Feb. 1 Last Day to File

Monday, Feb. 1 at 6 p.m. is the deadline for candidates for district, county and precinct offices to file for places on the ballot in the first Democratic Primary Saturday, May 1, as well as the runoff primary 30 days later. Doug Seal, Democratic chairman has reminded.

In order to run for an office on the Democratic ticket, a candidate must file with the county chairmen, Seal, and pay the filing fee, which varies according to the office which the candidate seeks.

Only one candidate filed for a place on the ballot during the last week, Seal said. This is Lt. Col. Dudley Coleman of Dozier, who is running for Commissioner of Precinct 4. This large precinct extends from the northwest corner of the county, a few miles out of McLean, to Salt Fork River, then in a narrow band west of Highway 83, to its south boundary to 15th Street in Wellington.

Raymond Neeley, the incumbent, had announced earlier that he is a candidate for re-election.

Voters in Precinct 2, also located north of Salt Fork, and in a narrow strip, south into Wellington will elect a

Hightower Asks Reelection To Congress

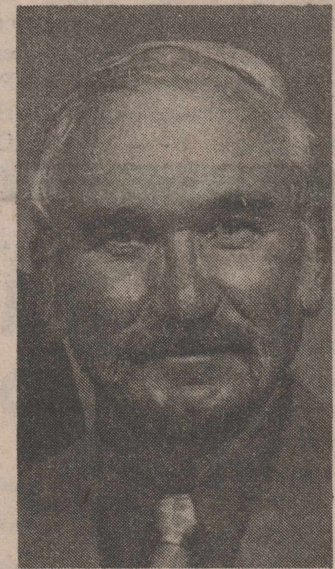

Washington--Congressman Jack Hightower (D-Vernon), who has represented the 13th District since 1975, has announced he will seek a fifth two-year term.

He has filed officially as a candidate in the Democratic Primary.

"I believe my conservative philosophy and common-sense approach to the complex national problems we face represent the views of the vast majority of the people of this area," Hightower said.

Hightower was a founding member of the Conservative Democratic Forum in the House, which advocates conservative tax and budget policies. He joined other conservative Democrats in supporting the major ele-

Filing Begins Monday for City, School, Hospital Posts

Collingsworth County voters will cast ballots in three elections slated for Saturday, April 3.

The cities of Wellington and Dodson will elect council members; Wellington and Samnorwood school district voters will name trustees, and all voters in the county will participate in election of Collingsworth General Hospital District directors.

Candidates for city council and school board elections will file to have their names placed on the ballots between Monday, Feb. 1, and Wednesday, March 3.

A different procedure is followed for Hospital Board candidates, as their names are placed on the ballot by petition. There is a different filing period also. The election has not been called nor the filing dates set.

Three council members will be named in the City election. Those whose terms expire are Lyndon Crelia, Willie Gragson and Gary Brewer. Crelia and Gragson have announced they will run for re-election. Brewer could not be reached Tuesday afternoon. Candidates will file at the city office in Bura Handley Community Center during regular office hours. The election was called during the January 18 council meeting. Election judges will be named.

Holdovers are Mayor

Ralph Owens and councilmen John Rainey and Sam McGill.

Three Dodson city council members will be elected. Terms expire for Olan Farris, Rayburn Hightower and Gary Norman. Both Farris and Hightower said Tuesday night they will run for re-election. Norman said he will not be a candidate.

Hospital Board Names Acting Administrator

Collingsworth General Hospital Board accepted the resignation of hospital administrator Sut Braselton at a special board meeting Monday, Jan. 25.

And the board appointed Perry Foster as acting administrator, effective February.

Braselton, who has been administrator since January 1, 1981, said he was resigning for personal reasons. "I want to express my sincere appreciation to the community for the welcome I and my family received here," Braselton said. "And I want to thank the hospital board for the finest work relationship that I've ever been associated with. The board and the community are progressive and I've never worked with a hospital that enjoyed more community support, and if I can be of assistance to the hospital at any time in the future, I'm eager to do so."

Foster, the new acting administrator, is a Registered Nurse at Collingsworth

Stacey Fires Calf Wins; Steers Due at Ft. Worth

Eleven-year-old Stacey Fires exhibited the first place winner in the lightweight Hereford Steer class of the Amarillo Livestock Show Friday, Jan. 21, Extension Agent Don Reeves announced.

She had shown her calf in the Collingsworth County Show the preceding Saturday, but did not place.

This is the first year that Stacey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mark Fires, has entered calf show competition.

The county had three other winners in the Amarillo event.

Stan Tate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudie Tate of Abra, had the fifth place lightweight Hereford Steer. The Wellington State Bank bought this steer at Amarillo.

Patricia Fourmentin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin, exhibited the 6th place Hereford in the heavy weight division.

Barry Long's steer was 10th in the middle weight crosses division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Long.

"I thought Amarillo had probably the best steer show I've ever been to. There were some awfully good steers," declared Reeves. Approximately 390 steers were in the show.

Seven Collingsworth County steers and their young owners will leave for Ft. Worth Monday, Feb. 1, to compete in the junior show of the 86th annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Tate will take two steers, a Chianina cross and a Hereford; Stacey will be there with her Amarillo show winner, Darvin Nix is taking a Limousine, Patricia will have her heavyweight Hereford and Barry Long and Brent Long will be there with two Chianinas.

The annual sale of Champions, an auction for the top placing animals in the Junior Show is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 6, in Sale Barn 6.

Parents present for all or part of the Amarillo show included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin, Mr. and Mrs. Rudie Tate, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Fires, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Long, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nix and Extension Agent Reeves.

FIRE HOSE DRYER

A new hose drying rack was completed recently for Wellington Volunteer Fire Department, through the donation of material and work by two Wellington firms. The 48-foot rack, divided at the center, was built by Zeb Roberson and others at Wellington Industries, Inc., of steel rods used in making railroad spikes. The strong horse wire for the top was donated by Howard Murdock, manager of Wellington Lumber Co. Holding fire hose, from left, are Eddie Davis, city water superintendent and fire department member, Roberson of Wellington Industries, and Murdock of Wellington Lumber Co.

our ranch house near Dozier, Texas.

My early years of life were spent at home. My father was called to active duty with the United States Army in 1940. In the pursuing next five years my mother, brother and I remained at Dozier to carry on while Dad was at war.

Upon my father's return from World War II he devoted much of his time to civic and community leadership at Dozier, Samnorwood, and Wellington-Collingsworth County.

Samnorwood School provided the first 11 years of my education. Further education was at Texas A&M and Texas Tech University. I graduated from Texas Tech in 1954 with a BS degree and a commission as 2nd Lt. Infantry US Army. For the next 21 years I served my country in the US Army.

During active duty service I served one tour in Korea and two tours in Vietnam. Peace time assignments were two tours in Germany and France and the rest were spent in the United States.

My primary assignments were in the nuclear weapons and missile field, civil affairs, paratrooper Commanding Officer of US Army Posts. While on active duty I was awarded 17 combat and service medals, the Combat Infantryman Badge, Senior Parachutist Badge and the Ethiopian Imperial Guard Badge.

Upon my retirement from the Army in 1975, I was married to the former Gail Henard of Wellington. We have five children, Dr. Sydney Coleman, a practicing surgeon in New Orleans, LA; Sabrina Coleman, graduate of West Texas State University, majoring ments of the Administration's budget and tax reduction program in 1981.

My residence is centrally located in the rural portion of the precinct where I can better serve the people in the rural areas as well as be readily available to the people of voting Precinct 7 in Wellington.

At the present time, Gail and I are engaged in ranching on land we own between Samnorwood and Dozier, Texas.

Since my retirement from the Army seven years ago, I have renewed old acquaintances and met many people that were well acquainted with members of my family.

My absence of four years of college and twenty-one years of Army service away from Collingsworth County is the greatest disadvantage that I must overcome.

Since I have been back home I have served as the Boss Lion of the Samnorwood Lions Club. I am a member of the Samnorwood Fire Department, the Veteran of Foreign Wars and the American Legion Organizations.

I am a member of the Dozier Church of Christ and Gail is a member of the First United Methodist Church in Wellington.

It is my goal to visit with all of the voting people in Precinct 4 and voting Precinct 7 prior to the May 1, 1982 primary election.

date to reverse spending policies which have driven the nation into excessive debt while imposing high taxation on the people," he said. "This is a bipartisan program and I believe it is imperative that Democrats and Republicans work together to restore our economic strength."

At the same time, Hightower pointed out that "I disagree with the disastrous agricultural policies of the Reagan Administration just as I disagreed with the Carter Administration." He also said he will continue to oppose any effort by the administration to reduce Social Security retirement benefits.

Hightower listed interest rates, crime, immigration, social security and farm problems among his 1982 priorities.

He has worked for the Texas Health Department's MHMR Center in Brenham and for two and one-half years as administrator of Richards Memorial Hospital in Paducah. In other action the board accepted the audit report of Russell Altmiller & Co., CPA, Olney.

And the board approved the purchase of 10 new patient room lights.

The hospital board election will be held Saturday, April 3. Four current members terms expire this year: Willie Faye Patrick, Lyman Daniel, Elmer Carter and Robert Owens.

sioner, announced for U.S. Congress Wednesday, January 27, 1982. In news conferences in Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Boulter said he felt that the people of the 13th District deserve a representative who reflects their conservative views.

"Hightower claims he is a conservative, but a close look at his voting record reveals some alarmingly liberal tendencies. This District needs a Congressman who doesn't have to be pressured by his constituents to vote their convictions. Hightower's party ties prevent him from being able to vote as conservatively as this District mandates. While no one wants a Congressman who will just be a rubber stamp, we do need input and influence with the Reagan administration and Hightower just doesn't have it!"

Boulter said he had no intentions of running for Congress until friends and supporters began coming to him and asking him to run. "At first, it was just my close friends and supporters who talked to me about it. Then, after Mr. Hightower had to be pressured by his Amarillo, announced today that he will again seek election to Congress. Slover, in a press conference at 9 a.m. today in Amarillo, called for committee and predictable conservative leadership for the 13th Congressional District of Texas. Slover will enter the Republican primary.

The Amarillo resident, who received 45 percent of the vote in the 1980 General Election against Jack Hightower, stated that Hightower's support of the liberal House leadership is deplorable and a slap in the face to conservatives and those who are independents of both political parties. Slover said the people of this area deserve a representative they can believe in and be proud to support.

Slover cited three problem areas for the Republican party in 1982. They were social security, the windfall profits tax bill, and the farm program.

Regarding those issues, he remarked that social security must remain solvent in order to meet the retirement and disability needs of those who actually contributed taxes to it. Slover said social security funds should not be used to prop up the welfare system, or be diverted to wasteful programs.

He said the "Windfall Profits Tax" bill, which he described as the "worst piece of legislation ever passed by Congress", must be totally repealed.

Concerning agriculture, Slover stated that "as producing state Republicans, we must relate to the Republican Administration the realities of agriculture. We cannot continue to pay high costs to produce valuable commodities, in demand throughout the world, then treat farm products as throw aways."

Slover said the Economic Recovery Act of 1981, if given an opportunity to work, can turn the economy around, leave local and state governments some money to work with, eliminate deficit spending, help the small businessman, and give people an opportunity to save some money and eventually buy a home.

Slover is employed by a promotion company based in Amarillo. He also owns Ron Slover & Company, a financial planning firm, as well as Amarillo Broker Service. He is 44 years of age and resides at 3614 Royal Road.

More than 51,000 Texans are employed in forestry.

constituents to support the tax cut bill, party leaders began to approach me about it. Next, volunteers I had worked with in the Reagan Campaign and in the city election began calling me. It was a snow-balling movement. Rosemary and I discussed it at length. We decided that I would wait and possibly run in 1984; but as more and more people came to me I realized that this District is in crucial need of effective representation and I owe it to my family, my supporters, my fellow Texans, and my country to start fighting for the principles we believe in and to do it now."

"Everybody knows that Jack Hightower is a nice guy. But when times are tough, we need more than a 'good ol' boy'. The facts are that Jack Hightower is more pragmatic than philosophical; he is more a man of compromise than of conviction. He is personable but he is not a fighter for principles. He is more concerned with popularity and power than with principles. Mr. Hightower claims he is a conservative, but he is a part of an outmoded Democratic machinery led by Tip O'Neil, Ted Kennedy and the liberal establishment. This machine has brought the country to near economic, military and political disaster. Hightower's Democrat party ties often make it difficult to vote his District and his party at the same time. When put to the test, he votes the party line. The President's tax cut got Mr. Hightower's approval only at the 'eleventh hour' after heavy pressure from his constituents. Until then he was committee to the Democrat's bill and for years has called any substantial tax cuts 'irresponsible'."

"The 13th Congressional District is one of the most conservative in the nation and we deserve a Congress-

Board. Those whose terms expire are Willie Faye Patrick, Lyman Daniel, Robert Owens and Elmer (Buddy) Carter.

Holdover board members are Dr. J.M. Orr, Yates Parker and Mrs. H.H. Bowen.

Samnorwood Independent School District trustees whose terms expire are Tommy Lindley and Gary Oldham.

Holdover trustees are Monte McCloy and Doug Seale, whose terms expire in 1983 and Rudie Tate, Richard Bentley and Guy Brandvik, whose terms run until 1984.

Candidates will file at the school business office.

man who will fight for what we believe in. I am a conservative first and a Republican second. I supported Ronald Reagan in the Presidential Primary in 1980, served as Reagan-Bush Chairman for Randall County, worked as Co-Chairman of the Panhandle Presidential Inaugural Committee, and organized a door-to-door voter registration effort for Commitment '80. I can make the needs and convictions of this District known to the Reagan administration.

"I am running for this office because I have the desire to serve and can gain broad-based support as evidenced by the more than 500 best candidate because I have the will and the ability to win. I believe that I can further the principles that made America great and made us the leader of the free world. I believe that the only source of real power and justice, at home or abroad, lies in these principles. They alone attract the minds of freedom-loving people and provide a rallying point in troubled times for people everywhere."

commissioner. With only four filing days left, the incumbent, Joe F. Knoll is unopposed.

There are two candidates for County Judge, Bob Watson, the incumbent, and Zook Thomas, a former county judge who did not seek re-election four years ago.

Candidates for two offices, both women, have no opponents. Helen Gollighugh is running for county-district clerk, and Yvonne Brewer for county treasurer.

Three candidates are running for Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1, which covers the entire county except for three small uninhabited tracts labeled Precincts 2, 3 and 4.

The three are Jim Ingram, Wilson Porter and Delmar "Doc" Turner. They seek to succeed Mrs. Beatrice McKinney, who is not running for re-election.

Foster Whaley has announced for re-election as State Representative, 84 District. So far he is unopposed.

Candidates must be residents of the area they seek to represent and must also file a notarized loyalty oath and agree to defend the national and state constitutions before they can seek election.

Filing fees are to be submitted with the application to the party chairman for the county in which they hope to hold office.

Seal, who was appointed Democratic County Chairman with the retirement of Mrs. John Coleman, will also run for election to fill out the unexpired term.

David Baumgardner, County Republican Chairman, said late last week there has been no local interest in holding a Republican primary, but the same filing procedure would be followed as for the Democratic party. Only one Republican candidate has filed: Ron Slover of Amarillo, who is seeking to unseat Congressman Jack Hightower of the 13th District.

Congressman Hightower also filed for re-election as a Democrat as congressman from the 13th District, and Beau Boulter, Amarillo attorney, has also filed.

Baptists Hold Church Banquet

A church-wide banquet Saturday, Jan. 23, was the kick-off point for a pastoral Sunday School growth campaign now under way at First Baptist Church.

Jack Parker, former minister of education at Paramount Baptist Church, Amarillo, was the guest speaker. His talk was directed toward workers in the Sunday School Growth campaign.

Jamie Johnson sang and the Rev. Stanley Hughes was master of ceremony. Hubert Brooks was in charge of arrangements. Approximately 95 attended.

A series of meetings for workers was held Monday through Wednesday, for approximately 50 workers in the upcoming campaign.

"The campaign itself is to help evaluate ways of growth," said Charles Hollingsworth, minister of education.

Mary Harlan at Wellington PO

Mrs. Mary Harlan, postmaster at White Deer, has been named officer in charge of the Wellington Post Office for a four-month period, unless a permanent postmaster is named during that time.

She succeeds A.G. Sherwood of Borger, who completed his four-month term here and returned home.

Mrs. Harlan explained that four months is as long as a postmaster is asked to fill in.

"I'm impressed with your post office," Mrs. Harlan said. "Everything is so clean." She especially praised the co-operation given by the Wellington office staff.

She joined the U.S. Postal service as a clerk at the Skellytown post office in 1963. She remained 11 years until the death of her husband, in 1974, and about that time, the postmaster at Nazareth also died and she was advanced to that position. Two years later she moved to White Deer, where she has served for the last 5 years.

She is a member of a study club and White Deer First United Methodist Church.

Phone Service Excise Tax Drops to 1%

SAN ANGELO - Telephone users throughout the country got at least one gift for Christmas that isn't the wrong size or the wrong color.

On Jan. 1, 1982, the federal excise tax on telephone service dropped from two percent to one percent.

Nationwide, the one percent reduction should save telephone customers $516 million, according to estimates by the U.S. Independent Telephone Association.

The tax was imposed by Congress as a "temporary" measure during World War II. Congress voted in 1970 to gradually eliminate the tax, reducing it one percent per year beginning in 1973 and continuing until 1982 when the tax would be eliminated.

However, the Fiscal Year 1981 Budget Reconciliation Bill, signed by former President Jimmy Carter on Dec. 5, 1980, contained a provision maintaining the excise tax on telephone and typewriter service at the two percent level during 1980. And this year's tax bill further postpones the phase out, keeping the tax at one percent until Jan. 1, 1985.

Operation Game Thief

Number Announced

AUSTIN--Effective immediately, concerned citizens may call a toll-free telephone number to report flagrant violations of Texas' wildlife and fish laws, and receive cash rewards if the information they provide results in an arrest and conviction.

"Operation Game Thief" now is underway, and the 24-hour number is 1/800-792-GAME.

The six-member Operation Game Thief Committee held its organizational meeting in Austin last week and adopted basic guidelines for the rewards program.

No public funds will be used in the program. The rewards, ranging from $50 to $200, will be funded by donations from individuals and organizations.

Penalty, Interest on School Taxes Explained

Taxpayers of Wellington Independent School District were reminded this week that effective February 1, 1982, all 1981 taxes will become delinquent. They will therefore incur a penalty of up to 12 percent and interest at the rate of 7 percent per annum, according to an announcement by Tommie Watts, school tax assessor-collector and business manager.

As a result, 1981 taxes will accrue penalty and interest at the following rates, said Mrs. Watts:

Taxes paid in February: penalty 6%, interest 1%, total 7% per annum.

Taxes paid in March: penalty 7%, interest 2%, total 9%.

Taxes paid in April: penalty 8%, interest 3%, total 11%.

Taxes paid in May: penalty 9%, interest 4%, total 13%.

Taxes paid in June: penalty 10%, interest 5%, total 15%.

Taxes paid in July: penalty 12%, interest 6%, total 18%.

Each month after July, the penalty and interest will each rise 1%.

Second notices of taxes due will not be out by Feb., said Mrs. Watts, but they should be received shortly thereafter.

Board Extends Supt. Cavitt's Contract

Samnorwood School Board in a meeting Monday, Jan. 11, extended the contract of Supt. Garland Cavitt an additional year. This gives him a current contract of three years.

In other business, the group studied board policies and discussed Senate Bill 341, which relates to teacher evaluation, renewal and non-renewal of contracts, general school operation, legal rights and legal decisions relating to school districts.

Supt. Cavitt discussed the school curriculum and Principal Kenneth Martindale discussed attendance and athletics.

District Play At Mid-point

Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes end the first half of district play Friday, Jan. 29, when Shamrock Irish and Lassies come to Rocket Gym.

Samnorwood, on the other hand, started the second half of district play Tuesday with a double header victory over Briscoe.

Shamrock has been building strength and the Lassies went down by only 10 points to the district leader Clarendon Tuesday night.

The Rockettes and Lassies go into this game with identical district records, 1-3, each having lost to Wheeler, Canadian and Clarendon.

The Irish also have shown toughness in recent weeks, and these games will be some of the better contests in Rocket Gym as the basketball season is at the mid-point.

Skyrockets and Rockettes travel to Memphis Tuesday, Feb. 2 to open the second half. Memphis girls have a good team. "They are big and we were fortunate enough to beat them 9 points over here. It will be another tough game," said Coach Dale Morris.

The boys game also will be another of the tougher contests for Wellington. Memphis edged Canadian boys 49-47 in play Tuesday night.

Both Samnorwood teams will be playing crucial games Friday night, as they travel to Mobeetie.

Besides having a home court advantage, Mobeetie is ranked No. 1 in both boys and girls divisions for District 3-A. Norwood girls currently are 6th in the district and the boys are 4th.

The Eagles and Eaglettes will follow this game with another away from home when they play McLean Tuesday, Feb. 2.

McLean Tigerettes rank second behind Mobeetie in the district, while the boys are not real strong, a Norwood Coach said.

The Library of Congress contains about 300 miles of shelf space and about 40 acres of floor space.

The Dalton Vaughans Cited By Retired Teachers Unit

Dalton and Hildred Vaughan are the January selections as Teacher of the Month a regular feature of the Collingsworth County unit, National Retired Teachers Association. It is the first time a husband and wife selection has been made.

Hildred Vaughan was born on a ranch between Quail and Memphis July 31, 1916, the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. F.M. Murray and granddaughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. F.M. Murray.

Dalton Vaughan was born just a few miles away in the Buck Creek Community in 1913. Both parents, E.T. and Vada Vaughan, were teachers as "my wife and two children are teachers," he adds.

His father was one of the early county teachers, having taught his first school at Quail in 1908. The late Mr. Vaughan taught in 11 other area schools, Lillie, Dodson, Buck Creek, Kelley, Bowen, Ring, Aberdeen and King in Collingsworth, McKnight and Bray in Donley, and Harrell's Chapel in Hall County.

Dalton Vaughan received bachelor of science and master's degrees from West Texas State University.

He was a rural school teacher 5 years, and in 1937 went to a three-teachers school as principal.

"I was janitor, bus driver and bus mechanic. The school furnished us a house. I received $120 per month for an 8-months school, Dalton Vaughan says.

World War II was coming, and he spent the next four years in defense work and in the armed forces. In 1945 when he was discharged, the family returned to Collingsworth and he started farming and took a job in Quail Rural High School as math teacher.

In 1951 he went to Samnorwood as high school principal for the next two years.

Hildred Vaughan had attended King and Pleasant Hill Schools, both near Quail, but when she was ready for high school, the depression had arrived. Her parents would have had to move for her to finish.

"For me to finish high school we would have had to leave home. I didn't get to finish my education until later in life," she remembers.

But teaching had always been her dream. "I didn't realize how much work and how many miles I would travel when I decided to pursue this dream," she said.

In the 1950s, she and the wife of another teacher at Samnorwood decided to start to Clarendon College. "We commuted every other day for two years until we graduated," she recalls.

"For me to be able to go to college without my high school diploma, I had to enter on individual approval from the college and maintain a B average before I could get my degree. This had to be maintained all the way."

She then attended Midwestern University at Wichita Falls and WTSU, and again commuted for night classes and attended in the summer. In 1958, she received her degree.

Her first teaching job was at Briscoe, where Dalton Vaughan was superintendent of schools.

"I had 5th and 6th grades in my room with only 23 pupils. It was a delightful experience. I couldn't imagine how things would work out with two grades in the same room, but students in each grade learned from the others. The fifth graders were better prepared for the next grade because of their situation," Hildred Vaughan remembers.

After three years at Briscoe, the Vaughans went to Idalou, where she taught second grade 12 years. He was high school principal until he had completed 30 years of teaching and he was eligible for retirement.

Both retired in 1970 and returned to Wellington, for they had interests in the county.

Of the Idalou second grade, she says:

"I found this grade to be very interesting and challenging. The only thing I could find wrong about my situation was the overcrowded classrooms. Sometimes I would have as many as 40 pupils. The contrast of that with the number of pupils I had at Briscoe made me realize that a teacher cannot do a good job with overcrowded classrooms," Hildred Vaughan emphasizes.

Both belong to First Baptist Church and he has been a deacon 33 years. They belong to National Retired Teachers Association, Collingsworth County unit, and she is a member of Collingsworth General Hospital Auxiliary.

Vaughan belongs to Lions Club and is honorary member of Future Farmers of America. His professional organizations are Phi Kappa Delta, Lubbock chapter, an honorary educational fraternity. He is included in the 1969 edition of Distinguished Personalities of the south and received and citation award from the Voice of Democracy Program of Veterans of Foreign Wars and in 1966 a citation diploma from the Texas Fine Arts Commission in recognition of service.

The couple had four children. One son died in infancy, the other Gary, when he was a senior in Texas Tech. The other children teach.

Wanda Sue Hancock teaches in Lubbock Schools and her husband, Quentin, is principal of Coronado High School. Their two children are in college, Jill, a senior at Tech, and Vaughan a freshman at Oklahoma State University.

The Vaughan's son, Michael, is professor at Colorado State University, Ft. Collins. He received his Ph.D. at Texas Tech. He and his wife are the parents of Lisa, a sophomore in CS, Cynthia, in high school, and Dalton, in junior high.

The Dalton Vaughans look back on their teaching days as some of their happiest.

He sums up his teaching philosophy:

"In working with young people for 30 years, I found that if a teacher would show love, concern, meet a student half way, be fair and consistent, the teacher can get response and cooperation from that student."

"I tried to encourage students to live a good moral Christian life, get their values in life in correct perspective, and to recognize that success in life is not measured in how much we take from our fellow man, but success depends on how much we give to our fellow man."

If a person is a success at living with his fellow man, he first, must be able to live with himself.

In my teaching, I stood for discipline and respect in school. The child who obeys the rules and shows respect for authority is more apt to obey laws and authority when they get out of school.

I had the pleasure of working with hundreds of young girls and boys. I am proud of their accomplishments. Whether or not I had anything to do with their accomplishments, many of them were kind enough to make me think that I had a part."

Debbie Service of Plainview will be the guest speaker when Quail Baptist Church has its regular 5th Sunday dinner on Sunday, January 31, the Rev. Elvis Pitts, pastor, has announced.

After lunch, Mrs. Service will show slides and tell of her mission trip to Brazil.

"This trip was evangelistic and many converts were seen by these efforts, said Pitts. Mrs. Service is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Hair.

"We expect a large crowd and good interest in the mission film. Our friends are invited to attend the morning service and the dinner and stay for the film," said the pastor.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY EXTENSION AGENTS REPORT

By DON REEVES

In Texas, renting or leasing a bull to settle cows is an alternative to owning one, though cattlemen need to consider numerous factors before making a decision either way.

Several factors exist favoring bull leasing for the producer. These include the tax deductible rental charge, less investment capital needed, and less annual expense in feeding and caring for the bull.

An important factor for smaller producers is that leasing gives them a chance to use a better quality bull than they often could afford to own. Also, by using a different bull each year, producers can keep heifers from each calf crop, and there is limited bull death risk.

Long term satisfaction to cow-calf producers from choosing bulls is measured by the performance of the progeny through future generations. Bull costs per calf and pounds of beef weaned per cow are the short-term consequences from the bull selection that may determine if the producer can stay in business long enough to realize any long-term benefits.

To achieve the economic advantage of lower annual feeding and maintenance costs, producers might need to keep a bull only three to four months a year, which is where renting would be the ideal answer. For herds that calve all year, six-month to one-year leases are necessary.

In comparing figures for a three-to four-month bull leasing program, leasing a $2,000 bull is projected as less expensive per calf than owning a $750 bull.

In many cases, renting a high-performing bull for periods up to one year will be more economical than owning an average bull when rental costs, bull ownership costs and performance of offspring of the two bulls are observed and compared.

YH Hears Bob Watson

A short business meeting followed, with discussion centering on the Valentine Party scheduled for Feb. 2.

Hostesses were Merry Harvey and Brenda Ferguson. Others present were Lonetta Ingram, Le Ann Popwell, Diane Manuel, Rosemary Throne and Vicky Parker.

Fresh peas should squeak when the pods are rubbed together.

The refrigerator was invented in 1803, by Thomas Moore of Baltimore, Md. It consisted of two boxes, one inside the other, separated by insulating material.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Jack Sanford was explaining to a group how the entire Air Force Thunderbird precision flying team could crash, one after the other, killing all the pilots.

A former Air Force officer, he said each flyer keeps his eyes absolutely on the plane in front of him, following every movement in detail. If something goes wrong and the first plane crashes, those who follow will crash too.

Jack has done quite a bit of precision flying, some of it more recently than you might imagine.

It was a surprise to some in the same group when Soil Conservation Service's J.D. Sheer remarked that he made his first solo flight on his 40th birthday. "I got a late start at flying," he added.

A note came from Mrs. John W. Bowyer of Dallas, whom some of you will remember as Lora B. Boarman, "I'm trying to recall a few things about my life there (in Wellington) she wrote and added this question: When cotton pickers were brought in back in the early 20's, were they Black or Mexican"? I remember they came in trucks and were told to leave the county at the end of the harvest season."

I did not live here at the period of which she speaks, but I do not remember any Mexicans in the county for a good many years after I came, either to work permanently or do seasonal work. However, as a child I lived where there were Mexicans, and went to school with them. Some of the women sold hot tamales so delicious that even the memory is mouthwatering.

Lora B. is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Boarman, who lived about three miles north of town on Highway 83. They raised delicious fruit, and were active in First Methodist Church. Ruth Swinburn was her sister.

Former West Texas Utilities Co. resident manager Jack Kennedy, now of Cisco, recently was honored by his company for 35 years of service.

Mrs. Dick Richards Gives Household Hints for Club

Belles Lettres Club met Tuesday, Jan. 19, with Mrs. Bryan Denley as hostess. The president, Mrs. Charles Cason presided.

Mrs. Dick Richards, program chairman, gave "My Favorite Hints," by Mary Ellen Pinkham. She shares her hints from dry cleaning the dog to drying lettuce.

-To dry lettuce, after it has been washed, place in a pillowcase in your washing machine and run it on the spinning cycle for a few minutes, Ms. Pinkham says.

-To clean the dog, she uses baking soda. Sprinkle him generously with soda, then brush it out. This also deodorizes him.

-To remove a splinter painlessly, rub the area with an ice cube for a few minutes, then it can be taken out painlessly.

-Trouble with plastic wrap? Store it in your refrigerator, says Ms. Pinkham. There'll be no more twisted wrap.

-To prevent static shock, on fuzz and hair on your carpet or in your knits, mix one part liquid fabric softener, with 5 parts of water in a spray bottle. Mist the carpet lightly, let it dry, no more static, no more clinging pet hair or fuzz.

-Food burned in your pan? Sprinkle liberally with soda. Add a small amount of water and let it soak several hours. Then the burn comes right out.

Those present were Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Mrs. Charles Cason, Mrs. Earl Alexander, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. A.B. Clark, Mrs. Howard Riggs, Mrs. Bob Hightower, Mrs. Dick Richards, and the hostess, Mrs. Denley.

Family Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. Lala Peebles

A family dinner honored Mrs. Lala Peebles on her 89th birthday Wednesday, January 20, at 5 in the evening. This was held in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lola Estes.

After the birthday dinner, birthday cake was served, Mrs. Estes played the piano, the group sang and played dominoes.

Attending were Mrs. Peebles, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Peebles of Groom, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Peebles, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peebles, the honoree, Mrs. Lala Peebles, and the hostess, Mrs. Estes.

Montague County. They lived in the Lillie community, where she attended school.

Lala Haralson planned to be a teacher and attended Decatur Baptist College, but the plan ended when she married the late O.W. Peebles, and they lived in the Lutie community many years.

She did, however carry out her dream in this way: she taught each of her children through the first grade, and all were able to enter school as second graders.

Mr. Peebles died in 1973, some years after the couple moved into Wellington.

EDDIE HALL - KIMALA MORGAN

Morgan-Hall Rites Planned Feb. 14

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Morgan, 809 Dalhart Street, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Kimala Michelle, to Eddie LeWayne Hall of Harmon, Oklahoma.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Elliott of Hammon.

The couple will be married on St. Valentine's Day, Sunday, February 14, in the home of the bride's parents.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Hammon High School, attended his freshman and sophomore years at Wellington High School.

Check New Appliances As They Are Delivered

Check new appliances immediately after they're delivered to the home, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

Try out every feature and control -- to detect possible defects before the appliance is out of warranty, she says.

Mrs. Piernot is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Many consumers don't discover appliance problems until the warranty has expired, simply because they didn't get around to trying every feature during the warranty period," the specialist notes.

If you do find a problem, don't "live with" the defective appliance. Promptly report the defect to the dealer and give him enough time to correct it. Satisfied consumers are good word-of-mouth advertisers.

If you are not satisfied with the dealer's action, report the problem to the manufacturer. Manufacturers, like dealers, want satisfied customers.

Put the complaints to both the dealer and the manufacturer in writing and keep copies. This precaution will help you in case you must take further action by contacting any of the consumer-assistance agencies.

"Remember, along with the appliance's other features, you purchased a warranty. It makes sense to let that warranty work effectively for you," the specialist adds.

Financing Elections

This is filing time for public office, and the political pot is beginning to bubble...here and state-wide. Candidates are surfacing all over the place. It is remarkable how some candidates can detect the public pulse before the public even knows it has one.

"There will be Democratic dogfights all over the place, as usual, and the Republicans, as usual, will try to get together in support of single entries in the important races, leaving the primary bloodletting to the Democrats and counting on unity and money to put their candidates into office in the general election. Sometimes the strategy works...that's how Bill Clements became Governor, and the same system is likely to keep him there for another four years...

Money may not pose a problem for the major candidates, but it may pose a substantial one for the party functionaries who have to conduct the primary elections. The reason is that the Republican Secretary of State, George Strake, who is the state's Chief Election Officer, neglected, forgot, or for whatever reason failed to get a sufficient Legislative appropriation to finance the party primaries this spring. Strake, who is a millionaire, may have simply not understood the importance of such petty cash, or maybe his mind was on his own plans for a campaign for the office of Lieutenant Governor and not on the business of his appointive office at the proper time. At any rate, lack of budget is posing a problem right now for county chairmen who have to provide for election expenses...a matter of which they used to take care of by pro-rating costs among candidates until the State took over the financing a few years ago.

Naturally, this is a bigger problem for Democrats, who depend on the primaries to let their candidates fight it out in public for the party nominations, than for the Republicans who don't ordinarily bother much with primaries, preferring to select their nominees in the less-bruising privacy of back-room councils...which might be why financing the primaries didn't seem very important to the Republican Secretary of State.

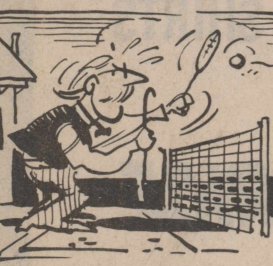

-Ben Ezzell in The Canadian Record

TENNIS TRIVIA

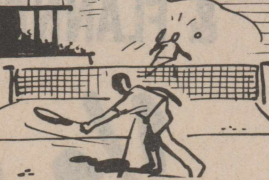

Tracy Austin is the youngest pro athlete ever to earn more than $1 million. She did it as a teenager after only 21 months on the pro tour.

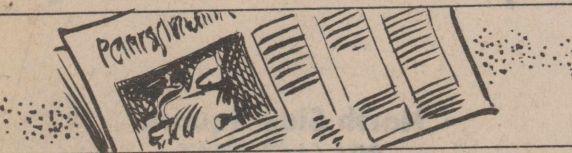

Tennis is believed to have originated in France between 1100 and 1200. Players hit the ball over the net with their hands.

In 1909, when he was 41, England's Arthur Gore became the oldest player to win the men's singles title at Wimbledon.

The longest Wimbledon match took place in 1969. According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, it took Pancho Gonzales 5 hours and 12 minutes to beat Charles Pasarell in 112 games.

The first daily newspaper in the U.S. was the Pennsylvania Packet and General Advertiser of Philadelphia, started in September 1784.

DEAR EDITOR:

Please, Henry, may I use this letter to say something about the wonderful people of the Wellington area? A few weeks ago, I read about the approaching marriage of Craig Bergvall (I plan to go to the wedding the 23rd) and last week I read of the death of Ike Rogers. These two extremes of life are touching two families that are very dear to Charlie and to me. Doug and Ike were so wonderful to Bernice and I love them for it. Alvin Horton and Leo Warrick were two others who did so much to make our lives easier. We could not have lived in another town that was so kind and giving. I just want to say thanks to each and everyone of you who were our friends and showed that friendship in SO many ways.

I have been unable to come to Wellington in well over a year but if God wills, I hope to see all of you this coming summer.

Thanks to Trudie and Alvin Horton I get the Wellington Leader each week and it makes me feel closer to a place I called home so long.

There is no way I could say a "thank you" to all who are so wonderful but God knows each of you, so God bless!

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—As if the state didn't have enough problems trying to defend its new redistricting plans from a barrage of court challenges, the Legislative Redistricting Board now has had to convene to correct a clerical error in the plan it adopted for reapportioning the State Senate.

Meeting over the objection of Comptroller Bob Bullock, one of five state officials on the LRB, the board adopted an order correcting a flaw that was discovered in the redistricting plan for Williamson County. Under the plan, Williamson County is split between the senatorial districts represented by Democratic Sens. Kent Caperton of Bryan and John Wilson of LaGrange. The error, which involved seven "enumeration districts," created two areas that were non-contiguous with their intended districts, and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the mistake could have disenfranchised the residents of those areas.

Bullock claimed the board had no authority to act in the matter because it had dissolved itself after adopting the plan in October, but the other members adopted the correction anyway. Attorney General Mark White said the action would at least show the board's intent if the matter is brought up in court.

Political Races

While state officials were bickering over the redistricting plan, many of the state's political hopefuls were practically lining up to announce their campaign intentions.

Leading the group was U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen who came to Austin to announce that he will seek a third term.

Bentsen opened his campaign by blasting his two Republican opponents—U.S. Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas and State Sen. Walter Menden of Houston—for running "nasty" campaigns.

Collins has been tagging Bentsen as a liberal even though a comparison of their voting records has shown that the Democratic senator has voted in favor of Reagan administration policies almost as often as Collins.

"I've always said nice things about Jim Collins," Bentsen said. "He's saying all these bad things about me. I guess we could both be wrong."

Others who have announced their political intentions include Democratic Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston, who is seeking the attorney general's post; Sugar Land Sen. Mike Richards, who will seek the GOP nomination for comptroller; and LaGrange Senator John Wilson, who will seek a second term in his present office despite his battle against lung cancer.

Incumbent Comptroller Bullock lost no time in attacking Richards. He charged the senator with soliciting contributions before naming a campaign chairman. Two Houston representatives also have jumped into the Democratic race for Ogg's present seat.

More Employment Agency Cuts

The Texas Employment Commission has announced that it will have to shut down another dozen of its local job placement offices because of the Reagan Administration budget cuts. After ordering the closure of 59 other offices earlier this month, TEC officials were informed they would lose another $11 million from a budget that has now dropped from $120 million in 1981 to $89 million for 1982.

The office closings have been accompanied by the firing of some 1,300 employees. Even that decision has caused controversy, with two minority members of the Legislature threatening to sue the agency over a policy that the employees with the least seniority be laid off.

State Rep. Paul Moreno of El Paso, chairman of the Mexican American Legislative Caucus, and Democratic

Rep. Paul Ragsdale, a black lawmaker from Dallas, say the seniority policy discriminates against minorities and violates the Civil Rights Act and affirmative action programs.

Malpractice Clarification

A recent report in Capital Highlights erroneously identified the Medical Practices Act passed in 1981 as legislation, some medical and insurance experts say it might be unconstitutional because of provisions limiting a doctor's liability for malpractice to $500,000.

The legislation actually in question was a malpractice bill passed by the Legislature in 1977.

Texas Medical Association officials say the constitutionality of the 1981 act has not been questioned.

Former First Lady

Former First Lady Betty Ford made a visit to Austin and was lauded by Gov. Clements for helping push legislation to require alcoholism coverage in group hospitalization insurance policies.

Clements, who signed such legislation into law last year, said Mrs. Ford "turned me on" to the need for alcoholism coverage.

The Texas law says insurers must offer alcoholism coverage as a part of all group health policies, but employers have the right to reject it when buying group policies for their workers.

Mrs. Ford, a recovering alcoholic, has been a strong supporter of legislation to bring alcoholism treatment within the financial reach of the average person.

Blue Cross has received approval from the State Board of Insurance to provide the new coverage in Texas.

Gubernatorial Appointments

Former state senator and long-time Texas Water Commission member Dorsey Hardeman, 79, of San Angelo has resigned from the water panel. Gov. Clements has appointed Lufkin attorney John D. Stover to replace Hardeman.

Hardeman has served as mayor of San Angelo, state representative and state senator during a political career that began before World War II.

Hardeman has been a controversial figure in Austin, most recently criticized for conflict of interest in voting for construction of the proposed Stacy Reservoir in West Texas.

Stover, 36, is a former Dow Chemical Co. chemist. He was named to a term extending to August 1987.

Meanwhile, Clements moved to shore up the battling line-up of his Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness. The governor named Texas Ranger catcher Jim Sundberg to that panel.

All of that protective gear he wears might come in handy on the political scene.

Library Continues In Panhandle System

Action taken by the Commissioners Court in its January 11 meeting will enable Collingsworth County Library to retain membership in the Panhandle Library System.

The commissioners voted to pay the two librarians for four hours work each week, above the 16 hours per week each is paid under the CETA program.

A recent CETA directive, effective immediately, prohibits an employee of the CETA program from volunteering time to a job in addition to the 16 hours per week for which he is paid, county Judge Bob Watson explained.

A requirement for membership in the Panhandle Library System is that a library must remain open at least 20 hours each week, County Judge Watson said.

The commissioners appointed Mrs. Gary Lemons a certified librarian, as county librarian on a $1 per year basis, effective January 1.

The Texas Panhandle Library System, in which the Collingsworth County library will be able to remain, is a cooperative partnership between 20 autonomous local public libraries and the Texas State Library, created to improve and strengthen library service to all Texas Citizens.

The Panhandle system is one of 10 regional library systems created by the Texas State Legislature in 1969 and funded through the Texas State Library since 1975.

County Judge Bob Watson is a member of the Texas Panhandle Library System board.

These services are provided by the Texas Panhandle Library System.

Area public librarians are given the opportunity to learn new skills and strengthen their understanding of library work through system-sponsored workshops, free consultations with professionally trained librarians and free use of library-oriented publications.

Book holdings of area libraries are strengthened by funds for book purchases, free subscription to book rental services, duplicate titles from the Major Resource Center, which is the Amarillo Public Library, are provided on extended loan and discarded MRC books on permanent loan.

Collingsworth County library has received a large number of both the long term and permanent loan books.

Free use of 16mm films is offered.

Cassette tapes are available.

Public relations and publicity assistance includes free use of a professional artist and a designated amount of money.

Free paperback books are loaned to Panhandle residents who are not served by local libraries.

Library patrons are given free access to book holdings of neighboring libraries.

Member libraries have rotating collections of framed art prints for circulation to their patrons.

Patrons of system-member libraries have full access to 10 major Texas public libraries and 36 Texas academic libraries, as well as limited access to out-of-state libraries, through the Texas State Library Communications Network. The Network, supported with state funds, supplies citizens with books, magazine articles, government documents, and answers to reference questions unavailable in their local public libraries.

If a library patron cannot find the material he or she needs in the local library, the librarian may call the Amarillo Public Library.

If it is not owned there, interlibrary loan staff members will, through various location devices, find out what libraries do own it and teletype the request. The item will eventually be sent to the original requesting library, where the patron may check it out and use it without a fee.

This service is used extensively by Collingsworth people who commute to college classes, take correspondence courses, or attend classes offered here by Clarendon College.

Farmers Union Honors Sarpalius

FORT WORTH—The Texas Farmer's Union Friday honored Senator Bill Sarpalius of Hereford as one of the five outstanding state legislators of 1981.

Mike Moeller, president of the farm group, cited Sarpalius's passage of the gasohol tax credit bill in the last legislature as the reason for the honor, called the Distinguished Service Award.

The bill, the first in the state's history, gives a five-cent-a-gallon tax credit for gasohol made from renewable resources. Proponents of the bill say it will help make the new fuel competitive with unleaded gasoline.

In accepting the award, Sarpalius remembered the bill's at first rocky, then smooth path to passage.

"The bill died during the regular session because of a filibuster. We went back to the drawing board and drew up a completely new version, which removed the opposition. Then we passed the new bill in the special session in three days.

"We think there is a tremendous future in this state for gasohol. Times seem hard for agriculture now, but if the Farmer's Union and other groups work together, we think we will see a bright future for agriculture as well," the Hereford lawmaker said.

Sarpalius was one of five state legislators honored by the Farmer's Union at the union's 78th annual convention in Ft. Worth.

Bonnie Hall on CJC Honor Roll

Bonnie Hall of Quail was named to the Dean's Honor Roll at Clarendon College for the 1981 fall semester, according to Dr. Ken Martin, Dean of instruction. She is the wife of Don Hall of Quail.

To be listed on the Dean's roll, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.6 or above on 12 or more semester hours of work, or receive a grade of A in a vocational program.

'62 Quail Class Slates Reunion

The 1962 graduating class of Quail High School will hold its 20th anniversary reunion and get together Saturday, April 10, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Heritage Room of Wellington State Bank, according to Herman Moseley, superintendent of the Quail School at that time.

Jackie Hill Maxwell (Mrs. Fred) is working on arrangements. The reunion will be given over to visiting, cake and coffee will be served. That evening, the group will go on to Quail for the annual Quail School Reunion and dinner.

Mrs. Maxwell, who is bringing the class mailing list up to date, said the addresses of most of those in the graduating class are known, but anyone having the present addresses of former teachers, and of those who were in the class at any time but did not graduate, are asked to notify her by writing Route 2, Box 146, Wellington, Tx 79095.

She emphasized that this reunion is for everyone who was ever a member of the 1962 graduating class, from the time they entered the first grade.

"It is not limited to those who graduated," she said.

Noting the frequency with which addresses change, she urged everyone who has had a change of address within the last two or three years to notify her.

Present addresses of those who attended Quail school several years, then moved away are of greatest concern to her.

Those attending the reunion are asked to bring old photograph albums, pictures and other mementoes so that class members may look through them.

Of those who did graduate in 1962, it is believed all members are still living except Rudell White, a Church of Christ minister-educator who died in an airplane crash en route from Abilene to his home at Dallas.

HUMANISM vs. CHRISTIANITY

For about 8 weeks, articles by me have appeared in this newspaper on the subject mentioned in the above title. In the January 14 issue of the Wellington Leader, there was a letter to the editor taking issue with me. I would like to say a few things in response to that letter.

First of all, I am in the education business. We have a Christian school in Wheeler run by our church. We are not novices, nor ignorant of what is going on in our country. We have spent much time in preparing ourselves and in investigating the education situation. So, when Mrs. Beanland says I am misinformed about public education, it is just not so. I spent 15 years being trained in the public system in several towns. There were a lot of un-Christian things happening then when I was in school. It was not popular to be a dedicated Christian then, and things certainly haven't improved. How could they with such a controversy raging now about evolution and the abolition of prayer in the public schools?

You don't have to take my word for it. Just open your eyes. Many reputable publications verify the decline in public education. As a matter of fact, the group of people who are a higher percentage than any others in placing their children in private or Christian schools are public educators. Most know what is going on. This is why it surprises me somewhat that Mrs. Beanland is so defensive of the public system. I suspect that in reality, she thought my remarks were an attack on the precious people in our communities that have given their lives to teaching rather than recognizing that it is the system that I am speaking against. Thank God for people like Mrs. Beanland who are dedicated Christians and who try to spread a Christian influence in the public schools. That is needed. Those children are precious. However, though we need to influence them, they are not the right influence for my children. Therefore, I am all for people who feel that God has called them into the public system for the purpose of witnessing daily to the students about Jesus. But the World of God instructs us Christians plainly to train our children only in the ways of the Lord and to completely avoid teaching them in un-Christian ways (Deut. 6:6 & 7, Prov. 19:27, Jeremiah 10:2, Col. 2:8).

As for the comment that 90% of the teachers and administrators in four schools are Christians who do their best to be a positive Christian influence, I personally doubt that the percentage is that high. But, even if it is, that is an extremely rare thing. It would be a wonderful thing if 90% of all teachers and administrators were that way. The truth is the percentage of Christians in public education overall is very low. Another observation—in our school 100% of the teachers and administrators are a positive Christian influence on the students. We have staff devotions and prayer almost daily. We keep Bibles on our desks. The curriculum is totally Christian. Ninety percent isn't as good as 100% for me. Besides, if all the faculty in public schools were Christians, they are still stuck with the humanistic government textbooks and government regulations.

Mrs. Beanland has a lot on the ball. She said some things in regards to parents that needs to be emphasized strongly. The HOME is what the children are actually a product of. The Bible puts the responsibility square on the parents shoulders, especially fathers. However, to bring the subject back to the school, part of the responsibility of fathers is to see that children are placed in a church and a school where the training is consistent with the teaching of God's Word being administered in the home. Public schools are not Christian. The Bible and Jesus are not given top priority in public schools. Therefore, it is not Scriptural to place our children in public schools for their training for life.

Yes, I am aware that the Wellington High School Auditorium has been used for the Larry Jones Crusade twice as well as a concert by the Royalheirs. However, I fail to see what that has to do with the humanistic curriculum, some teachers that are ungodly teaching our children, or misplaced priorities in the public school system. Thank God for local people who will make their buildings available to each other. That doesn't change the system. I challenge anybody to lay before me public textbooks that promote Jesus and that could be Christian by any stretch of the imagination. I also challenge anybody to prove to me that even 50% of the teachers in public schools are dedicated Christians that are really trying to influence their students in a positive way to serve the Lord. I had many teachers between 1st grade and college. I'm sure some of them were born again people. But, not one of them ever taught us things about the Lord. Some teachers that I call mavericks do, but few teachers (even strong Christians) are going to say much to their students and risk putting their job in jeopardy. If you want that kind of system for your children, that's your business. But my kids are worth more to me than that.

Mrs. Beanland, thank God for your calling into the public school system. I admire you. I pray that you will stand strong and uncompromising for the Lord. I hope you consider yourself a missionary for God and that you are not loyal to the humanistic system itself. I believe somebody needs to be there for the sake of children whose parents won't influence their own kids to serve God. But that is a different story than placing my own dear, precious children in an ungodly system that has corrupted many, many people. Look at the results coming from the public schools. They speak for themselves.

In closing, I ask the following questions which when answered honestly will expose whether a particular school is Christian or humanistic:

- (1) Is God obviously honored in the daily program?
- (2) Are standards of Christian conduct enforced?
- (3) Can innocence be protected within the halls, playground and restrooms?
- (4) Is the Bible quoted in school materials?
- (5) Are there daily prayers for God's help?
- (6) Do textbooks assume that the Bible record is true, concerning creation and the history of the earth?
- (7) Does the administration take a Biblical view rather than a humanistic one in deciding how students must act, how teachers will teach, what materials will be used in class, and what is considered as good?
- (8) Are children taught to care for buildings and materials because they are responsible to God?
- (9) Are children safe from hearing bad language, witnessing bad behavior, or from attack by rebellious and unruly students?
- (10) Is the Christian child protected from ridicule for his Christian ideals and way of life?
- (11) Do the lives of teachers and administrators reflect godly living that he can use as an example?
- (12) Is what is considered "normal" and "natural" that which is clean and wholesome?
- (13) Do the textbooks and learning materials assume that God's Word is the source of wisdom?

TML Forms Task For Texas Water

Texas Municipal League president Alan Henry today announced the formation of a statewide task force of mayors to develop plans for meeting Texas' long range water resource needs.

The task force is comprised of 50 city officials representing communities of every size throughout the state.

Henry, who is mayor pro tem of Lubbock, said the panel would look at two inter-related factors—water supply and sewage treatment—that will determine whether Texas cities will continue to grow during the 1990s and beyond.

"Our cities and towns face many different challenges," Henry said, "but none is of higher priority than water resources. Without sufficient water supplies and adequate means for disposing of sewage our cities will inevitably wither; it's that simple."

According to Henry, Texas' water-related problems extend to every part of the state—ranging from water shortages in West Texas to overloaded sewer systems in North Texas. "Though varied in form," Henry observed, "these statewide problems share one common denominator: A growing urgency."

Henry said that solving the state's water-related problems will require the expenditure of at least $50 billion, and perhaps as much as $105 billion, between now and the year

"The required sums are staggering," Henry noted, "and they are far beyond the ability of local governments—and local taxpayers—to provide without state help." What is needed, Henry said, is a financing plan that would use the resources of the state to alleviate the fiscal burden on localities.

Henry said the mission of the new TML task force would be to develop a water resources package for presentation to the 1983 Texas Legislature.

Also, the TML proposal would identify the specific kinds of projects that would be eligible for state financial assistance if it is approved by the 1983 legislature.

Henry said the TML panel would work with members of the legislature, environmental groups and other interested organizations in developing a proposal capable of passing muster with both the legislature and Texas voters. Representatives of several groups, including county officials and environmentalists, had already contacted TML and expressed their interest in formulating a new water resources plan, Henry added.

He said the membership of TML was disappointed by the defeat of a similar water resources plan by Texas voters last November 3, adding that the election was "a valuable learning experience."

Jan. 31 Important Deadline For Texas Property Owners

AUSTIN--An important deadline occurs this month for property owners in Texas.

Kenneth Graeber, executive director of the State Property Tax Board, today reminded Texans that local property taxes assessed for 1981 by cities, counties, school districts and special districts must be paid by the end of January.

"Taxes not paid before February 1 are delinquent and penalty and interest begin to accrue," Graeber said.

The state tax administrator noted that delinquent 1981 taxes will incur a 6 percent penalty and 1 percent interest charge on February 1.

Combined penalty and interest charges will total 9 percent in March, 11 percent in April, 13 Percent in May, and 15 percent in June.

Total penalty and interest on delinquent taxes reaches 18 percent in July, 19 percent in Aug., 20 percent in September, 21 percent in October, 22 percent in November, and 23 percent in December.

If not paid until January 1983, delinquent 1981 property taxes would be subject to a combined 24 percent penalty and interest charge. And, Graeber noted, the interest would continue to increase by 1 percent per month.

In addition, if a taxing jurisdiction or appraisal district has contracted with a delinquent tax attorney, its governing body may add an additional penalty to any tax delinquent on July 1.

The additional penalty may not exceed 15 percent of the taxes, penalty and interest due.

Graeber pointed out that some home rule cities may have different delinquency dates for 1981 taxes. "The Property Tax Code does not affect a city's delinquency date for its 1981 taxes if the city charter or ordinance provides an earlier delinquency date," he said.

He also noted that if a taxing jurisdiction mailed its 1981 tax bills after January 10, the delinquency date is postponed to the first day of the next month that will provide a period of at least 21 days after the date of mailing for payment of taxes before delinquent.

Cub Raingutter Regatta Slated

Wellington Cub Scouts will hold their annual Raingutter Regatta on Thursday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Building, according to Tommy Thomas, cubmaster.

This is an event in which fathers and sons co-operate in making the tiny sail boats, which the boys propel down a rain gutter filled with water, using their lung power.

The trick is to keep the boat sailing smoothly,

Joe Perez Dairy Queen Dist. Manager

Joe R. Perez of Lubbock has been promoted to district manager by Hollis Jones Dairy Queen Restaurants, Texas' fourth largest Dairy Queen organization, which encompasses 30 Dairy Queens, 28 in 26 West Texas towns which it operates and two more which it leases to an independent operator.

As one of the Jones firm's four district managers, Perez will oversee the operations of eight of its Dairy Queens, five in the immediate Greater Lubbock area, those at Idalou, Lorenzo, Slaton, Shallowater and Wolfthorpe, plus three in the upper Panhandle area, Claude Groom and Wellington.

Perez has been co-manager of the Wolfthorpe Dairy Queen with his wife, Nancy, who continues as this restaurant's manager, and they have been managing the Wolfthorpe Dairy Queen for more than five years -- since Aug. 22, 1976.

A native of Globe, Ariz., and a graduate of Globe High School, he enlisted in the Air Force in 1955 after finishing high school and retired as a master sergeant in 1976. Moreover, he is a past president of Lubbock's Chapter #426 of the Air Force Sergeant's Association Fraternity and continues as an active member.

He and his wife have two daughters and one son -- Susan Nannette, 19; Angela Marie, 14; and Joseph Thomas, 8. The family lives at 8504 Louisville Drive in Lubbock.

Valentine Issue to Show All the Grandchildren

Grandchildren, dozens of them, will be featured again this year in the big St. Valentine's Day section of The Wellington Leader--a feature promoted by grandparents of all these lovely children.

All the grandchildren in the county--all who ever lived here, and all grandparents with grandchildren living anywhere in the world are invited to let everyone see the pictures of their grandchildren. What grandparent wouldn't jump at the chance! At least 10,000 readers of The Wellington Leader will see them.

Here's what you do: Bring or send a picture of your youngsters, preferably billfold size. If you mail the picture, address it to: Valentine Editor

The Wellington Leader P.O. Box 992 Wellington, Tx. 79095

Include this information: the child's name and age; names and addresses of the parents, grandparents, great-grandparents and if there are great-great grandparents, include those also.

There is a charge of $6.50 for each child, and preferably there should be only one child in each picture.

Thursday, February 4--just one week away--is the deadline for receiving pictures.

This is the 10th annual Valentine section published by the Wellington Leader. It is a special event for grandparents only and it has grown in popularity each year.

Because St. Valentine's Day is a time of loving and caring, cherishing holiday, it is an ideal time to present your grandchildren for all your family and friends to see in the Valentine Section of the February 11 issue of The Wellington Leader.

AUSTIN--Water Safety officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department are making their Texas Better Boating course available to the public through community education programs in the public schools.

Persons interested in taking the boating safety course should contact their local school district to determine if it is available.

Officials said the course's main emphasis is on power boating, but can be modified to cover whitewater canoeing and sailing.

If a boating safety course cannot be located, one may contact the Water Safety Section, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, or call toll-free 1-800-792-1112.

Sales Tax Check From 1981

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has sent payments to cities with the one percent city sales tax, his office announced. These payments are the first for 1982 to the nearly one thousand cities who collect the tax.

The tax rebated to Wellington for the period ending Jan. 10 was $2,294.36, compared to $2,211.81 for the same period a year ago. This represents an increase of 3.73%.

Money received from the sales tax goes into the city's general fund.

Childress received a check for $7,291.50, but this is down from $16,474.63 for the same period in 1981, representing a 56.74% drop.

Clarendon received $2,908.56, down from $5,797.52 a year ago, a 49.83% drop.

McLean's 1982 check amounted to $604.91, compared to $1,578.18, for the January payment in 1981. This is a decrease of 61.67%.

Shamrock received from its sales tax $7,835.50, compared to $7,899.29 a year ago, a drop of .81%.

Wheeler's check for sales tax was $2,843.24 for the period ending January 10, compared to $3,952.64 a year ago, a drop of 28.07%.

The city and metropolitan transit authorities sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the comptroller.
