Arab Guerillas Declare All-Out War

SPRING IS HERE

Office Seekers Out For Votes

By United Press International

You can tell spring is near when the political office seekers begin fanning out across the state like roving bands of pot and pan salesmen.

Tuesday a number of them displayed their wares, their specialities, their pet concerns and campaign issues.

Attorney General Crawford Martin talked about crime. U.S. Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., who seeks to replace Ralph Yarborough and become Texas' second Republican senator, talked about ethics in government. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., who is Yarborough's opponent in the May 2 Democratic primary, talked about the relation between inflation and high government spending.

Many Wearing Flag

Martin told the Groves, Tex., Chamber of Commerce many policemen have begun wearing the American flag as a shoulder patch on their uniforms.

"In my view," the attorney general said, "the display of the American flag on the uniforms worn by law enforcement officers is appropriate, both as an indication of respect for the flag itself and as a reminder that our flag symbolizes the American freedoms which peace officers of our country have dedicated their lives and energies to preserve."

Bush told the Orange Rotary Club one of the "foremost questions raised by young people today is that of why the federal government continues to operate under antiquated ethical standards. When young people see unethical behavior in high place they are deeply troubled—and rightfully so."

Sponsors Election Reform

Bish has introduced legislation to bring all policy-making branches of the government under stricter requirements for reporting income and personal wealth. He said he also sponsored an election reform act aimed at "clearing up any confusion that the public might have about campaign financing."

"This is no time for faint-hearted political compromises on the issue of ethical standards," Bush told the Rotarians. "It is time for decision and for action."

Bentsen promised to push for decision and action to curtail federal spending. "It's time to decentralize some of our problems by decentralizing some of our government," he told the Richardson Homebuilders Association.

"That means the federal government must return some of its tax revenue to the states and local governments, no strings attached."

Bentsen criticized the Nixon Administration for depending "too much on high interest rates and tight money to stem inflation."

SUMMER IN Winter has come to Pampa with balmy temperatures, lifting breezes and nearly cloudless skies. All of which sends thoughts Spring-ward and brings out hoes and rakes and seed catalogs, which pretty Pam Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, 2417 Duncan, is sun-squinting into. Knowledgable Pampans, however, are keeping their snow shovels handy. (Staff Photo)

Lefors, McLean Slated For New Postal Service

Lefors and McLean in Gray County will be among Panhandle towns eligible to receive a major new postal service that will expand home mail deliveries in small communities for the first time.

Congressman Bob Price announced today he had been notified by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount that under the program, persons living more than a quarter of a mile, but less than half a mile from post offices, who do not have city delivery at home, will be eligible for home delivery.

Previously, Price stated, they have been compelled to go to the post office for their mail.

The only requirement, Price stated, to obtain the the new service is that it must be requested of the postmaster, and a majority of those living in the area must desire the service.

The expansion will be achieved, the congressman said, by such steps as extending shorter rural routes and adding delivery stops to some rural routes. In other instances, "star" or contract routes may be used to provide the service.

Price said the postmaster general advised him that in some locations it may be necessary to establish new rural routes.

Communities in 25 Panhandle counties will be affected by the new service. Included will be Mobbeetie and Wheeler in Wheeler County, Miami in Roberts County, Groom, Panhandle, Skellytown and White Deer in Carson County; Fritch and Stinnett in Hutchinson County, and Clarendon and Hedley in Donley County.

Angry At Imposed Gun Restrictions

AMMAN (UPI) — Arab guerrillas have gone on alert in Jordan and warned of an "all-out civil war" if the government enforces newly announced restrictions aimed at taking away their guns.

Government officials brushed aside the guerrilla alarm and said the government proclamation Tuesday was merely a reaffirmation of previous decrees that have been loosely enforced.

No incidents were reported in the capital this morning.

The Amman governments announced Tuesday it was banning possession, firing and storage of arms, public demonstrations, political activities and unauthorized publications.

It was apparent the new restrictions were aimed at the guerrillas, who carry weapons openly, shoot them in the air to mourn dead comrades, hold public meetings and print propaganda sheets.

Al Fatah, the leading guerrilla organization, called the regulations "an attempt at liquidating the Palestinian revolution" and warned that endorcement could lead to "the shedding of Arab blood by Arab hands."

Angry Fatah Statement

"The Palestinian resistance holds the Jordanian government fully responsible for any drop of blood that is shed from the people and for pushing the country into all-out civil war instead of directing the rifles on the imperialist Zionist enemy," Al Fatah said in a broadcast.

"Is this a prelude to a political settlement or is it a prelude to a horrible massacre in Jordan?" the organization asked. "How do they want us to confront Zionist aggression without arms? Are we going to let them come and occupy our lands while we stand by unarmed?"

The measure constituted the most sweeping attempt to impose security measures since the November, 1968, clashes between the Jordanian army and Aab guerrillas that killed 100 persons but resulted in an accord on how far the guerrillas could go in Jordan.

30-YEAR-OLD VICTIM

Lawmen Seek Clues In Sadistic Murder

LAWTON, Okla. (UPI)—Civilian and Army police are trying today to pin down where the 30-year-old victim of a sadistic murder may have eaten his last meal.

Lawton detective Maj. Cleo Stout said knowing that would enable them to say within three hours when Army Spec. 5 Dale C. Sorenson of Tahawus, N.Y., was murdered.

Stout said preliminary autopsy reports indicated Sorenson ate his last meal sometime Friday night off the Ft. Sill military reservation where he was stationed. Stout said he was seen in a private club at 10 p.m. Friday.

Sorenson was found by two young boys Saturday afternoon propped against the wall of a Lawton church. One of his hands had been severed at the wrist, he had been stabbed 15 times and Stout said the killer had tried to behead the soldier.

Stout said his detectives were working around the clock to solve the crime. He said they had "one name" that might be a prime suspect but declined to release further information.

"We don't want to scare him off," Stout said.

Tuesday, detectives and members of the Army's criminal investigation team interviewed all but 25 of the 180 men in Sorenson's division. Stout planned to finish those interviews today.

"Nothing has turned up that's been real helpful," the detective chief said of the interviews. "They all seemed to like him. He drank some and was a real good talker if he'd been drinking. But when he was not drinking I guess you'd call him kind of a loner."

North Troops Attack Paratrooper's Base

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese Rangers intercepted a North Vietnamese regiment in the Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border and killed 79 of them in fighting reported today.

Far to the north near South Vietnam's northern coast, guerrillas broke into a U.S. paratrooper base early today and battled the defenders for two hours before helicopter gunships drove them off.

Military spokesmen said the Mekong Delta fighting tuesday involved another attempt by the 88th North Vietnamese Regiment to take My Tho, the delta's second largest city and headquarters of the South Vietnamese 7th Division.

In the last four days of fighting in the same area, South Vietnamese irregular troops reported killing 117 members of the North Vietnamese 88th Regiment.

A prisoner captured by South Vietnamese irregulars last weekend identified the unit and said it was advancing on My Tho, military sources said.

The Rangers suffered no casualties in the latest fighting, military spokesmen said. But South Vietnamese irregulars earlier lost 22 killed and 25 wounded in delta action.

Rangers reported finding 39 bodies of North Vietnamese in a sweep of the battleground today. It brought to 79 the number killed in the latest action.

One prisoner was taken and several weapons captured.

The fighting early today near the northern coast broke out as guerrillas attacked a company of the 101st Airborne Division 40 miles northwest of Da Nang.

Three men of the division were killed and 10 others were wounded in the fighting. The attackers left two dead and losses among the South Vietnamese troops at the camp were described as light.

The raiders pounded the camp with 40 rocket grenades in the assault.

Eight! Too Late!

"Come, sweet eight!"

That was the soulful plea Patrolmen Stan Brown and Roger Scott heard last night when they moved into the backroom of a Maple St. Pool hall.

It was just a routine drop-in visit, but the officers said they found a crap game in progress.

When they first went in all they heard was voices—and then, that plea for "come, sweet eight!"

As they got to the table, the dice had just stopped rolling.

There on the two white cubs with the little black dots— was the sum total the dice roller had called for — an "8."

It seemed like a shame to break it up at that point but the law is the law and the officers confiscated $40 from the center of the table and arrested six men on faming charges.

The dice game participants drove their own cars to the police station where they were released on $15 bond each pending arraignment in municipal court.

Judge Don Lane said the sextet failed to show in court this morning and their bonds were forfeited.

SHATTERS TRADITION

Prince Charles Takes Seat In Parliament

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles took his seat in the House of Lords today, prepared as Britains's future king to shatter royal tradition and speak out on national and world issues.

The 21-year-old heir to the crown, clad in scarlet robes trimmed with Ermine, circled the packed chamber and took a seat to the right of the throne in accord with a law that dates back to King Henry VIII.

Princess Anne, his sister, was there as an honored guest. So was Princess Margaret, his aunt. But his father, Prince Philip, was en route to New York and his mother, Queen Elizabeth, stayed away, following tradition.

Charles was the sixth Prince of Wales to be introduced in Parliament in 285 years. His immediate predecessor in the quaint ceremony was the presdent Duke of Windsor, who took his seat 52 years ago.

After several minutes next to the throne, Charles removed his robes and moved to the front crossbench, which has no political ties.

It is from there he will debate and vote on his country's laws whenever he chooses. Buckingham Palace sources said Charles planned to take an active part in debates on the issues he champions.

These include the responsibilities of youth, social welfare, conservation, pollution and the problems of wales.

An excellent speaker graced with style and wit, he flavors his words with the forthrightness that has become Prince Philip's trademark.

Japan Puts Satellite Into Orbit

UCHINOURA, Japan (UPI)—After four years of trying, Japan put a satellite in earth orbit today and therby became the fourth nation in space.

A 16-foot Lambda rocket lifted off the launching pad at 1:25 p.m. with an 84-pound payload, shaped like a basketball, and within 20 minutes radar trackers reported the missile on target.

Official confirmation that earth orbit had been attained came at 2:50 from space officials in Washington. The Japanese withheld the announcement until they picked up the satellite on their own radar.

The instrument satellite went into an orbit ranging all the way from 265 to 1,500 miles above the earth, on a path that takes it over South America, Africa, Communist China and Japan.

Today's success followed four failures over the past four years, the most recent in September, 1969. The United States, the Soviet Union and France are Japan's recesses in space.

Stafford Undecided About Senate Seat

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)— Astronaut Tom Stafford said Tuesday he was very much interested in issues confronting Oklahoma and the nation but declined to say whether he might be interested enough to consider a seat in the U.S. Senate.

Rumors have floated around Oklahoma Stafford would seek the Republican nomination for the Senate against incumbent Henry Bellmon. Bellmon is in his first term in Congress.

"Oklahoma is definitely where the action is," the native Oklahoman said, "but right now I wouldn't say I was in the race or was not in the race."

The Weatherford, Okla., aviator said he was in the space program another two years and was interested in what he would do when that was over.

He said of all the places he had seen in his travels he still liked Oklahoma the best.

County To Study Insurance Credit

Hospital emloyes' credit for service prior to the effective date of Gray County's retirement plan, Jan. 1, will be discussed when county commissioners meet at 10 a.m. Thursday.

The commission, states County Judge S.R. Lenning Jr., needs to establish some provision whereby hospital employes will still be listed as employes eligible for the county retirement fund in the event a hospital district is formed at a later date.

A large part of the five per cent of annual incomes that the county pays into employes retirement funds comes from hospital employes, according to Lenning.

This fund is retained in the Texas County and District Retirement System when service is terminated to off-set prior credits to all retiring employes.

Other items on the agenda include consideration of requests by District Judge Grainger McIlhany for a secretary and a District Clerk Helen Sprinkle who has asked for a deputy clerk in her office.

Bills will be paid, and treasurer's and welfare reports approved.

Election Probe To End Today

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—A federal grand jury was to finish hearing testimony today in connection with alleged irregularities surrounding the re-election bid of Rep. W. S. "Bill" Heatly, D-Paducah.

Leon Williams told the grand jury Tuesday he lot his job as director of the Quanah, Tex., Chamber of Commerce the day after he announced he would oppose Heatly in the Democratic primary.

He said his wife, a home demonstration agent for the Texas A&M Extension Service, was in danger of losing her job too.

Heatly's Republican oponent, Zack Fischer of Memphis, Tex. I said his ties with the First National Bank of Memphis were cut. He said after he announced for office, banker Jack I. Davis asked him to withdraw his accounts and end all business connections with the bank.

Fischer has offices across the street from the bank and is a former business partner in the bank.

Heatly is acknowledged as one of the most powerful men in the Texas Legislature. The grand jury is trying to determine if the 1968 Civil Rights Act was violated in Heatly's behalf. The act prohibits economic and political pressure being brought against candidates.

It provides a $1,000 fine and a one-year prison term for anyone "who intimidates or interferes with . . any person because he is or has been . . qualifying or campaigning as a candidate for elective office."

Fischer and Williams were among 10 witnesses summoned to appear before the grand jury. Heatly said he was not subpoenaed to testify.

Brothers Enter Innocent Pleas

LONDON (UPI)—Two brothers pleaded innocent today to charges they killed Mrs. Alex McKay and demanded $2.4 million kidnap ransom from her husband, the acting publisher of the News of the World.

A magistrate ordered Arthur Hosein, 33, and Nizamodeen Hosein, 23, retained in custody after there was no application for bail in their two-minute hearing.

The Hosein brothers—the elder is a naturalized citizen and the younger comes from Trinidad—were picked up for questioning in the case last Saturday after the search for Mrs. McKay turned to their farm north of London.

Police said some of Mrs. McKay's belongings had been found there since her disappearance from her Wimbledon home Dec. 29.

Hawaii Studies Abortion Laws

HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii today was within one step of becoming the first state to permit any abortion performed by a physician.

The State Senate, by a 17-7 margin, voted Tuesday night to repeal Hawaii's 101-year-old criminal abortion law, which forbids all abortions except those deemed necessary to save a mother's life.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives, where it is believed to have a fair chance of passage. Gov. John A. Burns is expected to let it become law without his signature if the House passes it.

Although other states have liberalized their abortion laws in recent years, Hawaii would be the first to make the operation purely a decision to be made by the mother and her doctor without the intervention of criminal law.

Any abortions performed by persons not medically qualified would be prosecuted under the state's statutes governing medical practice, if the bill becomes law.

Commission Established To Determine Teaching Ethics

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A new commission on ethics in the teaching profession has decided it will draft regulations concerning the competency of secondary school teachers, but just how far these regulations will go will not be known for six months.

Once the rules are adopted, however, the 15-member commission will have the authority to recommend suspension or revoking of a teacher's certificate if a teacher is found to be violating the regulations.

The commishion will act in an advisory capacity to State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar in cases where complaints are filed against teachers.

"We certainly don't have the right to take away from the local board the right to hire and fire," Edgar said at the commission's inaugural meeting Tuesday.

But Edgar and members of ther revoking a teacher's certhe commihsion questioned whetificate would be tantamount to dismissal.

The members agreed actual teaching competency must be included in the professional standards established by the commission.

"One of the reasons frequently given for dismissal or nonrenewal of a teacher's contract is incompetency," said Dr. John W. McFarland, who was elected chairman of the commission. McFarland is a professor and dean of education at the University of Texas at El Paso.

The first meeting of the commission dealt primarily with organization. Members agreed to put off drafting the code of ethics for later meetings.

The commission said it would hold its first in a series of public meetings in April. A draft of the new code was to be submitted to all teachers by mid August and a referendum held by next February. The commission could then act to put the regulations into effect by Sept. 11, 1971.

The commission was established by the last legislature.

City Manager Charles Hill and B.M. Wofford, utilities director, went to a noon luncheon meeting of the PRPC in Holiday Inn East.

A subcommittee has been studying the Pampa request for funds to implement $750,000 in bond money voted in 1966 for construction of the plant to treat water from the Canadian River Dam at Lake Meredith.

The committee was due to file its report on the Pampa application at today's meeting. Hill and Wofford submitted the grant application to the Panhandle planning body last Jan. 28.

The following day they went to Fort Worth where the application also was filed with regional Housing and Urban Development officials.

City Manager Hill said this morning before leaving for Amarillo that if favorable action is received from the Panhandle group, the [illegible]n will be sent to t[illegible]orth HUD office and [illegible]Washington for final ap[illegible]al or rejection.

Total cost of the Pampa water treatment plant is set at $1,411,400, Hill stated.

With the $860,000 available and the $625,000 federal aid grant, Hill said the city will be able to build the plant and construct necessary lines to tie in with Pampa's current distribution system.

If normal channel procedures are followed, Hill said construction could be started on the project within a couple of months and the plant should be ready for operation by midsummer of 1971.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS Playhouse, an occasional series of 90-minute original dramas for television, had its debut a little more than three years ago. From the start, it was ambitious and determinedly contemporary, trying to come to grips with the way people live today. But it has been in the last year that the playhouse has really found its groove.

The latest production, "The Day Before Sunday," viewed Tuesday with Uta Hagen as a career woman who is forced to reassess her way of life and domination of friends and relatives, is excellent proof of the Playhouse's increasing soundness of footing. It was dramatic, yet it is not one-dimensional. There is the natural humor that life offers, even at its most trying moments. There is a universal theme, a contemporary flavor, a sublime performance by Miss Hagen.

As I say, the ambition and honorable approach of the Playhouse were undeniable from the start. Yet, to this reviewer, it somehow failed to click into place for a while. The first production, "The Final War of Olly Winter," about a Negro soldier in Vietnam, was felt, overpraised—perhaps for its intention and the desire to help get "CBS Playhouse" off the ground. Alas, these are not sound reasons to praise anything. And my own feeling was that it gave the series a false sense of security.

There followed more plays—"Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night," "Dear Friends," "My Father and My Mother," "Secrets," "The People Next Door," "Saturday Adoption." Most were well worth watching, and their contribution would be welcomed by any network. Yet, in sum, they registered with a certain over-all heaviness, a lack of the human comedy amid the determined drama, a tract-like delivery of messages.

The welcome breakthrough, I think, came a year ago this month with "The Experiment." If it was not the best play of the series, it at least finally seemed more naturally human—drama mixed with the absurdity and laughter of life.

After "The Experiment" came "Shadow Game"—no big message play, but an earthy and superbly acted tale of people trapped overnight in an office during a power failure. Then came "Appalachian Autumn," about a poor but proud mining family and a VISTA volunteer who comes into their life. And the last Playhouse production before Tuesday was "Sadbird," a very good tale of a young man torn between hippiedom and the establishment—and his entry into the business world. It was a wry modern story with proper irony.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—A shift in monetary policy, when it comes, is likely to be moderate and gradual in comparison with the decisive reversal of 1966-67 Standard & Poor's observes. A warn initial response by the stock marked likewise will not develop into a runaway market advance, "and there should ample opportunity for re-establishing investment positions on an aggressive basis after the fact," the firm adds. Meanwhile, a broad sideways market formation is most likely.

To make money at this point, an investor should concentrate on surviving and preserving capital, even if this involves selling stocks at a loss, the Dines Letters notes. The "red-hot, go-go funds of the 1960s are now being wrung out," the firm says, and their panic selling is leading to catastrophic declines in individual stocks. The wise investor will put stops under most of his boldings to limit losses and ensure cash with which to buy at the market's bottom, the analyst says.

One rule of the market is that "the degree to which anxious, unhappy or impatient holders can be shaken out of a bottoming stock has a direct bearing upon how high it may move subsequently." Though this is no time to jump into the "more violent bull-bear conflicts," it is a time for quiet buying of an increasing number of issues, "picking up loose pieces as the general market churns," the firm says.

New York Mayor Discusses Use Of Marijuana

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay said Monday he doesn't know whether any of his teen-age daughters has experimented with marijuana, but he "wouldn't be in the least surprised" if they had.

Lindsay was questioned on the subject after a City Hall meeting in which he had conferred on narcotics with Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Howard J Samuels. Samuels' 17-year-old son, Howard, is currently before the Criminal Court's youth counseling board because he was found with a pipe containing ashes of hashish, a marijuana derivative.

The mayor was asked whether he had discussed the drug problem with his daughters Katherine, 19, Margaret, 16, and Anne, 14.

"Yes, in general terms," he replied. "They are very knowledgeable, very sophisticated.

"There is hypocrisy on the subject in society. The old folks sit around and drink alcohol and smoke cigarettes. The kids question it."

When he was asked whether he thought the law banning marijuana should be repealed, Lindsay said, "Not necessarily. It's too complicated to answer that way."

Lindsay also has a fourth child, John, 9.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. —A feud bbween big city and rural school districts over the cost of education is expected to go to federal court soon in a major lawsuit.

Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston school boards questioned the "financial fairness" of collection and distribution of the state's minimum foundation funds.

They claim that the dostribution formula favors rural districts. A bill to correct this brought a storm of protest from rural districts during last year's legislative session. Best the legislature could come up with under the circumstances as a bill creating an 18-member committee to recommend "a fair and equitable basis for a division of ofinancial resonsibilities between the state and the various local districts of Texas."

Suit will seek statewide uniform property tax valuations. Action is due to be directed against the State Board of Education.

Meanwhile, the Texas Research League pointed out that aid to local school districts is the most expensive obligation of state government and most important determinant of future tax requirements.

Expansion of the foundation school program and teacher pay raises voted last year will increase state expenditures for public elementary and secondary education by $345 million in the current biennium and will produce an additional 50 per cent increase in total state costs during the next six years.

Cumulative total increase in state aid for a six-year period is calculated at $1.6 billion in new state funds. Higher salaries account for 65 per cent of this.

Research League predicts that the legislature will have to raise $298 million in new funds for public schools next year, $270 million more in 1973 and $186 million more in 1975.

LICENSING EMPHASIZED—Department of Public Safety is launching a statewide program emphasozing driver licensing. A study showed that many of the serious traffic accidents involved unlicensed drivers.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said the drive is in conjunction with Gov. Preston Smith's coordinated traffic safety program. Studies revealed that 9.6 per cent of drivers involved in fatal accidents were unlicensed. Here's what the program will undertake immediately:

To urge all drivers to see that they are properly licensed.

Provide for periodic, frequent license checks by patrolmen.

Develop special training schools for those who need more knowledge and skill to qualify for driver licenses.

Urge employers in large plants and business establishments to encourage employes to obtain proper licenses, particularly those moving to Texas from other states.

Safety groups and local agencies will be called on to aid.

TICKETS LINE UP— Opposition is assured in virtually all statewide races in either the primaries or the general election. Here's how the May 2 primary ballots will look:

DEMOCRATIC: Senate; Ralph Yarborough and Lloyd Bentsen Jr.: Governor: Preston Smith (and maybe Ralph Hall, depending on court action). Lieutenant Governor: Ben Barnes; Attorney General: Crawford Martin and David Brown; Comptroller: Robert Calvert; Treasurer: Jesse James; Land Commissioner: Jerry Sadler, Fred Williams and Bob Armstrong.; Agriculture Commission: John C. White; Railroad Commissioner: Ben Ramsey and Connie Lawson; Supreme Court (place 1): Jack Pope; Supreme Court (place 2): Ruel Walker; Supreme Court (place 3): Hawthorne Phillips, Matt Davis and James G. Denton; Court of Criminal Appeals: John F Onion Jr. for presiding judge. Court of Criminal Appeals: Earl W. Smith and Truman Roberts.

GOP: Senate; George Bush and Robert Morris; Governor; Paul Eggers and Roger Martin: Lieutenant Governor: Byron Fullerton: Attorney General: Edward Yturri; Comptroller: S.L. Abbot; Treasurer: Robert Koennecke; Land Commissioner: Harry Trippet; Agriculture Commission; Daniel C. Heath;

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—In separate opinions, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin settled the debate over when the terms of two Texas judges expire. Both Judge Joseph Cobb Jr. of Nueces County Court-at-Law No. 2 and Judge Paul Huser of the 155th District Court at Hallettsville will have to stand for election this year, he ruled.

John's court was created by a 1967 law that set his first term from 1968 to 1972. But Martin said that the Constitution provides that county judges be elected in 1966 ,1970, 1974 and so forth.

Huser was elected in 1968 to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Lee Dittert. In 1967, the Legislature changed the boundaries of the 155th District, and the question was whether the change meant that Huser's 1968 election was for a new four-year term. Martin ruled that the change didn't effect the term, and that Huser's term would expire at the end of this year.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Motion picture employes are subject to regulation by the Texas minimum wage act of 1970.

Where city and county enter into a contract for the county tax assessor-collector to act for the city, property in the city must be assessed at the same value as for the county and state purposes. (Collection fee must not exceed one per cent of collections.)

Texas Optometry Board executive secretary is a board employe rather than an executive head and is to be paid travel expenses in line with rates set out in the general appropriations bill.

COURTS SPEAK— Texas Supreme Court was called on to decide whether Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is eligible to run for governor in view of a constitutional provision that a legislator must serve out his term before running for an office created or for which the pay was raised, during his tenure. (Hall voted with other legislators to increase the governor's salary from $40,000 to $55,000 a year.)

Supreme Court finalized judgment that Army Sgt. Albert Buckman Wharton III is sole heir to the $45 million Electra Waggoner estate.

Court held that the City of San Antonio acquired title to two floodwater and sedimentation control easements in condemnation proceedings against the San Antonio River Authority.

It concluded that the City of Houston and Houston Independent School District cannot collect delinquent taxes and penalties from Alamo Barge Lines Inc. on tugs and barges owned from 1953 through 1962.

Arguments before the High Court were set for March 4 on the suit between Tenneco Oil Company and Padre Drilling Company Inc. over a wildcat oil well in Zavala County. Tenneco argues that Padre Company is not entitled to payments because the well was not completed.

District Court here granted a temporary restraining order to stop the City of Galveston from allowing treasurer hunters to excavate in Pelican Park, citing the new antiquities code.

SHORT SNORTS—Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. has dissolved 25 charters of "fraternal orgnizations" after they failed to comply with a request for information about their operations.

State is seeking $425,000 in federal pollution control funds under a plan that would make industries responsible for cleaning up any oil spills on state waters.

A grant of $74,012 went to Community Council of Comal and Blanco counties for health, housing and general services under the anti-poverty program.

A federal grant of $105,400 has been approved for Kerrville Municipal Park development.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Myopic millionaire Mr. Magoo has risen from the dead to star in a television special Feb. 15.

After his demise six years ago, his cackling voice —in the person of Jim Backus —danced on the little cartoon character's grave. Jim swore never to provide Magoo's dialogue even in after life.

But Backus is only human, which Magoo is not, and a generous offer of money persuaded Backus he had been hasty in reviling Magoo.

Therefore Backus will be Sam Magoo" Sunday night.

"The show is a nostalgic journey into the folklore and roots of this great and good democracy," said Backus, pounding the table in a mock fit of patriotism. "We will travel through magnificent traditions of our beloved nation from the time of its discovery by Leif Erickson."

Rumbles A Few Notes

Backus rumbled a few notes from "America the Beautiful" and fell silent.

Why, after so many years and dollars working with Magoo, did Backus turn his back on the little cartoon character? Was he forgotten in Magoo's will?

"Not at all," said the silver-haired Backus.

"I swore off Magoo because he was an occupational hazard. I was having a problem of identity. The same thing happens with ventriloquists. They develop a split personality.

"One ventriloquist tried to burn his dummy and finally committed suicide. The puppet had stolen his personality.

"Take Edgar Bergen, he isn't funny without Charlie McCarthy or one of his other dummies.

"I became so identified with Magoo that when I played Las Vegas a year ago I had to bring forth the Magoo voice for the brown shoe trade and the surgical stocking crowd at the dinner show."

Traits Don't Rub Off

All of Magoo's traits have not rubbed off on Backus. His eyesight is still good and his bank account almost as healthy as Magoo's.

But when he laughs, it is pure Magoo. He delivers some of his comic lines in Magoo's voice.

Perhaps what bugs Backus more than anything is that Magoo is more famous than he.

"You know what a common quiz show question is?" Backus said truculently. "They ask what Mr. Magoo's first name is. For the record, it is Quincy. The World Almanac says his voice is the second best known in the world.

"But what do I care," Jim concluded. "I'm going to make millions manufacturing maternity dresses in high school colors."

Avalanche Engulfs Ski Resort

VAL D'ISERRE, France (UPI)—A powerful avalanche engulfed a three-story youth hostel at this famous ski resort Tuesday morning. Unconfirmed reports said 10 of the estimated 210 persons inside were killed.

Three hours after the slide, rescuers had pulled 60 persons from the building, 18 of them seriously hurt.

One of the worst snowstorms ever to hit this Alpine winter resort hampered the efforts of rescue teams to reach the hostel from outlying points. About a dozen doctors who had been on ski vacations pitched in to help the injured.

Officials said the avalanche swept down from the Dome Mountain and over the stone hostel "like a bulldozer" shortly after 8 a.m. The hostel is run for guests under 25 by the Union of Fresh Air Centers, a French organization.

So forceful was the sudden snowslide that it swept automobiles as far as 150 yards from their parking places around the hostel.

The hostel was filled nearly to capacity, for this is the height of the winter ski season. Val D'Iserre is the home of French Olympic ski champion Jean Claude Killy, considered the world's premier skiier.

TOILET LOCKOUT

BOSTON (UPI)—State Rep. Charles T. Tagman, claiming the subject seems insignificant until one is left without a coin, urged the Joint Commerce and Labor Committee Tuesday to take favorable action on his bill to ban pay toilets.

The legislation was opposed by a spokesman for the Nik-O-Lok Co., makers of toilet coin locks, who said the locks were necessary to keep deviates out of toilets and prevent assaults in rest rooms.

"It's a small price to pay for the convenience," the spokesman said.

Tagman countered: "It's not like a vending machine where if you don't have a coin, you just walk away."

Foreign News

Matter of Conscience

Anti-government riots in Manila are still the talk of the town—and the object of wild rumors. Fearing mobs will invade their homes, some residents of swank subdivisions in "millionaires row" suburban Makati are reported to have moved to moderately-priced apartments in Manila. Others are said to have put in urgent requests for firearms with military authorities.

Nasser to Moscow

London diplomatic reports say President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is to visit Moscow again soon for more talks with Soviet leaders. These reports say the Russians want to find out how firmly Nasser is the control, and that Nasser wants more from the Soviets than merely defensive arms. The Arabs also are said to want Soviet pilots and missile operators.

Peasant Revolt

Food shortages in Romania could get worse before the winter is out. Reports from Bucharest say the collectivized peasants there have, in effect, gone on strike and refused to harvest the nation's potato crop, which,as in all peasant nations, is a Romanian staple. Communist Romania is a rebel against dictates from Moscow but liberalization in home rule is not a part of it. The government's response is expected to be new and heavy pressure on the farmers.

Okinawa Windfall

American businessmen in Okinawa may be in for a special bonus when the island returns to Japan in 1972. It is expected they will be treated just like Japanese businessmen, giving them automatic entry into the lucrative and government-protected Japanese market. They thus would have an advantage over U.S. mainland-based businesses whose investment possibilities in Japan are limited.

Jackie's Letters Withdrawn From New York Auction Sale

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four Jacqueline Onassis letters stolen from the files of former Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick were withdrawn Tuesday from an auction sale at which they were expected to bring $500 to $1,000 each.

Gilpatrick learned of the theft of the letters from locked files at his Manhattan law firm from a reporter who called to question him about the sale of the letters at the Charles Hamiltin Auction Galleries March 12. Gilpatrick is reported to have checked his file of Mrs. Onassis' letters and found it empty.

Hamilton, an autograph expert, said he agreed to turn the letters over to city detectives who will deliver them to Gilpatrick. Descriptions of the letters will be withdrawn from the catalogue, which is still in proof state. On his part, Hamilton said, Gilpatrick has stated his intention of prosecuting the consignor.

Gilpatrick has identified the man who brought the letters to Hamilton as a former employe of Gilpatrick's law firm, Cravath, Swaine and Moore, according to Hamilton.

"He (the consignor) told me he was acting in behalf of the owner, and was a very intelligent and knowledgeable man," Hamilton said. "I assumed the owner to be Mr. Gilpatrick. I told him the letters would get a lot of publicity and probably bring a high price. He wasn't afraid of the publicity."

The letters spanned the years 1963-68.

Heatly Opponents Tell Of Pre-Filing Irregularities

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)— Rep. W. S. "Bill" Heatly, D-Paducah, said he was not subpoenaed to appear before Tuesday's session of a grand jury called into special session to investigate "alleged election irregularities" concerning Heatly,s re-election bid.

But two opponents of Heatly were scheduled to testify.

Democrat Leon Williams and Republican Zack Fischer said they received political and economic pressure since they announced they would oppose Heatly.

Williams, of Quanah, Tex., filed last month to oppose Heatly in the Democratic primary. They day after he filed he said his wife was asked to leave her job as a home demonstration agent for the Texas A&M Extension Service. He said he also was asked to quit his post as director of the Quanah Chamber of Commerce.

"They said my wife would have to quit because she was on the state payroll," Williams said. "They said the state would be subsidizing a candidate if she continued to work there.

CITING THE COLORS

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—A 19-year-old student was ordered out of his District Court hearing Tuesday because he was dressed in clothing which resembled the American flag.

Timothy Sample of Boothbay Harbor had been ordered to appear because his car is painted with red and white stripes and stars on a field of blue.

An additional charge of defiling the flag was lodged against Sample and he was ordered to appear today in "appropriate attire."

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI)—Two armed bandits held up a bank messenger as he entered the Brotherhood National Bank's drive-in facility Monday. The robbers made off with a brown paper bag containing sandwiches for the drive-in tellers.

Plan Guarantees Everyone An Income

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., proposed Tuesday a $20 billion plan to guarantee every American family an income. It would provide $3,600 a year to a family of four when fully effective.

Under the Harris plan, cosponsored by seven other Senate Democrats, the federal government would foot the bill for all welfare, relieving states of a cost totaling $4.4 billion a year.

"This would let states keep more of their own money," Harris told a news conference.

The plan would go into effect over a three-year period, with needy families receiving a minimum income of $2,520 in the fiscal year starting next July 1; $3,060 the next year, and $3,600 and following year.

Under President Nixon's welfare reform program, a minimum income of $1,600 would be guaranteed a family of four.

Like Nixon's program, Harris's contains a requirement that able-bodied men and women—except the mothers of young children—would be required to work or take job training.

Cosponsoring the plan with Harris were Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.; Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii; Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio; Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.; Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va.

WE'RE GETTING YOUNGER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The median age in the United States is 27.7 years, according to the census bureau. This means there are as many people above that age as there are below it.

In the 1960 census, the bureau said, the median age was 29.5 years. During the past decade, the agency said, the number of people between the ages of 14 and 24 increased by 44 per cent —from 27.2 million in 1960 to 39.1 million last year.

Representatives To Discuss Food Programs For Needy

AUSTIN (UPI) — County officials from 34 North Texas counties today were asked to meet in Fort Worth Feb. 17 with representatives of the State Welfare Department to discuss food donation programs for the needy in those counties.

The meeting is the last in series of sessions called by the Welfare Department after a federal court in Dallas ordered food programs for the poor started in 89 Texas counties.

The court ordered the U.S. Department of Agriculture to begin a commodity distribution program in every Texas county that had no food program. It gave the department 60 days from Jan. 5 to set up the programs.

The Fort Worth meeting was originally scheduled for Jan. 20, but was postponed because of icy conditions.

Food Stamps To Be Numeralized In Feb.

DALLAS (UPI)—Federal officials will begin adding individual serial numbers on food stamps in mid February in an effort to cut down on thefts.

John J. Slaughter, southwest regional director for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's food and nutrition service, said the new numbering system will make stolen coupons easier to trace.

In the past only the coupon booklets—and not each stamp—carried serial numbers.

CIVIC SARCASM

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—A petition urging a change in this city's name from Pittsfield to Rip Van Winkle City was presented to the City Council Tuesday because of its allegedly lethargic housing policies.

"In the field of housing, the city has been sleeping for the past 20 years, recently woke up, yawned a couple of times, then went back to sleep," the petition from a group of citizens said.

Crazy World Of Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

The National Bureau of Standards deals a good deal in designations for measurements of various things, from megatons for bombs to milliseconds for electronic pulses.

Its publication, the NBS Standard, normally is devoted to pretty serious stuff about the field and the people involved in it.

A fellow named Ken Armstrong sort of livened things up with a contribution titled "Standards for Various and Sundry Inconsequential Trivia," playing on some of the words in the standards language.

For example, he says that one boo squared is one boo boo.

Ten goats to the minus-0 power: One nanogoat.

Two gorics equal one paregoric.

Ten phones to the minus-6 power: One microphone.

Ten pins to the 12th power equal one terapin.

And, of course, one no squared is a no-no.

Wayward Words

President Nixon, news conference:

"With regard to Vietnam, we are watching that situation closely, particularly with regard to inflation. The inflation—I mean—we were talking about inflation. I mean infiltration."

Ralph Nader's "Raiders" now have been joined on the consumer-protection battlefield by "Banzhaf's Bandits."

The commander if John F. Banzhaf III, an associate law professor at George Washington University in the nation's capital and adviser to activist students who believe the buyer should by no means have to beware.

Testifying at a Senate hearing, Banzhaf said the Nixon administration's proposed consumer protection legislation would violate the truth-in-packaging law because it "is a product packed in a box bearing a very deceptive label."

"The box also has a false bottom," he said, "lots of stuffing and little product, and upon a longer examination actually begins to smell."

Inflation must realy be pinching in Missouri, judging from a bit of intelligence from Democratic Rep. William L. Hungate of that state.

The Lewis County Democratic Committee has a fund-raising dinner coming up in Canton on Tuesday—The entree: Beans; the price: 99 cents.

Teenager Recaptures Flapjack Title

LIBERAL, Kan. (UPI)—A high-stepping teen-ager gave America the world flapjack flipping championship Tuesday over the girls from England.

Kathleen West, who lost the title last year when she tumbled and fell a few yards short of the finish line gave Liberal the 21st annual international Shrove Tuesday pancake racing championship.

Miss West maneuvered the 415-yard Kansas course, flipping her pancakes all the while, in 59.1 seconds. Defending champion Sylvia Winstanley won the Olney, England, half of the race earlier today in one minute, 11 seconds—seven seconds slower than last year.

The previous Liberal best was 1:04.5. Olney was shooting for its third consecutive international title.

Miss West never trailed in Liberal, flipping her flapjack the required three times and gaining speed as she far outdistanced the field.

Liberal's victory left the English still holding an 11-10 edge in the series.

District Judge Reserves Rights For Texans To See Any Movie

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)— A Wichita Falls district judge ruled Monday an adult in Texas has the right to see any type of movie he desires.

The ruling by 89th District Judge Temple Driver came in response to a request for a permanent injunction against the Cine Arts Theatre, from whose management a stag film was confiscated last month.

Driver said the ruling meant a portion of Texas' obscenity laws are unconstitutional, based on a recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions in recent years that have indicated that censors and prosecutors have to be very careful bout telling the public which movies it can or can't see.

"I would like to add that as far as I'm personally concerned I find that this type of movie is very repulsive to me personally and I deplore the viewing of such a movie.

"But in view of the recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions, Sandler vs. Georgia, and other cases the law now appears to be that an adult person can see almost any type of movie that he wants to see and that he will have to be the one to make the decision as to whether or not seeing that movie violates his Christian ethics."

The theatre, located in a shopping center, had been enjoined from showing the film, a privately made stag movie. The ruling in effect turned down a request for a permanent injunction.

St. Valentine Day Cards Receive Humor, Romance Booster Shots

NEW YORK (UPI)—Valentine's Day is to laugh. And laugh and —laugh.

Dan Cupid, with his romantic notions probably doesn't like the idea of greeting card makers injecting so much humor into the contemporary Valentines

But he hasn't lost the whole battle. Half of the greetings to be sent Feb. 14 still are of the tender or sentimental type. These aim to make the heart go pittity-pat, pittity-pat and maybe pattity-pit (which is what a heart sounds like when it skips a beat).

The other half of the 500 million Valentines are sure to make recipient go tee-hee or haw-haw or ho-ho. They will tickle ribs and probably not interfere with heartbeats. They may poke you in proboscis or eye. Some are three feet tall!

The National Association of Greeting Card Publishers says the big trend this year toward the fun-type Valentine greeting depends a lot on what gag writers call the "sudden switch" punch line.

A big colorful Valentine's verse illustrates the point:

"You've crept into my mind, you've crept into my heart, you've crept into my soul. Happy Valentine's Day, you big creep."

Others of the rib-tickling type:

—"Valentine, tell me again exactly what our relationship is. Mother wants to know."

—"What can I say to a Valentine who has so much. . .charm, personality and talent, except: We've got a lot in common."

Some of the fun Valentines are modern day versions of vinegar Valentines which really poured it on to the recipient in no uncertain terms a hundred years ago. A vinegar greeting from the last century went like this:

"You silly bad, immodest flirt, you promenade the street and wink with longing wicked eye at every man you meet."

Today, the message is different, but the intent is the same. Take this one from the current crop.

"Someone adores you, and wants you so much, someone who longs for your kiss and your touch. You're probably wondering who it can be. I'll give you a hint. Some nut!"

And then there's this one for a shy secretary to send to the boss. "I'd like to be your Gal Friday,. . .Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, too."

Among other so-called special-situation Valentines are the following:

—"We must be meant for each other. Nobody else wants us. So let's be Valentines."

—"I gather that being in the service separates the men from the boys. . .and from the girls, too."

It's all a huge improvement over Valentines cited in "Harper's Weekly" in 1858. One of the verses went like this:

"If thus unseen I dare to woo, doubt not my honor nor intent, but let this truth remembered be —true love is always diffident.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, FEB. 12

Your birthday Thursday: During the coming eight months you build up a little at a time into a confrontation-crisis situation in which you will have to decide what you want and how to achieve this lifetime goal. Cooperation with and from family is essential to any real program.

ARIES (March 21-April 19); Expected messages fail to arrive, perhaps due to holiday conditions. Your work is praised; relatives are incorrectly reported on this and other subjects.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20); Be responsive to amenities, compliments; keep things moving, both at home and on the job. In financial matters, go it alone with your own funds and ideas. Disregard any personalities in a career discussion.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21); Follow up on introductions, new contacts. Seek information, application forms, job placement services. In turn, your services are sought to recruit for organizational activities.

CANCER (June 21-July 22); You show signs of having earned more reward and should now begin asking for more. After a long day of enlightening your schedule and settling accounts, select a few friends for a quiet evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22); Friends and associates get on your nerves with irrelevant discussion. Shopping tours uncover some rare bargains.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22); Messages are incomplete or garbled. Give thought to making fewer motions, fewer trips — let the world come to you for the moment, if it will. If it won't use the time for your own self-improvement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22); Your personal life must be kept clear of your professional life at present. Delegate more responsibility to younger people. Incoming mails should be very interesting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21); Your resolve is further tested. Continue quietly and firmly on the path you selected some time ago. Avoid confiding important matters to casual acquaintances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21); There is much being said about you and your work, and probably several people trying to evaluate both. Let the chips fall where they may on all issues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19); Wednesday it is better to speak little; stay on the subject and be understood. Your eagerness to get things done may lead you to starting more than can be readily finished in the time you have available.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18); Money, loans, property rights, and rentals come to your attention today. The tactful, leisurely approach produces the best results in the long run.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20); Anything you do unasked is likely to be misinterpreted. Wait until your neighbor invites you to share problems. Younger people get extra breaks but may not use them fully. Seek light entertainment in the evening.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I applaud your comments to the mother who snooped in her daughter's diary to find out if she was a "good" girl.

Two years ago I discovered that my mother had been reading my diary and listening in on my phone calls. I was terribly shocked and hurt. My faith and trust in my mother were shattered, and my respect for her diminished.

I am now 18, and more mature than I was then, but a trace of bitterness still remains.

If that mother is really concerned about her daughter's emotional state, she should realize that a meddling, overprotective parent can cause more harm than good. And if she continues to violate her daughter's privacy, she is running the risk of destroying what otherwise might be a good relationship with her daughter. Privacy is a precious thing to a teen-ager.

YOUNGER BUT WISER

DEAR YOUNGER: Well said, young lady. Well said.

DEAR ABBY: My dog, Lowell, is very sick and the vet says he will die shortly. I would like to have a funeral for him as I have had him for 11 years and he is like a member of the family.

I have asked friends of mine who have known Lowell since he was a pup if they would attend the funeral which would be held at my house. They all laughed at me, and when I finally convinced them that I was serious, they said I was crazy. What do you think?

MISSES HIM ALREADY

DEAR MISSES: I can easily understand your feelings. I do think, however, that your friends are insensitive and unnecessarily unkind. Obviously, they have never truly loved a pet. (Their loss.)

DEAR ABBY: This is regarding "Troubled" and "Sierra Bonita," each of whom expressed concern one way or the other about the height of the men of their dreams, the former being unhappy because he's too short, and the latter considering slight height some sort of virtue.

The height of a man, without a doubt, is one of the most ridiculous criteria for happiness foisted upon women, apparently mesmerized by Madison Avenue and romance claptrap which propagandize what the "ideal" couple should look like—men taller, of course.

No less silly is the preference for a man because he is short! I'm happy that "Sierra Bonita" is happy with her little cutie, but contrary to her implication, a man's being short does not automatically result in his having a good sense of humor, empathy, or consideration for others. There are short men who are pushy and boring, as if their super-inflated egos make up for their lack of physical stature.

What in the world do physical features (tall, short, handsome, plain, etc.) have to do with what's inside the guy? It's the inside with which one has to relate in some meaningful way for a lasting relationship. Tall or short, there's gotta be something going for the "odd couple" other than physical attributes (in either partner) or the delirious duo is doomed to fizzle. (After all, one has to quit the mush and get out of bed eventually!)

I happen to be 5 ft. 10 in. tall, and my sweetie pie is a mere 5 ft. 5 in. tall, and the greatest guy in the world. (He makes the Robert Goulet-type look like a midget in my eyes.)

THE TALL and the SHORT OF IT!

Sportswear Styles Make Spring Active

NEW YORK (NEA) —For today's active women who seek a versatile wardrobe and prefer natural adaptable styles a new sportswear house brings the bold and vibrant qualities of Scandinavia to America.

Kirsti combines the fabrics of Finland with American design expertise and creates a variety of daytime and swimwear fashions ideal for sport and leisure.

From start to finish, the accent upon free and easy living and the diversified selection of fabrics, colors and styles makes Springtime fun a carefree, full-time activity.

Finland's textile ingenuity has made the Summerweight quality fabrics of chiffon velour, texturized nylon and cotton knit breezily worryproof. Soft, flexible and durable, they're just right for the active traveling life of today's young people. All are machine-washable and have been treated for soil resistance.

The Land of the Midnight Sun is brought to America in bold Scandinavian colors— solids and stripes of brilliant sun yellow, sunset red, midnight blue, earth brown and black and white.

In a fashion year of wandering hemlines, the long and short of casual wear are captured. With a view towards subtle, simple lines and comfortable fit there is a wide variety of classic and swinging mini-dresses. Choose the simple good looks of the basic long-sleeved pullover mini or the slip-on bra dress. Turn sophisticate in a drawstring mini shirtdress or a belted cardigan mini. Strike a flamboyant note in a patch-pocket shirt mini or a kicky little zipper mini.

The tall, lean look is intensified with a versatile maxi jumpsuit set — a sleeveless jumpsuit with a jacket. But that's not all that's jumping.

PAMPA POSTED its first win in nine games last night against Caprock. Led by Jim Gallman (45), the Harvester's pounded out a hard fought 48-42 victory. Gallman scored 20 points for the contest and is second in district scoring honors. He scored 14 points the first half and added 6 more during the second stanza. (Staff Photo)

HOLDOFF SECOND HALF SURGE

Pampa Beats Caprock, Snaps Streak

By JIM BURNHAM
News Sports Correspondent

The Pampa Harvesters brought down the Caprock Longhorns and shrugged off an eight game losing streak last night in the Caprock High gym in a 48-42 victory for Pampa.

Missing only one of seven field goals in the first quarter, Pampa got off to an early start, out front with a 14-4 lead at the close of the quarter.

Jim Gallman 6'6" post man scored the only field goals in the second period, all four of them.

Gallman walked off with top honors again as high point man, with a total of 20 points for the night. Mike Edgar came in second for the Harvesters with a 10 point tally.

Pampa, now 1-4 in second half play and 10-14 season-wise, led by a margin of 17 points at the close of the first half. The next quarter saw Caprock score 19 to Pampa's 11 points. The only field goal attempted by the Harvesters in the fourth period by Gallman fell short and all of Pampa's points in that period were from charity shots.

Pampa connected on 13 of 27 attempted field goals in the game for 48 per cent and made 22 of 33 foul shots for 67 per cent.

Caprock hit 18 out of a possible 48 field goals for 37.5 per cent and made six of 10 free shots for an even 60 per cent.

Coach Sterling Gibson tried a new combination of starters for the Caprock conflict using Gallman, Edgar, Richard Bunton, Doug Thompson, and Mike Jordan. Randy Marsh did not start at his usual forward position but saw plenty of action later. He totaled seven points, all in free shots, along with Thompson who also added seven points.

Bunton fouled out midway in the fourth quarter. Last week Marsh fouled out and Bunton had four.

Caprock had a spurt of something in the final two periods, putting 35 points on the scoreboard to Pampa's 24. At one point Caprock almost caught up with the Green-and-Gold, being behind only four points, 37-33, but thanks to Gallman's, Marsh's, and Thompson's free shots, and the rest of the team's stalling techniques, the gap was widened.

The loss dropped Caprock's season to 5-20 and their second half standing to 1-4. Pampa and Caprock are now tied in second half competition with 1-4 records.

Friday, Pampa takes on the Tascosa Rebels in Harvester Field House.

Royal Puts Texas In The Chips

By United Press International

Color the blue chips orange.

Darrell Royal and his vacuum cleaning horde of assistants swept up nine of the state's 20 blue chippers (most sought after high school football players) Tuesday in the opening day of the annual college recruiting battle.

The coup ensured Royal would sign more prospects than any other school—Southwest Conference or otherwise—as only six of the blue chips let the day pass without committing themselves.

But one of those has indicated he wants to play for Texas. If he signs, it would mean the Orange and White would collect 50 per cent of the booty in this year's high school hope chest.

Aggies Follow

The nearest anyone could come to Texas was Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State. But those schools signed only one blue chipper each. The University of Houston also picked up one before the Southwest Conference left the starting post Tuesday.

Brownwood quarterback Jimmy Carmichael, the bluest of the blue, maintained the tradition established by the most recent No. 1 high school stars: He decided to wait a while before signing. But if he keeps entirely with tradition, he will sign with Oklahoma.

The top pick of 1967, quarterback Jack Mildren of Abilene, signed with the Sooners as did the 1968 choice running back Joe Wylie of Henderson. Both waited until long after the opening day to announce their choices however.

Wil Wait Awhile

Carmichael has said he is leaning towards Texas Tech or Oklahoma. But he wants to wait until after the basketball season to sign.

Dallas halfback Dickey Morton, another top pick, also waited a while before announcing his choice. He said he would announce Saturday (probably for A&M). He wants a chance to visit Arkansas and Southern Methodist and he has ruled out Texas.

Brazosport linebacker Danny Rhodes said he is "still looking," but appears torn between Texas A&M and Oklahoma.

Houston Lee end Steve Cumley was expected to sign with Texas as soon as a handy pen appeared.

The only other uncommitted bluechippers, Houston halfback Delvin Williams and Houston receiver James Cain, said they had not made up their minds. Cain, who is favoring the University of Houston, probably will not announce until May. Williams, leaning towards Kansas, also is considering Houston.

Could Make Switch

The high schoolers who signed with Southwest Conference teams can not decide to go to another conference school. However, they may switch to an independent or another university outside the conference until May 6 when the national letters of intent become binding.

Texas A&M signed Tim Trimmier, San Antonio Lee quarterback.

Mark Watkins Joins OSU As John Jenkins Goes To Arkansas

Pampa's . . . Proud

Two local families are pleased as punch today. Their sons have both signed letters of intent to play football for major colleges.

Following a heavy recruiting schedule, yesterday marked the "red" letter day for high school athletics. And that is what John Jenkins did, he traded his Green and Gold jersey in for a Red and White one of the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Jenkins is the son of Mrs. Iva Jenkins, 1341 N. Starkweather. Among those trying to land his talents were these three major universities: Texas wanted him as a split-end, Oklahoma University as a running back and Arkansas as their quarterback. Used mainly as quarterback for the Harvester's, Jenkins likes the idea of being the signal caller and went to Arkansas.

Not to be out done, Mark Watkins decided his Green-and-Gold should turn to Orange and Black, the color of Oklahoma State University Cowboy's.

Mark was also heavily sought after by many universities. TCU, Baylor and Kansas State were some who wanted his talents as a lineman. Last year he played tackle for the Harvester eleven. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Watkins, 2554 Aspen.

Pampa should be proud of being able to send two of its local high school boys away for four year tours in the gridiron wars. The odds are that only one boy out 100 high schoolers will be able to play in the college ranks. Pampa got more than it's share this season.

Coach "Swede" Lee should be able to put two feathers in his cap for sending two of his understudies on to bigger and better games. Swede almost got as many feathers as the Harvester's posted wins for the season. Pampa gridiron gladiators posted a 3-6 record this past season.

Praise is the order of the day, for Mark, John and the coaching staff of our local high school.

If you think they're not proud. . . Ask their families.

JOHN JENKINS joins Arkansas' Razorbacks as he uses the back of Head Coach Frank Broyles to sign his letter of intent. With Broyles are "Swede" Lee, John and his mother, Mrs. Iva Jenkins. (Staff Photo)

Shaving Strokes

By FRANK BEARD

Club selection is always a problem, snow or no, hot or cold. Winter complicates the problem even more.

Hitting off frozen ground from 180 yards will require a different club than hitting off normal turf from the same distance.

At any rate, you must decide right away which club you are going to use and convince yourself that it's the right one. You can never make a free and easy swing with your mind still thinking about which club to use.

Just remember that your shafts lose some of their whip in cold weather and that cold golf balls don't go as far as warm ones. Then make your club selection accordingly.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Swedes Want More 'n More

It's no secret among knowledgeable economists that when you begin rewarding people on the basis of "need," instead of on the basis of what they earn in voluntary exchange, their greed is likely to exceed all bounds.

This characteristic, inherent in the concept of the "welfare state," is showing up with increasing frequency and growing degree in Sweden which is sometimes referred to as the "Socialist Paradise."

An article in a recent Street Journal made the point uncommonly well.

"Sweden," the article noted, "provides perhaps the world's most lavish welfare system, for instance, offering such benefits as state-paid vacations for tired mothers and free university education for qualified students. . ."

"So, what else do the young people want?" the Journal asked.

Well, according to Per Gahrton, chairman of the Swedish Liberal and Radical Youth, the youth wing of the Liberal Party, they want economic equality. This would involve, said Gahrton according to the Journal, sharply reducing "the difference between the incomes of the nation's highest and lowest paid people."

In a word, economic levelling by bureaucratic decree in consonance with the dictum of Karl Marx: "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

And, as per usual with vote conscious politicians, the Swedish government is proposing to meet the demand by ". . sharply boosting inheritance taxes," a move which, the Journal added, Swedish businessmen (upon whom the "Socialist Paradise" feeds) "fear might cause a gradual transfer of corporate stock from private hands to the government in payment of taxes." That, of course, was precisely what Marx had in mind when he advocated both income and inheritance taxes in the Communist Manifesto.

This, added the Journal, in a nation where, 'Direct, indirect, and social security taxes already are the highest in the industrialized world, equaling 41.1 per cent of the national product. . ."

But all is not sweetness and light in the "Socialist Paradise," the Journal noted. Young people, failing to grasp the fact that government controls and shortages go hand-in-hand with governmental "goodies," are beginning to rebel.

Sanna Westin, a 17-year-old student interviewed by the Journal reporter, said "Sweden nurtures an increasingly artificial and exploiting ulcer-culture." And Per Kageson, a 21-year-old writer, told the reporter, he would "rather face a prison sentence than his nation's compulsory military service."

Complaining of the growing stifling controls, an author, writing in "Sweden Now," a magazine widely distributed outside the country, complained that, "You must get permission even to cut a branch or two off the tree in your backyard."

And, finally, according to the Journal, "Another problem of many years standing is a severe housing shortage. Swedish youths routinely put their names on a waiting list for a flat when they are 15, expecting one to be available by the time they are married, perhaps eight years later."

So it goes — when people are rewarded on the basis of their insatiable "needs."

The Latest Teamster Demand

Talk about pay raises! The Teamsters Union has come up with a dilly. Rather, a proposed dilly. Union bargaining agents are asking no less than a three year wage boost of 75 per cent, plus assorted other benefits. Nice for the employe, if it goes through, but something else again for the employer and the economy.

The astronomic — preposterous might be a better word — figure sounds like maybe Jimmy Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters jefe, had a hand in formulating the proposed pay scale increase. Jimmy never was a piker about things like money and fringe benefits when employers were paying the bill. Remember?

In discussing the Teamster demands, the Wall Street Journal notes that all the current pressures are at work, especially the price inflation that has wiped out a lot of gains that union members achieved in earlier bargaining. But in this case, as in some others, the union's demands are being further inflated by union politics. The Journal continues:

According to news reports, at any rate, the Teamsters were ready to ask for somewhat less until an independent outfit indicated it wanted more. So the union's leadership came up with its grandiose demand, which the employers claim would cost nearly $9 billion over the life of the contract.

The union has other troubles, too. About 10,000 steelhaulers, most of whom own their own trucks and contracts with the mills, are trying again to break away from the Teamsters. A 1967 strike by this group was marked by shootings, stonings and other violence.

It also was marked, of course, by a sharp curtailment in steel shipments. A characteristic of union warfare is that it is the employers who chiefly suffer.

Now, few employerswould like to see the fragmentation of national unions, since this would not cut labor costs. And certainly no union officials would like to see their empires broken up.

It's apparent, nonetheless, that the trend toward industrywide or national bargaining is leaving many workers, and not only Teamster members, inadequately represented. Union officials become so absorbed in preserving and extending their own influence that they lose touch with the rank and file, with consequent painful effects for employers.

Sooner or later such unions are going to have to get back to doing the job they profess to do.

On Value

The conflict is not between "subjective" and "intrinsic" value (all values are subjective and everything used by man has an intrinsic value), as some economists seem to think, but between market-place-arrived-at values and those dictated and fixed by arbitrary decree. In short, the real conflict, as always, is between freedom of choice and governmental edict.

Sun Time Running Out?

Freddy had been given a new watch, and was very proud of its time keeping qualities. Just after seven o'clock one evening, watch in hand, he rushed indoors.

Freddy — What time does the sun set today?

Mr. Fields (his father) — About a quarter past seven.

Freddy (consulting his watch) — Well, if it does not buck up it will be late.

H. L. Hunt Writes

POWER OF BUREAUCRACY

The day to day policies of the government often do not seem to change significantly when there is a change of administrations in Washington. The primary reason is that significant personnel changes are not made throughout the many echelons of the bureaucracy, and thus many of the same individuals continue to make and carry out policy.

These bureaucrats make reports, choose what information cabinet officers and other appointed and elected officials will see, and implement decisions made by higher authorities, often choosing whether to implement them well or poorly in accordance with their own ideology.

There are many recent examples of the way in which bureaucrats can in effect make policy for the country. At a meeting in Colorado, lawyers working in the legal aid division of the Office of Economic Opportunity demanded "ironclad assurances" that they would be allowed to follow their "aggressive advocacy in behalf of the poor.'

These "aggressive" actions have often helped to stir up violence and disrupt whole communities, yet these lawyers wanted assurance that they could continue these policies without any restraint by those who have the nominal policy-making authority.

The State Department bureaucracy, desperately in need of housecleaning, has demanded even more control over personnel practices than it already has. Recently John Hemenway, who worked at the Berlin desk in the State Department and was a confirmed anti-communist, lost his job because of pressure from other bureaucrats.

If the pro-freedom policies which the people of our country desire are ever to be implemented, there must be a vast shake-up in the bureaucracy.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

I see where one of them Sighcologists from Chicago has just come back from Israel with a glowing report on the Kibbutz system. . .

He says all social evils are rooted in "selfishness" and that on the communal farms there is nothing to be selfish about — not even parents. There is no private property.

He goes on to state that all these kids who are penned up don't fight, don't cry and do not cause any problems. I don't doubt it. If you take a baby from birth, put him in a pen 'til he is 18 or so, scrub every ounce of individualism out of him by rule and rote, he will be nothing but a walking amoeba.

Of course they do not fight. You have to have something to fight for. There has to be some spark of ambition in a human to egg him on. This geek has got 'selfishness' and 'ambition' mixed up.

He says there is also no sexual promiscuousness or homosexuality. Will everyone who believes that please stand on his head. If you have a few hundred members on these farms, boys and girls, showering together, with nothing happening, then they are even more listless than I thought. . .

What do the kids do with their time on these Kibuttzes? Well, they raise vegetables. There is only one question that confuses me about this system. How do they know which vegetables to eat and which ones to train?

Monkey on Our Back

STRAIGHT TALK:

Little Of This And That

By TOM ANDERSON

Would you believe that it is costing us taxpayers $67,000 a year to maintain Earl Warren in retirement?

But it's cheap at half the price!

Here's a highly provocative question and answer from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

"Q. How much of the taxpayer's money did the Federal Government spend this year on those ridiculous research grants? How much was spent, say 10 years ago? —L.B., Boston.

"A. The U. S. has granted over 13 billion for research at home and abroad so far this year, compared to $8 billion in 1960 and $1 billion in 1949. Some studies are facial expressions, the anal temperatures of Alaskan sled dogs, the nervous systems of the Chilean squid, the weathering of rocks under tropical conditions and the dental arches of Australian aborigines."

Had enough? It's your money!

Many people, young and old, get out of bed each day wondering "What am I gonna' do to pass the day?" Here is an anonymous gem which any of us would do well to read every morning:

"On This Day—
Mend a quarrel,
Search out a forgotten friend,
Dismiss a suspicion and replace it with trust,
Write a letter to someone who misses you,
Encourage a youth who has lost faith,
Keep a promise,
Forget an old grudge,
Examine your demands on others and how to reduce them,
Fight for a principle,
Express your gratitude,
Overcome an old fear,
Take two minutes to appreciate the beauty of nature,
Tell someone you love him,
Tell him again,
And again, and again."

Our nation's divinity schools are infested with leftists and cowards who are there not to learn Christianity, but to escape the draft. How ironic, how incredible, how immoral that so-called "higher education" is the primary means of escaping being shot at! One reason so many campus anarchists are so determined to get the war over with is so that they can finally leave school and be safe! They are running out of courses to take.

The draft is, as the campus revolutionists say, a national disgrace. In the first place, it is both immoral and illegal to draft anybody to go to any undeclared war. And it is criminal to do so when we never had any intention of winning that war and are in fact helping the main enemy, Russia, in countless ways.

It is inexcusable to allow the rich and the brilliant to hide out in the ivied halls of learning while the poor and the dumb are drafted to shoot and be shot at.

To defend one's country should be a privilege, not a penalty. I do not believe in President Nixon's idea of a professional army. Professional armies fight for money, not liberty. Professional armies often "take over" the nation they're supposed to defend.

Instead of ending the draft, we should draft every able-bodied and right-minded male, somewhere between 18 and 21, to serve a year to two years in our nation's armed forces. But no one should be forced to fight an undeclared war. "Police actions" such as our incredible Vietnamese disaster, if ever again engaged in, should be handled by volunteers and professionals and not by draftees.

Instead of "Nuremberg trials" in which the victors try the losers, if we are to participate in any more post-war trials, we should try our own leaders who: 1) Sacrificed more than 40,000 American lives in an illegal, undeclared war which they never tried to win; and 2) Gave continuous aid and comfort for the duration to the main enemy, Russia.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Is it any wonder city, county, state and federal governments are inefficient and wasteful when those who hire employes cannot discharge them without the consent of some other bureaucrat?

ANSWER: This is divided responsibility and divided responsibility deprives either party of having the final say. The man who hires a man or employes should be the judge of whether the employe is producing his own wages.

That, of course, is the way a free market works. If the employer doesn't get employes who earn their own wages, he will soon go out of business on a free market basis.

But that is not the case with government employes where there is no way of really measuring what they actually produce and where they are supported by what they consider to be unlimited tax funds.

Of course, the practice was that one political party would discharge the employes of the other party and give the jobs to those who helped the party in power get there. Dividing responsibility was an attempt to prevent that practice. The idea was that it would prevent wholesale firings and hirings every time political power changed hands It was hoped that this would increase government efficiency. However, it gives one agency authority without responsibility and gives the other agency responsibility without authority, which can do nothing but cause contention, politicking and inefficency.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Muscular Strain Needs Chance to Heal

Q — What is the cause of myositis? What are the symptoms and what is the best treatment?

A —Myositis or inflammation of the muscles may be caused by an infection or a muscular strain that wasn't given a chance to heal. The victim has soreness aggravated by contracting the affected muscle. The first step in treatment is to remove the cause if possible. Hot packs or an electric pad applied for 20 to 30 minutes two or three times a day usually helps. In selected cases an injection of Celestone Soluspan into the muscle is beneficial.

Q —I have a swelling on the calf of my left leg. My doctor says it is a muscle. What would cause a muscle to stick out? Can anything be done for it?

A—Sometimes the fibrous sheath of a calf muscle ruptures due to injury or a congenital weakness and a bulge occurs. Sugical repair of these ruptures may be done but in most cases no treatment is necessary.

Q — What is the cause of muscle spasms? My doctor is giving me Robaxin. What does it do?

A — An electric current, various diseases of the nervous system and nervous tension may cause muscle spasms. Robaxin is a muscle relaxant.

Q—I had to quit work 20 months ago because of angina pectoris. Now I am taking Pertrate and Coumadin. What causes angina? Can it be cured?

A — This disease is caused by a spasm or narrowing of one of the coronary arteries in the heart. Permanent cure is not likely but the disease can be controlled with appropriate treatment. This includes avoiding tobacco, keeping your weight a little below the normal for your height, treating high blood pressure it this is present and getting regular exercise daily within the limits of your endurance — this means avoidance of fatigue or bringing on attacks of anginal pain. The drugs you are taking are an important part of the treatment.

Q — Is it true that mineral oil, when rubbed on the skin, will neutralize estrogens if you are taking them by mouth? Will other things kill the estrogen effect?

A — Mineral oil will neither stimulate nor suppress the natural estrogens or the ones you are taking. Androgens (male hormones) tend to neutralize them.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of This paper. While Dr. Bradstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Inside Washington

JOHN GOLDSMITH

HHH Has Change of Heart About His Candidacy

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey has had a change of mind about his long-awaited announcement as a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

Instead of formally declaring Democratic Farmer-Labor Party precinct caucuses that select delegates to the State Convention, he is now going to hold off until March — at the conclusion of the current university term.

Reason for the delay is Humphrey's contention that being a member of the university faculty he is a state employee and, as such, would be open to criticism if he engaged in politics.

Close supporters aren't happy with this decision.

They have been strongly counting on Humphrey's formally re-entering the politics arena to give them a hand in their campaigns. Some of them make no bones they need all the help they can get. Now they won't have this anticipated valuable boost in the key precinct caucuses.

Foremost among those to whom this is a blow is Representative John Blatnik, Minnesota's senior congressman and one of Humphrey's closest personal and political intimates.

The tall World War II—decorated veteran has represented the 8th (Iron Range) District since 1946. He is chairman of the House Public Works Committe, and chairman of the Government Operations subcommittee dealing with air and other pollution. It was Blatnik's forceful leadership that narrowly carried the 1968 DFL State Convention for Humphrey — against a powerful drive of "Peaceniks" and leftists favoring Senator Eugene McCarthy.

This militant element is now determinedly out to "get" Blatnik this year, and he is apparently in trouble.

Their latest scheme is to deny him the DFL nomination for re-election at the state convention, and thus force him to run as an independent against opponents of the two major parties.

The United Steel Workers and other labor organizations are vigorously rallying to Blatnik's support. But it's an open secret that Himphrey's belated decision to hold off announcing for the Senate until next month is not going to help Blatnik in his bitter inner party struggle for renomination.

STRICTLY BUSINESS — There was nothing idealistic about Senator Eugene McCarthy's recent junket to Moscow and Paris.

The trip was widely fantared as undertaken for the purpose of seeking information about the hundreds of U. S. prisoners of war held by Hanoi. That was largely window dressing.

Real intent of the Minnesota "Peacenik" was to gather material for a well-paying article for a magazine — whose editor is an ardent admirer and devoted supporter of his. Graphically illustrative of this fervency is that the editor has published some of McCarthy's free verse poetry — which, as the old saying goes, "No greater love hath anyone than this."

The assignment abroad was the editor's idea. McCarthy has hinted to intimates there will be others — that will serve the double purpose of enriching his income and keeping him in the public eye.

He needs both these days.

Estranged from his wife, he has to support her and their four children, three attending colleges and the youngest a private high school. And as he is doing virtually nothing in the Senate, he can use all the publicity he can get.

On his recent trip, McCarthy was accompanied by his daughter Mary, a senior at Radcliffe College. She attended his meeting with Nikolai Podgorny, president of the Soviet Presidium, during which she smoked continuously. As they were leaving, the Russian said to her, through an interpreter, "Young lady, you smoke too much."

She is still smoking.

POLITICALS — Barring ill health of which there is presently no sign, Chicago's famed Mayor Richard Daley will run for a fifth term next year. So far he has held the office 16 years and wants to round out two full decades. . . Mrs. Joan Kennedy, wife of the Massachusetts senator, is telling friends she plans to be "extremely active" in his re-election campaign this year. She says she intends to "cover the state like the dew does Dixie". . . The sons of two prominent members of Congress were seriously eyeing seeking Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md., is weighing running against Senator Joseph Tydings, D-Md., and Thomas Hale Boggs, 29-year-old son of Representative Hale Boggs, La., House Democratic Whip, is considering running for the seat of Representative Guilbert Gude, R-Md.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Is Cold War Ice Cracking?

By PAUL HARVEY

Is there about to be a genuine thaw in the long, cold war?

If you've been tuned in on Moscow, you've been hearing what certainly sounds like ice cracking up. Listen:

Way last July, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the Supreme Soviet, "Russia favors the development of good relations with the United States."

This unqualified overture was without precedent in recent years.

Gromyko's subsequent message was similarly conciliatory. He endorsed the Nixon policy of "intercourse between our two countries moving from confrontation to negotiation."

And that supreme legislative body unanimously approved his proposals for improved relations with the United States.

Then, in November, East and West cautiously approached a conference table in Helsinki, Finland, to explore possibilities of ending the arms race.

There, the United States and Russia, each capable of destroying the other, decided more and more weapons would be a senseless extravagance.

The atmosphere at these preliminary talks and at the social events coincident with them was one of unprecedented co-operation and camaraderie.

Then in late December the whole world received a Christmas present offering a first faint hope of "peace on earth" when the United States and Russia announced an agreement for substantive negotiations toward an objective of arms limitation, such talks to begin in Vienna next April 16.

Significantly, Vienna was the Americans' choice. As a gesture of compromise, we agreed eventually to move the talks back to Helsinki, the Russians' choice.

Preparing for the April talks we learn that East and West already have agreed on the range of subjects to be negotiated.

In previous dealings with Communists, we have been accustomed to months of debate on such insignificant procedural matters as "the shape of the conference table."

There was no such obstructionism apparent in Helsinki.

Heretofore our sometimes-negotiations with the Russians have ended with vitriolic undiplomatic denunciations of one another, or sometimes with us sulking and the Soviet ambassador standing there grinning like a cat spitting feathers.

This time there was visible elation on both sides. Our Gerard Smith and Russia's Vladimir Semenov made short speeches expressing unqualified satisfaction with progress to date.

An American official said, "I think we can do business."

A Soviet official said, "We believe that business can and will be done; we both came here with hope and this hope has been realized."

What begins in Vienna in April would have to require months, may require years, may abort. So it's too soon to celebrate any meaningful modification of Russia's historic belligerency.

But the fact that people—theirs and ours—are fed up with wars is, I think, being reflected by governments—theirs and ours.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Not only is this the dawning of the age of Aquarius, the entire astrology business is coming up like thunder 'cross the bay.

It wasn't long ago that only a few giddy movie stars believed in astrology. New electronic computers are bringing horoscopes to the masses and even the man in the street is a disciple of the zodiac.

Unfortunately, acceptance by the proletariat does not make astrology any more creditable. It only increases the magnitude of the farce. But let me make one thing perfectly clear:

I'm not challenging the basic theory of astrology. The notion that a person's destiny is influenced by the stars strikes me as being at least as logical as the theory that the earth is round.

Traits Not Predetermined

What I am calling into question is the premise that one's temperament, inclinations and susceptibility to certain fortunes or calamities are determined by the "house" or "sign" in the ascendant at the time of one's birth.

That is a fallacious assumption, as I shall illustrate by using myself as an example.

By birth I am a Capricorn (Dec. 21-Jan. 20). Which means I should be "economical, careful, secretive, self-controlled, resourceful and a hard worker who usually succeeds in business."

More Like Aquarius

Actually I am none of those things. I am more inclined to be restless, indolent, pleasing and agreeable, usually calm. Quiet and seldom ill-temperated, whose greatest fault is procrastination."

These latter traits supposedly are the characteristics of an Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 18). And hereby hangs this tale:

I happen to have been born prematurely, which is what made me a Capricorn. Had I been a full term baby, I would have been an Aquarius. And here's another deviation:

The traits that best describe the real me are those of Taurus —"fearless, kind, gentle, strong of mind and body, determined, shrewd, keen insight, emotional and dangerous."

Note that the Taurus dates are April 21-May 21, which is three houses before, or nine houses after, Aquarius. In other words, Taurus is the sign under which I was conceived.

I therefore submit that all astrological calculations should be based not on one's birth date but on the time that one was conceived, which actually is when life begins.

Test this on your own horoscope and see if I'm not right.

ANTONIONI FINED

UXBRIDGE, England (UPI) —Italian film director Michaelangelo Atonioni Tuesday pleaded guilty to illegal possession of marijuana and was fined $240.

Antonioni, 57, was searched Monday when he arrived at London's Heathrow Airport and Customs officials found nine ounces of marijuana hidden in his shoes and jacket pockets. He said he had purchased it from a man in Los Angeles he had "felt sorry for."

MT. ETNA ERUPTS

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Lava poured out of a crack that opened between the central and northeast craters of M.T. Etna, Europe's tallest active volcano, and snaked down the mountain's slopes in a narrow stream two-thirds of a mile long Tuesday.

Scientists said the eruption posed no immediate danger to villages dotting the sides of the 10,902-foot mountain.
