SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS - - Monday found boys and girls ready to begin another year of study and learning. Absorbed with the tasks that lie ahead or stopping to observe the Hart Beat photographer, this group is a part of the 649 enrolled for the first day of the 1972-73 school year.

Annual Boy's Ranch Rodeo Made Ready For Labor Day

The only rodeo of its kind in the nation will be held over the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 3 and 4.

It will be the 28th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch where approximately 10,000 people are expected for the two performances. More than 150 boys will be riding calves, steers, brahma bulls and bucking broncs.

Older boys will compete on professional rodeo stock with judging under R.C.A. rules. All of the 375 boys who make their home at the Ranch will have some part in the rodeo, either as contestants or working in the many behind-the-scenes activities.

Both performances of the rodeo will begin at 2:30 on Sunday and Monday afternoons with music provided by the Boys Ranch band. An added attraction will be big bar-be-que sandwiches that will be prepared and sold by the boys for only $1. The rodeo is also a traditional homecoming for the more than 2,500 boys who have lived at the Ranch since it was founded by Cal Farley in 1939.

On Sunday morning, special worship services will be held in the rodeo arena. The services, normally held in the non-sectarian chapel, will begin at 11 a. m. and will be under the direction of the Rev. Boyd Latchaw, Ranch chaplain. This will be the first time services have been held on one of the rodeo days and visitors have been invited to attend with the boys.

Reserve box seat tickets for $2.50 are available at the Boys Ranch office, 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo, or by writing to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, P. O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas, 79105. General admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75¢ for children.

Anniversary To Be Noted

Commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the First United Methodist Church is slated for Sunday, Aug. 27.

The Rev. E. H. Phillips of Big Springs, former pastor, will preach during morning worship services. A covered dish dinner will be held in fellowship hall following services.

Another former pastor, the Rev. Fred Brown of Lubbock, will bring the evening worship message.

Methodists organized their first church in Hart with the help of G. R. Fort, supply pastor from Dimmitt. R. B. Walden was the first resident pastor, appointed here in 1929. The first building was erected in 1930.

Members, former members and friends are cordially invited to attend the commemorative services and fellowship.

PTA Reception Set Monday

An old fashioned ice cream supper will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in the school cafeteria. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, the affair is the annual get-acquainted party for teachers and parents.

Everyone is invited.

Field Day Tours Set

Latest research projects and studies underway at High Plains Research Foundation will be on display during the Annual Field Day tours beginning at 1:30 p. m. September 14.

In a change from past tour presentations which features Foundation scientists discussing various research activities at four stops, this year there will be only two stops. Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, said the change was made so the tours would take less time.

At each stop, two scientists will discuss various research topics. Jim Schrib, assistant agronomist, will discuss various cultural practices that can affect the protein content in grain sorghum at the first stop. Dr. Douglas F. Owen, senior agronomist, will discuss general cotton research with emphasis on narrow row cotton and variety trials.

At the second field tour stop Jim Valliant, research director, will present results of cotton tillage-irrigation research. Joe Wright, assistant agronomist, will conclude discussions with a review of developments in a pinto bean study established at the Foundation this year.

Dr. Longnecker said a tour of the research plots and stops should take approximately 45 to 50 minutes. "Of course, those wishing to get a closer look at research activities are welcome to return to the fields to stay as long as they wish", he said.

Also new this year, three $25 savings bonds will be awarded in a drawing at the conclusion of each tour. Anyone making the tour will be eligible to win, Dr. Longnecker said.

Tour guides will be area extension service agents and Soil Conservation Service personnel under the supervision of Hale County Agent, Ollie Liner. The tours will conclude about 5 p. m.

Scrimmage Game Slated Tonight

Football fever is "catching" as the Longhorns get set for their first scrimmage game tonight at Sundown.

Head coach Lonnie Phillips said the Horns are still short on size with only four topping 170 pounds. Seniors Stan Dyer and Wayne Ethridge tip the scales at 175 and 189. Duane Clevenger and Cecil Jackson, juniors, weight in at 178 and 184, respectively.

"Top-o-Texas Football" cites Dyer, Ethridge, Jimmy Brown and Erasmo Castillo as outstanding boys to watch. Brown and Castillo are mentioned as all-state potentials.

CELEBRATING A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY - Hart Methodists will observe special services Sunday in commemoration of the 50th year since the church was founded.

Good Neighbors Sponsor Benefit Newspaper Drive

Members of the Good Neighbors Club are spearheading a drive to collect old newspapers in an effort to aid a 20-year-old Brownfield resident who is suffering from glomerulonephritis, a kidney disease whose cause and treatment is unknown. The young man, a patient in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, and wife are expecting a baby in October.

The drive was started by Terry County residents who hoped to collect 100,000 pounds. Twenty-two thousand pounds were delivered to a recycling plant in Amarillo about Aug. 15. Mrs. L. C. McLain, club secretary, talked with Mrs. Earl Elrod of Brownfield, whose husband is coordinator of the program, and was told that a truck would be sent to pick up the Castro County collection. Mrs. McLain says it would be greatly appreciated if you would tie your newspapers in bundles and deliver them to the City Hall in Hart by Sept. 15.

This is truly an effort every organization, church group and individual can support. There will also be a place for all contributors to sign, which will later be sent to Jerry Wilson. Although he could not pos-

WIN FIRST

Members of the Hart Junior Riding Club participated in the Castro County Round-Up parade in Dimmitt Thursday afternoon. The club brought home a first place trophy.

Good Neighbors Club members make the plea, "Your old newspapers may mean a gift of Life--Don't let them go up in smoke."

TWINS IMPROVE

Carry Lynn and Carla Mae, twin son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Martin, are doing fine.

FROM LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders of Lubbock visited his mother, Mrs. Grace Sanders Sunday.

STREET AREA

"Streets and roads in the U. S. occupy less than one percent of the country's total land area," according to the Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility. "In urbanized areas," the Federation adds, "the average is 25 to 30 percent, about the same as before the automobile was invented."

ATTEND MEETING

The 27th annual meeting of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society will be conducted in Dallas this week. Attending from Castro County will be Mrs. Harry Kleman of Nazareth, Mrs. Claude Forson, Mrs. W. A. Epperson and Mrs. L. C. McLain.

NATIONAL COUNCIL

A publication of the Public Service Company of Colorado reports that the president of the Edison Electric Institute, W. Donham Crawford, has proposed that a national energy council be created to coordinate government policies concerning fuel and energy. The publication went on to say that Crawford told the American Power Conference in Chicago that the council is needed because "fuel and energy developments in this country are affected by a melange of governmental policies that are often in direct conflict with each other." He said that a council, reporting directly to the President, could be most helpful in bringing order to many disconnected, inconsistent, and incoherent policies under which the energy industries now function.

Why I Am Proud Of My Hometown

By Reta Heck, First Place, Senior High Division

Hart's complete educational facilities, it's ever increasing cattle and farming industry, the well-kept modern houses, and the "booming businesses" make it a grand place to live. I realize that anyone can describe the architecture of buildings, or brag about the cattle and wheat that are raised in this area, but I would like to recognize the people as the factor that makes me extremely proud to call Hart "my hometown."

God smiles down on this prosperous community with love, understanding, and compassion. Hart itself is the people. Friends line every street of Hart, greeting the "strangers" to this town that can almost be termed as the town as big as its name. We all face tragedy in our lives, but with the people that live in and around this area, all things that happen are considered their problem or sorrow and one never seems to have to weep alone.

Hart may not always be considered the town as big as its name but it will always be filled with friendly people; and some day we may have to change the spelling of this town to H-E-A-R-T.

LEADS MUSIC

Kipp Burnett, youth director of the First Baptist Church, is in Springs, N. M. this week leading the music in a revival.

FRIGHTENING

It is difficult for persons with normal hearing ability to understand the frightening experience of not being able to hear clearly, according to officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. They point out that because we depend upon our ears for so much communication, deafness can cut a person off from his family, friends and business associates.

Irene Keating Writes

CASTRO CO. H.D. AGENT

This is a busy time for everyone with canning, freezing, and school starting. I've had many calls about food preservation and this week I'd like to share some good recipes with you. If you need more recipes or any other information, please call me at 647-3455 or 647-5219 or come by my office in the Courthouse.

CHOW CHOW

- 1 qt. chopped cabbage
- 2 c. chopped green tomatoes
- 1 1/2 chopped sweet green peppers
- 1 1/2 chopped sweet red peppers

Mix well and put into enameled pan or stone jar. Put in layer of vegetables and sprinkle well with salt, continuing until all the vegetables are used. Sprinkle the last layer with salt. Let stand over night and drain well the following morning.

In a separate pan put:

- 1 qt. vinegar
  - 2 c. sugar
  - 2 T. ground mustard
  - 3/4 T. celery seed
  - 1 1/2 T. white mustard seed
  - 1 tsp. cloves (tied in a bag)
- Heat to boiling, add the well-drained vegetables and cook slowly until tender (about 1/2 hour). Pack into sterilized jars and seal.

SAUERKRAUT

Wash, quarter, core and shred sound, hard, fully matured cabbage. Weigh. Thoroughly mix 1/2 pound salt with 20 pounds cabbage. Firmly pack into stone jar or tight keg. Cover with white cloth and dinner plate or glass pie plate. Fill jar with water and use to hold plate under the brine, which forms as salt draws juice from cabbage. Start cabbage curing in a temperature of about 85 degrees F. When fermentation begins, move to a cooler place of about 65 degrees F. Remove scum each day. Sauerkraut is cured and ready to can in 2 to 4 weeks, depending upon the temperature at which it is cured. When properly cured, sauerkraut is yellow-white and free of white spots. Pack kraut into hot jars, leaving 1/2 inch head space. If there is not enough juice to cover, add brine made by dissolving 2 tablespoons salt in 1 quart water, leaving 1/2 inch head space. Adjust caps. Process pints and quarts 30 minutes in boiling water. Yield: 6 to 7 quarts.

PICKLED ONIONS

- 1 gal. small white onions
- 5 c. white vinegar
- 2 T. mixed pickling spices
- 3 c. sugar

While onions are freshening, mix the sugar, vinegar, and spices (tied in a bag). Bring to a boil. Cover and let cool. Heat and cool several times for best flavor. Pack freshened onions into hot, sterilized jars and cover with spiced vinegar. Seal air-tight and store in a cool and dry place. (More or less sugar may be added according to taste.)

ONE VOTE COUNTS

Union Oil Company of California asks in their publication "Seventy Six", "Does your vote count? In 1876, a one-vote margin elected Rutherford B. Hayes as President of the United States. The man on the electoral college who cast the deciding vote had been elected by a single vote, cast by a man who, though desperately ill, insisted on being taken to the polls. One vote made Texas a part of this country; one vote admitted California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon to the Union. One vote in the House made the Draft Act of World War II law, and caused millions of men to be called for service. Aaron Burr, later charged with treason, missed being President by one electoral vote."

Moments of Meditation

Rev. Ray Forbes

Matthew 7:1-5

It requires no great amount of intelligence or character to find fault with others and pronounce judgement upon them. Many people get a kind of sadistic satisfaction out of practicing character vivisection on their neighbors while remaining blandly unaware of their own glaring faults and weaknesses.

Pronouncing judgement is a dangerous occupation. We are not equipped for the task, for we have so little knowledge of the inward motives and promptings of others and so little understanding of the long chain of circumstances that brought them to their present condition.

FROM FORT WORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ethridge of Fort Worth visited relatives and friends here over the weekend. They also attended the wedding of Johnny Ethridge and Kathy Crawford Saturday night.

Then, too, we have such an inadequate sense of justice and compassion. God alone is qualified to pronounce judgment with any degree of justice or finality.

Pronouncing judgment also becomes a habit and leads to a dangerous frame of mind. William Lamb, for instance, was caustic and penetrating critic of the religion of his day; but he never worked his way through to a religion of his own that could give him any firm standing ground for the day of trouble.

This critical habit often leads to disillusionment with the whole of life and society. Young people who develop this attitude are in rebellion against every sort of establishment, but they seldom carry through to any constructive action. They feel that they have done their full duty when they criticize the efforts of others who are trying to make the world a better place.

Wide Array Of 'Finds' Left By TEXAS Visitors

Each evening, after the last long chords have soared, and the audience starts down the hill of the Pioneer Amphitheatre toward the concession building, the patio, and the parking lot, they carry with them the story of the early west, and the dancing and singing and drama they have seen, and the great lights illuminating the 600 foot bluff they have been facing, and the memory of the six horsemen, racing around the road behind the stage, bearing the six flags which have flown over Texas.

But there are some things they forget to carry.

The lost and found has numerous articles in the following order: There are more pillows than anything else; then come head scarves, jackets and sweaters of all kinds, towels (why do people need towels at "TEXAS"? We don't have many rainy nights), purses, billfolds, car keys, jewelry (single earrings, pins and watches), glasses and glass cases, including all kinds - sun, bifocals, trifocals - ID cards, check books, shoes and children's sandals, hats, paper books, coloring books and car games.

And in addition, one bra and one slip came in, some antique binoculars, a pheasant hatband, a stunning red blazer and a handsome knit coat.

After watching the hospitality crew hunt fifteen minutes for a purse, one beguiling person suddenly located it in a dark corner where she had hidden it while drinking a glass of tea, and she exclaimed, "Little old ladies are funny, but they sure do get by with a lot."

Trying to trace owners, and locate lost items, takes a good deal of time. One missing purse had been taken to the Park Ranger at the top of the hill, and turned in there. The distraught owner was relieved when the Ranger managed to fight his way against the outgoing traffic and drive down the hill to bring it to her. Another was frantically hunting on a rainy night when a car returned to the theatre with it. When the rain started, the man of the party had grabbed a purse from the floor near his daughter's chair. After part of the trip home, he inquired and found that he had walked off with the purse of a stranger, so he returned. (It has rained out only nine "TEXAS" performances in seven years, but each down-pour brings its own stories.)

The ushers found one purse with a name and Corpus Christi address in a section where a traveling group had been sitting. After many telephone calls to motels, the owner was located and answered the telephone sleepily. After the inquiry, she was very indignant, complained about being awakened, saying she had her purse. Only after considerable urging did she look around, and learned, to her surprise, that her purse was missing.

Recently a patron with a dress of nubby fabric discovered a pair of bifocals hanging from her skirt, and their owner hasn't asked for them yet.

The lost and found story which will always be remembered, however, is the one of the teeth which were lost. A young lady came to inquire, saying that her mother had put the teeth into a paper sack after eating, and had left the sack about two weeks previously. She wanted to know whether they had been found, and if not, whether the trash were located where it could be searched. Unfortunately, there was no way to trace it.

Those who wish to leave their pillows and towels at home, or at the theatre, and come, may write "TEXAS", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2182 for tickets and for information. The cast will play nightly except Sundays through August 26, 1972.

TOUCHED MILLIONS

The S.S. HOPE has touched the lives of over three million people on four continents since her maiden voyage in 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. Butch Waller are the proud parents of a baby boy born Aug. 21 in Littlefield Hospital. He weighed eight and one-half pounds and was eighteen and one-half inches tall. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kropp of Flagg. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Phillips of Littlefield and Mrs. Willie Alexander. Great-great-grandmothers are Mrs. Texas Higgins of Littlefield and Mrs. Warren.

VISIT SISTER

Mrs. Liz Ball and Wendi of San Antonio spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Dub Holley and family.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

NUMBER 7 ON THE BALLOT (SJR 16)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article I of the Texas Constitution be amended by adding a new section to be known as Section 3a, to read as follows:

"Section 3a. Equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed, or national origin. This amendment is self-operative."

Sec. 2. The foregoing amendment to the constitution shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballot shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to provide that equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed, or national origin."

DPS Predicts Death Toll For Labor Day Weekend

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that statewide traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend will claim 48 lives.

The Labor Day holiday, as set by the National Safety Council, is a 78-hour period from 6 p. m. Friday, September 1 to midnight Monday, September 4.

At the close of the Labor Day period last year, a DPS tabulation showed that 41 persons had died in 34 traffic accidents. Late deaths pushed the toll to 43 persons killed in 36 accidents.

Speir said the DPS and local law enforcement agencies would be taking all possible steps to reduce the holiday death toll. A special "Operation Motorcade" will be in progress over the Labor Day weekend and tabulations of rural and urban fatal wrecks will be reported to the news media of Texas three times daily.

As is customary on major holidays, all available DPS patrolmen will be placed on duty throughout the state. They will make full use of radar and breath testing instruments in an effort to curtail the major causes of fatal accidents--excessive speed and drunk driving.

"These educational and enforcement programs will have an impact, but a great deal of the responsibility for accident reduction rests in the hands of individual Texans. I am appealing to all our citizens to join with us in saving lives by 'Driving Friendly,' both during the holiday and throughout the remainder of the year," Speir said.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

The sound of school bells this fall means a lot of things --the end of summer, completion of school immunizations, a little bit more relaxation for the state's mothers AND uneasiness in sending first graders off to school for the first time.

If that youngster is riding a bicycle to and from school, there are precautions you can take to help ease that fear of an accident, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Just as good health rules, such as immunizations, can erase the fear of disease, bicycle safety rules can release the anxieties of the daily to and from school routine, says the State Health Department.

A quarter-million children are entering first grade this year, and total school enrollment is expected to reach 2.8 million. This boils down to a lot of congestion during the morning and afternoon school rush.

If your child is planning to bike to school, planning in advance will lessen the possibility of injury.

Riders may reduce the chances of having an accident by:

1. Selecting the right size bike--one that is neither too big nor too little--and having it properly adjusted;
2. Keeping the bike in good mechanical condition;
3. Having the required safety equipment;
4. Obeying traffic rules and regulations; and
5. Following safe riding practices.

In Texas last year, there were 275 accidents reported to the Department of Public Safety which involved a bicycle or motor scooter colliding with a motor vehicle. There's no telling how many accidents involved only a bicycle and some other object such as a curb, a tree, or another bicycle.

Parents do have a strong responsibility in seeing that their children know and observe safety rules and that the bicycles they buy do fit the child. A properly-adjusted bike will allow the rider's toes to touch the ground when he is sitting on the seat. His knees shouldn't hit the handle bars when pedaling or turning.

There's another important thing a parent can do--travel the bicycle route with the child, pointing out trouble areas and observing to see that the child obeys traffic regulations and uses hand signals.

In checking the mechanical parts of the bicycle, brakes should get thorough test. Check the chain for damaged links and snug fit, and replace missing spokes and tighten loose ones.

Tires should have proper pressure and a good tread. Handle grips should fit snugly, and pedals shouldn't be worn. Oil the pedal bearings and spindles for proper movement.

City regulations may vary, but bicycles ridden at night should have headlights and tail lights or reflectors. A horn or bell is a good safety bet.

One of the major risks bicyclists take is failing to follow the same rules as motor vehicles. Riders must stop for all stop signs and obey all traffic lights and signals.

Far too often you see bicyclists riding on the wrong side of the street facing traffic. Like automobiles, the bicycle should keep to the right. If walking a bicycle, you should walk facing traffic as if you are a pedestrian.

A bike-rider should travel as directed on one-way streets and avoid weaving in and out of traffic. And when you're at a corner, don't crowd into the space between a car in the right lane and the curb. If that car turns right, you may get caught in a traffic pinch.

Your bell or horn can be used to warn those who may not see you. Be alert for pedestrians and give them the right-of-way.

How about intersections? Bicyclists are small and a lot harder to see than a car--especially in early-morning and evening--so slow down at intersections. It may be wise to get off and walk across busy streets. If entering the street from a driveway or alley, stop to see if the way is clear.

Hitching rides on automobiles or other moving vehicles is strictly forbidden. And, more than one rider on a bike also is an invitation to an accident.

Many accidents occur when riders ignore common sense safety rules. Studies have shown that many accidents occur to the "show off" and the "speed demon" who darts in and out of traffic.

Parents, you can check your youngster's riding habits and steer him toward safety. And there's no better time than right now, says the Health Department.

Vietnam Vets Are Eligible EOL Loans

Honorably discharged Vietnam-era veterans have been added to a category of prospective and established small businessmen eligible for Economic Opportunity Loan programs from the Small Business Administration.

Prior to addition of all Vietnam-era veterans, each veteran applying for EOL Loans was evaluated individually, according to SBA Lubbock District Director Philip J. O'Jibway. Now all veterans from the current Southeast Asian conflict are eligible, he explained.

The program was established to make it possible for the disadvantaged who have the capability and desire to own their own businesses to become part of the business mainstream. Any resident of the United States, Puerto Rico or Guam may apply for an EOL Loan if he meets the requirements.

Maximum of the EOL program has just been raised by Congress from $25,000 to $50,000.

For further information regarding the EOL program, especially the new veteran benefits, contact the Small Business Administration, Lubbock District Office, 712 Federal Office Building, 1205 Texas Avenue, (P. O. Box 10107) Lubbock, Texas 79408, telephone number (806)747-3711, ext. 462.

EVERYONE'S DEBT

"Nation's Business" puts it this way: "First, the 'good' news: The federal deficit for the year ended June 30 was about $13 billion less than expected--only $26 billion. (That amounts to about $125 for every man, woman and child in the United States.) Now the bad news: The new fiscal year deficit could well be another $10 billion higher than that. Someday, the whole thing will have to be paid off."

EXPANSION DELAYED

Expansion of Arlington Stadium to 45,000 for the 1973 season has been delayed by mutual agreement between Texas Rangers owner Bob Short and the City of Arlington until a detailed study of attendance figures for the first season is made. However, work will begin in early Fall on coupling the two general admission sections (bleachers) that will provide an additional 3,000 seats to give the stadium a 38,150 capacity.

TRAINING PROGRAMS

In addition to the famed hospital ship, Project HOPE operates health career training programs for the Navajos in Arizona and Mexican-Americans in Texas.

S.S. HOPE

The 15,000-ton hospital ship, S.S. HOPE, was termed "the single most effective step in presenting America as a warm and good friend" by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

EXCESSIVE LOUDNESS

Not only can excessively loud on-the-job noise subject employees to potential hearing hazards, it also can increase the likelihood of worker fatigue and cut efficiency, warns the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

Voice Of Business

by Arch Booth

ARE WE MAKING SUCCESS OBSOLETE?

We have all heard of playboys who squander in a few years fortunes their fathers worked hard to amass. Could an entire society do that? Well, why not? We are a rich nation, but only because earlier generations worked to accumulate that wealth. If we stop working and continue spending, we'll inevitably come to the bottom of the barrel.

An election year invites such thoughts. Especially an election year in which major candidates are recklessly promising more for nearly everyone, at a time when many Americans are questioning who they are and what they do and what it means.

Such musings are a luxury available only to those who have managed to satisfy their more immediate needs. But that doesn't make them any less cause for concern.

The American tradition of aspiration -- which is as great and basic a tradition as any in our culture -- seems threatened by this current passion for searching re-examinations.

Ethologists, psychologists and anthropologists quarrel with one another over whether the need to strive is genetic, cultural or some mixture of the two. Without getting into the argument, it is undeniable that the need for achievement -- for "success" -- has gripped Western man profoundly, especially in this country.

FREEDOM OF OPPORTUNITY

Upward mobility was a basic goal of those who settled America. Once fundamental political and religious freedoms were attained -- in fact, as they were being attained -- material wealth became the most common measure of success.

Many of the Founding Fathers preached the virtues of thrift, industry, initiative and self-reliance. It was a mixture of hard-headed pragmatism and the Calvinist philosophy. The early settlers had no accumulated capital to live on. They had to work or starve.

Ever since, the goal of economic success has been essential to the spectacular national development of America.

Now where are we? Is it true that the idea of success -- the idea of universal productive endeavor as a national virtue -- the idea of work itself -- is fast growing obsolete? Do we need new standards for measuring the good life?

Upward mobility -- like freedom in general -- is a two-edged sword. The chance to succeed is also the chance to fail. The more we venerate success, the harder we are driven to attain it, and the worse we feel if we don't. So the system can be hard on some individuals, particularly those whose abilities are not in keeping with their aspirations.

CONSIDER THE ALTERNATIVE

Critics indict the system because of this disadvantage. But what alternative is there? With adequate incentives for the able, total production increases and the entire society benefits. Without adequate incentives, there would be less available for any purpose, including aid to the non-working. The redistribution of wealth, after all, presupposes the existence of wealth to redistribute.

Like the playboy, we could stop working and live for a while off of what other generations have left us. But then what?

Is the wealth of America in trust to us, to be passed along to our children? Or do we have the moral right to blow it all on one big, generation-long party? And if we do, who will empty the ashtrays, after the party's over?

GET UP... AND GO

Does the alarm clock get you up? No, it merely tells you it's time to get up. Whether you get out of bed is a matter of discipline.

Church bells don't bring anyone to church. They simply remind Christians where we ought to be on a Sunday morning. The rest is a matter of discipline.

Such discipline, whether it calls you to work or to worship, is fundamentally a trait of your own character. It begins with earnestness, it is strengthened by habit, it is directed toward any responsibility or opportunity which you value.

The value a person puts upon God and his own soul usually determines whether he worships each Sunday, or now and then. Put another way: the man who knows what worship and inspiration can mean in his life never is hesitant to get up and go.

And, of course, discipline has special meaning for a Christian: those who lived and worked with Christ were DISCIPLES.
