MEXICANS ALARMED.

Rangers Are On the Trail of the Two That Are Wanted.

REWARD IS OFFERED

Excitement Runs High and Posses Are Scouring the Country in Every Direction For the Leader of the Murderers.

Gonzales, Tex., June 18.—A telephone message was received by J. W. Ramsay from Joe Orchard at Stockdale, stating that he, two deputies and two rangers were on a hot trail of one of the Mexicans wanted for the murder of Sheriffs Glover and Morris.

The governor has offered a reward of $300 for the apprehension of each. The Mexican captured at Ottine Sunday, when one was killed and one wounded, was brought to town and lodged in jail. He was in the house when SheriffGlover was killed.

Excitement runs high. The death of several Mexicans in different parts of the country is reported, but cannot be confirmed.

Deputy Swift of Cuero and posse are on the trail of a Mexican in Hays county. Sheriff Sparks of Lee county struck a clew near Oak Forest and is following it in Karnes county. Another trail is followed in Wilson by A. Smiley's posse.

The commissioners' court has met and regularly appointed F. M. Fly as sheriff, who has appointed all the deputies of Sheriff Glover.

A posse left town for Salt Creek, as a Mexican there has been seen acting suspiciously. Mexicans are all alarmed and many are fleeing the country. All fleeing ones are searched.

IN HOT PURSUIT.

Sheriff Tobin Is on the Trail of the Murderer of the Sheriff's.

San Antonio, June 18.—Sheriff Tobin received a telephone message from Floresville stating that a Mexican answering the description of Gregorio Cortez, the murderer of Sheriffs Morris and Glover, crossed the San Antonio river near the Thornton ranch five miles from Floresville Sunday night. He stopped at the ranch house to inquire about roads; was heavily armed and was riding a horse that was badly jaded. A posse started in pursuit and are on his trail. It is believed he is Cortez. It is generally acknowledged that when Cortez is brought to bay there will be more bloodshed, as he is one of the most deperate men on the border, with the gallows staring him in the face if captured.

Succeeds the Murdered Sheriff.

Karnes City, Tex., June 18.—W. O. Hunter, deputy sheriff under W. T. Morris, the murdered sheriff, was appointed sheriff unanimously by the commissioners' court to fill the unexpired term.

Still at Large.

Austin, June 18.—The Mexican murderer of Sheriffs Morris and Glover is still at large. The posse from here who have been searching this part of the country are still in pursuit, but Sheriff Davis of this county who has returned states that he does not believe that the Mexican is in this part of the country. Captain Joe Shelby of the state rangers took Tomaso Cortez, a brother of the fugitive to Karnes county on a charge of horse theft and being implicated in the murder, Cortez has been confined in the county jail for the past several days. There is another Mexican in jail believed to be connected with the gang. Excitement over the murders is still very high.

Miss Ollie Tyson of Todd county, Kentucky, is a sister of the Tyson boys and another heir.

GALVANIZED STEEL WIND MILL.

It is not like any other wind mill made. It is better. No other wind mill has the wonderful double gear—meaning double strength and double wear. No other mill has the long adjustable boxes which may be replaced without removing any part of the mill and which effectually do away with all torsion and overhanging strain. No other mill ever sprung so quickly into public favor or is so highly endorsed by every man who uses them. No other mill has ever been made which shows the same strength, durability and high efficiency. It stands the most severe storms without a crimp, twist or buckle. It stays sold and because of its superiority sells others in the same locality. Made in sizes from 6 to 20 ft. in diameter. Clearly unequaled for the farm, suburban residence, village water supply, irrigation, etc. Write at once for catalogue and special terms to

THROUGH A TRESTLE.

Train Goes Into the Water But No One Was Killed.

Raleigh, June 18.—The northbound seaboard air line run off a trestle into a pond and 20 or 30 passengers on board were injured, none of them serious, however. The engine passed over in safety, but the combination and second and first class and two Pullmans turned over. On account of the rains the piers of the trestle gave way on the left side. At the first crash all lights went out and the water rushed in waist deep through the windows. Baggageman Smith though seriously hurt himself, at once thought of the freight following close behind. He crawled out and seized a lantern hobbling down the track flagged the freight, thereby preventing a second catastrophe. When the freight stopped he was lying on the ground unable to rise but still waving his lantern.

The newsboy also did heroic work crawling through the cars helping the passengers to escape.

A Sensational Decision.

Cincinnati, June 18.—Judge Tarvin rendered a sensational decision in the Kenton county circuit court at Covington in the striker contempt case. In the decision Judge Tarvin attacks and criticises the federal court, Judge Walter Evans presiding. He says that the decision of the United States court was rendered on records that has been forged. Judge Tarvin points out how the forgeries were made. He says the decision is without precedence and without foundation of truth. He also says the decision was a vindictive abuse of power.

Hagerstown, Md., June 18.—Mrs. Jacob Dellinger found in a trunk at her home near Williamsport. a copy of the last dispatch written by Stonewall Jackson to General Lee before the battle of Chancellorsville. The dispatch is signed "T. J. Jackson." It is supposed that the paper was left at Mrs. Dellinger's house, which was occupied by Confederate soldiers.

Jury Secured.

Eldorado, Kas., June 18.—A jury was procured Monday to try Jessie Morrison a second time for the murder a year ago of Mrs. Olin Castle. As the attorneys for the state have said they will exclude much of the testimony offered at the first trial, it is believed the case will be given to the jury promptly. It has taken four days and a half to secure the present jury. It is composed of 9 farmers and 3 laborers. A negro was one of the 12 men temporarily selected, but he was excused.

Although they are not informed of the purpose of this extraordinary session, they believe that it is called to take action upon the question of the abolition of the tariff dues between the United States and Porto Rico. They say that Treasurer Hollander has made a report showing that the receipts of the island will be sufficient to carry the administration of the government after the Hollander law goes into effect on July 4, and this being the case, the legislature can require the United States government to suspend further operations of the Foraker law.

GIRL'S PERILOUS TRIP.

Daring Arabian Acrobat Crossed Footpath on New East River Bridge.

In the teeth of a roaring gale such as would have tried the temper of the steel spars of the stoutest cup defender or shatter the nerves of the hardiest "jackie" that ever laid aloft to reef a topgallant sail a little woman, frail to view, but stout of heart, won the other day the honor of being the first of her sex to achieve the perilous feat of traversing the slender, swaying footpath connecting the towers of the new East river bridge.

The woman who undertook this hair raising adventure is Miss Eva Vouletti, an Arabian maiden, born in the city of Tangier, Morocco, now a member of Hassan Ben Ali's troupe of Toozounin Arabian acrobats. Miss Vouletti, whose native name is Eva Azoo, is now in her nineteenth year. She is a trifle below the middle height and of a figure every line of which is instinct with grace and supple strength. Her costume for the occasion was a simple bicycle skirt, a tartan waist and the national crimson fez and black tassel surmounting her curls.

"Afraid? I don't know what fear is!" was her response when seen by a New York Journal reporter after her hazardous feat. To appreciate the peril so dauntlessly faced by Miss Vouletti it must be realized that she had not only to ascend to the summit of the Manhattan tower, 330 feet in the air, but from there walk without a tremor of the nerves along the swaying, rapidly vibrating footpath of three six inch planks to the opposite tower, 1,600 feet, or about seven blocks, away, this in a roaring gale that at some moments threatened to hurl the little woman into the watery abyss below and for about half the distance without even a suggestion of a hand rail.

Miss Vouletti's crowning feat was to cross from one footpath to the other along a crossbeam scant four inches wide directly in the center of the span. During the progress of her walk Miss Vouletti's progress was breathlessly watched by crowds on either shore, and the Williamsburg ferryboats halted in midstream to afford their passengers a view of the dauntless adventuress and saluted her with tumults of whistles and cheers. Miss Vouletti was escorted by T. K. Hastings, a photographer, who made the first pictures ever taken from the center of the span.

In the immediate center of the span she suddenly sat down on the footpath with her feet swinging over the river, 175 feet below. Then she sprang up lightly and fairly raced along the unprotected path. On reaching the Brooklyn side and descending to the street Miss Vouletti was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, who pressed forward to shake her hand.

GRAND HUNTING TRIP.

Vice President Roosevelt to Compete In a Ten Days' Shoot.

VALUABLE PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Buffalo Bill Tells of an Expedition into the Big Horn Basin—Quality and Not Quantity of Game Will Be Sought For—A Hunting Feast to Be Held.

Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) is the author of a brief article in the current number of The Independent, "Preserving the Game." In the course of it he foretells that Vice President Roosevelt is going on another hunting expedition next autumn. He will have as companions such good sportsmen as William Astor Chanler and Clarence W. Mackay and some foreign noblemen. Buffalo Bill writes:

"In the Big Horn basin, which was formerly the bed of an inland sea, we have fine hunting country—rich lowlands, where all sorts of feed is abundant, with the snow capped hills all about. A man working in the fields in his shirt sleeves can look in any direction and see snow. Jackson's lake, Teton creek and Jackson's hole are all there.

"In that region we organized last year a hunting club that, I believe, is quite without precedent in this country. Its emblem is the head of the Rocky mountain sheep, the bighorn. This club contains many distinguished sportsmen. Vice President Roosevelt is a member and Colonel William Astor Chanler and Clarence Mackay and a number of foreign noblemen.

"Next fall, about the middle of September, say, we shall go from the town of Cody, 50 miles up into the mountains and form a supply camp in the heart of the best game region. Then we separate into as many parties as there are hunters and engage in a ten days' hunt, not for quantity of game, but for quality. To illustrate: A shoots two elk and B only one, but B is held to match A because his elk head is so very much better than either of those secured by the latter.

"At the end of a ten days' hunt the party will reassemble at the supply camp, and judges will be appointed to pass upon the merits of the various trophies secured, an elaborate system of counting points being agreed on. Valuable prizes will be given to first, second and third leaders in the competition. A hunting feast, with sports such as shooting at a mark and riding horses, lasting for some days, will follow, and then those whose time is limited will go back to the east, while the others will continue the sport throughout the open season.

"That club, we expect, will be a missionary society and will help to impress the idea that quantity of game is not the main point for the true sportsman to consider. The spread of this idea will aid in making champions for the preservation of game.

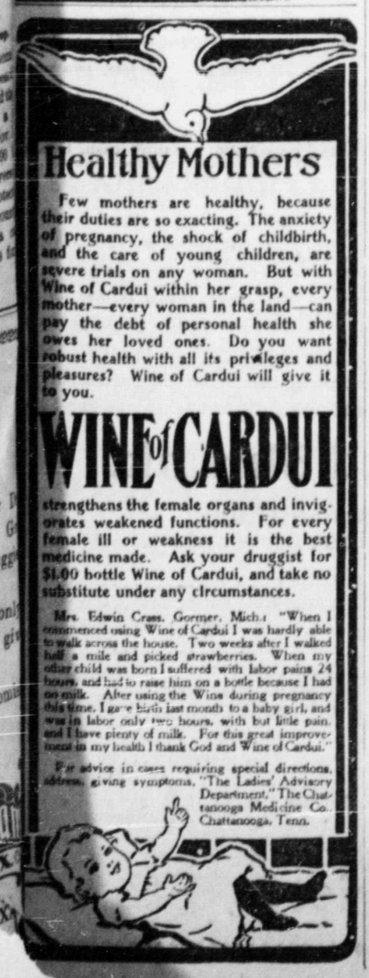

"The influences which reduced the numbers and threatened the extinction of the game were inseparable from the advance of civilivation, and this advance of civilization must still continue.

"Nevertheless there is plenty of room and plenty of feed for the game among the mountains, and if matters continue as they are at present we may expect to enjoy good hunting for many a long year to come.

"In regard to fishing in the west, the situation is about the same. Mountain trout swarm the brooks in Wyoming, but protection continues, as it has been decided to give the fish a good long rest and allow them to recover from the inroads made upon them before the game laws were passed."

Mrs. Edwin Cress, Gormer, Mich.: "When I commenced using Wine of Cardui I was hardly able to walk across the house. Two weeks after I walked half a mile and picked strawberries. When my other child was born I suffered with labor pains 24 hours, and had to raise him on a bottle because I had no milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy this time, I gave birth last month to a baby girl, and was in labor only two hours, with but little pain, and I have plenty of milk. For this great improvement in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."

MRS. M'KINLEY'S SACRIFICE.

How She Aided Her Husband When He Decided to Enter Public Life.

A friend of Mrs. McKinley recently told a pretty little story of her early life, writes the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. It was when the president, then popularly the "major," first went into politics and determined to run for congress. He was naturally kept away from home much of the time, and this grieved his delicate young wife. Some one told him of this, and, mindful of her happiness then as now, he frankly asked if she objected to his candidacy.

He added that if it seemed better for her that he should pursue fame and fortune in private rather than in public life he would cheerfully forego his ambition. Without a moment's hesitation she replied that she did not wish to retard his fortune, that he could have no ambition that she would not share and that she would be happy in the thought that she was helping and not hindering his career.

Would Worship the Dance.

Miss Isidora Duncan, the pretty performer of Greek dances in Paris, has shocked society by the following speech delivered in the salon of the Duchess D'Uzes, says the New York Journal: "When I am rich, I shall rebuild the temple of Poestum and open a college of priestesses, a school of the dance. I shall teach an army of young girls who will renounce, as I have done, every other sensation, every other career. The dance is a religion and should have its worshipers."

Mastodon's Jawbone In Indiana.

While working on the Whitmore ditch, a mile south of Macy, Ind., Henry Graves uncovered the lower jawbone of a mastodon, says the New York Journal. The incisors were missing, but otherwise the bone was complete and weighs 65 pounds. It is evidently from a young animal, as there are only three teeth on a side.

Arithmetical Progression.

With $90,000,000 now on hand for contingencies and the Boer war costing $1,000,000 a day England can find out by a simple arithmetical calculation, says the Boston Herald, just about how long it will be before she needs more money.

THEY DO IT.

People Quit Coffee and Get Well on Postum Food Coffee.

A man in Milford, Ind., says he did not quit drinking coffee because he thought it hurt him, but because he found a morning beverage he liked better in Postum Food Coffee, but to his wonder and surprise, he found in a few weeks all of the old symptoms of sickness had left him.

He had been greatly troubled with his stomach and heart, also with what is called "water brash," and dull headaches "which made me very irritable and quick tempered."

All of these symptoms disappeared and he discovered, in spite of all his previous theories, that coffee was really the cause of his troubles, and the leaving off of coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee brought about a perfect cure.

He speaks, also, of Mrs. Josephiene Kelly, living at Elkhart, Ind. Says she was afflicted much as he was, but had become more emaciated than he. So she quit drinking coffee and took on Postum Food Coffee. She is now a healthy and robust lady and willing to make affidavit that Postum Food Coffee saved her.

The gentlemen from Milford speaks also of Thomas McDonald as having recovered by using Postum. It can be had at all grocers. A good cup of Postum cannot be made unless it is boiled long enough to bring out the flavor and food value, then it is delicious.

A lady in Allenton; Pa., a few days ago received a letter containing money sent to her by her husband during the war, forty years ago. The letter was addressed to her at Rising Sun, Pa., which office was discontinued, and all mail packed in a room, the postmaster leaving the place in anger.

The Texas capital is the largest state building in the United States, and is the seventh in size among the buildings of the world. It is a vast Greek cross of red Texas granite, with a central rotunda covered by a dome 311 feet high. It was begun in 1881 and finished in 1888, having cost about $3,500,000. It was paid for with 3,000,000 acres of public land, deeded to the capitalists who executed the work.

Last week the editor of the Press had occasion to buy a 10x14 pane of glass. The price was 15 cents. The dealer who sold it remarked that six months ago the same glass sold for 8 cents. This increase of nearly 90 per cent is due entirely to the orbitrary methods of the glass trust. The editor also bought a quantity of postage stamps last week. They cost exactly the same price they did six months ago. Yet postage stamps are made and sold by the most formidable trust on earth. Why, then, haven't they gone up 90 per cent, like glass?—Lawrenceburg (Ind.) Press.

Waco's Celebration.

Waco is preparing to have the greatest one day celebration in her history, the occasion being the laying of the corner stone of her magnificent court house, that cost a quarter of a million dollars, the laying of the foundation stone of the great suspension bridge across the Brazos River and the formal opening of the splendid new depot built by the M. K. & T. Railroad Company.

The date of the celebration has been fixed for June 27th. The officers of the Grand Masonic Lodge will officiate in the corner stone laying ceremonies.

Among other attractions to be held on that occasion will be a grand military and civic parade which will surpass anything that has ever been given in the Central City; also a game of baseball, a baloon ascension and parachute leap. At night there will be a sham battle, a number of the leading companies in the state participating.

Very low rates have been secured on all railroads.

FOOD FOR MEMORY.

Kind That Builds Up the Brain.

It is hard to believe that certain kinds of food will strengthen the memory, and yet, upon the condition of the brain depends the character of the mind, and its ability to remember, and to exert itself in various ways and a healthy brain can only be maintained by proper selected food.

Now we know that daily use of coffee will gradually drain uses up certain parts of the brain which are thrown out through the kidneys to the outer surface of the body. This waste is natural and must be made up from food.

Grape-Nuts Food was made especially to rebuild the brain and nerve centers. An experience in Dublin will illustrate.

Mrs. G. H. Baber, 528 South Patrick street, writes, "I had a severe siege of gastritis, my stomach refused everything in the way of food until I got hold of Grape-Nuts. It was perfectly wonderful and marvelous to see the difference. I began to improve at once. I weighed myself about that time and found that I had 118 pounds to my credit. I gained in weight, health and health steadily and surely, and now weigh 160 pounds and am strong and in better health than ever in my life.

I have lately had a seven months' course of vocal instruction and have memorized 58 songs and most of the accompaniments to several piano pieces. When I began it seemed difficult to memorize one, but my memory is growing better every day and now find it easy to commit to memory without difficulty.

I have taken no medicine, but live on daily diet of Grape-Nuts which has given me strength, health and energy."

Morgan Mill Postoffice Matters.

William Burroughs, postmaster at Morgan Mill, was arrested at the Mill last Friday evening, on account of the detection of a deficiency in the postoffice receipts, by United States Marshal Dryden, and was carried before the federal judge at Dallas, where he was bound over to federal court which meets next October at Fort Worth.

The deficiency in the receipts are said to amount to $200, but as this sum was immediately paid by Charley Burroughs, a son of the postmaster, it is thought that the federal authorities will deal lightly with the old man.

Mr. Burroughs is about eighty years old and is indiscrete in the management of the office. This is said to be the third deficit in the last twelve months. The first discrepency occurred about a year ago, at which time he made an effort to suicide, locking himself in a room and inflicting several cuts in his own throat which came near proving fatal; the second one occurred about the first of this year and the third one was detected about a week ago by a post-office inspector and for which the old man was arrested. These deficiencies are estimated to aggregate $500 and they have been made up as soon as discovered by the old man's son. The deficiencies have resulted through no bad intentions of the old man but by a thoughtless, indiscreet expenditure of the receipts of the office.—Stephenville Tribune.

RUSSIA RETALIATING.

Imposing a High Tariff Rate on Resin and Bicycles.

EFFECT TWO WEEKS

This Government Imposed a Duty on Russian Petroleum and Russia Comes Back With Retaliatory Restrictions.

Washington, June 18.—The Russian ambassador, Count Cassini, has communicated to the state department that in consequence of the action of the American government through a treasury order of March 9, last, applying tariff restrictions against Russian petroleum exported into the United States, the Russian minister of finance has issued an order, dated June 9, imposing a high taliff rate of the Russian schedule on American white resin of Calafine, Galapot white resin under article 62 of the Russian tariff law and increasing the rate on American bicycles under article 173 of the Russian laws. This action is entirely apart from that taken in connection with Russian sugar and is a new development in discretionary duties imposed by this government and retaliatory duties imposed by Russia. The order of the Russian minister is to take effect next Friday or two weeks from date of issuance.

ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION.

Mrs. McBride Says It Will Outrival Many Such Enterprises.

New York, June 18.—"The St. Louis exposition of 1906 in commemoration of the Louisiana purchase is expected to out rival many such enterprises in the past," said G. W. McBride, ex-United States Senator from Oregon. The senator is a member of the St. Louis exposition commission, which was chosen to represent executors interests in the United States government at the fair. He continued:

"What makes me think that the fair will be unprecedented in ways is the enthusiasm with which the people of St. Louis and of the middle west have taken hold of it. There will be no lack of funds. The government will furnish $5,000,000, the company $10,000,000 and more money, I understand, is coming from outside sources.

"Since the exposition is to celebrate the Louisiana purchase, it can also be said to celebrate the principle of expansion, which gives the enterprise still greater significance."

Patti's Residence Sold.

London, June 18.—Craig-y-Nos Castle, the residence in Wales of Adelina Patti (Baroness Rolen-Cederstrom), was put up at auction in this city. The property was bought in for £45,000 after a dramatic scene caused by a false bid; £50,000, which was the reserved price.

"NERVE WASTE."

Is the title of a little book (now in its fourth edition) by H. C. Sawyer, the eminent San Francisco physician. It is endorsed by both religious and secular press of the country, strong papers like the Portland Pacific Baptist, Boston Congregationalist, San Francisco Occident, Christain Guardian, Peck's Sun, Cleveland Plaindealer, Baltimore Sun, Providence Journal, etc., etc. Public Opinion of Washington, D. C., says: "Nerve Waste as a title is so suggestive of quacks that even if the book had no other merit than its honesty it would nevertheless deserve mention for that," and adds: "There has probably never appeared on this subject as high-toned, unselfishly written book so nearly commensurate with the too apparent needs." The Occident says; "There are so many quacks and charlatans that many need just such sensible and practical information as Dr. Sawyer gives. We heartily commend his book." The Rochester Herald says: "It should be in the hands of every person who has trouble of this kind, for it is calculated to point the way to relief as unerringly as a physician who would charge many dollars could do."

Hundreds of thousands of men, young and old, are being bled by charlatans and quacks who prey upon their misfortunes, and what is worse they even sell each other the names and addresses of the unfortunates who, if they new more of themselves, would not be bled by the vampires that are growing rich off of them. This book will tell them all about themselves and what to do, and save them from the clutches of the worst class of heartless pretenders this country has yet produced. A sample chapter will be sent, in plain, sealed envelope, for two cents in stamps, that fully explains and carries an average case from beginning to end and gives the formulae for the prescriptions, only the standard drugs to be found in every drug store being used. The book is $1 (in stamps) by mail postpaid, and it is the hope that there will be sufficient sale to justify continuous advertising that will reach and put this book in the hands of every person needing it in the United States.

PALMA FOR PRESIDENT.

Mr. Rubens Says He Is the Man For the Cubans to Have.

New York, June 18.—Horatio S. Rubens, formerly counsel to to the Cuban junta in this city, who came here a few days ago from Cuba, will return to Cuba this week, to report to the friends of Gen. T. Estrada Palma on the possibility of General Palma's accepting the nomination for the presidency of Cuba. General Palma came down from Central Valley, N. Y., to talk with Mr. Rubens, and although he said that he did not want to run, Mr. Rubens thinks he can be persuaded to accept the nomination. Mr. Rubens said:

"General Palma is not seeking office, but I do not think he will be able to resist the demands of the people of Cuba. They are almost a unit for him. Palma made himself popular with the Cubans by the way he conducted the affairs of the Cuban junta in this city. A genius is not needed as president of Cuba, but an honest man. The only possible opponent of Palma is General Bartholomew Masso, the vice president of the revolutionary provincial government in Cuba. As there is to be trouble about the acceptance of the Platt amendment by the Cubans was well understood there. The election will be held in the Autumn and the inauguration of the president in January."

TOWING COAL TO CUBA.

Practical Test of the Barge Trade to Be Made This Week.

Philadelphia, June 18.—The first attempt to tow coal-laden barges from Philadelphia to the island of Cuba will be made early this week, when the new tug Cuba will leave here for Havana with the barges Matanzas and Cardenas each carrying 3100 tons.

In this new undertaking which, if successfully carried out, will revolutionize the West India trade, unusual interest is aroused throughout shipping circles and practical men are divided in their opinions as to whether or not the attempt will prove profitable. The towing of barges to Cuba, or any other southern port, can not be carried on throughout the winter months or the hurricane season, during August, September and October.

The company that will suffer most should this undertaking prove successful will be the Earn Line Steamship company, which operates steamers between Philadelphia and the West Indies, carrying out coal and returning with cargoes of iron ore.

The Staples Coal company, owners of these barges, is a corporation closely allied with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and it is presumed that the Reading Railway will engage in a similar undertaking, if this attempt proves successful.

SERMON AGAINST DIVORCE

Father and Mother Arraigned as They Sat Beside Child's Coffin.

Kokomo, Ind., June 18.—There was a sensation at a funeral here. The little child of William and Nora Hancock was being buried. The parents are divorced and the child was kept by its grandfather. The minister, Rev. G. E. Walk, took for his text, "When father and mother forsake me my Lord will take me up." The sermon was a caustic arraignment of latterday divorce. The divorced father and mother sat together at the head of the casket, enduriag in silence the minister's arraignment. A brother of Mrs. Hancock could not stand what he declared was an insult to his sister, and he dramatically demanded a retraction of the sermon.

At the open grave Jackson placed his hand on the preacher's shoulder and threatened violence if an apology and retraction were not immediately forthcoming. The minister refused to renounce his words, and had not friends interposed a personal encounter would have followed. Rev. Walk said afterward: "Yes, I preached against divorce and I meant all I said. I am sick and tired of funerals with indiscriminate laudation. I think the truth should be told at funerals as well as elsewhere. I have nothing to take back."

OPERATORS TO STRIKE.

They Want Promotion and the Company Refuses to Grant It.

New York, June 18.—All the telegraphers of the Lackawanna railroad are members of the Telegrapher's union and during the past six months the grievance committee has been engaged in formulating grievances regarding promotions.

It is now alleged that when the committee of five waited upon Superintendent Rine to submit their grievances their resignations were demanded.

When they made this report there was a stir among the operators and a peremptory demand, it is said, was made for the reinstatement of the men.

The demand has not been conceded and the operators, it is said, are now preparing for a general strike over the entire system.

It is stated that Adams' daughter called Jessup by telephone and asked him to come to her home and prevent her father from whipping her. When Jessup arrived at the Adams' house and remonstrated with him, Adams drew a revolver and shot the doctor through the breast. Adams is in jail and Jessup is dying.

Stricken With Scurvy.

New York, June 18.—A dispatch from Philadelphia says that the Transatlantic Line steamship Crown Point, from Philadelphia to London, fell in with the German bark Planet, the decks of which were swarming with scorpions, the captain and crew of which were sick with scurvy, the chief officer dead and the second officer too ill to talk of any part of the navigation of the vessel. This was on May 14. The second officer was put in charge of the stricken bark and worked her into Queenstown harbor on May 28.

Will Not Allow Chinese Soldiers.

Pekin, June 18.—The foreign ministers have declined to assent to the request to allow 3000 Chinese soldiers to come to Pekin now. They consider it would be inevitable to permit such a step to be taken before the latter part of August, by which time the international troops, with the exception of the legation guards, will have left the city. The ministers also declined to permit the international troops to guard the Forbidden City until the Chinese soldiers shall arrive.

DEPEW NOT ENGAGED.

Senator Knows Some Widows and Describes His Ideal of a Wife.

Age is not a bar to matrimony, according to Senator Chauncey M. Depew, but marriage bells are not to ring for him just yet, he says.

"You see," said the senator to a reporter of the New York Journal, "when a young fellow like me goes into society it is sure to start talk. Rumor has said that I was to marry a widow in Europe. I have many acquaintances who are widows and would be willing to wed any one of them, but I do not know that they want me.

"For years my friends have been marrying me off every three months. I got so in the habit that I began marking off wedding dates on my private calendar and felt disappointed if the reporters did not appear on time to ask me who the woman was.

"In some instances her picture has been printed. In each case I have admired the taste of my friends. The only trouble was that it worried the young women mentioned. This time the woman is a widow and is located in Europe. It adds the charm of mystery. You don't know whether she is tall, short, old, young or slender."

"Well, senator," said the reporter, "will you kindly outline the ideal you would like that widow to be?"

"When it comes to selecting a wife," he said, "it is different from picking a winner at a horse race. There is no form book to study. You have to go into the paddock and look them over. But, seriously, in this case, being a public man, she would have first to be handsome. Then she would have to be attractive, for she would have to represent me at the head of my table. I would also want her to be a woman who could win the men I could not reach. Mrs. Logan was such a woman. She did much to make John A. Logan.

"Besides this, I should like to have her be fond of dressing gown and slippers and spend her evenings at home. As to her age, she can be anywhere from 25 to 75. You see, I am liberal as to age. Youth is not always the most necessary requisite in a bride. Matrimony is largely a matter of propinquity. A man sees a woman and says he could be happy if he had her. If he gets her, he usually is. If she rejects him, he does not try again soon, but sits back and reflects.

"You see, Justice Brewer, who was a classmate of mine at Yale, married recently, and it has set all of us single fellows thinking."

BIGGEST DORY YET.

Built For a Writer of Boys' Books to Use as a Cruising Houseboat.

The biggest dory in the world has just been completed at Provincetown, Mass., says the New York Sun. Most people know the dory as a small boat in common use by fishermen all along the Atlantic coast and an uncommonly light, handy and safe boat in any sort of weather.

The big dory is a much more ambitious craft, built on the same lines. It is intended for Colonel Charles Ledyard Norton, veteran of the civil war and author of a number of boys' books. Fishermen who have inspected it say that it could sail all around the world quite safely if the owner thoroughly understood handling it.

It is 45 feet over all, 14 feet beam and 7 feet deep from gunwale to floor. For the rest it has the conventional flaring stem and tombstone, built of good oak, and the bottom of two inch and the siding of inch and a half hard pine planking are fastened to sawed knees of hackmatack. Howard of the department agriculture at Washington and is itled "Mosquitoes—How They Live; w They Carry Disease; How They Classified; How They May Be De- yed." The book is published by Mc- re, Phillips & Co.

r. Howard, as the result of a num- of years' experience in fighting squitoes, has reached a cheerful con- ion. He does not believe that there ny reason why a community should mit to the mosquito plague.

he work of exterminating mosqui- Mr. Howard divides into three s—first, the treatment of breeding es with insecticides; second, the lition of breeding places by drain- and, third, the introduction of nat- enemies into breeding pools which ny reason it may be undesirable to n or to treat with oil.

efore undertaking work against the y stages of mosquitoes in any given hborhood there must be a thorough ey of the immediate surroundings earn with great accuracy all the es in which mosquitoes may breed. ut houses the greatest care must be n to examine every possible spot e still water may gather. In the ounding ground every permanent and every swamp area should be ted and the method of treatment rmined upon. Permanent pools not for watering stock should be ed with kerosene, swamp areas ld be drained, small depressions ld be filled with earth.

troleum has become the standard t for treating mosquito breeding r. In the summer of 1900 W. J. eson got very successful results reating an area of several square s on the north shore of Long Island kerosene combined with certain age work. The army regulations uba provide for the treatment of ling places with kerosene, and the results are reported to be admirable.

The best petroleum for the purpose is found to be a light fuel oil. The lamp burning oil is too volatile to be long effective, the crude oil is too thick. The oil is effective for from ten days to two weeks, when the application must be renewed. The army regulations in Cuba at first required the application of the oil once a month. Subsequently this order was changed to twice a month. The best method of applying it is found to be by simply pouring it upon the water with a watering pot or from a dipper.

As to the method of dealing with mosquito infested houses Mr. Howard says that first of all the house must be thoroughly screened. To kill mosquitoes in a house Fermi and Lumbao recommend chlorine gas. Pour into a dinner plate containing four or five spoonfuls of chloride of lime five or ten cubic centimeters of crude sulphuric acid. This liberates the chlorine gas, which kills the mosquitoes. This plan can be used only in rooms which are not inhabited, or in which the vapors can be permitted to remain for several hours. The burning of pyrethrum powder in a room will also kill mosquitoes, or at least stupefy them. The pyrethrum powder should be moistened and then molded into little cones which are dried in the oven. When one of these cones is ignited at its summit with a match, it will smolder slowly, filling the room with smoke which to most people is not unpleasant. The Chinese use pine or juniper sawdust mixed with a small quantity of brimstone and an ounce of arsenic run into slender bags in a dry state. Each bag is coiled like a snake and tied with a thread. The outer end is lighted. Two coils are said to be sufficient for an ordinary room, and 100 coils sell for 6 cents.

In the case of milldams, ice ponds, ponds for watering stock and other sheets of water where kerosene cannot be used the mosquito may be reached by the introduction of certain of its natural enemies in the way of fishes which will feed upon and destroy mosquito larvæ. Almost all the small carnivorous fish which inhabit swamp pools and still water will feed upon mosquito larvæ. The stickleback is as deadly to the mosquito in its embryonic stage as are also nearly all kinds of top minnows. The common sunfish is another eater of mosquito eggs, and, having a very large mouth and a huge appetite, he does great execution.

A Pastor's Novel Scheme.

Some days ago the Rev. Dr. Harcourt, pastor of the People's church at Reading, Pa., publicly announced that to each child brought to him on June 9 for baptism he would present a dollar, to be placed in bank at compound interest until the child arrived at the age of 21 years. His church was crowded, and to each of 15 children whom he baptized he gave a dollar.

FAMED ENGLISH WRITER

Interesting Career of Sir Walter Besant.

VERSATILE AND MANY SIDED MAN

Well Known Novelist's Dream Is Crystallized In the People's Palace In London's East End—Wonderful Institution Which Is Benefiting the Poor—His Collaboration With Rice.

The late Sir Walter Besant was born at Portsmouth, England, in 1838. He was educated at King's college, London, and Christ's college, Cambridge, where he was graduated with high honors in mathematics. This training tended to fit him for the church, but he abandoned this career and was appointed senior professor in the Royal College of Mauritius. When he was compelled by illness to hand in his resignation, he returned to England, where he had lived ever since.

The author of "All Sorts and Conditions of Men" was more than 30 years making his present literary reputation, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. His first book, which was published in 1868, was called "Studies In Early French Poetry." Sir Walter acted for many years as secretary for the Palestine Exploration fund, in which capacity he wrote, in 1871, the "History of Jerusalem," with the late Professor Palmer, and was editor of the great work entitled "The Survey of Western Palestine." Meanwhile he contributed much to magazines.

In 1871 he formed a partnership with James Rice, and the story of this literary partnership is one of the most interesting in the history of collaboration. It was successful from the first and ended only with the death of Mr. Rice in 1882. Mr. Rice's name originally appeared as one of the authors of "All Sorts and Conditions of Men." He made the business arrangements for the production of the novel, but he was then too feeble to do anything more, and the book is really Sir Walter's in its entirety. He selected the scene and the subject and wrote the story. Through this novel he made a place and a name for himself that are in some respects unique. Dickens in his time used the whole of London as his field; Sir Walter contented himself in the main with but a part of it. That part is a world in itself, but it was practically unknown even to Londoners until this novelist photographed it in a dark and startling manner for the benefit of the world. It is hard for an American to understand what a tremendous place the east end of London is. It is still harder for him to understand how this grewsome quarter, which has a population almost as large as that of Manhattan and Brooklyn combined, should have lain so utterly neglected and unknown as it did until Sir Walter went into the nooks and slums and told the world what he found there and laid bare the abject misery and wretchedness of its inhabitants. It was "All Sorts and Conditions of Men" which prompted the building of the great People's palace, a vast experiment intended to bring the comforts of home and club life within the reach of the poverty stricken masses.

It was not Besant's fault if the experiment was a comparative failure. It is still doing good, but not on the scale which Sir Walter thought possible for it. In this wonderful institution there is a vast hall in which the sculptured forms of the queens of England look down on throngs of 8,000 or 10,000 working men and women, dancing, parading and enjoying themselves in ways far more innocent than they knew before the realization of Sir Walter's idea. And in addition to this there are co-operative schools for boys and girls and clubs where both sexes may learn useful trades and fit themselves to occupy comfortable places in the world.

Sir Walter Besant was a versatile man. Not only his literary work, but his business and his philanthropic relations with the world revealed a many sided character. The books he wrote after the death of Mr. Rice bear little resemblance to the volume on which he made his reputation. "Dorothy Foster, a Tale of the Days of the Pretender," is a historical novel, essentially unlike "All Sorts and Conditions of Men." "The Holy Rose" was a venture in still a new direction. The pictures of England in the old days in Deptford 140 years ago, when the English and the French were always at war, when "Home Fair" was an institution and when the English sailor was a much more interesting personage than he is now, that are given us in "The World Went Very Well Then," are gems based upon Sir Walter's early excursions in books rather than upon his later observation of life itself. Sir Walter had the business of book selling at his fingers' ends. He was the head and front of the Incorporated Society of Authors, who are banded together to protect themselves against the publishers. He was a hard worker and a practical man who believed in getting as much money as he could out of the books which he was writing.

Sir Walter was popular almost everywhere in London. One might find him, perhaps, in a west end drawing room or in an aristocratic club, or one might meet him again in the worst slums about Whitechapel. He was as much at home in one place as the other and seemed to have as many friends in one world as in the other.

Sir Walter's opinion on publishing was that the publishers of current literature, the "mere middlemen," as he called them, should be done away with entirely. The booksellers should publish for themselves.

As a consequence of his versatility Sir Walter Besant has many claims upon the affectionate memory of the reading public. By struggling young writers he will be thought of mainly as the editor of The Author, the sympathetic friend and stanch companion of fair play and generous royalties. By the novel lover he will be remembered mainly as author of "All Sorts and Conditions of Men" and for the books written in conjunction with Mr. Rice rather than for his later stories.

There is still another phase to Besant's work to be spoken of—that part which was the outcome of his great love for London, for its history, its topography, for the meanest and most sordid phases of its slum life, as well as its more pretentious side. It is this enthusiasm for London which has found expression in a series of volumes possessing a charm all their own, a series which began with "London" in 1892, was followed by "Westminster" three years later, then by "South London," 1898, and finally by "East London," his most recent work. It is understood that just prior to his death he was planning still another similar volume upon "West London," which should round out the series. It would not be surprising if these works, based upon a lifelong study of the city he loved and full of inimitable pen pictures of London life in all its phases, should prove to be the part of his literary labors which will be of most lasting interest and value.

Sir Walter was knighted at the queen's jubilee in honor of his literary achievements.

FEEDING ARMY IN LUZON.

Value of Frozen Fresh Beef and Beef Stew.

Commissary General Weston at Washington has just received from Major G. W. Ruthers an interesting report on the conditions governing the subsistence of troops in northern Luzon and the best foods adapted for the soldiers. He says:

"I have extended the supply of frozen beef to every point where I could get transportation for it. On one line it leaves the railroad and goes by bull carts 60 miles into the interior, arriving in first class condition. On another line this beef is carried by bull carts and for a distance of 20 miles over mountains by pack mules. Wherever beef goes 100 pounds of ice for each company is supplied. The troops indorse this frozen beef as the finest beef in the world. The beef stew, with vegetables, is the finest component of the ration ever put in the hands of troops. With the addition of some hard tack, coffee, sugar, salt and baked beans you could cut an army loose from its transportation for some time.

"The standard emergency ration has given very good satisfaction. The use of it alone has enabled the commands to operate during the constant rains and to go through water and mud up to their necks. Experience shows that the American soldier serving in these islands needs the full army ration, including the full allowance of fresh beef. His health cannot be maintained without it. You may have observed that the calls for sauerkraut have been very heavy. I have called for several hundred thousand pounds each quarter. I have not been able to meet the demand. It is an article that is craved and goes quickly. Without abundance of nutritious food the health of the American cannot be maintained in this climate."

LIVED WELL, $1.15 A WEEK.

Experience of a Sociological Student In a Workingman's Home.

J. W. Gossard, the sociological student who lives at the Auditorium annex in Chicago at a cost of $40 a week, spent seven days in the Workingman's home in the Levee at a cost of $1.15. Gossard recently said to a reporter of the New York World:

"When I got in there, I asked the boy in charge, 'May I look into your kitchen?' He said I could. I walked back to as clean a place as any one would want to enter. The odor from the cooking food was appetizing. I asked the cooks to let me see the food. They removed the tops of the kettles. It looked good. I went out and took a place with the rest of the men on a stool in front of the counter. I tried the bean and rice soup, the potatoes, the sauces, the bread and the cereal drink.

"The soups are 1 cent, bread 1 cent, milk 2 cents, coffee 1 cent. I lived well on 7 cents a day for food alone. Lodging was 10 cents a day with breakfast of coffee and rolls included. My bill for the week was: Lodging and breakfast, 10 cents, 70; luncheon, 2 cents, 14; dinner, 3 cents, 21; bath, 10 cents, 10; total, $1.15."

Columns For a New Cathedral.

One of the most interesting architectural features of the new cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York when finished will be its 32 massive granite columns, says Cassell's Magazine. The architects' plan called for such giant columns that it was found necessary to build a special lathe to turn them. The lathe is by far the largest in the world and is a unique piece of machinery. It is 86 feet in length, weighs 135 tons and swings 6 feet 6 inches by 60 feet. It has eight cutters, each taking a three inch cut, so that a column is reduced two feet each time the cutters traverse the entire length of the bed. The corners of the stone are roughly hewn off by hand before it is placed in the lathe. It takes six weeks to dress and polish a column. The final polish is done with the aid of emery and water.

A DOUBLE LYNCHING.

"Prophet" Smith and McLand Were Strung Up to a Tree.

TWO HUNDRED MEN.

Overpowered the Sheriff and Took the Men Out of Jail—One Died Praying, the Other Was Brave to the Very Last.

Shreveport, June 20.—Frank, better known as "Prophet" Smith, and F. D. McLand held at Benton for complicity in the murder of John G. Foster, were taken out Wednesday night and strung up to a tree. They were left dangling side by side. The lynching occurred on the Arkansas road about a mile and a half from the jail. Both negroes made a statement before death denying that they had anything to do with the killing. Smith, who was at the head of the church of God movement in this section and was deemed largely responsible for the sentiment against the whites which led to the death of Foster, died praying. McLand was silent and brave as he was swung up.

As Smith was lying in jail previous to the lynching he was heard to say: "Lord you promised to be with me, be with me now." There were about 200 armed men in the mob and they overpowered the sheriff and jailer, taking the keys away from them. The lynchers claimed that the execution of these negroes was necessary to the preservation of the lives of white men in this locality.

Rioting in Rio Janeiro.

Rio de Janeiro, June 20.—Great indignation and excitement has been aroused here by the charging of an increased fare on the Sao Christova street railroad. Some cars were burned by rioters Monday night and Tuesday some further excitement fomented by the disgruntled elements of the population. The police and cavalry charged at Ouvidor and in the business district and wounded 20. The disturbances continued Wednesday and several persons were injured, but the excitement is abating. There is no political significance in the rioting.

Shooting on Excursion Train.

Troupe, Tex., June 20.—Just after the southbound International and Great Northern train left Overton, an atercation arose among some negro passengers. Several shots were fired and as the smoke cleared away a negro woman Julie Jackson, of Jacksonville, was found to have been shot in the left shoulder and a man whose name or home could not be learned, was shot in the shoulder. When the train pulled into Troupe the man who did the shooting jumped off and ran into the great throng of negroes awaiting the trains arrival and was lost sieht of. Officers are in pursuit.

Married Women Ineligible.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 20.—It is learned from what is regarded as a theroughly reliable source that the public school board has about concluded that no maroied lady teachers will be employed for the schools this year. It has been insisted that married women can not give the required time and thought to their work as the board has a right to expect on account of their necessary domestic duties and that the best interests of the citie's public free schools demand this policy.

Postmaster Resisted.

Hickory, I. T., June 20.—J. E. Moorehead, postmaster of this place, while waiting at the depot for the mail train, to exchange his mail, was attacked by two unknown men who demanded the mail bags. The postmaster resisted and the men fled.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly alway inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—o a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—MRS. R. SHIRER, La Plata, Mo.

S S S is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

WELL PLEASED.

Mr. Van Horne Is Satisfied With the Work Progressing in the Island.

Santiago de Cuba, June 20.—Sir William Van Horne, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railroad company, who has been in Cuba for some time past supervising his railroad interests in the island, sailed for Boston on a fruiter. He said he was greatly pleased with the progress of railroad construction in Cuba. He never seen better results considering conditions, and was well pleased with the Cuban and Spanish labor which was better than anticipated. Sir William expects to complete his road between Santiago and Santa Clara within a year, which will give connection with Havana and all other parts of the island. He is satisfied with the prospect of safe government and thinks the outlook better than ever for his great enterprise.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.

Mr. Clayton Says the South Is Not Afraid to Grapple With It.

New York, June 20.—Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, one of the Democratic leaders of the house and member of the Democratic national committee, is quoted in a Washington special to the Tribune as follows, concerning the general movement in the disfranchisement of the negroes:

"We of the south are not afraid to grapple with this negro question as it should be grappled with. Democratic supremacy has been maintained in the south of negro suffrage: that supremacy will be all the more secure when the blacks are wholly disfranchised as in Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina. As to the reduction of our representation in congress and the electoral college, because of negro disfranchisement, I regard that as political bluster, pure and simple."

"Lucky" Baldwin Sick.

San Francisco, June 20.—E. H. Baldwin, widely known as "Lucky" Baldwin, winner of three American derbies, is in a private hospital very sick. He was taken ill in Seattle when about to embark for Nome, and was compelled to return to San Francisco.

Headed for Mexico.

Austin, June 20.—D. H. Hart, clerk of the United States court, returned from Brownsville, on the Mexican border, and he stated that it is believed there the Mexican is headed for Mexico. Several companies of rangers are searching the border. The people there are highly wrought up over the murder and have threatened to not only lynch the murderer, but all other Mexicans whom they believe are connected with the killing. That part of the country is composed chiefly of Mexicans and serious riots may result.

Posses Have Returned.

Austin, June 20.—The posses from here that have been searching the country for Gregorio Cortez, the Mexican who killed Sheriffs Morris and Glover, have returned as they do not believe he is in this part of the country.

The Verdict Affirmed.

Austin, Tex., June 20.—The case of Henry Randell of Harris county who was given the death penalty from Harris county for the murder of Lulu Davis was affirmed in the court of criminal appeals. The court held that Juror Eiseman was not disqualified because the question of being a property owner was not asked him by the court. The court says it was a cold-blooded murder and the conviction was just and deserves the highest penalty.

Two Bills Passed.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 20.—The house passed finally on special orders two bills supplemental to the rapid transit acts signed by the government recently. These bills were introduced and passed in the senate last week and they now go to the governor for his action. One constituting the governor, secretary of state and attorney general a board to pass on two applications for rapid transit franchises, was attacked by several anti-administration Republicans and Democrats.

Bigamy Proceedings.

New York, June 20.—There is much talk among British lawyers, says The Tribune's London correspondent, respecting procedure of the bigamy case if the preliminary proceedings are followed by a commitment by the magistrate and an indictment by the grand jury. The case may be heard in the house of lords if an appeal is taken from the present court's decision.

A BANKER SUICIDES.

One of Florida's Wealthiest Men Takes His Own Life in Melbourne.

Melbourne, Fla., June 20.—J. H. Phillips, president of the Melbourne State bank of this city, committed suicide late Wednesday afternoon at the Riverside House by cutting his throat with a razor. He was in good spirits when he returned from the bank. His wife left him reading in his room, and when she returned he was not there. After waiting a while the family became alarmed and began a search, Mr. Phillips being found in an unoccupied room on the third floor of the hotel lying across a bed with the razor in his hand.

Mr. Phillips was one of the wealthiest men in this section. The affairs of the bank are said to be in good condition. Mr. Phillips had been suffering to some extent from melancholia recently and it is supposed took his life during a moment of temporary insanity.

G. Van Ginkel Killed.

Dallas, June 20.—Garrett Van Ginkel was killed Wednesday night by one of the cars of the Dallas Electric Railroad system which he sold about a week ago to parties in Cleveland, O. The fatal accident followed a delightful evening spent with his family and friends at Exall's lake. The car which was to carry the merry party home brought instead the mangled form of Mr. Van Ginkel, the horrified and grief stricken wife and children and friends. Garrett Van Ginkel was born in Holland in 1845 and came to this country with his parents at an early age, landing at New Orleans and locating at Pello, Ia., a Hollander colony in Marion county.

Tried to Kill Both.

Cincinnati, June 20.—William C. Mott, a carriage maker, found John Clancy, a porter of the Great Western hotel, in a room at the hotel with Mrs. Mott and opened fire on them. Both were wounded, Mrs. Mott in the head and Clancy in the neck. They were taken to a hospital where Clancy's wound was pronounced fatal, while Mrs. Mott's wound is not considered dangerous. Mott was arrested and frankly stated that he tried to kill both Clancy and Mrs. Mott. He said he was nearly crazed over their actions in spite of his remonstrances and he determined to kill them both.

Gonzales Watching.

Gonzales, Tex., June 20.—There was great rejoicing here when a dispatch came from Deputy United Marshall Will Hanson stating that one of the slayers of Sheriff Glover had been captured and one killed. Officers are hot on the trail of Cortez. The scene has sifted to the border, but every detail and movement of the posses is watched with eager interest by the people of Gonzales. John W. Glover of Colorado, Tex., an uncle of Sheriff Glover, has offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the slayers of Sheriff Glover.

Smallpox Not Abating.

Austin, June 20.—State Health Officer Blunt continues to urge counties to take care of smallpox, which is holding its own in Texas. It cannot be said to be on the increase, but there are the usual number of cases for this season of the year. Counties have abolished pest camps and commissioners' courts in a number of counties refuse to make appropriations to stamp out the pest. In this way the mild form is propagated and it will be virulent in another season or two.

He Killed Both.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 20.—Henry Moore, a fireman in the shops of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, shot and killed his wife and H. H. Russell in a wine room in this city. The husband suspected the wife and watched her. He traced her to a saloon and there found her with Russell. He beat them frightfully with the butt end of his pistol, after which he began shooting. His wife was dead when found and Russell died in a short time. Moore was arrested.

Negro Caught With Hounds.

Marshall, Tex., June 20.—The negro who knocked out the brains of Lum Marshall, another negro, with a sledge-hammer was captured near Elysian Fields by Deputy Sheriff Ridley Saunders and Policeman Early Aiken with dogs. He was chased about four miles and climbed a tree, but fell out and was severely bitten by the dogs, which belong at the Rusk penitentiary.

Fish Are Dying.

Wharton, June 20.—The alarming condition of Caney Creek due to the continued drouth has set on foot a movement to either fill up or drain the ponds where water stands. Fish by the hundreds are dying in the stagnant water, some of them more than a foot in length and the decaying bodies are beginning to tell on the atmosphere.

A Few Bouquets.

The Dublin Progress has entered upon its fourteenth year. Bro. Daley has given his patrons a good paper and promises to improve as fast as the patronage warrants.—Glen Rose Herald.

The Dublin Progress passed into volume fourteen with its last week's issue. Since the date of its founding, in 1888, it has been under the management of the same strong and steady hand, and each year it has progressed in value and worth. Mr. Daley is to be congratulated upon the success he has won in his field.—Stephenville Tribune.

The Dublin Progress has completed its thirteenth volume, with a better advertising patronage than ever. The Progress is published more on the plan of the Messenger than any paper that comes to this office, and of course is par excellent. Any paper so published on strictly business principles, giving the news only, dignifiedly, without comment, fear or favor, and with a keen perception as to what is news and what is not, is sure to get plenty of subscribers, and naturally plenty of advertising. Misfits in newspapers are financial failures and imposition on the public and fraternity. Good newspapers never fail of success. The Progress succeeds.—Whitney Messenger.

The Dublin Progress is thirteen years old. Well does the editor of the Exponent remember the first issue of the progress. It was printed on a seven-column Army press, with a few pounds of old "bottled" type, by two boys, Jim Daley and Hub Bailey. But every year since then the Progress, under the management of one of its founders, Editor Daley, has added new equipment and gained prestige until it is one of the leading newspapers in west Texas. The Progress has had a hard road to travel, a road strewn with all manner of obstacles, but Daley has kept pulling until he has attained success.—Exponent.

A sour-visaged, middle-aged fussy lady got on one of the smoking seats on an open car in the subway. Next to her sat a man who was smoking a cigar. More than that, the lady, sniffing, made out the man had been eating onions. Still more than that, she had the strongest kind of suspicions that he had been drinking beer. The lady fussed and wiggled, and grew angrier, and looked at the man scornfully. Presently she could endure it no longer. She looked squarely at him and said: "If you were my husband, sir, I'd give you a dose of poison." The man looked at her. "If I were your husband," said he, "I'd take it."

A novel suit for damages against the Fort Worth & Rio Grande railroad was tried in the court here recently. Rev. Bergamer recently boarded the train at Fort Worth bound for Granbury. He was not well and was taking medicine. Before the train got out of the city, he had occasion to enter the closet but found it locked. He told the conductor when taking up his ticket that he could not get into the closet. He repeated the request later, and the closet was finally opened when the train had got twelve miles out, but by this time it was too late to accommodate Rev. Bergamer. He filed suit for $100 damages in Justice Formwalt's court, and got judgement for the full amount. The case was appealed to the county court, and Judge Jackson gave Bergamer judgement for the same amount as sued for in the lower court.—Granbury Democrat, April 24th.
