Judge Kirby May Seek Governorship

Next Move In Europe's Little War Game Up To Germany

First Attention Is Focused On Visit To Rome

Czechs Prove To Be Spot For Danger; Party Clashes Are Being Feared On May Day

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 30—It is Adolf Hitler's move in the European game which may involve war or another change in the map.

Demonstrations Banned

There, with May day to be celebrated tomorrow, the government banned political demonstrations in an effort to prevent possible racial and party clashes at a time when Konrad Henlein, leader of the country's minority of 3,500,000 Germans, is demanding a change in the nation's foreign policy and autonomy for his followers.

But the prime action next week is focused not in Praha but in Rome. Benito Mussolini there holds the balance of power, with one hand clasping Hitler's in the Rome-Berlin line-up, and the other clasping British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's under the Anglo-Italian accord.

Hitler Going To Rome

Hitler is going to Rome Tuesday to renew and, some think, to strengthen, the German-Italian working agreement which may become an answer to the highly dramatized renewal of the long-standing Anglo-French accord to work together if Germany should become a menace.

Another point concerns what Hitler may be willing to do about Czechoslovakia.

France and Great Britain, which yesterday concluded a two-day conference, have mapped three-degree steps in an effort to achieve a peaceful solution of the Czechoslovak minority problem.

Seek Modifications

These are:

Political—Approaches to Berlin and Praha to seek modification of German demands on Czechoslovakia and Czechoslovak acceptance of as many as possible, consistent with national honor and independence.

Economic — Preferential trade agreements with Czechoslovakia, if diplomacy should fail, to free that nation of economic dependence on

Britain's Average Citizen Spends 2 Months Of Year Working For John Bull

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 30.—Britain's average "Charley Citizen" with a $2,500 a year job in a city office, a wife, two children and a $4,000 suburban home works two months each year for the government.

Professional calculators estimated today that he pays one-sixth of his income in taxes, figuring in recently announced increases in income and other taxes.

For a start the government takes $50 annual income tax.

Another $60 based on the "rated" value of his home is assessed.

Local government authorities take about $125 in "rates"—local taxes to maintain police, streets, poorhouses.

On top of that comes the water "rate" averaging $10 annually.

The early morning cup of tea his wife brings him in bed is already taxed like the cigarette he smokes while dressing and the match he uses to light it.

But he has the patriotic satisfaction of knowing that one-fourth of the 48 cents a pound he pays for tea goes partly to buy airplanes, guns and battleships.

At breakfast time the radio music reminds him he pays $2.50 yearly for the privilege of owning a "wireless" set.

Jim Says Ma's Future Rests With People

Indications Are That Former Woman Governor Again Will Seek Executive's Office

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 30.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson intimated today the question whether his wife would be a candidate for governor this year might not yet have been fully answered.

A move to "draft" former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, despite her recent statement she would not be a candidate, was a feature of the political week in Texas.

Other Highspots

Other highspots in the gubernatorial contest were:

Formal opening of Attorney General William McCraw at Arlington.

A platform declaration by Karl Crowley, who resigned as solicitor of the postoffice department, to make the race.

Entry of W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth business man and radio entertainer, which brought the number of contestants to 12.

Kirby Might Run

A statement District Judge H. Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck, who granted an injunction in unsuccessful efforts to save the life of a condemned slayer, might run to insure "justice" in the future.

Mr. Ferguson said Mrs. Ferguson had not changed her previous statement but had noted meetings were urging her to seek another term and receiving many telegrams and letters of similar purpose.

"Having made her statement, it is up to the people to show the demand for her to change it," he said.

He said that "if she runs" her platform would be that of the Ferguson Forum, his weekly paper, a principal plank which calls for a general sales tax to pay pensions to all persons over 65 years of age.

Third Term No Issue

He added he thought the people wouldn't be especially concerned over the fact Mrs. Ferguson, if she ran, would be trying to break the precedent that no person ever has been governor of Texas three times. She retired after her second term ending in 1935.

Under the election law, Mrs. Ferguson's friends could make her a

Thousands Here For Big Fiesta Held At Tech

Infused with a holiday spirit, high school students of West Texas and eastern New Mexico thronged to Texas Technological college Saturday for a full day of entertainment that ended with firing of the final gun of the Sul Ross-Tech football game Saturday night.

They came early and stayed late the 4,400 seniors, athletes and faculty members that attended as guests of the college and were among the 9,000 persons that thronged into Tech stadium for the climax of the third annual Athletic Fiesta program.

Waiting Early Saturday

Some were waiting at the gymnasium when H. T. Williams, chairman of Fiesta arrangements, arrived there early Saturday morning.

They wandered into the museum and other buildings on the campus, witnessed motion pictures and viewed business exhibits on program of the business conference to which Tech was host, saw Tech-West Texas State Teachers college tennis matches, and the Lubbock-Clovis, N. M. baseball game Saturday afternoon, and joined in the cheering stadium throng Saturday night.

Cheers were not all reserved for touchdowns of the fighting Red Raiders.

Tableaux Presented

Striking all-white tableaux by the Tech women's physical education department drew enthusiastic applause. Approximately 70 students in snow-white apparel, with painted white skin, remained statuesquely

Controversy On Vaughn's Death Being Aroused

Judge Kirby Declares That He Might Seek Executive's Post To Deal Out Real Justice

(By The Associated Press)

GROESBECK, April 30. — District Judge H. Fountain Kirby, critical of the action taken to set aside an injunction he granted which would have delayed further the execution of John W. Vaughn, said today he may run for governor "in order that justice may be done."

The picturesque jurist was undecided whether he would institute contempt proceedings. Vaughn, granted a week's reprieve after electrical equipment in the death chamber failed, died last night for the slaying of a San Antonio policeman.

Injunction Set Aside

District Judge W. W. McCrory of San Antonio last night set aside Judge Kirby's injunction, holding the Groesbeck judge had no jurisdiction. Judge Kirby's injunction had restrained the execution until a sanity hearing could be held.

Regarding the action, Judge Kirby said:

"When it reaches the place where a district judge grants an order upon a proper application that a condemned man be given a hearing to determine whether or not he is insane as provided by the laws of this state and the governor orders another district judge to dissolve the writ without a hearing and the accused is executed, it is high time that there would be a governor elected who will accord every person a fair and impartial hearing in order that justice may be done.

"I may be a candidate myself. As to whether or not an application will be filed to hold anyone for contempt of this court, I do not at this time know."

Man Is Held For Threatening The Life Of President

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30. (AP)—Keith H. Rapp, 29-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., resident was ordered held in default of $25,000 bond today on a charge of threatening the life of President Roosevelt.

U. S. Commissioner L. R. Featherstone ordered Rapp's immediate removal to California for trial.

The salesman denied at the hearing that he threatened to kill the president but testified he "resisted a very faint impulse to kill him."

Russia Will Prove Boasts Of Power

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, April 30. — A May day manifesto issued by the communist international today called upon socialist and trade union internationals "to form a united workers' front against Japanese, German and Italian aggression."

The appeal was published as thousands of troops and hundreds of war weapons were massed in Moscow for Soviet Russia's military display in Red square tomorrow in celebration of May day.

Unusual Significance

"The May day review of revolutionary forces of the international proletariat has unusual and militant significance this year," the manifesto said. "Never since the World war has there been such a sharp international situation as at present."

That tomorrow's demonstration would be a show of national might rather than display of proletarianism was emphasized in newspapers which referred to the parade as a "review of our mobilized readiness."

May day preparations confirmed rumors of a further purge in the red army, when the names of three high officers were omitted from orders in connection with the parade.

Germany Planning War

The May day manifesto said "one fourth of humanity" was at war and that Germany was threatening Czechoslovakia, France, Lithuania, Belgium, Switzerland, The Netherlands, the Balkans and the Scandinavian countries in an effort to get raw materials and manpower "for a great war" against Soviet Russia.

Great Britain also was denounced and accused of waiting to share China with Japan and "clandestinely directing German fascism 'eastward against the country of the Soviet."

The manifesto said the responsibility of the United States, Britain and France in the various conflicts lay in their tolerance of fascist ag-

Three Persons Are Killed In Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

GOOSE CREEK, April 30—Three persons were killed when an airplane crashed into a field about four miles north of here today.

The three dead were identified as James Kelso Stubbs, 20, the pilot; Davis Leroy Arnett, 21, of Baytown, and Miss Patti Mosser, 20, a niece of Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul of Texas, of Baytown.

Up For Pleasure Ride

Stubbs and Arnett were employed as gaugers at the Baytown refinery. Miss Mosser was a senior in Lee Junior college of Goose Creek. The three had gone up for a pleasure ride.

R. R. Brown, who saw the crash, said the plane seemed to be about 1,000 feet high when the motor sputtered several times. Then the motor seemed to die, Brown said, and the plane nosed over into a dive, plunging almost straight for the ground.

The plane struck a wire fence, then gouged into the ground. The craft was demolished, the motor hurled backward into the passengers' cockpit. All three occupants were badly mangled.

Light Rains Are Reported In Plains Sections Last Night

Rainfall, measured at only a trace at the Lubbock Municipal airport, fell in Lubbock when the sun shone about midafternoon Saturday.

Later that night skies became clouded; a moderate wind continued to blow; and temperatures remained normal.

Official forecast for West Texas was for continued cloudy weather today.

The Santa Fe railway dispatchers reported a half-inch of rain at Amarillo, with the precipitation continuing at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night. Other reports were: showers at Plainview and Hale Center; and an eighth of an inch at Canyon. Slaton reported no rain.

Fort Worth and Denver dispatchers said Lockney recieved a shower.

DELEGATES CHOSEN

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today named Texas delegates to the 60th annual conference of the American Library association at Kansas City, Mo., June 13-18.

Jailer Stabbed When 3 Escape

(By The Associated Press)

MONTAGUE, April 30. — Three men, one a brother of the notorious Raymond Hamilton, made a successful break from the Montague county jail here tonight after stabbing the jailer.

Circumstances of the break were not immediately learned, but officers throughout the North Texas area were notified and warned that the men were armed.

The three were Floyd Hamilton, brother of Raymond Hamilton, Huron Walters and Erwin Goodspeed.

Son Of Sheriff Cut

Kenneth Chandler, son of the sheriff, Mrs. H. T. Chandler, was cut with a knife by one of the men. He was not seriously hurt.

After overpowering the jailer, the three armed themselves with an automatic shotgun and a revolver taken from the jail arsenal.

Hamilton and Walters were being held in connection with the recent looting of the Ringgold drug store at Ringgold. At the time nearly the entire stock of the store was taken.

Goodspeed had been convicted of horse theft in Wichita county.

SAN ANGELO, April 30 (AP)—Last year's class A band winners in the western division, Abilene and Lubbock, returned this week-end to retain their laurels in the 10th annual band and orchestra contests here, Thursday through today.

Each was placed in the first division in the concert playing and orchestra events, with Abilene also landing in the superior class in the marching contest. San Angelo placed third in concert work and orchestra, receiving first division placement in marching.

Class B top honors were awarded to Wink, Cisco, Monahans and Slaton. Pecos and Crane were high in class C. Ballinger, Grandfalls and Stephenville were placed in class D's top division, and Abilene and Lubbock in E's top flight.

Murphey was well known throughout the ranch section. His widow and three daughters survive, Mrs. Tommie Boothe of Sweetwater and Mary Elizabeth and Joyce Murphey of Barnhart.

Norman Thomas Claims He Was Kidnaped By Jersey Cops; Action Is Planned

(By The Associated Press)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 30. — Norman Thomas, national chairman of the socialist party, returned to Journal square tonight from where he was seized earlier by police as he attempted to make a speech and charged he was "kidnaped by officals."

"I was not arrested but kidnaped by officals some in uniform and some not," Thomas said in a statement. "I was forcibly put on a ferry boat for New York as were others not even guilty of the offense of coming to Jersey City to make a speech. I have every intention of taking whatever legal action is possible against Mayor Frank Hague and his grand fascist administration."

"We Want Thomas"

A crowd of 300 milled about a local newspaper office where Thomas made his statement and shouted loudly "we want Thomas, we want Thomas."

Size Of Ships Being Argued

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30. — Consultations between the United States and Britain to decide on the size of the new super-battleship each will build have reached a deadlock, officials said today.

Britain insists on a size and limit of 42,000 tons.

The United States insists that in the present state of uncertainty as to the exact nature of Japan's intentions, no limit at all should be set.

Wants 45,000 Tons

The United States, as testified to before the senate naval affairs committee, wants battleships of 45,000 tons each, but she has not formally informed Britain of this fact. She has simply said no limit should be fixed.

The United States' consultants, Hershel V. Johnson, counselor of the London embassy, and Captain Russell Wilson, naval attache, met once with the British following formal announcement by both countries, dated March 31, of their intention to invoke the "escalator" clause in the London naval treaty of 1935 and build battleships bigger than the 35,000 tons the treaty allowed.

That meeting disclosed a complete disagreement between the two delegations. The British are now await-

Ten-Year Prison Sentence Is Given Man In Slaying Case

CLARKSVILLE, April 30. (AP)—Gene Hill was convicted and given a ten-year penitentiary sentence here today on a charge accusing him of the death of his niece, Martha Durrum, 14, near Detroit, Tex., in August, 1936.

Hill had been given 15 years on conviction last summer but he appealed the case.

Man Satisfied With His Lot

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, April 30—Delmar Deforest Bryant, 80-year-old philosopher whose writings won him a $14,850 legacy, hobbled back to his tar-papered shack today to continue the studies interrupted by a legal inquiry into his wellbeing.

County Judge Jerome Fisher, who had ordered a hearing on being told Bryant was living in a $20 shack despite the allowance of $100 a month from his small fortune, ruled late yesterday he was being given proper care.

Protested Inquiry

Bryant had protested the inquiry, declaring the car given him by his 50-year-old French-Canadian wife, Leontined, and a foster son, Oliver Mueller, was "the best in the world."

"I'm very happy," he said. "I'm going to continue my writing and studying. I'm still looking forward. Age will never have a place in my philosophy of living."

Bryant's legacy was left by a grateful reader, a Norwegian industrialist, in 1934.

Evidenced No Interest

Bryant, a patriarchal figure, had evidenced no interest in his money, and curious listeners thronged the courtroom to to hear the amazing story of his life.

He was identified today as a cousin of William Cullen Bryant, the American poet. Nine of his books on religion and philosophy were published

Lending Plans Being Pushed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30—Congress' aversion to doing much about anti-trust or other controversial matters at this session became manifest increasingly today and administration leaders concentrated on whipping President Roosevelt's lending-spending program into shape for an early vote.

Informed legislators said primary concern of most members was to complete action on still pending phases of the $4,512,000,000 lending-spending program, clean up the tax revision bill and a few other measures and get back home to their political fence-mending.

Talk Of Adjournment

Talk of adjournment between May 15 and June 15 raised an obstacle to action this year on the abolition of bank holding companies, a field in which the president asked prompt legislation in his monopoly message yesterday. But legislators generally agreed there was a good chance of funds being voted, as Mr. Roosevelt requested for an investigation of the "concentration of economic control."

Many members expressed belief the adjournment urge precluded any chance of forcing a vote this

Roosevelt Rides Calm Seas Of The South Atlantic Today Hunting For Game Fish

(By The Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 30.—Away from the grind of official conferences and economic planning, President Roosevelt rode the calm seas of the South Atlantic aboard the trim cruiser Philadelphia today on a vacation that may take him to the West Indies.

Stocked with the latest newspapers and White House reports on reaction to his lengthy anti-monopoly message, the nation's number 1 sailor boarded the new 10,000-ton cruiser at the navy yard and headed southward amid the booming of 21-gun salutes from the Philadephia and navy yard battery.

Similar honors were paid shortly afterward as the Philadelphia, escorted by the new 1,500-ton destroyer Fanning, eased down the channel past Fort Moultrie to the sea.

The first radio dispatch from the Philadelphia received early tonight at the Charleston navy yard, said:

"Philadelphia headed southward at 22 knots. Clear and

Gaines County Voters Oppose Sale Of Beer In Election

SEMINOLE, April 30 (Special)—Late tonight enough returns from the Gaines county beer election had been received here to assure that the county would remain dry, said Mrs. Lora Brown McAlpin, county clerk.

With 11 boxes reporting, the vote was 404 for to 538 against the sale of beer. Returns of four boxes, with an estimated total vote of "100 at the most" had not been received here tonight and would not be, Mrs. McAlpin said.

The election was the third attempt to legalize the sale of liquor in Gaines county in recent years.

It Just Goes To Show That Sometimes It Might Be A Good Idea To Check The Bet

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 30. — A temporary restraining order was on file in superior court today against Lou Brice, brother of comedienne Fanny Brice preventing him from collecting $150,000 he won, records showed, from Harry T. Clifton of England in a single hand of stud poker.

The order, issued by Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson, help up payment of checks of $50,000 on a New York bank and $100,000 drawn on a London bank.

Named with Brice were John Does, who sat in on the game that took place in a Long Beach hotel sometime ago.

The action complained the money was won by "trick and device" and that Brice did not have sufficient funds to cover the amount, had he lost.

Clifton, Attorney Giesler said, staked the fortune on two pair. He explained was only "slightly conversant" with the game of poker. What Brice held could not be learned.

Man Whose Faith In Miracles Finally Let Him Down Leaves Prison Walls In Bare, Pine Box

By GLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HUNTSVILLE, April 30. — Texas' big oak electric chair got gibbon-jawed Johnny Vaughn today.

The man who believed in miracles said the gift of gab went to his death carrying his own bouquet and wondering if the "public that put me here—especially four of them—are ready to carry theirs."

Had Gift Of Speech

Johnny had the gift of speech. Nine days ago he talked so long the chair broke down. Johnny lived nine more days because of the break—nine of the most hectic days in the history of the state prison.

But at 12:33 a. m. today Johnny climbed up and rode to eternity in the seat that Raymond Hamilton and Joe Palmer and that phantom host of killers in Texas' last decade used to leave this pale.

Johnny said he forgave his enemies and that his execution was a "murder" by the public for he had not killed a cop.

Holds Three Big Roses

He twisted three big red roses in his hands as he talked. And a mere handful of spectators twisted and squirmed as Johnny puffed on a big cigar, apparently hoping once again to escape the chair as he did night before last and seven nights before that.

He fought to his last breath, with his wit and his brain and his luck, to live. He clung fondly to each phrase as the words flowed from his lips, knowing as they echoed from the death house walls that Johnny Vaughn, who was convicted of slaying a San Antonio motor cop, was making his last spiel. He knew the longer he talked the longer he would live.

Scorchingly, Johnny denounced the society that condemned him, and said he hoped his death would destroy "what is desorying me—the electric chair."

Makes A Real Speech

Johnny waved away efforts to induce him to stop talking, saying "I want to make a real speech."

He did the unusual. He said the Lord's prayer.

Then the silence of the death house was broken only by the whine of the electric chair's generator and the clatter of a pencil a reporter dropped on the concrete floor.

Johnny blew a smoke ring.

"Gentlemen," he managed to say, "as I told you last week in here, you are going to see an innocent man executed. Those of you who were here last night saw another innocent man (Johnny Banks, Brazoria negro) die. That boy had a cell next to me and prayed with me and when they took him last night I was crying."

Indicating the chair, he said:

Built For Criminals

"There's no doubt this chair was built for criminals. Tonight you see a man who is not a criminal—not a murderer. I faced death the other night and told you I was innocent. I would not be standing here now and making my peace with my maker by telling a lie if I were guilty.

"I want the people of Texas—the mothers and fathers—to destroy this chair so their sons will not have to sit in it through some false manipulation."

Vaughn rambled on and on until his cigar went out. The warden gave him another match because Johnny said, "I want a few more draws, Warden, then I'll go with you."

Under Terrific Strain

"I'm sure these people here are under a terrific strain, but I am in a tougher one," he said.

As he was seated in the chair, he sobbed softly, "please put something over my face."

A guard did, placing a half length leather mask to hide Johnny's tears.

Then they turned on the electricity and Johnny Vaughn died.

His death climaxed a series of spectacular events that began when the chair broke down nine days ago and Vaughn and Banks escaped death, Vaughn after he had talked for 10 minutes standing in fornt of the chair.

An Act Of God

Johnny said the break was an act of God.

Hundreds of persons rose in his defense.

Night before last, Johnny was given a 24-hour reprieve after District Judge W. C. McCrory of San Antonio dissolved the writ of injunction late yesterday and Johnny learned over the radio last night that his number was up.

He left the prison this morning—in a pine box—the man whose faith in miracles a miracle had let live nine more days.

Third Suspect In Theft Of Cattle Is Returned Here

Sheriff Tom Abel and a deputy, Grady Harrist, and Ches Gore, Terry county sheriff, returned to Lubbock late Saturday with a third suspect in recent thefts of cattle here and near Brownfield and with four stolen cows.

The suspect, about 20, was transferred here from Vernon, then removed to the Terry county jail by Sheriff Gore. The first two suspects arrested are being held here in the county jail. It was indicated officially that charges probably would be filed today or Monday.

Two cows stolen from a resident of east of Lubbock were returned as was one stolen northwest of Lubbock and one stolen from near Brownfield.

Only one cow stolen recently from Lubbock had not been located. The animal was one stolen from Lubbock County Judge J. J. Dillard.

One of the cows taken from the Brownfield man had been butchered and sold at Oklahoma City. The four returned were located: one at Frederick, Okla.; one at Sentinal, Okla.; one at Wichita Falls; and one at Burkburnett.

The suspect taken to Brownfield is a former resident of Vineyard and recently lived here.

At a business conference for commercial teachers and officials of West Texas schools Saturday morning more than 250 persons were present for a program on "Improvement of Methods of Teaching Commercial Subjects."

Addresses by W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock public schools, and Dr. D. D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Tech, were highlights of the morning program.

"We were agreeably surprised at the attendance throughout the show," said T. C. Root, professor of business administration.

Numerous committee meetings will be called this week to work out a definite program for the district American Legion convention May 21-22 at which National Commander Daniel J. Doherty is to speak, according to announcement Saturday by A. C. Jackson, commander of Allen Bros. post.

Recessed meeting of the city commission probably will be called for Monday afternoon to act on a proposed livestock zoning ordinance for Lubbock, Mayor Carl E. Slaton said Saturday. Action on the ordinance was deferred at the regular commission meeting Thursday because of absence from the city of City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley. He returned late Saturday from a business trip to Houston.

Reminder that annual dairy permit renewals for the next year are due not later than Monday was issued Saturday by Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist. Fees range from $5 to $30, depending upon the number of cows at the individual dairy. Only 14 permits had been issued Saturday but the total likely will exceed 50, officials said.

A three-legged colt born April 3 is the possession of C. H. McInturff, formerly of Littlefield but now of Guthrie, Okla., according to a letter received Saturday by R. A. Leonard, residing at Spade north of Anton, his brother-in-law. The left front leg of the colt is missing, the letter said.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Watson of Morton and Rev. and Mrs. John W. Hendrix of Levelland are in Birmingham, Ala., attending a general Methodist conference and will return via Florida and Louisiana. Both Mr. Watson and Mr. Hendrix are Methodist pastors.

A. W. Hauge, of Dallas, state manager of the Business Men's Assurance association, will be the principal speaker at the seventh of a series of special monthly luncheon programs for South Plains Chapter of the Texas association of Life Underwriters at Hilton hotel May 11, according to announcement Saturday by Chas. A. Whitacre, chapter president. His subject will be, "Sales Methods and Present Day Conditions."

Firemen were called at 4:50 o'clock Saturday afternoon to the W. C. McCelvey residence at 2021 Fifteenth street where a motor in an electric refrigerator became overheated. No damage was reported by firemen.

Two Texas Technological college senior students have been appointed to home economics teaching positions for next school year. Miss Barbara Green from Portales, N. M., will teach in Fluaring Springs, and Elouise Wilkes of Lubbock route 6, in Cooper High school.

Gregory, officer in charge of the Lubbock corps. Subject of the first lecture will be "Creation of Adam." Others are scheduled each night through Friday. Gregory invited the public to attend.

Southern Methodism's Sanction Of Union Declared Illegal In High Court

Highest Tribunal Of Church Is Called On To Offer Decision

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 30. (AP)—Southern Methodism's sanction of union with other branches of the denomination was attacked as improper and illegal today in arguments before the church's "supreme court."

The union, which would close a breach made between North and South Methodists in 1844 by negro slavery, was approved yesterday 434 to 26 by the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist church, South.

Denny In Opposition

Bishop Collins Denny, 84-year-old leader of the forces which fought unification before the conference, and his son, Collins, jr., former assistant general of Virginia, represented anti-unionists before the nine-man judicial council, highest tribunal of the church.

Representing the affirmative or unification group were Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas, Tex.; J. T. Ellison, Centerville, Ala.; Judge Nathan Newby, Los Angeles; Judge Hugh A. Locke, Birmingham; Dr. T. D. Ellis, Louisville, Ky.; and Judge Walter McElreath, Atlanta.

Remain For Hearing

Headquarters of the Laymen's Organization for Preservation of the Southern Methodist church were closed today, but many of the members remained for the hearing before the judicial council.

Council approval of the merger plan would be the southern church's final step in unification.

Widespread withdrawal of members has been forecast by this group, with estimates ranging to 500,000.

A spokesman for the laymen's organization said "we know the Methodists of the south are opposed to this union, and we don't intend to give up."

April Building Falls Short Of Figure Set In March

April closed its building permit records at noon Saturday with issuance of two permits sending the total to $216,989, a little more than $25,000 short of the March high.

The week's aggregate climbed to $69,220, according to Jim Reid, city building inspector, and the year's to $761,255.72.

J. Walter Thompson, owner, and C. B. Harris, contractor, received a permit for a one-story frame and siding residence at 2406 Twenty-second street at a cost of $3,400. Another permit for $400 was issued.

T. W. Montgomery, Out For Representative, Announces His Platform On Saturday

T. W. Montgomery, member of the Wilson public school faculty and who Friday announced his candidacy for state representative for the 119th legislative district, today is making his formal statement to the voters.

"I wish to present my candidacy to the voters of Lubbock, Crosby, Garza, Dickens, Lynn, Gaines, Yoakum, Cochran, and Terry counties, the area of the 119th district," he said.

College Work At Tech

"I was reared as a native Texan and was educated in the Texas public free schools. All of my college work was done at Texas Technological college and I was graduated with a bachelor's degree in 1931. I have been teaching the last 10 years within this representative district.

"Having taught government and economics and made a studp of the economics and made a study of the our state, I feel the duties and responsibilities associated with the office.

"I am coming out strictly on my own initiative in the name of the common people, not for the interest of any corporation or company. My aim is to give the greatest amount of service to the greatest number of people and to execute faithfully the duties of a legislator, if I am elected.

Platform Announced

"My platform:

"There is an urgent demand for rigid economy in the administration of government. There should be elimination of waste, the abolition of needless boards, commissions and agencies. I advocate grouping and consolidation of similar agencies.

"I favor the old age pension and will cooperate with the legislature to work out a plan to finance it. This is a mandate from the last legislature, a referendum of the people. Now it is a constitutional law and urgently must be carried out in the interest of the aged.

"I favor abolishment of the poll-tax law and a substitute of free registration of voters. Poll-tax came as a consequence of the Civil War sectionalism and the 'grandfather clause' and today it hinders and prevents a full-fledged vote of all the citizens. With free registration, all people above 21 may vote, making for complete democracy."

Booster For Education

"Realizing that education is the cornerstone of a democratic government, I believe the amount per capita for each school child should be $22 in order to lighten the burden of local taxation and in order to extend education upward.

"Our college will continue to need favorable legislation to grow and continue to develop. I realize our West Texas no longer is a frontier, but one of the fastest-growing educational and industrial sections of the state. Because it is only in its infancy in this respect, it will constantly need careful legislation on a par with other districts of the state."

List Of Persons To Serve As Jurors Is To Be Drawn

Orders were received here Saturday to draw the list of names of persons to serve as jurors in the regular May term of United States District court which will be convened May 16, according to Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district clerk.

She said the list would be selected Monday on Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's orders.

Rumors had been heard here that the term would be delayed, but they were branded as unfounded.

Yellow Sheets Seen At Tech

Mysterious appearance of "yellow sheets" flinging unsigned accusations against an alleged secret student political organization at Texas Technological college again indicated Saturday that student election time is near.

For several years, the anonymous sheets have been distributed in the week preceding student elections. They sometimes accuse certain students of membership in a so-called "Alamo club" but never indicate who are members of the group opposing the alleged club.

Will Not Be So Mild

Threat that "our next sheet will not be so mild" concluded the typewritten page of accusations, threats, and urging of students "to arms." The sheets accused the alleged "Alamo club" of ranrodding nominations; of "Hitler-ite" tactics; and of underhanded methods in placing their candidates in office.

The election will be conducted by secret ballot from 8 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p. m. Wednesday. Ballot boxes will be located in the administration, main engineering, home economics and agricultural buildings.

Parks Withdraws

Maxine Fry from Floydada, student president, said Saturday Bill Parks from Pampa, who had been nominated for head yell leader, had withdrawn. The administration council had ruled that to be a candidate he must sign a written statement that he would attend both terms of summer school in order to secure sufficient semester hours for eligibility.

A "party ticket" has been listed on placards upon which are the following names of candidates: Clytus Parris from Wilson, for president; Merle Haynes, Hobbs, N. M., for vice-president; Queenelle Sawyer, Brownfield, for secretary-treasurer; Bill Bratton, Pampa, for head yell leader.

Other candidates are James Huffman, from Grapevine, listed on bulletins as an "independent candidate" for president; Wayne Vaughn from Perryton, vice president; Lynn Bain from Plainview, Mary Beth Whiteman from Brady, and Eron Gafford from Panhandle, for secretary-treasurer; A. B. Murphy from Caro, representative to the athletic council.

Aged Veteran Will Be Honored Today

GREENVILLE, April 30. (AP)—A Confederate veteran who said his life was spared when he gave a lodge sign to federal captors who had forced him to dig his own grave will be honored tomorrow on his 99th birthday.

Friends of R. R. (Democratic Bob) Williams planned to celebrate at Cumby, Hopkins county, in an all-day meeting.

Williams, a former member of the Texas legislature, is one of three surviving members of the Joseph E. Johnston camp of Confederate veterans here.

Most Exciting Memory

He said his most exciting memory of the Civil war was the escape from death at Baker Springs, Ark. He rose to rank as major.

For 28 years he served as public official of Hopkins county, from justice of the peace to election as state representative in 1900. He was reelected in 1912 and 1914. The high point of his political career was in 1908 when he entered the run-off for governor against T. M. Campbell and was defeated.

DEER GOES TO TOWN

LLANO (AP)—A year old buck deer recently strolled into Llano from nearby hills, spent the day begging peanuts and peering at himself in the show windows of Main street and then bedded down for the night on the sidewalk. Townsfolk loaded him into a truck and hauled him to a ranch where he was released.

"Why Did I Come To College?" Is A Big Question Now Being Asked On Campus

By MARY BETH CLARK

Now the school year is narrowing, the annual collegiate question mark is growing.

"Just why did I come to college?"

An unofficial poll, taken at random, disclosed:

Mother Behind It All

"My mother was behind it all. She started thinking in 1925, when Tech's doors first blew open. Small towns offer slight opportunity for development of personality, and I must be more than a housewife—even though I may bump into a husband here."

That was from a senior in arts and sciences.

"That's what I'd like to know, why did I come?" That from a home economics senior. "I woke up with the crazy idea—and here I am!"

"My parents thought this would be a nice place for me to grow up in," said a sophomore girl.

There Are Advantages

There are advantages on the other side of the fence, however.

"It was the easiest way to avoid marrying the fellow I didn't love anymore."

One coed "came because I believed I could take a trip around the world after graduation, because I was sure I would make plenty of money after getting a degree."

"I was just too young to do anything else," another hazarded.

Naturally, most came because they wanted to study—at least some.

MEOW SAVES HOUSE

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Tinky, an Angora cat, saved Police Lieutenant H. A. White's home from flood damage at 4 a. m.

Tinky heard water gurgling in the bathroom so he scratched and yowled at White's bedroom door until his master woke up. A broken pipe was rapidly flooding the place.

Air Mail Meet Will Be Held

Committee to represent Lubbock chamber of Commerce at a breakfast in Big Spring Monday at which efforts will be made to coordinate efforts urging establishment of regular air mail and passenger service between Amarillo and San Antonio was appointed here Saturday.

The Big Spring meeting originally was set for May 13, but was advanced to give more time for effort before national airmail week May 15-21.

Representatives Named

Representing Lubbock at the breakfast will be C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, Lee Hubby, A. F. Holt, Ray Hinchey, A. B. Davis and Dick Shinkle.

Expectation is that almost every town on the route of the proposed line also will participate in the conference. Among others are Amarillo, Plainview, Big Spring, San Angelo and San Antonio.

Holt plans to fly to the meeting. Others from Lubbock will leave by automobile from the city hall at 8 a. m.

Sub-Committees Named

Announcement also was made that sub-committees for various of the four projects which comprise the chamber's program also have been named.

They include:

Participation in airmail pickup test—Postmaster Amos Howard, C. A. Gammill, Vernon Herndon, John R. Green and Holt.

To seek airport improvements—Dr. B. B. Hutchinson, Robert Bean, W. H. Rodgers, Hub Jones, Marlin R. Smith, jr., W. B. Price, Clent Breedlove and Holt.

To seek designation as intermediate army port: H. H. Griffith, Robert J. Allen, Price and Breedlove.

TO CLOSE GAP

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Third and last job to be let by the Texas highway department for its road from Carlsbad to El Paso has been let, it was learned here. The final gap is 12.5 miles from North Mill to Pine Springs. Grading is about complete from the New Mexico line south of here to North Mill, a 7-mile stretch. Work is also under way from Pine Springs to Van Horn junction, where paving to El Paso begins. North of the Texas state line New Mexico has nearly completed grading and bridge construction is under way.

Automotive exports for the United States in July of last year showed an increase of about 73 per cent as compared with July of 1936.

Rewards Offered For Killers Of California Women Hiked

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—Rewards offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who murdered Mrs. W. G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, in West Texas a month ago totaled $8,305 tonight.

Governor James V. Allred said he had received an offer of $5,000 from the city manager of Berkeley, Calif., in behalf of a powder manufacturing company (Atlas).

The governor said the company retained the right to be "the sole judge as to whom the reward or any part of it shall be paid."

Students Stage Annual Affair

LEVELLAND, April 30. (Special)—Beneath decorations of twinkling stars, soft blue lights, and a crescent moon, members of the Levelland High school senior class, faculty members, and other persons were guests of the junior class in the annual junior-senior banquet Friday night.

The program of entertainment was constructed around the decorative theme.

Miss Thelma Payne was master of ceremonies and welcomed guests. Orville Shofner responded for seniors. Vernon Turner and George Hill spoke for the senior and junior classes, respectively.

One-Act Play Given

R. B. Carnes, high school principal, spoke briefly and a one-act play, "Strawberry Crush" was presented by Junior Shannon, Clothilde Jenkins, and Eloise Walker.

B. F. Minor, superintendent, introduced Tom V. Watson, secretary of the board of development, who delivered the principal address on "Falling Meteorites."

Decorations were directed by Harold Dobbs and the program arranged by Miss Carrie Shannon, both sponsors of the junior class. Ralph Krebbs, Major Rogers, and G. B. Eggleston were presented in a vocal number and seven-year-old Marjorie Jo Luck in a song and dance.

Students Fill Offices

The junior-senior banquet was the climax to the annual senior day observance in which students, elected by vote at the school, filled county offices.

County Judge Alvin R. Allison swore in Vernon Turner as county judge who in turn administered the oath of office to other student officers.

Ike Johnson, acting sheriff for the day, kept his crew busy serving summons on merchants and business men to serve as jurors and witnesses in several mock trials.

Nelson Answers Jim's Charges

"Jim Ferguson has called me a one-horse statesman. The trouble with Jim is that I am one-horse that the Fergusons can't drive. And, unlike Jim, I haven't been forced to ride a side-saddle for the past ten years."

Thus did Senator G. H. Nelson, candidate for lieutenant-governor, answer former Gov. James E. Ferguson in the latter's Forum discussion against the one-house legislature in which Ferguson termed Nelson a one-horse statesman. Nelson is in Lubbock spending the week-end with his family. He intends to resume his active campaign Monday in Central Texas.

Jim Is Wrong Again

"In assailing my proposal," Nelson brought out, "Ferguson called it an issue in the lieutenant-governor's race between Coke Stevenson and me. But Jim, you are wrong again, just as wrong as in your argument against the one-house legislature."

"There can be no issue between Coke Stevenson and me," Nelson continued, "because Stevenson has repeatedly declared there will be no issues in the race for lieutenant-governor."

Alignment Charged

Nelson charged an alignment between Stevenson and Ferguson, saying: "Everyone expected Ferguson to support Stevenson, his choice for speaker of the house of representatives when the Fergusons were in the saddle. It was while Ferguson was riding his old saddle-horse, Coke Stevenson, that legalized gambling came to Texas, and professional lobbying saw its greatest boom."

Nelson continued: "This fight between Coke Stevenson on the one-house legislature movement, through his mouthpiece, Jim Ferguson, is only a subterfuge. There was not a word from either of them on this subject until my open fight against legalized gambling, lobby control, and in behalf of the independent merchant. These are really the issues. What do you say about these issues, boys? These are the issues, which in the minds of Jim Ferguson and Coke Stevenson, have changed me from a broad-minded boy in February to a one-horse statesman in April."

Nelson said further: "Jim Ferguson has but one horse, to-wit, Coke Stevenson, that he can ride in this race. He said in his Forum of March 10 that I would be strongly supported by the moral and religious forces of Texas."

Germany.

Military — The two democracies have let Europe know that they are putting more faith in the power of their rearmament through coordination of their land, air and naval forces.

A Greater Objective

Beyond the steps to preserve peace in Czechoslovakia lies the greater objective of European appeasement.

The measure of success in the undertaking concerning Czechoslovakia may determine whether the two western powers will make a fresh start in the search for a general German settlement.

Conversations between the general staffs of Britain and France, started in March, 1936, after Hitler remilitarized the Rhineland, were scheduled to be resumed next month.

Hitler Is Concerned

Concerned over the strong front shown in the Anglo-French conference, Hitler was credited in some reports here with intent to seek an outright alliance with Mussolini.

May day demonstrations tomorrow offered forums for widespread enunciation of many political creeds throughout the world.

The communist international, against which Germany, Italy and Japan are aligned in a pact to combat communism, called in Moscow for new activity "against aggressors."

In Geneva, where the League of Nations council will meet May 9, Switzerland demanded freedom from obligations to impose league penalties on aggressor nations.

In London, with his prestige as a peace-maker bolstered by the Anglo-Irish trade and defense agreement signed during the week, Prime Minister Chamberlain prepared to take the Anglo-Italian pact before the house of commons Monday for approval.

candidate even if she did not open her mouth further on the subject. A petition by 25 voters and the $100 filing fee is sufficient to get a name on the primary ballot.

A person whose name is placed on the ballot in this manner can, however, have it removed by a single objection.

More Meetings Planned

Meetings to persuade Mrs. Ferguson to change her mind have been held in several cities and more are planned. In Dallas former Senator T. G. McGregor of Austin said she was a "lead pipe cinch" to be elected if she would run.

In the contest for lieutenant-governor, P. Pierce Brooks, candidate for governor two years ago, made public a platform. Senator G. H. Nelson and Rep. Coke Stevenson continued to shed theil the woods for votes.

For attorney general, Gerald C. Mann formally opened at Sulphur Springs. Judge Ralph Yarborough made another speech at Huntsville, Bob Calvert, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, toured Southwest Texas, and Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul and District Attorney Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock prepared for intensive campaigns.

J. J. Bittle of Hillsboro announced his candidacy for comptroller to succeed George H. Sheppard, asking re-election.

Former Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro, candidate for the railroad commission seat of C. V. Terrell, made an opening speech at Hubbard City.

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Stocks muddled through the second slowest market session in 20 years today and price changes generally were regarded as meaningless.

A handful of rails and specialties managed to emerge with minor advances, but small losers were plentiful and numerous issues were at the closing levels of Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 38.2. On the week this composite was down 2.2 points.

Bonds were quiet but some rails did better. Commodities were mixed.

For the day modest gains were held by shares of Chesapeake and Ohio at 36½, Pennsylvania 15⅝, Great Northern 14⅝, J. I. Case 75⅝, Continental Can 37⅝, Union Gas and Paper 19, National Distillers 18⅜ and Woolworth 42⅛.

On the offside were U. S. Steel at 42⅜, Bethlehem 45¾, Chrysler 40⅛, General Motors 29⅛, Douglas Aircraft 42⅜, International Harvester 56⅜, Westinghouse 70½, Texas Corp 36⅛, Union Carbide 63. Sears Roebuck 56⅛, Anaconda 26⅝, American Smelting 25⅛ and Du Pont 96⅞.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. (AP) — Cotton prices were confined to a range of two points in a spiritless session today and the market closed steady, net unchanged to 3 points up.

Both sides lacked incentive, aside from lower foreign markets, and about the only business of the day was a little shorts covering near the close.

The May option ended at 8.83-bid, July at 8.89, Oct. at 8.97, Dec. at 8.99, Jan. at 9.01 and March at 9.03. Spots closed quiet with middling unchanged at 8.92 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Cotton moved irregularly today but the tone held steady. July advanced from 8.73@8.78 and closed at the high with final quotations 1 to 4 points net higher.

The market opened with easier Liverpool cables and light foreign selling balanced by trade buying and small domestic offerings. In mid-session prices dipped a few points under July liquidation and local selling. Week-end covering developed in the late trading, when additional offerings failed to appear.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.78 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.75 cents a pound.

Must Curb Robbers

"War is not to be avoided by permitting investigators to rob and kill other peope," it continued. "Wars are averted by a firm policy of timely curbing of the fascist robbers."

The international's appeal for solidarity of the working class of other countries against fascism, recalled the statement of the party chief, Joseph Stalin, in a letter to a young communist last February, in which he expressed hope for the support of workers in the capitalist nations whenever the Soviet union may be attacked.

In recent years little attention has been given in Soviet Russia to international labor solidarity.

The message added that a section of the navy band under Lt. Comdr. Charles Benter was making its first cruise with a president aboard.

Just where the spic and span men-of-war were bound was ont disclosed. But the president was believed to be harboring a desire to indulge in his favorite sport of game fishing in the general vicinity of the Virgin islands either on the Atlantic or Caribbean side or both.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—After dipping to new four-year low levels, wheat prices rallied about a cent today to close at net gains ranging from ⅛ to ⅝ cent compared with Friday's finish.

Short covering prompted by a belief the market had been well liquidated for the time being and buying stimulated by references in two private crop surveys of increased abandonment in Texas and Oklahoma, helped the recovery of prices.

The Liverpool market, partially reflecting drought conditions in some sections of Europe, declined only 1¼ cents, which was less than expected in view of yesterday's late break here.

The Winnipeg and Minneapolis spring wheat markets recorded gains of a cent or more, which induced sympathetic buying in Chicago.

At the close May wheat was quoted at 79⅛@79⅜, July 79@79⅛, September 79⅛@80; corn was ⅛ to ½ lower, May 58@58⅛, July 59⅜@59¾, September 60⅞@61; oats ¾ to 1½ higher, May 28½@28⅝; rye 1 to 1¼ up, May 58⅝; provisions unchanged to 17 lower.

poised in positions of archers, tumblers, and hockey players for two minutes. Mrs. George Langford, Miss Zella Riegel and Miss Margaret Baskin of the department faculty directed the presentation.

Intramural athletes went into action in a pageant representing the various campus sports. They demonstrated boxing, softball, volley ball, football, tumbling, ping-pong, and horseshoe pitching on the field before opening of the football game.

Between halves the R. O. T. C. unit reviewed and the band drilled.

Brooks Opposes Further Taxes

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—P. Pierce Brooks, candidate for lieutenant governor, announced his platform here today, declaring "I hate taxes."

He issued a pledge to oppose any form of new taxes "regardless of which interest, group or faction they may fall upon."

"We must not overlook the fact," the platform said "that to place further taxes on products, labor, or sales, regardless of how applied, simply means further taxing of the people."

Let Legislature Alone

Opposition was promised to any move to re-vamp the legislative two-house system, which he said had been a safeguard to the people.

The platform advocated reduction "of the tremendous overhead at Austin" by elimination of "useless and needless bureaus and duplicating functions."

ing the receipt of further instructions from Washington.

The question is under discussion here, but there is no indication of any change of attitude on the part of American authorities.

Great Britain wants battleships limited to 42,000 tons because that is the size at which she believes she can build them most effectively.

Moreover, Britain prefers 14-inch guns to 16-inch ones, but she has resigned herself to using the larger type.

Naval engineers here say the 14-inch British guns are superior to the American 14-inch guns, while the American 16-inch guns are superior to the 16-inch guns of the British.

France apparently intends to hold aloof from further consultations between the United States and Britain.

session on the beleaguered wage-hour bill, for which the house rules committee refused legislative right-of-way yesterday.

Meanwhile, a house appropriations subcommittee agreed tentatively to end hearings Monday on the president's public works and relief bill and have it ready for house consideration the following Monday.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and the leaders of organized labor's two major factions—John L. Lewis of the C.I.O. and William Green of the American Federation of Labor—are scheduled to be the principal witnesses at final hearings.

Representative Woodrum (D-Va), an influential member of the subcommittee, disclosed the group was considering a proposal to put an end to "blank check" appropriations by supplying the funds direct to the agencies charged with their expenditure instead of to the president.

Give Congress Control

The Virginian asserted the committee was anxious to give congress as much control over the funds as possible.

The subcommittee is considering writing one bill to provide approximately $2,500,000,000 for relief, public works, the Farm Security administration and the National Youth administration. It spent today receiving suggestions from members of congress on ways to spend this fund. The witnesses suggested that the following amounts be earmarked for these purposes:

1. $120,000,000 for construction of five army air bases in this country and Alaska, and improvement of existing army posts.

2. $200,000,000 for the Rural Electrification administration.

3. $50,000,000 for construction of small lakes and dams in the "dust bowl."

White said he spotted a car with New Mexico license plates parked near the courthouse and arrested the man when he came to get in. A number of physician's instruments were found in the car.

Clouting Hubbers Wallop Clovis, 20-11; Tech Gridders Nip Sul Ross 45-12

Teams Clash In "Rubber" Game At 3:30 Today

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Next improvement out at the ball park may be the laying of cinder base paths.

The boys were not required to take their usual lap around the field after yesterday's second game here in the West Texas-New Mexico league race and the fourth between the clouting clubs of Lubbock and Clovis. They were practically played out from circling the bases.

Lubbock's Hubbers, doing their stuff for about 1,500 Fiesta fans, stepped around the track 20 times, and the Pioneers crossed the plate 11 times, and that was the score of the game that pulled the Lubbock team up even with Clovis.

Bryan To Start

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the teams meet to play the "sugar" game of the home and home opening series, and it promises to be a battle, probably more on the defensive side than was the case yesterday when six pitchers toiled from the hillock. Both clubs stand at .500 in the league race. The tie will be broken this afternoon.

Skipper Hack Miller of the Hubbers plans to start Charley Bryan, chunky right hander who won and saved 23 games for Odessa and Monahans in this league last year. Italo Angaran and Vernon Wilson will be ready for relief duty, and, if necessary, Lefty Blanchard can be called in after a day's rest.

Dick Ratliff of Clovis may call on Dick Dickerson, big righthander who won over Lubbock on opening day at Clovis.

Remainder of the lineups will be hot and ready for some more clouting before what is expected to be the largest cash crowd of the season.

Some Lusty Hitting

The Hubbers fattened their batting averages yesterday with 18 safe bingles, going for a total of 34 bases. Clovis collected 13 from three Hubber pitchers, including a couple of home runs and four two-baggers.

Manager Hack Miller, clouting twice for homers and twice for doubles, and Boyd Watkins, center fielder, with three singles and a double, led the frolicking Hubbers, with Shortstop Joe Gedzius enjoying an almost perfect day with a home run, a triple and three walks in six trips to the platter. Al Carr blasted a couple of doubles first two times up, and young Malcolm Stevens clouted nicely for a brace of singles and a two-sacker.

The Hubbers were in a hole from the start, but they got out of that and blasted away for fourteen runs in the second and fourth innings as the bat went around, and over.

Vernon Wilson, heavy righthander, started for Lubbock but didn't hang around long. He faced five men, and all of them scored. Adkins led off with a single. Gore was safe on a bobble at first, and Red Wyss, one of the "hustlin'est" players you've seen in these parts, lifted one out of the park to score three runs. James McDonald walked, and Red Hodges slammed the next pitch over the right field wall, scoring McDonald ahead of him. Nobody was out yet, and Miller brought in young Marvin Gramly, who "almost" beat Clovis in the league curtain raiser to relieve the sad-eyed Wilson.

Gramly Stops 'Em

Gramly, a little feller with a heap of speed and a fool 'em curve, prospered quite well until attacked by wildness in the eighth, when he gave over to J. C. Vincent, speed ball specialist. It was Gramly's ball game, however, by a wide margin, and the lad earned it. He struck out two and Watkins caught a long fly to retire Clovis without further runs in that frame.

But Clovis was five runs ahead, and five runs win a lot of games.

Once more the Hubbers showed their striking ability to come from behind, to hit in the clutches and spare nobody. Gedzius waited out a walk, and Carr drove a double down the right field line. Gedzius beating the throw to the plate. Johnny Taylor, hitting hero of Friday's opening day, and who carried on with three singles yesterday, struck out, and Mize rolled weakly to Duncan, starting Clovis pitcher. But Hack Miller, still mad at Clovis, the umpires and the baseball, took a toehold and fired away. The ball cleared the palings with feet to spare, and there were three of the five runs.

Gramly allowed Pioneers to get on base in every inning, either with hits or walks, but always tightened up to come out ahead, except when Clovis scored two more in the fourth. But Lubbock was far ahead by that time, and nothing was lost.

Watkins, Stevens "Drag" 'Em

The Hubbers got ahead with an 8-run spree in the second inning that saw the last of Duncan and started the assault on a slim righthander named Jones.

Watkins, who hadn't been hitting the size of his hat so far, dragged a bunt down third base line to start Lubbock's part of the second, and beat it out for a single. Stevens did the identical same thing. Gramly advanced them with another nice bunt but was thrown out, by a hair. Gedzius waited out another walk, filling the bases, and Carr came to the rescue with another double down right field, cleaning the sacks, and putting the Hubbers one up. Taylor singled to score Carr, and Mize walked. Miller doubled to right, scoring Taylor. Mosel struck out but Watkins was up again and shot a hard one to Jordan at third. He had the throw beaten by two feet, and went to second on Jordan's overthrow at first as Miller and Mize scooted home. It was Stevens' time again, and he doubled, scoring Watkins. It was the blow that got Duncan, and Jones wandered in. He got Gramly out to retire the side, but his time was coming, although he retired Gedzius, Carr and Taylor, the latter two fanning.

In the fourth, after Jones had grounded to Mosel, Adkins walked. Gore singled, a Texas leaguer over short, but was forced at second by Wyss' grounder to Stevens, Adkins scoring on the play. McDonald got the first of his three doubles then, scoring Wyss. Hodges grounded to Gramly.

Signal For Hubbers

Thus prodded, the Hubbers came along in their half to start with a walk by Mize. Miller got his second homer and the two runs back. Mosel grounded to second, but Watkins singled through second. Stevens was safe on an error at second and Adkins mishandled Gramly's punch to short, scoring Watkins. Then Gedzius lifted his homer out of the park, and Hank Glor went to the mound for Clovis. He kept things pretty well under control, giving up a run in the fifth, after Miller had doubled and another in the eighth after Miller had walked. Gedzius scored in the eighth after walking, on an error at second.

Gramly made his disappearance in the eighth after his control deserted him. Glor had singled to start the frame. Adkins popped to Gedzius, but Gramly walked Gore and Wyss. McDonald clouted a double to right, cleaning the bases for three runs. Hodges drew a walk, and Gramly came out in favor of Vincent, who showed a lot of stuff with a sizzling fast ball. Clovis got to him for a couple of hits in the ninth and an unearned run when Taylor, playing a bit carelessly, made a low throw that Mosel couldn't handle at first.

Big Spring And Wink Triumph

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

MIDLAND, April 30.—Centerfielder Douglas Harkey pounded out a home run in the sixth inning with two men on the hassocks today to give Big Spring an 8-6 victory and undisputed lead in the West Texas-New Mexico league.

Third-sacker Larrieu and Nelson hit for the circuit for the Cardinals. Jacot started on the hill for the Broncos but was relieved when the going got rough. Clarence Trantham replaced him.

Hank Froschauer had to go to the aid of Parks, starting Card hurler. Midland outhit the league leaders, 10 to 9.

A brace of errors by Catcher Beers accounted for four unearned Baron runs.

MASTERS HOBBS BATSMEN

WINK, April 30. (Special)—Steady pitching of Ferguson, aided by timely hitting and nine bases on balls, gave Wink its second straight victory over Hobbs here today, 8-5.

Higgins led hitters with a home run, a double and two singles in as many times at bat. Spangler banked out a homer for the home team in the second inning and Donaldson of Hobbs followed suit in the fourth. The latter had a perfect day at the plate.

The locals gave Ferguson a lead in the second frame and from there he was able to coast to victory. Two double plays by the Wink infield helped him along.

Hobbs paraded three hurlers to the hillock in an effort to stem the Wink hitting attack.

DiMag's 1938 Debut Almost Is Calamity

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Joe DiMaggio's 1938 baseball debut narrowly missed becoming a major calamity to the Yankees today, although the world champions walloped the Senators handily, 8 to 4, before 16,000 fans.

After sparking a first-inning, two-run rally, and fielding in his usual faultless style for five frames, the deadpan dynamiter collided with Second-Baseman Joe (Flash) Gordon in chasing after a fly ball in the sixth, and both were taken to a hospital for observation.

The crash occurred in short left-center, as Joe, Gordon and Myril Hoag chased after Pinch-Hitter Taft Wright's high fly.

Both Players Dazed

Both fell to the ground and lay still for a few moments. Then they went to the dressing room and were examined by the Senators' club physician, Dr. Edward Larkin. He ordered them to Garfield hospital for observation, and said he would give both x-ray examinations before determining the extent of their injuries. Both were dazed and shaken and had no recollection of the crash, although neither appeared seriously injured. DiMaggio had a lump high on his right temple, and Gordon, the rookie filling in for Tony Lazzeri this year, had a bruised jaw.

With DiMaggio back in the lineup, after ending his extended holdout last Monday by signing for $25,000 salary for 1938, the Yanks for the first time looked something like the 1937 world champions.

Owl Tracksters Set Records In Three Events

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 30—Fourteen thousand spectators sitting in the warmth of a bright sun, saw eight meet records go tumbling in finals of the twenty-ninth Drake Relay carnival today.

Sun-tanned runners from Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, divided the lion's share of honors with Wisconsin, each winning four events, with the Texas youths setting records in three events and tying one.

Wolcott Is Oustanding

Freddie Wolcott, rangy sprinter and hurdler from Rice, gave evidence that he will take rank as one of the greatest intercollegiate performers since Jesse Owens deserted the amateur ranks after his three 1936 Olympic victories.

Wolcott smashed the Drake record for the 120-yard high hurdles, leaping the barriers in :14.2 to blot out the previous mark made by the late George Saling, University of Iowa in 1932. He did not compete in the 100 yard dash, in which he qualified, in order to conserve his strength to run as anchor man on the winning combination that captured the 440-yard relay.

Patterson Breaks Record

Jack Patterson of Rice cracked the 16-year-old record for the 440-yard hurdles, running it in 53.2 to eclipse the old mark of 54.4 made by Ernst of Michigan State in 1922. Charles "Chuck" Fenske of Wisconsin, champion miler of the "Big Ten"; Harold Cagle of Oklahoma Baptists, member of the United States 1,600 meter Olympic relay team and Johnny Munski, Missouri's great sophomore miler, also were in the spotlight.

Fenske conquered the famed Archie San Romani, pride of the Kansas State Teachers college, Emporia, Kansas, in the invitational 1,000-yard run in a record breaking performance. San Romani, who has defeated his Kansas rival, Glenn Cunningham at least six times, wasn't even second.

Negro Paces Century

Fenske was timed in 2:10.7, within a second of the world's record, and blotted out the Drake record of 2:11.2 hung up by Cunningham in 1936. Calvin Bell of Rice was second.

Mozelle Ellerbee, negro star from Tuskegee institute, led the sprinters to the tape in winning the 100 yard dash from Wilbur Greer, Michigan State in :09.6, a second off the meet record made by Roland Locke, Nebraska, 12 years ago. Milton Padway, Wisconsin, won the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet, 8 inches. Beefus Bryan, University of Texas, who cleared 13 feet, 11 3-4 inches at Kansas a week ago, was

BETTY JAMESON

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 30. — Bashful Betty Jameson pumped home a sidehill, three-foot putt on the 36th green to pull out a one up triumph over Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite and win her third successive Texas Women's Golf association title here today.

A seesaw battle all the way, the match went to the last putt. Mrs. Goldthwaite, Fort Worth matron and former title-holder, having dropped a six-footer previously to force the 18-year-old University of Texas co-ed to putt for her title.

Both Mess Up Tees

Thousands lined the fairway on the treacherous home hole when both bungled their tee shots and found trouble. Mrs. Goldthwaite hooked into bayou waters while Miss Jameson plowed under her shot and fell far short. She was short of the green with her long wood second, chipped on and two putted. Mrs. Goldthwaite hit the green with a long brassie second and got down in two from 60 feet.

Miss Jameson, Trans-Mississippi titlist and outstanding candidate for the U. S. Curtis cup team, took a one up lead at the thirty fourth hole—with a fine birdie three after sailing a tremendous tee shot onto the green.

Mrs. Goldthwaite led, one up, after the first eighteen and was still that much to the good as late as the twenty-eighth hole.

State High School Tourney Slated In Dallas May 12-14

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—Eight district winners—survivors of a field of 40 teams representing every section of Texas—will come here May 12, 13 and 14 for the first annual state high school baseball tournament.

P. C. Cobb, Athletic director of Dallas schools, who is serving in a similiar capacity for the tournament here, today forecast the event would eventually become an official function of the Texas Interscholastic league, which has given its moral support.

A play-off is under way for the District 4 title between Merit and McKinney, which have eliminated Plano and Dodd City. Merit meets McKinney today for the championship.

Representative From Lubbock

District 1 rests between Killeen, Austin and Temple. Hondo apparently will be the District 2 representative and Hillsboro, Iredell and San Augustine will decide the District 3 crown. Lubbock is to determine the District 5 title in a tournament involving 8 teams. Dallas county schools will battle it out in district 6 and the Dallas city schools in District 7 in which Dallas Tech has already clinched a tie for the title and is an overwhelming favorite to take the undisputed championship. Fullbright of Red River county is making a bid for the District 8 flag with Powderly of Lamar county furnishing a challenge.

The state tournament will be held at Steer stadium, the Dallas Texas League park.

Cub Physician Opines That Dizzy's Arm Will Be Okeh

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Dr. John F. Davis, Chicago Cub's team physician, expressed the opinion today that the arm injury suffered by Pitcher Dizzy Dean yesterday would not prove serious.

Dr. Davis said he believed heat treatments and a short rest would correct the strained muscle ailment which caused Dean to be taken out of Friday's Cubs-Cincinnati Reds game.

BROWNS SELL HURLER

ST. LOUIS, April 30. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns announced today sale of Pitcher Bill Strickland to Dallas of the Texas league and the release on option of Harry (Slim) Kimberlin, also a pitcher, to the San Antonio Missions a Browns' farm.

Anglers Will Line Rivers, Lakes Today

By WILLIAM E. KEYS

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—That deserted look at your neighbor's house tomorrow might mean the family is lined up on a creek bank or packed into a boat angling one way or another for bass, crappie, and other fish that become legal game May 1.

Coming on a week-end, the general opening of the fresh water fishing season augurs for an "attendance" of about 200,000 persons, young and old, at creeks, rivers and lakes from which they did or didn't pull the big ones last season.

Jupe Pluvius Is Factor

The estimate holds good only if old Jupiter Pluvius, the well known rain maker, quits dealing from the bottom of the deck.

He's been a little too rampant lately in most of the state for good early season fishing, the experts say, because water levels have been disturbed. The finny denizens, especially those engaged in propagation, don't like that.

Looks Bad For Fish

But all things equal the game department thinks many bass, and crappie which have enjoyed a two-month respite, will find their way to campfire skillets and dinner tables.

That's the objective of most fishermen although the game department notes a yearly increase among the ranks of those angling primarily for sport. They're included in the fold who shun natural baits in favor of bass bugs, flies, plugs, pork rind and other artificial lures although this group has its "meat hunters" also.

Lures On Increase

Will J. Tucker, secretary of the game commission, says anglers using artificial lures increased by 15 per cent lsat year and a similar increase this year is not improbable.

There are no exceptions to the law requiring resident Texans using artificial lures to obtain fishing licenses for that purpose. The cost is $1.10.

Mr. and Mrs. Bass will have about completed their spawning when the season opens. Their surviving offspring will supplement hundreds of thousands of fingerlings placed in public waters last fall by the game department.

Waltons Everywhere

In all, about 3,300,000 fingerlings of all species were stocked in rovers and lakes.

The mecca of most anglers probably will be the large lakes which dot the state but few creek banks, however secluded, should escape the influx of nimrods.

A few facts the angler might paste in his tackle box:

There are 218 special county laws which take precedence over general fishing statutes. Better get a digest of laws from a game warden or sporting goods store.

Watch Special Laws

The season doesn't open in 24 Panhandle counties until June 1.

Fishing in counties of residence without a license is permitted in all but 22 counties which require a special permit.

Fishing with pole and line, setline, trotline and artificial bait and seining for minnows is legal.

Black bass must be 11 inches long, crappie seven. Neither can be sold.

A day's bag limit is 15 bass, 15 crappie, 35 bream or an aggergate of 50 of these species and a possession limit of 30 bass, 30 crappie or 70 bream. However, 70 counties have other regulations.

Raiders Parade In Fall Form To Big Win

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A drive, a sprint and an intercepted pass in the opening minutes of the first period accounted for three touchdowns that proved only an introduction to fireworks sprung by Pete Cawthon's Red Raiders Saturday night in a 45 to 12 slaughter of Sul Ross State Teachers in a football game featuring Texas Technological college's annual Spring Athletic fiesta.

Nine thousand fans, including numerous South Plains athletes Tech hoped to interest, saw two other thrilling runs for pay goal in the second and another in the third before Sul Ross, taking advantage of Cawthon's sending in a third string, burst into a brilliance that in brief moments took the ball twice for 55 yards and touchdowns.

Barnett Dashes 25 Yards

Cawthon immediately after the last of the invaders' goalward sprints sent in three replacements, including Gene Barnett. Two plays after his having reported to officials, Barnett dashed 25 yards for the final Tech score.

The first two periods, in which Tech led in first downs 13 to 3, was pretty well descriptive of the issue until the fourth. Tech had been forced to punt only occasionally and by putting together a smart running game, plenty of express-like interference and great line play on offense, could gain almost at will.

Defensive strategy and strength was hand-in-glove with offensive ability, and Sul Ross was stymied.

Fans Cheer Teachers

So great was the margin of strength, the stands cheered the valiant attempts of the Sul Ross club almost as much as the long touchdown runs of the Techs. When the fourth period rolled around and with it a lessening of Raider strength through infusion of third stringers, the Teachers started bombarding the ozone and clever, fast, swivel-hipped ends and backs started grabbing them. The stands reacted as though awakened by a cold plunge, and cheered deafeningly the comeback of Sul Ross.

And they were not cheering alone for a band of outclassed moleskin warriors who at best were preserving their being carried off the field feet first. The Teachers uncorked some brilliance and bad medicine of their own.

Sul Ross Scores

O. Tipps snatched a pass from a huddle of Techs on the Tech 30 and sprinted through a broken field for the first Sul Ross socre.

It was only a few minutes later that the big fullback of the Teachers, Graham, snatched an almost identical pass on the same stripe and outsprinted the entire Tech secondary to the promised land.

Neither attempt at conversion was good, and Sul Ross was through for the night and the conviction the Techs had a little bit of a lot of everything solidly was stamped.

Rankin Scores First

In amassing 18 to 9 first downs and gaining 349 to 76 yards running, the Techs did not lose, as has been said, a moment before beginning their steeplechase.

The opening drive began directly after the kickoff and, sparked by the neat off tackle and sweeps of Johnny Sims, the pigskin was taken down to the Sul Ross one-foot line, from where Walter Rankin rushed it across. Ralph Balfanz failed to convert by placement when the ball eluded the receiver.

The second score originated on the same stripe, the Tech 25. Again it was Sims who bore the brunt, assisted by a flashy 13-yard run by Rankin. On the Sul Ross 24, Milton Hill swept his left end, hurtled a member of the Sul Ross secondary and, after being forced to run wide and deep, weaved through a broken field for the marker.

Balfanz Intercepts Heave

Tech kicked. A pretty return from the Sul Ross, 9 to 33, was nullified when, on the next play, Balfanz speared a pass intended for the Sul Ross right end and burned the spring greenery 46 yards to the double stripes.

G. L. Webb dashed 14 yards for the first touch in the second, to culminate a campaign begun on the Sul Ross 47 and in which Ty Bain and Jodie Marek did their part of the mail carrying.

A moment later, to stamp his number in the memory of the stands, Marek romped 25 yards around his left end to score. His general all-around ability as a kicker-offer was

It's Fishing Season--And Champ Bait Caster, Who Shows Art Here Monday, Offers A Hint Or Two

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, April 30. — Tony Accetta is the champion professional all-round bait and fly caster of the United States.

If anyone can tell a dub how to keep flies out of his hair and overhanging trees, it is this bushy-haired, weather-beaten Cleveland Italian.

And with the trout bug biting everyone, and the right wrist itching for fly rod action, the information comes in handy.

IN EXHIBITION HERE

Tony Accetta, subject of this timely fishing story, will be in Lubbock in person tomorrow night for a free exhibition of plain and fancy bait and fly casting at the Texas Tech football field, starting at 7:30 o'clock. He will be at Mallory's Sporting Goods store Tuesday to discuss fishing problems with local sportsmen.

How is a novice going to throw a curve cast, a roll cast, and make his fly light on the water ahead of the leader?

"So-called experts have tied so many wrong knots in beginners' tackle by trying to stuff advanced stuff down their throats that it takes us weeks to undo the damage," says Accetta.

"Anyone having trouble with his casting didn't learn the fundamentals properly and, in trying to pick up such departures as the roll and curved casts, he becomes more befuddled.

"I can take a fellow who never has had a fly rod in his hand and, in three minutes, he will be making casts from 25 to 40 feet. The secret is that he learns nothing but the fundamentals and those, once acquired, will enable him to go on to more difficult casting.

"In 99 cases out of 100, the most common fault is too light a line for the rod. The primary thing is correctly balanced tackle, which takes much of the responsibility off the muscles in the actual cast.

"Because women aren't as strong and don't abuse their tackle, they are easier to teach than men.

Sky's The Limit

"Shoot for the moon with the backcast. Height allows your line to straighten out behind without falling into the water, and gives speed to the forward cast."

Accetta uses a four-count system. At the count of one the slack is pulled off the water with the left hand. The rod should never be lifted for this operation, or it will put too much load on it and spoil the action.

On the count of two the wrist snaps the rod to the noon position on the clock. The line is allowed to straighten out behind on the count of three, its weight pulling back the rod in a bend that helps snap the line forward on the count of four. This comes after the angler feels a slight tug at the end of the backcast.

The forward cast is brought to a position at about 11 on the clock, and the rod is allowed to drift down to between 10 and 9, depending on the length of the cast, and whether the angler is using a wet or dry fly. By raising the tip a bit, the dry fly can be made to fall on the water ahead of the line and leader.

It is difficult to generalize fly casting, because there are four different types—dry and wet fly, and spinner, and bass bug casting. The first is probably the more exacting type, although the heavier lures require a great deal of skill because of the added weight in casting with the long rod.

All-Purpose Rods

The average angler can't afford rods for all types of casting, and for that reason there are all-purpose rods which come close to doing all four types of casting satisfactorily.

"I've listened to fishermen tell about the big one that got away, and frequently it has been because the fisherman didn't strike properly," asserts Accetta. "The quickest and best way to hook a fish with a fly rod is to lift the rod sharply and, at the same time, take up the slack with the left hand.

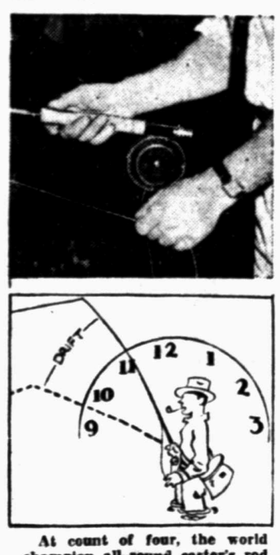

"This enables the angler to strike on a tight line. Otherwise he has to pull up all the slack with the rod, making it impossible to strike in the split second necessary.

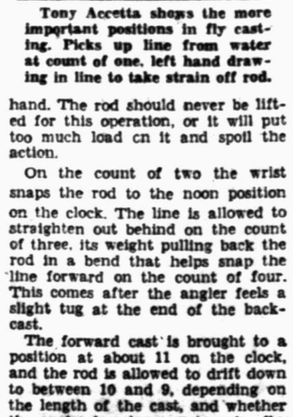

"Another reason why anglers lose fish is that they pay no attention to retrieving their lines, allowing them to coil around their feet. When a strike comes, they're tangled up in line.

"Always work in the line with the left hand, arranging it in loops in your palm as you work it in. In this way you have the line ready to give or take as the weight and power of the fish demands."

Rod is at top of backcast at count of two, and remains there for count of three.

At count of four, the world champion all-round caster's rod is brought to position illustrated, left hand allowing the slack line to shoot forward.

Reynolds Smith To Defend State Title

FORT WORTH, April 30. (AP) — Reynolds Smith, Walker Cupper of Dallas, will defend his state golf title here next week. He informed officials Saturday that he was almost certain he'll be able to compete.

"My proposed trip to Florida has been called off," he said at Houston. "We sail from New York May 10 but I believe I'll have time to play at Colonial. It isn't entirely definite but seems certain now."

West Texas Represented

With Smith on the list, every outstanding shotmaker in the state will be lined up for the tournament that promises to be one of the largest in the 32-year history of the event. It will be the first men's state tourney here in some 15 years and for the first time, West Texas will be strongly represented.

The prospective entry includes Smith, O'Hara Watts, Don Schumacher, Harry Todd, Jack Munger and several others from Dallas; Shorty Long, Buck Luce and Bill Welch of Austin; Mo Norton of Wichita Falls; J. T. Hammett of Abilene; Doug Jones and Obie Bristown of Big Spring; Jo Dick Slaughter of Lubbock; Bobby Reigel of Beaumont; Leland Mamman of Paris.

Baseball, Fishing Today

By Collier Parris

BASEBALL TODAY at 3:30 o'clock.

The Hubbers of Lubbock and the Pioneers of Clovis continue their batting and brawling, and if they get through the series without a scrap we'll be surprised.

The old fire has started, and there'll be no love fests in this league, and even less than that every time Lubbock and Clovis meet. The Hubbers have demonstrated they are no pink tea hounds. In fact, they have indicated pretty strongly they will scrap for everything they think they have coming to them. And that sits well with local fandom, which likes its athletes on the battling side.

IT'S like a veteran baseball fan remarked yesterday: "If this bunch will play hustling, rip-roaring, hell-for-leather baseball, make a big noise and fight for everything, they'll get along here, no matter how many bobbies they make or how many games they lose. The customers want to see a fast, hustling club out there. They don't want a sour, whining, griping team that finds excuses to argue and brawl over any little thing, but when they think they're right, they should stand up and ask for it, and 'choose' anybody who thinks otherwise."

But most of all, they must keep hustling all the time.

The "Burleigh Grimes" of the league may be Lubbock's skipper, Hack Miller, who has just missed getting "chased" twice. It is hoped that he will not let his "I'll choose you" attitude go to far or get the best of him, but Hack, like the other Hubbers, will take you on at the drop of a hat. And they're big enough to handle most situations.

War Is Declared Against Game Fish Today

IT'S open season for anglers today, and baseball crowds will suffer a slight setback. We are told that more fishing licenses and more fishing equipment is being purchased here this spring than any season before. Buffalo Spring, rapidly becoming a choice fishing grounds, anticipates the biggest crowd in its history today.

Of particular interest to local Waltonites is the appearance here tomorrow night of the world's professional bait and fly caster, Tony Accetta of Cleveland. You have been reading about Accetta in books, magazines and newspapers for years. His show tomorrow night at the Tech football field is one you should not miss, even if you are not a fisherman.

Tony does things with rod, reel and fly or plug that a good rifle shot would have trouble duplicating. Spot casting, in which he aims his artillery at targets as small as a dime, and distance casting, in which he tosses a plug with a flick of his wrist the distance of a football filed's longitude, feature his show.

FOR fishermen who wish to learn more about the technical side of the sport, Mr. Accetta will be stationed at John Mallory's sporting goods store nearly all day Tuesday, and welcomes the opportunity of talking with and teaching fisherman the technique of fly casting. He will try to sell you some tackle, but it must be very goodtackle to stand the strain that Tony puts on it.

The show at Tech is free

THAT the Sun Carnival folks at El Paso continue to hold Tech and Coach Pete Cawthon in high regard is indicated by a letter from C. M. Hendricks, director-general of the Southwestern Sun Carnival Association inviting Cawthon to be a special guest at a breakfast . . . Cawthon couldn't go, of course, on account of business at home . . . but he appreciates the invitation . . . He will accept Plainview's Rotary club invitation Tuesday, however, and last Friday night accepted invitation to speak at Ralls' football gathering . . . If Pete accepted all the bids for "personal appearances," he'd need a booking agent and two assistant secretaries . . . It's nice work if you can get it, and Cawthon gets it. . . .

exhibited when, after an attempt to convert by placement failed, he booted the ball out of bounds in the end zone.

Third String Enters

A Tech drive mired down on the Sul Ross 4 in the third before Tech, receiving the punt on its own 49 started a mixed-strategy drive that, with one interruption, ended when E. J. McKnight dashed 20 yards for the score. Conversion attempt again failed.

It was then the third string went in and, as has been said, the complexion of the game had its features lifted.

It might be said without going into a more complete account of a game in which all able bodied Techs and Teachers saw service (there were 53 Techs in uniform and 24 Teachers) all squadmen showed particular ability and the pink of training. There were less times-out than in a regular season game, even in cold weather, and substitutions were made to give others a chance for action, rather than because players had run into too much of the solids dished out by the game.

ABERNATHY MAN SHOT

ABERNATHY.—J. B. Buske of this section, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Buske, is recovering from a bullet wound suffered recently at Friona. He delivered a load of feed there and took his rifle along to shoot rabbits. In crawling through a fence the trigger hung and the gun was discharged, the bullet striking his shoulder.

Relay Record Tied

Rice with a team of Jones, Steakley, Carr, and Wolcott tied the record in the 440-yard university relay. The time was 51.5, the same as made by Texas in the 1938 preliminaries. Texas was second.

Texas was second in the half mile university relay, won by Michigan State in 1:26.1.

Graham of Texas won the javelin throw with 217 47 feet.

LAMESA INCREASES

LAMESA. — Unofficial report of scholastic enumeration for 1938 shows 1,532 children of school age in the district. This is an increase of 246 over 1937. There were 1,481 white children and 51 negro.

Raider Thinlyclads Place Fourth In El Paso Events

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, April 30. —Featured by some remarkable marks, the annual Southwestern Relay carnival was spectacularly born Saturday afternoon at Texas Mines' Kidd Stadium. East Texas State Teachers of Commerce won team honors in the college division with 31 points. Austin High of El Paso captured the high school trophy with 25 points.

Some 1000 spectators endured tricky weather and watched the East Texas crew pile up a lead over athletes from eight colleges that ended the finals. Howard Payne gained 19 points to take second place. Texas Mines was third with 15. Texas Tech fourth with 14, and Arizona University fifth with 12. Trailing were Arizona State with 6, New Mexico State Aggies with 5 and Stephen F. Austin with 1. Arizona University earned actually 17 points, but five were disqualified because freshmen placed in several events.

In the high school competition, Bowie of El Paso, winning every event it entered, was second with 21 points, El Paso High third with 17, Ysleta fourth with 13 and Fabens fifth with 10.

ENGLISH GOLFER REPEATS

LEEDS, Eng., April 30. (AP)—Frank Pennink, 25-year-old golfer from Kent, won the English amateur championshp for the second time in as many years today. He defeated S. E. Banks, 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final round.

MARSHALL, April 30 (AP)—Manager Guy Sturdy of the Marshall club of the East Texas Baseball league announced today the release of Fred Bennett, former St. Louis and Pittsburgh outfielder who had made a comeback try after a two-year absence from baseball.

Sturdy also announced he had acquired Albert Spell, catcher, from Birmingham.

Eagles Bow To Hoosier Team

PHILADELPHIA, April 30. (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh's baton-passers today ran off with the major share of the honors in the closing program of the Penn Relays, marred through most of the afternoon by a downpour that cut record-breaking down to a minimum.

Pitt equalled the carnival record in the half-mile championship; Virginia established a new meet mark in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay; Overbrook High of Philadelphia set a meet record in winning the high school two-mile, and Nick Vukmanic, of Penn State bettered the meet record for the javelin throw.

Indiana got none of the opposition it had been expected to find in the four-mile, for Ralph Applegate, Jimmy Smith, Mel Trutt and Tommy Deckard put on such pressure that Deckard breasted the tape a good 200 yards in front of Blaine Rideout of North Texas State Teachers college. Smith's 4:15 was the best individual time in the Hoosiers' 17:26.8, more than ten seconds behind the world record they set last year with the help of Don Lash. North Texas was second.

More Newcomers On Weekly Mat Card

More newcomers spot the weekly wrestling card Wednesday night at the Auditorium.

In fact, all of the supporting cast to the George Hartay-Bob Cummings main event is made up of boys comparatively new to these parts.

Billy Davis made his debut last week in a prelim. The Houston grappler takes on a tinear who has never appeared in Lubbock, one Buzz Reynolds, said to be a fast worker.

Carl von Bromberg, whom no one would take for an Irishman, helps Soldier Thomas open the show. Thomas, an ex-doughboy, has wrestled here a few times and has yet to prove a sensation.

George Hartay should have little trouble with Cummings. The little Hungarian has won the majority of his matches here and has proved a clever necktwister. Cummings has his moments, occasionally.

CHINAMAN BEATS AUSTIN

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., April 30. (AP)—Kho Sin Kie, Chinese Davis cup player, dethroned Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England as British hard court tennis champion today in an upset, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Rice Twirler Weakens To Allow Bruins To Triumph

WACO, April 30. (AP)—Floyd Mechler, Rice hurler, weakened in the sixth inning after pitching five innings of scoreless baseball and the Baylor Bears put across seven runs to take a Southwest conference game, 8 to 2, here today.

Prior to his downfall, Mechler had limited the Bruins to one hit, aided by three double plays on the parts of his mates. Three singles, four walks and three Rice errors accounted for the Baylor outburst. Wessinger replaced Mechler and finished in great style.

FIGHTING FOX WINS

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Fighting Fox, outstanding Kentucky candidate from William Woodward's Belair stud, today won the Wood Memorial before a crowd of 20,000 at Jamaica.

19—Livestock For Sale

TUESDAY AND FRIDAY

Our auction sales this week had plenty of ginger, pep, and snap. The market was so snappy there was practically no cattle passed out unsold.

You may not know it, but there is not over 10% of the cattle we sell each week killed in Lubbock. Practically 90% of all the cattle sold at our sales are purchased by out-of-town packers, or order buyers for packers, and that is the reason we can hod the market as high as we do, even in the face of lower markets all around us, ractically none of the cattle we sell go to open market.

Remember both the sale Tuesday and Friday will begin promptly at 10:00 a. m.

A HAPPY SELECTION

HOW happy we are in the choice of Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell of Dallas, poet laureate of Texas and mother of three grown sons, as "The American Mother of 1938." Not because she is a Texan but because she is truly a universal figure do we delight in the selection made by the Golden Rule Society.

Mothers comfort the trouble heart, they bind up wounds and encourage their loved ones to keep on the right side of the road and who has done this better than Mrs. Crowell in her thousands of beautiful poems, especially that little blue book, "Songs for Courage?"

Figuratively Mrs. Crowell will reign for only one day, May 8; actually she has been placed on that pedestal for years by her many readers and admirers.

SCATTERINGS

CONGRATULATIONS to Charles Fike and Elton Plowman, winners of first places in music contests sponsored by the Texas Federation of Music clubs in Beaumont last week. These two young men have the poise and talent of much mature and more experienced musicians . . . If you're reaching that age, keep several small magnifying glasses handy. Fasten one on a cord to the telephone book. Stick another in your purse for reading programs, notes or shopping lists. . . . Note: The terms "maid" and "servant" are considered out of date. "Household employee" is more satisfactory. . . . Statistics show that the average American bridegroom marries at the age of 27 1-2 years. . . . Students of bird life credit the robin with one of the most complete repertories of the bird world, citing instances of birds that sang for a half-hour without repeating a musical phrase.

A WORKER'S PRAYER

AFTER hearing complaints recently from young people who are dissatisfied with their jobs, either believing they are overworked or underpaid, it is a pleasure to read this "Prayer From A Worker." Not because it is good writing, it isn't, but because it expresses what many of us do feel we are reproducing it today:

"God help me
With this job!
No use pretending,
Any more,
That I've got the stuff
To make a go of it alone.
I haven't.
And I can't—
I've tried all that—.
It didn't work.
All my smartness
All my boasts,
All my alibis and excuses
Were a flop—
Now I'm coming clean,
Asking You straight,
To give me a hand!

God help me
With this job!
Please, God
Out of Your Beauty,
Out of Your Truth,
Out of Your Courage—
Not for rewards—
But just for the sake
Of knowing for once
I've played fair
I'm ditching
The conversation
And just asking You
To give me aid.

Help me be game
When I'm feeling yellow.
Help me to grin
When I'm feeling sunk.
Help me to keep plugging
When I want to loaf
And for the sake
Of all the love
That's been given me
Help me to give some
To the other chap
Who's up against it.

If you'll help me
For the time that's left
And be my partner, God,
I promise, honest—
I'll do my best
Not to let You down.
Amen!"

Mother Comes Into Fashion Now With Designers Giving Special Heed To Her Form And Face

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Fashion Editor

MOTHER'S clothes are getting more attention in the fashion world this year.

Designers have given thought to her figure, shops have opened special departments for her and clothes counsels are studying her needs.

New coats, fashioned especially for her of soft black and navy blue wool, are cut on loose boxed lines which slenderize a heavy figure, and finished with simple necklines, softly framing the face.

Mother's frocks are made of new prints or sheer dark crepes lightened with a touch of white or color and are often topped by a cape or a short boxed coat to match.

As further help to Mother's fashion problems, Sybil Coles, clothes counsel for a large New York specialty shop offers these tips:

Begin with a good, carefully fitted girdle.

Don't worry too much about the fashion trend. Choose what becomes you.

Wear clothes designed on self, easy-fitting lines. Don't let your skirt be too short or too narrow or too tight at the hips. All of those things call attention to figure faults.

Select dresses that conceal the under-arm bulge and soften a waistline no longer slender. Have them correctly fitted. Wear narrow belts.

Lighten your black and navy blue with touches of white. Wine, gray, deep blues, greens, white and soft light hues are also good colors for you.

Key your make-up to the color of your frock and be sure that it's applied lightly.

Don't wear dark gray-toned stockings. Conform in this case to the mode.

Luncheon Given Here Saturday

Sixty-seven women attended an annual luncheon of the American Association of University Women and the study groups it sponsors Saturday afternoon in the Hilton hotel ballroom. Miss Alice Beckett presented an interesting program on "The Relation of Speech to Everyday Life", and reports of a recent sectional A. A. U. W. meeting in San Antonio were made by Mrs. Mary W. Doak, president of the local branch who made a general report, and Mrs. William G. Dingus who made an international relations report.

Ten or 15 divisions under the general term, speech, were discussed generally by Miss Beckett who presented several students in a one-act play to illustrate the field and uses of speech study and had other students illustrate points of her lecture with chalk. The program was appropriate in that the A. A. U. W. program for the year has dealt with the arts and their application to living.

The play, "Three's A Crowd", was played by O. J. Davis, Roberta Chisholm, Mary Burke Yeager, Bob Roark and Melvin Best. Another student, Lowell Kendrick, was stage manager.

The lunch was served at a U-shaped table decorated with blue-green Mexican glass bowls filled with yellow and orange callendulas. Little books showing the program and menu, with block-printed jackets of green, orange and yellows, decorated each place. The colors were repeated in the food. The booklets were made by Mrs Bruce Bryan.

Members and guests attending included Mesdames Bryan Dude Buster, Robert W. Wright, John Lynch, N. H. Holt, O. V. Adams, W. P. Clement, J. S. Johnson, Clyde F. Elkins, Sherrill Boyd, A. H. Leidigh, T. E. Hendrick, R. F. McDonald, R. A. Studhalter, George W. Dupree, Elizabeth Young, A. W. Young, W. W. Yocum, A. B. Strehli, S. A. Scott, J. I. Kilpatrick, C. B. Cook, J. W. Extra Dress Has Star Role In Wardrobe

Pleats never have been more important than they are this season. And Paris couturiers use them lavishly, particularly for "special occasion" dresses. For instance, the back of the bodice and the skirt of this smart Chanel frock are entirely pleated. Vestee front and sleeve edgings are of white silk with heavy white soutache embroidery in an allover lace pattern.

Mrs. Mullican Lists Clubs' Committees

Members of the women's clubs committees who will have charge of all inspections in Lubbock's ninth annual cleanup-paintup campaign starting Wednesday were announced Saturday by Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, general chairman, and Mrs. Frank L. Winn, vice-chairman.

At the same time, Mrs. Mullican called the first meeting of the committee for 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at the chamber of commerce which will officially signal the opening of the two week's drive.

Members of the committees follow, the first named in each case being president of her particular club and the second named the chairman of the cleanup committee:

Members of the Texas Technological college Faculty Women's club will attend a monthly tea at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the lounge of the women's dormitory on the college campus.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Frank Pettit, chairman, and Mesdames H. J. Skidmore, A. B. Strehli, J. M. Gordon, M. B. Harrison, W. B. Gates, Ray C. Mowery, L. C. Christianson, P. A. Kleinschmidt, E. V. Middleton, W. H. Bledsoe, Lonnie Langston, Culver Hill and Miss Ruth Horn.

Miss Irma Clay of Amarillo spent several days this week visiting her mother, Mrs. Stephen Clay.

from Lou to Louella . . .

DEAR LOUELLA: Lulu liked the nickname and promptly wrote an interesting letter from which I will quote. Anonymous Friend's letter, if she wrote this week, has not yet arrived.

Marguerite Whipp is off to Kentucky for the Derby and a two weeks' visit with relatives in Louisville. What a life!

Did you know that pretty Mrs. Don Mitchell had an operation and spent last week in the Plains hospital?

Mrs. S. E. Cone is on a three weeks' vacation trip to Houston, San Antonio, Austin, etc. The coming week-end she will be joined in Dallas by Mrs. Arch King, Josephine Powell and Adelia Anderson. The four of them will take in the Oklahoma-Texas-New Mexico convention of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Adolphus hotel.

Lulu says: "I'm home again after 'snooping around' and having fun in Dallas for about nine days.

"Saw 'Victoria Regina' and it was splendid.

Who Was With Ned?

"I'm curious as to whom was with Ned Bradley in the Century Room listening to Jack Denny (when time permitted) Easter Day evening.

"Oh, and it may interest someone of the 1933 Lubbock Senior high graduating class, or thereabouts, that Billy Tubbs, junior at Baylor Med is so busy with classes and being manager of a fraternity house, he has no time to go 'steady' with anyone.

"Saw William Worley of Waxahachie, a former engineering student of Tech, and he was a peach about taking me to spots.

"This is sheer gossip and not too nice: When J. W. Drown was in Lubbock last week-end, an exheartthrob of his from Plainview didn't know of it and was quite indignant when she learned of his visit.

Prefers The Classics

"Pauline Turlington, a statuesque blonde of Lubbock, has a really good singing voice and she prefers the classics or semi-classics to more modern tunes.

"Vinson Stanphill, ex-Tech student who is studying chiropractics in San Antonio, came up for the college fiesta."

PANSY Harris, a Lubbock school teacher who came here after Christmas from Clyde, looks like Ina Mae McCollom. There's a boy in Lubbock who looks for the world like Baxter Bardwell except he lacks about three inches being as tall and he doesn't know me.

I met Geraldine Turner Fedrick's bridegroom, Tom, who was here from Jacksonville the other day. My, but he's a goodlooker, in fact so much so that I could hardly be congenial for staring. It's Tom and Jerry now, and that reminds me that Jerry used to have a best beau named Johnny Walker.

Here's A Mystery

There's a mystery being enacted by what is suspected and hoped to be an innocent mouse out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Hendrick. Every few days, Mrs. Hendrick finds pecan shells hidden on the living room floor beneath a drapery.

She vows and declares that there hasn't been a pecan in the house since Christmas even when her little boy, Rodney, was home from the convent on spring vacation and she hasn't seen nor heard a mouse. I saw the shells there myself Thursday night and there were eight other witnesses.

THE years have passed lightly over the classic face of Mrs. John C. Granbery. I had the privilege of a brief chat with her the day after her splendid review. She is still the enthusiastic, ambitious woman she was when she presided over the lovely "at homes" she and Dr. Granbery gave here several years ago.

I thought after she went away I would have been unhappy had I not got to hear her say "house" in that Staunton, Va., accent she has retained from her girlhood.

She said Doctor Granbery is as active as ever, interested in politics and the lives of the students and faculty at Southwestern university. Recently he has been over at San Antonio interviewing the pecan strikers.

Yours, Lou.

Hardy Club Meets In Home Of Mrs. Blackmon, President

"The best arranged clothes closet has a row of shelves across one end and at least one shelf the length of the closet just over the hanging rod," Miss Clara Pratt told members of the Hardy Home Demonstration club at a meeting Friday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. George Blackmon.

Broccoli seed were distributed. The members were urged to attend a short course May 12. Constitution and by-laws were adopted.

Mrs. W. A. Caraway was received as a member. Others attending were Wanda and Eloise Woodruff and Mesdames C. F. Hodges, Adolphus Brown, R. M. Middleton, F. Y. Henderson, Carl Johnson.

The club will meet May 13 with Mrs Fred Worsham to see a demonstration of making sunshine cake to be given by Miss Pratt.

Grocers' Leader To Speak Here

Theodore Christianson, former congressman, three-times governor of Minnesota and now secretary-manager of the National Association of Retail Grocers, will address retail grocers of Lubbock and the surrounding area at a district meeting in Lubbock at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night on the third floor of the court house.

This meeting is one of a series of district gatherings to be held in Texas by Christianson in co-operation with the Texas Retail Grocers association. He will speak in Childress, Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo, Austin, Harlingen, Galveston, Beaumont, Houston, Tyler, Paris and Wichita Falls.

Christianson will be accompanied on the trip by Roger Q. Flournoy, Dallas, secretary of the Texas association, who is making the trip from headquarters in Chicago to Texas for a survey of the retail grocery trade in Texas before the national convention which will open June 21 in Cincinnati. Christianson will be aided at several cities by local retail grocers organizations.

Christianson became national secretary-manager for the retail grocers in February, 1937, after an extensive career in politics, law and newspaper and magazine work. He practiced law from 1909 until 1925 when he was elected governor of Minnesota, a post he held by re-elections until 1931. Christianson served in congress from 1933 to 1935. He has written for magazines of national circulation and edited both newspapers and magazines.

powder blue waffle-knit suit with a huge navy flower embroidered on one side. Plain satin lastex suits of one-piece with adjustable straps, and the "South Sea Island" type with the sarong and the bra top are outstanding. However, one-piece suits will be best sellers this season. The cotton suits popularity will be without limit this summer and printed suits will run the plain ones a close race.

The beach robe, towel and carrier all are being made of the same material; some on display are made of striped cloth. Short beach coats of "instep" length with matching sun bonnets will be prominent this summer. Suspenders are being hooked on shorts.

Play dresses have a new comer, the cyclotte. It resembles the popular culotte but better hides the split skirt as the skirt is buttoned down the front with a deep pleat in the back. A cyclotte made with printed navy and wine clubs over a cream-colored fabric is an attractive style.

The inter-changeable skirt and cape catch the modern young shopper's eye in its practicability. Outstanding among these new three-pieces are shorts a halter and flowing shirred skirt-cape in a colorful blocked print. Many are designed in peasant styles and often a bolero in a contrasting print is added.

Suitable accessories include large, rough straw hats, peasant scarfs, doeskin oxfords with rubber soles and white buckskin oxfords with bright alligator toes.

Eubank Is Named City Inspector

Closer inspection of restaurants, drug stores, sandwich stands and other places where food and drink are served will be the result of the appointment of George B. Eubank as an additional inspector in city health department, according to information given Saturday by Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

Eubank, a former policeman and more recently connected with South Plains Coaches, was announced by Dr. Rollo as the appointee after the city commission had authorized an addition of the department personnel.

Complaints Increasing

The recommendation to the commission had said that rapid growth of the city had left the health department with an inadequate inspections force, and that the sanitary conditions of many eating and drinking places had been a cause of increasing numbers of complaints in recent months.

Until Eubank's appointment, the commission was advised, one inspector had as his duties the inspections both of dairies, of which there are more than 50, and of eating and drinking places, of which there are several hundred.

Eubank will be assigned, said Dr. Rollo, to the food and drink handling places, with instructions to inspect them thoroughly and to enforce rigidly the health and sanitation ordinances which apply to them. He was further instructed, city hall informants said, to work closely with police whenever necessary to make certain that the laws are observed.

The club will meet May 12 in the home of Mrs. M. T. Daniell, 2118 Fifteenth street, Lubbock.

Liquor Revenues Show Increase

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 30.—Liquor revenues in March totaled $548,367, a gain of more than $100,000 over the previous month.

Liquor stamp sales amounted to $306,687, beer stamps $169,176 and wine stamps $22,588 of the total collections. Liquor permit fees brought in $5,489 and beer licenses $37,643.

Grant 100 Permits

The liquor control board granted 100 liquor permits in March as follows: wholesaler 1, class B wholesaler 1, package store 44, wine package store 1, agent 28, industrial 3, medicinal drug store 9, common carrier 1, private carrier 2, local cartage 7, bonded warehouse 2, and storage 1.

Beer licenses numbered 1,302 as follows: Manufacturer 1, general distributor 17, branch distributor 13, local distributor 35, on-premises retailer 654, off-premises retailer 19, beer-wine retailer 563.

Back Taxes Collected

The auditing division made 36 audits of eight types of accounts during March and collected $3,618 in back taxes, Chief Auditor Cecil Jennings said. The auditor said necessary steps had been taken to protect the state on 10 audits on which back taxes were due and uncollected March 31.

A summary of matters handled for the board by the attorney general's department in March showed 199 hearings which resulted in cancellation of 68 permits and the suspension of 59. Seven others were suspended for breach of the peace and 17 applications for permits were refused.

At the beginning of the month, 45 suits were pending in district courts against the board, of which 13 were tried or otherwise disposed. Four suits were filed against the board and one by the attorney general for the state agency.

Thirteen suits were pending during the month in appellate courts and the attorney general's department wrote 13 legal opinions for the board.

Point Of Safety

Berliners hope that they will be safe from enemy gas attacks in the newly-devised anti-air raid chamber pictured above. The unique shape makes it literally a point of safety, as the sharp cone effect presents a difficult target to bombing pilots. Made of concrete, painted green, the 60-foot high chamber can provide gas-tight protection for 300 persons.

Made among a people who ordinarily fear cameras, the pictures comprise the most complete pictorial recording ever made of the old religious festival, as far as is known to Dr. W. C. Holden, who led the recent expedition on which the pictures were made.

Dr. J. C. Anderson of Lubbock made 1,600 feet of motion pictures, at his own expense. The expedition was made with the assurance that any number of pictures could be made, an unusual grant by the Yaquis.

Lubbock Public School Officials Faced With Problem Of Providing More Space

Scholastics Gain Creates Demand

Increase of 576—more than 10 per cent, in scholastic population of Lubbock independent school district within a single year means that trustees must, in the very near future, tackle the problem of providing more space for pupils.

This was the concensus Saturday of school officials as census rolls for the 1938-39 fiscal year were completed after several weeks of work.

Gain Is Extraordinary

They disclose the scholastic population—children who will be between the ages of 6 and 17 years next Sept. 1, now totals 6,282, an increase of 576 as compared with the 5,706 last year. The gain of 10.1 per cent in a single year is extraordinary, but one which has been reflected in the growth of actual school enrollment, officials agreed.

The significance of the increase, as related to existing school facilities, is reflected in the fact that the the increase in the one year is larger than the entire 551 enrollment at Dupre school.

Dupre Is Largest

Dupre is the largest and, in spite of having been built more than 12 years ago, is the newest among the elementary buildings comprising the city school system.

The final census figure of 6,282 to be reported to the state department of education is larger by 128 than had been indicated in the first preliminary report on results of the enumeration two weeks ago. The first report, it was explained, was hastily compiled as a courtesy to those wanting the information, and was without official significance. Most of the error was accounted for, it was explained, when it was discovered that someone failed to set down a check mark which indicated a count of 100 scholastics.

Rolls To Be Checked

The rolls, as now completed, list the name and detailed information concerning every child enumerated. They will be referred to and checked by the state department of education and will form the basis of payment of the district's per capita apportionment, which this year amounts to $22. On the basis of the rolls as they now stand, Lubbock independent district will receive approximately $138,000.

School officials stressed that, although the present school system is approaching its capacity, no critical condition of over-crowding has arisen. They were equally emphatic, however, that if growth continues at anything approaching the rate of the last two years, overcrowding will be the inescapable result before very long.

Can Use Basements

At the present time, it was explained, there still are basement spaces now used for other purposes which could be converted into four or five classrooms. That means, they added, that the school system now is within four or five rooms of its capacity, without taking into consideration that some of the rooms are not all that could be desired for instruction purposes. Some readjustment of space has been necessary since last September to handle the large increase in enrollment, it was added.

When the remaining four or five classrooms are converted to that use, it will mean the elimination of some functions in some of the schools which should not be eliminated, they said. In some cases, it was disclosed, the rooms will occupy space not utilized as student cafeterias.

In addition to the boys from district No. 2, three boys from district 6 were included. They were: Arlee Gowen, 15 and A. B. Wilkinson, 17, Dawson county, who had poultry and cotton as projects and Weldon Street, 16, Borden county, who had a baby beef. Street's address is O'Donnell.

Spring Roundup For U-Lazy S Is May 3

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, April 30 — Spring roundup of the U-Lazy S ranch is scheduled for May 3, Jay B. Slaughter, ranch manager, announced. He has delayed starting the rundup as long as possible, to get it done before flies begin to bother the calves.

Foreman Satterwhite will be in charge of the wagon. The chuckwagon is leaving for the first pasture ahead of the crew.

Slaughter runs several thousand head of cattle on his 65,000-acre ranch. He said he expected a good calf crop this spring, although he would not estimate the probable number of animals to be branded.

Grass on the ranch has been good this spring. Slaughter believes he has at least three times as much grass as he had a year ago. He cooperated with the range program of the extension service and with George Samson, range inspector for the county directing the work, followed closely the improvement suggestions.

Slaughter had built a number of tanks. He will add two or three more.

Cattle on the ranch, and in Garza county as a whole, have gone through the winter in better shape than for years. Grass was more plentiful and better than for a decade.

CALF CROP GOOD

BLEDSOE—The calf crop in this section of Cochran county is said by ranchers to be above the average. The lamb crop also is good. No serious damage from weather conditions has been reported.

New Plan Of Preserving Cured Meats Tried At Garza Ranch

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, April 30—A new method of preserving ham and bacon after being cured, was tried out at the U-Lazy S ranch this winter by Jay B. Slaughter, manager. This year he killed and butchered 15 hogs.

The cured meat was stored in vegetable oil, in barrels. "The oil keeps the hams and bacon in fine shape and they taste good," said Slaughter. "There is no mould or anything like that."

Slaughter generally cures from 15 to 20 hogs each year. He cures the hams and bacon, makes sausage and stores them, using the fresh meat for immediate consumption. The cured meats are placed in barrels and covered with the oil.

New system was used after visits to the state experiment sub-station at Lubbock, where Superintendent Don L. Jones showed his experiments and explained his methods.

'No Third Term' Principle In Texas Limited To Three State Officials

Restriction Not Against Others

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 30.—A glance at the prospective ballot for the July Democratic primary indicates that insofar as Texas is concerned the "no third term" principle is limited to governors, lieutenant governors and attorneys general.

Morris Sheppard of Texarkana has been an United States senator from Texas more than 25 years and many Texans in the lower house of congress have served more than two terms. Several state officials are seeking fourth or fifth terms in the current campaign.

No governor ever has been elected for a third full term and that was one fact influencing Gov. James V. Allred not to seek renomination. Lieutenant governors and attorneys general, almost without exception, retire at the end of their second terms.

On the other hand Judge F. L. Hawkins, up for renomination, has been on the court of criminal appeals since February, 1921. C. V. Terrell, likewise asking renomination, has served on the Railroad commission nearly 14 years.

Servin Fgifth Terms

J. E. McDonald and Charley Lockhart are seeking fifth terms as agriculture commissioner and state treasurer, respectively, and L. A. Woods for his fourth as state school superintendent. Comptroller George H. Sheppard, so far unopposed for renomination, has held the office more than seven years.

One argument Sheppard and Lockhart might offer is that they formerly worked for $2,500 a year and since the people have decided the annual pay for their positions should be boosted to $6,000 they should be given a second term at that figure.

The "no third term" idea sometimes is an effective weapon against state senators because their terms last four years, whereas those of the governor and many other state officials are for two. Clint C. Small, state senator from Amarillo, had a close call in his successful attempt for a third term in 1936. T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, however, has been in the upper house 15 years.

Members of the state house of representatives frequently escape opposition for a second term but usually draw one or more opponents in a third term race. Several, however, have been able to scare away or defeat opponents several times in succession. W. E. (Uncle Elmer) Pope of Corpus Christi is serving his ninth term and C. E. Nicholson of Port Neches his seventh. R. A. Fuchs of Brenham, Walter E. Jones of Jourdanton, R. Emmett Morse of Houston and Alfred Petsch of Fredricksburg each has been in the legislature nearly 12 years.

One thing which helps several house members stay in office three terms or longer is that they are mentioned as the possible next speaker. They may withdraw from the speakership contest before a vote is taken but mention of their names has helped a number win renomination.

Indians To Present Performances Here

A Navajo wedding, "The Path of the Sacred Corn Pollen," will be presented by the Navajo Boarding school of Tulsa City, Arizona at two performances Wednesday at the High school auditorium. A matinee at 2:45 o'clock will be for Lubbock elementary school children, and the night show at 8 o'clock for the public.

Admission to the play, which is sponsored by the Lubbock Public school faculty is 25 cents.

Tuba City Vocational High school, organized by the United States Department of the Interior Indian service, is located on the Navajo reservation, the largest in the United States. Fifty thousand Indians are in the Navajo tribe, and live in an area of 16,000 acres.

They speak the Navajo language and wear clothes reminiscent of the early Spanish and Indian life in the Southwest. Men wear cowboy clothes, the women flowing skirts, moccasins, and Pendleton blankets. Both young and old wear turquoise and silver jewelry.

Indian songs and dances will be included on the program.

A Trailer For Drunks

Citizens of Woburn, Mass., who stand in front of too many mahogany bars will find themselves behind plenty of steel ones when they are plunked into this wheeled cage and paraded before their fellow townsmen. The coop is the idea of Mayor William E. Kane, who is seen standing by while Ella M. Knowton, president of the Woburn Unitarian Church General Welfare Club, prepares to swing a baptismal bottle at the steel bars. What? Of COURSE it's water in the bottle!

Annual Fishing Rodeo Planned At Galveston On Successive Week-Ends, June 3-5, 11-12

GALVESTON, April 30. (AP)—Galveston's annual fishing rodeo will be held consecutive week-ends, June 3-5 and June 11-12, John Junker, general chairman, announces.

The Galveston Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor, announces ten prizes of $1,000 in value, including a modern boat with a 33-house power motor and one-man trailer, valued at $700. Tenth prize will be a casting net.

Judging wil be based on points, each type fish being valued at a certain number, a tarpon, for example, receiving 500.

Collector of the largest number of points will receive the grand prize, a trophy and rod and reel and the captor of the largest tarpon will win a second trophy. The woman making the most points will receive a trophy and rod and reel.

Other prizes announced include: second, $50 rod and reel; third, $35 kingfish rod and reel; fourth, $25 service reel and popping rod; fifth, $15 reel and bay casting rod and 100 yards of silk line; sixth, $10 tackle box and tackle; seventh, parker; eighth, pair of flylweight boots; and ninth, minnow bucket.

'Amateur Night' Is Planned Here

Ranking amateurs of the South Plains will present a program for prizes, at 8:15 o'clock the night of May 17 in the auditorium of Senior High school. Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Lubbock will sponsor the program.

Billed as the "most outstanding contest ever attempted here," the VFW has invited selected talent from Lubbock and all the surrounding towns and colleges. Civic clubs, too, within an area of 200 miles are being asked to send program members.

String bands, singers, dancers, comedians and various novelty acts will be on the program. Twenty-five numbers will be presented.

Four prizes will be offered to the four winning act: $35, $20, $15 and $5. Three disinterested judges placed in the audience will decided winners by listening to applause.

Members of the VFW serving on the entertainment committee are W. E. Lavender, Ray W. Amick, J. B. Jones, L. A. Johnson, J. D. Nichols, and W. H. McDonald, appointees of Terrell St. Clair, commander.

Tickets to Amateur Stars on Parade will be 50 cents for reserved, 35 cents for general seats.

Applications for contest spots may be made with Mrs. Nichols. She may be written at 1913 Avenue M in Lubbock, or telephoned at 2152.

Texas Tech's Geology Graduates Scattered To Four Corners Of Globe; Sun Never Sets On Them For Six Months Out Of The Year

Six months out of the year the sun never sets on geology graduates of Texas Technological college, said Dr. Leroy Patton, head professor of geology and geological engineering at Tech.

From approximately March 21 to Sept. 22 the sun shines upon them 24 hours a day, which half-way meets the English saying that "the sun never sets on the British flag."

The sun still shines for 40 minutes on Lloyd Worley, '31, ranger in charge at the north rim of Grand Canyon National park, after it sets in Lubbock, and 80 minutes later on J. W. Mallard, '31, in Redding, Calif. The sun will be rising on U. S. Armstrong, '34, geologist for the Standard Oil company on Bahrain island, on the Persian gulf when it is twilight in Redding.

In Cairo, Egypt, the headquarters of Homer Roberts, '34, employe of the Socony Vacuum company, the sunrise is two hours later. The sun rises in the jungles of Columbia, South America, where E. A. McCullough, '31, and Carl Rogers, '33, Texas company geologists, are employed, when it is a little past noon in Cairo.

In Iowa City, Iowa, where Robert Spivey, '31, is working on his doctor's degree in the University of Iowa, the sunrise is an hour later. Approximately 40 minutes after the Iowan sunrise, the sun rises on Tech campus, where there are several graduates.

During the other six months, the period between the California sunset and Persian gulf sunrise will be short as the days will be shorter in the northern hemisphere.

The United States set a new all-time record for banana eating during the last year, importing 66,586,000 bunches or approximately one-half of the world's trade in bananas. Mexico is the largest exporter of bananas to this country.

A new heavy cannon for airplanes is a 37 millimeter gun mounted flexibly in a transparent turret. The gun fires 100 shells in one minute. The shells weigh one and one-tenth pounds and are filled with TNT.

Brief Bits Of News

A salon of photography will be presented by the Camera club of Senior High school May 10, 11, and 12. D. M. Howell is sponsor. Student exhibitors are to be permitted to enter four prints without charge, but must pay 5 cents for the next six prints and 10 cents for all additional prints. Mounting sizes suggested are 5 by 7 inches, 8 by 10 inches, and 14 by 20 inches. Awards will be given for the best picture in each division, and a grand champion award for the best picture of all divisions.

An annual picnic conducted by the Biology club of Texas Technological college is scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon at Cooper's canyon near Post. Joe Donaldson is head of the committee planning the picnic. Lloyd Miller is president of the club, which has approximately 40 members. Faculty of the department are to attend. They are Dr. R. A. Studhalter, Dr. E. L. Reed, J. Q. Sealey, M. F. Landwer, Dr. Bessie League, and Dr. D. W. Douglass.

L. D. Thomas, marshal, and Arnold H. Maas, members of South Plains Shrine club, will leave Lubbock in early June to attend a national Shrine convention June 7 through 9 in Los Angeles.

OATS ARE GROWING

HAPPY — Oats planted several weeks ago have shown a good growth. Barley also is growing. There was sufficient moisture in April to bring up both crops. Planting of sorghums will begin as soon as the ground is warm enough.

Drop In Locations

Cutting daily allowable production in West Texas several thousand barrels while quotas of all ther districts in the state were aised for May drew protests in many quarters and was followed y rescinding of the order Thursday. Meanwhile, however, there was drop in locations to 26 for field ests and four for wildcats in eight ounties from 30 for field tests and even for wildcats in 13 counties during the preceding week. Completions of producers increased to 50 from 33 the week before and only four failures were abandoned compared with seven during the preceding week.

It is in the northwest corner of section 12-X-psl. Gulf No. 1 Mallett, in the northeast corner of section 6-X-psl, two miles southwest of productions, was cleaning out following a 120-quart shot from 5,000 to 5,030 feet.

Duggan, east offset to Ingleright & Fogelson No. 2 Houston, most southerly well in the Duggan pool in Cochran county, flowed 174 barrels of oil in 24 hours through choked tubing for completion at 5,071 feet after treatment with 7,300 gallons of acid. It is in the southwest corner of labor 13, league 55, Oldham county school land.

Yoakum Test Swabs Oil

Shell No. 1 Hensley in Yoakum county, in the northeast quarter of section 767-D, John H. Gibson, swabbed 6 1-2 barrels of fluid, mostly oil, hourly at 5,125 feet before being treated with 2,500 gallons of acid. It is three-quarters of a mile northwest of Wynne No. 1 Clawater, most northeasterly producer in the Denver field.

Flowing at a total depth of 5,040 feet, after being swabbed in, Shell No. 1 C. A. Dowden, in the northwest quarter of section 894, promised a three-quarter mile southwest extension of Denver production. One and three-quarter miles farther southwest, Helmerich & Payne No. 1 Ohio-O'Dowd, in the northeast corner of section 986, gauged 3,200,000 cubic feet of gas daily at 4,825 feet and shut down at 4,830 for a control head. More lime slightly porous but 100 per cent saturated and bleeding at intervals was cored between 5,005 and 5,291 feet by Shell No. 1 Roberts, wildcat west of the Denver pool, in the southwest quarter of section 793.

Bond &— Bohago No. 1 J. L. West, in the southeast corner of section 607, was abandoned at 5,503 feet after showing only a trace of oil with water. It was 1 1-2 miles southeast of the same operators' No. 1 M. M. West, a small discovery well eight miles north of the Denver pool opener, which was shot in mid-week from 5,126 to 5,252 feet and was cleaning out. Gulf No. 1 Dixon, wildcat in section 609, between the Bond and Bohago well and the Bennett pool eight miles to the southeast, pumped 26 barrels of water and no oil in 24 hours at 5,491 feet in lime.

Landreth No. 1 Dalmont, in the northeast corner of section 24-A21-psl, 2 1-2 miles northwest of Landreth No. 1 Kirk, Gaines county's first oil producer, recovered oil stained samples from 4,731-41 feet and began standerdizing.

H. C. Wheeler No. 1 F. E. Gardner, 2 1-2 miles west of the Means pool in Andrews county and in the southwest corner of section 15-A35-psl, showed sulphur water at 4,647 feet and plugged back to acidize upper oil shows. Walter J. Donnelly o. 1 University, 4 1-2 miles farther well and in the northeast corner of section 16-14-U, awaited plugging orders at 4,703 feet, a Schlumberger survey having shown sulphur water. Frank S. Perkins and others' o. 1 Cowden, southwestern Andrews wildcat in section 14-A55-psl, was reported to have passed out of the Permian lime in drilling to 7,168 feet.

For the prevention of ill health

MAYBE your hens can do better than they now are, even though you think they are doing pretty good. Maybe they can do better on the same feed and without giving them any extra care. We say this because we know it has been proved that, everything being equal, a flock that gets Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-min in addition to its regular ration will outlay another flock of equal laying capacity.
And the difference is a matter of laying trim. Pan-a-min just keeps those egg machines in shape for heavy production. Pan-a-min keeps a bird healthy and hungry. She feels like eating more feed and laying more eggs. Try it.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Akim Tamiroff Offers To Give Up His Role To Seal And To Take That Of The Animal

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 30.—All over the lot: Akim Tamiroff is waiting to play a scene with "Slicker," a trained seal used in "Spawn of the North." All actors have a professional dislike for appearing with animals because the latter always steal the scenes. And now Tamiroff not only has to act with a seal, but has to wait for him while he is gaped at by the company.

Akim Tamiroff

After half an hour Tamiroff taps Director Henry Hathaway on a shoulder. "Let me play the seal," he pleads. "It's a lot better role than I've got. And the seal could play my part."

Scar-Dust

DOROTHY Lamour, also in this Alaskan picture, laughs good-naturedly at the monotonous wisecracks about how many clothes she's wearing these days. She says, well, the makeup men are having an easy time of it anyway.

Dorothy Lamour

When Dorothy was a child in New Orleans, Mrs. Carmen Lamour, her mother, had her vaccinated on a thigh rather than have an arm marred by a scar. Mrs. Lamour was pretty sure by that time that Dorothy would be a beauty, and maybe an actress. But she reckoned without Hollywood, for the vaccination scar has to be painted over every time Miss Lamour wears a sarong for an island or jungle picture.

Shooting Shooting

ON Universal's back lot, Johnny Mack Brown is playing cowboy-and-Indian for the serial, "Flaming Frontiers." Such films are shot in a hurry. In the half hour that I watched, five scenes were made—and that would be an excellent day's work for the average company on a feature. They shoot so rapidly that they have to have two directors, working on alternate days, so that one directs while the other is preparing the next day's shooting.

JOHNNY MACK BROWN

I was sitting on the steps of the Silver Dollar Saloon when Brown came over and said, "You'd better move quick or you're going to find yourself in the movies." So I moved, but in five minutes I was able to go back and sit on the steps with Brown.

A subsequent scene, intended to show Indian raiders dashing down a hill on their horses, threatened some delay. One of the Indians couldn't manage his horse. "That's all right," said Director Ed Tyler. "We'll leave him up there. He can pretend he's a lookout left behind on purpose."

They shot the scene. When the mounted men dashed down the hill I found they were real Indians all

Broadway Has 'Star Is Born'

MODERN motion picture magic has brought a new kind of aviation film to the screen, one that glorifies the man who "lays a floor in the sky so that future generations can go to bed safely."

It is "Test Pilot," dedicated to those men who gamble their lives against the airworthiness of a designer's dreams.

Preview Shown Here

The picture, which starts at the Palace today and boasts four great stars in Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Spencer Tracy and Lionel Barrymore, was previewed before a large group of South Plains exhibitors and newspapermen here last Monday morning. All were impressed by the performances of Gable in the title role, Miss Loy as an unsophisticated but smart young woman and Tracy as a roughneck, kindly, gruff mechanic.

The story concerns a daring flier who, in an attempt to break the transcontinental speed mark, lands in a Kansas wheat field, meets Miss Loy and carries her off as his wife. Her life is one long nightmare while he flies and flirts with a nameless lady "who lives in the sky." Not until his pal is killed does he turn his back on the testing of ships to resume his commission in the army.

One Of Best Of Year

Today's offering at the Broadway is one of the best pictures of last year and whose star was considered for the annual Academy award for her work. It is "A Star Is Born," with Janet Gaynor, Frederic March and Adolphe Menjou.

While the story in itself is not unusual, the characterizations of the actors make it highly entertaining. A little country girl goes to Hollywood in search of stardom and, facing the thousands of odds against her, rises to fame over night. She is aided in her climb by a hard-drinking screen idol who falls in love with her and marries her. Their romance is an unhappy one unil she sacrifices all and brings him back to his feet.

Action With The G-Men

"Tipoff Girls," current attraction at the Lindsey, is a fast-stepping melodrama of the G-man type.

Mary Carlisle, Lloyd Nolan, Roscoe Karns, Larry Crabbe and Evelyn Brent have prominent roles. The plot is an action-studded account of the G-men setting out to apprehend a gang that is hijacking fast freight trucks.

Those who missed little Shirley Temple in "Heidi" when it first was presented in Lubbock, should not pass up this chance to see the little screen sweetheart. The picture opens today at the Lyric.

Shirley is taken by a cruel aunt to visit her grandfather, Jean Hersholt. He resents her but later grows to love her and when she is stolen by the scheming aunt and hired out, the old man follows and attempts to rescue her. He arrives just in time to save the child from being sold to a band of gypsies.

Tribulations Of Actresses

The lives and careers of all stage-struck girls everywhere are summed up in the production, "Stage Door," showing today at the Tech. A brilliant cast is headed by Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou.

The story embraces the varied experiences of a group of girls residing in a theatrical boarding house. A society girl, under a fictitious name, arrives on the scene and makes good. But when she wins the role coveted by one of the others, a suicide results which reacts in dramatic fashion upon all those who are left behind.

Some old favorites are back today at the Cactus. Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper and George Raft take the spot in "The Bowery," a rollicking story of that famous area in New York in the gay nineties.

Are Bitter Enemies

Beery, as Chuck Connors, and Raft as Steve Brodie, are bitter enemies. Stev's love for the girl that Chuck rescued from white slavers makes their enmity doubly

Clark Gable is the daring flier and Myrna Loy is the wife who lives each hour in fear that he will not return in "Test Pilot," opening today at the Palace.

Lloyd Nolan and Mary Carlisle have leading roles in the G-man picture, "Tipoff Girls," now showing at the Lindsey.

Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers are sarcastic enemies to start an warm friends at the end in "Stage Door," current attraction at the Tec

Water Authority Makes Progress

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, April 30 — Residents of the southern great plains are spending much time and money in a program to save the water from the clouds.

Organized a year ago, the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority has started construction on three large lakes and is developing plans for about 350 dams in the plains region of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Dams Under Construction

Three dams under construction in Randall, Gray and Hemphill counties will be developed into recreational centers with large lakes and beaches.

The dam in Randall county will be completed about the first of July. It is the largest in the authority's program and will form a lake covering 2,750 acres. The other projects range in size down to dams for impounding stock water.

Although the larger lakes will be developed mainly as recreational centers and the water conserved will not be used directly for agricultural purposes, the program is considered by officials to be of much benefit to range and farm land. Allowed to run off into draws and creeks, the water would continue to erode the land and, in addition, cause dust blowing hazards.

The bureau of agricultural economics and other government agencies are cooperating with the authority in the conservation program.

Dill, Okla., Man Is New Superintendent At Roosevelt High

DILL, Okla., April 30 — Superintendent of Schools Noel Kruegar announced here he had telegraphed the Roosevelt Rural High school board of trustees, in Lubbock county, Texas, he would accept an offer to become head of that school district.

His new position will become effective July 1.

The Roosevelt school board had taken action several weeks ago to replace the retiring superintendent M. L. Kelly. Approximately 40 school men applied for the position and the school board narrowed the list to five several days ago.

Supt. Kruegar's agency in building a new school building here contributed to his being selected by the Roosevelt school, which will begin construction of a new building for the district's grade school students soon.

Work Begins Soon On New Building At Roosevelt

Work will begin soon in razing grammar school buildings at Acuff, McClung and Canyon communities, so that a modern centralized structure may be constructed on the campus of the Roosevelt Rural High school.

A telegram from George Mahon, congressman, to the firm of Fink and Benson at Lubbock, architects, said he had been informed of presidential approval of the WPA project and that, in natural routine, the comptroller's approval should be expected within a few days.

The building will contain eight classrooms and will be constructed of brick. It will be steam heated.

Bond issue of $9,000 was subscribed by district voters last year.

Little Jack Little, Famed Pianist, Singer And Orchestra Leader, To Play Here May 10

LITTLE JACK LITTLE

A versatile entertainer, Little Jack Little, who serves as conductor, master of ceremonies, pianist, and singer, will bring his noted dance band here for a program May 10 under auspices of the Texas Technological college artist course.

The program will be presented in Senior High school auditorium. It will be the first appearance of a dance band under auspices of the artist course and will be the final artist course program of this college year.

Furnishing a background for its leader's keyboard acrobatics and baritone vocals will be the scintillating rhythm of the orchestra of 14 members, which will play current hits and past favorites.

One of the earlier radio entertainers, Little Jack Little has had a varied career as conductor, composer, pianist, and singer. He entered his professional career as a pianist touring the country. He organized his orchestra in 1933 and it has since filled many personal appearance engagements, played for broadcasts over national networks, for recordings, and in several movie shorts.

General admission for persons who do not have artist course tickets will be $1. Reserved seats will be $1.25. Tickets will go on sale at Bowen's Drug store, 1021 Broadway, May 9. They may be purchased this week in the office of R. A. Mills, artist course chairman, on the third floor of the administration building.

In 1790, when the first United States census was taken, the population was 3,929,214.

Schools Must Be Expanded; Democratic Rebels Are Beginning To Worry Now

Census Figures Tell A Story

City's Growth Calls For More Buildings

THOSE who study recently completed scholastic census figures for Lubbock independent school district cannot fail to be impressed by one very important fact.

That is: If increase in scholastic popuation and school enrollment continues at anything approaching the pace of the last year or two, early expansion of the physical equipment of the system will become absolutely necessary. That, boiled down to its essence, will mean either enlargement of existing school buildings; or erection of new ones; or, the more probable course, both.

The official census figures list 576 more scholastic in the district this year than last, the comparative figures being 6,282 now and 5,706 then. Significance of the figures is emphasized when considered that the resent enrollment at Dupre school, the last elementary building to be erected here, is only 551. The increase in scholastic population in one year has been more than enough to fill that building.

At the present time, according to school officials, the condition is not one of overcrowding, although some "undesirable" space is being used for classrooms. Three or four additional basement rooms could be created by moving out such things as cafeterias and other equipment. However, few patrons of the schools would favor that course.

While the problem has not yet become one of vital importance, citizens of the school district must realize it will not be long before it will become very serious unless something is done. They must be prepared for the time, perhaps in the comparatively near future, when the board of trustees can adopt no other course than an expansion program.

Today's Naval Anniversary

TO most of us, today merely is Sunday, May 1. But to those who know their history, and more particularly to navy men, it is the 40th anniversary of the re-birth of the American navy.

It was just 40 years ago at dawn this morning when a little squadron of American warships commanded by Commodore George Dewey pointed its guns at a Spanish fleet in Manila bay and opened fire. Before noon that day, the Americans had gained the most amazing naval victory of modern times and one of the most amazing in all history. Incredible as it may seem, not an American was killed and only seven were wounded. Not an American ship was heavily damaged. Loss of the Spaniards was 381 killed, more than 400 wounded and 11 ships destroyed or captured.

The battle was the first action for any American warship since the Civil war, a period of more than 30 years. Within that period, our fleet had virtualy disappeared from the sea. We had become an unknown quantity. Spain, in contrast, possessed a paper strength placing it high among the world powers. The fact that Spanish sailors were poorly trained, poorly equipped and almost wholy without morale did not become known until after the Spanish-American war.

From that day, America has held a high place among naval powers. Our navy usually has not measured even to reasonable needs, but it always has been a force with which to be reckoned by those who might be jealous or covetous of us.

Let all patriotic citizens join in the fervent hope that it forever shall continue to be!

An American Newsman Views Britain's Preparations For War And Hears From London:

"The Next Time We'll Be Ready!"

William F. Brooks, former executive news editor of The Associated Press in America, has spent the last six months in England as managing director of The Associated Press of Great Britain. In this story he tells what Englishmen think about "the next war" and how they are getting ready for it.

BY WILLIAM F. BROOKS
Written for the Associated Press

LONDON, April 30—The coming European war—as yet just a series of headlines to most Americans—is something the man in the streets of England has begun to view with practical, personal application.

Hitler and Mussolini have taken the subject of rearmament out of the halls of Parliament and put it into the pubs, the barber shops and the drawing rooms.

One stormy week with war talk over all Europe made England's A. R. P. (Air Raid Precautions) as well known in England as W. P. A. is in America.

German troops tramped into Austria; Poland and Lithuania let their years-old quarrel boil over; Franco swept toward Barcelona; Czechoslovakia wore out her knuckles knocking at Europe's chancelleries to find out who would come to her aid if Der Fuehrer decided to "reclaim" the 3,500,000 German-speaking citizens within her borders.

Until these things happened, war still was in the academic category of discussion in London despite two years of furious rearming.

London Becomes Jittery

The theory argued 10 years ago that the next war would be won by mass bombing raids has been somewhat exploded. It has been tested in Spain, and a million people in Madrid refused to be terrorized. Nevertheless a quarter of the city lies in ruins. Some 3,000 Madrilenos have been killed and some 20,000 injured. London is suddenly conscious of her vulnerability.

Nine million people dwell in the 20-mile square which is London. The city is the food distributing center for 15,000,000. It is the empire's greatest port and storehouse. It is one of the world's biggest business centers.

And there is no ocean between it and the countries of national jealousies and strife. When the war monster stalks you can almost reach out and touch it.

You can go to the park mornings and see the lines in gaunt Neville Chamberlain's face as he strides along. You can try to hire maids or messenger boys—and find they all have jobs in the day-and-night-working munitions industries. You can see serious-faced civilians plodding nervously through gas mask drills.

BIG London newspapers give columns to instructions on how to make a room gas-proof, how to build bomb shelters, how to give first aid, or what to do in the case of an air raid.

The spy hunt's on again. Alien restrictions are tightened. Scattered cases under the official secrets act pop up in newspapers. Sabotage is discovered in air factories and naval dockyards. Watch is being kept on all job seekers at aviation factories.

It may not mean war. But it is preparation such as no country has known in peace time. The working class Englishman accepts as inevitable that some time, "We'll have to go over and wipe up that bloody——," the blank referring to whichever dictator happens to be under discussion.

"This time we'll be ready," he adds.

England's 1914 maxim has been revived—"If possible, no war; but if there is war, Britain must win."

This Map Shows Why London Has The Jitters

Taxes Climb

Taxes are piled on. Already the rate is five shillings in every pound of income—25 per cent—and Britain is looking for ways to increase her inflow of money for war preparation.

The Englishman doesn't like taxes any beter than the American but he shrugs and says it's better to be prepared.

The Army has been getting itself fit for two years, but organization of civilians now has been undertaken with a vengeance. A plan has been perfected to supply the 50,000,000 men, women and children in Britain with gas masks within eight hours if war breaks out. Thirty millions masks already are stored in 11 cities. They are in four sizes, the smallest for children between the ages of two and four. Babies will have "gas bags" which will cover them completely.

A Home Office announcement declares:

"One of the most urgent tasks for authorities . . . is the recruitment and training of personnel for the duties of air raid wardens, first aid parties, decontamination squads, etc. . . .

"As regards casualty clearing stations a survey of hospital accommodations generally is now being conducted by the Ministry of Health."

Bomb Shelters Planned

THE announcement declared it the duty of local authorities to "provide such shelters for the protection of the public as may be necessary" and that "it must be assumed that the householders will generally do what they can to increase the natural protection of their own homes and that employers. . . will have made arrangements for such protection and shelter in their business premises as may be practicable."

The Home Office ominously pointed out that "once an emergency has arisen the actual warning of an impending air raid is likely to be short."

The government—obviously in an economy move—further suggested

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

DEMOCRATIC rebels who have been flouting their President for two years are beginning to worry over the political consequences as the rowdy Congressional session winds into the home stretch. Now they want to be friends again, at least for the looks of things.

Vice-President Garner and Representative Sumners, in Senate and House, respectively, are urging their colleagues to "take it easy." They fear lest young bloods precipitate an open and formal break with the party leader. In cloakrooms and corridors the counselors emphasize that, after all, Mr. Roosevelt represents the Democratic party, and that in discrediting him too completely they may wreck collective and individual chances for victory in 1940. The more practical also realize that he still holds his popularity with subsidized and unsubsidized masses.

One of the cooler heads raised a very pertinent question at a thoughtful talkfest on the House side. It was: "How can we write a pointing-with-pride platform in 1940 when we have kicked the President in the face ever since his reelection?" Nobody answered that one.

TRIANGLE: Washington insiders write off party talk as designed to throw a scare into conservative Democrats scheming to unload Mr. Roosevelt and junk the New Deal at the 1940 convention. It may halt the movement if it works.

Some of F.D.R.'s undercover workers are quietly promoting the idea here and elsewhere. It amounts to a warning to the President's party enemies that if they walk out on him, the liberals will also follow Al Smith's advice. In other words, they would make a stab at launching a new organization, with the prospect of polling a heavy vote among the "forgotten men" for their nominee. They would repeat Teddy's performance in 1912.

In such a three-cornered race, there is a good prospect that the G.O.P. could win with a middle-of-the-roader. You may hear these threats uttered at the conference of liberals which Governor Phil LaFollette has called, though he won't make them. He's serious about this insurging business, but he may not be able to control some who plan to attend on New Deal proxies.

SABOTAGE: Defeat of the government reorganization measure may mean more trouble than its friends or foes counted on. It may change Arthur Morgan's mind about contesting his ouster as T.V.A. chairman.

The man from Antioch had no heart for a long and expensive legal test of the President's order, but some of his friends had—and still have. He rejected their original plea utterly and finally with the argument that, even if he won, he could be fired again under the terms of the reshuffling bill. At the time of these conferences it was generally assumed that the measure would be law by now. Its failure, however, means that if vindicated through the courts, he could be discharged only by Congressional action.

Pending a new decision, Mr. Morgan is assembling material for defending himself and assailing Commissioner David Lilienthal at the Congressional investigation. Lawyer friends in Chicago are preparing his case for nothing, and private reports hint of sensational revelations. Mr. Lilienthal will be accused of sabotaging recovery by his opposition to the power pooling agreement, which might have brought the utilities into the money market and construction field.

BASIC: A private canvass of two key voting groups—labor and agriculture—has disclosed a striking contrast in their attitude toward the President.

The leaders of the nation's most influential farm organizations have apparently taken a walk, but the heads of labor unions still regard F.D.R. as the "best friend they ever had in the White House." In view of the unempoymnet resulting from the depression, the returns from industrial precincts were considered remarkable. It helps to explain why John L. Lewis and William Green, despite dissatisfaction with specific policies and their administration, aren't publicizing their grief. They'll stick close to the White House as long as dues-paying members do.

It's also questionable whether the farm leaders represent the sentiment among what an A.A.A. wag calls the "collectorate," referring to those who receive checks under the crop control plan. A visiting fireman from Kansas recently informed G.O.P. headquarters that Mr. Roosevelt could carry Alf Landon's state tomorrow.

CLEANUP: Congressional Democrats' belated concern over their row with the President has improved the chances of his sketchy legislative program for the rest of the session. They will prpobably give him a few laws which everybody can advertise as a great anti-depression drive.

The pump priming scheme is sure to get by in some form, though the boys want to load it down with "ifs" and "buts" so that the money can't be spent to defeat them next fall. Mr. Roosevelt can have his railroad reorganization court if he wants it badly enough at this session, and also the rather ineffectual wage-hour bill now before the House. There's no hope for action on tax-exempt bonds and salaries. The lobbyists got to Congress even before the special message did.

Two political considerations lie behind the unwritten agreement to be kinder to F.D.R. than in the past. They don't want to wreck the party or their own careers. And if they balk on the so-caled recovery proposals, the President can—and undoubtedly will—blame them for any lack of improvement during the summer and fall. He'll have Washington datelines and headlines all to himself after adjournment—now definitely scheduled for Saturday, June 4.

RIVALRY: Three Washington institutions are racing each other to see who can win credit for a dramatic move for peace between the government and industry. They are the White House, the National Assosiation of Manufacturers, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

President Roosevelt is working on the "peace manifesto" recently described in Whirligig, and he has already powwowed with Henry Ford. The C. of C. has invited John D. Rockefeller, jr., to address its annual convention next week on the subject of "labor relations." The manufacturers' group has staged several meetings designed to find some way to take a bow—probably by outlining what certain key industries will do in the way of employing men and materials under the pump priming program.

It's a healthy rivalry, for it's the first time they have had a common purpose since November of 1936.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

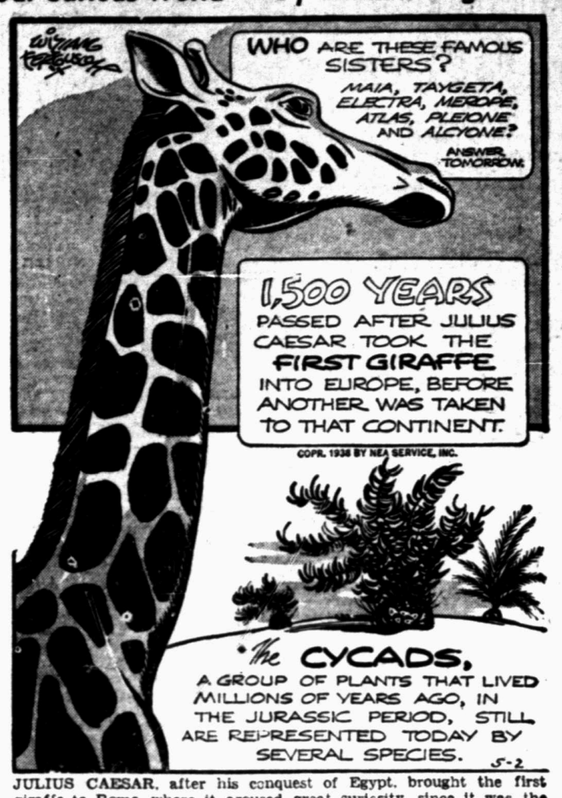

SENATOR VIC DONAHEY of Ohio may spring some surprises as chairman of the Congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley authority. Astute observers frankly do not rate him outstandingly able or brilliant, but they figure his background may have an important bearing on the inquiry.

All during his long political career, Mr. Donahey has been aggressively honest, aggressively frugal, aggressively simple in his manner of living. He has capitalized on his rugged origin and made an asset of his common school education. As state auditor from 1912-20, he made life miserable for Ohio public officials whose expense accounts seemed to him extravagant. As a sample, he once asked a judge for an itemized voucher to explain a charge of $2.50 a meal, and then raised a terrific howl because it included thirty cents for a portion of potatoes when farmers were getting thirty cents a bushel.

To this day, careless expenditure of public funds is to Donahey as a red rag to a bull. He is likely to bear down on that angle, in which case David Lilienthal is probably in for a rough ride.

They Were Fronts For Noiseless Big Shots

Josephson's 'The Politicos' Follows 'The Robber Barons'

"THE POLITICOS," by Matthew Josephson; (Harcourt, Brace, New York).

A COUPLE of years ago, or thereabouts, Matthew Josephson paid his respects to the great industrial and financial magnates of the post-Civil war era in "The Robber Barons," a highly stimulating and informative book. Now he is out with a companion volume, "The Politicos," an equally stimulating and informative book about the statesmen through whose agency the barons operated.

Josephson

The Industrialists, he points out, were men who acted and said nothing; the politicians he describes as men who did little or nothing and said a great deal. They fronted for the noiseless big shots and were the instruments (says Josephson) through which the Rockefeller, Goulds, Morgans, Carnegies, et al., were able to bend the nation to their will.

Position Is Solidified

The Civil war, he asserts, was a revolution in which growing capitalism burst the hampering bonds of a simpler economy. The 30-odd years after the war, as he sees them, were the time in which revolutionary capitalism solidified its position on the ground that had been won.

In this job, he continues, capital had to take over the two-party political system. The parties had evolved as instruments whereby democracy could circumvent the barriers erected by the aristocratic founding fathers; capturing them, says Josephson, emergent capitalism captured everything.

His book is largely a story of how the capture was effected and what it led to. It is an iconoclastic story, and profoundly disturbing; you may find some of your pet heroes roughly dealt with. But in the end it will give you some interesting and significant information about your country's history.

South Plains Farmers Ready To Plant Crops

General Rain Is Greatest Need

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

FARMERS of the South Plains are champing at their bits as they wait for more favorable weather and ground conditions before beginning to plant their 1938 crops, cotton, grain sorghums, corn and other grains. Some have broken over and have made a start, but at best conditions are not as favorable as they should be at this time.

A general rain is needed before planting on a large scale can be undertaken, it is agreed. While there is a good underground season for the most part, the top soil is too dry to make planting advisable at this time. In some sections showers and light rains fell on the South Plains in recent weeks. But moisture was not sufficient for planting.

Cotton Money Crop

Chief money crop for this area is, of course, cotton. Acreage this season will be greatly reduced, the allocation of a score of counties around Lubbock being approximately 1,350,000 acres, compared to between 1,800,000 and 1,900,000 acres normally.

While county agents do not have allocations for individual farms available, and these probably will not be ready for some time, they generally advise farmers that their cotton allocation will be about one third the cultivated acreage of the average farm. This estimate, they point out, will permit a farmer to plant probably as close to his actual allocated acreage as he can, and yet not have to retire a large amount in case the total is different from that ration.

Can Plant More Feed

For example, County Agent C. C. Dobson said recently, a man on a quarter section, who has from 120 to 150 acres actually in crop, will be able to plant 40 to 50 acres in cotton. The remainder will be available for other crops. If a farmer has been planting 75 to 100 acres in cotton, his unallocated acres may be used for growing grain sorghums for hay and feed, but not for seed.

"We have found that cotton planted in May, centering around May 20, gets the maximum yield," Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station said. "That is, a man may begin planting cotton about the tenth or twelfth of May and may finish up in ten days or two weeks. His crop, under average conditions, our records show, will have a higher maximum yield than for earlier or later plantings.

Produce Higher Yield

"Likewise, grain sorghums seem to produce a higher yield if planted between May 20 and June 20. Seasonal weather conditions may change these dates slightly, but if they are followed out, a maximum yield can be expected."

Replanting of crops, due to cotton being washed out, or for lack of moisture, may upset the schedule some.

Sub-soil, Jones said, was "in excellent condition," this year. Dry ground prevails mostly at this time. Under normal conditions a good rain should come in May before planting time.

Farmers have not indicated what they will plant on their retired acreages this season. Generally, it is believed, a grain sorghum will be used. Some may let the acres be fallow for the summer; others may plow under their sorghums, seeking to replenish the soil with humus and plant food; still others may use soybeans, cowpeas and legumes for this purpose.

Normal sorghum acreages for the territory are around 1,600,000 with a few thousand more for sudan seed for commercial purposes. It is believed there will be more sudan planted for pasture this year, than before, due to retirement of cotton acres.

Good Corn Acreage Seen

In the sandier sections of the Plains, notably Terry, Cochran, Gaines, Hockley and Yoakum counties, there will be a good corn acreage planted. Corn in these counties is of a slightly different type than the rest of the state as a whole. It is a flinty corn, is not harvested until in December or January and is popular with feeders.

Some broom corn will be planted this year. No one has indicated whether there will be an increase in acreage or not. Littlefield, Levelland, Seagraves, O'Donnell, Morton, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, Anton and one or two other towns are the chief broom corn shipping centers.

Increase in other crop acreages may be expected. Some soy beans, cowpeas, alfalfa, popcorn, peanuts and other crops, are planted in small acreages by a few farmers. An increase in truck gardens is promised, as irrigated areas are increasing in extent.

Some Multiple Blessed Eventing, Eh, Kids

The five baby goats pictured above are rare animals, indeed, because they're all brothers and sisters born at the same time. If you count them you will discover that there are five—kid quintuplets, in fact. J. L. McFall, goat breeder who lives near St. Louis and who owns Nancy, their mother, said he had heard of only one such case before. Kids, it seems, are usually born in pairs, and even triplets are considered rare—no kidding.

EGG HATCHES OUT

PENTRESS, April 30. (AP) — While dressing a hen turkey several weeks ago, Miss May Rector of Pentress removed a fully developed egg from the fowl. She placed it under a hen and after four weeks a full-fledged turkey crashed the shell. Along with its foster brother chicks it is growing and thriving.

Ridding West Texas Range Land Of Prickly Pear No 'Boy's Job'

MERTZON, April 30. (AP)—Cleaning pasture land of prickly pear in Irion county is no "boy's job," Jess Cargile, ranchman, discovered.

Cargile recently completed supervision of pear eradication on 350 acres of pasture and estimates the cost at $2 per acre, but that's not the big item.

From the 350 acres he removed 350 truck loads of pear, each weighing around 5,000 pounds, or an aggregate of 1,750,000 pounds. Cargile plans to continue the work on 1,400 acres of additional grazing lands.

"Grass is cheaper than cottonseed cake," he said, "and when prickly pear is removed there will be grass with the proper seasoning."

RANGE PAYMENTS

GAIL—Borden county range program payments for 1937 came to $37,636.02, said E. B. McLeroy, county agent. Fifteen tanks were completed with 57,000 yards of dirt moved. L. E. Long and L. A. Pearce are the range inspectors and A. M. Clayton the range member on the county committee.

ENLARGE DELINTER

LITTLEFIELD — Delinting equipment for cotton seed is being added to the first set in the Lowrimore and Irvin gin. It doubles the equipment previously used. Heavy demand for the type of seed last year caused owners to decide on an addition to the plant.

TALK ABOUT GIN

LEHMAN—Considerable talk is being heard here about construction of a cotton gin. Backers are said to be waiting for an indication of the probable acreage to be planted, to see if it is enough for operations.

New Crop, Pop Corn, Is Being Sponsored By Crosbyton Lions

CROSBYTON, April 30—A new crop for Crosby county will be the result of introduction into this part of the county of a new type of popcorn. The Lions club is sponsoring distribution of 150 pounds of the giant South American pop corn.

Thirty boys have been secured from the vocational agriculture department of the high school, to plant an acre each. Each boy is to return to the club a certain amount of seed from his plot. O. W. Young and R. C. Middleton are project supervisors.

HAS COTTON PLANTED

SPUR, April 30—W. J. Elliott, former Spur ranch foreman here and now retired, has his cotton planted and most of it has come up, he said here.

Elliott planted the cotton two weeks ago, he said. It is up to a good stand. There was enough moisture to bring the crop up.

CATTLE ARE MOVING

UVALDE, April 30. (AP)—An estimated 100,000 head of steers, or about 50 per cent less than average, will move from Southwest Texas this spring to grass pasture in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Field Day Planned At Spur's Station

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, April 30 — Date of the field day for the cattle feeding experiment at the state experiment substation here, will be set for the latter part of May, said Ray E. Dickson, superintendent.

The station has on feed 140 head of cattle, purchased from local ranchers, that will complete 200 days of feeding the last of the month.

"We have had some very interesting experiments this year, that will be of interest to farmers and feeders," Dickson said. "One has been the feeding of cattle without grain, using ensilage, cottonseed mean and other products. The experiments will be of great value in enabling farmers to use home grown products in feeding."

Last year the station discontinued its field day, as an experiment. So many calls were made on Superintendent Dickson that he decided to reinstate it.

Spur Chamber of Commerce will cooperate with station officials in arranging details. It is expected that animal husbandry men from Texas Technological college, Texas A. & M. and the experiment station at College Station will be here for the occasion. There will be discussions by experts on phases of feeding.

The station has conducted field days for about 20 years.

Britain's Plans

that back garden trenches, about six feet deep, which a man could dig for himself and his family, would be among the most effective air raid shelters.

Gardens are being dug up for this purpose and the Government's plans include a network of shelter trenches in public parks.

The result of these sober pronouncements by His Majesty's Government has been a frenzied campaign on A. R. P. such as never could be put under way in America except on a real war time basis.

A call has gone out for 1,000,000 volunteers—30,000 of whom will constitute an emergency fire brigade. Thousands are undergoing training. Twenty-six of London's suburban districts have joined together for air raid precautions.

Brighton — England's Atlantic City—is dallying with the idea of burrowing huge bomb-shelter caves in surrounding hillsides.

The Metropolitan Water Board, the Port of London Authority, and the London Passenger Transport Board are pondering protection of their systems from air attack.

Recruiting Stepped Up

The public pulse is so jumpy that astute peddlers are taking advantage. Warnings have been issued against "certain individuals" who are calling on householders offering to sell gas masks. "There is no need for anyone in Wimbledon to buy a gas mask," one authority declared. "If ever an emergency occurs they will be issued free."

Because so many of its staff were enrolling as air raid wardens, the British Broadcasting Corporation found it necessary to proclaim that while the corporation wished to cooperate, "broadcasting seems likely to be regarded in time of war as an essential national service. . . The corporation therefore feels a responsibility for ensuring that the essential staff should be available."

Recruiting for the regular and territorial armies goes on at such a pace the charge of "kidnaping" has been thrown before War Minister Leslie Hoare-Belisha by Labor members in Commons.

The dynamic war minister has slashed red tape and hundreds of years of precedent. He turned out the aging generals in the supreme command, discarded promotion by seniority, raised the soldiers' pay, organized war materials production so that half the army resembles a factory ten months behind schedule.

Elaborate Air Defenses

All eyes are on the air defenses. They are manned by 48,000 territorial army men, but hordes of recruits are being enlisted for emergency service.

Anti-aircraft guns provide the chief defenses for big cities. Seventy-six batteries of eight guns each —608 guns in all—continually sweep the skies.

Fighting planes provide the defense between the cities. But modern enemy aircraft could reach London within ten minutes after being sighted on the east coast—hardly enough time if warned at once, some Britains believe, for fighting planes to get high enough to engage the invaders.

A chain of giant searchlights stretches in front of and between the great cities. There are 198 searchlight companies, each with 24 lights.

THEN London has a gigantic net-like affair which is to be raised around the city like a wall, supported from balloons, to trap enemy aircraft. Just how it works is not generally known. One of the balloons recently escaped, trailing a cable that wrecked power lines.

Britain is fairly well up on its program of munitions manufacture and huge reserves are stored in secret underground caches.

The Navy is said to be relatively stronger than it was before 1914, but 47 ships will be launched in 1938—an aircraft carrier, three cruisers, 32 destroyers and 11 submarines.

The diplomatic tension eased after Germany absorbed Ausria, but England's war preparations sped on.

dangerous. But they are brought together finally as friends through the efforts of Swipes, Jackie Cooper, a typical newsboy of the period.

One of the past season's best musical hits starts today at the Texan. "Rosalie," with Nelson Eddy and Eleanor Powell, is lavish in its production numbers. Eddy is cast as a cadet at Annapolis who falls in love with a princess who is attending school in America incognito.

Their road to romance is a rocky one but is helped along by Frank Morgan, as the doddering, undecisive king of a mythical kingdom, whose hobby is ventriloquism and who consults his dummy on all matters of state. He furnishes a hilarious background of comedy.

Stationary Targets

INDIAN fighting in Hollywood is a cinch, and the bigger the picture the easier the job may be.

On Paramount's Stage 8, Randolph Scott, Walter Brennan and others of "The Texans" cast had barricaded themselves behind prairie schooners and were blasting grimly away at raiding redskins. Joan Bennett and May Robson busily reloaded rifles and six-shooters for the defenders.

But there wasn't a chance of either pioneers or attackers being hurt, for the Indian part of the scene was being flashed on a process screen in front of the barricade.

The Indians had been photographed on location in Texas six weeks before.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 91 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Swiftly through the jungle Wood and van Eyk pursued the two scoundrels who apparently had stolen the priceless jewels and kidnaped Gonfala. But on the great plain the native trackers lost the trail. There was little hope now of ever finding the thieves. . . .

. . . . A few days later Tarzan was trotting along a game trail when a light wind brought to his jungle-trained nostrils the acrid scent of a lion. He gave it little though until the same wind brought him another scent—the scent of a woman, a white woman!

These two scents in conjunction spelt tragedy, he knew. Tarzan took to the trees, for through the trees he could move in a direct line with incredible swiftness. They had been his natural element since infancy, when he had been adopted by Kala, the she-ape. . . .

. . . The woman, haggard, starving, exhausted, moved painfully and hopelessly along the trail. Her senses were dulled by suffering. She heard nothing, yet some inner sense prompted her to turn around. Then she saw the lion, moving softly and slowly toward her!

Wage Cut Would Total $200,000

South Plains railroad men will receive salary and wage cuts approximating more than $200,000 a year if the proposed 15 per cent cut, which was recently announced being sought by railroad executives goes into effect after July 1.

Check of local railroad men Saturday indicated most of them did not believe the cut would be as great as rail executives anticipate. One, who did not want his name used, said he believed the cut, if any, would not exceed six or seven per cent. "That was about the amount of the raise given railroad men last year," he pointed out, "and it looks like the men will lose their increase."

About Half Amount Sought

Another official said he thought the cut would not exceed 7.5 per cent, or about half the amount sought.

Slaton division of the Santa Fe has about 650 employes in both operating and traffic departments. This includes territory from Canyon to Sweetwater, Farwell to Lubbock, the Floydada, Crosbyton, Bledsoe, Seagraves and Lamesa branches and the Orient lines from Altus to Presidio.

An average wage reduction of $25 per month is estimated by railroad men to be the cut under the 15 per cent ratio. This would mean a total of $194,000 reduction for the division.

In Slaton there are approximately 415 employes, making the slash $124,500. Lubbock has about 100 employes, giving a cut of $30,000 here. Balance would come from other stations along the division. Nearly all the trainmen reside at Slaton, or Lubbock.

Fort Worth and Denver has 20 employes in Lubbock and as many at stations on the South Plains lines from Sterley west. Their reduction would average $25 a month each of $1,000 for the division's western end, making a total of $206,500 probable reduction in wages for all the railroad men in the area.

Brownfield Now Has Population Of 4,796

BROWNFIELD, April 30.—Brownfield has a population of 4,796 according to W. B. Toone, former superintendent of schools, who recently completed a census of the city for the chamber of commerce.

Two years ago he tok the census and found 3,555, showing an increase of 1,241 in two years, or 620 each year. The growth has been steady, rather than sporadic, it is pointed out. By fall, it is believed, the 5,000 mark will have been passed.

NEIGHBORS WORK LAND

SNYDER, April 30.—Two kinds of horse power were used by neighbors of Hugh Billingsley, near Dunn, when they went to his farm to plow his land. Billingsley recently underwent an operation and could not do hard work.

Nineteen tractors were used by neighbors and four teams. The land was completely worked.

DOUBLE PLANT CAPACITY

PLAINVIEW—The Cloverlake creamery here has been enlarged and its capacity doubled. Albert and H. W. Garrett, jr., are the owners. New equipment has been installed also.

BUILDING STUCCO RESIDENCE

LAMESA—J. C. Hart is building a 6-room Colonial style home here at Fourth street and Travis.

Star Falls

Toast of two continents as a stage star of the gay '90's, once rich and proud wearer of the ill-famed Hope diamond, Maye Yohe, now 67, is pictured above as she appeared in the Boston Federal court to seek naturalization in order to be eligible for a WPA job. Her British husband, Capt. John Smuts, who became a U. S. citizen to vote in the last election, has been ill, she said, and their fortune is "sunk."

ELEVATOR SALES

HAPPY—H. E. Toles is the purchaser of the Neff elevator here. He has changed the name to the Toles elevator. He sold his former interest in another elevator to W. T. Townsend, his partner, who will operate it.

One out of every 33 Australians plays golf, according to an estimate published in Melbourne.

Boy Scouts Of South Plains Present Second Annual Circus Here On Friday

More Than 2,000 To Participate

All roads will lead to Lubbock this week so far as Boy Scouts and leaders are concerned as final preparations are completed for the second annual council-wide circus to be staged at 8 p. m. Friday in Texas Technological college stadium, according to announcement Saturday by M. E. Heard, general chairman.

The circus, he added, is the year's biggest event in the most ambitious year's program ever undertaken by South Plains council, of which Earl M. McClure is executive and Lyndon T. Grant assistant executive.

High Spots Announced

Some of the high spots of the circus include: participation in the staging and presentation more than 2,000 scouts and leaders representing every community in 20 counties of the council; five or six bands assisting, with Texas Technological college band directed by D. O. Wiley, the official band, playing during the performance; a parade at 2:15 p. m.; and 23 different acts, all to be presented within about an hour and one-half.

One of the colorful events, Heard promised, will be the "double grand entry" at the start of the performance. Scouts and cubs will march into the arena from opposite ends and will move in opposite directions in a tightening circle until they are halted about a bank of 16 American flags in the center. K. N. Clapp of Lubbock is director of that feature.

Other Numbers Listed

Other numbers, with the chairman of each event, will include: chariots, H. B. Teal of Sudan; fire building, Dr. R. B. Parish of Brownfield; clowns, who are to make several appearances, Dr. Marshall Harvey of Lubbock; Noah's ark, Dr. C. C. Schmidt of Lubbock; disaster and first aid scene, Scott Hollingsworth and Osco N. Cole of Lubbock; bicycle act, Roy Lynch of Lubbock; signaling exhibition, G. B. Wadzeck of Spur; scout band, Joe Haden of Slaton; flying trapeze act, M. K. Young of Levelland; Indian scenes and dances, John Vickers of Lubbock and Joe Spikes of Lamesa; Pioneer, cowboy and Mexican scene, Dr. F. G. Harbaugh of Lubbock; rope twirling exhibition, Dr. Harbaugh; whip cracking event, Joe L. Kennedy of Lubbock; camping scene, George Hamilton of Lubbock; and finale, C. M. Stanley of Lubbock.

Scouts and leaders are to start assembling about noon, according to the program, and will form at 2:15 p. m. at Broadway and Avenue Q for the parade. Final dress rehearsal is set for 3 p. m. Boys are to assemble at the stadium at 6 p. m., where a box lunch will be available for 15 cents. Entertainment at that time will be motion pictures shown by W. G. McMillan. Gates are to open at 7:15 and the performance will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission at the gate will be 35 cents.

Rehearsals Are Scheduled

Two final district rehearsals for the circus were announced as being: Monday, 4:30 p. m., at Spur Junior High school, for eastern district, troops at Ralls, Crosbyton and Spur participating; and Tuesday, 7 p. m., at Tech stadium, for troops of Lubbock district.

John Shewmake will be staging director; G. Berl Huffman will be ringmaster, and Capt. Frank A. Pettit of Texas Tech will be marshal of the parade.

What To Do When You Don't Have A Match

Demonstration of what to do if you haven't a match but happen to be carrying either flint and steel or bow, drill and fireboard will be one of the events at the Boy Scout circus in Texas Technological college stadium here the night of May 6. Showing the cameraman just how it is done are Billy Redford, left, and Lajune Lincoln, scouts of troop 49, sponsored by Brownfield Rotary club. Dr. R. B. Parish is scoutmaster of the troop. Redford has flint and steel. Lincoln is working with bow, drill and fireboard to produce fire by friction.

TO ENJOY REST

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred will not be running for any political office during the forthcoming campaign for the first time in 12 years. He says he has decided to "retire from office."

"It is a very glorious feeling," he adds, "to be able to lie down in a barber's chair and, when asked a question, to reply with a grunt."

You can't do that, he explains, when you are a candidate; constituents expect conversation.

Plenty of policemen were provided at the Beaux-Arts gallary in Paris when the Surrealist International Salon was thrown open to visitors.

A cable perfected by British postal engineers is capable of carrying 250 different conversations at the same time.

Eighth Graders To Begin Work

Two hundred ninety-six eighth graders from Junior High school officially will begin their work at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in Senior High school. The students will be sent to vocational guidance teachers chosen to outline their courses.

"Parents especially are invited to come with these students, for we feel that they, too, should become acquainted with the Senior High school and the vocational guidance teachers who will be counselors of their children the next three years," said R. W. Matthews, principal of Senior High.

To Follow New Grouping

In enrolling these students, vocational guidance teachers will be following a new grouping of subjects offered in Senior High for various careers. The subjects were arranged by a committee of teachers, W. O. Watts, Mrs. Ethel Terrell and Gordon Thompson. The courses are divided into careers as follows: business, secretarial, managerial; cultural, music, general culture, homemaking; miscellaneous, crafts, civil service and law, journalism; science, medicine, nursing and vocational home economics, vocational agriculture, and engineering.

Senior High students will be permitted to attend the first full length picture show to be shown with a projector the school is testing while Junior High students are being enrolled. The picture is "Hoosier Schoolmaster," from a novel by Edward Eggleston, featuring Norman Foster and Charlotte Henry. A comedy, "Parmerette," also will be shown. Students who do not purchase the 10 cent tickets will remain in their vocational guidance groups where they will report at 1:45 o'clock, Matthews said.

Grown for thousands of years in the Orient, citrus fruits were established in Florida by 1579 and in California by 1769. Citrus fruits are now worth more than $130,000,000 annually to growers in the United States.

In Good Condition

Science took one to raise, their parents took the other—but Jimmy and Johnny Woods still enjoy each other's company, apparently. The photo above shows the twins who gained nationwide fame when they were made the subjects of a living experiment in child psychology, as they looked on reaching their double sixth birthday, recently. Jimmy, left, was given an ordinary rearing by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Woods—while Johnny—not abashed by his lack of teeth—was "conditioned" by Columbia University scientists.

Scene Of Wild Flower Show Next Saturday Has Been Shifted To West Texas Museum

Scene of the third annual Lubbock district wild flower show sponsored by the state highway department next Saturday and Sunday has been shifted from division headquarters, 105 East Broadway, to West Texas Museum on Texas Technological college campus, according to announcement Saturday by W. B. Holden, jr., division planting foreman.

Personnel of the Tech biology department headed by R. A. Studhalter will assist in classifying the various exhibits. George M. Garrett is division highway engineer.

Open To Public

The exhibits, Holden announced, will be open to the public from 1 to 8 p. m. Saturday and from 1 to 7 p. m. Sunday. Expectation is that approximately 100 varieties of flowers which grow wild in various of the 19 counties of the division will be on display.

Cooperating with the highway department is the Women's Organization for Highway Beautification, with Mrs. J. L. Walton of Lubbock division chairman. Holden said. She announced the appointment of the following as county chairmen in the division:

Parmer, Mrs. N. C. Smith; Castro, Mrs. Ray Cowsert; Swisher, Mrs. E. G. Barks; Briscoe, Mrs. Woodson Coffee, jr.; Bailey, Mrs. W. G. Kennedy; Lamb, Mrs. G. F. Bohner; Hale, Mrs. E. E. Weiss; Floyd, Mrs. George V. Smith; Cochran, Mrs. T. M. Tanner; Hockley, Mrs. B. A. Warren; Crosby, Mrs. W. M. Curry; Yoakum, Mrs. R. P. Moreland; Terry, Mrs. Ray Wingerd; Lynn, Mrs. G. B. Sherrod; Garza, Mrs. J. B. Slaughter, jr.; Gaines, Mrs. C. E. Rollins; Dawson, Mrs. F. L. Forrest; and Andrews, Mrs. Chas. W. Robert.

In some states, Grade A eggs are the best eggs, while in others they are second grade. In the state of Vermont, Grade A eggs signify that they are of the fourth grade.

Parents Of Lubbock School Children Will Take Part In Selecting Type Of Reports To Be Made On Pupils; Ballots Ready

Parents of Lubbock Public school children Monday will take part in selecting the form of school reports to be used next year. They will fill out a questionnaire submitted to them by a special committee that has been working on the problem the past two months under guidance of Dr. Agnes True, who is in charge of the elementary curriculum.

School children will be given a copy of the questionnaire and parents will be asked to return them to the school officials within two days. Each Parent-Teacher association will select a committee to represent them on a parent's committee. This committee will work under direction of Miss True, who also is head of the school committee that will make recommendations to W. B. Irvin, superintendent.

Glad To Get Reactions

"We shall be happy to have your reaction to the following questionnaire in order that from the total response we may receive something that will make the work of the school committee of value to our community. Of course, not all suggestions can be used, but a composite report of these questionnaires will be of assistance," Irvin said in his letter to patrons.

Questions parents will consider are:

How often would you like a report?

Shall reports be sent on a set day or within a reasonable time range?

All Marks Necessary?

Do you think all the marks on the present report card are necessary?

What type of report would you like?

Do you wish competitive or individual progress grades?

How would you like the ratings grouped?

Should a child's grade in school work be lowered for absence or tardiness or misconduct, or should attendance, conduct and achievement be marked esparately?

Is the list of marks without further explanation satisfactory or would the report mean more to the child and parent if the marks were discussed with the teacher?

Are Marks Sufficient?

Do you think a two-point grade system, such as "S" or "U" is sufficient, or would a three-point system offer more challenge to the child?

With these questions and explanations of them a questionnaire is given with a tentative recommendation by the P. T. A. committee.

The committee that worked with Miss True in preparing the questionnaire included: Meadames C. C. Schmidt, M. M. Dupre, R. B. Studhalter, Senior High school; W. B. Sides, Central Ward; F. B. Malone, K. Carter; O. P. Peterman, George M. Hunt; R. F. Hinchey, Central Ward.

Masquerade Ends

During the 17 years she masqueraded as a boy, Katherine "George" Vine often watched other girls use cosmetics, but now that the masquerade is over, she finds herself doing the same thing—and liking it. She is shown in San Francisco where she has almost completely discarded her boy's wardrobe in favor of dresses and silk stockings, though wishing she could keep on wearing low shoes.

Discussion Of 1938 Cotton Acreage Program Started

LEVELLAND, April 30. (Special)—Hockley county farmers jammed the district courtroom of the courthouse at 2 o'clock this afternoon to hear a discussion of the 1938 cotton acreage program by D. W. Sheriff, county agricultural agent.

R. L. Goolsby and W. W. Scott, county committeemen, also participated in the discussion. The three men recently returned from College Station where they spent three weeks in obtaining information relative to the 1938 cotton program. When there they were successful in obtaining an increase in cotton acreage for Hockley county.

Individual cotton allotments are ready and have been placed in the mail, according to information from the county agent's office.

New Farm Lease Plan Is Drawn

Seeking to establish a greater mutual trust and confidence between landowners and tenants to their mutual advantage, the Farm Security administration will soon introduce a new written flexible farm lease, according to Marvin C. Wilson, rural rehabilitation supervisor in Lubbock county.

The tenure improvement leases will be made available to all landlords and tenants in this county, Wilson said, and will supplement the FSA's tenant purchase program.

To Improve Relationships

Wilson said the new lease forms are designed to improve relationships between tenants and landowners generally; to advance tenants more rapidly up the ladder toward farm ownership; to strengthen the regular rehabilitation loans and supervision to low-income tenants; to increase the security and the length of tenure and reduce the economic loss involved in the annual transfer of approximately a million tenant families from farm to farm.

One of the major possibilities offered in the new lease form, he said, is that of providing an incentive for greater interest on the part of the tenant and his family in the care and preservation of the property of the landowner and thus promoting the preservation and improvement of that half of the nation's agricultural land which is operated by renters.

Recent Study Is Cited

Calling attention to the recent study of the nation's soil and human resources conducted by D. P. Trent, chief of the Farm Security administration's tenure improvement section, Wilson said the problem of unproductive land is serious, but the problem of unproductive lives people must live upon unproductive land is incomparably more serious.

"Worn-out, eroded, gullied, lifeless and barren farms," he continued, "are important from the standpoint of the national welfare, and the dilapidated houses on many farms are a matter of serious public concern, but the hopeless and fruitless lives of the people who occupy these dilapidated houses and who struggle for existence upon those impoverished lands assume the appearance of a national tragedy, hence the problem demands consideration from the standpoint of conserving the nation's human resources."

Wilson said these new flexible farm lease forms which will soon be on file in his office will be made available to every landowner and tenant farmer in this county.

Bulletins Mailed On Summer School

Twenty-five thousand picture bulletins publicizing summer school at Texas Technological college are being mailed to teachers.

The bulletins show pictures of college buildings, dormitory lounges, and student scenes.

Dates of terms are June 9 to July 16, and July 19 to Aug. 25.

Estimated expenses, as listed in the bulletins, will be:

Tuition, $12.50 for one term, $25 for both terms; board and room, $36 for one term, $72 for both; laundry, $3.50 for one term, $7 for both; breakage deposit (refundable), $3 for one or both terms; recreation fee, $1 for one or both terms; medical service fee, $2 for one or both; total, one term, $58; total, both terms, $110.

Cost of room and board was based on the dormitory prices.

Huckleberry Finn Is Becoming Real Character As Juniors Are Preparing For Class Play

Huckleberry Finn is becoming a real character to Senior High students these days as the junior class makes further preparation to present the play May 13. Miss Alice M. Beckett is director.

Based on Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn", the play is thoroughly modern, with plenty of laughs. It deals with the many adolescent problems of Huck and his pals.

Leading parts are being taken by Ben Alexander, Joe McCraw, Jacqueline Davis, Mary Webber, and Emory Payne.

City Prepared To Climb Into Ring To Defend Cleanup-Paintup Championship

Drive To Begin Tuesday Night

Lubbock, champion cleanup-paintup city of Texas for eight consecutive years, is prepared once more to climb into the ring to defend the crown first won nine years ago.

This was the word Saturday from W. B. Irvin, generalissimo of the 1938 campaign, who said that everything is in readiness for the official gong which will sound the opening of the two weeks' 1938 drive next Tuesday night.

Irvin will signal the start when he broadcasts Tuesday night over KFYO at an hour which had not been set definitely Saturday afternoon.

It will mark the beginning, he said, of the most elaborate cleanup-paintup campaign ever undertaken in Lubbock. It will have to be the most successful campaign, he added, if Lubbock is to have a chance of winning once more the trophy awarded by the National Cleanup-Paintup committee to the city it judges to be the cleanest in Texas.

Competition Is Keen

Lubbock has eight of those trophies but, Irvin warned, each year has found the competition keener. Last year, Amarillo's record was only a fractional point below that of Lubbock with the result that it, for the first time by any city in the state, was awarded a special trophy. This year, Irvin has been advised, Amarillo has planned a campaign on an even more elaborate scale than last.

Lubbock's campaign this year has been planned along the same lines as 1937 with the addition of two new divisions. They are in the Mexican and negro sections of the city, where leading citizens will conduct campaigns of their own under Irvin's general direction. Mrs. George Duval, principal of Guadalupe school, will be in general charge in the Mexican section. E. C. Struggs is general chairman of the negro committee.

In the remainder of the city the same divisions have been organized as last year, except that each will operate with a larger personnel and each faces a more strenuous program than ever before.

The heaviest burden will fall upon women's groups, of which Mrs. Clark Mullican is chairman and Mrs. Frank L. Winn is vice chairman. Subcommittees from every woman's club in the city have been appointed and they are to meet at the chamber of commerce at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. Their responsibilities will include supervision of all inspections and the arrangements for three broadcasts daily over KFYO, at 10:15 a. m. and 3:15 and 8:30 p. m. The first two will be of five minutes and the third, 15 minutes.

Schools In Campaign

School children also will be a major factor in the campaign. They are the reliance, Irvin said, in obtaining pledges from parents to participate actively in the drive.

Boy Scouts, as on previous occasion, will make inspections of back yards and alleys May 9 and 16, and on May 14, will stage their annual nail pickup. Numerous prizes have been offered them. Those taking part in the nail pickup will be given picture show passes.

City To Aid Inspections

The city will assist in making inspections, by cooperating with the fire prevention group, by employing additional men and equipment to remove trash, and by distributing informative literature.

Girl Scouts are to be in charge of the distribution of window cards and posters and in the women's and student's activities.

Numerous committee meetings are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, Irvin said, to work out some of the details of plans.

"Cowtown" Visitors Are Made To Feel At Home In Hale Center

Damage Suit For $3,000 Is Filed Here After Arrest

W. J. Meeks, Lubbock county resident, Saturday filed a $3,000 damage action in the 72nd district court of Judge Daniel A. Blair against W. T. McQuary, constable at Abilene; Ragan Reed, constable at Slaton; and Maryland Casualty company and Hartford Accident and Indemnity company, their respective bondsmen.

The suit is outgrowth of an arrest of Meeks Jan. 28.

Late Saturday no answer to the complaint had been filed.

One fellow so equipped, however, had his fun. He carefully explained how he wanted the barber to trim his luxurious black hair. The barber turned his back to get a towel. When he looked again his customer's pate was as bare as a billiard ball.

One youngster who didn't know exactly how to say it but who knew what he did not want told a barber:

Some Funny Things Are Recounted In The Barber Shop

By JUSTINE LIMROTH

The old wheeze about the barbers having to wear glasses at early age because of being subjected continually to the abnormal glare from bald pates may be nothing more than a concoction of the wags, but—

Some funny things happen in barber chairs.

Take the case of a small-town mayor who visited in Lubbock.

A Senatorial Haircut

Hissoner wore with pardonable pride a senatorial haircut. He plopped down in a chair, took one squint at the barber and, possibly weighted down by matters of state, fell asleep without having dictated how he was to be trimmed.

A result, he looked in the glass to see a remarkably shorn shadow of his former hirsuit wealth. It goes without saying, his storming went for little. His senatorial dignity should be restored about now—judging by the calendar and by the fact he hasn't put in another appearance at the barber shop.

Those fellows who have nothing to curry except along the temples are the vainest about haircuts, say most barbers.

Want To Keep It

After a fashion, too, they are the most gullible—seeking to keep this and that scattered lock long so as to comb it across the sparse areas of the dome.

Toupes seldom are seen—possibly because of the fear of far West Texas' wind when obeying the
