NAZI DEMANDS REJECTED

THE NEUTRALITY question was finally settled when President Roosevelt signed the new law which eliminated the arms embargo and placed U. S. sales to warring nations on a cash and carry basis. Here the president signs the bill with Adolph Berle, assistant secretary of state, Sen. Key Pittman, Rep. Sol Bloom, Speaker of the House William Bankhead, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Vice President John N. Garner and Sen. Alben W. Barkley looking on. (Acme Telephoto)

Residence Is Burglarized; Loot Recovered

Burglars entered the G. W. Ellison residence in northeast Childress early last night, but all of the loot was found shortly after the burglary was discovered near the East ward school building, across the street.

Officers were investigating the burglary today.

The prowlers cut a hole in the screen on the back door, entered the house, took a cedar chest filled with handwork, quilts from one bed and several other articles. The Ellisons were at church and discovered the burglary immediately upon their return home.

Former Resident Dies at Lubbock

Mrs. Henrietta Sport, widow of J. C. Sport and a long-time resident of Childress, died this morning at 6 o'clock at the home of her son, R. B. Sport, in Lubbock. She was 74 years of age.

The body was returned here today by the Newberry Funeral home, and burial beside her husband in Childress cemetery will follow a funeral service at First Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Orion W. Carter, pastor, will conduct the funeral, assisted by Rev. Paul W. Evans of King Memorial church.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. T. C. Bailiff of Carey, and four sons, W. B. Sport of Childress, L. C. Sport of Dallas, R. B. and Ross Sport of Lubbock.

Mrs. Sport had been in ill health for the past few years, but had been seriously ill only a short time. She had spent several weeks here before leaving recently for Lubbock. Her husband, a building contractor here for a number of years, died about four years ago.

To Join Army

MADRID (UP)—Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, is returning to Germany to offer his services to the government, it was reported today.

Schmeling interrupted his proposed trip to Lisbon to turn back.

MOSCOW (UP)—Premier Molotov, addressing a communist rally at the Moscow opera house, tonight reaffirmed soviet neutrality and said that "no effort to draw the soviet union into war can succeed."

The meeting climaxed the first day of a three day celebration of the red revolution anniversary, which was marked by the issuance of the first communist manifesto since the outbreak of the war in Europe.

The manifesto called on workers in allied countries to halt the war and attacked the action of the United States in repealing its arms embargo.

Molotov accused Great Britain and France of seeking to extend their influence into Scandinavian and Balkan countries for the purpose of increasing their own colonial possessions.

He hinted that the United States' neutrality act was a screen for eventual participation in the war.

City to Vote Tomorrow

Less than 100 votes are likely to be cast tomorrow in the special city election here to name a city councilman to fill the unexpired term of C. V. Jones. George Robertson is the only candidate.

Balloting will be at the city hall and W. G. Norris will serve as election judge. Polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 7.

Jones resigned his council seat when he was elected mayor to fill the term of W. A. Newman, who resigned when he was transferred to Denver. The term will expire next April.

Rumania Expels Newspaperman

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—Ferdinand Jahn, former United Press correspondent at Bucharest, arrived here today after being expelled from Rumania.

Jahn said that while no official reason was given for his expulsion, the government press director told him informally that the government was displeased with his account of Crown Prince Michael's 18th birthday celebration on Oct. 25. The dispatch contained a reference to Michael's mild romance last summer with a commoner.

Increase in Turkey Flocks Is Planned

Following Saturday's successful turkey show, members of the chamber of commerce and board of city development agriculture committee today announced plans for increasing the number of turkey flocks on farms of the Childress area.

Members of the committee believe that flocks can be started on from 40 to 75 more farms through a plan of cooperation between Childress business men and farm families.

Under the plan, business men will buy breeding stock of good grade turkeys and place them on farms, arranging with the farmers for repayment. One Tom and four hens. (Continued on page 12)

Rail Group Will Meet

Future action in the fight against the proposed merger of the Colorado and Southern and Fort Worth and Denver railroads will be discussed when members of the joint committee, representing the city of Childress, the board of city development and the chamber of commerce, meets here tomorrow afternoon.

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railway system, in a letter to the Texas committee, said the company will not reconsider the merger plan and will proceed with the plea now before the interstate commerce commission.

Budd, after a meeting last week with the committee, had agreed to have the estimates of probable saving to be effected by the move rechecked and to advise the committee whether the matter would be reconsidered.

Through Amon Carter, its chairman, the committee has advised Budd that it had hoped for withdrawal of the application but that it is not disheartened and will continue its efforts to bring about

SUSPECT WILL BE EXTRADITED

Extradition papers for the return of Alton Kelley from Long Beach, Calif. to Childress to face forgery charges have been issued by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and mailed to Gov. Olson of California.

Kelley was arrested at Long Beach last week upon the request of Sheriff Dick Moore of Childress. He will be returned here to face the charges as soon as extradition is granted.

Kelley was arrested after a search of several months. He is charged with forging a check here last summer.

He formerly lived with relatives in the Carev community.

Weekend activities of officers here were not as extensive as those of the previous week. Four men were jailed on drunkenness charges and were scheduled for trial this afternoon.

Highway patrolmen arrested two men on the highway north of Childress last night and will file charges against the pair this afternoon.

A bull was reported stolen from a farm near Kirkland yesterday, but the owner later found his animal.

A Childress man is scheduled to be tried on a speeding charge in justice court tomorrow afternoon. The charge was filed as the result of a collision several days ago.

County Jail Decision Due

Whether the present county jail will be torn down, retained or moved will probably be decided by members of the county commissioners' court at a meeting this afternoon.

When the new courthouse is completed, jail facilities on the fifth floor of the building will be used and the present structure will not be needed. The jail was built 15 years ago at a cost of $15,000.

A group of women requested the commissioners' court to convert the building into a county library, and several other suggestions for use of the building have been received.

The new, $225,000 courthouse building is nearing completion and is expected to be ready for occupancy before Dec. 1.

Norway Refuses To Return Flint To German Crew

BERGEN, Norway (UP)—Norway today rejected a new German protest against the release of the freighter, City of Flint, to her American crew, and there were increasing indications that the ship would leave her cargo here and return home.

Norway continued to maintain that Germany lost legal rights to the ship when the German prize crew took it into port, and that she is now free to go where the Americans want to take her.

Mrs. Borden Harriman, U. S. minister to Norway, also said that the ship is now free.

Three-Point Demand

Germany had made a three-point demand on Norway in the case of the Flint, it was announced today by authorized German sources.

The demands were:

1. Release of the German prize crew, which Norwegian authorities took from the City of Flint and interned.

2. Surrender of the ship and her cargo to Germany.

3. Or Norway to hold the ship at least until negotiations are completed.

The City of Flint, meanwhile, is expected to be on her way again soon.

The question is, will she try finally to deliver the cargo that she was carrying to England when the Germans seized her, or will she dump the cargo in Norway and try to get home before some new misfortune befalls her?

Mrs. Borden Harriman, United States minister to Norway, arrived today in Bergen, where the freighter lay at anchor once more under (Continued on page 12)

Smith to Enter Plea of Guilty

BATON ROUGE, La. (UP)—Dr. James Smith, former president of Louisiana State university will plead guilty to four charges in district court today and pave the way for quashing more than a score of indictments against him and his relatives.

The announcement was made by Smith's attorneys and District Attorney Dewey Sanchez.

Smith was scheduled to go on trial for three charges of forgery and one of embezzlement this morning. He became ill on the trip from New Orleans, where he was serving 30 months federal sentence for mail fraud in connection with the Louisiana scandals, precipitated with his resignation last June 25. He was ordered to bed on his arrival and start of the trial was postponed until two p. m.

Mr. Bozeman Brings Bride From Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bozeman, married in Dallas Sunday evening, arrived today to make their home here. Mr. Bozeman, sales representative of a tobacco firm in this area, has had his headquarters in Childress for some time.

The wedding was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Paul in Dallas and the service was read by a family friend, Bishop W. C. Martin of Omaha. An informal reception followed before the couple left for Childress.

Mrs. Bozeman is the former Miss Betty Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Gibson of Nashville, Ark. Mr. Bozeman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bozeman of Dallas. Both the bride and groom attended Cumberland university at Lebanon, Tenn. and Hendrix college at Conway, Ark.

For the present they are at home at 200 Third SE.

Naval Officer Of Quanah Weds

Miss Janette Philbrick of Portsmouth, N. H., and Lt. Robert B. Robertson of Quanah, one of the four officers who survived the sinking of the U. S. submarine Squalus last summer, were married Saturday at Portsmouth.

The bride is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Ernest H. Philbrick of the Portsmouth navy yard. Lt. Robertson grew up in Quanah and attended school there. His family was well known in this section.

Flower Show Remains Open Until 6:30 for Late Comers

Simply Covered With Smartness

This winter's nightgowns, bathrobes and negligees are as feminine and as flattering to the figure as day and evening dresses. The smart white robe, above, of white toweling with marine blue accents, is worn by Ann Sheridan, motion picture actress.

Open until 6:30 this afternoon, the Garden club flower show at the Department club house will welcome late comers who are employed until 5 or 6 o'clock and were not able to be present for the program earlier.

Entries were all in place by 11 o'clock this morning and judging was complete before the show was open to the public at 2:30.

First sweepstakes prize went to Mrs. W. U. Dannelly and second to Mrs. Q. S. Barrett.

Most striking display in the show is the table of dahlias, although there is a more complete collection of roses. The freeze of last week damaged the blooms somewhat but there are still some fine blooms.

Early chrysanthemums fill one table, flower arrangements of varied types, pot plants, and wild flowers still others. Also interesting is the display of flowering or berried shrubs.

Visitors to the show this afternoon were served punch at a table centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles. Colorful pottery cups and punch bowl were used.

The program featured a talk by Mrs. R. L. Kincaid of Crowell on her recent trip to Hawaii.

All members of the Garden club acted as hostesses. Mrs. P. R. Jeter is president of the club and Mrs. Walter Smith is flower show chairman.

US WOMEN

By Sue Vinson.

Going to church is usually its own reward, but an extra reward for two trips to church yesterday was the sight of two returned natives who were at the services with relatives.

Mrs. F. W. Tunnell of Stephenville, who was Jewel Wallis when she left a record of "straight A" reports in Childress high school a few years ago, was with her brother, Larkin Wallis, in whose home she is a guest. She is as blonde and almost as tiny as she was then. She proudly introduced a husky young son to the friends who greeted her, and as proudly mentioned the younger daughter who did not come to church.

Marie Shell, now Mrs. Patterson, was here with her father, Rev. Garland Shell of Temple, who spoke from his former pulpit at the Presbyterian church. Her husband came along, too, and they all visited her cousins, Alva and Hazel Bullock. Marie, who was a high school girl when the family left here, has developed much of her mother's graciousness as she grew up, but still looks like her father.

Meeting new people is as nice sometimes as finding old friends again. In that category goes a brief acquaintance with Mrs. J. B. Johnson's pretty mother, Mrs. G. W. Nunley of Bowie, who was a visitor in the Johnson home recently and was introduced to a good many of her daughter's friends here.

Idlehour Club Invites Guests To Dinner Party

Members of the Idlehour Needle club entertained with a dinner at the home of Mrs. George Spear Saturday night.

Following the meal, which consisted of baked hen, dressing, gravy, congealed salad, candied sweet potatoes, creamed peas, cranberries, fruit cake and coffee, the group spent the evening playing "42".

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crosslin, and Marshall Reimenschneider.

Members were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Happy Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Inman, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Franklin and Mrs. Audie Low.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a hostess rise to greet a guest?
2. Should a woman open a car door, or wait for a man to open it for her?
3. Should a girl remain seated if she is introduced to a woman her mother's age?
4. Is a former senator called Mr. Smith?
5. Should a wine glass be lifted from the table when it is being filled?

What would you do if—
You are leaving a person you have just met and you want to be cordial in your good-bye. Would you say—

- (a) "Good-bye, I'm so glad to have met you?"
- (b) "Good-bye, I hope we will meet again soon?"

Answers

1. Yes.
2. She should expect him to open it.
3. No.

Funds From Sale Adequate for Football Banquet

Enough money to finance the annual father-son banquet for high school football players was realized from the benefit rummage sale sponsored by the Bobcat Mothers club in a downtown building Saturday, it was announced today by Mrs. George Thompson, general chairman.

She expressed the club's appreciation for all assistance given the project—to those who donated articles for the sale, those who worked during the day and the preceding week in securing and arranging the donations, and especially to Ernest Butcher, in charge of the building which housed the sale.

Definite plans for the banquet will be made by the club at its regular meeting Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mallory Is Bride of A. O. Larned

The marriage of Miss Pansy Mallory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mallory, and A. O. Larned, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Larned, was solemnized Saturday evening by John G. Reese, minister of the Church of Christ, at his home.

The couple was unattended for the simple ceremony. The bride wore a beige ensemble with black accessories.

She is a graduate of the high school at Community Center, where her family has lived for a number of years, and for the past two years has been on the staff of a beauty shop here.

Mr. Larned is employed as an automobile mechanic at a garage here, and the couple will be at home in Childress.

Mrs. Gay Chosen County Chairman Of Beautification

Officers for the coming year were named by the Citizens Committee on Highway Beautification when it met in the home of Mrs. Dan Jones last week. Mrs. John Gay was appointed chairman to succeed Mrs. A. Johnson.

Mrs. G. A. Bracher was chosen as program chairman for the year, and Mrs. John R. Botsford as reporter.

Mrs. Botsford was in charge of the day's program, reviewing a book on highway landscaping by Jac Gubbels, director of that work with the state highway department.

The next meeting, on Dec. 7, will be a Christmas party with a gift exchange. After the program and business meeting the hostess served sandwiches, baked apples and hot chocolate.

Child Health and Safety Are Topics

Dr. J. H. Jernigan will speak on "Child Hygiene" and Bill Alderman on "Safety" to East Ward Parent-Teacher association at its meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Neil Vanzant is program chairman. Music will be by pupils directed by Miss Faye Maxwell, public school music instructor.

The executive board will meet preceding the general program, at 3 o'clock.

M. E. YOUNG PEOPLE

Aileene Howard was program leader for the young people's department of First Methodist church yesterday morning. The subject was "Making Wise Decisions." Speakers were Elleta Harris and Clark Jones.

IF THROAT IS SORE

IF A COLD has given you a miserable sore throat, here's how to relieve the suffering.

DO THIS NOW—Melt a small lump of VapoRub on your tongue and feel the comforting medication slowly trickle down your throat—bathing the irritated membranes—bringing blessed relief where you want it, when you want it.

DO THIS TONIGHT—Rub throat, chest with VapoRub. Its long continued poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, eases coughing, invites healing sleep.

Miss Price Again Queen Candidate

Miss Jeanne Price of Childress, who was elected Skyline popularity queen at Colorado Woman's college last year, has been nominated again for that honor for 1940. She is one of the seven nominees from which the queen will be elected and announced in the college yearbook.

Selected by the student body from among 133 sophomores, Miss Price is prominent on the campus as president of Beta Phi Gamma, assistant copy editor of the Western Graphic, member of Delta Tau Kappa, WAA and the Southwestern club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Price.

Homecoming at Tech Scheduled

LUBBOCK.—Flare of trumpets and cheers from the student pep squad will open Texas Tech's Homecoming celebration November 17-18. With 40,000 exes to draw from, President Marshall Formby of the Alumni and Ex-Students association predicts a record crowd at the Friday evening rally climaxed by the traditional bonfire, and at the Red Raider-Marquette game Saturday afternoon.

Tentative plans for Nov. 18 include a morning reception in the lounge of one of the men's dormitories, a parade with floats entered by various campus clubs, and a noon get-together on Tech field preceding the game. Homecoming dance will complete the day's activities.

The pep rally, held in Tech stadium, will be broadcast over Texas State Network. Tech's 100-piece band will furnish music and former students will speak.

For More Mildness—Coolness and Flavor

CAMELS SLOW-BURNING COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Here's luxury and thrift together!

TOBACCO'S temperament! Its elements of flavor and aroma are delicate...fragile.

And nothing destroys tobacco flavor...nothing turns natural fragrance into tasteless discomfort like...heat!

Fast-burning cigarettes can't yield either comfort or delicate taste. They taste...well, like anything but a good cigarette.

Camel's slow-burning, costlier tobaccos give you the luxury of milder, cooler, more fragrant and flavorful smoking.

And that luxury not only doesn't cost you more...it costs you less! Simple arithmetic shows you how slow burning also gives you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack! (See panel at right.)

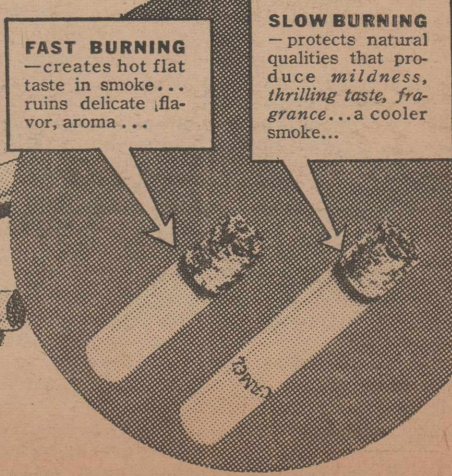

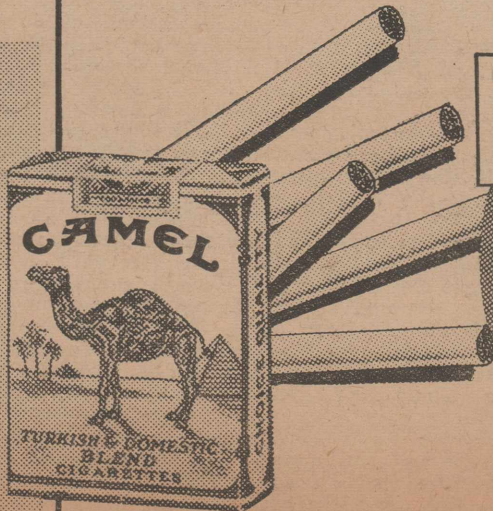

A prominent scientific laboratory recently made impartial tests on 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands. They found that CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See above, right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

FAST BURNING—creates hot flat taste in smoke... ruins delicate flavor, aroma...

SLOW BURNING—protects natural qualities that produce mildness, thrilling taste, fragrance... a cooler smoke...

Just Around The Corner

In case you've forgotten, tomorrow is election day. In most states, it will be practically the same as any other Tuesday. It will be the usual spectacle of an electorate in the doldrums the year before a presidential election.

Voters in California and Ohio, however, are anything but apathetic. Both states have old-age pension referenda, and political ammunition from both sides has kept voters aware of the issue. In New York, practical politicians want to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races and let the state take its share of the swag.

Conservatives in California and Ohio are frankly worried. The mere fact that enough favorable interest was aroused by the pension advocates to get the question on the ballots in these two states is evidence enough that the schemes have a chance of getting the voters' stamp of approval. And if that happens—

The painful reminder of Colorado's $50-a-month pension to all jobless persons over 60 plagues unhappy statisticians in California and Ohio. Colorado, it seems, is gradually going broke. And this state's liberal pension plan is mere chicken feed compared to what pension advocates in California and Ohio are asking.

The California "ham and eggs" plan calls for a $30 weekly payment to all unemployed persons over the age of 50. Ohio's Clergyman Herbert Bigelow is slightly less radical in his plan to give everyone above the age of 60 a guaranteed income of $50 a month or $80 a month for a couple. Budget experts in both states disagree with pension exponents on the costs of the two plans. Statisticians it seems, can't quite make the figures balance.

A few other states have issues of importance largely to their own citizens. Legislators will be elected in Virginia, New Jersey, and Kentucky. A governor will also be chosen by Kentuckians.

About 350 cities are electing council members or are voting on local referenda.

The elections have virtually no significance as far as 1940 presidential possibilities are concerned. But they will be a reminder that a presidential election is only a year away. All the fanfare, ballyhoo, conventions, campaigns are yet to come. The neutrality debate has already delayed the political growth of dozens of candidacies which flourished during the spring and summer and then withered momentarily while the nation turned to a "non-political" topic.

American voters may as well prepare themselves for a stiff political season. There's a lot of catching up to be done. Favorite sons and their managers are already champing at the bit and pawing the dust, waiting for the disposition of the neutrality bill to give them the starting gun.

BARBS

Someone has just come out with a "turkeyfurter"—turkey on a roll with cranberry sauce—just to prove the inventive spirit is not yet dead in this country.

It requires a lot more skill to drop pamphlets over Berlin than to drop bombs, as anyone who has ever tried to toss a playing card into a hat can testify.

Bears in Yellowstone Park are being tried by a special court and sentenced for a variety of offenses. Such bearish escapades as biting off the hand that feeds them are now looked upon as anti-social.

Apparently no one spotted the French railroad engineer who sneaked across the Western Front with a freight train.

If President Roosevelt is re-elected to a third term, Republicans will hold Hitler personally responsible.

The Great What-Is-It

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
 United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP) — Texans have been told so often that the state is breaking its pledged word by not paying old folks at least $15 a month to match federal aid, that most of the state has come to believe it.

Speakers glibly assume that the state has a binding contract with the old folks, the blind, children and school teachers.

That claim is based on the adoption of constitutional amendments of those topics. None of the amendments goes farther than to give the legislators power to grant aid under terms and to the extent they deem needed, within specified limits.

Sections of the constitution are amendments to Article III. Section 48-A governs teacher retirement; Section 51-B deals with old age assistance; Section 51-C with assistance to blind, and Section 51-D with assistance for destitute children.

The section on teacher retirement specifies that the legislature "shall have the right". The others vary only by using the words "shall have the power".

The case for teacher retirement being a binding obligation is stronger than that for other aid. The legislature exercised the "right" given it and drafted a teacher retirement law for matching funds contributed by teachers, but failed to make an appropriation to pay the matching.

The fact that old age pensioners have no legal claim was settled definitely when Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson filed a suit to enjoin repayment out of old age assistance funds of money advanced by bankers to tide over a former shortage of pension funds.

Judge Ralph Yarborough ruled that the pensioners have no litigable right. The suit was continued on petition of a tax-payer.

Special elections in three legislative districts on Nov. 28 will give the people in those districts a chance to show popular sentiment on a sales tax as a means to pay old age pensions and the other "obligations".

A popular demand on the candidates for the three places to make a definite statement on that issue may have a big effect on the whole state.

Two of the representatives had voted for SJR 12 which included a sales tax. The third had voted against it. If it is made an issue in electing their successors on Nov. 28, the outcome of the races is sure to enter into legislative debate at a special session.

Gov. O'Daniel's promise to announce a decision next Sunday about calling a special session does not give him an opportunity to see what the new members will do. If he calls the session and has it begin around Nov. 28 the pressure from the election results will be all the stronger. Some believe O'Daniel is counting on that to help put over his "consumers' tax".

Rep. W. N. Corry of Keller and Rep. E. R. Wright of Huntsville, two of those who resigned, voted for SJR 12. Rep. Marvin London of Montague voted against it.

Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine, who will create another vacancy if he accepts his recent appointment as head of the utility division of the state railroad commission, voted for SJR 12.

Some believe Cotten may not resign immediately but wait until

THE POET'S CORNER

"I WON'T PLAY"
 By Mable C. Bogan.

Yesterday I heard them say,
 "If you don't, then I won't play."
 These were children next door.

What causes man to be that way,
 Want his way from day to day,
 Want to rule by force or threat?

We see a man toiling hard
 Like the children in my yard,
 Joy in his hard labor or play.

Placing high his dreams in life,
 Honest labor and sacrifice
 As the humble life he lives.

Some other comes his way,
 Watching him from day to day,
 Sees success is near.

Then demands he give him now
 What he has earned and made the vow

He would accomplish in life.
 He tries to be fair and tell
 He can't give the place well
 That he has earned alone.

But you hear the fellow say,
 "If you don't, I won't play,"
 Like the children small.

This is the first of three articles dealing with the problems of the hunting season.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

During the hunting season, earnest sportsmen bearing firearms can be seen circulating in woods and in bushes throughout the nation.

In Colorado recently, I saw a huntsman start out early in the morning with a red hat, a purple jacket and tan pants. He explained that this was all in the interest of his own safety. Last year, he said, three hunters were killed in 10 days during the deer-hunting season. He was taking no chances of being mistaken for a buck.

Every year, from November to February, about 7,000,000 hunters start out to see what they can shoot or to shoot what they think they see. The result is death or serious injury for many hunters, victims of gun accidents, each year.

The number of deaths from firearms in hunting has not decreased since 1913. Hunters have been warned not to carry loaded guns in automobiles or wagons, not to climb over a fence and pull the gun after them, not to allow a loaded gun to lie in the bottom of a boat, not to try to shoot a gun after stumbling or falling, not to shoot at any moving object unless they are sure it is what they think it is, and not to try to shoot any kind of an animal when there might be a human being in the line of fire.

It may spoil the sport for some to observe these precautions, but it will make the woods safer.

Carelessness in hunting produces catastrophes. The sportsman who has once killed a human being is not going to care much about hunting in the future.

NEXT: Other hazards of hunting.

This is YOUR Opportunity— Accept It Today!

Accept this amazing CHILDRESS INDEX offer today! Accept NOW while the opportunity is before you. Read below the simple directions that enable you to have this priceless collection of symphonic music in your home—together with a record-playing instrument that doubles the value of your radio by turning it into a radio-phonograph.

Read below the Rules and Conditions governing the CHILDRESS INDEX'S Music Appreciation Offer. Note that you need send no money—just mail the Reservation Form in the lower right corner of this announcement. Fill out the Form and mail it at once.

RULES and CONDITIONS OF THIS OFFER

To obtain the 10 symphonies and symphonic masterpieces and the electric Record Player to be distributed by THE CHILDRESS INDEX in its Music Appreciation Plan proceed as follows:

First, fill in and mail the Reservation Form printed in the lower right corner of this page. The purpose of this form is not to obligate you in any way but to enable the INDEX to estimate the quantity of records and Record Players to have on hand to meet the demand.

Each day during this music appreciation offer the INDEX will publish a reminder coupon setting forth the date on which each symphony will be ready. You can get your first symphony (Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B minor) on November 4th. Subsequent symphonies will be released one every two weeks thereafter. Watch the INDEX'S reminder coupon which will be published daily. It is not necessary for you to clip the coupons in order to get your records or Record Player.

You obtain each symphony, which consists of three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a payment of $1.49. This payment is not for each record but for all THREE or FOUR records. Symphonies which consist of FIVE double-faced 12-inch records require a payment of $1.98 for the entire symphony of all FIVE records. The Cesar Franck Symphony in D minor, on account of its great length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is $1.49, the same as for any other three-record group.

A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, enclosed in beautiful record albums which have been designed individually for each particular symphony, are available at a slightly higher price.

After you have obtained all ten of the symphonies, you can secure the Electric Record Player for a payment of only $3. If you want to get your Record Player earlier, you can do so—you can get it with your first group of records, your second, third, or any other group, merely by depositing a total of $8 with the INDEX. After you have obtained all of the 10 symphonies, $2 will be returned to you. Thus, whether you get your Record Player before or after you have obtained all of the symphonies, the cost to you is only $3.

For those who want a more elaborate Record Player, a Symphonic De Luxe Model, enclosed in a walnut case, is available at a higher price.

First, mail the Reservation Form to assist us in our distribution problems. Please check whether or not you want the Record Player reserved. The INDEX will acknowledge your reservation by mail. Filling in and mailing the reservation entails no obligation whatever on your part.

BOBCATS TO DEFEND CONFERENCE LEAD AGAINST INDIANS

Surprise Team Will Return to Home Field

On top in district 2AA to the consternation of the pre-season dopsters who relegated them to the second division, the Childress Bobcats will open their campaign to defend the lead when they meet the Quannah Indians at Fair Park field Friday night.

With two victories and one tie on their conference record, the Bobcats hold an edge over the Wichita Falls Coyotes, in second place with three wins and one loss, and the Electra Tigers and Olney Cubs, knotted for third place with two triumphs and one setback each.

The Indians themselves are in fourth place, still in sight of the title, with a win and a loss.

The Bobcats have moved through half of their conference schedule without a defeat, despite the loss of Vic Bates, their high scoring fullback who was out of half the Vernon game and the entire Olney affair with a knee injury. Three of the tougher teams, Quannah, Wichita Falls and Electra, remain on their slate.

The Indians got off to a miserable start, losing to Chillicothe, tying Wellington and barely beating Memphis in non-conference contests against class A opponents. They also succumbed to Plainview before they opened league play.

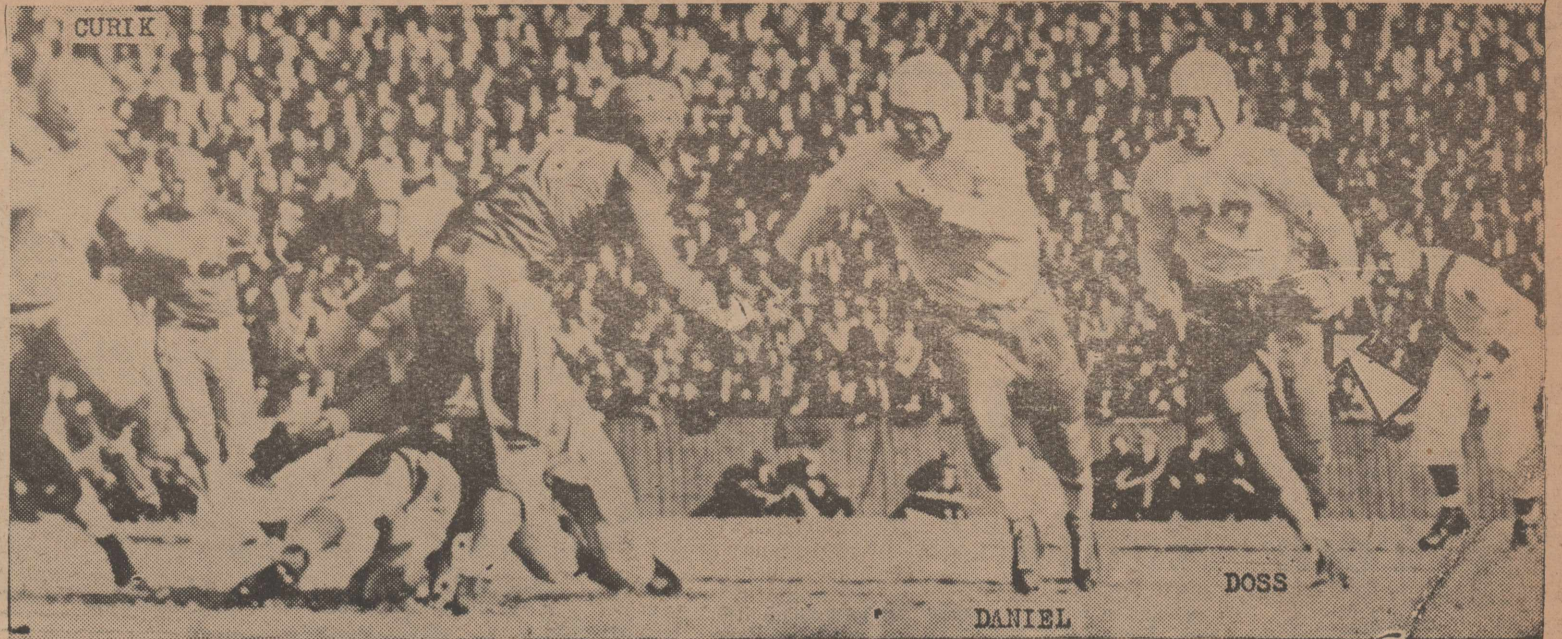

As their conference campaign got underway, the Redskins started improving and in the opener, pushed the Wichita Falls Coyotes to the limit before dropping a 13-0 decision. Last week, they rallied late in the game to beat Graham 13-8.

The Indian attack and defense centers around their big fullback, Wells, who runs, passes and kicks on offense, and backs up the line on defense. He is a terrific line plunger and a better-than-average passer and kicker. Aiding Wells in the backfield is O. K. Edmondson, pee-wee speedster.

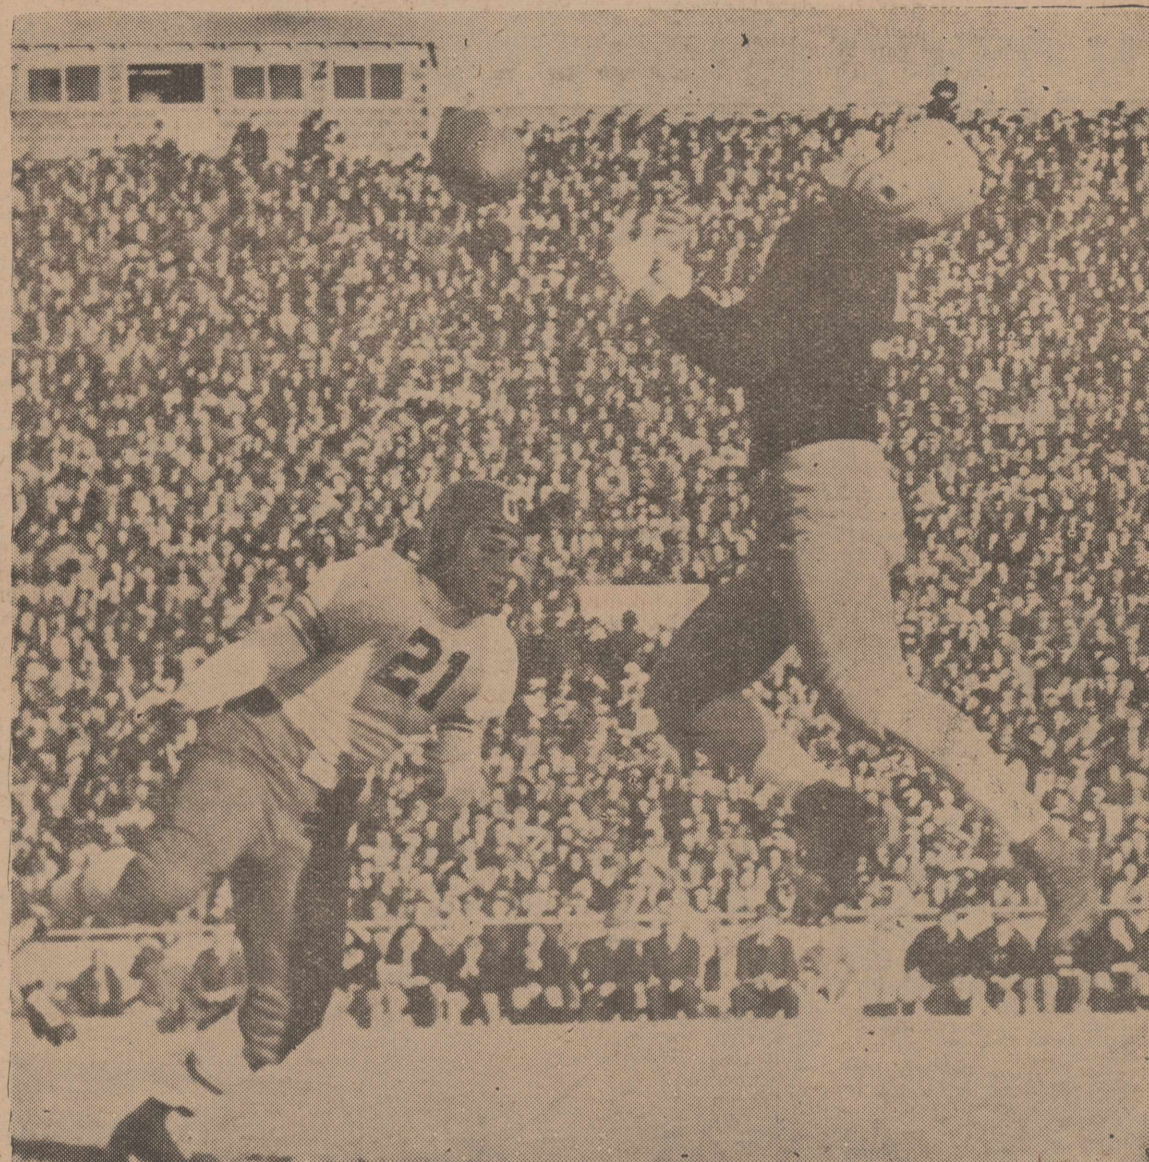

Up in front is a big line that hasn't been whipped all season.

The Tribe uses a peculiar defensive formation that is particularly effective against ground plays.

The Bobcats hope to be in the best physical condition of the season for the Friday night game. Eates is improving steadily and should be ready for full-time duty against Quannah. Other members of the squad who have been nursing injuries are in top shape.

SMU'S MUSTANGS bottled up Jack Crain and whipped the Texas Longhorns at Dallas Saturday, 10-0, but another Texas sophomore, Noble Doss of Temple, continued his fine ball carrying. Here Doss (77) is shown on a swing around end for an eight-yard gain. Chal Daniels of Longview (39) is the blocker. (Acme Telephoto)

TAKING THE AIR in an effort to compete with Oklahoma's burly Sooners, Iowa State had little luck Saturday and lost a 38-6 decision. In this Acme Telephoto, Orland Peterson (57) of Iowa leaps into the air but lets a pass get away while Marvin Whited (21), once a star for the Quannah Indians and Hollis Tigers and now in the Oklahoma backfield, charges in.

TWO ALL-AMERICANS Bear Wolf Moves on at Carolina. With Stirnweiss and Lalanne

By JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Editor

Raymond Wolf, who hasn't the slightest idea why folks call him "Bear", isn't sure whether he is blessed or cursed with having two quarterbacks of All-American caliber.

As it develops, however, the situation appears to be an enviable one as North Carolina goes about proving who's who in the south, anyhow, and what's all this talk about Tennessee and Tulane?

The slick-moving Tarheels are moving toward their first undefeated season in North Carolina history and only Duke stands as a major obstacle between them and their goal. There's a matter of a 14-14 deadlock with Tulane already listed on the books, but that's in the nature of an accomplishment rather than a blotch on the family escutcheon.

It's a well-knit team which the baldish Wolf has put together, but the story of the Tarheels is the story of Gen. George Stirnweiss, the Fugitive from Fordham, and Sweet Jim Lalanne, the Lafayette, La., lad who was shooed off the premises at Tulane because he was too small.

Since he took over four years ago Wolf has been trying to adapt the Tarheels to the type of football so popular in his home bailiwick of Texas.

Wolf figured he was ready this season with Stirnweiss and Lalanne pitching to sticky-fingered receivers.

Result: One of the best passing attacks in Dixie, possibly in the country.

Stirnweiss, 177-pound co-captain who attended Fordham Prep School and then walked right down to Chapel Hill under Jimmy Crowley's nose, is a true triple-threat.

Lalanne, a junior on the slight side at 164 pounds, is the same sort of operative. Wolf at first thought he might use them at the same time, with Stirnweiss going to half, but finally decided to alternate them. It is a shame to keep such talent on the sideline, but he did it to keep his attack balanced.

FOOTBALL SMU and Aggie Battle Heads Southwest Card

FORT WORTH.—Heavy action on all fronts is the Southwest Conference outlook, for the second consecutive week.

For the first time since the '39 grid campaign got under way, all seven conference teams will see action in Texas. Fort Worth, Houston, Waco and College Station will Sid Sadoff, another New York product, who plays fullback, is a whale of a line-cracker and defensive man. George Radman from Lorrain, O., is an exceptional pass receiver and ball carrier at left half. Mike Bobbit, the only native in the backfield, is a corking blocker.

So Wolf stuck to his idea of alternating his two stars. Then, too, there was the happy thought that he always had a psychological sword to hold over the enemy's head: "What's the use of stopping Stirnweiss . . . it'll only bring Lalanne on deck." And vice versa.

FOOTBALL Upsets Feature Schoolboy Race; Seven Unbeaten

Upsets featured last week's play in Texas high school football as favorites fell and several district races were thrown into confusion.

Seven teams remain undefeated and untied. They are Sweetwater, El Paso High, Gainesville, Breckenridge, Livingston, South Park (Beaumont) and Austin. Sweetwater crushed Stephenville 47-14, El Paso nosed out Mexico City Y. M. C. A. college 14-12 and Livingston defeated Beaumont 19-6, while the others were idle last week.

Here's how they stack up in the district races:

- 1, Lubbock, Amarillo tied for lead;
- 2, Childress on top;
- 3, Sweetwater undisputed leader;
- 4, El Paso High, Austin (El Paso) undefeated;
- 5, Sherman, Gainesville undefeated;
- 6, Sulphur Springs only undefeated, untied team;
- 7, North Side (Fort Worth) and Masonic Home (Fort Worth) tied for lead;
- 8, Woodrow Wilson only undefeated team;
- 9, Breckenridge only undefeated, untied team;
- 10, Waco, Cleburne undefeated;
- 11, Tyler undisputed leader;
- 12, Lufkin, Nacogdoches undefeated;
- 13, Austin (Houston) only undefeated team;
- 14, South Park (Beaumont), Livingston undefeated;
- 15, Austin, Breckenridge (San Antonio) undefeated;
- 16, upper bracket, Corpus Christi undefeated but Robstown has not played a conference game; lower bracket, Brownsville, Edinburg undefeated.

be the scenes of the four battles.

The TCU Frogs will entertain the Tulsa Golden Hurricane. Both teams are well below par this year and are sparring for the underdog position. Tulsa is one of two teams (the other Rice) to which a Meyer-coached team has not bowed in his five seasons at the TCU helm.

SMU and A&M meet in Dallas in a game that for more than two weeks has had conference fans a-jitter. Grid followers have chosen their teams and the argument waxes hot, but all agree on one thing—it will be a football game!

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who have given a better account of themselves than the record indicates, come out of the mountains to the land of the bayou to play the luckless Rice Owls. Few will even venture an opinion on this one.

Baylor and Texas, playing in Waco, make up the fourth pairing for the weekend. The Bears are not given too much of a chance to take the rejuvenated Longhorns, but the Bears have a way about them at home. This could be the surprise of the week.

The Armistice Day card (the contests are regularly scheduled for Saturday and are on Armistice Day only accidentally) will put the end of the regular Southwest football season well in sight.

After next Saturday's play there will be but 11 games remaining out of 49 on the 1939 schedule. Nine of these 11 are conference contests, however, so that many things could yet happen, in spite of the small number of games left.

Get the Want Ad Habit!

THE
TEXAS

By Gene A. Howe.

What I am afraid will happen is this:

The dry weather will carry on and on until it just has to break loose and then it may break loose too hard and it sure will be hard on us cowmen. When the break does come I'm expecting a slow, drippy rain that will just keep falling for hours and hours and then followed by a snow to be followed in turn by a freeze. And everything may be frozen up for weeks.

This clear weather, day after day and for so many weeks, and months, augers for a hard, hard winter. A bad, terrible winter is about to break out and it WILL break out this winter.

The biggest lie of this year: Curtis Douglass was just in and I can state positively that he will NOT be a candidate to succeed Marvin Jones. Mr. Douglass isn't interested at all. Instead of running himself he says he will support Old Tack right down the line.

I'm in bad with a certain man who is a Scotchman or who comes of Scotch people. He told me a story on a Jew. It was about how tight a Jewish merchant was on some deal. And I changed it to a Scotch merchant and now the man who gave me the story sure is mad.

Winchell says the Yankees are on the verge of being peddled for seven and a half millions. He also says: Many New-Yorkers lost their life savings several years ago when the Bank of the United States closed. But the receivers, who have paid off 89 per cent of the obligations, will pay off the remaining 11 per cent, and there will be a five per cent surplus, indicating that the bank was sound all the time, and that all that panic, which caused suicides, ruined businesses, broke up homes, etc., was completely unnecessary. Racial prejudice killed the bank.

But here is the most, most remarkable statement made by Winchell in a long, long time:

Don't be surprised if Texas sends Elliott Roosevelt to the Senate to replace Tom Connally. How do you do, Mr. Connally, how DO you do?

Senator Connally is up for reelection next year, which will be just about the biggest political year in the lifetime of most of us.

From a down state paper: When Jack Crain, speedster, was being congratulated for his touchdown run at Austin that netted 69 yards and beat Arkansas University in the last ten seconds, he said:

"All credit belongs to Johnny Gill who called the play."

Jack explained. Gill, a reserve blocking back, had been in the game only the last few minutes; but he noticed on certain plays he (Gill) wasn't covered in the right flat zone.

The Longhorns knew they had time for only one more play. Crain usually calls signals; but Gill suggested he and Crain swap positions.

"I'll block the halfback," said Gill.

Crain, in the blocking back's position, feinted a block at the Arkansas end, who committed himself and put himself out of the play. Crain then raced out to the side, and in a right flat zone took a short pass from Patrick. True to his word, Gill blocked the Arkansas halfback on that side, and Crain went for a touchdown.

From Winchell: If you think the European countries can ever have any kind of peace, do you know that Poland and Germany, for example, have fought 60 years wars at one time or another, with each other? . . . How can there be peace in Spain, even though the war is over, when Franco has vowed that he must wipe out over a million Spaniards who fought against him? . . . If, as the leaders in Russia, Italy and Germany say, the people are behind the dictators, why are they afraid to have the people say or read

Tuberculin Test Gives No Cause For Alarm, But Basis for Study

(This is the second of a series of articles by Dr. J. H. Jernigan, Childress physician, explaining the tuberculin tests which will start soon among school children of this county. In the first article he discussed causes of tuberculosis. Today he describes the skin test and the meaning of its reactions.)

There are two types of tuberculosis, the childhood type and the adult type. Tuberculosis is generally acquired during childhood. If the infection is not too great and the general resistance of the child is good, this may pass entirely unnoticed. There may not be any symptoms whatever, although a doctor can easily determine whether or not the child has been infected. This is ascertained by a skin test known as the tuberculin test.

This is a simple, economical, specific test that requires only a few minutes of time to do. It has its greatest value in children and has less value in adults. This does not mean that it can not be used to advantage in adults. The tuberculin test should be done only by a physician.

Tuberculin is a colorless liquid extracted from dead tubercle bacilli. It is harmless and can in no way produce tuberculosis. There are many modifications in the method of administering the test, most of which bear the name of the man originating the special types of test.

The test in common use is known as the intracutaneous test (Mantoux). It consists of the injection of minute quantities of tuberculin, properly diluted, into the outlying layers of the skin.

Within a period of 48 hours, if the individual has at any time been infected with tuberculosis germs, the skin will become slightly swollen, indurated, (hardened) and reddened. If there is no local reaction the test is considered negative. Positive reactions are classified as one, two, three, or four plus, depending on the width of the swelling and redness of the skin.

The National Tuberculosis Association lists the following standards in reading the test: "A reaction showing some redness and definite swelling, more than 5 m. m. and not exceeding 10 m. m. diameter, is recorded as one-plus reaction. A two plus is an area of redness and edema measuring 10 to 20 m. m. in diameter. A three plus reaction is characterized by marked redness and swelling exceeding 20 m. m. in diameter. A four plus reaction consists of marked redness and swelling and an area of necrosis (sloughing of tissues). A reaction with slight swelling and a trace of redness measuring 5 m. m. or less is marked doubtful."

A positive tuberculin test always means infection with the tubercle bacilli. A positive test does not indicate activity of the process or if it has been completely healed. In order to determine if the infection is of any consequence or is what they please? . . . How many Americans know that Germany calls the United States "Unser Amerika" (our America) and teaches children that our country rightfully belongs to them and some day will? . . . How true are those reports that Franco intends to ask the United States for Puerto Rico, which once belonged to Spain, as soon as Adolf starts to ask for colonies from Britain? . . . Doesn't Franco know that we have no Chamberlains over here? . . . Don Ameche must shelve work for two months—doctor's orders . . . A German short wave announcer from Berlin (furious at H. R. Knickerbocker's dispatches) the other night called Knick: "A dirty red-headed Jew" (which he isn't) followed by a seven letter word . . . The White House is said to have received a confidential memo from Army and Navy officials favoring the settlement of European refugees in Alaska . . . The Army and Navy both said: "There cannot be any question as to their loyalty to America in case we ever have to defend Alaska" . . . Years ago a Mr. H. W. St. John of Greenville, S. C., invented a golf gadget called "Grab-bit," which was to be used for retrieving golf balls from water hazards . . . He took it to a large sporting goods manufacturer who accepted it, and he was paid a handsome sum for the manufacturing rights for 10 years . . . "When do you intend to start making them?" asked the inventor . . . "Never," was the reply, "we make our money through lost golf balls—not in finding them. They are going like periscopes at a coronation."

attended with any potential danger the child should be further studied by the family physician and the examination should include X-ray film of the chest.

Most positive reactions turn out to be harmless, and parents should be cautioned against assuming that a positive reaction means active disease. With the receipt of a positive report many parents enter into a wild state of alarm, which is absolutely unnecessary. A positive test indicates previous infection and not disease.

In a few instances a test may be found to be negative when it should be positive or later becomes positive. Some of these conditions are measles, whooping cough, in far advanced and terminal phases of tuberculosis and in any of the extremely debilitating conditions, as cancer. These conditions are infrequently encountered and are of little importance but should be mentioned.

Rarely does a test once positive later become negative. When this occurs the tuberculin germs are not considered to be alive and are thought to be completely incapsulated by the tissues composing the disease mechanisms of the body.

The most useful bit of information from a positive tuberculin test, besides emphasizing infection has occurred, is that it indicates that a source of infection lies within the child's contacts. After all of the immediate household contacts have been thoroughly studied, in many instances unrecognized and unsuspected cases of tuberculosis will be located.

These cases lie hidden under an obscure impression of "summer cold," chronic bronchitis, and malaria. Through the location of the active case, the patient can receive treatment for the condition and the source of infection to uninfected immediate household members, as well as outside contacts, may be broken.

Only through the leads furnished by these positive reactors can these potentially more dangerous cases be located. Underlying this principle of breaking the chain of contact lies most of the modern concept of the control of tuberculosis.

If a child is found to have tuberculosis and is sent to an institution, every means should be taken to locate the source of infection. If some member of the household proves to be the offender and other children are present, they soon will become infected unless proper measures are taken regarding the original source of infection.

It is believed that from 30 to 50 per cent of all children harbor the germ somewhere in their systems, even though these children generally enjoy good health. It is only when the child gets a massive infection or when his resistance breaks down as a result of other causes such as malnutrition, frequent colds, bronchitis, fatigue and various infectious diseases, that tuberculosis may become manifest as an active disease.

When this is the case in a child, the disease probably has already entered the lung. In other words, the child is then definitely tuberculous, and the disease is affecting the lung tissue itself.

This is the most dangerous and perhaps the most fatal type of tuberculosis. Up to a few years ago it was considered hopeless; but now, when the condition is recognized in the early stages and given proper treatment, the outlook is somewhat changed. At best, however, it is the most fatal disease in childhood. Fortunately, this is a rare occurrence.

When the disease is confined to the glands in the chest, it is comparatively benign and is compatible with good health. Hence it is important to keep up resistance by avoiding unnecessary fatigue, infectious disease, if possible, and further infection by the tuberculous germ.

Don't Look, But Here's That Ship

BERGEN, Norway (UP)—Members of the American crew of the City of Flint, in a message to the United Press early today, said they saw the German liner Bremen in the Russian port of Murmansk during the five days they were held in the Arctic port.

The sides of the big German liner, which sailed from New York just before the outbreak of the war and then disappeared mysteriously from the seas, were said by the American seamen to have been smeared with grey paint in an apparent attempt to disguise or camouflage her.

NEWS OF YOUR NEIGHBORS

Burning Truck Menaces Station

ELECTRA.—When a farmer bringing a truck load of hay to town Saturday discovered the hay on fire, he thought it a good idea to make for the nearest filling station to phone for the fire department.

The idea did not seem to good to firemen who rushed to the Bill More service station and found the blazing cargo endangering two tanks of gasoline as well as adjacent buildings.

It took the combined efforts of the firemen, service station operators and truck driver, to move the burning machine to a vacant lot before the actual fire fighting began. Both the hay and truck were damaged badly.

Work to Begin on Bridge at Hollis

HOLLIS.—Construction is scheduled to begin within the next 30 days on a $97,788 concrete and steel bridge across the Salt Fork of Red river between Hollis and Vinson following a letting of a contract last week by the state highway commission, it was announced here today.

Merveldt & Lawson, Inc., in charge of construction, said the bridge would be .67 mile in length and will be located exactly 10 miles north of Hollis on highway 30. The project also includes grade and drainage approaching the structure.

Romancers, 71, Elope to Hollis

HOLLIS.—A 71-year-old couple drove all the way from the Texas Panhandle to Hollis to secure a marriage permit and asked for the "marrying parson" here, Rev. J. H. McCuiston because — well, "just because" as the bride, Mrs. Hester N. Coleman, 71, of Parnell, Texas, said.

"Because we were both lonely, and she is the best pancake maker there is," said the groom, R. L. Moss, 71, of Ashtola, Texas.

Paducah Holds to Old Thanksgiving

PADUCAH.—Despite the fact that President Roosevelt proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 23, as Thanksgiving day, Paducah will celebrate on Nov. 30.

Supt. J. D. Wilson of the city schools and Miss Beatrix Cobb, county school superintendent, have announced schools will observe Thanksgiving with holidays Thursday, Nov. 30, and Friday, Dec. 1. The Paducah Dragons will meet Matador at Matador on the afternoon of Nov. 30 in a traditional Thanksgiving day football game and teachers will attend a meeting at San Antonio.

During the winter, in Stockholm, Sweden, flower vendors have regular daily customers like the ice man and milkman in America.

Prominent Japs Suggest Paying U. S. Indemnity

TOKYO (UP)—Two former Japanese foreign ministers were among the influential Japanese who today suggested that Japan pay indemnities for damage done to American interests in China as one method of improving Japanese-American relations.

They are Kenkichi Yoshizawa and Hachiro Arita, the latter the last foreign minister before the present incumbent, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura.

"Indemnities might be helpful in showing our sincerity," Yoshizawa said to the United Press.

Arita was quoted in the newspaper Kokumin, a nationalist organ, as saying: "It is natural that we should pay indemnities where required and rectify necessary matters."

The time of the next conversation between Nomura and United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew has not been fixed. It is expected to be soon, however, in view of the likelihood of American moves in connection with the forthcoming effort by Japan to settle the China "incident" by establishment of a new Japanese-sponsored Chinese central government.

Leggett Rites This Afternoon

Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon for J. L. Leggett, who died at his home in southwest Childress last night following a long illness. The services are at the McMinn funeral chapel, directed by Rev. J. R. Edwards of the Assembly of God church.

Burial will be in the Childress cemetery.

Pallbearers are Tedie Rushing, M. D. Love, Frank Wilks, Gene McCain, Norman Branum and Odus Branum. Flower bearers are Misses Lucile Hix, Naomi Lane, Johnnie White and Faye Galyean.

Survivors include three sons, Floyd, Alfred and Ogie Leggett, all of Childress, and two daughters, Mrs. Cordie Trout and Mrs. Lois Galyean, also of Childress.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Even if other medicines have failed you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Chronic bronchitis can develop if your chest cold is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. See that the name Creomulsion is on the bottle and you will get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

NOTICE

To Turkey Raisers

We have just checked our records and note that through the turkey marketing season of November and December, 1939, a maximum of 11c per pound was paid by the Gate City Creamery.

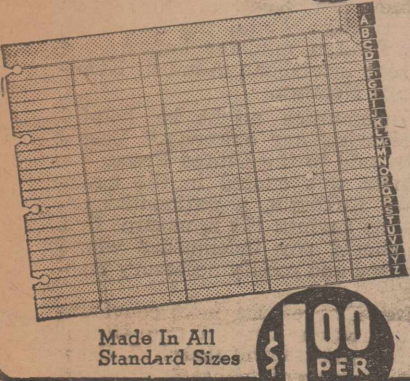

Since the 1939 crop is reported to be equally as large as that of 1936, we want to call this fact to the attention of our customers. The Thanksgiving marketing season will run through this week and birds intended for this market should be brought in during the next four or five days.

FDR May Avoid Controversial Proposals

WASHINGTON (UP)—Hopes were arising today that improved economic conditions and political factors will persuade President Roosevelt to avoid bitter controversial proposals in the next session of congress and prevent further "shot-in-the-arm" lending-spending legislation.

National incomes, including that of farmers, are going up.

The nation enters a breathing spell now after the adjournment of the special session of congress with Roosevelt's political prestige higher than at any time since his second election three years ago. Better business and general acceptance of his foreign policy are the reasons.

One year from today the nation should know who the next president will be. The parties meet in seven months to name the ticket.

A numerous contingent of congressional democrats who bolted Roosevelt on the supreme court packing, spending, labor and other issues during the last three years appear now to be ready to ride with the new deal if the road is not too bumpy.

The president will plan his 1940 legislation program during the next two months, and sometime before next June he will indicate whether he wants a third term. All that is known of the program so far is that he will ask the authorization for a $1,300,000,000 naval expansion program. Expenditures for national defense are expected to continue at $2,000,000,000 annually.

BYRD SHIP SET FOR TRIP TO SOUTH POLE

By Gardner Frost.

BOSTON (UP)—The snub-nosed barkentine North Star will buck its way out of this island-dotted harbor tomorrow on the first leg of a race with "foreign" scientists for Antarctic spoils.

Within a week the "floating ice box" will be followed by the old exploration ship Fear carrying the remainder of the government-sponsored expedition directed by Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

The goal 11,000 miles distant which they hope to reach first is an unclaimed, wedge-shaped area, the outer edge of which is 1,500 miles of ice-clustered ocean shore—its narrowest point the South Pole 1,000 miles inland.

Delayed a month in starting, this greatest expedition in history—both in numbers and accessories—plans to reach the land where nights are four months long while harbors still are ice-free. Failure would mean nearly a year's setback.

Defense Strategy

Incentive for America's fourth trek to the ice-bound, 50-below-zero land is as old as history itself. Following two expeditions to the earth's southernmost point, Byrd returned to tell of finding gold and iron deposits and traces of oil.

Then while warring European nations discussed the Antarctic as a strategic airbase, Congress hastened to appropriate $350,000 for an expedition. Leaders now hope for further appropriations allowing relief parties to remain in the area two or three years.

The group plans to make topographical and climatic surveys, thus giving the State Department right to lay claim to the Polar sector lying somewhat southwest of Cape Horn.

To reach there, the boats will sail through the Panama Canal across the southern Pacific—half for fuel at New Zealand—then proceed to "Little America."

The expedition is as completely equipped as a half-dozen general stores. Some 5,000 items ranging from paper clips and ping-pong balls to pre-fabricated houses are stowed away with 125 men and 160 dogs aboard the two vessels.

Abundant Equipment

Much of the scientific equipment never has been used. There will be a new radio device still in the experimental stage and various new astronomical and meteorological instruments.

For transportation there will be skis, radio-equipped dog sleds, five airplanes, three army tanks and a giant $150,000 snowmobile—55 feet long, 19-feet 8-inches wide and 16 feet high.

A small army of police have aided in moving this polar pullman east from Chicago. Carrying an airplane and four-man crew, the vehicle can operate on wheels or runners, dig itself out of snow drifts and will be used for inland exploration.

Statistically the expedition cuts quite a figure. Supplies include 67,000 pounds of meat—enough to feed the average American family 50 years. Two tons of canned beans will supplement 6,000 pounds of the dried variety.

Dehydrated Foods

There are 5,000 pounds of eggs and egg powder aboard—some 16,000 quarts of dried milk. Twenty-five tons of flour are packed with more tons of dehydrated fruits and vegetables. There are 1,800 pounds of fresh potatoes and case upon case of dehydrated mashed and French fried potatoes in cans.

Actually there will be 150,000 rations of food—a ration being enough food to last one man 30 days. Two doctors have prepared a special pemmican—fats and cereals ground together—eaten raw or in soup to give body heat. It tastes like cold sausage meat. There will be candy and tobacco and frozen turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Two companies have contributed their latest games to amuse the men when cooped up in their houses during the perpetual night from April to July. A small library of 800 books and 500 magazines is aboard.

Byrd's Plans

Present plans indicate that Byrd will not remain on the ice with the 60 men who plan to live there from January, 1940, to May, 1941. He will direct landing operations, then return to warmer waters until the ships revisit the explorers.

It is believed that Byrd's former base "Little America," now in a region claimed by the British, will be moved a few miles eastward off the ice-shelf to the unclaimed area.

This will now be known as West Base on the 150th meridian and will be commanded by Dr. Paul A. Siple, Erie, Pa., veteran of two previous Byrd expeditions.

Farm Income In 1940 May Hit New Peak

WASHINGTON (UP)—Increasing national prosperity may carry 1940 farm income to a high for nearly ten years, the agriculture department forecast today.

Farmers may jingle an extra $700,000,000 in their pockets next year as a result of increased industrial activity spurred by wartime demand and improved export demand for farm products.

The department said that farm purchasing power would return to the 1937 level when the $8,988,000,000 income was the highest since 1930. Cash farm income this year was estimated at $3,300,000,000.

Part of the increase will be passed on to small merchants, probational workers, manufacturers and city workers, agriculture economists said.

The department warned farmers not to expect a sensational boom in prices and European demand for farm products, at least not in 1940. The present forecast, it said, was based on the assumption that war would continue through next year.

Storm Threatens Atlantic Steamer

NEW YORK (UP)—The steamer Vamar, 598 tons, was in distress today in a heavy storm. Mackay radio reported that the Vamar radioed an SOS appeal saying that it had a "heavy port list." It had a cargo of lumber which apparently had shifted during the storm.

The Vamar gave its position as 100 nautical miles southeast of the entrance to Chesapeake bay.

Mackay radio said the liner S. S. Ellener was 45 miles from the Vamar and offered to go to its aid.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Joan and Dan are kidnaped, driven to a country hideout. Joan is ordered to write her father, giving instructions for payment of $50,000 ransom. "And tell him," the gangster snarls, "that if that dough ain't picked up by Saturday, they'll find you floating in the river." Joan knows he means what he says.

CHAPTER XXIII

JOAN'S feeling of terror gradually left her as she thought of her father. He'd know how to handle this. Nothing had ever stopped him.

"That's an awful lot of money," she said. "He—he doesn't have that much," she added almost desperately.

Big Ed smiled crookedly. "What're you tryin' to hand us, sister? The old guy can raise four times that much in an hour and you know it. He knows who he's dealin' with."

Dan looked at her curiously. What did he mean by that?

Ed grinned with satisfaction. "We got quite a reputation. Guys who know us never doubt our integrity, as they say in the papers, hey Rocco?"

Big Ed spread his hands. "Now that everybody understands everybody else, we're gonna get along, hey?"

And then, more curtly: "Rocco, you go back into town. Keep low but keep your eyes and ears open. I got a hunch her old man will come bustin' in." He turned to Joan. "It ain't gonna do him a damn bit of good, though.

"Sam, see what that other kid has in his pockets that he shouldn't. Incidentally, what's your name, kid?" he asked Dan after Rocco had left.

Dan told him. Sam tossed his wallet to Ed who looked through it hastily and tossed it back.

"Here . . . you can keep it."

"Thanks," Dan said sarcastically.

Ed looked at him bleakly. "Don't be a fresh punk, now. You ain't supposed to be in this party, you know." His face grew hard. "Mebbe we shoulda dumped you out somewhere, at that. You'll only be in the way.

"As long as you kids behave yourselves we'll let you be a little bit free. One bad move and we'll keep you tied up like a bundle of groceries."

"Mind if we look around a bit?"

Joan asked.

He grinned. "Sure, go ahead. But don't go far."

It was a plain, one-story house with an unfinished garret. Apparently no one had lived there for more than a year. The furnishings were poor with just bare necessities in evidence.

"Yours is the blue room," Big Ed called to Joan. "Right over there."

She opened the door across from the small bathroom and grimaced at the sight of the rickety bed and straight, hard chair. The single window was boarded up securely on the outside.

"Hardly the Ritz-Carlton," she murmured.

THERE was a scene of wild commotion at the Alpha Nu house when Joan failed to show up for dinner. Keith's car had been found deserted on the stadium road. No one could explain it.

Bill Slocum had raged when Dan failed to report for practice, but things took on a serious aspect when both Joan and Dan were still missing at 8 o'clock.

It took J. G. Johnson, escorted by a police inspector, to turn some light on the problem.

J. G. burst upon the Alpha Nu house with the full fury of a northern gale. It had taken him just two and a half hours to get from New York in a chartered plane.

He was still too breathless to speak comprehensively, and it was the inspector who took over and explained what had happened.

" . . . Signs and tracks indicate someone was with Miss Johnson when she was picked up. The shoe prints tally with those of Dan Webber. Now, we want you girls to co-operate with us as fully as possible . . . think clearly, now . . ."

IT was a hushed, scared group which huddled in the Alpha Nu living room later that night. The Tribune had come out with an extra and Tommy Peters, staring at the sheet in front of him, shook his head.

"Boy, am I the prize dummy. Joan Johnson . . . millionaire heir . . . daughter of J. G. Johnson, big eastern industrialist . . ." he muttered, reading snatches of the story.

"I wasn't just dumb," he repeated. "I was plain thick. All the time I thought she might be related to old J. G. or his family. He got his start down Arkansas way and then transferred his operations out east."

He slapped the paper. "She told me she had no relatives in Arkansas, but that happened to be the truth . . . and that's what stumped me. I never dreamed she was the daughter of THE J. G. Johnson."

Tommy turned to Carol wildly. "Oil . . . steel . . . railroads . . . banks. I'm tellin' you her old man is one of these behind-the-scenes guys who owns half the country."

Kay whistled softly. "And that's who Joan Johnson is. Gee, it's one thing to be well-to-do and it's another to be—" She paused. "To be heir to 20 million dollars or so," Marianne added.

Barney Hughes stopped in and asked if there was any news. "Keith been over?" he wanted to know.

Someone replied that he had phoned a short while ago, but had not stopped in.

"Doesn't surprise me," said Carol.

"What do you mean?" Elaine asked quickly.

"Oh, I don't know exactly. Except that—well, I think Joan had been doing a lot of thinking lately."

"You mean . . .?"

"I mean she was just about ready to pack him in."

"Then why did she use his car on that field trip?"

Carol shrugged. "She asked him for it before she made up her mind about it, I'm sure. And she probably wanted to end it gradually."

"She had Keith's feelings to consider, too, you know. A lot of us realized it too late, maybe, but she was ace. I hope it isn't too late," she added, as an ugly afterthought hit her.

Bonnie Harris summed it up perfectly. "It was something we all suspected but wouldn't admit." Suddenly Tommy jumped up with a whoop. "I've got it—I've got it!" he yelled. "That guy I saw in the Varsity the other night . . . Rocco Petrone, that's who it is! Rocco Petrone!"

"Now I remember why his picture was in that St. Louis paper a couple of years ago. He was being held on kidnaping charges of some sort. Maybe—maybe . . . say, I think I've got a clew!"

They gaped at him in wonder as he dashed from the room.

PERSONALITIES TODAY'S PROFILE

By The United Press

Trademark of E. D. Rivers, governor of Georgia, is a black bow tie, usually worn with a blue serge suit. In the two terms Rivers has served as chief executive, his tie has become as well known as the red galluses of his predecessor, Eugene Talmadge.

The Rivers bow and blue serge have become familiar to capitol circles in other states during the last two years because of the Georgia governor's travels as chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference.

His position as head of the governors' organization, plus a two-term allegiance to the New Deal, make Eurith Dickinson Rivers worthy of close attention in 1940 Democratic maneuvers in the deep South, according to political students.

Rivers' second term as governor of Georgia expires in January, 1941. State law prohibits his seeking a third term, but his friends say he will continue to fit into the political picture, possibly in an appointive federal job or state judgeship.

Rivers, now 43, was born in Center Point, Ark., and soon migrated to Georgia. He attended Young Harris College in the north Georgia mountains where he became engaged to the daughter of a professor. After his marriage to Lucile Lashley in 1914, he began law practice in Cairo. His first public post was justice of the peace.

After two unsuccessful campaigns, he was first elected governor in 1936, and re-elected two years later.

Lack of sufficient state revenue to operate an expanded program of public service comfortably has weighed heavily on him in recent months, but not to the point of quieting his good natured, hand-shaking attitude toward the public and most of his duties.

Although a country boy at heart, Rivers likes to mingle with big-time theatrical stars and the ranking orchestra leaders. He frequently entertains visiting celebrities.

One of the Georgia governor's main assets is his oratorical ability. His favorite topic of discussion is his program of "free schools, free books, old age pensions and an expanded public health program."

the American flag. She took charge of the case.

Threatened Crew Capt. Joseph Gainard, master of the City of Flint, declared in a broadcast that the Germans who seized the ship threatened to sink her if the American crew caused any trouble.

Speaking from Bergen, the captain described the exciting three weeks during which his ship was a German prize sailing from port to port while diplomats argued over its destiny.

The commander of the German prize crew placed aboard the Flint Oct. 9 by the German pocket battleship Deutschland informed him, Capt. Gainard said, that if he or any of the 40 American crew members made trouble they would be put in open boats and the ship sunk.

The general belief in Norway was that the cargo would be left there and that the Flint would get for home.

Some Norwegians speculated on the possibility that Germany was glad to have the Flint off her hands, that the German prize crew deliberately sailed her into a Norwegian port so that Norway would take charge of the ship and put her back in American hands.

But there was no support from Berlin for such a theory. On the contrary the three points Germany forwarded were in the language of demands.

Finland's negotiators were still in Moscow. Two reasons for a delay in negotiations were given: A three-day celebration of the red revolution began today and the Finnish cabinet was reported to be sending new instructions to its delegates.

YOUTHFUL PASTOR TO SUCCEED FATHER IN CHURCH AT KIRKLAND

Called by Kirkland Baptist church yesterday as its pastor to succeed his father, Rev. H. T. Harris, Clifford Harris accepted the pulpit and becomes probably the youngest full-time pastor of a Baptist church in the Southern Baptist convention.

Rev. H. T. Harris recently left Kirkland to accept the pastorate of Calvary Baptist church here. His son will continue to live with the family at 1209 Ave. H NW.

Young Harris is only 18 years old, and so far as church records show no other Baptist congregation in the 17 states of the Southern convention has a full-time pastor so young.

He has made a record of doing things at an early age. He was graduated from Matador, high school in 1936 at the age of 14, then the next year was ordained to the full work of the ministry by the Whiteflat Baptist church.

For the past three years he has attended Baylor university at Waco as a ministerial student, and last year was the youngest member to enroll in the junior class. He is classified as a senior now, plans to complete work for his degree from Baylor next year and then enter the Southwestern Baptist seminary at Fort Worth for further training.

Fair Weather To Continue

By The United Press

The area basked in mild temperatures and sunshine during the weekend, while the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida felt the first blast of winter.

The weather man said Indian summer weather can be expected for the next few days. A slight change for the colder is predicted for tonight, but the drop will hardly be noticeable.

In the east a storm, accompanied by winds of gale force, swept along the New England Coast; upper New York state was covered with three inches of snow. Near freezing temperature endangered crops around Gainesville, Florida.

Wheat Prices Due to Rise

MANHATTAN, Kans. (UP)—substantial advance in winter wheat prices, due to unfavorable planting and growing conditions, was forecast today by economists of Kansas State College.

The report, however, stressed that other farm commodities, notably corn, livestock, and poultry, would pursue steady to lower trends.

British Losses On Sea Diminish

LONDON (UP)—Naval circles sighted diminishing losses of British merchant ships today as evidence that the navy is successfully bringing German submarines under control.

Their figures showed that the British losses in October and early November are only about half as great as in September, the first month of the war. French losses increased slightly, and those of neutral countries remained about the same.

The British figures listed as lost: 55 British merchant ships, seven French ships, and 34 neutral ships.
