Nation's Airports Hum As Strike Ends

PERILS OF THE KITE FLIGHT GAME—For each moment watching a kite sailing majestically aloft, dipping and swaying as it dances in the wind, Snyder youngsters seem doomed to spend two disengaging it from entanglements such as antennas, trees and bushes like the one above. Here, Linda Teal watches sister Della, Sharon Hunnicutt, Roy Terhune, and Bobby Hunnicutt (who has gotten tangled himself) retrieve her kite from a thorny bush for the fourth time.

Second Big Snow Storm Within Week

Snyder was touched lightly by the second sleet and snow storm to roar into Texas within a week.

The fast-moving front plunged the Panhandle and South Plains back under a blanket of snow and ice.

Light snow fell in the Snyder area from shortly after midnight to around 5:30 a. m. today, producing .02 inch of moisture. The temperature dipped under the freezing mark before daybreak, but went back up to 33 degrees by 7 a. m.

The sleet and snow swept through the Fort Worth and Dallas areas after dawn and headed southeast.

Some highways in the Panhandle were closed and others in the South Plains were described as hazardous because of ice and snow. However, the sun was shining on the High Plains this morning and roads were expected to clear rapidly.

Soon after daylight a band of snow and sleet had spread halfway across the state from Hobbs, N.M., and Odessa and Midland in the West Texas oil fields. As much as 3 inches of fresh snow cloaked parts of the Texas Panhandle.

Heavy snow at Muenster, 14 miles west of Gainesville in North Texas, reduced visibility to less than one block. Heavy sleet, lasting about 20 minutes, followed a combination of hail, snow and sleet in Gainesville.

Sleet nearly big enough to look like hail peppered Fort Worth. Snow whitened the ground at Weatherford, just west of Fort Worth.

The snow and sleet belt extended from West Texas to the east and northeast through Big Spring and Childress into Oklahoma.

Blowing snow reduced visibility to one-fourth mile or less for a time at Big Spring and at Bowie, southeast of Wichita Falls in Montague County.

Preceded by light rain or drizzle, the leading edge of the cold front by 8 a.m. lay along a line from Texarkana southward through College Station and Cotulla.

In the Kenedy-Karnes City area of South Central Texas, the front's gusty arrival dropped the temperature from 61 to 49 degrees in 10 minutes.

PICKETS DEMONSTRATE AGAINST POLARIS MISSILE—Sign-carrying pickets, demonstrating against the Polaris missile and the nuclear arms race, stand near model of the Navy's big rocket outside Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. The peaceful demonstration coincided with address being delivered in the Institute by Navy's fleet ballistic missile program chief, Vice Adm. William F. Raborn. The pickets identified themselves as Youth for Nuclear Disarmament. Missile model is a permanent display at the Institute. (AP Wirephoto)

Loss Pegged In Millions

NEW YORK (AP) — Airports around the nation hummed with activity again today and the big passenger planes zoomed into the air in increasing numbers with the end of a flight engineers' strike.

The six-day work stoppage, worst tieup in American aviation history, cost crippled airlines an estimated $40 million.

Many more millions were lost by vacation resorts and industries connected with air travel. Railroads and bus lines reaped an unexpected revenue harvest, however.

Travel plans of an estimated 500,000 persons were affected during the shutdown period. Many of them were stranded away from home when the strike began, and had difficulties obtaining alternate transportation.

With whine of big jets and the roar of propeller-driven aircraft once more heard on the runways, Pan American World Airways was the first to restore full service. It announced this morning that operations were back to 100 per cent.

Other lines ranged downward to as low as 30 per cent. Some said it might take them a day or two more to get all schedules going again.

Miami Beach estimated its revenue loss at $3 million a day during the strike. So did the Caribbean area including Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Bahamas.

The end of the strike was announced personally Thursday by President Kennedy.

Flight engineers agreed to go back to work immediately while a presidential commission started work on finding a way of remedying the basic cause of their strike.

Kennedy made the announcement late Thursday at the White House. At his side was Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who had a large part in bringing about the end of the walkout.

For Goldberg it was the second major strike he has had a personal hand in settling since he took office a month ago. His very first task was to end a strike of railroad ferrymen in New York City that had virtually cut off commuter rail service.

Six airlines — Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern, National, and Flying Tigers — began cranking up their operations Thursday night. All were resuming many flights today and expected to be back to normal by Saturday or Sunday.

Western Air Lines, one of those struck by the engineers, refused to join the agreement.

Western had announced it was firing its 130 flight engineers and hiring qualified pilots to replace them. This stand for a time held up agreement to end the walkout on the other lines, with the union insisting the Western engineers had to be reinstated first.

But Kennedy amended his order setting up the three-man study commission to include Western. Ronald A. Brown, head of the engineers' union, said he considers that the inclusion of Western in the presidential order means the engineers should be reinstated.

"I assume they are not going to defy the President," Brown said.

Fidel Shapes Red Regime

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro recast his government today in a Communist-shape mold and gave Ernesto Guevara direction of the nation's industries.

The sweeping governmental reorganization after a marathon Cabinet session also spelled out the functions of the three-month Central Planning Council headed by the prime minister. His brother and heir apparent, Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro, was named council vice president.

Expected for several weeks, the reshuffle came months after teams of Cuban administrative technicians visited Iron Curtain countries. They spent considerable time in Czechoslovakia and diplomats here said the bulk of the changes were drawn up in Prague.

Guevara, the ultraleft Argentine soldier-of-fortune who fought with the Castros in the hills of Cuba, was clearly established as third in line in the revolutionary hierarchy by being named head of the key new Ministry of Industries. He had used his previous job as head of the National Bank to shake off economic ties with the United States and link Cuba's economy to the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

The council, which includes Guevara and all other ministers, was made the over-all supervisor of the nation's economic life, much as such councils function in the Communist states.

But Guevara was given virtually dictatorial powers over the nation's industries. Among his powers, he was given specific authority to "create, dissolve and modify" all state industries and to establish their "economic, financial and juridical direction and administration."

The petroleum and mines institutes and the administrative departments of industrialization and of sugar mills were placed under his immediate jurisdiction. Both formerly were under the Agrarian Reform Institute, which mushroomed into a mammoth economic czardom after it was created to take over the nation's farm lands from private owners.

In his new post Guevara is expected to spur Cuban industrialization to carry out Castro's announced aim of making Cuba no longer dependent on agriculture, and particularly on sugar, which has been the life blood of the island.

A number of complete industrial plants have been sent to Cuba from Communist-bloc countries. Government leaders say at least 60 will be going full-blast this year.

Hearings On Full Import Program Due

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public hearings on the whole program of oil import controls appear a distinct possibility.

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall dropped such a hint Monday in a hearing on residual oil imports.

Since then other government sources have said they expect Udall to conduct public sessions on the over-all program.

The hearings probably are some weeks off. They hardly could be held in time to affect allocations for the second quarter of the year.

Udall said the government's mandatory restrictions on oil imports were put into effect in the Eisenhower administration.

"It does seem to me as a generalized conclusion, however, that the oil import program in general, and I am speaking of the crude program too, has served the public interest and is important to our national security," he added.

So far there has been no decision, as a result of this week's hearing, to make any changes in present quotas on residual imports. But a decision, one way or the other, is expected soon.

Udall had said, in calling this week's hearing, that he planned to have it embrace the entire oil import program. But when he opened the hearing he said he had found it would be impossible to take up any part of the program other than residual oil.

Trial Okayed For Pay TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today formally authorized a three year trial of subscription television service in the Hartford, Conn. area. The test is the first of its kind in the nation.

The trail will be sponsored by the RKO General Inc., a major broadcaster which plans to spend up to $10 million on the test.

The company has said it does not expect to recover its investment during the three-year period, but hopes to prove within that time that pay TV is feasible and will have public acceptance.

Also participating in the Hartford test is Zenith Radio Corp. of Chicago, which developed the "Phonevision" system to be employed, and Television Entertainment Co. (TECO), a Zenith subsidiary.

The authority issued today went to Hartford Phonevision Co., owned by RKO General, which has purchased Hartford Channel 18 station WHCT for the proposed test.

That station will handle about 40 hours a week of selected subscription telecasting, without commercials. The remainder of its time will be devoted to conventional free TV programs.

Two Bills In Hands Of Friendly Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—Two administration measures aimed at wiping out $47 million of the deficit are in the apparent friendly hands of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Both Houses were in recess Friday for the weekend as members prepared for next week when at least one of the deficit solvers likely will get on the House calendar for debate.

No committee sessions were scheduled today except meetings between state agencies and House appropriation subcommittees.

The House Revenue and Tax group Thursday accepted but took no vote on Daniel's plan (HB470) to seize $17 million in abandoned deposits and funds in banks, insurance companies, pipeline companies and other firms. It was recommended unanimously by a subcommittee after efforts failed to find a compromise that would lessen opposition from the Texas Bankers Association.

Then the tax group heard and sent to subcommittee two bills (HB562,563) to erase another $30 million of the deficit by shifting the present $15 million a year obligation on the state's general revenue fund for new farm roads to regular highway funds, much of which come from the state gasoline tax.

Gov. Price Daniel directed presentation of one bill (HB562) and spoke up numerous times urging the change. The Daniel plan calls for a two year "temporary" shift of the $15 million burden then revision of law to make available more highway maintenance funds. At present the $15 million can be used only for building new roads and then the Highway Department must spend about $17 million from other funds for maintenance of those roads.

State Highway Commission Chairman Herb Petry appeared to say the Highway Department could "live with" the two-year plan, but urged some permanent financing help for maintenance.

Opponents to the bills in the present form included representatives of the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Association of County Judges and Commissioners.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Menton Murray, Harlingen, called another hearing session for Tuesday afternoon.

The House Labor Committee sent to subcommittee a bill (HB203) designed to keep children of migrant farm workers in school longer. Ruth Graves, representing the state AFL-CIO, said if the children of migrant workers are not educated to do something but farm work then new developments in farm machinery will make them "our unemployed citizens of tomorrow."

The committee also sent to subcommittee a bill (HB36) setting up a state industrial accident board with authority to make and enforce industrial safety rules. "Most of the accident in Texas are happening in small plants, plants that don't have a safety engineer or workmen's compensation that would bring about inspections under present laws," said Fred Schmidt, secretary-treasurer of the state AFL-CIO.

Laos Expects Prince Back

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government expects ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma to return to Cambodia from rebel-controlled eastern Laos with the Pathet Lao guerrillas' terms for ending the civil war.

Prince Souvanna, who fled to Cambodia just before Vientiane fell to the forces of Western-backed Premier Boun Oum, flew earlier this week to the rebel headquarters at Xieng Khouang. There has been no indication from the rebel side of the purpose of his trip or the probable duration of his stay.

The pro-Communist rebels have set up a government in Xieng Khouang made up of remnants of Souvanna's cabinet and recognized by the Soviet Union and Red China as the legal government of Laos. Outside Laos there has been speculation that Souvanna Phouma would remain in Xieng Khouang at the head of the rebel government.

Boun Oum's government, however, expects him to return to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the army commander who wields the real power in the Vientiane cabinet, plans to meet Souvanna in Cambodia when he returns.

DALLAS (AP)—More claims totaling nearly $1.5 million were filed against uranium promoter John Milton Addison by the Internal Revenue Service, individuals and private companies Thursday.

The new claims were in addition to 1,314 claims totaling about $2 million which had been filed earlier.

Soviets Press For Report On U. N. Mission To Congo

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union pressed today for an immediate report on United Nations progress in forcing military and political advisers out of the Congo.

In a move obviously intended to harass the U.N. operation in the Congo and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin complained Thursday that three days had passed since the Security Council adopted its new peace plan for the Congo but council members had been given no information on withdrawal measures.

The Soviets did not endorse the peace plan originally, abstaining when the council voted. And Zorin's arithmetic was in error, since he wrote two days after the council action early Tuesday.

The resolution authorized U.N. troops to use force if necessary to end fighting in the Congo and called for reorganization of the Congo army along nonpolitical lines as well as withdrawal of Belgian and other foreign military and political personnel not attached to the U.N. But Zorin ignored the other features of the plan and declared: "The subversive activity of Belgian personnel and mercenaries still remains the chief cause of tension in the Congo."

The Soviet delegate, who is boycotting Hammarskjold, directed his protest to Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, Security Council president for February.

Hammarskjold met Thursday for the third time with his Congo advisory committee to discuss ways of putting the peace plan into effect. He scheduled another meeting for today.

So far no announcements have emerged from these meetings, but reports from the Congo pictured the U.N. command there as cautiously optimistic about ending the civil war.

Brig. Gen. Paul Ward, commander of U.N. forces in North Katanga, met Thursday with President Moise Tshombe of the secessionist Congo province.

Ward then left for rebel-held Manono, where he was expected to seek neutralization of pro-Lumumbist rebel forces sent in by Antoine Gizenga's rebel regime in Stanleyville.

The Katanga government admitted its troops were still on the offensive against Baluba tribesmen in central Katanga even though Tshombe reached a pact with the U.N. to halt troop movements likely to cause friction. A Katanga spokesman claimed "our troops are only advancing in the Bukama area and as they are not meeting any opposition they can't really be said to be fighting."

Prominent Ranch Couple Found Dead

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—Leon Mattox, 49, and his wife, 47, were found dead in their car Thursday on U.S. 349 about 9 miles north of Rankin in Upton County. They were a prominent Pecos ranch couple.

Rancher DeWayne Lindsey found the bodies after the couple had been reported missing from their home.

Mrs. R. D. McSpaden, justice of peace at Rankin, said a hose was attached to the car's exhaust and extended inside a car window.

Army Is Given Tentative Okay On Nike-Zeus Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today has a tentative go-ahead signal for limited production of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile—something for which it has fought for the past two years.

For the first time, it was disclosed Thursday, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended that Nike-Zeus go into limited production, while research and development continues on other parts of the tremendously intricate system to intercept enemy intercontinental rockets.

The decision is still subject to final approval of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Against this background of a new and fatter role in the defense picture, top Army officials were called today to fill in the House Armed Services Committee on what weapons the Army has today and what it hopes to have in the future.

Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. and Gen. George Decker, Army chief of staff, were the scheduled witnesses. The committee got an over-all defense briefing Thursday from McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Nike-Zeus disclosure was made by Richard S. Morse, Army director of research and development. He was called by the Senate Armed Services Committee for questioning on his proposed promotion to assistant secretary of the Army in the same research field.

Morse revealed he was in direct opposition on Nike-Zeus production to Dr. Herbert F. York, head of the Defense Department's research and engineering.

York, a hold-over Eisenhower appointee, still is against anything more than continued research and development for Nike-Zeus, Morse said.

York's opinion prevailed during the Eisenhower administration's last two years. Now, as Morse put it, a "compromise" has been reached—the recommendation for limited production.

Morse said early limition now would save about two years in readiness time on the defensive system and would mean "buying time for this country" in the race with the Soviet Union to get such a weapon on the line.

The objective of the Nike-Zeus is to destroy any enemy missiles hundreds of miles from the United States. It involves instant detection of enemy missile launchings, verification within minutes that it is not a false alarm, and swift interception of the oncoming rocket by the Nike-Zeus—with both rockets traveling at thousands of miles per hour.

The Nike-Zeus is to get its first major tests in the Pacific this summer against Atlas intercontinental missiles launched from California.

Fulks New BC Head

The fourth annual Scurry County Boys' Club Annual Meeting was held here last night in the Village Restaurant, with there being 41 in attendance.

Master of ceremonies for the yearly fete was Joe Williamson. He welcomed a number of guests who were present, and also introduced the program participants.

One of the highlights of the evening consisted of the election of officers for the coming year. The report of the nominating committee was presented by committee chairman Shelby Coker, after which the slate was approved unanimously.

Norman Fulks will serve as president of the board of [illegible] during 1961, and succeeds Walter Hales in the position. Other incoming officers as elected include Freddy Bullard, first vice president; Dan Gibson, second vice president; Tommy Ivision, secretary; and Joe Cargile, treasurer.

Cargile was re-elected to the treasurer's post, while J. C. Massingill is the retiring first vice president; Bullard is immediate past second vice president; and Mrs. Bill Lee Jr. the past secretary.

In addition to the above slate of officers, approval for several directors was accomplished, whose terms will last for the upcoming three years. Those directors as elected include Herman Trigg, Bill Zimmerman, Williamson, Hales, J. C. Wooldridge, Harold Lacik, Massingill, Jack Bowden, Sam Stephens, and Mark McLaughlin.

The invocation which preceded the dinner was offered by Coker. Ivison presented the annual report, which served as a re-cap of the 1960 program in capsule form.

Zimmerman, who is chairman of the awards committee, presented a number of certificates to various volunteer workers as another highlight of the program. Recipients of such certificates included Guy Sullivan, Dan Cotton, Levi Garrett, Bill Ellis Jr., Truss Farquar, Jack Bowden, Lonnie Crosby, Troy Scott, Max Laing, Fulks, G. I. Jones, Bill McLaughlin, Martin Lutkins, and Mrs. Marvin Mayfield.

Fulks, the newly-elected president of the board, gave a brief acceptance speech to conclude the program, after which a short meeting of the board members in attendance was held.

Texas Weather In Traditional Mixup

The day was perfect in temperature. The sun was bright and warm, tempered at times by cooling touches of wind.

Like butterflies from a cocoon Snyder citizens gravitated to the great outdoors to see how everything had fared during the freezing week just past and to think of spring flowers and maybe a garden.

Shouts familiar as the sounds of summer wafted through the faintly stirring air, as teenagers swarmed over the tennis courts, showed up for baseball practice or just to watch track teams go through a training session.

Youngsters blocked sidewalks and residential streets with bands of "bat and ball" sessions while anxious mothers cautioned and watched for flying balls and flying glass from nearby windows.

Housewives sat on doorsteps watching smallfry at play, gazing dreamily at floating clouds.

Businessmen leaned on counters, discussing the art of fish-catching with customers who were in no particular hurry because it was such a perfect day, almost like summer.

The "sun worshipers" appeared in groups of twos and threes on their way to the park in shorts, walking airily, laughing often for the sheer joy of light clothing and the burn of the sun on winter-faded tans.

"As perfect as a day in June" fittingly captioned Thursday, Feb. 23, in Snyder as the day ended with dreams of tomorrow's fishing, playing, and even working in the spring-come-at-last-day to come.

Even sounds of night wind brought only the fury of March wind to mind.

Today is Friday, Feb. 24, in Snyder. The sky is threatening, the ground is wet from melted snow that fell in the night and still clings to cars, houses, and trees.

One thing only had the people of Snyder forgotten while basking in the sun. Snyder is in Texas and that "wonderful" state likes people to "wonder" about the weather.

Snyderite's Father Dies

J. H. Smith of Rotan, father of Charlie Smith of Snyder, died today in the Callan Hospital in Rotan. A retired stock farmer, he was 96.

Mr. Smith was born August 16, 1864, in Cairo, Ill., and came to Texas with his family in a covered wagon in 1870. Indians drove them from Blanco County and they moved to Williamson County where Indians raided every moonlit night, taking livestock and anything that could be moved.

He married Miss Martha Poyners of Hamilton in 1884. They celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary last year.

Other Snyder survivors are a granddaughter, Mrs. Steve Birdwell a great-granddaughter, Cindy Birdwell; and a great-grandson, Scott Birdwell.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Rotan where the Smiths had resided since 1924.

Taken To Dallas

Mrs. Ruth E. Jones of Knott was transferred from the Snyder Nursing Home to the East Town Osteopathic Hospital in Dallas today by the Bolger Ambulance Service.

Says Americans Have Religious Blindspot

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are plagued with an educational blind spot—knowledge about each other's religion.

This is the view of one of the country's leading educators and interfaith diplomats, Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, and he sees the problem as an increasingly critical one.

"It's immensely serious," he said.

"We have a religiously illiterate population. And this is true of some of our most educated people."

Body Of Second Miner Is Found

KITTANNING, Pa. (AP)—Rescue teams early today dug out the body of the second of two coal miners killed in a cave-in at the Wallwork mine near Kittanning, about 35 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

Rescuers worked for about 12 hours before reaching the body of William Titus, 38. About three hours before they found the body of Paul Bisch, 40.

The mine roof caved-in Thursday afternoon as the two men worked about a mile and a half inside the mine. A third miner said he left the scene shortly before the roof fell.

The two deaths made a total of four from mine mishaps in western Pennsylvania in 24 hours. A cave-in on Wednesday at U.S. Steel Corp. Robena No. 3 mine near Carmichaels, Greene County, also killed two workers.

Daniel Expected For Celebration

LAREDO (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel and other state officials were due here today to help Laredo in its lengthy annual celebration of George Washington's birthday.

Weekend visitors at the four-day celebration which started Wednesday will include Texas House Speaker James Turman and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

Dr. Arturo Morales Carreon of Puerto Rico, recently named by President Kennedy as U.S. deputy assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, spoke today at the first international good Neighbor Council being held in conjunction with the celebration.

A spokesman said Thomas was ordered to bed Thursday after a doctor examined him and found he had a sore throat and fever, plus the flu.

The illness is expected to keep the comedian from serving as master of ceremonies Saturday night at the White House Correspondents Association stag dinner in Washington, D.C.

Water Offered Standard Oil For Repressuring By CRMWD

Water for repressuring in the East Howard oil fields was offered to Standard of Texas Oil Company Thursday at 28 cents per thousand.

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, after a long debate, accepted the recommendation of the water rate committee on this figure up to 800,000 gallons per day. However, an escalator clause was tied in to provide for a higher rate should charges to the City of Big Spring (to which the rate is hinged) be raised.

The contract quantity would be raised to 1,500,000 a day if Sinclair, which had made inquiries but had not entered into negotiations, wants to come into the repressuring picture in the field. The same rate would apply. The contracts would be subject to prior municipal demands.

Inquiries from operators in the Varel field 12 miles northwest of Big Spring and in the Moore field southwest of Big Spring were referred to the rate committee for separate study.

The board reaffirmed its policy of no additional taps on the main supply line, except for cities or counties engaged in construction work. In response to an unofficial inquiry from Lamesa, Charles Perry, Odessa, CRMWD president, said that the district could not give definite information at this stage, but that the new supply plans did have Lamesa in mind (along with some other municipalities).

Puckett & French, Big Spring, were selected as architect-engineer to begin planning on a headquarters building in Big Spring. A site previously had been purchased at West Third and Lancaster Streets.

S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer for the district, ventured that a new supply for this area would be required by 1969, but he thought that financial arrangements looking toward start of construction might have to be made within four to five years. Meantime, the district can meet its commitments by exercising ingenuity in its peaking supplies, he said. He warned that municipal demands are doubling every decade.

General Manager E. V. Spence reported that the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association was making good progress in its studies toward a course of action to cleanup the upper Colorado River water shed. Operators with approximately 85 per cent of the wells already have indicated cooperation, he reported. Once salt water disposal has been worked out by operators, the district will proceed with plans to intercept the salt water in the normal flow of the river and dispose of it, he added. Freese said that studies were continuing on a second dam on the upper Colorado River, possibly in southern Mitchell County. This is dependent upon salt water pollution control.

P. C. Harbour, reporting for the recreation committee, said that the state health department's aid would be sought in attempting to plot lot (cabin) sites on White Island, and if and when a green light was given by the state agency, efforts would be pressed to lease such sites. The area above elevation 2,265, recommended as a minimum elevation for cabin location, is drastically limited on the island, he said.

The debate over a rate quotation to oil companies centered around whether to use original or replacement costs and interest charges as a basis of computing the rate. The final figure represented something of a compromise.

New Envoy To Spain Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today chose Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, member of a noted Pennsylvania family, to be ambassador to Spain.

The 64-year-old Biddle now is adjutant general for Pennsylvania and lives at Annville, Pa.

Diplomacy is a familiar field to him. He was appointed U.S. minister to Norway in 1935 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and was named ambassador to Poland in 1937.

For a while he was ambassador to France and served in London as liaison man with the exiled governments of Poland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Norway until he left the diplomatic service in 1944 to go on active duty with the Army.

Biddle is a Democrat.

The roar of Victoria Falls on Africa's Zambezi River can be heard 20 miles. Its great plume of water vapor is visible for seven miles.

Cosmorama Club Hears Play Review

Cosmorama Study Club met Wednesday afternoon at Martha Ann Woman's Club, with Mrs. Malven Stevenson and Mrs. Lee Smyth hostesses.

Mrs. W. W. Park presided at the business meeting, at which time final arrangements were made for the club's style show to be held Saturday at 3 p. m. Plans were made to serve coffee preceding the style show.

Mrs. Bill Vestal reviewed the musical Comedy, "The Sound of Music." She accompanied her review with musical selections from the original sound track, along with scenes from the play projected on a screen.

"On Nov. 16, 1959, at the Lunt-Fontaine Theater in New York City, 'The Sound of Music' opened to tumultous applause," Mrs. Vestal said.

"With Mary Martin as star, a score by Rodgers and Hammerstein and a book by Lindsay and Crouse, the production could hardly miss.

"The idea for the musical occurred first to the show's director, Vincent Donehue. He saw a German film about the famous Trapp family of singers and told Mary it could make a stage show for her. She asked Rodgers and Hammerstein what they thought of the idea, and they apparently thought so much of it that they decided to do the show themselves. After months of work, 'The Sound of Music' emerged as a warm-hearted smash hit.

"Part of the sound of music is the bubbling sound of children. The show employes more young children in important roles than any Broadway production in years. Since the seven children are on stage nearly half the time, their high spirits rub off on the whole show.

"Mary Martin's charm is more winning than ever in the portrayal of Maria Augusta Trapp, first as the music-loving postulant at Nonnberg, then as the joyous governess to seven children, and last as the loving wife of an imperiled Austrian.

"Appearing with her are Theodore Bikel as Capt. von Trapp; Patricia Neway, as the understanding Mother Abess; Kurt Kasznar, as a highly adaptable friend, and Marion Marlowe as the unusual fetching villainess."

Bartos Gives Tips On Dog Raising

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Dogs are introverts and extroverts just like people, says Bob Bartos, an expert on canine character. Some, in fact, grow into four-legged facsimiles of their owners.

"I have a feeling," Bartos says seriously, "that a dog that gets too human can be a little dishonest. He knows what he's supposed to do, and he knows that you know he knows. But he's come to like the soft life, and wants to do everything the easy way."

Basically, dogs are very much what you allow them to be, says Bartos, a professional handler, specialty judge and manager of a big research kennel in the Pacific Northwest.

"With 114 recognized breeds, of all sizes, shapes and dispositions, you can't make flat statements about dogs' temperaments any more than you can about human nationalities.

"It's true a highstrung, frenetic woman can make a nervous wreck out of a lot of animals, but a phlegmatic basset, for example, probably wouldn't be bothered."

Bringing up dogs is very much like raising children, he explains. The most important things are patience, consistency and good management. "And no one is worse for a dog, or a child, than a person who is undecided. You've got to make sure he understands exactly what you want him to do, and then make sure it does every time."

But Bartos, who has raised three children and innumerable dogs, says we expect too much of our dogs—and children, too.

"We expect them to adjust immediately to every situation. Most people who expect a dog to be worldly first take him to a busy shopping district and drag him all around to expose him to everything. This is the worst thing in the world to do. He has to be prepared gradually. If you do have an extrovert who takes readily to crowds, he may have other faults. Sometimes dogs who are the hardest to train retain the training longer. Impatience is an owner's worst fault."

Bartos' experience with dogs goes back to childhood. His parents raised German shepherds as a hobby. He began raising terriers, and the dour dignified Scotty is still his favorite breed.

In 1947 he went into dog nutrition work. "Since World War II tremendous strides have been made in research."

But proper diet is only one part of good management, which Bartos says can make or break a dog. "More dogs are ruined by bad management than by bad breeding."

Equal Rights? Women Have Them And Plenty To Spare

BY INEZ ROBB

Men, as every expert worth his salt knows, constitute the sensitive sex. In this century, when their ego has been subjected to special buffeting by equal suffrage and other similar outrages, they are more than ever worthy of tender, loving care.

Nothing is more upsetting to the male than the female who hums, "Anything you can do, I can do better", and then proves it. Among my acquaintances are a handful of doctors who have had a hung-dog look ever since the fall of another masculine preserve—that of official physician to the President.

Oh, they like and admire Dr. Janet Travell, all right, but—dammit (that's them speaking, not me), did she have to inch them out of the White House?

But it is not Dr. Travell, pioneer though she is, who is really the subject of this screed. She may even sue me for mentioning her in the same column with what follows.

So, before I plunge any farther, I wish to disassociate Dr. Travell and myself with any endorsement of crime. And I want to assure my male readers that I bring up the following, not to turn the knife in the wound, but as a matter of public curiosity.

But it is apparent that it is time to rewrite the old saw: "Never send a man to do a girl's work" in a real heist job. Only 11 years ago the whole nation was agog over the bold and brazen looting of a Brink's armored transfer service in Boston.

It required 11 big, bad men in Halloween masks to clean out Brink's Boston office of $1,219,000. It was the nation's biggest cash robbery. Not since The Great Train Robbery has any event provided more fodder for radio, teevee, movies, fiction and the theatre.

After six and one-half years, with the statute of limitations galloping to a close, the FBI finally broke the case and brought eight of the Brink's cast to trial.

But during all those years, two women, one in Sheldon, Iowa, and the other in Norfolk, Va., were quietly and efficiently making away with satchels of loot that make the Brink's raiders look like amateurs — and without any such Hollywood heroics as Halloween masks and guns, either.

While the 11 Brink's bandits were divvying up $1,219,000, Mrs. Burnice Iverson Geiger of Sheldon was competently stealing $2,000,000 from her father's bank, the Sheldon National Bank.

At the same time in Norfolk Miss Minnie Clark Mangum was squirreling away a sum estimated at $2,884,000 from the now-defunct Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn.

Mrs. Geiger, 58, who had spent her adult life working in her father's bank, got away with not quite twice as much as the 11 hoods who practiced Brinksmanship literally. Miss Minnie make the Brink's men look like pikers by making off with 2½ times their haul.

Miss Minnie, who pleaded guilty to embezzlement of more than a million, is now serving a 20-year prison term, and Mrs. Geiger has just been sentenced to 15 years in stir.

Nor, is that all. Two women were arrested a month ago in Shinnston, W. Va., for embezzling from the same institution, the Bank of Shinnston, for which both worked. Interestingly enough, the two women were not in cahoots. Both were loners, each working her own vein. But between them, Lucy Fortney, 62, and Mrs. Jo Ann Stevens, 25 got away with a quarter of a million, according to the FBI.

And let us not forget those talented girls who, some 10-12 years ago, rooked their employer, the Southern Bell Telephone Company, of a handsome sum by stuffing all the loose change into their brassieres. The money Monroes, so to speak.

Now I heartily disapprove of all such goings-on. The book is too good for these girls. I merely pause to point out that when it comes to a big-time job, don't send for Willie Sutton when, patently, there's nothing like a dame.

Arthur Godfrey To Quit 'Candid Camera'

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey says he is bowing out as master of ceremonies of the CBS television show, "Candid Camera."

There have been reports of dissension between Godfrey and others connected with the Sunday night show, including the program's creator, Allen Funt.

Godfrey, in a statement released Thursday night through CBS, said he wanted "to be free to do my own shows and am looking at several formats that have been proposed."

Godfrey wished good luck to Funt and other associates on the show.

Artist Gets Tired Of Hearing This

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a modern artist gets tired of hearing:

"I may not know much about art—but I know what I like."

"At his last one-man show, the only picture he sold was one the gallery hung upside down."

"They all look like they're hung upside down to me."

"His yearbook in art school predicted that 'Some day the name of Ellsworth Twitteringham will be one to conjure with.' But so far all he has lived up to is the last syllable of it."

"He must be in his blue period. Anybody who paints the way he does couldn't be anything but blue."

"This one called 'Nude descending a moonbeam' isn't half-bad, but tell me—which is the moonbeam and which is the nude?"

"Ellsworth, I've got a commission for you at last. It's from the landlord. He says if you'll paint the other apartments in the buildings, he'll cancel our back rent."

"I understand he started out by painting signs, and then his career went steadily downhill."

"Never mind explaining to me what it is. Just tell me why it is."

"If my kid couldn't draw better than that, the teacher would throw him out of kindergarten."

"My dear, his work is simply too en province to be classed with the really avant garde, don't you think? What I mean is, he's sort of a frigid zone Gaugin substituting igloos for Tahitian huts."

"Of course his painting lacks a sense of perspective. If he had a real sense of perspective, he'd have become a plumber."

"Last year the judges ignored his mural depicting high points in the life of a used car salesman, and instead gave third prize to his paint cloth which happened to be hanging on a chair nearby."

"His only published works are three drawings a psychiatrist bought to illustrate a book on abnormal psychology."

"Some call him a post-impressionist. Others say he's really a cubist at heart. But my girl friend used to date him, and she says he's strictly a square."

"Original? He isn't even aboriginal!"

"What did he paint this one with—a brush or his beard?"

"I admit his paintings give me a sense of mystery. But the biggest mystery is—why did he put a $500 price tag on them?"

"Why do they hang his pictures why not him?"

Blimp Crew Gives Away Free Car Wash

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Comedian Bill Skiles today has a free car wash and has made up with Navy men who accidentally water-bombed his car from a blimp.

Skiles, 29, and his wife Marilyn were parked by the seashore in their freshly washed sports car Sunday when the blimp, passing overhead, chose that time to dump its ballast water.

Al Milmant, a member of the blimp crew, denied Skiles' charge that it was "dirty bilge water" but offered a wash job, courtesy of the Navy.

Skiles collected the wash from the blimpmen at the El Toro Marine Air Station.

"Bill's not mad any more," said Mrs. Skiles. "In fact, he's inviting them all to dinner."

TIGERS TAKING TREK TO FORT STOCKTON

Commanche Relays First Hurdle For Tracksters

The Snyder Tiger thinclads edge out into their first competitive action of the season tomorrow, as they travel to Fort Stockton for the 16th Annual Comanche Relays, which traditionally heralds the beginning of the West Texas schoolboy track and field season.

Coach Dutch Stehley will depart for that hill country stronghold this evening, with a 15-man squad in tow. Travel will be by bus.

Tomorrow's showing in the one-day meet should serve to shed some light on the strength of the defending regional champion Tigers, and also as a yardstick of the chances afforded the team in next Saturday's Canyon Reef Relays, which will be hosted by Snyder. Last year saw the Tigers nosed out of the Reef title by a mere half-point, with Midland snatching the crown by virtue of a strong finish in the distance events.

Some 47 teams representing all classes will take part in the giant field, with defending Class 3A champ Andrews a strong favorite to cop the upper division, which includes both 3A and 4A schools. Others competing in that division in addition to Snyder and Andrews will be Lubbock Monterey, Tom S. Lubbock, Odessa High, Odessa Permian, Odessa Ector, Monahans, Pecos, Kermit, Brownfield, El Paso Tech, Pampa, San Angelo, Seminole, Borger, Lake View and Eagle Pass.

In the lower division of play host Fort Stockton, defending champ Denver City, and Taylor are considered to be strong contenders.

Midland is the defending Comanche Relays crownholder in the upper division.

Preliminaries are to get underway tomorrow morning at 9:30, and finals are slated to begin at 1 p. m.

Coach Stehley has indicated that he will draw from the following boys in the events listed:

440-yard relay — Mike Morris, Bobby Brown, John Weaver, Jesse Crawford.

120-yard high hurdles — Jim Taylor.

100-yard dash — Crawford, Morris.

440-yard dash—Weaver, Mike Bailey, Ronnie Maroney, Malcolm Bolger.

180-yard low hurdles — Crawford, Taylor.

220-yard dash—Weaver, Bailey.

Mile run —Bobby Wilson, Louis Herndon.

Mile relay — Bailey, Maroney, Bolger, Weaver, Billy Andrews.

High jump — Bax Callaway, Pooch Hatter.

Broad jump — Brown, Crawford.

Pole vault — Brown, Ronnie Overby, Perry Culwell.

Shot put—Bill Weaver.

Discus — Bill Weaver, Taylor.

The team is due to return to Snyder at approximately 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Ira To Meet Westbrook Here Tonight

Tiger Gym will be the scene tonight of the third and deciding clash for the District 92-B girls cage title, with Ira and Westbrook being the combatants concerned.

The Westbrook sextet went through its regular season district slate in undefeated fashion, garnering wins in all ten of their double round robin frays. However, circuit rules provide for the top two finishers to meet in a best of three series for the title, which allowed Ira, at 8-2, to have a shot at the laurels.

Westbrook won the initial tilt in the series, 41-36, after which Ira rebounded to post a 40-29 victory the past Tuesday to set the stage for tonight's do-or-die clash.

Game time is 7:30, and Ira Coach Roy Sallee is expected to go along with starting forwards Lena Farmer, Kay Ford and Karen White, and starting guards Jann Holladay, Judy Thomas, and Kay Byars.

Palmer Back For Title Try

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer headed the field as 153 professionals and 13 amateurs prepared to tee off today in the $20,000 Baton Rouge open golf tournament.

Golfers had one eye cocked to the sky, as they hoped there would be no repetition of rains that soaked a good part of the South—and the New Sherwood Forest Country Club—earlier in the week.

Venerable Sam Snead of Boca Raton, Fla., who set a tournament record of 275 in 1953, his last appearance here, heads a threesome that also includes Don Fairfield of Jacksonville, Ill., and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif.

Palmer, who plays out of Miami, plays with Doug Ford of Crystal River, Fla., and Howie Johnson of Cog Hill, Ill., the 1959 winner.

Golfers reported a day of sunshine Thursday had left the 6,700-yard, par 70 course in good condition. They said the course was playing long but the greens were in good shape.

Mammoth Midget Gloves To Have First Firing Tonight

Pee wee boxers from a large segment of West Texas will descend on Snyder tonight, tomorrow night, and Monday night, as the Second Annual Midget Gloves Tournament unfolds within the Towle Park Barn confines.

The Scurry County Boys' Club is the sponsoring organization for the meet, which will see a healthy series of bouts staged on each of the three tourney nights beginning at 8 o'clock, with finals set for Monday. The public is invited to turn out for the sessions, with admission prices being 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Advance indications seem to assure a larger turnout than last year's initial venture, with a host of area cities planning to field teams. Abilene is to enter three teams, with their represented organizations being the Abilene Boys' Club, the City Recreation Department, and the Abilene Boys' Ranch. Lamesa will be out in force, and will be expected to be a strong contender for the team trophies which are being offered. Also, Colorado City, Odessa, Rotan and Cisco are expected to participate in the one-ring circus in addition to host Snyder.

There will be two divisions of competition—novice and open. An open class boxer has been designated as one who has had as many as six fights or has been a champion in any tournament, while a novice is any boy who has not boxed over five times.

Definite weight divisions will include the following: 55 pounds and under—Mite; 56-65—Flea; 66-75—Spider; 76-85—Ant; 86-95—Bee; 96-105—Beetle. Additional weight divisions within those ranges will be utilized when warranted by the number of entrants. Also, a special weight division for boys under 45 pounds will be added if necessary, but will not count toward the team awards.

In order to be eligible, a contestant must not have reached his fifteenth birthday by the date of the beginning of the tournament, and must not weigh over 105 pounds. Also, he must file with the meet director a liability release as signed by his parents or guardian.

Champions and runners-up in each weight division will receive trophies, and team trophies are to be presented to the championship team and runner-up team in both the novice and open divisions, based on the number of champs in each class.

The weighing-in ceremonies are slated for 3-5 p. m. this afternoon at the Boys' Club here, 1500 Twenty-eighth Street. No entries will be accepted after 5 p.m. today.

Each contestant will be required to furnish his own personal equipment with the exception of gloves and gauze. The current rules as set forth by the A. A. U. will govern the tournament unless otherwise specified, and rounds will be of one minute duration with a one minute rest in between. Three judges and a referee will oversee the bouts, and the decision of the judges will be final.

Pairings will be made by drawings, and will be accomplished this evening between 5 and 7 o'clock. Any additional weight divisions as are needed will be added at that time.

Snyder will be fighting for retention of its open class crown as copped last year, at which time the host team nabbed all five open titles to completely dominate that division of play. Abilene, with three champs and two runners-up, won the novice title.

Trader Lane Eyes LA For Hill Strength

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trader Frank Lane, the Kansas City Athletics' general manager, is looking toward the Los Angeles Dodgers in his efforts to make a deal that will strengthen the A's pitching staff.

After talking with Buzzie Bavasi, the Dodgers GM, Lane Thursday assigned George Selkirk, player personnel director, to the Dodger Camp at Vero Beach, Fla., to look over some of the young mound talent. No names were mentioned, but Lane indicated he hopes to make a deal before the training season ends.

Title Tie In Sight For Red Raiders

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Tech goes after a championship tie in Southwest Conference basketball Friday night when the Red Raiders play crippled Texas Christian at Lubbock.

The Raiders can clinch at least half of the crown if they beat the downtrodden Christians. Tech has a 9-2 record with three games to go.

Tied for second are Texas A&M, Texas and Arkansas, each with 7-4. Texas and Texas A&M clash at College Station to knock one out. Arkansas hosts Baylor.

Rice and Southern Methodist tangle at Houston in a game that means nothing in the championship race. Both have already been eliminated.

Texas Tech is a heavy favorite to trim hapless Texas Christian. In fact the Raiders are expected to win their three remaining games—against TCU, Rice at Houston next Monday and Texas at Lubbock next Thursday.

However, should the Raiders lose these games they could be beaten out for the championship since they have only a two-game lead.

She found out when she went to Delgado's office to find out why he was not at home—and was told he was away on his honeymoon.

Police are waiting for Juan to return to face charges of bigamy.

Sharp Toes, Small Heels On Way Out

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP) — The health officer of Northamptonshire says ruefully that medical arguments can't persuade the ladies they'd be happier if they'd give up shoes with sharp toes and heels.

But Dr. C. Milliken Smith said in an address at Kettering Thursday night that the wheel of fashion may be coming to his rescue.

"I believe that stiletto heels are on the way out, and that square-toed shoes are coming in," he said.

"There is no other relief in sight because it is obvious that girls and young women—despite clear warnings of trouble that lies ahead—will continue to wear pointed toes and stiletto heels as long as they are fashionable."

But the doctor speculated that if the recent trend in footwear continues, it might go as far as it did in the 15th Century in Britain.

Dr. Smith said that in the early 15th Century women's shoes were so long and so narrow they became known as "pikes", which they resembled, and that religious leaders became alarmed.

The Pope, he said, was persuaded to condemn making pikes longer than 11 inches. Within 20 years broad "duckbill" shoes, some of them 9 inches wide, came into fashion and there is no record of papal or medical disapproval.

Explanation Is Demanded

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A high school vice principal and his janitor started out to teach a lesson to 15 students Thursday but ended up having to do some explaining to police.

After bicycle and motor scooter riders ignored warnings not to use the school's auto parking lot, the vice principal, Luther E. Hartman, and janitor Joe Guerrero confiscated five bicycles and stripped all accessories from 10 motor scooters.

Patrolman G. S. Connell, who answered the student's call to the school to investigate a "mass theft," found the bicycles in the school basement and the motor scooter accessories in the principal's office.

Connell returned the bicycles and parts to the students, warning them to change their parking place. No charges were filed.

"I had no idea the kids would call police," the embarrassed Hartman said.

Mary Healey Quitting Act

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of show business' most famous husband and wife teams is breaking up the act—for nightclubs, that is.

Mary Healey says she won't be with her husband, Peter Lind Hayes, when he next hits the saloon circuit after they finish filming their NBC-TV series in April.

"I'm being replaced by a group—four boys and a girl—in the act," Mary added Thursday.

"To be honest," she told a newsman. "I have never really been mad for show business the way Peter is. I have always enjoyed my work but I don't feel I need to do it to keep happy."

The couple, married nearly 20 years, have two children, a girl, 10, and a boy, 12.

BIRTHS

Mr and Mrs. Troy Little are parents of a son weighing 6 pounds, 4½ ounces, born at 7:59 p. m. Tuesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Loyalty Sunday Approaching At First Methodist Church

The highpoint in a far-reaching building and financial program will be reached at the First Methodist Church here Sunday, as the church will at that time observe "Loyalty Sunday."

The program began in earnest the past November when—on the seventy-seventh anniversary of the local church's founding—groundbreaking ceremonies served to set the planning wheels in motion.

Loyalty Sunday is to serve as the focal date for the combined building and budget pledgeship program, with the emphasis being tithing toward the goal of $1,600 per week, which is the amount required weekly for the functioning of the church.

In order to attain this end, pledge cards have been distributed to all members by mail, and they have been requested to complete the signing of the cards and to present them at the altar on Sunday. Any member who is not able to attend Sunday's service is asked to bring his card at any time during the week and to place it on the altar.

Beginning at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon of March 5, teams of laymen will visit in the homes of all members who have not returned their cards by that date, so that they may be afforded an opportunity at that time to participate in the pledge program.

Admirer Of Elephants Is Disillusioned

By JOE BENHAM

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An opera singer who likes toy elephants so much she sometimes carries a 24-pound one for good luck had her first close-up meeting with a live elephant Thursday.

Soprano Frances Yeend found him "kind of like a cactus plant."

Her verdict: "I wouldn't ant a real elephant."

Miss Yeend, here to appear in the San Antonio Grand Opera Festival, admitted that it would not do her much good if she did want one. A live pachyderm wouldn't fit very well into a 6-room New York apartment that already houses 80 toy elephants, Miss Yeend's oil paintings and her husband, pianist James Benner.

After Thursday's meeting with Mote, a 25-year-old Indian elephant in the San Antonio Zoo, Miss Yeend said "He was kind of like a cactus plant" referring to the bristles in his trunk. She also noted he had a backbone so sharp one could ride him only in a saddle or howdah.

The zoo provided a howdah of sorts—"a kind of plank-on-top-of-a-girdle thing" in Miss Yeend's eyes—and she rode blissfully around the zoo four times.

The San Antonio safari as arranged after officials of the San Antonio Symphony learned Miss Yeend had never been near enough to an elephant to touch one, in spite of a love of the big beasts that dates back to her childhood in Portland, Ore.

So fascinated by elephants is she that she sometimes carries a 24-pound teakwood and ivory elephant named "Elephantus" with her for good luck while she is in New York.

Ancient Tunnel Is Found In Mexico

NUEVA CASAS GRANDES, Mexico (AP)—Mystery enveloped this Chihuahua state town today after a centuries-old tunnel was discovered 35 feet below a big apartment building here.

Officials said the tunnel was about 40 inches in diameter, has stuccoed walls and steps leading downward.

Archaeologists believe it may be an passageway to an underground ceremonial room or possibly the tomb of chieftains of the ancient Casas Grande Indians who lived here more than 1,000 years ago.

China's Religion 'All State' Now

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

TOKYO (AP) — Official Communist accounts of religious activity in Red China emphasize there is no question of separation of church and state.

On the surface at least, it's all state.

The New China News Agency reports a national conference of Chinese "Protestant" churches was held recently in Shanghai. It said 345 representatives of Protestant churches from 25 provinces municipalities and autonomous regions attended.

The fact that such a meeting was held openly on the Red mainland might appear to indicate an active religious movement there. But the Communist agency's account of the conference proceedings made it sound more like a gathering of the commune cadre.

NCNA said conference speakers "pointed out with satisfaction that the Chinese Protestant churches had made great achievements in their patriotic, anti-imperialist movement in the past 10 years." It said they had transformed themselves from an instrument of imperialist aggression into churches administered by Chinese Protestants themselves.

The church conference described as "unprecedented the achievements of the Chinese peo- Communist party and Chairman Mao Tze-tung and guided by the three Red banners—the general line for building socialism, the big leap forward and the people's communes."

NCNA said the conference representatives called for vigilance against imperialism, "especially U.S. imperialism." The United States, it asserted, still is trying by all means to use religion as an instrument of sabotage against China.

In its only other reference to things religious, NCNA's account said the conference representatives "expressed thanks to the Communist party and the peoples government for their consistent policy of religious freedom and their consideration toward Protestants."

Life Span Of 120 Years Is Predicted

CHICAGO (AP)—Life expectancy of 120 years may be common in America by the end of this century, and some persons may live to be 140.

Even longer life expectancies will not be improbable in the 21st century, if scientific advances continue.

This is what the Journal of the American Medical Association said today.

"Life expectancy in America in the last half of this century seems destined to approach that which the Hunza male has experienced for many generations," the journal said.

Hunza, a little known frontier land in northern Pakistan, has a population of around 25,000. Entrance visas and rugged terrain have made Hunza virtually inaccessible to Western world tourists.

The journal said evidence that the Hunza males lives to be 120 or even 140 years of age is not documented with reliable statistics but is believed within the limits of possibility.

The Hunza people eat little animal protein, few eggs and no prepared vitamin supplements. Their principal diet is whole grains, fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, goat's milk and cheese, rice and grape wine.

"If scientific advances continue to be productive, and there is little doubt but that this will be factual—with the eradication of infection, prevention of cancer, and inhibition of progression of degenerative diseases—life expectancy should approach that of the fabled Hunzas by the end of this century."

Hoax Caller Found Shot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who admitted he phoned a bogus school bomb threat to police earlier in the day was found shot in the head Thursday.

W. A. Tunstill, principal of McLean Junior High School, said Dane Gerdock was seen using a telephone about the time police received an anonymous call that a bomb would explode in the school at 2 p.m.

Dane admitted to school and police officials he had made the call, then slipped out of the principal's office and fled.

The boy's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Andrew B. Gerdock Jr., joined in the search. The father returned home at noon to find the boy lying in a bedroom. He had been shot between the eyes. A single-shot .22 rifle lay beside him.

The youth was rushed to Carswell Air Force Base Hospital, where his condition was termed critical.

A search of the school revealed no bomb. The boy gave no reason for making the call.

The first recorded batism in the United States was that of an Indian named Peter in 1540.

Just a hundred years ago, a New York hotel installed the first passenger elevator.

A Junior Editors Quiz on AQUEDUCTS

QUESTION: Are aqueducts still used today?

• • •

ANSWER: An aqueduct is an elevated channel through which water is carried to the place where it is used. In ancient times the city of Jerusalem used an aqueduct made of limestone blocks. The Greeks built masonry aqueducts and even dug long tunnels for them. Rome had many aqueducts and was the only ancient city to be well supplied with water. One of the first modern aqueducts was built by New York City in 1842. Today, more people live in cities and consume an increasing amount of water. Aqueducts are more necessary today than ever before. The Colorado Aqueduct, for example, carries water across the desert from the Colorado River to Los Angeles and 12 other cities in California. In our picture, French boys are climbing about an old Roman aqueduct in Europe.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: In your yard make an aqueduct out of an old piece of drain pipe or some plastic material. The water will run by gravity if you make one end higher than the other.

• • •

Ambassador Has A Familiar Face

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—If Raymond Telles' face looks familiar to the Costa Ricans and they wonder where they saw him before, it was probably in the movies.

In 1958, the State Department filmed a "Typical Day in the Life of the El Paso Mayor." The film was shown widely in South and Central America including Costa Rica.

Telles probably gave little thought that he would be following that film to Costa Rica.

He was appointed as ambassador to that country Thursday by President Kennedy. Naming Telles, who is of Mexican descent, Kennedy fulfilled his promise to take advantage of Spanish-Americans in his administration.

Telles, 45, is the first mayor of El Paso of Mexican descent in a city where 40 per cent of the population is of Mexican stock. He is a comparative newcomer to politics.

During World War II, Telles joined the Army as a private. In 1945, he was assigned to the Mexico City embassy as lend lease officer for the Air Force for South and Central America.

For his work, he received the Distinguished Flying Cross from Peru; the National Order of Southern Cross from Brazil; Medal of Military Merit from Mexico; honorary air force wings from Columbia; and the presidential letter of commendation from Nicaragua.

From his own country, Telles received the Commendation Ribbon and one Oak Leaf Cluster and was recommended for the Legion of Merit.

During the Korean War, as executive officer of the 67th Tactical and Reconnaissance Group of the Air Force, he was awarded the Bronze Star.

Telles was born and schooled in El Paso. He was graduated from Texas Western College with a degree in business administration.

After the war, Telles returned to El Paso and entered politics. In 1948, he won the first of four two-year terms as El Paso County clerk.

Sharp Toes, Small Heels On Way Out

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP) — The health officer of Northamptonshire says ruefully that medical arguments can't persuade the ladies they'd be happier if they'd give up shoes with sharp toes and heels.

But Dr. C. Milliken Smith said in an address at Kettering Thursday night that the wheel of fashion may be coming to his rescue.

"I believe that stileto heels are on the way out, and that square-toed shoes are coming in," he said.

"There is no other relief in sight because it is obvious that girls and young women—despite clear warnings of trouble that lies ahead—will continue to wear pointed toes and stiletto heels as long as they are fashionable."

But the doctor speculated that if the recent trend in footwear continues, it might go as far as it did in the 15th Century in Britain.

Dr. Smith said that in the early 15th Century women's shoes were so long and so narrow they became known as "pikes", which they resembled, and that religious leaders became alarmed.

The Pope, he said, was persuaded to condemn making pikes longer than 11 inches. Within 20 years broad "duckbill" shoes, some of them 9 inches wide, came into fashion and there is no record of papal or medical disapproval.

Explanation Is Demanded

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A high school vice principal and his janitor started out to teach a lesson to 15 students Thursday but ended up having to do some explaining to police.

After bicycle and motor scooter riders ignored warnings not to use the school's auto parking lot, the vice principal, Luther E. Hartman, and janitor Joe Guerrero confiscated five bicycles and stripped all accessories from 10 motor scooters.

Patrolman G. S. Connell, who answered the student's call to the school to investigate a "mass theft," found the bicycles in the school basement and the motor scooter accessories in the principal's office.

Connell returned the bicycles and parts to the students, warning them to change their parking place. No charges were filed.

"I had no idea the kids would call police," the embarrassed Hartman said.

Mary Healey Quitting Act

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of show business' most famous husband and wife teams is breaking up the act—for nightclubs, that is.

Mary Healey says she won't be with her husband, Peter Lind Hayes, when he next hits the saloon circuit after they finish filming their NBC-TV series in April.

"I'm being replaced by a group—four boys and a girl—in the act," Mary added Thursday.

"To be honest," she told a newsman. "I have never really been mad for show business the way Peter is. I have always enjoyed my work but I don't feel I need to do it to keep happy."

The couple, married nearly 20 years, have two children, a girl, 10, and a boy, 12.

BIRTHS

Mr and Mrs. Troy Little are parents of a son weighing 6 pounds, 4½ ounces, born at 7:59 p. m. Tuesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Loyalty Sunday Approaching At First Methodist Church

The highpoint in a far-reaching building and financial program will be reached at the First Methodist Church here Sunday, as the church will at that time observe "Loyalty Sunday."

The program began in earnest the past November when—on the seventy-seventh anniversary of the local church's founding—groundbreaking ceremonies served to set the planning wheels in motion.

Loyalty Sunday is to serve as the focal date for the combined building and budget pledgeship program, with the emphasis being tithing toward the goal of $1,600 per week, which is the amount required weekly for the functioning of the church.

In order to attain this end, pledge cards have been distributed to all members by mail, and they have been requested to complete the signing of the cards and to present them at the altar on Sunday. Any member who is not able to attend Sunday's service is asked to bring his card at any time during the week and to place it on the altar.

Beginning at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon of March 5, teams of laymen will visit in the homes of all members who have not returned their cards by that date, so that they may be afforded an opportunity at that time to participate in the pledge program.

Admirer Of Elephants Is Disillusioned

By JOE BENHAM

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An opera singer who likes toy elephants so much she sometimes carries a 24-pound one for good luck had her first close-up meeting with a live elephant Thursday.

Soprano Frances Yeend found him "kind of like a cactus plant."

Her verdict: "I wouldn't ant a real elephant."

Miss Yeend, here to appear in the San Antonio Grand Opera Festival, admitted that it would not do her much good if she did want one. A live pachyderm wouldn't fit very well into a 6-room New York apartment that already houses 80 toy elephants, Miss Yeend's oil paintings and her husband, pianist James Benner.

After Thursday's meeting with Mote, a 25-year-old Indian elephant in the San Antonio Zoo, Miss Yeend said "He was kind of like a cactus plant" referring to the bristles in his trunk. She also noted he had a backbone so sharp one could ride him only in a saddle or howdah.

The zoo provided a howdah of sorts—"a kind of plank-on-top-of-a-girdle thing" in Miss Yeend's eyes—and she rode blissfully around the zoo four times.

The San Antonio safari as arranged after officials of the San Antonio Symphony learned Miss Yeend had never been near enough to an elephant to touch one, in spite of a love of the big beasts that dates back to her childhood in Portland, Ore.

So fascinated by elephants is she that she sometimes carries a 24-pound teakwood and ivory elephant named "Elephantus" with her for good luck while she is in New York.

Ancient Tunnel Is Found In Mexico

NUEVA CASAS GRANDES, Mexico (AP)—Mystery enveloped this Chihuahua state town today after a centuries-old tunnel was discovered 35 feet below a big apartment building here.

Officials said the tunnel was about 40 inches in diameter, has stuccoed walls and steps leading downward.

Archaeologists believe it may be an passageway to an underground ceremonial room or possibly the tomb of chieftains of the ancient Casas Grande Indians who lived here more than 1,000 years ago.

China's Religion 'All State' Now

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

TOKYO (AP) — Official Communist accounts of religious activity in Red China emphasize there is no question of separation of church and state.

On the surface at least, it's all state.

The New China News Agency reports a national conference of Chinese "Protestant" churches was held recently in Shanghai. It said 345 representatives of Protestant churches from 25 provinces municipalities and autonomous regions attended.

The fact that such a meeting was held openly on the Red mainland might appear to indicate an active religious movement there. But the Communist agency's account of the conference proceedings made it sound more like a gathering of the commune cadre.

NCNA said conference speakers "pointed out with satisfaction that the Chinese Protestant churches had made great achievements in their patriotic, anti-imperialist movement in the past 10 years." It said they had transformed themselves from an instrument of imperialist aggression into churches administered by Chinese Protestants themselves.

The church conference described as "unprecedented the achievements of the Chinese peo-Communist party and Chairman Mao Tze-tung and guided by the three Red banners—the general line for building socialism, the big leap forward and the people's communes."

NCNA said the conference representatives called for vigilance against imperialism, "especially U.S. imperialism." The United States, it asserted, still is trying by all means to use religion as an instrument of sabotage against China.

In its only other reference to things religious, NCNA's account said the conference representatives "expressed thanks to the Communist party and the peoples government for their consistent policy of religious freedom and their consideration toward Protestants."

Life Span Of 120 Years Is Predicted

CHICAGO (AP)—Life expectancy of 120 years may be common in America by the end of this century, and some persons may live to be 140.

Even longer life expectancies will not be improbable in the 21st century, if scientific advances continue.

This is what the Journal of the American Medical Association said today.

"Life expectancy in America in the last half of this century seems destined to approach that which the Hunza male has experienced for many generations," the journal said.

Hunza, a little known frontier land in northern Pakistan, has a population of around 25,000. Entrance visas and rugged terrain have made Hunza virtually inaccessible to Western world tourists.

The journal said evidence that the Hunza males lives to be 120 or even 140 years of age is not documented with reliable statistics but is believed within the limits of possibility.

The Hunza people eat little animal protein, few eggs and no prepared vitamin supplements. Their principal diet is whole grains, fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, goat's milk and cheese, rice and grape wine.

"If scientific advances continue to be productive, and there is little doubt but that this will be factual—with the eradication of infection, prevention of cancer, and inhibition of progression of degenerative diseases—life expectancy should approach that of the fabled Hunzas by the end of this century."

Hoax Caller Found Shot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who admitted he phoned a bogus school bomb threat to police earlier in the day was found shot in the head Thursday.

W. A. Tunstill, principal of McLean Junior High School, said Dane Gerdock was seen using a telephone about the time police received an anonymous call that a bomb would explode in the school at 2 p.m.

Dane admitted to school and police officials he had made the call, then slipped out of the principal's office and fled.

The boy's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Andrew B. Gerdock Jr., joined in the search. The father returned home at noon to find the boy lying in a bedroom. He had been shot between the eyes. A single-shot .22 rifle lay beside him.

The youth was rushed to Carswell Air Force Base Hospital, where his condition was termed critical.

A search of the school revealed no bomb. The boy gave no reason for making the call.

The first recorded batism in the United States was that of an Indian named Peter in 1540.

Just a hundred years ago, a New York hotel installed the first passenger elevator.

A Junior Editors Quiz on AQUEDUCTS

QUESTION: Are aqueducts still used today?

• • •

ANSWER: An aqueduct is an elevated channel through which water is carried to the place where it is used. In ancient times the city of Jerusalem used an aqueduct made of limestone blocks. The Greeks built masonry aqueducts and even dug long tunnels for them. Rome had many aqueducts and was the only ancient city to be well supplied with water. One of the first modern aqueducts was built by New York City in 1842. Today, more people live in cities and consume an increasing amount of water. Aqueducts are more necessary today than ever before. The Colorado Aqueduct, for example, carries water across the desert from the Colorado River to Los Angeles and 12 other cities in California. In our picture, French boys are climbing about an old Roman aqueduct in Europe.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: In your yard make an aqueduct out of an old piece of drain pipe or some plastic material. The water will run by gravity if you make one end higher than the other.

Ambassador Has A Familiar Face

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—If Raymond Telles' face looks familiar to the Costa Ricans and they wonder where they saw him before, it was probably in the movies.

In 1958, the State Department filmed a "Typical Day in the Life of the El Paso Mayor." The film was shown widely in South and Central America including Costa Rica.

Telles probably gave little thought that he would be following that film to Costa Rica.

He was appointed as ambassador to that country Thursday by President Kennedy. Naming Telles, who is of Mexican descent, Kennedy fulfilled his promise to take advantage of Spanish-Americans in his administration.

Telles, 45, is the first mayor of El Paso of Mexican descent in a city where 40 per cent of the population is of Mexican stock. He is a comparative newcomer to politics.

During World War II, Telles joined the Army as a private. In 1945, he was assigned to the Mexico City embassy as lend lease officer for the Air Force for South and Central America.

For his work, he received the Distinguished Flying Cross from Peru; the National Order of Southern Cross from Brazil; Medal of Military Merit from Mexico; honorary air force wings from Columbia; and the presidential letter of commendation from Nicaragua.

From his own country, Telles received the Commendation Ribbon and one Oak Leaf Cluster and was recommended for the Legion of Merit.

During the Korean War, as executive officer of the 67th Tactical and Reconnaissance Group of the Air Force, he was awarded the Bronze Star.

Telles was born and schooled in El Paso. He was graduated from Texas Western College with a degree in business administration.

After the war, Telles returned to El Paso and entered politics. In 1948, he won the first of four two-year terms as El Paso County clerk.
