

On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

The First State Bank has over two million dollars on deposit, indicating that somebody in this neck of the woods has some money.

Farmers and everybody else in this section are in excellent shape financially. Now while we have the money is an excellent time to prepare for future years when times may not be so prosperous. One way to do it is to purchase U. S. Savings Bonds and keep them. Another way is to stay as free of debt as possible.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Tells U. N. This Country Committed to Armament Program; Costs of Living Near Record High

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

TRUMAN:

Armament for Peace

President Truman, speaking before the United Nations general assembly on United Nations' Day, told members of the world organization that the United States would prefer universal disarmament, but that this nation is committed to re-arming because it is the only way to stop aggression.

The President used Korea as an example of what united effort by U. N. members can accomplish in stopping aggression. He termed the invasion of South Korea by Communist forces a direct challenge to the world organization.

As for disarmament and the solution to world problems, Mr. Truman said the U. S. was willing to enter negotiation, but only if all nations proved their good intentions. Such negotiation could only be carried on if there was concrete evidence of good intention and the open and free exchange of ideas between nations.

The chief executive said few acts in our time have met with such universal approval as the intervention of the United Nations in the Korea conflict.

It was significant that the President did not mention Russia at all during his speech as the chief threat to world peace. It was clear, however, to what world power he referred when he said the freedom loving nations of the world will continue to build up their armed strength, because they have no other choice.

LIVING COSTS:

Near Record High

The latest government consumer price index reported the cost of living continued to move upward. The gain was 1/2 per cent from the previous month. The index stood 173.9, meaning 73.9 per cent above the 1933-39 average.

The government, however, was only putting into figures what that American housewife has known for some time. Low and fixed income families felt the pinch shortly after the Korean war began. The latest index figure was only 4 of a per cent short of the 174.5 high reached in August and September, 1948.

Even with the publication of these figures there seemed little possibility that the government planned any immediate action to stop the rising cost of living. In the average American city the housewife now pays $21.70 for a food basket costing $10 at the outbreak of World War II.

During August and September of this year housewives were paying 3.5 per cent more for meats, poultry, and fish, including 10.6 per cent for pork chops, 7.5 per cent for fish, and 4.4 per cent for eggs, 1.4 per cent for canned fruits and vegetables, and 2.6 per cent for beverages.

The government's price index is taking on increasing importance in American business economics as more and more contracts between unions and employers allow for wage changes as the index rises or drops.

Ike Says 'No'

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, is shown with Dean Philip Young of Columbia, as they announced the establishment of the "American Assembly" at the university, a convocation of representatives of business, labor, the professions, government and the university, to work out answers to critical problems facing the country. The repeated use of "us" about running for President.

FREEDOM BELL

Symbol of Freedom Rings in Berlin

The 20,000-pound freedom bell, symbol of the hopes of free men, arrived safely in Berlin after a night run through Communist dominated territory where Red agents reportedly had orders to delay it. The following day it was raised to the height of Berlin city hall.

Two days later millions of radio listeners throughout the world heard Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former mili-

Headliners

Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of President Truman's council of economic advisers, speaking on the country economic problems, said: "We do not need as many or as tough controls as in 1944 because the transition of military activity is not nearly so rapid or so great."

Stuart Symington, economic mobilization coordinator, also had something to say on the same question: "It begins to look as if everybody wants controls so long as the controls don't affect them."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking on the Founder's Day program at Carnegie Institute said: "Possibly my hatred of war blinds me so that I cannot comprehend the arguments they advance. But in my opinion there is no such thing as a preventive war."

PRAGUE:

Scene of New Plot

The foreign minister of Russia and the representatives of seven satellite states met in Prague to plot the next Communist move since the gamble in Korea must be written off as a complete loss.

From that meeting came four demands to the western powers, but the free nations were more interested in what the Communists did not say than in the new demands. This is what the Communist asked:

(1) That the governments of the United States, Britain, France and Russia should publish a declaration saying they will not allow the remilitarization of Germany, they will not allow Germany to become "involved in any plans of aggression," and will try to carry out the Potsdam agreement to "build a democratic, peace-loving Germany."

(2) That all restrictions hindering the development of Germany's "peace economy" be removed while a revival of German war potential should be allowed.

(3) That there should be concluded "without delay" a treaty of peace with Germany which would renew the unity of the German state in harmony with the Potsdam agreement; that all occupation forces of the great powers be withdrawn from Germany within one year after a peace treaty is concluded.

(4) That on a basis of parity, representatives from east and west Germany should form a "Constitutional Council" for all of Germany to prepare "the formation of a democratic sovereign government" for all Germany.

The West was not naive enough to believe that any agreement could be reached on Germany. Plans for rebuilding a strong western Germany and an European army continued in full force.

Western diplomats were asking themselves what new acts of aggression did Russia and her satellites cook up?

STASSEN:

Pravda Calls Him Silly

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, created a lot of interest with his letter to Joseph Stalin asking for a face to face meeting of Americans and Russians in an effort to "stop the drift toward war."

Stassen did not receive a reply from Stalin, but the official voice of Communist propaganda, Pravda, published an article calling him silly, crude, and ridiculous, among other things.

The article said, in fact, a flat rejection of the Stassen proposal. The writer made it plain that the Soviet government does not consider Stassen's letter worth a formal answer.

The article said in part: "Stassen demands no more, no less than a change by the Soviet Union of its policy. It is not difficult to see that Stassen is not only crude but also ridiculous in advancing this wild demand which excludes all possibility of a serious view of any degree of 'document' worked out by the president of Pennsylvania university in cooperation with veteran warmongers Eisenhower and Dulles."

The former aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination had little to say about the article. He indicated he would wait for a direct reply from Stalin.

KOREA:

Now Rehabilitation

Except for isolated guerrilla action, the war in Korea was over. The end was hastened by spectacular parachute drops of U. S. troops between Pyongyang and the Manchurian border to block escape of North Korea troops.

As the end came, however, the world was horrified by reports of new atrocities against U. N. troops in Communist hands. Red leaders had long since escaped into Manchuria, most of them fleeing when U. N. troops crossed the 38th parallel.

Now the United Nations is faced with the rehabilitation of Korea, estimated by a U. S. survey at $200,000,000. The figure was described as a rough estimate and many observers believed comparable sums would have to be furnished annually for at least two or three years to put Korea back on its feet.

The rehabilitation of Korea was one of the big issues discussed by President Truman and General MacArthur during their recent meeting at Wake Island.

An indication of the job ahead was given when Reginald H. R. Parminster, special adviser to the U. N. on Korean affairs, told the assembly committee working on rehabilitation that over $36 million in relief supplies already had been received.

Members of the U. N. have offered supplies and cash totaling from $12,000,000 to $13,000,000. Another $5,000,000 was expected.

Professional Blind Man Plays Gag to the Very Finish

BY BILLY ROSE

Last night, in a mood for malt and malarkey, I stopped in to chin with Sammy Fuchs, proprietor of the Bowery Follies and honorary mayor of that unwashed neck of the Manhattan woods.

"What a new and gruesome one your ballad?" I asked mine host. "Nothing much," said Sammy, "except that Faker Kennedy died last week and left his eyes to a bartender down the block."

"Come again?" I said. According to Sammy, the Faker was a professional blind man who had been rattling a tin cup on the Bowery for as long as he could remember. In spite of his calling, however, it was a standing joke around the flophouses that the cane-tapper could shoot off a bug's ear at a hundred paces.

"We used to kid Kennedy about his blindness," said Sammy, "but he never let on it was an act—it was an act. And we were never sure because no one ever saw the old cove without his smoked glasses."

"Down at Gargan's Bar where the Faker used to hang out after hours," Sammy continued, "the proprietor had a kind of running gag at the bum's expense."

"When you die," he used to say, "will me your eyes. Mine are gettin' pretty tired from lookin' at the sawdust."

"I'll leave 'em to ya, Gargan," was the Faker's stock answer. "And they'll come in handy if ya ever want to play malarkey."

"That's about how the talk went until one night not long ago when a couple of stick-up-men walked into Gargan's and lined the customers up against the wall—all except the Faker who didn't budge from his usual place at the end of the bar."

"After the punks had cleaned out the register and what little was in the customers' pockets, one of them walked up to the Faker and jabbed a gun in his ribs."

"You wouldn't take pointers from a blind man, would ya?" said Kennedy.

"Don't give me that pointer stuff," said the thug. "You ain't got a roll on ya?"

"The Faker made out as if he was fumbling in his pockets, and then suddenly made a grab for the gun, yanked it away from the hood and bopped him over the head with it. Then, using the body as a sort of shield, he pointed the gun at the other punk."

Cotton Yard Fire Burns 8 Bales

The Loraine Fire Department answered a call early this morning when fire broke out at the cotton yard, destroying eight bales of cotton.

Firemen report that they still have trouble with people running over the fire hose. They want everyone to remember that the fire hose is expensive and every time someone runs over the hose it destroys its usefulness. A heavy fine is the penalty for running over the hose.

FOOT-CUFFED — Seven-year-old Dick Perry of Detroit stuck his foot in it—his left and right—when he discovered his policeman father had forgotten his handcuffs. The "playthings" remained shackled on Dick's ankles until his father was located on his beat and rushed home to unlock his son.

Church of Christ Minister Moves Here

Minister Shira is a student at ACC in Abilene and will continue his work there this semester.

He came to Abilene from the state of Idaho. Mrs. Shira came from Crane, Texas, where her parents live.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Peterson of Sapulpa, Oklahoma, are here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Peterson.

Messrs. and Mmes Roscoe Hudgins, Claud Woods, Roy Richard, Murry Carpenter, Henry Seilheimer, Tom Finley and Mrs. Henry Yarbrough attended the singing at the West Side Church of Christ in Sweetwater Sunday afternoon.

SPEECH STUMPS SMALL FRY—When Sen. Scott Lucas, campaigning for reelection on the democratic ticket, spoke at Watska, Ill., one listener in the courthouse audience apparently had trouble following the theme of the senator's speech. And so the corduroy-clad youngster sauntered down the aisle to stand at the rail where he could pay closer attention.

SHRUB HUNTING SEASON

College Station, November 7.—Hunting season brings thoughts of well-oiled shotguns and eager hunting dogs to most people. For the homestead gardener, another hunting season has arrived which is just as interesting as the common gun-and-dog version, and the "trophy" can be admired through the years with growing pleasure also. Shrub hunting season is here again.

A visit to a nursery, before going on the search, will help the homestead gardener decide which shrubs and trees to look for in the fields and woods. Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist for the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, suggests looking over the farm pasture first. Valuable native plants are often found growing in nearby pastures and old fields, canyons and breaks. Miss Hatfield points out that these native plants found near the home are well adapted to the soil and climate and usually thrive when moved to the home grounds.

They may take less care than introduced plants.

She says the shrubs should be marked now and transplanted to the home grounds during the winter. Shrubs which have attractive berries and bright fall leaves are easy to select at this time of the year, and plants which hold their leaves in the fall and winter are easy to tell from those which lose their leaves. Usually shrubs that are transplanted in the winter grow better than those taken up during the spring or fall.

Native shrubs of ornamental value are found in all parts of Texas, says Miss Hatfield. Evergreen sumac or kiniknik, mountain laurel, Texas madrona or Texas arbutus, cedars, and Arizona cypress are found growing wild in Central and West Texas.

Price, size and quality are three important items for consumers to consider when selecting their Thanksgiving turkeys.

Practicing safety with firearms in the fields and woods is just a good conservation practice, and it applies to both humans and wildlife.

"Pleasant surroundings in the laundry area and the arrangement and storage of supplies are important in making the laundering job easier."

CHRISTMAS SHOPPER?—This black-necked Crown Crane buried his head in his resplendent wings to look like a bedraggled survivor of a bargain basement brawl. About the last thing that happened before school was dismissed was the favorites election. They are: Seniors, Barbara Pierce and Kenneth Merket;

Juniors, Joan McAdams and James Clifton; Sophomores, Dixie Templeton and Raymond Gunnells; Freshman, Jan Snyder and "Boochie" Herm.

Runners-up are: Seniors, Peggy Beatty and Thomas Bob Long; Juniors, Marie Beights and Bob Craighead; Sophomores, Georgia Miles and Douglas Wilson; Freshman, Jackie Richey and Glen McCann. L. H. S. is proud of it's favorites, and is sorry they couldn't have four favorites instead of just two from each class. It was really hard to choose the ones that was their favorite.

The gang from L. H. S. really made it around while we were dismissed. Beth Narrell returned from an eleven day trip to Canada on Oct. 20; Barbara Pierce spent a week in Los Alamos, New Mexico, visiting her brother; Mrs. Crawford and Mary Templeton attended a Homemaking meeting in El Paso; Jan Snyder spent a week in California, returning Oct. 17; and Peggy Murphy visited in Grand Saline.

Peggy Beatty and Ruby Faye Beights attended the ACC-McMurry game and Barbara Pierce and Mary Templeton attended the McMurry-Austin College game. Coach Jones journeyed to Fort Stockton on Oct. 28, bringing Mrs. Jones and "Tugboat" back home. They had visited her parents there for about a week.

Most of the kids enjoyed a Halloween party at Patsy Ruth Green's house on Oct. 31. Every one was in costume and, boy, was there some characters there Betty Jane Horton was co-hostess with Patsy.

Lorraine High is very sad today. The reason? Joan McAdams moved today to Waco, Texas.

Joan was a Junior, and had been yell leader 2 years. She was Freshman F. F. A. Sweetheart, had been an active member of the F. H. A. 2 years, and played on the basketball. We're all very sorry to lose her, especially one Junior boy, namely, Norris Crownover.

Homemaking News

Twelve girls and Mrs. Crawford attended the District 3 Homemaking meeting in Colorado Saturday, November 4. The Lorraine chapter had charge of the registration of the schools attending. Over 300 girls were registered.

Those attending from Lorraine were: Peggy Hayes, Marie Beights, Betty Horton, Barbara Pierce, Gloria Wheeler, Jan Snyder, Beth Narrell, Margaret Phillips, Mary Louise Jones, Estella Jones, Georgia Miles, Mary Rose Templeton, and Mrs. Crawford. Mr. Crawford chauffeured the group over to Colorado City.

Junior News

The Juniors are losing a pupil today and it is a sad affair. Joan is leaving us and moving to China Springs. We sure are sorry that she has to move and hope she will like her new school. Norris visited at Joans new home with her over the week end. It is said that he enjoyed it very much.

Bennie visited in Oklahoma over the holidays. He said he really enjoyed his trip.

The Hermleigh game did not come out too good but we hope the boys have better luck in their coming game with Coahoma here next Friday night. Lets all come to the game and show them we are still behind them.

Introducing a Senior

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Green was blessed with the appearance of a baby daughter on September 5, 1933, in Snyder, Texas, where they lived at the time. When Patsy Ruth was 3 years old, the Greens moved to Lorraine. At the age of 7, Patsy started to school under the direction of Mrs. Georgia Johnson.

Patsy was the Valedictorian of the class in the eighth grade, and Duchess of the Halloween Carnival for 2 years. In her Freshman year she was the secretary of the Freshman class, and Agriculture Sweetheart. When the Sophomore year rolled around, Patsy was again secretary of the class, vice-president of the F. H. A. Club, and Soph. Favorite. Junior year, Patsy was vice-president of the Junior class, Football Sweetheart, and vice-president of the H. E. Club.

The Senior year, Patsy was elected Editor of the Mastiff, vice-president of the Speech Club Sgt.-at-Arms of the H. E. Club, and Photographer on the annual staff. In addition to this, Patsy has been in the Pep Squad 4 years, 1 year she was Drum Major, and 1 year Majorette. She has lettered in basketball her 4 years in high school.

Some of her favorites are: day, Friday; dish, strawberry shortcake; sport, basketball; actress, June Allyson; actor, Spencer Tracy; and her favorite boyfriend is 6' 1", has light brown hair, brown eyes, and is a Senior in high school.

Patsy plans to enter college next fall, but she has not decided where yet.

Sale of Annuals starts today! Everyone should be sure and purchase one of these '51 Lorraine as soon as possible! They will be $2.25 until after Christmas, after which time the price will go up. The annuals are the same price they were last year, in spite of rising prices, but the quality hasn't remained the same. Every year the annuals have improved, and the staff feels safe in saying this year will be no exception.

The Seniors sold all of their boxes of Christmas cards and ordered 50 boxes more. We'll appreciate it if you'll buy your Christmas cards from us. They may be purchased from any Senior.

We're just real proud of our Favorites this year. They are Barbara Pierce and Kenneth Merket. We feel we made a very wise choice.

Everyone should remember to play Bingo at the Harvest Festival. The seniors are sponsoring it again this year and we will appreciate your patronizing us.

Fish Elect Favorites

The Freshman class met and elected their favorites for 1950-51. They were Jan Snyder and James Herm. Plans were also made for a Fish party, but because of turning out school, the party had to be postponed.

Everyone seems quite happy to be back at school after a 3 weeks turn-out. It seems that everyone has been busy going places or working these weeks.

The class is all looking forward to see our report cards and have our fingers crossed hoping we make good grades.

Sophomore News

Well here we are back from our cotton picking vacation! Everybody seems really happy to be back to dear ol' L. H. S., especially the ones that really had to pick cotton all time.

Several of the Sophs visited, went to ballgames, and other places during the 3 weeks. Gloria Wheeler went to Dallas and visited her relatives and also went to the State Fair. Georgia Miles went to Paris, (Texas, that is) and visited some of her relatives. Both reported a fine time.

We are all looking forward to getting our report cards Wednesday. One football boy said that he wished he wouldn't get his report card till next week so he could play football Friday night.

We have another member this morning, whose name is J. W. Padgett. J. W. isn't a new student since he has been here before but has just started for this year. We're very glad to have him.

Are Our Texas Highways Being Destroyed by 1% of Highway Users?

This question is presented squarely for the first time by the Texas Tax Journal in its booklet, "The Case of the One Per Centers."

Every Texan who wants good highways, adequate for 99 of every 100 users, should write for a free copy of this revealing booklet.

Approximately 99% of all Texas motor vehicles are registered for a gross weight of 20,000 pounds or less."

All Texas taxpayers, including your Texas Railroads, have reason to be concerned about the high cost of constructing and repairing our highways and the prospect of building more costly roads made necessary by the operation of highway "box cars."

No one has any desire to bar vehicles of reasonable size from our highways, so long as each pays its fair share of construction and repair costs.

Other Texas taxpayers should not be required to shoulder the burden of a roadway system for highway "box cars", representing only 1% of highway users.

Every Texan interested in good highways without increasing the growing tax burden should fill out the coupon below and get a copy of this valuable booklet.

SPORTLIGHT When Tunney and Corbett Sparred

By GRANTLAND RICE

THEY WERE TALKING about the ring's best boxers. They were a bunch of old-time fight writers and old-time fighters. They had listed Joe Gans, Sam Langford, Jack Blackburn, Gene Tunney, Joe Louis, Tommy Loughran, Paddy McFarland, Benny Leonard and a few others. They also naturally named Jim Corbett as one of the best. I'll take a chance and pick Corbett as THE best boxer of all time.

Here's one of any other reasons. Just a short while before Gene Tunney met Jack Dempsey for the title, Jim Corbett had written a book called "The Roar of the Crowd." Jim was looking for some publicity for the book. Tunney at the time was looking for publicity that would help him nail down the Dempsey fight. Gene was just finishing a long campaign for the championship. So Jack Eaton and your correspondent got the idea of using Corbett and Tunney in a one-reeler in our movie sport-reel series.

Both agreed promptly. The meeting was to be only two rounds at two minutes each. The only outsider permitted to see the boxing duel was Frank Craven, the late and always brilliant actor. Jim Corbett was then 63 years old. Tunney was around 25 or 26. Tunney was dressed in full fighting costume but Corbett asked to be allowed to wear long white trousers.

"My legs are not what they used to be," he said. "They have thinned out a lot. I don't want the old gang around the Olympic Club in San Francisco to note the change."

In addition to his 63 years Corbett also had a cold. Gene Tunney later admitted that he had never faced a boxer with that much boxing skill. Corbett would feint with his left and then lead with his left. Or he would feint with his left two or three times before calling on his right. Old Jim had an amazing repertoire.

"I used the feint," he said, "both on attack and defense. Most boxers now use it only in defense--to make you miss. The feint is a wonderful attacking device."

It was not only the various uses Corbett had for his feinting, but also the speed of his hands at 63. Naturally Gene Tunney was not out to show Corbett up, or to make it too rough. But Corbett kept Tunney busy enough through those four minutes.

And Tunney that afternoon was at his peak as a boxer--one of the best in the game.

Future of Cardinals

Is the once great Cardinal machine on its way out? At least it faces stormy days. When Bob Hannegan and Fred Saigh took over the star team of the older league, both knew the handicap they faced. "Our farm system is far behind what it should be," Hannegan told me one day just before he died. "Branch Rickey is with Brooklyn building up that organization now and Sam Breadon has been too sick to plan anything."

Fred Saigh is one of the smartest operators baseball has. Saigh is a keen, hard-working owner. But neither owners nor managers bat, hit, run or throw.

No one could ask for a better manager than Eddie Dyer, the Texan. But Dyer can't replace old, tiring arms and legs with the sinews of youth.

Today the Cardinals have Stan Musial, almost half a ball club and Red Schoendienst, another star.

Let Turkey Take a Second Bow.
(See Recipes Below)

Turkey Topics

MR. GOBBLER can score several triumphs after the big feast is over if he's dressed with the proper trimmings. Even the smaller turkeys which are purchased for small families have much good eating on them, and certainly the large ones do, too, even though you may have had the whole big family around the table.

As long as the bird can still be sliced, serve the succulent slices just as they come from the bird, with salad or for sandwiches. Then when you get to the smaller pieces, put them in delicious pie, creamed dishes, and casseroles.

*Turkey Pie (Serves 6)

3 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2½ cups milk
1½ cups diced cooked turkey
½ cup cooked lima beans
½ cup cooked whole kernel corn

Cheese Pastry

Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk, cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add turkey, lima beans and corn; heat. Pour into 6 individual casseroles and top with cheese pastry cut in turkey shapes. Bake in a hot oven (425°) for about 12 minutes, or until pastry is lightly browned.

*Turkey Pilaf (Serves 6-8)

7 tablespoons cooking oil
4 mushrooms, finely sliced
3 tablespoons finely shredded green pepper
1 tablespoon tomato puree
1 cup light cream or top milk
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
2 cups diced cooked turkey
2 medium onions, sliced
1 cup raw rice
3 cups meat stock or bouillon
½ cup blanched, fried almonds

Heat three tablespoons of cooking oil in heavy pan. Add sliced mushrooms and cook over fairly high heat for two minutes. Add green pepper and tomato puree. Stir in the light cream or top milk and sour cream very slowly. Add mustard, one teaspoon salt, the pepper and mix well. Add diced, cooked turkey. Heat two tablespoons of the cooking oil in a heavy skillet and brown sliced onion until crisp. Add browned onion to turkey mixture.

To prepare rice, heat one tablespoon of the oil in a heavy pan, add rice and remaining tea-spoon of salt. Cover with meat stock or bouillon and bring to boil. Cover pan with waxed paper, then lid. Bake rice in moderate oven (350°) for 25 minutes or until tender. Mound rice on a serving dish and pour hot turkey mixture over. Scatter almonds that have been fried in the remaining cooking oil, over the top.

Grapefruit-Orange Salad

*Recipe Given

Cheese Pastry

1 cup flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter
¾ cup grated cheese
2 to 3 tablespoons water
Sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and cheese until consistency is like coarse cornmeal. Add water, mixing lightly with fork and form into ball; chill. Roll out and cut with round or turkey shaped cutter.

*Turkey Corn Casserole (Serves 4-6)

2 cups cubed, cooked turkey or chicken
¾ cup finely chopped celery
1 12-ounce can (1½ cups) whole kernel corn
¾ cup chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon chopped onion
¾ cup fat
3 tablespoons enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup turkey stock
2 wellbeaten eggs
Green-pepper rings
¾ cup buttered bread crumbs
¾ cup grated American cheese

Arrange turkey, celery, corn and pimiento in greased baking dish. Cook onion in hot fat until golden. Add flour and salt; blend. Gradually add stock; cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Quickly stir sauce into eggs. Pour over turkey mixture. Top with green-pepper rings. Mix crumbs with cheese; sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 30 minutes.

Bones, Skin and Scraps for Rich Stock

To prepare broth, crack the bones if possible. For the cracking use a steak pounder, a mallet or a pair of pliers. If you can't crack them go ahead anyway for you'll still get a good broth. Place bones in a sauce pan. Add water to cover, 1 small onion, a carrot, a few ribs of celery, and soup herbs if you have them. Simmer 2 or 3 hours. Strain, cool promptly, then store in coldest part of refrigerator.

Cream of Turkey Soup (Serves 4)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups turkey stock
½ cup cream or top milk
½ to ¾ cup chopped cooked turkey meat
Chopped parsley

Prepare a sauce of the butter, flour and stock. Set over hot water, add stock and meat. Heat. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve very hot garnished with parsley.

Turkey in Toast Cups (Serves 4-6)
Combine one 10½-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup and ½ cup top milk; blend; heat; add 1½ cups diced, cooked turkey and ½ cup chopped canned pimiento. Add some of hot sauce to 1 egg yolk; stir into remaining hot sauce. Heat thoroughly over low heat. Serve in toast cups.

One-half cup of seedless raisins added to your favorite recipe for cranberry sauce adds interest to the relish. This is especially good with pork.

A good sauce to serve with asparagus, frozen or canned, is to make a thin white sauce. Pour over the vegetables and garnish with rice, hard-cooked egg.

Good to serve with chilled vegetable juice as a first course is a thin slice of ham spread with well seasoned cream cheese and rolled, then fastened with a toothpick.

During November this roadside scene will be reproduced on highways across the country. Thousands of these giant outdoor posters will be displayed to carry the message of the national, non-sectarian program, Religion in American Life. The posters are just one phase of nationwide, annual campaign employing, for the first time in religious history, all mass advertising facilities in support of religion.

RELIGION IN AMERICA

Non-Sectarian Program Stresses Spiritual Life During November

A national, non-sectarian program to stress the importance of spiritual values in personal and community life will concentrate nationwide attention in November on religion and the religious institutions of America. The annual movement is called "Religion in American Life" program.

"There is abroad in the land a hunger for spiritual things," Charles E. Wilson, national chairman of the program, told a group of religious leaders in discussing plans for the 1950 campaign.

"We must therefore take full advantage of our opportunity here," Mr. Wilson said. "We must enlist the cooperation of every church and synagogue in the land. Having done so, I feel sure that, both as a nation and as individuals, we can all derive the full measure of inspiration, strength and guidance that only religion gives."

The Religion in American Life program started last year as an outgrowth of the united church canvass, a campaign like the community chest in which local churches and synagogues unite to conduct simultaneously their independent fund raising drives. The broad, fundamental appeal of the Religion in American Life program can be adopted to intensify every religious activity in the local community.

3,000 Communities Take Part

Throughout the entire month of November, the message of religion will reach Americans everywhere with the theme: "Take your problems to church this week—millions leave them there!"

Last year 2,946 communities participated in the national program with local campaigns. Judging by the reports from all over the country which are being mailed in to the national offices, more than 3,000 communities will take part in the November campaign. In these communities, churches and synagogues are joining in united action to focus local attention on the indispensable values of religion. Roman Catholic churches participate in the program in many communities.

In one sentence, the goal of this campaign: To bring to the attention of everyone the importance of religion and religious institutions and to awaken in every single individual an awareness of his own responsibility to attend and support the church or synagogue of his choice.

Vigorous Program

"It is through such vigorous efforts in behalf of religion," Mr. Wilson said, "that we can bind our country together in a mighty union as a good church nation."

In obtaining the final objective, the program is expected to increase regular attendance at services of worship, create broader participation in religious life, enlist new members, secure adequate financial support for churches, increase attendance of children at Sunday schools, and help sustain evangelistic and humanitarian work at home and abroad.

Church attendance throughout the United States is expected to increase considerably during November, even in those communities not taking an active part in the Religion in American Life program.

Officials of the organization sponsoring the November observance reports there has been a great increase in church attendance in the past few months. This program is expected to help maintain church attendance throughout the country.

Air Force Develops Unique Arctic Kit For U.S. Airmen

A veritable "walking PX"—a new sustenance kit that attaches to an airman's back-style parachute—is the latest boon to Arctic survival to come out of the air materiel command's laboratory.

The streamlined kit provides the best answer so far to the question how Arctic survival equipment can be provided to a pilot crammed in the small confines of a present-day fighter cockpit. The new kit solves this by doing double duty as a seat for the pilot while he is in flight and by meeting three requirements—compactness, compactness and comfort.

Complete in this instance means everything that would be required to keep a stranded airman alive in the Arctic for several days. A total of 22 different items are packed into the kit. Perhaps the most important is a recently developed vacuum-packed sleeping bag which keeps its occupant warm even if the thermometer skids to 40 degrees below. The bag occupies approximately 40 per cent less space than its hand-rolled counterpart.

Weights 24 Pounds

Also included are such items as a canned-heat cook stove, a .22 caliber revolver, mittens, ski goggles, signaling mirror and flares, waterproof matches, wool socks, compass, water container, pocket knife, survival manual, and food packets.

The kit itself is a sipped, container which is permanently attached to the seat sling of the parachute harness. One side of it is contoured and covered with a foam rubber padding to form a comfortable seat for the pilot during flight. In the event of bailout, the kit is part and parcel of the parachute and there is no danger that it will be separated in descent.

The whole kit weighs 24 pounds—and that includes 10 days of food rations. It has undergone a number of field tests in Alaska and will be issued to all pilots assigned to cold climates.

In announcing the new sustenance kit, air force officials pointed out its importance toward national defense. Before air power became the dominant factor in United States defense, this nation's defense lines were the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Now, however, America's defense must cover the vast regions of the Arctic. It is possible, air force men believe, that many of the great air battles of the future will be fought in this region.

And, in delivering knock-out punches to many sections of Europe, the route north across the Arctic is the shortest and most practical. To protect air forces personnel that might be forced down in such a wasteland, the sustenance kit was vital to national defense.

The same seat-type container also will be used for other sustenance kits designed for land survival in warmer climates.

Use Chew-Gum Laxative—Removes Waste...NOT GOOD FOOD

When you can't sleep—feel just awful because you need a laxative—do as millions do—chew FEEN-A-MINT. FEEN-A-MINT is wonderfully different! AILING HOUSE

Question: I have aluminum siding on my house and I would like to paint it white. I understand some sort of "treat coat" should be applied first, so that the paint will adhere properly. Could you give me any information on this?

Answer: There is a special metal priming coat intended for this purpose. I cannot mention trade names in the column, but you may obtain information from the Architects Samples Exhibit, 101 Park Ave., New York 17.

Vanity During the Twelfth dynasty vanity was sometimes a very expensive trait. Egyptian rulers of the time often admired their reflections in real silver mirrors that had handles of black obsidian adorned with solid gold.

YOUNG IRONSIDES—On her button-down skirt, Justin Pace of Alexandria, Va., carries three clubheads which can be substituted, with a twist of the wrist, for the head mounted on the steel shaft in her hands. Because each clubhead can be varied in pitch, Miss Pace has a whole set of clubs at her command, weighing only four pounds.

Terry, visiting Stanton in Washington, announced that his station will broadcast color as soon as its license is cleared. The camera is a standard RCA black and white model, modified by RCA for use with the FCC-approved CBS color system.

Questions and Answers

Q. I plan to obtain a GI loan to buy a house which I will use as a combination physician's office and home. Do the new VA down payment requirements for residential property pertain to me? About two-thirds of the house will be for my office and laboratories.

A. Yes, the down payment restrictions apply in your case. So long as any part of the house is used as living quarters, the regulations apply.

Q. I am a retired officer drawing disability retirement pay from the Army under the Career Compensation Act for loss of a leg incurred in line of duty. Will VA provide me with any prosthetic appliance I happen to need?

A. So long as you draw retirement pay only, you are entitled only to an artificial leg or braces as needed, but to no other prosthetic appliance. However, if you can qualify for VA's disability compensation (by waiving as much of your retirement pay as you receive in VA compensation), you may be eligible for any appliance for the disability for which you are receiving VA compensation. And you'd continue to be eligible for the artificial leg and braces.

Q. I'm an ex-officer receiving retirement pay from the Army, and I am attending school under the GI Bill. VA has asked me to report my income, for the purpose of determining how much subsistence I am entitled to. Do I report my retirement pay as income?

A. No. All that you need report is actual compensation for productive labor—such as wages, salary, commission, bonus or other payments received by reason of your employment.

NO TUNNEL OF LOVE—Moving cautiously through a dense curtain of smoke, American G.I.'s enter a railroad tunnel near Sinmak, North Korea, in which a Communist troop train has been trapped by strafing allied planes. With a machine gun mounted on their jeep, the Yanks were ready to take prisoners or trade bullets with the unseen enemy.
