Job Outlook Brighter For Idle Texans

(By The Associated Press)

JOBS FOR the tens of thousands of Texans whose pay checks stopped so suddenly when war plants closed after V-J day are beginning to appear on the horizon today.

Further, machinery is beginning to roll to provide even more jobs. The outlook is brighter than it was three days ago—or even yesterday.

A $174,000,000 postwar highway building program will begin in Texas as soon as the President or Congress declares the end of the war emergency, State Highway Engineer Dewitt Greer said yesterday.

More Jobs Foreseen

San Antonio reported it would have been 30,000 and 32,000 more jobs in peacetime than it had in 1940. E. A. Elliott, area director of the War Manpower commission made this prediction on the basis of a survey made among 192 employers of various industries.

Construction in San Antonio is expected to be 50 per cent more than in 1940. Manufacturing industries anticipate a 51 per cent increase. Jobs for those who want to sell insurance or real estate should be 21 per cent more numerous than in 1940. Transportation, communication, public utility employment should be up 92 per cent.

Galveston said no layoffs have been reported, and that there are 2,800 job openings now listed. C. H. Yandell, War Manpower commission representative, said few persons are applying to the United States Employment service there.

No Contracts Cancelled

No Galveston contracts have been cancelled to date and reconversion and repair work continue. Texas City refineries and chemical plants still are hiring workers. Further, Galveston wharves and other warehouse and cotton compress companies say they will have work for months to come.

Galveston also expects a boom in the convention industry. More than 50 national, state and district conventions are scheduled there for the first six months of 1946.

At Amarillo, the USES said 42 employers had asked for a total of 130 workers in the past two days. During the same period, 219 persons applied for jobs — 153 men, 66 women.

Waco said there was no great increase in applications for jobs there. Waco war production, mostly in the garment industry, expects a rapid transition and apparently many workers are taking brief vacations with hopes of returning to find jobs ready.

Meanwhile the War Manpower office at Austin stepped up its

Two More Quit As Byrnes Aides

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — Archibald MacLeish, poet-librarian, and Julius C. Holmes, soldier-diplomat, resigned today as assistant secretaries of the State department.

Their resignations, accepted by President Truman with words of thanks for their service, followed swiftly on another important State department change.

Only yesterday Mr. Truman accepted the resignation of Under-Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew and the choice of assistant Secretary Dean G. Acheson to succeed him.

Three Places To Fill

Thus Mr. Truman and his new secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, have three assistant secretaryships to fill with new appointments.

Holmes and MacLeish were both members of the "team" which took office last December when Edward R. Stettinius, then a new secretary of state, reorganized the department.

MacLeish, 53-year-old Pulitzer prize-winner poet, resigned as librarian of Congress to become the state department's assistant secretary in charge of cultural and public relations. He was the first to have such a title.

Byrnes told MacLeish, in a letter addressed to "Dear Archie, that he could be "justly proud of what you have done to make the idea of the United Nations a reality in the minds and hearts of the American people."

Eager To Retire

MacLeish has told friends he was eager to retire from public service at the close of the war to devote his full time to writing.

The 47-year-old Holmes left the civil affairs staff at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters in France and put aside his brigadier generals' uniform to become assistant secretary in charge of administration in December.

Prior to the North African invasion in November, 1942, Holmes made the famous submarine trip to Algeria with Gen. Mark W. Clark to arrange cooperation with pro-Allied French leaders.

Super-Bomber Far Eclipsing B-29 Among New, Terrible Weapons

By EDWARD H. HIGGS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—Gen. H. H. Arnold revealed today that the United States has a new super-bomber far eclipsing the B-29. He also predicted that any future war would bring out in full maturity terrible weapons of science now developing.

With its striking range of 5,000 miles or more from base—perhaps two to two and half times that of the Superfortress—the air forces chief said the new air giant leaves no place in East Asia out of reach from existing U. S. bases in the western Pacific.

As to the Atlantic area, he said at a news conference "use your own imagination."

At the same time, Arnold disclosed that the air forces already have in experimental stages rocket bombs guided to their targets by reaction to heat, light or metal in that target and a year ago, he said, "we were guiding bombs by television from a plane 15 miles away." He asserted that the new atomic bomb already "changes the strategy for making the world safe for America."

Couple these developments, he said, "and you have a Buck Rogers conception of war."

He predicted the next war, if there is one, "will see these weapons in use:

1—Manned or pilotless aircraft traveling at speeds faster than sound. "Aerial combat as we know it — fighters seeking out other fighters or bombers and exchanging gunfire in attempt to shoot each other down—will disappear," he said.

2—Guided missiles capable of making exact hits on targets a mile square or less in any part of the world.

3 — More powerful atomic bombs, "destructive beyond the wildest nightmares of the imagination."

4—New defense weapons, such as a target-seeking rocket which will automatically strike and destroy the super-sonic planes or guided missiles.

5—Improved air-ground communication systems which will make possible "intricate maneuvers either by pilotless planes or pilotless missiles."

6—Better techniques of launching, landing and supplying airborne forces who can be dropped anywhere in the world "within a matter of hours."

Way Opened For Rationless Meat And Pay Hikes As More War Restrictions Lifted

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Pork chops, pay checks, and "play ball!"

These were the one-two-three highlights today in the rushing switch-over from war to peace.

1. Meat rationing may end in September, said the nation's food chief.

2. Unions want wage boosts right away. And the path was cleared for more raises to white-collar workers.

3. All bans on sports travel end. The world series, horse racing, and football games can go full tilt.

Meat Rationing Fading

Agriculture Secretary Anderson said meat rationing may end in the "very near future"—possibly next month.

He found, he said, that supplies not needed for military and other non-civilian requirements are rising sharply.

He said in an interview that the improvement in the meat situation reflects these things:

Cutback in military orders, a stepped-up run of cattle to market because of the war's end, and uncertainty as to whether financial arrangements will be made for sending large quantities of meat to Europe.

The government's new wage policy — laid down by President Truman—will apply to white-collar workers earning a salary as well as to the wage-earners.

Policy on Wage Hikes

The policy is: That employers can grant raises without government permission if the raises don't mean higher prices.

As a result of this policy a flood of union wage contracts are expected to be re-opened for negotiation.

But AFL and CIO leaders have said emphatically they do not anticipate a wave of strikes.

The Office of Defense Transportation (ODT) ended the voluntary travel controls on "major professional sports, intercollegiate and high school athletics and bowling."

ODT Boss J. Monroe Johnson said lifting the ban is not an invitation to "go hog wild in travel." He said railroad passenger travel will continue to be tough.

Other Developments

At last, it's okay to congratulate somebody in a telegram. The wartime restriction on congratulatory messages was lifted.

Telegraph companies, too, can resume non-telegraphic services like shopping and messenger service.

You don't have to get a priority order to buy plumbing, heating, and cooking equipment (all you have to do is find the equipment).

The way was opened for the return of pre-war quality motor fuel when the oil industry was given word to go ahead and make plenty of high-test gasoline. In wartime such fuel was limited to 76 octane—and the quantity was limited, too.

The government halted all awards of new contracts for government-financed war housing. All projects now under construction will be reviewed to see whether they should be stopped.

Texas Swelters In Severe Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Cities and towns in all sections of Texas reported temperatures above 100 degrees yesterday.

The hottest reading was recorded at Yoakum and Del Rio, where the mercury went to 105, according to Dallas weather bureau reports.

Hondo, Laredo, Mission and San Angelo baked in 104 degrees weather. Temperatures of 103 were reported at Austin, Abilene, Bryan and San Antonio, and Navasota.

Dallas temperature soared to 102 degrees, the hottest day since Aug. 7 of last year and the hottest Aug. 17 on weather bureau records.

Fort Worth also simmered in 102 degree heat, the hottest day of the year there. Lubbock sweltered at 100.

Beaumont's temperature of 97.5 degrees exceeded the previous season record of 96 on Aug. 3 and was the highest since Aug. 1, 1944.

She Goes 'All Out' For Heat Relief

During the night she rolled over, dropped off the porch, landed in a clump of shrubbery and suffered only minor bruises.

JACK BENNY SUED

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP) — A $10,000 suit against Jack Benny, radio and screen comedian, alleging breach of contract, was filed today in supreme court by Edward A. Powers, a public relations counsel, who charged Benny failed to compensate him for a broadcast idea he submitted.

Controls Lifted On Three Basic Metals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Almost all war-time controls over the three basic metals—steel, copper and aluminum — were abolished today.

The order specifically applies to preference ratings assigned by the Army, Navy and Maritime commission but these account for most of the business.

Virtually all allotments of these materials were cancelled, and all priorities affecting them, with two exceptions, were abolished.

Controls About Ended

This almost eliminated the controlled materials plan, in effect for more than two years, under which the War Production board regulated the use of the three metals.

Announcing the action, WPB said it resulted from "tremendous military cutbacks" and a desire by the agency to get industry back on a system of unrated orders as fast as possible.

"We want to have conversion keep pace with military cutbacks as much as possible," commented Chairman J. A. Krug.

The only preference ratings retained were double M (military) and triple A for emergency purposes.

All allotments of the controlled materials and all preference ratings except triple A and double M were cancelled, with the sole exception of allotments for ship repair.

This means that effective immediately, it will be necessary to treat as an unrated order any rated order other than triple A or double M, except M-8, which is for ship repair.

All materials required to fill other orders under the controlled materials plan must be obtained on an unrated basi, or, where ratings are necessary, by obtaining a double M rating from the Army, Navy or Maritime commission, the three agencies authorized to assign ratings.

The effect is to put most of the steel, copper and aluminum production into a "free" market.

Charge Filed In Death Of Hillin

CROSBYTON, Aug. 17. (Special)—A charge of murder with malice was filed here this afternoon in the court of Justice R. E. Karr against Ruel Griffin, 30, of Crosbyton, in the death Wednesday of Lonnie Hillin, only son of Sheriff and Mrs. Roy E. Hillin.

Griffin, charged with striking Hillin over the head with a bottle of whiskey about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when a poker game dispute broke out about four blocks east of the Crosby county courthouse, was arrested Thursday after Sheriff Hillin found his son's body lying in the bar ditch of a lateral dirt road west of Crosbyton. District Attorney Burton S. Burks requested that Griffin be held without bail.

Inquest Report Delayed

Earlier this afternoon an autopsy indicated that the 30-year-old Hillin had probably died Wednesday afternoon as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage, but Burks reported that no formal report or inquest verdict had been entered.

Dr. Scott T. McGuire, Ralls physician who conducted the autopsy, said that at the request of Burks the only report that he would make would be a written statement to the grand jury.

Another man, 52 years old, who had been arrested after he admitted that Wednesday afternoon he drove Lonnie Hillin in a truck to the roadside spot where Sheriff Hillin discovered the body in the mud and water of the bar ditch about 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning, was still being held last night. District Attorney Burks said that a decision as to charges would be made today.

Funeral services for Hillin will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Ralls Baptist church, with the pastor, Rev. J.

De Gaulle Commutes Petain's Sentence

PARIS, Aug. 17. (AP)—Gen. de Gaulle commuted to life imprisonment today the death sentence imposed on 89-year-old Marshal Petain, the former Vichy chief of state who was convicted on a charge of collaboration with the Germans during the occupation.

De Gaulle, president of the French provisional government, simply approved the recommendation of the high court of justice, written into the verdict, which expressed the wish that the death sentence not be carried out.

The commutation also constituted the latest chapter in the relationship of the two men which began years ago when De Gaulle, at his own request, asked to be transferred to the regiment commanded by Petain.

Japs Spurred Into Setting Manila Trip

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Saturday, Aug. 18.—Japan advised General MacArthur early today that its surrender delegation had been selected and would leave for Manila tomorrow.

Prodded by a brusque note from MacArthur to quit its stalling tactics, which had carried over two days, and get on with the peace negotiations, Tokyo acted without further delay.

MacArthur's headquarters announced at 2:45 p. m. (1:45 p. m. central war time Friday) that the desired information had been received from the enemy capital.

Message Is Brief

The Tokyo message was brief. It said the delegation could not leave until Sunday "due to necessary internal procedure" and promised further details would follow.

In Manila the Japanese delegation will hear what it must do before surrender articles are signed and the Allied occupation forces march into Nippon.

Where that surrender might be signed still was conjectural. Details were being worked out.

An Associated Press dispatch from Guam, saying that Admiral Nimitz had been appointed by President Truman as a United States representative, suggested a battleship in Tokyo bay was the "logical scene."

Other Trips Enlivened

The supreme commander's curt message also may have sped the departure from Tokyo of three imperial parties flying with cease fire orders to field commanders, who were expected to be told some time today that they must lay down arms.

They left for Manchuria, China and French Indo-China by plane yesterday under safe conduct. Only a few hours later 10 Japanese fighters and fierce antiaircraft fire greeted four unescorted U. S. heavy bombers on a photo mission over the same general area from which the enemy planes took off.

Two Japanese planes were believed destroyed, and one bomber was shot up although none of its crew was injured.

Fighters Fired Upon

Two Lightning fighters on separate reconnaissance flights over the southern island of Kyushu also were fired upon by ground batteries the same day.

This sort of thing was trying to Allied patience, coming as it did close on Tokyo's report without apology to MacArthur that Japanese planes had attacked 12 Allied transport ships, probably inflicting some damage, when they approached "extremely near" the coast of the home island of Shikoku Thursday a few hours before the emperor issued the cease fire order.

The Japanese "earnestly requested" the Allies to avoid "approaching home waters of Japan proper" until cease fire orders are "fully effectuated."

Slowly Falling Silent

But slowly, the guns of war were falling silent on the battlefields spread across eastern Asia where the Japanese warlords once hoped to weld together a "coprosperity sphere" made in Nippon.

The Russians, who had given the Japanese until Monday to surrender in Manchuria and Korea, reported that the enemy had begun to lay down arms and that already 20,000 prisoners had been taken.

Chinese Army commanders told the Japanese to cease hostilities.

Jap Premier Takes Over Amid Hints Of Lingering Ambitions

Nips Quitting In Manchuria

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 17. — Japanese troops began to surrender in Manchuria today, with 20,000 laying down their arms, but there was no letup in the Red Army's relentless drive closing in on the great city of Harbin from three sides, Moscow said tonight.

The Japanese armies apparently were continuing their resistance, despite the ultimatum from Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky to surrender by noon Monday.

Strongpoints Tumble

Enemy strong points fell rapidly to the Russians, whose armed columns were stabbing through whatever resistance the Japanese could build up.

Driving down the main railway line leading southeast to Harbin through the Khingan foothills, one Red Army column advanced more than 100 miles from previously reported positions and captured Pokotu and Chalantun, the latter 240 miles northwest of Harbin.

Drive From West

Other forces driving from the west captured Wutancheng, Kailu, Tungliao and Kaitung, the last named an important town on the rail line leading north to Lungkiang and 180 miles southwest of Harbin.

In eastern Manchuria, Russian maritime forces captured Poli, on a rail line leading south to Korea and 70 miles south of captured Kiamusze.

JAP CABINET HEAD—Gen. Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, above, Japan's first imperial prince to head the civilian government, has announced a three-point basic policy for reconstruction and ordered strict adherence to imperial edict, but hints of lingering Nip ambitions in East Asia continue.

Three Point Policy Fixed

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17—Japan's new premier assumed his peace government duties today with orders for strict military observance of the imperial order to ground arms, but there were official and press hints of lingering Nipponese ambitions in East Asia.

Gen. Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, first imperial prince to lead the nation's civilian government, announced a three-point basic policy of reconstruction, control of the military and enforcement of order, at his cabinet's first meeting, said Domei, the Japanese agency, in a Tokyo broadcast.

Must Obey Orders

First official act of Higashi-Kuni, who holds the war minister portfolio as well as being premier, was to order the Army to "strictly observe" Emperor Hirohito's rescript to quit fighting, Domei said.

"If there should be any incident in violation of his majesty's command, we will lose the confidence of the world," the prince said. "The new cabinet must see that the work is carried out with great care.

"The second thing which we must bear in mind is that we must recover ourselves from the ravages of war and plunge into the work of reconstruction at the earliest possible moment."

Foreign Minister

The portfolios of foreign minister and minister for Greater East Asia were given Mamoru Shigemitsu, foreign minister in two of Japan's war cabinets.

The Greater East Asia office during the war handled affairs of puppet regimes governing countries conquered by Japan. But the Allied Potsdam declaration stripped Nippon of all territories overrun by her armies in nearly 50 years of aggression.

Domei said the cabinet, which includes three members of the government of Premier Suzuki which resigned Wednesday, held its first meeting for an hour and a half at Higashi-Kuni's residence.

The premier announced particular desire to bring "to a close the regrettable relations of the past with China" in his speech as quoted by Domei.

He said that "by marching together, hand in hand" with China, which the Nipponese invaded in 1937 in expansion of their Greater East Asia coprosperity program,

Onishi Suicide Not Ridiculous To Japs

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Vice-Admiral Onishi, founder of Japan's suicide corps, has now committed suicide himself "in atonement for" the failure of the mass madness he unleashed.

If this seems ridiculous here, it is not so to the Japanese.

It satisfies a very real awareness among Japanese of the relationship between officers and their men. Onishi had sent loyal young men to their death in a campaign which failed. It was his decision; he now accepts that responsibility and destroys himself to show his remorse.

Kid-Glove Handling

It is safe to think that many more military suicides would be reported if the throne and the new cabinet were not leaning over backward to handle the military with kid gloves.

The emperor's second rescript praises and thanks Japanese armed forces for their efforts and tells them in effect that their cause was no less righteous because the world rose up and smote them in its wrath.

Hirohito does not order his troops, but "trusts" that they will comply with his "intention." He does not use that unpleasant word, surrender.

The new premier and war minister, Prince Higashi-Kuni, also has high praise and sympathy for Japanese troops who are about to "lay down their arms but 'does "order" them "to refrain from any outburst of emotion at the sacrifice of their sentiment, face stark reality calmly and squarely, and maintain solid unity and strict discipline in order to carry out the imperial instructions to the letter."

If it seems strange that Higashi-Kuni's order is more outspoken than the emporor's rescript, it may be that the emperor cannot risk facing possible disobedience, and so speaks softly. And it may be also that Higashi-Kuni, being an imperial prince, is not as liable to assassination as a commoner in his spot would be.

Behind Eight Ball

As Japanese troops continue fighting in several areas, there's every indication that Tokyo is striving desperately to keep the military in line, but at the same time it cannot be doubted that every word uttered is scanned for its effect on listening Allied capitals.

There is a sudden interest in democratic practice.

Domei assures the American Office of War Information that it will relay OWI newscasts to Japanese listeners.

Americans may be forgiven, eventually, if they feel curiosity as to what OWI's stories look like after Domei editors get through with them.

Domei also notes proudly that the new cabinet is largely "civilian."

Demoralization Feared

There is much talk about the people's welfare, the food situation, and the possibility of public disturbances. Domei admits "there is fear of demoralization among the people" and reports that travel into big cities has been suspended "to cope with the food situation and maintain order."

Tokyo is not minimizing its hardships, for our ears, anyway.

To its people, whom it now is belatedly feeding some of the details of the coming Allied occupation, it is talking of the time Allied troops will be leaving, before they even get there.

Rebuilt Blackhawk Is Going To Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17. (AP) —The 86th "Blackhawk" division, first combat outfit returned to the U. S. from Europe, is being sent to the Pacific, Army officials announced today.

The division, which sailed for Europe in February, 1945, and saw 42 days of combat in the final days of the German war, is leaving all high point men, eligible for discharge, in the United States.

The War department release stated: "The 86th is one of several division which are going to the Pacific at the request of General MacArthur, made after the surrender of Japan, and are urgently needed for his necessities in connection with occupation and disarmament of Japan.

"The manner in which the Army is meeting its moral obligations to men with long and arduous service is well demonstrated in the 86th division."

Nip Leader Deplores Sino-Jap Relations

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Japan's new royal premier, Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, said in a broadcast heard by BBC today that the "deplorable relations" between Japan and China must be changed.

He said there must be a new relationship "based on close cooperation between the two countries without their being unduly influenced by victory or defeat."

U. S. Casualties Reach 1,070,138

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP) — Combat casualties reported by the Army and Navy reached 1,070,138 today, a rise of 1,922 since last week's report.

The Navy casualty report accounted for 1,304 of the increase and the Army for the remainder.

The War department said the Army casualties, as received in Washington through August 14, totaled 922,757. The Navy total is 147,381.

The services will continue to issue casualty reports until the final figures have been received.

Breakdown By Army

A breakdown on Army casualties and corresponding figures for last week:

Killed 199,183 and 198,922; wounded 570,997 and 570,870; missing 33,653 and 33,975; prisoners 118,924 and 118,302. The decline in missing apparently represented shifts to other classifications. The War department said 356,331 of the wounded have returned to duty and 96,337 of the prisoners have been exchanged or returned to military control.

Similar figures for the Navy: Killed 52,963 and 52,432; wounded 80,171 and 78,935; missing 10, 553 and 10,985; prisoners 3,694 and 3,725.

So Solly, Please, But 'Accommodations' Needed

Japs Told Of Coming Occupation

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Domei agency told the Japanese people today their sacred homeland would be occupied by the Allied powers after the final "cease fire" order is given and that they must "extend all accommodations" to the conquerors.

A Japanese language broadcast beamed throughout the Orient and recorded by the Federal Communications commission, for the first time gave the people a foretaste of what occupation would mean, including the loss of sovereignty.

"By this cease-fire agreement," Domei said, "the four powers of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and China will land on our homeland, and we must extend all accommodations to the occupying forces, such facilities as transportation, living quarters and food supplies."

But, Domei added, since the Allies would not land is "combat units" the "United States forces will not directly commandeer our food supplies, living quarters and such peoples' necessities, or seize funds in the banks. It is needless to hold any misgivings on these points."

Domei gave no hint of where this alleged information was coming from, since the Allies have not announced publicly what all occupation would entail, but it prepared the people for the loss of all their conquests.

It declared that "now, the active fighting carried on by both sides in the Pacific theater has come to an end" but "until the cease-fire agreement is signed" it did not mean under international law "that either side has entirely withdrawn itself from the status of combat."

Domei said the cease-fire agreement would entail:

"Sending our representatives to a place designated by the enemy, the formal surrender of all troops on all fronts, the means of disarming the Japanese troops, the transfer of ships, planes and other weapons, disposition of the Army, transfer of prisoners-of-war, the landing points of the occupational armies, territories for reparation and occupation, and the signing of such agreements regarding them."

The agency reported that negotiations already had been started on "territorial reparations, as well as the carrying out of the enemy's demands, as disclosed in the Potsdam declaration."

"Such subjects," it continued, "as the enforcement of a free vote, revision of school books, official recognition of political parties and accommodations for the occupying Army will be decided upon."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

(Editor's Note: This open letter to South Plains men in service will be the final one in a series the writer began several years ago and planned to continue during the war years, which, fortunately are about at an end.)

August 17, 1945.

DEAR ——

With the return of peace to the world, families and friends are impatiently awaiting your return to the world you knew before Pearl Harbor. While most of us shared the war with you vicariously, in the months and years to come we are glad you will be here to share the peace.

There is a lot of talk going around about how to treat the returning veteran and some of the worriers would have us believe you are going to present a problem when you doff the uniforms and don those new civies. They would have us believe that those who have been awarded honors for bravery beyond the line of duty won't be able to forget they are heroes and will be hard to live with after the sound of the guns is far in the distance and oceans and continents separate them from the stations they have been assigned to in the past months.

These trouble rousers are saying you are going to come back wanting to write books about your experiences or to enter the lecture field; that you are going to want to run for state senator or something because you found you were successful in directing men in the war areas and you've decided perhaps you should be a public character.

But frankly we do not believe there is cause for alarm here. Going over in our mind just a few of the many service men we thought about when we wrote these weekly news letters during the past months, we want to laugh off such fears. Those fellows, Clay and Bud, Bill, Bob, Frank, Floyd, George, John, Charlie, Collier, Dan, Herbert, Bruce, Melvin, Jack, Rex and hundreds like them are coming back to their homes with the realization that the similarities between civilians and service man are much greater than the differences. Most of them are civilians at heart and would continue to be if they stayed in the forces for 25 years. So that particular problem is erased off of the slate which is full enough at best.

WE'LL grant you there is glamor in the service, especially in the Army and Navy Air services, and if you are keen on heroizing stuff perhaps you'd better try to stay in because we can assure you there is not much glory and honor in being a civilian at the moment. Problems of rehabilitation, readjustment and reconversion may not be exciting as the life you have been living for the past few years but they will be more enduring, goodness knows.

What we are trying to say is that we believe you will want to come back and take up the reins of every day driving. We believe it won't be necessary for us to stick a pin in your ego and have to say "Come now, don't be a hero among your friends." If you know how to write and you have something that would be interesting to read, okay, go to it. But if you are writing a book because you think that's an easy way to make a living and your experiences are the same as thousands and have pretty thoroughly been covered by some of the best correspondents, then we'd suggest you are wasting your time.

YOU may have heard that Lubbock went rather off the beam the other night when the news came of the Japanese surrender. That's true. A celebration was indulged all right and whistles, sirens, car horns and wild yells split the silence and kept up its deafening noise in downtown Lubbock for several hours. Paper was shredded, bottles scattered and there were some humorous reactions from officers and enlisted men in the services. But there was also restraint in Lubbock's reaction to the long overdue occasion and large crowds throughed the churches for services of prayer, singing thanksgiving and short talks.

Don't you forget for a moment that we are remembering what you have done for us in this greatest experience in your life; in the greatest war of time. When you come home we'll make a fuss over you if you'll let us; we'll probably ask a lot of dumb and endless questions but there'll be a place for you and we only hope it won't be too long before you are here.

AND whether you are exhausted from too many weeks in foreign war areas or are suffering from "bunk fatigue" makes no difference to the old home town. You may be thinner and older looking than you were but we are expecting to see a change in you after you have had some cooking once more and you can turn your attention to peaceful pursuits such as Tech's football prospects and the World Series.

And so Service Man we say so long for the last time and end with the hope that is in everyone's hearts—that the day of your arrival will be soon.

The Woman's Angle.

Divorce Notice Too Much For Seaman

HOUSTON, Aug. 17. (U.P.) — A 23-year-old merchant seaman, despondent over the decision of his bride of seven months to get a divorce, stood on a Houston bridge today and shot himself in the chest, according to officers.

He was taken to a Houston hospital where his condition was described as critical.

The seaman's attractive 18-year-old wife told Chief Deputy Sheriff Jake Colca that she had told her husband she was going to divorce him because she no longer loved him.

"He was to have left for Europe at noon," the wife said. "He kissed me, said he was leaving and that if anything happened to him to remember that he loved me," she added.

The seaman, a Belgian who has lived in the United States for six years, left his home and evidently went to the bridge, where he assertedly shot himself. The couple had formerly lived in Yuma, Ariz.

Giant Public Works Program Proposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., proposed today that the government spend $2,000,000,000 on public works in the next three years to provide for the unemployed and to catch up on much-needed improvements such as roads, schools, flood control and reclamation.

Thomas, a member of the Senate Appropriations committee, said in an interview that he would push his program in connection with the next appropriation bill to come before Congress.

He proposed that the work be done in cooperation with state and local governments but that the construction be let out to private contractors rather than be undertaken by government agencies.

Tank Truck Burns, But Driver Unhurt

A tank truck loaded with 4,100 gallons of high test aviation gasoline caught fire Friday morning and burned about seven miles southeast of Lubbock on the Slaton highway, but the driver, Alva Baker, escaped injury.

The blaze sent up tall tongues of fire and spiraling clouds of smoke several hundred feet high

The concrete pavement was exploded by the heat completely across the highway, and state highway department engineers were waiting for the fire to burn itself out before erecting barricades shunting traffic to road shoulders. Hundreds of cars were diverted to lateral roads.

The Santa Fe Railroad company said two of its trains had been affected in schedule. One came in from Slaton under "slow orders," and another, a Clovis freight was held pending a report of section crew tests of whether rails had been warped by the terrific heat.

Firemen, city police, the state highway patrol and other officials went to the scene, but found it dangerous to approach nearer than 200 yards until it could be determined that walls of the gasoline compartments had been ruptured.

The equipment, insurance men estimated, would be a "total loss," unworthy of salvage.

The truck was associated with Maddox transport of Clovis, N. M., and was hauling gasoline under lease of O. B. Stephens Transport, at 625 College. It was en route to Sweetwater, officials said.

Baker reported by telephone to his company that he knew nothing of the fire until his fuel lines had been fused and his engine stopped. He said he looked around and "the whole thing was afire." It was understood he had just time to whip to the side of the road, stop and leap out and run before the first explosion.

Death Probes Reveal No Irregularities

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 17. (AP) — State and Bexar county officials denied today there were any irregularities in the deaths of two inmates of the San Antonio State hospital, Aug. 10.

It was reported that families of two men whose bodies were found by authorities of the institution had charged that natural causes could not have been responsible for the deaths.

Justice of the Peace Frank Vaughan, who held inquests, said he was satisfied the death of a 49-year-old former railroad engineer was natural and that of a 57-year-old Poteet man was suicide.

Walter B. Smith, a district attorney's investigator, said he had invetsigated the cases thoroughly and would report his findings to the Bexar county grand jury which meets in September.

Walsh Wants Action On Pearl Harbor Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate naval affairs committee asked the Navy today for the files on its investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

"With the war in Japan ended, the explanation of military expediency, which Congress agreed to be desirable while the war was in progress, cannot be seriously urged as reason for now keeping the matter secret," he wrote Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Walsh's letter followed by two days a demand by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) for immediate court martial trials of Rear Admiral Husband E. Wimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter Short, naval and military commanders respectively at the Hawaiian base when the Japanese sprang their surprise attack December 7, 1941.

Ferguson is author of legislation, approved by Congress, extending the statute of limitations in the case until six months after the end of the war.

Enid Cops Title In Air Force Tourney

Enid Army Air Field's Softball Bombers found the target for the night and blasted their way to the Northern Davision AAF CFTC championship at Hubber Park Friday night with a walloping 11 to 2 win over Liberal Army Air Field's Big Bombers.

As a result the Enid Billy Mitchells will take part in the command-wide playoffs at San Antonio later this week to name an All-Southwest service AAF softball titlist.

JCC TOURNEY RESUMES

The Junior Chamber of Commerce's South Plains Invitation softball tournament will resume action tonight at Hubber park, after giving way for the AAF regional tournament for the past two days. Three games are scheduled tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Littlefield and Meadow play the opener, with the losers being eliminated from the tournament. Tahoka and Economy Mills play the second game, starting at 9 o'clock, with the loser again dropping from the running. Ray's Grocery and Edwards Grocery plays the nightcap, at 10 o'clock, with the winner going into the quarter-finals.

In the third place contest last night, Lubbock Army Air Field edged out Pampa Army Air Field, 3 to 2, in a mound duel.

LIBERAL AAF ..... 000 002 0— 2 5 3
ENID AAF ..... 100 343 x—11 8 0
South, Morton (5) and Werst, Schultz (5); Francis and Lickert.

In the Lubbock victory over Pampa Farina tossed four-hit ball for the winners, two of those coming in a last inning Pampa rally. Oddly enough LAAF only collected four hits but combined them with wild pitches to tally.

LUBBOCK AAF ..... 000 003 0—3 4 1
PAMPA AAF ..... 000 000 2—2 4 2
Farina and Masser; Mathis and Halecate.

In the two afternoon semi-final games, both Enid and Liberal turned on the heat in late rallies to come from behind for their wins.

Enid exploded with a six-run rally in the seventh and final frame to defeat Pampa's fine club, 9 to 5, in Friday afternoon's opener. Francis, pitcher for Enid who came in the sixth to halt a Pampa rally, accounted for three of the Enid runs in the seventh. Lazor was the big gun for the losers, driving in three runs in the fifth.

The line score:

ENID AAF ..... 200 100 6—9 11 5
PAMPA AAF ..... 000 131 0—5 8 7
Wolf, Francis (6) and Lickert; Riley and Halecate.

The second game of the afternoon was a mound duel with Liberal coming through with a three run rally in the sixth to stop the Lubbock squad, 7 to 4.

Liberal had taken a three-run lead in the second, then Lubbock came up with two runs in the third and two more in the fifth before the Big Bombers exploded in the sixth. Sgt. Clarence Bybee chalked up a five hit game for LAAF while Anderson and Morton were teaming for a four-hit performance for the winners. Bybee, Cave and Massey were the stars for LAAF.

The line score:

LIBERAL AAF ..... 030 003 1—7 4 3
LUBBOCK AAF ..... 002 020 0—4 5 5

Argument Ends Tilt, Cubs Win

BROOKLYN, Aug. 17. (AP)—An outburst of disorder climaxed the Chicago Cubs' 4-3 victory over Brooklyn today, the trouble coming when Umpire Tom Dunn, officiating at first base, called Dixie Walker out at that bag for the final putout, ending a Dodger rally which had netted two runs and left Augie Galan on third with the tying tally.

Walker sent a grounder to deep short after Galan had doubled to score two runs. When Dunn ruled that Len Merullo's throw had beaten Walker, the Dodgers gathered around the umpire and protested violently. As they argued thousands of fans poured onto the field and scores of them supported the Dodger protest.

Claude Passeau was the winning pitcher for the National league leaders for his 14th triumph, but he was lifted after Galan's ninth inning two-bagger and Ray Prim pitched to Walker. Hal Gregg went the route for the Dodgers, and lost his ninth against 16 wins.

Travel Ban Lifted On Sports Events

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The government today completely took its hands off sports with a blanket removal by the ODT of all travel restrictions affecting athletic events.

Now, for the first time since feeling the pinch of wartime conditions, the sports field is free to go merrily on its way toward a great peacetime expansion, with athletic leaders highly pleased over the relaxation.

ODT's action definitely assures the holding of the 1945 World Series, 13 non-championship professional football games, fall and winter horse racing, post-season college football games, bowling meets and other events on the one-time doubtful list.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, Office of Defense Transportation director, announced the "discontinuance of the voluntary travel restrictions on major professional sports, intercollegiate and high school athletics, and bowling."

Then Johnson dropped in a bit of precaution, that "temperance in the use of sports transportation is wise to avoid any resumption of restrictions."

"I am confident they (sports leaders) will not go hog wild, but will keep themselves in the proper restraint without any further suggestion from me," he commented.

Along with the World Series, college football's various bowl games and professional football's non-championship games, Johnson's decision opens the way for the annual Army-Navy gridiron show to be staged in a big city, probably Philadelphia, Dec. 1.

ABC Nine Romps To Junior League Title

The American Business club's junior baseball nine iced away the second half championship in the American League race Friday afternoon at the Lubbock Boys club diamond, beating the Optimists club, 12-9.

With the victory went the American League title, for the ABC nine also won the first half race, ending all need for a playoff series.

After hurling no-hit baseball for the first four innings, Billy Tatum faced his kid brother, Johnny, in the fifth, and Johnny lined out a screaming single for the first hit. This started an Optimist rally that fell short, but produced eight runs in the closing two innings before darkness halted the game.

JAYCEES BEAT LIONS

Junior Chamber of Commerce junior baseballers clinched a berth in the first division of the American league Friday night as they coasted over the Lion nine 11-6 at the Boy's club.

Turner, Tosh, and Jones clouted consecutive doubles in the first frame for the Jaycees. Tosh paced the winners with two hits for five trips to bat.

St. Louis Amateur Gains Over Nelson

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 17. (AP)—Bob Cochran, 32-year-old St. Louis amateur, humiliated the nation's greatest professionals with a seven-under-par 65 today to take a two-stroke lead at the halfway point of the $13,333 Memphis Open golf tournament.

Byron Nelson, with a string of 11 straight victories behind him, folded with a one-over-par 73 and admitted: "I am licked." Nelson had an opening round 69 for a total of 142.

Cochran's 65, coupled with an opening round 68, gave him a 36-hole total of 133. He is 11 under par and nine strokes ahead of the favored Nelson.

Building In Lubbock

New Homes Due To Sprout Here

WHAT will be the effect of peace on the building industry? Will it encourage the construction of new homes in Lubbock?

Naturally, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, which only a few days ago went on record as urging the Federal War Housing agency to grant H-2 residential building priorities for Lubbock, is interested in this question, and while it is too early to forecast the full implications of the war's end, some of the consequences are indicated.

As governmental cut-backs are ordered, building materials that were to have been used in war construction will be diverted to civilian uses. This will mean an increased supply of many types of material. Windows and doors, which have been on the local scarcity list for some time, will again become available.

There will also be a gradual increase in the amount of skilled labor available, as war plants lay off workers and veterans return home, discharged from military service. But this increase in skilled labor will not come suddenly.

Meanwhile there will be an increased demand locally for all persons skilled in the building trades, since schools and other buildings of a civic nature are being planned. These demands will draw on the pool of skilled labor available, so the builders of homes will continue to have difficulty in finding contractors and carpenters free to do their work.

Another factor that will enter the home building program here as elsewhere is the uncertainty of peace-time employment. Many persons who have been earning larger-than-normal wages during wartime may feel that they face an uncertain future and therefore hesitate to build. However, this condition will not be nearly so evident in Lubbock as in the nation's industrial cities, which may suddenly shrink from boom-town expansion to normal size.

From many of those now economically unstable centers, thousands of war workers will begin migrating to the little towns and villages which they deserted in search of big-time money. Lubbock, securely buttressed by an agricultural economy, recognized by economists as the safest in times of national uncertainty, will be a haven in the storm to come.

Therefore, it should attract home-makers seeking security in an uncertain world. The fact that many of the local industries and business houses have been operating with a minimum of manpower will mean that there were will be good jobs here, not only for those now employed but for the returning servicemen and women as well.

Lubbock can face the future optimistically—hopefully.

Halsey And The White Horse

The chances are, he will not. There are several reasons why the ride is not likely to occur. Reason No. 1 is that since Hirohito is going to serve as an intermediary in ruling his people, under the direction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, it would not be good governmental policy to humiliate him in the eyes of his subjects.

The United States will desire Hirohito's fullest cooperation in enforcing the surrender, and pleasing as Admiral Halsey's plan of riding the emperor's white charger is to us Americans, it certainly would not help matters at this time.

Consequently millions of Americans, who have seen dramatized in Admiral Halsey's wish a symbol of victory, will be disappointed.

Seeking to solve the problem in a practical way, the citizens of Tucumcari, N. M. have bought a white horse for the Admiral to ride down the streets of Tokyo and are awaiting shipping instructions from the witty, outspoken sea commander. Mayor Henry R. Priddy of Tucumcari has sent a cable to the famous naval officer informing him of the purchase.

Tucumcari's acion followed that of Reno, Nev., where citizens, who had made a special, intricately tooled saddle, valued at $2,000, for Admiral Halsey to use in riding the emperor's horse. The saddle is to be flown to the Pacific by the Naval Air Transport. Even if the admiral uses the saddle on the white horse from Tucumcari, the citizens of Reno are certain to feel a let down.

Still, it is possible that one of our bombs has killed Shirayuki, the emperor's white horse. Or some of the right hand men of the "Son of Heaven" may have done away with the thoroughbred to save his majesty from the humiliation suggested by Adm. Halsey.

Regardless of the outcome and whether or not Halsey gets his ride, the United States is obligated to him for providing a colorful symbol of victory—a touch of human interest and drama to the ending of the world"s most cold-blooded and scientific war.

"I don't know why my wife shot at me six times during a quarrel," a man told a jury. Hm-m-m-m. Maybe she was trying to kill him.

THROUGH TO NEW YORK

XXIII

We knew that the customs inspection at Durbin, Union of South Africa, was going to be tough, so before we docked Gingiss and Tony and I worked out a program. We would bring the two remaining cats, Suzy Q and Spitfire, up to our stateroom, locking them in there when we left the ship. After we had gone through the customs, one of us would remember leaving a laundry bag on board and we would hustle back to get it. Meanwhile we would have been very liberal with tips for the customs men, and when the one who had gone back for the laundry would reappear we would be such good friends with the inspectors and in such a very great hurry to be on our way that they wouldn't even glance at the bag. In it, of course, would be the two cats, along with a couple of dirty shirts.

The plan worked perfectly. When we were a safe distance from the customs house, we hailed a cab, and rehearsed our act for getting them into the hotel. On the way we stopped at an apothecary shop to get a supply of barley water to ward off the indigestion that had killed Margot. Suzy Q was already showing signs of sickness. Before we reached Cape Town, three days after our arrival at Durbin, she was unable to hold food in her stomach.

On the train we met an American soldier named Stanley who was stationed at Cape Town. When we arrived there he offered to let us keep the cats in the ward back of his house. We accepted the offer and as soon as we got to his place we called a veterinary; but by then it was too late. Suzy Q died within an hour. We buried here there in Stanley's backyard.

* * *

I was alarmed for Spitfire now, of course. Since we were going to be in Cape Town for several days, I took him out to the Cape Town zoo to see what the experts there would be able to recommend. A Mr. and Mrs. Hooker were in charge and my story of how the other cats had died indicated, they said, that death in both cases had been due to starvation. Without the barley water the cats hadn't been able to digest the food we had given them; they might just as well have eaten nothing at all in the absence of the barley water to make it digestible. They marveled that Spitfire still seemed so well, but it was evident at a glance that he was considerably underweight.

The Hookers kept him for a week and he began to put on weight almost from the first day on a diet of limewater and milk.

Smuggling our one remaining pet aboard the Army transport on which we returned to the States was much easier than I had thought it would be. We simply stuck him in another basket I had bought, tossed a couple of shirts over him and clamped the cover down tight, leaving a couple of inches of shirttail exposed at one point. When the customs inspector asked what I had in the basket I gave the shirt a tug and said, "Dirty clothes, that's all."

The commanding officer on board the transport was Captain George Hilcrest of Akron, Ohio. He was a young fellow, about 32 or 33, and we got along with him fine until the third day out, when I casually mentioned that I had a baby leopard down in the stateroom. "You can't do that!" he exclaimed. And then he laughed. "That's not true, is it? You've done it. But there is one very strict regulation: If you don't have a health certificate we'll have to get rid of it. That's a fact. I have no alternative."

"Oh, but I have a health certificate," I said. "The veterinary in—ah, Karachi—made one out for me. A very nice one, too. I'll go down and get it. You wait here."

Hilcrest was good enough to wait and it took he only a few minutes to go down to the room and write out a very high-sounding testament to Spitfire's excellent health.

* * *

I had an uneasy moment coming through the customs at New York when we landed there on the sixteenth of August. The inspector was going through my stuff with great thoroughness and I was keeping the basket containing Spitfire and some dirty shirts until too much at that point, anyway, because if he was discovered it would probably only mean having him kept in quarantine for a few weeks to make sure he wasn't diseased. But in the last suitcase the inspector opened before coming to the basket he came across the baby bottle and nipple.

"What the devil is this?" the inspector demanded.

I sighed heavily and hung my head, and in a suitably trembling voice I said, "I was married in China, Inspector. We had a—a baby boy — they didn't pull through — I lost them both — my wife and—and my son." I braced my shoulders and straightened bravely under my tragic burden. "I have nothing else to remember them by—except that little bottle and nipple."

By that time the inspector was feeling like a heel. He closed the suitcase quickly. He glanced at the basket on my arm and saw the shirtail protruding. "That your laundry?" he asked tenderly.

I nodded and moved sadly on my way.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

A TENANT in one of New York's swanky apartment houses reported to the janitor that he had lost two checks totalling $114,000.

He thought he had thrown them away with old mail and newspapers, and would the janitor please try to find them?

BRANDEIS

So the janitor searched through fourteen trash bags and garbage cans and, after three hours of dirty work, he found the checks.

He took them to the tenant—a wealthy chap—and, for his trouble received a fifteen-cent tip.

The tenant, however offered him some iodine for the cuts on his hands which the janitor had received while rummaging through the refuse.

This same janitor had had another experience a few years ago when he worked for a bank as a bank as a window cleaner.

He found a package on the floor. It contained $83,000 in cash.

That adventure was more profitable. The president of the bank gave him $25.

Fifteen cents for $114,000!

* * *

You might say, of course, that those checks were no good to the finder.

But how about all the work?

How about the trouble of having those checks cancelled and new ones made out?

How about the principle of of the thing?

There is some similarity between finders' rewards and tips.

And strange to say, there is also some similarity between tips and doctor's bills.

I can imagine the tenant's anxiety when he missed those checks.

I can also imagine the bank president's worry when that $83,000 was lost.

And how about the doctor whom you need so badly when you are sick or someone dear to you is in danger?

You'd give all you have to get him there in a hurry.

In your mind you promise him anything under the sun.

* * *

THE DOCTOR comes and makes you well again—or saves the life of your wife, your mother or your sister.

How long do you make him wait for his money?

Why do you pay almost everybody else before you pay him?

The janitor was honest. He would have returned the checks or the money even if he had anticipated no reward.

The good waiter gives you service no matter how small your tip may be.

The doctor will hurry to your home again when he is needed, even if you are a year behind in your payment to him.

There is no law that can enforce gratitude.

But gratitude should need no police.

Meet Gen. J. Minami

He Is No. 1 Jap War Criminal

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

JAPAN'S NO. 1 war criminal, ranking with Hitler and Mussolini, is not the Emperor Hirohito. He is a blustering, bull-necked, capable soldier who is comparatively unknown to the Occidental world. Indeed, he is a mysterious and sinister figure to the Japanese people themselves, for he shuns publicity and manipulates the military by remote control.

Nevertheless, it was his request for a private audience with the Emperor on the evening of August 7, 1945, which furnished Allied capitals with the first substantial tip that the jig was up for Japan and that the war lords recognized it. He saw Hirohito 24 hours after our first atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima, and it was obvious to Washington that he did not go to the palace simply to pay his so-sorry respects.

TUCKER

The name of this manufacturer of murder is Jiro Minami. He is a former governor of Korea, was commander of the crack Kwantung army in its formative stages and one-time Minister of War. It was he who touched off the dynamite in Manchuria in 1931 that plunged Japan toward the war of conquest that has ended in disaster.

Minami is also one of the organizers of the Greater Asia association and the Japanese Political association, which formulated the program of an Asiatic Co-Prosperity Sphere dominated by Tokyo.

Naturally, he has been leagued with such powerful industrial and financial houses as the Mitsui and Mitsubichis. He has become one of the wealthiest men in the empire, using the same means that Goering did in Germany.

The Koreans and Chinese hate him, as subjugated folk in Europe detested Himmler, and they would shoot or hang him on sight. Unlike Himmler, Minami is a jovial sort of person when he wants to be — for a Jap. He has all the qualities for leadership on the battlefield or at the council table, which explains why he rose from the cavalry barracks to become the power behind the throne.

* * *

MANCHURIA: Hirohita's culpability — or weakness — lies in the fact that he never restrained or rebuked this swashbuckler. Although Minami inspired the assassination of peace-minded cabinet members, provoked undeclared wars on the mainland and organized his own "private army," the emperor took orders from him.

When the war lord wanted aggressive action, or more freedom for military excesses in Manchuria and North China, his messengers — Prince Konoye, General-Count Terauchi or General Iwane Matsui — posted to the imperial palace or to a seaside resort and obtained the royal signature without any difficulty. The awed populace, and especially the soldiery in remote regions, then thought that they were doing the divine bidding, not knowing that their real master was Minami.

Singlehandedly, he altered Japan's world course on August 4, 1931. Tokyo then had a liberal government headed by Prime Minister Yuko Hamaguchi, delicated to economy, arms limitation and conciliation in China. Addressing a conference of divisional generals, Minami denounced these policies and urged the army commanders to "counteract these tendencies." The "Manchurian incident," which precipitated the conflict with Chungking and eventually with the United States, occurred the next month.

Minami gambled on the futility of the League of Nations, pacifism in the United States and Britain and the weakness of China. Henry Stimson, then Secretary of State, tried to call his bluff, declaring that the U. S. would not recognize the acquisition of any territory seized by force. But Sir John Simon, then British Foreign minister, refused to back up Washington.

NEW YORK
By Albert Leman

NEW YORK economists believe that as soon as the victory cheers die down the next wave to sweep the country will be one of griping.

Businessmen will voice their anger over government controls, labor over wages and jobs, returning veterans — free at last to spreak freely over union seniority rights, GI loan restrictions and unsatisfactory employment prospects.

Until now the common objectives, to win the war, has stifled many complaints and has cemented national unity. Today it is natural for every class to blow off steam.

If strikes break out everywhere and industry and government are at loggerheads, analysts predict not only disorders but also the wasting of valuable time before reconversion starts. It is to the public's own interest, they maintain, to insist on teamwork.

LEMAN

Cutbacks, obviously, will cause regional unemployment.

One of labor's most reliable statisticians in New York forecasts 10,000,000 out of work by Winter. A forecaster on whom the banking fraternity leans heavily told the writer that he thinks 6,000,000 will be the maximum. Other expert opinions put the figure between these two.

Most authorities estimate that the peak will be reached in three to six months; thereafter reconversion should begin to take up the slack if new obstacles do not hinder recovery.

One such drawback would be strikes. The CIO—the union hit worst by war plant shutdowns—demands a 20 per cent increase in basic wage rates, the raising of the statutory minimum wage from 40 ot 65 cents an hour, adequate emergency unemployment compensation. The AFL demands the prompt restoration of collective bargaining and an extension of social security.

Labor chieftains suspect that hard-boiled manufacturers will use threatened unemployment as a club to smash union gains and enforce "discipline." If they are "tossed around," they say, they must resort to walkouts as the only means left to gain their rights.

Both capital and labor are sore because of the tardiness of the War Labor board in stating its policy; until that is announced neither side knows what's what.

* * *

CUTBACKS: Already signs of decline are evident in Victory plant centers. But there is a temptation to paint a blacker picture than the facts warrant—as yet.

War contracts in the aircraft industry have been running to an annual rate of 16 billion dollars. These will be cut to one billion, to which sum 400 million dollars in commercial orders should be added.

This is more business than the regular companies can handle in their own plants; they may need to continue operations in some government-owned properties. The automotive, electrical and household appliance corporations will quit the aircraft field but many of their surplus employes will be used on each firm's civilian lines.

Aircraft and shipping in the past months had reduced working forces one-half and until this week they were still finding it hard to get enough labor. Some of the West Coast shipyards expect to overhaul and reconvert vessels to peacetime needs and then to make trawlers, small boats and coastwise vessels.

The textile industry, faced with enormous demands for goods including new wardrobes for returning veterans, is eager to hire workers. Cotton mills alone have dropped from 510,000 hands to 400,000 between December 1942 and June 1945.

Housing should provide openings for more than 1,500,000 carpenters, masons, laborers etc. if materials can be squeezed out. Chief headache in this field is that unless plans and financing are ordinarily completed by January 1, a proposed building is rarely finished in the succeeding 12 months.

The South Dakota tramp who stole an alarm clock probably found it necessary these days to get an early start every morning in his avocation of dodging work.

We Must Not Forget Those Who Won Victory

Peace Has Bitter Problems, Too

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON. — The coming of peace brings this country smack up against one of its severest tests.

That goes for government, industry, business, labor, agriculture—all of us.

This city has been at a high pitch of excitement for days. And it will be for many days to come, perhaps weeks and months. Dismantling a war such as the nation has been through is no easy or simple task. It's highly complicated. It all heads up here. But, as the war finally reached right down into the lives of all of us, so will the process of getting untangled from it.

STOKES

Government agencies are working hectically at the thousand and one angles of this tremendous problem. It involves cancellation of billions of dollars of contracts for war materials. It involves speeding up reconversion to produce peacetime goods and jobs. It involves review of various types of regulations of our everyday lives to see which of them can be rescinded soon and which must be prolonged for a time.

* * *

"Crisis After Crisis"

The atmosphere of this city is reminiscent of two other periods of fairly recent memcry. One was the beginning of the New Deal when government confronted a persistent depression that kept millions out of work. The other was the outbreak of war, when many things had to be done hurriedly to transform a peaceful nation, only partially prepared, for a struggle for survival.

In some ways, the job the nation faces now is even more difficult. It came literally over-night, and unexpectedly.

Within a short time, there will be some 5,000,000 persons out of work, it is estimated. In a few months, the figure may reach nearly 7,000,000. This is quite an abrupt change, and a shock, to a country where for nearly four years everybody who was able to work had a job. Many readjustments will become necessary so quickly.

* * *

WE WERE NOT prepared for it. Nobody, of course, could have figured on the atomic bomb, that is, except the few who were in on the secret, and they weren't too sure. But there had been warnings from time to time that the war might end suddenly, and much should be done to get ready.

About the time that Congress went away for a two-month vacation, leaving many essential things undone, one of its committees, the one that President Truman once directed so ably, pointed out the lack of preparedness for reconversion.

We were caught short.

This was illustrated by Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), on the closing day of the Senate when he called off the long list of things that Congress had left undone. Later, after talking with President Truman, he announced to the press that Congress was being called back to work.

* * *

Crying Won't Help

It's no good now to cry over our shortcomings.

The President and his administration are working at high speed to do the things that must be done and they need and deserve public support.

The public's share in all this would seem to be to exercise patience and resist the natural reaction from the end of a war which is conducive to short tempers and a tendency to quarrel.

* * *

GETTING back to normal means a free rein for all the discords and conflicts inherent in human nature and in our political life. Some of that must be expected. The high spirit of sacrifice wanes, but it cannot wane too much if we are to come out of this turbulent period safely and keep the faith with those who died.

There will be much resistance to change. There has been already. But it is perfectly clear that change is going to be necessary, that new ways will and must be found to handle some of our problems. In some instances the public demands that.

The world that is emerging from the war is a new world.

Or at least that was the hope of those who fought it and those who gave their lives.

They cannot be forgotten.

Ired Property Owner Gets City's Notice

The city has served legal notice on a wealthy property owner who challenged the law and threatened to defy it, in a move to assure enforcement of the new city rat-proofing ordinance, city officials announced Friday.

They explained that they wished to withhold name of the property owner until he has had an opportunity to comply with the notice or court action has been taken. The notice gives the property owner 15 days in which to comply.

The United States Department of Public Health is cooperating with the city rat-proofing department, headed by Don Cook, in seeing that the program—a part of the nation-wide campaign to eradicate rats, carriers of typhus fever, is carried out here. A number of the large downtown buildings have been made rat-proof since the program was launched here in July. A professional rat-catcher is also at work trapping and poisoning the rodents.

Today Deadline For War Prisoner Mail

In order to make connection with transoceanic planes that will carry mail to prisoners in Japan all messages, intended for prisoners of war now in Japanese camps, must be mailed via air mail to the Pacific area headquarters of the American Red Cross at once.

Mrs. O. T. Williams, president of the war prisoners' committee of the Lubbock chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Marguerite Stiles, chapter secretary, made that announcement Friday, in urging all "the next of kin" to get their messages in the mail immediately.

"We have just received a new order from National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, advising us that the messages will be sent to the Pacific headquarters instead of to Washington, as originally announced," Mrs. Stiles explained. The messages, she said, must be in San Francisco by Monday in order to get on the mail planes bound for the Philippines.

The chapter officials explained that volunteer typists were on duty at Red Cross headquarters in the City Hall to assist those "next of kin" in getting their messages properly typed.

"We wish to urge all of the next of kin to come in at once, so that these messages will be able to reach the prisoners at the time of their release," Mrs. Stiles said. "It means fast work, and we are hoping to have a number of cheering letters in the mail in time."

Riots Continue In Buenos Aires

By JOHN WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES Aug. 17. — Saber-brandishing mounted police charged into a crowd of hundreds in the center of Buenos Aires' business district today and dispersed it to prevent further outbreaks after four nights of rioting between democratic and nationlist elements.

Revised figures showed four killed and 200 hurt—many wounded by bullets—in the disorders. Police fired machine-guns into a crowd of demonstrators early today, wounding nine.

The government banned further parades and other patriotic demonstrations, some of which had been authorized previously by the police.

The disorders coincided with increasing demands for restoration of constitutional government.

Want Free Elections

Some democratic demonstrators have been demanding free elections. The military regime of President Edelmiro Farrell has promised a general election but has not yet set a date for it.

Four Associated Press representatives ,two of them North Americans, caught in the thick of a disorder early today while walking to their homes, were compelled by police to stand against a wall with upraised hands while the police, brandishing revolvers, searched them. They were released immediately when police established their identities.

New Jap Premier

"we would like to tread the path of constructing a new social order, removing inveterate evils."

"Hence, when we give our efforts in recognizing the mutual situations," the premier continued, "I believe that there won't be any need of repeating the unhappy struggle."

He declared it was "needless to say" that the "immediate and most important task before the government at present is to carry out negotiations relative to the execution of the provisions of the Potsdam declaration."

But FCC monitors also picked up a Japanese broadcast directed to east Asiatic nations and quoting the Tokyo newspaper Ashahi as saying "the light of the ideal for the racial emancipation enkindled by the war of Greater East Asia will keep burning, despite the tragic finale of the conflict."

Number of Vital Errors

Admitting that Japan "committed a number of vital errors" in its east Asiatic program, Ashahi declared that "the fact that peoples" of those nations "nevertheless did not stint cooperative efforts with the Japanese indicates how strong and fervent was their desire for liberty and emancipation."

Domei reported that the Japanese puppet kingdom of Viet Nam, formed last March by the Nipponese from the French Indo-China protectorate of Annam, will continue fighting rather than return to French rule.

"The people of the Viet Nam empire refuse to be subjugated again by France, under whose fetters they long suffered," Domei said quoting a declaration in the name of the puppet government's premier.

Job Prospects

work to aid jobless. A complete daily report on layoffs, referrals and other elements of the labor picture will be made by the state office beginning today. Labor areas to report daily include Fort Worth, Amarillo, Waco, Dallas, Texarkana, Marshall, Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, San Antonio and Orange. Weekly reports will cover less important field offices.

Many Referred To Jobs

The Dallas USES office reported 1,232 of the 1,920 who applied had been referred to new jobs during the day and a half it has been open. Orville W. Erringer, area director of the WMC, said he was highly encouraged over the lookout because of new job orders coming in.

"If that keeps up, we're not going to have much trouble placing the war workers in jobs for a while at least," he added.

Three hundred persons had filed claims for unemployment compensation with the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission.

Surrender Leaflets Dropped On Luzon

WITH 14th CORPS ON LUZON, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—Low-flying Piper cub liaison planes, using a barrage of leaflets and loud speakers, have notified the Japanese troops still fighting throughout Luzon that Emperor Hirohito has ordered hostilities ceased.

The leaflet says:

"All enlisted personnel: Peace has come. We are taking this means of informing you that by edict of the emperor Japan has come to terms with the Allies.

"You notice already that our troops have ceased firing. Gather around your headquarters, and obey the instructions of your officers. Arrangements are being made so that you may come into our lines in an orderly manner."

Shreveport Reports 15th Case Of Polio

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—The 15th local infantile paralysis case was reported today by the director of the Shreveport health unit.

Arrangements were being made for the victim, 16-year-old Elmer Norton, to be taken to New Orleans for the Kenney treatment. Arrangements were in charge of George Sexton, jr., of the local chapter of the national foundation for infantile paralysis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The ban on greeting and congratulatory telegraph messages was lifted today.

New Mexico Renews State Fair Proposal

ALBUQUERQUE, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—Whether New Mexico will have a state fair was undecided today as officials of the event reconsidered a previous action that cancelled it.

With the Office of Defense Transportation ban on such gatherings lifted, the question was again brought up for discussion and officials promised a new decision within ten days.

If the board votes to hold the fair, it will probably take place in October instead of September as first planned, according to Leon Harms, fair manager.

SERVICES PENDING

NACOGDOCHES, Aug. 17 (U.P.)—Services for Hagan Parmley, 56, sheriff of Nacogdoches county for the past two and one half years, had not been set today, pending the arrival of a son from the Canal Zone. The veteran law enforcement officer died unexpectedly of a heart attack yesterday.

rial command" and had ceased hostilities.

By this account, the commander followed it up with a note to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek asking him to call off his armies too or the Japanese "may take action for self defense."

Hirohito backed up his original order to the Army and Navy to end hostilities with a rescript—which carries more weight—declaring that further war was useless in view of Russia's entry into the conflict and for that reason "we are about to make peace."

Previously he had blamed the atomic bomb for Japan's plight.

The new premier, Gen. Prince Naruhiko Nigashi-Kuni, told the Japanese Army "the decision has been taken to cease fire and return to peace" and admonished it to obey the emperor.

Texas Passes Sink Oklahoma All-Stars

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 17 (AP)—August Pelz cut fancy capers for the home folks tonight, his passing setting up both touchdowns as the Texas schoolboy All-Stars beat the Oklahoma All-Stars 13-0 before a crowd of 8,000 in the eighth annual Oil Bowl football game.

The tall youngster from Wichita Falls brought the first Texas touchdown late in the opening period when he pitched one to Art Sweet of San Antonio for 16 yards, then threw to Sammie Pierce for 15. Pierce, the tank-built line-crusher from Vernon, swept over right end for nine yards and the score. Bobby Terry of Cameron planted the extra point through the crossbars.

The second touchdown came late in the game and followed a 59-yard pass play engineered by the brilliant Pelz. He threw to Harold Clark of Highland Park (Dallas), in the clear and Clark, the outstanding line star of the game, tore his way to the Oklahoma four yard stripe. Pelz hit tackle for one, Bill Engle of Greenville drove to the one yard line and in two more tries went over for the score. Terry's try for point was wide.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures slumped 68 to 78 cents a bale today on persistent commission house and New Orleans liquidation which gathered momentum towards the close.

Heavy military textile contracts, termination and the reactionary trend in outside markets were unsettling factors. The forecast of large unemployment incident to the reconversion program also raised speculation over its possible effects on civilian buying of goods.

The government weekly weather report indicated that the cotton crop made generally satisfactory progress during the past week, except in parts of the eastern belt in which it was too rainy.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP) — Trade uncertainty over future price levels, following the war's end, prompted renewed liquidation in grain futures today.

Losses in rye reached 4⅞ cents a bushel at times, and wheat and oats were off almost 2 cents in late trading. Corn was down more than a cent.

Hedge selling also caused wheat losses. The Commodity Credit corporation still is buying wheat and export needs are expected to be heavy, and these factors prevented heavier losses in wheat.

Wheat closed ⅞ to 1⅜ cent lower than the previous finish, September $1.63⅝, corn was down 1¼ to 1⅝, December $1.13½, oats were off 1⅜ to 1⅝, September 57½, rye was 1¾ to 4¼ cents lower, September $1.39½, and barley was down 1⅝ to 2¾ cents September $1.01⅝.
