Report: Gomez didn't have knife

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A police officer who shot and killed a sexual assault suspect in May 1988 did so without reasonable cause, according to the findings of a new report prepared from a previous medical examiner's reports.

El Paso County Medical Examiner Dr. Juan Contin concludes in a controversial six-page report released Friday that sexual assault suspect Sammy Gomez did not have a knife and that his hands were raised above his head when he was shot three times by then part-time police officer Billy Ray Williamson.

Contin's version is in direct contrast to police, who contend part-time officer Billy Ray Williamson was forced to shoot Gomez after Gomez allegedly lunged at Williamson and another officer with a knife.

Gomez's family and LULAC leaders have charged Williamson had a long-standing grudge against Gomez, and that officers attempted a coverup of the incident.

A first grand jury — convened one week after the shooting and without a prepared pathologist's report — chose not to indict Williamson. A second grand jury is scheduled to convene November 8.

"I concluded beyond reasonable medical certainty that: Gomez was not advancing towards officer Williamson when the first two shots were fired . . . and bullet wound number three was inflicted when Gomez was on or near the floor, face down . . . From the above analysis it can be concluded that Gomez was not holding a knife," Contin said in his report.

Sandoval, making reference to Contin, said if Gomez were lunging at the officers, the wounds should be from front to back, rather than from the side.

Representatives of the League of United Latin American Citizens and the district attorney's office agreed to allow a certified pathologist to review the findings of Dr. Patrick Besant-Matthews, the former Dallas County medical examiner who conducted the autopsy on Gomez. LULAC hired Contin to do the second report.

Contin's report immediately drew response from Mitchell County officials who have been awaiting the release of the report.

"It notes towards the first of the autopsy: what danger would Sammy Gomez have been with a knife if they had a gun?" said Frank Conard, Mitchell County district attorney.

"That's a ridiculous comment up first," Conard said. "It's kind of a ludicrous comment. I'm curious why he took that attitude."

Conard promised he would supboena Contin and Besant-Matthews for their forensic insight at the next grand jury.

Conard said he doesn't understand how the El Paso pathologist can conclude there is no way Gomez could have had a knife.

"I was kind of curious about that," he said. Conard said it's not usually the type of decision a pathologist makes.

Conard said he and Sandoval made an agreement that neither one of them would discuss the case with Contin to avoid any possible unfair influencing of his report. Conard said he now questions how much contact Sandoval had with Contin.

City Manager Brenda Hammond was more blunt. "It's exactly what we expected. Money can buy whatever you want," she said.

Hammond said she is not familiar with Contin, but said she questions his objectivity. "It's certainly biased in favor of them," she said.

Sandoval countered that Mitchell County officials are more interested in who paid for the report than what it says.

"What the hell does it matter who paid for it? The payment does not change the nature of the wounds," Sandoval said at a specially called press conference Friday evening.

"It is physically impossible for the (police's) story to be true and the wounds to be the way they are," Sandoval told a group of about 60 LULAC supporters and City Manager Hammond.

Complaints of passing buses not widespread

BIG SPRING — Although it does not seem to be a widespread problem, complaints of persons passing unloading school buses have been received recently.

Sally Grove, an assistant teacher at Anderson Kindergarten Center who assists with the loading and unloading of students from buses, said "there has been a rash of people passing school buses while they're stopped" at local elementary schools.

In particular, Grove mentioned the area surrounding Bauer Magnet School. On one specific day, she said she counted four incidents of drivers passing a stopped school bus.

City employee claims intimidation

By RUTH COCHRAN

BIG SPRING — City employees say they are being intimidated into not signing a petition that could remove the mayor from office.

In an interview Friday, a city employee told the Herald that he and other employees have been told by supervisors not to sign any of the recall election petitions being circulated against Mayor Max Green. The employee asked to remain anonymous, saying he was afraid he'd lose his job if his supervisors found out his name.

The employee said none of the city workers have been told directly that they can't sign the petition, which was started about three weeks ago by Councilwoman Pat DeAnda. However, he said, supervisors have implied that workers could lose their jobs for signing.

"We were more or less told it would be worse for us to get involved," he said of the petition. "They don't come and tell you specifically not to sign. They say 'If you don't want to get into trouble or be called in, stay away from it'.

"A lot of employees don't want to sign — they're afraid. A lot of employees would do it but they're afraid. They've got families to take care of.

shoulders.

On top of that, he said, morale is sinking even faster because of rumored plans for personnel cuts, salary cuts and cuts in benefits.

According to the application DeAnda filed for a recall election petition, the councilwoman wants to remove Green from office because he's prevented the police and fire departments from receiving adequate funds and because he hasn't listened to the people of Big Spring who asked for a tax increase.

The employee said city workers are scared of losing benefits they need and can't afford to lose.

"Guys have worked there five, 10 years and they haven't had a raise," he said. "They do their jobs. They work hard. People are really upset because they (city council) are taking it away.

"Right now a lot of employees are unhappy. They (city officials) are always trying to get them for something.

The employee said city workers feel they're treated unfairly. Besides low wages, workers never receive any praise or recognition for their hard work, he said, causing everyone to feel unappreciated.

"The attitude down there is the city doesn't give a damn about the employees," he said, some of whom could get higher-paying jobs with their skills. "The city is saving money on that kind of talent. They want to pay the bills but they take it out of the employees' pocket."

He said city employees generally like their jobs and could put up with the pay if they would at least receive some positive recognition for their work.

"We get paid $6 an hour and we're supposed to work ourselves to death. Fine. But that's it. We don't want to be rich," just appreciated.

"If the city would just wake up and say we've got a bunch of people that are hard workers and give them a little recognition," he said. "On the contrary, they just get stabbed in the back.

"This is what the mood has been: 'You ought to feel lucky you have a job.'"

The employee said he and most others do feel lucky they have good jobs, but they feel they should be treated better, especially by the council.

"They're just so tired of being stabbed in the back all the time," he said. "Criticized . . . and accused of being lazy.

"(But) it's like everything else. You have to go along with it or find a new job.

"But where else do you go?"

City policy and politics

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — The city's written policy, according to the city attorney, puts almost no restrictions on the political action of its employees.

"It amounts to they shall not do it during business hours," said City Attorney Jean Shotts of the policy. "The city policy is basically they can do whatever they want to do as long as they don't do it on city time."

Shotts said any intimidation of employees would be a violation of their Constitutional rights. City management discussed the policy, he said, when the petition first was issued. A directive was sent to all supervisors then which made the policy clear, he said.

"All I can tell you is what the directors have discussed it and we've (said) there will be no retaliation for political activities period," Shotts said. "The directors talked about it and my understanding was it was to go down the chain of command. I have no reason to doubt any of them.

"I can't imagine that we would have a director that would be putting out that type of policy.

"As far as political activities . . . if I have any say in it, we will not interfere in an employee's political activities. We've got 250 or so employees — I can't guarantee we don't have a supervisor out there doing something."

Shotts said steps would be taken if directors discovered intimidation by a supervisor.

"Our policy is that will not happen," Shotts said. "That would not be ignored. To ignore it is tantamount to approving of it and we're not going to violate our own policies intentionally."

as much as we do," Sandoval told Hammond. "It's not pretty, but a killing is never pretty."

Sandoval charges that while Besant-Matthews never gave an exact version of what happened — saying it was not possible to tell the position of the body from the bullet wounds — the pathologist "conformed his findings with the officer's version."

Hammond said as she left the meeting she felt she was being publicly ridiculed by Sandoval. "Most certainly. It's nice to be invited to things like this, isn't it?" she said wryly.

Numerous attempts by the Herald to reach Contin this week about the findings in his report were unsuccessful.

problem," she said. "But, that's not so."

Of the four incidents she mentioned, she said she was able to flag one of the drivers down and warn him of his actions. The other three, however, got away.

In any case, Grove said her major concern "is grabbing the kids out of the street, not with who's driving the car."

Grove, who has been on the Bauer-Lakeview-Boydstun bus run for four years, said such occurrences are common, an assertion generally disputed by local elementary principals.

Jean Broughton, principal of Bauer, said she is unaware of any such problem at her school. "Personally, I don't think it's a problem," she said, adding that she hasn't received any complaints so far this school year.

Principals at College Heights, Kentwood and Washington elementaries said that they have not received any complaints this year.

Marcy Principal Royce Cox said he has received one complaint this year, but none other than that.

Ronald Moss, principal at Moss Elementary, said no such incidents have occured at his school, but added that he has witnessed an occurrence at the kindergarten center.

He was stopped behind a school bus when the person behind him "just drove by me and went on his or her way."

Bus students at Big Spring High School, Goliad Middle School and College Heights and Washington elementaries load and unload in areas away from street, so traffic is not a concern in those areas, BSISD officials said.

At other schools, buses load and unload at street curbs, but no students have to cross the street to reach school grounds, Superintendent Bill McQueary said.

If bus drivers or principals receive complaints, they usually transfer those complaints to Howard Stewart, director of transportation for BSISD.

Stewart said that the number of complaints he has received this year is down from previous years.

"It seems like they're down from last year — of course, one time is too many," he said. "People just don't seem to respect those blinking red lights.

"People need to realize that everytime they pass one of those school buses, they're taking a chance of hitting one of those kids," Stewart added.

He said there were two major areas from which he receives the majority of complaints: Bauer Magnet and Marcy Elementary. After he receives complaints, Stewart then passes them on to the Big Spring Police Department which investigates the cases.

Neither Stewart or a spokeswoman with the local Municipal Court could provide an exact count on the number of complaints received this year.

The spokeswoman did say, however, that the punishment for passing a school bus is usually a $75 fine.

Chemical hazards

AUSTIN — Although Texas is the nation's largest originator of rail-transported hazardous chemicals, the rate of occurrence of railroad hazardous materials incidents in Texas is 36.7 percent below the national average, Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance said last week.

Hance said the state's rail-transported hazardous materials safety record can be calculated by determining the number of incidents per rail car loaded in Texas.

Hance credited Texas' safety record to an effective rail inspection program initiated in 1984 and the commission's recognition of hazards associated with shipments of petrochemical products.

In 1988, Hance said, Texas logged a total of 151 spills or releases of hazardous chemicals.

Hance said Texas Railroad Commission records indicate there were 49.07 hazardous materials-involved railroad incidents per 100,000 carloads originated across the state in 1984.

That rate had fallen to 36.54 per 100,000 carloads in 1988, while the national rate was 57.77.

"When it comes to train inspections, Texas is tough and aggressive," Hance said. "That's the right approach, the prudent approach and the effective approach."

Hance said Texas' rail safety effort is being further strengthened by the hiring of four new rail safety inspectors. In all, an increase in the number of rail safety inspectors was authorized to increase from 10 to 14 on Sept. 1, with the number of inspectors checking hazardous material shipments growing from one to three.

The program is cost-effective, Hance said. About $800,000 is budgeted for the rail safety effort this year.

By comparison, property damage and cleanup costs associated with a December 1987 train derailment at Woodlawn near Marshall totaled about $1.5 million, said Hance. More than 250,000 gallons of combustible and flammable hazardous chemicals were spilled in that mishap.

Inside Texas

Tower comes down

AUSTIN (AP) — Workers have taken down one of this city's historic Moonlight Towers after it was discovered that a key support bar was missing.

The 160-foot tower, located near the University of Texas campus, is one of 17 remaining Moonlight Towers that were erected in the 1890s.

They were constructed to light large areas rather than trying to erect street lights in places that were undeveloped.

City officials said Friday that a truck apparently hit one of the support bars in the tower, knocking the bar to the ground.

"It was a very dangerous situation," Laura Doll, chief administrative officer for Austin's Electric Utility department. Engineers told her the tower would not be able to stand for long in that condition, she said.

Swift-kick justice

HOUSTON (AP) — When litigants could not reach an agreement about a $50,000 settlement proposal in a wrongful death suit, the victim's survivors had a counter offer: Let the widow, her mother and their lawyers beat up the defense attorney. He agreed.

"We don't know whether to hold it a Caesar's Palace or wherever," said Houston defense attorney Tom Alexander. "It's kind of facetious, but it's true."

Alexander represents Derr Construction Co., one of several defendants in the lawsuit brought by the widow of a construction worker killed in January 1987 while working on the George R. Brown Convention Center.

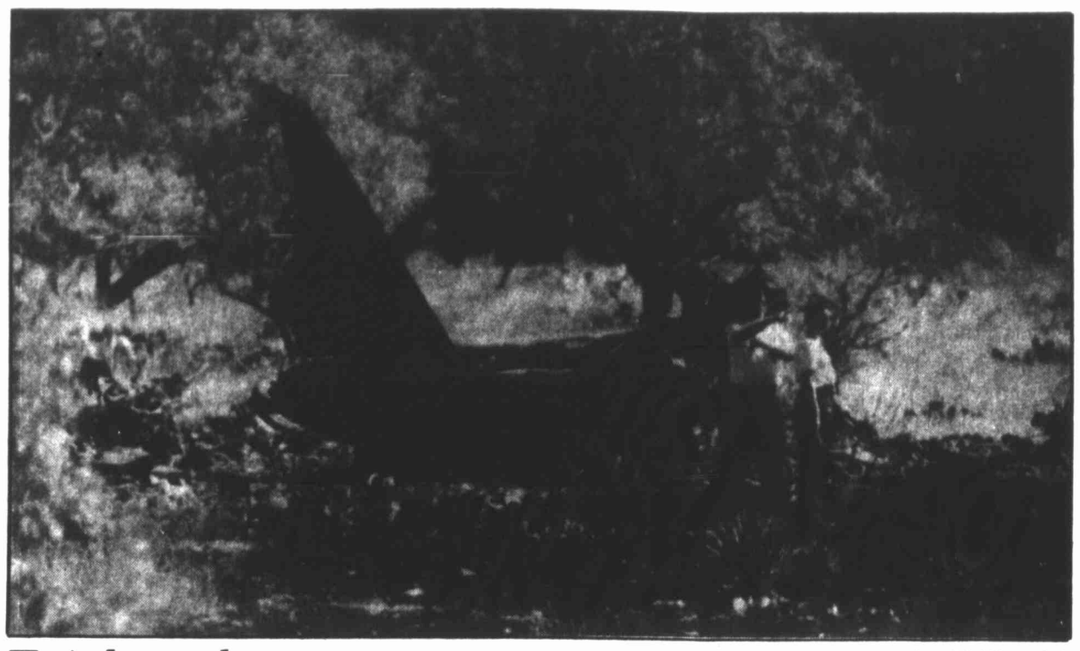

In a settlement worked out last month between the widow's attorney, Dale Friend, and an associate of Alexander's, Derr Construction would pay $50,000 — a small fraction of the total settlement by all defendants, Friend said.

Surfers hit beach

SURFSIDE BEACH (AP) — Ignoring the fact a shark jerked a 12-year-old surfer from his board by his foot days ago, surfers are hitting what are expected to be huge waves here this weekend in heated competition.

City officials said they are taking no special precautions for those competing in the Texas Gulf Surfing Association Surfside Open despite the attack that injured sixth-grader Jason Largent.

"The way it was explained to us, this was an isolated incident," said City Manager Rick Lenoir.

Fatal crash

BANGS — Only the tail section remains of an Air Force RF-4C jet that crashed near here Friday morning. The pilot of the aircraft, Lt. James M. Poppo, died in the accident. The jet was on a training exercize out of Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin.

Texans preparing for tropical storm

(AP) — Tropical Storm Jerry slowed to 6 mph on Saturday and continued moving northeasterly towards Louisiana, but Texas coastal residents weren't taking any chances.

Texas emergency preparedness workers were keeping a watchful eye on developments as the Gulf Coast's latest storm of the hurricane season churned some 400 miles south-southwest of New Orleans,

"We've had our Emergency Operation Center open since yesterday morning and we'll keep it open through tonight," Gary Stone, emergency spokesman for the City of Galveston, said Saturday.

Workers and volunteers from the American Red Cross, the U.S. Coast Guard, the Galveston Police Department, the Galveston Fire Department and others manned phones and made arrangements for shelters in case they became necessary.

Meanwhile, NWS meteorologists noted the storm had sustained winds of 60 mph — just 10 mph shy of hurricane strength, but continued on its slow, north-northeasterly path with unfavorable conditions for strengthening.

"We've been watching it, and it has slowed down considerably," said Dick Nugent, Jefferson County emergency management coordinator outside Port Arthur. "It's not materializing like we thought it would be, but we can't take any changes. If it does move to Louisiana, fine, but we need to be ready to react if it doesn't."

Teen sentenced to 30 years for Rio Grande shooting

MARFA (AP) — Jurors on Saturday sentenced a 17-year-old Redford youth to 30 years in prison for fatally shooting a rafter on the Rio Grande.

The Presidio County jury deliberated 50 minutes before sentencing Eduardo Rodriguez Pineda in the 1988 attack.

The same jurors, following a week of testimony, needed more than three hours Friday night to deliver a guilty verdict against the youth.

Defense attorneys, in arguments during the sentencing phase, asked the jury to give Rodriguez probation, while prosecutors had requested a life sentence.

The youth took the stand to argue leniency before jurors determined punishment for shooting and killing Michael Heffley as the victim was rafting down the Rio Grande.

"I am disappointed," Jamie Heffley, the victim's widow, said of the sentence, adding she believed jurors took the defendant's age into account in their decision.

"They took into account his age, but he (Rodriguez) didn't take into account my husband's life. The Bible says, 'Thou shall not kill,'" said Mrs. Heffley.

Authorities said Rodriguez was one of four youths who stood atop 300-foot-tall canyon walls overlooking the river on Nov. 19, 1988, and fired shots that struck Heffley, his wife and their river guide. The shots were fired from the Mexican side of the river.

Asked if he had anything to say, Rodriguez testified through an interpretor, "Yes, I just want to ask for forgiveness for that with which I have been charged."

District Attorney Richard Barajas asked the defendant whether he killed Heffley.

"I don't know," Rodriguez replied. Asked whether he shot at him, the defendant said, "We shot at him while he was in the water" but maintained the rafters had a pistol.

Barajas said later he was not satisfied with the sentence.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal the decision.

"I have no problems with the way we did our job," said Michael Rodgers, lead defense attorney. "We were very well prepared with the case."

In closing arguments Saturday, Pablo Alvarado Jr., co-defense counsel, quoted to jurors from the Lord's Prayer, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

But Mrs. Heffley said that would be difficult to do.

"I am angry at him, angry at the act," she said.

Ralliers call for tuna boycott

AUSTIN (AP) — Politicians and environmentalists Saturday called for a boycott of canned tuna products, including tuna-based cat food, to stop the killing of dolphins that get caught in fishermen's nets.

"Most Texans find it morally unacceptable that we are slaughtering thousands, millions of dolphins," state Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said to about 100 protesters.

"We will not purchase tuna until they stop the slaughter of dolphins," Mauro said.

Ruth Smitkin, of the environmental group Greenpeace International, said that since 1959, more than 6.5 million dolphins have been deliberately killed by tuna fishing boats in the Eastern Tropical Pacific, off of Mexico, and Central and South America.

She urged those at the rally to boycott the product. "The United States is the largest purchaser of canned tuna. Hit them where it hurts. The pocketbook," said Ms. Smitkin of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The rally was organized by Whole Foods Market, an Austin-based grocery chain with stores also in Houston, Dallas, Richardson, New Orleans and Palo Alto, Calif.

The environmental groups, which included Earth Island, said the dolphins are killed in nets, some a mile long, by fishermen who are trying to catch yellowfin tuna, which swim underneath the dolphins.

Smitkin said Greenpeace supports a labeling law, such as one pending in Congress, to require that all tuna products be labeled "dolphin safe" or "caught with technologies known to kill dolphins."

She said Congress' reauthorization last year of the Marine Mammal Protection Act allows U.S. tuna boats a quota to kill 20,500 dolphin per year.

Barbara Taft of Austin said the dolphin slaughter won't stop unless people take individual action.

Crossroads reports tax rebates

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

AUSTIN — Big Spring was the only city in Howard County to report an increase in sales tax rebates during October.

Area-wide, Martin County reported an increase in rebates while Mitchell County reported a decrease.

Big Spring's payment amounted to $89,152.31 when compared to a $88,945.23 payment the prior year. Big Spring was the only taxing entity to increase out of the three in Howard County.

Both Coahoma and Forsan experienced decreases in the October tax rebate for this year as compared to October 1988. Coahoma collected a rebate check of $1,438.06, while last year's payment was $1,611.04, a decrease of 10.74 percent. Forsan collected $1,076.03 this year, and last year $2,207.71 for a negative 51.26 percentage of change.

Year-to-date totals for Big Spring were posted as $1,146,168.07 for 1989 and $1,171,467.31 for 1988, posting a negative 2.16 percentage of change.

Coahoma is ahead of 1988 total payments, with $20,584.35 compared to $19,465.08 for a 5.75 percent gain.

Forsan posted a negative 9.89 percentage of change with $18,231.77 in 1989 payments to date compared to $20,231.82 in 1988.

Howard County totals were as follows: $91,666.40 in net payments this period; $92,763.71 comparable payments in the prior year; with a negative 1.18 percent in the change column. For 1989 payments to date, Howard County received $1,184,984.19 and $1,211,164.21 in 1988 payments for the same 10-month period — a change of negative 2.16 percent.

Mitchell County posted a loss of negative 13.78 percent in October 1989 when compared to October of 1988, but in the year-to-date column increased .56 of one percent.

Mitchell County totals were as follows: $25,547.13 in total paymets for October 1989 and $29,631.80 in October 1988 for a change f negative 13.78 percent; but 1989 year-to-date payments amounted to $318,365.57 when compared to $316,577.33 in 1988 for the pod gain.

The Mitchell County listings were as follows: Colorado City, $25,015.25 net payments this period compared to $28,811.20 for a negative 13.18 percentage of change; and $309,683.10 in 1989 payments to date compared to $301,136.43 payments to date in 1988 — up 2.84 percent; Loraine showed $4,539.94 in 1989 payments to date and $4,214.09 payments to date in 1988 — up 7.73 percent — no period payments for Loraine were available; ; and Westbrook showed $531.88 in October 1989 payments with $820.60 in October 1988 — down 35.18; and $4,142.53 in 1989 payments to date compared to $11,226.81 in 1988 for a negative 63.10 percent change.

Martin County, a Stanton listing, was up 6.10 percent in October 1989, up to $3,738.84 from $3,523.83 in 1988. The Stanton year-to-date payments however fell by 7.31 percent, down to $50,122.92 in 1989 from $54,076.90 in 1988.

Overall, State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last Friday that October's sales tax rebates to cities and counties continue to tell the story of an economy that's steadily growing.

Bullock said that October's city rebates statewide are up almost 11 percent from October 1988, and year-to-date payments to cities are up an average of 9.5 percent.

Consumers have more money to spend and they're doing just that," Bullock said. "That means another month of increased sales tax rebates quarterly rather than monthly. The change is the result of legislation passed during the last session, Bullock said.

Ector County gained 4.06 percent in payments over last year from $476,074.92 in 1988 to $495,397.32 in 1989. Also total payments to date increased by 1.48 percent from $5,551,121.66 in 1988 to $5,633,090.36 in 1989.

Scurry County was another area entity that posted again in October — up 8.84 percent. The Scurry totals, a Snyder listing, showed a net payment of $62,376.72 in October payment for 1989 compared to $57,308.10 in 1988. Also year-to-date totals for 1989 were up from 1988, $631,408.45 when compared with $626,716.99 for an increase of .75 of one percent.

C-City: Taking a look at itself

If the death of Sammy Gomez has done nothing else that is good for Colorado City, it has forced the Mitchell County town to take a close look at itself.

To be sure there are flaws. There are in any town.

But they are problems that can and eventually will be worked out.

Sammy Gomez was no hero. He was a sexual assault suspect who had been continually in trouble with the law.

But Sammy Gomez's past is not a consideration.

What happened to Sammy Gomez is.

Two separate pathologists have come up with totally different reports of what happened on that fateful Friday the 13th in May, 1988.

It was then that Sammy Gomez either was executed by police, or killed by law enforcement officers in self-defense.

Now a second grand jury will have to decide which of those pathologists was right.

There is already a storm brewing. No matter what the outcome, few will be satisfied with the results.

The League of United Latin American Citizens believes the fix is in on the second grand jury.

Unfortunately, Mitchell County officials did little to calm those fears.

After insisting that LULAC have representatives at the grand jury selection, those same invited guests were denied complete access to the jury wheel process.

Then, to make matters worse, the list of 50 prospective jurors was sealed by District Judge Weldon Kirk, adding even more credibility to the LULAC charges.

Even if there was nothing at all wrong with the selection process, the actions of county officials were off base in an already tense situation.

The Gomez case has been harmful to Colorado City's image.

But the idea that Colorado City is a town filled with racial bigots is totally wrong.

It is instead a town coming to grips with a situation that has left it wondering what will happen next.

Many citizens are rising to the occasion. Already a bipartisan, biracial group of concerned voters has been formed to boost the Mitchell County area.

Called Concerned People Rebuilding Mitchell County, the committee says they want to influence governmental decisions and attract more industry to the area.

Vice Chairman Rick Thompson said the group is not a "gripe group."

"What's been so great about this is that it's been so positive," Thompson said.

Even more harmful than the loss of image for Colorado City is the cost to those who have been most affected by Sammy Gomez's death.

The Gomez family has lost a son they will never be able to replace. Their lives will never be the same.

Accused officer Billy Ray Williamson has had his life tarnished forever. No matter what the outcome of the grand jury, there will be those who will say he was guilty or not guilty.

Unfortunately, when a law enforcement official is involved in any killing, many find him guilty until proven innocent.

Then the question remains: What is next for Colorado City?

It is a question that will only be answered by the reaction of residents of that town when the Gomez case is finally put to rest.

Will they pull together, or continue to pull apart?

More effort needed

Cleaning up Big Spring is no easy job.

Literally hundreds of people have chipped in by taking part in the Adopt-A-Spot program, but it still isn't enough.

One young citizen has begun a personal crusade to clean up part of the northside as a tribute to his hero uncle. He hopes his efforts will help children brought up in the same part of town where he has lived all his life want to stay in Big Spring and be proud of their city.

It is a lofty ambition.

On Saturday, Augie Paredez hopes that other Big Spring residents feel like he does and will turn out to help him clean up Sgt. Paredez Street on the northside of town.

It is a street named after his uncle, Howard County's first casualty of the Vietnam War.

Cleaning up Big Spring can begin with a one-day effort but it cannot end there.

It will require the work of interested citizens on a continual basis. It will mean pulling weeds on street corners that no one else cares about, and mowing lawns around abandoned houses and lots.

It will mean not littering on our streets and it will mean becoming a watchdog for others that do.

It will mean changing the Don't Mess With Texas slogan to Don't Mess With Big Spring and it will mean caring enough about our city to volunteer a little time and effort into making it a better place to live.

Cleaning up Big Spring is not an impossible task. But it is a task that will require dedication and effort.

"It's not something that will ever end," Paredez said. "With all the weeds, it may go on forever."

Everyone's waiting on Barrera

By JESSE TREVINO

Jesse Trevino

The rumblings are getting stronger that San Antonio attorney and former state district judge Roy Barrera Jr., in an about-face, is considering entering the race for the Republican nomination for attorney general.

While his decision may yet not be final, it nevertheless has some Democrats worried, for the pressure would be on for them to nominate a Hispanic for one of the top elected offices in the state.

If they do not nominate a Hispanic for high statewide elected office, the Democrats' claim to better represent the interests of Hispanics would ring hollow. If it nominates Barrera, the GOP will have nominated a Hispanic to a major statewide office in consecutive elections.

Barrera, who won the GOP nomination three years ago and almost defeated the incumbent attorney general, Jim Mattox, is hugely popular among Republicans and would have to be regarded as the favorite in the primary.

He may be the favorite in the general election as well. He won almost half of the Hispanic vote in 1986 and might be able to increase his share of Hispanic votes to win this time around.

Democrats who quesiton Barrera's electability argue Barrera's remarkable showing was more anti-Mattox than pro-Barrera. The bottom line remains, What is to prevent those same Hispanics from not voting for him again?

That question is at the root of the dilemma facing the Democrats. They will have to confront the GOP's Barrera advantage. When will Hispanics break into the Democratic slate of nominees for higher office?

Barrera's potential has been measured repeatedly. He dwarfs the other announced candidates in the GOP race. Simply stated, Barrera would win the GOP primary in a walk.

In the polls, he has not been paired against the Democratic candidates, namely State Rep. Dan Morales of San Antonio, Houston attorney John Odam and U.S. Rep. John Bryant of Dallas.

Last week, in a highly unscientific survey of individuals attending the annual meetings of the John Ben Shepperd Leadership Forum in Austin, Barrera blitzed all comers to the race. Morales came in second, ahead of GOP State Sen. Buster Brown of Houston and Bryant.

The informal survey reveals only a kernel of a larger truth: that the Democrats are in a bind. How can they look Hispanics in the eye without blushing while stating they are the party Hispanics must support as the other party appears ready to nominate a Hispanic to the state's top legal office?

No other candidate of credible stature has come forward for the Democrats other than Morales, who in his short legislative career made a mark in the House of Representatives.

The hurdle for the Democrats is how they will go about nominating a Hispanic who stands a chance to win office. What some major Democratic figures donors might do in the Morales-Odam-Bryant race depends on Barrera's decision.

If Barrera jumps in, Morales should get a leg up from traditional Democrats nervous that Barrera might win an office that is instrumental in how the state redistricts political boundaries in 1991.

The state attorney general sits on the Legislative Redistricting Board that may be highly influential in drawing the lines of the state's political districts. Only Morales may be able to neutralize Barrera's Hispanic vote and keep that office in Democratic hands.

For his part, the youthful, popular Barrera has achieved the 600-lb. canary status few politicians achieve. If he decides to enter the race, Barrera can sit down at the candidates' table any time he wants. Barrera can afford to wait.

Apparently, everyone is waiting on Barrera. But the Barrera watch is not just limited to the Republican party.

Everyone should pay

To the editor:

It is the time of year when taxes are the major topics of discussion of school, colleges, cities, state and federal government meetings. There is an old saying that "nothing is sure except Death and Taxes." Probably so.

It seems there should be a more equitable way to finance our local government departments and our school systems. Isn't the major portion of their finances derived from property taxes? When the oil industry was at its peak, everyone had ample funds. Now that the oil industry is down, property values have declined, business is off and property taxes are up along with school enrollment.

Each school district knows how much it costs to educate one child for one year. So the school board sets a budget for the property owners' tax notice for the coming year. Wouldn't it be more equitable to assess everyone at least a small amount so they, too, would have a direct hand in the operation of our education and government?

I am a veteran of WWII, and in no way advocating that I or anyone else be exempt from taxes. It is my right to contribute to the best of my ability, and I will fight for that right. No other country in the world has so much to offer for so little in return. I am willing to give my fair share, and I feel that everyone should be allowed to contribute, each according to their ability.

Could this be a part of the mayoral controversy instead of the racial overtones that seem to flare up constantly? Could this be a miniscule revolt by overtaxed property owners?

Push-over for pets

By JEAN WARREN

When our daughter was growing up, our home resembled an adjunct to the Humane Society. She was forever befriending and bringing home stray dogs and cats. There always seemed to be a litter of puppies or kittens to find a home for.

My husband is also a push-over for dumb animals. However, despite lyrical — and I'm sure sincere — enthusiasm for pets, neither he nor our daughter could ever find time for mundane tasks like feeding pets, bathing them, or transporting one to the vet.

As a result, I, who profess only lukewarm attachment to "Canis Familiaris" or "Felix Libya Domestica", have become an authority on pet ailments, dietary needs, ticks and fleas. I am also an expert at removing what is delicately referred to as "solid waste" from the cat litter.

And I can tell you how much is that doggie in the window. The answer is — expensive. There are shots, dog food, surgery (so your troubles will not multiply), flea powder, shampoo, medicine for a variety of ailments — and more dog food.

There are also incidental expenses. The last character our daughter brought home from the Humane Society accomplished the amazing feat of chewing in two the electrical cord to the freezer without electrocuting himself.

Nobody discovered it until the freezer contents had defrosted. I had some very unkind thoughts about dogs in general as I viewed a thoroughly thawed turkey and strawberries that were rapidly becoming maladorous.

There are other touching reminders of our life with pets: Little Joe's teeth marks on the corner of the kitchen cupboard; the spots on the rug left by the latest cat that mistook the carpet for his litter box; holes dug in an interesting random pattern on the front lawn, which is further decorated by shredded bits of a discarded milk carton; and one of the more embarrassing moments of my life.

I was serving coffee to a business associate of my husband's who had never before been in our home. Just as I handed him the coffee, a dog hair swirled through the air and landed in his cup.

I don't remember what I said, but I jerked the cup from him and headed for the kitchen. He seemed to accept my lame explanation, but he did not seem very enthusiastic about the coffee.

In the 20-plus years I have had dogs and cats as an unsought hobby, a long list have become part of the household. There was Sugar, who had evidently been dumped by her former owners. Sugar just happened to be pregnant and soon produced seven adorable puppies.

An appealing mongrel with the unlikely name of Killer was a gift from one of the neighbors. He allowed himself to be dressed in doll clothes and wheeled about in a baby carriage. Then came Penelope, who always threw up in the car, and Bernard, Bowser, Honey, Running Bear, Tiger, Guinevere and Bandit.

The lengthy list of cats includes Tommy I, II and III. There was also Winchester, who was part wildcat. When she had her kittens in the fireplace, she had to be restrained lest she attack visitors in our home.

Bandito has been with us a long time. She broke her leg, but when the bone would not set properly, the vet decided to amputate. She gets along fine with three legs.

The latest cat, Baron, lives up to his regal name. He tolerates our presence and condescends to eat only the most expensive cat food.

Sometimes, when I remember all the fun our pets have occasioned, nostalgia wins out over common sense and I become positively maudlin.

In more lucid moments, however, I have an uneasy suspicion that I know just who the "dumb animal" at our house is.

Administration: Noriega isolated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration, looking for hopeful signs after the bungled coup attempt in Panama, is encouraged by evidence of the growing repudiation in Latin America of Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega's rule.

And administration officials are hoping to accelerate the process at two major international parlays over the next month and in other diplomatic encounters as well.

At his news conference Friday, President Bush said he was delighted by signs that Noriega has so little support elsewhere in the hemisphere.

Panama's membership in an eight-country hemispheric consultative body has been suspended, and when the seven active members met this past week in Peru, Noriega's government was roundly criticized.

Still, there appears to be litte sentiment in the hemisphere for U.S. military action against Noriega. In contrast to many members of Congress, no hemispheric leader criticized Bush for not providing Panama's rebel leaders with more military support on the day of the coup attempt.

NARAL targets abortion foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Gov. Bob Martinez of Florida, both Republicans, are on a list of nine anti-abortion politicians named Saturday as the top targets for defeat next year by a national abortion rights group.

Emboldened by its successes in Congress and the Florida legislature last week, the National Abortion Rights Action League announced its "NARAL Nine" list and said it would be involved in hundreds of races, from the Senate to the state legislatures, next year.

"We will be in high profile campaigns to defeat these candidates," said Kate Michelman, executive director of the national pro-abortion group.

"The NARAL Nine — and they're just the top tier — is where we're going to concentrate our response. This means a heavy investment," she said.

Michelman announced the list at a briefing for reporters before the group's national conference in Washington over the weekend.

The list includes Republican state legislators who have been particularly vocal and effective in leading anti-abortion efforts in key states, abortion opponents expected to seek higher office, and two Democrats the group has identified as opposing abortion rights.

Funeral mass held for Marcos

IMELDA MARCOS AT FUNERAL

HONOLULU (AP) — More than 1,500 people crowded into a sweltering church to hear former Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos eulogized as a man who suffered like Jesus Christ and forgave those who betrayed him.

Another 500 people milled outside the Co-Cathedral of St. Theresa Friday, hoping for a glimpse of Marcos' body Friday evening.

"Christ was a victim of the people's power, so Marcos was a victim of the peoples' power," said Roman Catholic Monsignor Domingo Nebres of the Philippines, referring to the 1986 "people power" revolt that ended Marcos' 20-year dictatorial rule there.

"My dear beloved president would say, 'Do not cry for me cry for your country,'" Nebres, a friend of Marcos for 12 years, told those packed into the Honolulu's largest Roman Catholic church.

BOSTON — Howard Gotlieb, director of special collections at Boston University's Mugar Library, poses with some of the items in the Bette Davis collection at the library here.

BOSTON (AP) — In one of the dozens of scrapbooks kept by Bette Davis, a picture portrays the young actress as the model of gentility, wearing a long, white dress, holding a white parasol.

Next to the photo is scrawled, "For publicity — what else?"

The actress, who died this month at age 81, chronicled her stardom with hundreds of articles, photos, annotated scripts, letters and mementos. The collection, housed at Boston University, reveals not only her career but her irreverent attitude toward Hollywood glamour.

"The scrapbooks are just like her mind — she was meticulous," said Howard Gotlieb, who as curator of the university library's special collections persuaded Davis to donate the memorabilia more than 15 years ago.

The collection contains more than 100,000 items that range from Davis' fourth-grade report card — her best marks were in reading and spelling — to the transcript of her appearance on television's "This Is Your Life."

There are photos of Davis with stars such as Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy and Gary Cooper, and copies of speeches she gave in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the government's effort to sell war bonds during World War II.

One box contains a mirror that belonged to the legendary French actress Sarah Bernhardt; it later became a gift to Davis from the government of France.

Another item in the collection is a Victorian-style factory time clock that Davis detested as a teen-ager when she worked at a factory in Lowell, where she was born. The time-keeping device irked her so much that she tracked it down 60 years later and donated it to the archive.

Davis also kept a story about her life written by her mother, Ruth Favor Davis.

"Bette Davis, Christianed Ruth Elizabeth Davis, was born on April 5th, 1908. Nothing happened of importance to herald her arrival," the story begins.

But in a later passage, the elder Davis describes how her daughter once was playing Santa Claus in school, and her costume caught fire from candles on a Christmas tree. Her face was burned and she had no eyebrows left.

"She told me later that for the next few moments she kept her eyes closed saying to herself, 'I'll make them think I'm blind,'" her mother wrote. "Even then she was reaching for the limelight, even when she was in pain and even at the expense of the people who loved her."

Rift shakes Nobel academy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Never in its tradition-bound 203 years has the Swedish Academy, an august body of professors, authors and literary critics, been in such a muddle — and just before it is to award the Nobel Prize in literature.

Angered by its response to the Salman Rushdie affair, three of its 18 members have handed in resignation letters. But since they are chosen for life, they cannot quit. They must remain until they die.

Members claim the rift has not hampered the work of choosing this year's Nobel laureate, who is to be announced this month. But it has exposed tensions inside this elite body and tainted its image.

Historically, internal fighting was been kept within the Academy's 18th-century walls. A member's only form of protest has been to quietly boycott the weekly meetings.

Writer Kerstin Ekman, 56, one of the three rebels, has openly demanded change, saying "new and fresh forces are needed" in the Academy.

"We would have dug the Academy's grave, had we let the three go," responded Goran Malmkvist, a professor who joined the Academy in 1985. "Who would have agreed to replace them? No one."

East Germany allows emigration

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — About 1,000 East Germans in Poland will be free to leave by plane or ship for West Germany or any other country, it was announced Saturday in the latest concession by East Berlin to the westward migration of its citizens.

The official Polish news agency PAP said East Germany informed Poland of its decision after meetings between the East German deputy foreign minister and the Polish foreign minister.

A West German official in Bonn said the departures could begin Monday. The refugees will be joining about 50,000 other citizens who have fled their Communist homeland in recent weeks.

"It's wonderful," said one refugee who came to Poland with a tour group and then slipped away to Warsaw. "Freedom, and then I will be happy."

Also Saturday, East Germany's state-run media engaged in a rare show of public debate, publishing workers' complaints about conditions in their troubled nation.

Western diplomatic sources say more than 950 East Germans have taken refuge in either the West German Embassy in Warsaw or in shelters in the city.

The refugees, including many families with small children, have made their way to Poland since more than 1,400 of their countrymen left here for the West on Oct. 1 and Oct. 5.

Blacks stage 'victory marches'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Tens of thousands of blacks in South Africa's seven biggest cities and several towns staged jubilant "victory marches" Saturday to celebrate the imminent release of eight prominent political prisoners.

Organizers said never before had so many large anti-government marches been held in the country simultaneously.

The largest march was in Port Elizabeth, where an estimated 30,000 to 50,000 people assembled, despite the mass distribution of pamphlets in nearby black townships saying marchers would be sterilized by invisible radiation rays.

It was not known who distributed the pamphlets. There have been previous cases of bogus documents and pamphlets, and activists often have blamed elements of the security forces.

The Colorado City controversy

Williamson: I wouldn't do anything differently

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — By all accounts, Billy Ray Williamson stands accused by LULAC with henious crimes: executionary murder and an attempted police coverup, a history of racial violence, and repeatedly lying to governmental officials about his fatal shooting of a sexual assault suspect.

Because of an ongoing investigation and under the advice of the city attorney and attorneys for the city's insurance company not to make any remarks concerning the May 1988 shooting of Sammy Gomez, Williamson has kept virtual silence in the case. It hasn't always been easy to keep that silence though, he says.

"It's hard to deal with sometimes. I can't ignore it, I have to tolerate it. If I know there's going to be something in the media, I just don't watch it," he said. "I have a lot of other things to do anyway."

Williamson said he has two or three part time jobs, including his current position as city fire marshall. He recently resigned from a part-time position with the police department.

"I don't have a lot of time to think about (the case), which is good," he said.

But there are times he would like speak out. "Yeah, there's been many times I'd like to go on record before the cameras or call a press conference, but I just don't feel it's appropriate," he said.

If the case is to be tried, he said, it should be in court rather than in the media.

Williamson said he is aware that preparations are underway for a second grand jury investigation, but said he has chosen not to follow details of the case too closely.

"It's supposed to (go to the grand jury) as far as I know . . . I purposefully try to disassociate myself from (the investigation)," he said. Williamson said he does not want to be accused of influencing the investigation.

"I want to repeat, we — the city, police department, me — are not trying to hide or cover up anything. We want to cooperate with anybody that has a legitimate interest (in the case) . . . We have nothing to hide," he said.

"I feel like I was a good officer, I still am. I've never done anything illegal or wrong as a police officer. I've never done anything I was ashamed of as a police officer." — Billy Ray Williamson.

Williamson said in retrospect he does not see how he could have handled the situation regarding the publicity any differently than he has done.

"I guess not," he said. "The situation happened as it happened . . . Things happened, there's not a thing you do about it (except) go with the flow."

Williamson added, "I don't plan on doing anything differently. Right now I plan on working for the city . . . Going on with my life as regularly as possible," he said.

Williamson said he and his family have been allowed to continue with their lives by local residents. "Nobody's really bothered us, threatened us," he said. But repeated newspaper articles and TV stories surrounding the year-and-a-half old shooting make Williamson and other family members angry sometimes.

"You see your name on the radio, TV, the newspaper — it gets kind of aggravating sometimes," he said.

He is forced to answer the same question again and again — could he have done something differently other than fire the three shots that killed Gomez?

"I've been asked that dozens of times. I don't see anything I could have done differently other than not been there. It's just fate or a set of circumstances I got involved in."

Williamson said the younger of his four sons are too little to understand what he is accused of by LULAC. It has upset a son in high school.

"He sees I'm getting kicked around some, it aggravates him," he said.

Although Williamson was born in Pegosa Springs, Colo. and lived there until completing high school, he said he considers Colorado City his hometown. He said he has only briefly considered moving because of the adverse publicity.

"Yeah, I guess it's crossed my mind, but not seriously. I was not born here, but I was raised here. My parents live here — my father; I have property here, a family. It's my hometown. I don't have any plans for leaving."

There is always the possibility of finding a better job somewhere else, he said, but added, "I'm not going to leave solely because of this situation."

Williamson started employment with the city as animal control warden and relief dispatcher for the city in 1976. Later that year he was commissioned as a patrolman in 1976 and worked his way through the ranks until he reached the rank of sergeant. He was a part-time officer in May of 1988 when he fatally shot Gomez.

"I feel like I was a good officer, I still am. I've never done anything illegal or wrong as a police officer," he said. "I've never done anything I was ashamed of as a police officer."

But the controversy surrounding the shooting seems like it will never end, he said.

"Yeah, it sure does. It's like the Lozano case . . . the prisoner who hung himself in Midland or Odessa. It took years to end. I think about that sometimes; I wonder if it's going to last that long, to go on and on and on."

Williamson said he tries not to dwell on the case, but acknowledges that it has changed his life.

"Things will never be the same again with me. Period. It will always be something I'll have to live with regardless what happens."

Even if a second, state-led investigation should clear him of wrong-doing, the controversy will not go away, he said.

"It's not going to make things different. It will always be there. It will always be something I'll have to live with regardless of what the grand jury does or any other jury."

Gomez family: Prejudice faced even in death for Sammy Gomez

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — Even death has not spared the prejudices that exist in life in Mitchell County, according to a family who has a son buried there.

"It is prejudice, even when they bury you," said Marcario Gomez, father of police fatal shooting victim Sammy Gomez. Sammy Gomez, 27, is buried in a Mexican section of a three-part cemetery that basically divides the deceased into black, white and hispanics, Marcario Gomez said.

"They don't mix 'em, even in the graveyard they're worried about that," Marcario "Mac" Gomez says with a laugh. But he expresses anger that while part of the graveyard largely devoted to whites receives attention the other sections do not receive the same level of attention.

"There is a Mexican cemetery — (the county) won't do anything for us," he said.

City Manager Brenda Hammond, responding to a question about segregated cemeteries, said she knows of two cemeteries in the county, a Colorado City and a Mitchell County cemetery. Hammond said the city will sell plots to anyone, but that she believes the county cemetery, where Gomez is buried, does have a larger percentage of minorities because it used to be a burial place largely for Roman Catholics.

It is a heartache for them — the Gomezes say — that the harrassment they believe their son suffered in life — the injustice they say he suffered in what they say was nothing less than a murder at the hands of officers whose purpose is to protect the public — should suffer injustice even after his death.

And Marcario Gomez turns serious when speaking of his son.

"I will never be the same — they took part of me, that's the way I feel," he said. "They've done an injustice to us, especially to Sammy."

His parents describe Sammy Gomez as a quiet man with only a small circle of friends but a good son and a good person.

"He was never in trouble in school; he played football, graduated and worked in the oil fields. He wasn't a troublemaker, he never bothered anybody, Marcario Gomez said.

"We never had any trouble with Sammy," his mother agrees. "He never lied to us; we never had to worry about him," she said.

Gomez was killed in a highly contested police shooting of the 27-year-old as a part-time officer of the Colorado City Police Department attempted to arrest Gomez on a charge of sexual assault.

Police contend Gomez lunged at the officers with a knife and an officer was forced to fire, but LULAC supporters who have rallied against what they charge is a history of police brutality in the Mitchell County town. They charge that part-time police officer Billy Ray Williamson ended a longstanding grudge against the younger Gomez when he shot and killed an unarmed Sammy Gomez and placed a throw-down knife at the scene.

The first grand jury — conducted one week after the fatal shooting — chose not to indict officer Billy Ray Williamson for the shooting.

"They did (the grand jury) without the pathologist's reports. They thought we were a bunch of dumb Mexicans . . . Now what kind of faith do you think we would have in that?" Marcario Gomez asked.

And Gomez says he doubts about a second grand jury will be any more likely to find the officer guilty for the death of his son.

"If they didn't do it right for first two times, (an internal and Texas Ranger's investigation) do you think they're going to do it right the third time?" Gomez asks rhetorically.

"It will have the same result, it's the same people here, running the town," Minnie Gomez agrees. The Gomezes believe local officials are biased and that only a federal grand jury can offer them the chance to see justice done in their son's killing.

Gomez said the recent resignation under pressure of Mitchell County Commissioner Larry Hale, indicted on several counts for official misconduct, is a graphic illustration of the different standards of justice used in Colorado City.

"With Hale they say, okay, if you resign we'll drop everything. Anybody else they prosecute.

"I bet you if I had a felony they would send me to the pen," he said.

"Police can beat the hell out of anyone . . . you can't get a lawyer to help you. I always thought about that, because it's very bad for the American people.

"It's the reason so many people are in the pen, because the lawyers are plotting against the people," he said.

"Police can charge you with anything, even if you haven't done anything — that's what they done against Sammy.

"What can a man do . . . They kept arresting him," Gomez said. They charged him with offenses to harrass him but never brought the cases to court, he said.

But despite his belief that even institutions such as the local churches are segmented and that minorities do not receive fair treatment, Gomez said what he hopes for is nothing too revolutionary.

"We want the truth. The truth hasn't surfaced. We just want justice and we can't get it here," he said.

"We've lived here 50 years. We've seen prejudice in the courthouse. You couldn't drink the water: they had whites only fountains, whites only restrooms.

"Some of those same people are in the courthouse today," Minnie said.

"They're not going to help you," Gomez said of Mitchell County officials and upperclass people in Mitchell County.

"They'll listen to you. They say I'm sorry but I can't get involved," Minnie Gomez said.

"Some say they're sorry, others don't think they have to worry about it . . . They say they're Christians but they haven't got a heart," Marcario Gomez said.

"A lot of people, white people saw what they were doing here and they leave after a year or two," Gomez said. Some encouraged him to leave too, but Gomez said he's determined to stay.

"I'm not going to leave just because they have a badge," he said. Gomez vows, "I'm not going to stop until justice is done."

LULAC: Selection a 'fiasco'

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

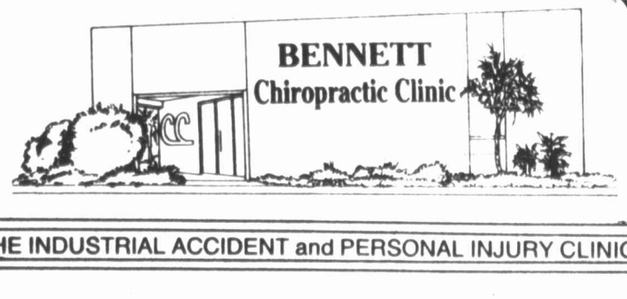

COLORADO CITY — A grand jury selection process intended to rectify differences between Mitchell County officials and LULAC supporters has now itself become a source of controversy.

Mitchell County officials have made the selection of grand jurors in the second investigation into the May 1988 fatal police shooting of Sammy Gomez a "fiasco," charges Ruben Sandoval, the San Antonio civil rights attorney representing Gomez family.

Warning: Halloween costumes going fast

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Halloween, the day of witching, warlocking and spirits . . . If you can't find a bona fide extraterrestrial or supernatural being to take with you when trick-or-treating, the common practice is to buy a costume.

Halloween is about two weeks away and the local stores selling costumes are issuing a warning: Many of the costumes have already sold out.

The celebration of Oct. 31 has become big business. Especially this year, with the hottest selling item in Big Spring and probably around the county — Batman garb and accouterments.

"We have batcapes . . . not the whole suit. Most of the young boys have wanted to be Batman. It's an amazing craze," said Jason Cambell, owner of Stagecoach Gifts in the Big Spring Mall, which carries a complete line of masks and costumes.

Wal-Mart is already sold out of the Batman costumes and Greg Murray, assistant manager, believes it was the bestselling item among the costumes.

For the adult female costume shopper, cute and sexy is in. Elvira look-a-likes, sexy devils, pirate wenches and French maids are all selling well. "You do not find many of the women wanting to look ugly," said Cambell.

Men traditionally want to be horrible and ugly. The grim reaper and vampires seem to be the most popular.

"We're doing much better on children's costumes," said Cambell, "but every kid wants to be Batman."

As face-painter Jerry Rudinger was posted at the Wal-Mart entrance waiting for the onslaught of kids out of school, Murray in the meantime was well-involved with Halloween preparations Friday afternoon. As he browsed through the plastic isles of red, orange and black, Murray said, "The costumes have been going real fast, both kids and adults."

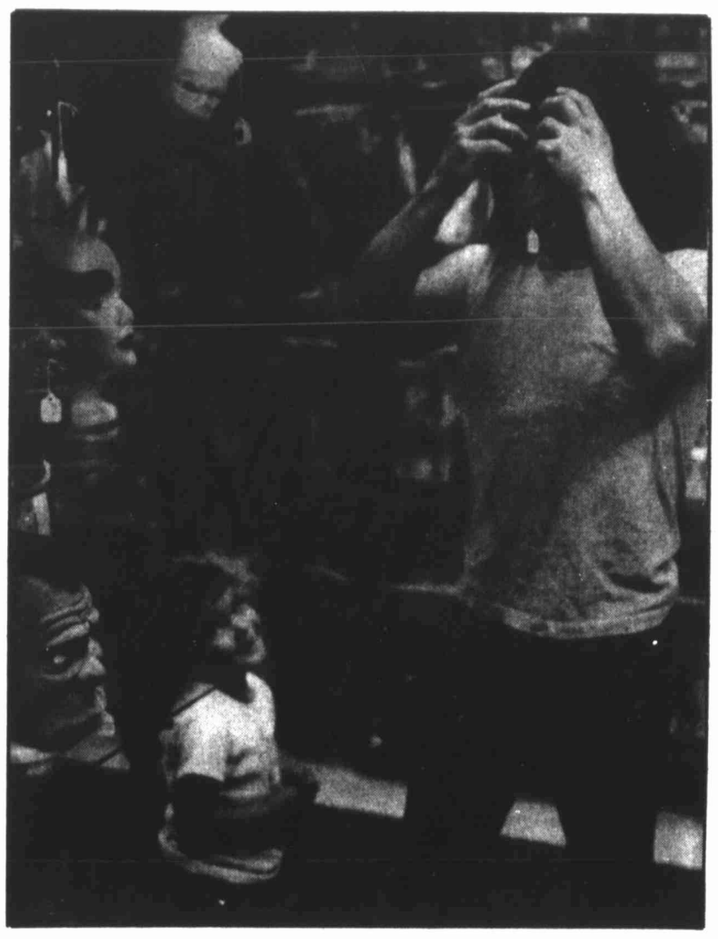

"It's now just starting to pick up as we get into the month of October," he said.

Both the Hallmark in the Big Spring Mall and Joy's Hallmark in Highland Mall are selling partial costumes. Both of the stores' merchandise is for the little wee kids — baby items, T-shirts, masks and makeup.

But Halloween is not just for the kids anymore; adults have horned in on the act, added Cambell. As a result of the adult interest, Halloween has become the stores' second biggest season — second only to Christmas.

Among other popular favorites are the Ninja for the boys and Little Bumble Bee and Angel for the girls.

As for the candy, Wal-Mart said it is selling fast as well.

COLORADO CITY — LULAC officials Sarah Ortiz, left, Ruben Sandoval, center and Oscar Ortiz discuss evidence concerning the Sammy Gomez case at a news conference Friday.

selected this process. Their (selection method) invites us to sell tickets at the circus that this is going to be."

LULAC leaders expressed outrage Friday as they learned they were not to be a party to the selection process used to determine which names were placed in the jury wheel used to select possible grand jurors.

Sandoval said LULAC leaders wanted to be there when names of registered voters were placed in the jury wheel because LULAC wanted to be sure a current voter registration list was used.

There has been a concerted effort by LULAC supporters to register voters, he said.

Sandoval said LULAC's exclusion from witnessing which list of registered voters was placed in the jury wheel casts serious doubt about a process he said LULAC supporters were never in favor of to begin with.

LULAC leaders want the federal government to lead the investigation, but have acknowledged that if the case is to be investigated by a state grand jury, a jury wheel is more favorable than selection of jurors by a three-man jury commission.

"Basically, the judge and myself have a difference on what the beginning means . . . When we got there, we got there in the middle — the names were already in there. We were not involved in the process from the beginning," said Oscar Ortiz, president of the Colorado City LULAC chapter.

"They bring in the jury wheel with the names already in it," Ortiz said. "What's the point? Why were we even there?

Ortiz said the whole process left him feeling disgusted.

"They pulled 50 names (from the jury wheel). The judge sealed the list, so what's the purpose of it? What's the purpose, it's just a complete joke. It just follows Mitchell County justice," he said.

Frank Conard, Mitchell County district attorney responded, "They've indicated all along they do not intend to be happy. I do not know how the process could be more fair."

Conard said the case will go forward as scheduled. "We're going to proceed and present the case," he said.

Bill Erwin, Mitchell County district clerk — one of four officials who transferred names from the list of registered voters to the jury wheel — defended the process used to pick potential grand jurors.

"I have no control over the names that go in there," he said.

However, pursuant to the Open Records Act of Texas, the Big Spring Herald has filed a written request with the district clerk's office requesting a copy of the list — believing it is a matter of public record and should be a matter of general knowledge.

Under provisions of the Open Records Act, the district clerk's office will have 10 days to deliver the information to the newspaper or request an opinion from the Texas Attorney General's Office.

Erwin said LULAC complaints about wanting to be there when names were chosen for the list of possible grand jurors are without merit. The law prohibits anyone other than a select group of officials from being there when a list is constituted.

"That's state law, it ain't Mitchell County law," he said. Erwin said he, Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant, and a representative from the county clerk's office and tax assessor/collector's office were present when the names of possible jurors were placed in the jury wheel.

Sadness in Big D; hope in Big Spring

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

I'm not a gambling man, but if I were, I'd give you 5-1 odds that somewhere, right about now, Tom Landry is laughing his head off.

I can almost picture him sitting on his recliner, soda pop in hand, preparing to watch the Dallas Cowboys get blown to bits by the San Francisco 49ers.

In all likelihood, by the time the sun sets tonight, the once-mighty 'Pokes will be 0-6 for the season — and Tom's laugh will get a little louder.

"Oh-6!" he'll say to his wife. "Heck, honey, my grandmother could go 0-6."

And then he'll laugh a little more.

Now, Tom's too nice a guy to take great pleasure out of other people's misfortunes, but one couldn't blame him too much if he snickered every now and then because of the Cowboys string of losses.

As bad as the Cowboys were last year — and they were pretty darn bad — at least they won a few games. Why with a few breaks here and there, they might have won six or seven.

With a few breaks here and there, this year's Dallas squad might win — oh, maybe one or two.

As much as it pains this diehard blue-and-silver fan, the Cowboys, to use the venacular, stink to high heaven. They are, without a doubt, the worst team in the National Football League.

If you think that statement is a mite too strong, I'll let you name a lousier team.

I'm waiting.

Give up? Oh, well, look at it this way: They may be bad, but I bet they could give TCU a run for their money.

Why have the Cowboys come to this sorry pass? It's really a combination of things.

As much as I'd like to, I really can't place all the blame on new owner Jerry Jones or new coach Jimmy Johnson. Lord knows, they've tried. And it's certainly not the players' fault that they get gunned down every Sunday.

That's right, some of the blame will have to be placed on the previous regime, namely Tom Landry and Tex Schramm. It was during their time in the saddle that the Cowboys began their slide from America's Team status to the point where even Texas doesn't want much to do with them.

But, then again, Landry and Schramm were long gone when the Cowboys traded away one of the best players they ever had. When Herschel Walker packed his bags and headed off to Minneapolis, the coffin lid was nailed shut on the 'Pokes hopes for this year.

Or next, for that matter.

Granted, they received a slew of players in exchange for Walker, but it's doubtful that any of them will help change Dallas' fortunes in the near future.

And, it's also true that Dallas will get a few draft choices from the Minnesota Vikings, but again, we're talking about the future — as in five or six years down the road — before anything good comes from those picks.

No, it looks like Dallas' theme song for the next few years will be "Road to Nowhere" — because that's exactly where the Pokes are going.

Could it be possible that we're seeing a reprise of 1986?

The Big Spring Steers, who last won the District 4-4A crown that year, took a giant step toward regaining the key to the throne room with a 36-15 pounding of the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night.

The win improved the Steers' district record to 2-0 and puts Big Spring all alone on top of the league standings.

Anytime you beat Sweetwater, you've accomplished something, but add to that the fact it was the Mustangs' first loss at home since a playoff defeat in 1986 to Wichita Falls Hirschi, and you have an idea of what the Steers really accomplished.

Granted, it's too early to concede the district title to Big Spring; after all, no team has emerged as a real powerhouse. But Steers' fans have a genuine right to feel excited about their team's chances.

For now, at least, it looks like it just might be the Year of the Steer.

Lady Steers rally for win

By STEVE BELVIN

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Lady Steers overcame a dismal first game and battled back to outlast the Andrews Mustangs in district volleyball action here Saturday afternoon.

Things didn't look so good for the Lady Steers after they dropped the opening game 15-7, but they came back scrapping, taking the next two games 15-6, 15-9.

The win, Big Spring's third in a row, gives the Lady Steers a 5-5 district record and 13-14 overall. The Mustangs fall to 4-6 in league play and 18-12 overall.

"We played good," beamed Lady Steers coach Lois Ann Mckenzie after the exciting match. "In the first game we looked like a balloon slowly losing air. Once they caught us, we went downhill. I pitched a fit in between games, and they played better."

The Lady Steers dominated early in the first game. Led by Tevayan Russell's four service points, Big Spring seemed in command leading 7-3. But Maxie Mataya and Christia Rogers and their Mustang teammates had other ideas.

Mataya and Rogers keyed a Andrews barrage that left the Lady Steers shell-shocked. With Mataya downing 5 of 6 kills, and Rogers downing 4 of 5 to go along with five blocks, Andrews scored 15 unanswered points.

Russell was Big Spring's only offensive weapon in that game, as she downed 3 of 3 kills.

Russell continued her outstanding play throught the match, but she started to get some help from her teammates. Dorothy Viasana helped with her hard spikes, Jennifer Cranford did the setting, and Marta Mathews and freshmen Amber Fannin and Cassie Underwood came through with the clutch defense.

Coach McKenzie said perhaps the biggest performers on the team never even got on the court. "If it hadn't been for our two cheerleaders on the bench, I don't know if we could have don it," said McKenzie of reserves Ronetta Fryar and Kerry Burdette. "They stayed up when the other got down. They picked them up and kept them going."

Evidently Fryar and Burdette got their teammates pumped up at the start of the second game. Russell served the first three points of the game and Underwood and Viasana served points, giving the Lady Steers a 5-0 lead.

With Russell and Viasana pounding away at the Andrews defense, the lead was soon 10-3, and Big Spring cruised in for the win.

In the third game the Lady Steers won the coin toss but decided to receive serve. "You never know about things like that, but this time it worked to our advantage," said McKenzie. "I wanted to stay on that side because the Andrews people were behind us on the other side."

The rubber match was close at the start. Andrews took a 2-0 lead on Karen Cornejo's service points. Big Spring took a 5-2 lead on an ace by Russell and and service points by Viasana and Underwood. From there, the Lady Steers never trailed as Russell took control of the game with her spiking and blocking.

"Tevayan was hot today. She had a heck of a game," said McKenzie. "She took the pressure off the others today. Our freshmen came through today. They really don't play like freshmen."

Russell was the match's leading spiker, downing 12 of 16 attempts. Viasana was 6 of 14. For Andrews, Mataya was 9 of 20 and Rogers was 7 of 18.

In freshmen action, Big Spring won 15-5, 15-12, raising their record to 9-3.

The Lady Steers JV fell to Andrews 15-13, 15-7. The JV is now 3-6 in conference play and 10-13 overall.

All three Lady Steer teams will be travelling to Sweetwater Tuesday.

Steers spank Sweetwater, 36-15

By STEVE BELVIN

SWEETWATER — "We whipped 'em and made 'em like it," shouted a joyous Big Spring Steer.

His statement was probably half-correct. The Steers definitely whipped the Sweetwater Mustangs, but it's highly doubtful that the defending district champs liked the 36-15 shellacking they received here Friday.

The Steers upped their league record to 2-0, dropping the Mustangs to 1-1. Both are 3-2 overall. Big Spring won the game via an aggressive defense and a balanced offensive attack.

The Sweetwater Wishbone attack was limited to 182 yards on the ground; 102 of it coming in the first half. The likes of Pat Wilbert, Lance Reeves, Joe Downey, Phillip Saiz, Calvin Marion and Freddie Rodriguez made life miserable for the Sweetwater offense. The hard-hitting defense caused two Sweetwater fumbles, and there was a couple more that officials ruled dead.

Meanwhile, the Steeer offense, led by quarterback Rance Thompson, and wingback Neal Mayfield, worked to near-perfection. Big Spring accumulated 210 yards rushing, and another 156 in the air. Thompson, who had his bell rung early in the third quarter, picked the secondary apart, completing 11 of 13 passes.

Mayfield enjoyed another banner night in the Steers Wing-T formation. The 212-pound junior carried 11 times for 126 yards and caught four passes for 34 yards. The capper came early in the fourth quarter when he spun off two tacklers and bolted 61-yards for a score.

Even in this dominating victory, Big Spring coach David Thompson shunned any thoughts of the Steers playhing a perfect game. "All I can say is that we played hard," he said. "I think every one of the kids played hard. We played aggressive defense, and Sweetwater didn't know where the ball was going when we had it."

Defensive end Joe Downey was at a loss for words after the game. "I really can't believe it — we beat them like we did. We knew we were going to win this game. After we beat Monahans, we knew we could beat Sweetwater. Coach Butler (Dwight Butler, defensive coordinator) did a good job of getting us ready."

Big Spring's offense was simply awesome in the first half, scoring on four of its five possessions.

Patrick Chavarria set the tone of the game when he returned the opening kickoff 61 yards to the Sweetwater 24. Big Spring had to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Jason Davis.

Sweetwater put together its only good drive on its opening possession. The Mustangs ran 13 running plays and marched 69 yards, converting two fourth-down situations and eating up six minutes of the clock.

Robert Williams scored from the one. JoJo Martinez's extra point tied the game at 7 apiece.

The Steers took the ball and methodically marched 66 yards in eight plays. Behind the precise blocking of Ronnie Payne, Gary Watkins, John Downey, Santos Martinez, Pete Buske and Joe Downey, Mayfield and fullback Clay Atkinson ripped off huge chunks of yardage.

Jermaine Miller blasted in from the three. Davis' kick gave Big Spring the lead for good, 10-7, midway through the second quarter.

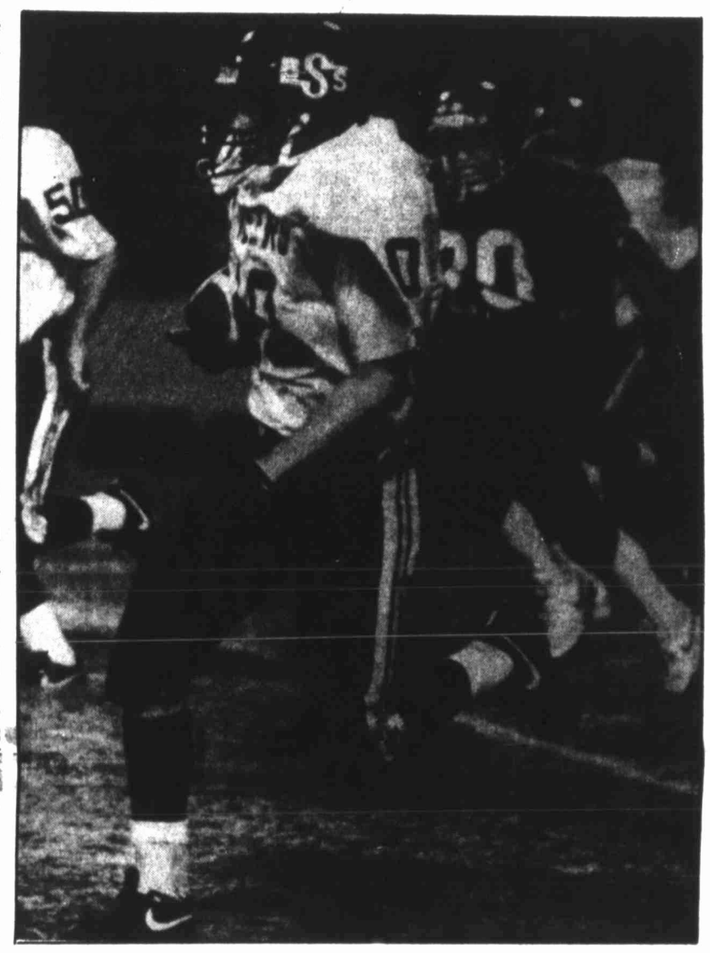

Big Spring's Freddie Rodriguez saved a touchdown on the ensuing kickoff. Sweetwater's Williams turned the corner and had only Rodriguez to beat, but the 134-pound Rodriguez nailed Williams with a sure tackle. A exhurberent Rodriguez was whistled for a 15-yard taunting penalty.

"I messed up on that kickoff return, I was just too pumped up," said Rodriguez. "I didn't know I was the last man. I knew he was going to try to juke me. We were all very pumped up for this one."

Sweetwater failed to move the ball and Big Spring launched its third consecutive scoring drive of the night. This time the Steers marched 85 yards in 10 plays, using almost five minutes of the clock. The big plays were a 27-yard pass to Davis, 26-yard run by Mayfield and an 11-yard keeper by Thompson.

Miller again blasted in from the three and the large Big Spring crowd went wild. "That's one thing I have to say — the crowd was the best I've seen since I've been here," said coach Thompson. They were so loud at times, I couldn't

Sands outlasts preseason favorite

By STEVE REAGAN

ACKERLY — This one definitely lived up to its preseason billing.

The Grady Wildcats and the Sands Mustangs, picked to finish one-two in District 6-A, Six-man polls, did nothing to disprove those rankings here Friday night.

In a game that featured basic, grind-it-out scoring drives and length-of-the-field touchdown passes, it was last-quarter defense that finally provided Sands with a nail-biting 32-28 win that gives the Mustangs an early inside track to the district crown.

Sands, paced by Bill Grigg's 212 yards on 36 carries, runs its record to 6-0 with the victory. Grady falls to 2-4 with the loss.

The Mustangs never trailed, but were unable to put away the Wildcats until an Eric Herm run for a first down with 36 seconds left finally iced the game for Sands.

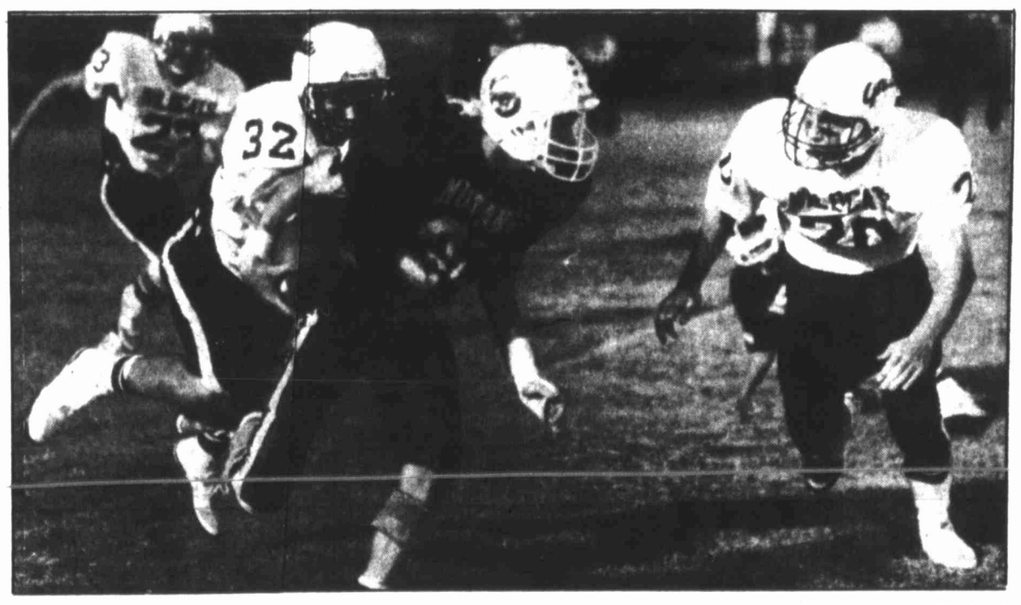

If one is looking for a key statistic to determine the difference in the game, perhaps turnovers would tell the story. Grady suffered four give-aways; twice on fumbles and twice on interceptions by Sands' Jay Johnston.

In contrast, Sands only turned the ball over twice.

"(Turnovers) of that caliber definitely had a negative impact on the team," Grady coach Leandro Gonzales said. "Giving up those big plays decreased our chances to win. We needed to recover, but we didn't."

A Wildcat turnover, in the form of a Baldomar Cortez fumble on the Grady 36, led to Sands' first score of the game.

Two runs by Grigg and an 11-yard scamper by Herm brought the ball to the Grady 12. Three plays later, quarterback Albert Franco hooked up with Brandon Riddle on an eight-yard scoring pass. Johnston's PAT kick gave Sands an 8-0 lead with 53 seconds left in the first quarter.

On their next series, the Wldcats gave the ball away again – this time when Johnston made his first interception — and again the Mustangs marched for a score.

The seven-play, 46-yard drive was basically the Bill Grigg show, as the senior carried the ball four times, the last for 10 yards and the TD. Johnston missed the PAT, but Sands led, 14-0, early in the second quarter.

But, just when it appeared as if the game would be a Mustang romp, the Wildcats regrouped and fought their way back into the contest.

The Grady rally began on its next series. Scott Terrell's kickoff return gave the Wildcats the ball on the 39, and they didn't squander their good field position.

The drive consisted almost entirely on short passes from quarterback Scott Glaze. The capper came when Glaze found David White alone in the end zone for Grady's initial score of the game.

The 'Cats dodged a bullet later in the quarter when Terrell intercepted a Johnston pass in the Grady end zone, and the Wildcats cashed in immediately thereafter.

Avoiding a heavy rush, Glaze found Gilbert Cortez alone on the left sideline, and Cortez raced 60 yards for the touchdown. With 1:31 left in the half, Grady had cut its deficit to 14-12.

But the Mustangs responded with some fireworks of their own, marching 52 yards in seven plays to score just before the half ended. After five Grigg rushes netted 42 yards, Johnston made a sliding catch of a Franco pass in the left corner of the end zone to put Sands up, 20-12, at intermission.

Franco and Johnston connected again on the Mustangs first possession of the second half. Facing third down and 14 from their own 21, Franco lofted a pretty pass that Johnston hauled in just over the arms of a Grady defender and scampered untouched the rest of the way to give Sands a 26-12 lead early in the third quarter.

But, once again, the 'Cats responded with some fireworks of their own, marching 51 yards in five plays. The big play of the drive was a 32-yard completion from Glaze to Danny Valle that put the ball on the Sands' 8. On the next play, Gilbert Cortez scampered in to make the score 26-20.

A Grady gamble that misfired paved the way for the Mustangs' next score. Glaze faked a punt and ran on fourth down, but came up just inches short of the first, giving Sands the ball on Grady's 34. Three plays later, Franco and Johnston connected again for the touchdown.

But, as was the norm for the contest, Grady reloaded and fired back. This time, charity on the Mustangs' part played a role when Franco bobbled the snap and Chad Wells recovered for the Wildcats on Sands' 23. On the next play, Len Garza connected with Valle for the touchdown, and Terrell's PAT kick brought Grady to within four, 32-28, with nine minutes left.

Unfortunately for the Wildcats, that would be their last hurrah, as the teams traded possessions until the final gun.

"In the second half, we started playing defense," Sands head coach Randy Roemisch said after the game. "The kids dug down deep and got after it."

Sands returns to action Friday when it travels to Dawson to take on the Dragons. Grady celebrates homecoming Friday when it hosts the Loop Longhorns. Game time for both contests is 7:30 p.m.

Tony Vladez rushed 13 times for 93 yards for Pecos. Fort Stockton's Ruben Rosa carried 17 times for 102 yards. Fort Stockton quarterback Richard Beeles threws TD passes of 22 and 53 yards to Flo Garcia.

Fort Stockton is now 0-5 and Pecos advances with a 3-2 overall record and 1-1 league mark.

Snyder 9

Andrews 6

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers pulled the upset of the district as they surprised the heavily-favored Andrews Mustangs here Friday night.

The win was Snyder first of the season in five games. Andrews, picked by many to battle for the district title, falls to 1-1 and 2-3 overall.

Snyder scored in the third quarter on a 53-yard run by Paul Anderson.

Andrews came back in the fourth quarter and scored on a 2-yard run by Matt Carroll. They try for two failed, leaving the Mustangs trailing 9-7.

With 1:26 left in the game, Snyder's Jodi Iglehart tackled Andrews quarterback Robert Morris in the end zone for a safety.

Snyder's Anderson led all rushers with 128 yards in 17 carries.

This week's 4-4A schedule calls for Monahans at Andrews; Lake View at Big Spring; Snyder at Fort Stockton and Pecos at Sweetwater.

Clyde 'Dogs Coahoma

By MARCILLINO CHAVEZ
For the Herald

COAHOMA — The Clyde Bulldogs rolled into town, sporting a perfect 5-0 record and looking for more as both teams began their 7-3A district-opener, and they did just that, outplaying the Coahoma Bulldogs and running away with a 27-0 victory.

Coahoma hurt its own cause by untimely penalties; the home team was called for 17 infractions for 130 yards. The visitors were flagged four times for 30 yards.

Clyde's Gary Hall accounted for four touchdowns: One on an eight yard run; two on passes from quarterback David Smith of 17 and eight yards; and another after blocking and returning a Coahoma quick kick.

Hall also led all ball carriers with 53 yards on 14 carries.

Both teams began the opening quarter going back and forth until, with 3:22 to go in the first, Clyde was the recipient of a short Coahoma punt and set up shop at the home team's 31 yard-line.

From there, aided by two penalties, Hall found running room outside the Bulldogs defense and went in for the score. Hall added the extra point and the visiting team led 7-0 as the first stanza came to a close.

In the second quarter, Coahoma started with the ball on their own 20-yard line and began moving the football as quarterback Shane Walker found John Overton for a 14-yard gain, giving the Bulldogs their opening first down of the game. But another penalty stalled the drive, and Coahoma was forced to punt.

After forcing a Clyde punt, the Bulldogs got the ball back at their own 21 yard-line. After a two-yard loss, the Bulldogs were hit with two more flags that left Coahoma deep in its own territory.

The Bulldogs tried to catch Clyde napping, going for a quick-kick on third and long, but the gamble back-fired as Hall picked up the blocked punt and went in from the nine-yard line, giving the visiting Bulldogs a 13-0 halftime lead.

Coahoma received the second half kickoff, but still another penalty put the Bulldogs deep in their own territory. Walker tried to pass but a Clyde rush forced him to hurry his throw. The resulting interception gave Clyde good field position at the Coahoma 30 yard-line.

From there Smith found Hall for a 17-yard scoring toss. Clyde decided to go for two points and Smith found Jeff Chorn with 7:26 left in the third quarter to give Clyde a 21-0 lead.

With 3:53 left in the third, Clyde fumbled and the Bulldogs recovered at the Clyde 38-yard line. But the Bulldogs could not move the ball and gave it back to the visitors.

The Clyde Bulldogs chewed up the remaining minutes of the third quarter and started the final quarter facing a fourth-and-one. Coahoma stopped the Bulldogs and took over at their own 17 yard-line. Again, the home team could not capitalize and punted back to the visitors.

Clyde took the ball over and began to move the ball again, all the way to the home team's one-yard-line. On another fourth-down situation, Coahoma's John Becker and Keith Fontana stopped Hall for a three-yard loss and the Bulldogs took over at their own one-yard-line.

Coahoma again had to give up the football and Clyde had good field position at the Coahoma 47 yard-line. Aided by two penalties against the home team, Clyde scored as Smith found Hall for an eight yard pass with 6:47 left in the contest. The PAT went astray, leaving the score at 27-0.

Coahoma drops to 2-4 overall record and 0-1 in district play, while Clyde improved to 6-0 overall and 1-0 in district action. Coahoma travels to Ballinger Friday to take on the Bearcats, a loser in their opening district game.

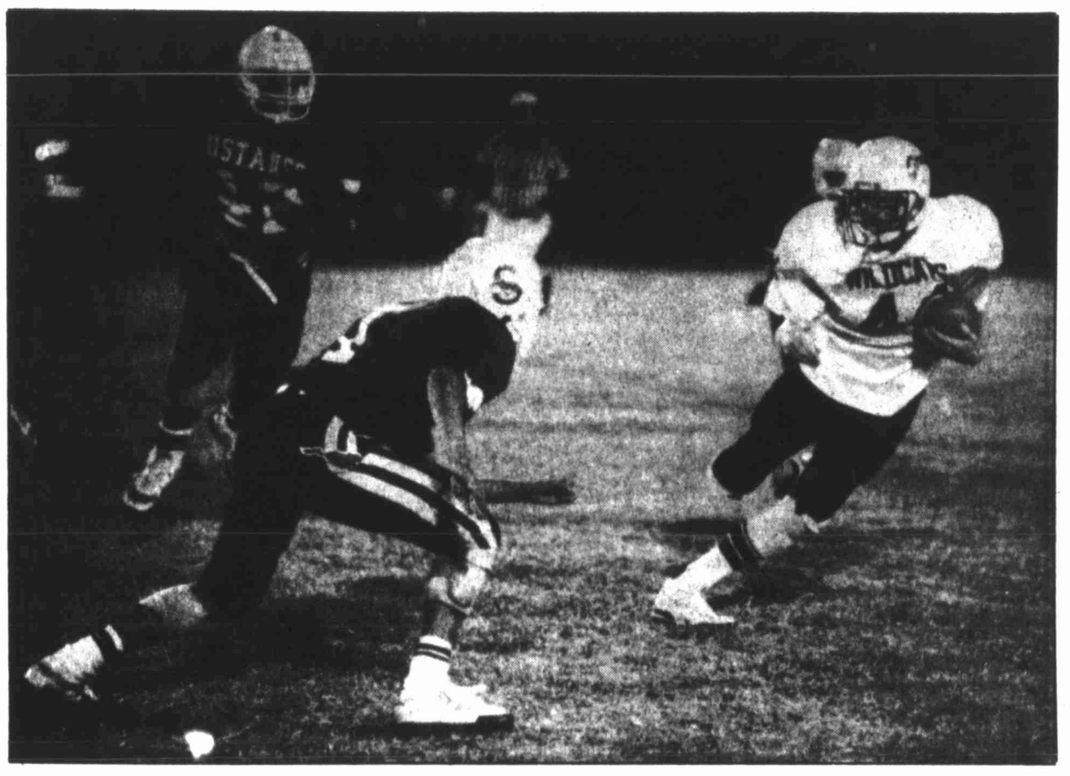

ACU names new inductees

ABILENE (AP) — Seven men, including Olympic gold medal winner Earl Young of Dallas and former All-Pro Philadelphia Eagles running back Wilbert Montgomery, have been selected for induction into the Sports Hall of Fame at Abilene Christian University, school officials announced Friday.

Also selected for induction were: former Houston Oilers tight end Bob McLeod of Brenham, Texas; former All-American basketball player John Ray Godfrey of Iraan, Texas; former three-sport lettermen James Garland Keyes of Abilene; the late Dalton Hill of El Paso and former baseball letterman Glenn Terhune of Abilene.

Abilene Christian's fourth annual Hall of Fame dinner will be held Nov. 4 in McGlothlin Campus Center.

Young won a gold medal at the 1960 Summer Olympiad in Rome.

hear on the headphones."

The Big Spring crowd got even wilder a few minutes later when the Steers marched 65 yards in seven plays. Thompson started it off by hitting tight end Joe Downey for 31 yards, and capped it off by throwing 28 yards to Chavarria for the score. Davis' kick was blocked but Big Spring led 23-7 with 2:22 left in the half.

On the next kickoff Sweetwater got a break when its apparent fumbled was recovered by the Steers at the Mustangs' 40. But officials stooped the Steers' celebration by ruling the ball dead.

The 'Stangs got another break when Rodriguez tipped a pass into Sweetwater's Brad Willis' hand for a 24-yard gain. Next Sweetwater QB Gregg Ruffin alley-ooped a pass to Tim Taylor, who used his 6-5 frame to outjump Michael Hilario, a 5-5 cornerback. The Mustangs converted the two-point conversion, making the game interesting at 23-15 at the half.

But the second half was all Big Spring as the Steers added a TD in each quarter. Thompson passed seven yards to Downey for a score in the third, and Mayfield's long run in the fourth ended the scoring for the night.

Strong safety Patrick Chavarria said he was surprised Sweetwater elected to say on the ground in the second half. "I thought they would pass more in the second half because they were behind," he said. "The outs hurt us some, and we kind of messed up on the sweep in the first half, but we got it together in the second half."

The Steers will host San Angelo Lake View in its homecoming contest Friday at 8 p.m.

Stanton slaughters Presidio

STANTON — The Stanton Buffalos totally dominated the Presidio Blue Devils in the District 5-2A opener for both teams here Friday night.

Presidio only managed one first down and 27 yards total offense in the game. Meanwhile Stanton accounted for more than 400 yards total offense. The Buffs led 34-0 at the half.

Quarterback Randy Nevarez led the Stanton offense, rushing for 75 yards on eight carries, and throwing TD passes of 17 and 39 yards to John Paul Barry and Kenny McCallister.

Jesse Montez added TD's on runs of 2 and 15 yards. Gary Don Thompson ran in a score for 20 yards and Kevin Rose had a 7-yard scoring run.

The Buffalos are now 4-2 overall while Presidio falls to 3-3. Stanton will be on the road Friday against McCamey.

"Rocket" powers Notre Dame

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Raghib "Rocket" Ismail scored on a 56-yard punt return and a 24-yard reverse and top-ranked Notre Dame shut down Air Force's powerful running attack Saturday night for a 41-27 victory over the No. 17 Falcons.

The victory improved Notre Dame's record to 6-0 and extended its winning streak to 18 games, longest in the nation. It was the first loss for Air Force after six victories.

Air Force entered the game as the nation's top rushing team, averaging 449 yards per game with its wishbone offense. But Notre Dame's hefty linemen outmuscled the undersized Falcons, allowing the Fighting Irish to actually outrush their opposition 332-168.

Air Force quarterback Dee Dowis was held to 39 yards rushing on 11 carries, nearly 100 yards below his average. However, he completed 15 of 24 passes for a career-high 306 yards and two touchdowns.

It was Notre Dame's fourth consecutive easy victory over Air Force after the Falcons had won four straight.

Fullback Anthony Johnson scored two touchdowns for Notre Dame, on a 1-yard run in the first quarter and a 27-yard pass from Tony Rice in the second period.

Rice, who like Dowis is considered a leading Heisman Trophy contender, rushed for 71 yards on 14 carries and completed 9 of 13 passes for 123 yards.

Notre Dame dominated in the first half, scoring on five of six possessions while limiting Air Force to 47 yards rushing.

Dowis, averaging 134 rushing yards per game, was held to minus 1 yards on four carries in the first half.

Stewart and A's take care of Giants

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — This time, Dave Stewart finished what he started. And this time, the Oakland Athletics didn't need to worry about Kirk Gibson.

The Athletics, finally showing the pitching and power that made them baseball's winningest team, dismissed the San Francisco Giants 5-0 Saturday night in the World Series opener.

Stewart breezed on a five-hitter for first shutout since Aug. 30, 1988. It was also his first World Series victory; he was within three outs in Game 1 last year until Gibson homered into history against Dennis Eckersely.

Oakland, meanwhile, roughed up National League earned run average champion Scott Garrelts for five runs in four innings. Dave Parker and Walt Weiss each homered and the Athletics finished with 11 hits, including three by Mark McGwire, who was 1-for-17 in the World Series loss to Los Angeles.

Only Jose Canseco did not take part in Oakland's battery. He was 0-for-3 after going 1-for-19 — hitless in his last 18 tries — against the Dodgers.

The Athletics won eight of nine games against San Francisco in spring training and maybe it was no fluke. Oakland led 5-0 after four innings and that was plenty for Stewart.

Stewart, who won twice in the playoffs, walked one and struck out six. Eckersley never even warmed up as Stewart got his shutout after going 38 starts without one this season.

The only skill Oakland did not display was its stealing. Playoff MVP Rickey Henderson, playing in his first World Series, went 2-for-5 with an RBI single, but did not steal a base after swiping a record eight in the playoffs. He also struck out twice after being the only starter in the playoffs not to fan.

Clark, the NL playoff MVP, went 2-for-4.

The teams were coming off the longest layoffs ever between playoffs and World Series — the Giants four days, the A's five — but only Oakland got right to it.

Stewart, throwing 95 mph fastballs at twilight, only had trouble on balls hit back to him. Other than that, he showed why he has won 20 games for three straight seasons.

Stewart, who fasts on days he pitches because of a nervous stomach, made a two-base throwing error on Robby Thompson's comebacker in the first inning. In the third, Jose Uribe got an infield hit when Stewart failed to cleanly catch the ball and, perhaps wary of another bad toss, threw a shade late to first base.

The Oakland Coliseum holds the most foul territory in the majors and the Athletics took advantage, catching five foul popups. The Giants didn't have two runners on in the same inning until the ninth when their only reached third base.

Stewart had allowed only one hit since the fourth inning when Clark and Mitchell, who also had two hits, opened the ninth with soft singles. They advanced with one out on a passed ball before Stewart struck out Ernest Riles and got Candy Maldonado to ground out.

Garrelts hurt himself with a leadoff walk in the second. The Athletics hurt Garrelts even more with leadoff home runs in the third by Parker and fourth by Weiss.

Dave Henderson walked on five pitches to start the second and one-out singles by Terry Steinbach and Tony Phillips made it 1-0. During the playoffs, the Athletics drew eight leadoff walks with six scoring.

With runners at first and third, Weiss nubbed a slow grounder to first that Clark fielded, double-pumped and threw home to Terry Kennedy. Steinbach, however, kicked the ball loose from his rival catcher's mitt for an error and was safe.

Rickey Henderson singled home another run for a 3-0 lead, and Kelly Downs began warming up in the bullpen. Garrelts escaped further trouble by retiring Carney Lansford and striking out Jose Canseco for the second time.

Parker hit his first home run in 46 World Series at-bats to open the third.

The victory before 49,385 fans brightened a day darkened by overcast skies.

Cougars slay Dragons, 50-14

PATRICIA — Quarterback Corbett Foster thrilled the homecoming crowd as he rushed for 120 yards and passed for 161 more, leading the Klondike Cougars to a 50-14 win over the Dawson Dragons in the District 6A six-man opener here Friday night.

Brandi O'Brien got Klondike on the scoreboard first with a 23-yard run. Foster kicked the first of his three extra points.

Foster threw his first TD pass of the game later in the first quarter, a 15-yarder to Ramiro Serrato. After Dawson scored on a 12-yard run by Joe DeLa Rosa, Andy Guerra passes 38 yards to Brandi O'Brien. This was followed by Foster's second TD pass of the game, a 4-yarder to Guerra.

Raymond Sanchez scored Dawson's final TD in the third quarter, catching a 48-yard pass from Mike Brown. The Coogs answered with a 25-yard scoring pass from Foster to Serrato.

The final two Klondike scores came on shot plunges by Guerra and Francisco Juantos.

Klondike is now 4-2 overall and Dawson falls to 2-4. Klondike will be on the road against Borden County Friday.

Bailey breaks rushing mark

EDMOND, Okla. (AP) — Texas A&I tailback Johnny Bailey broke Tony Dorsett's 13-year-old NCAA career rushing record Saturday night with a 4-yard carry against Central State.

The run gave Bailey 6,074 yards, eclipsing the mark of 6,072 set by Dorsett in his four years at Pitt in 1973-76.

After his record-breaking run around right end with 3:05 left in the third quarter, the announcement was made to the crowd of 3,300 and Bailey was hoisted onto the shoulders of his teammates on the Javelinas' sideline.

Bailey carried 16 times for 88 yards and two touchdowns in the first half, then wasted little time moving in on the record. He scored from 49 yards out on the Javelinas' first play of the second half, then needed eight more carries to go over the top.

For the past two years, Bailey has won the Harlon Hill Award, Division II's version of the Heisman Trophy, and has led the division in rushing since the start of his college career.

Bailey, a 5-foot-9, 180-pound senior from Houston, had 2,011 yards as a freshman, 1,598 as a sophomore and 1,442 last season.

Miami frosh sets passing record

By The Associated Press

No. 2 Miami 48, San Jose St. 16

Freshman Gino Torretta, making his second start for the injured Craig Erickson, threw for 468 yards, breaking Bernie Kosar's one-game Miami record, as No. 2 Miami routed San Jose State 48-16.

Torretta completed 32 of 49 passes and had touchdown throws covering 18 yards to Lamar Thomas, 38 yards to Wesley Carroll and 17 yards to Randy Bethel.

Miami, which denied San Jose State a first down on nine of its 12 possessions, improved to 6-0. The Spartans fell to 2-3.

Kosar's record of 447 yards, set in the famous Hail Flutie loss to Boston College in 1984, fell during a touchdown drive early in the fourth quarter.

Torretta's performance may have been his final one this season as a starter. Erickson, who broke a knuckle on his throwing hand two weeks ago, hopes to be back for the Hurricanes' next game Oct. 28 at Florida State.

No. 3 Colorado 52, Iowa St. 17

Darian Hagan threw for two touchdowns and ran for two without playing a single down in the second half, and Colorado broke two school records.

Colorado scored on all seven of its first-half possessions, none of which lasted longer than 3:42, as the Buffaloes (6-0) rolled to a 45-10 lead.

Colorado's 45 points in the first half and 35 in the second quarter were school records.

The dark side of the victory was the injury of leading rusher Eric Bieniemy, who broke his right leg in the first half. It wasn't immediately known how long he would be out.

No. 4 Nebraska 50, Missouri 7

Quarterback Gerry Gdowski ran for two touchdowns, and Nebraska scored eight points off Missouri's first two punts, sparking the Cornhuskers to their most-lopsided victory in Columbia, Mo., in 101 years.

Nebraska (6-0) scored 26 points in the first quarter, starting with Gdowski's 19-yard touchdown pass to Morgan Gregory. On Missouri's first possession, Nebraska blocked a punt through the end zone for a safety. On Missouri's next possession, Travis Hill blocked a punt that was covered in the end zone by Reggie Cooper for a 23-0 lead 6:30 into the game.

It was the biggest margin of victory by Nebraska at Columbia since a 47-6 verdict in 1898.

No. 5 Michigan 10, No. 21 Michigan St. 7

Michigan's defense twice held off fourth-quarter scoring threats. Leroy Hoard scored on a 1-yard run, and J.D. Carlson kicked a 35-yard field goal, all in the first half, for Michigan. The Spartans scored on a 4-yard pass from Dan Enos to Courtney Hawkins with 5:09 to play.

The victory improved Michigan to 4-1. Michigan State is 2-3.

The Spartans, trailing 10-0, drove 78 yards in 17 plays late in the third quarter and had fourth-and-goal at the Michigan 1. But on the first play of the fourth quarter, Blake Ezor was stacked up for no gain by Tripp Welborne.

No. 9 Pittsburgh 31, Navy 14

Alex Van Pelt threw two touchdown passes, including a 19-yarder to Ricky Turner that started a run of 24 straight points as Pitt erased a 7-0 Navy lead. The run began with 9:41 left in the second quarter and ended late in the third quarter with a 52-yard touchdown run by Curvin Richards that gave Pitt a 24-7 lead.

The Panthers improved to 5-0-1 — their best start since they were 7-0 during a 9-3 season in 1982 — and assured them of being unbeaten when they play at top-ranked Notre Dame on Oct. 28. Pitt is idle next week.

No. 11 Alabama 24, SW Louisiana 17

John Mangum's 14th career interception ignited Alabama to 17 fourth-quarter points. The victory gave Alabama a 5-0 record heading into its key Southeastern Conference game with 5-0 Tennessee next Saturday.

Southwestern led 10-7 late in the third period when Mangum picked off a Brian Mitchell pass and returned it 30 yards to the Southwestern 48. Martin Houston scored from the 1 to put the Tide ahead 14-10 early in the final period.

No. 12 Auburn 10, LSU 6

Shayne Wasden's 33-yard punt return set up a 1-yard touchdown run by Stacy Danley with 6:07 to play, lifting Auburn over LSU in the SEC. Wasden picked his way through traffic on the punt return to the LSU 37 and it took Auburn (4-1) five plays to score, erasing a 6-3 LSU lead.

LSU took the lead on David Browndyke's second field goal, a 41-yarder 55 seconds into the final quarter.

Forsan took the lead briefly in the second quarter. Halfback Charles Newton scored on a four-yard run. East's kick gave Forsan a 10-7 lead with 5:46 left in the first half.

A little bit later Ozona cut the margin to 10-9 when quarterback East was tackled in the end zone by Mark Fierro for a safety.

The last score of the game came with 3:08 left in the first half. Ybarra scored on a 15-yard run.

Forsan falls to 1-5 overall while Ozona goes to 5-1.

Wolves hold off Merkel

MERKEL — The Colorado City Wolves overcame an 85-yard kickoff return by John Walsch to nip the Merkel Badgers 15-13 in the district-opening game for both 7-3A teams.

Walsch, who is also the Merkel quarterback, returned his kickoff in the third quarter following Colorado City's second score of the game.

Mike Boatwright booted a 23-yard field goal with 7:05 in the third quarter. C-City tallied its second score of game later in the third period when Bobby Silva rambled 23 yards for the score. the PAT failed.

Walsch then returned the kickoff for the score. Andy Gillrey's PAT cut the margin to 9-7.

C-City quarterback George Ramsey scored in the fourth period on a six-yard run. Walsch ended the scoring for the night with a 2-yard run.

Ramsey and Scott Pesnell led C-City rushers with 79 yards each. Tracy Edwards added 61 yards.

Colorado City is now 3-3 overall. Merkel falls to 1-5. The Wolves will host Wylie Friday night.

B-County throws 'Horns a Loop

LOOP — The Borden County Coyotes scored 26 points in each half as they steamrolled the Loop Longhorns 52-9 in the opening 6A six-man contest for both teams Friday night.

Loop's only points came in the third quarter. Mike Hunt returned a blocked point after touchdown for one point. Loop's only TD was a 53-yard pass from Glenn Crow to Matt Burrola.

Borden County started off the scoring on a 3-yard plunge by Patrick Herridge. The next B-County score came on a 3-yard run by John Harris. The third Borden County score was an 18 yard pass from Brian Bond to Cole Vestal. The Coyotes missed their third straight PAT.

Borden County continued to pour it on as Bond connected with Cole Vestal on a 40-yard scoring pass. Bond kicked the PAT.

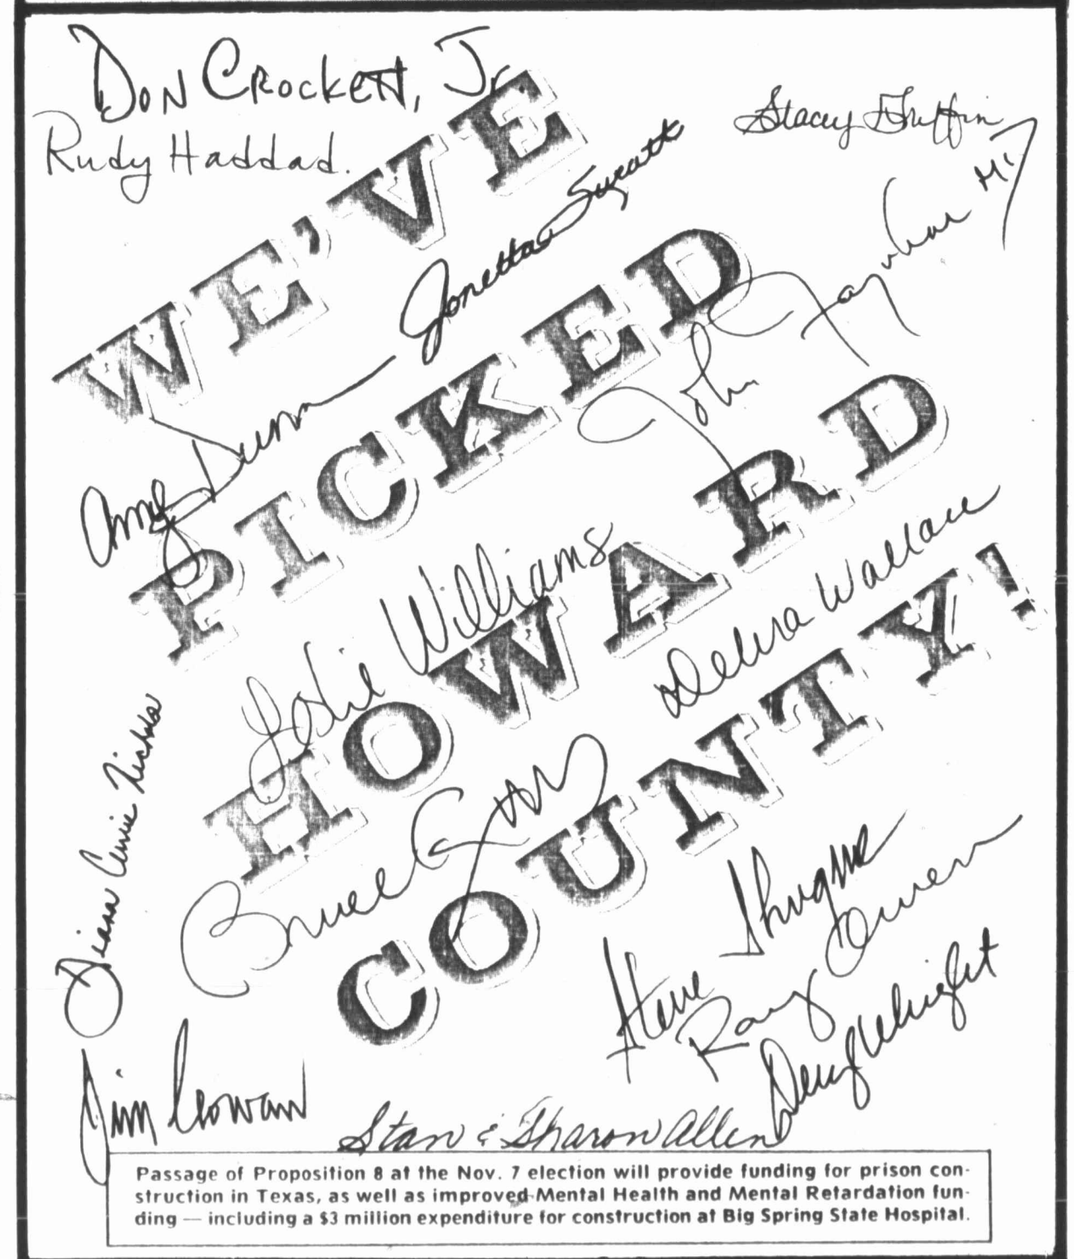

Herridge added his second TD of the game on a 1-yard plunge. He followed it up by dashing 44 yards for another score.

Borden County closed the door when Bond dashed 70 yards for a score, and Cody Stone ran 38-yards for the score.

Borden County goes to 4-1-1 for the season while Loops falls to 2-4. The Coyotes will host Klondike Friday.

Fem runners fifth

BIG SPRING — Lubbock Coronado and San Angelo Lake View won the girls and boys division respectively here Saturday in Big Spring's 4x1 mile relay meet.

The Big Spring girls team of Geneva Bareza, Rocky Alivar, Yvette Regalado and Mimi Regalado finished fifth. The Coahoma girls finished seventh.

"The girls ran good," said Big Spring coach Randy Britton. "This was Yvette's (Regalado) first time running. She's coming off knee surgery. She did a good job. I didn't run my second fastest girl, Ericka Franks, she has a pulled quad muscle. If she had run we might have finished a place or two higher."

The Big Spring boys team of Jackie Lynn, Stewart Sincleair, Rene Villa and Chris Polyniak finished ninth. Lynn clocked a 5:30 in his mile and Polyniak ran a 5:04.

"The boys ran pretty well," said Britton. Jackie ran a good time and Chris' time wasn't bad."

Big Spring will compete in the Levelland Saturday.

Netters win big

PECOS — The Big Spring High School tennis team concluded a perfect district record in team tennis play as they whipped Pecos 17 matches to 1. The only loss came in the boys doubles where a Pecos duo defeated Pacen Booth and Jay Ganaway 6-4, 6-4.

Big Spring finishes district play with a 7-0 record. San Angelo Lake View will go to regional as runnerup, sporting a 6-1 record. Regional competition is set for Oct. 27-28 in Lubbock.

"We played pretty well. Pecos has had some tough breaks," said Lawrence. "They hadn't won a district match. It's kind of wierd deal with us coming off the district championship; but we really had momentun.

"I'm really proud of the girls. I've been telling them they were getting better. They just decided come out and play some tennis.

"They've (girls) have improved so much this year. They needed something like this to give them a boost.

"We'll take a couple days off and rest; let everybody get their second wind. We'll hit it hard and get ready for regional."

Porkers ruin Tech's homecoming

No. 7 Arkansas 45, Texas Tech 13

LUBBOCK (AP) — Arkansas quarterback Quinn Grovey rushed for 105 yards, including a 42-yard touchdown, and the seventh-ranked Razorbacks spoiled Texas Tech's homecoming with a 45-13 victory Saturday night over the Red Raiders.

Defending Southwest Conference football champion Arkansas is undefeated in five games, with two conference victories. Tech fell to 4-2 overall, 1-2 in the conference.

The Razorbacks won by converting all of Tech's four turnovers into touchdowns while committing no turnovers themselves. Tech lost three fumbles and an interception.

The Red Raiders' first turnover — a fumble on a punt return — was the most costly because it turned what should have been good field position for Tech into Arkansas' first touchdown.

By the time Tech began its first scoring drive — in the third quarter — the Razorbacks already had built a 24-0 lead.

Even that touchdown was plagued by problems, as it took Tech four tries from the 1-yard line before James Gray ran it in. The two-point conversion failed when Jamie Gill could find no one open.

Meanwhile, five different Arkansas players scored touchdowns, and Todd Wright made Arkansas' 33rd consecutive successful field goal attempt — and Wright's 10th straight — on a 20-yarder.

Barry Foster gained 66 yards on 13 rushing attempts for Arkansas and scored two touchdowns. Gray led Tech with 138 rushing yards on 32 attempts.

Texas A&M 17, Houston 13

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — A Texas A&M defense geared for speed slowed No. 8-ranked Houston's explosive offense and the Aggies pulled off a 17-13 upset Saturday behind the breakaway running of Darren Lewis and Robert Wilson.

It was A&M's 18th straight Southwest Conference victory at home in a string that goes back to 1984.

The victory improved A&M to 4-2 for the season and 2-1 in SWC play. Houston, which had scored more than 60 points in three games this season and was the nation's scoring and total offense leader, fell to 4-1 and 1-1.

Wilson ran 41 yards for one Aggie touchdown and Lewis raced 84 yards to set up a field goal that put A&M out of reach at 17-7 in the fourth quarter.

Houston quarterback Andre Ware, No. 1 in total offense with an average of 439.5 yards a game, was intercepted three times and sacked five times by an A&M defense that used five linebackers, five defensive backs and only one lineman at nose guard.

Ware completed 28 of 52 passes for 247 yards and one touchdown — a 9-yard toss to wide receiver Patrick Cooper.

Baylor 49, Southern Meth. 3

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore tailback Lincoln Coleman rushed for two scores and junior Brad Goebel passed for two more as Baylor crushed Southern Methodist University 49-3 in a Southwest Conference game at Ownby Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Baylor (3-3, 2-1) pulled away with a 28-point third quarter and the Bears' defense returned to form after an embarrassing 66-10 loss to Houston last week.

SMU, which went without a huddle throughout the contest, lost its fourth consecutive SWC game and fell to 1-4 overall.

Goebel finished 9 of 19 for 184 yards, no interception and two TDs. SMU's Mike Romo hit 20 of 36 passes for 185 yards and one interception.

The Bears' Eldwin Raphel led all rushers with 104 yards on 14 carries.

Goebel, sluggish in the first half on only 5-of-14 passing for 66 yards, threw a 22-yard scoring pass to David Frost 2:27 into the third quarter. He added a 4-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Jack Goforth after Reggie Miller scored on a 23-yard reverse. Miller's TD followed a fumble on the kickoff by SMU's Korey Beard.

Texas Christian 30, Rice 16

HOUSTON (AP) — Kevin Cordesman kicked field goals of 23, 44 and 42 yards and Edward Galaviz intercepted two passes, leading Texas Christian to a 30-16 Southwest Conference victory over Rice Saturday.

Galaviz returned his first theft 22 yards in the second quarter to set up Cordesman's 44-yard field goal.

Galaviz victimized Rice quarterback Donald Hollas in the fourth quarter, intercepting a Hollas pass in the Horned Frogs' end zone.

The TCU defense also stopped the Owls at the Horned Frog 3-yard line with 8:42 left in the game when Jason Cauble tackled Hollas for a 3-yard loss.

Running back Curtis Modkins broke a 16-16 tie with a 1-yard touchdown run with 3:36 left in the third quarter.

Cornerback Robert McWright returned Hollas' third intercepted pass 39 yards for a touchdown with 1:08 left in the game.

Texas 28, No. 15 Oklahoma 24

DALLAS (AP) — Peter Gardere's second touchdown pass, a 25-yarder to Johnny Walker with 1:33 to play, carried the underdog Texas Longhorns to a 28-24 victory Saturday over the 15th-ranked Oklahoma Sooners.

It was Texas' first victory in the annual Red River grudge game since 1983 and marked a sour debut in the series for new Sooners coach Garry Gibbs, who replaced the retired Barry Switzer. Texas, beating Oklahoma for the first time under David McWilliams, is 3-2 and Oklahoma dropped to 4-2.

Backup tailback Ike Lewis, subbing for the injured Mike Gaddis, scored on a one-yard run with 3:42 to go for a 24-21 Sooners lead. Gaddis went into the game as the second-leading rusher in the nation.

But Gardere, a redshirt freshman, was undaunted. He completed four straight passes until he found Walker behind the secondary for the game-clincher.

damaged Clemson's hopes of an unprecedented fourth straight Atlantic Coast Conference title.

Last week, the Yellow Jackets ended a 16-game conference losing streak by beating Maryland. Clemson is 5-2 and 2-2 in the ACC, and no team has won the league with two losses since 1965.

No. 16 Illinois 14, Purdue 2

Jeff George, who left Purdue after his freshman year because he didn't like the Boilermakers' running game, returned to West Lafayette, Ind., passing for 254 yards for Illinois.

Illinois (4-1) drove 80 yards in 16 plays following the opening kickoff for the the only score of the first half on a 3-yard touchdown pass from George to Frank Hartley. The Illini drove 80 yards again late in the fourth quarter, holding the ball for nearly seven minutes before scoring on Howard Griffith's 1-yard run.

No. 19 Florida St. 41, Virginia Tech 7

Peter Tom Willis of Florida State threw three touchdown passes and ran for another against the nation's third-ranked defense. Willis completed 18 of 27 passes for 338 yards in less than three quarters.

Florida State's defense had nine sacks and held the Hokies to 174 yards total offense, most of it in the final minutes. Florida State is 4-2.

Arizona 42, No. 22 UCLA 7

David Eldridge ran for a career-high 205 yards, 168 of them and two touchdowns in the first half, as Arizona beat UCLA for the first time since 1983.

Arizona led 14-0 with 7:44 left in the first quarter after touchdown runs of 19 and 54 yards by Eldridge, who gained 112 yards in the Wildcats' first two possessions.

The Wildcats used the I-formation — disdaining their wishbone — to rush for 480 yards, their best ever in a Pacific 10 Conference game.

Find out how well you're hearing, FREE.

1 Ask yourself if these situations sound familiar.

Do you always ask people to speak louder, or repeat themselves? Do your friends and loved ones tell you that you play the radio or TV too loudly? If so, you may have a gradual hearing loss.

2 Imagine yourself enjoying a whole world of better hearing.

A phone call from a close friend, an intimate conversation at a party, the final scene of your favorite movie. Better hearing will allow you to enjoy all these activities to the fullest. Most hearing problems today can be helped. If you think you might have a hearing loss, do something about it now.

Oscar Meyer weinermobile a real hotdog in the world of cars

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Oh, wouldn't you like to drive around the country in a Wienermobile?

Both Kevin Burkum and Kerri Calvert do just that. They were chosen to be a part of the 14-Hotdogger, six-vehicle crew for Oscar Mayer during a Whistle Stop Tour recently.

The group drives around the country and sings the praises of the look-alike product the Wienermobile promotes.

While driving down Main Street and Highway 87 Monday afternoon in Big Spring, it was a common sight to see the wiener on bun — on four wheels — and to find the driver motion a wave to passers-by asking if they had any ketchup.

The point? This thing looks like a hot dog. The vehicle was designed by General Body Co. in 1936 and is safety approved for the road. At times it can even smell like a hot dog.

The Wienermobile comes equipped complete with steamer. Activated by the cooler days, the Wienermobile will radiate the smell of fresh-made hot dogs and give off blasts of steam. It is all a put-on.

Although the Wienermobile has a microwave and refrigerator, it is the exception, not the norm, for real wieners to be found in the vehicle.

It is 23 feet long, 8 feet wide and 10 feet tall, weighing 5,800 pounds . . . What a hot dog!!!

Cost of the Wienermobile (WEENR, Wisconsin plates) was estimated by Burkum at $5,000 in 1936 and the new ones cost many more hot dogs to put on the road.

The body is made of fiberglass and the Wienermobile houses a Chevy V-6 engine.

There is even a cellular phone, the Hot Dog Hot Line, in case the Hotdoggers at the wheel get lost. The air-conditioning makes it a chili dog.

"We're based out of Dallas," said Burkum. The two Hotdoggers from Dallas go as far east as Jackson, Miss., as far west as Alburquerque, N.M., and as far north as St. Louis, Mo., while traveling to all the cities in the Lone Star State.

"I'm from Wisconsin originally, this is all new territory to me. Plus, you drive down the street and you make people laugh," said Burkum.

Calvert said the job is a one year position and does not mean there will be a job waiting with Oscar Mayer when it is over.

She said the company does assist in job placement after the year's promotion is over.

The vehicle will appear at the Super Bowl and the Mardi Gras.

For the two drivers, it is share and share alike as far as the driving goes.

So with the stereo blasting the Oscar Mayer theme and the sun roof letting the sunshine in, the Wienermobile rolled to its next stop along the route with a large appetite for fun.

Reddy joins staff

BIG SPRING — Dr. Geeta Reddy has joined the staff of the Big Spring VA Medical Center, according to Conrad Alexander, Director. Reddy is assigned to the outpatient clinic.

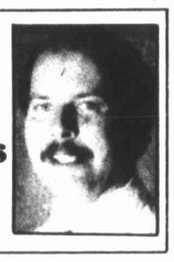

REDDY

Reddy received her M.B., B.S. degree from Osmania University, Hyderabad, India, in 1972. Her post-graduate training included Rutger's Medical School Affiliated Hospitals in New Jersey and Brookdale Medical Center, New York City, NY. Licensed in the states of Oklahoma and Texas, Reddy completed three years of approved post-graduate training in Pediatrics and has practices as a staff physician at San Angelo State School in San Angelo, from July 1980 to August 1989. She also practiced as a staff physician at the Jewish Memorial Hospital and Long Island Hospital, both in Boston, from 1973 thru 1976.

Reddy was born in Hyderabad, India. She is married and has one son, Nithin (17). Her husband, Ashok, is a physician in the United States Air Force, currently assigned to USAF Clinic, Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, as Chief of Clinical Services.

Bonds and school

AUSTIN — For the first time, Texans now have a chance to buy low-cost, tax-exempt state bonds to help finance college educations for their children and grandchildren, according to Garry Mauro, Texas Land Commissioner.

The Texas Veterans Land Board (VLB) will be the first state agency to sell savings bonds under the new Texas College Savings Bond Program when it sells $4 million in bonds in late October.

"This is an opportunity for Texans to make dreams of a college education come true with college savings bonds," Mauro said.

"In the past, the bonds that fund the VLB programs were available in denominations that only wealthy investors could afford," Mauro said. "This bond sale will give average Texans the opportunity to help meet the rising costs of higher education."

For information on the bond sale or the Texas Veterans Land Board programs, call toll-free 1-800-252-VETS. Individuals interested in purchasing college savings bonds should contact their broker.

Insurance seminar

BIG SPRING — Lawyers Title Insurance Corp. of Dallas was in Big Spring Wednesday sponsoring a seminar on the state of the title insurance business.

"The theme of our seminar was 'Quality in the pursuit of Excellence' with regard to examination of title related service and related services to real estate principles," said Larry Rahal, agent's representative for Lawyers Title.

The seminar, held in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, was attended by 19 local agents associated with the corporation. "It's all brought about in the last 10 years as the title claims have increased dramatically," added Rahal.

How to prepare commitments, information on real estate closings and tightening up procedure were all discussed.

Real estate transaction policy is determined by the underwriter, said Rahal, and the agents are representatives of the underwriter.

The speakers putting on the program from Dallas were: Mike Shelly, H.E. Walker, Fred Benson and Shirley Kitchens, all associates of Lawyers Title.

Genesis Data Systems Inc., based in Houston, sent Charles E. Ide, sales representative, to explain the use of automated systems in the market.

"It does title production and closing statements on a coputerized system," said Ide about the Genesis.

"It's a multi-user machine that will handle one up to a little more than 100 users. Basically the advantage of it is the title people just put it in the system once and it does all the calculations," he said.

Flowing 215 barrels of oil with 165,000 CF casinghead gas per day plus no water, the No. 24 Kelly-Roberts was completed in Howard County's portion of the Howard-Glasscock Field.

With Mobil Producing of Midland as the operator, the well is in a lease about 14 miles southeast of Big Spring.

Potential was gauged on an open choke.

The well showed ability to produce from a set of perforations in the Wolfcamp Formation, 7,430 to 7,488 feet into the hole.

Borden County

The Von Roeder Field gained a good producer when the No. 15 W.E. Murphy was completed about 18 miles southeast of Gail.

The well came in pumping 223 barrels of oil plus 161,000 CF gas and a minor amount of salt water.

Mobil Producing of Midland is the operator.

Mobil perforated the Wolfcamp Formation for shallower pay 6,200 to 6,200 feet into the wellbore.

Glasscock County

First production data have been posted for a pumping oiler in the Spraberry Field, Glasscock County, about 22 miles southwest of Garden City.

It is the No. 5 Cox "C," pumping oil at the rate of 12 barrels daily along with 15,000 CF casinghead gas and 68 barrels of waste water.

BS Exploration Inc. of Houston is the operator.

BP perforated the Spraberry Formation for production. It will produce from two zones 6,263 to 6,442 and 8,247 to 8,463 feet into the wellbore.

Pumping 130 barrels of oil with 10,000 CF gas and 12 barrels of waste water, the No. 1 Repps Guitar has been brought on line in Howard County's Guitar Deep (Fusselman) Field, about nine miles west of Big Spring.

With Exxon as the operator, the well will produce from a perforated interval in the Fusselman Formation, 10,390 to 10,408 feet into the hole.

BORDEN COUNTY

Eight new drilling locations were staked in a fast-paced week of exploration action in Borden County. Three operators are involved in three of the county's oil fields.

Leading the pace was Union Oil of Midland with a total of six new wells staked. All carrying permit for 7,000 feet of hole, the wells are in the Reinecke Field, about 10 miles northwest of Vincent.

They will be known as the Nos. 226, 251, 258, 262, 263 and 288 Reinecke Unit.

Other new drilling ventures in the county included the No. 1 Ringtail, 7,500-ft. TD, 10 miles northwest of Vincent with Lakewood and Fulton as the operator, and the No. 1 Cates-McPherson, 10,000-ft. TD, 18 NW Gail with J. Ingram Oil and Gas the operator.

After Friday the 13th tumble, market waits for Monday

By STEFAN FATSIS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — Wall Street and government officials conferred Saturday on how to react to the stock market's Friday the 13th tumble to prevent a replay of the 1987 crash when trading resumes on Monday.

New York Stock Exchange President Richard A. Grasso spoke by telephone with officials in Washington, at other major exchanges and at brokerages to discuss the drop in the market.

"We're not taking unusual actions today because we feel confident that we have put procedures, systems and safeguards in place over the past two years so that we are adequately prepared for any level of activity that may occur on Monday," NYSE spokeswoman Sharon Gamsin said.

The amount of money available to the stock market following the selloff, the reaction overseas and the future of takeovers all were of concern over the weekend.

On Friday, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks plummeted 190.58 points, or 6.91 percent, to 2,569.26, erasing nearly $200 billion in stocks' paper value. The plunge was spurred by an announcement that financing was unavailable for a $6.75 billion buyout of United Airlines parent UAL Corp.

In points, the drop was the second-largest in history behind the 508-point Black Monday crash of Oct. 19, 1987. The crash was preceded by a decline of 108 points the Friday before.

Now, as then, traders and key officials have the weekend to plan strategy and mull the possibility of a precipitous fall.

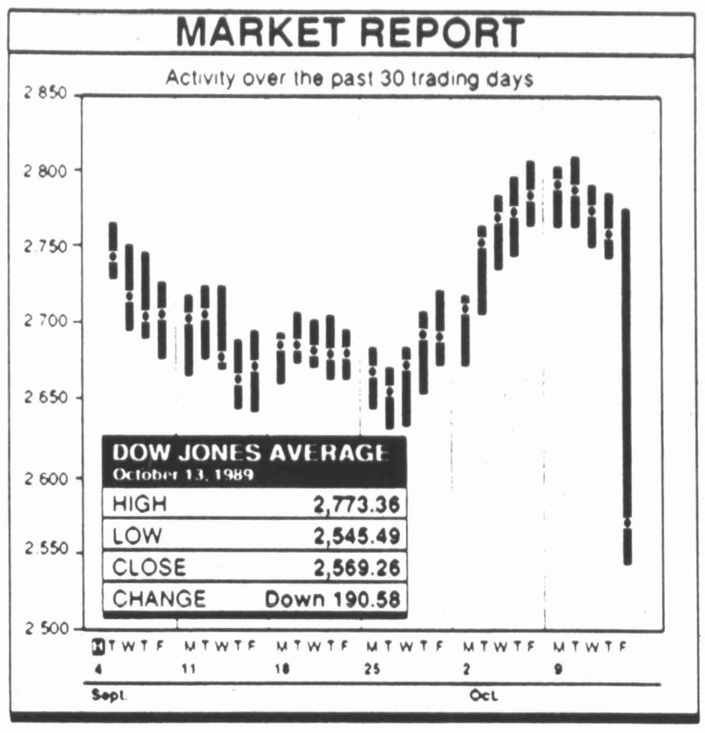

"The extent of the panic that we had in '87 is very different than what we had now," Jack Barbanel, president of First Global Asset Management Inc., said Saturday. "Yesterday I would call a reasonably orderly selloff as opposed to what we had in '87."

Some analysts said the economy's recent underlying strength, low interest rates and a buoyant dollar distinguish current conditions from 1987.

"There's clearly some nervousness associated with this decline, but I think fundamentals will prevail," said Jack Lavery, director of global equities markets at Merrill Lynch & Co.

Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., chairman of a House subcommittee that oversees the SEC, said he would request from regulators a reconstruction of Friday's trading.

"This is the second heart attack, two years after the first," said Markey, who has proposed market reform legislation. "It's about time we made the changes necessary to avoid a third."

This is the market report graphic for the last 30 trading days ending Friday, Oct. 13.

Reynolds to head Chamber in 1990

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Don F. Reynolds, of Lee, Reynolds, Welch & Co., has been elected by the board as the 1990 Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce President.

"I think it's going to be an exciting year. I'm excited about it," said Reynolds about his new position as president-elect.

"There is a good organization in place. We have had real good leadership," he said.

"I am interested more in economic development. We here in West Texas have had hard times. We're struggling," he added.

"Right now we have a community that is working together . . . We've got a good thing going in Big Spring and with people working together as they are we are going to attract industry to Big Spring."

Reynolds has no present plans to initiate change.

He used the example of St. Francis Retirement Village as a show of community support behind the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce activity.

Some organizational changes emphasizing economic development have recently been established, he said in a general letter to the public and chamber members.

"Our economy, as well as all of West Texas, might not be broken but most assuredly has been bent. Our chamber, county and city governments, the industrial foundation, our schools and college have been working together to promote Big Spring as never before," he said.

"We are seeing the results. Blue Bell Creameries has committed to build a distribution center by mid 1990. We are being considered as a site for a state prison. The retirement board for St. Francis Village visited our city recently and is still considering Big Spring as a location," said Reynolds.

Reynolds has been a Big Spring resident for 29 years and has never seen as much community "participation."

He graduated in 1960 from Texas A&M with a business administration major.

Reynolds is confident the expressed "feeling of oneness" in Big Spring "concerning economic development will result in a community of which we can be proud."

"He is better known as 'Lefty' Reynolds and he has always had a civic interest. I think he will be an excellent president," said Hooper Sanders, president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. "He has always had an interest in Big Spring," added Sanders.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

George's Candyland opens at Big Spring Mall

Look for George's Candyland's new store the next time you're shopping in Big Spring Mall. Maria Barton, manager, and Nancy Bustamente show some of the delicacies you'll find, along with seasonal gift packages. Candies are made fresh daily at the 1711 Benton Street store.

Imagine 11 different flavors of homemade fudge? Doesn't it make your mouth water?

You'll find this fudge bonanza — and many other candies — at the new offspring of George's Candyland now open in Big Spring Mall.

The new location, located smack in the middle of the mallway, is open during mall hours: 10 a. m. til 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday and 1 til 6 p. m. Sunday. The homebase store at 1711 Benton — where all the candy is made fresh daily — continues to be open from 8 a. m. til 5:30 p.m.

But back to those fudges. Maria Barton, manager, says the flavors are chocolate pecan, mint swirl, Amaretto swirl, praline fudge, peanut fudge, peanut-chocolate mix, vanilla, strawberry, maple fudge, penuchi, and vanilla swirl. (And if that's not enough, the Benton Street store handles chocolate and peanut butter fudge.)

You'll also find those hand-dipped chocolates that George's Candyland has made famous — with centers flavored in maple, cherry, orange, coconut, jellies, crushed nuts, and more. Plus divinity, peanut patties, peanut brittle and pecan logs.

All the candy sold by George's Candyland is made from scratch, fresh every day. Candy connoisseurs will appreciate the fact they use no mixes, pre-packaged ingredients or preservatives. Even the marshmallow cream is whipped up by hand, and when the recipe calls for nuts, they put in plenty! All the recipes are carefully guarded secrets, handed down from George and Doris Williams from whom Sarah Reese purchased Candyland.

New additions at the mall are gourmet peanuts in 11 different flavors — including cajun, sour cream n' chives, and cheddar cheese. Good news for those who prefer natural peanut butter, the mall shop has a peanut butter—making machine, which grinds fresh peanuts — nothing but peanuts — while you wait. The aroma is wonderful!

Seasonal gift containers are always available — just fill with the candies of your choice. Now you'll find Halloween themes, as well as an all-occasion paper tote with a variety of colorful ribbons. Decorative Christmas containers will be arriving soon — put George's Candyland candies on your shopping list.

In addition to Sarah and Maria, the Candyland staff includes Nancy Gamboa and Nancy Bustamante at the mall, and Margie Vega and Ann Vega at Benton Street. Sarah also operates a candy store at Colorado City's Ft. Wood.

Horticulture one of fastest developing agricultural businesses

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

WASHINGTON — When a new home is offered for sale, even in the heart of big-city suburbia, it very often adds to farm income with an eye-catching display of freshly planted shrubs and green sod almost ready to mow.

Add cut flowers and floral arrangements for weddings, funerals, lovers, Aunt Sophie and sick friends and you have horticulture — one of the fastest developing sectors in U.S. agriculture.

Since 1982, says an Agriculture Department economist, the horticulture industry has grown an average of 10 percent a year.

Texas is no exception. Big Spring retailers say although their businesses haven't grown much, farms raising shrubs and greenery for wholesale are springing up across they state, and they are growing by leaps and bounds.

Preliminary figures for 1988 show that producers of horticultural products had cash receipts totaling $6.9 billion, which was more than 9 percent of the $72.4 billion received by farmers last year for all crops.

For example, according to USDA statistics, the $6.9 billion for flowers, shrubs, sod and other greenery exceed 1988 cash receipts for cotton, $4.7 billion, and tobacco, $2.04 billion, and was creeping up on feed crops — including corn — $7.68 billion.

Doyle Johnson of the department's Economic Research Service said the industry was in two sectors. Floriculture includes cut flowers, potted flowering plants, bedding plants and cut cultivated greens such as ferns used in arrangements.

The other is environmental horticulture, which includes all other nursery and greenhouse products.

Johnson's analysis of the rapid growth of the horticulture industry is in the September issue of Farmline magazine.

"One of the reasons for the increase in horticultural sales is that the housing industry is spending more for sod and other landscape ornamentals," the report said. "Also, cities are doing more landscaping in the inner cities as well as in parks and along highways."

Texans like that green look as much as anyone else. Terri Johansen, who along with her husband Carl runs Johansen Landscape and Nursery, said the demand for plants, especially varieties native to Texas, has caused an upswing in the wholesale business.

"I do believe that people are becoming more educated," Johansen said of homeowners. "We want a more beatiful Big Spring. We've had a problem with people who move here and think, 'Oh, we live out in West Texas and we can't grow anything.'"

Native Texas plants can flourish, however, and natives have become the "in" thing for trendy home owners.

"Xerascape is becoming a very prominant thing to do," she explained. "That's where you use less water . . . and a naturalized plant. People think mesquite, bear grass and prickly pear. That's not necessarily so. There's a lot of beautiful plants."

Wholesalers are cashing in on this trend as well as the Texas climate.

Debra Lusk, owner of Greenacres Nursery and Faye's Flowers, said she buys most of her stock from Texas growers, whereas she used to buy from California wholesalers.

"I've seen a steady increase in the amount of growers (in Texas), but as far as retail, no."

Johansen said the boom in Texas growers means she purchases more of her stock within the state too.

"We buy most of our stuff from Texas," she said. "We bring a few trees and shrubs from California, but I'd say we buy 80 percent of our stuff from Texas growers."

California accounts for about 23 percent of total horticultural sales, followed by Florida, nearly 15 percent, and Texas, 7 percent.

BIG SPRING — Alonzo Hilario works on the plants in a Big Spring yard.

Both Johansen and Lusk are waiting for that surge in the wholesale segment to carry over into the retail business.

Johansen said many Big Spring homeowners realize the value of landscaping, but the general Texas economy has limited what they're willing to do.

"I think that with the economy like it is, we're lucky our business has not declined more than it has," Johansen said. "We're holding pretty stable. It's still not like it was five years ago. The people that are definitely interested in doing something with their yeard, they're going to do it."

Those people are spending money that will increase the value of their home, but other home owners are apparently more reluctant, she said.

"People haven't caught on that landscaping does (increase) the property value," both asthetically and financially, she said. "

Of 2 million farms in the United States, there are fewer than 38,000 horticultural operations. But in 1987, the most recent statistics available, those had sales averaging $154,818 each, compared with $65,165 for all farms.

There are an estimated 57,000 retail floral outlets in the United States, the report said. Mass-market outlets, mostly grocery stores, account for 21,000, but the majority, an estimated 36,000, are independent retail floral shops.

According to 1986 figures, grocery store sales of flowers and plants amounted to $1.49 billion, averaging $28 per square feet of store space, compared with $8 to $12 for other produce, the report said.

The United States is the world's largest producer of flowers and plants, and American growers control about 95 percent of the domestic market, the report said. But imports are important, totaling $451 million last year.

Colombia is the largest source of the imports, the report said. Others include the Netherlands, Canada, Costa Rica and Mexico.

AAA Limousine Service will provide a 24-hour service and has been in operation for the people of West Texas since 1962.

The service offers formal and stretch limousines for all occasions.

Silk Designs, a silk flower shop, is in the process of being zoned and has been approved on the first reading by the zoning committee, said Angel.

Drilling permits

AUSTIN — A total of 1,236 drilling permits were issued by the Railroad Commission in September, according to RRC Chairman Kent Hance. In August, the total was 1,403. September 1988's total was 1,125.

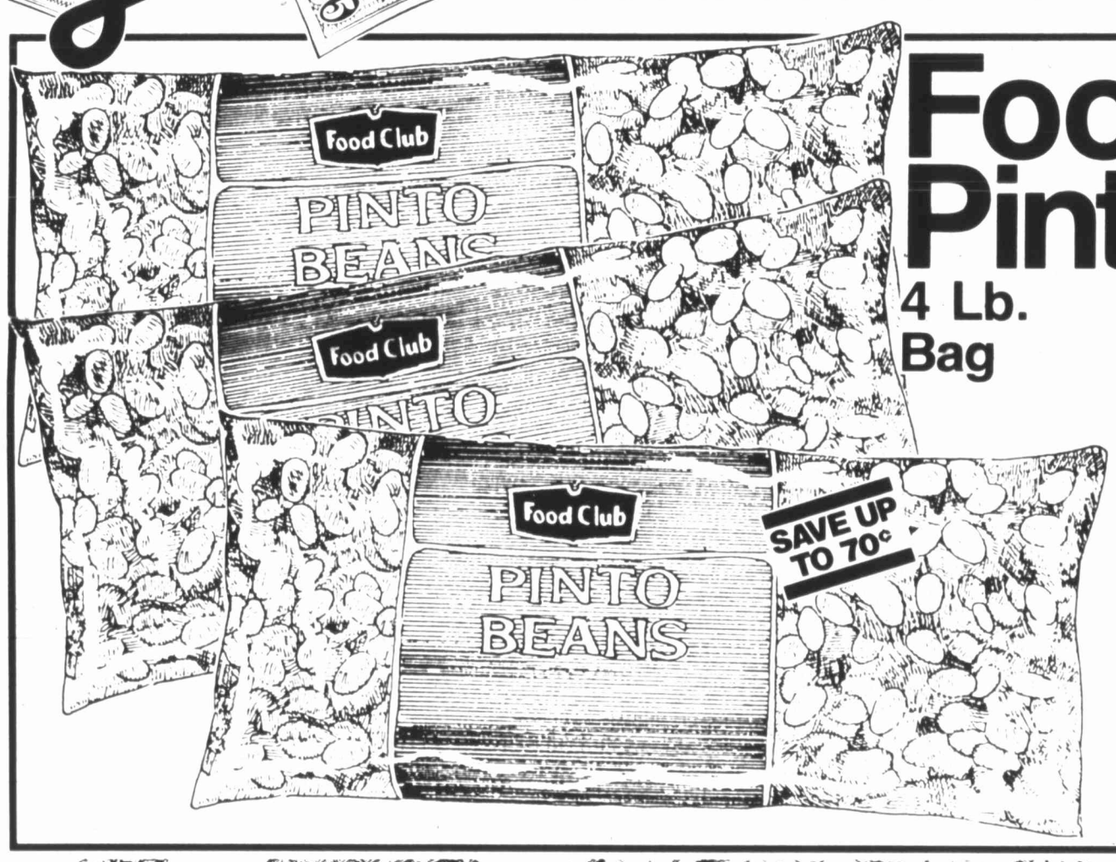

The September total included 807 permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 43 permits to re-enter existing well bores, 46 to deepen existing holes, 167 to plugback existing holes, and nine for other wells. Operators were also issued 164 amended drilling permits.

The 1,236 permits issued in September included 579 oil permits, 203 gas permits, 394 oil and gas permits, 33 injection permits, nine disposal permits, and 18 other permits.

Cleanup kid has a hero!

By STEVE RAY
Herald Editor

In 1965 Sgt. Augustine Paredez left the safety of his position to go back into the thick of battle and try to save an injured friend.

PAREDEZ

Minutes later he was dead — another tragedy of the Vietnam War.

Four months after his death — far from the jungles of Southeast Asia — another Augustine Paredez came into this world.

It was on the plains of West Texas and it was a baby named in memory of his fallen soldier uncle.

Today Augustine Paredez is doing something to preserve his uncle's memory — and he's doing it for Big Spring.

"He's my hero," Paredez says of his uncle. "Anybody that went through that war is a hero to me . . . anyone that gave his life up for us in this country. Oh yeah, I'm proud to be named after him.

"I see a lot of Vietnam veterans here try to do stuff . . . and when I do stuff like this it is kind of my way to thank them for what they did. I've been out there when they had that airshow and they've cried on my shoulder telling how much it hurt to lose someone like my uncle and they still cry . . . "

That stuff is what makes Paredez special.

At 23, just one year younger than his uncle when he was killed, Paredez already owns his own construction business. He's a young man with a future, a future he has linked to his hometown because he cares what happens to Big Spring.

So far this year Paredez has demolished 10 dilapidated and condemned houses on the northside of town — all on his own time and at his own expense.

Most of those houses are located on, or near, Sgt. Paredez Street — Howard County's memorial to it's first native son killed in the Vietnam War.

"We had a cleanup about two years ago over there," Paredez says of the area near the street. "It was successful and we had probably 200 to 250 people show up to work."

For Paredez it was the beginning of what has become a personal crusade — a crusade to remember the past and look to the future.

"We've knocked down 10 old buildings so far," Paredez says of his efforts. "This is the first street. If I can clean this street and have it look good . . .

"There are too many vacant houses. All they are doing is attracting hobos, winos or drug users. They're going in there and then lose their mind and start a fire.

"I want to get all these houses knocked down so kids in the future can't say, 'I remember back in my day this town looked like a rat hole' . . . kids go by in a bus on their way to school and look . . . there's nothing but old buildings and a tremendous amount of winos from 7:30 in morning to 10 at night.

"We're trying to get rid of them . . . we've started on it."

Paredez has received some help in his efforts — help from people like City Councilwoman Pat DeAnda, Chamber of Commerce executive Whayne Moore, Public Works director Tom Decell and city inspector Leland Graves.

He says they have especially helped in locating property owners willing to let him demolish their houses and clean up their property.

Actually it saves the property owners time and money and the city time in having to condemn and demand destruction of the buildings.

"The owners are getting a chance to have them knocked down and there's no charge . . . it's a hell of a deal. If they don't let us knock them down they will post condemnation signs on them," he says.

Paredez's cleanup has an eye on the future. He would like to establish a pocket park where the former Casa Grande is now. He says he wants a place on the northside where "I and my family or you and your family can go out

Land of the morning calm

Tumbleweed Smith

Korea is a small beautiful country situated between Japan and China. It is known as the land of the morning calm.

The country is just over 600 miles long and 134 miles wide. Forty-two million people live there. The solid granite and limestone base of the land is lifted and folded into some of the most magnificent mountains in the world.

Korea was liberated from Japanese rule at the end of World War II only to become entangled in a fierce ideological conflict, leading to the formation of North and South Korea.

In 1950 the North Koreans launched an all out attack on South Korea, triggering the Korean war of 1950-53. It took almost a decade after the war to establish stability. During the past 30 years, however, the Republic of Korea (South Korea) has become a modern, industrialized nation.

Seoul is both the capital and the heart of the Republic of Korea. Ten million people call it home. Seoul means capital. It is known as the bargain shopping center of the Far East.

It'aewon is perhaps the best known shopping area to visitors to Seoul. The stores sell tailor-made and ready-made suits, dresses and shoes, items made of leather and eel skin, brassware, jewelry, handbags and fur coats. Merchandise can include limitations of expensive things. You can pick up a replica of a Rolex watch for $26.

The Han-gang river flows through Seoul. Along its banks people gather to play ball, paint, relax and visit. Seoul has several rock gardens featuring greenery and flowers growing among huge boulders. A lifesize plastic Col. Sanders greets you at Kentucky Fried Chicken, just one of dozens of American fast food stores in Seoul. Big drums are part of the Korean culture. So are big bells.

The Kyongju region in southeastern Korea has become Korea's most popular tourist attraction. Royal tomb mounds, temple sites with weathered stone pagodas, Buddhist relief images and fortress ruins are scattered across the valleys and mountains of this ancient civilization.

Pusan is Korea's principal port and its second largest city with 3.5 million residents.

Cheju Island is an hour's flight from either Seoul or Pusan. It is semi-tropical and is sometimes called the Hawaii of Korea. Located in southeast Korea, it has blue waters, fine beaches, waterfalls, fruit and flowers.

Korea only requires a passport to enter the country. No vaccinations or visas are necessary.

Tipping is not a part of Korean tradition. A 10 percent service charge is added to your bill at all tourist hotels, so tipping is not expected. It is not necessary to tip cab drivers unless they assist with luggage or provide extra services.

Seoul's currency is called won. One dollar equals approximately 700 won. Won bills are in 10,000; 5,000; 1,000 and 500 denominations.

Transportation in Korea is excellent. Korea Air is the exclusive carrier. Kimpo airport in Seoul is modern and busy. Korean Railroads offer different classes of service and express buses contact all major cities. Car ferries are available to Cheju and other islands. When you need a taxi, get one that is not white. The white ones might be closer to the hotel door, but most drivers of white cabs in Seoul do not believe in meters.

We learned one phrase and repeated it often. Kam-sa-ham-ni-da means thank you. It brought an appreciative smile each time we said it.

Koreans defend independence, self esteem and national dignity. They are resolved to chart their own destiny.

A poem by Rabindranath Tagore sums up the determination of the Korean people and the growth of their country:

In the golden age of Asia
Korea was one of its lamp bearers.
And is waiting to be lighted once again
For the illumination of the East.

Anniversary

The Chess Gooches

50 years ago

MR. AND MRS. CHESS GOOCH

Chess L. and Oleta Gooch, HC 77 Box T-40-A, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m., in the fellowship hall of Forsan Baptist Church.

Their children and grandchildren will host the event.

Gooch was born in Eastland County.

Mrs. Gooch, the former Oleta J. Clemmer, was born in Callahan County.

The couple lived in the same community and met while attending church and parties. They married Oct. 29, 1939 in Abilene, with Rev. Claude Gooch, Chess' brother officiating.

Their children are: Janet Wiggins, Big Spring; Don, Odessa; and Patsy Norton, Billings, Mont.

The Gooches have three grandchildren and one great-grandson.

During their marriage, they have lived in Long Beach and Seal Beach, Calif.; and in the Big Spring area.

Gooch, who retired from Conoco after 37½ years of service, has an interest in real estate. He worked for Douglas Aircraft as a foreman before and during World War II.

They are members of Forsan Baptist Church.

Gooch served as vice president of I.U.O.E. Local 826 from 1945 to 1982; and was vice president of Conoco Company-wide Union Council for 15 years.

The Gooches are members of the Just Older Youth Club of Forsan Baptist Church.

When asked to comment about their marriage, they said "Love, trust, faith and common sense makes a world of difference in what life brings. Our marriage has been good. We love being with our children, grandchildren and our great-grandson."

Hobbies and interests include hunting, fishing, and taking trips to their place in Timberow, N.M. and Lake Colorado City. Mrs. Gooch enjoys handwork, and participating in the Pioneer Sewing Club and the J.O.Y. Club.

The Gooches invite all their friends and family to attend the celebration. They request no gifts.

Wedding

Carlile-Gross

MRS. DEANNA GROSS

Deanna Lyn Carlile, Big Spring, and David Allen Gross, Clovis, exchanged wedding vows Oct. 14, 1989 at a 7 p.m. ceremony at First Church of God, with Rev. Darrell Hendrickson, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Carlile, Big Spring.

Bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Jack Richards, Iowa; and William Gross, McAllen.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with two tree candelabra on each side, and two bouquets of white gladiolus, spider mums, pink astaemerias and ferns. The altar table, draped with a linen cloth embroidered by the bride's maternal grandmother, held a Bible that belonged to the bride's paternal grandfather. A crystal candelabra that belonged to her paternal grandmother held the unity candles.

Organist was Linda Lindell, bride's aunt, Big Spring. Pianist was Susan Wood, Big Spring.

Vocalists were Rhonda Rothman, Anderson, Ind.; and Kelly Killion, Big Spring.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a Mori Lee gown of bridal satin with a full skirt and cathedral-length train trimmed with embroidered schiffli lace. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline, basque waist and open V back accented with a bow. The bodice and Renaissance sleeves were adorned with lace, sequins and pearls. Her fingertip veil fell from a V-shaped pearl headpiece trimmed with silk lily of the valley. She carried her maternal grandmother's wedding handkerchief.

She carried a bouquet of white and pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Matrons of honor were Cyndee Eastin, Ft. Worth, and Beverly Beauchamp, Big Spring, bride's sisters.

Bridal assistant was Debra Yerden-Ferguson, bride's cousin, Anderson, Ind.

Best man was Kevin Hamby, Odessa.

Ushers were Kirk Allen, Big Spring; and Todd Engel, Lewisville.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at home of the bride's parents. A grapevine wreath trimmed with country blue ribbon, and pink and blue flowers decorated the front door. The bride's table, draped with a floor-length white cloth, was centered with a silver candelabra arrangement of white feathered carnations. A three-tier, white wedding cake was filled with raspberry filling and decorated with white and soft pink roses. Small floral arrangements in pink and white topped the two upper layers. Crystal and silver appointments held punch, nuts and pastel pink mints.

The bridegroom's table, draped with an ecru cloth with a lace overlay, was centered with a Williamsburg globe holding a royal blue candle, circled with a wreath of country blue and pink flowers. Coffee was served from a brass service. Brass appointments held nuts and chocolate mints. A chocolate cake was decorated with chocolate roses and a monogram.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School and Anderson University, Anderson, Ind., is employed by Star Com Distributing.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is manager of Sherwin-Williams, Clovis, N.M.

After a wedding trip to Southern California, including Disneyland and Sea World, the couple will make their home in Clovis.

TDA enforcing new law

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

Ask the agent

According to Joe Juarez, Right-to-Know specialist with the Texas Department of Agriculture in San Antonio, the TDA has began enforcing the Agricultural Hazard Communication Act in mid-September.

The TDA will check for the completed 1988 Workplace Chemical List, the up-to-date 1989 WCL, if the appropriate crop sheets have been read and distributed to the laborers, and if training has been provided.

Some questions and answers regarding this controversial new actare, listed below, based on information we have received from Robert DeAnda III, Extension agent pesticide safety from Uvalde.

What are the agricultural employers' responsibilities?

The agricultural employer must keep and maintain an updated Workplace Chemical List, acquire the most current Material Safety DataSheets, and read (or use an audio-recording) and distribute the crop sheets for each crop on the employer's workplace.

Also, the employer must inform laborers of the last application, the re-entry interval, and of future applications.

Hypothetically, when you investigate an employer in 1989, does this employer need to present to you the 1988 Workplace Chemical List, the 1989 WCL, or both WCL?

The employer must present to me both 1988 and 1989 WCL. The 1988 WCL must be completed while the 1989 WCL must be up-to-date.

What are the reactions of the employers who are investigated?

They knew about the Law, they knew the enforcement phase was underway, and they were just waiting for me, or someone, to show up at their place.

What if an employer does not cooperate?

A letter will be given to that employer advising him that he has 14 days to set-up a hearing with the state TDA office.

What if an employer refuses to allow you to enter?

The next step to take would depend on the situation, but in general, the state TDA office will take the necessary measures.

How do you choose a county and more specifically, the employers to investigate?

TDA is responsible for enforcing the law in the 256 counties.

What would you estimate the number of employers in compliance versus noncompliance to be in your district? In the state?

I hope compliance is good, but it is too early to tell.

How does the employer know he is in compliance?

After an investigation is complete, a copy of the report will be made available to the employer.

How long does this compliance last?

It could be until a complaint is filed against that employer or until another inspection is made by TDA.

If the employer is in noncompliance, what is the next step?

If he is not complying by not keeping the proper records, then he has 14 days to comply and a follow-up is made. If the employer does not comply because he did not distribute the proper crop sheets, then it would depend on the circumstance. In general, the employer has an option of providing and reading the crop sheets or be penalized. For example, if the laborers have been on his workplace for awhile without those laborers receiving the proper crop sheets, then obviously he is inviolation. But if the laborers arrived a few days and they still don't have the crop Sseets, and I ask why they don't have them, and the employer's reply is that he planned a training for tonight, then I offer him the benefit of the doubt and return the next day to see if what he said was true. If not, then he will be in violation.

How often will you investigate an employer? Right now, the enforcement of the law is still young, so we really don't know what situations will be encountered.

Do you investigate with or without an advance notice to the industry? To the area? To the individual?

Usually not, because as I said before, it is a random selection so I wouldn't know where I'll be at a certain time.

Does the Texas Department of Agriculture give "chances" to employers who are in noncompliance?

TDA has given chances for the past 18 months by educating the employers since the law became in effect.

The law was written in 1987, became effective in 1988, and was enforced in 1989.

What changes have you seen regarding this or related issues?

More crop sheets have been developed and thus more are available. There is more of an understanding as to who the law applies; questions are clarified, more community awareness, less accidental exposures, and the Ag communities are more 'safety conscience.

At what times will the law be enforced?

We try to work around the employer's schedule so that we will not interfere with their jobs. We have DeAnda scheduled early in 1990 to offer training programs for both employees and employers to assist them incomplying with this act, so be on the watch out in this column for this notification.

Sewing machines

Serger attachments available

NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent

Focus on family

Several different brands of serger attachments for sewing machines are available.

All brands claim that a standard zig-zag sewing machine will simulate a serger when the attachment is used. However, there are a few things you need to know before buying one. All serger attachments work in about the same way. They trim the seam allowance as the fabric passes through. This allows the sewing machine to zig-zag over the edge of the narrow seam allowance, just as a serger does.

The thread is thrown over a bar in the attachment as the stitch is formed. This prevents the puckered or scalloped edges that often result from ordinary zig-zag stitching over th edge of a fabric. There are limitations to what these attachments can do, however.

They tend to work well on only a few types of fabric. The ones that seem to do best on are cotton-polyester blend durable press top weights such as broad cloth and shirt-weight poplin. They do not work as well on light weight or stretchy fabrics such as T-shirt knit and tricot. Neither do they work well on heavy fabric such as denim.

Serger attachments can put a strain on the needle bar of sewing machines because of the weight. Unless the attachment is used a lot with the machine running at high speed, this probably will not be a problem.

If you plan to do only a little sewing with the serger attachments and will use it primarily for shirt and blouse weight fabrics, it can be a good buy — much less expensive than a serger. But remember that it doesn't do everything a serger does.

Parents need coaching

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I read the excuses parents made for being late to pick up their children at day care. Well, I don't run a day-care business, but I had the same problem when I was a coach in junior and senior high schools many years ago.

There were always two or three kids who were left waiting for a ride home after practice or a game. It was my policy to send home a practice and game schedule a full month in advance so parents would have plenty of time to arrange to pick up their children on time.

I'll never forget one seventh-grade boy who was always left waiting to be picked up after practice or a game. This school was way out in the country, six miles from town. Many times I waited with this boy for hours, calling his home every 15 minutes. (Nobody answered.)

I wasn't about to drive him home in my car — the laws being what they are — and there was no way I would leave him waiting alone.

Abby, please appeal to parents to be more considerate of their children — and also their coaches. We have our own families we'd like to get home to. — FORMER COACH IN ILLINOIS

DEAR COACH: I'm sure you speak for many coaches who have played this waiting game. And let's not forget how hurt and abandoned a child must feel waiting to be picked up long after everyone else has gone home.

Thanks for a dandy letter, coach. And, parents, did you get the signal?

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter signed "Her Daughter," stating she was beside herself because after 44 years of marriage, her parents were getting a divorce. Well, I can go her one better. My mother, who is 80, and my dad, who is 79, just separated.

How does our family feel? It's the greatest thing that's happened to us in years. My mother's blood pressure has dropped to normal and the stress is gone from her life. And Dad looks 20 years younger.

My son's only comment was, "Wow, after 60 years of marriage — they're splitting! What a great story this will make for an English essay!" — THEIR DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: One never knows if condolences or congratulations are in order. In your parents' case, it would appear that everybody's happier, and their only regret is that they waited so long to call it quits.

Tidbits

By LEA WHITEHEAD

Guests sipped wine and nibbled onmcheese and fruit — while waiting their turn to chat with one of only 40 women in the U.S. ever to attain the rank of general — Brig. Gen. Wilma Vaught, USAF Ret., in town last weekend to speak at the annual Women's Conference.

The Blue Blazers hosted the party at Days Inn's poolside patio.

David Wiley, who was there with wife Pam, discovered that he and Vaught both graduated from the University of Alabama. And Anne Beasley found that she and the general were both in Spain at the same time during a three-year period — in fact, at one time, lived in the same town! — but had never met!

Helen Dawson Jacobean told other party guests that she and John had to cancel their Carribbean cruise. "Hurricane Hugo didn't leave us anything to see," she said regretfully. St. Croix, leveled by the storm, was among the islands they'd hoped to visit.

Mary Louise Traczyk, wearing a gold-braid-festooned caftan she bought on a trip to Morocco, said she had picked up Vaught at the airport and was chauffeuring her to and from her appointments.

Others in the crowd included Hooper Sanders, Jim and Linda Roger, Mayor Max and Neva Green, Celia Terry, Shirley Shroyer, Johnnie Lou Avery, Karl and Betty Shoenfield, Jerry and Marae Brooks, Floyd and Gail Earls, Conrad and Joyce Alexander, the Jeff Morrises, Iris Correa and many more.

Former resident Charlsie Ladley, in town for Big Spring State Hospital's 50th Anniversary celebration, is now assigned to MHMR's Region I Support.

Her district covers 80,000 square miles — from El Paso to Abilene, and from Presidio to Plainview.

Charlsie would like to hear from Big Spring friends. Her address is 2805 56th Street, Lubbock 79413.

It was on again and off again, but now it's for sure: Former resident R.E. "Peppy" Blount (former state legislator and UT football great) will be featured speaker at the Oct. 21 reunion of BSHS classes of 1943-44-45-46.

According to Pat Simmons, chairperson, former classmates are coming from California, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, Mississippi, Washington and Canada, as well as form all over Texas.

Deadline for registration is Tuesday. Phone Pat at 263-4607.

Jim and Linda Holmes were in Dallas last weekend to see their daughter, former resident Barbara Holmes, who was back in Texas to attend the national American Heart Association convention.

Linda says Barbi has her very first job — she's campaign and communications coordinator for AHA in Great Falls, Mont. "Her job covers the entire state," says Linda.

Barbi's sister, Melody Young and husband Kevin, also were in Dallas for the family get-together.

Cotton and Billie Mize finally "opened" the last of their Christmas presents from last year. The present was a trip to Hawaii given by their children, Carol Pate; Johnny Mize, Amarillo; and Brenda Toner, Round Rock.

Highlights of their 10-day vacation included a visit to the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial ("You get a real sense of patriotism and a sense of what our country is all about"); and took a helicopter trip over the canyon on Kaui, the wettest spot in the world with annual rainfall of over 360 inches.

Cotton was especially impressed with their trip to see Charles Lindberg's burial site. "We took a van over what is literally the roughest road in the world; it can't be graded or paved because falling boulders keep falling on it." They drove — or bounced — past seven waterfalls to the small cemetery and church where Lindberg's remains lie. Cotton says the shrine was permanently closed after that visit because it was being destroyed by tourists taking "souvenirs."

The Mizes brought back a plant — "it looks like a foot-long brown stick." Cotton has potted it and reports that it has already turned green, but it won't have leaves for a year!

Mary Grace Martin has just returned from her family's reunion marking the Centennial of the S.L. Barker clan's settlement in Capello Canyon, near Las Vegas. Sixty-eight descendants of the Barkers' 11 children attended.

Among the festivities, says Mary Grace, was a luncheon at the original Barker homestead, hosted by descendents Bob and Jodie Phillips who maintain a vacation home there.

Several of the Barker children made names for themselves, including Elliot, author and game conservationist, who rescued the original "Smokey the Bear," and created the legend for the forest fire prevention campaign; Western poet S. Omar Barker; and poet Grace Barker Wilson, first woman and first living person to earn a place in the New Mexico Hall of Fame.

Brig. Gen. Wilma Vaught, left, visits with Karen and Jeff Morris during the annual Women's Conference, which was hosted Oct. 8 by the Blue Blazers.

Bud and Loena Smith observed their 50th wedding anniversary recently — and Loena recalled that she met Bud when he came to her parents' home to court her sister.

Bud's brother, Rev. Howard L. Smith, performed the ceremony — it was the newly ordained minister's first experience at officiating at a wedding!

Iris Correa, left, Gail Earls, center, and Anne Beasley wait to speak to Brig. Gen. Wilma Vaught.

Adjusting to retirement

(AP) Retirement won't destroy a good marriage nor will it salvage a bad one, say two researchers who interviewed more than 200 retirement-age couples to determine the effect of retirement on marriage.

As time goes by, Mature Outlook magazine reports, more and more couples will be leaving their jobs.

"Retirement neither ruins nor resurrects marriage," says Barbara Vinick, Ph.D., an assistant professor at Boston University School of Public Health and research sociologist at the Veterans administration in Boston, who conducted the three-year study with David Ekerdt, Ph.D., associate director of the University of Kansas Center on Aging.

The researchers interviewed two groups of married couples. In one group, the men were in their first year of retirement. In the other, the men were still working and were on the average two years younger.

"We found that a lot of people approaching retirement wonder how they'll get along after retirement and whether they'll get in each other's hair," says Vinick. "There's some natural apprehension."

But most couples make the adjustment fairly easily, the study suggests. While many of the retired husbands acknowledged that they initially missed the camaraderie of their workplaces, most said they had adjusted within a couple of months and were enjoying the opportunity to do projects they had been saving up for years.

Although many of the wives said they'd worried about having their husbands underfoot, they also acknowledged they were enjoying spending more time with the men in a relaxed atmosphere.

Everyone doesn't react the same way to retirement, Vinick and Ekerdt note. But they found several common reactions to lifestyle changes that retirement can bring.

Doctor's Discovery May End Cholesterol Problems Forever

DALLAS — Dr. DeLamar Gibbons M.D., revealed today phenomenal results of a two-year clinical test that included over 1,000 patients who used a formula that is now being called ALBACAR 2000.

Dr. Gibbons is the former director of clinical research for the Saturday Evening Post, a noted author and head of research and development for the Academy of Health.

Dr. Gibbons said, "Using ALBACAR 2000 as directed may reduce the risk of heart attack, coronary heart disease, or stroke by reducing and controlling cholesterol levels; this could save up to 500,000 lives a year."

Dr. Gibbons stated that 'positive levels of cholesterol and triglyceride (blood fat) reduction were exhibited within 14 days with the most dramatic reductions occurring within a 30- to 60-day period. ALBACAR 2000 is safe for everyone and you do not have to make dietary changes to achieve positive results. ALBACAR 2000 uses ingredients that are recognized as safe and is available on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies. A 30-day supply of 180 wafers is only $29.95.

Variety show

The second annual Elementary Teachers' Variety Show will be Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Stanton High School auditorium. Price of admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Like last year, many different "talents" will be highlighted in this years's show. Once again, Jim White, the elementary principal will be the emcee. Assisting him will be Mrs. Wiggins, aka Zoila Hernandez, his secretary. Also returning from last year are the Beach Girls.

A few of the acts that will delight you are: The Rolling Hair March, The Tennessee Wig Walk Troupe, The California Raisins, The Blues Brothers and a Barber Shop Trio. Also in the performance will be a selection by the Elementary Symfunee. There are other acts, too. Come find out what they are.

Outreach supper

The Martin County Senior Citizens will have an Outreach Supper Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the Community Center.

"This event is to reach more people who might need our services and to try and get more people involved in all of our activities," Sally Carroll, Center Director, said.

"All senior citizens from Martin County are invited. Please bring a side dish or dessert to go with turkey and dressing, which will be furnished by the center. We will also have a lot of fun and entertainment.

"Buster Haggard and Band will be playing, and there will be dancing for those who like to dance. We will also have tables set up to play "42" and other games.

"Please make plans to join us and see what all our Senior Center is about," Carroll said. "I guaruntee that you will have a wonderful time!"

Red Ribbon Week

Volunteers are continuing their work to promote "Red Ribbon Week," which will be conducted Oct. 21-29. Nationwide, this is the second year for the anti-drug program, but the first year for a concentrated effort in Martin County.

Tommy Beck, First United Methodist pastor, showed a film and advised the Noon Lions Club of the upcoming effort. The Noon Lions contributed $50 to help with the local program.

Local DPS troopers distributed coloring books to first and second grade students. "We are happy to be working with the promotion of the Red Ribbon Week observance," Victor Taylor, local Texas Highway Patrolman, said.

All citizens are being urged to take part, by wearing the red ribbons, and by displaying red ribbons or bows on their homes or businesses during the week-long observance.

Ceremony

GRADY — The public is invited to attend the Boy Scout Code of Honor ceremony in the Grady School auditorium Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The Fall Open-House at Grady School will be held from 6-8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 19.

The 1989 homecoming pep rally will be held in Grady's new gym at 8:15 Thursday. The homecoming bonfire will take place at 9 p.m. the same evening.

Full homecoming festivities will be conducted during halftime of the Wildcat's game against Loop on Friday.

Club meets

Members of Texas Eta Master met recently at the home of Mrs. T.R. Louder.

The president, Mrs. J. Roueche, called the business meeting to order. Members included Mrs. Roueche, Mrs. Louder, Mrs. J. Wood, Miss Sammye Laws, Mrs. Glenn Brown, Mrs. L. Roten, Mrs. S. Reid, Mrs. J. Cobean and Mrs. J. Talton, an associate member.

Mrs. Cobean reported that the 50th anniversary celebration, Oct. 5, of the Big Spring State Hospital was a success.

Following a theme of incentive and initiative, the program was given by reading of several people as examples.

Comments were inserted as the audience participated. Pictures and clippings were presented by Mrs. Louder at the close, which included a contrast between the mountains in Idaho and the Boy of Corpus Christi which was not intentional.

Lions meet

The Stanton Evening Lions held their regular meeting Oct. 2 at Bonnie's Restaurant. Boss Lion Lester Baker called the meeting to order with 15 members and six guests present. Guests attending were District Governor Robert Noyes and his wife, Jan, Lt. Governor Ernest Barbee, Past Governor J.E. Barrington and two other guests of Midland.

Noyes spoke on "Getting Back to Basics." Membership, communication and education were discussed with emphasis on retaining current members as well as recruiting new members.

Current projects discussed at the meeting were the Red Ribbon Campaign against drugs and the Halloween candy sale. During Red Ribbon Week the Evening Lions will distribute ribbons with the slogan "My Choice — Drug Free" to all students in Stanton and Grady schools. Students in kindergarten, first and second grades will participate in a coloring contest, and students in grades three, four and five will have a poster contest.

The club is selling Halloween candy for $2.25 per bag of either hard candy or Tootsie Rolls. All proceeds will go to fund local community projects.

Meeting

The Stanton Music Club held its reassembly meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Glenn L. Brown.

Mrs. Ron Graves, president, welcomed the members and a guest, Mrs. Joe Bill Averitt. New yearbooks and Hymn-of-the-Month booklets were distributed. The course of study for the club year will be the life of George Gershwin, by David Ewen.

A new musical project to help the Convent Foundation was discussed and adopted. Holiday fruit cake sales were presented by Mrs. Tull Ray Louder.

Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, NFMC president, reported on the National Board meeting held in August in Minneapolis, Minn. Following the meeting Mrs. Brown was guest of the International Mu Phi Epsilon Music Fraternity Convention in Chicago where she was presented with a citation award.

The State Board meeting of Texas FMC was held recently in Tyler. Mrs. Brown reported on this meeting also. It was announced that the 12th District convention of which Stanton Music Club is a part, will be held on Oct. 21 at the Highland Methodist Church in Odessa.

To conclude the meeting, members sang the hymn of the month, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" by Isaac Watts, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Koonce. Refreshments were served from a fall decorated table.

Cub Scouts

Second grade Cub Scouts will be meeting on Mondays at 6:30 in the Martin County Community Center. For more information, call Celia Payne at 756-3280.

Noon Lions meet

During the meeting of Noon Lions Club held on Oct. 3, Boss Lion Victor Taylor announced that Oct. 7 was the day the District Governor planned to meet with the club. Several guests were introduced and Taylor gave hand-outs concern the Leo Club. Charlie Pinkerton gave a referral of someone who needed eye glasses to the club, which was approved.

Lion Tommie Beck gave the program beginning with a short video on drugs and the "Red Ribbon Campaign" which will be observed Oct 23-27. He challenged the Club to become involved with this war on drugs. It was voted to give a contribution toward this cause. He stated the use of red ribbons would indicate your approval of helping to stamp out this scourge on our country. Wear your red ribbon during this week approved by our government.

Seminar

Stanton residents have been invited by the Samaritan Counseling Center of West Texas Inc. to attend the seminar titled Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP). The workshop is designed to help parents relate to their children more effectively. It will explore the motives of childrens' behavior and misbehavior and will teach parents how to help them become more cooperative and responsible.

Topics included will be: understanding children's behavior and misbehavior; understanding how children use emotion to involve parents; encouragement; listening; exploring alternatives and expressing your ideas and feelings to children and developing responsibility.

The workshop, which began Wednesday, will be meeting each Wednesday through Nov. 15 from 7:30-9 p.m. For registration or additional information, please contact the Center at 563-4144.

Also being offered at the Center is the workshop Building Self-Esteem. It is a one-day workshop to help individuals raise their self-esteem. The workshop will be held Oct. 28 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. the goal will be for participants to grow in self-confidence and self-respect.

"In the workshop we will define 'positive' self-esteem as well as help participants indentify and deal with self-defeating thoughts and behaviors," Pam Sankowsky, spokesman for the Center said. "There will be guidance in: learning self-acceptance, living consciously and authentically, liberation from guilt and helping our 'child self'. Though didactic information will be shared, the conference will be basically experiential. The greater amount of time will be spent on exercises and practicing self-enhancing activities."

The workshop will be led by Dr. Norman D. Godfrey, executive director, who has 15 years experience as a pastoral counselor and is an "accomplished workshop leader who is committed to building self-esteem in himself and others," Sankowsky said.

The fee for the workshop is $25 per person. For more information, contact Sankowsky at 563-4144.

Want to work?

The Stanton Herald is still searching for the person who loves to chat on the phone, and wants to get paid for it. We would like to have someone new on our staff who wants to spend a couple of hours a week on the phone calling around their neighborhood and the rest of the community to find out what's going on.

We have our Grady correspondent, Heather Madison. Grady residents who want to share their vacation experiences, tell about a new baby in the family, a spouse's business promotion, a child's special academic scholarship, etc., call Heather and she will include the information in her weekly column "Heather's Headlines."

Fire program

Volunteer Firefighters Jim Johnson and Jon Wright presented a program for Elbow Elementary school children Wednesday to recognize "Fire Prevention Week". Special guests were Safety Sue, a Dalmation puppy, led by three-year-old Jim David Johnson. Muppets "Ernie", "Burt", and "Oscar the Grouch" (complete with trash can) were played by Jackie Sloan, Susan Fishback and Kathy Johnson, not by the Elbow cooks, you kids. The program very effectively educated the children on fire prevention.

Fair winners

Spotlight this week is on the fifth grade classes, taught by Bo Fryer and Linda Light. Both classes won first place ribbons at the Howard County Fair for their class projects. Mrs. Fryer's class sewed a beautiful quilt and Mrs. Light's class each made "Spin Art" pictures.

Evelyn Ashford from Big Spring State Hospital came to speak to the fifth grades about mental illness. She explained the difference between mental illness and mental retardation, calling mental illness the "hidden illness". She explained that at Big Spring State Hospital, the employees want to "work themselves out of a job" by helping the patients recover. Mrs. Ashford said the average stay at the hospital is two months.

This year the fifth grades will continue the "Kids Kare" project in cooperation with Big Spring State Hospital. These kids each wrote a letter to the hospital patients, telling who they are, their interests, and each sent a picture. The kids plan to make cards or favors for every holiday and special occasion to send to patients.

The fifth graders are also each working to make money to buy something for the patients at the State Hospital. Last year's fifth grade helped buy a VCR for the Medical Unit. Good job, kids! Sounds like you are learning something and helping at the same time. "Kids Kare"!

Elbow Elementary School principal W.R. Cregar and the kindergarten students look at the gingerbread man the students made at the school.

Gingerbread

The kindergarten children at Elbow Elementary lost their gingerbread man! Teachers Joyce Baggett and Zimmalew Boeker helped make him from scratch. The cooks popped him into the oven before they left for the day, and when the kids went to check on their creation, he was gone! Notes led the kids to the gym, the H.E.P. room, the library and even Principal Cregar's office. The kids and their teachers finally gave up the search and went back to class, only to find him in Mrs. Bagget's classroom, baked to perfection. That was the end of that gingerbread man!

Congratulations

Congratulations Buffaloes on your win against Sterling City on Sept. 30, and also to Amy Stockwell for being chosen "Homecoming Queen 1989". Next week the Forsan Buffaloes play Wall, here, at 8:00 p.m.

The Forsan-Elbow Pee Wee football teams are both tied for first place in their league. Fifth and Sixth grade Buffalo team is coached by Don Cook and Alton Fields. They play the Big Spring Packers to break the tie Saturday at 4:00 p.m.

The third grade Buffalo team, coached by Robert Wash, play the Big Spring Bears at 2:00 p.m. Saturday. It's a tiebreaker! Good luck, guys!

Tea

The Forsan Study Club will host a "Mad Hatters Tea" Saturday, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the Elbow Elementary music room. Member Eunice Thixton says it's really going to be a lot of fun. Ladies of the community are invited to come and find out all about Forsan Study Club.

Revival

Central Baptist Church, Elbow, is slated for revival today though Oct. 22 at 7:00 p.m. Dr. Lacey will be preaching and James Kinman will lead the singing. Wednesday night is Youth Night. All are invited.

Meeting

Forsan Baptist Church will host its annual Association Meeting Oct. 23, from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m. The afternoon meeting includes messages and reports. Annual Sermon by Bob Farrell begins at 5:30. The meal will begin at 6:00 p.m. At 6:45, there will be more singing, reports, special music and the State Missions message by Bill Arnold.

Recovering

Forsan Mayor Woodrow Scudday is recovering from surgery, as is Mrs. Willy Kate Rankin. "Grandma" Rankin is 101 this year.

Now, you folks take note of everything left unsaid, and give me a call.

Kindergarten teacher Mrs. Baggett and her students put the finishing touches on their gingerbread man.

Up close and personal

Of course everyone is a Wolf fan, whether it be football, volleyball, or basketball, but most of us don't get the chance to know the players as individuals, so for the next few months there will be a personal profile of a couple of our Wolf football players and a volleyball player each week throughout the season of their sport.

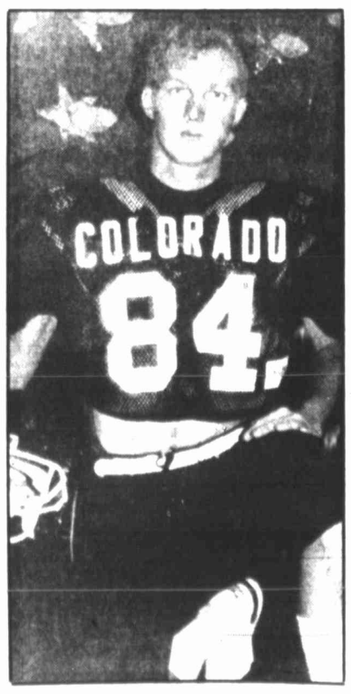

Football:

DANE HOOVER #84 — The proud parents of this Wolf are David and Melinda Hoover. This is Dane's sixth year to play football. He plays tight end, punt kicker and linebacker. The "excitement and being able to work as a team" are the reasons he enjoys playing. His other school activities include basketball, FCA, and SADD. Fishing is what he enjoys doing in his spare time. Dane is a senior and has plans to go to college and become a certified public accountant and a meteorologist.

MARCUS MONROE #41 — He is the son of Tommy and Barbara Monroe. He is one of our few sophomores on the varsity team, and has played the game for four years. His positions are cornerback and flanker (Z). When asked why he enjoys the game, he said, "It's fun and I like the contact." Marcus is also a member of the CHS Band. When he graduates, he plans to attend college and play basketball, which is also his favorite pastime.

Volleyball:

ELIA AGUILAR #18 — She is the daughter of Jesse and Mary Aguilar. She has played volleyball for three years. Elia said she enjoys the game "For the competition, the way it makes you feel, both mentally and physically." After graduation in May, she has plans to attend college and become a probation officer or a hairstylist. Her hobbies include softball, skating, having fun and music.

DANE HOOVER

ROSEMARY ROSAS #7 — She is the daughter of Amelia Rosas. The position she plays is hitter. She has played the game for four years. Rosemary is also involved in student council and Wolverines. She enjoys volleyball because "It's fun and is a team sport." She is a sophomore and plans to attend college to become a coach. Her hobbies include playing softball and being with friends.

Speaking of volleyball

The Colorado City Wolves volleyball teams will be traveling to Albany Tuesday. The junior varisty game begins at 6:00 p.m.; the varsity plays at 7:00 p.m.

Marriage retreat

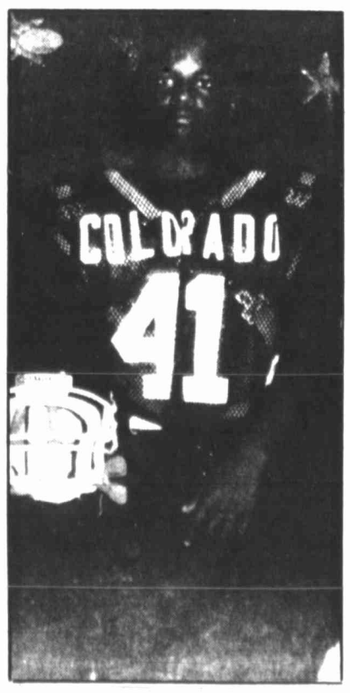

Two couples from the Christian Temple Church headed for the beautiful mountains of New Mexico Oct. 6-9 on a marriage retreat weekend. Bobby and Dapa Moody and Tim and Barbie Lelek left around 7:30 p.m. and didn't stop until they got to Albuquerque at 4:30 p.m. CDT. The annual Hot Air Balloonfest was being held that weekend and the tired couples arrived at the festival at 6:00 a.m. to see the magnificent sight of 500 hot air balloons in flight. A trip up Sandia Peak in the Tramway was an exciting way to see the beautiful countryside. The couples had a good time touring the mountains with the golden turning Aspens as they wound their way up the mountain roads on their way to Angel Fire, where they stayed in a beautiful home owned by a local Colorado City citizen. The four enjoyed sightseeing and a shopping trip to Red River. In the evening they viewed Zig Ziglers "Wives Court Your Husbands" and James Dobson's "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women." Everyone had a good time and are ready to go again.

Crafts fair

The annual Railhead Arts & Crafts Fair is being held this weekend at the Ag Barn. There are craft booths and food booths and fun for young and old. If you haven't been out there yet this weekend, you need to go see the new crafts these talented people from all over Texas and Colorado City have for sale.

Concerned citizens

The heart of any living creature is the source of its life and with this in mind a group of concerned citizens including Westbrook, Colorado City, and Loraine people got together to form a group called C.P.R. (Concerned People Rebuilding). As with a person who has been hurt, C.P.R. is used to revive them and allow them to go on and live a full life, this group's goal is to "Start the Heart of Mitchell County Pumping Stronger." Everyone is encouraged to look on and discuss the positive aspects of Colorado City, Westbrook and Loraine, our two lakes, our powerplant, etc. Instead of tearing our town down, lift it up. The first meeting was held a month ago and about 35 people attended. Officers and board members were elected. The persons responsible for getting the ball rolling in this group were elected chairman and vice chairman. They are Molly Bruce and Ricky Thompson, respectively. Coleen Palmer is secretary/treasurer. Board members are: Anastacio Alvarez, representing Loraine; Jimmy Redwine, representing Colorado City; Sammy Parham, representing the white community; Sammy Contreras, representing the Hispanic community; and Brenda Russell, representing the black community. There is still a need for a Westbrook volunteer for the Tri-Area board to be complete. These were elected to six-month terms. The C.P.R. group has volunteers that attend the different governing meetings of our towns, then at their next meeting they report to the other concerned citizens what they learned at a particular meeting, therefore anyone can know how our towns are doing. For anyone in-

Birthday celebration

Vera Winn will be honored today for her 80th birthday at an open house at 1310 Virginia.

VERA WINN

Her children and grandchildren will host the event, from 2 to 5 p.m.

She was born Oct. 16, 1909 in Arkansas, and married the late Fred Winn in 1924 in Lorenza.

Vera is a retired licensed vocational nurse, and was employed by Malone and Hogan Hospital, and the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

All her friends, relatives and acquaintences are invited to come by to celebrate the occasion.

Pageant

Jennifer Allen, 18, Nicholasville, Ky., daughter of Sallie Kried, Nicholasville; and Curtis Allen, Coahoma, placed third in the Jessamine County Jubilee Pageant Oct. 4.

JENNIFER ALLEN

Jennifer is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pachall, Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. W.K. Allen, Coahoma.

She is a senior at Jessamine County High School.

The pageant was a first for Jennifer.

"She really enjoyed competing . . . she's hooked now," said her mother.

A porcelain doll sits on a carousel horse made by Dorothy Tidwell.

Art exhibitor

Dorothy Tidwell, Big Spring, will exhibit her original dolls during the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival Oct. 21-22.

Tidwell says she "got into porcelain dolls because I love the old dolls and wanted to do reproductions of antiques." She underwent formal instruction in doll making and hopes to sculpt an original doll in the future.

"Right now I buy molds and pour the porcelain greenware," she explained. "Then I remove all seams and cut out eyes to size them after it dries. After this process, you fire them in a very hot kiln. Once they are fired, you scrub them down so they are smooth. When they reach this stage, they are ready to be china painted. Sometimes you china paint and fire them three or more times to get the heads right."

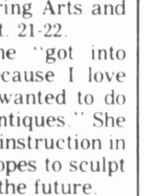

When the heads are completed to her satisfaction, Tidwell assembles the dolls.

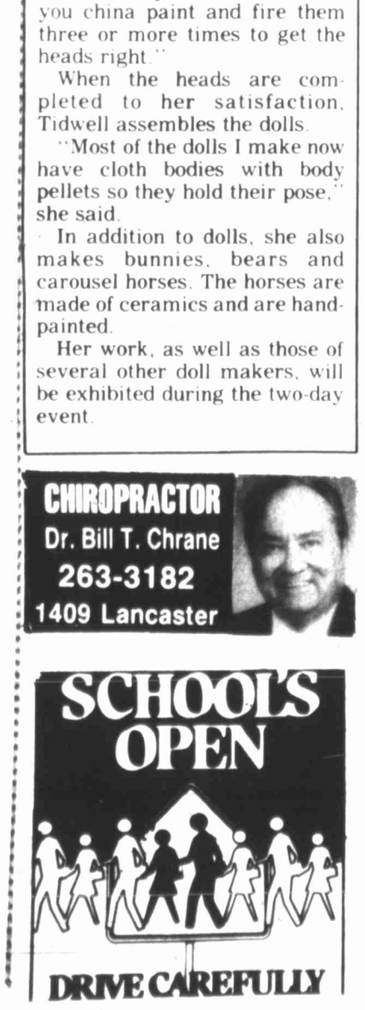

"Most of the dolls I make now have cloth bodies with body pellets so they hold their pose," she said.

In addition to dolls, she also makes bunnies, bears and carousel horses. The horses are made of ceramics and are handpainted.

Her work, as well as those of several other doll makers, will be exhibited during the two-day event.

there and have a sandwich."

"We cleaned it up once," Paredez says of his efforts. "Once you start doing something I don't believe you should quit. I believe if you're going to do it, you should keep it clean.

"I'm doing it for the city, especially the northside."

Paredez graduated from Big Spring High School in 1985. After he threw his hat into the air on graduation night, he went into business for himself.

"I started this kind of work early," Paredez says. "My dad has been a cabinet maker all his life . . . I was always in the way when I was a kid. He would run me off, and I'd come right back and that's the way I learned . . . I learned a lot just from being in the way.

"It was just like this project. No one walked up and said why don't you do this, I wanted to do it. There's not enough people doing things like this to get the town moving. For my part, if I can get people on the northside's cooperation, we'll start on that street and move all the way to 10th Street."

But Paredez hopes his enthusiasm will go far beyond just the northside of town.

"I hope it catches on and the whole city will do something," Paredez says. "There're streets everywhere that need just a little work and they would look a whole lot better.

"It just takes a little time."

A cleanup of the northside around Sgt. Paredez Street will be held Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. Paredez says lunch will be provided for everyone who shows up to work and that people can work at their own pace. "There won't be any boss telling you what to do," he said.

How embarrassing

It was the first year for Rick Robinson to coach football and he had the seventh grade boys. At one game (as with them all), Coach Robinson was ready to "knock some heads." He was standing near the field with the boys behind him on the sideline. Coach Robinson turned and yelled at them "go get 'em boys" and with that they trampled over him, knocking him to the ground, causing the tendons in his knee to tear. Coach Robinson had to sit the whole game on a water can nursing his knee. How embarrassing!

Wylie support

Wylie High School junior, Stacy Kirk, was seriously injured in the opening football game, Sept. 8. Stacy fractured the fourth vertebra and is paralyzed from the neck down. Slight movements have been detected in the shoulders and muscles. Doctors are encouraged by this.

Stacy entered the Dallas Rehabilitation Institute Sept. 21. He will have many months of therapy during his rehabilitation process. The people in Wylie have been inspired by the strength and courage Stacy has shown the past two weeks and they are optimistic of a recovery from this injury. They realize it will take time and much determination on Stacy's part.

The Wylie Booster Club has set up a fund in the name of Stacy Kirk at the First State Bank-Wylie, Abilene. Donations are requested to help defray the mounting expenses incurred by the Kirk family.

Many schools have already inquired as to how they can help. A letter has been mailed to all high school athletic booster clubs across the state in hopes of generating an interest in the Stacy Kirk Fund. A donation in any amount will be greatly appreciated.

If you or your organization would like to contribute to this fund, please make checks payable to the "Stacy Kirk Fund"

c/o Becky Bearden, 5609 Buffalo Gap Rd., Abilene, Texas 79606, or c/o Wylie High School, 4010 Beltway South, Abilene, Texas 79606.

All donations received will be deposited in the First State Bank-Wylie. In this time of need, please reach out a helping hand to a neighboring town and family.

Family gathering

Buddie Hechler spent Oct. 7 enjoying a family gathering in Big Spring at her nephew's home.

Edman and Wanda McMurray entertained their family in honor of Deidre Knox, their daughter, who is visiting from Madrid, Spain where her husband Keith is a radar weather technician.

Family members present were Clara Black, McMurray's mother from Sand Springs, Nekita West, a daughter from El Campo with her two girls, Krista, 10 and Kaci, 4.

Another daughter, Shelley Whailey with Rodney, her husband, and son, Kody, 2, from Midland was present as was a son, Wade, with his wife, Sheryl and their son, Braxton Cade McMurray, 10 months, Big Spring.

The family enjoyed two meals together, which included a chocolate cake which had been won by 4-year-old Kaci at a cakewalk in El Campo.

Visit

Three children of Maggie Harrington's oldest sister Alma, visited Maggie Harroll Oct. 6 on the last leg of an extensive trip. The group included Mac Dawkins, Tow; Helen Faye Davis, Louisiana; and Mary Lou Davis, Ft. Worth.

The travelers had been to Utah. Colorado, Arizona, Las Vegas, Nevada, and Farmington, N.M.

A daughter, Lydia Beth Supthen and her husband, Ronnie had visited Harroll and Maggie for dinner Oct. 1. Lydia Beth teaches Spanish at Clyde High School.

Another daughter, Rite Hull and husband, Willie visited the Harrington home Oct. 8.

Family visit

Glenn Hyden, son of C.H. and Anna Mae Hyden and his 10-year-old son, Andy visited the Hydens Oct. 8. Early in the morning the men and Andy went to their deer blind five miles from Hymen to feed the deer, sighting a doe and fawn.

The C.H. Hydens traveled to Brady Oct. 4 to obtain a racing license for their quarterhorse Quest for Excellence. Brady is the only pari mutuel race track in Texas. Trainer Blain Wood had already been in Brady with the horse since Oct. 2.

The Hydens plan to move their mobile home to Brady for this month of racing.

Engaged

Members of two highly respected long-time farm and ranch families will be joined in marriage Jan. 20 when Scott Underwood takes Lisa Iden for his bride.

Scott, the son of Lloyd and Pat Underwood, Luther, graduated from Texas Tech last spring, receiving a degree in agriculture economics. He is employed by Allenburg, a cotton buyer in Lubbock.

Lisa, the daughter of Jerry Iden, Vealmoor, graduated from Texas Tech with a degree in education. She is now doing her student teaching on the junior high level. She will receive her teachers certificate in both elementary and secondary education in December.

Lisa attended Howard College in 1985 on a basketball scholarship. She likes to snow and water ski as well.

The fathers of the couple, Lloyd Underwood and Jerry Iden, attended Texas Tech at the same time with Jerry graduating with an agriculture economics degree and Lloyd a degree in agronomy.

The couple will wed at the First Baptist Church, Big Spring, with Kenneth Patrick, pastor, officiating.

Football fans

Jerry and Denise are avid Texas Tech football fans and have attended the four home games, Arizona, Texas A&M, New Mexico and the homecoming game this weekend against Arkansas.

New Jersey visitors

Betty and Al Lewandonski, Methushan, N.J., are visiting Hollis and Mildred Puckett in their fifth wheeler.

Lewandonski and Hollis are army buddies from the 1304th Base Unit motor pool in the China Burma India theater serving during WWII. Hollis was the sergeant of the pool and Al served as a mechanic under him.

Puckett's health prevented him from attending the annual reunion of the group in Nashville, Tenn. Sept. 21-23, so Al and Betty are filling him in on the event. Twenty-seven attended the reunion, staying in a motel across the street from Opry Land.

The two couples have been sightseeing and visiting friends — starting at Scenic Mountain. This is the couple's third trip to Luther since 1985.

The 1304th will have their next reunion at Youngston, Ohio in August next year.

The first reunion of the group was held in 1985 and it was the first time in 40 years the members had seen each other.

Recovering

Lennis Couch returned home from the Methodist Hospital Oct. 5. She is recovering from a knee replacement operation on her right leg. She and John spent Wednesday night in the home of their daughters, Annette and Martha the night before returning home. Annette spent the weekend with them in their home, returning to Lubbock Sunday morning.

Paul and Mable Beck visited in the Couch home Sunday, bringing food with them. "They love to come to the country," declared Lennis.

Cards to Carrie

Carrie Carnahan, resident of Coahoma and good friend to many, is still in the Wadley Institute in Dallas. She wants to hear from all her friends. Her address is: Carrie Carnahan, c/o Wadley Institute, 9000 Harry Hines Blvd., Dallas, Texas 75235. The phone number she can be reached at is (214) 351-8232. Give her a call or just drop her a line to let her know you are thinking of her.

Reunion

reunited with five generations of cousins and family members from all over the United States, including California, Texas, and Alabama. Moda Smith, 97, the oldest survivor from the immediate Cates family traveled from Mobile, Ala.

The reunion was held at the Senior Citizens Hall in Dublin. "This was the first reunion in fifty-five years," said Mrs. Bates. "A lot of the family is very talented musically and everyone got out their instruments and played the prettiest music . . . Two of the women did a hula dance, complete with grass skirts, bows in their hair, and a rose on each big toe!" Mrs. Bates added that some of the family members danced, but not too many as they were too busy talking and catching up on the last 55 years.

The families were treated to dinner, which consisted of seven briskets, red beans, potato salad and cole slaw.

Mrs. Bates described the weekend as, "wonderful, just wonderful!"

Booster plans

The Coahoma All-Sports Booster Club met this past week to discuss upcoming events. The following is some of the events the club has planned.

The Wiley Booster Club sent a letter to Coahoma's All-Sports Booster Club asking for help for one of their football players. Stacey Kirk, junior at Abilene-Wiley High School, was injured in the opening game of the season. Stacey fractured the fourth vertebrae and is paralyzed from the neck down. A fund has been set up to help the family with medical costs. Stacey is currently in the Dallas Rehabilitation Institute. The doctors have detected slight movement in Stacey's shoulders and muscles and are encouraged by this. For the next two home games, booster members will be "passing the hat" in the stands trying to collect donations to help Stacey and his family. If you miss the game and would like to donate, a fund has been set up at the First State Bank-Wiley, Abilene, Texas. Checks can be made payable to: The Stacey Kirk Fund, c/o Wiley High School, 4010 Beltway South, Abilene, Texas 79606.

The Booster Club stated that Stacey will undergo many months of rehabilitation and therapy, but his strength and courage has inspired everyone.

Bridal shower

Laurie Tomasini, bride-elect of Bryan Neff, was honored Oct. 8 at a miscellaneous bridal shower in the Coahoma Church of Christ fellowship hall. Hostesses included Nancy Marshall, Virginia Allen, Beverly Martin, Marie Ethridge, Jean Wynn, Johnnie Ray, Eloise Davis, Sharon Thomas, Connie Buchanan, and Jan Moser.

The hostesses presented Laurie with a table lamp designed in the Southwest theme. About 30 guests and Bryan's Aunt Irene Garrett, Midland, attended the event. The prospective bridegroom's mother and grandmother also attended.

Laurie, who is from San Antonio, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tomasini. Bryan is the son of Joe and Sue Neff, Big Spring. He is the grandson of Ernest and Eleanor Garrett, Coahoma. Bryan received his degree in veterinary medicine from Texas A&M University in May and operates a veterinary clinic in Brady.

The couple will exchange vows Saturday at the Cornerstone Church, San Antonio.

Senior trip

Seventeen members of Midway Baptist Church's senior citizen group left Oct. 2 for a couple of days of traveling and fun. The group included two future seniors also, Chet Haney, pastor, and his two-year-old daughter, Sara.

The group drove to Eureka Springs, Ark., via three vans. To pass the time while traveling, the group played "20 questions" on the CB radio.

Upon arriving at Eureka Springs, the group was treated to a barbecue dinner hosted by the Passion Play. The group then saw the performance of the Passion Play which is a recreation of the crucifixion of Christ.

The following day, the group headed to the re-created Holy Land. The re-creation is on a smaller scale than the actual Holy Land, but has all the buildings and gardens. Soloman's Temple and the garden of Gethsemane are just two of the re-creations at the site.

On the way home, the group stopped off at Plano to visit a former pastor.

Haney will travel to Midland for the Cotton Flat Baptist Church revival, where he will be the guest speaker. The church will hold their revival beginning today through Wednesday. Jim Fields is the pastor of the Cotton Flat Baptist Church and is a former pastor of Sand Springs Baptist Church. During Haney's absence, David Roberts, Youth Education minister, will conduct services.

Volleyball

Well, the volleyball tournament planned for Oct. 10 never did happen. The area teams had previous obligations and not enough teams would be available for the tournament. The boosters do plan to reschedule the tournament for a later date.

A men's open basketball tournament is a definite go for November at the Coahoma High School gym. The entry fee is $100 per team with a limit of ten players on the roster. Instead of trophies, the boosters have special ordered T-shirts for the first and second place teams. For more information on the tournament, contact Laura Anderson at 394-4594 or any booster member.

Donations

For a $1 donation to the booster club, you can get a chance to win a 700-270 rifle! The drawing will be Oct. 27. Contact any booster member for your chance. Chances can also be purchased at the next home game.

Art work

Mrs. Gwen Stanislaus, art teacher at Coahoma, and her class have spruced up the local Little Sooper Market and Dairy Queen by painting bulldogs and puppy paws on the buildings. The class is from Mrs. Stanislaus' fifth period art class and includes Laurie Lieb, Mary Berry, Rachel Key, Wendell Best, Phillip Anderson, and Robert Goodman. Randy Sparks also helped in the endeavor.

Basketball season

Basketball season is not far in the future. The girls varsity basketball team will have their first scrimmage Nov. 7, with another slated for Nov. 11. Times will be announced at a later date.

Cross-country

The girls and boys cross-country teams will be competing in a meet next weekend in Greenwood. The team is coached by Truman Meissner and is looking for a win at the meet. The freshmen on the team are really holding strong, as well as other runners.

Sweatt reunion

Mrs. Tennie Hays recently traveled to Colorado City for the semi-annual Sweatt Reunion in the Mitchell County Housing Authority Community Room. Mrs. Hays' son, Clarence and wife Mackie Hays, Big Spring, drove Mrs. Hays to the reunion where approximately 40 family members gathered for a noon luncheon and visit. Family members from the Coahoma and Big Spring area who attended include Mrs. Hays brother Paul Sweatt and his wife, Ruth, and another brother Roger Sweatt, Big Spring; Jack and Snookie Jones, Big Spring; Marion Hays, Coahoma; and yours truly and my family from Sand Springs. Families from Colorado City and Westbrook who attended include Arthur and Bernice Wilson, Roy Sweatt, Doc Sweatt, Roger Sweatt, Mary Hines and Sid Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Webb, and Gary Don and Sarah Hays. Others that attended include Elbert and Grace Sweatt of Tulia; Butch Sweatt, Midland; Marc Sweatt and the George Sweatt family of Sweetwater; Kerry and W.J. Sweatt of Schertz, and Doris and Tracie Petty of Stephenville.

Visiting grouch

With this past week being Fire Prevention Week, the Howard County Volunteer Fire Department entertained the Coahoma kindergarten through third grade classes with a fire prevention program Tuesday. Oscar the Grouch, played by Kathy Johnson; Bert, played by Susan Fishback, and Ernie, played by Jackie Sloan, entertained the children with a skit on "stop, drop and roll" techniques. Jim Johnson, fire prevention officer for the Howard County volunteers, presented the program in hopes of teaching the youngsters that they can play an important role if a fire breaks out in their home. The children learned how water takes away heat, anything can be changed by fire and that small amounts of gasoline can cause big problems. The children were also shown a demonstration on the use of smoke alarms and fire extinguishers.

Johnson stated, "Fire is a leading cause of death for children between ages of two to six. We want to get the message to smaller kids that fire doesn't have to be a tragedy or extremely frightening experience. If they know what to do, they can survive a fire.

Johnson handed out literature for the children to take home to their parents on things families can do to prepare in the event of a fire and made all the children who promised to show the pamphlets to their parents honorary members of the volunteer fire department.

The program was also presented to the elementary school in Forsan on Wednesday.

4-Hers meet

Attention Coahoma 4-H Club: The October meeting will be Monday, from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. in the A.V. room at Coahoma Elementary School. The program will be on electricity. Parents are welcome. Refreshments will be served.

Homecoming

Homecoming activities began with a bang last week as the high school girls, led by the cheerleaders, decorated the halls with balloons, signs, and streamers. The girls each drew a name from the football roster to be their Bearkat Son for the week. Each girl was responsible for decorating her son's locker and bringing goodies to put inside. The Bearkat Moms were revealed at the pep rally Friday with most being given a gift in return from their sons.

The whole school participated in a poster contest for homecoming. The winners were: Mrs. Knott's Resource class and Mr. Chandler's class 6A. The students also dressed accordingly for College Day, Sock Day, Farmer's Day, Pin Day, and Black/Red Day.

A bonfire was held Thursday night to boost that Bearkat spirit. On Friday, spirit sticks were awarded to the junior high band, the football team, and elementary. A giant football with signatures from all the Bearkat boosters was presented to the football boys by Debra Pearce and Millie Hirt on behalf of the Booster Club.

The football boys gave roses to Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Scott, the cheerleaders, and to the mascot for supporting them all.

Tiffany Jost and John Seidenberger, both seniors, were selected as 1989 Homecoming Queen and Mr. Bearkat in pregame activities. Other nominees were: Jean Schraeder and Roy Ramirez, and Jennifer Halfmann and Martin Mier.

Angelica Zuniga was chosen as Band Sweetheart at halftime. Curtis Wilde was her escort. Other nominees and their escorts were: Stephanie Seidenberger and Alberto Zuniga, and Rayo Garcia and Brant Murphy. Cicely Garcia was band member of the week.

The Exes Homecoming Queen and King were chosen during the senior supper before the game. Tavie Murphy and Dennis Seidenberger from the class of 1965 were honored at half-time. Other nominees were Sandra Wilde and Gary Seidenberger. Sandra graduated in 1965 and Gary in 1961.

Carnival

Other news from Garden City include an upcoming Lion's Club Carnival, which will be conducted Oct. 28. Booths include bingo, a cake walk, and a costume contest.

Trick or Treat

Trick or Treat night has been set for Oct. 31 from sundown to 9:45 p.m. All children will then be able to be home by 10 p.m. on a school night.

After game party

The Baptist Church will host the first after game party for high school and junior high students on Oct. 27 after the Rankin game.

Just married

Shannon Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pearce, and Wayne Easson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Voy Easson, Big Spring, were married Oct. 6 in the home of the bride's parents. Her shower will be held at the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall Oct. 29.

Card Of Thanks 693

We wish to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for the prayers, kindness and sympathy extended during our recent bereavement of our beloved Husband, Father, Grandfather and Great-grandfather,
Verdean M. Kirby
A special thanks to Bro. Claude Craven, Steve Moses, Trinity Baptist Church, VA Hospital, Scenic Mountain Medical Center, Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home and Masonic Lodge #598 AF & AM.
The Verdean M. Kirby Family

For all our friends, neighbors and people we did not know until sorrow struck. Thank you so much form the bottom of our hearts for all the food, the visits, phone calls and the prayers when in time of need.
And also thanks to the lady that called the Colorado City Sheriff Dept. to find my parents.
The Stovall & Anderson Families

The family of Bruce Frazier would like to thank everyone for the love and concern shown to us during his illness and death. Also, thanks to China Long and KBST for broadcasting the seriousness of his illness and providing his mailing address. Bruce loved the letters and cards sent to him from old friends and former students. He regretted not being able to return home to Big Spring.
Saying the final good-bye was difficult for all the family; however, your kindness made it easier.
God Bless you!

Registry helps to educate doctors who treat cancers

HARRY DYSON

AUSTIN (AP) — Harry Dyson's stomach cancer slowly revealed itself through development of an ulcer that was followed by persistent weight loss, cramps and vomiting.
Now, two years later, after surgery and months of radiation treatments and chemotherapy, the 57-year-old senior manager of a McDonald's restaurant in North Austin feels fine. But he knows the verdict is still out.
"They won't really know if I'm cured for five years," Dyson said.
What is known, thanks to the Austin area's first tumor registry, is that Dyson's stomach cancer was a relatively unusual type for Austin.
Cancers here, according to the 2-year-old registry at Seton Medical Center, tend to be the common ones seen nationwide: cancers of the lung, breast and colorectal area.
"All the local trends parallel those seen nationally," said Dr. John Doty, an Austin oncologist in private practice who is the volunteer chairman of the cancer program at Seton.
The registry "is basically an educational tool for physicians," said Dr. Robert Askew, an Austin surgeon who helped set it up. "It's the most efficient way to collect data to determine treatments and whether we are improving in our screening and detection. It's good for Austin in that we have now become a more sophisticated society."
The registry's latest analysis of local cancer incidence trends, Doty said, was derived from computer analysis of 1,259 cases of cancer treated in 1988 at Seton. Along with St. David's Community Hospital, Seton treats most of the cancer cases in the Austin area.
Of the analyzed cases, 542 were males and 717 were females. Half of the male cases involved — in descending order — the lungs, colorectal area and the pancreas. Half of the female cases were of the breast, lung and colorectal area.
"There doesn't seem to be anything that bucks the trends yet," Doty said. "The environment plays some role, but it is modest compared to tobacco use and diet. The key message is what individuals can do for themselves: Avoid any tobacco product, get on a balanced diet with greater fiber intake and less meat and leaner meat and more vegetables, especially ones like broccoli and brussels sprouts."
Ironically, in 1930 when the first tumor registries were initiated in the United States at the urging of the American Cancer Society, stomach cancers like Dyson's were the most common cause of cancer death in males.
Back then, lung cancer was the sixth most common cause of cancer death in males. Today, with 1,100 registries at hospitals around the nation, the situation has reversed itself: Lung cancer is first on the list of cancer killers in men and stomach cancer is sixth.
"Obviously something big has happened," Doty said. "Male smoking really took off in World War II when soldiers were given cigarettes as part of their rations. All other cancers, by and large, have stayed rather stable. But cancers of the colon, pancreas and prostate gland have shown about a three times increase since 1930."
The Austin tumor registry also tracks the types of therapies performed for specific tumors. And the data is shared with the National Institutes of Health, which compares the local results against the experience of other registries.
"We haven't seen anything out of the norm yet," Askew said. "But our followup of patients may be better here. Austin has an intelligent population."
Thus far, the registry hasn't shown anything to contradict what physicians have known for some time: Many cancers can be avoided if people take control of their lives with the knowledge already available.
"People are looking for the magic medicine," Doty said, "and yet the knowledge we have now, if correctly applied, could decrease the incidence of cancer enormously. Screening should be a part of any periodic examination. But tobacco products and poor diet are the two main causes."
Smokers have a 50 percent greater incidence of cancer than non-smokers. "Tobacco accounts for the vast majority of lung cancers, cancers of the head and neck region and the esophagus," Doty said. "And it also appears related to cancers of the bladder and pancreas. It's the No. 1 preventable cause of death in America."
