Dynamite Fiend Sought In California Dam Disaster

Shadow of Human Hand Flits Past Probe Spotlight

Startling Evidence Tending To Show Maniac Back of Break in Reservoir Is Obtained by Officers.

EVERY DAM IN SERIES PLACED UNDER GUARD

Federal Investigation In Tragedy Already Claiming 277 Lives Gets Under Way Tuesday.

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, March 20.—The shadow of a human hand setting dynamite blasts under the shoulders of the St. Francis dam today was indicated late today when John M. Pyles and J. Clark Sellers, special investigators in the aquatic blast cases in Inyo county, hurried to the scene of the newest disaster to the City of Los Angeles water system which has added such turbulent events to the city's history.

"Startling" Evidence
Officials of the department of water and power bureau admitted startling evidence tending to show that the city's second largest dam was dynamited in the hands of the sheriff. Some of the evidence has been gathered by members of the department, but the bulk of it has been gathered by deputy sheriffs who have been assigned to the stricken Santa Clara river valley.

Whether the sheriff's office for the stricken valley would admit they are definitely convinced the dynamite blast, Page 5

Rift Appears In Teapot Quizers

Chairman Nye and Silver-haired Prosecutor, Walsh, At Outs, Statement From Latter Shows.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 20.—A rift in the senate Teapot Dome committee between the youthful chairman, Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, and the silver-haired prosecutor, Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, appeared on the horizon today as the committee prepared to reopen its public hearings tomorrow. For some time there have been under-surface indications of disagreements between the republican and the democratic senators and today the Montanan brought the matter into the open with a formal statement generally viewed as criticizing the course of the chairman in certain matters.

"It is singularly unfortunate," Senator Walsh said, "that publicity should have been given to some of the plans of the committee, or what individual members be allowed to become public information affecting the reputation of the committee as a whole."

"That sentence appeared at the end of a statement by the Montanan in which he stated the committee would ignore the demand made in the Teapot Rift, Page 6.

SCHOOLS GROW

Figures For Scholastics Show Increase

Healthy growth in Lubbock county scholastics is noted in the reports of the Grovesville and Shallowater schools, the first to report to County Superintendent W. M. Pevhouse.

In March, 1927, Grovesville had 197 scholastics; compared to a present enrollment of 127. Shallowater had 178 last year compared to 200 scholastics at present.

51 DEGREE RANGE

Wide Variation In Temperature Here

A 51-degree range in temperature was shown here yesterday. The day started with a low mark of 25 degrees and with plenty of ice. Under gentle southern breezes and a bright sun, the thermometer started climbing reaching a maximum of 76 degrees in the afternoon.

Intrepid Fliers Take Off On Polar Exploration Flight

Above are Capt. George H. Wilkins (left) and Lieut. Carl B. Elson, with their plane, in which they are now engaged in flying over a portion of the yet unexplored arctic. The men took off yesterday from Fairbanks, Alaska, on their trip which will carry them over "the top of the world." The plane in which they are flying is constructed largely of wood.

Cattlemen To See Prosperity Now In Evidence Is Kept

Prevention of Overproduction and Raising of Quality Stock Stressed; Jesse Jones Scores Graft.

(By The Associated Press) AMARILLO, March 20.—Cattlemen of the Southwest are determined that there shall be nothing to interfere with the present prosperity of the cattle industry, declared in sounding the keynote of the association's annual convention Tuesday. More attention will be paid to the study of marketing problems and to prevention of over production and raising of quality he said.

President Kieberg, calling on every cowboy to join forces with the association in attempting to solve the industry's problems, said: "We must let the world know that we know more about the cattle business than anyone else, and that we are better equipped to know what is good for us than anyone else."

Solid Financial Conditions.
The report of the executive committee showed a large increase in membership a solid financial condition and greater interest in the work of the association among common everywhere.

LOWDEN AND SMITH

North Dakota Gives 13 to Former, 10 to Latter

FARGO, N. D., March 20 (AP)—Thirteen votes for Frank O. Lowden in the Republican National Convention and ten for Governor Alfred E. Smith in the Democratic meeting were pledged by the North Dakota electorate in today's statewide presidential preference primary.

These two presidential possibilities were unopposed and their endorsement was a mere formality, incident to the selection of delegates to the two national conventions and naming of presidential electors.

PLAY TOURNAMENT

High School Dramatics Events Here

High schools from all over West Texas will be represented here on April 1 by their dramatic clubs for a district "one play act" tournament under auspices of the Texas Interscholastic League. The plays will be presented at the Tech gym, according to A. W. Evans, Tech professor, who is the director general of the Interscholastic league for this district.

Blasted Romance

"Louise," 17, Wants a Divorce

Her name really isn't Louise, it's Louise, but a little typographical error made it Louise in a divorce petition filed in the 90th district court yesterday.

She says she doesn't like her husband any more, because he has been cruel to her, has given her unkind treatment, has failed to support her, and has forced her to work in order to pay the family grocery bill and rent.

Then on top of that he left her, so she wants a divorce. She was only sixteen years of age when she married, and her husband was seventeen. She is now seventeen.

Oh, well, what difference does a typographical error make as long as she gets the divorce?

Possibility of Crash In Landing or Trouble With Radio Seen As Communication Efforts Fails.

(By Associated Press) SEWARD, Alaska, March 20.—The possibility that Captain George Herbert Wilkins, Australian aviator-explorer, and his Alaskan pilot, Lieut. Carl Ben Elson, may have crashed their plane in making a landing at Point Barrow yesterday, or may have trouble in making his radio work was seen here today when efforts to get into communication with the expedition failed.

Captain Robert Woolverton, United States radio officer of the Seward and interior Alaska districts who heard the sputter of the plane's wireless transmitter from the time of the hopoff at Fairbanks until Wilkins' dramatic message "going to land, going to land," was received was unable to get a reply from Wilkins in more than 3 hours of continuous effort.

Fairbanks Discounted By

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 20 (AP)—Fears that Captain George H. Wilkins, Australian air explorer and Lieutenant Carl Ben Elson, Alaskan pilot, may have crashed in landing at Point Barrow from Fairbanks yesterday, were discounted here tonight.

The possibility that their plane might have crashed was advanced when attempts to get into radio communication with Wilkins were unavailing. Before leaving here, however, Wilkins said he would send radio messages on the night of his arrival.

Murder Charge Is Filed Against Coy Abbott; Bury Wife

Young Husband Does Not Deviate From Story That Shooting Was Accidental, Sheriff Says.

Funeral services for Mrs. Coy Abbott, 18, who died at a local sanitarium Monday afternoon from the effects of a pistol wound in the abdomen received Sunday night, and as a result of which her 20-year-old husband faces a charge of murder, were held yesterday afternoon at Powell undertaking parlors, with interment in the Lubbock cemetery.

Her husband, who faces charges of murder following his statement to officers that he accidentally shot her, arrived from Brownfield in company of Sheriff Ellington of Terry county in time to attend the burial services, and was taken back to Brownfield by the sheriff after the conclusion of the rites.

Sleets With Story.
Sheriff Ellington said over telephone to The Avalanche last night that Abbott had not deviated from his story of the accidental shooting since he changed his original statement that the girl wife had shot herself accidentally.

The shooting occurred in the farm home of the young couple about 16 miles from Brownfield. The services yesterday were conducted by Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist church here.

Mrs. Abbott survived by her husband, their two-year-old daughter, two brothers and two sisters. Her name before marriage was Ruby Williamson.

COMPRESSING COTTON IN TRANSIT SUBJECT

Discrimination by Railroad On Behalf of Another Compress Alleged In Local Firm's Petition.

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, March 20.—Attorney General Claude Pollard and Assistant Galloway Calhoun will attempt to uphold authority of the railroad commission, attacked in a suit pending in civil appeals court at Amarillo to make rules governing the compressing of cotton in transit, it was learned Tuesday.

The West Texas Compress and Warehouse company is appealing for injunction to restrain the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, the Lubbock Compress company and the Texas Compress company from allegedly "discriminating" against it. The West Texas concern, Calhoun said, claims the railroad and the compresses mentioned conspire to cause shipped cotton to be compressed in Lubbock instead of at other points in transit.

Mr. Pollard and Mr. Calhoun construe an appellate court decision in the matter to hold the company without authority to promulgate rules governing the compressing of shipments of the commodity.

"They will go to Amarillo April 3, when a rehearing motion will be submitted, and I will intervene as 'friend of the court'."

HUNT BOOZE SOURCE

Allege Liquor Sold To High School Students

HOUSTON, March 20 (AP)—Police today began a city-wide drive to locate the source of liquor which officers have been informed has been sold to high school students.

The drive, under direction of Assistant Chief of Police J. J. Kuykendall, recently placed in charge of the vice squad, was launched when officers arrested a man and charged him with giving liquor to a minor.

The officers brought the man and four young girls, under 14 years old, to the police headquarters after arresting them in a parked car in the outskirts of the city. The girls were intoxicated, the officers said.

Spring Is Here And It Arrived In Lubbock Gently

Official Spring arrived in Lubbock this morning gently, along with the spring solstice. Gently, you may have noticed, is one of the most characteristic things about Spring. Old Winter passed out yesterday with a last chill shiver, and sent the mercury in Lubbock thermometers down to a minimum of 25 degrees, but relaxed before coming of Spring to send the mercury back up to 76 degrees.

O wind, if Winter comes, Spring can't be far behind; and when Winter goes, Spring is here.

Value of Dairying Plants Discussed At B. C. D. Session

Federal Building Committee, Plains Advertising Groups Make Reports At Meeting Last Night.

Members of the Board of City Development heard reports of committees working on a federal building campaign, on the annual meeting and a discussion of the importance of milk plants to a community, at their regular semi-weekly meeting last night.

We E. Guest of the Douthitt Engineering company of Chicago, appeared before the board at the request of officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and discussed the importance of milk plants to the dairy industry and the value of such plants to communities where milk production justifies the existence of a plant.

Field Editor Along.
Guest was accompanied by Paul Huey, field editor of the "Progressive Farmer" at Dallas. The two men are on a tour of West Texas checking up on the dairy situation and making a survey of the section as a possible location for milk plants. Both men declared that milk plants are moving south due to the fact that farmers here can produce milk at a lower cost than the farmers of the northern states.

The Douthitt Engineering company is building a $150,000 milk plant at Marshall, Texas, that will be ready for operation within a short time. He explained how farmers get from three to four times as much profit from milk marketed to milk plants than from his products.

TO DEMAND DEATH

State Wants Extreme For Robert Hill

EASTLAND, March 20 (AP)—The death penalty will be demanded for Robert Hill, confessed bank bandit, when he is arraigned tomorrow before a jury which was completed here today.

Hill will be tried on a charge of robbery by firearms in connection with the robbery of the First National bank at Cisco on December 24 last.

While Hill has pleaded guilty to the charge, his attorneys, appointed by G. L. Davenport, judge of this district court here, will do all in their power to get a life sentence for Hill.

Three Hostesses Are Entertaining
With Mid-Week Parties; Mrs. Powell
Gives Brilliant Affairs Yesterday

Mrs. Slaughter and H. Spikes Entertaining On Today and Tomorrow With Bridge Parties.

This is a week of large bridge parties and three hostesses are entertaining with mid-week affairs. Mrs. William B. Powell was twice hostess yesterday at the Country club, entertaining at bridge during the afternoon and again in the evening. Beginning today, Mrs. Jo Dick Slaughter and Mrs. Houston Spikes are entertaining with two parties at the Slaughter home near the Country club. They expect to entertain again tomorrow afternoon.

Appointments Pretty
Welcoming spring in her colors of green and yellow, Mrs. Powell's parties were two of the prettiest that have been given recently. Card tables were arranged in the spacious hall of the Country club for bridge games, which progressed during the afternoon and evening.

Covers on the tables were in yellow and green, tallies were bright with spring flowers, yellow calendars were placed in the hall and the refreshment collection was in colors favored for this occasion.

A green salad, cheese balls, ribbon sandwiches, green ice and cakes were passed to guests after games on both occasions.

Favors went to each table in cuts, the afternoon gifts being score tablets. Men's cut favors in the evening were ash trays and women cutting high received novelty rabbit table centerpieces.

Mrs. Neil H. Wright received a beautiful black incense burner as high score trophy in the afternoon and Mrs. Louise Quillen, whose score was low, was presented with a framed motto. Evening high and low score prizes for men were cigarette holders and ash trays combined and for women were hand painted pictures.

Many Guests
Friends of Mrs. Powell who played during the afternoon were Mesdames E. B. Adcock, Bass Arnett, W. A. Bacon, R. D. Benson, Byron Brown, G. C. Castleberry, John Dalrymple, Sam Dunn, Louis Howard, J. T. Hutchinson, Anna Faulk, Fred Caylor, Hub Jones, Kenneth I. Kimbro, Leland Mast, I. C. Rhoads, Harry E. Miller, R. D. Moxley, E. P. Norwood, Carl Patton, E. E. Davis, M. L. Price, Louis Quillen, Charles Read, W. P. Schaeck, Clark Smith, J. O. Smith, Earl Spokes, Louis Stevens, Richard White, Maple Wilson, W. E. LaPon, Guy L. Meake, Roy D. McKimney, Veltos Spikes, Harold H. Orfitt, E. M. Lovelace, F. H. Sawyer, James R. Dow, Frank Winn, Neil H. Wright, W. B. Lewis, Oklahoma Joe Penn, Gladys Hillbert, M. Della Wilkinson, Miss Mildred Street, Miss Margaret Smith, and Miss Ella Norris O'Neill.

Enjoying the evening's hospitality were Mesdames Morton J. Smith, James Pryor, of Amarillo; O. E. Sears, Mesdames and Mesdames Lawrence Bacon, D. K. Bondurant, Elmer Conley, J. B. Crider, B. C. Dickinson, Frank Jones, Herbert Lowery, Henry McFarley, Ross A. McWhorter, Owen W. McWhorter, Harry Ratillo, Carl Roberts, Homer Grant, R. C. Smith, Houston Spikes, W. O. Stevens, O. L. Peterman, Floyd Bowen, Messrs. Spencer Wells, Lewis Price, Louis Hunter, Dr. Harry Bloom and Dr. Edgar Bloom.

High scores in the evening were made by Mr. Roberts and Mrs. Pryor and low scores were made by Mrs. R. C. Smith and Mr. Wells.

Femininity Softens Spring Sport Suits

Soft and Springlike are the new sports costumes in pansy shades (left) Angora jumper, satin banded, with satin pleated skirt in two shades of lavender, and (right) new and useful as a suit as well as a flat crepe with double breasted, notched lapels jumper.

BY HENRI BENDEL
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, March 20.—Sports clothes have capitulated to the feminizing influence permeating the world of fashion today.

A softened sports silhouette infers the falling even out-of-door clothes have for gentler effects this spring. Materials and colors emphasize the becomingness that is the common denominator of all modish spring attire.

There is great variety in types of sports clothes this season also. One-piece frocks for tennis may be sleeveless, short sleeved or even long. They may be collarless or take any kind of jaunty note about the neck that they desire. One new collar is the sailor collar which even appears on the one-piece frock.

The two-piece sports suit, how- feeling of being more completely cocooned for the street or wherever she goes.

Three-piece suits make the sports costume grow more formal, with the three-quarters coat adding a touch of dignity which is not so unbecomingly in the sports field as one might suppose. All the feminine world is growing a bit more dignified, anyway—so why should not clothes do the same?

The intricate decorative motifs of sports wear also indicate the more elaborate trend of the times. The new clothes are not frilly. But all of them have some lovely decoration. The hats worn with them also strike a softer note. Plain felt or plain sports straw are not seen. They all take turns to chic in their nappily slashed brims, or lined in crowns or by their ornamentation.

The two sports suits I show today illustrate two different types of the two-piece sports suit that promises greatest vogue this year.

Both are in pansy shades—by all odds the most popular colors this spring.

The first is fashioned of two quite contrasting materials, angora wool and satin. It is orchid and lavender.

der. The angora jumper is of the lighter shade, with a hand banding around the neck and a wide hip-banding, side pockets and cuffs of the deeper shaded satin.

The skirt of satin has its wide pleats stitched hip-length, giving the effect of a skirt yoke. Bone buttons of still a third purple shade fasten the pockets and the cuffs and decorate the side front of the jumper banding.

Topped by Natural Hair
The hat topping this outfit is natural colored baki, with a novel brim that is much wider on one side and has a tricky little slash and turned back brim where the wide part meets the narrow front.

A double bow of purple grosgrain catches the color note of the suit.

The second suit is charmingly new with its notched lapels, its double breasted front emphasized by glass buttons and its jumper that can serve the double purpose of being a coat if one wants to wear a dainty waist with the skirt.

This suit of flat crepe is of the new shade called pansy. Its lustrous texture gives the impression of two tones or more. It has hand-stitched one-inch bandings that give a richness to the bottom of the jumper and cuffs and match them up with the pleats that run clear around the skirt.

The hat that tops this is of transparent felt, in a dark pansy shade. Its brim shields the right and then ties itself into a decorative bow on the left side, giving that eyebrow line that is the correct one for spring this year.

WOMAN'S DAY
By Allene Sumner

"Long hair will not return," says Monsieur Antoine, famous hair dresser, "until life gets less complicated for women. Women will change their philosophy and have less job in their lives before they bother with long hair again."

Which is just about the first sensible word I have heard on this short-or-long subject for some time.

"MEAT"
Should the weak child, the abnormal child in a family, set the pace of that family's life, no matter what disasters this policy makes for the normal strong children? Or should the strong be considered first by parents in the realization that it is worse to make the family unfit than to make the unfit more unfit? This is the stimulating theme of "Meat" by Wilbur Daniel Steele, a new novel which he preface can afford to miss.

WORLD IS FOR WELL
Anne Indian believes that the world is made for the strong until her own defective little son, Rex, is born. Then, with mentality sprang by blind instinct, she dictates her life, her home, and the life of her husband and two normal children to the weakling. As a result, everyone is destroyed, including even the unfit one who might have been made more fit if his mother had not rendered so vit- weakness. Many problems of the see are answered in Steele's blunt declaration that the world was made for well people and must be operated on that basis.

CAN'T WORK ALONE
Women drug agents of New York are especially used to raid night clubs. Since the only way to get the evidence is to mingle with the guests, the lady raiders doff on in their evening dress, live up on record, and do their stuff. Please note that "line up their escorts."

The most capable independent business woman sooner or later learns that there is one tradition which she cannot flout, and that there comes a stage in her career when she must make a traditional feminine gesture and admit her dependence on a male. She cannot attend formal affairs unescorted. She may weigh 300 and be seven feet tall, but she may not go alone. If she takes a woman in male disguise with her, said peanut weighing 75 pounds and as capable of rising to her defense as a canary is capable of slugging an elephant, she may go forth alone.

POOR BERLINS!
When Irving Berlin says that his wife isn't sick, nobody will believe him, for the world points to his new song "Sunshine" which says:

"Pay your doctor bills,
Throw away your pills,
You can cure your ills
With sunshine."

HERE'S PROOF
They remind the song writer that all his songs have always been expressive of important incidents of his life: the "When I Lost You" song at the time he was denying his engagement to Ellen MacKay; the "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning" song when he was in the army and the "I'll Be Loving You Always" song when he was first married to the millionaire's daughter.

Just one more proof that it must be horrible to be famous and not be able to wipe one's nose without the surmises of the world as to what it all means.

Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Orange fruit juice, cereal cream, crisp broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, oven toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Spinach and cheese soufflé, brown bread and butter sandwiches, jellied prunes, "Tilden" cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Stuffed calf's heart, steamed rich carrot timbales, maple custard pudding, milk, coffee.

"Tilden" cake is a delicious butter cake which spreads of hygienic days. The original recipe called for two the amount given in the following rule and made a very large cake.

Tilden Cake
One-half cup butter, 1 cup fine granulated sugar, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1-2 cups flour, 1-4 cup cornstarch, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar which has been sifted several times. Sift flour once before measuring. Mix and sift flour, cornstarch, baking powder and salt several times. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add to first mixture. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating well after each addition. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry and add flavoring. Turn into an oiled pan and bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven.

Go to Sleep Three Times And It's Spring

That's what the travel ads promise, provided of course you can afford a ticket to the lands of painted fans and waving palms.

But if home ties can't be untied, and your bank account frowns gloomily on pleasure jaunting, why not take a stroll downtown. No matter how blustery it is out of doors you'll find Springtime in our Store. Jaunty first-of-the-season hats, suits and coats that have stolen a march on the robin in announcing Spring, gay dresses that will freshen up your viewpoint as well as your wardrobe.

Materially speaking new clothes are but cloth and thread, but in reality they are checks on the Bank of Youth. A new dress or hat isn't always an extravagance. Often it's the Spring tonic that we sadly need—a symbol of that joy of living that should be born anew in all of us when the "world's at Spring."

High School Track Team Beaten By Slaton In First Dual Meet Of Year

Final Count In Events Held At Tech Field Is 63 to 59 In Favor of Squad From South; Westerners Win Track

Lowery prepares to Apply Abundant Work to Charges Before County Meet. Slated for March 30-31.

E. J. (Pinky) Lowery's track and field men of the local high school lost a dual meet to the Slaton high school Tigers here yesterday afternoon on the Maidor field with the final count 63 to 59, in counting only the first three places by a score of 5-3-1 respectively. The Tigers strength and victory came in the field events whereas the Westerners prowess was shown in the track.

The Tigers had first and second high-point men with Austin scoring a total of 18 points. Hamilton counting 13 and Ben Lawrence. Westerner dashman, was third with 11-1-4 points.

With the county meet only a few days off March 30 and 31, Coach Lowery shook his head after the final count and said: "Looks like old times; my men need plenty of work. About the only bright spots shown in the Westerner ranks was by two freshmen, Ritchie and McLaughlin in the high jump."

Cap Parkinson and Floyd Norman both showed considerable improvement in the 880-yard run and took first and second places in the meet.

Merrill Park To Be Scene of Tech Games This Week

Hill and Gray Will Work On Method for Matadors; Texans Bringing Strong Team To City.

The exhibition series between the Texas Tech Matadors and the Amarillo Texans, Western League outfit under the direction of Sled Allen, will be played Friday and Saturday afternoons at the Merrill Park instead of the Tech Park as was previously announced. Coach Grady Higginbotham told the Avalanche yesterday. Several workmen have been busy engaged early this week in reconditioning the playing field of the Merrill Park and everything will be ready by Thursday.

For mound duty against Sled Allen's Western League Matadors, the Amarillo Texans are considering starting Volney (Sketch) Hill with Willie Gray scheduled to take the last four innings of the opening card. In Friday's affair Red Moore, Chico product, will open the game and Eddieman will finish.

In the outfield Higginbotham will use Howard (Chubb) DeWitt in center and Orville (Buddy) Brothers and Raymond Marshall in left and right positions of the outfield. The infield that has been working intact for the past few

News Notes From Texas League Training Camps

Cubs Make It Three In Row Over Davids

WACO, March 20. (AP)—The Waco Cubs made it three straight over the House of David team here this afternoon, winning the final game of the series, 13 to 11. The Cubs bunched seven hits up the third inning to score nine of their runs.

Tuesday Yarnigan Day At Steers Stadium

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—Tuesday was Yarnigan day at Steer stadium, the recruits taking the regulars to a 7 to 3 scoring Tuesday on an even dozen hits, five of which went for velvet pulls. It was the first 9-inning brush between the two squads this year.

Neal Baker, former University of Texas Longhorn, was credited with the victory.

Sox Show Title Of "Hitless Wonders"

WICHITA FALLS, March 20. (AP)—Threatened with reversion to their old-time status of hitless wonders in two straight defeats by the Port Worth Cats, in which they scored no run, the White Sox recovered sufficient stickpower Tuesday to get a few base hits and defeat the Spodgers, 7 to 0.

Bufs Defeat Rice Collegians' Team

HOUSTON, March 20. (AP)—Manager Snyder's Houston Bufs Tuesday afternoon defeated Coach Kerr's Rice Owls, 6 to 3. The collegians played a bit unsteady in the field, this weakness contributing to their defeat. Cecil Keith, Phil Ables and Lawrence Decamara, Owl flingers, all showed to fair advantage.

Johnny Farrell Wins Golf Match

Cruickshank and Joe Kirkwood Follow Mamaroneck Man In Standings for $15,000 Golf Tournament

(By Associated Press)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 20. Flashing a dazzling brand of golf to shoot a 63 in the final 18 holes for a new course record, Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., today won the $15,000 LaGorce open golf tournament with a total of 274 for the 72 holes.

Bobby Cruickshank, New York, two strokes back of Farrell, with 276, won second place and a $2500 slice of the big purse, while Joe Kirkwood, of Albany, Ga., took the third out of $1000 with a 279.

Others finishing in the first 10 were as follows: Harry Hampton, Chicago, 282; Gene Sarazen, New York, 283; Tommy Armour, Washington, 284; Walter Hagen, 285; Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., 286; Al Espinosa, Chicago, 288; Lloyd Gullickson, Cleveland, 288, and George Voight, Washington amateur, 289.

Farrell's dazzling 63 was eight under par for the course, and included six birdies and an eagle, with not a hole above par figures. Cruickshank, like Farrell, was out in the first nine of the afternoon round in 36, but after that played a steady game to finish the final nine in 39, even par.

Farrell played a spectacular game throughout the afternoon, taking long chances for birdies and eagles.

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—The 1928 Southern amateur golf championship tournament will be held at Brook Hollow Country club here in June, it was announced Tuesday by P. T. Prathers, Brook Hollow president. Notification of the selection of the club was received in a telegram from H. F. Smith of Nashville, president of the Southern Golf association.

Weeks with Marlin Hayhurst in the lead, Corcoran or Taylor in the short field, Topper Rigney on the keyhole bag, and Taylor and Hill at the initial bag.

On the receiving line both Winfield (Tuba) Nicholas and Chink Burnett, game about behind the plate.

Looks 'Em Over

Here's Burt Shotton, new manager of the Phillies, looking over some of his old and new players at Winter Haven, Fla., the spring training camp. Reports from Florida say that Shotton is making the Phils work this year as they have never worked before.

Harris Leads His Team To Victory

New York Giants Lose Hard Fought Exhibition Game To Connie Mack's Combination.

TAMPA, Fla., March 20. (AP)—"Bucky" Harris led his Washington Senators to a 5 to 2 victory over Brooklyn in an exhibition game here today.

Harris crashed out a double and a triple before giving way to Reeves late in the game with the Senators holding a decisive margin over their National league rivals.

Simmons' Single Brings Speaker In For Win

PORT MYERS, Fla., March 20. (AP)—The New York Giants lost a hard-fought exhibition game to Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics today, 6 to 5, chiefly because Tyis Speaker insisted on getting on base with great frequency.

Speaker came across with the winning run in the ninth inning on an infield single by Al Simmons. Speaker was on base four times in the conflict, twice on singles and twice on passes.

Twenty Cardinals Fail To Check Boston Sox

AVON PARK, Fla., March 20. (AP)—Twenty Cardinal players failed to check the Red Sox, and Boston took an 11 to 6 hitting spree from St. Louis here today. It was the second loss for the Cardinals in nine exhibitions.

Braves Make It Three In Row From Yankees

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20. (AP)—The New York Yankees may be champions of the baseball world, but the Boston Braves can lay claim to the title so far as it concerns St. Petersburg.

For the third time, in as many games, the Yanks succumbed to their National rivals today, 4 to 2. It was good pitching that turned the tide for the Boston team.

Kansas City Defeats Exporters Third Time

LAKE CHARLES, March 20. (AP)—Kansas City defeated the Beaumont Exporters for the third time this afternoon by the score of 3 to 1. Although the hits were evenly divided, the airtight defense of the Blues gave them enough advantage for a victory.

Young Thang, who showed to good advantage against the American association team Sunday, displayed continued effectiveness this afternoon, going five innings and allowing five hits and one run during the time he worked.

The teams play again tomorrow, after which the Blues break camp, journeying to Wichita Falls for the first of a series of exhibitions en route to Kansas City.

LEADING BOWLER

Joe Corcoran of Buffalo Goes Into Lead.

KANSAS CITY, March 20. (AP)—Joe Corcoran of Buffalo, N. Y., was today's leading bowler in the American Bowling tournament minor events.

Corcoran scored 680 in the singles to tie for fourth place. Osmie mar's were 228, 231, and 225. Shooting anchor for the Buffalo Marine Trust company last night Corcoran scored 644, but in the doubles today he managed only 505, making his all-event total 1,829.

Committee For Baseball Funds Gets Over $3000

Two Thousand More Needed In Baseball Is Assured For Lubbock—Believe Rest Is Forthcoming.

Daily the baseball campaign fund increases and according to S. D. Hunter chairman of the committee working on the local franchise drive, approximately $3,000 of the goal of $5,000 has been raised and yet a large portion of the business men have not been approached on the matter. It is hoped that complete canvass of the drive will be finished today so that election of officers can be made this evening.

Every person or business concern in Lubbock who has taken as much as fifty dollars worth of stock in the local franchise will be given a vote in the selection of directors that will operate the club for the year of 1928. This election will take place as soon as the full amount of stock has been disposed according to Mr. Hunter.

With more than a week yet for the time limit for the deposit of $1,200 to be placed with the president of the league, Lubbock hopes to have already announced their manager and date for the start of the spring training. Many more applications have been received by Mr. Hunter during the week seeking the management of the club, and all applicants will be dealt with by the directors named by the election of the stockholders.

Bennie Brownlow, former Panther infielder of the Port Worth Texas League club, and more recently manager of the Parly team, runner-ups of the last season Lone Star League, has made strong contention for the Hubber management and is anxiously awaiting the outcome of the local drive.

Lester Bell Is Sent Back With Hornsby

AVON PARK, Fla., March 20. (AP)—Lester Bell, regular third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals for three years has been released to the Boston Braves in exchange for infielder Andy High and a cash consideration. President Sam Breadon announced tonight.

Bell will join Rogers Hornsby, under whom, in 1926, he had his greatest season. When the Cardinals won the pennant and world's series in 1926, Bell was one of the best third basemen in the game. Missing the driving influence of Hornsby, Bell has been erratic in his performance and was unpopular with St. Louis fans.

T. C. U. GAME SOON

Dallas Bakery Nine Will Be First Foe

PORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—The T. C. U. baseball team will see its first action against outside competition this week when they meet the Schepps Bakery nine of Dallas. The game will be played the latter part of the week, the exact time yet to be decided on.

Coach "Dutch" Myer of the Frogs has been working his squad hard for nearly a month and the boys seem to be ready for pre-season games. The regular conference schedule begins March 30-31. Meyer also is planning a practice game with the Oklahoma City Indians, in training at Weatherford.

Star League, has made strong contention for the Hubber management and is anxiously awaiting the outcome of the local drive.

Hitchcock Suffering From Accident While Playing

AIKEN, S. C., March 20. (AP)—Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., of the United States polo team, and internationally famous star, is nursing several broken ribs and a broken wrist as a result of an accident in play here yesterday.

His mount fell as he was about to score a goal, the great "Tommy" falling heavily to the ground. The extent of his injuries was not known until today.

Newcastle Youth In Marathon Lead

More Than 600 Miles Are Covered by Long Distance Runners; Will Cross Into New Mexico Friday.

(By Associated Press)
HOLBROOK, Ariz., March 20. (AP)—Earle Lin Dicks of Newcastle, Pa., won today's seventeenth lap of the trans-continental marathon, Los Angeles to New York.

In the trot from Winslow to this point, a distance of 34.3 miles, Dicks took five hours 12 minutes, making his elapsed time since the start in Los Angeles 127 hours 56 minutes, 45 seconds.

Holbrook is the 608 mile point in the cross-country ramble of approximately 3400 miles.

Right behind Dicks came Pete Gavuzzi Southampton, England, on whose shoulders has fallen the honor of being the leading Britisher in the race since Arthur Newton of Rhodesia dropped out yesterday after heading the entire parade. Newton is continuing with the race in an advisory capacity.

George Sisler Beats Joe Judge In Race for First Base Position With Washington; Cuyler Is Due to Star

ALAN J. GOULD Gives Resume Of Situation As It Now Appears In Big League Training Quarters.

(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—The baseball dope that is being wafted gently southward already has offered answers to most of the momentous questions that accompanied the major league outfits to the South.

It may therefore be set down with a fair degree of impunity that 1. George Sisler has beaten out Joe Judge in the contest for first base with the Washington Senators, chiefly by exhibiting a great hitting comeback.

2. Kiki Cuyler, batting in his chosen position, third, looks ready for a big season with the Chicago Cubs.

3. Joe Hauser has completely recovered from the effects of his broken leg, staged a comeback, and plugged the first base gap for the Athletics.

4. Connie Mack's pitching staff will be in much better shape for the start of the season than it was a year ago.

5. The Boston Braves, pepped up by the addition of Hornsby, will be extremely troublesome, if not an actual pennant contender.

6. Sparky Adams is fast filling the second base bill for the champion Pirates.

7. Bill Cissel, White Sox infield recruit, has not yet measured up to his $123,000 price tag.

8. The Red Sox and Phillies, to judge from early exhibitions, will be the foremost contenders for cellar positions, again.

Most of the pre-season calculations favor the National league pennant prospects of the St. Louis Cardinals or Pittsburgh Pirates, but it will be just as well not to overlook McCarthy's hustling Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs are in somewhat the same situation the Yankees were two years ago, in that their chief problem is located around the key-stone bag. If Freddy Maguire and Woody English come through for the Cubs in anything like the fashion that Lazzeri and Moening did for the American league champions in 1926, it will be pleasant sailing for Mr. McCarthy.

Otherwise the Cubs are well fortified. Cuyler, Stephenson and Wilson form a great outfield trio. Behind the bat Gabby Hartnett is one of the best in the business and the pitching staff is well stocked with such talent as Root, Carlson, Blake and others to count on.

The spring training games don't count in the pennant race, but it is worth noting, at least, that the St. Louis Cardinals, Browns, and Boston Braves have the best record in the grape fruit circuit so far while the world's champion Yanks have the worst.

Up to today the Cards had registered four victories out of five games; the Browns four out of six, and the Braves four out of seven, with one tie. The Yanks lost their first three in a row. The Phillies with only one win and five defeats already are in the National league cellar, so far as the Florida standings go.

EQUITABLE POLICY IN THE CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Isaac Walton League of America is concerned with the wise utilization, as well as conservation, of the country's game birds and animals. Such a policy not only is necessary to enlist the support of sportsmen who are not particularly interested in safeguarding wild life for its own sake, but it is desirable from economic and other practical viewpoints. The conservationist who is also a biologist realizes the need of maintaining, so far as may be, the balance of nature, and he strives continually to that end. Accordingly, the League's San Antonio chapter has proposed a bill which would authorize the State Game, Fish and Oyster Department to create and supervise public shooting grounds out of, or adjacent to, state game preserves. Doubtless that proposition will be submitted to the League's State convention in Kerrville, April 6 and 7. This movement, under the Waltonians direction, is country-wide. Legislatures generally will be requested to enact such laws, and related measure applicable to the Federal sanctuaries and national parks will be sought of Congress. The principle involved is identical with that lately enunciated—as a guide to the Government's forestry activities—by W. B. Greeley, former Chief of the United States Forest Service: intelligent timber utilization co-ordinated with tree conservation. As officially announced, the League's main purpose is to prevent "commercialization" of game-resources. It suggests that, unless restrained, wealthy individuals and exclusive hunting clubs are likely to acquire tracts adjoining the public preserves and thereby gain the lion's share of the sport provided through conservation efforts. As all the taxpayers' money will pay for the propagation and protection of this game, of course it is only fair that they be accorded an equal chance at the shooting when any is to be had. The equity of this bill therefore is so nearly self-evident, and its value in promoting genuine conservation is so manifest, that it should win the lawmakers' approval.

A NATIONAL CEMETERY WHERE RESTS "OLD ROUGH AND READY"

It is peculiarly fitting that the burial place of President Taylor, in Jefferson county, Ky., should become a national cemetery. Beside the remains of that statesman and soldier are those of his wife, Margaret, who died near Pascagoula, La., in 1852.

Zachary Taylor's military career began in 1808, when Congress increased the regular army by eight regiments. He was appointed to a first lieutenantcy in the 7th Infantry—one of the new organizations—and became a captain two years later. After the War of 1812—in which he was brevetted major for his defense of Fort Harrison on the Upper Wabash river—Taylor served with distinction in the Black Hawk and Seminole Indian campaigns. In 1845 he was a brigadier general and commanded the column which then occupied Corpus Christi.

During the Mexican War (1846-48) Taylor won the victories of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma—both on Texas soil—and Buena Vista, and also captured Monterrey after a hard struggle with Gen. Pedro de Ampudia. His most brilliant triumph was at Buena Vista, where he defeated Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, notwithstanding that general's superiority in numbers. After he captured Monterrey, Washington took away most of Taylor's troops. They were sent to reinforce the expedition of Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott, who was ordered toward Vera Cruz. Taylor—brevetted major general for his success at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma—had only 4769 officers and men in action at Buena Vista. Santa Anna led 18,250 soldiers, including many veterans. The struggle began on February 22, 1847, and continued until late the next day. Then a violent thunder storm compelled both armies to suspended operations. Gen. John E. Wool's division, that had camped at the head of the San Antonio river the previous September and had marched to Matamoros—near Buena Vista—by way of Miquelango and Parras (Cochilla), was prominent in the battle. The 1st Mississippi—a rifle regiment under Col. Jef-erson Davis, Taylor's son-in-law—also gained fame by repulsing Gen. Perez's heavy column. Taylor returned home to find himself the nation's hero. He was unassuming, for all his high rank and eminent services; his soldiers called him "Old Rough and Ready." In 1848 the Whigs named him their standard bearer. His democratic opponent for the presidency was Lewis Cass, a brigadier-general of the regular army in the War of 1812. Taylor received 163 electoral votes, to 127 for Cass, but did not long enjoy his triumph. He died in the White House, July 9, 1850, after a brief illness. His principal advisor was William H. Seward of New York, who became secretary of state under Lincoln. "Old Rough and Ready," was so honest that Gen. Scott's wife said he was more than an "upright" man; she termed him a "downright" man.

WOULD HAVE G. O. P. PURGE ITSELF

Senator Borah wants the republican party to clear itself of the "humiliating stigma," left by the Sinclair contribution to its war chest, and has so written Chairman Butler. He insists the money should be returned and expresses the belief that there are many republicans throughout the land who will be willing to contribute sums from one dollar up to make it possible. Just how Chairman Butler feels about it is not clear at this time, but the dispatches state that his reply to the Borah letter was not satisfactory and the senator has written another, the nature of which is not disclosed but presumably to the point.

When the Teapot Dome investigating committee started members had an idea they might catch former Attorney General Daugherty, former Secretary Fall, Mr. Doherty and Mr. Sinclair in a trap but with some misgivings about holding them deeper the committee dug the more snakes it uncovered. What first appeared to be graft practiced by one or more cabinet officers has spread to where the entire republican organization is enmeshed. It is not surprising therefore, that men of Senator Borah's type should be shocked and dismayed at recent disclosures. There may be some republicans, likewise democrats for that matter, to whom tainted money means nothing, but not so with Borah; for after all he is an honest and conscientious man, albeit he sometimes meets himself coming back while going.

A portion of the bonds of the Continental Trading company, around which the oil scandal centers, have been directly traced to the republican organization. Mr. Hays, who was chairman at the time, admits having received the bonds and returning to Sinclair a portion of them. The remainder were parceled out to prominent members with request that they accept the bonds and send their checks in substitution thereof—just to keep the record straight, of course. Secretary Mellon, to whom $50,000 worth were sent, returned them, with his donation for that amount. Which goes to show that Mr. Mellon knew the transaction was tainted. But he can not escape censure simply because he refused to participate in the steal. He had knowledge of it and by concealing it made himself a party to the fraud.

Such an opportunity for a democratic victory was never before presented save when there was division in the opposition party. But unfortunately, we are determined to make the fight on another issue—one that offers no promise of success. More republican luck!

THE NORRIS RESOLUTION

In passing the Norris resolution for government retention of Muscle Shoals, the Senate has paved the way for an eminently sensible settlement. For seven years or more Congress has struggled with Muscle Shoals. In 1922 the Ford offer for the property took the House of Representatives by storm, but luckily was blocked by the Senate. About that offer, it need only be said that it was a wonderful business proposition for Ford. Since then, a multitude of suggestions has been made, and Congress has veered this way and that, indicating its lack of understanding of this important question.

If it had not been for Senator Norris, no one knows what crack brained plan might have been adopted. For several years he has stood adamant in his belief that it would be folly to sell or lease for a song a property that cost the taxpayers more than a hundred million dollars. With little help from others, Norris has made a gallant and resourceful fight to conserve Muscle Shoals, and it is gratifying that the Senate has at last rewarded his patience and intelligence by adopting his plan.

Norris' fight, however, is only half won. His resolution now goes to the House, and its past record on Muscle Shoals legislation by no means encourages hope that it will follow the Senate's lead. The contrary is rather true, especially since a new complication has arisen. We refer to the power lobby, which is now doing yeoman service in Washington. One of the major aims of the power lobby is to defeat government retention of Muscle Shoals. This is largely because the operation of a great Government power plant there would serve as a check upon the rates and costs of private power plants.

We may expect to see the power lobby swing into action against the Norris resolution in the House. Only an informed and aggressive public opinion can counteract its great influence.

OUT OUR WAY—

SO THINK WE

We think the Fort Worth Livestock show was possibly the best attended this year that it ever has been. Fort Worth caters to the West and the West reciprocates by being there. The show is a success.

We think that Hale county is doing the wise thing by having a county library.

We think there are more five cent cigars sold now than ever before, but they do not sell at five cents.

We think the fellow who broke out of jail at Midland could hardly be still at large, mainly because no one cares to find him. Texas Rangers even do not look very closely for them all.

We think there are some men who escape from the penitentiary that are still at large, mainly because no one cares to find them. Texas Rangers even do not look very closely for them all.

We think that most people are extremely happy if you do not step on their toes.

We think if the people would just let the newspapers tell the plain unvarnished truth about things they print, the news would be altogether different, and have an entirely different tone.

We think that Lindy may have flat feet, and they say he has, but that does not seem to keep him from flying. He does not use anything for falling arches either, but a parachute.

We think that possibly the reason Al Smith gets up such good papers is that they are graded by a lady grammarian.

We think that the only trouble about outwearing war by common consent is that common consent will not last long, and war might be the result most any time.

We think if the flyover planes can be built for fifteen hundred dollars and are guaranteed not to stall in the air they should eliminate a lot of the necessity for better highways.

We think it must be getting about cotton planting time since cotton is beginning to go up some.

We think there is nothing strange about this: A lady bought some articles at a local store—selected them herself too, and then became dissatisfied with them and took them back. We have known women to pick out a husband too, and then take him back or rather throw him away. You can never tell what a woman is going to do, and few married men can tell what they are going to do.

PANAMA FLIGHT.

The successful non-stop flight of the great army dirigible, Los Angeles, from Lakehurst to Panama and her return by way of Cuba and the perilous Caribbean airway adds another stirring chapter to the story of American gallantry and supremacy in the air. From the beginning the nation noted the progress of the Los Angeles both with admiration and trepidation, remembering the fate of her sister ship, the Shenandoah, and other tragic examples of the untrustworthiness of craft lighter than air. But the Los Angeles must be as sturdy as come, the men who man her. Delayed and mercilessly buffeted by vicious head winds over the most fickle stretch of sea in the world, the great ship all the history of navigation, from the quinquagesims of Nimrod, galleons of Spain of flying New England clipper ships, there is nothing to match in sheer daring and romance the recent aerial exploits of the incurable adventurer—man, America justly can be proud of her superior share of the triumphs—Cincinnati Enquirer.

NONE BUT DEMOCRATS IN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS

Wichita Daily Times. The action of the state Democratic executive committee Tuesday in calling for enforcement of the pledge rule in the precinct conventions means nothing more or less than that participation in Democratic conventions shall be limited to Democrats.

"I am a Democrat and agree to support the nominees of the party." This reads the pledge. The word "Democrat" is not qualified in the pledge. Nor is the agreement to support the nominees qualified in any way. It doesn't say "I agree to support the nominees of the party if the party nominates the kind of candidates I want."

It thus becomes the duty of precinct chairmen to see to it that no one is permitted to take part in the precinct conventions without first signing this pledge. Those who are unwilling to subscribe to such a pledge can not complain if they are denied participation. Unless they are Democrats they have no place in a Democratic meeting. The party has the right to say that none but its members shall sit in its councils. The pledge means just that.

YOUR HEALTH

SEPTIC SORE THROAT IS OFTEN DUE TO BAD MILK BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor Journal of The American Medical Assn. and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine.

Fifteen years ago there were outbreaks all over the United States of a particularly virulent type of sore throat that was due to the drinking of infected milk. That type of epidemic sore throat is known as septic sore throat.

When it occurs, the tonsils become swollen, the throat is congested, and there are high fever, headache, pain in the muscles and loss of appetite. When the condition subsides the patient remains weak for some time.

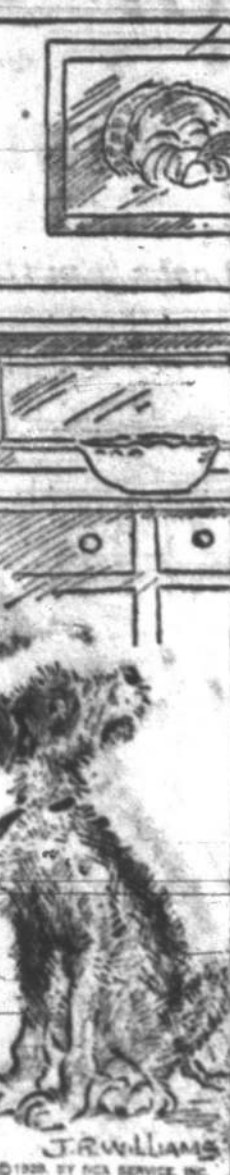

Germs May Spread. Occasionally, the germs are spread by way of the blood to the joints which become secondarily infected. In other instances they act directly from the throat to the ears or the sinuses around the nose and these become secondarily infected. In such instances the results are serious and demand most prompt attention.

When cases occur in great numbers in a community at one time, health officers immediately make intensive investigation of the milk supply to find out whether or not there are among the distributors of milk persons who are infecting the milk by handling and also whether or not the milk may be coming from cows with severe infections of the udder.

Pasteurization, properly and efficiently carried out will overcome most of the germs that may get into the milk. Occasionally, however, there are slips in pasteurization.

A virulent organism if not a tremendous dosage may slip by a careless pasteurizing process and grow before the milk is distributed and used. Few people can realize the great importance of efficient pasteurization of milk and of the inspection of the cows and the dairy from which the milk may come.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that Littlefield has a poultry ordinance. We are glad they made the distinction. So many towns have a chicken ordinance and many people claim they do not know whether it is the real chicken or the feathered fowl.

It is reported that many of the old time cowmen who have been farming and in the real estate business for the past few years, have again buckled on their spurs, put on their white sashes and tied themselves off to the cattlemen's convention at Amarillo this week.

It is reported that the United States is going to have an Aerodynamics University. Wonder if the drive has been launched for the stadium yet.

It is reported that the main thing that is against the health shoes for heavy ladies is that they look like health shoes for heavy ladies.

It is reported that the excellent climate in California can in no way be blamed for the breaking of the big dam in Los Angeles.

It is reported that there is not a thing new under the sun, that what we have now was in years gone by enjoyed by the people of ago. We are just wondering if that is the reason we break the Ten Commandments so often now.

It is reported that a lot of folks are afraid of Tom Walsh at the Houston convention. We doubt if he will be as hard to handle as his sparring mate, Mr. McAdoo.

It is reported that a lot of folks are in favor of a restricted cotton zone. There is one thing pretty certain and that is it would be better to have a whole country full of cotton than was quarantined and could not do anything with it. We believe the government is trying to help those who are unfortunate enough to reside in the pink boll worm regions, and the farmers should cooperate with the fellows who are trying to help them rather than raise a big howl and kick.

WHEELER DISAPPOINTED

The citizens of Wheeler are disappointed that the new Kell railroad, from Clinton, Oklahoma to Pampa, will miss their city by several miles. Those folks have resolved to build a railroad and now propose an electric line south to Childress to connect with the Denver road. They also want a system of "good" roads north and south through the county.

Wheeler citizens did not lose anything when they failed to get on the new Kell line. That road will prove of no worth to any town between Pampa and Clinton as it serves in the wrong direction. Wheeler, Childress and Hemphill counties, and counties north to the Kansas line, are in need of a south line into Texas cities.

The Fort Worth & Denver offers the best service and Childress is the most practical point to build from. With cheap fuel for power an electric railway can be operated at a minimum of expense.

The Wheeler News-Review, in editorial comment says:

"Faced with the proposition of in all likelihood being missed by a railroad the people of Wheeler are entering upon an era of building for the future with a splendid spirit of courage and self assurance. A hard surfaced highway through the town will probably be given a large majority at an election now only a few weeks away. Waterworks seem to be assured as soon as the matter is brought to a vote. And now, a movement of still greater importance is being launched by progressive, far-seeing business men of the town in cooperation with leading financial spirits in other towns. An electric railway from Wheeler to Childress may seem a dream but big, progressive movements are always in dreams, before they are realities. There are men in this section capable of financing such a line; there are men who have the foresight to see what it would mean to the country; there are pioneers with backbones to get behind the thing and push it to completion. Wheeler will not be alone in such a project. Wellington, Childress and Shamrock would all take an active interest. Finances would be supplied in a short time. Stock in a concern which was properly backed would sell like hotcakes at a country picnic."—Childress Index.

It is that sort of determination that builds towns and states and nations, and we are sure that Wheeler will be among the leaders when it comes to building. If it takes the people with the determination that it takes to build a road to come their way or not they will build a town, and one that will stand.

FLOOD-CONTROL

Mr. Coolidge has modified his position with regard to flood-control but not to the extent reported a few days ago by those who had consulted with him on this problem. It was stated then that the President was willing for the Federal Government to assume all the "first cost." He now makes it clear that he will consent to believe local communities of their 20 per cent quota only when a Federal commission finds after investigation that their economic conditions requires it. This does not mean that the protective work along the Mississippi will be held up until a commission has investigated and reported. The work may be initiated at once, but the assessments will not be imposed until the commission has made its report. This presumably is what the President had in mind when he expressed a willingness for the Federal Government to assume the "first cost." It indicates only a slight change from his original position.

It is, indeed, only a recognition of the realities for if a community actually can not pay its assessment it will make little difference whether or not the payment is remitted. At the same time, there still remains the fact that the communities have already expended on flood-control more than 20 per cent of the total cost, past and prospective. If this 20 percent is a fair quota, that is sufficient reason for the Federal Government's assumption of all the cost of the new work.—New York World.

KITE TIME

Kite time is danger time for children and electric power and light companies. Officials of the companies point out that it is very dangerous to fly kites near electric wires. In addition to very great danger of grave personal injury there is further hazard of damage caused by cross circuiting wires.

Special warning is being given against the flying of kites with metal frames that are now being sold. Some cities have ordinances prohibiting the flying of metal kites in the corporate limits of cities. Dallas has such an ordinance.

The company officials do not mean to discourage or prohibit the pleasure that comes to a boy from flying his kite, but they do advise that an open and crowded city should be used for the purpose.

Disposing of Muscle Shoals And Flood Control

The Norris bill has passed the Senate, providing for government operation of Muscle Shoals, primarily for the manufacture of fertilizer.

The Jones bill has been approved by the Senate, providing for flood control supervision to be in the hands of the government and largely at the government expense.

These are two of the most important measures before Congress, and the satisfactory settlement of them means a great deal to the future agricultural regions of the South and Southwest.

It is said that two measures as they come from the Senate will be approved in the House, and it is generally understood they are approved by the President.

It is also a fact that they are more generally approved by the people of the nation effected than any other bills or measures applying to the same subjects.

The Norris resolution will give no one a monopoly of power on fertilizer. And it further provides for leasing of such surplus power as may be created and not needed in the manufacture of fertilizer, to cities in Alabama and states adjacent.

It means a reduction of at least 30 per cent in fertilizer costs to agriculturists and provides that all the assets the government has at Muscle Shoals will be developed and made available for the benefit of the citizens of the United States.

The people are to be congratulated that this great government works was not turned over to private individuals and corporations for a song, and yet our self-respect saved by putting this gigantic plant, that cost us millions of dollars, in operation.

Let us hope the House goes ahead and adopts the Norris resolution.

The Jones Flood control bill is not all that was needed, but it was the best bill before Congress at this time, and its endorsement by the Mississippi Valley Association.

means that it will meet the emergency, and leave developments to time.

The bill provides for a survey of the Mississippi Valley and the levy of proportionate cost, on railroads and other taxpayers, who suffered no great loss by floods, but who still participate in flood protection.

Nor does the bill provide adequately for other flooded streams, but it points the way, and provides for emergencies. It is a start in the right direction and will ultimately mean comprehensive and universal flood control by the national government.

The next thing before Congress is the federal farm bill, and if that passes, which now seems likely the program will be rather complete, leaving only the Boulder Dam and Colorado river project, tax revision and tariff revision as the major questions yet unsettled.

The farm relief legislation has been before Congress in its present form for more than six years. It was passed by the last Congress, but was vetoed by President Coolidge.

It is now claimed that the bill has been so modified as to meet nine out of the ten objections he gave for vetoing the bill last fall. And it is now expected the bill will be passed again before this time next month.

Lindbergh Takes Fifty Members Of Congress On Airplane Tour Over The City of Washington; 90 Accept Invite

It's Lindy's Way of "Selling" Congress On Aviation; Flier Will Receive Congressional Medal Today.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 20.—More than fifty members of congress went sight-seeing over Washington today in company with a distinguished aerial taxi driver—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

A part of the ninety-odd senators and representatives who accepted Lindy's recent blanket invitation to fly with him went up with the transatlantic ace in an army Fokker transport monoplane and a Douglas transport biplane. By groups they took off from Bolling field for twenty minute spins over the city.

In the passenger list were two of the four senators members of the house, Representative Rogers of Massachusetts and Langley of Kentucky.

The flights, Lindbergh's idea of the best way to give congress practical education in aviation, served also to create a setting for the presentation tomorrow of the congressional medal of honor to the flier at the hands of President Coolidge. Voted last December by congress as another tribute to the first man to fly from New York to Paris, the medal will be bestowed at the White House at noon. The ceremony will be simple, probably in the President's office, and will follow the precedent set when a similar medal was given to Commander Richard E. Byrd for his aerial accomplishment.

If the congressional fliers had any fears before Lindy's flights today they did not reveal them. They appeared eager to fly and delighted with the experience when they alighted. Part of tomorrow and most of Thursday have been set aside by Lindy to take other legislators for rides.

After the governor had written the letter, word was brought to him that Mr. Sinclair had contributed on one occasion to a democratic campaign fund in New York state. Connection With Oil Scandal Brings Action

BALTIMORE, Md., March 20.—The Maryland racing commission announced tonight, through James F. Hayward, secretary, that it had requested owners of the four one-mile tracks in the state to bar the horses of the Ranocac stable, owned by Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, because of his connection with the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

The communications were sent to the four leading racing associations in Maryland including Pimlico, Bowie, Havre de Grace and Laurel. Slating its cause of action, the racing commission request added: "In view of the wide-spread adverse criticism that has resulted from pending court proceedings, and the investigation of the United States senate committee, regarding the action of Mr. Harry F. Sinclair, the commission deems it advisable for your association not to permit the starting of any horse owned by, or to be run under, the name of Mr. Sinclair or the Ranocac stable at your coming race meetings, until further action of this commission."

"Please take such steps," the request continued, "as are necessary to give effect to this order."

The action of barring Sinclair's mounts on Maryland's tracks was said to be purely a state affair and no official communications will be sent to Kentucky or New York racing authorities in the matter.

Kentucky Not To Bar Horses of Sinclair

COVINGTON, Ky., March 20.—Felix Lafont, chairman of the Kentucky racing commission, said here tonight his associates had at no time considered barring the horses of Harry F. Sinclair.

The term of the body headed by Mr. Lafont will expire as soon as Governor Sappington appoints a new commission.

Before replying to the letter from Democratic state chairman Charles H. McGillicuddy of Massachusetts, requesting his approval, the governor examined the law of that state and found that a person to have his name entered in the primaries must definitely declare himself a candidate.

The governor was said to have hesitated for some time before taking the step, which he knew to be in sharp contrast to his previous policy of reticence with regard to the national political situation.

Guest told of one of his company's plants that was recently located at Fayetteville, Tennessee. Farmers were receiving $12,000 per month for sour cream. The first month the plant paid the farmers $20,000 for whole milk and saved the farmers the trouble and expense of separating the milk and cream. In less than a year the milk production has grown to a point where it pays $150,000 per month to the farmers.

Advertising Campaign

Spencer A. Wells reported much progress since the last meeting of the board and expressed optimism for quick action on the matter.

Makes Road Report

A report on the recent meeting at Austin of the highway commission at which E. Sherrod was present to represent the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was made. Benjamin Wells was particularly successful in an attempt to secure aid on the east and west road through their county that connects with the east highway into Lubbock.

Sherrod also met with delegates from both the north and south of Lubbock interested in a St. Louis to El Paso highway, the needed designation in Texas being from Lubbock to Silverton by Lockney and from Brownfield to Odessa. The commission promised to view out the situation at the earliest possible moment and indicated that favorable action will be taken.

Federal Building Report

C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the federal building committee reported on work of his committee. Maedgen, John Vaughn and J. E. Vickers made a trip to Fort Worth and Dallas last week which they considered extremely successful according to the report. The committee raised the promise of Judge Marks to endorse Lubbock for the location of a federal court in the event that the matter is referred to him through the regular channels. Maedgen outlined future plans for the committee. Maedgen's report gave much credit to R. B. Greager and other Republican leaders for their assistance in this matter.

to do so, and the producer will be the sufferer.

It is already claimed by many that only 180,000 bales now in stock in New York is depressing the price of cotton, and we ask you to consider what effect millions of bales will have.

In our opinion, what the situation needs is not any new rules of delivery, but a strong board of control in each future market similar to such board operating now in the New York stock exchange. This board, clothed with sufficient power, examining the character of all operations, will be able to eliminate manipulations by anyone that are injurious to the producer, consumer and the cotton trade in general.

"We would appreciate your consideration."

Another Crackle Made Against Clayton Cc

WASHINGTON, March 20.—A supplementary crackle of charges aimed at William L. Clayton of Houston, Texas, head of the Anderson-Clayton Cotton Trading house of that city marked conclusion today of the direct testimony before a senate investigating committee by Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton broker.

Adding to his previous accusations to the committee and the department of justice that Clayton devised and still is engineering a control of the cotton futures market, Marsh asserted in violation of anti-trust statutes, the witness said the Houston dealer had cornered the low grade cotton market, carried on a world wide propaganda against the New York Cotton Exchange to the injury of cotton spinners and exhibited evidence of advance access to department of agriculture cotton market reviews and production.

Cost Farmers $225,000,000. Asked by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, as to what he judged the cotton slump of 1927 to have Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo, who was given a rousing greeting then introduced as ranking with Claude Hudspeth of El Paso as a true friend of the Texas cowman. Mayor Lee Byrns and Congressman Jones welcomed the cowmen and Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell responded.

More than 3,000 cattlemen and visitors are in Amarillo for the convention, which will last through Thursday. An elaborate entertainment program has been arranged by the Panhandle Livestock association, official hosts to the convention.

Methods Used Against Cow Thieves Needed

AMARILLO, March 20.—Assailing "the grafters at Washington," Jesse H. Jones of Houston declared that "we need the same principles in government today that caused the cowmen to seek out the thieves and deal summarily with them," in an address before the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers convention here Tuesday.

"We have had seven years of misrule, graft and selfish control of our government, and it is time we dealt with the grafters in Washington as you deal with the cow and horse thieves," he declared.

During the past seven years we have had only one piece of major legislation, and it was a high tariff bill," the speaker said.

Mr. Jones was given an ovation and was frequently mentioned by the cattlemen as their choice for vice-president on the Democratic ticket.

dam was dynamited, but so much credence was placed in the evidence so far unearthed that every siphon, penstock, reservoir and dam on the entire Los Angeles water system has been placed under heavy guard.

Federal investigation of the tragedy got under way with the arrival here of Dr. Elwood Mead, director of the United States Reclamation Service.

Federal Probe to Start

Dr. Mead is to select at once a board of nationally known engineers to make an analysis of the cause which brought about the collapse of the 185-foot high dam and the release of a roaring torrent of 18,000,000 gallons of water.

Legion Votes To Stage Minstrel Show In Lubbock

New Kind of Program, With Classification Talks Is Given Monday Night; Other Towns Want Posts.

A minstrel show, held by the American Legion, was decided upon at a meeting of the local post held Monday night. Date and place for the show, which has been long considered locally, was not definitely agreed upon.

A committee was appointed to consider arrangements for the show. The committee is headed by W. P. Knox, South Plains Scout executive, comedian, and trick roper. Other committees are to be named by the central body and it is expected that the minstrel will be given sometime during the month of April.

A new variety of program was introduced in the Monday night meeting, various members giving classification talks about the business in which they are engaged. Other programs of similar nature are to follow, it was announced. Those giving talks, with Durwood Bradley as program chairman, were J. A. Haley of the Lubbock Building and Loan association, W. P. Knox, scout executive, and F. D. Rupe, local manager of Woolworth's store.

Appeals for assistance in the organizing of posts at Post City and Littlefield were read and H. D. Woods, executive committee member for the district, assured that these appeals would be given prompt attention.

A large crowd from the Lubbock post is expected to attend a Legion convention in Plainview during the latter part of this month.

Colorado Man Violated Anti Still Law

DENVER, March 20. (AP)—Clifton H. Wilder, former head of the Colorado state prohibition enforcement department, must spend the next five years in the state penitentiary as a result of his recent conviction on a charge of violating the state anti-still law. Sentence was imposed by Judge Samuel W. Johnson, sitting in the district court at Littleton.

Wilder was convicted March 4, after an extended trial during the course of which he charged the two stills found at his farm had been placed there by persons who sought to ruin him.

Notice of an appeal was filed by Wilder's counsel following imposition of sentence.

School Money Is Held In Abeyance

Failure to File Routine Requirements With State Superintendent Cause For Delay.

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP).—Payment of thousands of dollars, representing the current apportionment of $3 from the remaining $10 for each public school child, is being withheld by the state department of education from 24 independent school districts and counties because they have not complied with certain routine requirements concerning reports.

The money will not be paid until the reports are filed. Eight dollars of the $15 apportionment for the year has been paid to schools entitled to receive it, for each child enrolled. Three dollars per capita apportionment was made by the state board of education March 10, bringing the total paid to eight dollars, and leaving seven dollars to be paid.

This last three-dollar payment was not made to the following counties and independent districts: Lamb, Loving, McCulloch and Wood counties, and Brownsville, Bonnie View, Ector and Queen City districts because of failure to file treasurer's annual statement for scholastic year 1925-26.

Kinney and Winkler counties, and Camilla, New Lynn, Biggs and Ricardo districts, failure to file superintendents' annual reports for scholastic year 1926-27.

Lamb and Ector counties, and Antonon, Eastland, LaFayette, Lake View of Hall county, Lawn, Lillian, Martin, McCauley, Muleshoe, Reynolds Orphan Home and Roxton districts, failure to file approved depository bonds for the biennium 1927-29.

Prevent Flu—Checks All Colds the Modern Way

Families in Lubbock Are Urged To Be Careful

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to use this modern way of checking little colds before they become big. Have a jar of Vicks VapoRub on hand ready for instant use at the first signs of every cold. When rubbed on throat and chest, or sniffed up the nose Vicks releases its ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are breathed in direct to the infected parts. In addition Vicks acts like a poultice and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion. To prevent colds lowering the vitality and thus paving the way for flu and pneumonia, they should be treated direct and instantly—as you would an infected finger.

They'll never need to re-roof again!

We've covered their homes with everlasting Johns-Manville Rigid Asbestos Shingles

SO often the last part of the home to be built is the first to need repairs—the roof. Covered with Johns-Manville Rigid Asbestos Shingles, it will never cost a cent for repairs or replacements. Made entirely of natural stone shingles cannot warp, curl, split, rot or burn. The hexagonal shape of these shingles not only reduces the amount of material needed to protect your roof, and consequently the cost, but its broken lines lend a decorative type of beauty to your home. One side of these shingles is gray, the other a warm, weather-like mixture of buff and green, either side may be used in the weather with pleasing effect. A roof that never needs repairs, a roof that is beautiful, priced, a roof that has a beauty and permanence such as this, is surely worth your consideration.

Combine of Mackay and International Telegraph and Cable Companies Made, Formal Announcement Says Tuesday

Communication System Reaching to All Parts of World Is Thus Brought Together; Better Radio

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 20.—Formal announcement of a fusion of interest between the communications system of the Mackay companies and the International Telephone & Telegraph company was made here tonight by Clarence H. Mackay and Susanne Behn, respectively presidents of the two corporations.

The merger will bring together a communication system reaching to all parts of the Americas and to European and Asiatic countries. A wireless service to supplement existing cable and wire systems also will be operated under the new arrangement.

Plan Must Be Approved
The plan, which is subject to approval by the respective boards, contemplates the formation of a new commercial-cable company.

under the chairmanship of Mr. Mackay. The new company will acquire the outstanding stock of the Mackay companies, which control the submarine cables and land wires of the Commercial Cables and Postal Telegraph systems. Eventually the formation of a new International Cables company, also under the chairmanship of Mr. Mackay, is contemplated to take charge of the operation of commercial cables.

Upon formal approval of the plan holders of the Mackay companies and Commercial cables securities will be notified of a depositary to be designated, and full details of the exchange will be revealed.

Extensive Wire System
The proposed enlarged system will operate telegraph wires extending throughout the United States, with connecting agreements for business in Canada and Mexico; cable systems extending across the Atlantic and Pacific and to the important countries of South America; telephone systems in Mexico, the West Indies and South America, and an organization engaged in the manufacture of electrical communications equipment widely distributed throughout the world.

Wireless communication to Honolulu is expected to be operative by the company about the first of June, and later in the summer similar service to Manila will be in force. These services will parallel trans-oceanic cables already operated by the Mackay companies.

Radio to Be Used
Extension of ship-to-shore wireless communication, and its transmission inland over wires now operated by the Postal Telegraph system also is planned.

In addition to his chairmanship of the new Commercial-Postal company, Mr. Mackay will become a member of the board of directors of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, and will have an active part in the direction of that corporation.

Correspondence Instruction In Canadian Provinces
To meet educational needs of families living in remote parts of Manitoba, and of children unable on account of physical handicap to attend school, a system of correspondence instruction has been inaugurated by the provincial department of education. It is estimated that about every fourth person in the Province of Manitoba is seeking by study to reach a higher educational standard.

In Saskatchewan, where an out-post correspondence school has been maintained for two and a half years, enrollment has reached 247. It is believed that about 20 per cent of the students are of foreign extraction.

A four-year course in technical training for the motion-picture industry has been organized by the University of Southern California in cooperation with the committee on college affairs of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Interference by Coaches in High School Games Prohibited Interference by a coach or other adult will not be allowed hereafter in sectional and league championship contests of New York high schools. The central committee of the New York Public High School Athletic association, by recent unanimous vote, prohibited such interference during actual playing time and rest periods; and the recommendation was made that coaches of opposing teams remain together during play periods and keep in touch during intermissions. Violation of the regulation will result in suspension for a year of the school whose representative was at fault. The new restriction does not prohibit withdrawal by a coach or his representative of any contestant at any time, but the person withdrawn will not be allowed to return to the same contest.

Five Met Death in This Plane Crash

Hurling into the ground at terrific speed, this five-passenger plane crashed in a field at San Diego, Cal., the other day, killing the pilot and four passengers. The cause of the wreck is not known, but it is believed the plane ran out of fuel. W. W. Bird, designer of the ship and owner of the Bird Airlines, was the pilot. Three of the passengers were identified as Irvin Thomas, Charles H. Kidwell, and Ralph Craig.

NEA, Boston Bureau. Transmitted by Teletype.
After lying for three months 90 feet below the surface of the sea off Provincetown, Mass., the rammed submarine S-4 was raised Saturday by navy rescue ships. The aerial photo was taken by an NEA photographer just as the S-4 came to the surface, buoyed by pontoons which divers finally succeeded in attaching. The submarine, indicated by arrow, is visible between two sets of pontoons, with

South Texas City Wins Over Mineral Wells

DALLAS, March 20 (AP)—After an all-day struggle, Beaumont won the designation as 1928 meeting place of the Grand Lodge of Texas, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at the close of the second day's session of the Order's annual convention here. Beaumont won over Mineral Wells, 797 to 767, after Fort Worth had withdrawn from the contest.

Ben C. Richards, Jr., of Dallas, Deputy Grand Master, was toastmaster at the banquet Tuesday night, at which speakers were C. A. Wheeler of Austin, Past Grand Master, James D. Buster of Sherman, Grand Master; Ray Rector of Stamford, Grand Warden; E. Q. Vestal of Dallas, Grand Secretary; and John A. Kee of Fort Worth, Grand Treasurer.

After the banquet the Degree of Chivalry was conferred on George N. Burns, D. S. Harper, D. L. Lammie, S. H. Knight, W. T. Savage, H. L. Carpenter, D. H. Page, and Sister Mattie Rowan. Laura Heffner, Etta Littlepage and Mattie A. Patton.

Three Day Specials

These unusual values have been arranged as a special feature for 3 days selling, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Most of the garments presented, have just been in the store a few days, and the prices represent savings that cannot be overlooked.

75 Dresses

Most of them taken from higher priced groups—

$9.85
Values as high as $14.25 in this lot

There's a clever handling of detail to distinguish these frocks. Smartness of line, fabric and the wide variety from which to select as well as the wonderful values that prevail for this 3 day selling event, make it a pleasure to select more than just one, the savings are so great. Sizes to 44.

Spring Hats $3.95

A carefully selected group with values to $6.50 for—

65 Spring Coats

That are so smart they should sell for more than—

$10.95

The Coats are shown in novelty sports fabrics of an unusual quality. Some are severe in their plain tailoring and others have bits of fine fur to add a touch of smartness. A full range of sizes in the group and values to as much as $19.75.

Theories Put To Use At Luncheon

Practice was mixed with theory by junior dietetics students of the Lubbock sanitarium Monday night when members of the dietetics class played hostess to other junior students with a dinner in the sanitarium dining room. Miss Leah Moore is teacher of the class.

Spring flowers and birds formed table decorations. In banquet style there was a program of talks with Miss Grace Draper as toastmistress. Two special guests, Miss Katherine Harper, manager of the Tech cafeteria and Miss Merle Williams, Tech students made impromptu talks.

Covers were placed for Misses Lady Lee Lawler Draper, Maxine Yeager, Ines Ray, Nedra Parker, Alleyne Moody, Olivia Coffey, Harper Williams and Evelyn Richter.

Miss Moody's talk was on "Food Factors." Miss Coffey talked on the relation of diet to teeth and Miss Parker talked on "Vitamins."

DELINQUENTS PAYING

Back Taxes Up For First Time In Years

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher declared here that farmers of Texas have almost wiped out their delinquent taxes for the first time in years.

He takes this as an indication of greatly increased prosperity. Mr. Hatcher said that virtually every tax collector he hears from reports that there are little or no delinquent taxes charged against farmers.

Red River county, one of those hard-hit by drouth last year has had its largest tax collection in history this year. Mr. Hatcher said the situation is such, he thinks, that farmers will not have to rely so much on banks to make their crops this year.

Present delinquent taxes are charged mainly against the city property owner and persons of that class—the treasurer finds.

The treasury began March with a cash balance of about $23,000,000.

HONOR BILLY DISCH

Holiday to Be Declared for Mentor at Austin

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Recommending that the city be "closed" on the afternoon of March 23 in honor of Billy Disch, veteran Texas University baseball coach, City Manager Adam R. Johnson incidentally revealed that Governor Dan Moody was once a diamond hero in Taylor, the executive's home town.

Mr. Johnson told friends here that Mr. Moody hit a home run in the ninth inning to win a game for Taylor high school several years ago.

Prairie Dog Drive Fight to Finish In Terry County

BROWNFIELD, March 20. (AP)—Terry county is engaged in an effort to make a final cleanup of prairie dogs and working under the direction of a government agent has mixed 4,000 pounds of grain which is being rapidly distributed among farmers and ranchmen. The larger part of the dogs was killed several years ago, but as they increase rapidly it has become necessary to reduce the numbers.

Crude Rubber Now On Downward Path

Wave of Selling On New York Exchange Sends Market Down Two Cents Per Pound Yesterday.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Prices of crude rubber dropped about two cents a pound on the New York rubber exchange today under a wave of selling.

Selling apparently was influenced by the belief that the advance of 5 1/2 cents a pound from the recent low price of less than 24 cents had been too rapid. May contracts, which closed yesterday at 28.50 cents a pound, sold at 28.30 cents early in the day, and then declined to 28.20 cents. September rubber, opening at 28.80, or slightly above yesterday's final prices, dropped to a flat 27 cents a pound.

INQUIRY REJECTED

England Not To Probe Into Historic Letter

LONDON, March 20. (AP)—The government today refused a new inquiry on oath into the historic "Zinovieff letter" demanded by the labor party, and the motion of Ramsay MacDonald, seeking such inquiry was rejected, 328 to 122.

The letter in question was made public in 1924 and is credited with having aided in causing the downfall of the labor government. It contained communist propaganda and is alleged to have been written by Gregory S. Zinovieff, a high Soviet official.

Iceless Refrigerator Adds Comfort To The Automobile Tour, New Yorker Finds

WAL STREET
NEW YORK, March 26. (AP)—Resumption of violent speculation for the day was a foreboding omen for the market of Radio and General Motors characterized today's stock market. Radio soared 23 points to 160, duplicated its record high of 127 in 1929, and General Motors, 155, on a revival of rumors that a "technical corner" existed in the stock market.

General Motors advanced 6 points to 155, its highest since 1929, to a point below the top. Total transactions in these two issues aggregated nearly half a million shares, or more than one-fifth of the entire day's turnover.

The upswing, like those which have preceded it, was not traceable to any news of the day's operations. The recent setback in the trial of the pool favorites probably had encouraged further short selling.

WANT A HOME?

GIRL ALONE

BY ANNE AUSTIN

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Sally Ford, 16, with a genius for acting, is selfishly kept at the orphanage, which has been her home since she was four, in spite of efforts to adopt her, because her sympathy and understanding with small children make her a valuable helper to the matron. However, when Clem Carson asks that Sally be "farmed out" to him for the summer, the matron tells the girl she must go. Sally dislikes the farmer, but long years of obedience to authority seal her lips against protesting when the matron says she must go and she leaves to pack her few clothes for the trip.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY

Because she was leaving the orphanage for a temporary new home on the Carson farm, Sally was permitted to take her regular Saturday night bath that afternoon. In spite of her terror of the future, the girl who had never known any home but a state orphan asylum felt a thrill of adventure as she splashed in a painted tin tub gloriously alone, unburied by clamorous girls waiting just outside the little cubicle.

The cold water—there was no hot water for bathing from April first to October first—made her skin glow and tingle. As she dried herself on a ragged strip of grayish-white Turkish towel, Sally surveyed her slim, white body with pride. Shorn of the orphanage uniform she might have been any pretty young girl budding into womanhood, so slim and rounded and pinky-white she was.

"I guess I'm kinda pretty," Sally whispered to herself, as she thrust her face close to the small, wavy mirror that could not quite succeed in destroying her virginal loveliness. "Sweet sixteen and—never been kissed," she smiled to herself then bent forward and gravely laid her pink, deliciously curved lips against the mirrored ones.

Then, in a panic lest she be too late to see kind Miss Pond, she jerked on the rest of her clothing. "Dear Sally, how sweet you look!" Miss Pond clasped her hands in admiration as Sally slipped, breathless into the locker-room that contained her dormitory.

"Did you bring the card that tells all about me—and my mother?" Sally brushed the compliment aside and demanded in an eager whisper. "No, dearie. I was afraid Mrs. Stone might want it to make an entry about Mr. Carson's taking you for the summer, but I copied the data. You go ahead with your packing while I tell you what I found out." Miss Pond answered nervously, but her pale gray eyes were sparkling with pleasure in her mild little escapade.

Sally unlocked her own particular locker with the key that always hung on a string about her neck, but almost immediately she whirled upon Miss Pond, her eyes imploring. "It won't take me a minute to pack

Miss Pond. Please go right on and tell me."

"Well, Sally, I'm afraid there isn't much to tell." Miss Pond smoothed a folded bit of paper apologetically. "The record says you were brought here May 9, 1912, just 12 years ago, by a woman who said you were her daughter. She gave your birthday as June 2, 1908, and her name as Mrs. Nora Ford, a widow, aged 23."

"Oh, she's young!" Sally breathed ecstatically. Then her face clouded as her nimble brain did a quick sum in mental arithmetic. "But she'd be 40 now, wouldn't she? Forty seems awfully old."

"Forty is comparatively young, Sally!" Miss Pond, who was looking regretfully back upon 40 herself, said rather tartly. "But let me hurry on. She gave poverty and illness as her reasons for asking the state to take care of you. She said your father was dead."

"Oh, poor mother!" A shadow flitted across Sally's delicate face, quick tears for the dead father and the ill, poverty-stricken mother flamed her blue eyes.

"The state accepted you provisionally, and shortly afterward sent an investigator to check up on her story," Miss Pond went on. "The investigator found that the woman Mrs. Ford had left the city—it was Stanton, 30 miles from here—and that no one knew where she had gone. From that day to this we have had no word from the woman who brought you here. She was a mystery in Stanton, and has remained a mystery until now. I'm sorry, Sally, that I can't tell you more."

"Oh," Sally's sharp cry was charged with such pain and disappointment that Miss Pond took one of the little clenched fists between her own thin hands, not noticing that the slip of paper fluttered to the floor. "She didn't write to know how I was, didn't care whether I lived or died! I wish I hadn't asked. I thought maybe there was somebody, someone who loved me—"

"Remember she was sick and poor, Sally. Maybe she went to a hospital suddenly and—died. But there was no report in any papers of the state of her death," Miss Pond added conscientiously. "You mustn't grieve. Sally. You're nearly grown now. You'll be leaving us when you're 18, unless you want to stay on as an assistant matron or as a teacher."

"Oh, no, no!" Sally cried. "I'll pack now, Miss Pond. And thank you a million times for telling me, even if it did hurt."

In her distress Miss Pond trotted out of the locker-room without a thought for the bit of paper on which she had scribbled the memorandum of Sally's pitifully meager life history. But Sally had not forgotten it. She snatched it from the floor and pinned it to her "body waist," a vague resolution forming in her troubled heart.

When five o'clock came Sally Ford was waiting in the office for Clem Carson, her downcast eyes fixed steadily upon the small brown paper parcel in her lap, color staining her neck and cheeks and brow. For Mrs. Stone, stiffly, awkwardly but conscientiously, was doing her institutional best to arm the state's charge for her first foray into the outside world.

"And so, Sally, I want you to remember so—to keep your body pure and your mind clean," Mrs. Stone summed up, her strong, heavy face almost as red as Sally's own. "You're too young to go out with young men, but you'll be meeting the hired hands on the farm. You mustn't let them take liberties of any kind with you. We try to give you girls in the Home a sound religious and moral training and if you're left astray it will be due to the evils in your own nature and not to lack of proper Christian training. You understand me, Sally?" she added severely.

"Yes, Mrs. Stone," Sally answered in a smothered voice.

Sally's haunted eyes glanced wildly about for a chance of escape and lighted upon the turning knob of the door. In a moment Clem Carson was edging in, his brown-leather face slightly flushed, a tell-tale odor of whiskey and cloves on his breath. "Little lady all ready to go?" he inquired with a suspiciously jovial laugh, which made Sally crouch lower in her chair. Looking pretty as a picture, too. With two pretty girls in my house this summer, reckon I'll have to stand guard with a shotgun to keep the boys away."

World had gone round that Sally Ford was leaving the Home for the summer and as Clem Carson and his new unpaid hired girl walked together down the long cement walk to where his car was parked at the curb, nearly 300 little girls, packed like a herd of sheep in the wire-fenced playground adjoining the front lawn, sang out good-byes and good wishes.

"Good-by, Sally-lee! Hope you have a good time!"

"Good-by, Sally-lee! Write me a letter. Sally-lee!" "Good-by, good-by!"

Sally, waving her Sunday handkerchief, craned her neck for a last sight of those blue-and-white-ginghamed little girls, the only playmates and friends she had in the world. There were tears in her eyes, and, queerly, for she thought she hated the Home, a stab of homesickness shooting through her heart. How safe they were, there in the playground pen! How simple and sheltered life was in the Home after all! Suddenly she knew somehow, that it was the last time she would ever see it, or the children.

Without a thought for the iron-clad "Keep off the grass" rule, Sally turned and ran, fleetly, her little figure as graceful as a fawn's over the thick velvet carpet of the lawn. When she reached the high fence that separated her from the other orphans, she spread her arms, as if she would take them all into her embrace.

"Don't forget me, kids," she panted her voice thick with tears. "I want to tell you I love you all and I'm sorry for every mean thing I ever did to any of you, and I hope you all get adopted by rich papas and mamas and have ice cream every day! Good-by, kids! Good-by!"

"Kiss me good-by, Sally-lee!" a little whining voice pleaded.

Sally stooped and pressed her lips, through the fence opening against the babyish mouth of little

Opposition Made To Arms Embargo

Reciprocal Policy Might Cut U. S. Off from Vital Munitions In Case of War, Davis Says.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Apprehension that the policy proposed in the Burton Munitions resolution might prevent the United States from obtaining essential war materials in time of emergency was expressed today by Secretary of War Davis before the House Foreign Affairs committee.

The resolution would prohibit export from the United States of war munitions and their "component parts" to belligerent nations and the secretary argued if other munition-producing countries should approve a similar policy, it might shut off a supply of essential materials to the American government.

He added there are several war materials of vital importance which are not produced in this country, and to a question by the resolution's author, Representative Burton, Republican, Ohio, replied that he would "name these articles either privately or at an executive committee meeting."

The secretary appeared today for questioning regarding a statement in opposition to the resolution made at a previous meeting and a number of the committee members took issue with the objections raised by the war department to the effect the measure would have on the American chemical and munitions industry.

Eloise Durant, the newest and most forlorn orphan of them all, "Me too, Sally-lee! Me too! We won't have nobody to play-act for us now!" Betty wailed, pressing her tear-stained face against the wire.

A little later, when Sally was seated primly beside Clem Carson, jolting rapidly down the road that led past the orphanage toward the business district of the city, the farmer nudged her in the ribs and chuckled.

"You're quite a kissing-bug, ain't you, Sally? How about a little kiss for your new boss?"

FREED FROM THE MEDICINE HABIT

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought welcome relief

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in Mrs. Van Horn's letter below. She wrote us, voluntarily, to express her appreciation for the wonderful results ALL-BRAN brought.

June 17, 1927

"I feel as if I must write you a few lines to let you know what a wonder food your ALL-BRAN is and what it has done for me and many others I have told about it. I have been using it for one year and have a movement every morning. Before, I was taking medicine every three or four days. Now I feel fine. Many thanks to ALL-BRAN. I can't praise it too much."

Sincerely,
MRS. G. W. VAN HORN,
2125 S. 57th St., Philadelphia

"Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Headaches, dizziness, blotched complexion are only a few of the evils it causes. It is responsible for more than forty serious diseases."

Guard against it—now. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Just eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN is a ready-to-eat cereal—100% bran. Delicious and healthful with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Recipes on package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

fixes the life of your car

CRUDE petroleum, as it comes from the ground, no matter how good it is, is of no value in the operation of your car. It must be refined to provide the fuel and lubrication you need. The experience, skill, equipment and policy of the refiner determine the usefulness of gasoline, oils and greases.

That is why it is wise to use Conoco Motor Oil in your crankcase, for Conoco Motor Oil is unvarying in quality.

It is your insurance against the costly troubles caused by poor oil. It flows instantly and provides a constant, protecting wall against friction in the various driving conditions you encounter. There is a special grade for your car—see the special chart.

Grollman's Store Celebrates Its Initial Birthday

Store's Success In Opening Year Pleases Manager

Anniversary Sale Includes Novel Features To Which People Of South Plains Are Invited

GREAT VOLUME DONE DURING FIRST YEAR

Business Totals Somewhere Near $300,000 Mark For 1927; Working Force Is Augmented

Celebrating the first anniversary of his second entrance into the merchandising field of the South Plains, Claude H. Grollman, owner of Grollman's 1102 Broadway, opens the doors of his store, Thursday at 9 o'clock, with a stock of approximately $100,000 offered in substantial savings to the buying public of Lubbock and the South Plains, with his first Anniversary Sale. The event is to continue for two weeks.

Arrangements for the event provide what is expected to be the greatest merchandise sale ever conducted in the city. New Spring stocks in each of the seven departments of the store are included in the sale, each department being featured with advertised savings.

Thursday "Lubbock Day" and Saturday will be given to the patrons of the store. On Friday, the sale will be extended to the out-of-town visitors coming to the store, the sale plans state. Monday, of next week, will be Employees Day. Various specials will be offered on each day of the sale. It was learned each day to be announced.

The sale will climax a year of business, totaling near the $300,000 mark, and open a campaign for a greater mark, Mr. Grollman said in speaking of the sale yesterday.

Sales People Ready
Fifty sales people will endeavor to serve the buying public during the two weeks, approximately 30 being employees extra for the event. Twenty regular employees, including five Tech students, comprise the personnel of the store. A number of Tech students are to work during the sale also, Mr. Grollman said.

Experienced Men and Women Make Up Force Which Has Been Vital Factor In An Exceptional Growth

In the C. H. Grollman store, where it has been necessary to almost double the sales force within a period of six months, the various departments are manned by men and women, each of whom has special knowledge of a specified line of merchandise, and supplementing this group is a corps of "extras" which numbers as many as 25 on special days.

With the exception of the ladies' ready-to-wear department, which is under the supervision of his wife, Mr. Grollman is at the head of his sales force, supervising the departments, which are arranged up and down the first floor.

In this force are two men and one woman who were with Mr. Grollman when he maintained a store here during the years of 1918 to 1921. They are James and Rabb Kimmell and Mrs. T. H. St. Clair, the latter working with him then as Miss Velma Sumner.

J. Kimmell In Shoe Department
Following a specialty of several years, James Kimmell is in the shoe department of the store at this time. Working with him there are W. L. Rivers, who is also in charge of window trimming; Miss Ella Landers, who is in the history department; Mrs. Charles Woods, a saleswoman in the ladies' furnishing department; Ralph Gibson and Durwood Dodgins Tech students and part time salesmen; and R. W. Whitney, another part-time salesman.

Rabb Kimmell is in the men's and boys' clothing and hat departments, selling men's clothing and furnishings. Lew Berger is in charge of this division of the store and is assisted by a group of men. J. W. Stanford sells furnishings and men's work clothes; R. G. Buss and U. H. Bussman, Tech students are employed in this department much of the time.

Mrs. Thompson Heads Silks
Mrs. Thompson is at the head of silk and women's in the piece goods department; Mrs. Edgar Immon has supervision of draperies, white and dress goods; Mrs. Frank Dyart has charge of hosiery, underwear and gloves; and Mrs. J. R. Dickerson has infants and children's furnishings. Assisting Mrs. Dickerson as an extra is Mrs. W. D. Blagoe, and Mrs. H. A. Lewis is

CHARLES ROGERS

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Mar. 20.—A year ago Charles Rogers might have been a ping pong champion as far as Mr. and Mrs. Public were concerned. But today he is one of Hollywood's most popular actors. He received 10,000 "fan" letters last month.

The stars in Hollywood who receive that much mail could be counted on the fingers of a one-armed man.

Kansas School Boy
If Charles—Buddy his friends call him—keeps his head, he is destined to reach the very top. He has everything necessary to screen success—good looks, youthful freshness and enthusiasm and ability.

Even if you tried, you couldn't dislike Charley. He's so carefree and so willing to do things for everybody. In many ways he is still no different from the Kansas school boy who joined the Paramount movie school a couple of years ago.

Four Good Pictures
Rogers was catapulted into almost overnight fame when he was given one of the two leading roles in "Wings." Since then he has made only three other films, "Get Your Man," with Clara Bow, "My Best Girl" with Mary Pickford, and "Aimee's Irish Rose," in which he is Aimee and Nancy Carroll is the Irish rose.

During 1928 he is to be starred in four pictures, made from stories written especially for him.

PROMOTES STUDY OF GAELIC AND GREEK

To develop latent talent for Gaelic among Highland pupils in schools of Inverness county, Scotland, a scholarship of 50 pounds a year was offered last year by the Highland Trust. Of six candidates who recently qualified, one was a girl who won the award. In addition, a fund of 50 pounds has been voted by the Trust toward the maintenance of the study of Gaelic and Greek in secondary schools of the county. At present 232 students are enrolled in Gaelic and 45 in Greek classes—School Life.

TO ENABLE STUDENTS TO BECOME DEPOSITORS

A student employment agency has been inaugurated by the school savings bank of the Stevens Point (Wis.) High School, in cooperation with school officials, through which local people may obtain the services of high-school boys and girls on Saturdays and during certain hours on school days. The purpose is, by providing a source of income, to assist students in maintaining accounts with the school savings bank and at the same time to furnish household and other service needed by people of the town.—School Life.

All adults who handle food in school lunchrooms of New York City must hold a "food handlers' health certificate." This is in conformity to the sanitary code of the city, which requires examination of all persons engaged in the preparation or serving of food, to establish freedom from any infectious or venereal disease in communicable form.

an extra in the piece goods department.

With the sales force, there is on the first floor an office in which J. W. Robert is bookkeeper. Mrs. St. Clair is cashier, assisted when it becomes necessary by Mrs. R. Young.

Ladies ready-to-wear is carried exclusively in the balcony. Working with Mrs. Grollman here are Mrs. George Morris, Miss Bernice O'Neil and Mrs. Ella Bridges.

Merchandising Is Business But It Is Likewise a Hobby

That's The Way Owner And Manager Of Grollman Store Feels About It; He Has Made Fine Record

CAREER OF GROLLMAN AN INTERESTING ONE

From Humble Beginning, He Has Risen Until Now He Owns And Operates Great Business In City

Merchandising is Claude H. Grollman's delight. Since he was seventeen years old, he has been buying and selling, and he expects to continue until Father Time taps him on the shoulder and demands a final inventory and a closing out.

Twenty-two years ago, a 17-year-old youngster hung a tape measure around his neck in a Lancaster, Pennsylvania store belonging to his brother and started upon a career of buying and selling which carried him to the wide open spaces of the Lone Star State and finally to the Hub of the Plains where he now plays his trade at 1102 Broadway.

Determination Marks Career
Doggish determination seems to have marked the career of Mr. Grollman who has studied his business from every detail, taking pains to see that improvement marks each consecutive move. No sensational climbs are pointed to by Mr. Grollman in his rise from an over-ambitious clerk to a department store owner but it is certain that application of his business methods have been profitable in gradual expansion of his business.

In 1914, Mr. Grollman came to Texas, Fort Worth being his first stopping place and there he managed a small shoe store. Next he managed a dry goods store in Dallas and in 1920, Bridgeport was his next buying and selling field.

Came to Lubbock Next
Visiting Lubbock and the South Plains in 1918, he persuaded a number of Dallas men to form a company and open a store here. The firm was known as the Leader store and opened up in inadequate quarters until the store's present location could be built. In 1917, the store moved into its present location.

Due to a failing in Mrs. Grollman's health, he disposed of his store here in 1926 and entered business in a lower class, the thriving oil town of Breckenridge being his choice. Later, he sold out and opened a wholesale ladies ready-to-wear firm in Dallas in 1928. Visiting the Plains at various intervals during the next few years, the section's future loomed greatest before his eyes and he again sought entrance into the business field in Lubbock. The stock of the Ross Edwards, Inc., in the old Leader location, was purchased in the early part of 1927, and now the anniversary of his first year approaches.

Stock Invested $100,000
The Edwards stock of approximately $25,000 was disposed of in a 60-day closing out sale and new goods purchased. His stock now in "voices" around the $100,000 mark.

"I saw that I had made a mistake, several times, by selling out in Lubbock and always kept in touch with the field here in the hope of again entering business here," Mr. Grollman said yesterday in speaking of his return to the city. "I believe that Lubbock has a great future which in time will place it as the metropolis of Western Texas and Eastern New Mexico."

French Are Treating Germans With Consideration

Instruction in German of children in elementary schools of Alsace and Lorraine is given earlier, commencing this year, if they have advanced sufficiently in the reading of French. Heretofore, study of German has been delayed until the third year. It may now be taken up in the second term of the second year, according to recent announcement of the new rector of the Academy of Strasbourg. The purpose is to make education bilingual in the Provinces, although French must come first in order of importance. On request of parents the education will be taught in German from the very beginning to some ability of the children to read in that language from their earliest years.—School Life.

Students in English Classes Receive "Department Stickers"

Visits of "department stickers" students in English classes who have special dramatic ability, acted in visualizing English work in Boys' High School, Brooklyn, N. Y. The boys pass from one English section to another, giving short performances of scenes selected from great masterpieces which they have previously studied and rehearsed. Other methods of visualization in English work are used, including talks in "picture form" by pupils on assigned topics, in connection with a stereopticon lantern operated by a fellow pupil.

First Anniversary Sale

Opening Day -- Thursday

Dedicated to

PIONEERS AND LOYAL PATRONS

We want to do something real nice for those pioneers of the South Plains—the real builders who deprived themselves of many of life's comforts, who battled against odds—who have given time, energy and money to the upbuilding of this Great section.

We, also, wish to show our sincere and grateful appreciation to those thousands who have loyally patronized our new store our first year.

It is because of these that we are offering the following merchandise the first day of our Anniversary Celebration—at prices which we know to be low enough to express, materially, our appreciation emphatically.

Rows Upon Rows Of Chic Frocks And Accessories Please The Eye Of The Feminine Buyer In Grollman's Store

Mrs. Grollman, Supervisor Of Women's Section, Has Given Her Thought To Buying and Management

Rows on rows of frocks and hats in myriad colors, costumes to meet the demands or exigencies of any purse, comprise the largest department of Grollman's store, the ready-to-wear division.

It is here that one may find cloth-

Forty Dollar Hat Is Not Passe

Forty-dollar Stetson hats, the mark which from the time they were first manufactured has distinguished the wearer as the elite among men, are by no means passe.

While they are not in sufficient demand to justify a full line of what that piece to be carried they are bought not infrequently here at Grollman's according to Rabb Kimmell, manager of the men's clothing department of that store.

ing, ready to don, for any occasion of day or night, reveal in a showing of adornments that have been selected by Mrs. C. H. Grollman, who is in charge of this division of the store. With coats, dresses, hats, there is also included in this department, neckties, pajamas and every piece of under thing worn by women.

Department Is Prosperous
With other parts of the store, this department has grown during the year, maintaining a lead in size and volume of business according to Mr. Grollman, who states that the quantity of dresses alone, is never allowed to drop lower than 1,000. This necessitates two annual trips to market by Mrs. Grollman, who searches the markets for "best buys" in values and styles, maintaining a stock that ranges from low-priced frocks and coats to richer garments that appeal to patrons seeking more expensive wear.

Booths of the store balcony, where this division is located, flash a parade of spring finery at this time of the year. Here hang the crepes, georgettes, light woolsens, ensembles, prints, afternoon, evening and street costumes or coats that tempt the heart of Lubbock's feminine element. And ranged in cases and on tables are chapeaux in harmonizing shades and styles to complete the suit; a show that makes one dizzy in selection.

Mrs. Grollman Selects Stock
Mrs. Grollman has undertaken the purchasing for this division of the store since her marriage to Mr. Grollman. Previous to that time, she was a bookkeeper, working in Norfolk, Va. before she came to Dallas several years ago. The selection of clothing, something that might appeal to most women as possibly the pleasantest of tasks, is not unalloyed pleasure, according to this purchaser, who finds the rounds of Eastern markets with the necessity of selecting a well-rounded stock and anticipating the wants of women in a trade territory such as Lubbock has, something of work.

This spring she has noted trends in style centers and combined with Nationally Known Business Houses Send Best Wishes And Congratulations To Lubbock Store Owner.

Scores of letters, congratulating Claude H. Grollman on his first year of business in Lubbock, have come to his office since the announcement several days ago that he was to stage a birthday anniversary sale celebration. Merchandise houses from over the nation, who either do business or have hopes of doing business with him, have written to Mr. Grollman.

Included in the list is a number of the leading clothing, shoe and merchandise firms of the United States.

Fine Words Are Said
"You are certainly to be congratulated on your first year in Lubbock, the volume of your business is a compliment alone. We believe that your store will succeed by your good merchandising methods, backed by good merchandise and honest values," writes the Griffon Clothes company, of Baltimore. Robert-Johnson-Rand company, one of the largest shoe concerns in the nation, of St. Louis, also writes a very complimentary letter.

"I count you as one of my most valuable customers. You have had tremendous sales during the past year, selling hundreds of dozens of Mary Lee dresses in Lubbock," Mary Lee, herself, of Dallas, writes.

Our only complaint is, that there is not enough stores like yours in Texas," writes the Pool Manufacturing company, of Sherman, makers of work clothes.

Others Come in, Too
Other letters came in from: Wolf-off Clothing, Inc., New York; S. Katz and company, importers and manufacturers, New York; Kaplan and company, eastern manufacturers' representatives, Dallas; Marlboro Shirt company, Baltimore; Wohl Shoe company, St. Louis; Florence Hat manufacturers, Dallas; I. Rudnick Manufacturing company, Dallas; M. Wile and company, Buffalo, N. Y.; Burtex Undergarment, New York; John B. Stetson, Philadelphia; Strouse-Baer company, Baltimore; Joseph Engel company, Baltimore; Baschitz Brothers company, L. J. & C. D. Jaffee, Inc. and M. B. Kaufman, New York; Larned-Carter Co. company, St. Louis; Strouse-Adler company, Chicago; Reedy Knitting Mills, Buffalo; Kotter company, Chicago; Dixon-Jennings Manufacturing company, Fort Worth and Hayman-Krupp, El Paso.

Man Kills Self In His Gotham Office

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP).—Major H. Jefferson Harding was veteran and close friend of President Harding's family, killed himself in his 2700 Avenue Office today with the same revolver that his wife used to commit suicide two months ago.

Friends of Major Harding, who was 33 years old, attributed his suicide to despondency over the loss of his wife, who was believed to have killed herself because of poor health.

The Major, a member of the army reserve corps, an official of the Hotel Continental in Times Square and a widely known real estate man, apparently went to his office late last night and shot himself early this morning in the wash room adjoining the office.

Nine Children Left By Suicide Victim

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 20 (AP).—A. J. Kuenstler, about 50, salesman for a Laredo packing concern, was found dead here today with a bullet through his temple. A verdict of suicide was returned.

In a note addressed to Mrs. Kuenstler, he said he had lost "all the money and asked her to 'take care of the babies'."

He is survived by his widow and nine children.

Hearing Waived On Auto Theft Charge

WICHITA FALLS, March 20 (AP).—J. P. Skipworth waived hearing and was ordered held for the federal grand jury here under $1,000 bond after having been charged before J. A. Lanthe, United States commissioner Monday afternoon with transporting a stolen automobile from Oklahoma to Texas.

Earth Shocks Felt In Belgrade Today

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 20 (AP).—Earth shocks were felt at Zagreb and in the neighboring country at one o'clock this morning.

In the region of Pakrac, Slavonia, chimneys collapsed and several houses were damaged but no casualties were reported.

Thomas Jefferson High School, New York City, has been given an accredited school scholarship by the appreciation of interest shown by University of Virginia, as a mark of the school in the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation and service in its behalf. The beneficiary of the scholarship, who will be designated by the principal of the school, must come from the upper quarter of his class and possess character and habits that entitle him to the award.

Industry and Ingenuity of Self-Help Students Housework in payment for room and board has been found the most remunerative occupation by undergraduate students working their way through Syracuse University, New York. Of 2,001 regular term and summer students who were wholly or partially self-supporting, 2,247 were men and 1,704 were women. Of the men, 408 were wholly self-supporting, but only 19 women maintained themselves entirely by their own labor while pursuing their studies. Many of the men did "janitorial engineering," or worked on the grounds. A total of $78,735 was earned by the students during the calendar year. School Life.

Cooperative Plan Practiced in Georgia School
Alternation of four weeks in the Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, and four weeks of practical work in shops or engineering departments of railroads in Georgia is carried on by a number of students under a cooperative plan recently developed. The plan contemplates work continuously by the same two alternating students for five years, at the end of which time each will receive his B. S. degree in engineering. During this period the students receive regular apprenticeship wages for their work and advancement or increase in wages is determined by their value to the company, and the length of time spent in the service of one company. Presidents of three railroads are on the advisory board of the cooperative department of the Georgia School of Technology. At present 80 students, 40 pairs of workers, are receiving mechanical and electrical training under the cooperative plan in the shops of the Central of Georgia railroad. In the mechanical department of the Louisville & Nashville railroad 32 students, 16 pairs, are employed; and 12 students, 6 pairs, are employed by the Southern system in its signal and electrical and maintenance of ways department. We Are Living In 1928

Modern business does big things in a big way.

Grollman's, in Lubbock, did a three hundred thousand dollar business the first year—going after four hundred thousand dollars the second year.

Big things—staggering figures—figures undreamed of in local retailing a generation ago.

Ideas of Progress—Ideals of Service—High Business Principles—Ability—A determination to forge ahead.

The 1928 way of doing things.

Here's another illustration:

More than 32,000 people make up the "Star Brand" shoe organization—43 shoe factories—13 tanneries—59 auxiliary plants.

More than 51 million pairs of solid leather shoes were produced in the "Star Brand" factories last year—a tremendous quantity of leather and other shoe making necessities.

A total volume of business done by the "Star Brand" shoemakers was more than 180 million dollars.

Neither Grollman's or the makers of "Star Brand" Shoes are big because they "happened" to be big—they are big because they deserve to be.

Leadership well earned.

Earned through service.

Thousands buy better shoes and better apparel at Grollman's in Lubbock—

Because Grollman's is a better place to buy. Millions from coast to coast buy "Star Brand" shoes—Because—

Congratulations Grollman!

Yours success has been deserved and your future looks bright because you have builded soundly, worked diligently in the interests of your patrons—the only sure way, and we wish you well.

Buy Right, Then Advertise Wares To Aid Business

That Is Advice Of Claude
H. Grollman As His Store
Celebrates Anniversary In Lubbock

Buying right, advertising in a thorough medium, selling for cash and realizing only a small margin of profit are the factors which Claude H. Grollman, of Grollman's accounts for his volume of business in Lubbock.

"The main factor is in buying right," Mr. Grollman says, "there is where the secret of underselling lies." "If you buy at a right price, you can easily sell at a much better price, thereby giving more to your customers." "Another thing which is important," Mr. Grollman says, "is letting the people know of the goods which you have to offer." "Of course, the local newspaper is the only legitimate means of doing this."

Likes Cash Business
"You realize only a small margin of profit by selling for cash, yet the customers are better satisfied and your chances for greater turnover are enhanced," he says in speaking of profits. The more turnover in stock a store has, of course the more profit the store has.

Personal direction of the buying is one of the policies adhered to by
Mr. Grollman in his business here.
By his years of experience and acquaintance with the merchandising world, he is able to make purchases in the East, which give advantages to the buying public here. Through his connection with the jobbers of Dallas, he is also able to make better purchases.

Gaining confidence of the employees and the public is another thing which he strives for. Every man in the store, especially the department heads, have a responsibility placed upon them and confidence placed in them. Each department head directs the buying of his goods in consultation with Mr.
Grollman.

Prisoner Killed In Leap From Train

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 20 (P.)—
James Bradley, 45, being taken from Marquette, Mich., where he escaped from jail after being convicted of murder two years ago,
leaped from a Chicago and Northwestern railway train near Winthrop
Harbor today and was killed.

His guard had removed Bradley's handcuffs and allowed him to enter the wash room alone. The prisoner immediately leaped through the wash room window.

at her home here yesterday.

Italian Dirigible Makes Test Flight

MILAN, Italy, March 20 (P.)—
The dirigible Italia, in which General Umberto Nobile intends to fly to the North Pole, successfully completed a lengthy test flight today.
The airship settled down at Basiglio airport near here at 7:15 a. m.
after being in the air more than 22 hours during which time it gave a treat to all sky-gazers of Northern Italy. The craft carried a full load and a complement of 21 men.

Vacation School for Summer Visitor
A vacation school, intended primarily for children of tourists in the lake region of Minnesota, was maintained during the past summer by the board of education of Alexandria, Minn. The school was organized to meet the demand each year

by summer residents for tutors for their children. A slight charge was made for tuition, and four teachers were retained and paid for their services. Only morning sessions were held. Students were allowed to select any work they wished, but no one was allowed to register for more than two subjects. The enrollment was 33 pupils, about a third of whom were visiting children. A similar school is planned for 1928.—School Life.

"Varabonding" is a growing practice at Harvard University. The term is of recent coinage and it refers to attendance upon lectures not included in the student's regular courses. Professors encourage it, and every morning the Crimson prints a list of lectures of the day which are likely to be of general interest. The lecture themselves supply the information for the list and the publication is in effect an invitation to attend.—School Life.

Quality In Merchandise, Demand Of Claude Grollman, Strictly Adhered To Throughout Department For Men

Lubbock Store, Celebrating First Birthday, Is Proud Of Its Offerings To Men Who Are Particular

Quality in merchandise, a principle on which C. H. Grollman has founded his business here, and which he believes to be a cardinal principle in the establishment of a successful business, is manifest throughout the entire stock in his store, but nowhere more so than in the men's clothing department.

Rabb Kimmell is in charge of this department. He has had much experience in this line, and has a full knowledge of the clothing which he sells.

Schluss Brothers Feature
From Schluss Bros., of Baltimore, come the "Clothes Beautiful", to form a large part of the men's suits and overcoats of the Grollman stock. From the same city come the Griffin clothes to supplement this. The Griffin company last year had a business amounting to 33 millions of dollars, the largest volume ever recorded by any single firm in men's clothing.

For the young men the Grollman stock includes the Trent-Bowen fabric or collegiate clothing, and the Club Clothes, manufactured to the M. Wile company, of Buffalo, New York. Then here is the Cravens line of clothing, made by the L. J. and C. J. Jaffee company of New York.

Hats of three manufacturers are available. There is the Ro-Mo hat made by the Florence Hat company, of Dallas, the nationally-known and nationally-trusted Stetson, and the No Name hats, considered to be among the finest of makes.

Boys' Shirts Headliners
Featuring the stock of shirts are the Harry Berger Fifth Avenue collar shirts, the Artistic shirts, and the Marlboro, a recently added line. Each of these lines is manufactured by a different company, and thus enable the store to offer a fine variety.

Hut Neckwear company, the largest manufacturers of ties and neckwear, are represented in Lubbock by Grollman's. More significance is attached to this statement when it is known that this company has only one representative in each city, no matter how large. Supplementing this stock are goods from the Bettor, Strauss and Meyer, Inc., another large manufacturing house.

From Rice-Stix company of St. Louis is obtained the stock of underwear for men. A feature of this line is the Korry-Kut. In addition, silk underwear in both two-piece and union suits constitute one of the chief features of this division of men's wear.

Plethora of Accessories
Van Heusen collars, Paris garters and suspenders, Hickok belts and buckles, Rollins hose, imported Irish linen handkerchiefs, and busby gloves, form a stock of nationally-advertised and well-known brands of men's furnishings.

Featuring the clothing for boys, the stock includes the Double Bill brand of clothing manufactured by the Wolcott company of New York.

In the men's shoes department are included such reliable brands as Packard, Robert-Johnson and Rand, Freeman's and Deacon. In supplement there is carried a stock of patent leather shoes made by the Freeman company of Beloit.

Rugby sweaters and Cricket sweaters complete the stock of accessories to round out a complete department of quality merchandise, the basis of a successful business.

Labor Surplus Is Cited In Argument
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—The real trouble with the coal industry is a surplus of labor, Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, asserted today before the political campaign school, now holding a meeting here under the auspices of the National League of Republican Women.

"There are 300,000 men employed in the coal industry where 300,000 could do the work," said the Ohioan, who is a member of the senate committee investigating conditions in the bituminous coal fields.

Senator Fess argued that the Republican party had brought prosperity to the country whenever it had been in power and that it was committed to a policy of "maintaining the integrity of American business enterprise under proper supervision."

SIMMONS BAND PLAYS
Are Entertainers For Cattle-men's Meeting
AMARILLO, March 20 (AP).—The Simmons Cowboy band, official musical organization of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, arrived Monday to take part in the annual convention of the cattlemen.

A two-hour concert was given by the band in the lobby of the Hotel Amarillo, where hundreds of cattlemen were gathered.

Watson Challenges Plans Of Wheeler
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP).—An announcement that subpoenas would be issued today for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab and R. B. Mellon, to testify before the senate committee investigating the bituminous mining industry, made by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, was met with a statement from Chairman Watson, that this would have to be agreed upon first by the full committee.

Second Victim Of Denton Fire Dies

DENTON, March 20 (AP).—Leslie Briggs, 31, died here today of burns suffered in a fire Sunday which partially destroyed a residence belonging to J. P. Franks.

Briggs, charged with burglary and arson, was the second person to die of burns received when the house burned. Jim Keiman, 19, died Monday a few hours after he had been carried from the burning building.

Franks, who was charged by complaint as an accomplice to arson, was released today on $1,000 bond.

Drama League of America Suggests Annual Shakespeare Day
Annual observance in April of Shakespeare day by schools, communities, and organizations is promoted by the Drama League of America. The occasion furnishes an incentive for study of the life, works, and times of the great English poet and dramatist, and the observance may take many different forms. It presents an opportunity for mass or individual celebrations, through festivals, plays, masques, or pageants; essays, declamations, or interpretative parts; and may be held indoors or out.

The league, which has its headquarters at 39 East Van Buren Street, Chicago, has prepared suggestions for amateur production, including suitable music; plans for art and handicraft work; and for the creation of a Shakespeare garden, or the simple planting with appropriate exercises of trees or shrubs, which may later become community or civic enterprises should the observance take this permanent form.

A full-time director of safety has been appointed by the Chicago Board of Education in addition to the safety education of more than 300,000 pupils, duties of the new director, a safety engineer, include promotion of increased playground facilities, traffic reform, and an extensive campaign to enlist public interest in the work. The purpose will not be only to train children in self-protection from street hazards but to prepare them for future responsibilities in traffic and in industry.

Hungarians Take Protest to Door Of White House

Four Arrested for Picketing. In Protest to Visit of Delegation Seeking To See Coolidge.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 20.—Taking their resentment against the present Hungarian regime to the White House, four members of the anti-Horthy League of America, were arrested yesterday while picketing the executive mansion in protest against an official Hungarian delegation calling on President Coolidge. A fifth demonstrator was taken into custody for distributing literature.

The pickets appeared at one of the White House entrances bearing placards accusing specific members of the Hungarian delegation with "mass murder," with striving to return the Hapsburg dynasty to Hungary, with restoring the whipping post in that country and generally with representing a government violating the ideals and principles of Louis Kossuth, Hungarian hero and liberator. The delegation had come to the United States to attend the unveiling of a statue of Kossuth in New York on March 15 and had an engagement to see President Coolidge.

The pickets contented themselves with displaying placards. They were taken to a police station on the charge of violating a local regulation prohibiting the unauthorized display of any placards. They later were released after depositing $10 collateral, the maximum penalty for their offense, and ordered to return tomorrow for court action.

The heaviest rainfall recorded anywhere was at Baguio in the Philippine Islands, July 14-17, 1911, when on one day 49.59 inches fell, and on all four days 88.15 inches.
