Bengals will have a player in triple-figures.

Billy Winans of Lake View with 82, Jackie McKinney of Lamesa with 83 and Neilson Greer of Sweetwater with 81 are within striking distance of the 100 mark.

Each of these players, of course, have one game left to play.

Wilson, by the way, won the scoring title last year with 160 points in eight games for a 20.0 average. Wilson just barely nipped the Tigers' Milton Ham for the scoring crown. Ham tossed in 159 points to fall one point shy.

Compton, incidentally, who is in a good position to win the scoring title, is a former Snyderite.

Compton attended junior high school here. Compton, to be sure, could have certainly boosted the Tiger stock the past two seasons, not only in basketball but football as well.

Region Meeting Tentatively Set

In the event the Tigers wrap up the 3-AAA title and Hereford clinches the 1-AAA crown tonight, a meeting of officials from the title winning schools in Region 1-3A will be held at Lubbock tomorrow morning at 10.

Hereford, like the Tigers, has clinched at least a tie for the 1-AAA crown. The Whitefaces meet Dumas tonight and by winning the Herd will nail down the pennant. But a Dumas win will drop Hereford into a two-way title deadlock with Phillips which has already finished its schedule.

Already in with their district titles in this region are Kermit in 2-AAA and Graham in 4-AAA.

Tomorrow's meeting at Lubbock would be to determine what procedure to take in executing the playoffs. Each region has two alternatives, hold a tournament or go the bi-district route.

Weather permitting, the Tigers will open spring football training Thursday. Coach John Conley will start the drills the first good day, weather-wise, from Thursday on.

Once started, the drills must be completed in 21 days. In West Texas, schools are only "assured" of one good day for spring training — the first day. Even if it snows every day after you once start this time will be counted against you.

The spring drills will be completed in time for the annual Canyon Reef Relays here March 15.

By holding the spring drills now, it won't interfere much with the spring sports, a matter which Coach Conley took into consideration in setting up the spring training dates.

H'leigh Bows In Playoff

Westbrook girls defeated Hermleigh in two straight games in a playoff for the runnerup spot in the District 16-B standings, winning the second game last night at Westbrook, 36-20.

Westbrook had won the first game of the best of three series at Hermleigh Friday night, 28-22. Westbrook will now meet the regular season champion, Loraine, for the district championship.

Hermleigh, coached by Willie Bigham, shared the runnerup spot in the district race with Westbrook each with 5-3 records.

As set up by the district, the first and second place teams in both the boys and girls divisions will meet in a post-season series for the district championship. Westbrook and Loraine also gained the finals in the boys division.

3 Big SWC Games On Tap

By The Associated Press

There's a lot of action in the waning Southwest Conference basketball campaign Tuesday night.

Three big games are on tap in the well-scrambled race.

Southern Methodist plays Rice at Dallas. Texas Christian meets Baylor in the Bears' den at Waco. And Texas Tech hosts Texas at Lubbock.

Baylor at Waco will be gunning for its second victory of the campaign and a Baylor upset would just about finish Texas Christian in the conference race.

At Lubbock, where Tech is playing its first season of Southwest Conference competition, there might be another WC attendance record set. Tech has been setting them regularly with home games in the Tech field house.

Arkansas leads the pack down the home stretch. But nearly every team in the league, with the exception of one-winner Baylor, still has a chance to share in the championship.

Rice and exuberant Texas Tech are tied for second place, just a half game back of the Razorbacks.

Canyon Reef, Boys Club In City Victories

Canyon Reef Sports Center and the Boys Club retained their Nos. 1 and 2 position in the City League standings last night with victories over Brooks Oil and D&H Food Store respectively at Junior High Gym.

Leading Canyon Reef chilled Brooks' hopes at the league title with a 70-55 victory. The Boys Club outlasted D&H 70-62 to keep close on the heels of Canyon Reef.

Ken Sewell led Canyon Reef to victory with 20 points, followed by Berman Corbell with 17 and Bob Womack with 14.

Dwayne Prince led Brooks with 28.

Canyon Reef led by only one point at halftime, 27-26, but pulled away in the third quarter and breezed home in the final period.

Ned Underwood scorched the nets for 46 points to lead the Boys Club past D&H. Carroll Hatter was high for D&H with 28.

D&H stayed close through most of the game, trailing by only four points after three quarters, 54-50. But, with Underwood scoring 11 points in the fourth, the Boys Club staved off the D&H threat.

Tiger 5 Seeks Title Clincher

The Tiger basketeers will be out to put the finishing touches on their claim for their second straight District 3-AAA title tonight when they go against the Lake View Chiefs at Lake View.

Tip off time will be at 8.

A Tiger victiry will hand the title outright to the Bengals. However, should Lake View upset the Bengals and Sweetwater defeats Lamesa in tonight's other conference game, the Tigers and Sweetwater would share the 3-AAA crown.

Snyder owns a 6-1 district record to Sweetwater's 5-2. In the event the race ends in a tie, a playoff would be necessary to determine which team would compete in the playoffs.

Lake View, despite its 2-5 district record, has been making it tough on all district foes. Four of the five chief losses in district play have been administered by seven points or less.

The Chiefs in fact, extended the Tigers into an overtime period in the first round of the double-round robin before the Black and Golders pulled the game out of the fire, 44-42.

Lake View held a two-point lead going into the final 10 seconds of the regulation game but Israel Hinojos tied it up for the Tigers just before the buzzer, 42-42. Then John Ward gave the Tigers the victory with a field goal in the overtime, 44-42.

Other than the loss to the Tigers, Lake View lost a two-point decision to Lamesa, 52-50; a three-pointer to Colorado City, 69-66; and the Chiefs were beaten twice by Sweetwater, 83-68 and 76-69.

Lake View's two conference victories were over Colorado City, 59-33; and Lamesa 60-57. The Chiefs have won two out of three district games at home.

The Tigers' only conference defeat was a 46-45 decision to Lamesa in Lamesa. The Bengals led in this game until the final minute when Lamesa rallied to pull the game out.

The six Tiger victories in conference play includes two wins over Colorado City, 56-40 and 66-53; two over Sweetwater, 58-47 and 61-46; and once each over Lamesa 59-52, and Lake View, 44-42.

The Tigers are expected to have all hands ready for battle tonight but forward John Ward probably won't be in peak condition. Ward broke out with the 3-day measles after the Sweetwater game Friday but he has about recovered.

Main concern in the Tiger ranks is to stop the scoring antics of Rex Wilson, 6-4 forward, and two of his mates, Jimmy Tomlinson and Billy Winans. Wilson has scored 120 points in seven district games to 98 for Tomlinson and 82 for Winans.

Leon Reed is the top Tiger scorer in district play with 78 points.

K-State Holds No. 1 Spot In AP Poll

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Oscar Robertson may not be gaining ground in the race for the scoring title, but he's triggering Cincinnati's late surge in the Associated Press poll that could set up a storybook showdown with top-ranked Kansas State in the NCAA major college basketball tournament.

Robertson, still less than a point behind Elgin Baylor of Seattle in scoring, counted 43 last night as Cincinnati whipped Drake 98-64 for a 19-2 record and an 11-game winning streak.

That string hoisted the Bearcats from third to second in today's AP poll and left Kansas State and Cincinnati well ahead of the field.

Kansas State (17-1) picked up 33 first-place votes to Cincinnati's 37, but pulled in enough support on points (based on 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., down to 1 for 10th) to edge the Bearcats 980 to 971.

State, idle last night, holds the inside lane in the run for the Big Eight title while Cincinnati looks like a shoo-in for the Missouri Valley championship. The Big Eight and Mo-Valley winners meet March 14 at Lawrence, Kan. in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Once-beaten West Virginia slipped to third in today's rankings, but won its 21st night in a 98-66 decision over Detroit.

Kansas, ranked No. 4, moved within 1½ games of Kansas State in the Big Eight as Wilt Chamberlain scored 34 in an 84-69 victory over Missouri. The Jayhawks now are 16-3.

San Francisco (no. 5) won its 20th in 21 starts, smacking Fresno State 68-59. But Oklahoma State (no. 8) was knocked off by 15th-ranked Bradley 57-43.

Robertson, battled by Red Murrell for the first 20 minutes, hit 17 of 22 field goal attempts as the Bearcats sank better than 50 per cent (39 of 77) as a unit. Murrell finished with 30 points.

The standings with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Kansas State (33	980
2.	Cincinnati (37	971
3.	West Virginia (27)	859
4.	Kansas	668
5.	San Francisco (2)	648
6.	Temple (13)	529
7.	Duke (6)	518
8.	Oklahoma State (1)	387
9.	N.C. State	215
10.	Notre Dame (2)	153

The second 10:

11.	Dayton	136
12.	Michigan State	93
13.	Kentucky	86
14.	Maryland	84
15.	Bradley	83

Champions Crowned In State GG

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—One of Texas' strongest Golden Gloves teams in years, headed by a couple of clever little men—Jesse Leija and Victor Graffio—will go to Chicago next Saturday to compete in the Tournament of Champions.

The eight men entitled to represent Texas were determined last night as a crowd of 6,000 watched an action-filled program. Two of the fighters winning crowns may not make the trip, however.

Bob May, the 200-pound slugger from Houston who won the heavyweight title by decisioning Carl McClure of Dumas, is a student at Rice Institute and said he might not be able to get away. If he can't, McClure will be substituted.

Martin Diaz of San Antonio, who won the Middleweight championship by beating LaRue Williamson of Fort Worth on a technical knockout in the second round, is a Civil Service employe at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio and may not be able to get away. If he can't, Williamson will make the trip.

Leija, the classy little man from San Antonio, won the flyweight championship by decisioning Everett Hartman of Fort Worth. Graffio, the Port Arthur 135-pounder who was featherweight champion last year, moved up to the lightweight class and won the title with a close decision over Johnny Cloud of Corpus Christi.

Golden Gloves officials also think the heavyweight class produced some good boys and that whoever represents this division at Chicago will do a top job.

The Texas team that starts contesting for championships at Chicago next Monday will be made up of the following:

Flyweight—Jesse Leija, San Antonio.

Bantamweight—Gilbert Martinez, Galveston.

Featherweight—Gaspar Sanchez, El Paso.

Lightweight—Victor Graffio, Port Arthur.

Welterweight—Bobby Wilhelm Pampa.

Middleweight—Martin Diaz, San Antonio, or LaRue Williamson, Fort Worth.

Light heavyweight—Pete Noah, Denison.

Heavyweight—Bob May, Houston, or Carl McClure, Dumas.

Leija's decision over Hartman was unpopular with the crowd and drew some lusty boos. However, the judges obviously voted for the San Antonio boy because while Hartman got in the most blows, he wasn't too effective with them and wasn't aggressive, depending on counter-punching most of the time. Leija put over some solid blows in the last round.

Martinez beat Carlos Rodriguez of Austin for the bantamweight title, Sanchez decisioned Clarke Darden of Amarillo for the featherweight crown, Wilhelm dethroned defending champion Alton Allen of Houston in the welterweight class, Diaz' decision over Williamson came because the latter suffered a damaged eye in the second round and Noah took the light heavyweight championship by beating Jerry Argovitz of Borger.

Tigerettes Win District Opener

The Snyder High School girls volleyball team opened its district schedule last night with a 30-21 victory over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoettes at Lamesa.

The victory was the 6th in seven starts for the Tigerettes this season.

Snyder made it a clean sweep at Lamesa by also winning the "B" and Freshman games. The "B" team won 40-19 and the Freshman team by 52-47.

Next on the Tigerette slate will be against Abilene here next Thursday in a non-district game.

The next district game will be at Colorado City, March 4.

The Tigerettes are coached by Miss Alene Stovall.

Houston Eyes Major League, Pro Football

HOUSTON (AP)—The first meeting of the park board set up to establish feasibility of a stadium for major league baseball and pro football here will be held today.

The meeting will be to "decide where we are going," said board chairman William W. Kirkland.

Seven members of the City Council listened to a report from representatives of the group seeking major league baseball for Houston yesterday and expressed enthusiasm for the campaign.

Smiley, Killeen To Meet At Waco

WACO (AP)—Smiley High, champions of Dist. 10-AAA, will meet Killeen, winners of Dist. 9-AAA, in a state high school basketball playoff here Feb. 25. Waco was picked as the site yesterday by officials of the two schools.

Scheffing Assures Cubs Will Be Stronger This Season

Thirteenth of a series of articles written by major league managers evaluating their clubs' pennant prospects for 1958.

By BOB SCHEFFING

SCOTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—I think the Chicago Cubs will win more ball games in 1958 than we did in '57. That's another way of saying that I not only expect our club to be improved but that our position in the National League race will be higher than it was last year.

Our biggest weakness last year was at third base and center field. We also lacked a lefthanded starting pitcher and a second catcher. We drafted Antonio Taylor, a third baseman, and secured Taylor Phillips, a lefthanded pitcher and Sam Taylor, a lefthanded hitting catcher from Milwaukee in a deal. We are still looking for a center fielder but so far have been unable to get one.

One of the reasons why we expect to be improved is that our young pitchers have gained an extra year of experience. Moe Drabowsky, Dick Drott, Jim Brosnan and Don Elston did well last year, particularly over the final two months and should do even better this year.

The same goes for such other youngsters as outfielders Jim Bolger, Bob Speake, Bob Will and Chuck Tanner as well as catcher Cal Neeman.

Our catching should be better and it is deeper. Neeman did a fine job for us last season in his freshman year, hitting .257. He caught more games than any receiver in the league. With a full year in the majors under his belt, he figures to improve behind the plate and with the bat, too. Then we have Jim Fanning, Taylor and a young fellow named Gordon Massa.

Our power, headed by a great player in Ernie Banks, is pretty good. Banks, 43 home runs; Walt Moryn, 20, and Dale Long, 20, give us a substantial middle three in the batting order.

Second base is uncertain. Jerry Kindall, our young bonus player, might be the answer but if he can't make it there we'll have dependable Bobby Morgan who I'm sure, is a better hitter than he showed last season. At third, Taylor will be battling against holdover Bobby Adams and rookie John Goryl. The latter came up late last year, and did a pretty good job.

Moryn, of course, will be in right field. He now is an established major leaguer and has come along nicely in the field. Walls, Tanner, Bolger, Speake, Will and Frank Ernaga, a rookie, will battle it out for the other outfield positions.

"GLAD IT'S OVER"—That's what Miss Jo Ann Burden of Niagara Falls, N. Y., said as she looks at a photograph of her boy friend, Airman Donald Farrell, who spent seven days in a sealed chamber at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas. She holds an Associated Press Wirephoto showing Maj. Gen. Otis O. Benson Jr. pinning a commendation medal on Farrell for the space flight test.

Chief Provides Course In Narcotics

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Asst. Police Chief Willie Bauer did win his struggle with marijuana after all. He revealed the facts recently after recovering from considerable stoop labor, calloused hands and a pocketbook dent.

His motives aimed at law and order, education of the young and protecting the department budget.

Bauer's project: a small-scale farm operation. The crop: marijuana.

Marijuana is a plant that is dried and smoked like a cigarette. It gives smokers a real jag during which they are not responsible for their actions. Its possession is illegal.

Chair Bauer noted that rookie cops knew little about the weed.

To educate these youngsters, he designed a mechanical smoker and persuaded some engineers to build one.

But he didn't like the quality of the marijuana the force picked up now and then. So he decided to grow his own supply for the mechanical smoker.

Neighbors made friendly inquiries about his beautiful plants and asked the name.

Bauer left the impression that the plants belonged to a rare tropical family.

When he harvested enough for the police school, he cut the remainder and burned them. That would destroy them.

That's what Bauer thought.

Sprouts grew back almost overnight.

He pulled them up. More sprouts appeared.

In desperation, he poured oil over the garden and set it afire.

But here came those plants peeping up again and shooting upward fast.

For several days Bauer spent most of his spare time trying to mow faster than the plants grew.

He kept mowing until mowing in the same spot began to appear odd.

"It looked pretty silly to the neighbors," he said ruefully.

Bauer finally worked out a massive defense plan.

He telephoned a construction company, ordered a concrete slab poured on his garden and a garage built on top.

Foes of the drug traffic will be happy to learn that as of last reports no marijuana plants have penetrated the policeman's concrete.

Bulganin Unlikely To Take Advice From Ike

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic officials said today it is quite likely Soviet Premier Bulganin will ignore President Eisenhower's advice and keep firing public letters at the White House.

If he does, they said, Eisenhower would have no choice but to answer the notes just as publicly.

Silence, it is felt, would only allow the Soviets to win a high-level propaganda war without a contest.

These officials discussed this outlook in the wake of the strongly worded Eisenhower letter to Bulganin, which the White House made public yesterday.

The Eisenhower message virtually told Bulganin further letters from him on the subject would be unwelcome. Eisenhower suggested instead that the Kremlin leaders concentrate on "lessformal and less publicized contacts" if they genuinely want to improve relations and arrange a summit conference.

The Eisenhower letter, easily the toughest in tone he has sent to Bulganin in the past two years, clearly reflected his view that such communications should not be used for propaganda in the cold war.

Eisenhower compared the professed Soviet desire for peace with what he termed the "constantly mounting accusations" by Kremlin leaders.

Some authorities professed to see good prospects that the Kremlin would accept Eisenhower's challenge that they send some Soviet leaders on visits to the United States. Eisenhower invited them to learn "the real facts" about the American longing for peace.

He proposed that groups of Soviet "leaders of thought and influential citizens" be encouraged to make such trips.

Such Soviet visits need not hinge, authorities said, on Soviet willingness to allow similar inspection tours by high-ranking Americans.

Eisenhower's purpose in proposing the higher-level visits was to dispel what he called the "totally false conceptions" that Americans are warmongers plotting new hostilities for the sake of financial profit.

Eisenhower summed up the reason for his invitation in these words: "Most of the Soviet citizens who exert an influence are strangers to this country, with, I fear, totally false conceptions. These misconceptions I should like to see corrected in the interest of better relations."

Solon Wants Congressmen On New Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) called today for congressional representation on any commission set up to determine presidential disability despite Atty. Gen. Rogers' statement he would urge a veto for such a bill.

Moreover, the Senate Republican leader said he believes such a commission can be established immediately by passage of a law, without waiting for a constitutional amendment.

"I would have no objection to Congress' acting both on a bill and a constitutional amendment, but I think the commission ought to be set up by action in this session and not be delayed by the necessity of ratifying constitutional amendment," Knowland said in an interview.

Rogers, who opposed both those ideas at a news conference this month, late today before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee studying the problem.

The Constitution provides that when a president is disabled, his duties shall fall to the vice president. But it does not specify who shall decide that the President is disabled.

Actress Wins Child Custody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former film star Dolores Costello Barrymore won custody of her 5-year-old grandson Anthony Fairbanks and praise from the court for her past care of the youngster.

Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle yesterday denied a petition for custody from the boy's father, Thomas Fairbanks, 32, movie studio technician, commenting: "The grandmother has done a good job. She has used her own funds and should be commended for caring for the child during a difficult period."

Fairbanks is the former husband of Mrs. Barrymore's daughter Dolores (Dede) Bedell. Both he and the daughter have since remarried.

British Flavor In Oscar Nominations

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy Award nominations this year have a strong British flavor, and several Oscars may be their cup of tea.

Nominees for top awards include Alec Guinness for "the Bridge on the River Kwai"; Charles Laughton, "Witness for the Prosecution"; Deborah Kerr, "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison"; and Elizabeth Taylor, "Raintree County."

In addition, Laughton's wife Elsa Lanchester was among nominees yesterday for best supporting actress for her work in "Witness." Director David Lean was tabbed for "Kwai."

"Sayonara," a movie about a U.S. major's love for a Japanese girl, won the most nominations—10 — in results announced by George Seaton, president of the Motion Picture Academy.

"Peyton Place" with nine nominations and "The Bridge on the River Kwai" with eight were next. The other two pictures to place in the movies' chosen five were "12 Angry Men" and "Witness for the Prosecution."

Marlon Brando, perennial contestant and previous winner, was nominated for "Sayonara." The fact that Brando has won before gave the edge to Britain's Guinness for best performance by an actor. Guinness played the resolute British army commander in "Kwai."

The other male star nominees are Anthony Franciosa for "A Hatful of Rain" and Anthony Quinn for "Wild Is the Wind."

Lana Turner, long a sex symbol in the movies, was nominated for "Peyton Place," wherein she played the mother of a teen-age daughter for the first time.

The other two feminine nominees are Joanne Woodward for "The Three Faces of Eve" and Anna Magnani for "Wild Is the Wind."

The televised Oscar award ceremonies will be March 26.

Trio Nabbed; Invasion Plot Is Revealed

HOUSTON (AP)—Federal and local police arrested three men yesterday who reportedly were storing arms for an invasion of Cuba in July.

The wording of charges filed against the men indicated arms were found. But authorities would not talk about them.

Charged with conspiring to commit an offense against the United States were:

Pedro Luis Chaviano Reyes, 44, an exiled Cuban army sergeant who said he had been living in Miami, Fla., for the past year; Silverio Villamia, who said he was a tool and die maker in Miami, and Francisco Obregon, 38, who said he was a Miami television repairman and came to Houston because he had been told work was easy to find here.

A fourth man was arrested but released without being charged.

The three men will face U.S. Commissioner Ralph Flower at 2:30 p.m. today on a charge that said they violated the National Firearms Act.

Charges were filed by agents of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Treasury Department.

Chaviano and Obregon are Cubans and Villamia said he became a naturalized United States citizen in 1953.

On Feb. 13 Chaviano was indicted by the federal grand jury in New York on charges of "conspiring to transport arms, etc., in a military expedition against the Republic of Cuba."

Chaviano was arrested in a motor hotel and Villamia and Obregon were arrested at a private home.

Man Tied Up; Loses Check

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Tom Garrett can't draw his $40 unemployment insurance check for last week because he got tied up at home Friday.

He was tied up — for real — by two men who escaped from jail in San Luis Obispo and used his house 24 hours as a hideout. They're still loose.

Garrett, 21, unemployed aircraft worker, went to the State Employment Service office to pick up his check yesterday.

Nothing doing, he was told.

An office spokesman said later that an unemployed worker must be available for work "every day of the normal work week" to be eligible for jobless pay. If Garrett couldn't leave the house, the spokesman said, he was unavailable.

Dog Perishes In Try To Save Child

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — When the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson burned yesterday, their 4-year-old Doberman pinscher Dixie ran into the flames several times searching for Debbie, the Dicksons' 16-month-old daughter.

Dixie finally was trapped and killed.

Debbie had been taken next door when the blaze first broke out. She was not injured.

New Door Opening For Veteran Butler

DETROIT (AP) — A new door is opening today for Melvin Hoover, who has been opening doors for a living for more than 30 years.

Hoover, a butler in his mid-50s, was notified yesterday he was named to receive $100,000 "after taxes" in the will of his employer, Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn, who died recently.

Taking the news quietly, he said he plans a trip through the United States.

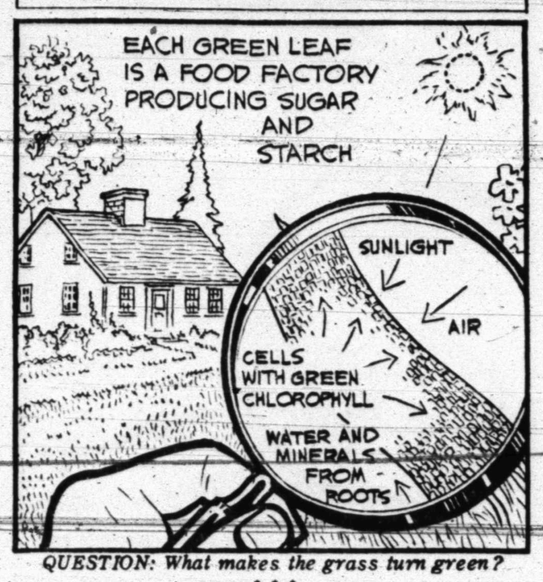
Junior Editors Quiz on NATURE



QUESTION: What makes the grass turn green?

• • •

ANSWER: The bright green which spreads over our lawns and meadows every spring or after a summer rain is a sign that one of nature's magical operations is going on. The grass plant, like all living things, must have nourishment. In filling this need, grass, like other plants, performs what seems a true miracle — it makes food out of the apparently lifeless materials of earth, air and water, using the power of sunlight for energy. Inside each leaf, working in little laboratories called cells, are tiny specks of protoplasm, colored with a brilliant green named "chlorophyll." A lawn or meadow turns green because new blades of grass, springing up to replace the old, are filled with this chlorophyll. And the new grass appears because the chlorophyll has the right conditions to work with: enough sunlight, enough air, enough water and minerals from the roots. No one knows the exact details of "photosynthesis", the remarkable process by which chlorophyll takes these raw materials and turns them into sugar and starch, but we are all alive because of it. Many animals live off plants. Since we use them, and plants too, for food, we should be very grateful to the grass.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Cover a bit of grass with a small board and look under it in a few days. The green is going away because the chlorophyll has no more air and sunlight. Leave the board off, and the spot will soon turn green again.

Repossession Resistance Encountered

DALLAS (AP) — Father J. Von Brown of the Lighted Church of Prayer had a fight with sheriff's deputies late last night over repossession of his Cadillac. One of the officers said the Negro preacher made this threat:

"I'm going to kill the next deputy that comes after me."

Deputy R. E. Williams said Brown also called to a handful of his followers:

"Get your guns!"

This exhortation brought no response. Williams and deputy Ray Allen subdued the preacher, relieved him of a pistol and took him to county jail for investigation of carrying concealed weapons.

Brown was released on a writ of habeas corpus. He went to Parkland Hospital and was given a sedative but refused any other treatment, asserting he was kicked in the stomach. He had a small abrasion on one wrist caused by friction from a handcuff, and his knees were skinned, attendants said.

Williams and Allen had gone to Brown's church with D. M. Teague, court-appointed receiver, armed with a car-repossession order, from Judge Paine Bush.

Bush earlier had held the preacher in contempt of court for failure to comply with previous court orders relative to repossessions.

Brown said he would ask the FBI to look into what he called "police brutality."

Two Men Die In Explosion

KIMBERLY, Idaho (AP)—A natural gas metering station exploded yesterday, killing two men. A third pipeline worker escaped serious injury.

The victims were Donald Burdett Eatchell and Lowell Melvin Prestwich, both 33 and both of Salt Lake City. Clifford M. Turner, 45, also of Salt Lake City, was shaken up by the blast and was hospitalized. There was no resulting fire.

The men were employed by Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. and were checking equipment along the company's big gas transmission line which runs into Oregon and Washington.

ALL-STATE BAND members from Snyder who will leave tomorrow for Galveston to participate in all-state band activities are shown here studying music they will use during rehearsals this week and in a concert Saturday night. Left to right, they are Larry Williams, Delbert Lloyd, Phillips Smartt, and Bob Fields.

4 Band Students Go To Galveston

Four Snyder High School band students who have been chosen for the all-state band will leave tomorrow morning for Galveston, where they will participate during the rest of the week in activities of the all-state band.

The four students are Bob Fields Delbert Lloyd, Phillip Smart, and Larry Williams.

Field, a cornet player, and Lloyd a clarinet player, were both selected for the all-state band. Both are juniors in high school.

Smart, a sophomore alto sax player, was a candidate, included among first chair all-region band players who could be chosen by the all-state director if needed, and he was chosen. Williams was an alternate, chosen when a selectee could not attend. He is a senior and a clarinet player.

Also going to Galveston will be Melvin Montgomery, school instrumental music director; Tim Dennis, junior high band director; Phil Cherry, assistant high school band director and elementary band director; Mrs. Landis Lee, junior high choral director; Roger Gee of Central Elementary, Miss Lynn Reedy of North Elementary, and Miss Pat Yarbrough of West Elementary, all public school music teachers. The faculty members will all be attending the annual convetion of the Texas Music Educators Association.

The all-state band rehearses during the convention of music educators, and at 8 p.m. Saturday it will play a concert at Galveston's new Moody Convention Center.

Director of the all-state band is Commander Charles Brendler, director of the U. S. Navy Band.

All the all-staters from Snyder were chosen for their first time this year. Snyder had three all-state band members last year. The all-state band will have a total of 103 members.

Minnesota's Voters Pick Congressman

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Voters in Minnesota's 1st District were choosing a new congressman today in an election viewed by party leaders as setting a possible pattern for the state's fall general election.

Candidates, nominated in a primary a week ago, are State Sen. Albert Quie, 34, a dairy farmer from Dennison, a Republican, and Eugene Foley, 29, a Wabasha attorney, Democrat.

Both parties have agreed that a Foley victory would be a decided upset in the district where Republicans have dominated for more than a half century and that such a result would have an effect on next fall's voting.

The winner will fill out the unexpired term of the late Rep. August Andresen, who had won his most recent elections by 60 to 69 per cent margins in the GOP column.

In last week's primary, Republicans claimed just over 58 per cent of the turnout.

Both Quie and Foley campaigned on promises to seek to have withdrawn Secretary of Agriculture Benson's program for cutting dairy price supports from 83 to 75 per cent on April 1. Dairying is a major industry in the district's 12 southeastern Minnesota counties.

'Hard To Reach' Children Form Core Of Delinquency

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Reporter

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — America's schools must find a way to work with the "hard to reach" children who form the hard core of juvenile delinquency, a leading educator said today.

Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at the University of Chicago, said this group includes 50 to 10 per cent of the nation's children in the 14 to 16 age bracket.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual convention of secondary high school principals, Havighurst said, "Practically every one of them is the product of a poor family environment. Their families have failed them. The school has failed them, and society has failed them."

The most important attack on the problem," he said, "should consist of efforts to improve family life. But this is a most difficult task, since it involves improving the same kind of people as the boys and girls we are now talking about. Somehow the vicious circle must be broken...

"Somehow the schools must find the way to work with slow-learning children so that they get as much as possible out of school, and so that they get an experience of accomplishment and reward for constructive work. Otherwise the school has no business keeping such children."

Work with such children should probably begin in the first or second grade, Havighurst said, with teachers especially interested in working with slow children.

One worthwhile idea, he said, was the ungraded primary room, where children aged 6 to 8 may remain in the room for as long as three or four years and then pass on to a regular third or fourth grade when they have the necessary skills.

"Thus," Havighurst told the principals, "slow children are not punished by obvious failure, nor are they promoted to classes where work is beyond their comprehension."

Even so, he said, there are bound to be some pupils reaching eighth or ninth grade with only fourth or fifth grade reading skills. The junior high schools must be prepared with a program for slow learners, geared to their ability level and giving them a reasonable opportunity for growth.

Orange Gets GSA Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration has awarded a $24,500 design contract for a federal building at Orange, Tex.

The contract is with Pitts, Mebane & Phelps and George Ingram of Beaumont, architects. The building was approved for lease-purchase construction.

The architects will design an air conditioned building with brick facing and stone trim. Working drawings and specifications must be completed within six months and in advance of financial and construction bidding.

The building is to house the Post Office, Civil Service Commission, and the Departments of Agriculture, Defense and Treasury. The building will contain about 25,600 square feet of floor space. It will replace a 1925 federal building.

The project has been approved by the congressional committees on public works at an estimated cost of $620,000.

Tribute Paid To Victims Of Fire

WARRENTON, Mo. (AP)—A memorial service at a common grave marked the anniversary of 1957's worst fire disaster.

Five wreaths were placed yesterday on the grave shared by 14 unidentified victims of the Katie Jane nursing home fire, in which 72 persons perished in a few minutes.

The private service was conducted at the Warrenton cemetery by The Rev. Walter H. Schwane, who also was conducting services at he home just before it was engulfed by fire. Eight persons attended.

money has been pretty tight with us. And Bill has been saying we just couldn't afford a new car now. Well, he gave me the surprise of my life today. He drove home a big new FORD! It's a Custom 300 Sedan and the prettiest car you ever saw. It drives like a dream, Mom! And just listen to this— Bill bought it for less than the similar model would have cost us last year. Be sure to tell Dad about this... and maybe you'll get one of these grand new Fords, too.

Love,
Mary
