Inez Threatens Cuba; New Storm Spawning

THEY'LL MEET IN MANILA — Heads of seven nations, including President Lyndon B. Johnson, will attend next month's conference in Manila aimed at trying to end the Viet Nam war. They include: Field Marshal Tanom Kittikachorn, Prime Minister of Thailand; President Ferdinand Marcos, the Philippines; Nguyen Cao Ky, premier of South Viet Nam; Chung Hee Park, president of South Korea; Harold E. Holt, prime minister of Australia; and K. J. Holyoak, prime minister of New Zealand. (AP Wirephoto)

American Casualties Highest Of Conflict

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —U.S. forces suffered more casualties in South Viet Nam last week than in any week of the war, the U.S. command announced today. The high toll apparently resulted from the hard fighting south of the demilitarized zone, where American Marines are battling North Vietnamese regulars.

American casualties during the week total 970, the U.S. command said, including 142 men killed 825 wounded. Three Americans were reported missing in action or captured.

The previous highest number of American casualties was during the week ending last May 21, when 146 U.S. troops were killed and 820 wounded, a total of 966.

American casualties last week were nearly three times as high as South Vietnamese losses. South Vietnamese dead numbered 98, the wounded 280, the Vietnamese command said.

The highest American death rate in one week came last November when 240 were killed, most of them in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In that week, 470 others were wounded.

Enemy losses rose also. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead last week totaled 1,165, the commands said. There were 722 the previous week.

Many of the American and enemy casualties apparently were suffered in Operation Prairie, the U. S. Marine operation just south of the demilitarized zone. In hard fighting there Wednesday a company of Marines seized a heavily fortified hill, killing 50 North Vietnamese, and held their ground against three Red counterattacks and heavy mortar fire through much of the night.

The strength of U. S. armed forces in the country increased to 315,000, the U. S. command said, just 2,000 less than the strength of the regular South Vietnamese forces. Estimated enemy strength in South Viet Nam remained at 283,000.

The latest figures increased to 5,272 the number of Americans killed in the Viet Nam war and brought the wounded total to 19,372. Since Jan. 1, 966, the number of Americans killed totaled 3,424.

Africa To Get New Nation

GABERONES, Bechuanaland (AP) — Africa gets another nation one minute after midnight as the British protectorate of Bechuanaland becomes independent Botswana.

It will be the first black-ruled country to border white-ruled South Africa. Prime Minister Seretse Khama, who will be sworn in as president married a blonde British typist 18 years ago. They have four children.

Bechuanaland, ruled by the British since the 1880s, is bordered by South-West Africa white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa. It is an arid country dominated by the vast Kalahari Desert and the Okavango swamps.

Johnson Bent On Parihg Expenses

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tugs at elbows of 11 more governors today, trying to get them to give him a hand in dousing fires of inflation.

One of them is Republican George Romney of Michigan, who's running this year for another term in the statehouse and might be running in 1968 for one in the White House.

Johnson is bent on trimming federal expenditures and is asking governors at a series of meetings to cut state spending.

He is in a position to apply a bit of pressure, since some of his economizing is aimed at federal funds which help states finance such programs as highways, hospitals, schools, water and sewer lines, housing, and rural telephone and electric service.

Johnson has announced he hopes to pare federal spending by $3 billion during the present fiscal year which ends June 30.

Some $1.1 billion of this would come from $11 billion originally contemplated in direct governmental construction spending, grants and loans to the states.

Thus the states are confronted with the likelihood of having to put off projects for which they had counted on federal help.

The President saw seven governors Friday. He said then he intended to have all 50 governors in before he was through.

Today's delegation includes six Democrats and five Republicans. The Democrats are Roger D. Branigan of Indiana, Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, Dan K. Moore of North Carolina, Karl F. Rolvaag of Minnesota, William L. Guy of North Dakota and Jack M. Campbell of New Mexico.

The Republicans are Romney, John A. Love of Colorado, John H. Reed of Maine, Tim M. Babcock of Montana and Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma.

Economists Forecast Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly three-fourths of the country's industry economists foresee a recession by 1970 and half of that group expect it to start next year, the National Association of Business Economists reported today.

A poll of members, made public at the start of NABE's annual meeting, showed general expectation that next year will bring continued expansion, but at a slower rate than in 1966 or 1965.

The experts who guide industry's investment, price, and purchasing policies forecast a 1967 national output of $781 billion, 6 per cent above this year's estimated $737 billion. The expected rise of $44 billion would compare with about $56 billion this year, the association said.

"A major factor in next year's expected growth will be rising defense expenditures, while business capital spending is forecast to peak at about mid-year," said Charles B. Reeder of the Du Pont company, vice president of the association. He added:

"The most important economic problem facing the country in 1967 will be control of inflation while maintaining growth and avoiding a recession."

A slower rise in prices was foreseen. The NABE members forecast a rise of 2.5 per cent in consumer prices from the final quarter of this year to the last quarter of 1967, compared with 3.6 per cent in the preceding 12 months.

ARDENT SEGREGATIONIST

Georgia Ballots Go To Maddox

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lester G. Maddox, an ardent segregationist running a shoestring campaign, has captured the Democratic nomination for governor — upsetting a moderate candidate and Georgia's middle-road racial course.

Maddox, a furniture merchant who quit the cafeteria business rather than serve Negroes, decisively defeated Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, in Wednesday's primary runoff. Arnall had led a six-man race two weeks ago.

"God and the people are my campaign managers," exulted Maddox, 50, after pulling off a major upset without big-money backers or the support of high-ranking politicians.

With 1,742 of 1,908 precincts reported: Maddox 419,557, Arnall 356,078.

A fiery opponent of the federal government, President Lyndon B. Johnson, liberalism, socialism and communism, Maddox says he shares the racial views of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace. But Maddox said very little about racial issues in his campaign.

Arnall, 59, who scored a major upset two decades ago to win the governorship over the popular Eugene Talmadge, had charged in the runoff fight that Maddox was radical and extremist, a man whose symbols were ax handles and pistols.

Maddox, in resisting integration in 1964 and 1965, once waved a pistol to chase Negroes from his place and provided ax handles for white patrons. When ordered by a court to serve Negroes, Maddox quit the cafeteria business.

Arnall met Maddox to concede personally. Some followers of Arnall said Republicans voted for Maddox as the easier opponent for their nominee in November.

Taking on Maddox in the first Georgia two-party contest for governor since Reconstruction will be Rep. Howard H. Callaway, the state's lone Republican congressman, a conservative ex-Democrat who helped carry the state for Barry Goldwater in 1964.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who lives in Atlanta, said the voting "revealed that Georgia is desperately competing with Mississippi for the bottom."

INJURED IN RIOTING — An unidentified man is helped by a police officer after he was hit by rocks thrown by crowds milling about in the Hunters Point housing area in San Francisco. Police reported several hundred Negroes were breaking store windows and throwing rocks at police cars. (AP Wirephoto)

Troops Calm Riot Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP—Negro rioters and snipers broke out of control again Wednesday in sweltering San Francisco but were put down quickly by National Guardsmen with "shoot to kill" orders.

As the temperature soared to 95 degrees, 1,200 guardsmen joined the patrol of Negro district streets with policemen Another 1,300 stood by in the city and still another 2,000 were posted in suburban areas.

Lt. Col. Harland Smith, their commander, told the guardsmen: "If you are attacked or fired upon, shoot to kill. Don't fire over anybody's head." About 75 per cent of his heavily armed men had helped put down racial rioting a year ago in the Los Angeles Watts area.

They immediately moved against tense knots of young Negroes in the streets. "All right, this is it—move. Now!" they ordered.

Mayor John F. Shelley and Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared a state of emergency and imposed a curfew Tuesday when the first rioting followed the killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman. The patrolman, Alvin Johnson, said the youth, Matthew Johnson, 16, fled from a stolen car and refused to halt despite warning shots.

Police controlled the first rioting after guardsmen moved into the city armories and then called for help Wednesday as gunsniping, rioting, arson, lootings, beatings and brick throwing continued in the Hunters Point-Bayview area in the city's southeast corner and in the Fillmore district, five miles to the northwest.

Police said 42 persons were injured Wednesday, including three policemen, although there has been no deaths

23 Dead In Inez' Wake

By ROBERT BERRELLE

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Hurricane Inez battered the Dominican Republic's Barahona Peninsula and the southwestern peninsula of Haiti today and threatened Cuba as it whipped northwestward.

As Inez swept through the Caribbean with 160-mile-an-hour winds, Tropical Storm Judith was still in a formative stage about 650 miles southeast of San Juan, P.R. Its highest winds were reported at 50 miles per hour.

Still a third disturbance was reported today in the Atlantic. Pictures received from weather satellites showed a tropical depression had formed about 600 miles northwest of the Cape Verde Islands, just off the African coast. At midmorning, the depression was estimated to be 2,200 miles east-northeast of San Juan.

A tropical depression is an area of wind and rain that can build into a tropical storm.

Inez already has left 23 persons dead, 500 injured and 10,000 homesless on Guadeloupe.

In a noon advisory, the Weather Bureau said Inez was over the Barahona Peninsula and about 70 miles southeast of Port au Prince, Haiti. The hurricane is 785 miles southeast of Miami.

Inez was expected to be located southeast of Guantanamo Bay by early Friday morning moving on a northeasterly course and posing a serious threat to the extreme eastern portion of Cuba.

There were no reports of damage or casualties from Hispaniola during the night.

Latest reports from Guadeloupe caused the casualty and damage toll to increase. The hurricane struck that island Tuesday.

"Tides of 10 to 15 feet are expected over the bay east of Barahona, westward along the Haitian Peninsula as the hurricane continues near or just off shore today and tonight," the Weather Bureau said. "Winds of 100 miles per hour or higher will occur over much of the area. All interests are urged to take precautions against these severe conditions."

Commerical communications with Barahona were cut off but the navy and army had contact through shortwave radio.

Thunderous waves smashed against Santo Domingo's seawalls early today as the hurricane sairled across the water 75 miles to the south.

Winds of the hurricane force extended 70 miles out from the center, far enough to hit the port of Barahona 50 miles northeast of the peninsula's tip. The city of 20,000 is snuggled in a jungle valley with steep mountains on each side forming a natural funnel for flooding.

About 200,000 persons live on the peninsula, an area of coffee, sugar, cotton and banana farms.

Inez took 23 lives, injured at least 500, and left 10,000 homeless Tuesday when it swept Guadeloupe. The little French island was the first land the storm encountered as it entered the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

Inez' tightly coiled fury pushed some of the heaviest rain storms in years over parts of the Virgin Islands, east of Puerto Rico. Some 165,000 square miles of sea was whipped into a fury.

Solons To Tackle 'Crisis Of Critics'

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON AP) — Congress is coming to grips anew with what just about everybody agrees is the "crisis of American cities."

The House is expected to take up next week the Johnson administration's "demonstration cities" bill, already passed by the Senate.

This is a new, experimental, coordinated approach to a long list of city ills, including housing blight, poverty, lack of education, shortage of skills, poor health, halting transportation.

The new legislation aims at a teamwork effort to help cities raise the quality of life in whole neighborhoods, especially hard-core slums. The idea is to reverse decay, not only of buildings but of people.

The bill would authorize $900 million — $400 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967, and $500 million for the succeeding fiscal year. President Johnson orfginally asked for a five-year program costing $2.3 billion. But congressional committees decided on two years, after which they presuumably would take a new look to decide how the experiment was panning out.

Since the bill sets no minimum or maximum for grants to individual communities, there's no way to tell how many cities or towns might be helped under funds appropriated for a fiscal year.

How would the program work?

First, a city would be expected to come up with an acceptable, creative proposal to use existing federal programs in a coordinated attack on the ills of a neighborhood — in smaller cities it might be the entire slum or slums.

These existing federal programs cost the cities, and in some cases, the states, money, because many of them are on a matching basis. But under the new legislation, the federal government could make a supplemental grant amount to 80 per cent of the city-state share.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, emphasizes the program would be available to little cities as well as big ones.

Hijackers Of Plane To Stand Trial

By OSCAR SERRAT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Juan Carlos Ongania declared today those responsible for hijacking an airliner with 48 persons aboard and forcing it to land in the British-ruled Falkland Islands will stand trial.

The president issued a communique early today terming Wednesday's action by a group of rightist extremists a "serious uprising" and declaring that the full force of the law will be brought to bear against those responsible and the instigators.

The British Foreign Office in London said it had been informed that Argentina was terming the hijacking "a case of piracy."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and my fiance is 20. He is in the navy. When he was home last we became engaged with intentions to marry when he gets his next leave. This meant nearly a year's wait which is a long time for a girl to sit home, so I went out with his best friend. It wasn't anything serious, just a friendly date, so I wrote my fiance and told him about it.

He wrote back saying he didn't want me to date ANYBODY, and if I did, our engagement was off. Well this isn't fair because when he wrote and told me he dated a couple of girls to keep from going nuts. I didn't get mad, so why should he? Where do we stand?

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: In trouble. Where I come from, when a couple becomes engaged neither dates others. But since you don't want to "sit home," and he has to go out to "keep from going nuts," don't look now, but that sound you just heard was your engagement cracking up.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and here is my problem. Our school is having a dance and I would like to go but I don't know how to dance. I don't have anybody who can teach me either. I just don't know what to do because at this rate I will never learn, so how do I get started?

JEFF

DEAR JEFF: Since when do you have to know how to dance to go to a school dance? Go anyway, watch the other kids, and do what they do. After shuffling around the floor a while with a girl of your choice, if SHE doesn't offer to give you a few lessons, ask her.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I need a woman's point of view on this. I go with a girl I think a lot of. I am 28 and she is 23. I admit we know each other very well and we don't try to kid each other about our past romances, but here's the problem: She wants to know ALL about every girl I've ever gone with. I don't ask her about any of the fellows SHE's gone with. I don't even care. But she has made such a big thing out of this, it's beginning to bug me.

She nags me to tell her things about other girls that are none of her business. She says if I "loved" her I would tell her. I do love her, but I think she's out of line. Or am I?

BUTTONED LIP

DEAR LIP: You're right, and hooray for you! Tell her you never kiss and tell, for which she could consider herself lucky.

Navy Cites Shortage Of Line Officers

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has a critical shortage of experienced line officers for surface ships and is looking for ways to interest them to stay in uniform longer, Navy Department officials said today.

Navy statistics show that the over-all retention rate among officers in the three Navy services — submarine, aviation and surface line — has fallen to a present low of 38.7 per cent, meaning barely one in three officers decides to stay on in the service.

For the noncareer officers the retention rate is 20.7 per cent. Officials report that it is even lower than that for surface line officers, although the Navy does not provide specific breakdowns.

The low retention rate has resulted in a shortage of 4,500 officers — about 43 per cent — among the commander, lieutenant commander and lieutenant ranks of the submarine and surface line services.

A Navy task force has been studying the retention problem for the past 20 months and recently reported to Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze that, among other things, "the surface line community is in critical shape."

Current manpower statistics, supplied on request, indicate that the Navy is meeting all of its officer requirements on an over-all basis despite the sharp shortage among the surface lines.

To make up for this shortage, the Navy now has about 2,500 more ensigns than authorized serving at sea.

"The Navy may be sailing at full strength quantitatively, but qualitatively most assuredly not," one Navy officer said.

To solve its problems, he said, the Navy is "either putting junior grade officers in lieutenant's jobs or transferring men from one warfare specialty to another to try to make do with our total resources."

The Navy is now considering a series of retention-boosting plans, including proposals that would provide for added sea pay, on the job educational programs and more opportunities for family life.

Television Viewers May See Part Of Johnson's Voyage

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least part of President Johnson's trip to the Pacific next month may be televised live to the United States. But so many unpredictable factors are involved that some are betting it won't happen.

The mere possibility is worth noting, however, because of the potential impact on the Nov. 8 election of governors and Congress members.

Although the White House has sought to divorce the trip from politics, the President's journey hardly can be ignored by the voters — especially if they see it in their living rooms.

The possibility of live television coverage was explored Wednesday at a conference of White House aides, television network executives and officials of the Communications Satellite Corp., known as Comsat.

One White House aide described prospects for live television as very unlikely. Another source, closer to the technical problems involved, said it would be "hypothetically possible" — if everything works out perfectly.

Comsat plans to launch on Oct. 19 the first commercial satellite designed for television-radio-telephone transmission across the Pacific.

Johnson has agreed to fly to the Philippines on or after Oct. 18 to confer with leaders of the six Asian countries fighting Communist forces in Viet Nam.

Both Comsat and the White House said the similarity in dates is purely coincidental. Comsat originally planned the launching from Cape Kennedy, Fla. for Oct. 26 but the timetable was advanced last Friday. A spokesman said this was due to technical factors weighed by experts who knew nothing about Johnson's trip, announced four days later.

A successful launching would be the first — but not the last — requirement for live television. Three to four days after the launch, the satellite would have to be propelled into a more precise orbit that would make it hover over the Pacific, moving in unison with the revolving earth.

Still other unpredictable elements are involved. Most important, there is no ground station in the Philippines ready to transmit signals to the satellite.

A station at Clark Field, the Air Force base near Manila, might be altered in time to send signals on the proper frequency.

Colorado City Hospital To Close

COLORADO CITY, Tex. (AP) —Root Memorial Hospital, one of only two hospitals in Mitchell County, will close its doors Oct. 15, owner Charles Root said Wednesday.

He said a little more than half its customers were medicare patients treated on a cost basis and revenue has dropped sharply since the July 1 start of the medicare program.

Root said the 30-bed Colorado City hospital incurred expense in making plant improvements and adding and staffing a records section to qualify for medicare.

The modern, well equipped facility was established by his late father, Dr. C. L. Root Sr.

Mitchell County's other hospital is at Loraine, nine miles east.

Vanderbilt Files To Enforce Two Orders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. has filed suit to enforce two court orders issued in New York against his ex-wife.

Vanderbilt's attorney said the suit filed Wednesday is based on New York court orders that Patricia W. Vanderbilt pay her former husband $7,575 and stop using his name.

Vanderbilt, 68, lives in Reno, Nev. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, 46 in Beverly Hills, Calif., the suit says.

The couple married in 1948, were divorced in 1953. She was his fifth wife.

Crane Count Is Uncertain

AUSTIN (AP) — Canadian biologists report they are unable to make an accurate estimate this year of the number of whooping crane young hatched in the Northwest Territory nesting area.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department quoted Ernie Kuyt, a wildlife biologist at Fort Smith, Northwest Territory, as saying the cranes apparently have left their nesting grounds.

"We will never know the precise summer nesting results until they reach the Aransas National (Wilelife) Refuge," Kuyt said.

Although the Canadians have checked the area with low flying helicopters and airplanes, "It is impossible to get an accurate count," Kuyt said.

Earlier this summer, the Canadian Wildlife Service reported that four of six whooper pairs spotted had one young each. Forty-four of the rare cranes left the Aransas refuge in April for their summer nesting area.

She Lets Sharks Bite Her For Science

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — The scarred hands of Anne Alexander daily come within inches of the snapping jaws of a 5-foot shark.

Feeding the shark with hunks of meat or fish gripped in a pair of forceps, she is testing its reaction to different types of food.

The 31-year-old research scientist is trying to find if the taste of food determines whether a shark will attack certain prey, including humans, in preference to others.

This shark has bitten her three times. Once, to get more information about shark bites, she waited until photographs could be taken of her wounds before she had them stitched.

Her guinea pig at Durban's Oceanographic Research Institute is a 2-year-old ragged-tooth shark named Bess.

Bess' mother was caught in 1964 in anti-shark nets strung off Durban's beaches to protect bathers. Scientists at the Institute performed a caesarean section on her and delivered two baby sharks—Porgy and Bess. Porgy died last year.

Dr. Alexander maneuvers a small net over the shark's nose to bring it to the surface at feeding time. Then she holds the nose with her left hand while offering a piece of fish or meat in the forceps with her right hand.

Despite her past experiences of getting bitten, she seems unperturbed as the rows of teeth viciously snap shut.

Bess is being tested to study reaction to the sight, smell and taste of various foods.

"By putting the food into her mouth," said Dr. Alexander, "we stop her seeing what she's eating. In that way we can test her reaction to the taste of different foods.

"Say, for instance, you put three pieces of meat into a shark tank—tuna, mutton and whalemeat. Sometimes you can wait up to three hours before the shark decides which piece to eat.

"I do it by hand because I want to test whether it is just chance that a shark will bite certain food or prey or whether it is deliberate.

"In this particular case we have proved that the ragged-tooth shark is very fussy about what it eats."

Whenever Dr. Alexander goes into the tank room where Bess is kept, the shark begins to swim around quickly, showing signs of agitation. It obviously knows this means mealtime.

Dr. Alexander has not always fed sharks for a living. She has worked at universities in South Africa and at Cambridge, England, and once spent eight months in the West Indies studying the behaviour of scorpions.

She knows the risks involved in some of her experiments and has been bitten about a dozen times in all. But she is confident of her ability to handle any crises.

"My parents do not think it is a particularly healthy calling but they are not worried about it. They know I can look after myself," she said.

Little Pigs Finally Goes To Market

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Last winter, when the little pigs stayed home on the farm, bacon climbed to $1.19 a pound in some areas. Now the number of pigs is up 7 per cent from last year, more are going to market, and a New York supermarket chain is selling bacon for 79 cents.

Pork chops are down 10 cents a pound to $1.09 in the New York area. Loins are down 2 to 3 cents on the West Coast, and spareribs as much as 6 cents.

One way to take advantage of the lower pork prices is to buy half of a pork loin and have your butcher cut off some pork chops. Properly cut, you may get spareribs and pork chops, and have enough left for a one-meal pork roast.

Other meat supplies also are increasing, but the prices remain high.

There may be some easing of beef prices in October, reflecting larger supplies. Fresh steer loins dropped 2 to 3 cents this week in California. Rounds were up slightly in the Pacific Northwest.

Many markets are featuring chicken and turkey.

Fryers dropped 1 to 2 cents a pound on the West Coast this week. At a New York area supermarket chain they are 6 cents less than they were two weeks ago.

Reagan Promises To Make Election An Exciting One

EDITOR'S NOTE—One of the country's most exciting and important elections is shaping up in California. Here, a veteran political hand sizes up Republican Ronald Reagan as a campaigner. Next, Relman Morin zeroes in on the man in the other corner—Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Politically, as in his celluloid days, Ronald Reagan is demonstrating that he is "box office."

The erstwhile movie actor, now Republican candidate for governor of California, has been drawing crowds stirring applause and laughter in speeches, fielding tough questions about government, and generally waging a strong campaign.

This is his first try for elective office, although he has been around the fringes of politics for years, and he turns out to be something of a phenomenon.

Reagan won the nomination last June in a contest with former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, carrying 53 of the state's 58 counties and taking a towering 64 per cent of the GOP vote.

Now, campaigning up and down the 750-mile length of California, Reagan is drawing well. It may be largely curiosity to see him in person that brings out the people. His face was familiar, via movies and television, for years before he cast himself into his present role.

"Ronnie has been in million of living rooms as a nice guy for a long, long time," said a Reagan lieutenant, "and that's one of the big things he has going for him."

There are others. He makes a smooth speech, seldom using a text or pausing to reach for a word. He says he writes all his speeches himself. They are punchy, articulate, a blend of humor, serious discussion of issues, and satirical pot shots aimed at his Democratic opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Reagan rattles off statistics to support his arguments on state questions. Discussing such problems informally, he tends to be more incisive than in speeches or news conferences. Neutral observers often remark, "He has been doing his homework."

In the lush, green and gold Napa Valley—the wine country—Reagan stirred clapping and laughter when he ridiculed the special tax on sparkling wines by calling it "the bubble tax."

Reagan, a zealous apostle of private enterprise, says Los Angeles businessmen have provided 4,000 jobs in Watts since the Negro riots in that section of the city last year. With a sense of timing, he paused and added "and that's almost as many as there are poverty workers there."

By contrast, he was all earnestness at a veterans' home north of San Francisco. No jokes. No barbs at Brown.

Reagan's looks, the trim figure, wavy hair and squint-eyed smile, and his personality, sometimes boyish, more often urbane, bring a wrapt, dreamy expression to women's faces.

At 55, he looks very much as he did in his hit films. He has a pretty wife, actress Nancy Davis, and two children, Pattie, 13 and Ronnie, 7. These are all political assets.

"A lot of people figured he would be pretty and pretty dumb," a politician said. "They've been surprised."

Brown says this is the hardest of his three gubernatorial races. He won office in 1958, defeating former U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland and was re-elected in 1962, defeating former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Reagan will be tougher than either of them," Brown said. "But we've turned the corner now and we're on the way."

A recent poll, regarded by analysts as reliable, gave Reagan an edge at this stage but showed Brown gaining. The State Poll gave Reagan a rating of 45 per cent, Brown 41, and 14 listed as "don't know." Its comparable figures in June were Reagan 48 per cent, Brown 37 and "don't know" 15.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, says, "If Reagan can project the image of being a moderate, I think he can win. Vice versa, if they pin the extreme right-wing label on him, people will be leery, leery of extremism."

This touches on Reagan's recent political history.

He worked hard, speaking and fund-raising, for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate in 1964. Reagan delivered an election-eve speech of such power that Californians are still talking about it today—even the Democrats.

Like an echo of that campaign Reagan said recently in a talk to a religious group in Fresno, "We want a policy based on what we know in our hearts is right." A Goldwater slogan of 1964 was, "In your heart you know he's right."

Reagan started as "a bleeding-heart liberal, a New Deal Democrat"—to use his own words. Today, he accepts the label, "conservative."

The wide swing in philosophy began, he says, during World War II when he was adjutant at an Air Force base. "I began having doubts then that government can operate as efficiently as a private organization," he said.

Since World War II, tankers have supplanted superliners as the biggest commercial vessels afloat.

Air Strike Called Off

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines planes kept flying today as a threatened strike by 12,000 ground personnel was called off half-an-hour before the deadline.

Settlement terms agreed to by officials of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union were not disclosed, but negotiators said they would recommend that members accept them.

In bargaining, begun last spring, the union had asked for a 30 per cent increase over a three-year period in wages that ranged from $2.54 to 3.57 an hour — in other boosts of from 76 cents to $1.07 an hour plus fringe benefits.

American, whose ground crews are represented by the TWU, was not affected by last summer's six week strike by the AFL-CIO - Machinists' Union against Eastern, National, Trans World, Northwest and United Airlines.

If the strike by ground crew, mechanics, clerks, communications, workers and supply personnel had not been canceled just before the 6:45 p.m. deadline Wednesday, it would have also idled 16,000 flight personnel and stopped service by the nation's second largest airline.

Reds Bid For S. Viets

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam today broadcast a Viet Cong invitation to members of previous South Vietnamese governments to join the Communist National Liberation Front.

The Communist Viet Nam News Agency broadcast an interview with Nguyen Huu Tho, president of the front, in which he told Australian journalist Wilfred Burchett that the front's aim is to "found a broad and democratic coalition government comprising representatives of all social strata, nationalities, religious communities and patriotic personalities."

Tho said the front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, thinks "there are great possibilities for broadening cooperation with the other organizations, forces and personalities in South Viet Nam, regardless of their former activities."

The interview was given Aug. 28.

CONTINUING ITS EXPANSION in the upper end of the medium price field, Mercury for 1967 introduces two new top-of-the-line series; the Mercury Marquis above, and the Mercury Brougham, below.

Mercury Accents Safety Features

A host of new or improved safety features are standard equipment on the broad, expanded Mercury family of cars and new Lincoln Continentals which will be introduced at Wilson Motors tomorrow.

These are in addition to many comfort and convenience features which are not listed as safety items but which are, in fact, extremely important aids to safe driving. New levels of seating comfort, adjustable seats, quieter and smoother running cars which tone down road vibrations and noises, and improved ventilation are all features which lessen fatigue and simplify driving tasks, thereby helping prevent accidents.

The new Ford Motor Company safety features which are standard in all 1967 Lincoln-Mercury Division cars include:

Dual hydraulic brake system front and rear wheels and an instrument panel warning light to indicate loss of braking pressure in either line.

Impact absorbing steering wheel with deep padded hub.

Two-speed windshield wipers, or variable speed wipers.

Padded windshield pillars.

Turn indicators with lane-changing signal feature to eliminate the need for manual cancellation after minor turns.

Deluxe front and rear seat belts with front retractors and reminder light.

Double yoke safety door latches with positive door lock buttons that cannot be "Overridden" by moving door handles.

Remote control outside rear-view mirror.

Non-glare (day-night) inside mirror with flexible backing to hold pieces if shattered, and breakaway or double-pivot inside mirror arm.

Emergency flasher light with control mounted on the steering column for greater accessibility.

Safety features made standard in 166 models which will continue to be standard in the new cars include padded instrument panels and sun visors back-up lights, windshield washers, four-way emergency flasher lights, thick laminate safety plate glass windshield and self-adjusting brakes.

Texas Historical Committee To Honor Pioneer Oilman

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP)—A century ago almost to the day, a slim Virginian with a hankering for quick wealth uncorked Texas' most fabulous era: He struck oil.

But the riches he made possible for others were denied him. After bringing in Texas' first producing well, he lost his savings and those of his wife and died in obscurity.

So the tombstone of Lyne Taliaferro Barret stands forlornly—until Friday, at least—in Melrose Baptist Church's cemetery 10 miles east of Nacogdoches, with no reference to his pioneering role in the mammoth oil industry of the Southwest.

Friday the Texas Historical Survey Committee will place a marker on Barret's grave as part of a day-long ceremony in Texas oil centennial observance.

There'll be a parade, a dedication ritual, guided tours and speeches by the well-heeled spokesmen of the mammoth industry which was spawned by pioneers such as the wiry Confederate veteran who once toiled under a primitive log tripod "derrick."

Oil was selling for $6.59 a barrel in that September 100 years ago—good money in those Reconstruction days.

Barret must have been thrilled when his auger bit dropped into a six-inch vein of oil 106 feet beneath the rolling, grassy meadow 12 miles southeast of Nacogdoches.

Pure oil several inches deep spurted gently to the surface and history was made.

"The great excitement of this age is oil," Barret had written to a Confederate Army pal the year before. "Millions of dollars are now ready to be invested.

"What is the use of toiling and struggling with aching brains and weary hands for bread," he wrote, "when gold so temptingly invites you to reach out and clutch it."

With "black gold" gurgling beneath the three-log derrick, Tol—he had picked up the nickname because he pronounced his middle name Toliver—went into the land of the Yankees he had been fighting a few years before.

His was a 10-barrel-a-day well and it needed pumping machinery. The big oil money was in Pennsylvania, and Tol was happily confident he would find backing.

"The prospects for making a large amount of money out of my petroleum interests are as flattering as they can be," read a letter by Tol his wife received while he was in the North.

In Titusville, Pa., he found a backer good for $5,000 in machinery and he returned to East Texas to start another well.

The second Barret hole went to 80 feet without finding oil, and the financial backing quit supporting the project.

Desperately, Barret tried to use real estate as collateral—his wife had inherited some land — but in Pennsylvania, where production had soared to 3 million barrels a year and the price had dropped to $1.35 a barrel in 1866, the financers weren't interested in the persistent young man in Texas. Tol was then 35.

Bitterly disappointed, Barret passed the rest of his life as a small-time Melrose merchant and manager of his wife's farms. His last surviving child, Mrs. Benton Wilson, died here last April.

If he ever tried to drill another well, he left no record of it.

But as of Friday, there will be recognition at his grave of his role in the Southwest's oil surge. The marker is to read:

"Pioneer Texas oil man, Lyne Taliaferro Barret, (1832-1913) born in Virginia, came with parents to Texas 1842. Married Angelina Thomas; had nine children. Drilled the first oil well in Texas, 1866. If efforts to drill early in 1859 had succeeded, he would have completed first oil well in the United States. Low demand and scarce capital halted his oil operations. He spent rest of his life as a farmer and community leader. Recorded 1966."

Londoners Protest Viet Involvement

LONDON (AP) — More than 300 demonstrators marched to the headquarters of Britain's governing Labor party Wednesday night, charging British complicity in the Viet Nam war.

They chanted "Yankee murderers" and "Out with Wilson" and carried banners reading "Viet Nam for the Vietnamese" and "Wilson, stop backing the aggressor."

Viet Lawyer Asks Legal Prostitution

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese woman lawyer called today for legalized prostitution in South Viet Nam and cited a government brothel for soldiers in Pleiku as a successful example.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Vui told a meeting of the Army-People Council that similar centers should be established throughout the country to curb venereal disease and the exploitation of young girls by pimps and madams.

The Army-People Council is an organization to improve relations between civilians and military personnel.

Mrs. Vui said the influx of foreign troops into Viet Nam had increased prostitution and recent government statistics showed that 40 per cent of these girls were suffering from venereal disease.

Prostitution was banned by the late President 'Ngo Dinh Diem in 1955.

Another council member, Lt. Col. Ngo Kinh, described the government brothel which was opened in Pleiku, in the central highlands, in January.

He said the establishment has 20 rooms, and the girls are provided by a matron under contract with the Pleiku Administrative Council. Vietnamese soldiers pay 80 piasters about 60 cents, for a ticket and foreign troops 300 piasters.

Ocala Hopes Bees Found New Homes

OCALA, Fla (AP) — This central Florida city is getting over a plague of bees in the business district—it hopes.

A hive dropped off a truck recently and its occupants swarmed on a Broadway sidewalk. Police called beekeeper Collie Summerlin to bring a new hive and a queen bee to lure the buzzing squatters into it.

Summerlin had to be called back when more bees were found trying to colonize curbside trash cans.

Texas Faces Shortage Of Teachers

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas State Teachers Association said Wednesday Texas is facing the "worst teacher shortage in 25 years," with nearly 5,500 positions either vacant or filled by unqualified teachers.

The association said it received questionnaire replies from 82 per cent of the state's 1,300 school districts.

Districts reported 1,092 vacant jobs and 4,400 posts held by not fully qualified teachers.

Charles H. Tennyson, association director, said more than 10,000 teachers are employed this year with only emergency permits.

"Superintendents apparently feel that almost one half of the holders of these 10,000 emergency permits are not qualified to handle the professional duties required of a classroom teacher," he said.

Tennyson said that while other factors are involved in the shortage, the "single most important source of the trouble lies in the fact that Texas is still not paying its teachers a decent living wage."

He said the TSTA would push hard for its 1967 legislative program, which includes automatic teacher pay raises to keep salaries at the national average.

Meter Maids Prove They Are Impartial

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's new meter maids are impartial.

City councilman William G. Rogell said he had been told by police officers that one of the meter maids ticketed a squad car in a no-parking zone while the officers were answering a call.

The meter maids were hired to relieve patrolmen for other duties.

Calls From Husband Prove Most Costly

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Kathleen Hunt received six collect telephone calls from her soldier husband in Viet Nam last month. Recently she received the bill — $1,084 — plus federal tax of $108.40.

Mrs. Hunt, a University of Arizona student from Pittsburgh, doesn't doubt that the bill probably is that much.

She said she'll offer to pay $800 in one lump and 100 a month until the bill is paid.

Tigers Try Comeback

At Kermit In Friday Clash

The Snyder High School Tigers will try to pick themselves up off the mat Friday night at Kermit and meet the challenge of the resident Yellowjackets with sufficient force to get back on the victory trail. The kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

The locals, who were sailing along with a surprise two-game winning streak, were rudely derailed last Friday night by the Big Spring Steers of District 3-AAAA. In fact, the Steers did such a thorough job of halting the Snyder winning streak, 34-0, that it apparently has whetted the appetites of the Tigers even more than usual.

The word is out that the Bengals of Coach Keith Miles are out to prove that they can take their defeats with honor and then rebound to carry the fight to a subsequent foe.

They'll get their chance in Kermit tomorrow evening where the Yellowjackets are thirsting for the first victory nectar of the year after losing two games and tieing another against three double-tough opponents.

The Jackets started their season by barely losing to Hobbs, N.M., 10-8. This raised some eyebrows, because it had been noised about the Southern Rockies that Hobbs was among the top powers in New Mexico High School football ranks this year. Next, Kermit lost a 22-0 decision to a strong Dallas Lynch team. Then, this past Friday, the Jackets matched a strong Carlsbad team, 14-14.

Although it has not scored many points this year, the Kermit offense has explosive potential. Twin halfbacks, Perry Lee and Johnny Lee Samuels, are on the lighter side, but also both are nearly as swift as the proverbial lightning bolt.

Quarterback Lanny Baker, himself a capable and dangerous operator, likes to send the swift little halfbacks wide on sweeps. And of Perry Lee and Johnny Lee, it doesn't matter which one carries the ball—he's going to make a run for it and the other is going to block with authority.

However, offense was not expected to be Kermit's strong point this year. The Jackets return some nine men who performed on a defensive unit that last year shut out seven foes. They have been extremely stingey in the trenches this year against three strong foes, and they may be expected to continue this Friday night against the Tigers.

As for the Tigers, Coach Keith Miles says his squad is in surprisingly good shape for the Kermit game. A flock of hurts and bruises in the Big Spring game took a toll, but of those injured there, only Craig Bell and David Fulks are not expected to see action this week. In both cases old injuries were hurt again. Fulks, who had some knee trouble, got a blow on the knee which is expected to keep him hobbled for two or three weeks. Bell also had an old neck injury aggravated, said Miles. It is not known how long he will be out of action.

Wingback Rick Hall, injured in the Andrews game and then re-injured in the Stamford game, had surgery on his leg to remove a blood clot. He is expected to be out for another three weeks at least.

Otherwise the Tigers were reported in good physical condition.

Coach Miles said the Bengals likely would begin the Kermit game with an offensive lineup composed of Frankie Grimmett, quick end; Tim Mebane, quick tackle; Larry Wadzeck, quick guard; David Wilson, center; Dennis Harmon, strong guard; Jerry Rains, strong tackle; Mike Flynn, split end; Murry Bowden, quarterback; Mario Tavarez, fullback; Curtis Clay, tailback and Rob Golden, wingback.

Pirates Win Two, Gain Half Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Jaster is no phantom, but the Los Angeles Dodgers would like to pinch him, just once, to be sure.

The Dodgers are certain there's life in the Pittsburgh Pirates, however. They can feel the heat on their backs again.

Jaster, St. Louis' enigmatic left-hander, blanked Los Angeles 2-0 Wednesday night, running his shutout string against the Dodgers to five games and stalling their National League pennant drive.

The Pirates, meanwhile, scraped their way to a 2-1, 4-2 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia and inched within 1½ games of first place in the stretch race.

Jaster, a 22-year-old rookie who has been less than sensational against the rest of the league, tied a 50-year-old shutout record by checking the Dodgers on four singles. Only one other modern-era pitcher, Grover Alexander, had shut out one club five times in one season—and the Hall of Famer did not make his mark in successive starts.

Jaster's five straight shutouts over the Dodlers topped the record of four in a row set by Fred Fitzsimmons of the New York Giants against Cincinnati in 1929. Alexander, pitching for Philadelphia, blanked the Reds five times in 1916.

Jaster, 11-5 on the year, has made 21 starts. Take away his 45-inning hex on the Dodgers and he's left with one complete game and a 4.63 earned run average.

"It's kind of an unbelievable thing," he admitted. "I don't feel any different against the Dodgers than anyone else. I pitch the same against them."

The third-place Giants kindled their faint pennant hopes with a 5-2 victory over Atlanta Wednesday night. Elsewhere, Chicago beat New York 4-1 before losing 1-0 in their doubleheader nightcap and Cincinnati divided a twin bill with Houston, bowing 4-3 after taking the opener 7-1.

Cleveland blanked Minnesota 4-0 and Detroit edged California 5-4 in 10 innings in the only American League activity.

Ed Spiezio's two-run double with two out in the fourth inning backed Jaster against the Dodgers, whose best shot at the Cardinal southpaw was a bases-loaded threat in the fourth that died when Lefebvre flied out.

The Pirates capitalized on a pair of throwing errors by ex-teammate Dick Groat in the nightcap against the Phils after Donn Clendenon's homer and a fielding gem by Jose Pagan keyed the first-game victory.

A walk, Bill Mazeroski's triple and Groat's errant throw gave the Pirates a 2-0 lead in the second inning of the nightcap and they scored the deciding runs in the eighth on Matty Alou's single, a sacrifice, Roberto Clemente's double and another poor throw by Groat on Clendenon's infield hit.

Pagan stopped Groat's smash behind third base in the ninth inning of the opener and turned it into the game-ending out, stranding Rich Allen, who had tripled, at third.

Tito Fuentes smashed a two-run homer, sending the Giants ahead 3-2 in the fifth, and Jim Hart added four hits for San Francisco, now three games out of first place with four to play.

Dallas Gives Foes Credit

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The unbeaten Dallas Cowboys are not taking the Atlanta Falcons lightly, Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday, adding that "Unless we execute well we could very easily lose the game."

Atlanta is the newest team in the National Football League, but it is better than any of the other recent newcomers, Landry said. "It is even better than Minnesota, which also had the privilege of a draft. And it is much better than the Dallas club that started in 1960."

Dallas, which has won seven straight games—five pre-season—goes to Atlanta Sunday.

Landry said he would probably bring up Les Shy, the rookie from Long Beach State, from the taxi squad because Mel Renfro, the Cowboys running back, won't be sufficiently recovered from an ankle injury to play Sunday.

That means Dallas will have to waive somebody through to get back inside the player limit. This will be done by Thursday.

Landry said Atlanta had a fine defense featuring linebackers Tommy Nobis, Marion Rushing and Larry Morris; its rushing was the best in the league—a 4.8 yard average—with Junior Coffey and Ernie Wheelwright doing the work Dallas is averaging 4.4 and that quarterback Randy Johnson was doing well with his passing, for a rookie.

Buddy Dial, who bloomed again in the Minnesota game after a couple of years of lackluster play, will be a starter at Atlanta, Landry said.

"Dial was injured his first year, had some problems the second, but he has been looking very good indeed this season," said Landry. "The fact that he had to learn a new system of using patterns in receiving, whereas he played sort of freelance with Pittsburgh, was another factor in Dial's slump."

Three-time National League batting champion Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates has batted .314 or better the last six seasons. He began with the Pirates in 1955 after having been drafted from the

Sul Ross Is No. 4

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State continues in first place in the Associated Press small-college football poll this week, but defeats suffered by four other ranked teams resulted in a shakeup in the Top Ten.

North Dakota State had five first place votes and 96 points in the balloting by 14 regional selectors based on games through last Saturday. North Dakota moved up one place to second, with 92 points.

Montana State is third followed by Sul Ross and San Diego State. All three climbed two places.

Eastern Kentucky, Ball State, Wittenberg, Parsons, Arkansas State and Middle Tennessee State round out the Top Ten, the latter two teams in a 10th place deadlock.

Southern Illinois, second a week ago; Weber State, No. 4; Southwest Texas, No. 8, and Akron and Florida A&M, who were tied for ninth, dropped from the list of ranking teams.

The Top Ten with first-place votes and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

"B" BOYS HOST PONIES

The Snyder High School "B" Team hosts Sweetwater in a football game at Tiger Stadium tonight. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Coaches Bill Hartsfield and Roy Carter have made plenty of progress with the young high school team and hope to have some offense to go with a good defense.

The "B" team and Sweetwater previously met in a tilt at Sweetwater. That first game ended in a scoreless tie, although the Snyder lads had a touchdown called back on a penalty.

Tiger stadium also will be the site of a clash between Denver City and Stamford at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night.

AFL Lauds Speedy Back

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Les (Speedy) Duncan, the aptly named cornerback of the San Diego Chargers, is the American Football League's Defensive Player of the Week, as selected by The Associated Press.

Duncan, a one-time track star at Jackson State, gained recognition last year as one of the top punt returners in the league, and now is coming into his own as a defensive standout.

He picked off three interceptions — matching the club record — in Sunday's 29-20 victory over the Raiders at Oakland, had one unassisted tackle and three assists.

Duncan, a 5-foot-10, 175-pounder, was given the assignment of covering Art Powell, the league's top receiver. He not only kept Powell under wraps, but also took the three interceptions, two of which led to Charger field goals.

Other top nominees for the week's defensive honors were Bernie Parrish of Houston, a defensive back fresh from the Cleveland Browns of the NFL, Kansas City back Johnny Robinson, and New York lineman Verlon Biggs, key man in the defensive unit that leads in the league in total defense, rushing defense and passing defense.

Twenty-seven Attend First F.C.A. Meet

Twenty-seven Snyder athletes attended the organizational meeting of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes recently at the high school. Adults present included Roy Carter, Jim Casey, Ted Crenwelge and Les Francis.

The meeting opened with F.C.A. songs, led by Casey, accompanied by Barbara Carter. Then Murry Bowden and Tommy Bullard led the boys in the F.C.A. yell.

Plans for the year were discussed and new officers were elected: president, Murry Bowden; vice president, Tommy Bullard; program chairman, Rick Hall, bulletin chairman and secretary-treasurer, Max Moreland.

Hall and Bowden led the program discussion on "What is F.C.A.?"

At the next meeting, the boys saw an F.C.A. film, "Springboard," about a high school baseball player who wanted to play in the pro ranks.

The FCA meets every other Monday at the high school.

Williams 'In' At Beantown'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The baseball season is coming to an end and the manager-changing and retaining season is beginning.

ick Williams was named manager of the Boston Red Sox Wednesday to replace the ousted Billy Herman and Red Schoendienst was given another contract to manage the St. Louis Cardinals.

Also there was a report that Preston Gomez, now a coach with the Los Angeles Dodgers, would take over at Cleveland. He would replace Birdie Tebbetts, who quit last month and George Strickland, who replaced Tebbetts as interim manager.

The other clubs where the managerial situation is not set are Atlanta, where interim Manager Billy Hitchcock would seem to have the inside track, and Detroit, where Pittsburgh coach Johnny Pesky and ex-Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez are prominently mentioned.

Williams, 37, managed Boston's International League farm club in Toronto to two straight playoff victories. He had a 13-year playing career as a utility infielder and becomes the fifth Boston manager since 1959.

Schoendienst goes into his third year as manager of the sixth-place Cards after a 19-year playing career.

Top-Rated 'Cats Take On Lawton

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top-rated San Angelo takes on some out-of-state competition before moving into the district race but many other ranking teams open conference drives in Texas schoolboy football this week.

San Angelo, ranked No. 1 all season in Class AAAA, engages Lawton, Okla., while Amarillo Tascosa, the No. 2 team, meets Dallas Bryan Adams. Adams has a 1-1-1 record and does not appear a threat to Tascosa.

Brazosport, the No. 3 team, opens conference play in a clash with South Houston.

Brownwood, No. 1 in Class AAA, goes after its 21st straight victory and it will be against undefeated and untied Abilene Cooper of Class AAAA.

No. 2 ranked McKinney has an open date but Athens, the No. 3 AAA outfit, takes on Kilgore, a team with a 1-1 record. Athens does not appear to be in any appreciable danger.

Dumas, the former No. 1 team dropped to fourth place after losing to Pampa, tackles another Class AAAA outfit—Amarillo. The Demons could take a second licking.

Sweeny, heading Class AA, plays Edna. Sweeny whammed Columbia 40-0 in the season opener. Columbia beat Edna 10-7. No. 2 Iowa Park plays Burkburnett.

Forney, the leader of Class A, plays class AA Commerce and should roll on. It's the same for the No. 2 team, White Deer, which meets McLean.

Forney smashed Wills Point, the Class A defending state champion, 49-6, and made itself an even firmer choice for the title.

Odessa Permian, the Class AAAA champion, has bounced back from a season opening 6-0 defeat at the hands of Tascosa, to return to the ratings. Permian clipped Lubbock Monterey and El Paso Eastwood in succession to renew its threat to figure in the state race. Permian has an open date this week.

Plano, the Class AA defending champion, also is climbing back. Plano lost its first game of the season 7-6 to Decatur but since has smashed Ennis 30-6 and Bonham 28-7. It plays Lancaster this week and can edge further back.

Conference action flames all over the state in all classes but this week marks the first such competition in Class AAAA.

Dixie Debut Is Successful

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill Bartholomay, sharply criticized in the North for bringing the Braves to Dixie, says attendance in Atlanta's first campaign should silence critics of the move.

"Going over the million and a half mark at home this year is the most remarkable attendance any club has ever had in a new city," said the Braves' chairman of the board.

The Braves drew 23,148 Wednesday night in their final home game of the year, boosting the 1966 turnout in Atlanta Stadium to 1,539,801.

The Atlanta turnout was higher than attendance in Milwaukee during any of the last six years, and nearly three times attendance in 1965, the Braves' lame-duck season in Milwaukee when only 555,589 watched the team.

However, the Atlanta total fell short of attendance in Milwaukee in the Braves' first year there, when 1,826,397 saw the games in 1952.

The Braves currently are fifth in the league race, and earlier in the month had climbed to fourth.

UNCLE PINOCCHIO

Vice President Humphrey In Lonely, Uncertain Spot

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Calvin Coolidge said the way he got exercise was having his picture taken.

Picture-taking is just a rest period for President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the two most energetic men in their jobs ever.

But even though they have made a career of action — by talking or running, not walking, to get things done — both are now running down hill in the public opinion polls to a degree which must shock them.

Humphrey is at a disadvantage in public opinion.

In describing his vice presidential seal as different from the President's, he said his own eagle has his wings down. He said "you're the kind of vice president the President wants you to be."

And Johnson, in a position to shout the commands, wants Humphrey to be a Little Sir Echo, which is what any president would want. Me-tooism goes with the job.

Humphrey wholeheartedly endorses it, preaching and practicing 100 per cent loyalty to his boss.

Right now he can only hope Johnson will reward his devotion and endless efforts for the presidency and his party by wanting him as his running-mate again in 1968. But that's by no means sure.

And it puts Humphrey in a lonely and uncertain spot, yet, there has always been a lonely look about him.

His sensitive, bird-like expression and his endless Boy Scout cliches about America the beautiful give the impression of trying to please, a search for acceptance.

Johnson has the same expression in public, and even more cliches.

Probably no one was ever lonelier than Johnson when he was vice president under President John F. Kennedy who kept him in the background, never making full use of his talents.

Johnson has made so much use of Humphrey, and in so many different ways, it's a wonder the vice president can stand up under the activity, like bunches of speeches a day, hopping from state to state, and still bouncing around after 18 hours on his feet.

He had better not disagree in public or be critical if he hopes Johnson will want him for a second term, for if he can achieve that then in 1972 he can hope for a try at the presidency himself.

But being a yes-man isn't the only monkey on Humphrey's back.

Even if Humphrey and Johnson were brothers, the vice president's chances for a second term and perhaps the presidency later depend on more than just his good relations with Johnson.

Humphrey's wagon is so closely hitched to Johnson's, he is so closely identified with the President, that if the voters by 1968 decide they don't want Johnson any more, they won't want Humphrey, either.

This puts an ambitious politician like Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — besides his relationship to President Kennedy — in a pretty spot as rival to Humphrey or Johnson in 1968 or to Humphrey for the presidency in 1972.

He has the luxury of being able to stay detached from Johnson whenever it suits him, going along with the President on what seems popular and being critical of Johnson and his programs when the public sours on them.

Voters in recent polls showed a preference for Kennedy over Johnson and Humphrey. But, no matter how hard he works, Humphrey has another handicap, if he has ambitions for the presidency eventually.

Only three vice presidents have been elected president on thir own.

What To Do With Cocktail Tidbits?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is what to do with the tidbits served at cocktail parties, sometimes known as "the crunch and goo."

If they merely threw a platter of it in a guest's face, as if he were playing a role in an old Keystone Comedy, he could wipe it off—and laugh it off.

But hostesses are determined that a fellow eat the stuff, and he does that in the grim knowledge that he thereby becomes another statistic in America's alarmingly rising ulcer rate.

Before the canapes arrive, however, the guests must survive earlier adventures in crunch and goo.

The crunch and goo consists of a bowl of potato chips and a bowl of goo called "the dip."

Every hostess has her own secret dip receipe and keeps it locked in a safe deposit box at the bank. Chemists who have broken them down, however, say most dips consist basically of a can of onion juice, mayonnaise, cream cheese and one or two jars of library paste, depending on the size of the party.

If the hostess has dipped a homeless clam in it, she refers to it as a clam dip; if she had dripped a lamb in it, it would be called lamb dip.

The main idea about the potato chips is to get them so soggy or thin that they either bend or snap in pieces when you try to use them to scoop up some of the dip. It is usually better to wait until no one is looking, then dip your hand into the dip bring up enough to wipe on the potato chip, gulp it down and slip hurriedly into the bathroom and wash.

Everybody gives a mandatory "ooh-h-h" when the canape trays are brought in with a flourish. This is in tribute to the decorative skill of the hostess, for canape arranging now has become as formal an art in America as flower arranging is in Japan.

What are canapes made of? Is that sliced bread or crepe paper? Are those huddled little black dots real Russian caviar or merely tapioca cleverly camouflaged in india ink? Is this itty-bitty sandwich made of slivers of turkey, veal, or chicken—or itty-bitty wallboard shavings?

Whatever it is, it tastes the same. It also tastes like it had been left out on the fire escape for three nights in the rain to make it completely sodden. The only thing a man can identify for sure is that red thing that looks like a rosebud. It's a radish.

Nobody goes to a cocktail party for the food. They go in spite of it.

Nobody goes to a cocktail party for the conversation. How can you listen to a fellow explain our policy in Viet Nam when his upper plate is gummed with half a pound of collected clam dip?

Why then do people go to cocktail parties?

Could it be for the booze?

The industrial revolution made essential more exact methods of measurement. Parts of a machine made in different factories will not fit together unless they are made to precise standards.

Junior Editors Quiz on GERMS

QUESTION: Are all germs harmful?

* * *

ANSWER: Many people make the mistake of thinking of germs as evil little bodies which do nothing but cause disease. This is far from the truth. A germ is a microbe, a tiny body which can be seen only with a microscope (upper picture). Some of these are extremely dangerous and do cause disease, but many of them, especially of the group called bacteria, are highly useful to man — so much so that without them we could not live. Consider the ones causing the decay of dead animal and plant matter. They break this matter down into humus in the soil and gases in the atmosphere. If it were not for them, the matter would pile up and the earth would become uninhabitable. Or think of the wonderful little nitrogen-fixing bacteria. They have this name because they take nitrogen from the air and change it into compounds which greatly enrich the soil. These friendly little germs are responsible for the fine appearance of the farm in our picture, although Suzy did not realize it until her father explained it to her.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture — the sky blue with white clouds, and the grain gold. The people could have clothes of bright cheerful colors. 9-29

(Susan Forbes of Enid, Oklahoma, wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

China's Education System Remoulded To Suit Mao

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — School's out in Communist China and the students are having good, clean, wholesome fun denouncing the university president, humiliating the teachers and pillorying nonconformists.

Chinese education, which over the centuries has produced gifted scholars and writers, is in disarray.

Since June, the boys and girls have been on a six-month holiday while Mao Tse-tung and his new chief lieutenant, Lin Piao, shake up the education system.

From now on it's less study and more work. When school starts again, liberal arts students will spend only one or two years rather than four in the university. The rest of the time they will get dirt on their hands in the countryside, the factories and the army.

All this means that more youths will be educated in a shorter time. But their education will be short on book learning and long on experience — Communist experience — and the thought of Mao in particular.

Work-study programs have been in effect in some schools since 1958. This year they become the rule.

While school is out, the students are whooping it up as members of the Red Guards, the loosely knit, fanatic organization formed last June to harass the president of Peking University out of office.

They seek to blot out everything that is old or that smacks of capitalism, and make things uneasy for their professors and fellow students. Posters printed with oversized characters blast a teacher for being an "antiparty" element or single out a student who "follows the black line of revisionism."

Plastered with posters, surging with youths wearing the armbands of the guards, dotted with podiums from which youth leaders hoarsely shout their accusations, the campuses have lost their old atmosphere of quiet.

Under the new system, high marks will not be enough to qualify for admission to universities. Candidates must be politically qualified as well.

Sons and daughters of the proletariat will get preference over the children of the former bourgeoisie.

"Education," says Mao, "must first serve the policy of the proletariat; second, be combined with productive labor; third, train cultured laborers with social consciousness."

Work-study students under the pilot program set up eight years ago get paid for what they produce in the practical side of their education. This presumably will be continued when the new program goes into effect at the university level.

What does all this add up to?

It looks as if the level of intellectual life will drop in the new China. There may be fewer good poets, writers, artists. There will be more trained mechanics, agricultural workers, tchnicians.

The poets and novelists will write odes to production, to the thought of Mao and to the glorious invincibility of the people's army.

The aim of the new education is to find round pegs for round holes, holes chosen for them by the party, not by themselves.

"What will you do after your finals?" a recent visitor asked a student.

"I will go wherever the party sends me," he answered.

"Their jobs are allotted," explained a professor. "They state their ambitions but they do not choose their jobs."

Rumors Say Coup Brews In Dominican

By ROBERT BERRELLE

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Reports here and abroad of an imminent coup look like part of an opposition plan to create an air of mutual distrust between President Joaquin Balaguer's government and military leaders.

By disrupting relations between the Dominican government and armed forces, the opposition hopes to promote a climate of political unrest such as led to the overthrow of ex-President Juan Bosch three years ago. Another objective is to frighten away foreign and local investment.

Responsible national figures and U.S. and other foreign diplomats give the scheme little chance of success, primarily because of the armed forces support of the government.

The more radical wing of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party and extreme leftists are apparently behind the coup propaganda. The central theme is that right-wing extremists, some in the army, are plotting to overthrow Balaguer. Havana radio recently broadcast these reports.

The campaign was believed originally aimed at forcing the Balaguer government to request the inter-American peace force to remain in this country. This would have discredited Balaguer in some quarters and fueled anti-U.S. propaganda.

While discounting the possibility of an imminent coup, observers here see some justification in fears of right-wing terrorism. But they point out that most of the terrorism and violence in Santo Domingo so far has occurred in that central part of the city once controlled by rebel and leftist forces. And most if not all of the clandestine weapons so far recovered by national police have been in homes of former rebels or leftists.

Focus Again On Interest Rates

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The focus is on interest rates again, and the confusion among small borrowers is in direct proportion to their concern about the matter. Just how is interest figured?

Anyone who has been through high school has heard the theory of simple interest. The payment of $6 on a $100 loan at the end of one year would be 6 per cent.

The confusion factor is high, though. Relatively few loans are ever made on simple interest terms.

You may have noticed that:

— Few loans are made for exactly one year; often they are made for several years or for a few months or even weeks or days.

— Repayments on practically any consumer loan are made not by the year but by the month or even by the week; consumer loans often are installment loans.

—Few lenders wish to wait until after the borrower has used the money before charging; instead, they take their profits in advance.

All this makes it difficult to translate repayment charges into simple interest. Nevertheless, pressure for such translations are persistent. The problem has occupied Congress for years now. And in Massachusetts, installment payments beginning in November must be translated by the lender into terms of simple interest.

Many people in Massachusetts will find they are not paying the rates they commonly see quoted for large loans.

These are the most common methods of determining loan charges:

1. Discounting. Banks favor this method. The interest is circulated in advance and deducted or discounted from the principal amount of the loan. A $1,000 loan at 6 per cent gives you $940; the interest has been deducted.

However, in terms of simple interest you are paying much more than 6 per cent on this discount loan. Perhaps it is nearer 12 per cent, even a bit more. Why? Because you repay by the month. Simple interest assumes the loan is for a year. However, you are repaying constantly. You never do have a $1,000 loan for an entire year. Your average loan is about $500.

2. Adding on. Sales finance companies commonly use this method. You begin with the price of an object — an automobile, for example — and add on the interest charge in advance. A $3,000 loan at 6 per cent becomes $3,180. The $180 is interest paid in advance.

This also is not a 6 per cent loan, based on simple interest calculations. Using a rule of thumb, your interest rate once again is close to double the 6 per cent. When you first took out the loan you had $3,000. But just before the final payment you had less than a 10th of that.

3. Actuarial. This method is often used by small loan companies and on charge accounts. Interest is calculated not in advance but every month on the unpaid balance. It often figures out to 12 to 18 per cent.

Department stores and small loan companies argue, however, that the cost of lending the money is only a small part of their cost.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — It becomes more obvious each day that Fatherhood is viewed as a piddling matter by the unenlightened. Certainly not by we victims caught in the timbers.

But there are others. The ones who giggle and say I should know better at any age. The ones who scoff at my taking siestas and resting, preparing for the ordeal of coming home from school.

I have stayed up nights for twenty-odd years with these creatures who range from 25 to 3 years of age. Do you think one of them has come around and said, 'Papa, thank you for rocking me nights when I was two weeks old and had the colic"? They forget very easily and we must live with this heartbreaking indifference.

Let the scoffers scoff. They are merely cockleburrs at the Shrine of Fatherhood. Let them smirk at my siestas and sleeping late. It may be the last sleep I'll get for years.

So you'll ask why didn't we get it over with in a hurry like the Dionne quints? Why make a lifetime project out of youth?

To answer that briefly, I don't know.

Personally, I'm inclined to recommend the period of 20-25 years of age for fatherhood. At this point of life, you have not gotten around to reading all the advice on child raising so it is a fairly simple thing.

The literature concerning youngsters is frightening to a 50-year-old boy like myself. After reading it, you discover the multitude of ailments, complexes and syndromes that are awaiting to attack unprotected children.

Uneducated youth, of course, has nothing to 'epend on except gumption. The young father, unaware of the perilous road that lies ahead, is a happy father. This happiness stems from ignorance.

The mature father has read volumes and volumes by bachelors and maiden social workers well versed in the art of child guidance. He knows the terrible problems that lie ahead.

To avoid these complicated pitfalls, the mature father stakes his young offspring out on the lawn with a length of heavy chain. After making sure there are no ants or grubworms the child might eat.

My great - grandfather ate grubworms. He picked up the habit as a toddler and was allowed to continue because there was no comprehensive studies of child psychology available at the time. People thought it was acceptable to merely let the little ones grow up.

In those days, the public was poorly informed on the affairs of each other and great-grandfather was never able to find anything to worry about.

Later in life, a doctor who subscribed to a newspaper and several magazines moved to town and warned him that eating grubworms was an unsanitary habit. Unfortunately, great-grandfather (a very stubborn man) did not heed this advice so he wasted away and died at the age of 110.

This tragedy might have been averted if he had been born in the Age of Progress when fathers are staggeringly aware of Fatherhood and its dangers.

Oh well. . .

Plane Forced Down On Interstate Road

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A surprised construction team working on an unused portion of Interstate 64 recently looked up to see a small private plane land on the pavement.

The unidentified pilot, en route from Syracuse, N.Y., to Leesburg, Fla., with one passenger, told police he was forced down because of poor visibility.

The pair took off after the low cloud ceiling lifted.

Rhode Island Asks Native Son's Return

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Four chambers of commerce have begun a project to encourage native sons to return to Rhode Island after finishing college out of state.

The chambers plan to interview college seniors during their Christmas vacation, and hope to interest them in settling down to careers in their home state.

FORD THUNDERBIRD BRINGS A NEW DIMENSION to the field of personal luxury car transportation with the introduction of its 1967 product line which includes this 4-door Landau model.

Ford Offers Big, Luxurious Cars

The 1967 Ford, with a major body styling change for the third consecutive year, will seek a larger share of the medium price market by offering the biggest and most luxurious cars in its history. Wilson Motors will show these new models tomorrow.

"With the 1967 Ford, we will offer the new car buyer the smartest, freshest styling and the most advanced mechanical and body refinements possible," said M. S. McLaughlin, Ford Division assistant general manager.

"Our new models not only have dramatic new styling, but they also ride and handle better, are even quieter than last year's cars and have the greatest number of standard safety items in Ford Division's history."

Three inches longer than its predecessor, the 1967 Ford has sculptured side panels which give the car a lower, longer silhouette. Roof lines on all models but convertibles, station wagons and 4-door hardtops are totally new with softer, more sweeping lines that create a fastback look. New grilles, taillights, side trim and rearend treatment add the finishing touches to the big Ford.

Interiors also are newly designed with instrument panels that feature recessed controls and new, more luxurious upholstery materials.

Already noted for its quiet ride, the Ford will reflect further advances by sound engineers to reduce noise even more for 1967. Front and rear suspensions have bigger, softer rubber "sound stoppers" attached to the chassis to isolate road noise more effectively. Drive shafts utilize a new flywheel - type inertia damper to reduce sound.

A new Comfort Stream Ventilation System, standard on LTD models, provides quiet, "windows - up" driving with constant, controlled fresh air movement throughout the car. Stale air is exhausted through one-way ducts in the front doors.

Radial ply tires, which prolong tire life 50 to 80 per cent, improve gasoline mileage, provide better lateral stability and a smoother ride at highway speed, are optional on all big Ford in 1967. Standard tires have a standardized pressure feature which eliminates the need to adjust pressure for varying loads or road conditions.

Carburetion and valve train re-design on 1967 engines will result in smoother performance, greater economy and dependability. Also new is the Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission, which permits manual or automatic gear shifting.

The luxurious, top-of-line LTD series, which will carry the brunt of Ford's increasing penetration of the medium - price field, will include a 4-door sedan as well as 2- and 4-door hardtops. A new vinyl - covered roof with special styling treatment on the roof quarter panels set the 2-door LTD hardtop apart.

Among safety features are an impact-absorbing steering wheel with deep - padded hub, energy-absorbing safety arm rests, a dual hydraulic brake system, padded windshield pillars, remote control outside view mirror, two-speed electric windshield wipers and a new lane-change indicator incorporated in the turn signal.

Ford styling for 1967 is characterized by a decidedly longer and lower look. With three inches added to their overall length, plus a sculptured windsplit running all the way from front to rear, the new models give the appearance of being much larger than their predecessors.

The lengthy list of safety features on all 1967 Fords is headed by a dual hydraulic brake system. Operated by the conventional single pedal, the new system uses twin master cylinders, each with its own pumping section and fluid reservoir. One cylinder actuates the front wheel brakes and the other the rear. In the unusual case of a failure in either half of the system, braking is provided by the second system. Any loss of hydraulic pressure energizes a safety warning light on the instrument panel when the brake pedal is depressed.

Also new are energy - absorbing arm rests and an impact - absorbing steering wheel with deep - padded hub. Arm rests are designed to collapse on lateral impact, yet offer comfortable support in normal use by means of a unique honeycomb - core design encased in energy - absorbent urethane foam. Steering wheels are of the Ford - pioneered deep-dish type with a deep - padded hub designed to collapse progressively on impact. An inner core of multidensity foam is trimmed in soft vinyl for maximum protection.

A new turn signal design offers a lane - changing feature. When a driver is about to change lanes, he applies slight pressure to the turn signal lever, immediately activating the signal. When pressure is released, the lever returns to the start position. For normal use, additional pressure moves the lever past a detent, where it functions in the usual manner.

Other standard equipment safety items on the 1967 Fords are: Non - overriding door locks; padded windshield pillars; day-night non - glare inside rear view mirror encased in a vinyl frame and attached with a breakaway or double pivot mounting.

It was on Newfoundland that Norwegian explorer Helge Ingstad discovered the ruins of a thousand-year-old Norse settlement in 1963.

Bishop Takes Office Today

HOUSTON (AP) — The Most Rev. Vincent M. Harris, first bishop of the newly created Roman Catholic Diocese of Beaumont, was to assume office at Beaumont today.

Bishop Harris was consecrated in ceremonies here Wednesday in St. Vincent de Paul Church. The new bishop chose the church for his consecration because it is named after his patron saint.

The consecrator was Bishop John L. Morkovosky, apostolic administrator of the Galveston-Houston Diocese. Bishop Harris is a former chancellor of the Galveston-Houston diocese.

Archbishop Robert E. Lucey of San Antonio was to preside at installation ceremonies in St. Anthony's Cathedral at Beaumont today. During the installation a letter from the Vatican naming Bishop Harris as head of the Beaumont Diocese will be read.

The new see comprises territory formerly in the Galveston-Houston diocese. It includes 32 parishes, 15 missions, 70 priests and 278 sisters and will cover a 11,790-square mile area.
