WET DEMOCRAT IS FAVORED

CHICAGO MAYOR IS IN FAVOR OF ANTI-PRO DEMO CANDIDATE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Anton J. Cermak, the militantly anti-prohibition mayor of Chicago, called on the Democratic party today to go into next year's presidential campaign with a candidate who is "thoroughly wet."

Illinois democracy, he insisted, will demand an "out-and-out wet platform, and a candidate as wet as the planks he stands on." He expressed the further optnion that democracy should pick a candidate "of the Al Smith type."

To Favor Lewis

Mayor Cermak said Illinois' 58 convention votes would be given to United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis who, he said, meets all the requirements of an "ultra-wet" candidate.

He denied he had come to New York as a peacemaker between former Governor Alfred E. Smith nad Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. His pronouncement for a "thoroughly wet" presidential candidate was interpreted by some of his interviewers as a stroke against the candidacy of Gov. Roosevelt, but Mayor Cermak answered direct questions on this point by saying:

"Well, if Roosevelt was wet enough for Al Smith and wet enough to be elected governor of New York, it is quite likely he would be wet enough to suit the lets of Illinois."

PRESS IS BARRED AT BRITTON SUIT

TOLEDO O., Nov. 2. —Federal Judge John M. Killits today barred newspaper reporters and all others operators from the trial of the $50,000 libel suit of Miss Nan Britton, author of "The President's Daughter."

The case involves Miss Britton's claims that the the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of her 12-year-old daughter. Her suit is directed against C. A. Klunk, Marion, O., hotel operator, on the grounds he circulated a book entitled "The Answer to the President's Daughter," which Miss Britton claims reflected discredit on her reputation.

In issuing his order, Judge Killets commented he was informed many spectators were attending the trial solely in the hope of hearing "filthy and lascivious testimony" and that he feels he has the right to bar spectators from the trial on that ground.

SLAYER IS TO GET DELAY

DRAPER TRIAL TO BE DEFERRED UNTIL CHILD'S BIRTH

(By The Associated Press)

DEQUEEN, Ark., Nov. 2.—The purported confession of Charles Draper, 29, to the triple slaying near Ultima Thule was made on condition his trial be deferred until after birth of his child, Sheriff Jim Sutton revealed yesterday.

Sheriff Sutton said Draper named two other conditions and all were accepted by Sheriff Charles Holman of McCurtain county, Okla., and County Attorney L. E. Mifflin.

Conditions as outlined by Sheriff Sutton were that officials remove Draper's wife to Idabel, Okla., where she was held, take care of her until after the trial, that the trial be postponed until after the birth of the child and that he be permitted to see the baby.

Oklahoma officials stated the agreement would be observed as made, Sheriff Sutton said.

Draper was arrested Saturday at Clarksville, Texas. He was charged with the murder of E. S. Chappell, Jack Odell and an unidentified man Oct. 18.

MAN IS NAMED IN SLAYING OF WIFE

GIRL CONFESSES TO MURDER PLOT IN LONELY WOODS

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2—Supplanting three earlier statements, Clara Fish, buxom 19-year-old domestic, signed a fourth confession early today in which she said Walter Maddux slashed his wife to death with a razor in a lonely woods Thursday after she had lured Mrs. Maddux there and rendered her unconscious with ether. Maddux declared Miss Fish "lied" in implicating him.

The statement was the first in which Miss Fish had implicated Maddux. He was arrested and taken to jail. Maddux previously had been questioned but released.

Made Voluntarily

In her last confession, which police said she made voluntarily, the girl, who roomed at the Maddux home since coming to St. Louis six months ago from southeast Missouri, said that two months ago Maddux told her he wished to "get rid" of his wife and asked her to aid in killing her.

Thursday, she said, she and Maddux planned the story they would tell to clear themselves in the contemplated death of the woman. She said she had purchased earlier a can of ether and a razor and turned them over to Maddux.

Miss Fish related that Thursday afternoon she lured Mrs. Maddux to the woods on the outskirts of Kirkwood, where the body was found Friday, and rendered her unconscious with the ether. When that night, she stated, Maddux left home, returning two hours later. The next morning, she said Maddux told her, he had gone to the woods and slashed his wife's throat with the razor.

Motion To Dismiss Bridge Suit Denied

OKLAHOMA ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL IN MOVE TO END TOLL CONTROVERSY IN COURT

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Nov. 2—Federal Judge John C. Pollock today overruled a motion by W. C. Lewis, Oklahoma's assistant attorney general, to dismiss the Red River Toll Bridge company's suit to enjoin Oklahoma officials from interfering with the company's operation of a toll bridge between Denison, Tex., and Durant, Okla., and asking that a paralleling free span be closed.

Lewis based his motion on the ground that such suit against the state as represented by its officials was prohibited by the eleventh amendment except where legislative permission had been given.

In overruling the motion to dismiss the present phase of the Red river toll bridge controversy, Judge Pollock instructed Joseph W. Bailey, jr., attorney for the bridge company, to proceed in state court at Austin, Tex., with the company's $165,000 damage suit against Oklahoma and Texas, the outgrowth of the opening of the free bridge.

Interrupting a hearing on a petition of the Red River Bridge company for an order to close the Denison-Durant free bridge, which Murray opened to traffic last summer under martial law, and to prevent the state of Oklahoma from interfering with the company's parallel toll span, Judge Pollock said emphatically:

"The state militia is not bigger than the regular army. I know of one case in Oklahoma where the regular army was called out. It can be done again."

Three officers and 20 enlisted men of the Oklahoma national guard went on duty at the free bridge today under Murray's orders to keep it open in the face of any action Judge Pollock might take. Murray has declared repeatedly that "inferior federal courts" are without authority to enforce orders when state martial law is declared.

Schools Halted During Picking Season To Open

SEVERAL PLANNING FOR SIX-DAY-A-WEEK SESSIONS

Half a dozen of the larger schools of the South Plains will resume or open their 1931-32 sessions today, while several others will start their work either next Monday or the following Monday.

Olton will reopen its sessions this morning, announcement by H. P. Webb, superintendent, made last week, said. The school will make up its lost time by extending its term in the spring. The schools closed a month ago for cotton picking.

Delayed Opening

Ralls, Crosbyton and Lorenzo, the largest schools in Crosby county, are starting their first work today. Late in the summer the school boards of these district decided to postpone their opening until the first Monday in November to permit children to help pick cotton.

James M. Rankin is superintendent of schools at Ralls; D. A. Edwards at Crosbyton, and A. C. Sharp at Lorenzo. Mr. Rankin, principal of the high school for a number of years, succeeded A. B. Sanders who resigned to go to Brownfield. Mr. Edwards, after six years at O'Donnell, went to Crosbyton to succeed J. I. Weatherby, who decided to leave school work for the time being. Mr. Sharp was formerly principal at Lorenzo and succeeded to the superintendency following a resignation at the close of the year.

Plan Six Day School

These schools are reported planning six-day-a-week sessions in order to make up lost time.

Emma and League Four schools of the Ralls area also opened today while the Owens school has set Tuesday for its opening.

THREE THOUSAND TELEPHONE PATRONS AT AMARILLO ASKED TO STOP SERVICE

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 2—Amarillo's war against public utility rates flared anew today when the chamber of commerce called on 3,000 patrons of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company to have their telephones disconnected.

Those who were urged to disconnect their telephones signed petitions circulated by the chamber of commerce last week, pledging themselves to have their telephones removed unless greater reductions in rates were granted by November 1.

Among the first to order service disconnected were the city's two largest hotels, the Amarillo and the Herring, both owned by Mayor Ernest O. Thompson, who is directing the fight for lower rates. The mayor said the orders had been mailed. Telephone company officials denied having received them.

All city phones, except those serving the police and fire departments had been ordered out. City officials, the tax offices, water department, engineering department and the chamber of commerce were among those whose telephones

DISPUTE OVER MONEY ENDS IN MURDER

ANOTHER BLACK BEING SOUGHT IN FATAL SHOOTING FRAY

A negro was shot and killed near Acuff early Sunday morning, three negroes are in city jail as witnesses, and a negro known as General Jackson is sought for murder, County Attorney Vaugh E. Wilson said.

The killing was believed to have resulted from a dispute by two transient cotton-pickers over some money, which possibly had been stolen, authorities said. A bullet from a pistol fired at close range struck a man reported to be Louis Robinson in the back of the neck just left of the spine.

Find Powder Burns

Powder burns were found on the collar of the dead man's jumper-suit, the county attorney said. County Attorney Wilson, Deputy Sheriff Will Earnest, and Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter investigated the shooting. George Eubank, police identifications officer, began work on a Lubbock angle in the case. A Lubbock negro was reported to have seen the altercation and to have driven an automobile carrying Jackson from the scene.

Witnesses said a white man earlier in the night evidently had dispelled ill feeling between Robinson and Jackson over some money. Other cotton-pickers who slept in a shack on cotton-seed with Robinson and Jackson said Robinson left, soon after the dispute seemed settled, for a dance and that Jackson lebt about 11 p. m. purportedly for the dance.

At about 3 a. m., the negroes said they heard three shots and that Jackson soon afterward entered the shack, shouldered a sack containing his belongings, and disappeared. Robinson's body was found in a road about three miles northeast of Acuff and about a quarter of a mile from the shack. Officers advanced the theory that he was waylaid by Jackson, who is 45 to 50 years old. Only one bullet hit Robinson, investigators reported.

The body was taken to Lubbock to be sent to Fort Worth.

More than 10,000 bales of cotton were reported to have changed hands on the Lubbock cotton market over the week end, it was said Monday.

There has been an increase in the number of buyers here.

Spot buyers state that the staple is showing a marked improvement over previous years, a greater majority showing 7-8 or better. However, the 13-16 length is not as extensive as had been expected.

Reports from all sections of the South Plains and the Lubbock territory indicated the past week was a record one for ginnings. All gins were working day and night.

MASS MEETINGS TOMORROW NIGHT TO TAKE UP WELFARE, CHARACTER BODIES

Reflecting needs of welfare and character building agencies, two mass meetings will be conducted in the Lubbock county courthouse Tuesday night.

Persons interested in the Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls have been asked to assemble in the district criminal courtroom on the third floor at 7:30 o'clock to determine whether the two organizations will continue to function here.

"Both scouting and the Campfire Girls in Lubbock are in grave danger of being forced out of existence," R. D. Moxley, acting president of the executive committee of the South Plains Area Boy Scout council, said in a letter of invitation.

"In the past, the responsibilities of these two organizations have been carried by relatively small groups of people, many of whom have not even had children in them, but the time has come when it will require the united effort of all those interested to maintain them."

The other meeting will signal the beginning of the Salvation Army's financial drive and will begin at 7 o'clock in the county courtroom on the first floor of the courthouse. The drive will begin Wednesday morning. The Army's board of di-

HOOVER DEMANDS HIS APOLOGY

* * *

"I shall expect Mr. Gardiner to make a public correction of his misstatements and an apology," said President Hoover in rebuking William Howard Gardiner (below), president of the Navy League, for recent charges that the administration was "restricting, reducing and starving" the United States Navy. The President announced he would appoint a committee to investigate the league's accusations.

HOOVER SEEKS A SHOWDOWN

PRESIDENT BATTLING OPENLY AGAINST NAVAL GROUP

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 — The strange situation of President Hoover battling openly with a militant big navy organization while a cabinet officer struck out at a pacifist foundation today swirled about the navy.

The president was working toward a showdown with the navy league, and particularly its president, William H. Gardiner, who described him as showing "abysmal ignorance" of naval matters.

Secretary Adams charged the world peace foundation with interpreting national defense statistics "in a manner inimical to the United States and in a manner favorable to the national defense interests of foreign powers."

Enters Second Week

The bitter dispute between Mr. Hoover and the navy league entered its second week with Gardiner lacking the full support of his membership. Henry Breckenridge, a former president of the league and a democratic assistant secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, yesterday broke ranks.

Referring to the league's charges that President Hoover lacked knowledge of naval matters and was attempting to "starve" the sea service, Breckenridge said:

"I desire to disassociate myself from so much of the statement as speaks with disrespect of the president of the United States."

His terse statement, the first public sign of disagreement in the league membership with its president, broke the temporary lull in the controversy with Mr. Hoover.

To Probe Charges

The chief executive is awaiting a roster of the league before naming a committee to investigate its charges against his naval policies. He already has branded the accusations as "untruths and distortions of fact" and warned Gardiner he would expect a correction and an apology at the conclusion of the inquiry.

YOUTH BURNED IN RESCUE ATTEMPT

GRANDMOTHER DIES OF BURNS; CHILDREN ESCAPE UNHURT

Courage of 20-year-old H. W. Harris, who was burned in rescuing his grandmother and a child of the family, from a blazing home near Bronco at sunrise Sunday was overshadowed by the death at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon of Mrs. F. R. Bivens, 57, the grandmother.

Harris was received at Lubbock sanitarium Sunday morning suffering from burns which attendants did not believe would prove serious. His mother, Mrs. H. H. Harris; her mother, Harris, and three younger children were in the house when Mrs. Harris poured gasoline into a tea-kettle, believing the liquid was water.

Children Unhurt

The six-room frame farm house was ablaze almost immediately. Harris and two other children escaped unhurt. Harris was burned when he entered the flaming structure and carried and led his grandmother and a child to safety. The child was not burned.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bivens were to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Murphy's chapel, nine miles southwest of Broncho, and burial was to be there.

Estimate o fthe loss was not determined. The house and furnishings were destroyed. The family saved only the clothing its members were wearing when the fatal explosion occurred. Only Mrs. Harris had gotten up and dressed, the others being in sleeping garments. Although burned about the face and hands, Mrs. Harris, in the kitchen when the conflagration began there, was not believed seriously hurt.

Mr. Harris had not been located shortly before noon. He was supposed to be with a truckload of apples en route to San Antonio.

Younger children are two girls, Quimby, 15, and Vietta, 7, and a boy, DeArmond, 9.

Fifteen members of the special venire of 100 men were excused for cause by Judge Kenneth Bain when district court opened. Eight or ten others had been questioned by attorneys for the state and defense when the noon recess came.

Dismiss Charges In Sherman Riot

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 2. (AP)—Indictments against 10 Grayson county citizens, in connection with the riot and burning of the Grayson county courthouse at Sherman May 9, 1930, were dismissed in district court by order of County Attorney William C. Culp.

The indictments had been based on evidence provided by a military court of inquiry which had investigated the destruction of the courthouse by a mob which had been trying to lynch George Hughes, a negro, under indictment for an alleged attack on a white woman.

Culp explained that he had asked for dismissal of the indictments because his investigation had disclosed that evidence against the defendants was insufficient to insure convictions.

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

DR. MYERS

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT

READERS of this column well know that I have constantly advocated training children in adequate restraints, beginning at an early age. They know that I not only approve of some spanking in the early years of the child, but deliberately advocate it with the child under three or four, particularly when he begins locomotion, in order to train him in certain essential safety habits, care of property, and respect for others' rights.

I have even said in this column that I believe the major cause of increasing crime is in the absence of restraints of young children, typically in the homes of the intelligentsia and, furthermore, that I believe those most responsible for this attitude of letting children do as they please can be laid at the door of a number of popular writers who for years have been teaching such doctrine. I have taken the pains to say also that I believe such writers have been wholly conscientious about their teaching. Not their motives but their judgment is to be condemned.

• • •

The director of one of the oldest and most vigorous associations for studying children personally expressed to me, a few years ago, her grief and dismay, after she had read some of my statements concerning the desirability of teaching little children some inhibitions, even by means of physical pain if necessary. "You have begun," she said, "to tear down all the good work at teaching 'scientific' child training we have been doing all these years." Her remarks were consistent with her writings, for in one of her books she has clearly stated that corporal punishment of children at any age never can be justified under any conditions. She has convictions about the matter; so have I.

Another writer who for years has been writing to parents, has been saying to his many readers about once a week that any parent giving a child physical pain is a brute, or words to that effect. He has been saying this less frequently s'he past few years.

But, believe it or not, a group of experts writing for the children's bureau have just come out with a pamphlet, entitled, "The Child From One to Six," in which they admit the desirability of some physical pain as punishment of young children. They literally advocate corporal punishment. To quote: "Physical punishment such as slapping and spanking should be used rarely and never in anger. It is most appropriate when a child has done something the repetition of which will endanger his life, such as running out into the street or playing with matches. The punishment for such misdeeds should be prompt. . . . Corporal punishment is rarely justified." (P. 105.)

Isn't that old fashioned to be coming from a government bureau of the United States of America? Naturally I got a little kick from reading it since among those writing to parents I had been virtually alone in my stand on this matter. I was characterized by one magazine editor in his columns several months ago as "Spanker Myers," and frequently I have been introduced before audiences as "the man who believes in the old-fashioned spank."

Those who have not read my discussion of this subject from time to time in this column can find it treated at length in my pamphlet, "Punishments and Rewards."

I should like to be identified with concerted efforts in each of two directions: one to help check crime at the crib; the other to stem the speed insanity in the modern school.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents a coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper or Central Press Association 1825 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear."

Rumor Links Utah Beauty, Jack

Lavon Vincent, blonde beauty prize winner in a University of Utah contest, may become the bride of Jack Dempsey, if rumors current in Salt Lake City are true. The former heavyweight champion has been on a hunting trip with Miss Vincent's father, Joe G. Vincent, Utah financier and sportsman. Miss Vincent and Jack are shown above. Dempsey was recently divorced in Reno.

LOCALS

A group of Baptist students, accompanied by Miss Hazel Kokanour, returned late last night from Belton where they attended a state Baptist Students union meeting. Those in the party were Raymond Dunn, S. W. Damon, Phyllis Pool, Juanita Pool, Evelyn Willingham, Ruth Dunn, Frances Wynn, Patti Hopping, Jim O. Hill, Georgia Knight, and Louise Reid.

Mrs. I. D. Cole of Amarillo left Saturday for Dallas after attending the district meeting of the Texas Federation of Music clubs here. Mrs. Cole will join her husband for a visit with friends and will attend a state board meeting in Dallas.

Misses Margaret Everheart and Ruby Milstead of Plainview visited relatives here during the week-end.

Since then she has turned out a daily average of 560 bricks and still uses the same mould she started with. She just finished he nine millionth brick.

INDIAN WILL BE PRESENTED AT ART EXPOSITION

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—The American Indian will be presented to the American public in a new light—as an artist of modern as well as ancient standing—at the exposition of Indian tribal arts, opening at the Grand Central Palace, December 1.

The exposition will present for the first time a comprehensive and representative collection of the arts of the American Indian both ancient and modern. Thirty tribes in all parts of the United States and Alaska will be represented.

Paintings, baskets, pottery, textiles, carvings, jewelry, beadwork, costumes and embroidery will be among the artistic exhibits.

The principal museums of Indian art are lending collections of ancient things as a background for the how. John Sloan, well known painter, is heading the exposition.

For the past 14 years, Sloan has made his summer home at Santa Fe, New Mexico, painting the Indians and watching them as an artist. He was the first to show paintings by Indians in New York, exhibiting a collection of these sketches at the independent show 10 years ago.

TINY TOT REVUE TO BE HELD HERE

A Tiny Tot beauty revue, sponsored by fifty Lubbock merchants, has been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Lindsey theater, according to an announcement today. Children to compete in the revue are being selected today and tomorrow.

Prizes consisting of jewelry will be awarded the winners. Three prizes will be given each night and the six winners will compete for a silver loving cup and the honor of being "Little Miss Lubbock."

Only a partial list of the children selected for the contest has been compiled.

TECH MATADORS BEGIN GRIND FOR A.C.C. CONTEST ON FRIDAY

WESTERNERS TO GET LIGHT WORKOUT

Like the rest of Lubbock's football observers, we're happy on one side and gloomy on the other this afternoon, mad and glad, proud and disappointed. Coaches Weldon Chapman and Burl Huffman and Captain Bob Crawford led the Lubbock Westerners to Pampa and showed the district and the state just who is the cream of this little schoolboy football chase by downing the vaunted Harvesters 32 to 6. On the other hand, our Tech Matadors met with a terible setback down at Waco when Baylor's angry Bears took their Southwest Conference spite out on Pete Cawthon and his men.

• • •

We are tickled most nigh to hysterics over the potency of the Lubbock Westerners. They didn't lose any time in getting revenge for that 12 to 9 defeat handed them by the Harvester's here last fall nor in showing up the rest of the district Pampa didn't have a prayer until Chapman sent in his second and third string boys and even then the Harvesters looked plenty ill. This Mr. Hill, the booming 215-pound fullback that went so great against Amarillo, lost more yards than he gained, even if he did make the Pampa touchdown.

• • •

Captain Bob Crawford made all-district honors Saturday, and no foolin'. He played rings around everybody Coach Odus Mitchell sent into the game and Poe, Pampa center, was so far outclassed that he didn't even bother Crawford, who ran over him to get into the backfield and stop more plays than two sports writers and a radio announcer should tabulate. It took about six of us. Cotton Welch played a whiz of a ball game, and so did Melvin Griggs, Bert Williams, Louis Spears and Rosser Abbott in Lubbock's line, for it was the line that looked so good and made the victory possible.

• • •

As for Lubbock's ends, Will Ed Watson and Dalton Blagg, a separate chapter should be dedicated to the pair. Blagg, light and not too experienced, outplayed anything in Pampa's line and Watson, who has been the subject of more than a few editorial jabs this season for his apparent poor playing in early games, was the same old Watson that kept the right side of Lubbock's line impassable in 1930, only better. He was in there, partly because at last he had something right down his alley and partly because he was like all the other Westerners, out for blood and victory. Pampa soon tired of running plays to the right side, tried Blagg's side awhile and turned to off-tackle plays which were stopped by a solid wall.

• • •

Lubbock's backfield and secondary had to play second fiddle for the day because the Westerner line wouldn't let the other boys have a chance. When they got the ball, the Lubbock backs never failed to go places, but a fine blocking line made the way easier. Barnett, Scoggin, Merrill and Britton did all that was expected, Britton letting himself out for the first time this season and showing what a classy quarterback should do in 1931.

• • •

Now all that Lubbock has to do to win the district title is to down Plainview a week from Wednesday and then batter Amarillo's ears down on Thanksgiving Day at Amarillo. The former does not loom as a hard job, but at Amarillo the Westerners are in for a harder game than they had at Pampa, and don't let anybody tell you otherwise. Those Sandies are tough, plenty tough, and they'll have that old high school spirit in the Lubbock game. What a day that will be in Amarillo!

• • •

We have not interviewed Coach Cawthon, Coach Smith or any of the Tech gridders since the return from Waco, nor did we see the game, so we do not feel qualified to comment widely on the slaughter in Central Texas. However, the final score indicates that something must have been sadly wrong with the Matadors. Until we hear it from Cawthon himself or until we see them play, we're going to believe that Tech is capable of making a much better showing than was made at Waco. We're not losing faith in the Matadors and right here we're picking them to pick the Abilene Christian Wildcats to pieces Friday night on Matador field. If you don't believe Tech can go, come out and take a look.

• • •

We're disappointed in the Cen-al Texas showing, to be sure, but 're not riding the Matadors unless they show us they are to be ridin. The only bright spot of that me, to us, lay in the fact that had nothing at stake except our utation as a predictor of final res, and that was shot already. me of the boys in the office may a snicker out of that but ask them about certain other games, in which, for instance, Notre Dame, Missouri, Texas A. and M. and even Lubbock High played.

GAME TO BE IN AFTERNOON AT TECH

GRIDMEN RETURN TO LUBBOCK AFTER A LOSS AT WACO

The Texas Tech Matadors of 1931 have a hard football row to hoe and they're meeting with impassable objects, two of which just had to be skipped over and forgotten. The latter of these was the Tech-Baylor game of Saturday, and the sooner it is forgotten the better.

Even if they wanted to remember it and cogitate upon it and relive it, which they certainly do not, they would not have time. The Matadors have another ball game this week which will call for plenty of preparation and action. They meet the Abilene Christian college Wildcats in the annual game Friday afternoon at Matador Field.

Start Work Today

Queried this morning in regard to plans and reactions, Line Coach Dutchey Smith, speaking for the coaching staff, said the squad would be put to work today as if they faced the toughest game of the season next Friday. It could hardly be the toughest, but it is likely to be more than just interesting. The A. C. C. team has been going well this season, leaping into particular favor Saturday with a 41 to 0 win over the Canyon Buffs to take the leadership in the western division of the T. I. A. A.

After three days of preparation and a 400-mile trip the Matadors took the field against Baylor's Southwest Conference team with the hopes of turning a victory toward West Texas. Aparently angered over their failure to grasp a more firm hold on the conference title and indignant over press reports that they "didn't amount to much this year," the Bears gave vent to their fury by turning loose an aerial attack that completely smothered the Matadors, 32 to 0. The Matadors, according to their coaches, were caught in the right mood at the wrong time, but they played a thoughtless ball game.

"Two of Baylor's passes which resulted in touchdowns should have been knocked down with ease by our boys, and three times our own passes were intercepted when same should not have happened," Coach Smith said this morning. "The boys were caught standing on the back of their heels; they didn't think football and they tried to play without thinking."

Coach Smith was loud in his praise of the physical efforts extended by the Matadors. They worked hard, he said, but they did not play heady football.

According to Smith's announcement this morning, the A. C. C. game will be played in the afternoon, starting at 3 or 3 30 o'clock. No reason was given for the decision against a night game.

The Tech-A. C. C. game will be dedicated to the memory of Knute Rockne, a part of the proceeds going toward the fund being raised to erect a magnificent field house as a monument to the late wizard of Notre Dame. Coach Pete Cawthon and the Tech Athletic council made this decision last week after an appeal from the memorial fund committee had been read here.

A period of strenuous workouts will begin this afternoon on Matador field while coaches will attempt to revive some of the departed Tech spirit. Anything may happen after a let down such as featured Tech's part in the Baylor game Saturday. There is no reason to believe that the Matadors are not capable of putting up a much more interesting battle than entertained Waco fans last week. It has been done before and it may be done again. It is not like Cawthon and his assistants and their players to remain in a slump.

Title Defenses To Be Made This Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—Title defenses by Christopher (Bat) Battalino, king of the featherweights, and Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, enliven an otherwise uninteresting fistic program this week.

Rosenbloom, the Harlem clown, puts his crown in jeopardy at Kansas City tonight when he faces the Birmingham slugger, Battling Bozo, in a 12-round encounter.

Battalino may have his hands full retaining his featherweight toga when he clashes with Earl Mastro, speedy Chicago veteran, at the Chicago stadium Wednesday night.

Railroad Employes Given Salary Cut

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP)—All monthly rated employees of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, earning $300 a month or more, were given a 10 per cent wage reduction in an order made effective Saturday by Daniel Willard, president of the road.

The wage cut affected all employes not operating under the railroad labor law, and did not take in engineers, trainmen, and others operating on a daily wage basis. It affected primarily officers.

Southwest Loop Leaders Will Clash On Saturday

S. M. U. MEETS A&M AS T. C. U. FROGS FACE OWLS OF RICE

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—The football scoring power of the Southwest conference—Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas A. and M., and Rice, the four leaders—will clash Saturday in vigorous games that will leave imprints of importance on the close championship race.

Southern Methodist, listed among the nation's few undefeated and untied elevens, faces a worthy foe at College Station in Texas A. and M. The Methodists have six consecutive victories, three of them conference wins, but it means nothing to the Aggies who will play their game of games Saturday. Texas Christian, tied with Southern Methodist for the conference lead with two wins and boasting a season record of six victories and one defeat, will remain at Fort Worth to battle the Rice Owls.

Texas Faces Baylor

The University of Texas will furnish the third conference game by playing Baylor at Austin. The University of Arkansas, definitely out of the conference race with three defeats and no wins, journeys to Chicago to play an intersectional game with the University of Chicago.

Southern Methodist will face the conference's leading scoring team Saturday in Texas A. and M. the Aggies have registered 133 points in seven games. Southern Methodist is two points behind with 131 in six games. In conference competition, Southern Methodist leads with 72 points against the Aggies' 33, but the Mustangs have played three games against two for A. and M.

Offensive Tilts Seen

Rice Institute has scored 126 points in six games against 93 for Texas Christian in seven games. In the conference, both have played two games and Rice has scored 19 points against Texas Christian's 13. But composite scoring power may not mean so much Saturday between these four leaders, for there is no doubt that they will be superb offensive games.

Last Saturday, Southern Methodist barely escaped a 7 to 7 tie with the University of Texas. The 1930 conference champions were defeated in the fourth period when Delcambre, Southern Methodist center, smashed through the Texas line to block a punt. Kenneth Mills, Southern Methodist wing who was close behind Delcambre, fell on the ball for a safety to give his team a 9 to 7 win.

Driving football gave Texas Christian a 7 to 0 victory over the University of Arkansas. "Red" Oliver scored the touchdown on a 11-yard drive through left tackle in the second period.

A 23-yard pass from Domingue to Malone for a touchdown gave Texas A. and M. a 7-0 victory over Centenary college Saturday in a non-conference game. Baylor prepared for Texas by plastering Texas Tech 32 to 0.

UNDEFEATED LIST DWINDLES TO 36

(By The Associated Press)

The nationalist list of undefeated college football teams had shrunk to 36 today and of these 15 have been tied at least once.

Far out in front in the scoring race was little Davis & Elkins college of Elkins, W. Va., which has piled up 286 points in winning seven straight games. The only other team in the undefeated list which has passed the 200-mark in points is North Dakota university with 215. Davis & Elkins holds another honor—the only eleven which has permitted no scoring by the opposition.

Southern Methodist university pulled up into eighth place in the national list with 131 points scored against 28 opponents' points.

Sam Arnett Is To Feed 1,100 Steers

Eleven hundred steers are to be fed by Sam C. Arnett, president of the Citizens National bank and a well known rancher and cattleman of this section, this winter. He also will feed 200 cows.

"I am going to feed the steers a ration of cottonseed meal, hulls and ground maize," Mr. Arnett said. "They will be on feed for 120 days."

Most of the animals are now in the feed lots of the Lubbock Cotton Oil mill, where the feeding is to be done. Three hundred were received Saturday and as many Sunday, in addition to those already on hand. The remainder are expected in soon.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2 (AP)—George Sisler, one time St. Louis Brown first baseman and co-holder with Ty Cobb of the major league batting record of .420, may be a member of the Los Angeles baseball team next season, officials of the club revealed today. They said Sisler had sent word his services would be available. Sisler spent last year with Rochester of the International league.

SIMMONS UNIVERSITY COWBOYS TAKE LEAD IN TEXAS CONFERENCE CHASE AS SOUTHWESTERN AND AUSTIN LOSE

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Texas conference grid championship trail had a rosier hue for the Simmons University Cowboys today.

Locked at the top with Southwestern university and Austin college since the early weeks of the season, Simmons arrived at the parting of the ways last week and humbled Georgetown, 53 to 0.

St. Edwards' 21 to 0 triumph over Austin college left Simmons high and dry in the lead.

Trinity university, notches out of the top because of a tie with St. Edwards, was walloped 21 to 7 by Howard Payne college.

This week's schedule included only the Austin college-Southwestern university game to be played in Sherman Friday. All other members of the conference held off to meet in Armistice day attractions.

Texas Conference standing:

	W	L	Pct.
Simmons	2	0	1000
Southwestern	1	1	500

FOUR TEAMS IN T. I. A. A. LEAD

A. C. C., SAM HOUSTON, DENTON, TEXAS A&I ARE UNDEFEATED

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP)—The 1931 Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association football race was past the half-way mark today with four undefeated teams setting the pace.

Three eastern division teams, Texas A. & I. of Kingsville, Sam Houston Teachers of Huntsville and the North Texas Teachers of Denton, stood undefeated in conference play.

A. C. C. Shows Power

Only Abilene Christian college possessed such a record in the western division. The Christians exposed their power last week by humbling West Texas Teachers, runners-up in the 1930 race, 41 to 0.

The 1931 schedule's crucial spot loomed ahead of Sam Houston and Texas A. & I., who were booked for a meeting in Huntsville Saturday. Both elevens jumped into the lead in the early stages of the race. North Txas joined them last week by virtue of a 33 to 0 triumph over the Stephen F. Austin Teachers.

The Huntsville game was the only conference contest booked for the week. Other teams arranged their scheduls as Armistice day features. McMurry college and the San Marcos Teachers planned to resume their rivalry in a non-conference clash at San Marcos Friday.

Sam Houston and A. & I., weathered well their last week's schedule. Sam Houston defeated San Marcos 6 to 0 and the Kingsville eleven drove over the Sul Ross Teachers of Alpine 19 to 0 in an inter-division game.

T. I. A. A. standing:

Eastern Division:

WINNERS OVER PAMPA MADE FAVORITES

AMARILLO SANDSTORM ONLY HARD HURDLE IN DISTRICT

Still yipping with ghoulish glee over their Hallowe'en celebration at Pampa Saturday afternoon, the Lubbock High Westerners, favorites to win the District 1 title and go somewhere out of Northwest Texas in the state race, could hardly wait for class room activities to cease today so that they might take the practice field. Their steady practice of last week being rewarded with a 32 to 6 victory over the former district favorites, the Westerners now have no fear of the gridiron.

Lubock's high school football team does not play again until November 11, Armistice Day, when they entertain the Plainview Bulldays here in another district championship contest, the entertainment scheduled to be rough on the guests and fun for the hosts.

Point To Amarillo

The Westerners went to Pampa pointing to Pampa, with the intention of beating Pampa and eliminating the Harvesters from the district race. Even before the dust of battle had died away, however, thought turned to Amarillo and the necessity of a victory over the Sandies if they, the Westerners, were to have smooth sailing on the Texas Interscholastic league sea. They meet Amarillo's powerful Sandstorm on Butler Field on Thanksgiving Day in what will be ballyhooed as THE game of the Panhandle for 1931.

Coming out of the Pampa game with no severe injuries, the Westerners will go through a light workout this afternoon as a relief for tired muscles and stiff joints after Saturday's hard scrimmage. Several members of the team sustained minor cuts and bruises but a check this morning did not reveal any outstanding injuries.

NATION'S LEADING GRID SCORERS

(By The Associated Press)

Louis Bush of Massachusetts State college has regained the lead in the national race for individual football scoring honors.

The 145-pound Massachusetts sophomore scored 13 points against Amherst Saturday to boost his total for six games to 96. Holding second place with 94 is Bob Monnett of Michigan State who also has played in six games.

The leader in each of the nation's nine major groups or conferences follows:

East—Bush, Mass. State, 96; Mid-West—Monett, Mich. State, 94; Rocky Mountain — Christensen, Utah, 74; Southern—Brewer, Duke, 50; Pacific — Mohler, Southern Calif., 42; Big Six—Grefe, Iowa State, 40; Southwest—Oliver, So. Important Football Contests This Week

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES VIE WITH CONFERENCE GAMES FOR NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT SATURDAY

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—The Big Ten and the Pacific Coast conference contrive to swing the football searchlight upon themselves this week despite another array of important inter-sectional tests. In each conference the championship situation is so clearly defined as to hinge almost entirely on the result of a single game.

In the Big Ten, Northwestern and Minnesota, the only untied and unbeaten teams in the conference, are matched at Evanston in a battle that almost certainly will decide the title. Especially does this hold true if Northwestern wins as the Wildcats then would have only to beat Indiana and Iowa to wind up its conference season with a perfect record. Minnesota, should it conquer Northwestern, still would have to dispose of Michigan.

Title At Stake

In the Pacific Coast race, Southern California, with four conference victories, will clash with Stanford, unbeaten but tied by Washington. With all other conference teams beaten at least once, this struggle virtually will determine the 1931 champion.

The situation is less clearly defined in other major conferences. All the standouts are Georgia, Tulane and Tennessee in the south; Southern Methodist and Texas Christian in the Southwest; Harvard, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Syracuse in the East; Nebraska and Kansas State in the Big Six; Utah and the Utah Aggies in the Rocky Mountain group; and Notre Dame among the midwest independents.

This week's intersectional warfare finds Notre Dame again involved in the most important fray. The Ramblers will stay at home at South Bend to entertain Pennsylvania, undefeated and untied, Georgia will come north again, this time to tackle New York University; Detroit will battle Fordham, undefeated but tied; Navy will play Ohio State at Columbus; Washington & Jefferson will go west to clash with Marquette at Milwaukee; Louisiana State will battle Army at West Point; Virginia will face its second straight eastern foe in Columbia; Arkansas will tangle with Chicago and Centenary will play Purdue.

Within the conferences the schedule and its bearing on championship races can be outlined briefly thus:

East: Dartmouth, after its 33-33 tie with Yale, must tackle undefeated Harvard; Pitt plays Carnegie Tech, Villanova meets Temple, Bucknell tackles Georgetown and Colgate faces Penn State in other Big-time games.

Big Ten: Minnesota and Northwestern clash in the big battle. Other conference games pit Wisconsin against Illinois and Indiana against Michigan with Wisconsin and Michigan the favorites.

Big Six: Kansas State, tied with Nebraska for the lead, faces improved Iowa State and Kansas plays Oklahoma. Nebraska and Missouri play non-conference foes.

South: With Georgia in the north and Tennessee taking on Carson-Newman in a breather, Tulane holds the spotlight with its tussle against Auburn.

Far West: Stanford and Southern California game tops all the rest with the latter favored to win and virtually clinch title.

Southwest: Southern Methodist, the leader, must face a strong foe in Texas A. and M. Texas Christian, also unbeated in the conference, tackles Rice and Baylor plays Texas. The title may not be determined until Texas Christian and Southern Methodist meet Nov. 28.

Rocky Mountain: Utah, the outstanding favorite, should romp over Colorado college and the Utah Aggies, technical leader with four victories, should add a fifth at the expense of Brigham Young.

People Want Peace

Charles M. Schwab, addressing the Iron and Steel Institute, remarks that most of the world's troubles today stem back directly to the World War; and he adds, very sensibly, that the only hope for recovery lies in continued universal peace.

"I was talking recently," says Mr. Schwab, "with a shrewd observed who has been traveling around the world. He tells me that the desire of the masses of the people in all parts of the world is for peace. The talk of another war has no place in the hearts of people anywhere."

This is true enough; and the great problem facing the world today is how to find a means of translating this world-wide desire into reality. The ordinary people themselves are converted. It remains only to bring their leaders into line.

And this, in turn, brings us to the curious fact that the ordinary man is usually a lot farther advanced than he gets credit for from the men who rule him. The follies and crimes that blacken the record of history are not due to the stupidity and iniquity of the mass of humanity; they arise because the men in high places cannot realize how eagerly mankind in general wants to be led along the right path.

It was not the common people who brought about the World War. It is not the common people who have kept hatred suspicion and bitterness alive since the war ended. The world is in a mess today, and has been in one for 17 years, because its leaders could not understand that the race as a whole will respond just as quickly to altruistic idealism as to selfishness and jealousy.

For mankind in general is capable of almost infinite things. It asks only for the right kind of leadership. For a great many years it has been cheerfully going out to die on innumerable battlefields for causes it could not understand; it has asked only that it be shown an ideal, only that it be urged to exhibit all the bravery and self-denial that it possesses.

Today its face is set toward peace. Ye the world continues to move toward war. How long before the leaders will discover what humanity really wants of them?

Air Giants

News that the Navy Department has ordered the Goodyear-Zeppelin people to go ahead with the construction of a sister-dirigible to the giant Akron emphasizes the fact this this new ship will cost only about one-half as much as the Akron cost.

The Akron cost in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. The new ship will run to only about $2,450,000. The savings come because construction facilities are now fully available, methods of design and building have been fully developed and the workers themselves are more familiar with their job.

All of this indicates that if the time ever comes when whole fleets of dirigibles are required—for transatlantic commercial service, or for war—the price of each ship can be still further reduced. Everything considered, it is amazing that a ship the size of the Akron can be built for less than two and a half million.

Railroad Relief

Just what the ultimate effects of the Interstate Commerce Commission's refusal to grant a flat 15 per cent boost in railway freight rates may be is not yet clear. There is probably more than an outside chance, however, that the railroad brotherhoods will presently be hearing about it.

When the rate increase was first proposed, it was common talk that the railroads, if the proposal were rejected, would promptly open discussions with the brotherhood leaders looking toward extensive wage reductions.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says some men are like olives—you have to learn to like them.

* * *

Many a girl who thinks she is swearing eternal allegiance at the altar is only binding herself to eternal vigilance.

* * *

ALTHOUGH it is admittedly none of The Plainsman's business how high churchmen run their churches he disagrees with instructions handed the Methodist clergy in the Austin meeting the other day by Bishop Sam R. Hay, of Ft. Worth.

Speaking before the 73rd Annual West Texas conference, the good bishop urged the pastors to stay away from the golf links, adding that "if you want exercise, get out and chop some wood."

We have a bright and shining mind picture of the Northwest Texas pastor finding wood enough to chop.

* * *

The Plainsman never plays golf for the reason that the game has never attracted him.

But if the testimony of a layman—and a layman who has considerable need of spiritual guidance—is acceptable, the preacher who can and does mix with his church members in their business and recreational endeavors usually is able to exert considerable force for good in his community. Certainly he exerts more than the pastor who spends his time at ladies aid meetings and ringing doorbells at the homes of a few, powerful parishoners.

* * *

IN this day and time a preacher has to be a mixer—he has to be a man's man as well as a good pulpit orator—to make the grade. If you doubt this statement stop and think a bit over the problem, then you'll more than likely be convinced of this fact.

Lubbock has several golf-playing pastors and without exception they are good pastors—men who exert influence among men throughout the city's business and professional circles—men who are considered "in" whenever any appreciable group of business men gather. If their golf has injured their administrations the fact certainly is not discernable from the outside.

* * *

The Plainsman is not undertaking to say that every preacher should play golf or that those who do not play are not exerting the utmost of influence over the men of the city. Far be it from that.

The point is that any preacher who has intelligence enough to lead a church and to occupy its pulpit ought to be granted intelligence enough to choose his own methods of recreation, exercise, or plain personal enjoyment.

A preacher isn't in any different position than a banker, a lawyer, a plumber, a merchant or a newspaper editor. He has his likes and dislikes, his ambitions and desires. As long as he does not injure his standing in the community or neglect his work, he should be accredited with judgment enough to choose his own diversions.

ANNOUNCEMENT that the widow of W. R. Billingsley will receive death benefits from the Carnegie Hero Fund commission as a result of her husband's laying down his life for a friend, comes as welcome news to those who remember the fatal shooting of the Sparenberg storekeeper.

In case your memory has gone rusty, Billingsley was shot down when he went to the aid of a neighboring filling station proprietor who was being held up. That was on May 1, 1930, and Ira McKee has since been found guilty of the slaying, but has not yet paid the death penalty prescribed.

* * *

In addition to the death benefits totaling $80 per month, Mrs. Billingsley will be given a bronze medal honoring her late husband's heroism. While these things do not restore to her and to Dawson county the man who was brave enough to face an armed bandit, they help.

At least that's the advice given The Plainsman recently by Jake Hassell, who has a friend who keeps pet deer and who has made a study of the animals.

"The belief that a buck adds two points per year is a fallacy," quoth Mr. Hassell. "Adding the points depends upon the quality of the forage and the diet of the animal.

"It is the natural thing for a buck to add two points per year—but it is not always the case."

Deer hunters who would like to argue the point are invited to write The Plainsman.

Congressman Wood Of Indiana Favors Cutting Salaries Of All Government Employes, But Failure Of Plan Seen

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 2—Congressman Will Wood of Indiana is reconciled to being the most unpopular man in Washington.

He couldn't expect to be anything else when he decided on a crusade for a reduction of all government salaries.

DUTCHER

The chances are that Wood will not be able to put over his program unless the administration becomes much more desperate for economies than it is now, but Wood presumably will hold his old powerful post as chairman of the appropriations committee—if the Republicans control the House—and he will attract enough support to stir up a mean fight.

And when the fight is over, one fears, his name will be a hissing and byword for hundreds of thousands of the boys and girls who work for Uncle Sam.

* * *

Wood says he has already had promises of support from 15 or 16 members of Congress, but the fact that he proposes to reduce congressional salaries along with the rest may give you an idea why he seems so surely doomed to disappointment. Even if the old gentleman were proposing to exempt his colleagues they wouldn't have the nerve to slash the incomes of stenographers, clerks and other workers while leaving their own $10,000 salaries intact.

The other big stumbling block which Wood faces is the opposition of the Hoover administration itself, of which the Indiana congressman is ordinarily one of the staunchest supporters. Although the administration has come to realize that it has been powerless to avert wage cuts in private industry, Hoover is in no position to sign a bill to reduce the government's own salaries. He has been so thoroughly committed to the policy of maintaining wages and his party propagandist have made so much capital of his widely commended stand that even if Congress were to hand him such a bill—and even if a considerable amount of public opinion had come to favor it—a presidential veto would be certain. An election is coming along and that fact is borne in mind constantly both at the White House and on Capitol Hill.

* * *

A while ago Wood urged a general salary reduction beginning with the $2500 salaries. But now he has changed his mind and will attempt to hit all salaries from $1200 a year up. He realized after his first blast that 80 per cent of government salaries were below $2500 and feels that in order to benefit the country the reduction must be of wider scope. He would make reductions of 5 per cent in the $1200 to $2500 class, 8 per cent from $2500 to $10,000 and 10 per cent on everything above $10,000.

That would bring the president's salary down to $67,500, those of senators and representatives down toward $9000 and those of Vice President Curtis and the cabinet members to $13,500.

At recent conventions both the National Federation of Federal Employes and the Postal Employers' Association, representing about 600,000 persons between them, adopted resolutions calling for aggressive salary increase campaigns.

* * *

The federal employes generally argue that many of them are still miserably unpaid and that the low level of the whole government scale vitiates Wood's assertion that their pay was raised because of high living costs which have since been lowered. They also feel that Wood dislikes federal employes on general principles, as he accuses them of "living on the fat of the land."

Congress raised its own salaries from $7500 to $10,000 in 1926 and two years later passed the Welch bill which raised the salary of the average federal worker about $125 a year and made the maximum for the few highest paid professional and scientific groups $9000 instead of $7800. At that time many government workers hadn't had a raise for 20 years and about 75 per cent of them were employed at an average of $1300 a year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1453 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

USE OF DRUGS

Drugs are frequently attacked by faddists. Yet they remain one of the two or three most useful methods of treating disease in the modern age. Specific serums for infectious diseases are the finest fruit of medical science, but we have only a few of those, and comparatively few sick people are proper objects for their ure. Their value is to that extent limited.

Dr. Clendening

Diet, rest and surgery are all useful in many conditions, but none are so continuously valuable as different drugs.

One reason for the faddists' objection to drugs is that he considers that the term includes only narcotics and habit-forming substances. He does not remember that many things he constantly uses, such as soap and baking soda act as drugs.

Another objection he voices is that drugs are not Nature's method of healing. "Drugless healing of Nature's way" he is constantly reiterating. It is difficult to know what he means. If he means that animals or primitive man did not use drugs he is only partially correct. Dogs eat grass when they are sick, as is well known, and wild monkeys have been known to apply certain leaves with antiseptic properties to their wounds. As for primitive man, he had more drugs in his cave than the average modern citizen has in his medicine closet—which is saying a good deal.

Why eating fruit should be any more of a "natural" method of healing than eating the leaves of a plant like the foxglove is hard to say.

It is true that drugs of the narcotic series are often abused and often do much harm. But they do a vast amount of good also; they are, in fact, the absolutely indispensable drugs. There are many poor sufferers whose existence for a while would be intolerable without a local anaesthetic like cocaine. And one of the most encouraging features of medical research today is that drugs are being discovered which will do the essential thing the old drugs did and yet be free from the objectionable features. For instance, there is an excellent drug, butyn, which does what cocaine does in the way of relief of local pain, yet has no narcotizing or habit-forming properties whatever.

Modern life simply could not continue along its present lines if it were not for certain drugs. Surgery would be impossible without some of the many anaesthetic agents we now know—ether, chloroform, nitrous oxid, ethylene, avertine and scopalamine. Antiseptics are deodorants have made many industrial processes possible.

There is probably as much valuable research going on in the field of treatment of disease by drugs and in the improvement of drugs as any other part of medical science.

The municipality of Rome, Italy, issued an order that it was all right to wear overcoats. Sure! All right to borrow a dollar, too.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—The fickle, merciful nature of the entertainment world would drive practical, soft-skinned business men to the crazy house or the cyanide bottle.

But the gentlemen of Broadway take it on the chin or in the purse with equal grace. They're a great race of die-hards who have managed to steel themselves against the supposed tragedy of financial loss. Almost every day the papers tell of some once-rich broker or manufacturer who jumped from the top of a building or turned on the gas because he had lost his fortune.

Ha-ha-ha! say the showmen, the agents, the songsmiths and all the rest. A score of them have known millions one season only to borrow "angel food," as they call production money, the next season.

A few paragraphs announce that Al Woods has been called into the receivership court. Just a few years back he was rolling in wealth from the receipts of "The Trial of Mary Dugan." And he took in millions 25 years ago from such melo-dramas as "The Queen of the White Slaves," "Bertha, the Beautiful Sewing Machine Girl" and "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model."

* * *

Maurice Gest, according to a current Variety, just finished paying salaries for his super-production of "The Miracle." He's been out of the limelight for some time, save for a short tie-up with the Shubert's in Jolson's "The Wonder Bar." Yet here he is, with money again and a new "Chauve Souris" and all sorts of plans for the future.

Jed Harris made a great fortune so fast that it made even his head swim. After "Broadway" everything he touched seemed brewed in the pots of the alchemist of old. Then he "went Russian." He took one failure after another. He said he was through with the theatre. But back he bounces.

Belasco had to mortgage his theater to pay off what he owed on "Mimi." But he died leaving a fat estate.

And while others less inured to ups-and-downs look for a leaping off place these gents laugh at such other's travails and wonder when they'll be back on top.

* * *

At the age of 37, Con Conrad, the music-writing gent with a bent for discovering talent, has lost and won more fortunes than any number of stock-market manipulators. Like most Broadwayese folk, he adores flash. He goes in for swank looking cars and homes, but his attire is usually careless.

Con started playing a piano on amateur nights at Miner's on the Bowery. He graduated to a nickel picture show way up town, operated by a gent named William Fox. . . Wrote his first song for Rae Samuels . . . Went steerage for his first London engagement and when the late Sir Thomas Lipton heard about it, got a part for Con.

The song "Margie" made him $100,000 . . . But it's soon gone . . . Another hit "Lonesome and Sorry" . . . He marries Francine Larrimore, the actress, but the marriage doesn't work. . . He tosses his money into a movie presentation for Beth Berl. . . Broke again!

* * *

Then the late Arnold Rothstein came along and got Con to open a booking office. But he turns producer and puts on "Keep Shuffling," which is a flop. Now he's in hock!

So it goes—thousands from Hollywood and thousands from Broadway. Like most of the rest, the money went back from whence it came. His latest venture was backing Russ Columbo, the new radio singer. Con had gone into the music publishing business with $14,000 in movie money. He brought Columbo back with him from the coast.

Maybe there's a new fortune around the corner. Maybe there isn't.

At this moment, with Al Woods facing the bankruptcy courts, they wonder what show he'll show up with soon and make a million.

Thieves stole 125 gallons of peppermint oil. That's enough to get sweetly oiled.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Clowny donned a great big hat, he said, "What do you think of that? I'd look just like a Mexican, if I had proper clothes. The hat, though, seems too big for me, and it's as heavy as can be. If I should pull it down 'twould cover up my ears and nose."

"If you think you look funny, gee, all of you Tinies gaze at me. My size must be much smaller 'cause it sits atop my head. These hats are nice, but I don't care to have this type for daily wear." They all agreed that Scouty was correct in what he'd said.

The Travel Man then said, "Let's go and see a basket-weaving show. I'm sure some weavers are nearby. It's fun to watch them weave. Each basket which is finished nice is sold, and at a real fair price. We'll find a man and watch him make a basket ere we leave."

The hadn't walked so very far till Coppy shouted, "There they are! I see large baskets hanging up. The man is making more." They rushed rigt up and gathered 'round, all very pleased that they had found the very interesting sight that they were looking for.

"Sure, you can watch me," said the man. "I'll do the very best I can to show you how the weaving's done. It's not so hard, you'll find." And so they watched him work away. Said Clowny, "Gee, it's just like play." One basket soon was finished. Then he made another kind.

This one was large and colored bright. Wee Carpy cried, "That's quite a sight!" And then the Tinies noticed he was weaving rather slow. "In doing this, more time I need. I'll work a word that you can read," explained the man. Then on the basket he worked M-E-X-I-C-O.

(The Tinymites sail for Havana in the next story.)

DROUTH LOOMS AS BLESSING

FARMERS IN ARKANSAS PAYING DEBTS; SEE BETTER TIMES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2 (AP)—Looking back upon last year's drouth as a blessing in disguise, Arkansas farmers are fast paying their debts and visualizing better times as they harvest the largest and most diversified crop in recent history.

And prosperous agriculture usually means prosperous Arkansas, for that is the state's chief industry and resource.

The improved condition of agriculture has just begun to show its effects upon the business life of the state. Wholesale and retail merchants report a decided increase in business in the past three weeks, much of which is seasonal, but they say the outlook for the winter and for next year especially is encouraging.

The record breaking crop has combined with a number of other factors to overcome to some extent the low price of cotton so that farmers generally, for the first time in years, can see a profit from their labors.

For instance, the amount of canned and other foodstuffs put away this year is estimated to equal in additional five cents a pound for cotton.

The condition of Ben F. Smith, a Crosbyton resident injured critically when an automobile ran into a ditch, was poor this morning, attendants at Lubbock sanitarium indicated.

Of others received at the sanitarium, Mrs. L. E. Howell, 32, of near Becton, was dismissed Sunday. She suffered cuts about the face in an automobile collision.

A 12-year-old boy, Leroy Grizzell, of near Ralls, was moved to his home Sunday from West Texas hospital, where he was treated for four rib-fractures suffered when a wagon loaded with cotton ran over him.

Loses Nose But Keeps Friend

Friendship of Sam Lockett, right, for Charlie Pratt, left, both of Knoxville, Tenn., has been tried and found not wanting. Sam called Charlie a name when in an argument over Sam's marital difficulties. In the ensuing fight Sam received a slash that cut off the end of his nose. But when police arrested Charlie on felonious assault charges, Sam pleaded for and obtained his friend's release. The Knoxville News-Sentinel appealed for some plastic surgeon to "match Sam Lockett's unselfishness by giving him free service." Dr. Max Thorek, surgeon-in-chief of the American hospital at Chicago, responded, and the American Airways offered to take him to Chicago by plane and he accepted.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 5 to 6 points on foreign and domestic trade buying coupled with higher Liverpool cables. Southern selling was in evidence here but offerings were light with the market steady. January sold up to 6.75 and March to 6.90.

The advance encountered some southern selling and brokers who frequently act for the cooperative interests again were credited with selling March. Prices sagged off to 6.72 for January and 6.87 for March and the general market was within a point or two of Saturday's closing quotations at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying, hedging and covering in that market influenced by easier sterling and said there was a fair demand for cotton cloths and yarns.

Trading continued quiet later in the morning but offerings were light after the early selling had run its course and there was sufficient further trade buying or covered to send the market about 3 to 7 points net higher, with January selling up to 6.76 and March to 6.88. The firmness of the wheat and stock markets contributed to this bulge, but its failure to stimulate more aggressive buying led to some realizing and prices sagged back again, with the market ruling within 2 or 3 points of Saturday's closing quotations at midday.

NEW YORK OPEN

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Grain prices jumped today to fresh high price records, influenced by scarcity of wheat offerings at Liverpool and by rust damage prospects in Argentina. Some dispatches received said Russia would export no more wheat this year or next. Opening 1-4 to 7-8 cent higher, wheat continued to rise. Corn started unchanged to 1-2 advance and later held near the initial range.

Speed Up Plans For Judd Murder Trial

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 2 (AP)—As the state speeded plans to bring Winnie Ruth Judd to trial on a murder charge within the next 60 days, Sheriff J. R. McFadden revealed today he was keeping close watch over the prisoner to forestall any attempt she might make to take her life.

The sheriff refused permission to Herman Lewkowitz, attorney who said he had been retained as associate counsel with Paul Schenck of Los Angeles to defend Mrs. Judd, to talk privately with the woman.

Thanksgiving Will Have Fewer Turkeys

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. (AP)—Turkey will be less plentiful for the Thanksgiving menu this year but will be in greater supply for Christmas.

Figures supplied by the government bureau of agricultural economics showed the 1931 turkey crop was slightly larger than in 1930 but a smaller percentage would be ready for market by Thanksgiving.

Turkeys apparently were in better than average condition on Oct. 1, except in some states in the western drouth area. Texas had a 7-per cent increase in production.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—The stock market began the month with a firm tone today. Oils were helped by higher crude prices, while steels profited by the more encouraging outlook noted in week-end reports, rails, however, were sluggish and quickly surrendered moderate early advances.

American Telephone, National Biscuit and Case rallied a couple of points or more. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Westinghouse, General electric, Du Pont, North American and Allied Chemical rose 1 to 1 1-2. The plane, piloted by John Blum, 32, Seattle, apparently was forced down by fog and rain. Blum landed the craft in the middle of the highway but the gasoline tank exploded and the men were trapped in the cabin.

Besides Blum, the victims were Dr. Russell J. McCurdy, president of Kings County (Seattle) Medical society; Arthur D Hodge, 35; Ray Sutherland, 31, and Harold De Spain, 30.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2 (AP)—Reports from Oaxaca today said a considerable amount of damage was done there yesterday by an earthquake which was felt as a heavy shock here, at Vera Cruz and in other parts of the country.

A message from Oaxaca said many houses were destroyed and the inhabitants of the city terrified by subterranean noises which accompanied the quake but that there were no casualties. Oaxaca has a population of about 40,000. It was nearly half destroyed last January 14 by a quake which resulted in the death of nearly 100 persons.

"CONFERENCE OF KINGS" PLANNED TO BE HELD AT JERUSALEM IN DECEMBER

JERUSALEM, Nov. 2 (AP)"A conference of kings" on a scale greater than those of Biblical times will be held here in December. At least a dozen crowned potentates and a score of ruling princes are expected.

Problems concerning the future of the Near East and the Moslem world will be discussed. Invitations already have been sent to all Moslem kings, princes, emirs and rulers in North Africa, the Near East, Arabia and India.

The question of naming Prince Abdel Mejid, former caliph and sultan of Turkey, as titular spiritual head of the Mohammedan world, with his throne in Jerusalem, also will come up. The former caliph, who was expelled by Mustapha Kemal Pasha after the Turkish nationalist government had divorced the state from the church, is now living in exile in France.

One message from Beirut, capital of Syria, said King Feisul of Iraq has come to an understanding with the former caliph whereby the Indian and Moslem rulers would be willing to provide funds in order to maintain the caliphate in Jerusalem.

OIL HIKE

some discouraged farmers stored or piled on the ground last harvest time in rebellion against quotations as low as 25 cents a bushel, has risen to the highest levels of the season. July wheat commanded 59 1-8 cents a bushel in Kansas City and 66 5-8 cents in Chicago at the close of business Saturday.

Frank A. Theis, president of the Kansas City board of trade said wheat was showing the way to other commodities with "impressive leadership."

Optimism pervaded the mid-continent oil field as a result of a 15 cent price jump led by the Continental Oil company. Other companies followed. The new scale, ranging from 61 to 85 cents a barrel, becomes effective today in Oklahoma and Kansas.

While no change was announced for Texas, Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, martial law commander in the East Texas field, said he expected prices there would go up also. Oklahoma wells began production today under new proration orders limiting the state's output to 546,000 barrels daily in line with a compact with Texas and Kansas. Restricted production enforced by martial law in Texas and Oklahoma was credited largely with bringing about the price increase.

SATURDAY'S ANSWER

CHICAGO CIVIC OPERA TO OPEN ITS SEASON TONIGHT; NOTABLES APPEAR

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Chicago civic opera will open its twenty-first season tonight with an air of expectancy from dress circle to balcony top.

Not for many years has there been such an arrayal of notable debut for the opening week.

The tragic "Tosca," Jan Kiepura, much-acclaimed young Polish tenor, will bow tonight to American opera with debut compared by critics with that of 15 years ago, also in Chicago, of Amelita Galli-Curci.

All the splendor of other opera nights will be there—all, that is, but the grandeur of Mary Garden. For the first time since the war years, she is not with the civic opera. She is spending the early winter in concert, then abroad to the opera comique.

Kiepura's role in Puccini's operatic version of Sardou's melodrama is that of Mario Cavardossi, the painter—made famous by Caruso and Ricardo Martin. With Kiepura will be two of Chicago's favorites: Claudio Muzio as La Tosca, the singer; and Vannimarcoux as Baron Scarpia, the treacherous police chief.

Kiepura, 29 years old, made his debut in Warsaw; the next week, in Vienna, he was praised lavishly by European critics. Appearances followed rapidly in Berlin, at the Convent Garden in London and at La Scala in Milan.

The young tenor, critics said, possesses what the American opera-goers dote on: The ability to reach the high notes with unusual power and to hold them.

GOT HIS WISH

FORT WORTH—W. Lipscomb appealed to D. G. Culbertson to lodge him in jail so he could break himself of the dope habit. Culbertson was without power to jail Lipscomb, but Justice Walter Prichard fixed it up so that Lipscomb got a sentence of 71 days in jail—a day for every year of the man's age.

IDOLIZED IDOL EYES

LONDON—Natives in African and eastern countries idolize the idol eyes made in England. A firm on Oxford street receives numerous orders from these countries to make artificial eyes for the idols. Some of them are passive, others have a fierce look and still others are liquid pools of sympathy. The firm has succeeded in making artificial eyes in which the pupils expand and contract.

UNLOCKS JAWS

MEMPHIS—Modern surgery had unlocked the jaws of Eugene Barnett, 17, whose jaws became locked 10 years after he had been hit in the face with a baseball. Surgeons chisled out surplus bone from the jaw and propped his mouth open for several days. This operation freed one side of the mouth but a second must be performed in about three months to unlock the other side.

Mechanical Fire-Fighting Eye

One of the wonders of modern science, the mechanical fire-fighting eye, is shown above. The eye in this head is equipped with a photo-lectric cell, and it roves constantly, covering every spot in the room every few seconds. When it "spots" a fire, a stream of carbon dioxide spurts from the mouth until the flame is extinguished. The mechanical eye was exhibited at the annual congress of the National Safety Council in Chicago.

GRAIN MEN TO MEET HERE

ABOUT 40 SORGHUM GROWERS EXPECTED AT CONCLAVE

About 40 grain sorghum growers of Texas, principally in West Texas and on the South Plains, are expected here November 9 for the annual fall meeting of the state plant and seed board at Texas Technological college, R. V. Miller, secretary, has advised H. J. Bower, head of the department of agronomy at the local school.

"Sessions will be held at the college and from what Mr. Miller said, we can expect about 40 people", Mr. Bower explained. "The meeting is a very important one from the grower's standpoint and I am looking for a big attendance."

Besides Mr. Bower, other members of the faculty of the school of agriculture at Tech, including Dean A. H. Leidigh, will attend the conference. D. F. Eaton, county agent, and one or two other men from Lubbock, who are interested in grain sorghums, have been invited to participate, it is understood.

W. M. Pool, Muleshoe, is president of the Certified Grain Grower's association and James Burroughs, of Lubbock, vice-president. These two, with W. H. Cunningham, of Rochester, secretary, are to preside over a meeting of the state certified group.

Recently that organiation made arrangements with the Texas Certified Cotton Breeder's association and Sears Roebuck Co., to handle the certified seed of the Texas association. The cotton association has 1,500 distributing agencies over the state.

JAPANESE TROOPS PUSHING FARTHER

TOKYO, Nov. 2. —(AP)—Japanese troops of occupation pushed farther to the west and north in Manchuria and Mongolia today while persistent reports that China had entered a secret agreement with Moscow for Russian assistance were considered by the Japanese cabinet.

The American government also was reported to have interested itself in the conflicting reports of Russian mobilization alqng the Siberian-Manchurian borders and to have sent George Hanson, its consul general at Harbin, to northern Manchuria to investigate.

Woods Appeals His Case To The County

Convicted in corporation court and fined $100 for erecting and maintaining a swinging sign-board on the Cotton Exchange building, A. F. Woods, a local optometrist, has appealed to county court.

The appeal was filed this morning. The building, to which the sign is fastened and in which Woods office is located, is at Texas avenue and Thirteenth street.

BROWN IMPROVES

Improvement was reported today in the condition of Wayne Brown, 15-year-old son of Policeman H. B. Brown. The boy underwent an operation for appendicitis at Lubbock sanitarium last Thursday.

WOAH THERE!

CINCINNATI—Judge A. L. Leubbers freed Harold G. Kates of a charge of wrongfully issuing a $219 check. As Kates walked from the courtroom he was rearrested by Charles Ellenreider and Lee Flaugher, detectives, who sought him on a similar charge for Columbus officials.

TREASURE CRAFT

NEW YORK—The latest diving bell, invented by Emil Kulikk, of Brooklyn, is intended for use in sunken treasure hunt. The bell is equipped with oxygen tanks, interchangeable arms operated from the inside to grasp any object in the water, and is fitted out in the manner of a small submarine. It can descend to great depths.

NEW-FANGLED AUTOMOBILE, WHICH USES COMPRESSED AIR AS "FUEL", SOON MAY REVOLUTIONIZE MOTOR INDUSTRY

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Roy J. Meyers, inventor, drove his car up to a filling station here the other day.

"Gas, mister?" queried the attendant.

"No," replied Meyers, "just a little wind," and he proceeded to the rear where a sign "free air" could be seen.

Coupling the air hose onto a connection, he eyed a pressure gauge on the dash. In a few minutes he was satisfied, and climbed into the seat with the remark, "Well, she's good for another hundred miles now," and drove off, leaving the gas station man goggle-eyed.

"Free air" means free fuel for Meyers, for he has succeeded in harnessing compressed air as an entirely practical motive power by means of a newly developed motor which he has just disclosed for the first time in an amazing demonstration.

Six Years' Research

"The new motor is the result of six years of research and experimentation," said Meyers, as he drove it around Los Angeles. "This is the second complete motor I have built, my first experimental model having been made three years ago. This latest motor has taken a year to perfect."

Going over the six-cylinder engine, which resembles a radial airplane motor in general appearance, Meyers pointed out that it requires no ignition system, no carburetor, no gas tank nor the multiplicity of moving parts necessary in the ordinary gasoline power plant. There is but one control and that is the air lever, governing the supply of air to the cylinders.

Tanks in the rear of the car are filled with compressed air to 900 pounds pressure. On opening the control valve the car moves off with smooth ease, and picks up speed quickly. The only sound on starting is a slight hum which ceases as the car gains way.

This experimental car, said Meyers, is direct geared, and is good for a speed of 75 miles an hour, but with the addition of a gear shift in conjunction with a larger sized motor, normal maximum automobile speeds of greater can be made, he maintains. Greater power and speed is simply a matter of piston displacement, as in the gasoline motor. Meyers explained in showing the general principles on which his creation works.

How It Works

"The air expands in the cylinders forcing the pistons up and down, the gas explosions do in the ordinary type motor," the inventor pointed out. "Similarity ceases there, for then the air is recaptured and recompressed by a compressor built into the motor itself. This cold recompressed air is returned to the pressure tanks where it is heated by the electricity from batteries and generator. The expansion from the heat greatly increases the air power as it goes back into use.

"I intend to carry my experiments further and perfect this motor for airplane use as well as for automobiles. Such a motor would be absolutely certain in operation and eliminate any possible fire hazard. By doing away with the fuel loads now necessary, the use of the air motor would greatly increase the pay loads of aircraft."

As he experimented, Meyers drives his present car around Los Angeles, picking up a little free air here and there, his transportation costing him not a cent except the wear and tear on his tires.

HOW BACTERIA CAN EAT POISON IN ILLUMINATING GAS TO BE EXPLAINED

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—How bacteria can "eat" the poison in illuminating gas and make it safe for breathing will be described to the third international bituminous coal conference at Pittsburgh November 16.

This process of setting germs to work is explained in an announcement about the conference received from Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology where the conference will be held.

The bacteria technique will be explained by Dr. Franz Fischer, director of the Kaiser-Wilhelm institute of Mulheim-Ruhr, Germany. He states that a culture medium, literally a kind of feed, has been developed on which certain unusual bacteria thrive. They can live without air and they like carbon monoxide so well they eat it.

Carbon monoxide in small amounts is the principal poison in illuminating gas. By bubbling the gas through the special culture medium, the germs get a chance to eat it molecule by molecule and they clean it all out of the illuminant.

The process is not commercial but is part of some scientific laboratory experiments that Dr. Fischer says show this strange process is practicable. The germs are natural products found in various kinds of waste and sewage.

SCHOOL DAYS

LONDON—Miss F. Ashcroft is one school teacher in England who receives the undivided attention of her pupils. She teaches at Emblethorpe school at Lesser Northumberland said to be the smallest school in the British Isles. She has four pupils and they have to walk three miles to get to school. The teacher herself rides 10 miles on horseback each day to school.

HE CRAVES SPEED

LOS ANGELES—Joseph Hart, 97, was riding in a friend's automobile at a fast speed when it hit another. Hart climbed out unscratched, remarked that he was just beginning to enjoy a fast ride when the ambulance rolled up. "Now I can really ride fast," he remarked as he was put in the ambulance and whirled away to the hospital. He was given another fast ride home in a police car when it was found he was not injured.

GAS IN UPPER BOWELS MAKES PEOPLE NERVOUS

Nervousness and bad sleep are both caused by gas in upper bowel. Soda, magnesia or "stomach tablets" do not reach it. They act on stomach alone.

The simple German remedy, Adlerika, washes out BOTH stomach and bowels removing poisons which cause gas bloating, nervousness, bad sleep. Adlerika contains no harmful drugs. Get it today; in 2 hours you will be rid of all gas and bowel poisons. City Drug Store, Lubbock Drug Company.

Girlhood dreams are coming true for Ethel Wynne, daughter of Dr. Shirley Wynne, health commissioner of New York. She is to have a role as understudy in the entirely feminine cast of a show soon to be produced. Miss Wynne has had experience on the French amateur stage.

MUST HAVE LIKED IT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Mrs. Margaret L. Andrews believes that it pays to advertise—in some cases. She recently advertised an automobile for sale. A man showed up in answer to the ad and asked to see the car. He then asked permission to drive it, saying that if it came up to his expectations and he liked it, he would buy it. He took the car—and has never been seen since.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
