DIVISION OF JAPANESE ARMY PUTS TO FLIGHT BATTALIONS OF RUSSIA

After a Hot Fight Which Lasts Six Hours the Russians Are Defeated and Fall Back to Shi Mu Cheng—Jap Casualties Aggregate 100 Killed and Wounded in Battle

A Report From Tokio Says Still Another Russian Battleship Discovered Stranded off Tiger Rock—H. J. Middleton, Correspondent of Associated Press, is Dead

TOKIO, June 28, 11 a. m.—After a hot fight, which lasted for six hours, yesterday morning, June 27, the Takushan division of the Japanese army completely defeated five battalions of the Russian infantry which, supported by two regiments of cavalry and sixteen guns, occupied Feanchoui Leng, twenty-seven miles northwest of Siu Yen.

The Russians finally fell back in the direction of Shi Mu Cheng. The Japanese casualties aggregated about 100 killed and wounded. Major Oba was killed during the battle.

REPORTED FROM TOKIO

LONDON, June 28.—A dispatch received at the Japanese legation from Tokio says: "The Takushan army occupied Feanchoui Leng, twenty-seven miles northwest of Siu Yen, June 27, after six hours of hard fighting. The Japanese losses are estimated at one hundred. The Russian force, which consisted of five battalions of infantry and two regiments of cavalry, with sixteen guns, fled in disorder toward Tomoching.

REPORT ANOTHER SHIP STRANDED

LONDON, June 28.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says it is reported that another Russian battleship has been discovered stranded off Tiger Rock. It is presumed she was wrecked while returning to Port Arthur after the recent naval engagement.

VLADIVOSTOK SHIPS OFF COAST OF JAPAN

TOKIO, June 28, 11:30 a. m.—An unconfirmed report has been received from the island of Hokkaido that ships resembling the Russian Vladivostok squadron had appeared off there on June 27. Similar reports have been received from other places along the northern coast of Japan. The navy office does not give any credence to these reports.

BRIGANDS ARE AGAIN ACTIVE AT NEW CHWANG

NEW CHWANG, June 28.—The brigands are again active in this vicinity. They attacked a village two miles south of here last night and the natives and foreign residents fear, on account of the Russian reverses, if the Japanese troops do not arrive within a few days the brigands will become bolder and enter the city. This they could easily do, as it lies practically unprotected. The Russians have less than seventy-five men in the city proper, with a few Chinese police, who, it is believed, are in league with the outlaws. All the foreign residents, the British especially, are unable to understand the reason which prompted the British consul to report to the London government that there was nothing to fear from these brigands.

Twenty military attaches who were permitted to come here yesterday from Tatche Kiao for supplies, were obliged to promise not to talk of the Russian movements. The native reports that one division of General Kuroki's army was fifteen miles south of Tatche Kiao at 5 o'clock yesterday is not confirmed. If true, it indicates that the Japanese plans for a fight there yesterday must have been upset by the heavy rains. Two regiments marched through here from Kai Chou to avoid Tatche Kiao yesterday.

RUSSIANS THINK WAR IS BECOMING BRUTAL

ST. PETERSBURG, June 28.—The Novoe Vremya today, calling attention to the statement of Don Jaimie de Bourbon, an eye witness to the killing of the Russian wounded at Vanfangow, declares something must be done quickly to prevent the war degenerating into senseless brutality which the Japanese practice. The paper urges the Russian newspaper correspondents in the field to show up the authors of this brutality and secure evidence of eye witnesses and photographs in order that The Hague convention may be evoked.

The sudden cessation of newspaper dispatches from the theater of war tends to confirm the belief that the armies are about to engage. Most of the military critics take the view that a big battle is imminent, although the Novoe Vremya's expert thinks a pitched battle now more attractive to the Japanese generals than to General Kuropatkin, saying that the latter does not need precipitancy, as Russian reinforcements continue to arrive, but if the Japanese want battle they must hasten, as only a fortnight remains before the rains set in.

An army organ, whose comment written before the arrival of Lieutenant General Sakharoff's dispatch last night, points out that it is a difficult, mountainous country through which General Kuroki's columns is moving and finds that General Oku's withdrawal southward is either the Japanese trying to draw off part of Kuropatkin's army or a decision in view of the near approach of the rainy season to arrest their further advance. In the latter case the enemy will be able to hold the greater part of the Lia Tung peninsula until the resumption of active operations in August. All the papers consider almost inexplicable the failure to receive further reports from Tokio of the sea fight off Port Arthur and are reproducing with great prominence the dispatches from the German papers to the effect that Admiral Togo in his official report did not claim positively to have sunk a Russian battleship or to have crippled two other vessels.

DEATH OF ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT

NEW CHWANG, Monday, June 27.—H. J. Middleton, the Associated Press correspondent with the Russian headquarters, near Liao Yang, in Manchuria, died suddenly of dysintery.

Henry John Middleton, the first war correspondent to lose his life at the front in the present conflict, was representing the Associated Press at General Kuropatkin's headquarters near Liao Yang. He was taken sick with enteric dysintery less than a week ago and only on Sunday was a dispatch received from him, in which he requested that a substitute be sent to relieve him.

He was about 33 years of age, unmarried and was born in London. Mr. Middleton was a vivid descriptive writer, a linguist, student and one of the best posted men on international afafirs. He became connected with the London bureau of the Associated Press in 1892 and has filled almost every position except that of superintendent of that office.

CAPTURE JAPS IN GUISE OF MUSICIANS

NAVARRA, Russia, June 28.—Two Japanese, masquerading as itinerant organ grinders and attired in a Bulgarian costume, were arrested here yesterday. Their organ was searched and it contained maps of the Baltic coast line and surveying instruments. The prisoners confessed. It is believed that one of them is colonel of the Japanese general staff and the other is his orderly. Both men were sent to St. Petersburg.

JAPANESE ARMY WAS NEAR PORT ARTHUR

CHEFOO, June 28, 4 p. m.—Chinese who left Port Arthur on June 24 say that only four battleships, five cruisers and the torpedo boats left the harbor on June 23. Of course these three returned badly damaged but none sank. The several large ships previously damaged carried no guns.

On June 24 the Japanese main army was within fourteen miles of Port Arthur. Their scouts were nearer. Natives of Manchuria have not been ordered out of Port Arthur, but only the natives of other provinces and a thousand of those have left.

The hospital at Liao Yang is overcrowded.

Letters from Feng Wang Cheng say the Japanese transport service is demoralized owing to the wretched condition of the roads.

BRANCH OFFICE OF FEDERATION AT DENVER

NEW YORK, June 28.—State Treasurer Whitney Newton of Colorado has conferred here with officials of the National Civic Federation. Labor troubles in the Cripple Creek district were discussed with a view to establishing a branch office of the National Federation at Denver like those in Boston and Chicago. Nothing definite was decided upon.

OPPOSITION TO MILES AT THE CONVENTION

National Chairman Stewart of Chicago Leads the Forces Opposed to Him

GENERAL KEEPS STILL

His Refusal to State His Position Is Cause of the Fight Made Against Him

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 28.—One thousand delegates and visitors to the National Prohibition convention have arrived, but as they have distributed themselves among the smaller hotels and boarding houses where no bars are maintained their presence in the city is scarcely noticeable. The arrivals represent many states and territories. Illinois' special train is expected tonight.

Leaders estimate that 3,000 delegates will be here. The alternates and visitors will have to arrive tomorrow morning, when the first business session of the convention opens. This will not include the Indiana visitors. They are expected to swell the attendance to six thousand.

National Chairman Stewart of Chicago began today taking the lead in the opposition to the nomination of General Miles. State Chairman Jones of Pennsylvania is at the head of the Miles forces. The fight against General Miles is declared to be contingent upon his continuing his silence he has so far maintained as to his position. They demand that he declare himself for the prohibition movement and announce his willingness to be the party candidate.

NEW STEAM SHOVEL MAKES GREAT SAVING

THURBER, Texas, June 28.—One of the largest and finest pieces of machinery ever brought to Thurber arrived this week for the Green & Hunter Brick Company. It is the latest improved steam shovel, and is capable of doing work that is astounding. It will be employed at the shale pit for loading the motor cars. It is stated the machine will effect a saving of $45 a day at the shale pit alone. It is of the pattern that lays its own track, being equipped with trucks similar to those of a freight car, and can be run on a standard railway track. As it stands on the car the machine complete weighs 55,000 pounds. Stupendous improvements are in contemplation at the big brick plant, and the introduction of the huge steam shovel is only a starter.

NO PROOF, SAYS NAN PATTERSON

Florodora Girl Accused of Killing Caesar Young Pleased at Turn in Her Case

NEW YORK, June 28.—Philip Waldheimer, who is associated with the lawyers who are defending Nan Patterson, accused of having shot and killed Frank T. Young, a bookmaker, in a cab on West Broadway recently, said today that he had received a letter from the chorus girl's brother-in-law, J. Morgan Smith, who disappeared after a subpoena calling for his presence before the grand jury had been served upon him. With him went his wife, Nan Patterson's sister.

While the lawyer would not divulge where Smith is, he said his letter was to the effect that he was not willing to come to this city at this time, as he did not wish to be taken before the grand jury and forced to answer questions which would bring out the facts, which are in favor of the Patterson girl.

Writing of the intimation that he was the man who, accompanied by a woman, went into Hyman Stern's pawnshop on Sixth avenue the day before the shooting and purchased the revolver which was found in Young's pocket when he was taken from the cab, Smith says he was not the man and that he can establish this fact by a perfect alibi. He will tell where he was on the day the pistol was purchased and prove it by those who saw him, he says, when he appears on the stand to help clear his sister-in-law of the charge made against her.

After the receipt of the letter the lawyer took it to the Toombs and showed it to Nan Patterson, who was overjoyed.

"I knew it!" she exclaimed. "It only shows that they can never convict me of this horrible crime. They have no proof against me ad now that my brother-in-law is ready to appear and tell what he knows in my behalf I have no fear of the outcome. But I think it is an outrage that they should want to keep me, an innocent girl, in prison all summer. I am waiting for the day when I can go on the stand and tell the true story of this awful happening, and when I do every one will believe I am innocent."

Detective Sergeants Armstrong and Judge are still seeking for the man who made the cartridges with which the revolver was loaded.

REPUBLICANS IN FEAR OF BRYAN IN SENATE

Will Make a Special Effort to Defeat Him in the State of Nebraska

TO SUCCEED DIETRICH

Latter's Term Expires Next March—Fear Bryan Would Obstruct Legislation

WASHINGTON, June 28.—With the return to Washington of several administration republicans who attended the Chicago convention one phase of the republican campaign was disclosed. The national committee, of which George B. Cortelyou is the chairman, will inaugurate its work with two distinct aims in view. The first, of course, will be the election of President Roosevelt. The second will be the defeat of Colonel William Jennings Bryan in Nebraska.

The republican managers have received information which they consider authentic that Colonel Bryan expects to be a candidate for United States senator to succeed Charles H. Dietrich (republican), whose term expires next March, and whose successor will be elected by the legislature next winter. The fact that Senator Dietrich was indicted on the charge of selling postoffice appointments, even though he was acquitted afterward, has encouraged the democrats to make a supreme effort to redeem the state under the leadership of Colonel Bryan.

But the national administration would not like to see Bryan in the senate even though he has been characterized in the past as a "valuable republican asset." The republicans apprehend he would be a trouble maker for them in that body, and might cause them more embarrassment than they would relish. Being loquacious as well as aggressive, Bryan, they fear, would prove an obstructionist in legislation such as they have not encountered in many years. Therefore, one of the republican slogans this year will be, Beat Bryan."

In 1896 Bryan carried Nebraska by 13,576 plurality. In 1898 and 1899 the state went fusion by 2,721 and 15,576 respectively. But in 1900 McKinley carried it by 7,822, although the republican candidate for governor pulled through by only 861. Since then the republicans have won in the state elections by pluralities varying from 5,000 to 13,000.

ARTIST CHRISTY HAD THE PUNCH

In Fight With Obstreperous Cabman Creator of an American Girl Type Uses Fists

NEW YORK, June 28.—Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, and Charles F. Hall, cashier of the New York City Railway company, were defendants before Magistrate Whitman in the Yorkville Police court this morning on a charge of assault preferred by James Cooney, a cabman. Cooney appeared in court with both his eyes blackened and his face bruised, the result, he said, of a tussle with Christy and Hall early this morning on the ferry boat New York, bound from Brooklyn to New York.

According to the cabman's story, Christy and Hall were in an auto, accompanied by Lieutenant Scott of the United States navy, and he was on the seat of a victoria.

Cooney said Christy and companions were amusing themselves by tooting the horn of their auto, which caused his horse to rear and plunge and try to break away and jump into the river. The cabman remonstrated, whereupon one of the men in the automobile shouted:

"Shut up, you harp."

The cabby admitted that he retorted in kind.

Christy and Hall, he said, then pulled him from the carriage and made a football of him on the deck of the ferryboat.

In their defense Christy and Hall said that the cabman had lashed them with his whip, and that they had punished him for it. Their statements were corroborated by Lieutenant Scott.

Magistrate Whitman decided that the assault on the cabman was justified and dismissed the prisoners.

BRICKLAYERS WILL ASK FOR MORE PAY

NEW YORK, June 28.—About one thousand brick layers employed on the stations and power house of the Rapid Transit Tunnel are reported to be planning a strike for more pay. Should they go out, arrangements to run the first fully equipped experimental electric trains in the subway August 1 will have to be abandoned.

The brick layers now receive 60 cents an hour with double pay for overtime above eight hours. Most of them work twelve hours a day. It is said they will demand 10 cents more an hour.

ASK PARDON OF HINSHAW, THE MURDERER

Effort Being Made to Secure Release of Methodist Minister in Indiana

A REMARKABLE CRIME

His Wife Found Dead in Her Home and Killing Was Fixed on Husband

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 28.—The principal matter before the quarterly meeting of the board of pardons in session at the capitol today is a strong petition for the pardon of William E. Hinshaw, the Methodist minister who is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Michigan City for the murder of his wife. The petition is signed by persons of prominence and influence throughout the state and strong hopes are expressed that it may result in the release of the convicted man.

The Hinshaw murder is one of the remarkable crimes in Indiana history, and although Hinshtaw was convicted and the supreme court approved the finding of the trial court, there are many persons who continue to believe Hinshaw innocent of the crime.

The murder occurred at Belleville, Hendricks county, a few miles south of Danville, about 1 a. m., Jan. 10, 1895. Hinshaw's story was that burglars got into the house and that he and his wife had a desperate fight with them. Mrs. Hinshaw was found dead on the back steps of the parsonage, where they lived, and Hinshaw was slashed eighteen times with a razor and shot twice.

The trial occupied five weeks, the theory of the prosecution being that Hinshaw and his wife quarreled over another woman; that Mrs. Hinshaw threw herself down on the bed and was shot by her husband, who inflicted the wounds on himself to carry out the burglar story; that he carried her to the place where she was found and then gave the alarm.

After the penitentiary doors had closed on Hinshaw his friends and relatives hired Pinkerton detectives in an effort to run down the alleged burglars and thereby prove the innocence of the convicted man. After working for several weeks without accomplishing anything the detectives informed those interested in the case that it was useless to search further for the robbers; that there was not the slightest clew from which to start. The killing had been done with Hinshaw's revolver. Hinshaw had been slashed with his own razor—there was not anything on which an investigation could be based.

Hope was given to the convicted man's friends about three years ago when a notorious burglar who had been confined in the Michigan City prison made an alleged confession in which he stated that he was a member of a gang that entered the Hinshaw home on the night of the crime and that they perpetrated the murder of Mrs. Hinshaw and the assault on the minister. This led to a reopening of the celebrated case. Hinshaw was brought back from prison and the man who had made the confession was brought to Indianapolis and subjected to a rigid cross-examination. After the fullest investigation the authorities were convinced that the confession was a pure fake concocted for the purpose of obtaining notoriety or a possible release from the term of imprisonment he was then serving. Hinshaw was returned to the penitentiary, where he remained until last fall, when he was given a sixty-day parole by Governor Durbin, that he might visit his aged mother, who was then thought to on her deathbed.

EDWARD F. KNIGHT IS REPORTED KILLED

TIEN TSIN, June 28.—It is reported that Edward F. Knight, the correspondent of the London Morning Post with the Japanese army, was killed at Wafangtien.

Several engagements between the Russians and Japanese forces have been reported as having occurred at or near Wafangtien, that town being occupied by the Japanese June 19, and it is possible that if the report of Mr. Knight's death be true, he was killed in one of these battles. Spectators at one of the engagements state that they saw three horsemen appear on a hill, one of whom resembled either an American or British attache. This man fell from his horse when the Russians fired and was evidently killed.

REPORT ABOUT LOOMIS' BODY DECLARED FALSE

CHERBOURG, June 28.—The report circulated by the London News agency yesterday that the body of Kent J. Loomis had been washed ashore here is false. American Consular Agent H. J. Hainneville, after inquiry into the matter, also pronounces the report to be false.

DESPERATE MURDERER HELD IN A CORNER BY WISCONSIN SOLDIERS

300 Soldiers Form a Net Around River Bottoms From Which He Cannot Escape Alive—Supposed to Be Guilty of Four Murders, the Latest Being That of Sheriff

After Killing the Chief of Police of Havre, Montana, He Grows Fearful His Wife or Child May Give Him Away, and, It Is Alleged, Shoots Them Both and Flees

CHICAGO, June 28.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Winona, Minn., says: John Smith, supposed to be guilty of four murders, the latest of which was the shooting of Sheriff Harris of Eau Claire, Wis., a few days ago on an Omaha passenger train near that city, while the sheriff was attempting to arrest him on the charge of robbing a store at Rosmond, Wis., had been located in the bottoms across the river from this city. Three hundred Wisconsin militiamen form a net through which the desperado can hardly escape alive.

At Galesville he entered a farm house and demanded something to eat. When the food was placed on the table he placed his revolvers in front of him and allowed no one to leave the room.

In addition to the murder of Sheriff Harris, Smith is wanted for killing the chief of police of Havre, Mont.

After killing the Montana officer he grew fearful that his wife or child might give the crime away, so it is alleged, he shot them both and fled to Wisconsin. He is 59 years old.

COLLEGE RACES WILL BE CLOSE

The Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie Today Believed to Be Open Event

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—Everything is in readiness for the intercollegiate regatta. The course was officially staked out this morning and all the other preliminaries completed. The contests are regarded by experts as the most open in many ears. In the four-oared race Columbia and Pennsylvania are believed to stand the best chances of winning, as Cornell and Wisconsin are generally believed to be slower than last year. In the freshman and varsity eight-oared races there appears to be no decided favorite.

The contests will be pulled off according to the following schedule, arranged so as to secure the most favorable condition in regard to the tides:

First race, 4 p. m.—University four-oared shells without coxswain, between Pennsylvania, Cornell, Wisconsin and Columbia, distance two miles, for the Kennedy Challenge trophy.

Second race, 4:45 p. m.—Freshmen eight-oarded shells, between Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Syracuse, distance two miles; for the Stewards' cup.

Third race, 6 p. m.—University eight-oared shells, between Pennsylvania, Columbia, Cornell, Wisconsin, Syracuse and Georgetown, distance four miles; for the Varsity Challenge cup.

The races will be witnessed by many thousands of visitors from New York and other points. Better arrangements than ever before have been made by the West Shore railroad for an observation train to accompany the crews over the course. The train has been specially constructed for the purpose and will accommodate an immense crowd of spectators.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 28.—Three persons lost their lives and a half dozen others were injured late today as the result of the explosion of a small bundle of fireworks in the storeroom of the Diamond Fireworks Company at No. 86 Arch street.

OPERA CONDUCTOR WILL VISIT AMERICA

BERLIN, June 28.—Felix Weingartner, one of the conductors at the Royal opera house, has signed a contract to revisit the United States in January or February to conduct a number of concerts for the New York Philharmonic Society. Later he will make a short tour of the country.

TREASURES OF ORIENT SEIZED

Costly Goods Displayed in the Shops Lead Officers to Detection of Smuggling

NEW YORK, June 28.—Treasures of the Orient, contained in forty-seven cases have been found secreted on the British steamship Indrawadi by treasury agents. The seizure is valued at more than $10,000 and is the largest of the kind ever made in this port. Besides bolts of silk, there were many cases containing Chinese antiques and curios which were taken from the palaces and temples at the time of the occupation of Chinese territory by foreign troops.

For some time past special treasury agents who watched the invoices of all vessels have noticed that at certain Japanese and Chinese shops there were articles for sale that were out of the ordinary run of goods found at such places, and they began to watch the ships which might bring such goods. After the Indrawadi's manifest had been checked off and the cargo unloaded, the treasury agents visited the crew's quarters where they found several men making attempts to sleep in bunks that looked overloaded. The men were routed out and from beneath mattresses the officers took box after box of the finest silk handkerchiefs, hand embroidered in exquisite designs. In the carpenter's room they found a huge box all tied up and ready for shipment, which, when opened, revealed a remarkable collection of curios. There were pieces of finely carved ivory, small idols in gold and silver, and pieces of dainty chinaware were tucked neatly away throughout the box.

The agents made a thorough search of the ship from stem to stern. They came upon what was evidently a false partition which they tore away and found within 42 cases containing tea sets and vases, peacock and ostrich feathers, and Chinese screens of the rarest patterns, valued at several hundred dollars each.

The officers of the ship expressed surprise that such things could have come aboard without their knowledge, and they expressed their willingness to aid in the capture of the guilty persons. Nobody on the ship would claim a single thing, so no arrests were made. The goods will be held for a time and then will be sold at public auction.

YOUNGEST SOLDIER OF CONFEDERACY DEAD

CHICAGO, June 28.—John Bailey Tyler of Chicago is dead at the Alexian Brothers' hospital after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Tyler it is thought, was the youngest soldier in the Confederate armies who served throughout the war other than in the position of drummer boy. He enlisted when he was 12 years old as a cavalryman, serving throughout the war in D Troop of the First Maryland Confederate cavalry. Mr. Tyler was born in Fredericks, Md., in 1849.

Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna cures these cases simply because it cures the catarrh.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the ones given above. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

"A short time ago I found my condition very serious, I had headaches, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Peruna, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored."—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason of so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that diseases peculiar to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh.

PAY PUPILS WILL BE CROWDED OUT

Students From Surrounding Districts Will Not Be Received

Pay pupils from the surrounding districts and pupils under age will probably not be received in the city schools next year owing to the anticipated crowding of the present buildings.

In the report of Superintendent Hogg submitted to the board at the last meeting a heavy increase in the scholastic population of the city was anticipated and recommendation made for the enlargement of several buildings and the increase of the seating capacity of the buildings now standing. Half day sessions at a last resort were also suggested.

The report also contained the item of about $700 received for tuition of pupils under age and pupils non-resident.

These pupils in the present crowded condition of the school buildings will probably not be received for the next session.

When asked in regard to the matter this morning Major Van Zandt of the board admitted that such pupils would in all probability have to be barred under the present conditions.

WEATHER FORECAST

Little rain was reported in the state yesterday, the showers of the past few days having given away generally to clear weather with high temperatures. The stock country around Abilene, however, had a rain of about .32 inches. Tyler reports .84 inches and Huntsville .78 inches. Other ponts having lighter rains were Cuero, Ballinger, Longview, Waxahachie and Wharton.

Partly cloudy weather is predicted for East Texas tonight and Wednesday.

FORECAST

East Texas—Tonight and Wednesday, partly cloudy weather.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

D. S. Landis issued the following statement of weather conditions this morning:

Both the Ohio and the Mississippi valleys are cloudy, having rainy conditions. The west half of the country and along the immediate gulf coast the conditions are clear with rising temperatures. The low temperatures of the northwest have climbed up in to the fifties again. Tennessee and Alabama were the rainfall centers since last report, New Orleans and Nashville each receiving over an inch and a quarter of rain. The wheat belt is generally cloudy, and foggy conditions prevail in Western Kansas.

Atlanta, Ga., records the only thunder storm.

Texas is clear in the south and the southwest portions, but the east and the northeast portions are in cloudy conditions.

TEXAS PEOPLE GO TO COLORADO

Annual Movement in That Direction Has Begun in Spite of Fact That Season Is Cool

"Despite the unusually cool weather in Texas for this time of season, there is a very satisfactory movement of Texas people to Colorado just now," said General Passenegr Agent Gilsson of the Fort Worth and Denver City road this morning. "This thing of sleeping under cover in Texas summer nights is an unheard of thing, and the cool weather now prevailing will naturally keep some people from making a trip to the mountains," continued Mr. Glisson, who, however, is very much pleased with the present movement. He expects to see the movement very much increased during the next week or ten days.

There is going to be quite a number of Texans take advantage of going to Colorado in time to be present at the opening of the Texas-Colorado Chautauqua, which opens at Boulder, July 4, for five weeks. Mr. Glisson says that the management of the Chautauqua has provided one of the best programs since its formation five or six years ago. There will be lectures by men of national reputation, beside the amusement features for the entire five weeks will be of a kind to please all who attend.

The Denver road is preparing for a heavy movement from Texas to Colorado, beginning next week.

MADE $100,000 PROFIT WITHIN FIVE MONTHS

NEW YORK, June 28.—Within five months the buyers of the Audubon Hotel property, at the northeast corner of Thirty-ninth street and Broadway, have turned it over at a profit closely approximating $100,000. The Royal Realty Company of No. 1123 Broadway, which bought the property at $750,000 last January, announced that they had sold it to a wealthy capitalist for $850,000.

This is the largest real estate transaction which the market has had for a long time.

The buyer, whose name is not disclosed at present, has not announced his intentions in regard to the plot, but it is known that a proposition to build a twenty-story hotel has been under consideration by the sellers, and that this same proposition is now in the hands of the new purchaser.

SCHWAB GETS BACK AND GIVES INTERVIEW

NEW YORK, June 28.—Charles M. Schwab, who has just returned from Europe, appears to be in the best of health and to have gained in weight since his departure for the other side. On the general situation Mr. Schwab is optimistic, saying today that things appeared to him decidedly favorable for the iron and steel industry.

"You can't stop the progress in iron and steel,' he said. "I don't look for a boom this summer. We don't want booms. But I do believe that there will be an improvement of a steady nature when the midsummer dullness is passed."

Asked whether he had considered entering the lists for the presidency of the reorganized United States Shipbuilding Company, he said: "That is a matter that I know little about, and the presidency will be in the hands of the directors. Having so large an interest I shall, of course, be actively concerned in the upbuilding of the new company."

MOSQUITOES ALARM OFFICERS IN HOUSTON

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Acting Assist Surgeon Purnell of the public health marine hospital service, who has recently made an inspection of Houston and Beaumont, has forwarded to Surgeon General Wyman a report bearing on the sanitary conditions of both those places.

The representative of the public health service declares the sanitary condition of Houston to be deplorable, adding that it seems almost impossible to arouse the city authorities to the necessities of the situation.

Dr. Purnell states that at the request of the health officers he appeared before a meeting of the aldermen and urged them to adopt measures for the destruction of mosquitoes, but they seemed to turn a deaf ear to his suggestions.

"The measure presented," Dr. Purnell says, "was unobjectionable and was well that reported by Galveston, which is aimed at mosquito destruction."

The ordinance was read and then referred to a committee, but Dr. Purnell was told it would be fully three weeks before it could become effective, if it is adopted at all.

Mosquitoes are, according to Dr. Purnell, very plentiful in Houston.

With reference to Beaumont, Dr. Purnell tells his superior officer here that he was three days trying to arouse interest in Beaumont sanitary reform. He found the conditions there rather bad. Mosquitoes there exist in myriads, but no effort has been made to prevent their propagation.

Dr. Purnell says that he found the cistern water totally unfit for either drinking or domestic purposes, as most if not all of the cisterns in use are generally without protection against the mosquito.

WHEAT SHOWS BEST TEST OF ANY IN YEARS

SHERMAN, Texas, June 28.—In conversation with your correspondent this morning a well-known miller of this city declared that the wheat now being marketed shows the best test of any grown in the country for fifteen years. The weight test shows an average of sixty-one pounds to the bushel now, and after it has sweated it will undoubtedly test sixty-three or sixty-four pounds. "You see," said he, "all wheat goes through a natural sweating process, by which it throws off all moisture, and it is this that causes the stickiness found in kneading new flour, that is, when it is ground before the wheat sweats. There will not be a great deal of such trouble in this crop, however, from the fact that the grain was very ripe when cut and by the middle of July will be in prime condition."

Speaking further of the crop, the gentleman declared that Texas soft wheat makes the finest flour in the world and that the Grayson county crop this year is the finest of the finest.

FESTIVAL HALL FULL OF TEACHERS

Several Addresses Given at St. Louis Convention by Prominent Educators of Country

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 28.—Festival Hall on the exposition grounds was crowded to overflowing today at the opening of the forty-third annual convention of the National Educational association. The meeting was opened with addresses of welcome on behalf of the state of Missouri, the city of St. Louis and the educational institutions of both city and state United States. Commissioner of Education W. T. Harris and President C. W. Dabney of the University of Tennessee responded to the greetings on behalf of the association. The presidential address was delivered by J. W. Cook of the Chicago Norman school and President E. J. James of Northwestern university delivered an interesting address on the place of the church in American education. The national council of education and the department on Indian education continues their sessions this afternoon and conferences were begun by several of the other departments of the association.

CROP CONDITIONS IMPROVE THIS WEEK

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, June 28.—The beginning of this week finds an improved condition in crop prospects over last week. In spite of one or two rains last week the farmers made rapid progress in their cotton fields and as a result the crop was well cultivated. The demand for farm labor at the present time is very great and many farmers are unable to secure sufficient help to lay by their cotton and thrash their grain. A great many farmers were in the city Sunday night and Monday night after negroes to chop cotton and work with the thrasher. A number of them who were seen by the correspondent said it was almost impossible to secure all the hands required just at this time. The hot weather of the past few days caused the cotton plant to grow rapidly, and in many instances the plant is branching well, which is a good indication of a big crop. Light showers visited some sections of the county Sunday evening and yesterday afternoon and if they continue there may be some danger from boll weevils and boll worms. As yet very little damage has resulted from the appearance of the weevil in the county. They have confined their ravages to fields in the river and creek bottoms and their work in these fields has been very light. The corn crop is regarded as safe. If no more rain falls a big crop will be gathered this fall.

The great flood at Topeka, Kan., last year has been found to be a blessing in disguise. Ever since the district has not been bothered by the vermin that before infested it—mice, rats, moles, gophers and rabbits.

Market Quotations

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 28.—Early receipts of cattle were disappointing to traders. After the generally strong trade of yesterday a liberal run was expected but only twenty-five cars arrived for the opening trade and very few reported and the general estimate of total receipts was around 1,000 head.

The supply of steers was scarce and outside of one load of fairly well finished cattle the supply was common.

Buyers did not seem to take kindly to the quality of stuff offered and the market for steers ruled slow, but finally sold out with values in the same notches as yesterday.

One load was good enough to sell around $4.00, but the bulk of offering landed around $3.00 and under.

The bulk of today's receipts was composed of butcher stock, the quality of which taking it all the way through was nothing to compare with the good quality yesterday.

There was a bearish disposition on the part of buyers for everything except fat cows and at the bulk were common to medium, the trade ruled slow and weak. One fat load of cows were good enough to land at $2.55 with a few sales around $2.25, the bulk, however, landed around $1.50 to $2.00.

Bulls were more plentiful today and with a good demand from speculators sales ruled firm with yesterday.

Receipts of calves were in liberal proportion considering the small run, nothing strictly choice was offered, but there was a good demand for the medium killing calves and the market ruled steady.

Receipts of hogs today figured six cars or about 350 head. The general quality was about on an average with yesterday, but loads were very mixed. Only one packer seemed to be in the market for hogs and though advices came in quoting lower market at other points the demand was strong enough from one end of the trade to clear all offerings steady with yesterday.

One load averaging 233 pounds topped the market today at $5.32½, with the large end of trading selling around $5.25.

Receipts of sheep today were composed of a few small bunches coming in in mixed loads and trading was generally steady. Lambs averaging 71 pounds brought $5.25, with 100-pound sheep at $4.25.

Good Uncle Ben

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis

Sarah Jane Williams, daughter of Farmer John Williams, was characterized by her parents as a pigheaded girl. They said she had been pigheaded even in her babyhood days and had grown worse as she grew older. When asked by her in reply to furnish a bill of particulars, about all they could bring forward was the fact that at seventeen she had refused to marry a lightning rod man twice her age, that at eighteen she had scorned a patent hayfork agent who had fallen in love with her at first sight, at nineteen she had refused to receive the attentions of an old widower who owned the only windmill for ten miles around and at twenty she was "taken up" with Harry Seymour, son of a nearby farmer in moderate circumstances.

The girl did not deny that she meant to marry Harry. But the old folks had other plans in view. They wanted her to look higher, even as high as the commission man who came through the country every fall buying up thousands of bushels of apples. They first began objecting to Harry in a general way, but in the course of a few months he had been as good as forbidden the house.

The lovers' difficulties simply increased their love. They had about determined on an elopement when Uncle Ben Churchill arrived on a visit and with him a distant relative. Uncle Ben was Mrs. Williams' brother, and the distant relative was a second cousin to both and a young man of twenty-two. The first thing that Uncle Ben did was to discover that Sarah wanted to marry and that her parents were opposed to the match. The first thing that the second cousin did was to fall in love with Sarah Jane. That made three complications on hand at once, and Uncle Ben was in his element. If there was one thing he liked better than another it was complications. When he had seen that the second cousin was smitten he took his part against the field.

"Look a-here, Sarah," he began one day as he got the girl to sit down beside him in the orchard, "you believe I know folks better'n you do, don't you?"

"Yes, of course."

"I orter, Sarah—I orter. I've been to New York and Boston and all around, and I can spot a pickpocket as far as I can see him. That feller Harry ain't no feller for you to marry. I didn't have to look at him twice to see that he'll never make a hustler."

"I don't see why," protested Sarah.

"Natur' didn't make him that way. You'd never have a second dress to your back if you married him. Better give him right up now, and lemme p'int you out a feller who'll make a crackin' good husband."

"Who is it?"

"Your Cousin Walter. He's fell in love with you and can't sleep o' nights. He's a feller who's goin' to rip up the ground all around some day."

"But I know I never could love him."

"One can do a heap of things, my girl, if she sets out to. You jest go around thinkin' about Walter from mornin' till night, and you'll be lovin' him inside of a week."

"I don't believe father and mother would like it."

"Say, now, that's the fun of the hull thing," laughed Uncle Ben as he rubbed his hands together. "I've kinder sounded your dad and mam, and they ain't stuck on Walter. They can't cotton to a feller who parts his hair in the middle and has a gold filled tooth. They might be opposed to a marriage, but that marriage could come off jest the same."

"How?" asked Sarah, with considerable interest.

"Lean your head down till I whisper one word in your ear—elopement. If you and Walter make up to each other, I'll help you plan an elopement and put $100 in your hand for a bridal dower. I'd jest like to show your dad and mam that there's other folks who know a thing or two."

An idea was trying to work itself out in Sarah's mind, and she asked for half a day to think things over. At the end of that time she accepted Uncle Ben's proposition.

"Good girl!" he exclaimed as he kissed her and smiled like a June morning. "You just go right ahead lovin' Walter, and when the time comes I'll be on hand."

Sarah and Walter went ahead. As he was no great favorite of her parents she was not put to any great bother. The most she had to do was to hear him sigh and recite poetry and apostrophize the rising and setting sun. Backed and urged on by Uncle Ben, he finally proposed and was inferentially accepted. This was no sooner over with than there was a further confab in the orchard.

"Now, then, for the elopement!" chuckled Uncle Ben. "And here's the $100. I'll give Walter another hundred before the thing comes off."

"Dear old Uncle Ben, but what a good man you are!" Sarah said gratefully.

"Yes, all wool and a yard wide," he replied as he pinched her cheek.

Three nights later at 11 o'clock at night Sarah Jane Williams tiptoed softly downstairs and left the house. There were a horse and buggy waiting in the road which had been ordered by Uncle Ben. A young man followed close on her heels and took the lines and drove away. As the outfit disappeared in the darkness the good man waved his hat and chuckled. Then he entered the house to sit down and chuckle some more, when some one came rattling downstairs. It was Walter, the distant relative. He had been locked in his room for the last half hour.

"By gum, but let us figger on this!" exclaimed Uncle Ben as his smile vanished.

It needed no Sherlock Holmes to unravel the mystery. Sarah had locked Walter in, and Walter was out of it. The man who had driven off with her to get married before the waiting minister in the nearest village must be Harry Seymour. They would see Niagara falls and other wonders of the world on that $100, and then come back for forgiveness.

"Walter, my boy," said good Uncle Ben when through with his "figgering, "you part your hair in the middle and have got a gold filled tooth, and you are a fool!"

"Uncle Ben," replied the chagrined and dejected distant relative, "you conspire and plan and chuckle and are an idiot."

A Smuggling Scheme.

Many are the devices employed by smugglers both by land and sea. A very smart trick is related of a method by which brandy was conveyed through Paris. Regularly, day after day, a tandem bicycle made its way through one of the gates into the city and attracted no attention. The same pair of cyclists rode it always and appeared to be but workmen hastening to their work from their homes in the suburbs. One morning, just after the machine was through the gates, it went to earth, unseating both the riders. The man who had occupied the front seat jumped to his feet, grabbed the machine, vaulted into the saddle and rode for his life, never giving a glance at his stunned companion. Astonished, the customs officers, who had witnessed the mishap, rushed to the aid of the fallen man, who showed no signs of life. They were still more surprised when they reached him, for he wasn't a man at all, but just a dummy with movable legs and arms, a false head and face and a hollow body of rubber. He had punctured in the fall and ten gallons of the best brandy was making its exit as quickly as it could.

Elusive Syllables.

A crowning specimen of ludicrous helplessness in the face of elusive syllables is that of the unfortunate speaker who, at a pathetic point of his address, when his hero was about to undergo a heartrending parting from home and friends, uttered in his most melting voice:

"Biddy diddy"—

He stopped confused, flushed, set his mouth and tried again, with a difficult resumption of the interrupted pathos:

"Diddy, diddy"—

Something was still wrong. He grew scarlet, perspired and gasped forth a third attempt, not more intelligible. His hearers could none of them interpret it. It might be high German or it might be a "Mother Goose" refrain:

"Diddy, hiddy, biddy doo?"

The situation was desperate, but the persistent orator rallied, paused until he had fully recovered his self control, and trying once more, with slow utterance and distinctive enunciation, conquered at length the simple phrase which had overthrown him. He said:

"Did he bid adieu?"

Worth Bringing to Light.

One can easily imagine that the judge smiled, the lawyers laughed and the spectators burst into applause when a courtroom bore was subdued in the following effectual way, told in the Christian Endeavor World:

George B. Smith and I. S. Sloan, two of the greatest lawyers of their day, were once trying a case as opponents. Mr. Sloan had a habit of puncturing his address to the court with the expression, "Your honor, I have an idea." The case had been dragging its weary length through the hours of a warm summer day, when Mr. Sloan, who was making what appeared to be an interminable argument, said:

"Your honor, I have an idea"—

Mr. Smith sprang to his feet, assumed a dignified position, and with all the solemnity imaginable said:

"May it please the court, I move that a writ of habeas corpus be issued by this court immediately to take the learned gentleman's idea out of solitary confinement."

Juvenile Lore.

"Oh, yes," said the little miss, "I understand; they keep their summer clothes in their trunks."—Watchword.

Original Justice

[Original.]

Sparkline & Co. were the proprietors of a large dry goods store. They lost so many articles by theft that at last they organized their own detective force to watch shoplifters, reclaim goods taken and at times prosecute the offenders. They found that among those who took things from their counters were a number of kleptomaniacs—that is, when they are wealthy they are called kleptomaniacs, but when they are poor they often have to suffer like any other criminal.

Mr. Sparkline, the head of the firm, was an excellent man. He had a way of managing his affairs to suit himself, but was very kind hearted and treated his employees with a great deal of consideration. He was also very indulgent to the kleptomaniacs. They bothered him a great deal, repeating their offenses frequently, but he was patient with them and usually permitted them or those responsible for them to return the articles taken when they could not afford to pay for them and taking pay when they were perfectly able.

Among Sparkline & Co.'s employees was Mabel Wainright, a girl of eighteen. She had a very sweet face, but a sad one, for she was the oldest of several children, none but herself being of an age to earn money, and her mother was an invalid and a widow, so that Mabel produced about all the family had to live on. One evening after Mabel had gone home one of the firm's detectives while looking about for some articles that had been missed found several pairs of gloves, a dozen handkerchiefs and some silk stockings on a shelf under her counter. They were not covered or tucked away as if for concealment, but their being found where they were told against Mabel. Mr. Sparkline was away at the time, and, the case being referred to his partner, a man who was opposed to the head of the firm's leniency in such cases, he discharged Mabel without any very thorough investigation.

Mabel and the case passed into oblivion so far as Sparkline & Co. were concerned, and goods continued to be sold and stolen as usual till three years had slipped by; then one morning the head of the firm read a letter containing a check that had come in with the mail:

Messrs. Sparkline & Co.:

Dear Sirs—When you receive this I shall doubtless have passed away, for I am dying. On Sept. 30, 18—, my little daughter, who is a kleptomaniac, while in your store with me stole a number of articles. I found an opportunity, when one of your clerks was taking down some goods to show me, her back being turned, to slip them under the counter. I know I should have returned the goods, but you will sympathize with if you do not excuse a mother whose dear little girl suffers under so grievous a malady. I have directed after my death that this be sent you, inclosing payment for the articles, as they may have been lost to you, and I cannot die feeling that I have not atoned for what was dishonesty on my part, though not criminal in my child.

The letter was not signed, and there was nothing to indicate from whom it had been sent. Mr. Sparkline knit his brows. The writer had either been unconscious of the gross injustice to the clerk under whose counter she had hid the stolen articles or had ignored it. Tapping a bell, he gave directions that the case be investigated and waited a report.

It was some time before the report came in, and when it did it was not calculated to alleviate the merchant's indignation. Mabel Wainright was the clerk who had suffered. She had been found in a condition of great distress, which had been continuous since her discharge. Her mother had succumbed to her misfortune, and Mabel was left to struggle on to keep alive her brothers and sisters, which she did by plying her needle from early till late. Mr. Sparkline directed that she be requested to call upon him.

She did so with terror, fearing that the firm had after all determined to prosecute her for theft and send her to prison. When one morning she was ushered into his private office and the merchant looked at her wan face his kind heart was overflowing with sympathy.

"Miss Wainright," he said, "we have received a confession exonerating you from the theft you were accused of committing three years ago. I have raised your salary from the time of your discharge till today, and here is a check for the amount. If you wish to come back with us you will receive a position bearing the highest salary paid to any saleswoman."

Mabel was only too glad to be restored, especially on such terms, and resumed her connection with the firm the next day.

This was not all. Mr. Sparkline, who was a law unto himself, determined that those belonging to the better class of kleptomaniacs should contribute to atone for the injustice done this girl. The way he contrived it was this: He directed that bills for various amounts be sent to those responsible for them. He was not required to explain the matter, for each person who received one of these bills, supposing that the one for whom he was responsible had stolen the goods, promptly sent a check. The amount, adding largely to Mabel Wainright's capital, was placed to her credit.

Mr. Sparkline continued his interest in Mabel. Finding that her health had been undermined during the days of her hardship, he took her out of the store and after sending her on a trip which completely restored her took her into his family as a governess for his children. While there one of his guests, a young lawyer, fell in love with and married her. ALICE CHEEVER.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE POLICE

The Handsomest Ever Worn by the Local Force

Only the vulgar will henceforth call them cops.

Be they gods or men! is the exclamation heard on every hand at sight of them.

History reveals no counterpart—tradition's song nor story a parallel to the splendor of our local police force in their brand new summer uniforms. Bedecked with braid and buttons, emblazoned with the insignia of authority, gloriously arrayed in the bluest blue that could be supplied by the great A. & L. August store; no wonder the envious vault above tries to hide its pale and sickly hues behind the fleeting clouds today. In the sight of these new uniforms anything blue would seek to conceal itself in conscious inefficiency.

Fine feathers make fine birds, but these police birds of ours were fine without the bright new plumage.

The new uniforms simply accentuate and emphasize the brave appearance of a squad that would have made the Tenth Legion of Julius Caesar take off their helmets in awe and admiration, and the old guard of Napoleon feel like thirty cents. But the bright particular gem is the chief. Achilles in the siege of Illium never marched with such martial vim or imponderable dignity. In their new uniforms these cops of ours individually glorious, but collectively—in a bunch together—the blue and purple and crimson lustre of a summer sunset pales into mean and vulgar hippodrome before the effulgence of this ineffable vision. The August firm is justly proud of its handiwork.

Georgina, Countess of Dudley, is said to have been the first hostess who grasped the possibilities of old pieces of gold and silver as table decorations. Old china lends itself to this purpose as readily, as was proven at the dinner party given by Baron and Baroness Alphonse de Rotchschild this week in their fine mansion, Rue Saint Florentin. The flowers were the priceless orchids for which the baron's conservatories at Ferrieres are celebrated, and the golden and mauve tints of the exquisite blossoms were thrown into harmonious relief by the pieces of green Sevres china placed on the table.

THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION

It now seems likely that John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, will make the keynote speech of the St. Louis convention. He has been selected for the place of temporary chairman. There is no doubt that the selecting of Williams for the temporary chairmanship and the delivery of the keynote speech is a reward to the "solid South" for coming into the Parker fold. Two weeks before Texas came in line for Parker, Norman E. Mack of the national democratic committee, as told in The Telegram, offered the temporary chairmanship to Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, but the latter refused. After that Mack made his trip through the South and on his return to New York, after a conference with the other members of the sub-committee of which he is a member, gave it out that Williams is to have the temporary chairmanship. Prior to this announcement there had been some talk that Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas would be selected for the office of permanent chairman of the convention, but it is probable that the selection of Williams will be considered sufficient honor for the South and that Bailey's name will be dropped in connection with the permanent office.

It is said that Bryan will have a committee of twenty-five Parker opponents in St. Louis during the convention, but this seems doubtful. When Texas came in line for Parker, many of his former New York opponents took the hint as a good one and followed the example.

William F. Sheehan of New York is preparing a statement showing that the necessary two-thirds of the delegates have been secured for Judge Parker. Mr. Sheehan's statement will be given out as soon as the last state convention has been held. The total number of delegates who will support the various candidates, according to latest estimates, are as follows: Parker, 413; Hearst, 176; Gorman, 36; Olney, 33; Wall, 26; not committed, 187. Of the last named is Missouri, which is holding out for a complimentary vote in favor of Cockrell. It is known, however, that nearly every important democratic leader in the state favors Praker.

The platform has begun to attract considerable discussion. It is said that the Bryan and Tammany leaders, failing to defeat Parker in pledging delegates, are planning to wreck him on a dangerous and radical platform. The eloquence of Bryan, Bourke Cockran, Charles A Towne and other equally famous orators, it is said, will be used to urge a platform similar to that adopted by Nebraska. One of the anti-Parker men has gone so far as to say that Bryan and the men who will be allied with him will be able to secure a platform of such character that Judge Parker will refuse to stand on it.

Whether or not these reports be true, next week will tell. It is known in St. Louis, however, that the Anti-Imperialist League with headquarters in Boston, intends to make a strong effort at the convention to secure the adoption of a plank declaring opposition to the imperialistic policy of Roosevelt. The league will send a delegation to St. Louis and will establish headquarters here. Something more than merely a casual interest in the Philippines is believed to be back of this movement. What it is has not been indicated.

AFTER ORIENTAL TRADE

Another line to the Pacific is more than a probability. The announcement is made from men directly on the inside that the Rock Island will extend its line from Colorado Springs in a southwesterly direction to San Diego, California, where it has heavy smelting interests. The intention of the road is to establish a smelting plant there that will be second to none in the world, from which supplies for the Oriental countries shall be shipped on its own ocean-going steamers.

The proposed new line, according to the report wired from New York, contemplates passing through the most heavily mineralized section of Colorado, a section underlined with inexhaustible fields of coking coal and iron, and through valleys of the richest agricultural and cattle-raising possibilities.

The line will pass from southwestern Colorado into Utah for a short distance and then south to Prescott, Arizona, and from there directly on to San Diego. The road will cut through the biggest mountains and will turn aside for nothing, the object being to secure a line to the coast with the fewest curves and the lowest grades.

The Panama canal has opened the eyes of the railroads that handle freight to and from the Orient to the fact that they must have entrance to a deep water harbor on the west and a line that is prepared to haul the freight with the least possible expense. This it is evident the Rock Island intends to secure.

If this road is built it will be the second transcontinental line to be opened within two years. For some months a road has been building from Denver west across northern Colorado to Salt Lake City, that will connect with Senator Clark's new line from the latter city to San Pedro, which is the harbor just south of Los Angeles on the coast. And away to the north the Grand Trunk is making preparations to build from Montreal to Port Simpson, which is on the coast just south of Alaska. Nearer home the Orient Railroad is being built by Stillman from Kansas City directly southwest, crossing Oklahoma, Texas and Mexico and reaching a port on the Pacific just south of the Gulf of California.

All this shows how important trade with the Oriental countries has become, and with a little foresight one can see what it is going to mean in the future to this country. Markets are to be opened up that we can reach better than any of the great competing nations. Our foreign commerce is to be the biggest factor in the nations' development. What the little island of England has been to the world of the nineteenth century the United States is to be to that of the twentieth.

We will be very grateful if the cartoonist will give us something different from Teddy in cowboy regalia, mounted on a broncho tearing along at full tilt, firing two pistols in the air. As a campaign argument this is being sadly overworked, and besides rather lacks force in Texas.

It must be conceded that there are a lot of sleek, well fed and rather good looking men in the republican party. There have to be to balance Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

John Sharp Williams says, Give the republicans enough rope and they will hang themselves. Why stop at giving them a rope? They may bungle the job if left alone.

Perry Heath and his twenty-eight pairs of trousers were not in evidence at Chicago. He was missed scarcely less than Senator Hanna himself.

A Wichita man, while drunk, was killed for beating his wife. The neighbors should send in congratulations, not flowers.

Platt has been sued for three million dollars. This may eventually drive the New York senator back into active politics.

There may or there may not be gold in the Wichitas, but it is evident that there is going to be some put there if the prospectors keep on at work.

Roosevelt shows how lacking the republican party must be in available timber when he chooses a renegade democrat for secretary of the navy.

Did anybody ever hear what became of that congressional investigating committee after it boarded the Frank P. Holland and floated down the Trinity?

Roosevelt showed superior military genius to that of George Washington in that he made his visit at Valley Forge in the summer time.

It is too bad that that Detroit man who shot a woman and then leaped from an eleventh story building did not reverse the program.

With all the special correspondents in the far east, how could you expect anything but a tame convention at Chicago.

It is to be hoped that the Slocum relief fund will keep pace with the death list in its daily growth.

All the Texas editors who went to St. Louis are writing back about the attractions of The Pike.

The most becoming thing a house with the name of Hoo-Hoo could do was to burn down.

Somebody will call the republicans some of these days and "stand pat" will go the way of the Iowa idea.

Mrs. Sully is going to be pretty well fixed in the future, whatever the plight of Sully.

President Roosevelt gave $500 to the Slocum relief fund. Russell Sage telephoned his sympathy.

Judge Gray of Delaware is the dark horse of the St. Louis convention in spite of his name.

There is to be another challenge for the America's cup, but not from the tea man. For this much let us be thankful.

Their Way In Russia

[Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.]

I landed in Russia twenty years ago on strictly lawful business—to look for the heirs to some property in the western part of the United States, and my information led me direct to the city of Narva. Before I had been in the place two hours the chief of police called and let me know that I was considered "suspicious."

He told me that Peter Bogoff, whose heirs I was seeking, had been strongly suspected of nihilism before he died and that a warrant would have been served had he lived a day longer. This was as good as telling me that I would get into trouble if I prosecuted any inquiries, but I foolishly determined to beard the lion in his den.

Thinking I might better carry on the business from St. Petersburg, I departed for that city after a few days and at once called upon a lawyer. He was sharp enough to realize that I would not have taken the long journey unless the property was of considerable value and without any beating around the bush he told me that he would find the heirs and put the matter through for the sum of $5,000. This was rank robbery, and I refused to submit to it and as a result soon discovered that no lawyer would have anything to do with the case at all.

Not only that, but I was soon summoned to the office of the chief of police. He was very polite, but at the same time it was easy to read his hypocrisy. He first secured possession of my passport, which, he claimed, needed some slight amendment, and then began to question me. He kept me on the rack for three long hours and then had the impudence to offer me his hand as I departed.

I went straight from his office to that of a private detective agency to set inquiries on foot. The superintendent entered into the matter with considerable earnestness and agreed to dispatch a man to Narva that evening to secure the wished for information.

I returned to the hotel feeling rather jubilant at outwitting the police, but this state of feeling did not last long. Within an hour the superintendent of the agency called to inform me that he must drop the case, turning me off with the excuse that he was too busy to attend to it.

He had scarcely departed before the proprietor of the hotel came to my room and politely asked me to vacate it. He would not admit that it was the work of the police, but I had no trouble in coming to that conclusion.

I finally got rooms in a boarding house after being refused at every other hotel, and for a week the police let me alone. I had made the long journey to find the heirs of Bogoff and close a deal for the land. I had not been provided with money to bribe any one, and I must either defy the police and work up the case single handed or return and report a failure.

Being firmly convinced that Mrs. Bogoff was in Narva, I secretly left the capital for that town one night. Securing rooms in a boarding house after my arrival and disguising my personal appearance to a considerable extent, I prosecuted my inquiries under one excuse and another until I at length discovered the woman. She was living in her own house and in poor circumstances and was rejoiced at the prospects of selling the land.

I now had to give my case away by calling on a notary to make out the papers, and in less than half a day the police were at my heels again. They not only warned every notary at Narva, but the widow was obliged to flee the city and go into hiding.

Things might have stopped there had I been a cool and placid man. When I found the police hounding me again I lost my temper and gave the chief my candid opinion of things in general and of his own conduct in particular. As a natural sequence I was promptly arrested, though just what the technical charge was I never learned.

I was taken to jail and confined in a cell with a man waiting trial for robbery. He seemed to be a thorough villain, but as he could not speak a word of English nor I a word of Russian we hit it off by letting each other severely alone. As soon as incarcerated I asked to communicate with the American minister, but was refused.

On the third day the chief of police sent for me and asked me if I would leave Russia if given my liberty. I replied in the negative and was returned to prison. My threats that the matter would be thoroughly sifted by our representative only made him smile, and he quietly informed me that he would keep me in prison for the rest of my life if I did not agree to his terms.

On the seventh day he sent for me again. I had now changed my mind, realizing that I could even be sent on to Siberia if the police so desired and that there was no longer the slightest hope of accomplishing my errand. I therefore answered him that I was ready and willing to leave the czar's dominions at a moment's notice, and an hour later, in charge of four police officers, I was on my way to a steamer leaving port that night.

I was locked in a stateroom, forbidden to hold communication with any one and was not released from durance vile until after twenty-four hours. I found people of all nationalities on the boat, but got no sympathy from any of them. On the contrary, I was called an idiot for my conduct, and all agreed that I might have been packed off to Siberia without any one but the police being the wiser. M. QUAD.

NEW YORK LETTER

NEW YORK, June 26.—Although Long Island has over two hundred miles of beach it was not until recently that its great possibilities for summer resorters were fully recognized. On the south shore is to be found many a pretty place, the Mecca for innumerable summer residents. High-class hotels and boarding places are to be found on every hand, while excellent opportunities exist for the establishment of a permanent summer home. From Lynbrook to Islip, from Sayville to Bellport and the Moriches, and from Speonk to Amangansett, are places famed throughout the land. Babylon, an enterprising town close to the Great South bay, with many beautiful permanent residences and numerous summer homes, has also many well managed hotels and cottages where board may be obtained. Bay Shore and thereabouts, including Islip and Oakdale, have long since attracted the attention of persons socially and commercially prominent, and many are the fine estates and country seats situated there. Within a radius of thirty miles of New York there are hundreds of charming camp sites, so conveniently situated with respect to railroad connections that the man of affairs can go daily to and fro, have his business hours in the city and spend his nights and the glorious early mornings in the woods under canvas.

PAYING FOR EXCLUSIVENESS

The very rich residents of upper Fifth avenue are having a hard time in keeping undesirable neighbors from building in their blocks. The Vanderbilts, the Whitelaw Reids, the Havemeyers, the Oelrichses and many others are constantly on the watch for properties in their immediate neighborhood which may be for sale, and they snap them up for fear that some speculator will put up a skyscraping hotel. When the Astors designed the St. Regis hotel they thought they could buy adjacent property if they wanted to make an extension, but when this was planned they discovered that the neighbors had formed a "protection" trust and bought up all the ground around it.

HOW TAMMANY KEEPS POPULAR

This is the time of the year when all the Tammany districts are giving outings, clam bakes, picnics and excursions to their "constits." It is the custom for the leaders to pay all expenses, and frequently one of these outings costs the leader three or four thousand dollars. This includes the hiring of an excursion boat or a special train, the cost of the immense amount of provender and beer, the services of a band and a horde of waiters, and frequently a list of prizes for the most popular girl, the smartest boy, etc. While these outings are in progress an afternoon newspaper which has recently fallen into the hands of Tammany men is holding a contest for the most popular leader in the city. A thousand dollar diamond pin is the award for the distinction.

McCLELLAN WORKS HIS JAW

Mayor McClellan is said to be the most business-like mayor New York has had for years. He does not stand on the nice points of official etiquette, but when he presides at the various board meetings which are continually in session here he tries to finish as much business as possible in the shortest time. His predecessor, Mr. Low, had a different training as president of the Columbia college, and it was his delight to write long esasys on municipal government and send them in to the aldermen. McClellan never writes anything, and he never gives out "public statements." He maps out his course very quickly and then does business along the lines of a congressional committee. He has had nine years' training as a member of the most important committees in the house, and it is helping him greatly in handling the vast amount of detail. The mayor works his jaw, but in a very effective manner and usually without uttering a sound. When he gives a decision he usually snaps his teeth and thrusts out his chin. This has come to be regarded as an expression of finality among those doing business with him, and the result is there are few long palavers about anything in any body over which the mayor presides. Since his election Mayor McClellan has not written a message over five thousand words in length, and he has made no speeches. When the Slocum disaster came to his official attention he appointed a committee in two hours and an hour after he met the men who composed it and mapped out a course in less than twenty minutes. With all this speed he is very thorough, and it is likely that if the government authorities do not provide a better kind of inspection for the excursion boats plying the New York harbor he will institute a kind of police inspection at the wharfs which will make certain reforms immediately effective. He has the power to do this.

HOUSE NO LONGER "IN"

Shaking dice at a public bar is an almost obsolete practice in New York. Along the Bowery there is hardly one place in a dozen which supplies the diversion, and to ask for a dice box on Broadway would be considered a very countrified proceeding. Even in Seventh avenue and upper West Side generally the dice box is going out of vogue. In such places where it still holds out the "house" never enters a game. The saloon keepers here are going in for sure things. They have all sorts of slot machines standing around, and when a customer bucks these devices the answer is always: "You lose!" The machine that tells your weight in a human voice is not having a great vogue yet, but it is installed in a few Broadway places. The Victoria hotel bar has one, and there is one across the street from the Imperial. This machine, I hear, was invented by a man who lives in Erie, Pa., and it is said he is perfecting it at that place now. The difficulty with it now it that when a man puts his nickel in the slot the voice barks his weight at him so suddenly that he invariably fails to catch the figure.

DEAFNESS CAN NOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Good Stories of The Day

Uncle Joe Cannon likes a good story and has an apparently inexhaustible fund of good stories himself. He likes a joke as well. These traits were taken advantage of by Fred Busse and J. R. B. Van Cleave, two prominent figures in the Illinois state convention, after five fruitless days of balloting had gone by and a state of listlessness had overtaken the 1,502 delegates.

Busse made his way to the platform and began talking to Van Cleave, who was acting as secretary. The two men became deeply interested in a glass vial no larger than one's little finger when "Uncle Joe" left his chair and joined them. He saw Busse tipping the vial up and down, while Van Cleave watched the operation intently. Inside the vial was a dead fly, floating in just enough water to leave a bubble.

"What's that, Fred?" asked "Uncle Joe," in all innocence.

"It's a nerve tester," replied Busse, continuing to tip the ends of the bottle up and down, while Van Cleave kept on watching the progress of the bubble and fly back and forth.

"But what's the test?" asked the chairman.

"To see if your nerve is steady enough to put the bubble inside of the fly," replied Busse, handing the vial to "Uncle Joe," who mechanically took it and began tipping its ends up and down. He made three or four trials and then handed it back to Busse rather sheepishly.

"I guess I can make this convention nominate a candidate for governor before I can do that trick," he said, and Busse and Van Cleave retired, grinning their delight at having "sold" the venerable chairman.

A PHENOMENON

A reporter was interviewing Vice President James Gayley of the United States steel corporation on the wonderful new process for making steel that he has invented.

"It is a phenomenal process, I am told," the reporter said.

"Hardly phenomenal," answered Mr. Gayley, smiling. "A phenomenon, you know, is a mighty extraordinary thing. Did you never hear the Scottish lecturer's definition of a phenomenon?"

"No," said the reporter; "I never did."

"Well, this lecturer," said Mr. Gayley, "put the matter thus:

"'Mayhap, ma friends,' he said, 'ye dinna ken what a phenomenon may be. Weel, I'll tell ye. Ye've all seen a coo, nae doot. Weel, coo's nae phenomenon. Ye've all seen an apple tree. Weel, an apple tree's nae a phenomenon. But gin ye see a coo gang up an apple tree tail foremost to pull apples, that, friends, would be a raal phenomenon.'"

ROCKEFELLER'S PICTURE

John D. Rockefeller has a little grandson someaing over half a dozen years of age of whom he is very fond. One day recently this youngster, while visiting at the Rockefeller country home at Pocantico Hills, New York, mounted his grandparent's knee and said:

"Grandpa, here's a picture of you that I drawed."

"Ah, yes," replied Mr. Rockefeller, as he examined it. "Very interesting. What am I doing?"

"Coming home from the village store."

"Yes, yes; I see. But what's that I have in my hand?"

"That's a gallon oil can. You've just got it filled with kerosene and are fetching it home for the lamps. Of course," the artist continued in patronizing explanatory tones, "it's a 'maginary picture. 'Taint drawed from seeing you do it, you know. I fought it all up in my own head."

SCENE IN THE WHEAT BELT

Scribner's.

One square mile of wheat. Ever see it? Transcontinental trains used to stop in the Smoky Hill valley of Kansas to allow passengers a view of such a wonder. It realized all the travelers' dreams of agricultural splendor. Hundreds such visions now mark the great grain area of the plains, but their beauty is none the less. Six hundred and forty acres of wealth; $6,000 profit—perhaps more! It shimmered beneath the perfect opalescent blue of the sky, the tall straws bending with their weight of grain. Standing on the seat of the reaper one might see in the distance a glimmer of green pastures and catch glimpses of rustling fields of corn, but here was the heart of summer.

DAVID BENNETT HILL

Washington Post.

During his sojourn in Washington as United States senator he enjoyed and doubtless deserved a spotless personal reputation. It was generally understood that he had no private vices. He did not drink, smoke, play cards or dissipate in any way, so far as was known. He had no intimacies or confidences with his fellow-man. Not a human being knew, so far as we could learn, what he thought or felt or hoped or feared. He was a man of mystery. If he ever had an impulse he subdued it. His virtues, like his sympathies and aspirations, he modestly concealed. And so, as Washington is always crowded with important figures and occupied with events of pith and moment, Mr. Hill somewhat speedily passed out of notice at the capital.

DIET FOR THE SUMMER

Washington Post.

These scientists and students of domestic economy will be the death of us yet if they do not desist from their apparent determination to tell us what we shall eat, how we shall have it cooked and served and the manner by which we may mect the exactions of the servant girl and start the physicians on the road to bankruptcy. After mature deliberation we have decided to go ahead this summer, eating what we like, whether it agrees with us or not, eating it at home when possible and taking our chances.

Painless, Natural Childbirth.

Baby's coming into the world should be preceded by a certain preparation on the part of every woman who expects to become a mother. She owes it as a duty to her unborn babe, and to herself; her duty to her unborn babe is to use every means within her power to aid his entrance into the world. Baby cannot help himself in this ordeal, therefore mother must. He has a hard enough time after his arrival, so let us make his coming easy. His health in after life depends greatly upon the manner of his coming: would you have your child a cripple, or would you have him a tower of strength? Strong men are but grown-up children; a famous surgeon in Vienna is devoting his life-work to the cure of little helpless cripples, deformed by birth; do not allow your child to become a cripple.

Mother's Friend

Is a liniment which will forestall any possibility of accident at birth; that is, it relaxes all the abdominal muscles and tissues, and permits of an easy access to the child. It eases the mother's pain, and so assists nature that when baby comes he starts out in life with a constitution well able to fight life's battles, and to bloom into strong pure manhood that is the comfort and delight of every true mother's heart.

OIL PROSPECTS AT LAWTON, O. T.

C. M. Gibler of This City Is One of a Company Sinking a Well Near There

C. M. Gibler, of the firm of Baertick & Gibler of Fort Worth who are boring for oil in Oklahoma near Lawton, is in the city and reports that his firm has a fair chance of striking something good in the near future. They are sinking a well about five miles from Lawton. A depth of about 300 feet has been reached with excellent oil indications. At about 150 feet a heavy flow of natural gas was struck which is said to be the strongest ever seen in the territory. The firm has secured a lease on 3,000 acres and propose to thoroughly test the country for oil which is known to exist in that section in large quantities.

Mr. Gibler states that a citizen right in the town of Lawton started some time ago to sink a well, but when he reached a short depth he encountered a flow of oil, since which time he has been taking out, with the use of rope and bucket, five barrels a day. This oil is very fine and after straining it through a piece of cloth sells it at 25 cents per gallon. The profits from this small oil proposition is $50 a day. The well is down ninety feet.

Another company is starting to bore for oil near the Baertich-Gibler property. The company is composed of capitalists from Chicago and they propose going down a great distance if it becomes necessary in order to reach oil.

The well being sunk by the Fort Worth company is on property owned by Frank Marple, formerly of this city, a brother-in-law of the late Editor Brann of Waco.

THE COTTON SITUATION

Speaking of crops in the territory, Mr. Gibler says that everything is looking very well, except that cotton is "in grass" to considerable extent. Labor is scarce there. Farmers are offering $1.25 per day for cotton choppers and cannot get them for love or money. Corn is good. Wheat is not looking any too well. This condition refers particularly to Comanche county, Oklahoma.

Reverting to the cotton proposition Mr. Gibler said that estimates made by the Oklahoma board of agriculture shows the cotton acreage in that territory to be 30 per cent greater than last season. The prospects are that there will be difficulty in getting sufficient labor to care for the plant. It was the same last year, and the loss was great. It is believed that the same scarcity of help will prevail this season, and as the acreage is considerably larger the loss will naturally be heavier.

These conditions will necessitate the importation of laborers to harvest the crop, and as there is an increased acreage in all the cotton growing states the outlook is very gloomy as to sufficient labor to care for and pick the crop.

The cotton growers in the territory are counting on securing many pickers from Texas, but those well posted on the situation say that Texas also will have all it can do to secure labor to care for the crop.

Oklahoma growers are now figuring on procuring Mexicans from the republic to work in the cotton fields.

Prescription No. 2851 by Elmer & Amend, will not cure all complaints, but it will cure rheumatism.

MURDERED MEN FOUND IN RIVER

Running Fight of the Officers With Those Accused of the Crime—Report From Mexico

Chief of Police Rea yesterday received a letter from Colonia Morelos, Sonora, Mexico, announcing a running fight between a posse and the band accused of the murder of ten American 115 miles south of Douglas, Arizona.

The letter, which was sent by Orsen P. Brown, who is at the head of the posse, announces that they overtook the alleged murderers on the night of June 19 and in a hot fight succeeded in shooting the horses of the men, who are consequently on foot. The men, however, succeeded in escaping in the darkness, and Mr. Brown announced that they are following on their trail and are practically sure of capturing the men. He promises to communicate further particulars as soon as possible.

The letter was written to Chief Rea to ascertain if possible the identity of one of the murdered men, who was supposed to have been formerly an officer on the police force in this city. The name given was Miles, but no one by that name has been an officer in this city.

The names of three of the murdered men as contained in the telegram to this paper were James B. Maxwell of Baird, his brother, John, of Globe, Ariz., and Enoch Woodward of Douglas, Ariz. A later dispatch stated that two more Americans had been killed by the band in Sonora, their identity not being ascertained. The bodies of all were found floating in the San Juan river, together with the bodies of their dogs, which had evidently supported their masters in the fight. The posse in pursuit of the men is composed of American volunteers from Douglas, Ariz., and Mexican rurales.

STORY OF THE TWO GRAPES

Kansas City Times.

Once there were two little grapes. One was a good little grape and minded his mother. The other was a bad little grape. One day the bad little grape disobeyed his mother and rolled off the fruit stand. A ragged little negro boy came along and ate it, but all the little grape could do was give the little boy a stomach ache. The good little grape was eaten by a rich man and it gave him a nice case of appendicitis. Moral: Mind your mothers, little folks.

A PITIFUL STORY

One defendant entered a plea of not guilty against a charge of drunkenness, and after telling his story, which was pitiful in the extreme, he was allowed to go on a promise not to get drunk again.

The man claimed that he was not drunk, but was subject to paralysis and that when found by the officer he was in a state of collapse caused by a recent illness. Whether his story was the regular tale or not is hard to determine, but the poor teller appeared so earnest in his appeal and looked the part of a sick man so thoroughly that the court was moved to give him his release.

Watch for announcement of title of the new serial story that will soon start in The Telegram.

SPECIALIST TELLS HOW TO AVOID APPENDICITIS

BERLIN, June 28.—The death by appendicitis of Miss Morton, daughter of the great American financier, well known here, has again drawn attention to the fact that more rich people than poor suffer from the disease. One of the first European authorities on appendicitis, Dr. Paasch, laid down the following rules "for avoiding appendicitis:"

1. Watch your digestion closely. Whenever there is the slightest stomach trouble and a sourness in the mouth, begin dieting and take alkalic remedies during the second hour after meals, when digestion is at its height.

2. While digesting, keep your feet warm. Walking is an excellent stimulant to the feet.

3. Eat sparingly while there is any stomach trouble whatever. Do not eat too often; give your digestive organs time to accomplish their work.

4. Consult a doctor if gases are in the habit of accumulating in your stomach. These gases are very liable to bring on appendicitis. Empty your bowels under all circumstances after breakfast. Avoid cold drinks.

If there is the slightest danger of impending appendicitis, avoid all solid food and consult a physician at once. Do not resort to physic without consulting a doctor, as it must be previously decided whether or not such measures are liable to increase the inflammation. If the doctor can not be reached without much delay remain in bed and make cooling applications until he finally arrives. Even if there is irresistible inclination to vomit, do not take any liquid or solid food; particularly take no seltzer or similar waters, no lemonades or fruit sirups, as they may increase the inflammation.

IT'S COFFEE

Dr. Chancellor's Experiments Explain a Point

Dr. Chancellor's experiments show that coffee contains more uric acid than any other food product in general use. Uric acid is the chief cause of rheumatism.

For several years the Postum Cereal Co. has been receiving letters from people who testified that their rheumatism quickly disappeared when they quit coffee and drank Postum, and Dr. Chancellor's experiments explain these cures. A late writer says:

"I was stricken with inflammatory rheumatism about three years ago and while sick drank neither tea nor coffee. When I got up again I wished to drink coffee but it tasted so dreadfully bitter it showed my system had revolted against its use and when I forced some down it made me nervous and sleepless.

"One day while calling on our minister's wife she served some Postum but I didn't know what it was and it favored coffee so in looks I said to her:

"Thank you but I'll have to refuse the coffee." She answered:

"'My dear, this is Postum Cereal, it looks and tastes like coffee, but it has absolutely none of the ill effects of coffee. It is a food drink. Won't you try some?'

"So I tried Postum and instead of hurting me it worked wonders for me and I've been drinking it ever since, even my husband has been weaned away from his coffee. I just follow the directions on the package and it makes a clear, black food coffee with a rich taste and since I have been drinking it I have had no return of my rheumatic troubles. We both enjoy splendid health now all the time." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

It is a fact that most rheumatics are coffee drinkers but anyone troubled with rheumatism who will leave off coffee and give Postum a trial will find a change from the old rheumatic symptoms within a few weeks, yet never miss the coffee after the first few days.

Of course, "there's a reason."

Contracts have been signed by which W. L. Ligon and four others of this city will acquire 520 lots in the southwestern part of the city, comprising the Fairmount addition and the Dissel tract.

The land in the Fairmount addition, comprising 400 lots, was purchased from E. E. & N. Powell of Madison, Ind., the consideration being stated as $50,000. The Dissel tract on Eighth avenue, comprising 120 lots, was purchased from Mrs. Percy E. Roche of Syracuse, N. Y., for $24,000.

Mr. Ligon stated this morning that the transfers of the properties have not yet been made and that the land was purchased merely as an investment.

Another important realty deal in the city yesterday was the purchase from Ed Otto by W. J. Boaz of the property adjoining the Continental bank building on Houston street. Mr. Boaz stated this morning that improvements would be made to the property upon the expiration of the lease upon the present building. A new building will then be erected but Mr. Boaz states that it has not yet been definitely decided of what sort.

COMMANDER GETS A BIG OVATION

N. R. Tisdal Given a Reception Last Night Attended by Visitors From Over the State

The reception tendered Commander-in-Chief-Elect N. R. Tisdal in this city last night was an interstate affair, largely attended by local members of the Sons' camp and several from over the state and the Indian Territory.

The hall of the veterans' was comfortably crowded. The rooms were decorated with bunting and flags of the Confederacy, the whole combining to make a scene in which there was great interest taken by the Sons, veterans, daughters and many invited friends.

The program arranged was an interesting one and was followed without a hitch. It consisted of brief addresses by Sons and veterans, songs, music and dramatic readings.

There was a long receiving line composed of the following ladies and gentlemen:

Commander N. R. Tisdal, Miss Virginia Ball, Commander W. P. Lane of the Texas division and Miss Lane, Thomas P. Stone, past commander in chief; Mrs. John M. Adams, Dr. Suggs and wife, Walter B. McAdams of Dallas, Miss Eva May Scott, W. R. Booth and wife, J. M. Tisdal of Greenville, Miss May Ball, W. H. Tanner and wife, Miss Kirtley, Mrs. Kirtley, Colonel Abe Harris, Mrs. Nicholson, Captain McGar, Mrs. Scott, Schafer Carpenter and Miss Nona Leach.

The program as carried out was as follows:

Vocal selection, "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," Miss Carrie Keller; piano solo, Miss Fay Lane; vocal solo, Mrs. Cummings; dramatic reading, Paul Gilvin; violin solo by Mr. Taylor.

Among the speakers of the evening were W. P. Lane, Thomas P. Stone, W. L. Sargent, N. R. Tisdal, Captain Curtis, W. R. Booth, John F. Easley, W. T. Shaw and Z. T. Serener.

Among those present from a distance were: Thomas P. Stone of Waco, past commander in chief of the U. S. C. V.; W. L. Sargent, commander of John B. Gordon camp, U. S. C. V., Terrell; Miss Margaret Pickering of Victoria, one of the maids of honor of the Texas division, U. S. C. V., and Miss Fay Burnett of Ardmore, I. T., maid of honor of the trans-Mississippi department, U. S. C. V.

When the program of the evening had been carried out, punch was served and the young people and many older ones passed another hour in dancing.

The reception was a pronounced success in every detail.

Storks are not often seen on the American continent, but are commonly found in nearly all the countries of Europe. In Holland, where they are particularly numerous and are protected by law, their nests are generally on the summit of a tall post, put up on purpose for them, on which is fixed an old cart wheel.

DOUBT THE STORY OF EVANSVILLE ASSAULT

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 28.—Captain Brennecke of the police department called at the home of Miss Weinbach, who reported that she had been assaulted by a negro, and found her in no apparently seriously condition. She talked calmly of the experiences of the night, and after leaving her Captain Brennecke announced that he doubted the story. He intimated that under close questioning Miss Weinbach had implicated a white man, who was a rival of Smythe for her affections.

This announced belief by the police authorities quieted the excitement. A large crowd had gathered at the police station, and the race feeling, always present here, was becoming more and more intense with momentary additions to the crowd. The search for the supposed negro has ceased and there is little fear of a violent outbreak.

NEW CABINET WOMEN POPULAR

Wives of Paul Morton and Victor Metcalf Are Both Well Known at the Capital City

WASHINGTON, June 28.—With the incoming of the new cabinet household two youthful matrons, Mrs. Paul Morton and Mrs. Victor Metcalf, must take the large share of public attention that will be turned upon them. Mrs. Metcalf is no stranger, having been a delightful member of the Arlington hotel coterie for several winters and a most valuable assistant to Mrs. Payne, wife of the postmaster general, at her public receptions. On these occasions Mrs. Metcalf has shown her ability to make strangers go away with the satisfied consciousness of having spent their time well. She has the manner of the hostess who enjoys the occasion herself. In this respect she has the graciousness of the California woman, who, whether she is a native daughter or only wishes she was, has a pretty broad and generous point of view of things in general.

Mrs. Paul Morton, the Chicago hostess of the cabinet circle, has acquaintances here also. When the new secretary's father was Mr. Cleveland's secretary of agriculture he and his maiden sister, Miss Morton, had a pleasant way of bringing the family sons and nephews together on holiday occasions in their Portland apartment, and no doubt Mrs. Paul Morton has vivid recollections of what Wednesday receptions were in those days, when the multitude went a-visiting, and when Saturday afternoons at the White House were popular demonstrations for feminine Washington.

The loss of the Cortelyous from the cabinet circle would be more deeply deplored if the comfort given by the political gossips was not so satisfactory. The temporary loss is to be but a gain eventually, and will advance Mrs. Cortelyou two or three places ahead in the receiving party at the White House on next New Year's day, and occasions of ceremony will be rare in the meantime. Mrs. Cortelyou did many gracious things as a cabinet hostess and made her home a popular one to hundreds of persons hitherto strangers to her.

Turning Senator Fairbank's home into a vice presidential residence, should the fates decree, will not be much of a task for his wife. Those who have watched the entrance and the exit of the D. A. R. on the days when Mrs. "President General" received have every evidence of her popularity as well as her ability to keep up her end of the establishment with splendid effect. She is equally happy with one, a half dezen or a hundred visitors.

SPORTING NOTES

Reports are current this morning that the Corsicana team is to be transferred to Port Arthur, China, and that Paris is to make headquarters somewhere on the Philippine islands—just where could not be exactly determined.

The above is only a report, however, and The Telegram does not vouch for its truth. Some say that Paris will go to Siberia instead of the Philippines and that the Corsicana management believes that good support for the team could be found at Grapevine. A definite arrangement will be decided upon between now and December 1 at any rate.

But to be real serious, the Territory deals are off and Paris and Corsicana will not desert their old stamping grounds, but will continue to play as they did the fore part of the season.

DALLAS OPENS HERE

The Dallas bunch will be here today to open the second part of the season. Paris will cross bats in the first game of the new season with Corsicana.

MANY CHANGES

So many changes have been made in the four teams during the last few weeks that fans are beginning to wonder if they will know which bunch to root for.

McMurray will do the backstop stunt for Beaumont, and little Tullar will no longer grace the local diamond as a home player.

At any rate, Billy Disch, it is said, will be here July 1—that is, if he isn't sold to Carson City, Nev., between now and then.

THEY OBJECT

The main reason given by Paris and Corsicana managers that the Territory transfers were not carried out is that the fans of Corsicana and Paris are yelling vigorously, "We want a team"—and being kind-hearted, they relented.

McMURRAY MARRIED

Now comes the report from Beaumont that the little catcher, Hugh McMurray, is married.

Miss Alice Andrews of this city is the bride. She accompanied McMurray to Beaumont last Saturday night and Monday morning they were made man and wife by the justice at the court house.

The bride is a striking and attractive young woman and like her husband, has many friends in Fort Worth, who hasten to extend to them hearty congratulations.

McMURRAY SOLD

When the report first reached this city it ran as follows: "McMurray is transferred again—and is under a new manager."

Well, maybe Hugh has a new manager, but from the smile that appears on his face when he is asked about the "new franchise" it is evident that he is more than pleased.

CAPT. JOHN WEST COLLECTS CATTLE TAX

MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 28.—Captain John West, chief of the Indian police, has returned from a trip to Claremore, where he went to either collect cattle taxes or drive out the herds of a man named Lowry, and he stated to a reporter that he had collected the money.

Not long ago, however, the Indian police drove a large bunch of cattle belonging to this man into Kansas, and in speaking of the matter, Captain West said that the sheriff of Labette county, Kansas, where the cattle were driven, had a warrant for the arrest of three members of his force, on a charge of violating the quarantine laws of Kansas. These warrants will not be served unless the Kansas sheriff can lay his hands on the men in his own county, which is not likely to occur.

THE THOUSAND ISLANDS

There may be somewhere on the earth a more delightful region than that of the Thousand Islands, but if there is, it has not been discovered. It is the Venice of America, but also has good hotels that can be kept warm if there shall happen to be a cold rainy evening. It is as fine as the Bay of Naples, with 2,000 picturesque islands scattered along the twenty-five miles of one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. You can find out a great deal regarding it in No. 10 of the "Four-Track Series," "The Thousand Islands." Copy will be mailed free on receipt of a 2-cent stamp by George H. Daniels, general passenger agent, Grand Central Station, New York.

THAT TIRED FEELING!

If you are languid, depressed and incapable for work, it indicates that your liver is out of order. Herbine will assist nature to throw off headaches, rheumatism and ailments akin to nervousness and restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health. J. J. Hubbard, Temple, Texas, writes, March 22, 1902: "I have used Herbine for the past two years. It has done me more good than all the doctors. When I feel bad and have that tired feeling. I take a dose of Herbine. It is the best medicine ever made for chills and fever." 50c at bottle. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

It is courting danger to stand under icy eaves. Not a few have learned this to their cost. Every winter injury and even death are reported as the result of this carelessness. But there is a far more popular way of courting danger. Every man or woman who neglects a cough is inviting sickness, and many a fatal sickness has its beginning in a slight cough.

The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure the cough. Even when the cough is obstinate and there is hemorrhage with emaciation and weakness, "Golden Medical Discovery" always helps and almost always cures.

"I was troubled with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and left me with a miserable cough," writes Mr. Joseph D. Burns, of 318 Huestis Street, Ithaca, New York. "I used two bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' after which my cough disappeared entirely. I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs. Substitution means a little more profit to the dealer but a loss to you.

The Owner of The Beatrice

[Original.]

In the Newport Casino two ladies, mother and daughter, were lounging, making remarks about those sitting near or passing.

"Oh, heavens, Beatrice," said the mother, "there's Walter Wells! If he sees us it will spoil everything. Just think of his telling people that we came from a Mississippi river town."

The daughter bit her lip. "How unfortunate!" she said.

"And just as we have been taken up by the B.'s. Here he comes. We mustn't see him on any account."

The mother turned her head squarely on the man who was approaching; the daughter, after hesitating, suddenly became interested in a group which called her gaze to another part of the room. The man walked by, his eyes fixed on the two women. He had started forward with an expectant look on his face, which turned into a bitterly disappointed, then a severe, one. Instead of going up to them, as he had at first plainly intended, he passed on.

"Oh, mother!" said the girl. "I wonder if he saw us."

"Saw us! Of course he did and knew we didn't want to be bothered with him. I wonder what he is doing here. He was as poor as a church mouse when we left C. ten years ago."

That night there was a ball at B.'s, and Mrs. and Miss De Lano—it was Delano originally, now it was De Lano—were there. They knew a few of those they met there, but as they had not yet effected an entree into the creme de la creme of the world's commercial aristocracy scarcely any of those they called acquaintances paid any attention to them.

"Mamma," said the daughter, "what can it mean? There's Walter Wells."

"You don't say so. Where?"

"Over there with—why, that's the man who was pointed out to me this afternoon as Lord Donegan, the Irish nobleman, who has been over here shooting."

Half an hour later the daughter was standing near Lord Donegan, and, seeing that she was a beautiful girl, he asked to be presented to her. During their conversation Lord Donegan spoke of hunting in the west and incidentally mentioned his friend Walter Wells. The lady led him to talk of his friend without mentioning her former acquaintance with him.

"I was in Colorado," he said, "starting for the Yellowstone park when I met Wells. I took a fancy to him and succeeded in persuading him to go with me. We were on a stagecoach one day when the driver was drunk, dropped the reins, and the horses dashed down a steep road. Wells went out on the tongue and checked the horses just as they were about to swing us around a curve and over a precipice. It wouldn't have made much difference if Donegan with a bare five thousand a year had gone over, but the owner of the Beatrice mine would have been a very different thing.

"The Beatrice?"

"Yes; named for a sweetheart, I fancy, though Wells never gave me his confidence."

"Is the mine valuable?"

"Produces a couple of hundred thousand a year, and Wells owned it all till he sold it recently for $10,000,000, I think."

The lady turned her head aside, and the lord went on.

"Wells came back with me, and when some of my New York friends were good enough to ask me to Newport I told them I couldn't come without Wells. They didn't seem to think he'd have a pleasant visit here—Newport is exclusive, you know—but when the ladies found he was a bachelor and worth $10,000,000 they kindly accepted my introduction, and he became quite the rage.

"Since you are so intimate with Mr. Wells," said Miss De Lano, "perhaps you will bear a message from me to him."

"With pleasure."

"Tell him that Miss—Miss De Lano, a friend of his, is here and would be pleased to see him."

Lord Donegan went off to find Mr. Wells.

"I say, old man," he said, "there's a Miss De Lano here—a beauty—an old friend of yours, who wants to meet you."

"What did you tell her about me?"

"Why, I told her all about you of course."

"Tell Beatrice De Lano that I passed her this evening, and so great has been the change in me during the past ten years that she failed to recognize me. I have been so shocked at my altered appearance that I haven't the heart to meet her."

"Beatrice?" repeated Donegan, looking at his friend searchingly.

"Yes. I named the mine for her. I came east expecting to find a sweetheart. I found a stone."

Lord Donegan did not carry the message, and Miss De Lano knew that he had no message that would be acceptable. That night after her return home she threw herself on a sofa despairingly.

"Why, my dear," said her mother, "what's the matter? Are you ill?"

"Matter? Matter enough! Walter Wells is worth $10,000,000 and has the entree to this Newport "smart" set that we have been trying so hard to get into, and we cut him."

Wells and Lord Donegan left Newport the next day for New York, where the former sailed for home. Wells went west and, totally unconscious of the value of the entree he had made into the charmed circle, never took the trouble to visit the place again. Nor did the girl he came east to find ever see or hear from him.

C. B. SLOAT MAY SUCCEED FIRTH

Most Talked of for Position of General Passenger Agent of the Rock Island in Texas

Speculation is rife today in local railroad circles that Charles B. Sloat will likely succeed to the position of general passenger agent o fthe Rock Island in Texas, as a result of the sudden death of W. H. Firth yesterday. However, this is merely conjecture in the absence of authentic information, which, of course, is lacking.

The friends here of Mr. Sloat say he is the logical successor of Mr. Firth and believe that his appointment will soon follow.

Mr. Sloat is familiar with the details of the office, having successfully filled it several years prior to his resignation on account of ill health. He is now general agent of the Rock Island at Denver.

It is understood here that Mr. Sloat accepted the Denver position with the understanding he was to receive something better when the opportunity presented itself.

Now that there is a vacancy of his old position, it is more than likely he will be named as Mr. Firth's successor.

CHIEF OF POLICE COWHIDES MINISTER

ALBANY, Ga., June 28.—Rev. L. G. Broughton of Atlanta, one of the best known Baptist ministers in the south, and Chief of Police R. W. Westbreek were the central figures in a sensational fight which occurred this afternoon in a barber shop on Broad street.

The fight was the outcome of charges preferred again Chief Westbrook in a sermon by Dr. Broughton Sunday, in the Chautauqua auditorium. Dr. Broughton charged that Mr. Westbrook was a drunkard and that he could be found at all hours in the lowest dives in the city. He claimed to have affidavits in his possession to prove his charges and said he was ready for an investigation, if one was desired by Mr. Westbrook.

The sensational controversy of Dr. Broughton and Mr. Westbrook has been the sole talk of the people on the streets of Albany today, and a fight was freely predicted should the two men meet.

When the chief entered the barber shop this afternoon Dr. Broughton was in a chair being shaved. As soon as Mr. Westbrook saw the minister he went for him with a cowhide. Dr. Broughton was struck several times, when friends of the minister interfered and hauled the chief off.

Four or five hundred people collected quickly in front of the shop, and for a while it appeared that a general mix-up was imminent. The affair has caused a great sensation, and it is freely predicted that more trouble will result from Dr. Broughton's charges.

PREPARE FOR REUNION OF PARSON'S BRIGADE

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, June 28.—The ex-members of Parsons' Texas Cavalry brigade are making active preparations for the reunion of the brigade which will be held in this city August 3 and 4. The executive committee and sub-committees will have a meeting Monday afternoon, July 4, for the purpose of perfecting all arrangements for this event. The veterans expect General Parsons to be in attendance this year.

NEW OFFICIALS SET SAIL FOR PORTO RICO

NEW YORK, June 28.—Beekman Winthrop, who is to succeed William H. Hunt as governor of Porto Rico; Charles F. McKenna of Pittsburg and Adolph G. Wolf of Washington, recently appointed United States judges in Porto Rico, and Delegate Degetau sailed today for San Juan. Governor Winthrop will assume office July 4.

ANNUAL SUMMER SCHOOL FOR SOUTH IS OPENED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 28.—The third annual summer school for the south opened here this morning and will continue till August 10. The aggregate attendance is expected to reach 1,500 to 2,000, representing the teachers and those interested in education from all parts of the south. The school is the outcome of the work of the general educational board of the south, headed by Robert C. Ogden and others of New York City. The opening exercises this morning were followed by introductory addresses by Dr. Charles W. Dabney and others this afternoon.

DAMAGE IN WYOMING FROM A TORNADO

CHEYENNE, Wyoming, June 28.—Considerable damage has been wrought by a tornado in Watson county. Trees were uprooted, ranch houses blown down, hay stacks scattered and several persons and some live stock injured. The tornado narrowly missed a passenger train on the Burlington railroad.

ELECTRIC TURNSTILES AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—Gates at the World's Fair have been equipped with electric coin control turnstiles which obviate the necessity of purchasing tickets by visitors and result in saving much time when crowds are entering the grounds.

Seventy-five machines have been put in operation. Now all one has to do is to have the admission fee. The turnstile will do the rest. The machines work admirably and it is probable that the scheme will be adopted at concessions where a fixed fee is charged for admission.

Money changers occupy the booths hitherto used at the entrances for ticket sellers, but the exposition officials say that the turnstiles will save much in the way of salaries.

ANOTHER INSURANCE COMPANY FOR TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, June 28.—Texas is to have another strong home fire insurance company, connected with which is James A. Baker, Rufus Cage, Charles Dillingham, W. B. Chew, J. M. Dorrance, Hyman Levy, J. V. Neuhaus and T. W. House, some of the best known business men, capitalists and financiers in the state. Its name is the Commercial Fire Insurance Company, with headquarters in Houston, and its capital stock is $100,000, with $10,000 surplus. The charter has been approved by the attorney general, filed in the insurance office of the department of agriculture, insurance statistics and history and the company duly authorized to operate in the state for the current year.

The following patents have been approved by the commissioner of the general land office and signed by the governor:

Newton county, seven patents, 4,028 acres; Kerr county, eight patents, 2,400 acres; Schleicher county, one, 500; Hardeman, one, 330; Reeves, one, 320; Hardin, one, 160; total patents, 20; counties, 7; amount of land embraced, 8,383 acres.

MORAL WAVE TO ROLL OVER AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Texas, June 28.—It now appears that another moral wave is to roll over Austin. Judge John C. Townes, president of the Good Government League, a political organization that figured quite prominently in the last campaign in this city, appeared before the Austin Ministerial Association, during which it developed that an effort will be made to enforce the Sunday law, and also the gambling laws and Austin's improvement morally in general.

It is believes that this is the first gun fired in the next city campaign for mayor, which takes place next year.

It has been understood all along that there would be a reform ticket in the field, and the ministers and members of the Good Government league are expected to work in conjunction to accomplish its election.

THE VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE AND HIS WIFE

TELLS OF FIGHT WITH SAM BASS

Waco Man Who Was on Train Relates Stirring Scenes at Mesquite Near Dallas in 1876

WACO, Texas, June 28.—The publication last week in some of the daily newspapers of the state of details regarding the fight at Mesquite, near Dallas, between railway employes and the band of Sam Bass on May 10, 1876, recalls to the mind of Mr. W. D. Lacy of this city the stirring scenes of that night.

Mr. Lacy, who is the former president of the Bell Water Company and one of the leading financiers of Waco, was on the sleeper of the train which was attacked at Mesquite. His wife and daughter (the latter now Mrs. Frank L. Miller) were also occupants sleeper, and the other two occupants of this car were a couple from the north, a man and wife, both very corpulent.

As the train slowed up at Mesquite, according to the usual custom, to put off and take on mail and get baggage Mr. Lacy heard a shot or two fired, then some more shots, followed by a regular fusillade. He also heard the bullets striking the train and knew instinctively that the fight was with train robbers. A shot struck the sleeper and went clear through.

About this time Mr. Lacy's daughter raised the curtain of the sleeper and one of the bandits promptly shot at the light, the bullet passing through the curtain close to her head, within a few inches in fact and likewise missing Mr. Lacy only a few inches. He at once told his daughter to put down the curtain, which she did.

The big fat man on the sleeper kept yelling that his gun was in the baggage ear, and was prancing about the sleeper in a state of great excitement. Mr. Lacy states that his own first impulse was to go to the back of the car, as likely the passengers would have to sell out and that as dearly as possible. He had a small pistol but did not expect to be able to do much execution. About the time he started to the rear of the car, however, the porter cried out that Conductor Alvord had been shot at the front end of the sleeper.

Mr. Lacy went to him and found that he had been shot in the arm. He dressed the wound and staid with him until he had a physician later. Conductor Alvord when shot was standing near one of the windows of the sleeper and could be seen easily from the outside. One of the first things Mr. Lacy did was to draw him away from the light, as bullets were crashing into the car all about. Just after he got Conductor Alvord away from the light a bullet zipped into the sleeper, smashed a mirror into a thousand pieces, and the glass fell on the porter, scaring him into a fit, almost.

The fat gentleman and his wife took refuge on the floor of the sleeper and were stepped on once or twice, but did not appear to mind it. Mr. Lacy does not agree with the statement that there were two men killed in the fight, though he does not know exactly. He thinks that one of the trainmen shot into the crowd of train robbers with a shotgun, but does not think any one was killed outright. After the scrimmage was over Sam Bass learned in some way that Mr. Lacy was on the sleeper and sent him word that if he had lost any money that he (Bass) would send it back to him. This was done because Bass was at one time hostler for Mr. Lacy's mother at Denton, and liked the family. Mr. Lacy thinks he was a man who would do anything for a friend, even though an outlaw.

FREE CATTLE RANCHES FOR HEAD OF FAMILY

OMAHA, Neb., June 28.—Any citizen of the United States who is the head of a family and does not own more than one hundred acres of land now has a chance to acquire a cattle ranch in Nebraska for nothing. Under the Kinkaid bill, which passed the last congress and became operative today, 8,844,757 acres, most of which comprise as fine grazing land as there is in the world, will be open to the public as homesteads.

The lands affected by the Kinkaid bill have been open for homesteading in lots of 160 acres each, for many years, but, not being suitable for agricultural purposes, and 160 acres not being large enough on which to raise cattle, the lands have never been taken up by homesteaders. However, a square mile of this land will furnish pasturage and feed for 100 head of cattle throughout the entire year.

WACO MAN LEADS IN A REFORM

Rev. Frank Page of Brooklyn Starts Movement to Withdraw Patronage From Boats

WACO, Texas, June 28.—A movement has been started among the churches of Brooklyn, N. Y., by Rev. Frank Page, formerly rector of St. Paul's church in Waco, which is expected to be followed up by concerted action on the part of every church in Brooklyn, looking to a withdrawal or withholding of patronage of excursion steamers which are not properly fire proofed and fixed to prevent disasters such as overtook the General Slocum last week, when nearly a thousand Sunday school children perished in flames or were drowned. Rev. Frank Page is now rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, and as usual is ready with practical and helpful suggestions. The New York Globe states that the movement will become general in Brooklyn, giving a long account of the meeting of the vestry of Mr. Page's church, also a fine newspaper picture of Mr. Page.

GOT BLISTERS IN WATERS OF GULF

WACO, Texas, June 28.—Many of the excursionists to Galveston last Sunday returned home literally blistered from the sun's rays while bathing in the surf. The sun was partially obscure by clouds, and the visitors thought they were thus protected, but as old bathers know there is a reflection when clouds of ordinary thickness obscure the sun, which results in severe sun-burn. Some were almost sick.

The excursion is being personally conducted by officers of the league in Texas.

There left Dallas today a party of about 200 over the Texas and Pacific for St. Louis, 150 of the number being ladies, members of the Hesperian Chorus, which is to sing at the Worlds Fair, July 1.

In the Leaguers' party from Fort Worth are the following persons: Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, Miss Flora Whitehurst, Homer Mulkey, Miss Winnie Wood, Rev. J. J. Creed and wife, J. R. B. Hill, Mrs. J. H. The party will remain in St. Louis, visiting the fair until after Fourth of July.

PARIS, Texas, June 28.—Two drowned horses were found in Kiamichi river in the Territory, thirty-five miles north of Paris, one with a man's, the other with a woman's saddle, caused much excitement and led to the belief that two persons had been drowned. It is rumored here this morning that a prominent Indian and his wife living near Antlers are missing. It is feared they are the victims.

GATESVILLE GETTING READY TO CELEBRATE

WACO, Texas, June 28.—From information received here it appears that the people of Gatesville are getting ready for the greatest celebration of Confederate veterans in July that has ever been held in Coryell county. The encampment or gathering will last four days, and the program includes many things of interest. The famous Second Regiment band of Brenham has been secured to furnish music, there will be side attractions from many of the best carnival companies, base ball, riding and roping contests, etc. A street parade and sham battle are other features. The dates are July 26 to 29 inclusive.

DETAIL OF PLAN OF BRAZOS RIVER DAM

WACO, Texas, June 28.—The details, specifications and plans for the proposed dam across the Brazos river have arrived, and show a very imposing structure. Persons who wish to figure on the dam may now have access to the specifications, and bids will be opened July 14. In case the bids come within the amount suggested by Engineer J. W. Maxey as the probable cost the contract may be let as soon as the bids are open. He thinks the structure can be built for something like ten thousand dollars. Parties are writing from New York, Chicago and other places and expressing a desire to bid on the dam.

DUMONT'S GAS BAG CUT WITH A KNIFE

ST. LOUIS, World's Fair Grounds, June 28.—Some time during the night the gas bag of Santos Dumont's airship was cut and slashed in such a manner as to preclude all possibility of its being repaired in time to allow the ascension on July 4. The work apparently was done with a jack knife. There are at least twenty long rips in the bag and Prof. Mayers who has charge of the aeronautic contests declares today it will take at least two weeks to repair the damage.

RAILROAD NEWS

MAY BE A CHANGE

From Chicago comes the information that a change in control of the Santa Fe is imminent.

This report comes in connection with the recent changes in the Southern Pacific and may help to explain the resignation of Edwin Hawley and H. E. Huntington. The Chicago information says that it may also help to explain the proposed very large increase in Southern Pacific preferred stock and the failure of the directors to explain to what purpose two-thirds of the proposed increase is to be applied.

The report states that before the end of the current year the Santa Fe will be a Southern Pacific property, and the two systems will hereafter be operated in closest harmony and practically as integral parts of one system. Change in control of the Santa Fe does not constitute the entire plan as at present contemplated, and which is now being rapidly worked out. The Chicago and Alton is also involved. It will be remembered that not long ago the security holders of this road were invited to deposit their stock in the hands of trustees, preparatory to a possible sale of the property. It is said that the prospective purchaser is the Union Pacific, and that the Alton will shortly become the Chicago end of that system from Kansas City.

AFTER THE SAP

The securing of the Katy has stimulated the people of Austin, who are considering the possibility of also persuading the San Antonio and Aransas Pass to extend to the capitol city from Lockhart.

Already negotiations are under way and important developments are looked for withi nthe next few weeks.

THE PAN-AMERICAN SOLD

A report reaches this city from Nebraska to the effect that the Pan-American Railroad has been sold to D. P. Doak and asociates of St. Louis. The price paid for the property is not given. The Everett family of Lyons, Neb., held a large block of the stock of the road. Walter Everett is the president of the company. D. P. Doak was some time ago awarded the contract for the construction of the extension of the road from Tonala, the present terminus, to Tapachula, Chiapas, near the Guatemalan border. Under the terms of the contract the line was to be built and ready for operation within eighteen months.

DENY SALE OF ROAD

Official denial has been made by the Texas-Mexican Company that the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Company, now building, has purchased the branch known as the Texas-Mexican road running from Corpus Christi to Laredo, a distance of 160 miles. There was a recent conference between Jeff Miller, vice president and general manager of the Brownsville road, and Chief Attorney Dodd of the Texas-Mexican line, and following this the report became current that a deal for the purchase of the latter road was pending, but this is not true. The subject discussed by the two officials was with reference to a trackage agreement by which the tracks of the Texas-Mexican might be used by the Brownsville road, and nothing more. Under this arrangement the Brownsville road will use the tracks of Texas-Mexican road from Robstown to Corpus Christi, a distance of sixteen miles, the National retaining the preferred rights on this track over all trains operated by the Brownsville line.

The latest information from the east is that the Rock Island has mapped out a route to the Pacific coast, and if plans do not miscarry construction gangs will be at work on this transcontinental line before the close of the present year.

The old Rock Island Company had a survey made across Colorado seventeen years ago, and it is now proposed that this route be utilized.

The Rock Island now reaches Colorado Springs. The plan now is to build a line from Colorado Springs to San Diego, Cal., with various branches, making about 1,150 miles of new construction.

Rock Island officials have been compiling statistics regarding this proposed extension several months.

The company already owns half a mile of valuable water front and franchises at San Diego, together with 1,000 acres of land.

It is confirmed at Rock Island headquarters that the company has, for the time being, abandoned all idea of building to Galveston from Fort Worth, and in lieu thereof it is understood that close traffic arrangements have been made with the Southern Pacific, whereby the traffic of the Rock Island can reach Galveston on such favorable terms as to make the construction of another road or the purchase of an interest in other roads an extravagant luxury.

In the face of these facts it is more than likely that no extension from North Texas to Galveston will be made, for the present at least.

TO BUILD UP COASTING TRADE

The management of the proposed new steamship line which is to operate between Mexican ports and points in Central America, announces that the Mexican government has not yet granted the concession asked for, but expects that the department of communications will act on it during the present week.

The company will operate some eighteen steamers between Tampico, Mexico, and points in Central America, and even in South America as far as Venezuela. The steamers will not be large, but modern in equipment and service, the object of the company being to build up a profitable coasting trade between these different countries.

MONEY FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

There Is a Possibility That It May Be Secured—Negotiations in Progress

Money may possibly be secured tomorrow for the erection of the new school building in the Fifth ward.

Alderman Lydon announced at the mass meeting held at the school grounds last night that negotiations were in progress and that one of the banks of the city had the matter under consideration and had promised a definite answer on Wednesday of this week.

This, added to the statement of the city attorney made at the meeting that if the proper care were exercised in the drawing of a non-negotiable note of the sort the city can legally issue, it would be perfectly valid, and in all events proof against defences arriving after its execution has led to a renewed hope in the advisibility of funds to construct the badly needed structure.

The meeting last night was presided over by Mr. George Nies, formerly alderman from that ward. B. E. Gray acted as secretary. Mayor Powell, City Attorney Orrick and Aldermen Lydon and Henderson were all present at the meeting and stated the conditions in which the school and city finances are fixed. Others who addressed the meeting were L. M. Whitsitt, J. M. Bird, M. P. Ferris and Secretary Gray.

Frequent references were made in the course of the evening to the exclusive information printed in The Telegram to the effect that the insurance money received for the old building had been since expended. The city auditor was credited with the statement that 14 per cent could be taken from the interest and sinking fund tax. Ten per cent of this it was stated would be transferred to the general fund tax, but the speakers urged the setting aside of at least 5 per cent for the Fifth ward school.

Considerable repartee and questioning of the city officials by the audience served to enliven the audience and keep it alternately laughing and applauding.

At the close of the meeting resolutions were drawn up by a committee composed of J. M. Bird, L. C. Schuster and J. M. Hogsett, which were adopted and ordered sent to the city council. The resolutions were as follows:

Be it resolved by the citizens of the Fifth ward in mass meeting here assembled:

That we feel very keenly the failure of our city council to erect a suitable school building for our children; and be it resolved,

That we will not abate one jot or tittle of our interest or agitation for such a building until our wishes are complied with;

And be it hereby declared that we do most earnestly condemn the action of the city council and finance committee for using and in listening to a proposal to use any part of the $9,000 insurance money of the Fifth ward school building for any other purpose than toward rebuilding the Fifth ward school.

And that we insist that the city council, mayor and the finance committee be called upon to make their retrenchments in some other department than the schools of our city, and particularly at the expense of the Fifth ward school;

And that while the Fifth ward is the largest and most populous ward of the city, with the largest scholastic population, that it is a disgrace to the city officials and to the city of Fort Worth, and an insult to the voters and tax payers of the Fifth ward that we are without a suitable building for school purposes.

BUSINESS HALTS FOR THE ELECTION

Mexico in a Period of Dullness. Few Deals Being Made Although Capital Is Plentiful

P. O. Leonard, who formerly lived at Velasco, but who is now located in Arizona, was here yesterday, en route home from a trip to St. Louis. He has recently been in Mexico and had this to say regarding business conditions in the republic:

"Mexico is feeling the effects of the presidential campaign in the United States. It is practically impossible to finance any project in the United States, no matter how sound a basis it may be. The difficulty experienced in interesting capital is not due to tightness in the money market. All banks have plenty of money, but they are holding it in their vaults until after election.

"During the past few months purchases of a number of large agricultural timber tracks, as well as mines, etc., have been projected in Mexico, and large amounts of money have been spent in securing expert examinations of the properties, but not a single deal of any consequence has been finally consummated. When the time has come to produce the money for the payment of agreed purchase price, the persons promoting the deals have found themselves unable to procure the needed funds.

"Dealers in Mexico do not look for any relief until after election. They say that business of all kinds will be dull until after next fall. Then they think a number of very important deals will be made in the republic, involving many million dollars. They attribute the unwillingness of banks to make loans, to some extent, to political machinations."

BACK FROM PASTEUR INSTITUTE

WACO, Texas, June 27.—Mrs. Tom Plunkett and her little son, George, reached Waco Sunday morning from St. Louis, where George had been taken for Pasteur treatment on account of having been bitten by a cat. The little fellow is all right. Inez Keith, who was bitten by a dog, will reach home today or tomorrow. These children and their parents reside in Robinson, seven miles south of Waco.

GOT ONLY TO SAN FRANCISCO

DENISON, Texas, June 27.—Edward Morton and Paul Dunning, two young men who started several weeks ago to cast their lots with the Japanese army, were here today en route to their home in Parker county. They got as far as San Francisco, but they turned back, the Japanese consul informing them that no Americans would be permitted in the Japanese service.

SENATOR'S WIFE NOT FOND OF SOCIETY

MRS. JOHN C. SPOONER.

Mrs. John C. Spooner, wife of the senator from Wisconsin, is a kindly woman of strong personality and high intellectual ability. She cares little for society and does not figure in the smart set.

Her at-homes are attended by personal friends and the Wisconsin contingent.

Last winter the senator and Mrs. Spooner were located in a pleasant home in the west end. Hitherto they have boarded at the Arlington.

WAITS THREE DAYS FOR HER HUSBAND

Trying Ordeal of a Wife at the Union Station—Patience Is Finally Rewarded

A wife's patience was given a severe test at the Texas and Pacific station the other day. She waited three days for her husband to meet her.

The woman arrived in this city Thursday morning. Her husband, who lives on a farm eight or ten miles from the city, promised to meet her with a wagon and take her home.

All day Thursday the unfaithful husband did not appear. Friday came and no spouse. Saturday morning dawned with the woman still at the station waiting. During this time the matron had been caring for the woman as best she could, getting her meals for her and providing a place for her to sleep.

Naturally the wife during this period of suspense was not very cheerful and spent the most of her time in crying and upbraiding her man.

On Sunday deliverance came, for her husband, resplendent in his store clothes and "biled shirt," drove up with his wagon to get his wife.

The Telegram reporter, not wishing to pry in to the domestic affairs of the couple, did not find out the excuse the husband gave for his long delay and what is more he has not heard what occurred on the farm when the wife got the husband alone.

SAY HACK DRIVERS ARE ENCROACHING

Persons and authorities at the Texas and Pacific station wish to call the attention of the hackdrivers and expressmen in regard to the ordinance concerning the placing of vehicles too near the car track.

The car line passes directly in front of the station and lined up with only a few feet of the track are the carriage wheels.

Persons wishing to get off the car are seriously inconvenienced by these vehicles and are daily in danger of an accident.

Several ladies have complained that they find it hard to get from the cars without rubbing against the carriage wheels.

YOUNG WIFE DIES FROM HOMESICKNESS

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 28.—Mrs. Emily Belden, accompanied by her husband and two young children, died on the Southern Pacific train at Nome last night while en route from Corpus Christi to her former home in Lansing, Mich. BICYCLE AGAIN COMES IN FAVOR

Many More of Them Seen in For Worth This Summer Than for Years

Not alone in Fort Worth but in all parts of the country do indications point, seemingly, to a boom in the bicycle business, and if half that is heard is to be believed, the two-wheeled machine will this summer and next be as popular as it was a few years ago, when the whole world was awheel.

Back of this sudden revival of interest is clearly seen the fine business hand of the bicycle trust. In every city the representatives of the makers are hustling day and night to work up enthusiasm. They arrange long and short runs, provide refreshments at the end of the trip gratis, and in every way try to interest riders old and new in wheels.

Working in conjunction with this movement, which just now tends to promote road riding, the manufacturers are once more employing teams of racing men to represent them, and we may soon see in all sections bike meets, with men whose names are familiar to devotees of the game chasing each other around the mile and half-mile tracks as they did in the halcyon days of the L. A. W. and other alphabetical leagues.

THE SHEEP FEEDERS ARE MAKING MONEY

Those who fed sheep last winter are more than pleased with the results of the season. With wool high and mutton in demand, they have made good money. It has been so for the last three years, and each year has seen an increased amount placed on feed. No doubt that by next season many more will be placed on feed than were fed the past year. Cattle feeders, on the other hand, have lost money in most instances during these three years, and many are talking of quitting the business. Just at present beef cattle are bringing excellent prices, but the reaction came too late to benefit the business as a whole to any great extent.

PEOPLE WEEP AT THE FUNERAL OF A HORSE

AUSTIN, June 28.—Quite an unusual sight was witnessed a few days ago on the Anderson farm about three miles south of Austin. It was the funeral of a horse and the dead animal's friends followed the body to its grave and tears were shed by many of those in attendance. It was the first time in the history of Travis county that tears were shed over a dead horse or that one was given a burial such as is given to human beings and even a small monument being erected over the grave.

This is what occurred when "Old Snipp" died a few days ago on the Anderson farm. Old Snipp was 24 years of age and in his day was one of the best fire horses ever in the service. He was attached to the Austin Hook and Ladder Fire company and served many years under three drivers. He was retired from active service eight years ago, but the company for a long time kept the old horse at the quarters and sometimes when needed he was pressed into service. He was never allowed to pass out of the hands of the company and was given first to one and then to another member of the company to keep. His last keeper was John Quist, one of his old drivers. He has been given the best of care all these years and when he died it was decided to give him a regular funeral. Many people followed the dead animal to his grave and when it was over and eulogies had been pronounced on his many virtues, Mr. Quist erected a monument over the grave.

HOUSTON ELKS IN GARB OF JAPS

Count on Making a Sensation When They Appear in the Parade at Cincinnati

HOUSTON, June 28.—When the Houston lodge of Elks appear in the street parade at Cincinnati, at the annual grand lodge session next month, they may be counted upon to produce a profound sensation.

At this time there are hurried preparations at one of Houston's overall factories for the turning out of unique but typical Japanese costumes. The Houston lodge of Elks is to have in line seventy-five persons clad in the uniforms. Japanese maidens (in appearance) will be one of the features and a Japanese band will be another.

The costumes to be worn will be made up of the following: Japanese kimonos, each of which is on the order of a light blouse waist; white Jap trousers, which in length end between the ankle and the knee and are of an inverted bell shape; flesh colored stockings, Jap sandals, which are the nearest approach to being barefooted known to modern civilization. They consist of a flat piece of sole leather tied on with strings or straps; and lastly, but by no means least, Southern Pacific rice straw Japanese hats.

A part of the Houston pageantry will be made up of some twelve ladies, who are to accompany the party and who will be clad in kindred Japanese garb. A Jap band with costumes quite similar to those worn by the Elks will be a feature.

BIDDING FOR BIG PRIZES.

Handsome prizes are offered by the national association for showings made by individual lodges or divisions.

One of these prizes is $500 for the most uniquely dressed division in the great parade that takes place on Wednesday, July 20.

Another prize is $500 for the division that attends from the greatest distance with the largest number. That is mileage will be taken into consideration. A lodge that travels 1,000 miles with 100 members will be rated of equal size as the lodge that travels 500 miles with 200 persons. The Houston Elks to reach Cincinnati will journey some 1,600 miles and they will go with a force of seventy-five strong. This is expected to come very near to landing the last named purse. Their street parade as planned may make a good bid for the first.

Captain Ludwig Eisenbaum, the lone navigator who crossed the Atlantic from Boston in a 17-foot dory, has come back to New York as a member of the crew of the Red Star line steamship Kroonland, from Antwerp. He brought his dory with him, and it is said that both will be seen later at the St. Louis exposition. The captain's trip was almost a constant fight with death. Twice he was sighted in mid-Atlantic by passing steamships and the skipper of one vessel spent considerable time urging him to abandon his perilous undertaking. He had several narrow escapes from drowning and once he lost nearly all of his provisions.
