PICKET SIEGE IS DEFIED

Police Start Over Again In Search

Scion Of Wealthy Family Is Still Being Held But Is Too Drunk To Face Probe

(By The Associated Press)

INGLEWOOD, Cal., July 2—Baffled officials, having traversed a maze of blind alleys in their search for the fiendish slayer of three little girls, started all over again today.

With the exception of one person, scion of a wealthy New York and Los Angeles family, all suspects have been eliminated from consideration.

Acquainted With Slayer

The theory guiding sleuths in their new tack is that Madeline Everett, 7, her sister, Melba, 9, and Jeanette Stephens, 8, were slain last Saturday by some one with whom they were acquainted, not by a stranger.

Thus the will-'o-the wisp known as "Eddie the sailor," for whom police have been searching since the beaten and garroted bodies of the children were found in a Baldwin hills ravine last Monday, lost importance.

District Attorney Buron Fitts said that the possibility the killer was well-known to the three girls is based on the belief that they would have been reluctant to accompany a comparative stranger into the hills, but would have gone unhesitatingly with a person whom they knew and trusted.

Sent Back To Hospital

The only remaining suspect of the first phase of the roundup, the wealthy, 33-year-old man, was removed last night from an Inglewood hospital to the city hall, then sent back again to the hospital when authorities judged him still too intoxicated to submit to questioning.

Officials want him to explain his whereabouts over the week-end.

Police heard with interest the story of Mrs. Aileen Brannon, widow who reported a strange conversation she had with a man on a street car last Sunday.

Mrs. Brannon said the man tried to conceal spots of dried blood on his trousers and acted extremely nervous and "jumpy."

Inquests into the deaths of the children are scheduled for today.

A sensational, but meaningless development occurred last night when Roy Harmon, 57, park worker who had been quizzed in connection with the murders, hanged himself. Officials said he had proved he had nothing to do with the crimes.

Amelia Blazes A New Trail

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Amelia Earhart blazed a new air trail over the South Pacific today in a hazardous 2,970-mile flight from Lae, New Guinea, to tiny Howland island.

She started the longest jump of her leisurely round-the-world flight at 10 a. m. today, Lae time (4 p. m. yesterday Pacific Standard Time) and was expected to complete it in about 18 or 20 hours.

The first radio message received early today by coast guard headquarters here, where George Palmer Putnam is listening in on his wife's flight, was undecipherable. Putnam said he "assumed" the flight was proceeding normally.

Putnam said he was not alarmed at failure to obtain reports as radio conditions were unfavorable in the Howland area.

The coast guard cutter Itasca, stationed at Howland, reported:

"Have not heard Earhart signals this time (4:46 a. m., PST). See no cause for concern as plane still 1,000 miles away. Have three operators on duty and will notify you at once moment plane is contacted."

He's been a bicycle trailerite for a year and a half.

Invasion By Russia Is Charged By Japanese

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, July 2.—Official Japan charged a new invasion of Manchoukuoan territory by Russian planes and gunboats today, insisted it had no "armed forces" on disputed Amur river islands and put the question of future location of Japanese troops in the border trouble area up to "the supreme army command."

Anxiety mounted for a missing Manchoukuoan steamer in the danger zone.

Question Does Not Exist

Army officials said "the question of evacuation of the islands as raised by the Soviet government does not exist"—that only "peaceful fishermen, lighthouse and beaconkeepers now occupy" the disputed sandspits, which the Japanese say belong to Manchoukuo.

Dispatches from Hsinking, capital of the Japanese-inspired state of Manchoukuo, said three Soviet planes flew low over Sennufu island yesterday and disappeared in an unknown direction.

Simultaneously, the dispatches stated, five Soviet gunboats moved into Manchoukuoan waters near the scene of a dramatic clash between Soviet vessels and Japanese forces on Wednesday.

Discuss Forceful Means

Japanese-Manchoukuoan authorities, determined to protect navigation in the Amur river, northeastern boundary of Siberia and Manchoukuo, discussed forceful means to cope with the situation. They will escort steamers by gunboat if necessary.

Anxiety was expressed for the safety of the Manchoukuoan steamer Heingkai, which sailed from Hulin on the Ussuri river toward the Amur on the day of the clash between Soviet gunboats and Japanese-Manchoukuoan forces. The vessel arrived at the junction of the two rivers that evening but had not since been reported.

Peace Is Sought

Japanese officials repeated that all Japan and Manchoukuo wants is for Soviet Russia to withdraw forces from the Amur river islands and if this is done, "Japan and Manchoukuo are ready to adopt a conciliatory" attitude in the interests of peace.

Soviet Russia proposed to with-

Strange Story Is Revealed

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, July 2.—The New Deal's social security legislation exposed the true story of "Red" Davis and how the St. Louis Cardinal baseball system ignorantly took an unwanted rookie w' is outshining the man the Cards wanted.

President Fred Ankenman of the Cards' Texas league club at Houston, by the aid of a social security card, uncovered the "Red" Davis story which had been a secret of no more than three persons about two years.

Contract Is Offered

It has to do with "Red's" acquisition by the Cardinal system. A couple of years ago, Scout Charley Kelchner, veteran of the Card staff, saw Robert Davis, a little red-headed infielder, in action in amateur baseball, and sent him a contract.

When the contract arrived, Robert had a good job. He conferred with his mother and decided to turn down the offer.

Then John H. Davis, Robert's kid brother, stepped into the picture. He also is a little red-headed infielder.

He didn't have a job. So he took the contract, signed it "Robert Davis" and reported to the Cardinal system.

Last year he made good in class D company, and this year was promoted to the Columbus club of the American association. When the eHouston defense collapsed, he was sent to the rescue of the herd and got away to a great start.

That is the "Red" Davis who is with the Buffs now. His name is John instead of Robert. It finally was discovered through a social security card which was forwarded here from Columbus, bearing the name of "John H. (Robert) Davis," and a request that Ankenman discover just what name the youngster

No Rioting Is Noted Today At Opening

Pickets Boo And Jeer But Are Kept Away From Republic's Plant By Armed Soldiers

(By The Associated Press)

MASSILLON, O., July 2—Republic Steel Corp. defied a CIO picket siege and reopened another strike-locked plant today. There was no violence.

Gates of the concern's central steel division swung open, under protection of steel-helmeted national guardsmen, for the first time since the strike started May 27.

Non-strikers, in about 115 automobiles, quietly drove inside.

Pickets Kept Away

About 300 pickets booed and jeered but were kept away from the plant by the troops.

The reopening left Cleveland the only city where Republic's sprawling mills are closed completely. Reopening of the four Cleveland units is expected next week.

Only a few hours before the concern's newest "back-to-work" move, the home of a non-striking employe was dynamited at nearby Canton. The blast ripped the rear porch off the home of Matt Pericsh, but injured none.

Warning Is Ignored

Republic ignored a CIO picket captain's bristling defi:

"If they try to open this plant, they are in for a damned bloody fight."

Five hundred troops moved in to forestall such an eventuality.

The back-to-work movement was under way all along the five-weeks-old strike front—from Johnstown, Pa., with its recent history of martial law, dynamiting and aroused citizenry, through the Ohio mill cities of the Mahoning valley, and up to the western terminus of the Indiana-Illinois Calumet area.

But the strike, with its record of 13 dead, 250 injured and $30,000,000 cost, still was on.

Hearing Is Scheduled

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood at Columbus has set next Tuesday as the date for hearing the union's appeal for a temporary restraining order against the troops.

Company officials said today that plants in the Youngstown area, normally employing 30,000 men, are "within 1,000 men of normal."

This "back to work movement"—the union insists the companies' estimates are "exaggerated"—has been accomplished without any change in their attitude toward the union. Even Inland Steel, which opened yesterday after CIO leaders had agreed to accept the company's labor policy, insists that the resumption of operations was accomplished without "signing anything with anybody."

The attitude of Inland Steel and of the three corporations involved—Republic, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube—has been that they would sign no bargaining contract with the John L. Lewis union. It was upon that issue that the strike was called.

Companies Are Blamed

The report of President Roosevelt's strike negotiation board, made public at Washington by Secretary of Labor Perkins, put the blame for that board's failure to effect a settlement on the steel companies.

Secretary Perkins defended the leadership of CIO, headed by John L. Lewis, and thought it was a responsible union. In this she disagrees with Tom Girdler, the outspoken chairman of Republic Steel, who calls CIO "utterly irresponsible."

The secretary said she thought the opposing groups would meet "sometime" and that "when they do,

More Than 70 Spies Reported As Captured In Russia

MOSCOW, July 2. (AP)—Leonid Zakovsky, chief of the Leningrad secret police, announced today the arrest and "liquidation" of more than 70 persons who allegedly acted as counter-revolutionary spies and "diversionists" for the Estonian intelligence service.

The alleged leader of the band, whom Zakovsky identified only as "K," was said to have been killed by a Soviet secret agent near the frontier when he resisted arrest.

Unarmed Sheriff Warns Mob To Leave Prisoner Alone

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, July 2.—Henderson county officials said today it appeared certain there would be no further trouble in the case of a young negro who was threatened with lynching after a white woman was beaten and an attempt made to criminally attack her.

Late last night a crowd of about 100 men swarmed into the county jail here, declaring they were bent upon killing the 16-year-old negro. Sheriff Jess Sweeten, unarmed, faced them and warned them he "would get rough" if they tried to take the prisoner.

The crowd dispersed but some mutterings they would "come back" were heard. The sheriff, however, said he expected no further attempts at violence.

All was quiet at the jail early today.

The suspect, Sweeten said, admitted he beat and attempted to attack the 25-year old woman.

Sweeten and his deputies summoned highway patrolmen from Dallas and Tyler early today after the crowd was dispersed.

The negro was arrested yesterday.

Late last night the mob swarmed into the jail lobby, disarmed Deputy Sheriff Aubrey Corley. Sheriff Sweeten, without his pistol, faced the crowd and told it he would "get rough" if they tried to take the prisoner.

Earlier in the day the negro was taken to Tyler when a small crowd rushed at him as he was arrested. Sweeten brought him back to Henderson county. Charges, he said, would be filed today.

Regular Air Passenger Service Over Atlantic Planned; Experimental Flight Is Scheduled

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Climaxing four years study and surveys, Pan-American Airways prepared a flying boat today for an "experimental" schedule flight to London as the forerunner to a regular passenger service across the Atlantic.

When the service becomes a reality, United States airliners will be in operation around approximately 16,000 miles of the globe's 25,000-mile girth.

The flight will start tomorrow morning from Port Washington, Long Island, simultaneously with the beginning of a westward trip from London by a British flying boat of Imperial Airways. Both companies are making the experimental flights under joint operation to obtain a maximum of data on radio, weather, and navigation conditions.

The American ship will fly 1,072 miles direct to Botwood Harbor, Newfoundland, where the British government has authorized the construction of a $3,500,000 air base. It will remain there over Sunday, then cover 1,995 miles to alight on the river Shannon at Foynes, county Limerick, Irish Free State. There it will lay over at least another day before continuing on the 351 miles to Southampton, the seaplane ase for the port of London.

In command of the Pan-American clipper, a four-engined Sikorsky, is Captain Harold E. Gray, one of the five transport pilots in the world to hold the rating "master of ocean flying boats."

Neither passengers nor mail will be carried by either ship.

The route to be followed may not be the course followed when regular passenger service begins. Three other trans-Atlantic routes, two of which touch Bermuda and the Azores, are known to be under consideration.

Defendants In Case Victors

Sheriff Tom Abel and other Lubbock, as well as Littlefield, persons had returned this morning from Childress, where the damage action of R. E. Ballard had been decided for defendants Thursday.

Named were 11 defendants, including J. C. Penney company, Jack Parsons, W. A. Sylvester, Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, Lloyd Dry Goods store, Sheriff Abel, Baxter Honey, all of Lubbock, and Sam Hutson and Morfis Morgan, both of Littlefield.

False Arrest Charged

False arrest and imprisonment on charges of forgery and passing were set out as cause of action before Judge A. S. Moss and a 100th judicial district jury.

The jury received the case on two special issues: Whether Lamb officials had served a warrant when they arrested Ballard in Oklahoma before transferring him to Littlefield, where he was taken into custody by Honey and brought here for grand jury investigation that resulted in two bills of indictment here; and whether Ballard was legally brought into Texas. The answer was "yes" in each instance.

The cases here were dismissed for want of sufficient evidence.

Sheriff Abel said the poultry and egg company was stricken from the list of defendants Monday and the others, save for Hutson and Morgan, Thursday morning.

Among the state witnesses were Jack and Stelman Miller, who are under indictment in connection with the girl's death.

Social Leader Thug Victim

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 2 — A quartet of jewel thieves invaded fashionable Beekman Place early today and at gunpoint stripped a society matron of jewelry valued at $100,000.

The robbery occurred only a few doors from the apartment house where Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, victim of last year's sensational bath tub murder, was strangled.

Mrs. Josephine Ogden Forrestal, socially prominent victim of Manhattan's latest jewel robbery, told police the bandits took two platinum bracelets set with diamonds, and two platinum rings.

They did not take anything from her escort, Richard B. W. Hall, a broker, overlooking $700 he had in his pocket.

As Mrs. Forrestal and Hall arrived at the entrance of her apartment in Hall's chauffeured limousine, and alighted, the bandit car drove up, they related. Before Frederick Tucker, the chauffeur, could open the car door for Mrs. Forrestal, one of the robbers stuck a gun against his side saying:

"What's your hurry, buddy?"

Another bandit climbed into the car and pulled the bracelets from Mrs. Forrestal's arms and the rings from her fingers. The other two robbers stood on the opposite side of the car.

The robbery lasted only a few seconds.

More than 15 were injured, one of whom is feared dying.

Fire Chief L. T. Lessinger said children playing with fireworks in the shop touched off the spark that caused the tragedy.

Of the injured, Miss Marie George is in the most serious condition, and hospital attendants said she is "sinking fast."

Several of the other victims suffered broken arms and legs in addition to powder burns when they were forced to leap from rear windows of the mezzanine beauty shop.

Nation Called The Germany Of America

Mexican Leader Says U. S. Has Supported Internal Turmoil For Years In His Country

(By The Associated Press)

WARSAW, Poland, July 2. — Alexandro Carrillo, Mexican delegate to the international federation of trade unions congress, charged today that the United States for 25 years has "supported internal turmoil in Mexico to further its own selfish and imperialistic aims."

"The United States are the Germany of the American continent," he said.

Action Is Urged

Carrillo's attack came after the executive committee had adopted a resolution expressing solidarity with "Democratic Spain" and urging all members of the League of Nations to take immediate action in order to save world peace.

Carrillo urged European countries to defend the Spanish republic, adding:

"Through twenty-five years of fighting against United States imperialism Mexico knows the meaning of civil war incited by a foreign country."

Robinson Bill Under Fire

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2 — Opponents of the Roosevelt court bill used the substitute proposed today by Senator Robinson (D-Ark) as an argument for sidetracking the entire issue.

They contended the new measure should be referred to the judiciary committee which studied the original bill but did not investigate alternate proposals.

The foes expressed confidence the committee would bury the Robinson bill, at least for the remainder of this session.

Test Next Week

The test will come next week when Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, moves that his bill be debated instead of the Roosevelt measure.

Robinson suggested appointment of new justices to the court at the rate of one a year, if members over 75 do not retire. Any increase would be temporary, with a return to the present size as the older justices retired or died.

The original Roosevelt bill calls for immediate appointment of a new justice for each incumbent over 70. The court would remain at the increased size.

Convicts Find Tough Going

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Bruce W. Bryant, chairman of the new and powerful state pardon board, believes the number of Texans leaving prison on clemencies under the constitutional amendment adopted a few months ago will be less than under the old system of mercy grants by the governor.

The state's prison population, around 5,000 a few years ago, now has swelled to approximately 6,300 and Bryant said he saw little chance of a steady decline.

Based On Merit

"It is not that we intend to be harsh," the gray-haired clemency head explained, "but that our pardons will be based entirely on merit and we always will keep in mind that punishment should be sufficient to deter crime.

"Without intending to criticise any particular governor, the fact remains that many clemencies in the past were granted because of political pull or family contacts. With the pardon board appointive and each of its members selected by a different agency, there is no possibility of political influence.

"We will endeavor to reduce to a minimum the releasing of convicts who should serve their full terms. But we hope to free a larger number of meritorious prisoners than was done under the former system."

Bryant stated relatives and friends of individual convicts were the worst enemies of prisoners in general because they consumed so much of the board's time with repeated appearances in behalf of the men in whom they were interested.

Practice Discontinued

"We could pass on three or four clemencies," he said, "while we are arguing with someone who wants his relative's case considered out of its regular order."

The board has discontinued the practice of granting furloughs and extensions with the time out of prison being counted on the man's term. It still gives furloughs in emergencies but the convict loses his time."

"Under the old system," Bryant said, "a man sometimes got a furlough after one or two months in the penitentiary or possibly before he even reached Huntsville. Then he received two or three extensions and finally a parol without ever having returned. Such a practice did not act as a crime deterrent."

The board is docketing convicts in the order in which they were sent to prison so that those who have served the longest percentage of their sentences may receive first consideration. The first man in the docket is prisoner No. 29,849. The number of the latest convict received at Huntsville is above 35,000.

Fever Appears Over Texas

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Dread Rocky mountain fever, given to man by the bite of a tick, sometimes with fatal results, has appeared in Southeast Texas, thus presenting a scientific puzzle.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said today two cases, one of them fatal, had been diagnosed by Dr. R. R. Spencer, a fever expert of the U. S. public health service, at the Cleveland community in Liberty county.

The disease has been the target of scientific warfare in Montana, Wyoming and surrounding states and in recent years appeared along the Atlantic seaboard.

Situation Is Surveyed

State officials were at a loss to assign the source of the Texas outbreak and sent two inspectors to Liberty county to survey the tick situation. There was no evidence of whether the disease came from the eastern or western area, health officials said.

"Although not many wood and dog ticks are infected with the fever, the disease is serious enough to warrant precaution," Dr. Cox said.

Explaining that a person bitten by an infected tick will develop the fever within two to 12 days, the health officer said the best protection was a vaccine manufactured in limited quantities by the health service.

"Two or three inoculations of the vaccine give a degree of protection usually sufficient to last through one tick season, but the immunity apparently is not permanent," he said.

Aside from vaccination, Dr. Cox advised avoidance of ticks as nearly as possible.

A parachute opens from the top down; its skirts are the last to open.

Princess Resists Cousinly Embrace

Later on she may appreciate such chivalrous gestures, but the efforts of her young cousin, Count Folke Bernadotte, to place a protective arm about her when they arrived in London moved 3-year-old Princess Margaretha of Sweden to stage a battle royal to evade him. She is the daughter of Princess Sibylla and Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden's royal family.

Soil Conservation Plans Being Made

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Soil and water conservationists moved today to educate Texas farmers to the benefits of land saving methods and eventually bring about passage of a soil conservation act.

They organized temporarily the Texas Soil Conservation association and laid plans for a meeting in about two months, probably in Austin or Waco, for organizing permanently.

Temporary officers were V. O. Marshall of Heidenheimer, chairman; Tom Hefner of Crystal Falls, vice-chairman, and J. C. Peacock of Palestine, secretary.

Directors, whose duties will be encouraging regional interest in the association, were named as follows: Marshall, E. H. Grimes of White Deer, G. Y. Lee of Eden, Miller Harwood of Taft, and John T. Smithers of Hunteville.

Peacock said primary objective of the group was educating farmers to participate in a large-scale plan when and if it was authorized by the legislature.

Danger From Prussic Acid Is Not Worrying Farmers

South Plains farmers do not worry much over danger from prussic acid in new Johnson grass and suckers in the summer, said agronomists in reply to questions as to danger of livestock eating the young grass. Reports from around the Wichita Falls area indicate there is trouble there and some deaths.

Similar conditions exist in grain sorghums in the fall, at killing frost times, but most farmers are aware of this condition and take care to watch stock closely.

The condition frequently arises from a lack of water in plant cells, at certain critical periods, it is presumed.

There is not a heavy infestation of Johnson grass over the South Plains, it was pointed out.

PROGRAM ADOPTED

GALVESTON, July 2. (AP)—A far-reaching program, headed by plans to install courses in wildlife conservation and management in Texas A. and M. college and other institutions of higher learning has been adopted by the directors of the Texas Wildlife Federation, according to Henry W. Pratt, local attorney and president of the organization.

It took a gallon can to carry to the bank the 4,328 pennies Mrs. Howard Hunsaker of Fairfax, Ohio, saved in eight years.

Two Officers Not So Hot With Lions

TULSA, July 2. (AP)—As Lion hunters Sergt. Lloyd Miller and Officer Ike Fisher didn't do so well today.

They were dispatched to a building where three trained lions had escaped from a cage and were roaming through the place.

Miller went through a wire covered gate and a tawny body came racing.

"It's a cougar!" yelled Fisher, who was reared in the Osage hills.

They beat a retreat and shut the gate. Miller thought he should go for help. "No, you're sergeant and I'm just a private. I'll go for help," said Fisher.

The three lions were roaring and jumping against the gate and things looked bad when Frank Vanderwall, who has the beasts to exhibit at fairs, came along and herded them quickly into a cage—with the help of a long pole and a wire.

Then he put his hands in the lions' mouths to show how tame they were.

Scholastics In County Hiked

Increase of 274 scholastics, approximately 3 per cent, within the last year, is shown in the recently completed school census for Lubbock county, according to announcement late Thursday of Joseph R. Griggs, county school superintendent. Scholastics are children 6 to 17 years of age, inclusive.

The scholastics, after checking the census taken in March, number 9,819 this year as compared with 9,545 last year. Of the school districts which showed increases were Cooper, Frenship, New Deal, Roosevelt, Idalou, Slaton, and Lubbock. Showing decreases were Shallowater, Posey and Estacado.

Figures Are Given

Comparative figures for the district as given by the county superintendent's office are:

District	1936	1937
Cooper	385	401
Frenship	449	485
New Deal	614	619
Roosevelt	424	438
Shallowater	290	272
Idalou	626	654
Posey	115	109
Estacado	134	149
Slaton	1178	1195
Lubbock	5810	5707
Totals	9,545	9,819

Although the totals for the county probably will not be altered, figures for the districts may vary after transfers are made, said Griggs. Applications for transfers are made in July, it was pointed out.

Total 5,714 In City

According to figures obtained from the office of A. C. Jackson, manager of schools of the Lubbock Independent School district, the scholastic census for the district aggregated 5,714 for this year as compared with 5,603 for last year. Of this year's number 321 were negroes, showing an increase of 45 over the 1936 census of 276.

A slight decrease was shown in the number of handicapped scholastics this year. This year 36 were reported as having one or more of the following defects: blindness, partial blindness, deafness, partial deafness, speech defects, feeble mindedness, and crippled limbs. Last year's number was 26.

More 11-Year-Olds

For the district, 516 eleven-year-old children were reported to lead the ages. Last year's largest group was 15-year-olds with a total of 501. Smallest this year was the group of 6-year-olds, numbering 424. Four hundred eleven-year-olds last year was the smallest of the groups.

Thirty-four 13-year-old negroes led this year's number for that race. Thirty-two 14-year-old negroes led last year's census. Those negro groups 16 years old this year and 17 last were smallest with 16 and 4 numbered, respectively.

The totals for the Lubbock district, according to ages:

Age	1936	1937
Six	452	424
Seven	494	488
Eight	486	479
Nine	461	497
Ten	490	468
Eleven	440	516
Twelve	474	458
Thirteen	450	488
Fourteen	494	449
Fifteen	501	508
Sixteen	473	488
Seventeen	438	485
Totals	5,603	5,714

This year's total scholastic census for the Lubbock district is the largest since 1933 when the aggregate was 5,794.

Increased Interest Is Being Shown In Electrification

LOCKNEY, July 2 (Special) — Recalling a letter from the Rural Electrification Department of Washington through Texas REA Engineer Wm. G. Morrison of Waco indicating that new allotments would be made for Texas about the first of July for rural electrification projects, committeemen of the Floyd county project have taken increased interest.

Floyd county appears to be a promising place for this rural electrification campaign to be successfully carried out, say officials. The rural electrification committee here consists of A. K. Kreiss, G. W. DeCordova and Ed Whitfill. The committee is at work. Electrical accommodations in rural homes will prove a boon to rural citizens of Floyd county, it was said.

Wheat Harvest Peak Swings To North

Peak of the wheat harvest is swinging toward northern part of the South Plains, according to report of railroad officials here late Thursday.

The greater portion of Crosby wheat has been harvested, it is estimated. Around 1,000 cars have been shipped out of the county and another 300 or 400 cars probably are being held by farmers for higher prices. The crop, it is estimated now, will exceed 2,000,000 bushels.

May Touch 5,000,000

Floyd county, it is predicted, will exceed 4,500,000 a t may touch 5,000,000 bushels.

A report says the Quanah, Acme and Pacific has moved around 1,000 cars from Floyd da east. This includes Daugherty, east of Floydada.

Up to last Thursday Floyd county, the Lockney Beacon reported had moved 1,100 cars of wheat.

Rust Has Cut Yield

Wheat is now moving out of Dimmitt, Hart, Edmondson and other F. W. D. C. points northwest of Plainview. Heavy black rust damage has probably cut the expected production of that section by 500 cars, E. C. Kuykendall, general agent, reports.

The railroad is using three extra train crews on its South Plains line, to handle wheat, making six full crews in all.

Santa Fe has 15 extra crews in service, Charles Taylor, chief clerk to Division Superintendent J. R. Skillen, Slaton, said. The road has plenty of cars and has been able to handle promptly all movements.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

All Square Now

OKLAHOMA CITY — Sissy and Sap, the zoo's whitetail deer, had a baby every year since 1929, but missed last year. Now Sissy has given birth to twin fawns.

"Guess she tried to make up for 1936," Superintendent Leo Blondin said.

Lucky Faint

MANKATO, Kas. — Because he fainted too soon to turn off a water faucet, Dr. J. W. Yankey is recovering from burns suffered when he mistook acid for cod liver oil.

Dr. Yankey gulped water as soon as he discovered his mistake but he collapsed and water dripping through the floor attracted his family's attention.

Costly Weakness

LOS ANGELES — But for a human weakness, Glen Shafer, 28, might be free. Police Sergeant R. A. Wingaard said he found Shafer finishing up a pumpkin pie when he entered the store on a citizen's tip.

Shafer was booked on suspicion of burglary.

"I could have been long gone," he moaned. "If I hadn't happened to see that darned pie."

Second Offense Unlikely

WEST CHESTER, Pa.—A court examiner asked Andrew Lasack of Coatesville, applicant for citizenship, the routine question:

"Have you ever been arrested for any crime?"

Lasack reflected, replied: "In 1917 I was arrested for speeding in a horse and buggy and was fined $80."

The court directed that Lasack's application be accepted.

Getting To Be Sore Spot

MACON, Ga.—Fred Rawlings is convinced his right leg is the Jonah unit of his anatomy.

Ten years ago the leg was broken in an automobile accident and after that he used a crutch. Last year it was fractured again in another auto crash and a few months later he fell downstairs and injured the luckless limb once more.

Sunday he was in another auto wreck near Jacksonville, Fla. Result: Broken right leg.

The United States produces an average of 2,760,000,000 bushels of corn annually.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Giants And Cubs Are Stealing Stuff Of Cardinal Gas House Gang

SPORTS NEWS

LUBBOCK JOURNAL

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1937

Five Games In Row Dropped By St. Louis

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The gas house gangsters are still rough, tough and nasty, but they're learning fast and from experts that they'll need lots more than an ability to dish it out in order to string along in the current National league dog fight.

In their last two series, against the Giants and Cubs, they haven't even been lukewarm. As a result, today they're creaking along in a third place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates, while the Cubs and Giants are racing 3 1-2 and three games, respectively, in front of them.

Drop Five In Row

Tangling with these two troupes in their last six starts, the Cards have dropped five in a row—two to the Giants and three straight to the Cubs. And losing those two series meant as much to them as their pay checks, particularly at this time when the jockeying for Fourth of July positions is going on full blast.

The "big three" pitching troop of Dean, Bob Weiland and Lon Warneke folded up like a collapsible canoe in that six-game stretch. Although they've kept on hitting their defenses have been as full of holes as a bag of doughnuts.

Yesterday, Frankie Frisch sent Jim Winford to the wars and the Cubs pinned his ears back 6-3, after Frisch and Shortstop Lippy Leo Durocher were banned for rowing with the umpire. Ripper Collins' homer with two aboard was the payoff wallop.

Giants Wallop Phillies

The Cubs had to win to stay out in front, for the Giants, as anxious as a mother hen in their drive to hit the top by the July 4 deadline, knocked over the Phillies 8-6 on Wally Berger's pinchhomer, with two on base and two away in the ninth, to remain a half game off the pace.

Although they won a 13-7 burlesque from the Athletics, the Yankees were a sorry set. Twinkletoes Selkirk, their slugging outfielder, fell in making a circus catch and suffered an injury to his right shoulder that will keep him on the shelf several days.

Brooklyn's Dodgers finally ended their scoreless streak at 36 and the Boston Bees turned in a 4-1 victory behind Johnny Lanning's three hit flinging, for their sixth win in a row.

The White Sox climbed all over Detroit pitching and came through with a 15-8 victory. The Senators made it two in a row over the Boston Red Sox with a 3-2 decision behind Jimmy Deshong's nine-hitter.

The Pirates and Reds were not scheduled. Wet grounds kept the Browns and Indians out of action.

Firing Gets Heavy In Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

The firing was pretty heavy all along the Texas league front last night, seeming to emphasize the fact no leader of the circuit this season has been able to run up a good lead and hold it.

Oklahoma City was still up there in the No. 1 spot, five and a half games to the good. But its third straight loss was enough to show that a long lead means very little in the league this year.

The Indians lost their second straight to Fort Worth's hustling Cats, 4 to 3. Ed Greer pitched one-hit ball for five innings against the leaders and held his advantage although allowing seven more blows.

The win kept the Cats ahead of the third place Tulsans, who were having a merry time in spilling Dallas' luckless Steers in a doubleheader, 6 to 5 and 5 to 3. The Oilers salted both games away with big-inning rallies, scoring four in the fifth inning of the first and three in the sixth of the second contest.

Another twin killing went to Jake Atz' Galveston Pirates, who got to faltering Beaumont 10 to 9 and 3 to 1.

Houston showed a spark of life in bombarding San Antonio 14 to 1 for their second straight victory after a long losing streak. It put them a game and a half behind the seventh-place Dallas club.

Fourth Of July Baseball Will Be Played Here In Lubbock

Fourth of July baseball will be played right here in Lubbock, as well as on other popular diamond fronts. The cra of base hits, instead of firecrackers, is to be the big noise in Lubbock's athletic observation of the Fourth when teams of Lubbock and Hobbs clash at the local park in a two-day series.

The Lubbock Baseball Association issues the advice that it is not necessary to leave the city limits in order to receive Fourth of July entertainment, because the Lubbock Hubbers and the Amerada Oilers are going to play a game on Sunday, July 4, and another on Monday, which is designated as the official holiday here.

Fans Like Ameradas

Sam Rosenthal's Hubbers and the New Mexico Oilers played a dashing, thrilling game here not long ago, probably the most interesting contest played here this season. The fans liked the hustle and spirit shown by the Ameradas, and were pleased with the home town team when it pulled through with a close victory.

The invitation has been out to the Ameradas to return, and they're coming Sunday for a game beginning at 3 o'clock, and another at the same hour Monday afternoon.

The Hubbers ran into trouble at Littlefield last Sunday, losing their first road trip of the season and their fourth game in 13 starts this year. But they'll be ready to play more baseball Sunday and Monday, and they welcome the opportunity to erase previous defeats and get on the victory side again.

Hubbers Are Ahead

The Ameradas will be seeking revenge for two defeats. The interstate rivalry got under way last year. Amerada won the first game, Lubbock the second, toward the end of the season. It was Amerada's time this spring, but after playing good, clean ball, the visitors lost by two runs in a close contest.

There will be no advance in admission prices for the holiday games. Adults will be admitted for 40 cents each day, children for 25 cents. Only one game will be played each day, allowing fans the chance to take part in other holiday festivities.

FIRMS PRESENT SUPPLIES

LAMESA, (Special)—Book covers for Dawson county students will be provided by Forrest Lumber company and Lamesa Auto company next school year. They provided covers last year. The First National bank will present to the schools the Centennial edition of the Texas almanac with the Pan-American supplement.

Schmeling Sulks To Lose Title Bout

Sport Gossip As Gathered In Nation

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP) — When and if Mike Jacobs puts on that fight card featuring four world's champions, some smart guy ought to rent a lot across the street from the Yankee stadium and put on a show to take care of the overflow. . . . Those Dodgers have managed to count once in the last 36 innings. . . . Nice going, boys. . . . Looks like Herr Max Schmeling has done a swell job of sulking himself out of a shot at the heavyweight title. . . . Dick Bartell hit his last two homers on the last day of May and the last day of June.

• • •

You've heard those squawks about this played and that being left off the all-star teams. . . . Now you know why the poor guys who manage those outfits think theirs is a hopeless job. . . . Commissioner Landis and Presidents Frick and Harridge would do well to put the naming of the players back in the hands of the fans — where it started and where it belongs . . . Terry ignored Heinie Manush of the Dodgers and the American league managers forgot about Johnny Stone of Washington, among others. . . . The fans would have had both of 'em in there . . . The game is slipping in popularity and there's a durned good reason.

• • •

Here's a real "it" guy for you. . . . American correspondents who covered the Ryder cup matches say Dave Rees, the smiling Britisher has more of same than Clara Bow in her palmiest days. . . . Which is plenty of "it," if you ask us. . . . Old Walter Hagen is taking a few bows for the fine job of field generaling he did for the Americans. . . . It must be a strange looking Haig without all those extra chins.

• • •

Bottom of the barrel: During his six years in the majors, Van Mungo has won only one game. . . . Mebbe it's the beans. . . . Good news: Hank Leiber of the Giants, beaned by Bob Feller last spring, may be back in uniform by July 4. . . . Benny Leonard, the old lightweight champ, opens his new spot at Broadway and 72nd July 17 . . . Tony Canzoneri, by the way, has pulled out of the Broadway spot in which he was a partner.

Thirty Racing Drivers Will Seek Prizes In Contest

WESTBURY, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—Thirty racing drivers, attracted from several countries by a $70,000 purse, will seek to gain tomorrow the George Vanderbilt cup which Tazio Nuvolari, the Italian, won last year with incredible ease.

The final qualifiers for the 300-mile race on the improved Roosevelt raceway will not be known until late today. The 30 starters will be chosen on the fastest times made in the qualifying tests.

THE TWO MOST unpopular managers in big league baseball, from all signs and words, are Bill Terry of the Giants and Rogers Hornsby of the Browns, for similar and for different reasons.

Sports writers, even those in New York, are becoming so sour-ed on Terry that virtually every story about the Giants you read mentions Terry in uncomplimentary fashion. He's hard, stubborn, short and unfriendly to the press. Hornsby is disliked mostly because of his attitude toward his players (and because he seems to have lost the touch of producing pennant winners).

One of Hornsby's toughest enemies along Press Row seems to be Maurice O. Shevlin, sports scribe for the St. Louis Daily Globe-Democrat. In his "The Sporting Mill" column of last Saturday, clipping of which is forwarded us by one Chas. L. McDonald, Shevlin has this to say:

"Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Browns is credited, or perhaps we should say charged, with making a statement in New York the other day to the effect that he wants no part of those 'banjo hitters,' the kind who build up their averages, even if .350, on singles.

"He went on to take the case of his own Browns and pointed to Harlond Clift as the only 'power' hitter on the team.

"And there are some who would have you believe that the man who, for several years, dominated the National League with his long-range bat, is a good manager! It was that same treatment of his players that made for so much ill will and internal strife on the club last year, a condition that necessitated the trade of three members of the team.

"While all the credit in the world is due Harlond Clift for the fine job he is doing at third base, for his timely and long-distance smashes, and his will to win, there are a couple of other boys on the team who certainly do not deserve to be rated 'banjo hitters.'

"For instance, there's Joe Vosmik. Who, but Hornsby, would have the poor judgment to call him one who builds up his average on singles? Then there's Beau Bell, who for several weeks led the league in batting and right now holds a batting average of around .360. Bell has accumulated more total bases than Clift on the basis of 20 doubles, two triples and six home runs out of 80 hits.

"And there's Sam West. West, in 10 or more games less than Clift, has totaled 75 bases on 54 hits (the mark is closer to 85 bases on 64 hits at this release) to Clift's 106 bases on 62 hits. West has 17 doubles, one triple and three homers. Vosmik has 101 bases on 69 hits, 22 of which were doubles, two triples and two homers.

"We wonder if the coaching and managing haven't a lot to do with holding a good many of the Browns' hits to singles? They have stolen only seven bases in almost 70 games, too, and a baserunner has to wait for the coach's or manager's signal before he tries to advance."

OH, WELL, that trouble is for Mr. Shevlin and Sam West to settle. It's just interesting to have the blast put on some club besides the Hubbers, even if we do the blasting.

THEY REMEMBER TOM GALLAHER AT BAYLOR

If the Boss will pardon us, we'd like to take him to task, in a mild way, as a result of his observation in yesterday's Journal editorial. As a matter of fact, we'd like to rib the unholy h--- out of him. Like the Boss, we are very happy over Mr. Tom Gallaher's promotion in the Santa Fe railroad system. He is, as the Boss editorializes, a he-man, rough-and-tumble, tough and hard, railroad man, no doubt. At least he answered those qualifications as a college football player. From college to the railroad, Gallaher continued to make long strides ahead, blocking out the opposition, blazing straight ahead in a powerful offensive, until now he is passenger traffic manager of the entire Santa Fe system.

And, as the Boss further says, we wouldn't be surprised if, some day, Tom Gallaher . . . becomes president of the far-flung Santa Fe system. That line of dots in the foregoing sentence, however, is beyond our agreement. The dots stand for ". . . Gallaher, whose smashing football tactics at Baylor are similar to his railroading methods. . ."

Baylor alumni and ex-students remember Tom Gallaher, all right. They remember him quite well; too well, in fact. Not because he played for Bay-

Fans Envy Touring Golf Pros But Guldahl Declares They Often Hit A Rocky Road

As Told To Art Krenz

Lots of people envy us professionals for being able to take those winter tours through the sunny south and California. But I'm not so sure we should be envied.

Of course, I like the life or I wouldn't be living it, but it's far from being the life of Riley.

You see, it's pretty tough making expenses on those trips. You've got to be in there punching all the time.

I've made seven tours and in the three seasons immediately preceding this last one I won less than $200 in prize money per trip. If it weren't for the fun of playing the game, the thrill of winning, and the desire to make a name for yourself, I wouldn't have stayed when the breaks were going against me. The old competitive spirit keeps you going with the hope you'll crash through the next tournament.

Two Strokes—$1,350

It's a nerve-wracking way to make a living, and most uncertain. You see, a missed putt, or a bad kick, will mean a stroke and a couple of hundred dollars to you.

I remember in the Los Angeles Open of 1932, which Macdonald Smith won, a couple of strokes dropped here and there in the last nine holes cost me $1,350. I needed a 34 coming home on the last round and took a 36. Those two strokes dropped me from second place with

Unusual Assignment To Fatten Negro Fighter Is Given Man

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2. (AP)—Among unusual assignments is one that has been accepted by George "Biddy" Bishop, sports writer, boxing promoter and handler of fighters for more than forty years.

He has been commissioned to fatten a negro fighter.

Bishop, who makes his home in Seattle, has a contract with Dr. John S. Riley, Brooklyn, N. Y., dentist, to handle the latter's heavyweight protege, Arthur Gray.

One clause of the contract reads that Bishop is to add 12 to 15 pounds to Gray's frame during his pugilistic schooling on the Pacific coast.

This problem of extra avoirdupois, the solving of which means $2,500 in the pocket, should be mince pie for Bishop. In 1895 he hopped up Kid Lavigne's weight from 122 pounds to 141 so the old time lightweight king could fight Joe Walcott on a more even basis.

Gray may at least become a challenger for the heavyweight eating title if Bishop follows the same routine laid down by the San Francisco Seals club owners when they fattened "Lefty" Gomez for the major league baseball market. He dined on triple orders of pork chops and steaks conceived by knocking the horns and hoofs off a steer.

Charles Graham, president of the Seals, recalls he and his associates were responsible for nine pounds attaching themselves to Gomez' then skinny frame a few years ago. Two weeks before the season opened, Gomez was sent to a sanatorium near here.

All the erratic southpaw had to do was eat—five meals a day. When he came out the tailor had to alter his clothes. He had a sensational season and was sold to the Yankees at the end of the year. The Yankees thought so well of the idea they had Graham send Gomez back to the poundage factory a year later for a month's stay, with all expenses paid.

Frankie Crosetti, Yankee shortstop and another Seals' development, also underwent a weight producing session.

Book Is Reviewed Here Last Night

"The Nine Old Men" by Robert S. Allen and Drew Pearsons was reviewed last night at Seaman hall by Dr. Montell Ogdon, associate professor of government at Texas Technological college. The review was sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church, and proceeds went to the church building fund.

Doctor Ogdon pointed out that the book was written with the intention of creating a controversy and that it was successful. The authors want it to have the effect of Uncle Tom's Cabin," and parallel recent court decisions with the famous Dread Scott case. One senator has drafted a resolution naming the book and asking an investigation by congress, the president has modeled two speeches after portions of the book, and it has been discussed generally in congress.

Book Entertaining

Doctor Ogdon said "The Nine Old Men" was entertaining if not taken seriously, and that it would not undermine the stability of the supreme court. He went ahead to add that even if the president is successful in increasing the number of justices on the supreme court, the United States would live it down as it did when the court was increased by Grant, to ten members.

Devoting a chapter to each of the justices on the supreme court, the authors berate and condemn them, but the biographical material is correct.

Chief Justice Hughes is given the first chapter, and he is called the man on the flying trapeze. Doctor Ogden heard Hughes lecture at Columbia in 1930, just before his appointment as chief justice, and in these lectures he criticized severely the old men on the bench who would not resign. Doctor Ogdon said he further stated that the court was often embarrassed because it couldn't maintain unanimity.

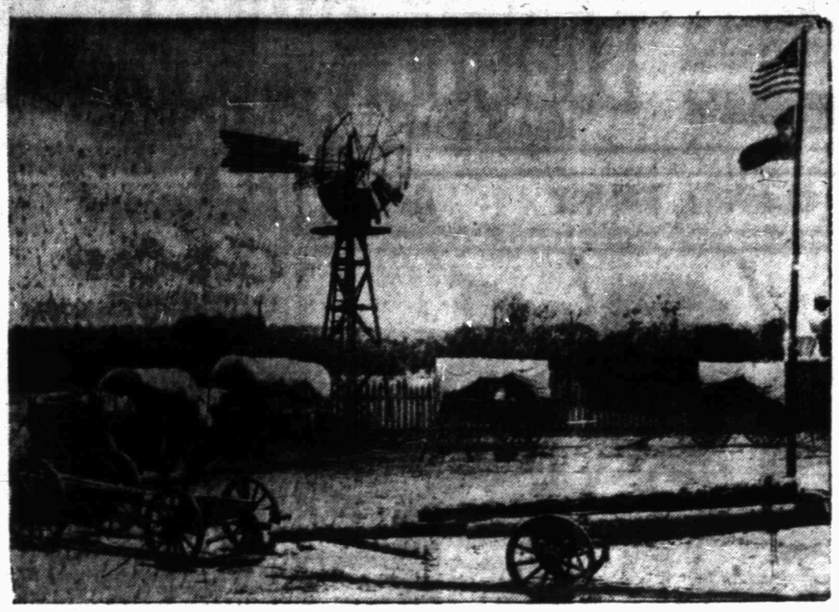

The chapters on Owen J. Roberts, Louis Brandeis, and James Clark McReynolds were stressed. Of the last named the authors say "he is the meanest man on the court; he defends the constitution with vigor." They add that he is the worst golf player in Washington and from that arise his problems in dealing with people.

County Attorney Robert J. Allen introduced the speaker, after a prayer for the country and courts of justice by Rev. J. Hodge Alves, pastor of the Episcopal church, and America, sung by the audience.

Refreshments were served on the lawn by the Woman's Auxiliary afterward.

Old West Lives At Fort Worth

Frederick Remington, Charles Russell and the other famous artists of the Old West would have rejoiced at the scene shown above which was re-constructed with chuck wagons and other authentic Western paraphernalia by John M. The old camping grounds are a feature of Sunset Trail, the pioneer village street, at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta.

Lubbock Police Are Warned To Be On Lookout For Auto

Lubbock police department and sheriff's office last night were notified by telegraph to be on the lookout for a 1937 four-door (Buick) sedan believed to be occupied by three white men and a negro suspected of robbing a bank at Kansas City early this month of $4,000.

The white men were described as: two between ages of 30 and 35 and one between 35 and 40. The negro was believed between 25 and 30 years of age.

The automobile bore a Kansas license, 50-003. It was reported stolen from Pittsburg, Kan. The left front fender was bent, police here were told. A wide-spread search throughout this section is under way, police said.

Navy Man Leaves Matador After Vacation With His Family

MATADOR, July 2 (Special) — Commander William Warlick of the U. S. Navy, left Matador for Childress and Wellington after visiting his sister, Mrs. T. E. Williams and family. Commander Warlick has been in the navy service since his graduation from the Annapolis Naval academy in 1920. He is accepting a place in the Harvard university faculty, to which he was recently elected to teach naval science.

Captain Warlick was accompanied from California by his wife and son, who will make their home in the east. During his stay in Texas he visited his brother O. T. Warlick of Vernon.

Temple Is Honored At Casa Manana

FORT WORTH, July 2 — Temple day at the Frontier Fiesta brought what looked like half of the town to Fort Worth. A special Santa Fe train arriving at 4:30 p. m. carried a delegation of 201 visitors. A 70-car automobile caravan, arriving later, brought the total near to the 600-mark.

Miss Harriet Hoctor, ballerina star of the Casa Manana revue, was among the reception committee at the train to meet the Temple delegation. She went with a group to Blackstone hotel where Temple day broadcast went out over WBAP and participated in the program.

Sweetheart Honored

Temple was here to honor Texas Sweetheart No. 1, Miss Grey Downs, and six other boys and girls from Temple who appear in the Casa Manana revue. All seven were called to the stage of Casa Manana before the first show last night and presented gifts from the homefolks.

Temple dancers in the show are June Sevier, Jane Allen, Mollie Watters, Armstead Hutchenrider, Harvey Elliott and Paul McBurney. All had relatives and friends on the special train and in the auto caravan. Among the special train delegates were Mrs. P. L. Downs, jr., mother of Texas sweetheart, Carroll Allen, father of Jane, Mrs. Maxie Calloway, aunt of Miss Watters, and Mrs. Paul McBurney, mother of Paul.

W. A. Spencer of the Temple Chamber of Commerce, was in charge of the special train.

NOT long ago, as an experiment, "stop" signs at several busy and important Lubbock street intersections were taken up and substituted for them were other signs reading "danger."

While the move was bewildering to motorists because it left part of the intersections guarded by "stop" and others by "danger," the experiment was generally accepted in the hope that by some miracle it might benefit the situation.

It was not long, however, before citizens frequently using the intersections marked "danger" realized that, like other experiments however noble, the substitution of signs made for greater, rather than less dangers.

As things stand now, "danger"-marked intersections at Avenue Q and Main, Avenue Q and Broadway, and Avenue Q and 19th street offer nothing short of a fertile field for some swell—and possibly fatal—accidents.

* * *

If those at City hall who are responsible for the experiment doubt these words, The Plainsman will be delighted to accompany them to 19th and Q, for instance, and let them see for themselves what is happening all through the day and night.

Those "danger" signs don't mean anything to a very appreciable number of our motorists, who tear through the intersection at times as fast as 40 miles per hour, and frequently at speeds which, while slower than 40 per are too fast for the public good.

THE main thing Lubbock officialdom has to learn about traffic is that there is no secret about its control.

There's nothing mysterious about the problem. It can be easily—and finally—solved at any time officialdom wants to solve it.

All that is necessary is to instruct the police department to enforce traffic laws to the letter and provide two or three additional policemen on a traffic detail to do it.

All the signs in the world won't do any good until the law-violator is shown that the city is "playing for keeps" and attacks the problem just as it would any other, then our streets will become safer and violations few and far between.

That's all there is to it.

HERE'S an interesting note concerning present and forthcoming labor disputes which was sent The Journal by a Washington correspondent:

"The National Labor Relations board's move against Henry Ford is taken as an indication in Washington that administration support will be given to CIO unionizing moves as warranted by the Wagner act. Despite action in Ohio and Pennsylvania which warded off the charge that men were prevented from working (a charge that frequently held the Roosevelt regime responsible) a great many Congressmen are shivering with apprehension over the labor situation. They don't believe peace is at hand.

"Well-posted men in Congress who specialize on labor questions are saying that the National Labor Relations board will find Mr. Ford a tough nut to crack, for this reason: The board doesn't dare demand that elections be held in his factories because the workers would overwhelmingly snow under the CIO and affiliated unions.

"Elections must be held when the labor board demands them unless the concern affected wishes to lock horns in court. But with the elections eliminated, it is not quite clear how the labor board can acquire jurisdiction over Ford."

* * *

There is a story going around the country that is interesting, if true, and it could very easily be true.

The dope is that Mr. Ford over a period of months has been turning out automobiles and trucks of all models just as fast as it is possible to do.

The output has been purposely stepped up to a point greater than sales demand and the new cars are being shipped out to dealers everywhere so they will be on hand, ready for purchasers, in case Michigan experiences another reign of anarchy and even the Sage of Dearborn has to close his plants. With extra cars already in retail establishments, Mr. Ford can shut up shop for awhile without any great loss and let the devil take the hindmost—and the CIO.

Whether the story is true, or not, it would be good judgment for Mr. Ford to do just what they say he's done and is doing.

* * *

AMONG the new and strange words The Plainsman trotted out in this column the other day was the word "shophar", which has a Hebraic base and which means "a musical instrument fashioned from a ram's horn."

Herman Fink, the well known linedrawer, noted the reference to "shophar" and obligingly brought one down for The Plainsman to see.

Purchased in Bethlehem, the shophar is the property of the local Jewish temple, Shaareth-Israel. Polished and carved, it cost about $15 and is used at sunset on the Jewish Day of Atonement, which comes each year in September to mark the close of 24 hours of total abstinence from food and drink.

It is only possible to get four or five notes from the horn, Herman advises, and usually only rabbis can produce the notes.

Louis Freed, however, can do pretty well on it, report our operatives among the Lubbock Jewry.

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn mysteriously, Josh Hastings — who wants to buy the ranch and marry Kay — invites her to the Flying Six. She refuses, distrusting him, but young sister Babs and Aunt Kate go. Kay plans to rebuild, but finds the insurance money has to go on the mortgage. Ted Gaynor, a puncher Kay hired impulsively, stirs the outfit to cut its own lumber and rebuild without pay. He warns her against Hastings. Kay is on her way to buy the only available timber land when a Hastings puncher rides up, lassoes her and ropes her securely.

Chapter 13
Cat And Mouse

The man's gaze rested on Kay's bound ankles. Stooping suddenly, he tested the knots. He gripped her ankles with a firm hold for a moment, then laughed as he released them and rose.

"Cut out that 'how-dare-you' stuff, Cutie," he warned. "It's my turn to set the tone of this meeting. You've high-hatted me just once too often." His mouth twisted, and he laughed again.

"Don't you worry! I ain't going to hurt you—just give you a little lesson about being too high and mighty with Scrap Johnson."

Suddenly dropping to his knees beside her, he held Kay in an iron grip, his arm around her shoulder. Putting his other hand under her chin, he forced her to look at him.

"No good writhing that way, Girlie." His grip tightened. "You're cute as hell when you're mad, but I'm going to give you time to cool off some. I've got something more important to do before I give you that lesson. Here's a sample, though."

Bending down, he deliberately kissed her on the lips, the nsprang to his feet as he released her. Every ounce of color drained from Kay's face. She bit her lip until it bled to keep from crying out.

"Too bad I can't stop for more right now, but I've got to get in and see Old Man Warren." He laughed again as Kay started.

"I don't know what it's all enjoying the consternation that about." Scrap Johnson went on, shone in Kay's eyes. "but Josh Hastings came rarin' down to the corral, and ordered me to keep you from getting to Old Man Warren's till I'd landed an option on the south ridge of the Bitter Root. Sounds crazy, but orders is orders."

Kay felt her heart turn sick. For the moment she forgot her own predicament in the fear that all her dreams for the ranch were doomed. And through her own stupidity! She must do something before it was too late!

She saw in a flash that her only hope lay in using this man as a tool, and keeping him from carrying out Hastings' orders.

Under all her rage and disgust at the indignity that had been put upon her, Kay was firmly convinced Scrap Johnson wouldn't dare do her any actual harm. He knew that his life wouldn't be worth a nickel if he did.

He was taking cruel enjoyment in playing with her as a cat plays with a mouse. And he was probably banking on her pride to keep her from telling. Instead of flouting him as she had, she must be more clever!

Kay Attempts Wile

"It's very complimentary to have you leave me for an 'option,' whatever that is." Kay forced herself to a half smile, as she gazed up at him with innocently round eyes.

A flush spread over Scrap Johnson's sallow face and his jaw dropped as though he couldn't believe his eyes or his ears. He looked comically uncertain.

"What's the idea of stringing me?"

"I'm not stringing you." She glanced significantly at her ankles and wrists. "You're the one who's stringing me! Doesn't it strike you that you might get on better without these caveman methods?"

"That so? Well, we'll put it to a test. Suppose you give me a kiss?"

No effort of will could keep Kay from recoiling with an involuntary shudder of disgust, as he leaned over her.

"Ha! Trying the Delilah stuff, eh?" He straightened up with a sneering laugh. "Well, we'll talk that over later!" He looked about. "Kind of bad place to leave you."

Stooping, he picked Kay up bodily and, in spite of her struggles, carried her about 50 yards to the lea of a coulee that dipped down in the mesa. Without a word, he dumped her there and started back for his horse. Then, as an after thought, he came back, pulled Kay's bandana from her neck and bound it tightly about her mouth.

"Don't be lonesome, Cutie. I'll be back before long," he called mockingly over his shoulder as he mounted and rode off.

The Boys Chip In

Ted Gaynor paused as he was saddling his horse to start the long ride to his home, to arrange for moving his mother and sister to their new quarters.

He glanced down toward Kay's log cabin. On impulse he left his horse and went down to it. He knocked and received no response. Finding the door locked, he made for the bunk house on the run. As he sprang up the steps, he nearly collided with Seth.

"Hello!" Seth exclaimed in surprise. "I thought you were on your way long ago!"

"Somthing's got me worried," Ted exclaimed. "I tried to find Kay, but she's off somewhere."

"I saw her start out on Flicker about a half hour ago. What's on your mind?"

"I don't think she ought to let any grass grow under her feet before nailing that option," Ted declared. "As far as I can see, that's the only available timber there is, and we ought to make sure there's no slip up."

"Hell's bells, there can't be any slip up. Why Old Man Warren'll be tickled pink to get rid of it."

"Just the same, I'd be a lot easier to know that it was all sewed up." Ted looked from Seth to two of the boys who had come up. "Have any of you fellows got any cash?"

"Sure," Seth answered. "Why?"

"Because if we can scrape up $25, I'll go in and make a first payment on the option in Kay's name, so there can't be any chance of her losing it."

"I can't see as there's all that rush about it," Seth observed. "Still and all, there's no harm in getting that out of the way. It would be kind of a nice surprise for Kay to find it all attended to." He pulled out a roll of bill- and counted $17.

"How about chipping in?" He cocked an eye at the other two, who readily complied.

"Go to it, son, if you've got a hunch that way." Seth handed Ted the money. "Bring that option back and we'll give it to Kay this evening."

"I'll do that," Ted promised, putting the wad of bills and silver dollars in his pocket. "I'll start off for home after supper."

Ted dickers with Old Man Warren for the timberland, tomorrow.

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

THE POWER BEHIND CONGRESS' POWER

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, in a news story carried in The Journal recently, made some interesting and worthwhile comments concerning the integral state of the nation.

The great question of preserving democratic institutions, Justice Hughes says, "is not one of adequate power of the government, designed to keep clear the highways of honest endeavor, but of how that power shall be used.

In addressing the collegiate audience of Brown university, the Chief Justice could not, with propriety, refer to the recent Supreme court decisions. But, plainly, he had in mind the increased powers given Congress by the decisions. The responsibility placed on Congress for the uses made of its much enlarged powers forms a fact to be repeatedly emphasized, in order that it may have the widest possible public realization.

Note the scope attributed to the decisions by Senator Borah, in the Senate debate on the $1,500,000,000 relief bill:

"Under the social security decisions . . . Congress may now lay taxes to take care of the general welfare of the country . . . discretion as to what is general welfare is practically in the hands of Congress . . . the most serious change in the economic situation of which I can conceive. . . . We are the sole guardian of the taxpayers of the United States. We can either make or ruin the great masses of the people by our expenditures. . . . We now can have in this country, so far as the economic welfare is concerned, so fas as the interests of the taxpayer are concerned, a Congress with practically unlimited power."

It is vital that active and well informed public interest be taken in the votes of our national legislators. To be sure, Congress has the power—but behind that power is the greater power of the public, which, in the last analysis, decides which among us will be permitted to assume power in Congress.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 2—Short takes: A la-de-da little actress with a British accent and Brooklyn antecedents arrived at one of the studios to work on a stock contract and was handed the usual questionnaire.

Rapidly she scribbled in most of the biographical data, but chewed her pencil for several minutes over the query: "Where educated?"

Finally she wrote: "Educated exclusively by private tooters."

* * *

Sigrid Gurie, a Norwegian importation, is supposed to make her screen bow in Samuel Goldwyn's "Adventures of Marco Polo." But she already has appeared in "The Road Back," at Universal, under a different name.

Goldwyn lent her for the experience she'd get, but stipulated that she couldn't be billed as the glamor-girl he has been training for months.

* * *

New slogan suggested by a disgruntled salesman for Thus-and-So Films: "If it's a Thus-and-So picture you can always get a seat."

* * *

Can't Forget Harlow

Feud news: If Rosalind Russell and Robert Montgomery are costarred in another picture, the only words they'll exchange will be written in the script.

Claudette Colbert and Director Wesley Ruggles aren't likely to work on another film together, after "I Met Him in Paris." Not if either one has anything to say about it, anyway.

* * *

Hollywood can't forget the Jean Harlow tragedy. Fans still bring flowers to lay upon the hand-and-footprints of the star in the forecourt of the Chinese Theater.

And word comes that audiences all over the nation are affected by that brief closeup in "A Star Is Born" showing the prints and the salutation she traced in soft cement: "Good Luck—Jean Harlow."

Darryl Zanuck's chauffeur is named Robert Taylor. And the Mervyn LeRoys have a maid named Jeanette McDonald.

Marion Davies To Retire?

Director Mitchell Leisen, his cast swears, didn't wear the same suit twice during the seven weeks of production of "Easy Living." One reason is that he's part owner of a clothing store.

Another reason is that he can charge off a large part of his wardrobe on his income tax returns as business expense.

Male actors must provide their own clothes in Hollywood, and Leisen always qualifies himself as an actor by appearing in a scene or two of every picture he makes.

* * *

Marion Davies, according to persistent rumors, will retire from the screen after another picture or two. Meanwhile, full-grown olive trees have been transplanted between her bungalow and the administration building on the Warner lot.

* * *

Mary Pickford has declared she'll never return to the screen. Nevertheless, Producer Emmanuel Cohn is talking about a picture for her. And Miss Pickford is listening.

Among The Better Bagdoirs

If only I were a gal reporter—for a week, anyway—I'd do a story about the competitive exoticism of actresses' bedrooms. I'm told that Gertrude Niessen's bedroom in her new home is done all in blue velvet and mirrors, and with a circular bed.

That's right—perfectly round, with neither head nor foot. Round sheets and blankets, too. But the pillows! —ah, the pillows are heart-shaped!

* * *

A sign painter spoiled almost an entire day's shooting on "You Can't Have Everything" by misspelling "Arctic." Made a big sign for the "Artic Hotel," and nobody noticed the error for hours.

A new wail is being raised by major studios against the strict censorship by the Hays office of publicity still pictures.

Press agents for radio chains and independent studios not under Hays office rule are grabbing most of the photo space in magazines because they can pose their cuties for more daring "leg-art."

The Ritz Brothers have thought up a pleasant little trick. They go around the sets saying to one girl after another: "My, what long arms you have, grandma! Longer than mine. Let's measure."

So the girl stretches out her arms and the Ritz brother rushes into them for a romantic clinch.

The 'Gone With The Wind' Idea

Soft Cushion, Ready In Case Court Plan Is Beaten, Not Stuffed By FDR, Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2.—A nice, soft cushion is being prepared for Mr. Roosevelt by some of the milder opponents of the court plan and some of its milder friends.

It's for use when and if F. D. R. decides to abandon attempts to get a court-packing bill through Congress, the idea being to soften the blow for all concerned.

Dutcher

But the cushion—and you can chalk this up for future reference—wasn't stuffed by the White House.

This group of court reform opponents who would just as soon have the court plan dropped, is spreading the word around that Roosevelt never expected or intended to have his court bill passed, but was only trying to scare the conservative justices so they wouldn't dare kill any more New Deal legislation. The yarn is either told or hinted with a merry ha ha ha and an admission that the alleged trick worked perfectly, considering the way the court subsequently okayed New Deal laws as fast as they came up.

No matter how much credence this story may receive, it just isn't true. Roosevelt supposed the court bill would pass long ago, virtually as written. He did believe that as soon as it passed at least three justices, and possibly five, would resign and that he probably wouldn't be called upon to appoint six and make a 15-man court.

* * *

There Was Such A Plan

What makes the April Fool version of the President's court plan rather interesting, if not plausible, is the fact that last January Roosevelt and some of his advisers very definitely did cook up a plan to scare the court by threatening to pack it and otherwise curb the conservative majority.

It was also hoped that enough hollering and threatening might lead two or three of the older justices to resign and that in any event, popular sentiment might be roused.

New Dealers had been talking about packing the court from the start, and as early as May, 1936, it was evident to insiders that action was likely. But the idea of curing the situation by making a specier of the idea was cooked up at a meeting of the American Political Science association at Chicago late last December, when nearly 300 leading professors of political science and government gathered to chew over current problems.

Prof. Arthur N. Holcombe of Harvard, was president. One vice president was Under Secretary of the Interior Charles West, former congressman, former professor of government at Harvard and now chief liaison man between the White House and Congress.

There was a round table conference on the subject of judicial review at which Holcombe, West, Prof. W. Y. Elliott of Harvard, and Dr. Charles Merriam of Chicago, were especially active and vocal. All four are relatively close to Roosevelt. They agreed that the way to deal with the court was not necessarily to have an act of Congress or constitutional amendment, but to make definite moves to show that the court had gone beyond its proper sphere of jurisdiction by usurping legislative power and that this was widely resented.

Specifically, it was agreed that the administration and members of Congress should use the court-packing plan as a definite threat in order, as one professor said, "to scare the hell out of 'em."

At the same meeting Donald Richberg, who had frequently discussed the court problem with Roosevelt, cited words of William Howard Taft that judges should be "made to pause and deliberate by hostile public criticism" in order that they might be kept "alive to the reasonable demands of those they serve."

West and Richberg rode back to Washington on the train together, discussing the problem. West promptly reported to Roosevelt and the campaign to "scare the court" was soon evolved.

* * *

Point In: He Meant It

Roosevelt definitely had decided to try to do something about the court when the justices, on Dec. 14, had sent the Duke power case back to lower courts without ruling on validity of about $80,000,000 of PWA loans for public power developments. Secretary Ickes told him the effect was further to delay about 30 projects.

The point at which Roosevelt decided to try to pack the court instead of threatening to pack it or taking other measures, apparently came late in January after the General Motors strike had made validation of the Wagner act a New Deal necessity, and after receiving reports that Wall Street opponents were prepared to raise a slush fund to block any constitutional amendment in the states.

Attorney General Cummings, close friend of Richberg, had more to do with helping him reach his decision than anyone else. Roosevelt's fondness for daring, spectacular moves did the rest. The point is that he meant it and don't let anyone tell you different.

Morton Rodeo Opens Today

(Special to The Journal)

MORTON, July 2.—Light showers during the night cooled off the atmosphere today for Morton's third annual Fourth of July rodeo and celebration which officially starts this afternoon.

Between 50 and 60 cowboys are expected to compete for the rodeo event purses, raised by local business men. There are several here from Colorado and some as far away as El Paso. The majority, however, are from this section, including Lea county, New Mexico.

A parade was scheduled for 1 o'clock this afternoon, with the rodeo starting at 3 o'clock. Tom Standefer, sheriff, is master of ceremonies. It is his third program.

Last night a dance, sponsored by the fire department, was held. Another is planned for tonight and Saturday night. A platform has been erected on the rodeo grounds.

Fifteen wild Brama steers have arrived for the rodeo.

Business men of the town have contributed $150 to premium money offered by the arena director. Announcement was that the grandstand erected by E. L. Willis and J. L. McGee would be ready for the affair.

On committees assisting Standefer are: Joe Nicewarner, secretary-treasurer, J. L. McGee, F. F. Roberts, Roy Hickman, jr., J. B. Knox, W. E. Angley, Alton Burleson, Lloyd Kennedy, Mark E. Jones, E. L. Willis, and Charles Taylor.

Iowa Students Are To Visit Lubbock

Second visit of a group of approximately 30 students from Iowa State college, Ames, is scheduled for this afternoon and Saturday when William LaGrange, animal husbandry instructor, and J. C. Elderedge, agronomy instructor, visit Texas Technological college with their students. It is an annual tour.

Ray C. Mowery, associate professor of animal husbandry, and Dr. A. W. Young, agronomist, yesterday arranged for visiting of five farms in this section, for the group. They are studying conditions in Texas and want to visit representative farms, the instructors explained.

From among the list of five places the visiting instructors will select the number they feel they have time to visit. In addition, the state experiment sub-station and the college farm will be visited.

Cattle feeding, cotton farming, grain sorghum production, livestock and some irrigation will be inspected. Students will take notes on their visit.

From Lubbock the party will leave Sunday morning for Dickens county, where they will visit the Pitchfork ranch, of which Virgil . Parr is manager. Visitors will be housed in the gymnasium while here.

Strange Story

hid a right to use.

Ankenman called "Red" into the office and discovered the hoax by which the youth joined the Cardinal system.

The other part of it is that the real "Robert," the one wanted by the Cardinal scout, failed to make the grade. He joined the Card system last year and now is playing class D ball in the far northwest.

"Red" Davis of Houston, Ankenman said, is considered one of the Cards' prize rookies.

Oil Companies Carry Legal Battle With State Of Texas

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Major oil companies today continued their legal battle with the state of Texas which is seeking to throw them out and collect heavy penalties for alleged infractions of anti-trust laws.

Filing of a petition by the Shell Petroleum company, asking the Supreme court to reconsider its recent decision upholding validity of the laws and declaring the state had cause for action, was considered the initial move of a renewed fight.

Fifteen other companies affected may file similar motions.

The petition contended a code of fair practices on which the state based its suit was intended to eliminate cut-throat practices. It said the code had been approved by the Federal Trade commission and was not violative of anti-trust laws.

Borger Youth Is Killed When Struck By Lightning Bolt

GUYMON, Okla., July 2. (AP)—James Adkins, 17, Borger, Texas, was killed instantly today by lightning on a farm near Hitchland, Tex.

Adkins and George Wagner were working in a field when a sudden thundershower struck. They sought refuge in a barn. Lightning struck the barn and Wagner said Adkins was holding some wires in his hand. Wagner, who was stunned by the lightning, said the shock evidently traveled from the barn roof down the wires Adkins was holding.

AUSTIN, July 2. — Things are going to be difficult for state liquor law violators after Sept. 1 under the new regulatory act.

Inspectors, now denied the privilege of carrying fire arms, will be given full powers of peace officers at the discretion of the liquor board, for one thing.

Another is they will be permitted to use search warrants.

In drafting the new law, effective Sept. 1, the legislators took into consideration court decisions, federal regulations, and knowledge gained from 18 months' experience in enforcement.

Will Decide On Purity

The board will be given the power to adopt a standard of purity, quality, and identity of all liquors, including wines, and rules governing their labeling and advertising.

The privilege of re-bottling wine was taken away from retailers. Wholesalers or others desiring to engage in this business will be required to buy a $150 permit.

Under the old law the minimum package store permit was $50. This was raised to $125 and applies to all stores within two miles of incorporated city limits.

Bonded public warehouse permits were raised to $100 but the $50 storage fee was eliminated.

Physicians Not Regulated

Physicians will not be required to obtain permits to write prescriptions for liquor.

The legislature decreed it would be unlawful for any person to have an interest in more than five package store permits, a provision designed to prevent corporations owning a large number of stores.

All beer licenses, of which there are approximately 13,000, will be issued by the state board at Austin instead of county tax collectors. The procedure of applying to the county judge, obtaining an authorization from him and paying the annual fee remains unchanged.

Violation A Felony

Any person making a false statement or misrepresentation in an application for a permit or license will be deemed guilty of a felony.

The manufacture of wine from dried fruits, grapes or berries is prohibited by a penal provision.

Uniform regulations governing the hours and days of closing by dealers were provided. All will be required to close their places of business and refrain from selling beer, wine or whisky on general primary and general election days only and be required to close from midnight to 7 a. m. each day and all day Sunday.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Cotton futures opened quiet, 2 to 7 lower on disappointing Liverpool cables and continued favorable weather. July 12.10; Oct 12.12; Dec 12.08; Jan 12.11; May 12.17.

Trading was extremely quiet with the market assuming a pre-holiday character. The price range was narrow and easily influenced by small orders.

A little local, southern and far eastern selling supplied contracts which were taken by the trade and commission houses.

The weather map, showing only a few showers at Atlantic coast points and a few Texas stations, was considered favorable.

A little selling developed with the posting of the eastern belt forecast for fair conditions.

There were no July notices issued and the near months were almost neglected.

Liverpool failed to meet the late New York rally of Thursday and reported an uneventful market.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 2. (AP)—Lower foreign markets than due and some liquidation in advance of the triple holiday caused an opening loss of 5 to 8 points in the cotton-market here today.

Liverpool cables said Bombay selling met continental replacement buying but the English market failed to meet the full advance in domestic prices yesterday.

There was nothing in the overnight news to affect the market on either side. Most traders assumed a more favorable attitude on the far eastern situation and the European difficulties.

July opened at 12.04 bid, October at 12.13, December at 12.16, January at 12.18, March at 12.24, May at 12.26.

Trading took on a typical pre-holiday atmosphere after the start with long intervals between trades. Towards the end of the first half hour near positions gained one to two points from the opening lows but most positions remained at their initial figures.

Oil Swindle Is Bared By Death

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 2 — The sudden death today of an investigator for the state's attorney's office uncovered a move to smash an alleged $25,000 oil swindle.

Roy Arnold, the investigator, was seized with convulsions and died in an automobile near Longview, Tex., while en route to arrest Edward S. Holt on an indictment charging him with forging a deed to valuable oil lands in Rusk county, Tex.

Former Officer Charged

The indictment, returned May 21, charged Holt, a former deputy sheriff of Rusk county, had forged the name of a negro, Grover Smith, and thus had obtained possession of an eighth interest in a 183-acre tract on which there now are 28 flowing oil wells. Seven brothers and sisters of Smith are the other owners.

Smith went to war and on his return did not return to Texas but settled in Philadelphia where he was found after a five-year search.

Counterfeited A Deed

The indictment stated Holt came to Chicago on Jan. 15, 1931, and fraudulently counterfeited a deed and the signature of Smith, later having the deed recorded in Texas.

Found through war department records, Smith has been taken back to Texas to reclaim the property.

An oil company which has leases on the land has $250,000 in royalties deposited in escrow pending settlement of ownership.

On learning of Arnold's death, State's Attorney Thomas Courtney sent another investigator, James Courtney, a distant cousin, to Texas to take up Arnold's work.

Well Discovered In 1930

The indictment said the alleged forgery occurred Jan. 16, 1931, and oil had been discovered on the land in the autumn of 1930. Late last year, a Texas neighbor of the Smith's Patrick O'Quinn, became suspicious of Holt, the indictment continued, and traced Smith, who had been believed killed in the war, to Philadelphia where he was employed as a porter.

O'Quinn relayed his information to Texas authorities and to the state's attorney's office here.

The indictment said the oil field was in an area bounded by London, Overton and Longview.

Slaying Plot At Borger Denied

(By The Associated Press)

STINNETT, July 2.—Denial of a plot against the life of Mayor John R. Miller of Borger featred testimony here today in the ouster trial against Miller and Borger city commissioners.

Henry Fields, election supervisor, testified under cross-examination he did not offer Frank Dice, serving a term in Oklahoma, $1,000 "to get rid of Mayor Miller" and that he did not pay Dice $200 as advance money.

Denied He Had Any Plot

Under examination by E. T. Miller of Amarillo, Fields denied any plot to slay the mayor in his bed. Miller and two candidates of the administration ticket were elected along with two commissioners representing an opposition faction. The suit was filed against all five in order to force a new election.

Testimony also was offered today to refute defense allegations that members of the opposition ticket and its attorney, E. A. Simpson of Amarillo, considered to have indictments returned against city officials.

T. Cole, election clerk, testified he saw Fields on election day, counting one vote twice and not counting certain others.

Negro Being Held In Attempted Assault

ATHENS, July 2. (AP)—A 16-year-old negro was in the Henderson county jail here tonight for an attempted assault on Mrs. Bennie Swinney, 25, at her home eight miles from here today.

Sheriff Jess Sweeten said the negro admitted the attack in addition to several recent similar attempts on women of this section. The suspect was sreturned to jail here late today a few hours after he was rushed to Tyler to keep him from the hands of a small mob which threatened him.

Sheriff Sweeten said 25 or 30 persons made a rush for the negro a few minutes after he was arrested coming out of the brush near Athens.

Mrs. Swinney, wife of a truck driver, was in a hospital. She had been beaten in her struggles to fight off her attacker, Sweeten said.

Statement Made On Growing 'Marijuana'

BROWNSVILLE, July 2. (AP) — "It would be as ridiculous to destroy this hemp because a few persons steal some stalks to smoke as to forbid the raising of wheat, rye and other cereals because they are used in making whisky," says George H. Trout, president of the Texas Hemp corporation in connection with investigation of "marijuana" grown by his firm near Raymondville.

The permission of state and federal authorities has been obtained for growing the hemp and several hundred acres harvested a few weeks ago are ready for decorticating at the plant located about seven miles southeast of Raymondville.

Hemp and marijuana come from the same family, but the narcotic properties of hemp are not near as great as those of marijuana.

"Although an occasional sheriff may become alarmed because of its resemblance to marijuana, it grows unnoticed in fields all over the country and there is no reason why an industry of this kind should be prohibited. There are seventeen experimental plots over the state, but the valley is the scene of the only commercial acreage in Texas, Trout states.

Tiny Bantam Hen Hatches Out Seven Little Ducklings But Fox Terrier Adopts Them

TULSA, Okla., July 2. (AP) — "Banty," a tiny bantam hen owned by Art Garner, hatched out seven fine ducklings but she sat disconsolately on the one remaining egg today because "Pal," Garner's fox terrier, had adopted the brood.

Pal lay guarding the box containing the baby yater fowl most of the day and when they were dumped out to exercise their legs she kept them herded, nosing strays back into the flock.

When they were tired she lay down to "mother" them while the ducklings scrambled over her prone body.

"Shaking Down" Of Prisoners Considered A Serious Business By Law Officers

BY MARY HOWELL

"Shaking down" prisoners is considered a serious task by law enforcement officials of Lubbock.

There are few attempts at breaking from city jail, said C. E. Luce, city recorder and police judge.

"Prisoners who are here for a short term or who are 'laying' out a small fine, don't find it so necessary to try breaks," Luce said.

A Different Story

It is a "different story" at the county jail, where J. P. Posey is jailer.

One of the most dramatic outbreaks in the history of the South Plains took place June 24, 1934, when Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton, who faced charges of murder of Sheriff John C. Moseley of Swisher county, and three other prisoners, Bill Doupe, charged with robbery; Andrew Nelson, charged with burglary, and J. B. Stephens, charged with burglary in Dickens and other counties, broke out of the Lubbock county jail. A posse of hundreds of sheriffs, highway patrolmen and private citizens hunted the quartet of law breakers.

Armed with five pieces of metal, the men crouched in a space two feet wide and four feet long and awaited Chief Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter, who was making the rounds in the jail serving breakfast to the inmates. The four desperadoes had pried and cut an iron strip from the doorway of their cell. They had cut or broken the strip into five pieces, had pried the door of the runaround open and then that to the lobby. A gun Carpenter had drawn was taken from him. The men pinioned Carpenter and then beat him about the face. A brother of Posey, W. S. Posey of the First National bank and Campbell H. Elkins, then assistant justice of the peace, were kidnaped and were later released at Big Spring.

Carved From Soap

In another jail where Stanton, who was later electrocuted in the Texas penitentiary, had bunked, jailers had found a "John Dillinger" revolver, carved from soap. A steel dagger with a needle-like point had been manufactured by the killer. Posey and his family were on a vacation at the time of the break of the Lubbock jail.

Asked if he warned visitors about walking close to the cells when visiting, Posey said that few visitors were taken to cellblock where the cells are located. Instead, there is a visiting cell where prisoners are brought when they "have company."

The Lubbock county jail will accommodate 101 prisoners. The most ever to be in the jail at one time was 98, Posey said. Posey has been jailer four and one-half years.

A former trusty once slipped sawblades to five Huntsville-going men. The trusty broke the blades into lengths of a match box and took them in the cell of four of the men. The other man had been removed because it was believed he had a "case of mumps." The man in the hospital cell had been "slipped" one of the blades but "came clean" and "stooled" to Posey. The trusty was committed to a cell. Finding the "stashed" saw-blades was difficult. Posey finally warned the men they could "either choke-up and not give the blades back in 30 minutes, or go on a bread and water diet for 30 days." He told the men he would come back when one-half hour was gone—for the blades. The four men wrapped the saw blades carefully and put them outside their cell.

Relatives and friends sometimes send presumably neat tubes of toothpaste to the "jail birds" with an inch or two of tooth paste at the top and guitar strings and an abrasive valve paste inserted in the bottom. Often black-jacks are made by wrapping soap in handkerchiefs. Packages are inspected thoroughly at the city and county jail for instruments that would aid in an outbreak. A riot of prisoners with black-jacks made from soap once was staged in the county jail, Posey said.

Three Women Today Freed From Jail

Three of seven women held in the hospital ward of county jail for inspection to determine whether they have venereal contagion were released this morning and the others will be allowed their liberty "in two or three days," said Jas. P. Posey, jailer.

They were jailed several days ago in pursuance of a campaign to rid Lubbock as nearly as possible of the danger of syphilis, gonorrhea, chancroid and other venereal diseases.

Others To Be Nabbed

Others will be nabbed upon the slightest suggestion they "either have venereal diseases or have submitted themselves to possibility of contraction," said the sheriff's department.

They will be placed in quarantine that is so rigorous they can not be released except upon court order or upon order of county health authorities—and then only after blood tests—and they will not be admitted to bail pending appeal in court action, according to the law. They will be given enforced treatment.

Persons questioned at random on Lubbock streets this morning praised invoking of the old law and suggested prostitutes and their associates would make a "wide berth of Lubbock if the drive is continued strictly."

Change In Diet Of Hogs Seen As Cause For Expected Rise In Summer's Pork Prices

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP) — A change in diet for hogs this summer was indicated today by experts at the agriculture department as they predicted prices for porkers the next few months may reach highest levels since 1929.

Corn, usual main stay on the pig pen menu, now is selling for more than wheat in most of the corn belt and wheat supplies from a prospective large crop will be available long before corn is harvested this fall.

Because of this, the agriculture department said "it seems probable that a considerable quantity will be fed to hogs and other livestock during the late summer and early fall before the 1937 corn crop is harvested."

Government livestock experts said a pound of ground or crushed wheat had about the same feeding value as a pound of corn but seldom was used because wheat usually is higher than corn.

Additional Tax Dodgers Named

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — Congressional investigators heard from a treasury attorney today that seven individuals had saved more than $1,750,000 by splitting income among 154 trusts.

Sixty-four of these trusts, said sandy-haired young Paul W. Bruton of the internal revenue bureau, were established by Louis Baustein of Baltimore, Md., for his wife and three children. He estimated the income tax savings in this instance at $400,000 to $573,222 for 1934 alone.

Sold To Standard Oil

Bruton said Baustein was the organizer of Lord Baltimore Filling Stations inc. and the American Oil company.

In October 1934, he continued, Baustein created 64 trusts, transferred 277,500 shares of oil stock to them, and promptly sold the stock to Standard Oil. The profit, Bruton said, was $3,697,243, and resulted in taxable income of $1,543,572.

Under questioning by Representative Vinson (D-Ky), the treasury attorney acklowledged Baustein had paid a $500,000 gift tax on the $1,500,000 that went into the trusts.

"That looks to me like a pretty sizeable tax," the Kentuckian remarked.

In the midst of Bruton's discussion of various methods of employing trust funds to reduce tax liability, Under Secretary Roswell Magill of the treasury said a legislative "plug" for this revenue loophole is being devised. It would eliminate exemptions allowed personal trusts, he said.

Each trust now may take a $1,000 exemption.

By reciprocal trusts, usually created between husbands and wives for the others' benefit, Bruton said Robert A. Stranahan of Ottawa Hills, Ohio, and his brother Frank D. Stranahan of Perrysburg, Ohio, and their wives, saved $701,227 in 1932, 1933 and 1934. He listed 46 trusts for them.

Robert Stranahan, it was said, was president of the Champion Spark Plug company of Toledo and Frank Stranahan its vice-president.

New Republic In Doubt In Voting

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, July 2. — Political observers set the odds in favor of President Eamon De Valera's return to power as Ireland balloted today on a new parliament and a constitution designed to divorce the Free State from Great Britain.

The question of the dynamic New York-born president's majority, however, was uncertain. Huge rallies addressed by De Valera and his chief opponent, former President William T. Cosgrave, last night ended the quietest and most orderly election campaign in Irish history.

Poll Expected To Be Light

The poll was expected to be light. The final result is not likely to be known until early next week.

There are 138 seats to be filled for the new parliament under the government - sponsored constitution which would give the Free State the ancient name of Eire (pronounced airy) and make the country a republic in all but name.

nament and at the same time provide transportation money to get him to the scene of the next one.

All in all, though, I did pretty good that winter. I was well up with the top-flight in nearly every tournament.

I finished fourth in the Pasadena Open, after leading the field with my fellow Texan, Ray Mangrum, with a first round 69; tied for third place in the Los Angeles Open, and won the Phoenix Open.

Every Penny Counts

I collected a total of about $2,200 in prize money. That might sound like quite a sum for a few months' work, but it's not so much when you consider that it costs in the neighborhood of $2,000 for two people to make the tour. I had been married the previous spring to LaVerne Fields and my bride accompanied me through California.

We didn't have to watch each dollar. We had to watch each penny. We figured the dollars were big enough to take care of themselves.

After playing in the True Temper tournament at New Orleans I left the caravan and reported to the St. Louis Country club where I succeeded Art Longworth as professional.

My duties kept me close to the club during 1932, although I managed to get away long enough to play in the Open at Fresh Meadows, Flushing, L. I. I would rather not mention my score. It was that bad.

I returned to St. Louis most disheartened, but determined to improve my game and do better in the following open. I did.

But that's another story.
