Christmas cards are among a few of "my favorite things" and are a delight to many people.

What else can turn the daily trip to the mail box from a routine experience to a mini-adventure?

That's what Christmas cards can do for people.

Opening the mailbox, whether it's with a key at the post office or in a box at the end of the drive, one is greeted with the bright flash of blue or red or green envelopes, bearing return addresses seldom seen.

It's fun to sort those out from the regular bills and everyday things, to chunk the flyers and junk mail into the trash and then take time to savor the Christmas cards.

Each one will be different, dressed with those cheerful little animals, jolly santa's or appropriate nativity scenes.

Brightly colored, they say a lot about the sender's personalities as well as the Christmas season.

Within there may be a message, hastily scribbled or lovingly thought out, written in pen or pencil, in addition to the printed message.

Those messages vary from poetic to comic, but they all have one thing going for them...they are intended to convey affection, happiness and good wishes from the sender.

Then the names can be disciphered, whether hand written or stamped.

It's a rare person who doesn't feel a little flash of warmth and joy that they have been remembered by others during this special time of the year.

Of course, we like to advocate our Christmas greetings in the newspaper too...and reserve our Christmas cards that we send out for those far away or who we want to take time for a "special" remembrance to.

Either way, it's a time to express how we feel about people.

And every day, as we go to the post office, no matter what town it's in, we find people exclaiming over a messag efrom a friend out of state, or showing someone a pretty colored card.

It's part of the Christmas season, and one that almost without fail makes a routine like checking for mail into a more pleasurable experience!

P.S. I don't often "tout" this type of thing...but if anyone has the chance to go to Marshall, Texas to see the light displays there...it's worth the drive! The historic courthouse, the ;new courhouse, the entire square is a delight of small white lights and specially created scenes, and well worth the time it takes to go .

State Comptroller Says Sales Tax Payments Reach $125 Million

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that tax payments to Texas cities reached $125 million this month, up more than 5% from last November's payments and over 9% higher than last year's total at this time. Checks to counties were up a healthy 7% over last November's payments.

"The economy is looking up for merchants in Texas and that means another good month for local governments," Bullock said.

Today's checks reflect local sales taxes collected in September by businesses that file monthly tax returns and taxes collected in July, August and September by businesses that file quarterly returns.

Bussinesses collect the state and local sales tax and sent it to the Comptroller's office along with their tax returns. The state keeps its 6% share and returns the local sales taxes to local governments.

Cities and counties may levy a combined tax of up to 2%, Bullock said.

Locally, Blossom received $3,363.87 for this period, a 2.41% decrease over the payment of $6,500.96 in 1988.

Deport received $3,087.59 for this period, marking a 16.94% increase over last year's payment.

Paris received $267,477.50 for a 4.81% increase.

Bogata received $5,396.80 for a 13.55% increase of last year's payment of $4,282.40 while Clarksville received $25,556.98 for a 2.86% decrease.

Detroit received $1,835.38 for a 23.33% decrease.

Mt. Pleasant received $128,647.96, showing a 10.46% increase.

Talco received $2,684.77 for an 8.42% decrease over last year's payment of $2,706.88.

Houston received a check for $22.6 million, which is 8% more than last November's payment. Dallas received the second largest payment at $13.9 million, up 10% over last year's.

This month's payments to counties totaled $11 million, compared to $10.2 million last November. Bullock noted that thetotal payments to counties in 1989 show an increase of 43%. He explained that much of the increase is because 10 more counties started collecting tax in January of this year and another one started in April.

You can stop energy efficiency from going up in smoke

A fireplace can add to the beauty of your home, but it can also add to your heating cost. To prevent this heating energy from being wasted, remember to close the damper tightly to keep warm air from being pulled up the chimney when the fireplace is not in use.

A glass screen and a circulating system are other ways you can prevent energy waste.

Less Than 20¢ A Week Brings Your Local Paper To Your Mailbox!

Save $2 And Get A Chance To Win Cash Too!

During the month of December the Deport Times, Bogata News, Talco Times or Blossom Times will be on sale for only $10 for a one year's subscription within Red River, Lamar or Titus County. Elsewhere, whether in the state of Texas or out of it it will be on sale for $14 for the year. This is a savings of $2 off the regular price.

January 1st, 1990, the prices will be $12 or $16, so take advantage of this sale price. And, while the sale is on each person is automatically entered in our drawing..subscribing for yourself or someone else may result in a check for $50, $30 or $20 in cash!

The paper is perfect for everyone. For less than 20 cents per week readers can get a TV schedule, check out the latest in local news, see pictures of family and friends, keep up with local sports, community service activity, business activity and simply "who visited with whom". There are ads to be read so that the best bargains around can be found, an award winning column to provide humor and a classified page to buy anything through. For those living away from home, be they students or retirees, the paper is invariable a "letter from home".

So fill your Christmas gift list in one easy step, clip the coupon from the ads that appear in this week's paper and don't delay, send family and friends the paper for a year...and be sure to put yourself on that list.

Remember, December paper subscription notices will not be sent due to the extreme number of them. If your subscription is due during the sale month, renew now! If you're not sure...just give us a call. Thanks

Talco WMA Meets

The First Baptist Church WMA met Monday, December 4 at the fellowship hall. Following a covered dish supper, gifts were exchanged and secret pals were revealed and new names were drawn for the upcoming year.

Beat-The-Clock Meals For Working Mothers

Working moms will love these hearty one-dish dinners that whip up in a jiffy. Both recipes call for convenient, nutritious Wispride sharp cheddar cold pack cheese spread and a few staples. Add a green salad to round out a wholesome meal.

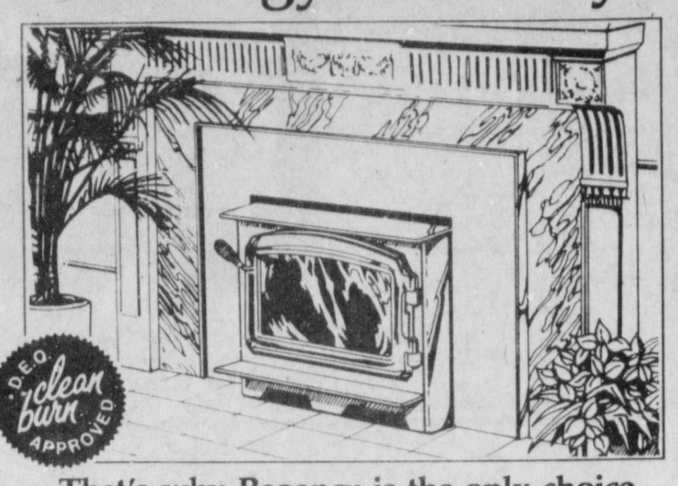

Here's a recipe that takes 20 minutes to prepare and 40 minutes to bake.

Quick Beef And Pasta Bake

1 pound lean ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups tomato juice
1-1/2 cups (4 oz.) uncooked rotini
1/2 teaspoon each basil, garlic powder, oregano and salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup (8 oz.) Wispride sharp cheddar cold pack cheese spread

Saute beef and onion until meat is browned and onion is tender. Discard any fat. Stir in tomato juice and bring to a boil. Stir in remaining ingredients except cheese. Turn into a 1-1/2 quart baking dish. Cover and bake at 350°F for 25 to 30 minutes, until pasta is tender. Dot evenly with cheese and bake 10 minutes longer, or until cheese is melted. Garnish with fresh basil or oregano, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Andrews-Wing Rodeo Bulls Shine At Las Vegas, NFR

From December 2 through December 10, Red River County was represented at the most prestigious rodeo event of the year, the National Finals Rodeo held at the Thomas and Mack Arena in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The Andrews-Wing Rodeo Compay, co-owned by Sammy Andrews of Addielou and Jerald Smith of Bogata were chosen to send six bulls that would be in competition during the 10 go-rounds of competition at the NFR.

Of the six bulls that were drawn in the competition, only one bull was qualified on, #557, Copenhagen Lolly, by Jim Sharp of Kermit, TX, and he scored 81 points to win third in that, the first, go-round. Sharp ended up splitting the average in the bull riding at the NFR with Tuff Hedeman of Bowie, TX.

Texas Twister, #10 was drawn to the final go-round of competition that was televised live on December 10, and Charles Sampson, former World Champion Bull Rider from California, failed to qualify on him.

Other NFR competitors that drew into the Andrews-Wing herd during the course of the NFR were Joe Wimberly (twice), and Marty Staneart (who was leading the average until the seventh go-round when he drew into the herd).

Bulls featured were #10, Texas Twister; #H53, Dark Alley; #557, Copenhagen Lolly; #70, Hard Twist; #183, Rickey and #98.

Sammy and Carolyn Andrews accompanied the herd to Las Vegas.

Caution: Some Diets May Hurt More Than Help

Two out of three American women go on weight-reducing diets each year, but many of those diets are bound to fail, according to registered dietitian Audrey Blumenfeld. "Too many people choose diets that just don't work for long-term weight control," she says. "These diets are often restrictive, expensive, difficult to follow, have limited menus, or deprive dieters of their favorite foods. Many are actually unhealthy."

Blumenfeld

While some of these diets may be effective for a short time, they are hard to maintain for long. "When these 'quick fixes' don't work, dieters go back to old eating habits and regain weight," says Blumenfeld. "Since they gain back proportionately more fat than muscle, it's even harder for them to lose weight in the future." Dieters should beware of diets such as:

SKIPPING MEALS: Some people simply cut certain foods out of their diets, or decide to skip meals such as breakfast or lunch. But avoiding needed foods can put you at risk of nutrient deficiency, says Blumenfeld. She cautions against skipping lunch or breakfast, since calories consumed earlier in the day are more easily burned off than those eaten at night, which are more likely to be stored as fat.

She recommends that dieters try "grazing"—eating five or six small meals throughout the day, so they don't become ravenously hungry between meals. It also eliminates "eating by the clock" at predetermined times, so it helps break the cycle of routine eating.

SMOKING: Despite overwhelming evidence of the harmful effects of nicotine, some individuals (particularly women) actually start smoking because of its ability to control weight. And at least one-third of all smokers continue to smoke because they fear gaining weight.

Researchers at Memphis State University conducted clinical tests among women who had smoked for an average of 13 years and averaged 22.5 cigarettes a day. They found that chewing gum with PPA helped minimize weight gain during the critical first two weeks of smoking cessation: 53 percent of those using Stay Trim Gum lost weight, compared to only seven percent of those who did not use the gum.

FASTING: Fasting is a popular but dangerous dieting method. "Unsupervised fasting can lead to a loss of body fluids and electrolytes, vitamin deficiencies, even a loss of lean body tissue," says Blumenfeld. "It can change the body's chemical balance and cause serious problems." To prevent starvation, the body lowers its metabolic rate to conserve energy (calories). As a result, dieters may eat less food but still be unable to lose weight—and may even gain weight.

FOOD COMBINATIONS: "Beware of bizarre diet regimens in which you eat only one food, or those that require you to eat certain foods at specific times of the day," says Blumenfeld. "Diets that restrict the types of food you can eat, such as low carbohydrate/high protein regimens, may have drawbacks, too." For example, high protein diets may be high in fat and cholesterol, and can cause unpleasant side effects—nausea, dizziness, even hypoglycemia.

A more realistic approach to dieting is to incorporate a variety of tasty, healthy foods into a balanced meal plan.

"The real secret to losing weight and keeping it off is to change your lifestyle," says Blumenfeld. Her "can't-fail" recipe for successful dieting: eat healthier foods, consume less calories and exercise more.

Lone Star Club Holds Christmas Party

The Lone Star Club's Christmas meeting was at Sudie Varner's home on December 8 with club president, Anaya Phillips, reading from Luke, chapter 2:1-7. Also read was the Red River Haven newsletter "I Remember When". The person writing the article had been at the club meeting in 1977.

Each person told a favorite Christmas memory. The prize was won by Maggie Hunsaker. Ten plates of fruit, cookies, candy and gum were fixed and delivered to shut-ins and friends of the club.

Club members present were Sudie Varner, Maggie Hunsaker, Audrey Warren, Mary Barger, Ruth Varner, Anaya Phillips and Esther Cooper.

Visitors were Dixie Gasway, Vivian Thomas, Margie Goodrum, Andrea Thomas and Danielle Varner.
