Saddlin' Up For The Big Show This Week

While some younger hands are burning up the circuits these days, none will have a bigger local following than Toots Mansfield of Big Spring when the "old master" takes out after his calves in the rodeo here this week. Still one of the fastest and steadiest men in the business when it comes to whipping a loop, throwing and wrapping a calf, Mansfield will be as tough in the arena as Ben Hogan is on the links. Seven times in his peerless prime he was world's champion of the ropers. Toots, incidentally, is one of the officials in the Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion which gets under way here Wednesday and continues through Saturday.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The Anvil Chorus will be a whispering party compared to our tractor serenade if the weather stays dry and hot for a few more days. Already many planters are at it hot and heavy on the sandy areas, and tighter fields may be ready for work by the middle or end of the week. There will be a mad rush to get seed in the ground by the 15th, and then farmers can concentrate on praying that this planting sticks.

Weed growth has been so rapid that it is presenting a problem. Sunflowers and careless weeds are so rank in some places farmers fear they won't be able to turn them under. Monte Hamlin said that sunflowers have come on so fast that he probably won't be able to harvest more than one third of 165 acres of good looking wheat.

Well sir, it's that time again. The annual rodeo starts Wednesday evening and continues nightly through Saturday. The change in dates ought to give the rodeo a break on several accounts, including more performers. Rains not only have helped to control the dust problem, but they should change the general outlook to where more people will turn out for the show.

Elbert Steele has resigned as the vocational agriculture teacher at Stanton to take a place at Big Lake. In the poultry field, Steele achieved about as amazing a record as Durward Lewter, former Howard agent, did with calves.

Burglars seem to have quit playing for peanuts in these parts. Texas Electric Service Company was hit for $1,200 during the week. A week or so ago Newsom's got a comparable lick. These jobs are definitely out of the nuisance class.

Drowning, which is beginning to vie with traffic as a major killer in this area, took the life of Felimon Nunez, 17. The boy drowned in a stock tank near Snyder on Thursday.

Stock classes of cattle have continued to be much in demand (See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 6)

Western Regalia In Style As City Prepares For Big Rodeo

Horse trailers, rolled brimmed hats, levis and boots will blossom in profusion this week as Big Spring unveils its 24th annual rodeo and cowboy reunion.

Many of the nation's top rodeo cowhands will be on the dotted line as contestants when the curtain goes up on the first of four evening performances Wednesday.

Out at the western edge of town, the rodeo bowl — one of the outstanding rodeo plants in all the Southwest — the parade of rodeo stock had started. Producer Everett Colborn of Dublin trucked in one load Friday and Saturday morning more arrived. By this evening the entire herd of some 200 horses, calves, burly Brahmas, steers, long-horned bulldogging steers and husky, wild "milking" cows will be chomping their oats and munching their hay in the rodeo pens.

Colborn will set up headquarters in the Howard House lobby and Monday will start taking entries for the big show. In addition to $3,300 which the association will lay on the line, contestants will divide all the entry fees they contribute.

With the Colborn troupe will be Jay Sisler and his dog act, said by many to be the best dog act on a rodeo circuit in many seasons. Wilbur Plagher, who is returning as clown, will be assisted by a familiar arena funny-man, Buck LeGrand, "The Cajun Kid."

Charlie Creighton, vice president of the rodeo association, said that the plant was in the best condition since the big bowl was completed. One change made this year will permit the bulldogging to operate from the chute at the south end, thus giving the doggers and hazers a longer straight shot because the steers will be heading for the corral.

Roping will work from the south end, too, and all riding and time events from the chutes at the south end.

Recent rains have put the arena in top condition, and the big parking areas should have the dust virtually settled because of their month-long soaking.

Under the direction of Malcolm Patterson, a parade will wind through the downtown district at 4 p.m. Wednesday with the Webb AFB band leading. Immediately afterwards, the visiting riding organizations will be feted to a barbecue at the Howard County Fair Barns and then will ride in the colorful grand entry at the show that evening. Box seats are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce and advance tickets ($2 and 50 cents) are on sale by service club members. They may also be secured at Creighton Tire Company, Driver Insurance Agency, the Chamber of Commerce, and Alexander's Jewelry.

There were at the time about 55 establishments running professional gambling activities. We waited a decent interval of time for the local officials to do the job. There was some effort made which was commendable but the facts were that the operations continued virtually unabated. Therefore Col. Garrison and I planned a decisive action," he said.

"We will follow the same pattern all over the state, first calling upon the local people to do the job and giving them an ample opportunity to do so. In the meantime, we will be preparing evidence along this line," he continued.

Garrison said the gamblers worked up through Wednesday night and then apparently discovered that the crack down was in the offing. He said he was positive the slip did not come from any member of either department. "I have complete confidence in every man in this room."

Wilson said it did not matter so much how they found out the raid was being prepared but the important thing was that the places were closed and would stay closed.

ers were ordered to return to their posts. Both men said the raid was prepared with the knowledge and cooperation of Gov. Price Daniel. Wilson would give no indication where any future raids were being planned but said "one good indication might be a list of federal gambling licenses." He said Jefferson County (Beaumont) had a heavier concentration of such licenses than Galveston. He said he made a speech in Galveston six weeks ago urging the local officials to eliminate gambling. "There were at the time about 55 establishments running professional gambling activities. We waited a decent interval of time for the local officials to do the job. There was some effort made which was commendable but the facts were that the operations continued virtually unabated. Therefore Col. Garrison and I planned a decisive action," he said.

Lid 'Slammed Shut' On Huge Galveston Gambling Empire

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson reported today that the lid had been slammed shut on the sprawling Galveston gambling empire and warned that gambling elsewhere in the state would be rooted out.

The "largest criminal enforcement mission ever called together in Texas" was ready to be sprung on the plush port city gambling clubs when gamblers decided to pull out. Col. Homer Garrison, head of the Department of Public Safety, added.

"Our purpose is to shut down gambling in Texas and we will keep it down," Wilson told newsmen.

The two state officials called a press conference at noon as rumors floated across the state that what Wilson termed "the multi million dollar gambling industry" in Galveston was closed. Garrison said 60 Rangers and other top officials of his department and 23 assistant attorney generals met secretly in Houston's Junior League auditorium. During the meeting, the officials got word that the gambling establishments had closed and the gamblers were pulling out of the city. With that information, the meeting broke up and the Rangers

Another round of thunderstorms that could send more walls of water coursing down streams above flooding Lake Texoma was predicted Saturday.

The Weather Bureau issued a severe weather forecast for the Panhandle and South Plains areas. The severe weather area extended to 60 miles south of Lubbock.

Reds Challenged To War Of Ideas

Lyndon Asks TV Talks In Both Nations

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson proposed tonight that the United States and Soviet Russia present their ideas on each other's television and radio once a week. "I am calling for an open curtain for full discussion of the immediate urgent problems facing our people," he told a conference of the United Jewish Appeal in a prepared speech.

"We should insist on the right to state our case on disarmament in detail to the Soviet people."

"We should have weekly appearances during this year on Soviet radio and television, and we should offer similar facilities here."

The Texas Democrat noted that Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev, in his filmed interview telecast in the United States by CBS last Sunday, called for competition between Socialist and capitalist states.

"There is one form of competition — the clash of ideas — that Americans would welcome with delight," Johnson said.

Suggesting that industrialists, labor leaders, farmers, scholars and professional men take part in the broadcasts, the senator stressed: "I am not talking of merely one reply to Khrushchev by the President or some other official."

ANSWER IS READY

President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that "somebody in the government" — but not himself — would be glad to answer Khrushchev if the Russians would air the reply without jamming or otherwise interfering with it.

Expressing doubt Khrushchev could advance any logical reason for not allowing Russians to hear American proposals, as the Americans heard his, Johnson said:

"We should not let a single day pass without raising this issue. We should call it up in the United Nations; we should make it a basic proposal in all disarmament talks; we should insist upon it every time a Russian representative is within earshot."

Johnson said he had no fear that Americans would be swayed by Communist propaganda.

But he saw the proposed broadcasts as a chance to present free world ideas which would be new to the Russian people.

"The Russian people have never had an opportunity to weigh the free world's proposal for the control of atomic energy," Johnson said. "They were never informed about it openly and frankly. They never knew that Stalin provoked an arms race that, if continued, must end in the total elimination of mankind."

The senator said his proposal amounted to taking Khrushchev's television technique and turning it back on him.

"I favor granting Khrushchev or Bulganin or Molotov or any Soviet leader television time in America every week of the year," he said. "I demand in return only that they grant us equal opportunities for reaching the Russian people."

SUBMIT TO WORLD

Calling for "a new world policy," Johnson said: "Mankind's only hope lies with men themselves. Let us insist that the case be submitted to the people of the world."

Johnson said action must be initiated on five objectives:

1. Controlled reduction of military forces by all countries.
2. A start on a mutual 'open skies' fool-proof inspection system.
3. A frank and open search for a method of suspending tests of the bigger nuclear weapons, under air tight conditions which give full protection against violations.
4. A reduction in everyone's stockpile of nuclear weapons under copper-riveted methods of mutual inspection.
5. And this is the key to ultimate hope: A worldwide agreement — backed by absolute safeguards — that no nation will make any new fissionable materials for weapons purposes — neither the three present nuclear powers nor those who may soon have that capacity.

Senate May Push Postal Money Plea

HOME TOWN DELEGATION

International Uproar Over Girard Heads To White House

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—An international uproar over the impending trial of an American GI in Japan headed toward the White House today.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said a delegation from Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard's home town will be received Monday to discuss the case.

The group, including Girard's older brother, Louis, 28, will see Edward A. McCabe, associate counsel to President Eisenhower, shortly after arriving by train from Ottawa, Ill.

Petitions being brought to Washington by the home town committee call on the United States to reverse its decision to permit a Japanese court to try Girard for the killing of a Japanese woman scrap scavenger.

NO COMMENT

Secretary of State Dulles shied away from comment on the case. "I do not want to get involved in that," he told reporters at a New York airport. "It is before the courts, you know."

Returning to Washington from an overnight trip to New York, Dulles repeated that he would not personally appear in court here Tuesday in connection with proceedings to block the Japanese trial of Girard.

"My counsel will appear for me," Dulles said.

Subpoenas were served at the State and Defense Departments yesterday for records in the case. Tuesday's court hearing is on an application by attorneys for Girard for an order directing that he be produced in U. S. District Court.

Girard was not lacking for volunteer legal help. Latest to offer his services was Municipal Judge John F. Also of Los Angeles, who said he was of Japanese ancestry and an expert on Japanese law. Also, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves, suggested that he be assigned to temporary active duty for the trial.

Monday's White House appointment with McCabe was announced after L. S. Clemens, Ottawa newspaperman and a member of the home town delegation coming here, said he had requested a meeting with Eisenhower. Clemens, city editor of the Ottawa Republican Times, said he made the request through Illinois Sens. Douglas (D) and Dirksen (R).

After their White House engagement, Louis Girard and his wife, Shirley, accompanied by New York attorney Earl Carroll, are scheduled to appear on a television program Monday night.

AN ACCIDENT

Girard, still in U. S. Army custody in Japan, says the killing was an accident. His case has stirred up a hornet's nest of controversy in this country and in Japan. American sympathizers say he should be tried by a U. S. Army court-martial; Japanese authorities insist he should be turned over to their courts under international agreements.

Sen. Hruska (R-Neb.) said these agreements "should be properly modified or repudiated at the earliest possible moment."

"They deprive our soldiers of many rights guaranteed them under our Constitution and Bill of Rights," Hruska said.

He added in a statement: "one of America's oldest and finest traditions has been that the American flag and the American Constitution follow our soldiers wherever they go."

Year's 5th Traffic Fatality Recorded

Funeral services for Mrs. Pearl Forest Sneed, 63, Sand Springs, who became Howard County's fifth traffic fatality of 1957 when she was fatally injured in an accident Friday night, are scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Chapel.

The Rev. W. M. Irwin, Sand Springs Baptist minister, is to officiate and burial is to be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Sneed was injured at 9:10 p.m. Friday. She was walking across Highway 80, according to the Highway Patrol, and stepped into the side of a passing car.

The patrol reported that the car was driven by Ernie Rutledge Causey, of Odessa. He saw the woman just before she reached the car, sought to swerve to avoid the collision but was too late. Mrs. Sneed was thrown to the pavement. She was brought to Cowper Hospital in a Nalley - Pickle ambulance and died at 11:45 p.m.

The patrol said that Mrs. Sneed was wearing dark-colored clothing at the time of the accident.

Causey was alone in his 1950 Studebaker at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Sneed was born Feb. 2, 1894, in Clarksville, Ark. She came to Big Spring from New Mexico in December, 1956, and she and her husband made their home at Sand Springs.

Mrs. Sneed is survived by her husband, Alex Sneed of Sand Springs; a daughter, Mrs. Christine Williams, San Antonio; and a brother, James Forest of Modesto, Calif.

Her death brings the total highway fatality list for 1957 in Howard County to five.

Mrs. Ella Gertrude Robison, 55, died in a car accident on the Gail road on May 5 for the most recent death on the roads prior to that of Mrs. Sneed.

Other deaths on the highways of the year were those of Joyce M. Fisher, 60, Feb. 3; Mrs. G. L. Hughes, 44, Snyder, on Feb. 7; and Mrs. Dorothy Mae Mitchell, 45, Baird, March 4.

At this same date in 1956, the highway death toll stood at 12.

McGibbon Is Named UF Drive Chairman

K. H. McGibbon has accepted the task of directing the 1957 United Fund campaign, R. V. Middleton, UF president, announced Saturday.

Middleton also reported that Dan M. Krausse will serve as chairman of the UF budget committee for another year.

The campaign chairmanship is about the only position McGibbon hasn't held previously in the United Fund and its predecessor, the Community Chest.

McGibbon is Phillips 66 jobber here, and has been active in virtually every phase of civic endeavor for many years. He is past chairman and member of the board of stewards for the First Methodist Church, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, former president of the Lions Club and former president and one of the founders of the local YMCA.

The new UF campaign chairman is now serving on the board for Howard County Junior College and is board secretary. He also is on boards of directors for the First National Bank and the First National Insurance Co. (See McGIBBON, Pg. 6-A, Col. 6)

Lake Pollution Charge Is Filed

COLORADO CITY, June 8 (AP)—Mitchell County Atty. Frank Ginzle today filed charges of pollution of the waters of Lake Colorado City against two officials of the Southwestern Hydrocarbon Co., Inc.

The charges were filed against Woodrow Wilson of Ira, Scurry County, local superintendent, and Bert Guthrie, head of the company, on a complaint by Texas Game Warden M. T. Reinhardt. Reinhardt said the complaint was filed after discovery of a large quantity of crude oil on Morgan Creek, two miles above the Highway 80 Bridge.

The charges allege the oil came from a tank on the old Coleman Ranch near Cuthbert and travelled down draws to Grave Creek and then to Morgan Creek.

Lake Colorado City is formed by a dam on Morgan Creek. Howard Cynum, lake patrolman, said part of the oil was being held by a "skimmer" made of boards and sacks and that some has drifted past the "skimmer" and is slowly floating downstream. He said he doubted that much oil would reach the lower part of the lake unless more rains came.

First Aid Graduates

Otto Peters, extreme right, sees a host of first aid certificates given to members of the police department and nurses from Medical Arts Hospital. Peters instructed the policemen and women and nurses in the first aid course at the police station twice weekly over the past month. The cards were given out last Thursday after completion of the work. Attending the presentation and standing left to right at the rear of the class are Mayor G. W. Dahney; Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, Red Cross director; Leslie Snow; and City Manager H. W. Whitney.

County Officials Reluctant To Take Step Toward 5-Day Week

By SAM BLACKBURN
Should the Howard County courthouse offices close all day Saturday?

There is much discussion of this question at the county building these days. Most of the officials would be happy to adopt a straight five-day week instead of the present plan. The offices now are open Saturday morning but close at noon.

The pressure for a close-down of operations has gained momenturn in recent months because so many other offices and agencies are already operating on the five-day schedule.

The banks, in a decision made some weeks ago, abandoned their old plan of half-day operation Saturday. All Federal offices and State offices are already on the five-day week and most have been on this schedule for a long time.

A number of the attorneys of the city are also operating only five days a week and presenting closed doors on Saturday.

Advocates of the shutdown on Saturday contend that with so many other agencies inoperative there is little or nothing to do on Saturday. They point to the widespread practice in all fields of endeavor of Saturday holidays.

WHO'S BOSS?

The big hurdle to be crossed, should the courthouse begin closing on Saturday afternoons, is the question of who shall order such a policy put in effect.

There are two schools of thought on the matter:

One contends that the working schedule of each elective office should be a matter to be strictly decided by the official in charge. This decision, these advocates insist, should be based on the official's awareness of the work to be done and whether such a plan would hamper efficiency.

The other school of thought seems to be that declaration of such a policy should be left up to the County Commissioners Court. These contenders argue that the commissioners, aware of the pressure for such a program, should take official action and declare the plan in effect.

However, it would appear that the Commissioners Court may be a little reluctant to take such a step. No one seems to believe that there would be much objection if the offices were not open on Saturday but it is also agreed that no one official nor the Commissioners Court would like to be singled out as having put the plan in effect.

So far, all of the talk has been strictly unofficial. It is generally to be agreed that the deputies in the several offices would be well pleased to have a full day off on Saturday. Most of the officials themselves would be equally pleased.

If such a plan is adopted, it would not affect the sheriff's office — that department stays open all day Saturday even now when other offices close at noon. It would not affect the office of the district attorney, either — other than that office might be able to operate on a skeleton crew.

MANY CLOSED

Under the present plan, the basement of the courthouse where offices of the State Department of Public Welfare, the Red Cross and the county farm agent are located, presents a vacant appearance on each Saturday. All of these offices are closed each weekend.

The county surveyor's office is about the only department on that floor which is open Saturday forenoon.

The other floors of the building are open until noon. The library remains open to 2 p.m. The sheriff's office is open but even in this office, it is the practice to permit some laxity on Saturday.

$500 Raised For McKnight Chapel

Checks totaling $500 have been received by the local committee working to secure the All-Faith Chapel at McKnight Sanatorium near San Angelo. This was reported by Marvin Miller, chairman of the committee, at the first meeting of the group at the Chamber of Commerce conference room Friday evening.

The sanatorium serves the tuberculosis needs of people in 148 counties, and many of the patients are over 400 miles from home. Since the state provides no space solely for religious services, the patients worship in the corridors of the buildings in which they are housed.

McKnight Sanatorium has a full-time and two part-time chaplains, who work as best they can with the limited facilities.

Plans call for the chapel to contain a sanctuary which will seat 200 persons. The building will be such that it can be used by people of all faiths. There will be studies for both Protestant and Catholic chaplains.

There will be a system of program distribution through 600 pillow speakers, so that bed patients may have the benefit of church services or of any programs presented in the chapel.

Included in the $75,000 overall cost of the chapel are possibilities of establishing memorials if contributors desire. Some of these include the main east window, which is to be of stained glass. Others are the program distribution system, air conditioning, kneeling rails, the chancel, the pulpit, an organ, the altar and the pews.

It is planned to have the exterior of the chapel of haydite tile, stuccoed, with masonry trim, or of ledgerstone. The roof will be of slate.

Contributions are being asked from all in order that the chapel will be a symbol of the private citizen's interest in the welfare of the patients in the sanatorium.

Checks may be made payable to McKnight All-Faith Chapel Fund and should be mailed to Marvin Miller, Box 1311, Big Spring.

Miller announced the appointment of an 11-member committee to assist with the funds campaign in Big Spring and the surrounding area.

Members of the committee are Wendal Parks, Ike Robb, Mrs. F. W. White and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Leonard, C. W. White and Family.

Taking over the reins of the Lamesa Jaycees were Bill Clark, president; Vernon Holt, vice president; David Wood, secretary; Bill Webb, treasurer; Will King, state director; Don Speck, Nolan Cope and George Hansard, directors.

Pitts Ready-Mix Concrete Company Opens Plant Here

C. C. Pitts has announced opening of a new ready-mix concrete plant here, the third in the Pitts group.

The establishment is situated at 3200 Eleventh Place. All equipment is new and modern, said M. C. Hanks, plant manager. Name of the firm is Pitts Ready-Mix Concrete Company.

In addition to ready-mix concrete, the Pitts concern will distribute sand, gravel, cement and all contractors' supplies, Hanks reported.

The Big Spring plant will serve the territory within a 50-mile radius of the city.

Jim Conger will serve as plant superintendent here. He has moved to Big Spring from Altus, Okla., where he also was associated with the Pitts concern.

Together, Hanks and Conger have 18 years of experience in the ready-mix concrete business.

Pitts established his first ready-mix concrete plant in Altus in 1946. A second plant was set up in Wichita Falls, and later the concern established a sand and gravel plant at Seymour. All are still operating, with the new Big Spring plant making four in the group.

Hanks said one of the specialties of the company is oil field work. Already Pitts mixer trucks have made several deliveries to jobs in this area for oil field contractors.

Gay Hill Vacationers

Members of the Gay Hill seventh and eighth grade gather around TV star Danny Thomas, center, in Winslow, Ariz., while on their trip recently. Twenty-one students and four sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fenn and Mr. and Mrs. George Archer, made the trip. The group visited the Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, Painted Desert and the Cliff Dwellings. A stop was also made at Juarez. The group spent the night in a tourist court at Winslow with Thomas, and it was at the court that he posed with the group.

Commission Due To Set Bond Vote

Money matters, new cars, and possibly zoning changes are on the agenda for the city commission Tuesday night. The group will meet Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. for its regular bi-weekly meeting at the city hall. Commissioners will probably call a bond election to authorize $50,000. This money would be used to finance the city's end of a water and sewer project to serve Webb's housing unit. The government will lend the city a maximum of $175,000 for the project, and the city must pay the remainder. The entire work is estimated to cost $225,000. Ransom Galloway is expected to meet with the commission Tuesday to discuss the matter. Galloway is representative for Municipal Securities of Dallas, the city's fiscal agent handling the issue. He indicated that initial work toward calling the bond election had been performed. This included drawing up the proper ordinance authorizing the election. The commission will also open bids on the annual street seal-coating work. Money for this work is set up in the budget, and this year, the city elected to ask for bids on the work. Part of it was done by the city last year. In addition, two new cars will be purchased for the police department. The two oldest cars now in use will be traded in. The city's policy calls for trading in cars when they reach 50,000 miles. This, experience has shown, is cheaper than maintenance costs. A public hearing is slated for Monday on zoning changes in the College Park Estates and south of Morrison. Should the zoning board approve the changes at the hearing, these proposals will be forwarded to the commission Tuesday night for action.

Checks Returned To Food Store By Customer

Hull — Phillips Northside Grocery had the same amount of money it was supposed to have Friday night, but it felt $3,000 richer as a result of an incident which occurred that night. About 7:50 p.m., company officials called the police department and reported $3,000 in checks had been lost or misplaced. At 8:30, however, the police department was informed the matter was closed. A grocery boy sacking groceries had accidentally placed the $3,000 in checks in the sack of a Latin American. The Latin American, when arriving at home, noticed the checks and promptly returned them.

Hearing For Boys Set Tuesday In Sterling City Death Case

Three young Big Spring boys who have been held in the juvenile ward of the Tom Green County jail since the night of May 7 will learn Tuesday what their future holds.

They are to be brought to Sterling City at 9 a. m. on that date to face Judge E. C. Murrell, Sterling County judge, who will decide whether they are to be sent to Gatesville Training School for Boys.

The three boys are Nicky Rocha, 13, Herman Lee Wright, 13, and Doyle Hall, 12.

Their companion on a night of violence and terror on May 7 will probably not be with them at the hearing. He was committed to Gatesville on May 17.

George Thomas, his attorney at that hearing, said that he would oppose any effort to bring Mike Martinez, 14, back to Sterling City for the trial of his comrades. He has already been admitted to the state school. Martinez was allegedly the one of the quietest who shot and killed Taylor Garrett, 54-year-old Sterling City filling station man on the night of May 7.

Clyde Thomas, attorney for the Wright boy and for Hall, has announced that he will demand a jury trial for his young clients on Tuesday. The veteran Big Spring lawyer said that the law provides for a jury trial in juvenile cases where it is demanded.

Thomas has also said that he would move to have the hearing for the boys open to the public.

The hearing on May 17 was closed — only the principals, the officers, attorneys and witnesses were permitted inside the district court room.

Wayne Burns, attorney for Rocha, is to cooperate with Thomas in his effort to have a jury hear the story of the boys' escapade and in the effort to prevent a closed session of the court.

Worth Durham, Sterling County attorney, said Friday afternoon insofar as he knew, the hearing would be held as scheduled. He said that he did not know but assumed that Justin Keever, district attorney, San Angelo, would join him on the state side at the hearing.

The trial grows out of a series of crimes which involved the four boys on the afternoon of May 7 and later that same night.

According to the story they told officers after their apprehension on that date, the four left Big Spring in a car taken from a local Catholic priest. They had a .38 calibre pistol which had been taken from the home of Herman Lee Wright.

Short on money, they attempted to hold up Taylor Garrett, operator of a filling station on Sterling City's main street.

Martinez, allegedly, was the boy with the gun. Garrett resisted the holdup. He was shot six times and almost instantly killed.

The boys fled the scene but ran into a roadblock thrown up at San Angelo.

Their car was wrecked and they were slightly injured. Since that time the three who are to face hearing on Tuesday have been kept in the Tom Green County jail juvenile ward. Sterling County lacked adequate facilities to hold the youths.

An attempt by Clyde Thomas to have the boys paroled to their parents pending the hearing Tuesday was denied on May 17 by Judge Murrell. The continuance of the three matters at that time grew out of Thomas' and Burns' demand for a jury trial.

George Thomas elected on that occasion to have the case of his own young client, Martinez, settled. He was ordered sent to the Gatesville school until he is 17.

There was no announcement made but the impression was created that it is possible, Sterling County may elect, as it can if it wishes, to try Martinez when he is no longer a juvenile for the death of Garrett.

SAC Practice Flight Won't Be Milk Run—When It's For Real

By STANLEY MEISLER
BARKSDALE AIR FORCE BASE, La., June 8 (AP) — Sometimes John feels like he drives a milk truck, in a routine way, on a familiar road.

But his cargo is not milk. It could be more explosives than have been blasted in all the wars of mankind.

Air Force Capt. John F. Adams pilots a B47 Stratojet medium bomber, ready always to drop a nuclear bomb on an aggressor nation.

His six-jet plane is one of the chief weapons of the Strategic Air Command, the outfit with the job of attacking enemy targets moments after war begins.

John flies three times a week, sometimes to North Africa or Canada or Puerto Rico. But more often, he and the two other crewmen, Pete and Mac, zigzag through the Mississippi Valley, constantly drilling on the tiny technical details that some day could mean savage destruction to an enemy.

After 1,300 hours of B47 flying time, the 35-year-old John finds his job routine, with little tension, almost dull. But he knows his jet would feel less like a milk truck if it were headed for the real thing.

One recent morning John headed his roaring jet down the runway for a bombing mission. The pilot, who grew up in Stuart, Ark., drew his speed to the control tower.

NAVIGATOR AT WORK
John plotted under a canopy that bubbles up in front of a B47. Right behind him sat Mac, 1st Lt. Donald MacLeod Jr., 25-year-old copilot from Detroit. Hidden in an office-like cubicle under the nose in front of the canopy worked Pete, Capt. Peter J. Chille, 32-year-old radar navigator from Brooklyn.

Jackson, Memphis, Fort Smith, Wichita, Tulsa, Harrisburg, Cities flitted by as the plane zoomed over the clouds at 37,000 feet, reaching speeds of 475 miles an hour. Then it turned and headed toward the Gulf of Mexico, moving over Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi.

Over the Gulf a KC97 Strato-tanker flew toward rendezvous, the spot appointed for the tanker to refuel the jet bomber in flight. John dove to less than 20,000 feet because the tanker, a propeller-driven plane, cannot reach the high altitudes of a jet plane.

The tanker loomed over the B47 about 40 feet away. The boom, a long metal tube, stretched from the tail of the tanker, reaching for the jet bomber's nose.

With a soft boom, the tube connected, and fuel poured into the jet. After pouring 28,000 pounds of fuel, the boom pulled out. The B47 climbed high, away from the tanker.

'BOMBING' DALLAS

The plane now belonged to Pete, ready to bomb a corner of the Olive and Myers building in Dallas.

Zoning Hearing Is Slated For Monday

Two areas in the eastern part of Big Spring will be considered for zoning changes at a public hearing Monday night.

The meeting called by the planning and zoning board is set for 5:15 p.m. Monday in the city commission room of the city hall.

Areas under consideration are located in the College Park Estates and also south of Morrison in the Monticello Addition. At the present time, both areas are zoned A (one-party residences).

The area east of Birdwell to Richmond and south of the alley behind Morrison to 16th is considered for change to an E zone (commercial).

In College Park Estates, changes of areas would be to B (two-party dwellings), D (multiple dwellings), and E and F (commercial zones). One of the F zones will be north of the alley behind Purdue to the city limits which is between Purdue and E. 4th. A D zone in the same general area is to be considered.

The B and E zones will be east of the HCJC land to Baylor Boulevard, with an F zone adjacent to the Junior College property.

Should the changes be approved by the zoning board at the public hearing, they will be turned over to the city commission for final ratification.

GI Sentenced In Accidental Death

EL PASO (AP)—An Army court martial yesterday sentenced a Brooklyn GI to six months at hard labor for accidentally killing a fellow soldier in their Ft. Bliss barracks.

Pvt. Martin Riess, 19, had been charged with manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Pvt. Bradley Beachem, Rosell, N.J., May 4. Beachem was shot in the head when Riess' rifle discharged after the two returned from rifle practice.

building is a bit too obscure on the radar screen so Pete sighted on another object. He knew the exact distance between the sighting point and his target. Once he had his radar crosshairs on the point, the rest was easy.

By reading the radar screen exactly, Pete figured out the best altitude to bomb. He fed that information into the electronic bombing system. The plane did the rest.

Airmen at a special center in Dallas computed the accuracy of Pete's blow. His theoretical bomb would have struck less than 300 yards from the building. He did not need to get that close to destroy Dallas.

The story was the same in Oklahoma City. Pete scored a near perfect hit on the roof edge of the Capital Steel Co.

With Mac calling in the plane's location, the Barksdale AFB control tower guided the B47 home. The jet bomber alighted at 6 p.m.

In eight hours, John, Mac and Pete had flown 3,300 miles. Actually they had not flown very far, twisting in and out of one section of the United States. But stretched out from one of the Strategic Air Command's far-flung bases, the flight might have taken in any number of cities around the world.

Pete Smith Presses Buttons—And Slices Up Freight Trains

By WILLIAM FERRIS

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — Peter Smith is an ordinary guy who, on any given day, has considerable power. Pete presses buttons.

And when Pete presses a button, he slices up a freight train as if it were a hunk of bologna, divvying up the pieces — you call them cars — along any number of 63 different railroad tracks.

Pete works at the control panel in the hump tower of the New York Central's new freight classification yard at Buffalo.

Freight cars to be classified are pushed to the crest of the hump by locomotives whose crews are directed by radio and color light signals.

As the cars pass the hump, Pete pushes his buttons. That sets switches all along the line, sending one car down one route of tracks, a second another route, a third still another route. The speed of the cars is controlled by electronic retarders on the wheels.

Pete is in the center of a railroad revolution. Throughout the country railroad tracks are rushing into automation and mechanization. They're experimenting and adopting new, novel techniques. It's a gigantic effort to maintain or expand earnings, to keep from sinking into the red, to meet competition from other types of transportation.

Out of it have come some interesting developments:

The Santa Fe has installed several hundred miles of continuous welded rail. Each rail is one quarter mile long. It is transported to the site on railroad flat cars. When the train goes around a bend, the rail just bends with the train.

The Chesapeake & Ohio is testing an electronic detector to spot overheated journal boxes on railroad cars. Detector units, equipped with infrared lenses, parallel the tracks. When a hot journal box goes by, the detector flashes a warning and the train is stopped.

The Southern Pacific soon will put into full operation an electronic computer system to keep an up-to-the-minute check on where its empty box cars are. The Northern Pacific is installing a 2,000-mile transcontinental dial telephone system, the longest system of its type in the country.

The Chicago and North Western gives its diesel engines a periodic "blood test" with a device known as a quantometer. This detects potential engine trouble by running a check on the engine's fuel.

The Pennsylvania uses 105 television cameras and 100 television receivers, making the world's largest closed circuit television installation, at its ticket sales bureau in New York's Penn Station.

The New Haven later this year will install a new electronic ticket reservation system. The ticket agent, by punching keys on a machine resembling a cash register, may determine in moments just what space is available on any train for a month ahead.

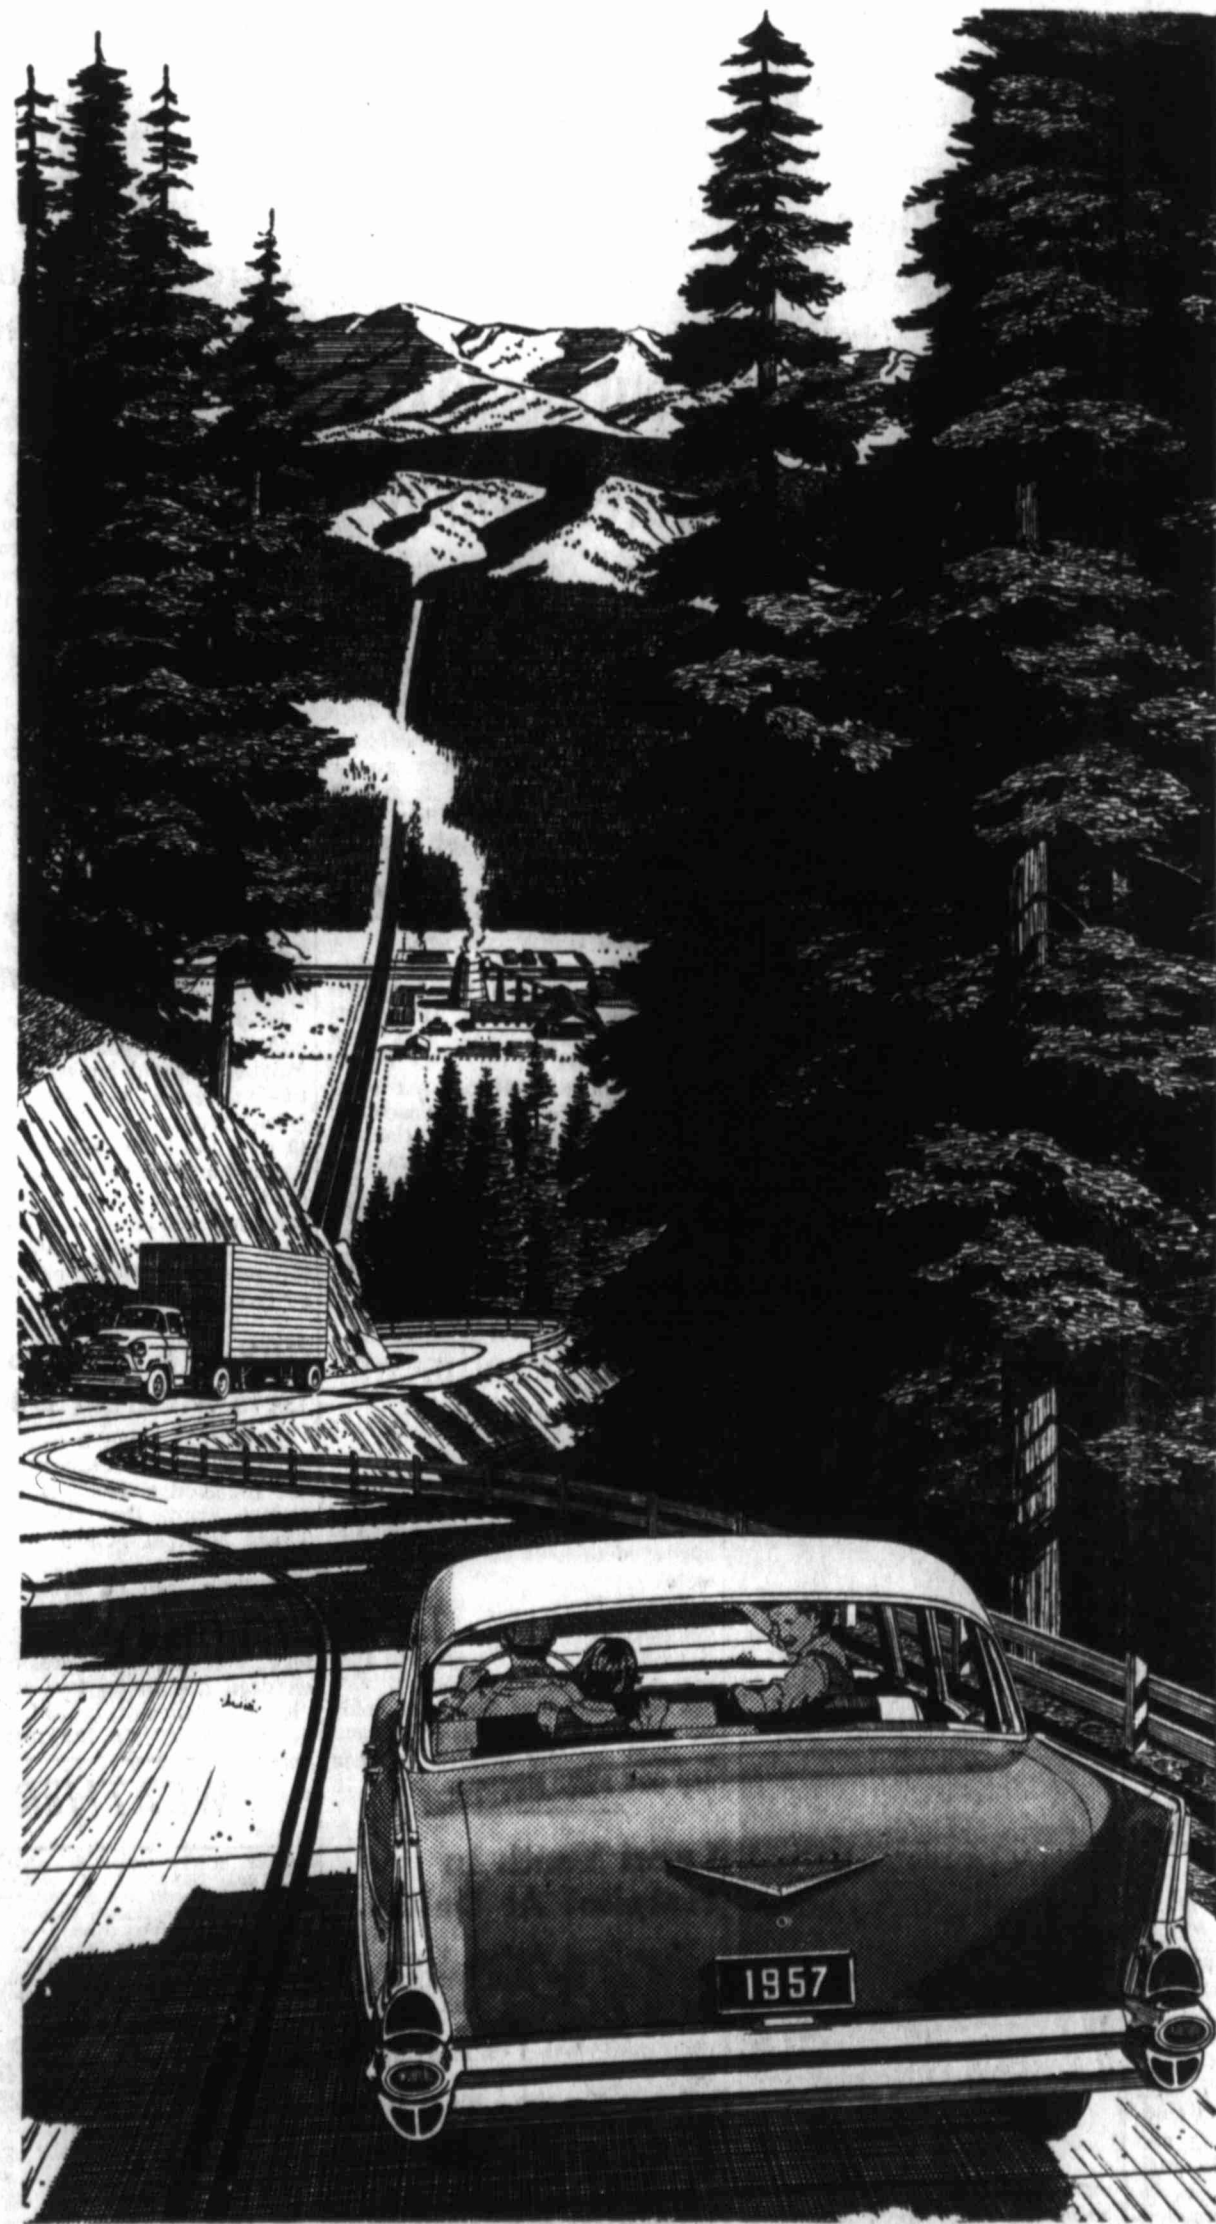

A large number of other electronic and mechanical contraptions are used on the nation's 225,149 miles of track. But probably the three most important are: push button yards, centralized traffic control (CTC) and new office machines.

First Airman To Finish HCJC

In the five years since Webb AFB was established, many airmen have attended Howard County Junior College. But none managed to stay in school long enough to graduate, due to transfers, and regular Air Force duties. None, that is, until S-Sgt. Darwin Harper came along. Last week, Harper received his associate in arts degree from the college. He plans to use his HCJC training as a springboard for a medical career and will enroll at the University of West Virginia when he finishes his Air Force assignment. He is in the communications system section at Webb. Presiding the AA degree here is Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president.

To The Scrap Heap Of History

Battleships no longer fit the expanding concepts of modern war, naval strategists agree, and a long honored tradition that began with Lord Nelson at Trafalgar will soon be a part of history. The battleships, using too many men and too costly to build, are rapidly being replaced by faster, lighter ships armed with guided missiles. Shown above is the USS Wisconsin, largest (by nine inches) battleship ever built, and sister ship to the USS Missouri, upon whose decks Gen. MacArthur accepted the surrender of Japan.

Britain's Seaslug On Its Way

The Royal Navy's new guided missile, the Seaslug, trails fire and smoke as it is launched from the British ship Girdle Ness during a recent test at sea. The missile can destroy, at any altitude, aircraft which evade the fleet's fighter craft.

Demos Lash Ike's Charges Of Disunity

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Democrats launched a vigorous counter-attack today on President Eisenhower's charges that their party is "hopelessly split," advocates loose spending and wants to punish business.

Former President Truman fired back in New York that Eisenhower's charges were "hopeless" when he talked about a Democratic division.

"The Democrats are not and can't be split," he also said a Republican defeat in 1960 would point the country back toward a "toboggan of loose spending, centralization, punishment of business and fiscal irresponsibility."

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.), who has been supporting Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget which some Republicans have criticized, said here "the President's advisers have given him more irresponsible things to say than just don't add up."

"Eisenhower tried to picture his party as progressive and as one whose principles have remained unchanged in 100 years—and they certainly have," Neuberger said.

"I notice he congratulated the 10 millionth recipient of social security this week. If his party's views had prevailed, there would not be even one recipient of social security."

"Twenty years later he is trying to appropriate Democratic accomplishments and attach credit for them to his party. This kind of foolishness cooked up by his advertising advisers will fool no one."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said in a separate interview he doesn't believe Eisenhower's attack is calculated to win him any new friends among opposition party members.

"The Democrats are trying to rescue him from the dismal record he would have if his proposals were left to the mercy of the Republicans in Congress," Monroney said.

As for fiscal irresponsibility, what administration has been in power as the cost of living has gone up for 14 consecutive months? What administration has made money so tight that some builders, small business men and farmers are going on the rocks?" Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said before he left for a speech in Minneapolis, Minn., that Republican policies "are unchanged from what they were in the last century."

Free Polio Vaccine Given At Stanton

STANTON, June 8 (AP)—The second round of Salk polio vaccine was administered at the Stanton Memorial Hospital Thursday through Saturday in an inoculation program sponsored by the Xi Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

First shots were given three weeks earlier. Taking advantage of the free vaccine were 372 adults and 137 pre-school children.

Tourist Development Committee Will Meet

Proposed plans for a "Tourist of the Month" program will be discussed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Development Committee at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

If the project is adopted, representatives of the community will choose a traveler to be honored as "Tourist of the Month," each month. Mrs. B. P. Baldrige is chairman of the committee.

Students' Passports Lifted After Sortie Into Hungary

VIENNA, Austria, June 8 (AP)—The passports of two young South Carolinians were lifted by the U.S. consul today for their illegal excursion into Communist Hungary for fun.

Moreover, they are going to get an official talking to the State Department is going to decide whether they should be allowed to continue their European tour or sent home.

2 Guilty Pleas Heard In C-City

COLORADO CITY, June 8 (AP)—Two pleas of guilty were heard by Judge A. S. Mauvey in 32nd District Court at this week's criminal court session.

Donnie Ray Lake, 26, Lubbock, drew a three-year suspended sentence when he admitted he stole a cow and calf from Tate Brothers Auction Barn May 25. He sold the animals in Tulsa May 25.

Max Champion Baugh, 38, Snyder, pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI second offense. He was fined $100 and sentenced to eight months in the county jail. Judge Mauvey then probated the eight-month jail term.

"Twenty years later he is trying to appropriate Democratic accomplishments and attach credit for them to his party. This kind of foolishness cooked up by his advertising advisers will fool no one."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said in a separate interview he doesn't believe Eisenhower's attack is calculated to win him any new friends among opposition party members.

"The Democrats are trying to rescue him from the dismal record he would have if his proposals were left to the mercy of the Republicans in Congress," Monroney said.

As for fiscal irresponsibility, what administration has been in power as the cost of living has gone up for 14 consecutive months? Howard County courthouse offices offered a rather "spotted" picture Saturday—some were not open at all, a few were open only a few minutes, and others were open only in the morning.

The shutdown of Saturday operations was somewhat "wildcat" in character. There was no organized movement for a general close down—each office group seemed to have decided to act on its own initiative.

The third floor was almost deserted by 11 a. m. By 11 the shutdown was nearly complete.

On the second floor, the offices of the auditor and the treasurer were not open all day. The county attorney's office was still functioning at 11 a. m. The county superintendent's office was open.

No evidence of the close-down was visible on the first floor—the tax assessor, clerk, and sheriff offices were all open. The library, too, was regular Saturday morning schedule. It ordinarily closes at 2 p. m. Saturday.

HCJC Enrollment Finals At 160

Registration at Howard County Junior College for the first six weeks term of the summer session appeared to have reached 160 Saturday.

This is three more than for the comparable period a year ago. Registrar B. M. Keese said that the report from Webb AFB was not final and that the total could be slightly higher. The enrollment is about equally divided between day and night students.

Elton Carol Hudson, 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hudson of Big Spring, has been admitted to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas.

Texas Scottish Rite Masons founded the hospital 33 years ago in an effort to provide a chance at a normal life for the handicapped child. The hospital, which is supported by public contributions and bequests, has accepted almost 100,000 children for treatment since 1925.

Age Of The Atom Shoves Battleships Into History

By ROGER GREENE
AP Staff Writer

For nearly 100 years the mighty ironclad battleship ruled supreme as the sovereign of the seven seas.

Today most of the awesome behemoths slumber in mothballs. They may never stir again.

The Navy, briskly ordering full speed ahead into the guided missile era, says the battleship with its big 16-inch guns has suddenly become as outmoded as the 16th century Spanish galleon.

Old-school admirals, reluctant to concede the passing of a great and proud tradition, are muttering crustily that some of the young sprouts in the Pentagon are going too fast.

The battleship, they say, theoretically has been consigned to the scrap heap with the invention of nearly every major new weapon from the torpedo to the aerial bomb. Now the guided missile has triggered the same cry of doom.

At the Pentagon, Capt. John LaMada, deputy chief of Navy information, gave four reasons why guided-missile cruisers, frigates, destroyers and submarines are rapidly superseding the battleship.

1. The battleship requires too much manpower—about 2,700 officers and men by comparison with smaller ships capable of delivering knockout blows with long-range guided missiles.

2. The vast bulk of the battleship is no longer needed to provide firing platforms. Guided missiles need no such platform to sponge up recoil. Moreover, the development of nuclear power has eliminated the necessity of the battleship's huge space for fuel storage. Small atom-driven ships can now do the job.

3. The battleship is too cumbersome to maneuver with high-speed, quick-turning craft of the modern naval task force.

4. And finally the battleship, costing over 100 million dollars, is too expensive in a day when even a submarine can pack a seven-ton Regulus guided missile capable of hurling a nuclear punch at a target 500 miles away.

As former Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas put it: "The Navy is going through the greatest transition in its entire history. All at one time it is changing to nuclear power, from guns to guided missiles, from gunpowder to atomic weapons, and in the air from propeller to supersonic (jet) planes."

The swift and dramatic trend toward an all-missile fleet is illustrated by the fact that the nation's first guided missile ship, the converted World War II cruiser Boston, was commissioned barely 18 months ago. It can fire a salvo of four radar-guided 1,700 m.p.h. Terrier missiles every 30 seconds.

By latest count, the fleet has at least 21 guided-missile ships, including 8 cruisers, 10 attack carriers, 2 submarines and 1 destroyer.

Today only two U. S. battleships, the Iowa and Wisconsin, both 45,000 tons, remain on active duty. Thirteen others have been tucked away in the mothball reserve fleet. Their chances of seeing action in an all-out nuclear war are considered negligible.

The Navy says, however, they might serve in a limited role—such as convoy duty—in a conflict where nuclear weapons were kept under wraps.

4 Held In Lamesa In Grocery Theft

LAMESA, June 8 (AP)—Sheriff Henry Mayfield said Saturday night four Negroes—two men and two women—have been arrested and are being held in the Dawson County Jail in connection with the theft of nine $20 bills from the Piggly Wiggly No. 2 store here Friday afternoon.

Mayfield said the fourth prisoner was returned from Sweetwater late Saturday. One was captured in O'Donnell a short time after the theft. Two others were picked up Friday night in Stanton.

Mayfield said one of the four already has agreed to submit to a lie detector test and he probably will take the man to Austin Sunday afternoon or Monday.

Partial statements relating to the case have been made by some of the prisoners, he said.

The sheriff related four Negroes came into the Piggly Wiggly store, on North Fourth Street, around 3:30 p. m. Friday. One made a small purchase and extended a dollar bill to pay for it.

While Rodney Peterson, the checker, was preparing to make the change, the customer distracted his attention by some request in such a way that the eyes of the employee were taken off the money till of the register which was open.

Seconds later, he noted the nine $20 bills were gone and called the manager. Three of the Negroes had raced from the store and fled in a car. The fourth was left stranded. He caught a ride to O'Donnell but the sheriff's deputies and police, summoned to the store, tracked him down within a few hours.

Mayfield said he had not found any money as yet on the suspects but he had not had time to go through the luggage seized when the fourth prisoner, a woman, was arrested in Sweetwater Saturday afternoon.

Judge Rules Young Love Dangerous, Breaks Up Couple

HOUSTON, June 8 (AP)—Young love is a dangerous thing and the domestic relations court has ruled to break it up, according to Judge J. W. Mills.

He issued a temporary injunction restraining a 16-year-old boy and 15-year-old girl from:

1. Eloping.

2. Seeing each other.

3. Talking on the phone or communicating in any manner.

He persuaded parents of both youngsters, and their attorneys, to accept the injunction as an agreed judgment.

The court action was initiated by parents of the girl.

They don't like the boy, they said, and he keeps coming by their home honking his car horn, and taking the girl away against their wishes.

Judge Mills issued a stinging, coldly practical lecture along with the injunction.

"Going steady," he said, "is a most unfortunate practice for teenagers and should be discouraged by parents, churches and schools in constructive counseling programs."

State Rules More Science In Schools

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—The state board of education today voted to increase requirements for high school graduation, placing more emphasis on science.

Effective during the 1958-59 school year, graduates must have 16 units, including two years (units) of laboratory sciences. The present requirement is 15 units with some schools giving one credit for physical education and health.

Physical education will no longer count in compiling the 16 units.

In addition, every accredited high school must make available four years of English, laboratory sciences and mathematics and 2 1/2 units in social sciences.

'ROUND TOWN With Lucille Pickle

Now that we passed a Friday without tornado scares and torrential downpours perhaps the weather will level off and the men of the houses and get back to the yard jobs. We hope the flowers and shrubs grow in proportion to the enormous size that has been reached by the latest crop of flies, gnats and mosquitoes. At the A&M barbecue, Thursday night the crowd wasn't the only thing that was large. The mosquitoes were the large.

Heavy Inventories Inducing Cut - Backs

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, June 8 (U-P) — Problems which plagued the oil industry prior to the Suez Crisis are returning.
Two oil refiners this week announced cutbacks in operations because of high products inventories and weak demand. Other cutbacks were indicated.
The growing trend toward a six per cent wage increase within the industry has revived pleas for another general increase in crude oil prices.
Major oil states are continuing to reduce production from peaks attained during the European oil shortage that was a result of the Middle East emergency.
PRODUCTION DROPS
Domestic production last week averaged 7,418,450 barrels of crude daily, compared to a peak of 7,818,400 attained the week of March 22. Crude production cutbacks already have wiped out 47 per cent of the 837,300-barrel daily increase effected between the week of Nov. 2, when the Suez Canal was closed, and the week of March 22.
Additional cutbacks became effective this week.
Cities Service Oil Co. reduced its Lake Charles, La., refinery operations by 10,000 barrels a day. Continental Oil Co., also with a Lake Charles plant, followed quickly with a reduction of 4,500 barrels daily.
STOCKS "TOO HIGH"
L. F. McCollum, Continental president, said stocks of all petroleum products are too high, that a substantial reduction in refinery runs seems to be essential.
Gasoline inventories have declined only 10 million barrels since the start of the spring-summer heat consumption season. The decline for the same period last year was 13 million barrels, compared to 16 million in 1953.
McCollum said gasoline stocks now are 5.9 per cent above a year

DEEP VENTURE STAKED IN NORTH-CENTRAL MARTIN

The Pennsylvania and possibly the upper Devonian sections will be tested in the central part of Martin County by a new wildcat.
This is the first drilling activity in the county since the BBM No. 1 Cowden flowed oil from the Strawn as a discovery in November of 1956. It was in the southwest corner of the county, however.
The Texas Company No. 1 Lou Ida Hatchett is the new wildcat drilling to 11,800 feet to try the Pennsylvania and possibly the upper part of the Devonian. It is about eight miles northwest of Lenora.
Drill site is 1,650 feet from north and 2,310 from west lines, 23-36-3n, T&P Survey, on a 170-acre lease.

FPC Gives Pioneer Permit For Line

Authorization to commence construction of facilities for the gathering and sale of natural gas in Val Verde, Sutton, and Schell counties, Texas, has been received by Pioneer Gathering System, Inc., wholly owned subsidiary of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, it was announced yesterday.
Authorization came in the form of a temporary emergency certificate of public convenience and necessity, granted under the emergency certificate rules of the FPC. Original application was filed Nov. 29, 1956.
The projected system will comprise some 70 miles of pipeline and one compressor station, costing approximately $4,500,000. Construction is expected to begin almost immediately as a major portion of the materials is already on hand. Completion is scheduled for sometime early this fall.
The new gathering system will provide outlets for gas wells which heretofore have been shut in for lack of markets. Additionally, it will be an important step in the conservation of Texas' natural resources, as oil well gas in large volume has been blowing to the air for the past several months.

Advance Oil Goes To RFO

Reiter Foster Oil Corporation has acquired for $1,675,000, in stock and cash, the properties of Advance Petroleum Corporation of Dallas, including the producing properties of Carl J. Westlund, Emil V. Hegyi, president, Reiter Foster announced.
With the combined purchase, RFO acquires the assets and oil and gas producing properties on 27,415 gross acres in Texas and Oklahoma, in addition to four complete drilling rigs and a 34 per cent interest in 640 acres of uranium claims in the Ambrosia area of Grant, N. M.
The Westlund properties, Hegyi said, are located in the oil pools of Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Reagan and Sterling counties of West Texas, while the producing properties owned by Advance are located in North Central Texas, Oklahoma, as well as in West Texas.
As of May 1, 1957, the total estimated oil and gas reserves of the Advance Westlund acquisition are 1,950,000 barrels of oil and two-billion cubic feet of gas.
The new properties bring to Reiter Foster a total of 54 oil and gas wells presently producing, plus two shut-in gas wells and one oil well awaiting re-completion.

Morgan Is Named WPRC Consultant

TULSA—D. Glenn Morgan, Tulsa, Okla., recently retired director of research and development, D-X Sunray Oil Company, has been retained by the Western Petroleum Refiners Association as consulting technologist, Paul D. Williams, executive secretary, announced.
Morgan, who has completed 40 years of service in the refining industry, has been quite active in Western Petroleum Refiners Association's technical activities and committee work. He has served as a member of the association's Technical Advisory Committee since its inception, and is a past chairman of the association's Lubricants Committee.

Westbrook Pool Gains Location

Activity in Mitchell County this week included a new try in the Westbrook field in the northwest part of the county.
Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 31 Mary Foster is staked in the Istan East Howard field 900 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines, 8-29-1s, T&P Survey, and three miles southwest of Istan.
Operator will drill to 3,000 feet with rotary equipment.

Test Staked In Dawson Field

Midland operators have staked a new venture in the Welch field of the northwest corner of Dawson County.
It is Davidson, Pembroke & Way of Midland No. 5 W. J. Burke Estate and is about two miles north of Welch. Drill site is 1,980 feet from the west and 660 from south lines, 14-C39, PSL Survey, on a 320-acre lease.
Operator will project to 5,000 feet.
During the first term of the summer session (June 4-July 15) 34 seniors are stationed near Marathon, studying the Marathon Mountains which are similar in structure to the Appalachian Mountains. They will make trips to the Big Bend, Davis Mountain and Glass Mountain areas for additional study. This trip will be repeated in the second session.
At the same time, another 26 students are studying Coastal Plain geology while stationed in Smithville.
The elementary course, for some 130 junior geology students, will be conducted August 28-September 16 at sites near Llano, Burnet, Mason and Fredericksburg.

Oil Allowable Gains Slightly

AUSTIN, June 8 (U-P) — The Texas Railroad Commission today said the total average calendar day oil allowable was up 12,278 barrels as compared to this time last week.
In its weekly report, the commission said the average calendar day allowable today was 3,404,033 barrels as compared to 3,391,755 last Saturday.
A total 276 oil wells were completed during the week upping the year's total to 7,137 as compared to 7,375 for the similar period last year. Thirty-six gas wells were brought in for a year's total of 820 as compared to 785 for 1956.
In unproven territory, 10 oil and no gas wells plus 77 dry holes were recorded. Out of 2,361 wildcat attempts this year, 2,068 ended up as dry holes, 50 gas wells were brought in and 243 oil wells were completed. This compares to 1956's total 2,300 attempts with 2,068 ending up dry, 49 showing gas and 261 oil wells completed.
A total 170 wells were plugged during the past seven days. It raised the year's total to 5,696 which is running ahead of the 4,898 mark for a comparable period last year.

Compact TV Camera Seen As Aid In Field Operations

hardest to develop. If perfected, a downhole camera for drill holes would transmit indications of oil up to a monitor at the surface.
Thus, well-service companies would be afforded a first-hand look at perforations. Junk in the hole could be examined.
(2) For oil field use is an underwater camera for offshore operations.
(3) A camera for inspection of new pipe. The camera would be used to inspect cracks, bubbles and non-uniformity in pipes.

Oil Industry Said Deterrent To War

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, June 8 (U-P) — Rees (R-Kan.) credits the U. S. oil industry with holding the weapon that brought a halt to "a little war that could have sparked World War III with only a little encouragement."
That weapon, he told Congress, was the industry's capacity to produce more than this country's requirements and go to the rescue of Western Europe during the Suez Canal shutdown.
Because of a strong domestic industry, he said, the United States was able to tell its allies there was "no need to fight a full-scale war over the Suez Canal" and to use its influence to prevent a major conflict.
"EXONERATED"
Referring to criticism of the industry for increasing the price of crude oil early in the year, Rees said that "when all the shouting and accusations of the earlier charges have died down (the industry) stands exonerated before these very Halls of Congress." He quoted from a report of the House Commerce Committee hailing the oil lift to Europe as "a stupendous achievement" by the industry.
Rees' tribute to the industry—published in the Congressional Record—said that when Secretary of State Dulles went to London shortly after England, France and Israel had invaded Egypt, he took with him figures showing that the United States could produce in excess of two million barrels of oil daily in excess of its own needs.

"Thus," said Rees, "he had the facts with which to convince our allies there was no need to take that 'calculated risk' of embroiling the entire world in an atomic holocaust."
"By the very fact of its existence, however, this domestic oil industry provided our government with an opportunity to use statesmanship instead of battle ships to bring about a resolving of differences."

Drilling Keeps Its Slow Climb

Oil drilling activity continued its slow upward climb, according to the Hughes Tool Company.
In its weekly survey for the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, the concern reported 2,634 rigs going. This was 47 more than the previous week and up considerably from the 2,355 a month ago. However, it was far off the pace of 2,934 in the comparable week of 1956. The United States total for the week was 2,411, up 27.
Texas had 944 rigs going, a decline of five. Of this number 971 were in West Texas, two less than the previous week. New Mexico had 143, a gain of five. Kansas, with 149, was off one; Louisiana with 438, up one; Oklahoma with 232, up 22. Canada, with 223 rigs, was up 20.

Deeper Zones Borden Target

New locations have been announced in two fields in the northeastern part of Borden County. The Ellenburger and Strawn sections will be tested.
Superior and Lutz of Midland will test the Ellenburger at the No. 1-580 C. D. Jones. The venture is in the Fluvanna (multiple) field about four miles northwest of Fluvanna, on a 640-acre lease. Drill site is 660 feet from the north and west lines, 500-97, H&TC Survey.
Drilling depth is 8,400 feet.
Sixteen miles northeast of Gall in the Myrtle West (Strawn) field, Midwest Oil Corporation of Fort Worth No. 1 C. C. Miller will be staked. Operator will project to 8,200 feet looking for the Strawn section.
The location is 330 feet from north and 1,780 feet from west lines, 364-97, H&TC Survey, on a 40-acre tract.

Defendant Wins Lamesa Verdict

LAMESA, June 8 — A 13-member 10th District Court jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Lideco Derrick Co., in a $94,000 damage suit tried here this week.
The suit grew out of an oil field accident in March, 1955, and was brought by Bill Sheshey of Snyder who sought payment of $94,000 for injuries allegedly received when an oil rig collapsed while it was being lowered at a well site in the Spraberry field.
Sheshey was represented by Forrest Bowers of the firm of Robert H. Huff, Lubbock; Elton Gilliland of the firm of Little and Gilliland of Big Spring, assisted by Stansell Clement of Lamesa, represented the defendant.

Local Chiropodist To Give Lecture At Regional Meet

To speak at the Southwestern Chiropody Congress in Houston next Saturday is Dr. L. A. Walsh of Big Spring and Midland.

Dr. Walsh will discuss "The Importance of Surgical Considerations in the Correction of Foot Problems."

A past president of both the American College of Foot Surgeons and the National Association of Chiropodists, Dr. Walsh is now chairman on foot surgery for the NAC. He has served on the agency's committee on industrial foot care and the committee on military recognition.

The chiropodist came to this section from Wilmington, Del. He is a former professor of experimental therapeutics for Temple University, Philadelphia, having served in that capacity for 19 years.

Dr. Walsh's home offices now are in Midland, but he spends two days a week at Cooper Hospital here and also serves as a consultant for the Big Spring VA Hospital.

The Southwestern Chiropody Congress opens in the Shamrock Hotel in Houston Thursday and will close Saturday.

City's Fathers Receive Few Compliments, Hear Complaints

By DON HENRY
Big Springers find plenty of time to complain but little time to compliment their city commissioners.

The five members of the commission reported that very few of the phone calls, personal contacts, and letters from citizens about city affairs are "pats on the back."

A few contain constructive suggestions, but the great majority of them are complaints. Regardless of the nature of the matter, the commissioners usually take time to investigate the trouble. This is reflected in the amount of time spent by them in pursuing city business. The average amount of time needed to handle the city affairs per commissioner is 12 hours per week.

Serving on the commission at the present time are G. W. Dabney (also the mayor) who is ticket agent at T&P; Roy Bruce, operator of Bruce Service Station; Curtis Driver, operator of Driver Implement; Ward Hall, operator of Westex Wrecking; and Dr. Lee Rogers, a dentist.

And naturally, all of their city business has to be packed around their professional duties.

FEW LETTERS
All of the group reported they received very few letters. Most of the comments come from personal contacts or telephone calls. About half of the letters received, however, are anonymous and are written off as being from "crackpots" and not citizens with legitimate gripe.

Driver said he has not received a letter since the election the first part of April, but he said he averages getting between 10 and 15 calls per week. He estimated he spent between 15 and 20 hours per week on city business.

This includes talking to citizens, hearing their complaints, attending city-related meetings.

The mayor, Dabney, is elected from the commission and draws the same salary as other commissioners — $10 per month. There was some satirical talk by the commission early this year to increase salaries 10 per cent but nothing was ever done about it.

Mayor Dabney said that he averaged about two hours per day tending to city business, in addition to the twice-a-month meetings. These meetings usually last from two to three and a half hours each.

Two Enlist In Marine Corps

Two Big Spring men have enlisted for the Marine Corps and both will leave here about June 15, according to M-Sgt. Robert Porter, area recruiting officer.

The two are David Joe Young and Jerry Wayne Clark. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Young, 610 Edwards and the husband of Mrs. Barbara Young, of the same address.

Clark is the son of Mrs. Marie Clark, Rt. 1. He enlisted for three years.

Being married, Young was eligible to enlist for two years.

The Marine sergeant will be in Big Spring June 9 and 20. He is here on the first and third Wednesdays and Thursdays each month with headquarters at the Crawford Hotel.

every week, and in the past, he said the great majority of them were about one of three problems — dogs, bad streets, or garbage.

The mayor agreed that commissioners do not get many compliments, but he said that when the people are not saying anything, they are satisfied.

A lot of the time spent on city business is following up on the complaints, the mayor said. After the matter is referred to one of the city departments, he said he usually checks on the matter to see if it were properly cared for.

Three Problems

He averages getting 15 letters a week, and it is usually anonymous. The phone calls and personal contacts usually run about 10 a week, he said.

SOME CONSTRUCTIVE
Hall said since the election, the number of phone calls has dropped off. He said he doesn't get more than two or three now, whereas the total was greater before the election. Most of the complaints being received the last few weeks have been concerning the rain and streets washing.

Dr. Rogers said his calls would average about five per week. He said all are not complaints, however; some are suggestions on how to operate a certain phase of city work.

The weekly average of letters and personal calls from the five would amount to 48, or an average of between nine and 10. This shows, agreed the commission, that citizens are interested in city problems and more especially their own.

RURAL NEIGHBORHOOD SPRING UP
South Haven, looking south down Old Angelo Highway

Many Big Springers Find Suburban Living Pleasant

By JESS BLAIR

An ever-increasing number of Big Spring residents are moving to suburban areas along the highways that lead out from town. One relatively new area is the South Haven addition located a few miles south on the Old San Angelo Highway. Although the lots were sold off the Hank McDaniel place several years ago, most of the houses have been put up the last two years.

There are 11 or 12 families living there now, and the houses range from modern two-bedroom homes to trailer houses and old buildings that have been moved in and then remodeled.

It was about two years ago that the Henry J. Shoffit family moved their trailer home to a recently purchased lot and became South Haven residents. A short time later Shoffit rented the trailer house and had a house moved to his lot.

"The place has grown fast since then," he said, as he sat on his front porch and frowned at the sea of weeds that stood nearly knee high across the pavement. "We had lived in a trailer court for two years and wanted to get out of it. Being cramped in a court with just six feet separating us from our neighbors on either side certainly wasn't the life for an old country boy like me."

LOTS OF ROOM
Shoffit said the families with children were particularly finding country life roomy and pleasant. He is renting his trailer house to a family with four small children. They had trouble finding a place to stay in town, so finally moved to Shoffit's trailer where the kids can romp and yell all they please.

The Elbow school bus comes along the paved road, and this last term picked up six or eight children, including Shoffit's 11-year-old daughter. This next year two or three more will come of school age.

Shoffit works the four o'clock-to-midnight shift at the Veteran's Hospital, and says the mornings out in the country are ideal for late sleeping.

Aside from the two or three trailer families, everyone else owns his home and intends to make the place a permanent residence.

BAD FEATURES, TOO
"Living out here has its advantages and disadvantages," Shoffit said. "Some of the bad features are the weeds that have covered every square foot except where we hoed. The flash floods also send a lot of water sweeping through the low parts. I finally put a roll of dirt between my lot and the road and have the water blocked off."

The household water situation is also a problem for some owners. The family must install their own water line to tap the main line that runs nearby, and sometimes must get permission from some other owner to bury a line across his property.

They also must dig septic tanks and burn their garbage. There is no gas line to the area, but Shoffit says butane is just as good and a little cheaper once an owner gets equipped for it.

The main advantages, according to Shoffit, is the room and quietness that South Haven residents enjoy. Getting to town is no problem because the highway leads into the Park Road, and the only red lights and stop signs are the ones found on Gregg Street. Shoffit says he can make it to the Veteran's Hospital in five minutes without hurrying.

All of the lots lying west of the paved road have been sold, according to Mrs. Hank O'Daniel, but there are a number still available on the east side. At present all the houses are located in the V-shaped area made by the paved road and the dirt road that runs just west of it.

OTHER AREAS
South Haven is not the only suburban addition in that area. Back north a few hundred yards two houses have been built on the Grady Dorsey farm. Mrs. Dorsey said they had sold four one-acre plots on the east side of the pasture, while west of their headquarters five-and-a-half-acre tracts had been sold to N. J. O'Brien and C. R. Steigen. This is along the road that leads to the Morris Patterson farm.

"There has been a demand for acreage out here," Mrs. Dorsey said, "and we eventually intend to sell all the pasture."

There is a possibility that stores will someday be built along the pavement. She said one man was holding a tract of land on which he intended to locate a shopping center in the next few years.

"People say this may sometime be taken into the city limits," she said. "When it does, I want to move a little farther out in the country. We lived in town for awhile, and I just don't want any more of it."

Many Big Springers also have established rural homes between the city and Sand Springs, and north of town on the Lamesa and Snyder Highways in recent months.

Lamesa Council Awards Contracts

LAMESA, June 8 — Five new pumps for the five water wells on the Wisley Walls tract north of the city and two new fire engines were purchased by the Lamesa City Council Thursday night. Both expenditures were authorized in a bond election last April.

Low bidding on the pumps was the Deep Well Pump Co. of Farwell; the five Lane - Bowler pumps will be delivered within two weeks at a cost of $3,183.05 to Lamesa. Eleven pump suppliers submitted bids.

Mack Truck Company was named to supply the fire department with two new trucks at bid of $39,880. Although the bid was not low, councilmen, on the recommendation of Fire Marshal Luther Standerfer, the fire chief, J. D. McAmis, the assistant fire marshal, M. L. Standerfer Jr. and Jack Sanders, selected the Mack Company's bid as the best buy for the city's fire fighting needs.

The Mack bid was halfway up the scale between low and high bids submitted.

Lamesa's J&H Electric was awarded the contract on the pump motors for the wells, and also the contract to handle the wiring. The motor bid was $3,433 and electrical wiring, $1,825. Delivery on the motor is set for a week to 10 days.

Reporting for the city's consulting engineers, Merriman, Roberts and Bowden, A. C. Bowden stated that 1,600 feet of eight-inch pipe has already been laid in the new field, and that ditching for the line into the city may be started within 10 days.

Uncle Ray: Compass Needle Has North-Seeking End

By RAMON COFFMAN
An interesting letter has come from Pete Koval, who is keenly interested in the study of physics. Here are passages from his letter, somewhat condensed:

"When you wrote about the magnetic poles, you said that the North Magnetic Pole is in the extreme north of Canada, and that the South Magnetic Pole is in the South Frigid Zone."

"One of my reference books says: 'The north pole of every compass points to the North Magnetic Pole, which is near the geographic North Pole... that magnetic pole must be of south polarity.'"

Properly speaking, a compass has neither a north pole nor a south pole. What a magnetic needle does have is a north-seeking end, or pole, and a south-seeking end.

Confusion can arise from the careless use of words. Too many people have fallen into the error of saying that a compass has a "north pole." One end of it seeks, or points toward the North Magnetic Pole, but that is something else.

In the South Temperate Zone the opposite end of the needle seeks the South Magnetic Pole.

Q. Just where is the South Magnetic Pole?

A. It is in the section of Antarctica known as South Victoria Land.

Q. Professors commonly speak of a bar magnet as having a north pole and a south pole. If they do that, why not call one end of a compass needle the "north pole"?

A. Language can be used, or misused, in many ways. The earth is the largest magnet within reach of the human race. No small magnet, or group of magnets, can take away the name of North Pole for one end of the earth, or South Pole for the other end. We might say, "The biggest magnet is the boss!"

Hogan, Snead Rated Tops In Nat'l Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
 TOLEDO, Ohio, June 8 (AP) — Ben Hogan, shooting for an unprecedented fifth title, and Sam Snead, still in search of his first, are co-favorites in the 57th National Open Golf Championship, opening Thursday at the Inverness Club.

It was at picturesque Inverness 37 years ago that Ted Ray, a brawny, mustachioed Scot who won the title, became at 48 the oldest man ever to capture this blue ribbon event.

Hogan is 44 and Snead 45, both eligible to raise the age limit of Open champions.

Hogan, the Texas hawk, has played himself into a whippersnapper and a razor-sharp competitive edge which makes him the most feared of 127 professionals and 35 amateurs who tee off in the 72-hole match play scramble.

"You just can't ignore the old man," said Dick Mayer, one of the younger pros. "He happens to be the best player in golf."

Winner in 1948, 1950, 1951 and 1953 and loser by a stroke the last two years, the Hawk has not attempted to hide the driving urge he has to win a fifth Open championship and thus surpass the immortal Bob Jones.

"Physically, I never have felt better," says Hogan. "If I can start dropping my putts I will have no complaints."

Snead, rated by fellow professionals as perhaps the greatest natural shotmaker of all-time, has won four times a runner-up, dating back to 1937, and has seen his hopes dashed by a series of bad breaks, including an eight on the final hole in 1939 at Philadelphia.

Since Ted Ray not only was the oldest man ever to win the Open but also the last foreigner to do it, the more superstitious observers feel lightning may strike again in the form of Australia's young Peter Thomson.

Thomson has won the British Open the last three years. The pros say he has the shots and poise to add the American championship — when he starts getting the breaks.

The jaunty Melbourne star discounts his chances with the comment: "I don't play your Opens very well. I don't like the way the course is doctored so that you have heavy grass in the fairway."

As for doctoring, a player given surprisingly scant attention is the defending Open champion, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, a retired dentist who found greater wealth in a different kind of tools. Middlecoff's game, which blows hot and cold, has been shivering since his victory at Rochester's Oak Hill Country Club a year ago.

Figured more formidable threats are Doug Ford, the bold and aggressive Masters champion from Mahopac, N.Y.; Jimmy Demaret, 47, the grandpa who has won three tournaments this year; and youngsters Arnold Palmer, Dow Finsterwald and Ken Venturi.

The chief amateur threat is the two-time national champion, Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, recently placed on a one-year probation by the U.S. Golf Assn. The last amateur to win the open was Johnny Goodman in 1933.

Single rounds are scheduled Thursday and Friday, starting at 8 a.m. EST. The field will be final 36 holes Saturday.

Snider Gulf, Al Triumph

Snider Gulf and Air Installations got off on the right foot in YMCA Industrial softball league play Friday night at the city park. Performing in perfect softball weather, the Snider team outplayed Webb AFB's Dusters a first-inning run and then surged in the last two innings to win a 6-1 verdict.

Donald Hale paced the six-hit attack off Jack Long, the Webb hurler, with a triple and two singles.

Bob Reed scored Webb's lone run in the initial inning. Snider tied it up in the fourth.

Jim Ward pitched the win for Snider Gulf, scattering five Webb hits effectively.

L'I LEAGUERS JET GUESTS

J. Y. Robb, owner of the R & R Theatre chain here, announced Saturday that all youngsters playing in the Little Leagues here would be admitted free of charge to the Jet Theatre Sunday and Monday, at which time the picture, "Fear Strikes Out," is being screened.

"Fear Strikes Out" concerns the life of Jimmy Piersall, famed outfielder of the Boston Red Sox. The film not only includes some excellent action shots but deals with a ambitious father who drives his son too hard in hopes of seeing him make good.

Pierce Picks Up 10th Win

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP) — The American League's top pitcher, lefty Billy Pierce, won his 10th decision and seventh in a row today with a fine three-hitter which gave the first-place Chicago White Sox a 2-0 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Sox collected only two hits off two Oriole pitchers.

Pierce, now 10-2, struck out six to raise his league-leading total to 70 and had to be a good pitcher to whip a former Pale Horse mate, lefty Bill Wright.

Wright had a no-hitter in hand until the sixth, although the Sox took a 1-0 lead without a hit in the second. Two walks, a sacrifice bunt and Bubba Phillips' sacrifice fly produced that run.

The first Sox hit was Nellie Fox's two-bagger to deep right center with one out in the sixth. The blow extended Fox's club-leading consecutive game hitting streak to 12. With two out, Sherm Lollar drilled a single to center, scoring Fox for a 2-0 Chicago lead.

East Texas Mentor Hired To Coach Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION, June 8 (AP) — Texas A&M, out of the NCAA house and still trying to rebuild its basketball fortunes, hired Bobby Rogers of East Texas State College Friday.

Rogers, in five years at East Texas, had one NAIA national champion 1954-55, and saw his teams win the Lone Star Conference championship three times. They won 140 and lost 31, averaging nearly 80 points a game.

Paul Bryant, director of athletics at A&M, said Rogers was given a three-year contract. Salary was not disclosed.

"I am real happy—real thrilled," Rogers said.

Rogers succeeds Ken Loeffler, who resigned last month as a climax to charges by the NCAA that he had engaged in violation of recruiting practices.

Rogers said he had not seen the Aggies play last year and did not know what material he had. Texas A&M has been weak in basketball for some years, and hired Loeffler, who coached LaSalle to the NCAA national championship, in the Southwest Conference in the 1956-57 season, however.

Rogers graduated from Oklahoma A&M in 1947.

Aces, DAV Record Small-Fry Wins

The Disabled American Veterans club rallied to defeat the Sportsmen, 21-19, and the league leaders Aces belted the Red Sox, 28-17, in National Minor Little League game played here Friday.

The Veterans came up with four runs in the bottom of the sixth to snatch victory from defeat in their game with the Sportsmen.

The Vets rallied with the help of base hits by R. Bailey and T. Times, an error, a hit batsman and a walk.

The first half schedule will be concluded this week.

3 Texans To Play In Cage Classic

HUTCHISON, Kans., June 8 (AP) — Three Texans will play in the All-America Prep Basketball Game here next weekend.

On the West squad, coached by Phog Allen, former coach of Kansas, will be Jerry Cobb of Dallas Sunset High School, a 6-foot-3 guard who was all-state in Texas Class AAAA.

On the east squad, coached by Gerald Tucker, United States Olympic coach, will be Don Stanley of Buns, who was all-state Class AA in Texas, and Warrnell Jones, the star of Booker T. Washington High School in Comroe.

Stanley is a 6-foot-3 guard. Jones, 6-foot-11, is a center.

Abilene Wins State Crown

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — Speedy Abilene took advantage of Wichita Falls miscues Friday night to defend its Class AAAA title, 9-2, in the interscholastic League schoolboy baseball tournament finals.

Bryan won its first AAA championship over Cuero, 6-2.

Waco and Snyder won third places in their classes.

Wichita Falls scored first as Larry Phillips walked and then came home on a single by Ronnie Lucas. Abilene came back in the third with George Nichols scoring on a wild pitch and Jimmy Carpenter on a sacrifice fly.

It was all Abilene for the rest of the two-hour, 30-minute game. Walks, balks and wild pitches were numerous.

John Rocha scored in the first for Bryan and the Bronchos never lost their lead. Joe Burt, Henry Batten and Bill Cartwright scored in the third to widen the Bryan margin.

It was the first Class AAAA championship sponsored by the interscholastic League.

Waco defeated Pasadena, 3-2, for third place in the Class AAAA playoffs.

Snyder won over Garland, 1-0, in Class AAA.

Al Campo and Oliver Bright scored in the first to give Pasadena a lead it held until the seventh inning.

Jimmy Reiss of Waco scored in the first inning and then made the winning run in the last after being walked and then scoring on Milford Bunn's single.

Local Horses In Front

Jolly Kay (No. 5), owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. (Bud) Tucker of Big Spring, is shown in the top photo racing to victory in a 5/4-furlong race at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., last Sunday. J. Longoria was in the saddle. Jolly Kay, an eight-year-old, beat out Countess Myers (4) and Reported (1) by a neck. In the lower picture, the ill-fated Air Drive — owned by Doyle Vaughn of Big Spring — is shown in the victory ring after winning a two-lengths triumph in a six-furlong event, which also took place on Sunday. Two hours after the race, the horse died of a muscle spasm. Vaughn was absent at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker pose with the horse. The jockey is Eddie King.

Brooklyn Dodgers Defeat Redlegs To Gain First Place

BROOKLYN, June 8 (AP) — Brooklyn took over the National League all by itself for the first time this season today, ousting Cincinnati with a 2-1 victory on the slugging of Rube Walker and the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Podres.

The Dodgers finished the day a half game ahead of the Redlegs who had been out in front since mid-May. The defeat dropped Cincinnati to third place behind the idle Phillies.

Wertz Leads Tribe To 6-4 Triumph

CLEVELAND, June 8 (AP) — Vic Wertz batted in four runs and Chico Carrasquel homered to pace the Cleveland Indians to a 6-4 victory over the Washington Senators here today.

The win went to starter Don Mossi, his third against no defeats. Mossi left the game in the sixth when the Senators rallied for four runs. Ray Narleski stopped the rally and finished up.

The loser was Camilo Pascual, against whom the Indians scored five runs in four innings.

Ed Arcaro Guides Horse To Win

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — Traffic Judge swept up on the outside under a whipping tattoo by Ed Arcaro today and won the $62,700 Metropolitan Handicap in a carry-over charge finish before 38,891 excited customers at Belmont Park.

New Champ Sure

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP) — National amateur champion Harvie Ward, found guilty of violating "rules of amateur status," was sidelined for a year by the U.S. Golf Assn. yesterday and will be unable to defend his title at Brookline, Mass., in September.

Cardinals Rip Giants, 5-4

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — Stan Musial and Al Dark hit home runs off Al Worthington for a 5-4 St. Louis Cardinal victory over the New York Giants today as Ray Katt and Hank Sauer homered for the losers.

Sauer's 11th homer of the season with a man on base in the eighth narrowed the gap to one run but the Giants were shut off at that stage by Hoyt Wilhelm, an old teammate.

Despite Musial's 11th homer with Dark on base in the fifth, the Cardinal first baseman lost the National League batting lead to Brooklyn's Gil Hodges. Musial had one hit in four official trips, dipping to .357 while Hodges went to .366 on three hits in four at bats against Cincinnati.

Teen-Age Leagues Poised To Open

The Teen-Age baseball association will open what gives promise of its greatest season Monday evening at its recently-revamped park on North 12th Street Monday evening.

Mayor George Dabney will toss out the first ball. Junior league games are on tap Monday, with the first to begin at 6 p. m. and the second at 8 o'clock.

Bill Frank, hard-working president of the association who headed up the committee, said the park would be in readiness for the games Monday, even though the bleachers will not be in place for another ten days or so. The seats are being assembled at Cosden Petroleum Corporation's main plant east of town.

He added fans could watch the games from the comfort of their cars.

The new park, which is situated on city property, is valued at more than $5,000 and is a credit to the town.

Frank stated more persons than he could name had contributed time, money and materials toward construction of the plant.

A few of them are Clyde McMahon, who furnished the concrete for the post settings; S. P. Jones, several bundles of wire netting; S. & M. Lumber Company, 3,300 feet of lumber; Higginbotham-Barlett, six rolls of wire; Burton-Lingo 2x4's; Lloyd Curlee, 1x12's and 1x4's; Jess Bailey, angle iron for the grandstand; W. D. Caldwell, maintainers and men to level the playing area; Texas Electric Service Company, who sold the lamps to the association at 30 per cent discount and then installed them free of charge; Big Spring Hardware, bolts and nuts; Cosden, steel fence posts and men to help with construction; and Cactus Paint, enough paint to cover the entire park, together with other concerns.

The Teen-Age Association now has a drive for $1,000 under way, which will be used toward the operation of the league. Of that amount, $400 has already been raised.

Frank has as assistants C. E. Suggs, who serves as vice president; and V. A. Whittington, secretary-treasurer.

Clyde McMahon is president of the Junior Teen-Age league. His aides are Foy Dunlap, vice president; and Mrs. Robert Andrews, secretary.

Teams in the Junior League and their managers include:

Burns, Wes Patmick; Rotary, R. E. Samples; KP, Patmick; Newell; Big Spring Herald, John S. Porter; Optimists, Lloyd E. Duncan; and Kiwanis, Luther C. McCall.

O. O. Craig functions as Senior league proxy. Aiding him are Doyle Bynum, vice president; and Andy Glenn, secretary-treasurer.

Teams entered into competition and their managers include:

Cardinals, Al Valdes, assisted by Ted Fields; ABC Club, Tito Arcebia, assisted by Sonny Dutchover; Elks, Ed Haydel; and American Legion, Johnny Tayoan, assisted by Joe Moreleon.

Ronnie Baker Is Selected On AAA All-State Team

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — Glenn Gregory and Jimmy Carpenter, the amazing athletes who led Abilene first to the football championship and then to the baseball crown, again were unanimous selections to the class AAAA all-tournament baseball team. Carpenter was picked for the third straight year at centerfield and Gregory was named for the second consecutive year as the catcher.

Shortstop Robert Carothers of Abilene also was selected unanimously for the second year and Kenny Schmidt was a solid choice as one of the two pitchers.

Before the tournament began, Gregory said, "I'd sign a professional baseball contract if I could get it. I'll go to college. It's narrowed down to four, all within the state. Either Baylor, Rice, SMU or Texas."

The Class AAAA All-Tournament Team in addition to the Eagles included: first base, Ronnie Lucas, Wichita Falls; second base, Jimmy Riess, Waco; third base, Oliver Bright, Pasadena; outfielders Fritz Land and David West, both of Wichita Falls; and pitcher Harold Morgan, Wichita Falls.

The Class AAA All-Tournament Team: first base, Dickie Hickerson, Bryan; second base, Lunn Skelton, Garland; third base, John Rocha, Bryan; shortstop, Joe Burt, Bryan; outfielders Lloyd Sheffield, Bryan, Henry Batten, Bryan, Tommy Mangum, Cuero; catcher, Bill Lee, Cuero; and pitchers, Ronnie Baker, Snyder and John Schmidt, Cuero.

Coahoma Racks Up First Win

SNYDER, June 8, (SC) — The Coahoma girls' softball team broke into the win column for the first time here Friday night by clobbering the Snyder fens, 29-4.

Gwen Rogers hurled a no-hit game for Coahoma and aided her own cause with a double and a single.

Ethel Trotter banged out a home run, double and single for Coahoma. The round-tripper came in the sixth with Rogers and Gail Neel on base.

Dumpy Linderman crashed out a triple, double and single for the winners. Betty Parrish had a double and a single, Winnie Dodson a two-baser and a single, Dorothy Holler a double and single, Helen Neel a triple and Pauline Dodson and Pat Harrison each a single.

Coahoma got off to a fast start, crossing the dish 15 times in the first.

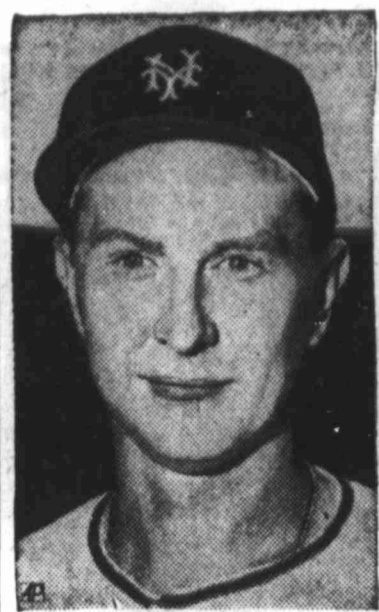

The Coahomans are tentatively scheduled to play Snyder in a return game in Coahoma Tuesday night. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Prior to the Snyder trip, the Coahomans had lost twice to Midland.

Fish Are Sought

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — The State Game and Fish Commission said today it was swamped with requests from land owners for fish to stock tanks and ponds that have been dry until recently.

Giant Star

The New York Giants have fallen upon hard times in the National League but few will argue that one of the circuit's finest players is Red Schoendienst (above), veteran second sacker, a star both on offense and defense for Manager Bill Rigney.

Bob Morrow, Don Bowden Will Compete At Austin

AUSTIN, Tex., June 8 (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet goes on here next weekend boasting six Olympic champions, the first American miler to crack the 4-minute barrier and four potential world record smashes.

Prospects are dim for a renewal of the sprint feud between Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian, the Olympic king, and Dave Sime of Duke but about every other track star worth mentioning will be in the field of some 300 athletes.

Sime, who beat Morrow once but lost to him in the NCAA and failed to make the Olympic team, hasn't entered the meet and reports indicate he won't because he has been playing baseball. He did take time out to run a 9.3 100-yard dash, the best time of the year.

Don Bowden of California, who electrified the nation last week when he ran the mile in 3:58.7, hasn't said for sure he will be in the mile here although he is entered in both that and the half-mile. But in the latter he has a time of 1:47.0 against the NCAA record of 1:49.5.

Villanova, powered by its two Olympic champions—miler Don Delaney and quarter-miler Charley Jenkins—is expected to win the team championship. It also has Don Bragg in the pole vault, where he has gone over 15 feet.

Bragg isn't likely to win the pole vault, however, because Bob Gutowski of Occidental, who recently bettered the world's record with a leap of 15 feet 8 1/4 inches, will be competing here.

World record prospects are Gutowski in the pole vault, Greg Bell of Indiana in the broad jump, Bowden in the mile and half mile and Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem in the high hurdles although the latter will face defending and Olympic champion Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College.

Besides Morrow, Jenkins, Delaney and Calhoun, other Olympic champions who will contest here are Bell in the broad jump and Al Oerter of Kansas in the discus. Morrow was a double winner, taking both sprints in the Olympics.

Harris In Top Test Tuesday

HOUSTON, June 8 (AP) — Flashy Willie Pastrano of New Orleans and Roy Harris, one of Texas' best fighters, clash here Tuesday night in a 10 round heavyweight bout that has local interest at an all-time high.

About 7,000 fans are expected to crowd into the Houston coliseum to provide the biggest gate in the city's history. The previous high was $23,200 paid for the Bob Baker-Harris fight last month.

Harris, the hero of local fans and ranked ninth nationally, hopes for a possible crack at Floyd Patterson's title by whipping Pastrano.

The New Orleans beller is listed third among the nation's heavyweights and is the most experienced opponent faced by Harris to date.

The fight will match the ring savvy and speed of Pastrano with the eagerness and power of Harris, Pastrano's professional record of 41-4-5 lists eight kayoes, while Harris has as many knockouts in 20 pro fights, all of which he has won.

Their physical statistics are almost identical. Now 22, Pastrano weighs 190 pounds and stands 6 feet tall. Harris is also 6 feet, weighs 190 and is 23.

Harris is a fifth grade school teacher in the hamlet of Cut and Shoot, Tex., near Conroe. The town got its name, the saying goes, because of the many cuttings that took place there in earlier days.

Sul Ross Sews Up Baseball Crown

ALPINE, June 9 (AP) — The Sul Ross State College Lobos of Alpine scored four runs in the eighth Friday to beat Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla., 8-7 and win the baseball championship of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate athletics.

Earlier, Southwest Oklahoma took third by beating Lincoln Memorial University of Harrogate, Tenn., 9-5. Western Illinois State of Macomb, Ill., was fifth by beating Buena Vista of Stormlake, Iowa, 14-6.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Locally-owned horses responded with tremendous races in their first starts at Ruidoso Downs in New Mexico last week. Bud Tucker's Jolly Kay, now eight years old, raced to a neck victory in a $1,600 claiming race at 5 1/2 furlongs last Sunday, with J. Longoria in the irons. Paying $11.20 to win, Jolly Kay earned $552.75 for her owner. Tucker had planned to retire the mare last year but she lost a colt, so Bud returned her to competition. Chances are she'll get to race again next weekend. She's now topped ten races in four years at Ruidoso. Four years ago, she picked up a third place in a $10,000 race at Denver. Another Big Spring horse, Air Drive—owned by Doyle Vaughn—went to the post in the next race after Jolly Kay won and proceeded to get her nose home first in a six-furlong event, returning $6.80, $3.70 and $3.00 to his backers. It was the last race Air Drive was to run, however. Two hours later, he died of a muscle spasm.

He was a half-brother to Jolly Kay, incidentally. Vaughn picked up a check for $518.85 for the triumph. Doyle has a two-year-old on his farm here he hopes to have in competition by 1958. On inauguration day at Ruidoso (Thursday, May 30), Stone Free—owned by Jess Wilbanks of Big Spring—finished second in an allowance race for three-year-olds. Hijo The Bull, owned by a Prescott, Ariz., man named K. M. Chafin, beat Stone Free, one of the sensations of Ruidoso's 1956 meeting. Stone Free won $266.84 for the second-place finish. Clear Day, a ten-year-old also owned by Tucker (although Dalton White of Big Spring was listed as the lessee) finished second for a $216.85 purse in a 6 1/2 furlong claiming race the same day. Sure I'm Sure, owned by Gene Fleming of Cashion, Ariz., won that particular event. Still another local horse, Rugged Girl, owned by W. E. Simmons, finished second in the last race of the day at Ruidoso last Saturday, a claiming event that down for a mile. A long-shot named Jet Magic, which paid $36.20, was first. Simmons' "take" amounted to $227.08. Ruidoso's pari-mutuel handle for the three days amounted to $480,062. Tabmoc, a two-year-old owned by Wilbanks, runs in a 5 1/2 furlong allowance race today at Ruidoso.

Wink Player Still Holds Record

Before Wink switched its old WT-NW baseball league franchise to Big Spring following the 1957 season, it had a youngster named Robert L. Bailey who fanned 176 times in one year. The feat is still recognized as a minor league record. Fabulous Dick Stuart, who has gone from Pittsburgh to Hollywood to Atlanta this year, came close to it last season, however, when he whiffed 171 times for Lincoln of the Western league. Bobby Malines, the former Big Spring High School and HCJC cage star, is now residing in Dallas, where he's working for GMAC. Harold Berry, another Big Spring High and HCJC star, is summering in Arizona, where he's working for the mining concern. Probably the most successful single ever struck in the old Longhorn League was by Midland's Eddie Melillo. He delivered a game-winning one-baser in the 1948 playoffs that returned him $365 in screen money from grateful fans. Since 1925, the University of Southern California football team has averaged about 51,000 paying customers at each home game, a record unrivaled in the game—pro, collegiate or high school. By comparison, the Cleveland Browns of the NFL, one of the pro game's big money-makers, have averaged 37,000 a game since they started in 1946. Tommy Merrill, one-time sparring partner of Jersey Joe Walcott, is helping Texan Roy Harris train for his fight with Willie Pastrano. Merrill is fast and slick, much like Pastrano. Charles Gillespie, the Lubbock scribe, reveals that Brick Johnson of Big Spring, a sophomore guard, won't be eligible for football at Texas Tech next fall due to scholastic problems. There's a move in Houston to build a $5 million stadium as bait for a major league baseball team. William Hoff of Webb AFB is a former golf letterman at the University of Texas. Hoff missed the Southwestern AF Conference tournament at Hondo this weekend due to the fact that he is expecting an addition to the family.

Pro Fight Coming Up In Midland

Bill Sawyer, who moved here recently, probably could be talked into promoting a professional fight card here very easily, if he had an arena. He's been making inquiries about the facilities at the Howard County Fair building, where George Dugan used to promote wrestling. An outdoor show, say in the high school baseball stadium, probably would go over here. Sawyer says he could bring in any number of "good" boys for such a program. Spec Gammon, the Odessa scribe, says the Midland Shriners are planning an outdoor fight card that would feature either featherweight Paul Jorgensen or heavyweight Roy Harris, perhaps the two biggest ring names in the state at the present time. If the Midland show goes over — it is tentatively set for July 11 in the Midland high school stadium — it may mark the beginning of a series of professional boxing matches in the Midland-Odessa area. When Abilene and Amarillo met in that Regional high school baseball doubleheader in San Angelo last week, they played to more paying customers than the San Angelo professionals did that night. Red Smith, the New York columnist, refers to the National league champions as the Brooklyn Dodgers of Jersey City. When Ty Cobb was 37, the same age Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals will be next winter, he became a 400 hitter for the third time. Jerry Brooks, the junior-to-be cager who will be ineligible for all sports the fall semester of school, now stands 6-feet-3 1/2. He was 6-1/2 at the beginning of the 1956-57 basketball season. Ed Furgol, the golfer with the shriveled arm, says he made $30,000 the year after he won the National Open tournament and had to work extra hard to realize that much profit. Jerry Nelson, a Texas A&M ex, allowed only one earned run in his first 60 innings pitching for Wichita of the Class AAA American Association.

Peeples Leads Loop's Hitting

Nat Peeples of Corpus Christi dominated the Big State League in batting last week. Peeples led in hits with 53, in runs with 49, in homers with 12, and runs batted in with 48. He had stolen 11 bases to tie for the lead in that department with Don Miles of Victoria and drew 35 walks to tie with Keith Carpenter of Corpus Christi. Tony Washington of Beaumont led the batting with .366, followed by teammate Chuck Buheller with .357. Jack Brathwaite of Abilene, early season leader, was third with .354. Peeples had .321 for 11th place. There were sixteen batters over .300. Washington led in doubles with 12 and Allen Peterson of Corpus Christi in triples with six. Five pitchers still had perfect records of one victory and no losses. Jack Bober of Abilene led the list with 8-0. Art Miro of Beaumont had 3-0, Dennis Schmitt of Abilene 2-0, Jerry McClure of Beaumont 1-0 and Bob Arendt of Corpus Christi 1-0. Stan Silcott of Corpus Christi had a 9-1 mark. Dicky Dean Higginbottom, with a 6-3 record, had struck out 83 to lead in that department.

Coe Is Due Back For Trans-Miss

DALLAS, June 8 (U) — A field of 250 is expected here June 17-21 for the Trans-Mississippi, one of the most important amateur golf tournaments of the year. So large is the entry that there will be two qualifying days—June 17-18. Match play begins June 19 with 64 in the championship flight. Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, the defending champion and four-time winner of the tournament, will be here.

SWAF Conference Champs

Proudly clutching the trophy which the Webb AFB track and field team won for capturing first place in the Southwest Air Force Conference track and field meet in Wichita Falls the past week are, left to right, Allen Thelin, Dan Dixon and Hank Nottingham. They were members of the squad, along with those in the back row of the above picture — Bruce Sweeney, Otis Stoddard, Steve Marciak, Dick Strickland and Mike Alexander, left to right. Two other members of the squad, Jim Sewell and Shadrack Washington, were absent when the photo was made. The win was the first in conference history for the local team.

Tom McHugh Wants To Move El Paso Ball Team Here

By TOMMY HART

Tom McHugh, owner of the El Paso club of the Class B Southwestern League, offered to move his team to Big Spring Friday. In a telephone conversation with The Daily Herald, McHugh revealed he was already $32,000 in the red and the team was averaging less than 400 paid admissions a night in its home games. Directors of the league met Sunday in Hobbs, N. M., to discuss future plans. There was strong signs some of the franchises may be returned to the league at that time. McHugh, a native of Colorado, offered to come here and operate the team, if the park were repaired. Steer Park, a stadium owned by the school system and the former home of the Big Spring Longhorn League entry, is not in top condition. The outfield fence was torn down during the high school season and the wood was carted off. At the present time, a cyclone fence encloses all the playing area except right field. All the bleachers at the park have long since been dismantled and hauled away, too. McHugh, who has been in baseball since 1925, said he was convinced El Paso would never make a go of it in the pro game unless it was affiliated with the leagues which had some teams in Mexico (e.g., the Arizona-Mexican league). He pointed out that El Paso has a population of between 150,000 and 200,000, of which upwards to 65 per cent are Latin Americans. He said he had only "about three or four" players of Mexican descent on his team and the club, to date, had not been popularly accepted in that city. McHugh operates the team independently, without an alignment with a team in higher classification. However, he has obtained help from both the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Redlegs, he stated.

For a while, El Paso was in second place in the Southwestern League but recently has dropped into the second division. As for the weather, he said it had been better there than in most SWL cities. He has had only one game postponed due to the elements but the weather has threatened on other occasions.

McHugh stated he was interested in Big Spring for several reasons, not the least of which was the fact that he felt there might be a realignment of the Southwestern and Big State leagues, possibly within the immediate future. (Both circuits are now Class B). He said El Paso, for geographical reasons, would not be considered in any new alignment.

McHugh took over the El Paso team this season. The franchise formerly was operated by Pat McLaughlin, who managed San Angelo, Carlsbad and Vernon in the old Longhorn League in other years.

McHugh said he is a one-time part owner of the Albuquerque, N. M., club.

Asked what he would expect from the Big Spring fans if he moved here, McHugh stated he felt he could make the move if box seats and fence signs were sold. He did not say who he expected to do the selling.

Big Spring last had professional baseball in 1955, at which time Bob (Pepper) Martin operated the franchise independently.

Plenty Of Sports Lore Available At Library

By NITA HEDLESTON

Sports-loving readers should be able to find books to interest them at the Howard County Public Library. Close to 100 books about sports, most of them on football, baseball and basketball and mostly fiction, are stocked by the local library.

Young readers have the largest selection to choose from with books centered around the trials and tribulations of make-believe sports heroes. Baseball leads the field in types of stories offered.

Two books about the diamond sport are "The Catcher and The Manager," by Frank O'Rourke, and "The Baseball Reader," edited by Ralph S. Graber.

"The Catcher and The Manager" has almost become a baseball classic with the telling of two baseball fables. "The Baseball Reader" is a collection of short-stories by many well-known American writers about fictional happenings on and near the baseball diamond.

Some other baseball fiction books are "The Big Inning," Robert Sidney Bowen; "The Kid From Tomkinsville," John R. Tunis and "Squeeze Play," by Colin Loch-lons.

Of interest to baseball fans of all ages is the book "Baseball's Hall of Fame," by Ken Smith. This book gives background on the Hall and tells about the men whose names are inscribed there.

Biographies and autobiographies about famous baseball players which may be found are "Born To Play Ball," by Willie Mays as told to Charles Einstein; "The Babe Ruth Story," by Babe Ruth as told to Bob Considine; "The Story of Ty Cobb," by Gene Schorr; "Bob Feller's Strikeout Story," by Bob Feller; "Yogi Berra," by Joe Trimble and "Baseball Personalities," by Jimmy Powers.

The latter was written by the sports columnist of the New York Daily News about 50 of the most colorful ball players. Gridiron fans should like "With Rockne at Notre Dame," by Eugene "Scrapiron" Young. Young was trainer for almost a quarter of a century for many of the great Notre Dame football teams as well as some of their track and basketball teams.

Other books about football on hand at the library are the true story of "Doak Walker," by Dorothy Kendall Bracken as told to her by Walker; and fiction, "Half-time Hero," Curtis Bishop; "A Fighting Chance," Jackson Scholz and "Gridiron Challenge," also by Scholz. Numerous other football fiction books may be found too.

Basketball enthusiasts may choose from a selection of fiction. Some of the titles and authors are "Basketball Star," by Don Wilcox; "Rebound," R. G. Emery; "Play Maker," Dick Friedlich and "Back-Court Rivals," by Joseph Olgin.

"Scrubs on Skates," by Scott

Young and "Boy Jockey" are pieces of juvenile literature about hockey and horse racing.

Two books written for those who just plain love sports—any sport—are "Best Sports Stories of 1955," edited by Irving T. Marsh and Edward Ehre and "The Tumult and The Shouting," by Grantland Rice.

"Best Sports Stories" gives a panorama of the 1955 sports year and is illustrated with the year's best sports photos. Grantland Rice's book is the story of his life as a syndicated sportswriter. Rice died exactly three weeks after finishing the last chapter of this book.

In addition to the books about sports, one magazine is kept on file at the library for interested sports-readers. This is "Sports Illustrated," a weekly publication of the sports world.

Robinson Twins Celebrate 78th Birthday Anniversary Saturday

Sunday is another birthday for the Robinson twins—their 78th. They have celebrated the day together continuously in Howard County for at least 55 years.

Saturday night, the two farmers, who occupy adjoining farms—the same they have operated for more than half a century—were honored with a birthday barbecue dinner at the home of one of Walter's daughters, Mrs. H. L. Shirley, 909 Lancaster.

The party was limited almost entirely to immediate kin of the two honorees but even at that a hundred men, women and children dined generously on an old-fashioned Texas barbecue dinner. The event, naturally, was out-of-doors in the expansive backyard of the Shirley residence.

It was just another of numerous parties of this kind for the two brothers. More than 10 years ago, their sons, daughters, grandsons and granddaughters first hit upon the idea of this joint family party each June 9. For a number of years the parties were at the city park but for the past two years, they have been at the Shirley residence.

Last year, the nose count at the party hit 72. The number has materially increased in the past 12 months.

The two brothers, despite their age, are still active in operation of their farms. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Robinson carry on the work at their place as they have for many years. Walter, widowed in 1950, lives on his own farm. The two brothers married sisters—the Misses Hull of Borden County. Charlie was the first to wed; several years later, Walter followed his example and selected as his wife, the sister of his own sister-in-law.

The Robinsons are native Texans. They came here with their parents before the turn of the century. The parents established a farm just a short distance from where the two brothers still live.

There are six surviving sons and daughters of the original seven in the Charlie Robinson family. All nine of the Walter Robinson children are still alive and a majority of these live in Howard County—with their own children and their grandchildren.

Only one of the original children of the two honorees was unable to be at the party Saturday night. She was Mrs. Mabel Grimes, who lives in Norwalk, Calif.

City Bond Issue OK'd

The city received word Saturday that the $75,000 in city hall improvement bonds have been approved by the attorney general, and the money should be received in the near future.

The mayor received the letter from Will Wilson, attorney general, that all legal work was in order and the bonds had been approved.

Municipal Securities of Dallas purchased the bonds for a net interest rate of 3.148 per cent on May 2. Ransom Gallaway, representative for the firm, told city officials this week that the money should be turned over to the city in a short time.

The bonds were approved by the election in August of 1955, but the city elected to hold the bonds and not sell them until the money was needed. It will be used to remodel the city hall and make improvements in the auditorium.

The two men are the sole survivors, with their older sister, Mrs. D. A. Rhoton of 607 Johnson, of the original family which came here in the early days.

Two Mishaps Occur In City On Friday

Friday, usually a day filled with traffic accidents, saw only two collisions here.

At Third and Gregg, Santos Lujan, 703 NW 8th, and Sam Davis, Midland, were drivers of cars colliding. Lujan was in a 1942 Chevrolet, while Davis was in a 1946 Dodge.

James Farris, 1623 E. 3rd, and Vera Morris, 1012 Stadium, were involved in an accident at Fourth and Runnels.

Outdoor Life Lures Local Girl Scouts

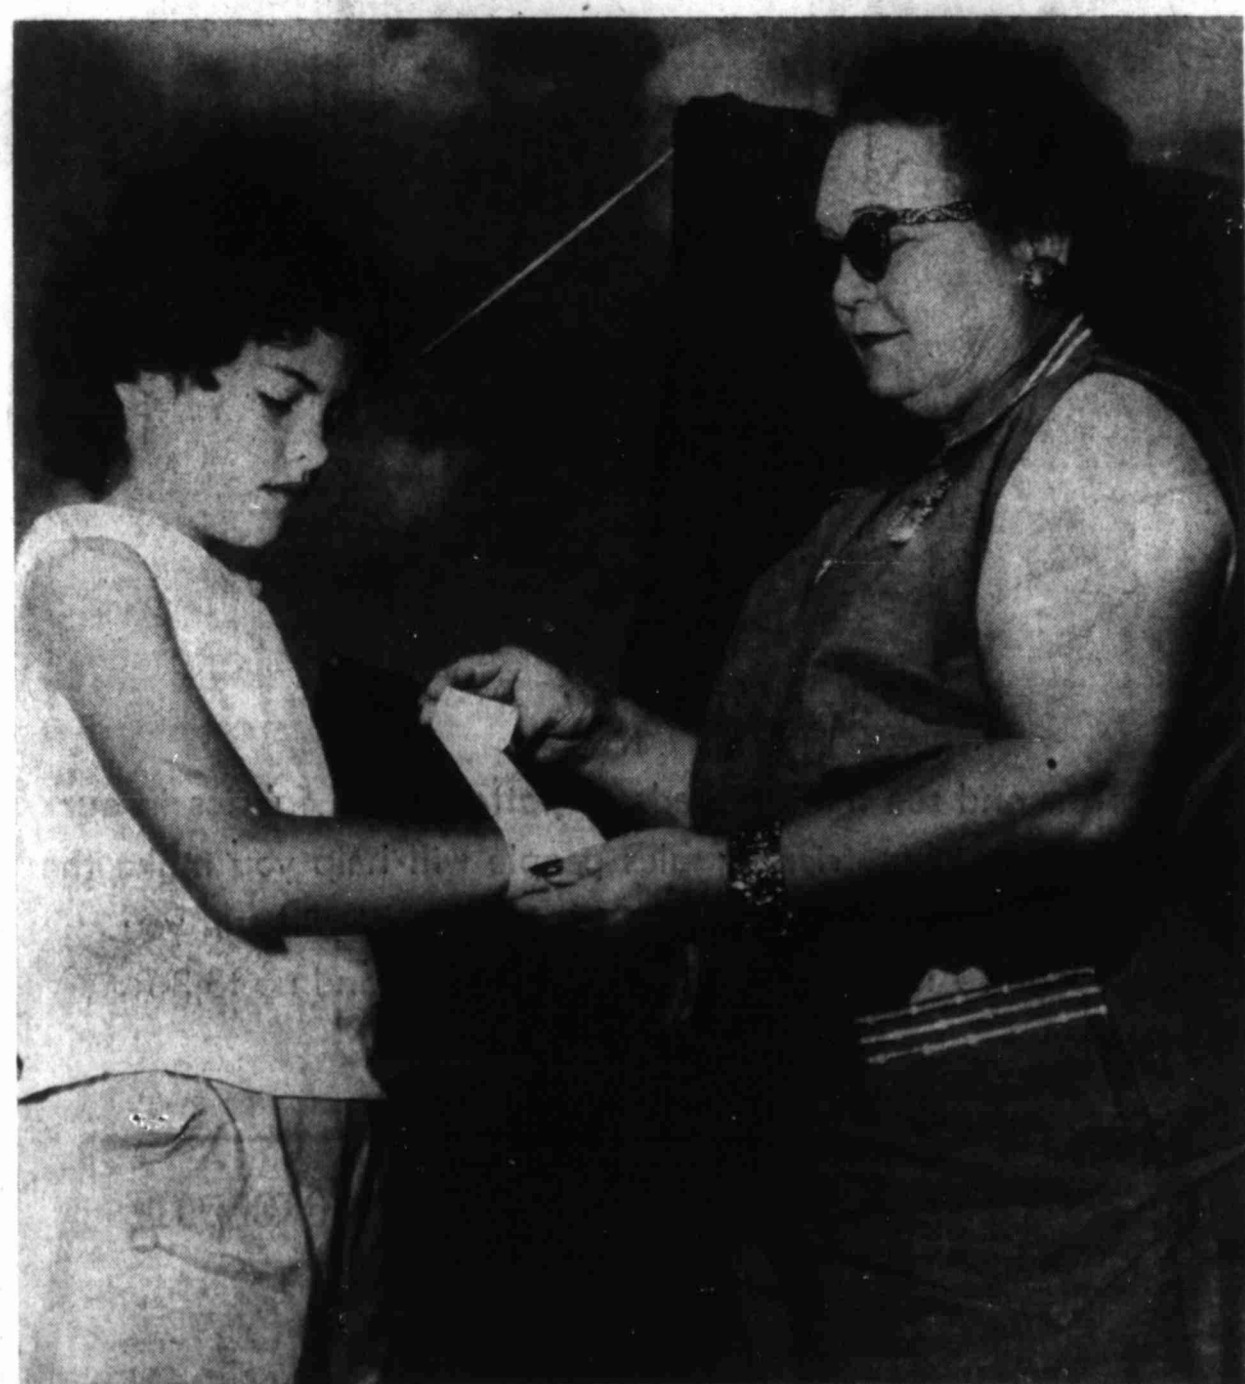

AN IMPROVISED KITCHEN STOVE is the pit, dug by the Girl Scouts as part of their day camp training, to be used for cooking the meals. Different types were made by the troops; some were rocked in around the top, as this one, which is being filled with wood by Gloria Smith, Sandra Walker, Mavis Newton and Lillie Marie Brown, left to right. Others were filled in solidly with bricks. In the background, Kathlyn Henry pauses in her task of clearing weeds from a space intended for "the dining room."

SO THAT "HE WHO RUNS MAY READ," trails were blazed (as above) by the Girl Scouts at their day camp which has just ended. The country around the open space used for the Boy Scout Jamborees was ideal for tying cloths on trees, piling rocks, or tying twigs to mark the way. Here, Zetta Long attaches a white rag in a conspicuous place on a cedar bush as Carolyn Hoover, at left, and Patsy Winterhalter watch the proceedings.

FIRST AID FOR THE INJURED was dispensed by Mrs. Carl Griffin during the day camp of the Girl Scouts held this past week at the Jamboree Grounds. On hand was a stock of supplies for any kind of minor hurt, and in the picture above Mrs. Griffin bandages a wound for Penny Frazier.

AMATEUR WOODCHOPPERS were taught the safe way to chop logs for a campfire as well as the caution needed to avoid being hit by the hatchet used. Mrs. Charley Kelly, one of the scout leaders, supervises the chopping done by Patsy Tonn, Karen Elrod, at left, and Janis Kelly await their turn with the work. Each troop in the day camp was responsible for its own campfire, over which cooking was done by the scouts, and all had a hand in gathering wood. The Girl Scout camp ended Saturday morning after a "sleepout" Friday night. (Photos by Keith McMullen)

Lamesa Candlelight Rites Unite Duronell Phillips-Charles Warren

LAMESA — In a candlelight setting at eight o'clock Saturday evening, Duronell Phillips became the bride of Charles Arlin Warren of Andrews. The Rev. Milo B. Arbuckle, pastor, read the double ring ceremony in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

A quintet of candelabra held the pink cathedral tapers before a background of emerald foliage and palms. A tall basket of white stock and pink peonies was flanked by smaller baskets of the same flowers. Tiny pink blossoms caught in white satin bows marked the pews along the aisle laid with a white cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Phillips are the parents of the bride; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Warren of the Sand community.

Dennis Phillips, brother of the bride, was the soloist; Susan Logan, organist, and Linda Peterson, pianist. In addition to the traditional wedding music, the soloist sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "Because."

WEDDING GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon tulle and hand clipped Chantilly lace over satin. Her bodice featured a long torso, which ended in a deep point at the waistline. The Sabrina neckline was enhanced with sequin studied embroidery; and long sleeves ended in points over the hands, and were fastened with lace-covered buttons. The immense cathedral train was enhanced by magnificent scalloped center panels, front and back, of sequin trimmed lace glorified by four filmy tiers of tulle.

The fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a halo of rosepoint lace and folds of tulle with a sparkle of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink elfe roses.

Jeannene Pieper was the maid of honor. She wore a pink ball length dress of sheer nylon styled with shirred bodice which formed the sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves and contour waistline from which stemmed the full skirt of nylon, net and taffeta. A pink pleated brim of starched lace outlined with tiny pink flowers and marked by a pink satin bow and back streamers, pink mitts and slippers of matching color completed her costume. She carried two roses, one white and the other pink Delight.

Mrs. Jack Lee Goodloe was the bridesmatron; bridesmaids were Linda Warren, Carol Lee, Gloria Echols and Linda Hamilton. They wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor and carried a single long stemmed pink Delight rose.

The flower girls, Chieki Addison and Ann Moore of Lubbock, wore dresses of white crystalline with Val lace outlining the ruffle of the tiny puff sleeves and bertha. White tulle mitts, pink satin headbands entwined with pink elfe roses and pink maline baskets completed their attire.

Bobby Warren was his brother's best man. Ushers were Kenneth Miers, Joe Boles, Jerry Don Pearce, Roy Ferguson and Norman Phillips, uncle of the bride.

A reception was held for the wedding guests in the church parlor where the bride and bridegroom, their parents, and the feminine attendants received the guests.

Members of the houseparty included Louan Parks, Charline Whitlow, Carlene Barron, Joan Osborn, Mitzi Green, Carolyn Nowlin, Pam Price and Nancy Ray who alternated at the register and serving table.

Also in the house party were Mrs. Roland Hamilton, Mrs. B. B. Lee, Mrs. Mable Ray, Mrs. Lex Woodul, Mrs. John Banta, Mrs. H. N. Pieper, Mrs. W. W. Warren and Mrs. C. B. Nowlin of Lubbock.

The bride's table was laid with a white net cloth over white taffeta, with wide ruffles of net secured at the corners by pink satin bows. An arrangement of pink and white snapdragons flanked by pink tapers centered the table; at the ends were the punch bowl and the traditional tiered wedding cake.

For traveling the bride chose a tailored suit of periwinkle blue cuponi cotton with bracelet sleeves and back interest in the tailored bow at the waistline. Her accessories were white and her corsage of roses was from the bride's bouquet.

Following their wedding trip to New Mexico, they will be at home in Andrews where he is employed by City Electric. Both are graduates of Lamesa High School.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party was held at 6:30 p. m. Friday at the Woman's Study Club building. Hostesses for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John Banta and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore of Lubbock.

The buffet table featured a styrofoam dream boat of pink and white fastened to a silver star suspended from the ceiling. A miniature bride and bridegroom were in the boat.

Pink and white roses formed the center arrangement for the bride's table and a single pink rosebud in a crystal vase formed the center arrangement for the quartet tables. Twenty-six attended the dinner.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Things have slowed down to a more or less subdued pace for the summer at HCJC. Part of the regular staff of instructors will remain to occupy a portion of the college's classrooms and instruct less populated classes.

Students who claim Big Spring as their home town but attend college elsewhere have discovered a rewarding summertime occupation. Instead of whiling away the summer months, many have enrolled in day and nighttime classes here at home. The days, they claim, go much faster. Name a more pleasant way to add hours to a degree.

Some locals who are doing just this are Paul Ausmus, who regularly attends St. Mary's University, San Antonio; Glenna Coffey, Peggy Hogan and Frances Reagan, Baylor; Tommie Williamson, Joe Dawes Clyde McMahon, Tommy Roberts and Nancy Pinson, University of Texas; Sharon McRee, Eastern New Mexico; Carolyn Miller, TCU; Dickie Milam, A&M, Betty Cain, North Texas; Becky Affleck, McMurry; and Kenda McGibbon, SMU.

One summertime and regular term instructor, Bruce Frazier, used his knowledge of home towns to win a two-day vacation in California. Mr. Frazier, a long time fan of Ben Hunter's Night Owl program on radio station KFI, Los Angeles, wrote three letters about his hometowns, Big Spring, Fort Davis, and Mesa Verde National Park, Colo. He won four prizes. Three were daily and one the grand prize.

Because Mr. Frazier's bout with summer teaching ends in the latter part of August, he and Mrs. Frazier hope to cash in on the grand prize then. They will be flown by Western Airlines to Los Angeles. There, an automobile will be placed at their disposal for the two day holiday at Apple Valley Inn.

A jovial air prevailed Thursday noon at the Wagon Wheel during a get-together by a group of local collegians. Many of the girls there saw each other for the first time since returning from college for the summer. Most of the girls are graduates of the local high school class of '56, and all will be college sophomores or juniors in the fall college term.

Among the girls remarking "just how much everyone has matured" were Sally Cowper, Frances Reagan, China Carroll Long, Sue Conley, Margaret Fryar, Kenda McGibbon, Marlene Mann, Carolyn Miller, Mary Sue Hale, Tommie Jo Williamson, Clara Freeman, and Bettie Anderson.

As the girls were leaving the restaurant, one occupant of a table was heard confusedly remarking to a companion that he wondered if these were the girls from this year's high school graduating class. Dampened spirits? Not many.

Two exes, Tommy Black and Freddie Stuart, went to North Texas this week to look over the campus, located in Denton. Both have plans of enrollment there this coming fall.

Shirley and Johnny Berry went to Lubbock on Monday this week to look over Tech's campus. Dillard Motley, a freshman at HCJC during the past year, was married yesterday in Junction. Going down for the wedding were Lovelle Fletcher, Lou Burchett, Laverne Cooper, Yvonne Peterson, and Julie Rainwater. While in Junction, the group visited another last-year Jayhawkers, Charles Dobbs. Marilou Staggs returned this week from Dallas, where she has been inquiring about gaining entrance to an airline hostess school. Sophomore cheerleaders for next year, Julie Rainwater and Lovelle Fletcher, have already begun work on posters and signs for next year. For the first time in the history of the college, cheerleaders were elected by the student body in advance of the year they are to serve. With basketball games just around the corner in September, the girls will be all set for a full season.

First Baptist Church Is Scene Of Carpenter - Thompson Rites

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church by Virginia Carpenter and Robert Allen Thompson. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Carpenter, 207 E. 6th, Big Spring, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Thompson, 501 Aylford, Big Spring.

Altar decorations featured an arch flanked with baskets of majestic daisies and white gladioli against a background of palms and candelabra.

Wayne Nance sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee." "Because" and "Wedding Prayer." He was accompanied by Sharon McRee at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress which was designed and made by her mother. It was of Swiss embroidered organza over satin and featured a square scalloped neckline and a full two-tiered skirt with bustle. Her half hat was of nylon straw.

Carrying out the bridal traditions, for something old, the bride carried a hankie belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Carpenter of Big Spring. Mrs. Carpenter had carried the hankie herself on her wedding day 64 years ago. Something new was her dress; something borrowed was a pearl necklace from her sister, Mrs. Ray Fortson, and something blue was her garter.

The bride's flowers were gardenias and feathery white carnations on a prayer book, which was showered with French feather-edge satin.

Mrs. Larry Shortes of Big Spring was matron of honor. Her blue organza dress was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and a full skirt. She wore a headband of yellow daisies with a short blue veil. Her bouquet was also of yellow daisies.

Betty Ford of Big Spring was bridesmaid and her dress was of yellow organza with a full skirt. She wore a headband of yellow daisies with a short blue veil. Her bouquet was also of yellow daisies.

John Thompson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Roy D. Thompson, brother of the bridegroom from Tyler; Ray Fortson, brother-in-law of the bride and Larry Shortes both of Big Spring.

Mrs. Fortson, the bride's sister, and Barbara Roan, Amarillo, were altar taper lighters. Their dresses were fashioned of pink organza in the same style as the other attendants' attire.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of blue lace. She wore white accessories and a white corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy crepe with navy accessories and a white corsage.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the basement of the church.

The bride's bouquet served as the centerpiece for the refreshment table and a three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a bride and groom and decorated with white frosted roses.

Benita Sligar, Goldsmith; Frances Reagan, Mrs. Doyle Maxwell, and Shirley Thomas, all of Big Spring, served at the refreshment table. Mary Walker, Pecos, and Janet Carpenter, cousin of the bride, alternated at the guest register.

Give Dad A Sweater On His Day

Whatever Dad's hobby or his taste in clothes, there's bound to be a sweater available that will make him beam with pride when he opens his gift June 16.

A handsome sleeveless knit vest or a pullover sweater will please a golfer, who'll slip into it on that journey to the clubhouse after the 18th hole.

A cable-knit sweater to wear between sets should be a present for the tennis fan, and a fisherman would love a coarse-knit protection from the early morning or late evening chilliness when he goes to check his catch or sits quietly in the boat.

Even though black is an always popular color in men's wear, let Dad really "live it up" and get him a fireman's red pullover, embroidered in black dots. Perhaps he'd like a paisley jacquard knit in bright tones.

Whatever the kind, you may be sure it's something he'll wear and enjoy the year round.

Prepares China Display

Mrs. Maude Waters holds a dinner plate sample that was selected by former President Harry S. Truman as the official china during his term of office. On the top row, second from left is the dinner plate from the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The second plate from the right, on the center row, is the china used during Wilson's administration. Wilson was the first president to select an American company, Lenox, to design White House china. Other samples on display at Alexander's include other presidents' selections, royal displays and china selected by state and national and international officials. The display is open to the public and will be at Alexander's for about a week.

President Wilson Had His Own Ideas About White House China

By ANNE LE FEVER

Reports have it that President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson had all Washington hostesses in a twit in 1917. The reason? It was because the Wilsons had ordered a service of china from an American company, Lenox.

It was hard for the women to believe that fine china could be made in this country, it is said. However, the durability was proved by the fact that in eight years, only four pieces were broken.

As to the beauty of the service, you can judge that by the china being shown this week at Alexander's Fine Jewelry, and presented as a "Command Performance" display.

Contained in the group is a service plate, in the design ordered by President Wilson, for use in the White House. In the center of the plate is the President's Seal in raised 24 carat gold. Surrounding the seal is a rim of cobalt blue with an outer border of etched gold. Forty-eight stars show on an inner rim of etched gold.

The Wilson china service was used from 1917 through the administrations of Presidents Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt became president, he requested a change in the china pattern; included in the display is a replica of the dinner plate in that service.

In contrast to the china of his predecessors, the Roosevelt china bears the star-studded narrow band of cobalt at the rim. A rose and plume design of gold, circling the plate, was taken from the Roosevelt family coat-of-arms.

Also in the collection is an example of the china ordered by President Harry S. Truman in 1952. This service plate has the President's Seal in etched gold surrounded by 48 stars. The design centers the plate, which is bordered in teal green. A narrow band of gold is etched onto the plate.

More ornate than any of the presidents' china is the pattern created in 1947 for King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, at a cost of over $30,000. A design in rich maroon and 25 carat embossed gold is set off with a monogram centering each plate.

There is in the grouping a plate of the china which was used by England's King George VI and Queen Elizabeth during their visit to the World's Fair in 1939-40. On an ivory background are 48 stars rimming the plate, which is centered with the President's Seal.

The collection includes about 45 examples of china which was created for service in various legations, embassies, governors' mansions and palaces of foreign countries.

Another feature of the display is a selection of museum pieces like those created by the china company for the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and for the Ceramic Museum in Sevres, France.

The public is invited to view the collection.

Farewell Coffee Is Compliment Friday For Mrs. A. Doty

Four hostesses entertained Friday morning with a farewell coffee for Mrs. Aultman Doty, who with her husband will leave soon for Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. James R. Granger, Mrs. Henry Arbeny, Mrs. Delmar Tally and Mrs. Lawrence K. Passey included about 25 in the guest list for the party which was given at the Officers' Club.

A large platter in the honoree's china pattern was presented to her as a hostess gift.

Refreshments were served from a table holding an arrangement of pink roses and bells of Ireland in a silver container. A pink and white theme was followed in other decorations and food.

Golf Group To Arrange Youth Room

Plans for a youth room were discussed at the Ladies Golf Association of Big Spring Country Club at the Friday luncheon held at the club.

Tentative plans include the decorating and furnishing of the room behind the pro shop for the use of club members' children.

The women voted to assist the club members with a fund-raising project, from which the association will derive a percentage of the money.

Announcement was made of the one-day invitational tournament to be held Tuesday. Play will begin at 9:30 a.m., with a coffee preceding it at 9 o'clock. Entry fee is set at three dollars.

EFFECTIVE FIT

Bias Cut Of Bodice Is Reason For Good Contour

The bias cut is one of the most effective ever devised in a designing room, and as interpreted here by Harvey Berin, one can easily see the reason why. Hot news in the fashion world today, it is a treatment that assures perfect fit and lovely contours.

The front and back pieces of the bodice, on a true bias, fall straight across the top and finish in self-draw peek-a-boo openings, but you can use ribbon or contrasting bits of fabric for the run-through and bows.

The skirt has four gores, gathered into flattering, soft fullness. For this exclusive designer sized pattern with accurate perforations for easy matching and time-saving, choose cotton chiffon, plain or printed soft cottons, shantung, crepe, novelty rayon or silk chiffon.

From this chart select the one size for you:

Size 10 bust 34, waist 24, hips 35 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/2 inches; size 12 bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches.

Fennekohl-M. Crawford Rites Read In Houston

LAMESA —Roselyn Skiff Fennekohl became the bride of Marshall Heard Crawford Saturday evening at 8:30 in St. Luke's Methodist Church in Houston. The Rev. Durwood Fleming read the formal ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Charles Fennekohl, Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall H. Crawford of Lamesa.

The altar was banked with arrangements of pink blossoms on each side near the chancel rail. Cathedral and tree type candelabra formed the background which included garlands of southern smilax and pink tapers.

Robert Bennett, organist, played the traditional selections and the wedding marches; he also accompanied William Cunningham, soloist, who sang "O, Lord Most Holy," "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was enhanced by a bertha of Rose point that framed the bateau portrait decolletage. Her sleeves were long and fastened by a row of small buttons. Small satin buttons extended down the back of the gown.

From a scalloped cloche of Rose point lace Brussels heirloom Rose point veil, that had been worn by the bride's mother, cascaded over the tiers of French illusion edged with delicate motifs of Brussels lace. She carried an heirloom fan, clustered with white elfe roses and a cascade of lily of the valley.

Mrs. Ronald H. Waldis of Austin was the matron of honor, and Ann Barnes, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Isla Cowan, Mrs. F. L. Cooley Jr., Augusta, Ga.; Mrs. William Cline Jr., Wharton; Mrs. David R. Fennekohl, sister-in-law of the bride, Austin; Sue Thompson, Buffalo, N. Y.; Gail Willingham, St. Petersburg, Fla. and Judy Orndorff, Chicago, Ill., cousin of the bride.

The honor attendants and the bridesmaids dresses were fashioned of rose silk gauze. Styled with Sabrina necklines, the bodices had high draped facias, and from them the slender skirts were swept into back pleated fullness that ended in a slight sweep. Plateau brims, bound with pink velvet and marked by a bow and long streamers in the back were worn. Each carried a crescent cascade of pink Aristocrat roses.

Bettina Wright, the flower girl, wore a pink silk organza over taffeta with a deep bertha edged with Val lace. The full gathered skirt, floor length, was sashed with a butterfly bow and streamers down the back. Her bonnet was of silk organza edged with Val lace and tied with velvet. She carried a nosegay of pink Carol Ambling roses and carnations.

James Ray Taylor of Lamesa was the best man. Groomsmen were Donald E. Lance, R. Edwin Adams, Joe Fertita of Galveston; Gordon Young, Landedale, Pa.; David Fennekohl, brother of the bride, Austin; Felix Crawford, brother of the bridegroom, Lamesa; James Neely, Nashville, Tenn., and John Winslow. Franklin Fennekohl, brother of the bride, was an usher and Bob and Jack Davis lit the candles.

A reception was held at River Oaks Country Club where decorations followed the pink color scheme of the wedding.

The bride's table was covered with a pink taffeta cloth and at either side of the double sweetheart cake were silver candelabra clustered with blossoms and smilax.

The couple will make a home in Austin following their wedding trip to Chicago. For traveling the bride wore a silk linen suit in cornflower blue. Her roller brim was of white straw and her shoes of matching blue, with her other accessories being white.

For An Evening Of Relaxation

Dr. and Mrs. Earl Burnett and son Dusty have found that this fish pond on the grounds of their new home at the Agriculture Experiment Station is just the right place to spend a carefree summer afternoon. Dr. Burnett is the new superintendent at the station and the family comes from Spur.

E. Burnett Family Newcomers From Spur

With the announcement of a new $66,000 laboratory and office building for the Agriculture Experiment Station, Dr. Earl Burnett, new superintendent and soil physicist at the station, will be busy at work.

Dr. and Mrs. Burnett and their son, Dusty, 11, are newcomers to Big Spring from Spur. The Burnetts were in Spur for six years. Dr. Burnett is from Brownfield and Mrs. Burnett from Kerrville. Golfing is a hobby they have both just recently taken up and Dr. Burnett claims he's just a "duffer." They have both been very active in civic affairs by participating in various organizations.

During the school year, Mrs. Burnett is an active member of the P.T.A. She was also a member of the 1931 Study Club in Spur, and the family belongs to the First Baptist Church.

Both are active in Eastern Star activities and he is a Mason. Dusty's current interest is base-

Oriental Dinner Given For Betrothed Couple

The second in a series of pre-nuptial honors for Libby Jones and her fiancé, Lt. George H. Jacobus, was given at Cosden Country Club Friday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Milton Talbot Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Krausse entertained at dinner for the couple, whose wedding date has been set for June 29.

Miss Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones, 1204 Douglas; the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell Jacobus of Caldwell, N.J.

Following an oriental theme, the hostesses served sukiyaki to guests from a table centered with a golden epergne of fruit. Quartet tables, covered in green or yellow cloths, held small brandy snifters in each of which floated a chrysanthemum.

Japanese lanterns hung in the trees overlooking the lake, and Chinese fortune cookies for dessert completed the oriental atmosphere.

The hosts' gift to the engaged couple was a teapot of copper.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Al Everest, all of Odessa.

Mrs. Davis will be matron of honor in the approaching wedding.

"The Egg and I" is now showing in the reproduction room, service department, under the direction of Jack Turner. It seems that one of Jack's hens has produced a marble - white egg of unbelievable size. For those who wish to see the wonder of "Hendom" contact Turner.

Along the more serious side of company business is the trip to Kerrville which was taken by A. Glenn, Joe Moss and Carol Smith.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

Now that summer is really here and summer activities are in full swing, Big Spring teen-agers are turning their talents to summer jobs, summer school, recreation, and just taking it easy. Many are also taking vacations to near and far cities and seeing old and making new friends, as well as visiting relatives.

One of the activities taking place now is the YMCA-sponsored swimming lessons. Taught every weekday morning, these lessons are open to children. Some of the girls teaching the sport are Judith Shields, Sharon Seals, Pat Johnson, Lou Ann Lawson, Carlene Coleman, Lynn Porter, Lynn McMahon, Brenda Barr, Judy Cauble, Jo Ann Durham, Beth Scarbrough, Sammie Sue McComb, Cleo Thomas, Judy McCrary, and Linda Leonard.

After the regular lessons, many of these instructors help teach the Y Fun Club each morning. Others helping with this activity are Gary Tidwell and Edith Freeman.

Many BSHS students helped with Vacation Bible Schools in the various churches of Big Spring, or will help in the following weeks. If you are interested in helping, contact your church office.

Billy Rosser is a long way from home. He and his family are visiting relatives in Wisconsin. They left last week for a three-week visit.

The damp weather didn't stop the picnic plans of the Young Peoples' Training Union of the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening. The group met in the City Park to roast weiners and marshmallows and to take part in the devotional period. Some of the kids there were Laura Rhoton, Janet Hogan, Kathy McRee, Sharon McRee, Ben Faulkner, Malinda Crocker, Brick Johnson, and Carol Rogers.

Wesley Grigsby, Stephen Baird, and Pete Gregory attended Boy's State in Austin this week. Sponsored by the American Legion, the Rotary club, and the American Business Club, the boys were chosen from the Class of 1958.

The purpose of the annual activity at the University of Texas is to teach young citizens the rights and responsibilities that await them as leaders of tomorrow.

Many past, present and future Aggies attended the annual A&M Barbecue Thursday, which was held at the amphitheater. Sponsored by the A&M Club, the project raises funds for the scholarships given each year. Some of the Aggie fans were Betty Jo Fincher, Donnie Bryant, Karen Montgomery, Roy Hughes, Mary Lane Edwards, Letty Reynolds, Sherry Lurting, Jerry McMahon, Nancy King, Joe Liberty, Clyde McMahon, Ricky Terry, J. D. Adams, and Kirby Brown.

A swimming party was held at the home of Kathleen Thomas Tuesday in honor of Karen Montgomery's birthday. Some of those enjoying the cool water were Judy Reagan, Sharon Creighton, Jo Ann Ebling, Judy Cauble, Peggy Isaacks, June Ann Johnston, Glenda Greenwood, Kathleen, and Karen.

Rock and roll music was really the thing in Big Spring Friday night. A rock and roll show featuring Roy Orison, the Roses, The Teen Kings, the Dynamos, and the Sportsmen, was presented at the Municipal Auditorium. We were particularly proud of the Sportsmen, as they are a group of Big Spring boys, Johnny Janak, Ronnie King, Frosty Forrester, and Walter Dickenson.

Following the show was a dance sponsored by the Feta Tri Hi Y Club at the Y. A part of the weekly YMCA Summer program, this Teen-age Fun Night will be a weekly affair. Some of those enjoying the full-length movie, "The Spirit of West Point," were Judy Cauble, Ronnie King; Edith Freeman, George Peacock; Jo Ann Ebling, Bobby Fuller; Susan Landers, Bruce Moore; Toni Thomas, Glen Whittington; Sue Boykin, and Jerry Graves.

Next week the Iota Tri Hi Club will sponsor the Teen-age Fun Night at the Y and the chairman for the event is Barbara Coffee. Let's all be at the Y to have a lot of fun.

Dianna Ball is president of a newly-organized Girl Scout troop, which was formed Friday afternoon. The girls met in the home of Mrs. Bill Battle, who will serve as leader for the troop.

Vice president will be Marcia Ball, secretary, Sharon Smith, and treasurer, Beth Whitney. Directing the recreation of the group will be Sandra Clanton; Ann Cummings will be song leader, and Edith Roll will be social chairman.

Plans for meetings were discussed; these include recreation and work on badges.

Ruth Class Meets

Mrs. J. B. Hollis was hostess to the Ruth Sunday School Class of Park Methodist Church Thursday evening. Mrs. Minnie Camen gave the devotion on "Contents Of Life." Mrs. G. C. Graves was elected president, and Mrs. J. L. Webb, treasurer, by the 13 attending the meeting.

Records Of 'Midget' Railroad Added To Collection At Tech

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech has been chosen to preserve details of one of history's most fascinating railroads — a 30-mile line linking two rail giants whose tracks stretch from coast to coast.

The midget corporation is the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad and the minute books of the operation are being microfilmed for preservation in Tech's Southwest Collection.

Tech Associate Archivist Roy Sylvan Dunn said the acquisition is another instance of growing cooperation between a business and a college research center to preserve invaluable records.

Traffic from the west on the Santa Fe Railroad runs as far as Snyder. The tiny line then transports freight 30 miles to Roscoe to make connection with the Texas and Pacific Railroad for any journey farther east. The reverse is true of west bound traffic.

SPANNING THE GAP
According to Roscoe - Snyder officials, 85 per cent of all traffic on the line is of this "bridge" type. The other 15 per cent is local. Officials also claim a substantial saving in time is effected on east-west and west-east traffic by using the short line's services. A car of freight is handled in the average time of one hour and 52 minutes.

The obvious question which enters the minds of most persons is, "But wouldn't it be more to the advantage of the two big rail companies to by-pass the little Roscoe - Snyder line and build a junction point?"

"No," according to Santa Fe and Texas - Pacific officials, "We stand to lose more than we could gain."

It seems the stature and prestige of the Roscoe - Snyder railway has grown so since its inception in 1906, that the big companies can't afford to be without the service. No longer do natives derisively refer to the road as "Rattle Snake and Prairie Dog!"

MOST EMPLOYEES SALESMEN

The Roscoe-Snyder line employs between 18 and 20 solicitors in such key cities as Chicago; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Memphis, Tenn.; Oakland, Calif.; Los Angeles; Birmingham, Ala.; Washington, D. C.; Dallas and Houston. These solicitors, whose job it is to sell the services of the little 30-mile line, are pillars in their communities and form a public relations network so engrained that by-passing the little line would do more harm than good.

Reportedly, Santa Fe and Texas-Pacific officials find efficient services offered by the little line to their liking, also.

Many West Coast shippers insist that when shipping onions, grapes and certain other perishable items to Cuba through New Orleans, the Roscoe-Snyder line is safer and faster, and as much as eight hours in time alone can be saved in moving freight from west to east, they claim.

For in-and-out traffic on the Roscoe-Snyder line, Dallas and Houston have become the top ranking cities in Texas, and Los Angeles the number one point in the United States.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Citizens in the two Texas towns take as much pride in the line's operation as if it were a complete trans-continental railroad. The road was founded and chartered in 1906. The first train ran between the two cities in 1908. Company offices have always been operated by Roscoe citizens. This "homegrown" talent has proved very satisfactory.

The company also has its shops in Roscoe, and boasts some of the finest equipment in use today. Chief stockholders are the Wootens. Don Wooten, president and general manager, lives in Abilene. Several of the original workers are still with the line.

In recent efforts to get records of West Texas businesses, Tech has acquired the entire ranching-business records of the old Matador Land and Cattle Co. This newest acquisition furthers still this record-gathering process.

Teacher Pay Hike Is $120,000 Here

When Gov. Price Daniel affixed his signature to the teacher pay bill Thursday, he rung the cash register for some 300 Howard Counties.

In round figures, this will mean about $120,000 additional compensation for that number of classroom teachers active in the county's eight school districts.

Bulk of the increase will go to the Big Spring teachers for the simple reason that most of the county's teaching force is in the Big Spring system. Supt. Floyd W. Parsons estimated that Big Spring would require some 220 classroom teachers come September, which would mean some $88,000 more in payroll, based on the $399 pay increase passed by the legislature.

However, local districts will share to some small degree in the increase, because the legislature boosted the local fund assignment under the Gilmer-Alken law from $55 million to $63,000 next year. The Big Spring district's share of this margin might be $3,000 or more, Parsons estimated. On that basis, the total share of all other districts in the county would be less than $5,000.

But Big Spring will be obliged to lay another $10,000 on the line because of the pay hike. This is because there are about 25 more teachers required than the number on which the district received state aid. Naturally, they will draw the same scale as the others, and the district will have to absorb the annual state increase in salary. Assuming that all districts maintain scales which will embody the state increase, the additional compensation for teachers in other districts will be approximately $12,000 in Cochran (which now embraces the former Midway school) for 34 teachers; $5,200 at Knot for 13 teachers; $6,800 at Forsan for 17 teachers; $6,400 for common school districts for five teachers each at Gay Hill and Elbow, three each at Center Point and Vealmoor.

Principals and some supervisors will share in pay raises granted by the legislature. On a statewide basis, these raises will cost the state around $40 million.

Almost Drowns As Rescue Fails

AMITYVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — A mother who couldn't swim almost drowned last night in a futile effort to rescue her 3-year-old daughter who had fallen into an 18-foot deep canal.

A neighbor, Arthur Lutz, dove into the canal and managed to get both the mother, Mrs. Walter Marrow, and daughter to shore.

Firemen revived Mrs. Marrow with oxygen but the little girl was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Developing Advertising Aids

Jack Lawler (standing) of The Herald explains to fellow workshopers a retail store's sales and advertising analysis which he has just completed. The newspapermen around the table assume the retailer's place and give constructive criticism. Seated at the table are Jim Sullivan (left) of the Dallas Morning News and Norman Phillips (center) of the Dallas Times-Herald.

Herald Staffer At Workshop On Advertising Techniques

Jack Lawler of the Herald's advertising staff has just returned from an intensive three-day newspaper advertising workshop held in Dallas, under the auspices of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Along with newspaper salesmen from 16 other cities in Texas, Colorado, Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Illinois, he learned about and tested the latest techniques and selling tools developed for successful retail advertising. Benefits of these sales training sessions will be discussed with other members of the Herald's advertising staff and ultimately brought to the attention of Big Spring merchants.

The primary purpose of the workshop is to acquaint advertising salesmen with the current problems and needs of the retail advertiser, and how to work with these retailers to make newspapers, which receive the major portion of their advertising dollar, an even more effective selling tool.

A large portion of the training was devoted to learning how to help a merchant analyze his advertising and determine ways to make it more productive and to build a sound advertising plan that takes full advantage of every selling opportunity, month by month, department by department.

Some advertising procedures based on planning and good timing were explored thoroughly at each of the "shirt-sleeve" sessions by use of demonstrations, group discussions and the study of actual case histories.

A feature of the demonstrations was the Bureau's 6th Annual Time Table of Retail Opportunities, presently being shown to retailers across the nation by over 1,000 daily newspapers, members of the Bureau of Advertising. The Time Table shows retailers how to "Switch On Full Power Advertising For Bigger Sales Gains" by more effective planning of their newspaper advertising.

The 4-H Club boys of Dawson County are making a change in their calf feeding projects, says Don Fields, assistant county agent. This year there will be only seven milk-fed steers but about 25 of the commercial type.

"Feeding drylot stuff is a lot cheaper," Fields said, "and it's also more practical. Most of the boys find that it fits in with the type of farming operation their parents are already carrying on."

Fields says there has been a growing interest in pigs. This is because there are several registered swine breeders in Dawson County and also because a pig makes an easy, interesting project for the smaller boys.

There is a slight increase in feeding out lambs, Fields said. Capons have never rated high in Dawson County, though a few are shown each year.

Most ranchers have quit feeding, but there are a few who never stop regardless of how much grass they have. Several in the Sterling City area will continue to creep feed, according to Ray Winans, Big Spring feed dealer.

"There are also two or three in Howard County who feed the year around," Winans said. "They find that mixing grass and grain will increase the size of the animals and produce a better calf or lamb crop."

Winans said one new feed that is selling readily is crimped maize. It is steamed and then run through rollers to come out in the shape of oatmeal. It's softer than the whole grains and much easier to feed.

Not even the oldtimers can remember a spring like this one. Jim Fryar who moved to Howard County back about 1900 says he has seen several autumns when it rained and rained and the sprouts grew a foot long on the feed sheds.

"We've had wet May's and June's," he said, "but never this wet. I never saw so many cloudy, misty days as we've had the last few weeks."

Mr. Fryar settled north of Coahoma and then later moved to his farm near Fairview. He is now retired and rents the land to his sons.

There has been a lot of traffic in and out of the Texas Employment Commission lately. There are more job-seekers than jobs, particularly among the high school graduates and other young people.

There are tractor jobs open, but not many applicants for them, said Roscoe Gillean, who handles the farm labor detail. He said some farmers would pay good wages but can't find any workers.

The wet weather has been a big help to the tractor business, says Ector Thornton, Stanton implement dealer. He said his firm sold five tractors last week and four this week. These were all used tractors and most were outright sales, with no trade-in involved.

"The new tractor sales will come at the end of this crop," Thornton said. "A lot of dryland farmers will need tractors, for at least 50 per cent of the machines they have now are old and worn."

The Cap Rock Electric at Stanton hasn't had any overloads since the lines were shut down. James Eiland says the electric motors carry an immense load when they are all in operation.

The rains haven't caused much line trouble, except for cracked insulators. They can be cracked for a long time in dry weather and the repairmen never know it. But once they get wet a short circuit occurs.

Eiland said the annual membership meeting for the co-op had been set for August 9 at the Stanton American Legion Hall. At this time new directors will be elected or the old ones retained.

One weed farmers and ranchers should watch for is cockle burrs. They are fatal to pigs and often poisonous to cattle and sheep, according to Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach, local veterinarian.

He said that last year he was called down into Reagan County to find out why 29 head of cattle had died. He asked the rancher about cockle burrs, but the man said there were none in the pasture. They then drove down to Centralia Draw, which is between Garden City and Big Lake, and there Doc found a carpet of tiny burrs just emerging. He said 28 of the dead cattle were in one place, and later another was found some distance away.

Even Bumper Crop May Not Lift Burden Of Debt

By JESS BLAIR
The average farmer may continue to wear a long face, even if this proves to be a bumper crop year.

A bale of cotton to the acre won't pay him out of debt, not if the average FHA borrower is typical of the profession.

The average farmer borrowing money from the Howard County FHA office owes in the neighborhood of $6,200 to the FHA alone. This is far from his total indebtedness, however, for most borrowers had been getting loans at the banks and from other lending agencies until their credit became exhausted.

The figures in the FHA office show a dismal picture of agriculture in Howard and Glasscock counties. In 1954 the average borrower ended the year owing about $2,200. By 1955 this had jumped to $4,300, and this last year climbed to a total of $6,200.

Some of it was paid back a little every year, but new loans plus interest had caused the over-all loans to reach a staggering total.

DEBT GETS BIGGER
In 1954 the average debtor paid back $2,575 on his debt, and the next year remitted $2,218. Last year he paid $2,942. In spite of these payments, however, the value of the loans continued to climb.

During these three years the borrower was able to pay very little on his other debts, including what he owed to banks and implement companies. One reason the FHA collected more from these farmers was because it held a first lien on the crops and equipment.

There was a slight increase in the farm investment during the three-year period, and also in the size of the farm. Following the general trend throughout the nation, the size of the farm increased from 326 acres in 1954 to 347 in 1955, and last year was up to 405 acres.

Many farmers sold their entire crops and other farm products for less than a lot of wage-earners receive during the year. Before any expenses of making the crop or living costs were taken out, the gross farm sales were $5,128 in 1954, $4,887 in 1955 and then dropped to $3,730 in 1956.

"It's a sobering picture," said Milton Stinson, area FHA supervisor whose 11-county area covers Howard and Glasscock counties. "Conditions may be slightly worse here than in some counties, but

Fourth Lottery Winner Is Dead

SYDNEY (AP)—Herb Chun, who won 30,000 pounds ($67,200) in a recent lottery, died of heart failure today. He was the fourth winner of a big Australian lottery to die this year.

William Lane, a bush country wanderer, died of cancer six weeks after he collected 100,000 pounds ($224,000).

Arthur Dyer was knocked down and killed by an automobile in Sydney three weeks after winning 12,000 pounds ($26,880).

The fourth victim was Harold Richards, who won 78,000 pounds ($174,720), moved to a new house and died suddenly.

they're bad everywhere."

HOLD OTHER JOBS
"Fully half these men worked at other jobs this last year," he continued, "and it was probably this outside income that enabled them to stay in the farming business."

Even with a good year this time, it is doubtful that some farmers will ever pay out of debt. They owe too much, according to Stinson. Another factor to be considered is the age of the borrowers. Not long ago Stinson conducted a survey and found that the average farmer borrowing money from the FHA was 57 years of age.

He says all the agricultural agencies are trying to come up with some answer to these problems. How can these farm families continue to engage in farming and at the same time pay off their obligations?

"We all have ideas," Stinson said, "but no one is expert enough to know the right answer. We have found that families that practice a live-at-home program and grow part of their living by keeping cows, chickens and a garden usually spend less during the year. The trouble is that it takes a big cash crop to pay off a debt of this size."

Stinson thinks the government will finance these families as long as it can, but there must be a reversal somewhere. Unless they can start paying back more than they borrow, a breaking point will soon be reached. Stinson says 1957 might be it. Unless the borrowers make a crop this year, some of them may be forced to look for some other kind of employment.

Richest Prizes In History For 1957 Soap Box Derby

DETROIT, June 8 — The All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron on Sunday, August 18, will have the largest field of contestants and the richest array of prizes in the 20-year history of the famous boys' racing event.

The 161 champions from the United States, Alaska, Canada, West Germany and the Philippine Islands will vie for $15,000 in college scholarships, 10 beautiful trophies and valuable merchandise awards.

A special added prize this year in observance of the 20th anniversary of the All-American is a two-week all-expense paid trip to Europe for the national champion, W. G. Power, executive director of the All-American, said.

Power, advertising manager of Chevrolet which sponsors the Derby, stressed that the trip to England, Ireland, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy is in addition to the $5,000 first place scholarship and other honors to be bestowed on the winner. The national champion also will receive the Chevrolet trophy and a gold Ringmaster ring similar to that given each year to the winner of the Indianapolis "500."

The list of 161 champions tops the previous high of 155 who raced in 1956. Power said. The boys, aged 11 to 15 inclusive, will drive homemade gravity-propelled cars on the 975-foot downhill course at Derby Downs in quest of prizes and glory.

Other scholarship awards are: Second place, $4,000; third, $3,000; fourth, $2,000; and fifth, $1,000. A beautiful trophy also goes to each of these boys.

Prizes for those who finish sixth through ninth are: Sixth, complete 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica; with world atlas, dictionary, bookcase and registration privileges; seventh, 16-mm. movie camera and projector; eighth, complete five-in-one Shopsmith power tool unit; and ninth, Zenith Trans-Oceanic portable radio with standard and international wave bands.

Champions showing outstanding skill in car construction and design will receive special awards at the Banquet of Champions following the race.

Besides all this, each local champion is awarded the specially designed E. N. Cole Plaque, named for Chevrolet's general manager.

Just two days following the race at Akron, the new champion will leave on his European tour, departing for Ireland by Pan-American Air Clipper. His journey will take him to such famed world capitals as Dublin, London, Brussels, Paris and Rome and to Frankfurt in West Germany. Before leaving for Europe, the champ will be flown to New York and entertained there by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

A Bible Thought For Today

Then shall the trees of the wood sing out at the presence of the LORD, because he cometh to judge the earth. (1 Chronicles 16:33)

Getting Them More In Line

The governor has signed into law the measure which will add $399 to the paychecks of teachers in all schools participating in the minimum foundation program.

In approximate terms, that means that our teachers will receive a 12.5 per cent increase. (The per cent is about 16 1/2 for those who were only paying the bare minimum before the raise.) If the per cent of raise seems a bit sharp, it should be borne in mind that while industry and many lines of business have instituted raises in recent years, most schools have retained a relatively static level on teacher salaries. Our own trustees gave an additional $200 per annum raise a year ago to put the district's scale $400 above the state minimum. Thus, our beginning teachers will receive right at $3,800 per annum next year.

This means that the beginning teacher will be averaging $400 per month for the nine months of school or $3,600 per month for the 12 months period. Considering that teachers much have invested in four years of college and have taken specialized educational training, this is not overpayment by any manner of means.

For the first time, however, we are beginning to get our teachers up on a level commensurate with their background and on a reasonable parity with other lines of endeavor. They deserve it.

Streets And Roads And Floods

Reports on the severe damage to county dirt roads seem to fit a definite pattern, namely that most of the heavy damage resulted from inadequate drainage.

We recall that a former county engineer insisted that one of the weaknesses of the county's road system was that drainage ditches and some structures were not adequate or of imperfect design. This is entirely plausible when it is understood that many years ago about all that was required to open up a road was a request, a petition and a grubbing hoe. Gradually, graders threw up something of a road bed, which evolved into base for a lateral road. Maybe the ditches were adequate for heavy rains; maybe they weren't.

At any rate, it seems to us that some consideration ought to be given to correcting drainage deficiencies as the county goes into the big job of repairing major damage to its roads. If this isn't done, where at all feasible, we may have the job to do all over again — sooner than we may think.

And while on the subject of flood damage — our sidewalk engineering survey of the city streets protected by a stabilized process would indicate that this procedure has great possibilities. We have heard no expert assessment of the damage to stabilized streets, but off hand they seem to have borne up remarkably well. If this is the case, stabilizing of more streets subject to severe washing might be a mighty wise investment.

An Aid To Reason In Civil Rights Cases

WASHINGTON — It was a wise move on the part of the Senate Judiciary Committee to recommend that jury trials be provided by law in contempt cases arising out of the enforcement of "civil rights." It will do more to help the cause of public understanding on the integration - segregation issue and similar questions than anything that any congress or the courts have done thus far.

This is because the action by the Senate committee comes at a time when emotion has been substituted for reason in many parts of both the North and the South in dealing with matters of law and constitutional rights.

A dramatic example was the case last week in Montgomery, Alabama, when a white jury acquitted two white men who were defendants in a case involving the dynamiting of a Negro church. No one was injured, but property was damaged. It was apparent from the way the case was summed up by the prosecuting attorney and defense counsel that the issues were presented in the background of current antagonisms. Although the defendants had signed a confession, the claim was made later that it had been irregularly processed — that it wasn't made at police headquarters but in a hotel room under circumstances which led to the expression of many doubts.

This correspondent spent the weekend in Alabama and talked to many people about the integration question. Notwithstanding the individual beliefs of citizens generally, it is fair to say that many people who are on the anti-integration side were shocked by the verdict of the jury at Montgomery. Yet in some respects the verdict wasn't surprising. As one man in the South put it, "why should not twelve men in Alabama express their feelings in a verdict, when nine sociologists on the Supreme Court do the same thing?"

Reference was made specifically to some of the recent cases of rape committed by Negroes against white women — cases in which confessions were duly recorded and guilt plainly established, only to have the Supreme Court of the United States reverse such verdicts on technicalities and allow the defendants to go free.

Emotionalism has brought a state of tension that is not going to be cured by any provision of law denying jury trials merely because the privilege has been or might be abused. While contempt committed inside a courtroom has always been punishable by a judge without a jury trial, and attempts to violate directly the terms of an injunction are ordinarily within the power of a judge along to punish, the real issue is whether the judge's injunctions can be stretched to cover crimes committed outside the courtroom itself that normally are tried by juries.

It is better, therefore, for Congress to err on the side of caution and to put faith and trust in the people in all sections of the country, rather than to assume in advance that they cannot be trusted in the jury box. To apply such faith is to follow the path of reason as against emotionalism.

For the racial questions are far from settled, and those persons who think that, by the order of any court, the people of the South or of any other section will approve an edict which they honestly believe is not constitutional just do not understand the workings of human nature.

It's a condition rather than a theory which confronts the nation in dealing with the racial question which now has begun to present problems in all parts of the country, and not just in the South. Violence will not solve it, nor will coercion by broad injunctive orders of the courts. An adjusted society has to come voluntarily out of the processes of reason.

The amendment to the law which would grant jury trials in contempt cases involving alleged crimes is bound to assist the cause of reason. It puts the responsibility squarely upon the people to see to it that jury trials are fairly conducted and fairly resolved.

There are, of course, extremists on both sides. Their number will diminish, however, only as a sense of fairness develops through the application of reason instead of violence. That's why the grant of a jury trial in criminal contempt cases would be a progressive step toward a better understanding of the responsibilities of citizenship. But if Congress, on the other hand, does deny jury trials, far more ground will be lost than gained in the emotionally complicated, if not presently unsolvable, problem of sociology and government.

What Others Say

Henry Ford II, in addressing his company's stockholders, made a point that cannot be overemphasized if all of us are to share in the benefits of industrial progress.

The point was that there is grave danger of wages outstripping productivity. If that happens, it means still higher prices. The results would be further inflation, or the alternative of diminishing sales volumes with their accompaniment of unemployment and a general lag in the economy. Either way, everybody loses.

Implied in Ford's statement was the thought that he did not object to wages keeping abreast of productivity. Some economists would object to this on the ground that benefits should be shared with the consumer in the form of lower prices. Ford, however, faces the practical problem of meeting UAW demands for shorter hours and higher pay. He probably feels that his corporation, and all of us, will be fortunate if wages stay in line with output per man-hour of work. Relatively speaking, we suppose, we will be.

While Ford mentioned only wages, the drive for the shorter work week, and the various restrictive practices of unions, also have a bearing on productivity, prices and prosperity.

Great Britain has just now recognized this fact. English unions representing 2,500,000 workers had the choice of a 5 per cent pay raise with no strings attached or 6 1/2 per cent if the unions would end what the British workman calls "cannery" — a deliberate slackening in the rate of work and production in order to spread employment. The unions accepted the 6 1/2 per cent, rejecting the catch-penny lure of "cannery."

Some of our own union leaders would do well to take heed.

Signs Point To Renewed Business Boom

Something's got to give, something's got to change, something's got to happen to justify this stock market. Wall Street ought to be having the fidgets.

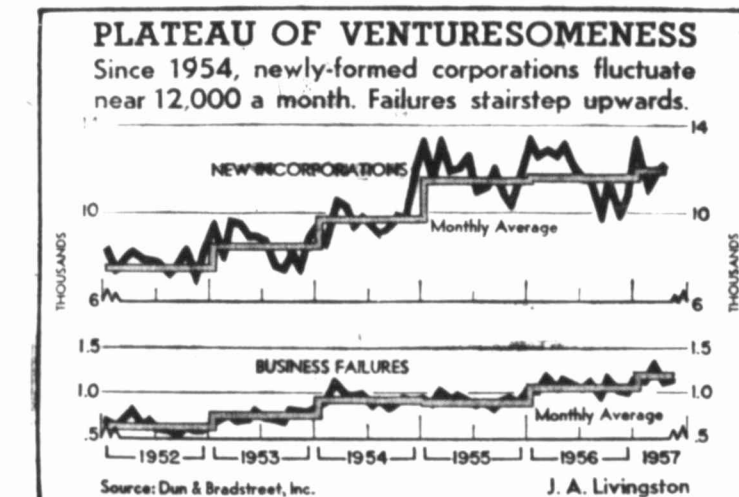

The other day, the syndicate handling New York Telephone 4 1/2's disbanded. The bonds broke from an offering price of 101 3/4 to 98 3/4, to yield close to 4.6 per cent to maturity — a three point drop in three weeks. Long-term government 2 1/2's sold around 88 cents on the dollar, to yield better than 3.5 per cent.

When bonds reach those prices and those yields, investment trusts, insurance companies, and pension funds ought to be switching out of stocks into bonds. The stock market ought to go down, which would be far more disturbing to Wall Street and business than a break in bond prices.

An investment tug-of-war is in mid-phase. Will industrial stocks, which now yield as little as 3.9 per cent come down, or will something happen to justify their staying up?

And what could that something be? Answer: An industrial upturn which lifts earnings and dividends, which brings stock yields in line with new-bond yields. Only such an upturn would justify continued holding of stocks by insurance companies and pension funds when newly-issued bonds yield higher returns.

Perhaps that's what the stock market is predicting. Certainly, corporation presidents are betting on an upturn. If they weren't, they wouldn't be sending their treasurers to investment bankers for new financing. They wouldn't be going ahead with programs to expand plant and install new machinery. They'd wait for business to slow down, for costs to recede. They don't expect costs to recede. They argue costs are going up — year after year. So they figure it's better to build now, because later what they want to do will be even more costly.

This anxiety to proceed with expansion congests the bond market. Executives want money while it's still to be had. An extra half of one per cent interest doesn't bother them. They even tell themselves that Uncle Sam pays half — the corporate tax rate is 52 per cent. Optimism persists, even though we've had a near-record run of almost uninterrupted prosperity — more than a decade.

You can measure this optimism. New business incorporations have gone up steadily, from a monthly average of 7,735 in 1952 to 12,000 currently. That's a good index of venturesomeness, an index which this year hit a new high, notwithstanding the increased risks attached to entering business.

Business failures also have been going up steadily — from 634 per month in 1952 to 1,200 monthly today. And in the last three years, they stairstepped upward, where as new incorporations have increased less rapidly, as follows:

Year	Failures	Incorporations
1955	914	11,637
1956	1,057	11,731
1957x	1,219	12,018

x — To Date.

Men have the will to enter business in the face of rising odds. Money's hard to get; competition has increased; profit margins tend to be lower; industrial production has slowed down; lead and zinc are weak; machine tool orders have slumped; and housing and autos are still far below their postwar peaks, and failures are at a postwar high.

The strong stock market, the demand for money, and the high index of venturesomeness can be rationalized in this fashion: The country is going through an inventory readjustment. The housing downturn has been going on for two years. Customers who bought autos in record numbers in 1955 are finishing off their installment debt and they'll be back in the market later this year. Consumers are still in the chips — personal income is at an all-time peak. Therefore, the stage is set for another spurge of consumer spending later in the year.

Such a spurge would validate (1) expansion by industrial companies and utilities, (2) the decisions of newcomers to go into business, (3) the strength in the stock market, and (4) the "passive" course of the Federal Reserve Board in the money market. If the Fed were to ease money rates just prior to another upturn, it would merely accelerate what it's trying to prevent — inflationary price advances.

The case for optimism is circular. The stock market can't hold up in the face of this weak bond market unless there's an upturn in business. Yet, stocks hold up extremely well. Therefore, there must be an upturn in business.

Such reasoning wouldn't get a freshman by in Logic 1.

But that's what's happening.

Baseball Book Doesn't Tell Everything

With Little Leagues and Junior Baseball going like mad, some Mamas must be having a time learning all about the complexities of this great American sport.

I have always suspected that women know more about baseball than the cartoonists and jokesters would have you believe. Certainly there are not many around like the female subject of the cartoon who observed "there's one man out on that little hill trying to throw a ball to another man with a birdcage on his face, and there's a man in the middle with a stick trying to keep him from it."

But when Junior comes in and bemoans the fact that he didn't get a hit, and was credited with only a couple of sacrifice flies, some Mothers might begin to wonder if the kid has started another collection of insects.

Well, no husband is going to be of any use whatsoever when his spouse asks him for an explanation of the game. If he were to take her to a contest, and she started asking questions, all she would get would be a "shaddap, you stupe," while he looked around furtively to be sure that nobody heard her asking such inane questions.

If the kids are too busy to explain the intricacies of baseball, and husbands are too obsessed with their own knowledge to offer any instruction, where is a poor woman to turn?

Well, for one place, she now can turn to a booklet called "Baseball Made Plain." This bears the stamp of authority, since it has been issued by the Office of the Commissioner of Baseball. It's very elemental, even I could begin to understand something of the game. The Commissioner's office says the publication is designed with the hope of creating new fans — which I understand professional baseball badly needs — and the booklet can be had for only 10 cents per copy.

It's probably worth it, even if you are going to see only one game while you're vacationing in Chicago or New York; or even if you are going to try to "unravel some of the glib chatter that goes on over radio and television on the week-ends. Dizzy Dean just might be the man to explain in crisp, succinct sentences just how baseball is designed, organized and executed, but one is rather inclined to doubt this.

"Baseball Made Plain" starts out with the intelligence that two opposing teams try to make scores, and that the one which makes the most scores wins the game. This seems acceptable enough.

How they go about making these scores is a little deeper. The fellow on the hill really does try to throw the ball to the fellow with the cage on his face, and the fellow with the stick really does try to keep him from it.

But there is much maneuvering midst all this — stuff that even the Commissioner's book does not clarify. There is no explanation for the fellow on the hill pulling at his cap, plucking at grass, tying and re-tying his shoes, hitching his breeches, studying the complexion of the sky, and assorted other rituals. Neither is there a reason listed for the fellow with the stick prancing in and out of his allotted space, tapping the plate with his stick, hitching up his breeches, spitting on his hands, and similar gymnastics.

The book doesn't say much about the fellow in the blue suit, either. He's the umpire, the man with the last word. He is either ace high, or a blind moron, depending upon your sympathies for the opposing teams.

No suggestion is made as to a vocabulary to apply to umpires; the theory, being I suppose, that after a person goes to one baseball game, it becomes an instinctive thing to hurl epithets at the umpire. Epithets, and other things.

So, for some baseball information, you need a book. For others, you just rare back and let that thing known as American individualism take its course. This is what makes baseball, regardless of which team wins.

A Secret For Health And Happiness

Isn't it strange how we take the blessing of health and happiness for granted? Have you ever thought what it would mean if you were deprived of them?

In my own Marble Collegiate Church pulpit in New York one Sunday, suddenly I began to feel strange. I went alternately hot and cold. I became tense, dizzy, numb. Things seemed to whirl around me.

Only by exerting the greatest effort of prayer and self-control was I able to continue with the service.

I had never experienced anything quite like this before, having been blessed with good health all my life. Naturally, I began to analyze myself, to diagnose my problem. And all of a sudden, a shocking thought came to me. Suppose this were the last time I would ever preach from the pulpit.

Right then, I decided there was one thing I wanted more than anything else. And I wanted it so much, I would have paid anything for it. I wanted assurance that I could keep on with my work. In that moment I had an indescribable longing for the certainty of good health, for a continuation of my joy in life.

I am glad for that moment of self-revelation. My difficulty turned out to be nothing more than a slight virus attack and it passed. But that experience made me realize how important it is to teach the relationship between good, sound health and good, sound religion.

The other day a friend of mine who had just turned fifty was trying to recall a name and couldn't. "I guess you just have to expect," he said, "that when you reach your fifties, you can't remember things any more."

But it doesn't have to be that way at all. The notion that we have to slump is false. We are children of God and if we keep in contact with His creative power, we can have health and happiness and mental alertness.

Some time ago, in a hotel lobby, a man I had known for a good many years pushed the swinging door with such vigor that he nearly knocked me off my feet. "Brother," I said, "you're certainly bursting with energy!"

"I feel good," he told me. As we stood talking together, I was amazed, for I had remembered him as a man filled with aches and pains, apathetic, dull, always half sick, though actually there never seemed anything seriously wrong with him. Now he appeared transformed and filled with vigor. I asked him for an explanation.

"Why," he answered, "I just decided to cooperate with the laws of God. I had always known them; now I apply them."

I thought this amazingly well. It is a fact that we can live with health and happiness by cooperating with the laws of God, that is, by not hating or fearing, and by having real convictions and an attitude of trust. Of course, this is not easy. However, it is possible for every one of my readers. We can discipline our minds to think God's healthy thoughts, and healthy thinking goes far toward healthy living. People who have developed these thought patterns have made contact with an actual re-creative life force.

Keep filling your mind with faith, trust and love, and you will channel into yourself that which re-creates, reproduces and revitalizes health and happiness within you. That is a great secret of health and happiness, and it is available to all.

Pearson's Battle In Canadian Election

BLIND RIVER, Ontario — This country, with its great pine forests and its swirling white water, seems a long way from the cities of the world where the present-day struggle for power is centered. A principal in that struggle is Lester B. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs for Canada, who represents this north country in the House of Commons in Ottawa.

Among the few who have earned some rights to the title of statesman in the years since World War II, Pearson is certainly one. In the Suez crisis last November he did as much as any single individual in the critical night and day sessions in the United Nations to save what could be saved from the ruins. He was the concept of the United Nations Emergency Force that gradually brought order out of the Middle East chaos.

But today, in the windup of a national election, Pearson is challenged because he has spent so many weeks working on international problems. His Conservative opponent, Merton "The Man" Mulligan, accuses him of neglecting the people in his own sprawling constituency, with its booming uranium camps, to fiddle around with things foreign and entirely alien to Algoma East.

He has come back to Algoma East by a tiring route 14,000 miles long. Because he is a world figure with high prestige at home and abroad, he has been pressured to speak in 60 constituencies from one side of the country to the other. It remains to be seen whether that prestige will pull him through in his home district.

Most observers believe it will. But there are many imponderables.

For the first time in Canada's political history, an undercover campaign aims at pinning a pink or pro-Communist tag on Pearson. This is one consequence of the suicide of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, following the action of the U. S. Senate's Internal Security subcommittee in reviving an old charge of Communist association that Canada had previously repudiated.

A weird document, attributed to "The Christian Laymen's League" and resembling the propaganda of Gerald L. K. Smith in its talk of treason and conspiracy, has been mailed to every voter in the district.

It is believed this attack will backfire, if only because of its intemperance. And Pearson is fighting hard, hitting out at his critics who say he has lost the common touch because he has associated so long with kings, prime ministers and ambassadors.

When the British announced recently that they were splitting with the United States over trade with Red China, Pearson in a speech said he thought Britain's position was more "realistic." In the trade talks in Paris, Canada, as so often over the years, had tried to effect a compromise between the British and American positions. The ultraconservative Toronto Globe and Mail promptly assailed Pearson for not having long since followed the British lead on China and for having bowed to Washington in refusing recognition to the Peiping regime.

Going from professor to diplomat and then to politician, Pearson is still the dispassionate thinker. Twenty-two years is too long for any government to remain in power, he says. A healthy democracy should produce a workable alternative. But he wants to win more intensely this time than ever before, if only because of the nature of the attack on him. And those in his party who see him as the next Liberal leader and the next Prime Minister, succeeding the elderly Louis St. Laurent, are working hard to try to insure that he is returned in Monday's election with as large a majority as possible.

Bible Words for Today

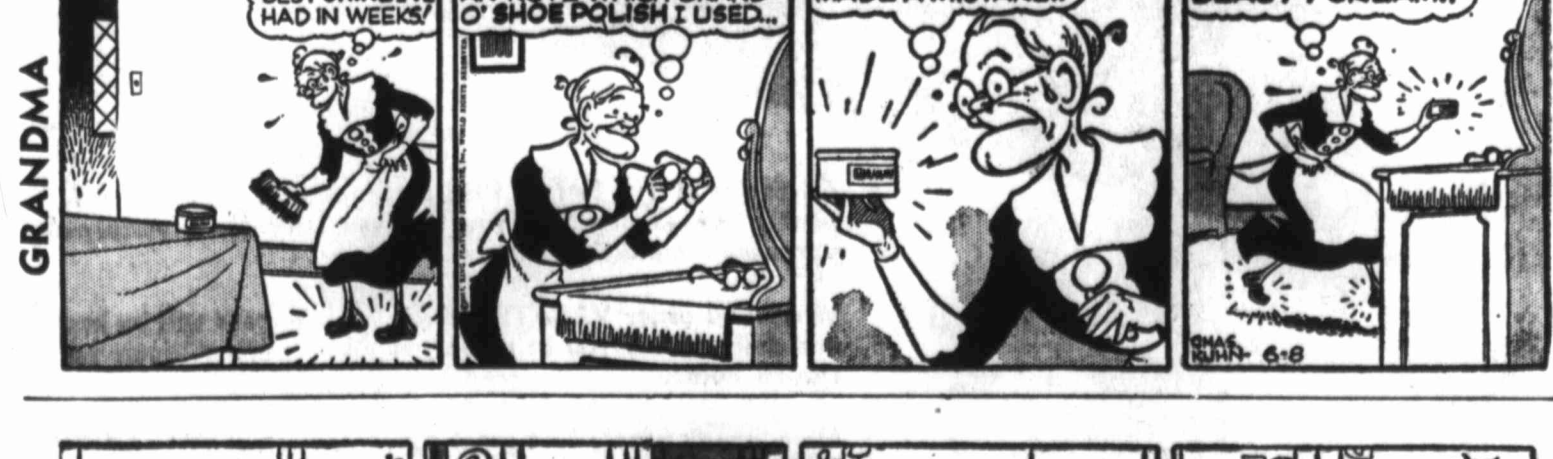

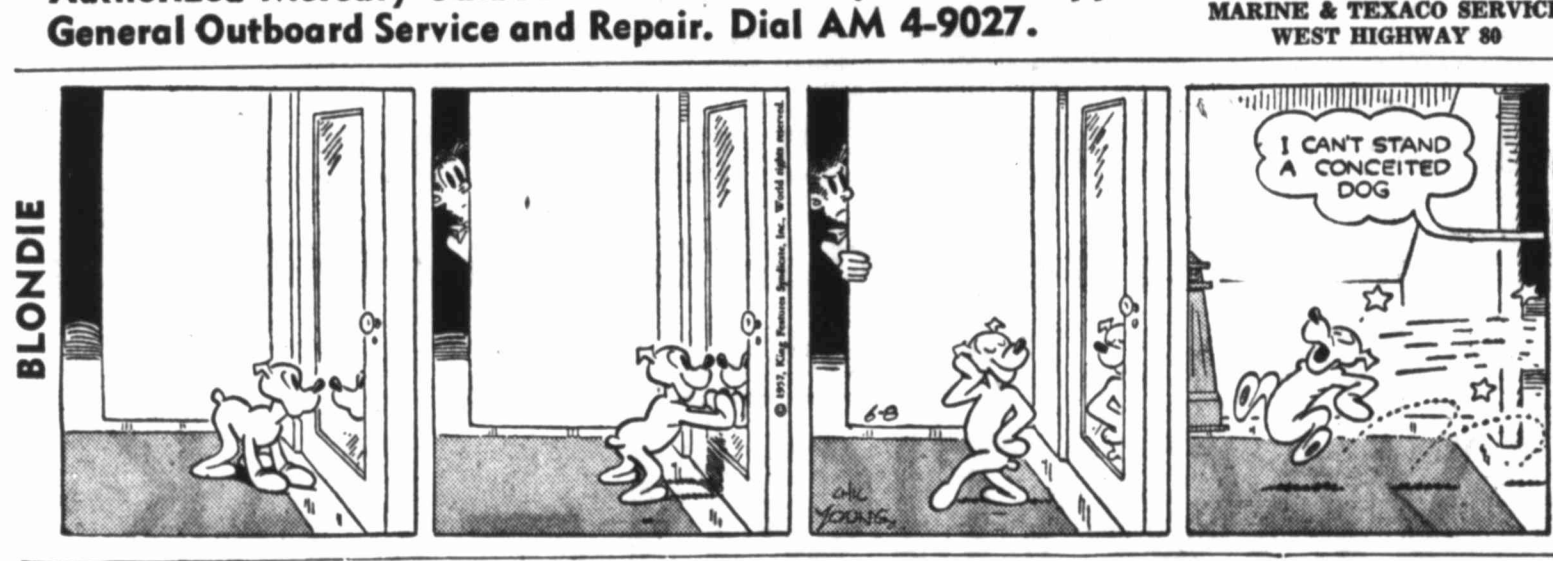

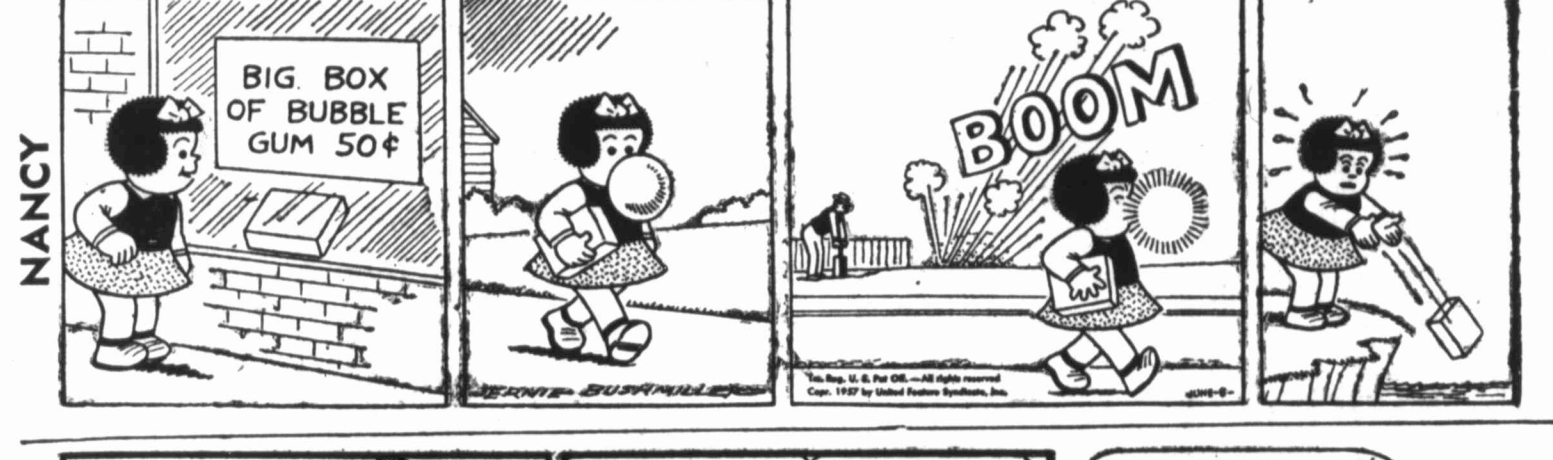

ACTS 4:19 — "But Peter and John answered them, 'Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge; for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard.'" ACTS 5:29 — "But Peter and the apostles answered, 'We must obey God rather than men.'" (RSV)

In a day when many voices clamor to be heard and heeded, it is not surprising that we become confused and question whether anyone has supreme authority. We are prone to conclude with some: there is none that speaks the truth; no not one. Is it possible that this point of cynicism among so many is cultivated because the spiritual leaders of our time have not followed in the footsteps of Peter and the apostles? Is it possible that Christians have so long followed the thoughts and ideas of others that they have failed to speak what they (themselves) have seen and heard? In a personal encounter with God in Christ? Is it possible that we have obeyed man rather than God in order to be sure that jobs are stable; social security of group acceptance not upset? Is it possible that Christian laymen have pressured their spiritual leaders into a position such as Amariah attempted with Amos, "O seer, go, flee away to the land of Judah, and eat bread there, and prophesy there; but never again prophesy at Bethel, for it is the king's sanctuary, and it is a temple of the kingdom." Pray that the God of Abraham, Micah, Amos and Jesus may speak directly to us through His living Word and that we may obey His voice.

LIFE WITH MUSIC

Artists Unselfish About Sharing Data

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

Shop talk is inevitable whenever co-practitioners of any business, science or art come together, and music is no exception. At gatherings of musicians, the conversation invariably turns to other musicians and to the making of music.

Occasionally the talk is critical of others and of their methods, but generally it tends to evaluate. Joe Blank, for instance, may be raked over the coals for giving a particular performance that was not up to his customary standard, provided that Joe is admittedly a virtuoso of reasonable standing. But poor performers seldom are topics for discussion, unless they happen to be among the notorious few whom influence has pitched forked to temporary fame.

TECHNIQUES

A favorite subject is technique. Pianists and other instrumentalists compare notes on their pet topics for discussion, unless they happen to be among the notorious few whom influence has pitched forked to temporary fame. An exception must be made in regard to singers, each of whom usually is convinced that he, and he alone, knows the correct method of singing, which he has no intention of imparting except for a professional fee. Vocalists are most prone to sing of their own triumphs or lament the distressing lapses of other hapless songsters.

Teachers, however, find pleasure as well as profit in chatting about their problems, solved or unsolved, in the effort to find a solution. In this fraternity, the spirit of cooperation has improved noticeably during the last couple of decades.

SHARES RESULTS

Perhaps the greatest reason why musicians are so unselfish about sharing data is that each musician is both an individualist and an idealist. Whatever his knowledge, he applies it in his own personal manner. And his innate love of his profession makes him want to achieve higher standards, both for himself and for music.

Open to all American composers is the tenth annual competition for new works for harp, in which the Northern California Harpists' Association offers a prize for a harp solo or a work featuring the instrument in combination with others. Yvonne LaMothe, 687 Grizzly Peak Blvd., Berkeley 8, Calif., has the data. The Music Teachers' Association of California will convene at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco, June 30 under the aegis of President Helen Adele Daun of Mentone. Hugo Friedhofer ingeniously used Greek rhythms in his score for "Boy on a Dolphin," a film enhanced by many artistic color scenes of historic Greece and the Aegean Sea. Part of the Paris Conservatory and the Paris Opera Foyer are visible in "Love in the Afternoon," in which Audrey Hepburn plays a cello student. Pianist Lydia Shapiro is using the eight charming pieces comprising the first book of Nikolai Medtner's "Forgotten Tunes" in her concert programs. Medtner wrote the music in Germany, after fleeing the depravity of the Russian revolution. Violinist George Kast is vacationing in Mexico. Louis Adrian is conducting "South Pacific" and "Annie Get Your Gun" in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

The title of Danny Kaye's latest packaged record is misleading. Ah, you think, as you read the print on the outside cover, at last some of the songs that he has made so popular in England. You think this because the title of the album is "Danny Kaye At the Palace" and everyone knows that he is a favored entertainer in the eyes of Britain's royalty. But the Decca release has to do with numbers he has done in the famed New York theater, the Palace. Singing your favorite songs, Danny opens with "Ballin' the Jack." Other numbers include "Anastole of Paris" and "Mad Dogs and Englishmen."

Cupid Goes To Work In June

Little John Q. Cupid is working overtime to make June in Howard County live up to its time honored reputation as being "the month of brides."

The little gent with the quiver and the archery outfit had scored 11 marriage contracts during the first week of the month. That many couples had obtained marriage licenses from the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk, between June 1 and June 7.

Recent marriage licenses issued went to:

Norvell Gerry Hoover and Nancy Gail Kimberger; Arthur Love Jr. and Marilyn Elizabeth Key; Warren Lee Miers and Mary Irene Phillips; J. R. Dillard and Josephine Marie Cole; Robert Allen Thompson and Virginia Lee Carpenter; Rene Paul Brown and Kristi Nell Watson; Garland Pierce Morrison and Alpha Irene Day; and Morris Wayne Howland and Edward Dean Atkinson.

Webb Champs Crew Of Month

The Webb AFB world champion engine change crew has been selected as maintenance and supply group's maintenance crew for the month of June. Normally one man is selected for this honor each month, but a single nominee could not be picked from this outstanding crew, group officials stated.

This crew was recommended for this distinction because of their superior performances over a three day period, May 17-19, 1957, at Andrews AFB, Washington, D. C., for the Armed Forces Day demonstration. On each of these days this crew accomplished three engine changes on T-33A aircraft, demonstrating that a skilled crew can work at high speed and still maintain quality of maintenance. On May 19, their work was featured on a coast-to-coast television program over CBS.

This crew was the 1956 Air Force jet engine change champions at the Oklahoma City meet and extend an open challenge to all comers.

The latest single release by Danny Kaye is a pleasant and light bit of "Charm Bracelet" on Columbia.

A new vocalist who reached the top before anyone was aware of it is known as Johnny Mattes. The Ray Conniff orchestra does backing for his latest called "It's Not For Me To Say."

Predictions are flying high for the latest Sammy Davis Jr. album for Decca, "Sammy Swings." Orchestras directed by Morty Stevens, Jack Piles, and Sy Oliver back the vigorous and incomparable entertainer as he does to perfection "Temptation," "That Old Black Magic," "Oo-Shoo-Be-Dee-Dee," and "From This Moment On."

From the musical "Bells Are Ringing" comes a single by Sammy, that features also the music of Jack Piles on the backing. Title of the song is "Long Before I Knew You."

Julie London is just in time to make a big splash with her new album on Liberty. First to attract attention is the very fetching cover. Then the songs contained in the album take over very effectively. "About the Blues" is the title of the entire collection of classic and current blues favorites, including "Basin Street Blues," "Bouquet of Blues" and "Meaning of the Blues." Russ Garcia and his orchestra supply a strings and trombone orchestra for Julie's fourth album for Liberty.

With each selection having something to do with heavenly sounds, "Louis and the Angels" is the latest Louis Armstrong album to be presented. Orchestration and a girl choir by Sy Oliver join with the golden trumpet and gravel voice of Louie in numbers including "Angela Mia," "Fools Rush In," and "I'll String Along With You."

Two standouts in the newest Frank Sinatra centered release are "Night and Day" and "From This Moment On." The Nelson Riddle orchestra is featured for the album, titled "A Swingin' Affair."

Frank's new single release for Capitol features "Something Wonderful Happens," backed by "You're Cheating Yourself." Some of the best of Jane Powell is contained in her late release, "Something Wonderful" on MGM label. David Rose's orchestra sets the beat for "We Never Talk Much," "Wonder Why," and "L'Amour Toujours" (Tonight for Sure).

Latest for Jerry Lewis is "My Mammy" and "With These Hands." This Decca bid is expected to produce just as much, if not more, success than did previous releases by Jerry Lewis. The style of the late Al Jolson is apparently the pattern for the "Mammy" side. Flip side is different from anything the comedian-turned-singer has produced.

Last single coming via the voices of the Diamonds is composed of two sides that could combine for a two-way hit record. "Words of Love" is the favored side of the disc, with David Carroll in charge of orchestra.

Harry Belafonte, on RCA-Victor label, does a brand new calypso number titled "Coconut Woman." A latest rock and roll hit is "Rock-A-Billy" by Guy Mitchell.

Pat Boone, in his easy, casual manner, has hit the top with his release, "Love Letters In The Sand" and "Bernadine."

Popular

Michiko Hamamura, a teen-age Japanese girl, has become the rage of her country. Crowds start lining up hours before her first appearance and by curfew time a double line of patient fans completely encircles the huge theater in Tokyo. She has parlayed an off-key version of "Banana Boat Song" and a feeble come-hither look into fame and fortune, and is considering bringing her talents to U.S. stages next fall. Miss Hamamura has been invited to appear on a U.S. television show in September and has accepted. She is shown in her dressing room auto-graphing tennis balls, which she throws to the audience during her act.

School Teachers To Get Their Raise

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas school teachers' will get a $399 annual pay raise this fall.

Gov. Price Daniel last week signed the pay raise bill into law. It will become effective for the 1957-58 school year.

Together with raises for all classroom teachers, the 49 million dollar plus pay bill also includes $800,000 to increase salaries of principals who also have classroom duties.

Other bills signed by the governor included:

HB 799 (Kelly)—changing the name of "Abilene State Hospital" to "Abilene State School"; providing that epilepsy shall not be a bar to admission to a state institution or public school (immediate effect).

SCR 39 (Aikin)—Requesting Texas Legislative Council to make a study of problems of the physically handicapped and mentally retarded youth.

'The Little Hut' Hilarious Tale In 'Moon Is Blue' Tradition

One of the funniest frolics since "The Moon Is Blue" plays Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre. "The Little Hut" is by the same author as the controversial "Moon" picture, F. Hugh Herbert. Starring are Ava Gardner, David Niven and Stewart Granger.

The witty and sophisticated comedy tells of the vagaries of love and the ingenuity in which one man proposes to make off with another man's wife in a preposterous but strictly above-board "share the spoils" agreement. "The Little Hut" had a successful run on Broadway before being made into a motion picture.

The situation in "The Little Hut" is that of three eminently respectable and aristocratic Britishers. They are portrayed by Miss Gardner as the wife neglected by her tycoon husband, Granger. She turns to Niven, the career diplomat, whom she almost married and who still loves her.

It is when the trio is shipwrecked on a tropical island that the fun begins. The practical-minded Granger sets about to make them all comfortable until they can be rescued. He builds a large hut for himself and his wife, and a smaller neighboring hut for Niven. But Niven doesn't like the situation, and Miss Gardner takes the advantage of the opportunity to make her complacent husband jealous. The result is that the woman is left free to choose a husband all over again.

But then, the ship's cook, who had, unknown to the others, also survived the wreck, shows up disguised as a native, ties up the two men and makes off with Ava into the little hut.

Ava Gardner nuzzles her husband, Stewart Granger, as jealous David Niven looks on in this scene from "The Little Hut." Frolicsome tale of two men and a woman shipwrecked on a lonely island.

matched for their roles: Granger as the well-adjusted, underminded, logical and always correct husband, who wants to do the right thing in the right way; Niven as the impulsive, impatient, frustrated would-be lover, who succeeds only in tying himself in knots.

'Walking Hills' Adventure Story

An unusual drama about a group of people seeking a lost treasure, "The Walking Hills," returns Sunday and Monday to the State Theatre. Starring are Randolph Scott and Ella Raines. In "The Walking Hills," a group headed by Scott enters a vast desert area in the Southwest to track down a pioneer legend of a wagon train laden with gold that had been buried in a sudden sandstorm. But the past and hidden lives of the adventurers combine with their greed and envy to produce an explosive situation which is not resolved until most of the party have paid with their lives. One of the more gripping scenes is in the sandstorm which lashes the desert to help bring the drama to an end.

Things American and all people who live in this land. I would like therefore to read this new book "Potter On America."

This gentleman, it seems, came over from Merrie Old England on a lecture tour. When he returned to his homeland he wrote of his experiences and observations. Unlike a great many Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans and others who have done the same thing, Potter finds a great many things he likes about us and about our country. His backhand slaps, it is reported, are few in number, his fulsome praise of us is more abundant than his wild criticisms.

The following pertinent paragraphs from a review of the book will give you an idea of what Mr. Potter found to write about us: "He liked our hospitality even to the loving lick of one host's big dog. The fact that his publisher here took him to theatres and showed him a wonderful time reminded him wryly of his British publisher's skimping 'one lunch every five years in a tea-shop.' But what he ate did not please him, though he admitted the English also cook poorly. Food should not be painfully clean, his wife complained; she saw even wrapped bread sprayed with a real bakery odor; and he, calling New Orleans restaurants our best, slipped over a fast one by adding that they were 'nearly half as good' as the best in France. There was too much heat, too little golf, too irregular meals, too dry martinis.

"Yet when it was all over and he neared home, with London traffic snarled, clothes along the walks shabby, the airport limousine rattly, and the Thames dry and unsightly, he remembered us with gratitude and affection, as we shall remember him. He came without prejudice, looked about honestly, turned up some moderate and personal ideas worth a hearing. When a visiting Potter potters around this fine effect, he's very welcome."

Jim Piersall Story At Jet

The sports world was shocked when, several years ago, Boston Red Sox outfielder Jim Piersall went berserk in the midst of a crucial game. "Fear Strikes Out," returning Sunday and Monday to the Jet Drive-In Theatre, is the story behind that incident, and is based on Piersall's own story as it appeared in The Reader's Digest and The Saturday Evening Post.

Anthony Perkins is starred as Piersall, a young lad driven all his life by the insatiable desire to make good, and to please his father. Karl Malden is outstanding as the elder Piersall, whose ambition to succeed through his son drove him to push young Piersall to the top.

Piersall is back in the game now, and is as normal and well-adjusted as if he had never gone berserk, and is still one of the diamond's top players. "Fear Strikes Out" is top dramatic entertainment.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THEY HANGED MY SAINT-ILY BILLY by Robert Graves.

Doubleday. Robert Graves happens to be one of my favorite writers—mostly based on his books about Claudius when that eccentric gent was emperor of Rome.

Now it seems he has turned out a book about another era—101 years ago, to be exact. William Palmer, poisoner, was hanged 1886. A judge and jury in that good year heard testimony and decreed that Mr. P. dosed his dear friend, John Cook, with strychnine.

A dozen other deaths were laid in the popular mind to this young surgeon and sportsman, as well as a few crimes like forgery. Graves doesn't question the minor offenses, but he has doubts about Palmer's guilt on the main charge, for which he died with some fortitude before a vengeful crowd of 30,000 clamoring for his life.

Remove the murder accusation and Palmer was, even so, far from the "saintly Billy" that his mother, who was no saint herself, called him. He was born and brought up in Staffordshire in a family of some means. A peppery fellow, he was still in his teens when he got a girl in trouble. Leading other girls astray, he danced down a primrose path, but a path strewn with corpses. His wife, his brother, men and women here and there, were treated with brandy, or wine; sometimes they were first insured, with Palmer the beneficiary; then they keeled over. The defense lawyer was not alert; the judges passed down flagrantly unjust rulings; some witnesses were spirited away by the state. Graves' explanation for the determination to convict Palmer is that insurance companies and horse-racing interests wanted him out of the way.

This is a singularly wry and tangy page of social history, with intimacies laid bare and private lives made public. You'll like it.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

Several years ago, F. Hugh Herbert wrote the screen play for "The Moon Is Blue," a satirical spoof of sex, and raised something of a ruckus. Herbert's latest, "The Little Hut," is also a satirical spoof on sex, but is not quite so filled with innuendoes and double entendre. "The Little Hut" might offend a handful of people, but most will find it a pleasant hour's diversion.

"Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" is in much the same vein as "The Little Hut," but the censor's hold of the script, and the background situation is not the same. "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" is less a satire on sex than a spoof of psychoanalysis. It is an amusing story, better than spending an evening at home watching the average TV show.

"Edge of Hell," is the latest opus by that independent genius, Hugo Haas, the European refugee who produces, directs, acts and seeks out his own financial aid. Haas is still little known in this country, but only because his product is not promoted in the usual all-stops-out Hollywood manner.

"The Walking Hills" is, for my money, the best movie Randolph Scott ever starred in. It's a treasure hunt story set in the modern Southwest, in which a group of people go into a desolate range of sandhills after a legendary wagon train loaded with gold, and end killing off each other.

"Fear Strikes Out" is back again. The story of sports star Jim Piersall, the film closely follows the plot as outlined by Piersall himself in two nationally famous magazines. One of the year's top films.

Sugar On Boards

NEW YORK (U) — Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight boxing champ who has already tried show business as a night club entertainer, may try acting next. He would play the lead in a revised revival of "Golden Boy" that would tour and go to London prior to a Broadway stand.

Ritz Film Is Spoof On Psychoanalysis

"Oh Men, Oh Women," playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, is an amusing spoof on psychoanalysis. The story revolves around a psychoanalyst, David Niven, who gets so involved with some of his patients he winds up needing treatment himself. The couch in his office is occupied at one time or another by everyone in the cast, except the secretaries and his fiancée, Barbara Rush.

All the confusion begins when the various characters begin telling their tales of woe. Tony Randall upsets Niven with his tale of passionate love concerning Miss Rush, with whom Niven is planning a honeymoon.

Ginger Rogers is seen as the frustrated wife who wants to leave her husband, Dan Dailey, because he has forgotten how to be romantic, and the upshot is that Dailey, in an attempt to reprove his manhood, attempts to make theatrical love to Miss Rush.

The men fight over their women, and the women fight over their men in the resulting mix-up, which continues confused into the honeymoon suite of a luxury liner reserved by Niven and his bride.

Dan Dailey suggests reverse psychology to psychoanalyst David Niven to see if the doctor can take it as well as dish it out in this scene from "Oh Men, Oh Women." Dailey, not liking the doc's effects on his wife, played by Ginger Rogers, suggests he (Dailey) have a whirl with Niven's girl friend, Barbara Rush (at right).

NEW YORK (U) — A new center for experimental theater productions opens here in July with a new kind of added attraction — a swimming pool.

Organized as the Murray Hill Academy of Theater and Arts, the sponsoring group has converted a former private clubhouse on midtown Madison Avenue. The building is to have two small proscenium auditoriums and a hall for theater-in-the-round productions.

The upper floors have office facilities and the swimming pool — which will be available for staff recreation instead of show.

CLYDE McMAHON

ABC Club Elects New Officers

Clyde McMahon has been named president of the American Business Club for the ensuing six months. The election took place at the regular Friday luncheon of the service organization, held in the Settles Hotel.

George McAlister was named first vice president, Allen Orr second vice president, and Jerry Mancil third vice president while the office of sergeant-at-arms will be shared by James Underwood and Marvin Callihan, who tied in the balloting.

Tommy Birkhead, A. B. Sykes and Jack Wilson were introduced as new members. Guests present included David Hopkins and Kenny Chrane.

A total of 67 was present, one of the largest turnouts for the year.

The club's next big project will be the handling of concessions at the 1957 Big Spring rodeo, an annual chore for the group.

Impolite Thief

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A thief took $35 from the Colortone Process Co. and left three notes. They read:

"Thank you, sir."
"If no money, I would have wreck this joint."
"Thanks for the water" (on top of the water cooler).

HUGH McCAULEY

Webb Honors Irish Airman

An Irishman who believes in making his own luck is A-2C. Hugh B. McCauley of Webb AFB, who was chosen "Airman of the Month" for May.

McCauley was born and raised in Coleraine, North Ireland. He attended school there and studied British law for 4½ years.

He came to the U.S. three years ago by way of the Bahamas and the Azores, and settled in Texas.

It was in 1956, when he enlisted in the Air Force, taking his basic training at Lackland AFB. Now serving on his initial assignment Airman McCauley works in the finance office as a check and bond writer.

One of the awards given to the Airman of the Month, incidentally, is a $24 savings bond. His picture and a citation will be displayed on the bulletin board at base operations, and his name will be engraved on a trophy that will be displayed permanently in the Squadron.

He recently won the base doubles championship in table tennis, teamed with 1. Lt. W. F. Wymard. He is competing at present for the tennis championship.

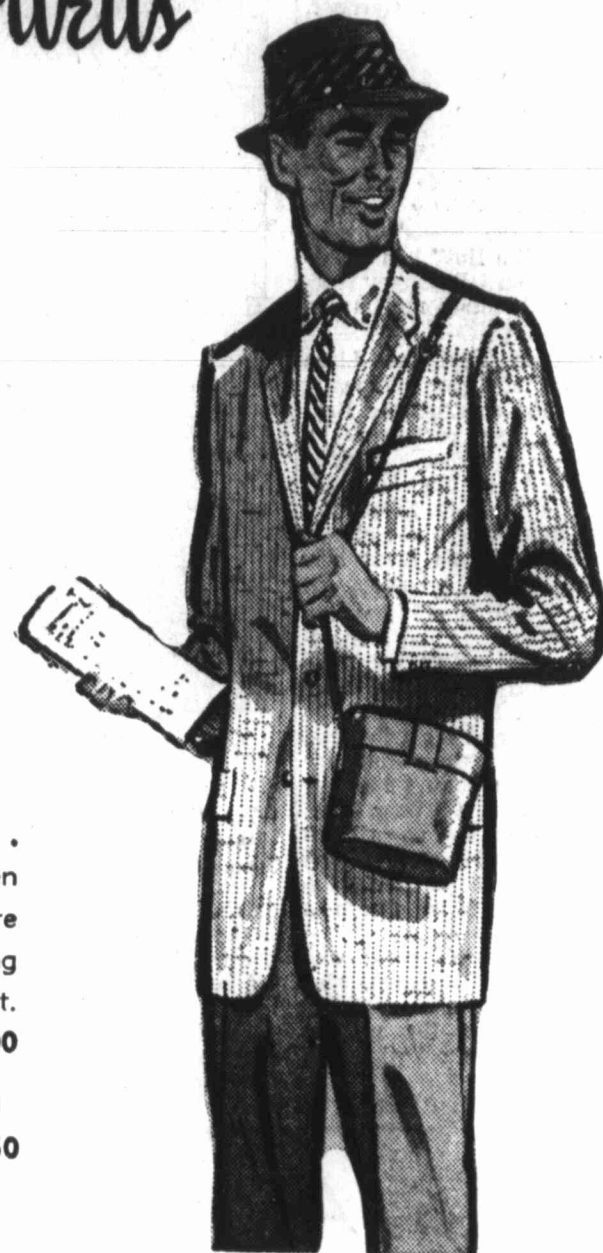

Airman McCauley is active in the Big Spring Civic Theatre Inc., and played the part of Peter in the Easter Pageant which was staged recently by the theatre group.
