Young County Visions 'Second Seminole' As Graham Gusher Roars On

10-CENT HIKE CHEERS OIL INDUSTRY

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

A friend lays a copy of the current issue of Cosmopolitan on our desk. The magazine contains, among other things, "Reflections From Private Life" by Calvin Coolidge. In his reflections Mr. Coolidge discusses prohibition, the suggestion that he run for a third term, the stock market crash and business, the functions of the administrative and legislative branches of our national government and other topics.

About prohibition he says: "Considering that people have differed most radically on the best method of regulating the sale of liquor for generations, it is not likely to be settled for a long time to come. Of course enforcement is necessary under the law and may be one element in determining the future course of action in relation to prohibition. No law on this subject has even been free from criticism."

We quote only a small part of what he has to say. He goes on to say that he believes it the duty of all people to obey the laws on this subject under the constitution, and it to be the duty of all authorized public officers to enforce them.

Mr. Coolidge would disclaim being a prophet or a seer but he is generally credited with the possession of a lot of horse sense and knows a monkey wrench from a handsaw. A lot of folks once believed that the prohibition question was forever settled by the adoption of the 18th amendment and the passage of the Volstead act. There were wiser ones who foresaw that the question was not settled by such legislation.

It does seem that many of us were too hopeful when we thought the regulation of the use of alcohol, which has been a problem since man discovered the products of fermentation and distillation, could be solved so peremptorily and so easily. As Mr. Coolidge says, "it (the problem of regulation) is not likely to be settled for a long time to come." In our efforts to settle the problem we will need the use of our experience and reason and can very well dispense with some of the emotion that in the past has characterized our discussions of it.

In closing his article, Mr. Coolidge says: "I should like to be known as a former president who tries to mind his own business." Ray Long, editor of Cosmopolitan, believes this is a credo that might be adopted to advantage by all of us. "Think of all the trouble that might be avoided if all of us did that," writes Mr. Long in an editorial. "Think of the time that might be saved, the energy that might be conserved. Think of the failures that might be successes, of the heartbreaks that might be avoided; the homes that might be preserved."

Within the week air service between Dallas and Wichita Falls has been established by the Western Air Express and Safeway has announced that a large number of giant planes have been ordered for service between St. Louis and Los Angeles via Wichita Falls. The Dallas-Amarillo branch of the Western Air Express makes connection with its transcontinental service. These two announcements may have much greater significance for Wichita Falls than any of us can now realize. Certainly they write Wichita Falls on the air map in large letters.

It would be a shortsighted policy that would cause us to lose any of the air service we now have. The air is free and air routes will go and will likely remain where the proper provision is made for handling planes and traffic. Wichita Falls ought not to lose any of the air routes it now has and it ought to do whatever it can to acquire more. We have made a good start toward building an airport but it must be improved to meet the needs of a growing traffic. Some improvements are needed now. We might as well be making up our minds to vote a bond issue of sufficient amount to permit the city to exercise its option to buy the airport and to make necessary improvements. It has cost us little, either as individuals or as a city, to acquire the air routes we now have. It will cost us something in the way of capital expenditure to take care of the business they have brought us.

TANKS FAIL TO HOLD WELL'S GREAT OUTPUT

41 Gravity Crude Slops Over Containers and Fills Ditches, Creeks

OIL MEN CROWD CITY

First Purchases Indicate Field to Get Play Five Miles to Northwest

By TOM TRULY
The Record News Staff

GRAHAM, Texas, April 10.—Texas' greatest oil well, the Nash and Windfohr No. 1 McCloud, roared away tonight throwing fortunes of oil into a battery of makeshift tanks and filling every creek in its vicinity with 41 gravity oil which is worth 11 cents more per barrel than it was yesterday.

Tired of trying to estimate the gusher's ever-increasing production, land and lease men gave serious attention to buying "protection" and the first flurry of purchases found the area northwest of the mammoth producer the favored spot.

Alert residents of Graham visioned a second Seminole field right at their back door. The milling throngs of oil men in the Driver and other Graham hotels seem to think the formation will run northwestward from the Nash and Windfohr lease. In that direction it is five miles to another hole as deep as the big gusher. It is Harles Oil company's No. 1 Morrison which is producing 100 barrels from an approximate depth of 3750 feet, indicating it may be on the edge of the hump.

Traders Anxious and Wary

Traders kept in mind today that the gusher may be a freak, that it may be producing from a crevice in the pay. It was determined today the pay is a lime formation and operators said nothing is trickier than lime.

Steadily gaining in production, the No. 1 McCloud tonight was conservatively called a 30,000-barrel well. Several scouts are known to have wired their headquarters the gusher was flowing 25,000 barrels daily and increasing. Several observers did not hesitate to place the yield as high as 30,000 barrels and nobody was accused of exaggerating.

The Nash and Windfohr lease presents a scene seldom found in Texas oildom. Tanks of every size and description sit squalidly in disorder around the derrick, bulging with oil and giving off the sharp tang of gasoline, characteristic of high gravity crude. A six-inch pipe protruding from the derrick floor empties a treasure richer than any a Spanish fleet of old ever carried onto the ground.

The oil runs down the side of the hill, filling creeks, ditches along the Rock Island right of way and along the highway, and earthen pits which are being built as rapidly as they are filled.

Highway Workers Aid

Approximately 500 men are working night and day in the war-like attempt to control the largest oil well ever drilled in Texas. The state of Texas played its part in the fight today when officials of the state highway department agreed to allow more than 100 men with their teams and graders to set about throwing up pits and trenches to dam the flood of liquid gold.

Pipe line crews from three companies continued today to rush additional tankage to care for the flow. Every available tank from Wichita Falls to Breckenridge and from Graham to Jacksboro was either brought to the lease or placed on trucks and started in that direction.

The oil at points along several creeks where dams were erected was from 6 to 11 feet deep. A large concrete reservoir located near the lease was 11 feet deep in oil and the myriad trenchwork of pits were brimming full.

The derrick crew tonight labored to place a trap over the hole, which has been decided upon as the final means of bringing the outlaw well under complete control. Partially capped as it is, the well puts more than 300 barrels of oil per hour into the battery of steel tanks while from two to five times as much is running into the earthen containers.

Oil Men Gather

From Wichita Falls, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells, Abilene, San Angelo, Fort Worth, Mexia, Corsicana, Tulsa and Ardmore, oil men flocked to Graham today and not a hotel room was available tonight. Restaurants were taxed to supply food to the throngs and the downtown streets were congested with traffic.

Several large lease deals are known to have been consummated since the gusher blew the tools from the hole Tuesday afternoon. The largest deal was made late today and involved land northwest of the well, between it and the Harle producer, considered the possible northwestern outpost of the new field.

Geologists on the ground held to the theory generally credited throughout the Mid-Continent that oil formations run northwest and southeast. Less than a quarter of a mile southeast of the new producer are several holes to the 3,700-foot lime, but none of them proved extraordinary. This was taken to mean the big one is near the southeast edge if in fact it is not a freak.

Prices being paid for acreage were not being divulged and probably will not be for several days.

The traders prefer to "horse trade" with land owners, especially

Texas' Greatest Oil Well in Action

Above is shown the Nash and Windfohr No. 1 McCloud gusher at Graham, photographed just before the outlaw was partially subdued after a 36-hour battle. The well is estimated good for 20,000 to 30,000 barrels but no gauge has been made. Oil men think it has opened a large field but add it may be a freak. Since the flow was capped part of the oil is run into tanks but most of it runs on the ground to be held in creek beds and hastily dug trenches. The oil produced is the finest found anywhere.

BRISTOW BARES KIDNAPING PLOT

Oil Man Betrayed by Guide, He Tells Officers

TEPEC, Mexico, April 10. (AP)—In a report to Mexican military authorities today, J. E. Bristow, American mining man released yesterday from bandit kidnapers, accused C. Fields, the interpreter and guide accompanying him when he was captured, of delivering him into the hands of the bandits. He was convinced that Fields had inspired a kidnaping plot and had turned him over to the bandits.

Bristow asserted Fields had then tried to collect money from him, and said that Fields' actions, once the party had entered the bandit country March 7 to inspect the mine, were suspicious.

Coals Heaped Upon Wickersham For Bank and Church Board Connections

Senator Caraway and Representative Tinkham Criticize Chairman's 'Indefensible' Position in Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—Criticism of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover law enforcement commission, for serving as chairman of the foreign policy committee of the federal council of churches while acting as attorney for international bankers, was voiced today before the senate lobby committee by Chairman Caraway and Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts.

Caraway said Wickersham was in an "absolutely indefensible position." Tinkham commented that it seemed there was a "diversity of interests."

The name of Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, was added to the long list of notables who have figured in lobby committee testimony while Tinkham demanded an investigation of the federal council, the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, and the Anti-Saloon league.

Noting he had requested the information, the Massachusetts representative said Wickersham had informed him of his chairmanship of the foreign policy committee of the federal council and that either he or his firm had represented foreign corporations and international bankers.

The law enforcement chairman retired several months ago as an official of the council.

"If these facts are of any interest or importance to you," Wickersham wrote Tinkham, "I cheerfully place them at your disposal."

"How does he qualify as an officer of the federal council?" asked Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin.

"I suppose because he is active in international business," Tinkham replied.

Governor Kohler was asked to concern himself with the situation after the Texas legislature proposed to boycott Wisconsin-made products after the real estate board's action. He said he was "considering" the invitation.

HUMBLE AND TEXAS BOOST CRUDE PRICES

Wall Street Predictions of Increase Borne Out in Wichita Area

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

Business Generally to Benefit From Higher Returns To Oil Men

Heralded in Wall street for several weeks, the long hoped for increase in the price of Mid-Continent crude oil was posted in Wichita Falls Thursday.

The hike for most North Texas oil amounts to a dime a barrel. Oil men had hoped for a more sizeable boost but universal gratification was evidenced that the market had been raised.

Humble Oil and Refining company, Texas subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, inaugurated the hike in Texas while Carter Oil company, the Humble's Oklahoma counterpart, was first to post the new schedule in the Sooner state.

Dime a Barrel

The Texas company, an independent-major concern, quickly followed the Humble's anouncement in Wichita Falls. While Wall street dispatches said Gulf Production company had raised the price, Texas headquarters of the Mellon-owned company had not announced a new scale. Officials of Gulf, Magnolia, Continental, Panhandle, and Prairie believed their companies would establish the higher prices Friday or Saturday.

The new market scale lists oil testing 39.9 gravity at $1.39½ per barrel, an increase of 10½ cents. Crude rated 40.9 gravity will now be worth $1.43, representing a gain of 11 cents. Practically all wells in the Wichita Falls district produce oil coming under those prices.

Business generally may reap as great a direct benefit from the hike as the oil industry itself, according to observers here and in Eastern centers.

Oil men will receive thousands upon thousands of dollars more for their production, it is granted, but the effect upon the morale of the industry will be worth an even greater consideration in dollars and cents to general business. A quickening of trade in the oil country will be the first visible result from the revised price table.

Field operations have increased steadily since February, in the face of the worst general depression the oil industry ever has experienced, but the better feeling will enable operators to act with greater confidence in the development of properties and in the exchange of money within the industry.

General improvement in the refining industry has been reported throughout the Mid-Continent since April 1. Refiners have materially reduced production and at the same time demand for gasoline has been strengthened by the advent of warm weather. Last week especially did refiners make good their promise to curtail runs of crude and other oils to stills.

Farish Sees Improvement

The following statement by W. S. Farish was issued with the Humble's announcement Thursday:

"The advance in the price of crude oil posted today by the Humble Oil and Refining company is made possible by the improvement in the relationship between supplies of crude and refined products and the market demand therefor and by the improvement in the wholesale market for gasoline.

"The continued accumulation of stocks of refined products in the latter part of last year has been arrested by the reduction in refinery activity in line with the suggestion

Address by State Sunday School Secretary Features B. Y. P. U. Meet

300 Delegates Register for Annual Conference, with Quanah Leading Visitors; Elections Today

G. S. Hopkins, state Sunday school secretary of Dallas, was the principal speaker of the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the 11th district Baptist Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. conference which opened at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Approximately 300 delegates registered, Quanah leading in the number present from out of town.

Mr. Hopkins, who talked on "Leaders and Volunteer Workers for the Sunday School," pointed out that 90 per cent of the progress of the churches has been made by 20 per cent of the churches.

"There is actual danger in giving one person too much to do," Mr. Hopkins said.

"When there is work to be done the first thing that is thought of is a person who does that particular thing best and he or she is naturally called upon when in reality a thorough investigation should be made for new material along that line of work."

"Eventually we will have one person for one task and that person will not be overworked. Things that should be considered in choosing new workers for the church include 'Is the person God fearing?' 'Is he a consecrated worker?' and 'Is he spiritually fit?'

Nominating Committee

The morning session was opened with a welcome address by Rev. S. F. Martin which was followed by a short business session in which a nominating committee composed of Rev. Miles B. Hays of Burkburnett, Rev. McKinley Norman of Quanah and Mrs. S. S. Marcell of Olney, was appointed. Officers will be elected during the session Friday morning and at that time the committee will announce where and when the next conference will be held.

A song and praise service was led in the morning by C. T. Hodges of Quanah and the welcome address was responded to by Rev. Dale Thorn of Graham. Rev. McKinley Norman gave a lecture on "The Church Functioning Through Its Teaching Service," after which the Sunday school conferences were held in the different rooms of the building.

Those who conducted conferences included Mrs. C. W. Rountree and Mrs. Charles Samarjian of Quanah; Mrs. Pat Bryan, Graham; Mrs. J. M. Turner, Electra, and Mrs. S. F. Martin.

At 11:35 a general conference was held when comments on the various conferences held were heard. Jessie H. Garrett of Vernon conducted a conference on "The Six-Point Record System," after which the Crowell church presented special music. Following the appointment of committees, Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First church here, discussed "The Church Functioning Through Its Training Service." At 12:30 the meeting adjourned for dinner.

Adults Need Training

J. W. Mason, president of the B. Y. P. U. organization, presided over the afternoon session which was opened at 1:30 o'clock by a song service led by Jessie Hill Garrett of Vernon. The devotional was given by Mrs. Helen Fulghum of Henrietta after which Rev. J. H. Hankins of Childress talked on "The Modern Training Service of the Church." Rev. Mr. Hankins said that "people have finally awakened to the fact that adults needed training as well as young people."

"The training service of B. Y. P. U. has had a hard time in finding a time in which to meet but the time has come when few churches are failing to recognize the importance of the organization."

Rev. Mr. Hankins compared the power of Niagara Falls going to waste with the power of the church not being utilized and predicted the outcome "if God only had a chance to use the power that is due Him."

In closing, Rev. Mr. Hankins summed up accomplishments of the training service as follows: Trains young people in prayer service, trains them in Bible study and use of the Bible, trains them in missionary spirit, and trains them in stewardship.

The B. Y. P. U. conferences began at 2:15 with the following as teachers: Mrs. J. M. Mason, Mrs. Brooks Robertson of Burkburnett, Mrs. J. R. Balch of Seymour, C. T. Hodges of Quanah, and Mrs. G. A. Patterson.

Following a discussion of "Records That Record," by Rev. Dale Thorn of Graham, in which he explained methods of conducting successful attendance contests, W. E. Young gave a vocal solo.

The closing address was given by Rev. W. H. Townsend of Olney, former pastor of the Lamar Avenue church, on "Is the Budget Plan the Bible Plan of Church Finance?" In his talk Rev. Mr. Townsend expressed belief that the budget system was scriptural and also discussed some of the unwise and unscriptural means of raising money for the church.

"The budget plan provides a chance for every member of the church to have a part in the program of Christ," Rev. Townsend said.

The evening session was opened with a song led by W. R. Harper of the Lamar Avenue church which was followed by a devotional from C. R. Holt of Tell, Texas. G. S. Hopkins led the discussion and conference on "The Church Reaching Its Posisibilities Through the Sunday School" after which special music was given by the First church here.

The general B. Y. P. U. conference on "Reaching and Maintaining the General Standard of Excellence" was led by Rev. M. B. Hays of Burkburnett. The feature of the evening program was a lecture by Dr. E. F. Lyon of Vernon on "The Church, a Channel for the Investment of Life." Dr. Lyon said "When we think of investments we must think of the resource, but God's child does not have to worry about the resource because he has an abundance which is ready for immediate use.

"His resources are unlimited."

Scientists Close Atlanta Meeting

ATLANTA, Ga., April 10. (UP)—An epochal meeting of the American Chemical society—its 79th—drew to a close today after graphically revealing a new industrial South to itself.

Savants of the world's oldest science in scores of technical papers painted a glowing, hopeful picture of a new future for the section of America South of Washington and east o fthe Mississippi.

Aside from the new uses to which her cotton crop can be put, notably as a meat substitute and as a nonfattening sugar, the whole range of the Southeast's natural resources were put under the microscope, and progress outlined.

Rayons, cements, pulp and paper, wood distillation, nitrogen fixation, textile dying and finishing, leathers and chemicals were enumerated by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, as the major indicated sources of its new wealth.

Clarendon Junior College Assured In Overwhelming City Election Vote

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, April 10.—As the result of the city election Clarendon emerged a permanent home of a first class junior college after a fight for the last 32 years to maintain a school of college grade here. A Methodist college was established here in 1898 and was maintained until 1926, when it became a junior college under the management of the local school board, supported solely from tuition. The last legislature passed the junior college bill legalizing the establishment of Junior colleges in the state.

Clarendon with the buildings and equipment from the old college still at hand created a Junior college district voted the 20c tax on state and county valuations allowed by the law to support the school by a landslide vote of 468 to 63. The vote was an expression of the feelings of practically 85 per cent of the voters in the district and was the largest turnout of voters in history in a school election in this city.

The verdict in favor of the tax will mean the improvement of the college as it now stands and its becoming a permanent institution properly financed. The college is recognized today as among the best in the state and has been given the highest rank by the state board of education. It is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and High School and students after completing two years of work in the school can enter any college in the land as juniors.

YANCY STORY SEEKS APPEALS

Attorneys for Denton Man File Motions

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP)—Attorneys for Yancy Story, under a five-year sentence for robbery in Falls county and facing jail imprisonment of 100 days and a fine of $200 in Denton county for turkey theft, filed motions in the court of criminal appeals today, to reinstate appeals previously dismissed by the court.

Officers had sought Story since the appellate court issued its mandate in the Falls and Denton county cases, and he had not been apprehended.

Story claimed the appeals had been dismissed by the court under an agreement he had with Earl Street, county attorney of Denton county, entered into Jan. 27, last, to the effect that charges against Story pending in Dallas, Bell, Collin, Denton and Tarrant counties would be dismissed if appeals in the appellate court were abated, the sentences to run concurrently.

Story alleged in his motion to reinstate the appeals that the dismissals had been made without his knowledge and consent, that he had instructed his attorneys not to use the agreement in getting the appeals abated, and that the motion was filed by the state against his will. Also, he claimed he learned that County Attorney Street did not have authority to carry the agreement into effect.

YOUNG DEMOS SPLIT SHARPLY

Court Action Over Election Of Secretary Looms

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 10. (UP)—Court action looms in the ranks of the state League of Young Democrats to decide who was chosen executive secretary at the March 1 elections held by the executive committee.

Mrs. O. T. Shay, secretary for the past two years, is expected to bring court action to prevent Miss Mary Newsome, said to have been elected, from taking office.

Mrs. Shay claimed the election was irregular.

A flare-up on the question came at the Oklahoma county league's luncheon today when it was announced Miss Newsome, "the executive secretary," would speak to the executive committee after a Democratic meeting at the courthouse Friday.

The disturbance was quieted by President Lee Robinson of the Oklahoma county league.

Forum Department Program Closes Brilliant Season

The auditorium of the Woman's Forum was converted into a pretty garden scene Thursday afternoon when the Freear Furniture company furnished it with lovely pieces of garden furniture. A brilliant umbrella, several love seats, gay cushioned chairs and oriental jardinieres filled with palms seemed to be in the land of spring with the iris, bridal wreath, pink geraniums and great tubs of ping oleanders adding to the colorful setting.

Mrs. J. W. Cantwell presided and introduced Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, the new president. The new officers were also introduced by Mrs. Cantwell, and Mrs. Hamlin made gracious response.

Two lovely songs were given by Mrs. M. M. Garrett, "Down in the Forest," and "The Maid of the Maidens," with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey at the piano.

Mrs. J. T. Harrell talked on the modern trend of poetry in America and Europe, illustrating her discussion with many lovely poems. Among others were Evan Morgan's "Ell"; Gladys Campbell's "Never Silence," Helen Hoyt's "Difference" and "Song" by Mabel Simpson.

Three lovely violin numbers were given by Stanley Raub with Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., at the piano and Miss Eva Weber talked on book news, mentioning especially the "Life of Byron," Rupert Hughes' last volume on Washington and the great number of war books. She paid special tribute to Thornton Wilder's "Woman of Andros."

Hostesses were Mesdames W. P. Ferguson, E. M. Friend, H. D. Jones, T. J. Brock and Sam Kruger. Mrs. Bert Bean was chairman of arrangements with Mesdames W. W. Silk, Frank Timberlake, C. W. Snider and S. S. McKenney assisting and hostesses who served the dainty tea were Misses Margaret Hines, Mary Tancred and Mesdames Norman Downing, T. A. Korn, J. W. Akin Jr., and Ernest Robertson.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

It did not sound at all sanitary, but it did sound funny. We were stretched on a couch in the bedroom and from beneath the window came the sound of an excited boy's voice. "I wish you'd come here and look," he shouted. "I never saw anything like it! Just look how far I've spit! Why, I spit one, two, three, four of these concrete blocks." Then to prove it, he spat again.

◆ ◆ ◆

It reminded us of so many years ago in Memphis, Tenn., when we were with two small boys on the street car and they, just able to read, were spelling out all the street car signs. One read, "$5 fine for spitting on the floor." The older boy, 7 years mature, read it solemnly then said to his brother, "Just think of it, Elmer! $5 for just one spit!"

◆ ◆ ◆

At the Rotary luncheon Thurs-day, a young gentleman of 6 was on the program and when the moment came for him to perform, he was having the time of his life with a piece of chicken and didn't wish to let it go. They promised to save it for him and put it on his plate and wiped his mouth and he sang with signs of chicken showing from ear to ear. With the performance over, he paid not the slightest attention to the loud applause, but rushed back to his chicken and went to work on it—all much to the disgust of his older brother, but to the delight of the Rotarians.

◆ ◆ ◆

Little boys are, we think, the funniest bits of humanity on earth. Adorable little animals who have no "put on" in their systems.

◆ ◆ ◆

There's such a difference in little girls. We watched several of them in a local cafeteria Thursday—little out-of-town girls, here with their parents to attend a convention. They wore little spring frocks with diminutive spring coats on their arms and flirted along with such airs and graces!

◆ ◆ ◆

Last week in a small town near Wichita, a little girl of about 5, walked importantly into a drug store and demanded, "Where is my mother?" When the clerk said he did not know, she announced emphatically, "I have looked all over this town for my mother and I just would like to know what she is doing! I don't know what I will do with her." Her mother walked out from back of the prescription case at about that time and was duly reprimanded by her small daughter.

◆ ◆ ◆

What a difference in a generation! We just imagine what would have happened to us as a child if we had questioned our mother's going and coming. But it is perfectly typical of the times. And all of us laugh at it.

◆ ◆ ◆

Little flappers of 5 are much more amusing than flappers of 15.

◆ ◆ ◆

In little boys and little girls, we feel particularly drawn toward those who have an inherent love of beauty. We know one small boy who never fails to remark on beautiful flowers.

◆ ◆ ◆

We thought of him Wednesday night when we walked where the moon through the leaves made a fairy lacework on the walk. Phrases from Shakespeare kept echoing in our mind—"On such a night," etc.

◆ ◆ ◆

Beauty is eternally beautiful. Centuries ago poets and beauty lovers marveled at the same phases of nature that stir us now. And that we may be stirred is a blessing.

Crockett P.-T. A. Executive Board Meets Thursday

Mrs. Guy Rogers, president, called the meeting of the executive board of the Crockett school P.-T. A. to order at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning and members went vigorously to work. Annual report blanks that must be filled out by local P.-T. A.'s and sent to the state association were checked over and every effort is said to have been made by Crockett P.-T. A. to attain the standard of excellence required.

It was announced by the president, Mrs. Rogers, that as she and Mrs. G. L. Shapard, the second vice president, would both be in Stephenville, on the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. next Tuesday, Mrs. W. W. Fraser, second vice president, would preside on that occasion.

Splendid Program Given at Zundy P.-T. A. Meeting

Three numbers given by the High School orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughon, furnished a beautiful musical opening to the regular meeting of Zundelowitz P.-T. A. when a large number of members met in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon.

The devotional was given by Rev. Gaines B. Hall and two pretty violin trio numbers were given by Misses Peggy Williamson, Mary Ann Walker and Roberta Lincoln, with Miss Minnie Baker at the piano.

The treasurer reported $243.48 in the bank and the financial chairman announced that about $200 was made on the "District School at Zundy Corners," the proceeds of which will be used for furniture and draperies for the domestic science room. The furniture has already been selected and at the next meeting of the association, the mothers will be served in that room by domestic science pupils.

Mesdames T. R. Boone and P. B. Cox were elected delegates to the 13th District P.-T. A. convention to be held in Electra April 21, 22 and 23.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. Byman, who have lived near and in Wichita Falls since 1885, were surprised by friends and a number of relatives on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, April 9.

Wichita Couple Observe Golden Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. G. Byman, who have lived in the same home on Burnett street for the past 18 years and prior to that seven miles from town on the Charlie road since 1885, were surprised Wednesday night at their home by many friends and their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Miss Ida Friberg was married to G. Byman in Beaver, Ill., on April 9, 1880, by a Swedish minister. Neither of the couple could speak English at that time, although Mr. Byman knew enough of the language to "get by." Two of the wedding party are still living in Donovan, Ill., Class Haftstrom and Mrs. Minnie Maurits.

John Friberg, father of Mrs. Byman, came to this community before the wedding and homesteaded land. The Friberg community was named for him.

On Dec. 26, 1885, E. V. Friberg and G. Byman arrived in Wichita Falls, after having spent Christmas day in the depot in Fort Worth So far as they were concerned, Wichita Falls was the end of the world for the railroad stopped here at that time. Mr. Byman bought 600 acres of land from his father-in-law, seven miles from town on the Charlie road, and as soon as he had arranged a place to live, Mrs. Byman with her two children and her sister, Mrs. E. A. Anderson, came to Texas. The family lived on that farm for 27 years and since that time have occupied the present home.

Mr. Byman was born in Sweden and came to America when he was 16 years of age, going to Illinois because he had an uncle there. Mr. Byman states that his family name was originally Anderson, but in some trouble between Sweden and Germany, his father was taken prisoner and only escaped through the kindness of a guard. The guard, whose name was Byman, gave the prisoner his clothes and since that time the family name of Byman has been used.

John Friberg, the father of Mrs. Byman, fought in the civil war. When the Bymans came to Texas and first lived in the Friberg community, the two oldest children could only speak the Swedish language. They were taught English and the others were taught only English. The Swedish language is only used at long intervals in the family.

Mrs. Elmer Byman met the guests at the door at the surprise party Wednesday night and Miss Mary Byman presided in the dining room where a beautiful wedding cake surmounted with a golden wedding ring and a cupid was cut and served with other delicious refreshments to the friends and relatives.

Of the children, the 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren, all live in Wichita Falls except Mrs. W. C. Thornberry, a granddaughter and her little daughter, who live in Clarendon, and Alvin Byman, who lives in Henrietta. The children are Miss Mary Byman, Mrs. J. T. Lamb, Mrs. B. L. Bryans, Ernest Byman, Elmer Byman and Alvin Byman.

Among the guests were Casper Geyer and children; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lamb and children; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bryans and son; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Byman and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Byman and son; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byman and children; Mr. and Mrs. Finley Johnston of Petrolia; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Calvin; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Andree; Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Friberg and son, Walter; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dollard and daughter, Marie; Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Caffyn; Mrs. Annie Friberg and daughter, Edmontine; Mesdames M. Estelle Carey, A. J. Andree and Mollie Glenn.

Reminiscences made the pleasure of the evening great for the group of old friends and neighbors and the family of the pioneer couple.

Bridge Benefit Is Planned by Women Of Country Club

A beautiful spring benefit bridge is planned by members of the Woman's Golf association of the country club to be played both in the afternoon and evening on April 22. There will be 100 tables in the afternoon and also in the evening, when many men are expected to take part in the games.

Already a number of beautiful prizes have been donated and the completed list of donors and gifts will be announced later.

In the regular Thursday game, Mrs. R. L. Hargrave was winner of the low ball.

Following the game luncheon was served in the main dining room where the table set in green crystal and decorated with bridal wreath and tulips made a lovely spring setting. Covers were laid for Mesdames J. R. Jarboe, J. L. Waggoner, C. O. Davis L. H. Estes, E. Garonzik, J. T. Montgomery, H. B. White, J. Waggoner Caldwell Jr., Al Wilson, H. P. Ledford, A. C. Ludlam, D. O. Johnson, Ben Bell, R. L. Hargrave, Roy I. Carter, J. B. Hatchitt, B. F. Caldwell, Helen Kendall and Mrs. H. L. Ruehl.

Dancing Feet Won't Scuff These Floors

Nowadays, with a radio in almost every home, floors must be able to stand up under the slide and scuffle of many dancing feet, for who can resist the rhythm and cadence of modern dance music?

Dame Vogue now comes along and says that floors must also be colored in beautiful tones to harmonize with the scheme of interior decoration—yet, the floor finish must be durable. QUICK-STEP—the new, modern color finish—just fills the bill. You have a choice of many attractive colors and at the same time get a finish that can be used on almost any kind of surface, wood or concrete, and it dries over night. Frequent washings will not dull its velvety lustre nor daily use impair its glossy surface.

Besides colors, you may also get QUICK-STEP clear. Clear QUICK-STEP is the answer to what to use on hardwood floors and linoleum. It brightens the colors of the designs and protects the surface. On oak or maple it enhances the natural grain and coats the wood with a clear, transparent surface that wears like armor-plate.

You'll make no mistake in trying QUICK-STEP for any floor or anything else that gets hard usage. It is sold by dealers generally.—Adv.

Pretty Dutch Seated Tea Given By 1922 Study Club

Outstanding in its quaint beauty and the attractiveness of the Dutch tulip decorations was the party given at the home of Mrs. Clyde Gibson on Berkeley drive Thursday afternoon when members of the 1922 Study club entertained the personnel of the Pieria and of the Sorosis clubs.

Mrs. Jack B. Dale greeted the guests and the first number on the program was a lecture by Mrs. H. B. van Emden on Holland in which she compared that little country with Texas as to religion, government, industries, products, school system, dress and customs.

Songs in the Dutch language were given by several of the sweetest singers of the city. Mrs. W. L. Underwood was first on the musical program and was accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey. Mesdames Underwood, A. H. Mahaffey and H. B. van Emden sang a Dutch trio with Mrs. Underwood as accompanist and Mrs. Mahaffey closed the pretty musical program with a solo number in which she was accompanied by Mrs. Underwood.

Little Misses Mary Jo and Nell Ellis gave a Dutch dance in costume, closing the unique program.

A refreshment plate was served on which every article was imported from Holland and favors were miniature wooden shoes. An abundance of tulips made it "spring in Holland."

Sorosis club guests were Mesdames A. W. Burnside, M. H. Glover, O. R. Haynie, J. D. Harris, R. E. Hilburn, I. W. Karrenbrock, W. P. Lowry, E. L. McCarty, Stanley McGregor, Howard Renfro, Burke Taylor and W. E. Timblin. Guests from the Pieria club were Mesdames Oscar Allbritton, George Bancroft, William Bratton, Orville Carrico, Timothy Colligan, Ralph DeShong, J. M. Elliott, John E. Hall, Thomas D. Moore, James G. Oakley, A. C. Parks, and Miss Clara Schults and members of the hostess club were Mesdames T. A. Bradley, Jack Dale, E. E. Fischer, N. W. Gaut, Clyde Gibson, Phil Lesh, R. A. Lincoln, W. H. Newell, George A. Patterson, S. H. Rider, J. M. Spoonts, C. R. Yauger and Russel Chamberlin

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Let's all try the wake-up food for quick new energy!

All together! Mother—father—youngsters—oldsters! Pick up spoons and dip into the crisp, golden wake-up food. Post Toasties! Quick new energy in delicious form! Easy to digest—quick to release its stored-up energy to the body. Richly flavorful—easy to serve. Heap it up—golden, oven-fresh flakes in cool, nourishing milk or cream. Mingle it with fruits or berries in season. Gloriously good—for breakfast—for lunch! A wake-up food the whole family enjoys. And serve Post Toasties often as a wholesome supper "bite." How good to have the wake-up food always in the house! Order Post Toasties now!

Aunt Knew What to Do

"My daughter Gertrude was very much rundown. She was all broken out with pimples and eruptions on her hands and legs. I tried everything for her but nothing did her much good. She was only 16 years old and was working at tailoring. Her aunt Sophia advised us to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she has gained in every way. Her skin and color are good, her nerves are better, she has a good appetite now and seems well and strong. We think the Vegetable Compound is the best medicine for girls to take and we will answer letters asking about it."—Mrs. Mary Earle, 817 S. Montford Ave., Baltimore, Maryland.

Do Women Suffer More Than Men?

Physicians tell us that the nervous system of woman is more highly organized, more delicately poised, and therefore, more sensitive to disturbances and susceptible to pain than that of men.

Women especially appreciate and profit by the use of Capudine, because it quickly relieves high nerve tension and pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. For nervous headache, periodic pains, pains in the back and sides, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, nothing is so quickly effective and satisfactory as Capudine. Being liquid it acts much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

Every home should be supplied with Capudine. It brings grateful relief from nerve strain and pain, and affords peaceful relaxation in just a few minutes. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

WASHINGTON, April 10. (UP)—The dual control system of industrial alcohol control provided in the pending Williamson bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the justice department was assailed today by drug manufacturers in a protest to the senate.

Herbert Kaufman's EXCELSIOR Daily Editorial

A NEW SORT of robot has just made its bow, at the convention which 20,000 American chemists are attending in Atlanta.

It popped out of a brewer's vat to supplant heat and machinery as extractors of vegetable fats. Industry's latest hired man asks no wages, requires no housing accommodations, mechanical upkeep, motor fuels or installation costs.

Experiments show that the same tiny creatures which transfer barley into liquid malt, will glean every drop of oil from a cocoanut within six hours, and extract the oleaginous content of seeds, nuts or, what have you, at the same speed and price.

Build another monument to Pasteur, who revealed the indeterminable worlds of demons and good fairies to whose works we respectively owe abundance and mortality. The silk worm may also make up its mind to look for other employment. There's another old and faithful servant about to receive a pink slip from the cashier. We can get so many more goods for so much less money from corn-stalks, cotton lint and forest growths, that the balance sheet can't much longer retain the cocoon on the pay roll.

The rate at which chemistry is turning cellulose into stockings, gowns and drapery materials, is indicated by a 400 per cent increase in "glos" output during the past 12 months alone.

And now Atlanta warns the sheep interests in the future will grow its wool in test tubes and develop it from the same bases that hold silk equivalents.

And that isn't all the good news by a long sight. Suage, like gold, is where you choose to look for it. And we are told that it's waiting to be taken from practically every by-product of agriculture.

Xylose, which was apparently so rare in nature that the small amounts of it hitherto procurable sold for its weight in precious metals, suddenly declares omnipresence in straw and chaff and farm litter.

* * * *

BIG SCALE production will manifestly deliver this new sweet at a mere fraction of the expense at which it is now teased from throwaways. And we can now buy it at five cents per pound.

Xylose is a short cut to acetic acid. There isn't a pound of fat in a ton of it, as diabetics and lettuce-sandwich eaters will be delighted to know. The far-flung imaginations that dared to prophesy a day when we'd cultivate frankfurter bushes and croquette plants, have the last laugh on the can't-be-doners too.

That supreme benefactor of humanity, cotton, with a little help from science, stands ready to provide a succulent and nourishing meal, which can be blended with beef, mutton, pork and chicken without tattling its presence to the taste. Man need never go hungry while there's a head on his shoulders.

The keys to all of nature's spare leaders are hanging from our hair roots. Wherever dearth prowls and famine gnaws skin and bones, folk aren't searching their brain cells for reserve food supplies.

There are no insoluble problems to efficient imagination. Disease, poverty, stupidity, confusion and decay can't gain ground while they are thinking hard enough to survive. There aren't any leaks, loose screws or penuries for which intelligence won't furnish the necessary monkey-wrench, plug or remedy.

If today can't identify them, tomorrow will.

Escaping Contentment

IT IS only in the spring of the year that it is possible to look with any favor upon the practice of getting up early in the morning. At all other seasons the thought of staying overlong in bed is a thought to delight the soul. But in April things are a bit different. There is a magic in the thin sunlight, and the earlier in the day you tackle it the more magical it becomes. It is actually possible to get out of bed ahead of time, voluntarily.

Of course, it is quite evident that nature is in a year-long conspiracy to fool us. Still, the process isn't unpleasant. And in April—due, perhaps, to the long disillusionment of winter—most of us are ready, even eager, to be fooled.

So it is that there is a good deal to be gained by getting up early on an April morning. The sunlight, slanting down the street and across the yards, transforms everything it touches. It strikes a row of perfectly ordinary houses and turns them into mystic dwellings like those gleaming towers and battlements that one sees, in dreams, on distant and unattainable shores. You can't recognize your own street. It becomes exciting, haunted, miraculous. During the few moments of dawn it is a place where anything could happen.

In fact, an April sunrise gives you the impression that the world has just been created. Any kind of a fresh start can be made. You have just arrived. There are no mistakes to undo. Everything is waiting for you. You can make the world into precisely the delightful, joyous place you have always dreamed of.

This, of course, is a strong delusion. It passes when the dawn passes, and long before noon the cares of every day have driven it far out of our minds. But it is worth getting, just the same.

For we live, after all, by delusions. Thinking of what the world might be, what it ought to be, helps us to endure it as it really is. If it were not for such glimpses of the unattainable as April mornings give us we would speedily forget that we came into this universe trailing clouds of glory. We would be convinced that our go-getters and our hustlers have the last word, and we would forget to be dissatisfied with things as they are.

It is that dissatisfaction that is our salvation. We weren't meant to be contented. Neither happiness nor accomplishment lie that way.

Bus and Rail Lines Are Active

ACCORDING to a Houston newspaper, the Southern Pacific railroad company has purchased one-third of the stock in the Southland-Grayhound bus lines in Texas which operate over 3,165 miles in the state. Furthermore, officers of both the rail and bus lines "expressed the belief that the new relation will prove a substantial benefit throughout the territory served."

Secretary of the Senate Robert Barker was active in politics before the coming of the 18th amendment. He attended as a delegate the convention that nominated William P. Hobby for governor, this in the city of Waco. That convention was controlled by the ultra-pros of Texas. Barker had been an anti leader. A friend expressed surprise that the irrepressible Barker found himself so much at home in the dry camp, and asked a pointed question.

Barker never batted an eye. This is what he said, "My motto is, if you can't beat 'em, jine 'em." It is a matter of record that Secretary of the Senate Barker has been on the firing line ever since.

A Tip to the Gambling Tribe

"THE MOST fervid bull market since the rampage of the few weeks subsequent to the Hoover election 16 months ago was experienced in the stock exchange today," reads a New York dispatch carried by the wires on the morning of April 5. It is admitted that the price movement was not uniform, but the big bulls are ready for the spring movement while the bears continue their winter hibernation. Wall street is coming back. Wall street always comes back. Those who are seeking easy money and are wholly ignorant of how the game is played will furnish the trimmings later along in the year.

Ex-Girl Friend

Most neatly done, your giving me the gate!
I'm sorry that I seem to mind it so;
I meant to kiss you lightly, let you go,
(I always said that I'd cooperate),
But love I find unwilling to vacate
A stubborn heart—hence the fortissimo
Of tears and anguish, although well I know
You find me irksome and inadequate.

Still, I confess, I owe you thanks for this:
You never tossed me through a sunroom door,
You haven't blacked my orbs for emphasis,
Nor bounced me up and down upon the floor;
And while I must admit myself passe,
At least I travel whole upon my way.
—M. E. C. (Cleveland).

Once a Ham, Always?

Mr. Heywood Broun has arranged for a benefit show on Saturday, April 12 (midnight), at the Imperial theater. The benefit is for the local unemployed and Mr. Broun recruited us to appear "if only to introduce an act or two." As a matter of fact Mr. Broun asked us to come and dance but we shuddered at the thought, because it has been 10 years since we "stole the second bow," and anyway, chorus girls have so improved that it would be futile to compete with any of them. And we do not hope to stop the show. We found out long ago that it was just as difficult to keep one going.

However, we are glad to help the Broun unemployment sitch-ee-ay-shun and we think our appearance will contribute greatly to the affair, for if only half the locals who don't like us pay to come in it will be a success.

Speaking of Benefits

The Broun show plans remind us of the small-time act who had layed off for six months and could only get benefits to play. Every time a calamity happened or a person died leaving his kin in distress these small-timers were urged to do a benefit performance. During their six months of unemployment they must have appeared at three dozen benefits.

One day the feminine member of the act came home with a newspaper and showed her hoofer husband the screaming headlines which read: "William Howard Taft Dead!"

"Good God!" ejaculated the hoofer, "another benefit?"

Apparently

The reason, it is said, that so many astors and columnists theft the ideas, gags and routines of others is that if caught the only charge possible against them would be petty larceny.

The Penalty of Fame

Adolph Ochs, the publisher of the New York Times, celebrated his 71st birthday recently. His nephew, Col. Julius Ochs Adler, called him up to offer his felicitations.

"Uncle," said the colonel, "I'd like to help you celebrate your birthday in a novel manner. How would you like it if I brought over Amos and Andy?"

"Amos and Andy who?" answered Mr. Ochs.

And not getting any response, he hung up.

A Form of Criticism

Take it from Cholly Knickerbocker, the performances at the Metropolitan Opera house these days are as second-rate as the people in the boxes.

The Tome of Tomes

Some of the outstanding points of superiority in the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dicksh (besides the inclusion of the word "Whoopee") follow: More than 380 specialists and editors, each an expert in his own particular branch of learning, were employed to help Managing Editor Vizetelly prepare it. More than 455,000 words are spelled, pronounced and defined. This vocabulary includes words of recent coinage, those that came into the language during the war, and the latest technical terms. Typical of these are: Black Bottom, columnist, gadjet, honeydew melon, vitamin, wise-crack, intelligentsia, rodeo, television, soviet, radio-amplifier, plus-fours, thermion, bloc, daylight-saving, blurb, blimp, bolsheviki, camouflage, Fascism, Sinn Fein and necking.

The next edition probably will include "Gazumper," which was coined by George Jean Nathan. A "gazumper" is a fiend who would rather "neck" than anything else.

Things That Burn Me Up and Knock Me Cold

Among other tragedies of Broadway's literary treadmill is the one concerning a writer who is the personal sec'y to a movie magnate who has decided that a biography is good ballyhooey. The sec'y, an obscure chap, has been collecting data on his chief for six months, jotting down all the necessary info in his loose leaf volume. It is not in narrative form—just data.

But here's the gag. His labors are to be turned over to some writer with a reputation, who will get the huge chunk of dough, while the actual biographer might get as much as fired.

Incidentally

All the film genii rave about the flicker business as an industry, an art, a "form of expression," and other aesthetic appellations. But the Radio corporation officials and the Western Electric group have their own cold and heartless name for it, quite different from all the rest. Their term is "Electrical Entertainment."

L. J. Rubinstein, by the way, informs us that the filmoguls still seek a suitable word to replace "talkies." He suggests "Speaktures."

In Case You Hadn't Heard

Those who are interested in European royalty are getting a chuckle over the rift which has occurred between Ileana, daughter of the Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, and the German Baron to whom she was engaged. The break was made at the order of King Alexander Karageorgevitch, of Serbia, brother-in-law of Iliana, and head of the Rumanian royal family council, who says the German comes of poor stock and that his past is a bit shady.

The snapper is that King Alexander is the son of the late King Peter, who seized the throne of Serbia after ordering the assassination of the ruling monarchs right in their own palace. It is one of the ghastliest massacres recorded. Another angle is that Alexander himself obtained his own throne illegally, having elbowed his older and reportedly half-witted brother out of the way to get it.

Newspaperman Stuff

Some of us were gathered in the managing editor's sanctum last night and newspaper romances were in order. Emile Gauvreau, the head man around here, advised his staff of "feature" writers not to take the animadversions or complaints of readers too seriously. "Keep raising hell," he counseled, "and don't let people worry you. I once had to fire a nice little columnist up in Hartford who had colyumed for two years. But in all that time he never received a complaint or a compliment, so I assumed he wasn't being read."

The Girl With The Red Hair by Rob Eden

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty Gay Terris has agreed to marry her wealthy employer, Frank Patterson, whom she does not love, in payment for a loan of $6,000 to keep her mother in a sanitarium. Since making her contract, she has fallen in love with Patterson's nephew, Mark Loring. Loring confesses his love, but when they ask Patterson to release her he is furious and definitely refuses. To earn $200 for luxuries for her mother, Gay impersonates Fania Crandall, a crook posing as a society woman, at a masquerade. A valuable necklace is stolen and Gay learns through Fania's accomplice, Paul Ladishaw, that Fania is the thief. Fania discovers Gay knows about her and to get her out of town, tricks her by sending a fake message stating that her mother is seriously ill. Ladishaw comes to her rescue and explains Fania's plan. She goes to Loring's hotel but he is out. While she waits Patterson makes his appearance and produces their marriage licenses. Gay tells him she won't marry him.

CHAPTER XXXII

Toward evening Gay found herself going up the steps of Nita's apartment. She was dead tired, but not so hungry now. A bowl of clam chowder had partly satisfied that.

She was ashamed to wait around the hotel any longer. The clerk was beginning to look at her suspiciously. There was no place she could go. Her clothes out at the farm—but her pride wouldn't let her go there.

Nita she had thought of many times during the afternoon, and although she hated to ask any favors, she determined to go to Nita's.

She could hear the phonograph playing as she rang the bell. Nita was home. A strange girl opened the door. Gay was disturbed until she saw Nita sitting on the couch, manicuring her nails. Perhaps there wouldn't be room for her—here, if Nita had taken a roommate.

"Oh, it's you," Nita said, looking up, "come in."

Gay was embarrassed, but she sat on the couch beside Nita. How did one ask what she intended to ask?

Nita quickly introduced her to her roommate, Evelyn Jordan.

"I was going to ask you if you could put me up here a few days—I'm broke, and—" Gay twisted her handkerchief around her fingers.

Nita's dark eyebrows went up. "Broke? I thought you were going to marry Patterson. Rumors, you know, flitting around."

"I'm not."

"Sure, I can put you up. You can sleep on the couch. Are you going to get your old job back at the office?"

"No, I'll have to look for something else." She realized she had wasted the afternoon, waiting for Mark, but she couldn't help it. She had wanted to see him so much. She must get work, somehow. She couldn't sponge on Nita indefinitely. As it was she didn't dare tell Nita just how much money she had—couldn't borrow from her.

After a bath, she slipped on one of Nita's kimonos and joined the two girls in the living room.

She was afraid Nita would say something about Mark, but the black haired girl did not mention his name. She talked about Andy instead. It was plain that she was as much in love with the reporter as ever. At 10 Andy breezed in, surprised to see Gay.

Because Nita was watching her closely, she was barely cordial to him, although she really longed to have a talk with him. There was the affair of the masquerade, Fania's story as Paul had told her—she wanted to tell Andy what she knew. It was time. She had kept it to herself too long. But she dared not antagonize Nita, and when he suggested the three girls come out with him for something to eat, she refused, saying she wasn't hungry. She was starving, and when they had gone, and she was alone, went into the kitchen and cut herself a piece of bread. There was butter, so she felt she was having a feast. Never before had she been hungry, like this . . .

After her little repast, she called the Knickerbocker again. Surely Mark would be in by now. He wasn't. The night clerk had no idea when he would be in.

That night on the couch, with the only extra blanket the apartment boasted, she tossed and turned, and finally near dawn found sleep. When she awakened the next morning Nita and Evelyn were gone. After a small breakfast of toast and coffee, she again called Mark's hotel. No, Mr. Loring hadn't been in all night.

Gay was beginning to worry. Where could Mark be? Business? Queer, if he had gone away that he hadn't left some word at the desk. That no one at the hotel knew where he had gone.

When she was dressed, she started out. She had to find a job, and find it soon. Nita had been kind in taking her in, but she couldn't expect her to house her permanently. Then she didn't relish telling Nita how little money she had. Didn't want her to know how hungry she was.

If she found a job in an office, she would have to work a week for her pay check. She couldn't do that. She needed money right away. Needed money to eat on.

True, she had a few things she might pawn, a locket, her mother's, a small pearl pin, also her mother's. But they wouldn't bring her much, and she hated to part with them.

As she walked slowly down the street, she passed a tea shop, and hesitated, reading the menu, pasted on the glass door. The things looked so good—fried chicken, breaded pork chops, filet mignon. . . . So good, and she so hungry. Luncheon, $1. Dinner, $1.75.

Yesterday so little to eat—today toast and coffee. The toast she had eaten, she felt she was almost stealing because she hadn't asked Nita about taking it. Hadn't paid her share for it.

Fried chicken.

She was about to turn away when she happened to see a sign sticking near the menu. "Waitress wanted. Board." She read it once, twice, three times before she pushed the door and walked into the tea shop. Even when she was inside, she was frightened, and wanted to back into the street. What was she doing? After her months in a business college why should she want to take a job as a waitress?

Her better judgment however, told her to go ahead. After all she had to eat. Ridiculous, her pride.

So she quietly asked for the manager, who proved to be an efficient kindly soul, past middle age, and after a few minutes conversation with her, had the job. Eight dollars a week, and her lunches and dinner. Gay was to come to work at 11:30, and leave at 8:30. She was to keep her own tips. Her uniforms would be furnished—and she could begin right away.

Mrs. Ross, the manager, first took the neat sign from the window, then led Gay back to the kitchen, where she produced a blue dress, and a frilly white apron.

The Blue Moon tearoom, she found out, was much larger than she had first thought. It occupied besides the room she was in, another at the right. Twenty waitresses, all dressed as she was, took care of the tables. Gay had five which were her special care. And she barely had time to receive a few instructions from Mrs. Ross, when she had to start work. It was 2:30 before she had her own lunch, 8:30 before she had her dinner. When she got back to the apartment, she was tired but happy. In her purse were $2 in dimes and nickels.

She had had little time during the day to think of Mark, but the first thing she did when she got into the apartment—both Nita and Evelyn were gone—was to call his hotel. The same answer, "Mr. Loring has not come in yet."

Strange. . . . Her hands lingered on the phone as she tried to puzzle out where he was. How little she knew about him. Not even the name of the business firm he represented. He had told her in a general way what he was doing—he had come to New York to straighten out patent rights on an article his firm sold. He lived, she knew, in San Francisco alone, for his mother had died several years before. He had few relatives, only Frank Patterson—and some cousins in California.

It might be that he had gone away on business. And yet, after what had happened the other night, at Patterson farm, she doubted it. The last words he had said, "I'll come back." His face, humiliated, angry when he had left.

Saturday—Fania on the job.

Q.—How much of a recovery has there been in stock values since the Wall street crash?—I. W. W.

A.—A list of 240 stocks which lost $15,000,000,000 in value in October and November recovered $260,000,000 in December, $1,500,000,000 in January, and $725,000,000 in February.

Q.—Where was the first radio beacon station established by the bureau of standards?—J. P.

A.—It was established at College Park, Md.

Q.—Where are the Carlsbad Caverns?—L. A.

A.—They are in New Mexico, and are said to contain some of the most spectacular of underground wonders in America.

Q.—Is there an inland waterway from New York to Florida?—A.C.L.

A.—There is a so-called inland waterway from New York to Florida. This route roughly parallels the Atlantic coast, taking advantage of natural waterways, although canals are built whenever necessary. In some places the route is only four feet deep. It starts from the New York harbor follows the Delaware river to Chesapeake bay, goes through to Albermarle sound, thence by artificial waterway to Pamlico sound. It goes outside from Newport, N. C., to Georgetown, S. C., then parallels the coast to Florida.

Q.—Where is the Fahrenheit thermometer used and where the Centrigrade?—C. S.

A.—The Fahrenheit thermometer is generally used in English-speaking countries and the Centrigrade in countries that use the metric system.

Q.—At what age do children usually have mumps?—L. H.

A.—It usually occurs in children from 5 to 15 years of age. There seems to be decreased susceptibility before five and after 15 years of age. Mumps in adults up to the age of 30, however, is not rare.

Q.—Should one say a bedroom suit or bedroom suite?—G. W. P.

A.—Either is correct.

Q.—How many knights sat with King Arthur at his round table?—P. H. S.

A.—Although history of the table round is partly legendary, it is supposed that 150 knights composed it.

Q.—What does the name Alabama mean?—B. J.

A.—It is a Creek Indian word meaning place of rest.

Q.—Please give the history of Ellis island.—E. M. H.

A.—Ellis island is a small island in the northern part of upper New York bay, a mile southwest of the Battery. It was sold by New York state to the United States in 1808, and for many years was used as a powder magazine. In 1891 it was an immigrant station. The present buildings were erected in 1897 when the original structures were burned.

Q.—What is "mulching"?—K. L. R.

A.—For many years Hawaiian sugar planters made a practice of leaving the crop refuse, such as leaves and tops, between the rows of growing cane. This served the double purpose of conserving the moisture in the soil and keeping down the weed growth. Later the experiment was made of covering the ground between the rows with a cheap grade of asphalt paper and still later the entire field was so covered when it was found that the stiff shoots of the cane would penetrate the paper, while weeds would not. These differing processes are known as mulching. The same thing is now done with the pineapple crop, holes being made in the paper so that the pineapples can grow through. Experiments made in the United States in mulching various vegetables are said to have resulted in production increases of from 30 to 500 or 600 per cent. It is said that 12 days after a rain soil protected with paper mulch will contain as much as 20 per cent more moisture than unmulched soil in the same vicinity.

OLGA'S GOUGING METHODS TOLD

Amster's Lawyer Recounts Negotiations

NEW YORK, April 10. (INS)—Further threats by Olga Eide Edwards, petite California dancer, to expose Nathan Leo Amster, multi-millionaire, unless he acceded to her demands for money were testified to by witnesses today at the trial of Miss Edwards for extortion.

Miss Edwards charges that the traction magnate is the father of her 6-year-old son, Lee. Amster claims his only interest in the girl was that of an "amateur philanthropist."

Edward M. Hamlin, Boston broker and a friend of Amster, testified of his attempts to "pacify" Miss Edwards.

"She demanded $10,000 from Amster and said if she did not get it she would go to his wife and the newspapers and if that didn't work she would shoot him," said Hamlin.

In negotiating with Miss Edwards in 1929, Hamlin testified, he finally told her that he would "see her in hell" before giving her a cent.

But in the second meeting, the witness said, a $100,000 trust agreement, arranging for $500 a month for the girl was discussed.

"We met again and then she repeated her threats and demanded the agreement be signed immediately or she would take her child to Amster's family," said Hamlin.

Charles Fredenberg, another friend of Amster, was the next witness.

He told of going to the apartment of Louis Whicher, in New York, and of hearing Miss Edwards threaten Amster.

"I want $5,000 now and $5,000 later and I am going to get it," Fredenberg said he heard Miss Edwards say.

Under cross-examination, Fredenberg said that a girl named Julie Eckert entered the apartment later.

Charles Jeffers, Amster's secretary also testified to threats by Miss Edwards made in Amster's Boston office.

Court Reverses Twenty Year Murder Sentence

AUSTIN, April 10. (UP)—Holding that it cannot sentence a man unless he has violated some written law, the court of criminal appeals today reversed the 20-year sentence given D. W. Freeman, 20, of Taylor county, on a charge of murder resulting from a truck and motorcycle collision last May.

Freeman, driving a truck from Midland to Wichita Falls, collided with W. H. Hudson, riding a motorcycle. Hudson died. Freeman had been drinking. The court also held that a sentence of more than five years could not be assessed in the case because there was no malice.

Another Texas Woman Is Out With the Facts

Declares Medicine That Will Do What Argotane Did for Her Deserves Her Praise

"By the help of Argotane, I am now on my road to recovery and feel better than I have in a long time," said Mrs. W. W. Minter, residing at 4306 Templeton street, Greenville, Texas, while talking with an Argotane representative in her home recently.

"My stomach had been troubling me for six years," she continued. "I had indigestion and headaches so bad that I could hardly stand it at times. I was constipated and would have swelling in my legs and arms. I would bloat and have gas on my stomach and had a pressing against my lungs causing shortness of breath and my heart would beat so fast at times I was worried about my condition. I always had a bitter taste in my mouth.

"I heard and read so much about Argotane, that I decided to try it and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. My headaches are all gone, my bloating does not bother me any more to speak of, and do not take laxatives any more. I seem to be well regulated, and feel so much better in general. I am certainly glad that I found Argotane and I think that it deserves praise, after what it has done for me. It worked a miracle for me."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Wichita Falls at Allison Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

THE QUESTIONS

1.—Do you favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the 18th amendment and Volstead law?

2.—Do you favor a modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beers?

3.—Do you favor a repeal of the prohibition amendment?

Magazine Explains Duplication of Ballots Which Has Aroused Storm of Protest From Both Factions

The drys make a slight gain in the fifth week's returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide prohibition poll as four new states are represented and over a half million additional votes are tallied, according to tomorrow's issue of the periodical.

The minor change for strict enforcement, which amounts to slightly less than one-half of 1 per cent, is taken from the vote for repeal. Also, a rather minute increase is noted for modification.

Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Utah are the states from which first returns are tabulated this week.

Of the grand total of 2,516,072 votes in this fifth report, 712,549, or over 28 per cent of the total, are for strict enforcement; 754,266, almost 30 per cent, are for modification; while 1,049,257, or 41 per cent, vote for repeal.

Kansas "Goes Dry"

Kansas still registers a heavy majority vote for strict enforcement and is the only state that is classified as bone dry in sentiment in this report.

Tennessee, which last week showed a majority vote for enforcement, loses its classification as a bone dry in the current tally, showing a vote of less than 50 per cent for enforcement.

In the wet division, Connecticut, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Rhode Island, each show over 50 per cent of their respective votes for a repeal of the 18th amendment.

The heaviest wet vote reported in the present tabulation is from Rhode Island.

Twenty-two of the 44 states reported show a plurality vote for enforcement, while the other 22, plus the District of Columbia, show a plurality for repeal.

In no state does modification alone show a plurality although in California, Ohio, Oregon and Washington, over one-third of the votes represented evidence a desire for a change to legalize light wines and beers.

"Repeats" Explained

In answer to complaints that a number of people have been vote-repeaters in the Literary Digest prohibition poll, the magazine explains that one person may actually receive and cast more than one bonafide vote as there are five polls in progress at present beside the main referendum of 20,000,000 ballots.

"For instance," the Literary Digest says editorially, "one may receive one ballot in the canvass of 20,000,000, another in our special poll of Digest subscribers, another in our special poll of clergymen, and so on.

"And he is welcome to vote them all, because the special poll ballots are specially marked, and are not counted in with the great poll.

"They are represented as separate and supplementary 'straw' votes—those of bankers, teachers, doctors, lawyers, clergymen, and Digest subscribers.

"Most of the stories one hears of people receiving more than one ballot, arise from these special poll ballots.

"On the other hand we have discovered some sporadic instances of duplication in the general poll—but what can you expect in a 'straw' vote of 20,000,000? What counts is the proved integrity of our system."

Returns Analyzed

In analyzing the current returns the Literary Digest states:

"The rise in the enforcement ratio is balanced by a fall in the relative dominance of the huge straw vote for repeal, which is the talk of politicians and the people from Maine to California.

"But the change is so slight that it is hardly likely to agitate the hopes or fears of any but the most optimistic drys or the most pessimistic wets.

"In a general way, however, it may be said that the two extremes, enforcement and repeal, have both gained slightly in relative strength since the first tabulation of 10 states in the Digest of March 15.

"And of course there has been a corresponding slight decline in the modification ratio.

"One of the curiosities of the poll, so far, has been the neck-and-neck race in Indiana between modification and repeal for second place on the winning board.

"First place is held by enforcement, with 34,999 ballots to date. The figures in the second and third columns are 26,470 and 26,862, respectively.

"This rivalry began in the first tabulation, and the fans will be interested in tracing it back.

Minnesota Wet

"The same kind of a race on the wet side is going on in Minnesota, which gives a plurality to repeal—40,489. Its enforcement and modification columns, which have been racing for second place since the beginning of the poll, now stand respectively at 31,218 and 31,970."

In the 1922 prohibition poll taken by the Literary Digest on the same three questions used in the current "straw" balloting, the fifth week's tabulation showed a total of 617,838 ballots returned, of which 236,349 were for strict enforcement; 253,009 for modification, and 128,500 for repeal.

DEATH SOLVED BY CONFESSION

Intruder Clears Up Old Murder Mystery

LOS ANGELES, April 10. (INS)—With the confession of Otto Sanhuber, alias Walter M. Klein, in the hands of police, the murder of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy garment manufacturer and formerly of Milwaukee, was cleared up here today after eight years.

"I am glad it is over," Sanhuber said. "I told police everything."

When police arrived at the Oesterreich home shortly after the murder they found Mrs. Oesterreich locked in a closet. She told them her husband had been murdered by two burglars.

Later the widow was held on a murder charge when it was found that she tried to dispose of two guns. She was released on bail and the charge against her was subsequently dismissed.

The case was reopened when Attorney Herman S. Shapiro, former counsel for Mrs. Oesterreich swore to an affidavit which he turned over to authorities.

Sanhuber admitted to police that he had a secret hiding place in the Oesterreich home. It was here that he concealed himself while police searched the house after the slaying.

Mrs Olhe Walker

Houston Lady's Skin Nice and Clear Now

"My complexion used to show how bad I felt. Now it shows that I am free from those depressing headaches and nervous spells," says Mrs. Ollie Walker, who lives at 2424 Morse St., in Houston.

"I suffered from constipation, I might say all my life. I couldn't throw off the wastes and they gave me headaches, and a very sallow complexion. Ever since I started taking Nature's Remedy, all that is gone. I reckon the real reason is that NR Tablets are so pleasant to take that I continued taking them long enough to get results."

NR Tablets are so effective because they soothe, sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes from the food you eat can't remain in your system to form the acids which sour your stomach, bind your bowels and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from losing weight and strength, and from becoming bilious, headachy, dyspeptic and rheumatic. Get a 25c box of NR Tablets at any drug store.—Adv.

ATLANTA WINS 'WET' HONORS

Liggett Calls Georgia Metropolis Lawless

NEW YORK, April 10. (UP)—On the basis of official figures of arrests for drunkenness, bootlegging, and the number of stills seized Atlanta, Ga., can lay claim to the title of the wettest city in the United States, Walter W. Liggett declares in the May issue of "Plain Talk."

Liggett, who appeared before the house judiciary committee in its hearings on prohibition, as well as before grand juries in Washington and Boston, to testify as to his investigations, says the liquor situation in Georgia revolves about the native moonshiners. Corn liquor is plentiful and cheap, he says, and the supply is apparently inexhaustible.

MENUS OFTEN LACKING IN TASTE APPEAL

Essential Foods Can Be Cooked and Served to Please Appetites

The fact that a lady buys a simple dress does not mean that it is severe and plain. Even a housedress can be attractive and a pleasure to wear.

Likewise, the fact that a housewife decides to serve simple, wholesome food does not mean that it should be lacking in taste appeal and uninviting in appearance. Yet, too often, this is the case. As a result there is either patient indifference to the food, or outspoken rebellion by old and young.

One of the most popular ways to make wholesome foods zestful is to flavor them with sugar. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt works wonders in the seasoning of vegetables, canned and fresh, meat stews and salad dressings. This seasoning does not change the characteristic flavor of the food but emphasizes it.

Many other foods can also be improved by sugar. Fresh and stewed fruits, and most cereals need sugar to make them inviting to the taste. Doctors and dietitians endorse this use of sugar. What is more, they recommend the regular practice of serving desserts—for their nourishment and their satisfying qualities. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. Ventilating Your Lungs

Although man's ancestors living in the well ventilated arboreal tenements on the tops of trees did not have any problems of ventilation, when they moved down to earth and became cave dwellers or house dwellers, the problem of securing a supply of fresh air became of great importance. Even so, the idea that a house should have any special arrangements for obtaining fresh air is a modern one.

It was in 1660 that the first ventilation for the parliamentary buildings in London was installed. Even today in many buildings there is no special provision for obtaining fresh air during cold or rainy weather when the windows are kept closed.

The first open air school was opened in a suburb of Berlin, called Carlottenburg, and the first school of this type to open in the United States was at Providence, R. I. In testing the children in an open air school it was found that they gained in two and a half months an average of 3.6 pounds, while the children in ordinary school buildings gained but an average of one pound.

Many experiments made by physiologists have proven that lack of fresh air is one of the chief causes of malnutrition and undernourishment with many people. Doctors have found that if they can persuade a thin patient to secure a supply of fresh air particularly with some form of stimulating exercise in the open, he is more easily able to gain weight by assimilating the extra nourishment from food.

About seven-eights of the air in our lungs is stationary. The average adult will breathe in about 30 cubic inches of air, but in the ordinary shallow breathing, the inflow and outflow does not replace the main body of air in the lungs. Many people find that when they practice deep breathing they have a "stitch" in the side which shows they have not been using their lungs enough. This "stitch" feeling means that a part of the lung surfaces has become sort of stuck together through not being used. When the air is forced into the lungs, the lung cells surrounding the air pockets may remonstrate with pain on the sudden stretching. But if one develops the habit of fully emptying and filling the lungs several times each day, all of these stitches disappear.

A few hours out in the air every day with stimulating exercises make an enormous difference. One begins to feel the blood speeding along the arteries and veins, and soon quits worrying about not being able to digest food.

One cannot feel truly hungry unless one has enough exercise to make use of the food which is eaten, and enough oxygen to speed up the body's metabolism so that the food materials may be incorporated into the system.

While you are practicing your deep breathing exercises, it is always well to precede the inhaling with deep exhaling to first empty out the impure air so that there will be room for the fresh vitalizing air.

I was born in 1882, had attacks of scarlet fever, typhoid fever, inflammatory rheumatism, causing enlargement of the heart. Also have been nerve-racked all my life on account of unnatural home conditions, parents having done their best to make a slave of me, until I had a nervous breakdown. Recovered health, but not memory. Would freeing myself from unpleasant home life to which I am tied, restore my memory power?"

Answer—Your trouble may be due to the results following the different fevers which you have had, but your loss of memory may also be from a subconscious desire to forget unpleasant happenings in your life. The science of psychoanalysis has proved that this is often true and in such cases a restoration of memory would depend upon freeing yourself from the unhappy mental complexes from which you are probably suffering. I would advise you to consult a psychoanalyst or psychologist.

Albumin and Water

Question—L. K. F. asks: "When albumin is present in the urine would it be injurious to drink much water? And have eggs any tendency to increase the albumin?"

Answer—It is usually advantageous for one with albumin in the urine to drink large quantities of water in order to put the kidneys through a thorough cleansing treatment. A limited number of eggs in the diet does not tend to increase the albumin, which is caused more from a disease of the kidneys than from any kind of food which has just been eaten. A well regulated diet is of course the most important thing in bringing about a real cure, but this comes through getting the kidneys in a healthy condition and not because of any single article of food in the diet.

The amount of bond was fixed after a conference between Judge Blansett and Hunt C. Moore of Kansas City attorney for Johnson, and Prosecuting Attorney John S. Combs. Moore said he would communicate with Johnson who now is in Kansas City, and ascertain whether the bond would be acceptable.

Moore said Johnson had not been hiding since an indictment was returned against him here along with that against Dr. Andrew J. Bass retired Columbia, Mo., dentist each charging first degree murder in connection with the death of Pearman.

OFFICER SLAYS NEGRO GUNMEN

Thirty Shots Fired in Polytechnic Battle

FORT WORTH, April 10. (UP)—Two negro bandits, attempting to rob the First State bank of Polytechnic, were killed today by a peace officer. A bank official was wounded.

The robbers were identified tonight as Will Tate, garage mechanic, and George Terrell, a tire repairman. Both died instantly as Special Officer John Alsup, stationed across the street on information the bank was to be robbed, opened fire.

Jesse M. Fry, assistant cashier, will recover, physicians said. He was only dazed by splinters dislodged by a ricochet bullet.

As the bandits entered the bank, Ed Weatherford, city detective, hidden in the rear, trained his gun on them. After the negroes had fired at Fry, they scooped up what money they could and fled to the door where they were met by a barrage of bullets from Alsup's gun.

The negroes fired six shots, none of them taking effect although Fry was struck by splinters. Weatherford failed to wound the pair.

More than 30 shots were fired in the fray.

Terrell fell dead in the front yard of a residence as he attempted to escape. Tate died on the lawn of the Polytechnic Methodist church.

Forewarned, officers had been stationed in the little bank since Tuesday. The bandits fired the first shots. Then Weatherford and Alsup laid down their barrage. Alsup, outside, shot through the plate glass window.

Fry was shot after he refused to raise his hands and hand over the money in the cage.

"If you want our money, you'll have to take it," Fry told Terrell.

It was believed the bandits had an accomplice waiting for them with an automobile.

Separation Suit Lists Rabinowitz' Gifts to Chorines

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 10. (US)—Mrs. Marie Cunningham Rabinowitz asserted today in a complaint filed in supreme court that her husband, Miles, earns $200,000 a year. She declared in her suit for separation that he spends it, too. But not on her.

She names Myrna Darby, of the stage, Flossie Cyron, of the stage, Lillian Bond of the stage and Katherine Moylan of the screen as among those who are the beneficiaries of Mr. Rabinowitz's alleged largesse.

Mrs. Rabinowitz added her husband didn't confine his spending large sums to the various ladies on his list in New York City. She says he also telegraphed money to "female stage beauties of prominence" and also paid hospital bills for a stage beauty who fell out of a window.

When Mrs. Rabinowitz protested, she says, against this diversity of interest her husband knocked out her front teeth.

She asks $3,000 a month temporary alimony.

STAR HAM

Armour's "double-f" Process produces FIXED* FLAVOR

. . . a new and finer taste

WHENEVER we spoke of improving Armour's Star Ham, friends said: "Let it alone. It's wonderful as it is." But, nevertheless, we experimented and developed the marvelous new "double-f" process.

"Double-f" means Fixed* Flavor, as changeless as the fixed stars. We have learned positively to control certain factors affecting the cure and the smoke. We have placed the smoking under thermostatic guard—no variation is possible!

This new vigilance gives each plump Star Ham the same woods-like fragrance of smouldering hickory. The Fixed* Flavor never varies, whether in one thin slice or a whole ham. There's a finer texture to Star Ham, now . . . a more ravishing urge to bite into it . . . to have a second or perhaps a third helping.

Buy a whole Star Ham for economy. Be sure to say "Star" to your dealer. Armour and Company, Chicago.

SPUDDERS WHALLOP SPORTS, 13 TO 8, IN SECOND SIEGE

WHITE CHECKS FOE'S ADVANCE

Both Sides Display Good Slugging

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

The first battalion of Shreveport hurlers having been routed in the opening game Wednesday, the Spudders gave the Sports' reserve twirlers a whalloping in the second installment of the three game series Thursday, winning a long drawn out siege, 13 to 8.

It was Lester White's day Thursday. White replaced Earl Caldwell, the new hurler from the Browns who had been in camp only two days, after the latter proved he had not yet got into form by allowing Stewart of the Sports to score on three bases on balls and a wild pitch in the very first of the opening frame. White came to the mound with Hutson on third, Cashion on second, and Park on first, and got himself out of the mess very creditably, striking Mueller out and throwing Starr out at first.

Error Aids Sports

Euller's bad throw to first in the next inning was indirectly responsible for the Sports going into the lead for the first time since they opened their three-day stand here. Huarte and Cooper, first batters up, were thrown out at first. Whelan lined to Euller at third and got to second on the latter's error. Then the Sports started in. Stewart singled to center, scoring Whelan. Hutson doubled to center, scoring Stewart. Cashion single to right, scoring Hutson, and went to second when Bettencourt muffed the ball in the right garden. White caught Park's foul near first base, and the Spudders were free to come to bat. The remaining Sport tallies came in the fourth, sixth and seventh. Whelan scoring in the fourth on a double to left and Stewart's double to right; and again in the sixth on Stewart's double to left. Stewart equalled Whelan's mark of three runs by scoring on Cashion's single to left. Then in the seventh, Huarte scored on a single to right, Whelan's single to left, and Stewart's single to right.

Burns, Bettencourt and Storti accounted for five of the Spudder runs with giant homers, Burns and Bettencourt each driving in a base runner. In all, the Spudders collected 15 hits to the Sports' 12.

Scoring Starts Early

Levey scored the first run for the home team in the first inning. The first batter up, he connected for a double to left field, went to third when the shortstop threw wild to third after Storti clouted to the infield, and scored on Fitzgerald's tap to second, Storti being thrown out at the keystone sack. Kloza singled and Fitzgerald went to third. Burns struck out. Kloza stole second, and Fitzgerald scored on the catcher's bad throw to the keystoner in an effort to nip Kloza.

The great Bettencourt then came to bat. Cooper, starting pitcher for the Sports, remembered Larry's terrific hitting in the opener Wednesday, and was wise enough to walk him. Euller filed to center and the first inning was over, with the Spudders ahead, two to one.

Manager Art Phelan of the Sports started running in new pitchers in the next inning, when the Spudders smote high and low for no less than seven runs. Six of them were obtained off Cooper, which occasioned his departure to the showers. Crouch started the inning off, going out, short to first. White doubled to center. Levey singled past third. Storti doubled to left, scoring White and advancing Levey to third. Fitzgerald was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Jack Kloza, the massive outfielder, then let loose with a massive blow that sent the ball whirling past third, scoring Levey, Storti and Fitzgerald. Burns then knocked his homer over the left field boards, and he and Kloza scored.

His Memory Slipped

A council of war then was held, and Mr. Moulton replaced Mr. Cooper on the mound. Mr. Bettencourt was the next man up. Mr. Moulton apparently forgot something, for he neglected to walk Mr. Bettencourt, who flew at Mr. Moulton's offerings with a will and knocked a three bagger past shortstop exactly in the manner he turned the trick Wednesday when he scored Burns with just such a bingle for the Spudders' first run of the season. Only Wednesday Mr. Bettencourt's shortstop crash was good only for a single.

This over, Euller sacrificed to center, scoring Bettencourt. Crouch singled to second, and White popped to second to end the riot.

Storti scored the tenth Spudder tally in the third off his double past first. Fitzgerald's single in the same direction, and the second baseman's error in handling Kloza's infield clout. The eleventh and twelfth came in the fifth, when Mr. Moulton again failed to walk Mr. Bettencourt, with the result that Larry sent one over the center field bards, scoring himself and Kloza, who reached first on the shortstop's error. Storti's homer in the sixth made the final run for the Spudders. The four-base swat was made off Spear, who replaced Moulton beginning with the sixth inning.

Light Crowd Attends

It was a two-hour and a half game, and dragged along pretty monotonously at times, but there was ample hitting on both sides to keep such a crowd as there was supplied with thrills. There was a light attendance at the game, due principally to the hangover from the opening day strain. The Spudders meet the Sports today in the last of the series here, and then entrain for Fort Worth, where they tackle the Cats Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

COYOTES DOWN THREE RIVALS

Remaining Matches to Be Played Today

By JACK ALLEN

Hampered by a strong wind, the district eliminations in tennis failed to progress farther than the finals of the doubles in the first day of play Thursday. The remaining matches, doubles title series and singles for both boys and girls will be run off Friday. The matches are being played on the Country Club courts.

Wichitans Win

Torrid competition marked the play of the boys doubles which advanced only to the finals. Among the chief events of the day was the unbeatable play of the Wichita Falls High school entry, Homer Donohoo and Vernon Black. These two youngsters fought three hard matches and survived them all to place them in the running for the finals. Vernon High was first eliminated by the followers of the red and black by scores of 6-8, 6-4, 6-3. Anderson and Baird, members of the Lion team, put up a hard battle and gave all they had to beat their old and bitter enemies, the Coyotes. Byers was next eliminated by the onward rush of the Coyote pair by scores of 6-4, 6-3. The next match was the hardest of the day for the conquering heroes. The Graham duo made it a hot race all the game. This was by far the best and most hotly contested game of the day, the final scores reading 6-4, 6-8, 9-7. Bowie and Burk fought to the semi-finals and were still fighting it out with each other for the right to enter the finals as the shadows conquered the field. Due to darkness the remainder of the match will be played Friday, night taking possession of the field when Bowie netters had captured the first set and the games were tied in the second set with 5-all.

The feminine netsters found it a hard day to drive the ball inside the court.

Murry Downs Electra

Many of the games were long and drawn out and displayed mediocre tennis as a whole. The Murry entrants fought their way to the finals by defeating Electra. Oklaunion and Megargel are squared off Friday morning and will go at it hammer and tongs for the right to play Murry in the finals.

Only one match in either boys or the girls doubles was played. Murry walloped Geraldine in the only game in the round to finish their singles match. Dorothy Cline is the representatives of the local high school. Gregg and Franklin were eliminated in the first round when they bowed to the onward toll of the Rufus King.

Interscholastic league literary events are scheduled to get under way Friday at the high school, and the track and field events Saturday will close the three-day period of district competition.

Western League to Inaugurate Night Baseball at Des Moines May 6

By BERT DEMBY

CHICAGO, April 10. (UP)—Minor league baseball club owners, in search of ways to make the black ink equal the red in their ledgers, are hopeful a plan for night games in the Western league this year will prove to be the manna they have been seeking.

The night play will be introduced at Des Moines, May 6. It was brought about by the work of Lee Keyser, president of the club, who attended many night football games last autumn and reasoned if football can draw at night, so can baseball.

He went back to Des Moines where he rigged up an elaborate flood lighting system which is expected to make the field as bright as day. The system consists of 146 floodlights mounted in batteries on 90-foot steel towers.

Behind the grandstand, directly back of home plate, are two of the towers, each with a battery of 13 projectors. Another tower is located so as to throw its rays across first base and a third across third base. Two others are in strategic positions to illuminate the outfield.

Two problems faced engineers in the work—glare and shadows. The former was solved by the height of the towers. Shadows were averted by criss-crossing the beams in such a manner the rays blend into each other as they meet.

The generally accepted fact more persons seek entertainment at night than in the afternoon is responsible for the experiment.

Night football prospered last year. Games in Milwaukee and Detroit did exceptionally well and if memory serves correctly, Marquette university's largest crowd of the season attended a night game.

Baseball first was played at night in June, 1927, in Lynn, Mass., of the New England league but that was more of a novelty than an experiment. The game drew some 7,000 fans. The spectators easily followed the play, during which there was not an error due to lack of light.

Many baseball club owners and officials, including Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, will attend the first game at Des Moines.

Giants Trade Two Players for Roettger

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 10. (US)—John J. McGraw announced today that he had traded George Fisher, utility outfielder, and Eddie Farrell, utility infielder to the St. Louis Cardinals for Wallie Roettger, utility outfielder. Roettger, although he played right field for the Cardinals, is slated for center field play with the Giants. Roettger broke his leg two years ago and has been of little value to the Cardinals since that time. Roettger hit .253 last year.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

This department today turns its column over to an account of the death of a gallant American aviator in France, and to a description of what that aviator's home state plans to do to perpetuate his memory. Damon Runyon is the author of the story, which is copyrighted by Universal Service, Inc. Runyon says that sports editors over the nation have been asked to cooperate in giving publicity to the proposed memorial to the great aviator, and we cheerfully print Runyon's account in full with the recommendation that it be read by every man, woman and child who chances to pick up this issue. His story follows:

"NEW YORK, April 10.—When gallant Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker came home from France, ace of aces of the American expeditionary forces, with 26 German planes to his credit, I had the honor of lending him some very small assistance in the preparation of his memories for publication, and the lecture platform. He thought he needed a little coaching in his writing, though as a matter of fact, he didn't.

"Anyway, it was while engaged in this work that I chanced to ask him one day:

"'Cap'n, who was the greatest aviator you saw over yonder?—'

"'A kid named Luke,' replied Rick, without hesitation.

"Later Captain Rickenbacker had much to say of the kid named Luke in his stories of his experiences, and other American fliers, too, often spoke of this youngster, whose brief career as a sky rider is one of the most thrilling chapters in the tale of the A. E. F. airmen.

"He appeared and disappeared so suddenly, and in such a blaze of glory, that for a long time he seemed almost mythical. Certainly he shot so swiftly across the horizon of stirring events on the American front in France, that he remained a vague and shadowy figure of heroism until after the war when his personality and exploits would be more clearly etched out.

"Then it was that the name of Frank Luke Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz., was emblazoned on the long roll of American heroes, there to remain for all time, and then it was that the real story was told of one of the most daring and picturesque boys in history.

"I am pleased to note that there has been organized in Phoenix, the Frank Luke Jr. Memorial association, which proposes building a $1,000,000 home for ex-service men of the United States in memory of the boy who died in France.

"On his last flight he was pursued by eight German planes, and his plane was so crippled that he had to land in an open field. He pulled his pistol as a number of German soldiers rushed at him, and called upon him to surrender. Luke refused, and opened fire, killing six of the enemy before he was himself killed by machine gun fire.

"Luke was only 21 years old. He was born in Phoenix, and many residents of that beautiful little Arizona city well remember him running the streets as a lad. He was only on the front line in France a matter of about 17 days, yet in that period he shot down five German planes, and 14 'sausages,' or observation balloons.

"He had a veritable passion for pouncing on those pot-bellied lookout stations of the air. On his last flight he shot down three observation balloons before he had to seek a landing in his crippled plane. Moreover, he was a lone huntsman of the sky, slipping away in pursuit of the fat bags on his own hook, and not infrequently, it is said, against orders.

"The men who served with Luke in France say he disliked rule and rote in his flying. There were those big lunks floating out yonder in the sky, he seemed to argue, so why not go and get them without any undue fuss? The question of his own personal safety never entered into his calculations. He took all kinds of desperate chances against odds, and it was a surprise whenever he came back safe from his magnificent forays.

"He was the only aviator in the world war to receive the congressional medal. It was awarded him after his death. That's the trouble with the congressional medal. It is the highest decoration in the power of the American government, but the rules that surround its award are such that a man generally has to die to get it. There are not a great many living holders of the congressional medal.

"Luke was also awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, with oak leaf clusters, the Marguerite Fischer medal, the medal of the Aero Club of America, and the Groce di' Guerra, of Italy. Had he lived, they would have had him walking around humpshouldered from the weight of his decorations. The war had over a month to go when Luke died. At the rate he was going he would have, single-handed, devastated the balloon forces of the German army.

"Strange it was how he liked to stab those big porkers of the sky with his machine gunnery. Possibly the very danger of getting them is the thing that appealed to the boy from Arizona. The observation balloons, floating lazily at the end of their tethers always seemed helpless enough, but they had plenty of protection. The balloon hunter generally found himself in a veritable hornet's nest even if he got the balloon.

"I am told that a block of ground worth $75,000 in the heart of Phoenix has been placed at the disposal of the Frank Luke Jr. Memorial association, and on this site it is proposed to erect the home. Walter S. Beavers is president of the association, and A. T. Hagen is secretary-treasurer. The committee is making a special appeal to sports editors for publicity in connection with the project.

"It strikes me as a meritorious enterprise in more ways than one. The commemoration of the brilliant young aviator is important, but even more important is the purpose of the memorial, which is to care for ailing ex-service men.

"The climate of Arizona, particularly in the vicinity of Phoenix, is the tonic that thousands of men who bore arms in the A. E. F. need. It would be a godsend to them if there was an institution to which they could go. I am not advised as to the method by which the committee hopes to raise the funds necessary for building the memorial, but I believe that it will meet with a ready response throughout the country, especially among ex-soldiers who are more fortunate than their brothers-in-arms."

Blues Beat Whites In Polo Game

The Blues rode to an 8 to 6 victory over the Whites Thursday afternoon, in the last practice game before the Wichita Polo team meets the Fort Reno, Okla., team Sunday on the Reno field. A dusty field made the game slower than usual.

Horrace Robbins, playing at No. 2 position on the Blue team scored five of the eight goals for his team. The first chukker ended with neither side scoring, though the Whites were spotted two goals at the beginning of the game. In the second chukker, Robbins scored twice and Charles Featherston netted one for the Whites.

Robbins scored again in the fourth, fifth and seventh chukkers. Dr. J. H. Fletcher scored with a long back-hand stroke in the fourth period and Cecil Wilfong scored in the sixth and seventh chukkers to make up the total for the Blues.

Featherston added one more for the Whites in the third chukker and both Gerald Coffey and Bill Barry scored in the last period.

The Blues played Jarrel Gose at No. 1, Horrace Robbins at No. 2, Cecil Wilfong at No. 3, Dr. J. H. Fetcher, back and Spike Wardell substitute. The Whites lined up with Gerald Coffey in front, Bill Barry at No. 2, John Fastnow at No. 3, Charles Featherston back, and Earnest Fain, substitute.

37 Indictments Voted by Jury

possible, Sheriff W. G. Bralley said.

Among others not under arrest was a young woman, named in the indictment charging embezzlement, who is alleged to have absconded with $110 in cash given to her by another woman to deposit in the bank. The young woman, it was charged, was employed by the older woman and was given the money one day to deposit. The bank book was returned with an apparently authentic entry of $110, it was charged, and the false entry was not discovered until after the young woman had left her job to go to Amarillo.

The indictment charging failure to stop and render aid grew out of an alleged accident here which resulted in the death of William Whitfield, negro. The negro, it was said, was riding on the running board of an automobile driven by another negro when the collision occurred. Occupants of the other machine, it was charged, did not stop after the crash and the negro died the following day.

Vernon Man Cleared

The number of desertion cases, nine indictments having been returned, was pointed out as probably the largest ever contained in one report of a grand jury here. Another unusual feature of the report was the returning of but one indictment on a liquor charge. A no-bill was given in the case of a Vernon man charged with a statutory offense against a 14-year-old girl he was alleged to have taken on a trip to Fort Worth. The girl, who had been held here on charges of delinquency, was released Thursday to her parents in Vernon, it was said.

The charges of murder against Ed Spriggs and James Norford, negroes, grew out of the slaying here several weeks ago of a negro woman and two negro men. Spriggs was charged with murder following an affray in which Isaac Johnson was slain. Norford was charged with murder in connection with the slaying of his wife, Ada Norford, and another negro man, Andrew Byrd.

THIEVES RAID STORE

Merchandise valued at more than $100 was taken from the M. C. Hall grocery, 1512 Holliday street, Wednesday night, making the third robbery of its kind within a week. Entrance was made by picking the lock to the door of a store room in the rear of the grocery and boring several holes through an inner door to remove a steel bar. Police were of the opinion that the robbers had a truck for the loot included several sacks of flour and canned goods of bulky quantity. The Iten Biscuit company and the Bennett Candy company were both raided earlier in the week.

Owners of Big Gusher Came West To Seek Adventures and Fortunes

Jim Nash and Bob Windfohr, Both Graduates of Eastern Schools, Have Had Share of Hard Luck

GRAHAM, Texas, April 10.—Almost a dozen years ago an experimental geology prof from the University of Texas and a youngster from the East who had just resigned his majority in the United States army after a war time training period at San Antonio, met in a little West Texas oil town with the same idea in their minds.

Jim Nash was born and reared in Philadelphia and had been stirred from his professorial researches by an itch to put his scientific knowledge to more practical and remunerative uses. Bob Windfohr, brought to Texas by the war, had decided to investigate what the West might offer a young man before returning to settle among his family and friends in Baltimore.

Both Adventurous

Both were products of eastern colleges, with a flavor of the adventurous stirred into their studious tendencies. Thrown together in the midst of the excitement and the raw crudities of the Breckenridge field in its earlier days, the two easterners formed a friendship and a contract.

The owners of Graham's wild gusher, flowing between 25,000 and 35,000 barrels of high gravity oil into pipes, earthen tanks, and over a Young county hillside, had their lean years before the Nash Windfohr No. 1 McCloud shot the tools over the derrick Tuesday afternoon.

They tried their luck in the Breckenridge area for only a year before moving the center of operations to Young county. They went to Graham as drilling contractors, gradually enlarging their own independent operations. Dry holes, uncounted, were relieved now and again by small producers, pumping 200 or 400 barrels a day into the lines.

Try Luling Field

The exploring pair persisted. They spread out to the Luling field and to operations near Taylor. In the southern section of Young county they probed for the oil in the Bunger, the Oil City, and the Herron City fields. Their luck held—the same moderate, unspectacular luck that stretched behind them for a dozen years.

Jim Nash maintained his home in Austin. Bob Windfohr, tall, laconic, a tireless executive in the field and a student at home, stayed on the grounds smoking his inevitable pipe and batching at the Driver hotel.

Then they leased acreage on the McCloud land where the pool was yielding comparatively small producers. The Nash and Windfohr No. 1 McCloud was spudded in, drilled to 3757 feet. Nash came up from Austin to see another 300 barrel well brought in.

Thursday night the owners themselves and oil operators all over the section were estimating and re-estimating the production of the gusher as her flow hourly increased, salving in her spectacular production the sting of numberless dry holes and a sprinkling of tame producers, making rich men of them both at the rate of thousands of dollars a day.

JUDGE CHEERED

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court, who found himself bored almost to tears early this week after hearing several days of tedious legal proceedure in connection with a case in the 30th district court at Graham, has been considerably cheered up and noticeably more willing to listen to dry attorneys for the past several days of the long trial. And there is a reason.

Mrs. Martin, wife of the judge, is the sister of Mrs. R. J. McCloud, whose husband owns the land near Graham on which the now-famous Nash and Windfohr No. 1 McCloud oil gusher blew in last Tuesday. The excitement in Graham at present over the new well has invaded even the judge's usually imperturbable nature and he was almost proud when asked about the "family connections" via long distance Thursday night.

Besides Mrs. Eckner, survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Hal M. Gatti of Shreveport, La.; two sons, Paul and Elmer Von Allmen, both of Houston; and eight grandchildren. Elmer Von Allmen is in Europe at the present time.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the chapel of the Merkle company with Dr. Claude Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Riverside.

State Inspector Ends Survey of Schools Here

Miss Opal Gilstrap, a representative of the state department of education, completed her tour of inspection through the schools of Wichita and surrounding counties Thursday and will return to Austin to make her reports after a brief stop at Petrolia Friday, according to Burl Bryant, county school superintendent.

Miss Gilstrap visited the school at Byers Thursday. She has spent several days in inspecting Wichita county district schools within the past several weeks. The report she will give the state department at Austin, in conjunction with papers from each of the various schools, will determine the department's decision concerning their applications for classification as standard schools, Mr. Bryant said.

Among the schools Miss Gilstrap has visited in this county are the Valley View, Fairview, City View, Cashion, Clara and Burkburnett schools.

Two Planes Sold To Company at Lubbock

Two airplane sales were closed Wednesday afternoon by the Wichita Falls Air Transport company with the South Plains Air Transport company of Lubbock, according to Fulcher Armstrong, president of the local concern.

A Stinson Jr., four-passenger cabin plane and an Eaglerock equipped with Hisso motor were sold to the Lubbock company, Mr. Armstrong said, not only for passenger service in that section of state, but for the use of students in an air training school. Delivery of the new ships is to be made from Wichita Falls in about 10 days, it was said.

CRASH FATAL TO TEXAS GIRL

Denton Student Killed by Auto Injuries

DENTON, Texas, April 10. (INS)—Miss Augusta Capps, 25, of Celina, died here early today of injuries received yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding left the highway and overturned near here. Mrs. J. L. Watson, of Denton, driver of the machine sustained injuries which probably will prove fatal. Both women were students at the North Texas State Teachers' college.

VICTIM WAS STUDENT HERE

Miss Augusta Capps, of Celina, who died Thursday from injuries received in an automobile crash on the Fort Worth highway near Denton Wednesday afternoon, was a student at the Wichita Falls Junior college before she enrolled last January in the North Texas State Teachers college. She was a leader in young people's work at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church during her stay here and made her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lee.

Body of Mrs. Williford Returned to Comanche

The body of Mrs. W. M. Williford, 79, of Comanche, who died here early Wednesday night, was sent to Comanche by the Hines Mortuary Thursday for services there.

Mr. and Mrs. Williford, pioneers of Comanche, were visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Charles Odell, 1907½ Fillmore street, when Mrs. Williford was stricken with a heart attack Wednesday night shortly after 8 o'clock. She died a few minutes later. She had previously been in good health, members of the family said.

Mrs. Williford is survived by her husband and 12 children, all of whom live in Comanche with the exception of Mrs. Odell.

Electra Child's Strange Disease Is 96th Case

The case of the Electra child afflicted with "acanthosis nigricans", a disease which blackens the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet, is the 96th on record in the history of medicine, according to a report from the physician handling the case. The patient, a 4-year-old girl, is the 13th child among the 96 patients, the doctor asserts. A former report of the case, published in The Record News, said only 25 similar cases were on record.

GUSHER KEEPS UP BIG FLOW

Graham Well Believed In Big Field

since nobody can fathom the true worth of the gusher.

The big well has brought Young county undisputedly to the top of Texas oil areas in three short days. Larger wells have been drilled in the state, in the Pecos and coastal fields, but the oil produced in those areas is much inferior to the grade washing down the sides of the rocky hill just north of Graham.

Semi-Wildcat Territory

A survey of the territory around the well reveals that it is in fact a wildcat territory if not so designated. The land to the southeast has been tested in the 3700- foot horizon for a distance less than one mile. Directly north, it is about five miles to the next well drilled to this formation—Panhandle Oil and Refining company's producer on the Morrison land. The Harle well, already mentioned, is located about five miles northwest. Directly west, a dry hole was drilled some time ago to a depth of 4400 feet. Southwest a little over one mile the Panhandle found oil on the Morrison land at a depth of 3500 feet. This well produced 90 barrels initially but has been abandoned. Southeast of the McCloud lease is the Morrison field, in which most of the wells produce from the 24-foot sands. Beyond that field is the town of Graham. Several dry holes on the east do not add anything to the promise in that direction although none is close in.

POOL IN MOORE

AMARILLO, Texas, April 10. (UP)—With an estimated production of from 500 to 1,000 barrels daily, No. 1 Jones oil well of the Operators-Dana-Barnsdall companies came in today in north central Moore county. The well established a new pool. The oil was backed by 35,000,000 feet of gas.

The heavy gas pressure was as great a surprise to the owners as the unprecedented oil production, other wells nearby showing only nominal gas. When additional traps have been set in place to carry all of the oil to steel tanks and the gas into the pipeline, the well will be gauged but even then it may never be known how great the flow was Wednesday and Thursday. It stands to reason, operators say, that the peak will soon be reached and a gradual decline set in.

R. S. Windfohr, one of the owners, was quoted today as saying the well was producing 50,000 barrels and that he could prove it. Prairie Pipe line officials directing the work of saving the oil said late today the flow approximated 25,000 barrels and was increasing at that time.

Drilling Rush May Follow

Locations for no other tests to seek the rich lime streak had been staked out, as far as scouts could determine, but the increasing lease play boded a rush of drilling which may rival the Ranger and Breckenridge booms of several years ago. It was said officials of the oil and gas commission of the Texas railroad commission were in Graham today. It was freely admitted that the field would not have to prove very extensive to offer another problem of over-production such as resulted from the Seminole rush in Oklahoma and the Pecos campaign.

Only in the new Oklahoma City field have wells producing light oil surpassed the Nash and Windfohr strike. At Ranger the largest wells made 15,000 barrels daily. At Burkburnett 10,000-barrel producers were sensations. Breckenridge's best wells made around 10,000 barrels.

Recently the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company brought in No. 1 Thomas-Fuzzell at Oklahoma City making 42,982 barrels in 24 hours. It is 6,500 feet deep. Same company's No. 1 Fortson-Farley gauged 36,055 barrels. The Mary Sudik, which blew wild for more than 10 days, is officially estimated as a 25,000-barrel well.

The largest oil well Oklahoma ever had prior to Oklahoma City, wires Paul Hedrick of the Tulsa World, was Sinclair Oil and Gas company's well in the Farber field, Garfield county, that did 27,000 barrels. The Seminole field's largest well made but 15,000 barrels. Carter Oil company got a 17,500 barreler in the Hewitt field in 1923 but it was lost later. Kansas has a well rated at 50,000 barrels a day but which is now said to be down to 30,000. It was Gypsy Oil company's discovery in the Eldorado field.

Guard Against Fire

Strictest measures to prevent fire around the Graham gusher were in force tonight. The Loving highway still was roped off and a detour was necessary for motorists who wished to pass the lease. Rock Island trains are running as scheduled but guards keep a sharp watch along the right of way, ready to call a large force of men immediately to battle any flame that may be started from the fires in locomotive boilers.

Besides the enormous influx of oil men, bent on scouting the gusher and buying royalties and leases, thousands of curious persons came from many miles to see a show seldom if ever equalled in the Lone Star state. But many were disappointed as the wild spouting of the well had been curbed and employes, some of them said to be armed, kept the crowds several hundred yards from the well.

Men with pressing business to transact found it not unlike trying to cross an international boundary line without a passport to attempt to go on the property. Special permits, signed either by designated employes of the well owners or by officials of the Prairie Pipe Line company, were required of all who were allowed to pass under the ropes surrounding the lease.

The Graham-Wichita Falls highway, all paved, was crowded today with every type of motor vehicle from the shiny sedans and roadsters of hurrying oil executives to the grimy, rumbling oil field trucks, transporting tanks and other equipment to the Graham field and other busy oil areas south of here.

Wichita Falls oil men in town and in the field far out-numbered those from any other city, although those from Breckenridge were numerous. The Fort Worth contingent, learning late Thursday that a new gusher area had been opened in Young county, was expected to send representatives here next week.

OIL INCREASE AIDS INDUSTRY

General Business to Gain From Price Hike

of the federal conservation board. Threatened accumulation of stocks has been avoided through curtailment of production in California and Oklahoma and improved conditions in Texas.

"The Humble Oil and Refining company feels that its posted price for crude oil should be more sensible to fluctuations in the wholesale price of products, particularly gasoline, than it has been in the past although this necessitates more frequent price adjustments.

"Whether the prices now posted can be maintained or increased depends upon the success in securing and maintaining a proper balance between crude supply and the demand for refined products."

Thursday's hike was the first adjustment in the price of Texas and Oklahoma crude oil since the Humble and Carter companies reduced the market in January. That action was followed by the most active campaign ever waged by smaller independents in the history of the industry.

Independent oil men's associations were formed in every part of the middle field. Committees conferred with major company executives and a determined drive was launched to secure a tariff on foreign crude oil and gasoline, the independents claiming no overproduction exists in the United States if South American oil is kept out of domestic markets.

Refinery Prices Strengthen

The battle for a tariff resulted in five votes in the senate on the proposed duty, the tariff amendment losing on the final vote by a single vote, whereas many had believed the tariff advocates faced an utterly impossible task when the fight was begun.

The new prices which went into effect at 7 a. m. Thursday provide a 3½-cent differential for degrees of gravity up to 44 which is quoted at $1.57. The scale begins at $1.15 for 32 gravity oil.

A glance at reports from five states on last week's refinery runs shows how that branch of the industry is striving to better its position and recent strengthening of refinery prices indicates the results.

Crude oil runs totalled 344,217 barrels in the week, a loss of 13,043 barrels over the previous week, whose runs amounted to 357,261 barrels. Other oils totalled 14,317 barrels, a loss of 10,390 barrels over the 24,706 barrels run the week before.

Reports from the states on crude runs follow (in barrels):

State—	Past Week	Previous Week
Oklahoma	113,205	116,265
Kansas	65,621	72,965
North Texas	62,987	65,845
West Texas	39,379	44,090
La.-Ark.	63,025	56,090

Gasoline production for the week approximated 45,760,000 gallons, compared with 48,380,000 gallons the previous week, and shipments totalled 48,232,000 gallons comparable with 50,490,000 gallons the week before, and stocks fell off 2,572,000 gallons, or to 143,211,000 gallons.

The refiners of the five states produced 6,523,000 gallons of kerosene, or 287,000 gallons less than the week before; shipments fell off 480,000 gallons to 6,089,000 gallons, but stocks increased 434,000 gallons to 19,940,000 gallons.

The new crude oil price table:

Below—	Old Price	New Price
25.9 gravity	$ .60	$ .72
26.9 gravity	.66	.77
27.9 gravity	.72	.82
28.9 gravity	.84	.92

35.9 gravity	1.17	1.25½
38.9 gravity	1.20	1.29

42.9 gravity	1.38	1.50
43.9 gravity	1.41	1.53½

Wichita county's bulk of production advances from 10½ to 11 cents per barrel.

Bearden Suit To Go to Jury Today

Special to The Record News.

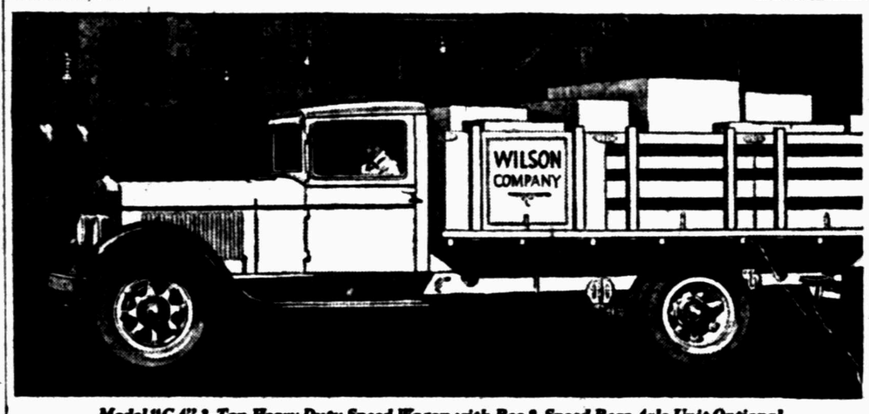

GRAHAM, Texas, April 10.—The last phases of the trial involving an estate valued at $3,000,000 which has been in progress in a special session of the 30th district court at Graham since last week, were being drawn to a close Thursday and a verdict is expected before the adjournment of court Friday, according to Judge P. A. Martin, of the 89th district, occupying the bench through an exchange with Judge Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th district.

The suit was brought by Lee O. Bearden, who claims a child's share in the estate left by his father and asks a portion of the proceeds from oil produced on the land within the last several years. The Texas company and several others were named defendants in the action. Bearden left Young county and was gone more than seven years without word to his firends or relatives. He was adjudged legally dead under the seven years absence law, returning later to find his father's estate divided without him.

Testimony in the case has required almost seven days. Thursday's court session was given over to consideration of the legal aspects of the case, the jury having been excused at adjournment Wednesday to report back Friday morning.

Are You Letting High Distribution Costs Eat Away Your Profits?

Model "GA" 3-Ton Heavy Duty Speed Wagon with Reo 2-Speed Rear Axle Unit Optional

How Many Leading Industries Are Now Meeting the Problem of Lower Distribution Costs—Increased Business

SELLING your product or your service is merely one cost of doing business.

Before you can figure NET PROFITS, the cost of haulage has to be charged off.

Hence in today's strategy of business, trucks are called on to perform two important functions: (1) Reduce distribution costs. (2) Increase business.

High distribution costs DECREASE profits. Lowered distribution costs INCREASE profits. No argument is needed to prove this.

That's why the slow and cumbersome, fuel-eating, "heavy trucks" of yesterday are destined to disappear from the streets.

Their first cost is too high. Their upkeep is too high. Their depreciation is too great. They INCREASE distribution costs . . . often to an unsafe point. That's one charge against them.

The next is they're too CUMBERSOME for modern traffic.

Hence too SLOW. They set up two measurable obstacles against INCREASED business:

They make the cost per load of delivery too high by REDUCING the potential NUMBER OF LOADS per day. And . . . they LIMIT the radius of your business to a dangerously small area in this highly competitive age.

Thinking men are realizing this point more and more every day. Dead weight in trucking to them is DEAD EXPENSE . . . lowered profits . . . limited trade area. They seek a more modern, LESS COSTLY way of delivery. And find it now in Reo Speed Wagons that are changing the whole viewpoint of modern business on economical haulage.

Speed Wagons . . .
The Modern Way

To meet that situation, Reo—world-leader in high-speed, low-upkeep, long-lived transportation—has developed a distinctive type of Heavy Duty haulage that offers truck owners LOWER DISTRIBUTION COSTS than any other truck yet made.

The Speed Wagon LOWERS DISTRIBUTION COSTS in three ways: By low first cost. By amazingly economical operation. By minimum depreciation due to almost unbelievably long life. And PROVES these points not by statements, but by facts.

A truck that INCREASES sales in four provable ways: That carries a few pounds or a three-ton load in and out of traffic with the speed and agility of a roadster. And thus—a truck that multiplies the number of starts and stops for sales in a given time. That speeds up schedules enormously. That broadens trade area. And thus establishes FAR LARGER SALES TERRITORIES for its users.

1,348 Speed Wagons to One Company

Its advantages are marked and many. Some are exclusive; some are not. And some trucks may offer ONE of its advantages. But no other offers all. For there is no other comparable truck.

One company operates a fleet of 1,348 Reo Speed Wagons. Hundreds of others operate fleets of 5 or more. Consider what that means.

There is a Speed Wagon for every hauling need—wheelbase sizes up to 210"—capacities with trailers up to 15,000 lbs. (231-R)

NEW YORK COTTON

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 8 points with the active months soon showing net advances of about 5 to 8 points.

The early market was rather unsettled with July selling off to 16.32 or 6 points net lower. New crop positions held relatively steady, but eased a few points from the opening figures with the new October at 15.37 holding a net gain of 1 point. Offerings tapered. July sold at 16.56 or 18 points net higher with the general list showing net gains of about 9 to 18 points.

The new October sold up to 15.53 but the market met realizing at these figures and closing quotations showed reactions of some 5 or 10 points from the best.

Exports today 14,225, making 6,020,248 so far this season. Port receipts 4,703. U. S. port stocks 1,781,415.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 10. (AP)—Cotton worked moderately higher today on favorable textile statistics for March, better cables and reported buying by cooperatives. Realizing was encountered on the advance but was absorbed at moderate setbacks and final prices showed a small net gain for the day.

July after trading up from 16.05 to 16.25 closed at 16.17 or 11 points net up. The general market closed barely steady.

The opening was steady in sympathy with favorable Liverpool cables. Initial transactions showed gains of 1 to 4 points. May sold at 16.06, July 16.15 and October 15.50, or 9 to 11 points above the previous close.

Most of this gain was lost later on realizing but the market steadied on tightness in the near months and rumors that cooperatives were buying. May traded up to 16.16 and October to 15.55, or 15 to 21 points above the lows. Renewed realizing in late trading caused reactions of 1 to 10 points and May closed at 16.08 and October 15.45.

Strong Stock Market Featured By Oil Gains and Good Steel News

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 10. (US)—Another strong market was witnessed on the stock exchange today, although there were increasing signs of weakness in certain specialties. The late trading was featured by considerable profit-taking which developed in anticipation of a possible large increase in loans which, as a matter-of-fact were hardly realized in the $26,000,000-gain reported. Professional pressure was evident in various sections of the market but except in a limited number of stocks they were unsuccessful in encountering large-scale liquidation. The general sentiment appeared to favor the same group of leaders which have maintained their upward trend through all periods of irregularity in the main body of stocks.

Developments during the day were generally of a favorable nature, particularly the good-sized expansion in the Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage whereas a decrease would not have been surprising. Improvement in the oil industry was further confirmed by Humble's action in marking up crude prices. Steel common had a fair sized gain part of which it held to the close while the Oil shares held comparatively firm. The strong feature of the day continued to be General Motors, which achieved a new high as aggressive sponsorship continued.

Copper shares as a group continued to act disappointingly as talk was heard of further increase in surplus stocks of the metal. Kennecott yielded to a new low for the year. Johns-Manville was another weak feature breaking five points on estimates of its first-quarter earnings. United Aircraft continued under pressure of profit-taking as its sponsors eased up their activities and renewed speculative selling was also noticeable. The issue harbors a large short interest which for a while appeared to have been locked in. Remington Rand reflected a running-in of the shorts but after a substantial gain the stock yielded on profit-taking and up-state selling.

Attempt to revive interest in the railroad section of the market was unsuccessful although greater speculative activity developed in Chicago & Alton shares on hopes it may be absorbed into a larger system. Foster-Wheeler yielded on profit-taking which seemed to be well absorbed on a scale downward. Columbian Carbon enjoyed the largest gain of any active stock on buying reported to be for the account of people closest to its affairs. Radio selling was absorbed in good style and the stock closed up several points but Radio-Keith could not hold its gain completely. General Electric likewise yielded after attaining a new high. Most of the selling in the leaders developed in the afternoon, in line with recent practice of professionals taking profits and hammering weak spots prior to the loan report. Corn products remained unchanged at the close but strong interests were reported active in the issue in conjunction with officials and the same individual who has been the most active sponsor of the stock for years.

Federal reserve statements further betterment in ratios, the system rising from 78.8 per cent a week ago to 81.5 per cent this week, compared with 73.8 per cent a year ago, while the New York bank showed even greater improvement, to 76.6 per cent from 72.9 per cent a week ago. A year ago the local ratio was at 81.8 per cent. A slight decline in government security holdings and $52,000,000 drop in total bills and securities were also disclosed in the system's statement.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 10. (AP)—Exporters were nominally bidding $1.15@1.16 for ordinary export wheat delivered Texas gulf ports today, but were reported getting very little grain. Mills increased their bids half a cent, putting ordinary No. 1 hard wheat at $1.17@1.18½, delivered Texas common points with one cent additional for 13 per cent protein. Demand was fairly good both for the wheat and coarse grains, the latter showing little price changes.

Bids and offers coarse grains basis carlots delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed, 96@97c; No. 2 white, $1.00@1.01; No. 2 yellow, $1.00@1.01½.

Oats—No. 2 red oats, 58@59c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points, 55½c; group three, one cent more.

Barley—No. 2 barley, nominal, 73@75c.

Sorghums—No. 1 milo, per 100 pounds $1.84@1.87; No. 2 kaffir, $1.57@1.59.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top, per 100 pounds, $4.05@4.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 10. (AP)—Wheat prices fluctuated sharply within a narrow range today and dealings were on a big scale, with market action depending on chances of moisture relief in drouth districts. Effects of the government crop report were confined to early bulges, which proved transient in the face of heavy profit taking sales as well as forecasts of showers Southwest.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, at ¼ net decline to ⅛ advance, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c off to ⅛c up, oats a shade lower to ¼c higher, and provisions varying from 15 cents setback to a rise of a shade.

Free selling from rural sources weakened corn. Farmers were reported as having spring work unusually far along, a circumstance that appeared to be facilitating an increase of corn marketing with dry weather improving the quality of offerings. Oats were governed chiefly by changes in prices of wheat and corn.

Provisions were easier, sympathizing with downturns in the value of hogs.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 10. (US)—The weather situation in the Southwest has reached the point where actual and in some instances rather serious damage is being reported. Hence, the forecast for showers though aiding in the reaction today was not looked upon as bearish as might be expected. Traders feel that real relief from drouth in the form of soaking rains must be received in order to remove weather as the leading influence in the market.

The trade continues friendly to the buying side of corn on the reactions, but there is no disposition to take that side actively until a better demand appears in the cash market.

Vessel room was chartered for 450,000 bushels of corn today. This was said to be stuff that had already been reported as sold to go out. Substantial quantities from local stocks are expected to be put afloat with the opening of navigation.

Increasing attention is being paid the lack of moisture in the Northwest. This is a condition which many traders feel is more serious than the dry weather southwest which is at present commanding a greater share of interest.

Millers in England are reported to have purchased fair quantities of spot wheat lately and prices are steady according to cables.

POULTRY-EGG PRICES CHANGE

Revision Brings Quotations Lower Here

Revision of poultry and egg prices offered by local buyers Thursday revealed a slight increase on loose eggs, with a noticeable decline on several other items of produce.

Fresh eggs, uncased, increased one cent per dozen in the quotations, to list at 18 cents. Fresh eggs in new cases are listed at $6.00, the quotation being based upon the buyer retaining the case.

Hens dropped in price, those weighing above four pounds now bringing 18 cents instead of 20, and those under four pounds dropping from 18 to 15 cents.

Roosters also lost favor with the market, their price of eight cents dropping to a new offer of six cents per pound. The cut extended to prices on the few turkeys which are now moving, both toms and hens in the No. 1 class moving down two cents to a present offering of 15 cents per pound.

The trip will be made by train over the M-K-T lines, the group leaving Wichita Falls at 7:15 a. m. and returning at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of the same day. Members of the delegation will be entertained at luncheon by the Altus Chamber of Commerce, it was announced.

Boys' Club Members Entertain Rotarians

Specimens of the boyhood which their extension program is providing with recreation and handicraft training were entertainers before the weekly meeting of Rotarians at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

Vocal numbers by Earl (Sonny-bud) White, aged 6 years, and harmonica solos by Bill Savage, both members of the Wichita Falls Boys' club, constituted the program of entertainment. The youthful vocalist accepted the assistance of his brother, Jack White, in maneuvering over difficult passages in his songs.

Walter D. Cline reported the results of a survey made recently to obtain funds for carrying on the work of the Boys' club.

Court Admits Will Of John G. James to Probate

The will of John G. James, former Wichita Falls attorney and pioneer of this section, who died in Dallas several weeks ago, was admitted to probate Thursday by Judge John P. Marrs of the county court. The value of Mr. James' estate in Wichita county is estimated at $10,000, although the will also includes other property in Texas.

The will was written on a single sheet of Mr. James' personal stationery and in his own handwriting, without witnesses, Judge Marrs said. Identification of the writing was easily made by Tom McHam, county treasurer, an old friend of Mr. James. According to the provisions of the will, the estate was to go to Mrs. James or "the heirs of her body." Mrs. James having died some time ago, Judge Marrs stated the probable heirs would be Henry James, Abilene banker, and W. S. James, Abilene real estate dealer, both nephews of the deceased.

BAYLOR PAVING READY JUNE 15

Contractors Rush Work on Seymour Highway

Paving on the new Baylor county highway, which will complete a continuous paved road from Wichita Falls to Haskell county, is progressing rapidly, the work having extended to Maybelle Thursday, according to the announcement of Paul Teague, assistant in the office of D. M. Puckett, division highway engineer, here.

With the laying of pavement progressing at the rate of from 900 to 1,300 feet a day, the work will be completed about June 15, Mr. Teague said. The new stretch of paving will extend from near Dundee to Seymour and will add the completing link in a paved highway out of Wichita Falls across Wichita, Archer, Baylor and Knox counties, adding still another spoke to the wheel of paved highways radiating from Wichita Falls as a hub.

Other activities of the highway department in this area will add paved roads north of Throckmorton and between Crowell and Vernon, Mr. Teague said. The road at Throckmorton will extend north to the Baylor county line, the new paving being a 15-mile stretch which will connect with other highways in Baylor county. Work on this road has just begun. The Crowell to Vernon pavement will complete a paved road between these two cities within the next few weeks, work having been going on for some time.
