$200,000 THEFT FROM U. S. MAIL TO ATLANTA RESERVE BANK MADE KNOWN WITH THE ARREST OF HENRY B. DAVIS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 22. (AP)—Total of about $200,000 in checks from mail assigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, during the last several months, was disclosed here today with the arrest of Henry B. Davis, 25, by a private detective agency. Davis was held under charges of stealing from a post office, and later on a government reservation. His preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow before United States Commissioner Loubrey.

Davis' arrest followed presentation of an alleged altered check for $1,000 to a local bank for payment. Postal inspectors charged the check was originally drawn in favor of the Federal Reserve bank by the cashier of the Elberton, Ga. Loan and Saving Co. They said the federal reserve name had been erased and that of R. L. Thruwell substituted. Barwell is said by the officers to be an alias of Davis. A bank ledger noted the altered amount and summoned a detective.

Questioned by officers, Davis led three other officials of the federal reserve bank to a point ten miles from Atlanta where a cache in an evergreen bush yielded a number of checks alleged to have been stolen from the federal reserve bank and ranging in amounts from $1,125.00 to $100.

Davis' method of carrying was to hide in the lobby of the Atlanta post office waiting for the reserve bank paper to come for the mail. In transporting the mail from the box to a mail pouch the inspectors said several letters would fall to the floor and be allowed to remain there until the box was empty before they were collected and placed in the pouch. Davis, the inspectors charge, would stoop to secure several of the letters before the porter completed the list.

DRAGON'S PRIVATE PAPERS INSPECTED

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22. (AP)—A box weighing more than a half ton and containing papers and books that were once in the office of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, was opened today for the inspection of the committee that is investigating alleged corruption in Indiana. Officials refused to discuss the contents of the box and the survey that has surrounded the inquiry prevented any revelations as to whether any evidence had been found which would support charges that the former Klan leader induced into corrupt deals with high officials.

After holding the box for two hours it was sealed shut and carried back to the storage house in which it was located. Whether any documents had been kept for further inspection was not disclosed.

L. G. Julian, of Evansville, Ind., former business partner of Stephenson, and the box moved into storage from Stephenson's office last July, it was developed. Julian is being sought as a witness.

Pay for Pardons

When Spier first took the stand he testified that petitioner had paid out money from their depleted funds in effort to procure pardons.

"A. Putney, with a bad record and sentenced for life for murder, ordered Frank O'Rourke $100 to get a pardon," Spier testified. "I know he got $300 of Putney's money."

Putney is a barber in the walls and is the man who designed and built the electric chair. He has not been pardoned, Spier said.

"A prisoner, H. A. Williams gave a check to E. S. Poney out of his funds to get a pardon," Spier said.

Spier said that J. H. Gilchrist, a convict, gave $100 to C. Haggard, who deposited it in the account of Frank O'Rourke in a bank and Frank told him that if he was not so hard up he would have split it with him.

WARDEN TELLS OF AN ALL-NIGHT BOOZE PARTY IN DEATH CELL

SECRETARY PRISON BOARD INVITED FRIENDS TO SEE EXECUTIONS

Paid for Pardons

O'Rourke Got Money, But Pardons Never Came. Probers Told

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Jesse Frank Terrers, Frank and Lonzo Noel, negroes, were shot over the borderland of the beyond, were told by Colonel H. Walter Stiles, chairman of the prisoner committee, to the house committee investigating state departments here Friday.

A group of men from Dallas and another group from Houston, who visited Frank O'Rourke, secretary of the prison commission, during the electrocution of these negroes, put on an all night party that lasted well into the next day, N. L. Spier, warden of the prison, testified.

Pushes the Button

Spier is the man who pushes the switch to take the lives of men convicted and sentenced to capital punishment. It is the man who said, "When I push the switch and a man's soul goes from his body, a part of me also dies."

The hearing in the late afternoon revealed sensational testimony relative to the state prison system involving an alleged shortage in the accounts of Colonel S. G. Grandberry, commissioner appointed by Governor Miriam Ferguson, and the statement of Warden Spier that money had been withdrawn from prisoner's accounts to pay for the getting of pardons.

Made Whiskey

Whiskey was manufactured on the Potham farm when Grandberry was farm manager. Col. Stiles testified, and he related that a nutty resulted from a private's getting drunk and shooting up the quarters where the prisoners are kept.

Stiles said that Mrs. Nalle, daughter of Governor Ferguson, came to the prison and wrote bonds for many of the employees of the prison system.

Spier testified that the drunken visitors taken to the death cells on the night of the electrocutions, jeered the black terrors as they made their death march to the electric chair.

Two-Thirds Drunk

"Some of them were feeling good, two-thirds drunk," Spier said. "Frank O'Rourke had permission to let the men see the electrocutions. We regard Frank O'Rourke as our next boss when the commissioners are not there."

The commissioners were away the night the electrocution took place. Chaplain A. W. Watson, told commissioner Stiles about the party and Stiles testified that he investigated the actions of the drunk death defectors.

Spier said that O'Rourke called up on Chaplain Watson to pray for the first negro, but that the chaplain refused to pray for the second because of actions of the witnesses.

Special Officers

The delegations from Houston and Dallas were mostly special officers and they came drunk to the prison and went to Frank O'Rourke's rooms in the administration building, Spier said. They were in the death cell when he went to perform his gruesome duty at midnight, he testified. Spier said he had no authority to keep the men out. Representative Stiles asked Spier, "Why do you keep such a man as O'Rourke in the prison?" Spier said, "I had no authority and they made him commissioner. I was afraid if I let O'Rourke out, they would promote him."

Chaplain Lee Satterwhite laughed and said, "I think that is an all sufficient reason."

Spier said he had told Jim Ferguson that he would not fight him on his prison policy as long as he appointed honest and efficient men.

Commissioner Stiles said that following the black terror drunken death party that he issued instructions that no one be permitted to enter the death cell during an electrocution without written permission of two commissioners and that no drunken men may enter the death chamber.

Pay for Pardons

When Spier first took the stand he testified that petitioner had paid out money from their depleted funds in effort to procure pardons.

"A. Putney, with a bad record and sentenced for life for murder, ordered Frank O'Rourke $100 to get a pardon," Spier testified. "I know he got $300 of Putney's money."

Putney is a barber in the walls and is the man who designed and built the electric chair. He has not been pardoned, Spier said.

"A prisoner, H. A. Williams gave a check to E. S. Poney out of his funds to get a pardon," Spier said.

Spier said that J. H. Gilchrist, a convict, gave $100 to C. Haggard, who deposited it in the account of Frank O'Rourke in a bank and Frank told him that if he was not so hard up he would have split it with him.

Jardine Confident that Co-operation of South with Agricultural Department Will Solve King Cotton's Difficulties

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Confidence that cooperation between the Agriculture Department and southern agencies will bring about a program of safe, sound permanent agriculture that will fit the various difficulties that arise, was expressed today by the secretary Jardine.

He said the Department was working on the present problem of severely depressing of the cotton crop of the year, and was sure that "a plan will be put into effect that will succeed not only curing for this year's crop but in insuring future marketing of cotton on a more equitable basis."

The technical problem at present is to remove part of this year's cotton production from the market and to reduce the next season's acreage to fit more money the demand of the market of the world," he declared.

The Woman's Day

MRS. FRANCES LEZEPRESTO had her 16th birthday the other day. And all her sons and daughters and grandsons and granddaughters and great-granddaughters and great-granddaughters thought it would be nice to give her a swell party. So they all came to Granny's house several tons of them. Granny, celebrating her 16th birthday cooked the dinner while they sat in the living room saying, "Tell you there aren't many smart old women like her!" But if Granny had been a little smarter, they'd have taken her out to dinner or else done their own cooking and dish-washing.

GRANNY isn't the only woman who finds herself at the age of a well-earned rest still trudging about to feed and keep clean and clothed someone dependent upon her—someone who thinks at any rate that he or she is dependent on the old faggedout woman. Perhaps the Grannies are to blame. They start their families with a "keep out of the kitchen" policy, and when they're ready to add it, it is no wonder the family doesn't know what's wanted pronto.

THERE are Grannies too, who tireing it may be, get their sole consolation and pleasure in life out of busting a turkey or making a pudding. They'll keep nudging until they drop and resent any interference in their domain. I know a high salaried teacher, unmarried, who lives at home with her mother. The mother is not able to keep house properly and the daughter knows it. She has tried again and again to hire help for the kitchen. Her own life is too busy to add a domestic life job to it also.

But every high school girl whom she imports for an evening dish-washing or company getting is promptly dismissed by her mother, who will admit that she can do as much and as well as ever. As a result, the teacher, unwilling to see her old mother overwork pitches in herself and is rapidly approaching a nervous breakdown from too many iron in the fire including Sundays spent in dinner getting and dish-washing for the family, and living haphazardly managed home while paying into the family exchequer more than she would pay for perfect running domestic machinery anywhere.

Sometimes the beauty of materialism is grossly exaggerated.

WOMEN students of the University of Washington demand a minimum income of $2400 before marriage. Male students put this figure at $2100. But almost twice as many girls insist on the wife's right to work outside the home as do the men students. Which is quite inconsistent, for the working wife means the boosted family income and the thing at which I have ever marvelled is that the husbands who kick the most about these very ones who contribute least to the family exchequer and who make the "working wife" necessary.

YOU may not know our sort of community," Mrs. E. of the middle-west, writes me, "but we are so uncivilized that the very mention of a woman's club frightens most of our women. There are some of us, however who insist on trying it. But we cannot have it alone and we want these women who tell that they are not interested in anything but housework to change their minds. So we want to start out with a "food evening" and start the club year by proving that even their own job is something that would help us!"

Yes indeed! Get on October "Atlantic monthly" and read either extracts or have someone review the high spots in Mary W. Griscom's "Curious Meals in Curious Places." If you can't get your club coffers interested in the story of the tarty smothered over the Chinese kitchen god at New Years and the Persian lamb roasted whole and cooked with rice, raisins and nuts, and eaten on the desert, nothing will!

A letter sent to the traveling library department of your state library should bring you any number of interesting food books. Ask them for recipe books of other lands.

MEN in the role of purser, baby-tenders, is what the future holds, according to the new school of psycho-biologists, who say that innately, men are as good baby-tenders as the women and only need a little training of inherent instinct.

"Somebody's got to do it," carp the carpers, pointing out mother's exodus from the home.

Men of Lancaster, England, recently organized a Father's Council which has weekly lectures in baby-tending. I, for one, suspect that their explanation for "somebody's got to do it" is part of a "shame-you" program waged against their women folk.

Appearance and gooseberryest Women may not stay at home as much as they once did, but their young are better off for their faring forth to get a few breaths of fresh air unpolluted by the aroma of flannel and bran-water.

Autumn Bring Few Style Changes, But Many Refinement

By BETSY SCHUYLER

(Special to The Avalanche)

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—The fall brings very little that is absolutely new in clothes, but it brings refinements that make costume a very fine art.

These days, one sees the jacket suit in all its smartest versions, and always the most interesting feature is the line—for whether coats are long or short, skirts pleated or plain is immaterial—it is only the snug fit of the shoulders, the tapering lines of the sleeves and the narrowness about the hips that really matters.

Princess Obolensky, formerly Muriel Astor, daughter of Lady Ribblesdale and sister of Vincent Astor, stepped from the gangplank in one of these smart tailcoats of oxford gray mixture with a smart little black hat, and a soft fluffy fox about her shoulders.

No costume is complete these days without its flower, and the princess wore a bouquet of dark red flowers. She was so eagerly welcomed by her American friends, and so speedily modeled from the pier that I had only an impression of a slender, graceful woman—with something very American about her in spite of her title.

Lizard Skin Purpore

Very English in appearance was Jane Cowl, the actress who just returned to New York after a most successful season in London. Over a dotted lather dress she wore a simple, wrap-around coat with small fur collar and a tiny black felt hat, worn very low over her eyes. Her pumps were of lizard-skin, which just matched the shade of the fur in her collar.

By the way, speaking of lizard skin and likewise of snake and alligator skin, these leathers are very more popular for pumps for winter than they were for summer. And these matching bags and pumps are seen on the very smartest women. At the stores you see them for fabulous prices as well as in the more moderate figures.

The handbag this year must subtly be a thing of costume. If it does not match the shoes or hat it must bear some relation to the general policy.

In fact, that is the whole secret of clothes; nothing is featured at the expense of anything else. Everything harmonizes and works for the general good. If a hat or accessory is so striking that you see it and not the ensemble, it is decidedly wrong.

Oh, But It Was Cold

At the Piping Rock Horse show this year, the clothes were distinctly disappointing, due to the sudden change of temperature. The late afternoon called for January raiment and most of the spectators and participants had dressed for October. A red nose and chattering teeth will never give the impression of chic.

However, there were some interesting trends in the styles. I saw over so many coats belted very low over the hips. I mean the belts were low, but they belted not at all, and never interfered with the straight line of the coat.

Typical of what was worn may be seen in the photograph of Mrs. Theodore Pratt, Jackson Dickman, and Mrs. George Sloane. The tiny chapeau of felt is almost inevitably trimmed only with a jeweled pin, and the brims are no larger than the bow above.

This season the top coat is apt to

Princess Obolensky wearing a smartly tailored grey suit, with a black hat and separate fox fur.

Without its fur collar and the separate fox scarf is worn. Green seemed to be the most popular color in the light as well as the dark shades. There were many smart leather coats in purple and green, belted with such fur as racoon or beaver. The black coat trimmed with black fur was also represented.

A very interesting costume was worn recently by Mrs. George St. George at Tuxedo—a wool affair of one of the new purple shades, they call this particular hue, petunia, I believe, cut over so smartly, and worn with a velvet toque to match.

The same day I saw Mrs. James' Bishop in a blue colored frock, and one of the new turbans patterned after what the first ladies of the Congo wear. It rose to a considerable height in the back and gave her a most interesting profile.

The sub-tops these days are wearing the beret, with jacket suits with turtle-neck sweaters beneath. The effect is very Parisian—and very

OFFSETS WATCHED IN ABILENE FIELD

THREE DRILLS POUND WITHOUT CEASING AT NOODLE CREEK

By HAMILTON WRIGHT
(Special Correspondent)

ABILENE, Oct. 22—Expectancy is the note in the Noodle Creek oil pool, 22 miles west, where three drills pound continuously to get down to 2500-foot stratum where the Phillips Petroleum Company's Joe Winter found a thousand-barrel-a-day producing vein.

These offset wells are watched daily by scores of oil operators, lease buyers and farmers. Brought in as producers of commercial possibilities they will stir up a campaign of drilling in three counties—Jones, Taylor and Fisher—that will startle the oil fraternity. If they make "busters" subsidence of the frenzy for oil so manifest that forty days will pass in a measure.

Trent, Merkel and Abilene—the trinity of towns expecting to profit most from the field—are on their tiptoes. True they are already going forward building with a faith unassured. Visible expression of that confidence is prevalent wherever one goes. Of course the excitement that follows closely on the heels of the intelligence that the field had been brought in was only a milder form of the enthusiasm that characterized the discovery of the McCleskey well at Ranter in 1918. But that will be a mere bagatelle in comparison with what the oil world may visualize in another fifteen days when the drills in the offset wells get down to the 2500-foot vein. They are now around the 1900-foot level, smaller along merely, operators confident, drillers plaidly treat cigars and buoyed up by the big prize Merkel has put up to the man who will be first to the pay sand.

If all the locations that have been made in the territory adjacent to the Phillips well transform themselves into rigs, the Abilene country is due to become a geographical sieve. To the north the derrick of the World Company glistens in the morning sun to the northeast the Sears well is setting down to the line and to the south another rig is writing final to its erection. Where a few oil "trees" now flourish on the rolling terrain in that region a flourishing forest is destined shortly to grow. Where Trent now sits expectantly great supply houses are in the making and stores are refurnishing and restocking. At Merkel a baby chamber of commerce with a real "papa" for a secretary in L. R. Thompson is functioning 100 per cent. It is dedicated to the task of erecting a big outstanding hotel, the organization of a month building and loan association, and the welcoming of oil people. It is going after the oil well supply houses and what not. At Abilene the combined citizenship expressing itself through a virtue chamber of commerce is making smooth the connecting highway and controlling it to make immediate repairs. Elsewhere, large concrete companies lured to this field have installed land and geological offices here, rallying out to the new field without let or hindrance over the excellent highway maintained by the chamber of commerce at a cost of $15,000. And the chamber of commerce is having some difficulty finding apartments and residences for the new people coming in despite the tremendous residence construction that has prevailed here for the last three years. With winter approaching and pre-emptive maintenance of the accelerated drilling now characterizing the Hutchinson county field, largest in the world, hundreds of oil men operating in that field will, like migratory birds wing their way to the Noodle Creek region in the opinion of fore-runners of the fraternity who are already planting themselves here where they can observe and act.

SEEK WANDERING BOY

Willis Rex Lightfoot of DeLeon is Gone; Parents Seek Information As to Whereabouts

From the yearning heart of a mother and the strong desire of a father to locate their runaway boy an appeal was received by Chief of Police T. E. May Friday, from L. L. Lightfoot of De Leon, Texas, stating that Willis Rex Lightfoot, left home on Tuesday morning, October 20, accompanied by a boy companion and had not been heard of since. The son is described as being 15 years old, slightly over six feet tall and weighing about 135 or 140 pounds, heavy black hair, blue eyes, has scar on back of neck not yet well; wearing a pair of gray trousers and slightly mottled khaki work shirt and old felt hat. The boy companion, L. B. Mullor, is described as a blond, light hair and cut eyes, wearing a cap. Information is asked as to the whereabouts of these young men.

Mrs. J. E. Shelton of Brownfield, visited her daughter, Miss Mary Shelton, who is employed in the music department of Harris Brothers, Friday.

Winifred Rossmund arrived in Lubbock yesterday from State Academy of San Marcos, called here by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. E. T. Rossmund, who is in a local sanitarium.

WATSON DENIES KU KLUX SUPPORT

SENATOR TELLS COMMITTEE HE HAD NO UNDERSTANDING WITH HOODED MEN

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22—With denials from Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, that he had any understanding with the K. K. K. for its political aid and from W. Lee Smith, grand dragon that the Indiana Klan was supporting that senator in his campaign for re-election, the Senate Campaign Funds Committee today practically concluded an inquiry into the political situation in this state.

Coming here from Chicago at the request of Senator Watson, Senator Reed found his colleague in such physical condition that he would not carry out his plan to question him in the hotel sun parlor in the presence of newspaper men. Instead he went to the senator's room with a stenographer and took there his statement which subsequently was made public.

"The charges that Dr. Evans (imperial wizard of the Klan) and Zumbertum made a deal with me by which I was to receive Klan support in Indiana if Senator Mayfield was seated are absolutely and unqualifiedly false," Senator Watson declared. "I never had any understanding to that effect nor any kind of understanding about the Mayfield case."

In entering his disclaimer that the Klan was asking Senator Watson, politically, Smith said the letter he sent out to Indiana Klansmen discussing the qualifications of the various candidates was not meant as one in support of any candidate, although it did describe Watson as "favorable." Senator Reed seemed skeptical and pressed Smith on the subject.

"You say a man is 'favorable' but claim that is not an endorsement," the Missourian asked. "Yes," Smith returned. "We just tell Klansmen who these people are and they can reach their own conclusions."

Otto Statler and Judge G. E. Lockhart made a business trip to Brownfield yesterday.

THE DANGER OF INSTALLMENTS

Strong criticism of installment buying on the ground that it is undermining the spirit of thrift in the nation, is increasing the cost of living, and is creating only a fictitious prosperity, was voiced recently by George F. Johnson, president of the Endicott Johnson Corporation, one of the largest shoe manufacturers in the country.

Freedom from debt, except for a modest home modestly furnished is the greatest blessing next to good health that the poor may enjoy. Debt is a form of slavery. It takes from them independence of action, and taxes them severely in the way of higher prices and living costs.

It is fictitious prosperity for the few people who profit by the system. We should discourage debt, except for a home of modest proportions and modestly furnished. We are sowing a harvest of future trouble when we sell to those unable to buy and pay, and teach them the evil system of contracting debt for luxuries which they desire but do not need.

When it comes down to the point of buying a home, we believe that the installment plan will show a profit to them, especially if they are in a new country, where property values are increasing.

that are nothing more than a luxury, cannot be included in this list of items that a person will save their money on, especially if the determination of such things are as rapid as most of the luxuries of life are.

THE BUSINESS OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

The picture of a haggard man living in starvation and pawning his clothes to buy materials while he pursues his scientific investigations may be a true portrait of workers like Palissy, Arkwright, Watts, Davy or Goodyear but it is not true today. Modern research laboratories are highly efficient business organizations which proceed with mathematical accuracy leaving nothing to accident or chance.

OUR PEACE-TIME ARMY

The most important of these was the planning of an organization capable of creating a war-time Army built around the skeleton of the peace-time force.

WESTERNERS WIN GRIDIRON CHAMPIONSHIP

MATADORS MEET CLARENDON BULLDOGS HERE TODAY

BOYS FROM HUB OF THE PLAINS TAKE BULLDOGS INTO CAMP AT PLAINVIEW FRIDAY BEFORE 1,500 SPECTATORS

By JAS. R. DOW, Staff Correspondent
 PLAINVIEW, Texas, Oct. 22.—Again the Hub of the Plains put up her reason of being the "hub" as she justly deserved the title of being the Class A champions of the South Plains district of the Texas Interscholastic League with her Westerners walloping the Plainview Bulldogs here this afternoon before 1,500 frenzied fans by a score of 15 to 7. No one has resided on the South Plains any length of time, can recall a harder fought game than the one that was waged here this afternoon on the Wayland Baptist College gridiron.

Coming from behind and crushing the Bulldogs on every instance the Westerners were no doubt stronger of the two clubs. It was shown not only in the last stages, where the Westerners did their scoring, but in the early session as well.

Bulldogs Tally First

True it was a break—but breaks are football. The Bulldogs tallied in the first period. It was when Craig, feisty half-back of the Bulldogs, punted for 45 yards down the field to the Westerners 2 yard line and Dollahite, who was playing the safety position, in doubtful mood as to whether the ball would bound over the end—none was un-nerved with the opening of the Bulldogs and in a rush to snatch the ball—fumbled—then Pearce, playing the wing position on the Plainview eleven, leaped on the ball across the line. Pearce's kick was perfect for the extra point.

From that period on the Bulldogs were not allowed to cross the Westerners' 25 yard line and were never in striking distance during the remainder of the fight.

Neither Score in Second Period

Neither Lubbock nor Plainview were able to count in the second period—most of the same being played in midfield. Only once did things appear to be a counter in this period and that was when Eddie Adkisson, who had substituted for Powell at quarter for Lubbock, reached up to grab one of Howell's passes for an intercept and chased for 20 yards—but time soon overcame the march of the Westerners and the first half ended with the completion of the play.

Westerners Start Mighty Offense

With the opening of the second half—matters began to take a different light. It was evident, at the sound of the referee's whistle that the Westerners meant business—grunting, gritting their teeth, and every indication of more fight and punch was shown. And so it was—crash and punch—from there on.

Forcing the Bulldogs back, with a continual onslaught of the Plainview backs for a loss—Craig was forced to punt. But his kick was blocked—and then the Westerners drew a break.

"Ted" Barton, who at last found his calling at tackle and who has been played in every position of a grid eleven, with his team-mate, Willie Teal broke thru to break-up the punt. Barton, after assisting in the block reached back to grab the oval and with his bulldie in front eluded the Bulldogs and got loose for a 27 yard run for a touchdown. Dollahite's kick for extra point was a failure, going low.

No one knows—but had Dollahite's kick been a perfect one, he had been made—the game might have stood a 7-7 draw.

But now—it was still more fight to pull out on the Westerner's part for as the game stood they were still losers.

Long Pass Counts Another Touchdown
 In the third period, which proved to be the victorious session for the Westerners another counter was called up. It was a long pass, Smith to Brothers, that was instrumental in registering the counter. A perfect pass to the waiting arms of "Buddy" Brothers for 25 yards put the Westerners on the Plainview 10 yard line; and from that distance the Lubbock eleven registered the Bulldogs' defense for another touchdown. Smith's kick struck the bar and failed.

Dollahite Makes Another Counter
 In the last three minutes of the play, after a series of mighty plunges thru the Plainview defense, Dollahite made a perfect kick for a field goal to add an additional three points to the already accumulated twelve, that the Westerners had counted, which gave them a count of 15 to 7.

Westerners Better in All Departments
 In reviewing the play-by-play account of the contest, the Westerners were better in all departments. While the Bulldogs made only two first downs in the contest, the Westerners made eleven. In passing the Westerners were better; in yards netted on running plays they were better; their average on punts was better. In condition, physically, the Westerners were better prepared for the fight, and stood much more punch than did the Plainview lads.

Death Knocks Him Out

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 22. (AP)—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion of the world, died in a private hospital here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon after an operation for the removal of a fractured bone from his nose. The bone was fractured when Greb was in an automobile accident two weeks ago at Pittsburgh.

Death was due to cardiac trouble aggravated by the combined shock of the operation and the accident, Dr. Chas. H. McGilvern, noted specialist who attended him, said tonight.

"The operation was started under local anesthesia," said Dr. McGilvern, "and later during its course this was supplemented by nitrous oxide and oxygen gas. He left the operating table apparently in good condition at 8:30 o'clock last night. At ten this morning his heart began to fail and rapidly grew weak, despite the administering of stimulants until he died at 2:30 this afternoon."

Pittsburgh Stunned

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Death claimed the "windmill" of the prize ring today when Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, former middleweight champion of the world, succumbed in an Atlantic City hospital after an operation for a broken bone in his nose. News of his sudden death stunned Pittsburgh for the boxer left here last Wednesday, claiming to be in good health. Greb, the only boxing champion ever turned out by this city, was the idol of the sport followers.

He Barred None

Greb barred none in his fight to the top, frequently giving more than a 30-pound advantage to his opponents. He won the American light heavyweight title from Gene Tunney in 1922 but lost it to the same boxer the following year. Then he began his drive for the middleweight championship, and despite prediction of some fans he could not make the weight.

GREEN-CLAD WARRIORS FROM NORTH PLAINS READY FOR BATTLE OF THEIR LIVES WITH SCARLET AND BLACK TODAY

"We're ready and our men are in good shape." Coach Barton and Stocking stated last night on their arrival here with 22 warriors of the green from Clarendon for the clash with the Matadors at Tech field this afternoon. The Bull Dogs are fresh from a brilliant victory over the McMurray Indians and are pointing for a win this afternoon.

"There will be no aught's," Frank Stocking assistant coach said last night, "and we expect our men to put up the fight of their lives."

Comparative scores give Clarendon the edge this afternoon as they won from McMurray six points higher than the Tech. With dope cast aside and with ability and experience as a factor, the Matadors will likely roll up a good score against the canines.

The Clarendon backs are light and shifty, three of them weighing less than 100 pounds. Their line, however, brings the average up fairly well and the team as a whole will average around 170 pounds. Corbin, quarter, is the lightest man on the squad and will likely give the Matadors more trouble. He is fast and shifty and has a keen diagnosis of plays and openings. He will be assisted on the offense by Schull, Johnson and Lewis. Stocking and White at ends are a pair of fast terminal players and bid fair for honors this afternoon. Naylor and Johnson will likely do the kicking; Johnson to receive the first call. Both men have averaged well over 40 yards in the games this year.

The Matadors will be ready for a brilliant display of offensive work this afternoon as the coaches have been drilling the squad in that phase of the game since the Simmons game.

 Boswell, captain of the Plainview Bulldogs, won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. The afternoon was cool and crisp with a light wind from the north giving the defenders of the north goal a 100% advantage on punts and passes.

Smith for Lubbock kicked off to Craig, who returned the ball for 20 yards to the Plainview 20 yard line. On the first play, Boswell, fullback of the Bulldogs, fumbled with Allen of the Westerners recovering.

Lubbock's ball on the Plainview 37 yard line. Plainview offside 5 yard penalty. Dollahite made it first down with a crash thru right tackle for 5 yards. Lubbock's ball on the Plainview 27 yard line. Smith hit left tackle on weak side play for 2 yards. Time was called for Plainview. Dollahite punted thru right tackle for 2 yards. WILL SPEAK HERE ON CO-OPERATION

AARON SAPIRO TO TELL FARMERS HOW TO GET TOGETHER ON MARKETING

Aaron Sapiro, America's foremost co-operative marketing expert, the man who worked out the fundamentals of successful grower co-operation, and who is general counsel for co-operative marketing associations throughout the country, will speak in Lubbock on November 2nd, at two o'clock at the Tech Pavilion, according to N. H. Payne, field representative of the Texas Farm Cotton Bureau Association, stationed here. Sapiro is coming here under the auspices of the association which will be assisted by the Chamber of Commerce...

Sapiro is general counsel for the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association and drew up the contract and laws under which the organization is operating. He will discuss the cotton situation, the existing conditions and causes and present, what he is convinced to be, the only solution based upon years of intimate study of agricultural conditions and close contact with farmers and their problems.

"Not only to Mr. Sapiro a national authority on orderly and co-operative marketing," Payne stated, "but he occupies a prominent place in national agricultural and economic affairs. He is a forceful and dynamic speaker. Farmers, bankers, and professional men will find his message of value and importance."

In view of existing cotton conditions and the wide-spread interest at this time in all matters relating to cotton prices and orderly marketing, Mr. Sapiro's presence in this section at this time is of paramount importance.

Payne is sending out letters and invitations to the agents and farmers all over this section and a large crowd is expected here for the meeting, Tuesday week.

Texas Skies Offer Striking Effect In Film Production

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 22 (AP)—Discovery that the cumulous clouds of south central Texas act as a remarkable photographic filter that gives soft and beautiful effects for motion pictures, has resulted in successful experiments whereby the skies are now being used as the principal background for two big feature productions.

The value of backlighted clouds, commonly known as clouds with a silver lining, was first brought into prominence by Director Victor Fleming and cameraman James Hoge of "The Song of Bernadette," and is now being used to a revolutionary extent in "Wings."

J. H. Jarboe, of the U. S. Weather Bureau, explained that the white, filmy Texas clouds register on film while the California clouds scarcely do at all, because the former have less moisture and therefore less density, permitting the sun's rays to penetrate. Also, being light and evanescent, they are swept in rapidly changing formations by the Gulf breeze. The density of the rolling California clouds hides the sun east, a shadow that permits no exposure on negative.

SAVES FATHER'S LIFE

Son Sucks Poison from Snake Bite at Ballinger, and Victim Survives Wound

(Special To The Avalanche) BALLINGER, Oct. 22.—The son of a farmer living eight miles south of Miles saved his father's life here recently by sucking the poison from a snake bite. J. T. Davis was picking cotton when a rattlesnake bit him, the fangs entering the right leg just above the ankle. Davis' son, Hubert, working in the field with him, promptly sliced the wound and sucked the venom from it. The action of Hubert saved his father's life according to the attending physician.

(Special To The Avalanche) SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22.—Wanted: An appropriate appellation for a 27-year-old solid bodied quadruped! Such is the invitation for suggestions broad casted by Harvey Andrew of this city representing the H. J. Andrew and Son firm, who is seeking a name for the grey horse which has stood in front of the Andrew place of business for nearly forty years. The old horse has been in the limelight of San Angelo numerous times, and is still the "hanging out" place for old-timers during their loafing seasons down town. It received state-wide note when used prominently in the parade of the big Mineral Wells gang at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here when Mineral Wells was seeking the convention for the next year.

CHANGE CHURCH TO DUPLEX

(Special To The Avalanche) QUANAH, Oct. 22.—A temple of worship here is to be converted into a modern duplex. Workmen have begun partial wrecking of the old Presbyterian church, removing the cupola, taking out the stained windows, and remodeling the wall. The church is to blossom into an eight room apartment.

WHAT PRICE VENGEANCE?

Woman Wanted to Pay Off in Advance for Beating Up Her Husband's Sweetie, Changed Mind

(Special To The Avalanche) SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22.—What does fighting cost? was the unusual question put to the assistant police chief here last week, when confronted by a woman apparently with Amazonian tendencies. Reaching for her purse, she said, "At five o'clock I am going to give so and so a good beating when she comes from work because she's been 'galloping' around with my husband. I want to pay the fine now in advance so you won't come down and pull me off." The officer explained that the offense might cost more than a fine and advised the belligerent woman to seek other means of settlement than whipping her rival.

WILL WELCOME OIL MEN

ABILENE, Oct. 22.—Oil men will be given a warm welcome by the Abilene club at a magnificent banquet which the club is now arranging. The "Welcome to Abilene" party will be one of the most gorgeous that has ever been held here. The suggestion was made by Geo. L. Miller, one of the leading dry goods merchants of Abilene.

Abilene is rapidly gathering oil men from the four winds. To show them the appreciation of Abilene and its citizens the glad hand is to be extended.

BUYS THE CITY JAIL

Too Few Prisoners in Town of Groom So Jail is Disposed of Miscellaneous to be Staked Out

(Special To The Avalanche) GROOM, Oct. 22.—The purchase of the city jail was recently effected here by a local citizen. Finding no use for the place as prisoners were rarely lodged therein, the city commission closed a deal with J. E. Clew for the sale of the jail, now to be used as a storeroom. Until a new building for imprisonment is prepared, those who walk disorderly will be "staked out."

MULE KILLS MEXICAN

One Dead, One Dying, As Del Rio Animal, Used as Clothes Carrier, Throws Three Riders

(Special To The Avalanche) DEL RIO, Oct. 22.—Because a mule was used as a clothes carrier, a Mexican employee on the Paul Edward's ranch near here is dead, one child is fatally injured, and a third slightly hurt.

The Mexican, mounted on the animal with his two children, was dispatched by his wife to gather the clothes which she had washed at a creek. Bundling the garments in front of him on the mule, and placing the children back of him, the laborer started back to the house. The animal became frightened at the gate, and threw the three riders. The Mexican was buried in Del Rio. The injured child is not expected to live.

SAVED BY DIVERSITY

Potatoes and Tomatoes Keep Big Spring Farmer from Going Bankrupt

(Special To The Avalanche) BIG SPRING, Oct. 22.—A patch of common potatoes and tomatoes meant the salvation of a farmer in the Big Spring section this year. According to the statement of C. L. Dodson, living 1 1/2 miles southeast of Big Spring, the revenue from these two ordinary truck products kept him from losing his place, when his major crops failed to bring in the proper returns.

Swearing to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce doctrine of diversification, Dodson attempted some truck farming on his Howard county land. From 2 acres of sweet potatoes and 1 1/2 acres of tomatoes, a total of $2,600 was realized, the $1-2 acres of truck yielding more clear profit than 100 acres of cotton and 40 acres of feed crops.

FRENCH HARP SKILL GETS FREEDOM FOR NEGRO VAG

(Special To The Avalanche) SWEETWATER, Oct. 22.—Musician-ship meant freedom to a negro offender arrested here recently on charges of vagrancy. Hired before of the day, the harp performed masterfully on a French harp with such a mournful and appealing tone that he convinced the law of his professional ability and character against him were dismissed.

CHILDREN'S ILLS

Arkansas Lady Says She Has Never Found a Better Laxative Than Theford's Black-Draught.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of this place, "and we find it a good bowel regulator. I give it to my children for colds and constipation, or any other stomach disorders, and it certainly is very helpful. I have never known it to fail them. Where there are so many children, it is a good idea to keep a laxative on hand, and Black-Draught is what we use."

"I have taken it myself for indigestion. I would feel dizzy, have gas and sour stomach. I would also feel a tightness in my chest. I took a good dose of Theford's Black-Draught when I felt that way and it would relieve me. I would feel better for days."

"My husband takes Black-Draught for biliousness. He says he has never found its equal. When he has the head, heavy feeling, he takes Black-Draught night and morning for a few days and he doesn't complain any more. I sure do recommend Black-Draught."

Sold everywhere. Get a package of Black-Draught, today. Costs only one cent a dose. NC-172

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 22/26—Wheat and corn secured a lively advance in price today. Unusual scarcity of offerings toward the last led to something of a flurry among traders who had been active speculative sellers. Talk was current that an unofficial crop looked for at Winnipeg would be proved bullish. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were strong, 24 to 2 cents net higher, corn 1 1/8 to 2 1/4 up, oats 3/8 to 5/8 cents gain, and provisions varying from the same as yesterday's finish to a rise of 25 cents.

Unfavorable husking returns gave strength to the corn market right from the outset. Besides, eastern demand for cash corn showed improvement. Oats sympathized with corn.

Traders buying of October and November had helped the provision market upgrade.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK
FORT WORTH, Oct. 22/26—Steady trading conditions prevailed in all branches of the livestock market here today except in the case of hogs. A decline of 25 cents was recorded in that division.

Receipts called for 2,300 grown cattle, 750 calves, 600 hogs and 2,200 sheep.

DAILY MARKET

LUBBOCK COTTON
The cotton market closed steady Friday with New Orleans December offerings ranging around 12.50. Prices are holding their own though very slight gains have been made during the week. Lubbock prices range around 11 cents for middling basis.

Cotton is being gathered considerably slower this season than last, not only on the South Plains, but throughout the cotton district of the South.

On October 1st this year only 5,637,284 had been ginned, while on the same date last year gin reports showed 17,228,000.

The next government estimate will be made public Monday, but it is impossible to say just what turn will take place before that date. On the first of this month the estimate was 16,827,000 though the next report may be considerably higher. Very few cotton experts think it will be lower. Private estimates range from 16,800,000 to as high as 17,200,000.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22/26—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and, although still dominated by the expectation of a bullish government report on Monday, prices showed a tendency to rally on fair trade buying and on the large mill takings for the week of 520,000 bales.

Although Liverpool was favorable, the market here opened 4 to 7 points down and, after fluctuating narrowly, finally reached levels 6 to 9 points under the previous close. The subsequent rally on the large mill takings and some rains in the western belt carried prices up 14 to 16 points from the lows by the middle of the afternoon.

The market fluctuated narrowly during the final hour, always near the high. The close was a few points under the high, showing net gains for the day of 2 to 5 points.

Another private crop estimate was issued during the day placing the indicated yield at 17,027,000 bales. Estimates of the total ginnings to October 18 ranged from 8,513,000 to 9,400,000 bales.

Although Liverpool came in better than due the market here started earlier with first trades 4 to 7 points down. Prices then fluctuated, finally reaching 12.38 for December, 12.24 for January and 12.41 for March, or 6 to 9 points under yesterday's close.

From these the lows of the market, the market gradually advanced and in mid-afternoon, December traded up 12.54, January to 12.33 and March to 12.57, or 14 to 16 points up from the lows and six to ten points above the previous close. These proved the highs of the day. The market closed only a few points from the highs. Exports for the week totaled 46,300 bales and for the week 555,830 bales.

BOSTON WOOL
BOSTON, Oct. 22/26—Taking advantage of slow demand, wool dealers are basing themselves with efforts to grade and deliver stock and ahead of grading. Some of the largest purchasers have taken more wool than needed for immediate requirements. Inquiry for the finer domestic descriptions, however, continues.

There is likewise some interest in the wools of Australia. However, values therefor, are not showing any saving tendency on account of the slower demand at the moment.

The world's visible supply of American cotton today compared with last year is 4,280,000 bales against 2,857,000 of other kinds 1,161,000 against 1,322,000, and of all kinds 5,441,000 vs. 4,212,000.

According to a press report this afternoon from Columbia, S. C., the Federal Intermediate Banks are prepared to advance $200,000,000 if necessary, to meet the present cotton price situation, according to Eugene Meyer, chairman of President Coolidge's cotton committee, upon his arrival here today on a tour of the cotton belt.

EVENING GRAIN LETTER
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22/26—Wheat:—Market was unsettled, declining around 5 cents early on sustained selling on the weakness in Liverpool, but around 142 for December. There was a good class of buying which absorbed the surplus in the pit and later when shorts tried to cover they found offering light causing an upturn of around two cents from the early low.

The bulk of the trade was of a local character. Liverpool closed 7 1/8% lower with market easier in sympathy with decline in North America yesterday and profit taking sales and an better weather conditions in Argentina. No frosts were reported in the latter country overnight and the Buenos Aires market was easier. Weather conditions in Canada were generally favorable and contrary markets remain liberal. Export demand at the seaboard was relatively slow with no business of consequence reported up to the close. Winnipeg Free Press will issue crop estimate on the province tomorrow and the trade looks for it to be somewhat bullish, although Winnipeg messages expressed the doubt in the grain was a factor toward the last Corn showed a firm undertone from the start. Unfavorable husking returns bringing in short covering caused a sharp upturn with no pressure of consequence in evidence. Sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves on the way up and spot lots orders were also caught. The country sold old crop to arrive on a liberal scale with sales 285,000 bushels. Eastern demand showed improvement.

Oats reflected the action of corn and averaged higher.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—A further decline in the opening of the cotton market today followed by rallies on a little trade buying and covering. January advanced from 12.25 to 12.10 and closed at 12.27, the general market closing steady, 2 points higher to three points lower.

The opening was heavily steady at a decline of two to eight points under continued selling which developed late yesterday. All months made new lows for the season under this pressure. December declining to 12.10 and March to 12.52, but weakness offerings were smaller and trade buying or covering checked the decline of these figures.

The volume of business tapered off on the rallies which followed but offerings continued light with very little if any southern selling in evidence and prices showed a generally steady tone. December advanced to 12.52 while March sold up to 12.54, recovery of about 12 to 13 points from its lowest. Last prices were within two to four points of the best.

Another private crop report pointed to a yield of 17,000,000 bales composed with an end-of-September indication of 18,000,000 and placed the amount of cotton ginned prior to October 15 at 3,422,000 bales. These figures on the crop were considered in line with recent expectations but ideas as to the ginning were later increased somewhat by rumors that a Memphis authority estimated the amount ginned to October 15 at 3,400,000 bales.

The week-end figures as anticipated at this season of the year made rather a bearish showing but were without apparent effect on the market, the late steadiness being attributed partly to covering by early sellers who had anticipated more southern selling than developed during the afternoon.

Members of the New York Cotton Exchange on the average are looking for a government crop report of 17,100,000 bales next Monday, according to a canvass today.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—The raw sugar market was firmer today with prices 1-1/2 of a cent higher on increased demand from refiners. Sales were 125,000 bags of Cuban for Octo- ber and November shipment at 4.53 duty paid.

The advance in the spot market and reports the recent hurricane in Cuba had done more damage than at first indicated, both to the growing cane and the sugar mills, led to active cov- ering and increased out side buying in raw sugar futures, advancing first 3 to 5 points. A prominent statistical authority estimated the world's sugar crop, cane and beet, at 26,279,000 tons against last year's 24,878,812 tons. The Cuban yield was estimated at 5, 000,000 tons. At the top offering in- creased and reactions followed in late trading under profit taking, leaving the close 2-points-higher to 4 net low- er. Apprehensive sales 68,000 tons. December closed 2.77; Jan. 2.90; Mar. 2.74; May 2.93; July 2.91.

Better inquiry was reported in re- fined sugar, stimulated by the high spot market, with prices unchanged to 2 points higher and now ranging from 5.80 to 6.00 for fine granulated.

COTTON SEED OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Cotton seed oil was irregular today in a quiet market, the strength of large and gains being offset by the slight un- easiness in crude and the good cot- ton weather. Closing prices were 2 points lower to ten no higher. Total sales 7,800 barrels. Prime crude 7.25 bid, prime summer yellow 8.50, nomi- nal. October closed 8.25; December 8.09; January 8.85; March 8.95; May 8.12.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Cotton goods today were quiet with a slightly ebbing tendency in some lines at gray clothes and convertibles. Burlap mar- kets eased off sharply at Calcutta, af- ter the holidays and were weaker here. Raw silk held fairly steady. Carpet wools are suffering.

WALL STREET

WALL STREET, Oct. 22 (AP)—Cal- ifornia Petroleum Company has bought the common stock of the Cape Steam- ship company which owns three tank steamships, for a reported price of $1,500,000. One tanker will be used for the coast movement of gasoline and the other two for crude and fuel- oil on the Pacific coast.

PRIVATE CROP ESTIMATE

NEW YORK Cotton Exchange esti- mates crop of 17,100,000 bales. Large spinners takings for week is a sustaining influence in face of the continued very heavy movement to market. However cotton likely contin- ue to be sold, especially on buyers' part present owing to fear of possibili- ty of larger government crop fore- cast next Monday. Reported razing at Waco, Texas. Shawnee, Okla.—heavy hail storm over Lincoln county did considerable damage.

STREET TOMORROW WILL SAY: "Something like a shifting of activities is appar- ently visible this week. Whether this is because of weather conditions and agriculture prices are not uniformly favorable as in 1925 at harvest or be- cause of full buying having started earlier than last year. Comparisons with corresponding weeks in Septem- ber or October a year ago do not show as pronounced gains as they did. Con- tinuity retail seems not to have ex- panded, whereas some lines of whole- sale trade and of manufacturers have increased, while others have tended to slow up, making a more irregular showing for business as a whole.

Weather conditions in parts of the central west certainly have improved. Corn has dried enough to permit of hauling, besting and more winter wheat is being planted, whereas, there is more complaint of wet weather in parts of the southwest affecting road trade, crops.

TAKE THEMSELVES TOO SERIOUSLY

THAT'S THE TROUBLE WITH WOMEN IN BUSINESS SAYS SPEAKER

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—The tendency of women in business to take themselves too seriously is a sin in the eyes of the executive secretary of some 47,000 women who belong to the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

"Women cannot close the office door and forget business when they go home," said this executive, Miss Emma Dot Partridge.

Feel Challenge to Men
Her explanation is that women take business as a challenge to make good in a man-made world and still struggle with a feeling of insecurity.

"Consequently, they work too hard—particularly women in executive positions," Miss Partridge declared. "Where a man will knock off work, forget it and play golf, a woman is unable to throw herself into the recreation of recreation. In all of my immediate acquaintances, I do not know a single woman who plays golf."

Miss Partridge has women listed in her files who are horse breeders, dentists, architects, brokers, varnish manufacturers, and all descriptions of professions.

Woman More Conscientious
"In all, they are much more conscientious than men," she continued.

"That is another quality that develops woman's tendency to seriousness. This quality is so serious as a situation that we are contemplating a department whereby recreation may be urged upon the business women."

Women business executives should not be any more courteous in their dealings than men, Miss Partridge said.

"They are so stiff, why not busy women? Not that I approve of it. The world is used to expecting the woman to act the hostess and, if she is anything less than gracious, comment is made."

Sex Trait Too Strong Yet
Miss Partridge says that it is not college women who are filling the highest positions held by business women today, but the girls who have gone through the laborious steps upward. Many college graduates are not willing to undergo such an apprenticeship, she added.

She believes that women in business have not yet achieved the frankness and openness that the imperiousness of business demands.

"They are not just business women but women. While the average business man is interested in the woman he employs only in so far as they contribute to the development of his business, the woman, at least, until she gets to 'the good knows when' stage, is playing hide and seek with the idea of matrimony. She thus serves two masters and impairs her economic potentialities."

San Angelo Pioneer Finds His Old Automobile Changed to Brand New One During Absence

(Special to The Avalanche) SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22—A. H. Palmer, 74 years old, pioneer resident of San Angelo, missing his car from the spot he had parked it, returned to the place half hour later to find his car in a brand new automobile on the steering wheel of which was a telegram. The telegram, addressed to a car salesman, read, "Take this old hunk away from A. H. and give him a new one," and was signed by Palmer's brother, at Alpine.

MADE RANGER FAMOUS; WILL THEY DO SAME AT ABILENE?
ABILENE, Oct. 22.—The McCleskey well that brought in the celebrated Ranger oil field, back in 1918, by the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company, gave that company quite a bit of fame.

And the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company may make the new central West Texas field famous.

The company has just taken a lease on 4 acres of the E. C. Brown farm near the Noode Creek field at a price of $5,000 and is preparing to drill as soon as the rig can be erected.

JOE WINTER WELL 'WAY DOWN'
ABILENE, Oct. 22.—With less than 100 feet to drill to get to the sand of the Joe Winter well, the big Jones county producer, the Ramsey Gas Co.'s Arthur Seers well, south of Eskota, in Nolan county watched for three weeks now as a probable producer, is drilling at a depth of 2,720 feet, after sealing casing on a hard formation. Geologists expect the Winter sands of 2,845 feet will be picked up around the 2,850 foot level.

COTTON PICKERS PLENTIFUL AROUND BRADY AND WINTERS
Cotton pickers are plentiful near Brady and Winters, Texas, according to a letter received here by W. B. Roush, special farm labor agent, over 500 being released daily from that section. Roush stated yesterday that he believed the farmers of this section could get pickers if they sent for them.

Roush has just completed a tour of this section making a survey of the cotton picking situation and stated yesterday that at every place he visited, from 500 to a thousand pickers were needed. He stated that the gins of this section, especially at Idaho, Lorenzan and Falls were running late in the night to take care of the cotton, however.

Bride Was Already Married, So San Angelo Mexican Brought License Back

(Special to The Avalanche) SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22—A love-sick Mexican, declining to take his money back, stands credited with $1 in the county clerk's office here for a marriage license returned by him four hours after he had received it.

The fiance of the groom-to-be upon being greeted with the papers legalizing their union, announced that a talk with neighbors had convinced her she was not free to marry. Though having no divorce, she had thought that abandonment by her husband severed the marital tie.

The disappointed lover made a noon and trip to the county clerk's office and received credit for the license, saying he might need it again soon—which may mean a divorce suit will be resorted to.

STUDENT BARRED TO DEBATE IF THEY SMOKE

BALDWIN, Kan., Oct. 22 (AP)—Students who swear or smoke cannot participate in oratorical contests at Baker University here, for which the will of Albert M. Lumpkin of Fort Worth, Texas, provided gold prizes.

Mr. Lumpkin, a Baker alumnus, bequeathed to the University a fund to pay $100 to the creator placing second. He will contain a clause barring users of tobacco and profane language from competing.

WHEAT IN ACID SOIL LIABLE TO WINTER KILL

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 22 (AP)—Experimentation at the State College of Agriculture indicates that wheat planted in acid soil is much more liable to "winter killing" than that planted in fields where lime has been used to neutralize the acid.

A. W. Blair, associate soil chemist, says that in the majority of cases 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of pulverized limestone per acre, or the equivalent in hydrated lime, will be sufficient for wheat if clover or alfalfa is to be grown, heavier applications of lime may be required.

SCOUT PARK FLOODED

Recent Rains Play Havoc With Post Memorial; Post Scouts Will Clean Up Wreckage

The recent rains and floods which the South Plains have experienced played havoc with the Post Memorial Scout Camp according to Scout Executive H. H. Palmer who has made trips to the camp during the past week. The canyon was flooded with trees and other debris, piling up behind a two-inch water pipe across it and finally breaking the pipe in several places.

Palmer will go to Post today where he will supervise the repair work of the camp, the Post Boy Scouts having volunteered to do the work.

So crisp and tender that they "crack" like celery

MONTHS of delicate handling are needed to give you that "just-right" crispness in Libby's Pickles. And the start is all-important. Grown from our own pedigreed seed, the young cucumbers are hurried into brine the very day of picking. 200 country pickling stations are needed to guard their special, tender crispness.

CALL ELECTION TO IMPOUND WATER OF ABILENE CREEK

(Special to The Avalanche) ABILENE, Oct. 22.—Augmentation of the Lake Abilene water supply of five billion gallons with a new three miles southeast of Abilene is provided for in a bond election of $500,000, which is to be called shortly. It was announced today by Mayor Charles E. Coombs. At the same time the city will vote on $100,000 for extension of water connections and $50,000 to improve the city parks. The voting of the additional bonds, Coombs explained, will not increase the tax rate, which is $2.45, or five cents below the constitutional limit. Abilene's present bonded indebtedness is approximately $2,250,000.
