Local Managers Tell How Utilities Commission Affects Area

In the last few acts of the Texas Legislature was the passage of a regulatory board to govern gas, electricity and telephone customer service rates. At present, it's too early to know for sure just what the board or commission will do. Legislators passed the new law saying that the state needed such a board to help equal out the utility services and create a more uniform price base for all customers.

The measure created a three-member commission and operations of the commission will be paid for from gross receipts tax imposed on the utilities being regulated.

The commission is barred from considering any rate setting for one year, and any regulating inside city boundaries, although cities may allow the state to do so, after another year.

It will regulate all telephone rates in Texas. Bell, General and Continental are the majors. In rural areas the commission will set electric, water and sewer rates.

The Governor will select the commission members and the bill bars any member of the commission or employee from having been employed or having had a financial interest two years before appointment in any of the utilities being regulated.

In rate balancing, the bill says that at least 60 per cent of the rate must be original cost and no more than 75 per cent can be original cost.

The bill has no definition of what a fair rate of return to the utility will be.

Utilities in cities, other than telephones, will be subject to city regulation and the expert staff to be employed by the commission will have to be available to cities to help in rate regulation.

Consumers may fight or appeal city decisions on rates by filing a petition signed by 20,000 qualified voters or 10 per cent of the qualified eligible city voters.

General Telephone manager Rad Richardson said GT is already working with other subsidiary companies in the states of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas. "We're only hoping they will set it up so it is fair to customers and individuals and not get it out of balance," he said.

"I've read it, and it looks like it will work real well. Basically we use the criteria set by utility commissions in other states, so we might as well deal with cities on the same basis."

The fair value was changed somewhat to the way GT has operated. They've been paying 50-50, and the commission recommends 60-40 on original cost less depreciation, figuring age and condition. This may tend to favor the consumer slightly, but won't make much difference overall.

Richardson said he didn't expect any big, drastic changes in rates. Any changes will first be made with the big cities since it was the big cities that wanted the utilities commission.

Charles Duval, manager of Pioneer Natural Gas, said Pioneer has been under the Railroad Commission for quite some time, and the creation of a Utilities Commission just won't make any difference to Pioneer since they are already under regulation by the Railroad Commission.

"One thing I didn't realize," Duval said, "is that they are going to take power away from the cities after two years. And we've always worked with the cities first, then went to the RR Commission."

Warren Dayton, manager of Southwestern Public Service, said SWPS would very much prefer the personal, local contact rather than regulation by a commission. "But once such legislation is passed, it's the law of the land and we'll abide by it," Dayton added.

Dayton said he hadn't studied the bill closely, but that officials in Amarillo had copies of the bill and are making studies.

"We're already operating under regulatory bodies in three states," Dayton said. "So it won't be a new experience. The way I understand it, the cities have up to two years to relinquish control. We don't anticipate any problems."

Concerning rate increases, Dayton said the only comment he could make is that rates won't get any cheaper, but he doesn't anticipate a hurry up rate increase.

"We have fuel cost adjustments built in most rates. I'm sure that when a rate increase is needed, the company will

Foreign Exchange Student To Arrive Here In July

Pipop Laocum, a 17-year-old foreign exchange student from Thailand, will arrive in Littlefield the latter part of July to live with the Troy Gardner family and attend Littlefield High School as a senior.

He comes to Littlefield under the auspices of the American Field Service, the Student Council of LHS, and the Littlefield Lions Club. He will not be available for speaking engagements to the public until after the first of the year.

Pipop will have a monthly allowance from the American Field Service and the Lions Club will help with other expenses.

The 5'3" student weighs 93 pounds and comes here with eight years' experience of reading, writing, speaking and understanding English conversation.

His home town, Amphur Tungsaliang, Thailand, is a farming village of about 900 people, and crops grown in that area are corn, rice, beans, soybeans, oranges and bananas. People there depend on their crops rather than on business for their livelihood.

A small rice mill is located in the back yard of the Laocum home, where other villagers mill their rice.

His father works on the farm regularly and Mrs. Laocum weaves and does the major housework with the help of a servant.

Pipop has one sister, Urar Laocum, 19.

Multiple Sclerosis Drive Continuing In County

The Lamb County Multiple Sclerosis drive continues, according to Mrs. E. J. Wicker, who is chairman of the drive for the Littlefield Woman's Club.

"The people of this area have been most generous as always, but the need to help financially to find a cure for this crippling of young adults and assist those in this South Plains area afflicted with this disease continues," Mrs. Wicker stated. "Many scientists feel that the time is ripe for answering the problems of this disease as it was many years ago for polio. Won't you help as generously as you can?" she continued.

Contributions may be directed to Mrs. E. J. Wicker, Littlefield, or, if preferred, to the South Plains Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Foundation, Myrick Bldg., Lubbock 79401.

"For those of you who may wish, memorial contributions may be made at any time to the Lubbock office of this organization. Many young people are depending upon your help now for assistance and are hoping for a cure for the future," Mrs. Wicker concluded.

Speed Limit Remains At 55

Monday the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission acted to extend the 55-mile-per hour speed limit in Texas for another 120 days.

The Legislature, in special session in December 1973, required the commission to review circumstances affecting the speed limit each 120 days.

An amendment passed by the 64th

Legislature this year extended the requirement for as long as the national maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour is in effect.

The commission's action today extended the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit in Texas for an additional 120 days beginning July 30.

FILLED COTTON ROWS were a sight to behold this morning. After an initial downpour, gentle rains continued and total rainfall over the area ranged from 1.5 to three inches over a large area. Sunday night's rain and hail over the northeastern part of the county. Hail damage was fairly heavy in the Hart Camp area from the Sunday night storm. Farms in a strip about one and one-half miles wide and three miles long in the Hart Camp community received varying degrees of hail damage. (Staff Photo)

Market News Office Opens At Hereford

As vegetable crops make good progress in the Hereford, High Plains and Panhandle areas and begin to move to distant consumers, John C. White, commissioner of agriculture, Austin, announced the opening July 7 of the seasonal fruit and vegetable market news office at Hereford.

Moderate shipments of potatoes and onions will begin the first week in July, with heavier supplies available by mid-July. The first bi-weekly market report will be issued July 8, according to John D. Engle, federal-state market news reporter, Weslaco. Movement of West Texas commodities is expected to continue until Oct. 15 or later. Engle stated Bruce A. Rockey of Yuma, Ariz. will be in charge of the Hereford office, at 104 East First Street.

In addition to potatoes and onions, as harvest progresses and supplies warrant, reports will cover cabbage, peppers, lettuce, carrots and cantaloups from the Pecos district as well as the Hereford area.

The market news service will be provided through cooperation of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. The Hereford reporting office is a part of USDA's 21,000-mile leased wire system connecting market news offices, which cover most farm commodities. Prices in the Hereford area will be available in a matter of minutes to shippers, buyers, haulers or other interested persons in all parts of the country.

In addition to the leased wire service, latest market information may be obtained day or night by dialing the automatic answering service, Area Code 806, 364-0129. This market report will be updated three or four times daily, with a final summary of the day's trading around 5 p.m.

Those interested in receiving printed, mailed reports on fruits and vegetables can be placed on the mailing list by writing the Federal-State Market News Service, P. O. Box 1853, Hereford, Texas 79045.

Jehovah's Witnesses Schedule Conventions

A series of more than 100 conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses is scheduled this summer in the United States and Canada. Loyd Lowery, presiding minister of the Littlefield congregation, said 50 delegates will represent this area at sessions set for the Civic Center in Amarillo, where 4,000 persons are expected for the four-day meeting, June 26-29.

"It is clear," Lowery said, "That the earthly system is a close-woven fabric. Whether we like it or not, the nations are all interdependent. Yet this fact has not brought them into cooperation, even though they see the desperate need for this."

"Why is it that the nations cannot work out their problems by cooperation? In particular, because they are divided in so many ways," he said.

"They have different political ideologies, economic systems, social arrangements and religious beliefs. And people, as a result, often have deep-seated prejudices against those who hold views different from their own."

Discussing the convention program, Lowery said it will explore all the problems confronting mankind today and systematically review the ultimate solution.

Lowery said sessions are scheduled daily from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 3 to 5:30 p.m. The program will feature four Bible dramas, lectures, and general discussion periods.

Lubbock Area Square and Round Dance Federation
5314 31st Street
Lubbock, Texas 79407

Dear Editor:

The Lubbock Area Square and Round Dance Federation would like to express their thanks to you, the news media, for all of the assistance and cooperation you have given our publicity chairmen, Bill and Naomi Hunt, during this past year. Too many civic organizations take the news media for granted and only let them hear from their organizations when they want publicity. Square dancers are generally public spirited people who will go out of their way to assist their community or neighboring communities at the drop of a hat.

Though your principal business of reporting news is what most people think of when the news media is mentioned, we would like to go on record as thinking of you as public spirited and really "neighborly" too, at the drop of a hat.

Many thanks again from all of the square dancers in this area for your kind courtesies and assistance during the past year. Our motto is "A Friend is a Square Dancer you haven't met!" We hope you find this true also.

Very sincerely,
George and Roxie

CLIPS & Tips

By JOELLA LOVVORN

HERE ARE five easy ways to make finger-lickin' chicken, according to recommendations from the Campbell's Soup Company.

For the economy-minded, chicken main dishes are heaven-sent. Here's how to serve them twice a week and have the family clamoring for more.

COQUAU VIN

- 2 lbs. chicken parts
- 2 Tbsps. butter or margarine
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed chicken broth
- 1/3 cup Burgundy or other dry red wine
- 1 can (4 ounces) mushroom buttons, drained
- 8 small whole white onions (about 1/2 pound)
- 1 medium bay leaf
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 tsp. thyme leaves, crushed
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup flour

In skillet, brown chicken in butter. Add broth, wine, mushrooms, onions, and seasonings. Cover; cook over low heat 45 minutes or until tender. Stir occasionally. Remove bay leaf. Gradually blend water into flour until smooth; slowly stir into sauce. Cook, stirring until thickened. Makes 4 servings.

Serve with: "V-8" Cocktail Vegetable Juice, brown rice, spinach salad and baked custard.

CHICKEN CASINO

- 4 slices bacon
- 2 pounds chicken parts
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Condensed Cream of Chicken Soup
- 1/3 cup of water
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 can (about 8 ounces) cut green beans, drained

In skillet, cook bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Brown chicken in drippings; pour off fat. Add soup, water, and onion. Cover; cook over low heat 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Stir occasionally. Add beans; heat. Garnish with bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Serve with: poppy seed noodles, Ambrosia salad, and gingerbread squares ice cream.

EASY DIVAN

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen asparagus or broccoli spears, cooked and drained
- 3 to 4 servings sliced cooked chicken or turkey
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Condensed Cream of Chicken Soup
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese.

Arrange asparagus in a 1 1/2-quart shallow baking dish (10x6x2"); top with chicken. Combine soup and milk; pour over all. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until hot. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Serve with: baked Tomatoes, corn muffins and fruit cobbler.

MARYLAND STEW

- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Condensed Cream of Chicken Soup
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 medium onion, quartered
- 2 teaspoons salt

COMMENTS

By EMIL MACHA

HERE'S AN EDITORIAL I found in the Washington-Exclusive, a service of U.S. Press Association out of Washington, D. C.

It is titled, "A Tax On Marriage", and makes interesting reading.

A TAX ON MARRIAGE

The more one examines E.R.A. (the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution) the more obvious it becomes that what appeared to be a very simple and straightforward measure is in fact a Pandora's box loaded with booby traps. One of the latest horrors to surface concerning E.R.A. is described in the May, 1975 issue of "The Phyllis Schlafly Report," namely, that E.R.A. will double the Social Security taxes of all husbands whose wives are not employed outside the home. This will place an additional tax burden on these husbands of at least $960 a year—more, should the Congress raise the S.S. of at least $960 a year—more, should the Congress raise the S.S. tax rate, which is a likely possibility.

This allegation did not originate with Phyllis Schlafly, but with the highly respected newspaper columnist and financial adviser, Sylvia Porter.

She wrote: "The homemaker would contribute Social Security taxes just like any other self-employed person now covered." She admits that the additional

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Re-Enforce Self

MOST OF US HAVE much greater capacity for becoming strong to meet the requirements of effective and satisfying living.

We make one of the most hurtful mistakes, when we assume that we are weak and vulnerable, and just can't help being so. We can "re-enforce self"; we can be strong.

IF WE LET OURSELVES drift along, or depend upon chance; we may become reasonably strong, but will never be as strong as we have the possibility of being.

In fact, we are not likely to be as strong as we will need to be. Therefore, one of the biggest mistakes we can make is in leaving the formation of our personal strength to chance.

IT IS ALSO A MISTAKE to assume that we can, in some sort of mysterious way, call to our aid whatever help the situation demands.

If we do not "re-enforce self", and prepare ourselves and keep ourselves prepared, so that we are strong from day-to-day; we will be weak when we should be strong. We must prepare ourselves, so we can be at our best at all times.

ALL OF US KNOW about what to expect in challenges and difficulties, including the more extreme testings of our strength. We can and must be ready beforehand, because we cannot prepare after the need arises.

"Borrowing troubles" is one thing, and is a tragic mistake; but knowing about what can occur, and making

SEE WHERE SOME special doings are being planned around town come July 4th. The pretext is, "For benefit of the tennis courts".— And I'm all for it. Seems we've become so wrapped up in our little worlds we scarcely can take time for some good clean fun, community-wise.

Time was when holidays themselves were excuse enough to lay aside our busy everyday lives for a while, and just enjoy our friends and neighbors.

SOMEHOW, WE'VE become so obsessed with the job of making a living that we don't think we have time FOR living. How sad! Wouldn't it be nice if others would use these already-planned activities for a springboard and start expanding on them?

In case you may have forgotten, July 4th is the day set aside for the commemoration of our national independence. A day to be observed by the patriots of our country. It was a major holiday.

WE HAVE GRIPED and complained ourselves into thinking that we no longer have anything to be proud of in our nation. We look at the ills and misfortunes that have beset us and decide that freedom isn't so great after all. Like in many other things, we've talked ourselves into the doldrums.

Wouldn't it be just as well to set aside one day in the year for the purpose of counting our blessings because we're

"OUR GRAND BUSINESS" is not to see what lies dimly but to do what lies clearly. Carlyle.

WE CAN "RE-ENFORCE" making up our mind that going to be upset by the problems which we know occur somewhere in our life. We can equip ourselves with tested attitudes and a value system, so that we for the good days and the bad for all of us is a mixture of and the undesirable, but can be steady; and must

WE DO NOT KNOW how difficult to handle effectively fortune or the setback. However, that, when we "re-enforce self", we will be able to maintain our stability; in our movement through time, what we must do.

Some times will be easier times, but we must prepare for the more difficult times will be prepared for all times.

WE "RE-ENFORCE" making the time-tested honesty, dependability, industry, decency, faith, traits active in our thinking. With all of these, we must sense and good judgment.

Warren Dayton Playing In Tech Presentation

Warren Dayton of Littlefield is included in the cast of one of three plays that have won high marks for their refreshing treatment of modern manners and morals, that are slated for performances during the summer repertory season at Texas Tech University.

Billed as "A Festival of Comedy," the cycle will get under way at 8:15 p.m. Friday, June 27, with the presentation of Neil Simon's romantic drama, "Come Blow Your Horn," on the arena stage of the University Theater.

Next on the agenda will be "How the Other Half Loves," Alan Ayckbourne's farce-comedy about modern marriage, which opens Saturday, June 28.

Dayton will be playing the delivery boy in the debut Sunday, June 29, of "HOT L Baltimore," Lanford Wilson's award-winning portrayal of life in a seedy, rundown hotel, the play that launched the television series of the same name.

Each of the plays will be presented five times, in the same sequence, concluding with "HOT L Baltimore" on July 11. Summer repertory productions are staged in three-quarter-round, with the audience seated on horseshoe shaped risers overlooking the playing area, a format that gives viewers an excellent vantage point from which to observe the action.

Tickets to individual performances are $2.50 for the general public, $2 for Tech faculty, and $1.50 for area students. Season tickets are $6, $5 and $3, respectively. Reservations may be made by calling the University Theater box office, 742-2153.

Although styles and techniques differ, the plays share one common denominator—the use of comedy in exploring the absurdities of human conduct.

In "Come Blow Your Horn," bachelorhood becomes a mixed blessing for Alan Baker, a swinging New Yorker faced with sharing his apartment with his kid brother, Buddy. Also a jet setter at heart, Buddy's take-over tactics set in motion a chain of events involving parents, friends, a marriage-mind career girl and the zany bombshell who lives upstairs.

Dr. Sam Smiley of Indiana University is guest director of the Tech production featuring James R. Cordray of Houston as Alan, Brian Nobels of Lubbock as Buddy, Gary Tydings of Santa Fe as Mr. Baker, Toni Cobb of Lubbock as Mrs. Baker, Karen Humeke of Amarillo as Peggy and Shanan Harrell of Dallas as Connie.

Extra-marital entanglements provide the comedy in "How the Other Half Loves," a rollicking farce about life among the marrieds. Swept up in a plot of "cross questions and crooked answers" are Bob Phillips, a philandering husband, and his wife, Teresa; the befuddled boss, Frank Foster, and his flirtatious wife, Fiona, along with a couple of unsuspecting victims, Williams and Marge Detweiler.

Speech Prof. Ronald Schulz is staging "HOT L Baltimore," the third play in the cycle. A neon sign that has lost the letter "e" becomes a symbol of both moral and neighborhood decay in Lanford Wilson's adult comedy about everyday happenings in a sleazy hotel. Attention is centered on human values rather than plot as each of the inhabitants reveals the sum total of what he or she is—or wishes he was.

The cast includes Michael Scudday of Lubbock as hotel manager Katz, Jeanne Everton of San Antonio as Millie, Toby Probasco of Lubbock as Mrs. Bellotti, Danny Cartwright of Lubbock as Mr. Morse, Dianne Lewallen of Snyder as April Green, Alan Clay of Plainview as Bill Lewis, Mark Burdett of Lubbock as Paul Granger III, Tina McGee of Lamesa as Suzy, Sandi Zinn of Lubbock as the Girl, Janice Briggs of Houston as Mrs. Oxenham, Warren Dayton of Littlefield as the delivery boy, Diane Hosey and Steven Zinn, both of Lubbock, as the itinerant farm workers, Jackie and Jamie.

Mr. Farmer, join the one million farmers who are using Na-Churs Liquid Fertilizer for higher yields & greater profits

The Product

NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer is a product of modern research that is available in various formulations to meet the varying requirements of different crops in different soil conditions. NA-CHURS is formulated by precise proportioning of exactly the right amounts of raw materials into a chemical reactor to produce a plant food with a pH of 6.8 to 7.0. NA-CHURS is homogenized to blend the nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and chelated trace elements into a neutral solution that is immediately available to plants and does not have to wait on moisture before the nutrients can be utilized. As much as 95% of the plant food is absorbed by the plants quickly and efficiently. NA-CHURS is a neutral, chlorine-free, complete solution that will not clog, rust, or corrode your equipment. NA-CHURS can be applied in the row at planting time or by spraying the crop at critical times during the growing season to meet the specific requirements of various crops. Application is simple and easy. Inexpensive kits are available for attachment to plant and cultivating equipment or foliar applications may be made with aerial sprayers or other conventional spraying equipment.

The Company

NA-CHURS Plant Food Company is the largest company of its kind devoted entirely to the manufacturing and marketing of liquid fertilizer in the United States and Canada. NA-CHURS has an organization of five plants and 250 distributing points and a field serving organization of more than 2,200 persons serving more than a million farmers throughout North America.

Research

From atomic research has come proof of the fast, efficient and almost total absorption of NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer through foliar feeding. This was accomplished through the use of radioactive isotopes made available to NA-CHURS by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Not only can plants absorb nutrients through the roots, but also through the foliage, the fruit, the twigs, the trunk, and even the flowers. Foliar feeding is the best controlled, most efficient, most economical method of applying fertilizer yet devised. As much as 95% of the plant food is absorbed by the Plant quickly and efficiently. Research data from Michigan State College shows that in sandy loam soil the foliar application was utilized 20 times as efficiently as in the soil application. In addition millions of gallons of NA-CHURS have been sold to progressive, profit-minded farmers across the United States, Canada, Central and South America. These farmers have proved to themselves through many thousands of check strips that NA-CHURS will bring greater yields, better quality and early maturity to all their crops.

Free Complete Soil Testing

The basis of any fertilizer program is good soil test. One of the most comprehensive soil tests reports you have ever seen is furnished, without charge, by NA-CHURS. This is made in the NA-CHURS Laboratories with an atomic absorption spectrophotometer—a highly sophisticated and analytical device—which detects and measures amounts of metallic elements in the soil samples from your farm. You will receive a report which includes an analysis of ph, calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, nitrate nitrogen, aluminum, magnesium, iron, sulphur, copper, zinc, boron, and water-holding capacity, and specific recommendations from the NA-CHURS agronomists of nutrient formulas to balance out your soil. The NA-CHURS soil test report is designed to give you a fertilizer program for your fields that will bring you the best return per dollar invested. There is no way to grow perfect crops from imperfect soils.

Application

Row feeding at planting—NA-CHURS in-the-row and with the seed gets plants off to a vigorous start. Normally, a sprouting seed must rely on the plant food stored within the seed for the first several days after germination, or until the root system is formed well enough to take food from the soil. By using NA-CHURS in the row at planting time, you can give a balanced feeding of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash to the seed at once. The result is faster emergence, bigger root systems, and better utilization of fertilizer.

Foliar Feeding

With NA-CHURS as a foliar spray, applied at critical periods of growth, a small amount of fertilizer products significant gains in yields and in quality. Applied as a fine mist, NA-CHURS is absorbed immediately without having to travel from the ground up the stem or stalk to all parts of the plant. NA-CHURS foliar feeding is the best-controlled, most efficient and economical method of applying fertilizer. A foliar spray of NA-CHURS, even in small amounts per acre, not only feeds the plant quickly, but triggers a whole cycle of growth which makes the plant utilize more food and moisture from the soil. The plant and stems both absorb the fertilizer directly and are able to use a higher percentage of nitrogen, phosphate and potash compared with any other fertilizer. Absorption of NA-CHURS is fast and complete. As much as 95 percent of the liquid fertilizer applied to the plant is absorbed. The result is greater size, bigger yields, better quality and earlier maturity.

Na-Churs On The South Plains

NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer has been used by progressive farmers on the South Plains for about ten years. These farmers report increased yields and profits on all types of crops. In 1974 James R. Davis produced an average of 929 pounds of lint per acre on 830 acres of cotton in Gaines County by following the NA-CHURS fertilizer program. A Terry County farmer produced over 1,300 pounds of lint per acre with NA-CHURS. Almost 8,000 pounds of grain sorghum was reported by a NA-CHURS user in Hale County.

Contact Your Na-Churs Representative

You can obtain the benefits of the NA-CHURS fertilizer program by contacting your NA-CHURS representative. In addition to the free soil tests, you receive a 500 gallon on-farm storage tank and free delivery of fertilizer.

Adopting Children: The Medical Aspects

When you adopt a child, you'll find much information and advice on the emotional, social and legal aspects involved. But, what about the health of the child?

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has a reprint which discusses just how important it is for adoptive parents to know as much as possible about the physical well-being of their new child. A free copy of "Adopting Children: The Medical Aspects" is available from Consumer Information, Dept. 27, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The publication points out that:

"The physician who evaluates the child for adoption should prepare a detailed report of all the pertinent information he has gathered and give it to the adoptive family's pediatrician or family physician.

"If this significant medical information isn't available, when the adopted child gets sick, the parents are hurried into all kinds of anxiety because they know nothing of the medical background of the child, and what diseases might have existed in its biological family.

"It's extremely important to get this information when the child is placed for adoption. Waiting till later often makes the information difficult, if not impossible to obtain.

"Some adoptive parents feel they would rather not know about their child's biological background—it's understandable that they want to cut the ties between the child

Verification Mandatory In Food Stamp Program

All income received by food stamp recipients must be verified if it is expected to be received during the certification period or is meant for use during the certification period.

This includes total salary and wages, gifts or awards for maintenance and bonuses paid as income (such as the crop bonus commonly given by farmers).

Charges are occasionally made that employers do not report total wages paid to employees, particularly the crop bonus. However, local welfare officials are somewhat skeptical of these reports.

Both the employee and employer commit criminal offenses when income is intentionally reported incorrectly to obtain benefits or increase benefits from the food stamp program. Local officials feel it is not likely an employer would conspire with his employees to defraud the government.

Employers simply have nothing to gain when their criminal responsibility is taken into consideration. The employer commits a criminal offense when he intentionally signs a false income verification statement. The provisions are contained in The Penal Code of Texas, Section 32.32, subsection b.

It is recognized that some abuse is possible in any program. Consequently, an investigation unit has been created by the State Department of Public Welfare.

This unit is composed primarily of former police officers who are familiar with investigative responsibilities and the proper legal procedures. If you have knowledge of any attempts to defraud the government, you should report it immediately to the welfare office at 311 W. 4th, Littlefield, or telephone 385-4416.

Pressure Canner Checkup A 'Must' Before Season

"A cleanup and checkup for the pressure canner is a real necessity before beginning the year's home canning," reminds Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension Agent.

"This helps insure a safe and high quality product," she added.

—Clean removable petcocks and safety valves, using vinegar to remove any corrosion.

—Clean openings in lid of canner using a toothpick, pipe cleaner or string.

—Check gasket for tight fit and be sure it's free from grease and dirt.

—Use salt-free fat to grease the closing surface of lid that seals metal to metal, if it's difficult to remove or if steam escapes.

—Tighten screws on handles.

—Use plumber's paste to close nicks that allow steam to escape.

—Remove odors and stains using one of the following mixtures and processing at five pounds pressure for five minutes: juice of one lemon in two quarts water or two tablespoons vinegar in two quarts water.

—Check dial gauge using a maximum thermometer or master gauge tester. A weight gauge needs only to be cleaned according to manufacturer's directions.

THE GOLDEN RULE IN ACTION

When serious illness strikes a farm family at planting time, the entire community is awakened to the potential tragedy brewing.

If the seeds aren't sown, the crops can't be harvested. No harvest, no income, and a neighbor family lies prostrate, in debt and in need.

This happened within the church family of the tiny community where I served. A business meeting was called one Sunday morning after church. My heart was deeply stirred as the farmer-deacon, in urging others to help this one in need, said, "It's not anything we're offering to do that he wouldn't do for us. And providing what he needs means more to me than anything else in the world."

Neighbors and friends, including his pastor, turned out that week, and for weeks to come. We did the planting, the chopping and the cultivating until our friend was on his feet.

The Golden Rule was never more beautifully and masterfully stated and illustrated. And the story of the Good Samaritan came alive for me forever.

—Paul M. Stevens

7 Years Old And Restless

By DOROTHY POWELL
Children facing the summer after their first grade year often find the summertime boring. They may miss the social life of many friends and the fun that outdoor equipment of schools provides.

When all the busy activities of school stop, children search for something to do. At 7, children are beginning to settle down. They are better listeners now and appear shy and pensive at times. Nevertheless they are pretty steady talkers and are increasingly aware of others. They are at a stage when collections and sharing them are fun.

Airplanes, space travel, prehistoric times—especially dinosaurs—are favorite topics for reading and discussing. Their sharp little minds store exact terms, sizes and records.

Young children look for quick action and mounting suspense in what they read or have read to them. They welcome in formation presented straight without watering down the drama.

When your 7-year-old child gets restless this summer, check out a few of these books from the public library. H. A. Rey's "Curious George" books present a monkey with a fascinating personality. Each book is full of monkeyshines.

Horse lovers will enjoy C. W. Anderson's "Billy and Blaze" and other Blaze books. A wild pony book is "A Pony called Lightning" by Miriam E. Mason.

Exaggerated humor fascinates 7-year-olds in "Why Cowboys Sing in Texas," "Captain Dow" and "The Hole in the Doughnut" by Le Grand. Fantasy appeals to boys and girls in "My Father's Dragon" by R. S. Garret and "Alphonse, That Bearded One" by N. S. Carlson.

Stories of children like themselves include "Lentil" by Robert McCloskey and "Little Eddie" (and other Eddie books) by Carolyn Haywood.

Local librarians or book store owners can offer much assistance. Reading to children help both parents and children build a warmer relationship.

Scholarships Available At South Plains

Deadline to apply for an American Petroleum Institute scholarship to South Plains College this fall is Aug. 8.

Six scholarships will be awarded by the South Plains chapter of API. Two $250 scholarships will be given to students enrolled in the College transfer programs, and four $125 scholarships will be awarded to students enrolled in the technical-vocational-occupational programs.

API scholarship recipients must meet two qualifications. Their parents must be connected in some way with the oil industry and the recipient must major in some area beneficial to the oil industry.

If you are a student who fills the dual requirements, you can get a scholarship application form by contacting the office of Frank Hunt, dean of the T-V-O programs at SPC. The number to call is 894-4921.

Armstrong Circle Conducts Study

AMHERST—The Annie Armstrong Circle of the Baptist WMU met with Mrs. Hazel Davis, hostess, for the meeting June 16.

The prayer program was given by Mrs. Glenn Willson. She reviewed chapters 3 and 4 from the book "A Practical Guide to Prayer" by Dorothy C. Haskins.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. James Holland, presided in business. They agreed to provide refreshments for the vacation Bible school on Wednesday. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Holland were in charge of that. They voted to provide refreshments for a Senior Citizen's meeting at a later date.

The hostess served refreshments of fruit salad, cherry nut bread, coffee and punch to Mmes. Bill Bradley, Charles Mixon, T. L. Bennett, Bertha Black, James Holland, A. O. Dickson, Glenna Willson and Davis.

To me,
nothing tastes better
than fine tobacco.
But I don't smoke.

To millions of Americans, the good taste of tobacco doesn't always come from smoking.

It also comes from tasting. From placing a pinch of tobacco between cheek and gum, and savoring it.

And yet, to millions of others, this age-old tobacco pleasure is still a mystery. Possibly because they've never tried it.

Or because, as is true, the use of "smokeless" tobacco is an art, and takes practice.

A pinch in a pouch.

So, to make it easier, we've made it different. We've made Good Luck. A whole new way to enjoy tobacco.

Good Luck is a pinch of choice "tasting" tobaccos, in a neat little pouch. And the pouch is what makes it different.

You place Good Luck, pouch and all, between your cheek and gum. Then, as it rests there, the pouch works like a tea bag. To let tobacco flavor out, while the tobacco stays in.

Nobody knows.

Naturally, any form of "tasting" tobacco takes a little getting used to.

But with Good Luck, it's easier because the pouch holds the tobacco all in one place. It sits comfortably and no one knows it's there, but you.

Also, each pouch comes properly pre-measured, so you always get the right amount.

Sealed in foil.

To keep the tobacco fresh and moist, each Good Luck pouch is sealed in foil. That also keeps it from spilling into your pocket.

And because you don't smoke Good Luck, it's perfectly welcome in places where smoking isn't. Such as a courtroom, on a bus, or near inflammables.

And unlike a cigarette or a pipe, Good Luck won't tie up your hands. You enjoy its tobacco flavor no matter what you're doing.

Rich tobacco tradition.

Now you're acquainted with Good Luck's little pouch. But what about the tobacco that comes inside?

Well, it's made by United States Tobacco Company, whose other tobaccos, without a pouch, are now enjoyed by over 6 million Americans. And Good Luck is part of the same tradition. Only the pouch makes it easier to use.

For people like you.

But no matter how you use tobacco (or even if you don't), we think Good Luck will add to your pleasure.

Try it.

We put Good Luck in a pouch, for people like you.
