Cambodian 'Pirates' Seize American Ship

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States merchant ship has been seized on the high seas by a Cambodian naval vessel in the Gulf of Thailand in what President Ford described today as "an act of piracy."

The President instructed the State Department to demand immediate release of the ship, which a White House spokesman said was forced to the port of Kompong Som in Cambodia.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen announced the seizure of the merchant ship, identified as the "Mayaquez" of U.S. registry owned by the Sealand Corp., with a crew believed to number 39 persons.

Nessen said the ship was unarmed when it was seized 60 miles off the coast of Cambodia, about eight miles from a small rock island. The press secretary said the rock island apparently is claimed by both Cambodia and Vietnam.

He said his report of the seizure was based on several radio messages from the ship.

"The radio has now stopped transmitting," Nessen said.

President Ford learned of the incident during his intelligence briefing this morning and has met with the National Security Council concerning the incident.

The White House issued a brief one-paragraph statement by the press secretary shortly before 2 p.m. with a map showing the approximate location of the seizure.

Nessen said there were "limited facts" available on the incident.

All those aboard the vessel were believed to be American nationals. The ship was described as a "container ship," its cargo unknown.

The White House did not immediately give the home port of the vessel.

The Mayaquez' last port was believed to have been Hong Kong, Nessen said, and its intended destination was Thailand.

The State Department says the United States has no plans to evacuate the 1,000 Americans in Laos although the Communist Pathet Lao apparently are taking over the landlocked Indochinese kingdom.

"The situation doesn't appear to warrant it," said a State Department spokesman in Washington.

In Bangkok, the Thai government said it would propose to the Association of Southeast Asian Nations that North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and Burma be included in the grouping "because the region has found peace."

CONTRIBUTE PLEA

The association, which meets Tuesday in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, includes Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, the Philippines and Thailand.

In Saigon, the Roman Catholic archbishop, Nguyen Van Binh, called on Catholics to put forth "maximum efforts to rebuild the nation and contribute to national reconciliation and concord so as to create a thorough mutual understanding." A communique from the archbishop was read at the Saigon cathedral during the Sunday morning Mass. A report on the communique was received in New York today from an Associated Press correspondent in Saigon.

Vientiane, the Laotian capital, remained calm following a speech Sunday in which Premier Souvanna Phouma in effect conceded that the Pathet Lao now control the coalition government of rightists, leftists and neutralists established under a 1973 peace accord.

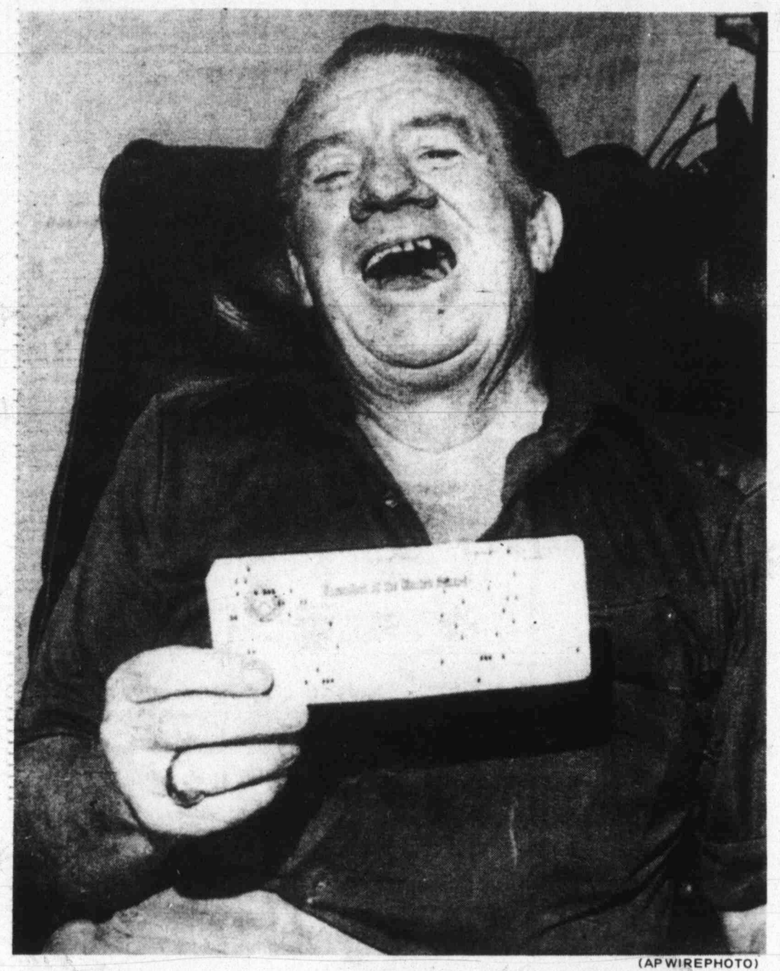

"Important changes have taken place which some had not expected so suddenly, but they are here," said the 73-year-old premier, a neutralist who for years tried unsuccessfully to forge a balance between the conservatives and Communists.

"We must stop the fighting. The war has reached an end," Souvanna Phouma told a meeting of high-ranking officials attended by King Savang Vathana. "...It is our great chance to preserve our country from further bloodshed wbich surely would take place if one continued to ignore the march of historical events."

The premier's speech followed the Communist victories in Cambodia and South Vietnam, attacks by Pathet Lao forces on various positions held by the rightist Royal Laotian Army, the resignation of four of the six rightist members of Souvanna Phouma's coalition cabinet and the removal of three top-ranking rightist generals from their army commands. This left the Pathet Lao the dominant faction in the government.

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak and Finance Minister Ngon Sananikone, two of the strongest rightists, were among those who resigned. Diplomats in Vientiane expect the three-faction "Government of National Union" to continue, but predict the new rightist ministers will be men of less stature who will pose no challenge to Pathet Lao control.

In the wake of the Pathet Lao army attacks and a student demonstration Friday against the U.S. Embassy, a number of high-ranking officials associated with rightist, pro-American groups left Vientiane, along with Vietnamese and Chinese businessmen. But the city was peaceful Sunday on the Constitution Day holiday.

Return To Cuba Startles Scribe

By SAM SUMMERLIN
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Only an hour's flying time from Miami, the Cuban capital is a world apart from any other city in the Western Hemisphere.

For a reporter who last saw the island 20 years ago, Fidel Castro's new Cuba is a startling experience.

Long gone are those once-familiar billboards proclaiming: "Beba Coca Cola," or "Vuele Pan American." There are no advertising agencies on the island — not a single commercial ad in any newspaper, nor on any radio or television show. Only a few scattered billboards discreetly describe the routes of Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

WASTES NOTHING

In place of commercials, the Cuban media bombard the populace with exhortations to work harder, produce more, to rally behind the Communist party and to waste nothing.

These outward signs catch the eye instantly in Cuba. More difficult to comprehend are the inward signs of the "new Cuban man." In 16 years of rule, the Castro regime has managed to submerge the individual's own welfare into a cog of the collective wheel.

Since Castro seized power in 1959, 600,000 Cubans have fled the island. But the 9 million who remain exhibit a spirit of pride and patriotic fervor which must explain their willingness to endure the years of shortages suffered by an island isolated for more than a decade from most of the world except the Soviet bloc.

Cuba is a youth society. Almost half of the nation is under 20 years of age, knowing no other government than that of Castro. The revolution heaps its scant resources on educating its youth and convincing them of its socialistic way of life.

Everywhere you go, teachers, factory foremen, agricultural planners, editors of newspapers, movie producers and baseball managers all speak of life in Cuba as if everything began in 1959.

They say with pride that since the revolution Cuba has achieved successes in every field, wiping out illiteracy, tripling the number of students in schools, doubling steel production, and providing free medical and dental care for all.

SMOKING MIGHT COST $200 PER PUFF IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas legislators passed and sent to the governor today a bill providing fines up to $200 for smoking in certain public places.

Senators completed action on the bill by accepting amendments added during last week's House debate.

The bill prohibits smoking in elevators, theaters, movie houses, libraries, museums, hospitals, public schools, buses, trains and airplanes. Special smoking areas could be designated in those places, however.

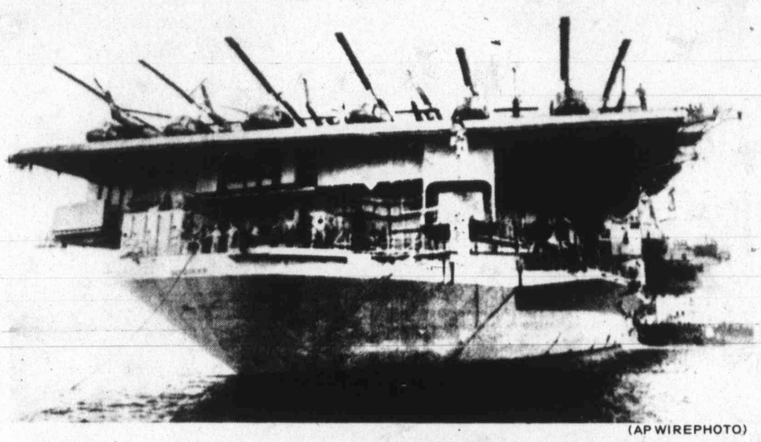

Two house amendments apparently provided an out for violators. A person would have an automatic defense against charges of violating the smoking law if no sign were posted warning of the law or if no receptacle were provided for cigarettes or cigars that one was smoking.

House members were scheduled to take up a bill that involved the question of whether Texas needs many more doctors than the Texas Medical Association and the college coordinating board has estimated.

REFUGEES WANT TO GO HOME — These five young men seeking repatriation to South Vietnam discuss the matter with Miss Thanh Thuy, a United Nations representative, at Orote Pt. evacuee center on Guam today. They are part of a larger group of more than 45 who want to go home to Vietnam.

AT ANCHOR — The U. S. aircraft carrier USS Midway lies at anchor in Apra Harbor, Guam, Sunday, barges at her side ready to debark about 100 helicopters and figher-bombers repossessed by the United States at Utapao Air Base, Thailand. The planes were flown there by evacuating South Vietnamese.

GRUBS PROVIDE PROTEINS

Nibbling Their Way Along The Roadside

BLACK DIAMOND, Wash. (AP) — "Everything I point out to eat will be something I've eaten," David Jansen said. And with that, the 25 foragers were off for a weekend of learning to live off the land.

"I read all about these in books, but you never really know for sure until somebody shows you," Bob Rollin, a forestry teacher at a local high school, said later. The group nibbled its way along the roadside, sampling miner's lettuce, bedstraw, sheep sorrel and licorice fern roots.

Jansen, a free lance instructor in edible wild foods, explained the various goodies as the group moved along. Winter cress, in the mustard family; curly dock, a good rhubarb substitute; young fern fronds, with an almond flavor, and several other plants were sampled and approved.

Jansen led the participants in a workshop sponsored by the Seattle Parks and Recreation Department. They gathered at the Red Barn Ranch, about 20 miles southeast of Seattle.

Jansen lectured the aspiring natural gourmands Friday night, before they hit the fields.

At one point, the group came upon a fir tree. Jansen explained "the needles taste turpentiney, but there's a lot of vitamin C. It's OK, if you like it."

Later, a Seattle woman pointed out lichen. She told the group it could be pounded into a powder, mixed with water and made into a pan bread. She said it was high in protein, though "not as high as insects."

"In survival situations, grubs — even worms — provide proteins and fat," she said.

She told one interested party that slugs also can be eaten.

"I eat raw eggs frequently, but I don't know if I could eat a slug," Rollin muttered.

The menu for the big feast of the excursion finally was decided. Jansen said the group treated itself to a main course of fuzzy thistles, cattail soup, a nettle dish, a fireweed dish and some mustard greens, chickweed and miner's lettuce salads. The meal was topped off with ginger and mint teas.

'Kindness' Stabbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors have told an Agriculture Department aide he will lose the eye injured when he was stabbed while walking through Human Kindness Day crowds near the Washington Monument.

"Nobody would help me," said Steven Laine, director of public affairs for Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. "I said, 'Help me,' and there was no response. I said it several times and no one did anything."

Laine said he was stabbed while walking Saturday through the crowds at the Washington Monument. He said he was attacked from behind and, when he turned, something sharp and thin was thrust into his right eye.

BLAST KILLS WORKER, TRAPS THREE IN TUNNEL

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — An explosion killed one worker and trapped three others today in a sewer tunnel 100 feet below a river. Officials held out little hope of reaching them alive because the danger of a second gas explosion was holding up the rescue effort.

Rescuers were able to pull the body of the unidentified workman from the tunnel but weren't able reach the three men who remained 1,500 feet from the mouth of the Metropolitan Sewage Commission tunnel.

Officials were trying to ventilate the tunnel to bring down the gas levels. Mechanical monitors in the tunnel, which is six feet in diameter, showed the gas buildup still at the danger level even after the blast, authorities said.

RAIN ODDS

Partly cloudy skies with a 20 per cent chance of rain tonight. High today, upper 80s. Low tonight, lower 60s. High Tuesday, near 90. Southeasterly wind 8-18 miles per hour this afternoon.

Agricultural Outlook Rosy Following Rains

Agricultural prospects in Howard County took on a gilt-edged look after heavy rains visited the area over the weekend.

Farmers in many areas are going to have to wait several days to get into the fields, so bountiful was the fall. Few are complaining, although terraces washed badly in some sections.

Some hail accompanied the Saturday evening rains but damage was considered minor. The only place in the county that didn't get enough to plant on, according to County Agent Bruce Griffith, was a small area near Vincent.

For the most part, this was the big rain the farmers and ranchers had been waiting for, the one they needed well in advance of the deadline for planting.

At the Big Spring Experiment Station immediately north of town, a 1.49 inch deluge followed a .5 inch rain Friday, bringing the total for the period to 1.99. The total for the month has risen to 3.59 and for the year to 5.75, compared to a normal fall of 4.80 inches. Last year at this time, the total for the year was 4.34.

TOTALED 2.55

Sand Springs trapped 1.95 inches Friday and .60 Saturday for a two-day total of 2.55 inches. Forsan's weekend total amounted to 1.92.

A total of three inches fell at Elbow southwest of Big Spring. That area was largely missed by the showers which had fallen the preceding week. West of Elbow, the fall was even heavier, reportedly as much as 3.7 inches.

In east Big Spring, the downpour amounted to 1.8 inches for the two-day period, which brought the total for a seven-day stretch to 3.6 inches.

At Moss Creek Lake six miles southeast of Big Spring, a total of 1.5 inches fell during the two-day period, .7 of that amount Saturday night. The level of the lake was raised a little.

At Ackerly, Mrs. Joe MacGaskins reported that .8 inch fell Friday and 1.2 Saturday evening for a total of two inches. She described the rain as "great."

At Coahoma, the fall was measured at three inches on the average. Some light hail accompanied the storm clouds.

The Wilson ranch in the Luther community reported a total fall of 1.5 inches. Of that amount, an inch fell Saturday night.

On the other side of Gail in Borden County, much heavier rains were deposited upon the ranch lands. Estimates there ran as high as 3.5 inches.

The Cecil Longs in the Lomax community reported the rainfall measured 3.5 inches at their place. Some ominious hail accompanied the storm. At Hyman near Coahoma, the downpours totaled 3.5 inches, with some hail.

Perhaps the heaviest rains in the area fell near the Martin-Howard County line, where as much as 5.5 inches descended from the clouds.

STRANDED

Sheriff's officers here estimated that as many as 15 motorists were stranded along five miles of flooded SH 176 between Big Spring and Andrews. Silt which was washed across the thoroughfare had to be removed by Texas Highway Department employes. By noon, the traffic was flowing freely again. High-wheeled trucks of the THD and Webb AFB helped tow the cars to high ground in that area.

The rains covered a vast area of the Southwest, extending all the way into the Carlsbad, N.M., and Guadalupe Mountains areas. The fall there wasn't as heavy as it was here, however.

San Angelo's official fall for the two-day period was 1.43 inches but upwards to four inches fell in outlying areas. Robert Lee reported a .5 inch rain Saturday and 1.0 inch for the two-day period. Westbrook had rains totaling 1.15 over the two days.

Hailstones ranging from the size of gof balls to baseballs hammered the Seagraves area on the South Plains.

Funnel clouds were seen 12 miles west of Plainview and 17 miles west and 24 miles southwest of Lubbock.

Detection of those twisters led to a tornado watch in a 140-mile wide corrider in 55 counties. The alert was cancelled without incident about 3:30 a.m., Sunday.

The rains started anew here about 6:30 p.m., Saturday and continued into the early hours of Sunday morning.

The skies cleared Sunday morning and the weather was near-perfect the rest of the day. Lawns which hadn't greened up in months took on a stunning look, as did the entire countryside.

Runoff Into Two Area Lakes Will Be Modest

The runoff into the two Colorado River Municipal Water Districts from the weekend rains is going to be modest, according to O. H. Ivie, manager, because the showers were so spotty.

Spence, the larger of the two lakes, has yet to watch any water but may trap up to a half foot in the next 36 hours. The only runoff of consequence, is on Beal's Creek. A rise of a half-foot at Spence would add about 3,000 acre feet to the lake.

The water level is now about seven-tenths of a foot below the all-time high, so a half-foot gain would put it near its all-time reserve. The huge reservoir is 34 per cent full, with an elevation of 1864.54 feet.

Lake Thomas northeast of Big Spring has caught about a foot of water in the past several days, or about 2, 500 acre feet. It is only about 16 per cent full.

Heavy rains west of Gail, ranging up to four inches in isolated spots, helped the outlook at Lake Thomas. Only half an inch of moisture fell at the Spence dam. The CRMWD's pump station on the Big Spring-Snyder highway reported a fall of 3.8 inches.

Over the weekend, a total of 3.4 inches of rain has fallen at the Lake Thomas dam but the fall tailed off sharply west of there.

Ivie said he is confident the lakes will benefit from more rainfall in the near future, now that showers are being triggered with increasing intensity in this area.

COOLER THE BETTER — Dr. Otto Wilke, TAES engineer, examines peach buds on the Wolfe Orchard at Seminole where research is under way to keep peach trees cooler longer, thus enhancing chances of making fruit.

New Cooling Technique May Insure Fruit Crop

LUBBOCK — A new cooling technique, first tried on apples in Utah, is being used by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researchers here to protect peaches from freeze by preventing early blooms.

In both 1974 and 1975, the researchers delayed the blooming period of peaches about two weeks at the Wolfe Orchard near Seminole. This spring, the sprinkled trees have one third to one half of a full crop, say the scientists. At the same time all blooms on the unsprinkled trees of the same variety were frozen.

Dr. Otto Wilke and Dr. Bill Lipe, along with National Weather Service Agricultural Meterorologist Oliver Newton, are working cooperatively in the venture. Their aim is to come up with a method that can be used commerciallly to prevent destruction of peach crops by late freezes.

The decidious trees (which lose leaves in winter) require a period of temperatures below 45 degrees F. to allow them to blossom the following spring. In West Texas, peach trees satisfy this internal dormancy in late December or in January.

Once rest is satisfied, the fruiting buds can begin growth, but are held in check by cold temperatures. As temperatures rise above 45 degrees F, the tree becomes active. The period of time between termination of rest and bloom is determined by the number of degree-hours above 45 degrees F. If temperatures can be reduced during this period, blooms are delayed.

When water is sprayed on the trees, evaporation from the wet limbs cools the buds, reducing the number of degree hours above 45 degrees.

The system is a three-gallons-per-minute 360 degree shubbery nozzle mounted on a five-foot riser in the center of each tree. Each nozzle was turned on for 30 seconds every four minutes, explains Wilke, who designed the system.

In 1974, flow was sequenced among trees by a timer, dc stepping switch and 24-v solenoid valves. In 1975, water-driven flow-dividers were used for sequencing.

Thinks Nixon Approved Watergate Burglary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who disclosed the existence of the White House tapes says he believes former President Richard M. Nixon approved the Watergate burglary.

Alexander P. Butterfield stressed that he was venturing a personal opinion and had no direct knowledge of whether Nixon knew about the burglaries. Butterfield had been in charge of White House administration and security under Nixon and, as he once said, "in charge of the smooth running of the President's official day."

Butterfield said in a telephone interview Sunday from his suburban Alexandria, Va., home: "After everything that has come out, people who think he didn't know about everything — they must not get him. To have done something that big, he had to have given the okay."

Butterfield said he now feels free to express the opinion because he has left the government. He resigned in March as head of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel, is the former Nixon deputy assistant who told the Senate Watergate hearings in 1973 that Nixon had installed listening devices in his office and on his telephones.

The equipment, which the White House later confirmed was installed in 1970, recorded Nixon's conversations with his principal accuser in the Watergate cover-up, ousted White House counsel John WB. Dean III.

'Retrofit' Resurrected

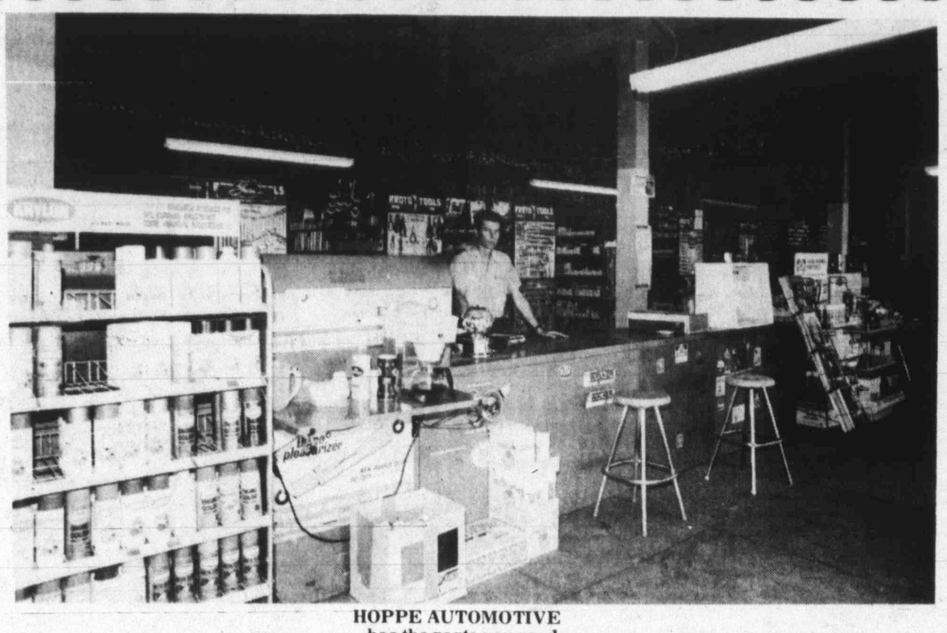

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — Many words have just happened and have become part of our vernacular. "Snafu" probably is the best known. Now, "retrofit" is gaining in popular usage.

Today, retrofit means insulating one's home to make it more energy-efficient, to conform with new government standards. During World War II it meant constantly refitting military aircraft tanks and naval vessels which became obsolete even before they were completed. Each plane or ship was provided with the latest gear — often on a weekly basis as technology advanced.

The resurrection of retrofit occurred durring the energy crisis hearing in Washington in 1973 in testimony by energy experts of Certain-teed Products here. They pointed out that millions of American homes required attic retrofitting with six inches of fiber-glass insulation or its R-19 equivalent. Conforming to these retrofit standards the nation could save up to 30 per cent on annual heating and cooling bills.

'Little Saigon's' Famous Refugee Wants To Be Farmer

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — "Little Saigon's" most famous refugee wants to be a farmer. But many others have urban careers in mind.

A former Vietnamese government labor administrator, Mai Tren Quang, said most refugees looking for jobs have "marketable skills."

While he was making his assessment to a newsman here Sunday, former South Vietnamese premier and air marshal Nguyen Cao Ky said on ABC television's "Issues and Answers" that his plans probably will include farming.

And Ky disagreed with Quang's optimistic outlook for fellow refugees' employment prospects.

Ky said he doesn't believe most Vietnamese have the job skills to compete with Americans.

"All we want is a little help for us to start a new life in a new, big and wonderful country, America," he said.

Ky said he might like to set up an Israeli-style communal farm run by refugees, possibly in Texas or Arkansas. Ky said among other real estate proposals, a friend had offered him land in Texas.

Quang estimated only about 35 per cent of the 19,000 refugees living in tents here will seek work. The rest are children, dependent wives or elderly people, he said.

Many of the refugees worked for the U.S. government and American contractors, and former employers are assisting in resettling and job searching, he said.

Quang, former deputy director of the labor development agency of the Da Nang area, said some refugees have experience as clerk-typists while others are heavy equipment operators, truck drivers, pilots, military men with various skills, teachers and businessmen. A number are graduates of American universities, Quang said.

Besides Ky, who has some experience in agriculture, Quang said there are few farmers in "Little Saigon."

Moved Forward

Persons planning to enroll for Sul Ross University extension courses at Webb AFB are being reminded that the registration period has been moved forward to May 27 from June 2. The hours will remain the same — 6 p.m., to 9 p.m.

Boycott By Doctors To Engulf California?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A boycott of all but emergency surgery by many California doctors protesting high malpractice insurance rates continued into an 11th day today, threatening to engulf all of California.

"It's a foregone conclusion that this will ultimately extend to the entire state of California," Dr. Sanford Marcus, president of the Union of American Physicians, said Sunday.

Doctors in two more counties in Northern California prepared to join the protest. Anesthesiologists in Santa Clara and San Mateo counties said they would assist only in emergency surgery starting today.

In Sacramento, a spokesman for 60 anesthesiologists said they would go out May 19 unless the state legislature takes action before then.

No elective surgery has been performed in about 50 private hospitals in San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa and Marin counties since May 1 when anesthesiologists and some other physicians refused to renew Argonaut Insurance Co. malpractice coverage. Other hospitals reported a booming business.

Several Items Tabled By County Commission

Howard County Commissioners tabled two items concerning the County Airport and Trans Regional Airlines at their regular weekly meeting this morning.

A committee of two, Precinct 3 Commissioner Bill Crooker and Precinct 2 Commissioner Ikie Rupard, was appointed to talk with Bill McClendon, airport operator, and W. E. McClure, Trans Regional representative, about the rental of hangar T-41 at the airport.

The airline will get the hangar, partitions are now being removed so they can occupy it, but the court hasn't made a decision whether to rent the hangar directly to Trans Regional or through the airport operator.

They also tabled a mattter concerning the security guards for the airline until Sheriff A. N. Standard returns from FBI school. Howard County Deputies will continue to stand guard for the boarding of flights to Dallas.

The Commissioners also voted to allow County Librarian Larry Justiss three weeks leave with pay to go along with his two weeks 1975 vacation and two weeks of 1976 and 1977 vacation so that he can attend North Texas State University for a summer session.

He needs the time to finish the required courses to get a MS degree in library Science.

They also discussed the condition of county roads after the weekend rains with County Road Engineer Neal Barnaby.

Barnaby reported that County Road 29 was almost completely washed away during the storm and several other roads were damaged. County road crews are repairing damages today, Barnaby said.

Barnaby also reported that a scraper would either have to be borrowed from Webb Air Force Base or that one would have to be bought or borrowed from some other source so that the county can dig another trench at the sanitary land fill.

He reported that City of Big Spring officials expressed their concern that the present trench would be filled before another could be dug.

He is in contact with Webb officials and should know soon if that scraper can be used.

Commissioners also voted to formally accept two Community Action Council grants to the County Welfare Department. One grant was for $880 for emergency food and medical care and $436 was for migrant emergency food and medical care.

A request from Highway Patrolman Jimmy Parks for the county to hire a secretary for the local office was tabled. The Commissioners plan to ask a representative from the office to meet with them on the matter before action is taken.

The office presently has a secretary working under the manpower program. Manpower program funds will last for the job only until June 1.

The Commissioners paid bills and finished their weekly session before lunch.

Texas Strip Mining

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — An estimated million acres of Texas could be strip mined and then reclaimed successfully, the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station says.

Station researchers are studying soil factors which influence the reclamation and revegetation of leveled strip mined spoils.

Strip mining, which involves taking minerals from the earth's surface, has taken a dramatic increase because of the vast lignite deposits in East Texas. Lignite, a low grade coal, can fuel electric generating plants.

Preliminary work in lignite spoil banks indicate that the major problems influencing revegetation will be low phosphorus and nitrogen, and a lack of soil organic matter.

Dr. L.R. Hossner and Dr. E.L. Whitely, experimental station professors in Texas A&M University's Soil and Crop Sciences Department, say successful revegetation schemes will require substantial additions of fertilizer phosphorus and nitrogen.

"Building a soil organic matter using natural plant material will be a slow process, but is essential to improved soil structure and resistance to surface crusting," they emphasized. They said it is a key factor to successful reclamation of these lands.

Two Soviet Destroyers Pay Visit To Boston Port

BOSTON (AP) — Two Soviet destroyers, first warships of their nation to visit a U.S. port since World War II, docked today under the welcomes of a harbor fireboat's spray, a 21-gun National Guard artillery salute and a party of U.S. Navy officers carrying swords in full formal dress.

In Leningrad, meanwhile, hundreds of curious Russians lined the docks and bands played vigorously as two U.S. warships entered that city's port for the first visit of American Navy vessels to the Soviet Union since World War II.

The five-day exchange visit of the warships was arranged in honor of the 30th anniversary of the Allied victory over Nazi Germany.

In Boston, the Zhguchiy tied up at Commonwealth Pier at 8:30 a.m., followed by the Boykiy, flagship of Rear Adm. A. M. Kalinin, in line behind her about 10 minutes later.

As a band played aboard the Zhguchiy, the crews of the Russian ships manned the rails in full dress uniforms, facing the American officers on the pier.

They exchanged salutes with the USS Albany, a guided missile cruiser berthered on the other side of the pier.

A handful of civilian spectators watched the arrival.

The two Soviet ships, armed with guided missiles, exchanged salutes with 105mm howitzers fired by National Guardsmen as they sailed past Ft. Independence on Castle Island at the mouth of the inner harbor. The Soviet and American flags flew side by side over the fort.

In Leningard, an official of the U.S. consulate said the two American vessels received and returned a 21-gun salute and dipped their flags as they entered the harbor, with a U.S. Navy band playing aboard one of the ships and a Soviet band playing on shore.

Rear Adm. Justi E. Langille, senior officer aboard the ships, came ashore to greet Soviet Rear Adm. Ivan M. Kolchin, and the Soviet reception party was invited aboard the ships for refreshments.

Several hundred Leningrad residents on the docks surged forward for a look at the American ships.

The 800 officers and men aboard the American ships have a full schedule of sightseeing and other events during their Leningrad visit.

They will tour the city, visit a kindergarten and high school, attend the opera, go to the circus and symphony and also will participate in basketball and volleyball games with Soviet sailors.

Raiding Party Captures Five

By the Associated Press

An Israeli army raiding party crossed into southern Lebanon this morning in an antiterrorist operation and captured five suspected guerrillas, one of them a woman, the Israeli command said.

It said the raiders hit three villages about two miles across the border, the same area where at least two incidents of shelling by Lebanese gunners have been reported this month.

By Israeli accounts, the raid broke a lull in Israeli incursions into Lebanon that had lasted since Jan. 15.

Lebanese officials charged that Israeli commandos kidnaped five men and a woman and blew up a cafe in the raids.

Among those abducted was Dr. Ahmed Murad, a member of the Politburo of the Lebanese Communist party, an official said in Bint Jbail, the village in which the cafe was reported dynamited. The owner of the cafe also was taken prisoner, the official said.

The official in Binh Jbail said the Israeli force numbered about 100 men. He said four other Lebanese were taken from the villages of Ait el-Shaab and Ait Aroun after a house-to-house search.

Lebanon has also charged Israel with four mine-laying missions on the Lebanese side of the border in the past five weeks.

The mine layers apparently were trying to block routes that the Palestine guerrillas might use for raids into northern Israel.

The guerrillas have taken renewed hope from the fall of the U.S.-backed governments in Indochina. Yasir Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization, cabled the Viet Cong that its "victory over American imperialism and its agents in your country has given us limitless confidence to pursue and strengthen our struggle the same way you did."

Other Mideast developments:

Egypt and the wealthy Persian Gulf oil states of Saudi Arabia, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates contributed $1.04 billion in capital to form The Arab Authority for Military Industry, the first major step toward establishing an arms industry. Its first project is expected to be establishment of an arms plant in Egypt.

Officials in Jerusalem said Israel has told the United States it will make no gesture toward Egypt to welcome the reopening of the Suez Canal, from which Israeli ships will still be barred. State Department officials in Washington spoke of the possibility of another Israeli withdrawal a few miles east of the canal to demonstrate a willingness to pursue peace with Egypt.

Israel and the European Common Market signed a comprehensive trade pact in Brussels as a further step toward lowering tariff barriers and strengthening commercial links. Israeli sources said the agreement will give some protection to European companies threatened with reprisals by Arab countries for trading with Israel.

Two-Year Budget Based 'On Wing And Prayer'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) – State Comptroller Bob Bullock said today the legislature should forget about the traditional two-year budget and write one for just one year to make enough money available for school finance improvements.

School finance should not have to compete with state agencies at this time, Bullock said in a statement.

"We can write the (fiscal) 1977 budget next year with a good deal of 20-20 hindsight about the uncertain future of the economy. None of us can see in the dark, but that's exactly what we'd be doing to pass a two-year budget now based on a wing and a prayer," Bullock said.

Former Govs. John Connally and Preston Smith each used the one-year budget approach on a single occasion to help stretch state funds. Their rationale was that predicting revenue to cover expenditures was too chancey over a two-year period.

Bullock noted that if the new state constitution passes, the legislature will be back in session in January.

The comptroller makes the estimates of expected revenue and must certify that any money-spending bill can be financed without a deficit.

Referring to the estimates, Bullock said, "We'll know a lot more about next year—and know it a lot more accurately— when next year comes."

"We should learn from the past year's economic upheavals. When the last two-year budget passed, who would have thought we would ever see a billion-dollar surplus?" he said.

Abortion Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several thousand women staged a three-hour demonstration on Mother's Day in support of legal abortions.

The women, some accompanied by their husbands and children, paraded past the building housing the Catholic Apostolic Delegation to the United States, chanting, "Two, four, six, eight — separate the church and state."

Organizers said the demonstration was intended to urge the Roman Catholic hierarchy to keep out of the national debate over abortions.

The protest, billed as a "Day of Outrage," was sponsored by the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Organization for Women and a group called Catholics for a Free Choice. Organizers said the marchers were from throughout the Northeast and California, Ohio, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Bednar Will Attend Conclave

Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, Howard County tax assessor-collector, was leaving for the state capital today to appear at a Senate finance committee hearing a bill which would provide county-wide property tax appraisal.

Every Howard County-based local government is represented on a tax appraisal board for tax appraisal here, and this system might serve as a prototype for state legislation.

The joint tax appraisal operation here is unique in Texas, Mrs. Bednar said.

"We've had combined appraisal since (1958)," Mrs. Bednar told County Commissioner Court this morning. "But this is the first time (this year) we've had a board."

Under the proposed legislation, a board composed of representatives of local governments also would serve as a board of equalization for all property taxed within the county.

The state comptroller and a state board of appointees have been suggested as agencies which could establish guidelines for tax appraisal boards.

Mrs. Bednar spent four days in Austin last week attending the Tax Assessor-Collector's annual conference, but she said she had little opportunity to speak with Sen. Ray Farabee (D-Wichita Falls). Farabee is a member of the finance committee and the representative of Howard County in the Senate.

While no formal action was taken, members of County Commissioners Court encouraged Mrs. Bednar to take the trip. She plans to go by bus and return tonight.

Registration Set For Boys

Youths from low income families who are applying for summer jobs through the Federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act are asked to report to the Old Settlers Pavilion in City Park, rather than the city auditorium.

The 200 governmental jobs for men and women from 14 to 21 will be open after registration Saturday, May 17, at the pavilion. Beginning at 10 a.m., an orientation will be followed by taking applications.

To show proof of family income, pay check stubs, W-2 forms and Social Security numbers should be brought to the meeting.

Ex-Big Springer Drowns Saturday

Word has been received here of the accidental drowning late Saturday of Beverly Ann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Martin, who lived in Big Spring about three years ago. Beverly Ann was about 13 years of age.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Tuesday in Burnet. Graveside rites are scheduled for 11 a.m., Wednesday in Odessa.

The victim was the granddaughter of Mrs. Lillie May Wise and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Martin and the niece of Mrs. Charlotte Gilbert, Mrs. Ruth Estep and D. W. Heffington, all of Big Spring.

Wanted: People Who Understand

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Tarleton State University spring graduates were told Sunday the world needs persons who understand others.

Dr. Haskell Monroe, dean of faculties at Texas A&M, told the 200 Tarleton State graduates, "The problems of our day and no doubt for many days to come are people-caused problems."

"It is our inability to cope with problems we have created which lead us to frustration, to worry and to fear."

Monroe urged the graduates to "be aware of the world's need for understanding persons who can work with people and who are filled with compassion for people."

Drowning Victim Identity Sought

CORSICANA, Tex. ((AP) — Authorities sought the identity today of a man who drowned Saturday night while fishing at the Navarro Mills Lake near here.

Witnesses said the man, about 40 years of age, floated on an inner tube too close to the lake dam spillway and capsized.

U.S. Leaders Engaged In Dangerous Policy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration and Congress are engaging in foolish and dangerous policies when they show more concern for the federal deficit than for growing unemployment, AFL-CIO President George Meany said today.

"If the leadership of this country had considered only the budget deficit in the early 1940s, Hitler would have won the war," Meany told a congressional joint economic subcommittee.

He said the United States economy easily can accommodate the massive amount of borrowing necessary to put Americans back to work and cut the current 8.9 per cent unemployment rate.

President Ford has set a $60 billion ceiling on the federal deficit for the 12 months that begin July 1, and the House and Senate budget targets would allow only slightly higher deficits.

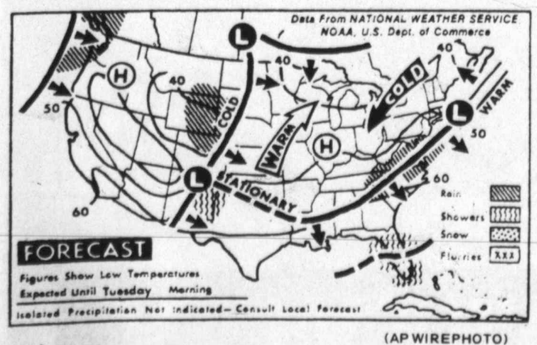

"The single-minded focus on the deficit spells disaster," Meany said. "We should face up to the fact that this country is big enough to take a $100 billion deficit if necessary."

The effort to hold down the deficit is based on the assumption that pushing government borrowing much beyond $60 billion would freeze business and private borrowers out of the credit markets, raise interest rates and set off a new round of inflation.

Jury selection in the murder trial of James Schaffer, 39, got off on an uncertain note in 118th District Court here this morning.

Of the 120 veniremen summoned, 41 put in an appearance and four of those were exempted after offering excuses to Judge Ralph Caton.

Schaffer is accused of killing his wife, Sandra, May 3, 1974.

Mull Windfall Profits Tax On Oil Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional tax writers trying to wrap up an energy-tax package face a major controversy over whether to include a tax on petroleum company windfall profits.

Regardless of whether the issue is immediately resolved, the Ways and Means Committee planned to start a tax bill through the legislative process today, beginning a busy congressional week with attention focused on domestic energy problems and the plight of Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees.

The House vote on a measure authorizing relief and resettlement of an estimated 114,000 Indochinese is scheduled Wednesday, to be followed immediately by consideration of a $405 million appropriation for the purpose. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee rearranged its schedule to begin considering the refugee legislation today.

The House also will take up a compromise version of the congressional budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. A Senate-House conference committee last week worked out a compromise between versions passed by both chambers and came up with a spending target of $367 billion and a $68.8 billion deficit.

President Ford has asked for a deficit limit of $60 billion.

Before the week is over the House expects to dispose of a $32 billion authorization for weapons for the armed services.

Consideration of that bill will be complicated by a drive to attach to it provisions requiring admission of women to the service academies and perhaps to open some combat assignments to servicewomen.

About midweek, the Senate expects to try to limit debate to allow a vote on a controversial bill to create a consumer protection agency.

As already written, the Ways and Means Committee's energy bill would increase gasoline taxes by yearly increments, impose a special levy on high gas-consuming new automobiles, create new duties to replace petroleum tariffs, tax some industrial use of petroleum and natural gas, and give tax benefits for installing energy-saving insulation.

The question of a special tax on windfall profits is bound up with the issue of decontrolling the price of domestic natural gas. This is under discussion in a House commerce panel not expected to resolve it soon.

To get the legislation moving promptly, the committee may report it out without the windfall tax, but with the understanding the tax may be proposed as an amendment when the bill reaches the House floor, probably during the week of May 19.

Meanwhile, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters the Ways and Means bill does not meet President Ford's goals of reducing imports by two million barrels of oil a day and making the nation independent of foreign supplies by 1985.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An FBI photo analyst was sent to Dallas, Tex., to view a newspaper picture in connection with the Rockefeller Commission's investigation of charges that the CIA was involved in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, sources say.

Sources said the commission asked the FBI to help check out a claim by activist Dick Gregory that the photo shows that convicted Watergate burglars E. Howard Hunt and Frank Sturgis were at the scene of the 1963 assassination.

The picture shows three shabbily dressed men arrested for vagrancy within hours of the shooting. Gregory and his associates say two of the men strongly resemble Hunt and Sturgis, both former CIA agents.

Hunt and Sturgis reportedly have denied being in Dallas the day of the assassination.

David Belin, the commission's staff director, has said he has seen no credible evidence linking the CIA to the slaying. He served on the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination.

Boston Integration Order Drawing Barbs

BOSTON (AP) — A final plan to integrate Boston's public schools next September "has virtually guaranteed a continuation of the present level of hostility and tension throughout the city," Mayor Kevin H. White says.

The proposal would increase the number of students who must take buses to get to their assigned schools from 17,000 to 21,000. It would require for the first time the busing of about 12,000 pupils in elementary grades.

The plan was announced over the weekend by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., whose partial desegregation plan ordered last summer touched off months of disturbances.

Assigning students to schools in their own neighborhoods "cannot achieve substantial desegregation in Boston due to the geography of the city and the racial and ethnic distribution in the city," Garrity said in his 104-page final plan.

White was joined by school officials and white community leaders in attacking the plan. There was no immediate reaction from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People or Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

Boston School Committee chairman John J. McDonough said the plan "is a disaster for the people of the city of Boston" and will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The plan divides the city into eight districts, some several miles long, set up to reflect Boston's over-all racial makeup. The city is about 50 per cent white, 35 per cent black and the remainder of other minorities.

BIG SPRING HERALD

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, MAY 12, 1975
SECTION B SECTION B

Astros Maul Expos, 6-0

By the Associated Press

"I thought they'd be taking some pitches to find out what I had," said Pete Falcone. The St. Louis Cardinals immediately liked what he had—and put the pitches all over the ballpark...and out of it.

"I started them off with fast balls. "I should've started them off with the curve," San Francisco's rookie pitcher added with momentous hindsight. Before Falcone knew what had happened, the Cards had jumped all over him for four runs in the first inning, all they needed for a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

In Sunday's other National League games, Los Angeles blanked Puttsburgh 7-0, New York beat Cincinnati 3-2, Houston mauled Montreal 6-0, San Diego edged Chicago 2-1 and Atlanta beat Philadelphia 7-3.

Dodgers 7, Pirates 0

Don Sutton "had a touch of the flu and wasn't feeling his best," Dodgers' Manager Walter Alston said. It would have been interesting to see a healthy Sutton facing the hardhitting Pirates. As it was, he limited them to eight harmless hits and chalked up his seventh victory of the season.

The Dodgers got two runs in the fifth inning when Dave Lopes walked, Lee Lacy tripled and he came in on Ken Brett's wild pitch. Los Angeles added three in the sixth, two on Lopes' single.

Tom Seaver settled down after giving up a pair of first-inning runs, one on Pete Rose's lead-off homer, and hurled a six-hitter to help the Mets end their six-game tailspin.

Padres 2, Cubs 1

Dave Freisleben withstood Chicago's 10 hits and Hector Torres singled to drive home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning for the Padres.

Bill Bonham walked Dave Winfield to open the eighth. Two outs later, Winfield stole second and, after Steve Huntz was intentionally walked, Torres singled to right.

Both teams scored a run in the fifth inning, San Diego on Winfield's bases-loaded grounder and the Cubs on Tim Hosley's homer.

Astros 6, Expos 0

Larry Dierker's five-hitter and Roger Metzger's three runs batted in—two with a homer— gave the Astros their victory over Montreal, Houston's first shutout of the season.

Dierker got a fourth-inning run on Jose Cruz' single, Houston added two in the fifth on Ken Boswell's single, Greg Gross' triple and Metzger's infield single. In the ninth, Gross singled for another run before Metzger belted his first homer of the year.

Braves 7, Phillies 3

Atlanta's Buzz Capra, with help from the potent bats of Earl Williams and Ralph Garr, ended his personal four-game losing streak, scattering eight Philadelphia hits.

Williams hit a two-run homer to cap a four-run first inning against Wayne Twitchell and Garr unleashed a three-run clout in the fourth.

LET'S SEE NOW — Arthur Ashe, Miami, Fla., holds winner's check to light just to get a peek at the $50,000 he won by defeating Bjorn Borge of Sweden in the World Championship of Tennis Tournament at Dallas, Sunday. Ashe won by scores of 3-6; 6-4; 6-4; 6-0. On right is actor Dan Rowan.

WCT FINALS

Ashe Picks Up Winner's Check

DALLAS (AP) — While everybody was talking about how Arthur Ashe chokes in the big matches, he was getting a giant confidence builder from a gypsy in Stockholm two weeks ago that helped in his World Championship of Tennis triumph Sunday.

"It almost sounds silly to tell you about this," Ashe explained after his 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0 victory over Sweden's Bjorn Borg. "I really thought I was going to win two weeks ago after I met this lady in a coffee shop. It was quite unsettling."

America's Ashe, 31, said "This red-haired lady read my palms and my lines in my face and told me I would win this week. She didn't really know me from Adam.

"She told me things there was no way for her to know—like one of my parents dying when I was young. The last thing she said was 'You will cry a lot before the month is over.'"

Ashe cried while accepting his trophy and a $50,000 first prize check after his unexpectedly easy victory over the scrappy 18-year-old Borg, who lost for the second consecutive year in the finals.

The blond-haired Borg said his five-set, four-hour marathon match against Australia's Rod Laver Friday night had taken too much out of him to handle the hard-serving, top-seeded Ashe.

"I gave everything against Laver and I had nothing left mentally or physically," said Borg, who earned $20,000 for second place.

As far as the "choke" talk, Ashe said "I think I have answered all that. I have been on three winning Davis Cup teams. I have won two grand slam events. Now, I have won the WCT."

No-Hitter Hurled In Texas League

By the Associated Press

Right-hander Tom McGough of San Antonio had just fired the first no-hitter of the Texas League baseball season, but the best was yet to come.

McGough telephones his parents in Johnstown, Pa., after every game he pitches, regardless of the outcome. And Sunday was Mother's Day and he had what he figured was a pretty nice present.

"This will be the biggest thrill," said the 19-year-old Pennsylvanian, now in his third season of professional baseball.

McGough allowed only one base runner in putting down West Division leader Shreveport 1-0 in a tight pitching duel. McGough, 2-2, faced only 28 batters — one more than the minimum. He struck out eight and walked one in going the distance.

Shreveport pitcher Doug Nelson fired a two-hitter, giving up singles in the first and third innings. But two errors by first baseman Ron Mitchell in the seventh inning allowed the Brewers to score the game's only run, which was unearned.

Elsewhere about the league Sunday, Lafayette shut out Alexandria 2-0, Midland beat El Paso 9-5 and Arkansas downed Jackson 9-5.

Midland broke open at close game at El Paso by scoring five runs in the fifth inning with the aid of three El Paso errors. El Paso wound up with five errors by the time the game was over, and Midland gained five unearned runs as Dave Geisel ran his record to 2-2.

Oldfield Shatters World Shot Record

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Brian Oldfield has set sights on an 82-foot shot put toss, using what he calls "the style of the future."

Oldfield showed what he has in mind with a 75-foot heave Saturday, more than three feet farther than the world record.

"Call it the Oldfield spin or the Ogre's Orbit," Oldfield said of his unorthodox style after he stunned an El Paso Track Classic crowd with his efforts.

Oldfield, using a discus-like delivery, fouled in his first attempt and then edged Al Feuerbach's world outdoor record of 71 feet, 7 inches with a 71-11¾ toss, which also topped Fred DeBernardi's pro record of 70-3.

The 265-pound Oldfield made two more illegal tosses before successive heaves of 73-¼ and 75-0.

His 75-foot toss at the International Track Association meet will not be an official world record because he is a professional and records are kept by an amateur track and field federation.

"Whatever you call it, it's mine and it's the style of the future," Oldfield said. "No one can touch me unless they adopt that style and right now I'm miles ahead of everyone else."

Oldfield starts his toss by spinning around once at the back of the circle. "By doing that I convert a seven-foot circle into a 10-foot circle, but I cover the distance in the same amount of time and it's that velocity that makes the difference," he said.

"When I hit 71 feet with it in 1972 it was just a fluke, but now I have it mastered," Oldfield said.

Rangers' Jenkins Wins 5th Straight

By the Associated Press

It wasn't a full-fledged freefor-all in the best baseball tradition, but for a lazy afternoon in Kansas City it wasn't bad.

The Royals were coasting 4-0 behind Steve Busby, Milwaukee wasn't making much of a comeback attempt and the 11,163 fans scattered around Royals Stadium were stifling yawns.

Then Kansas City's George Brett and Milwaukee's Kurt Bevacqua woke everyone up with some fisticuffs in the seventh inning. Brett barreled into second trying to break up a double play, both players came up swinging and the crowd had something to yell about.

So did Bevacqua and Brett.

Both benches and bullpens emptied, but just to get a better look. No one else through a punch. Bevacqua and Brett were ejected and everyone settled back to watch Busby finish off his five-hit, 4-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland beat New York 7-5; Texas outslugged Detroit 11-7; Minnesota and Baltimore split a pair, the Twins taking the opener 6-4 and the Orioles the nightcap 9-3; Boston defeated California 5-2 and Cleveland slipped by Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings.

Rangers 11, Tigers 7

Jeff Burroughs and Leo Cardenas clubbed two-run homers and Tom Grieve and Roy Smalley added solo shots for Texas in a game marred by missed fly balls as well as other errors that don't show up in the box-score. Ferguson Jenkins won his fifth straight game but left after the fifth in favor of Steve Foucault.

Each side was officially charged with only two errors but Texas' Joe Lovitto and Detroit's Leon Roberts, among others, were guilty of misplaying balls into extra-base hits.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever managed in, as far as seeing balls fall in that should have been caught," said Texas skipper Billy Martin.

A's 7, Yanks 5

Vida Blue became the American League's first seven-game winner but needed relief help from Jim Todd to hand New York its seventh loss in the last eight games. Joe Rudi drove in three runs for Oakland with a homer and single. Bobby Bonds hit a two-run homer for New York.

Steve Brye's two-run double was the big blow in a four-run rally in the fifth that carried Minnesota to victory in the opener. Rod Carew and Tony Oliva singled in the other two runs in the inning. Bert Blyleven gave up six hits en route to his fourth win in five decisions.

The Orioles rallied in the nightcap behind the hitting of Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis. Grich unloaded a pair of solo home runs and Davis went 3-for-4 with four RBI. Jim Palmer, 5-2, won it and Mike Pazik, making his major league debut, lost.

Red Sox 5, Angels 2

Rico Petrocelli and Rick Burleson rapped two-run singles as Boston made it seven wins in the last eight games and climbed to within one game of first-place Milwaukee in the East Division. Jim Rice added a solo home run for Boston and Bill Lee went the distance with a seven-hitter.

Indians 4, White Sox 3

Cleveland's Tom McCraw got an infield single to drive in the tying run with two out in the bottom of the 11th and John Ellis raced home with the game-winner on throwing errors by Terry Forster and Bob Coluccio.

Rico Carty hit a home run for the Indians who ended a fivegame losing streak. Nyls Nyman had put the White Sox on top with a run-scoring single in the top of the 11th.

The Chicano Golf Association announced by Charlie Gonzales, secretary, will hold a special meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m., at Carlos Restaurant.

Bullets Hold Off Celtics

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — When Kevin Porter keeps his cool, he makes things hot for the opposition.

The 5-foot-11 dynamo had his temper and his game under complete control Sunday, and stood tall among the giants of the National Basketball Association while leading the Washington Bullets to a 98-92 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The victory, Washington's 42nd in 48 home games this season, gave the Bullets the best-of-seven Eastern Conference title, four games to two, eliminating the defending champion Celtics.

"Kevin really took charge," said Porter's 6-9 teammate, Elvin Hayes. "He's the real key to this club. He makes things happen and he makes us go. He proved it today down the stretch. It was a fine effort by the little fellow."

In addition to handing off 11 assists, as he did all year to become the NBA assist champion, Porter scored 13 of his 21 points in the final quarter to blunt a Boston comeback.

Washington will now have a week off, which could give Mike Riordan time to recover from a severe thigh bruise, before entertaining either Golden State or Chicago in the first game of the championship series next Sunday.

Classic Delayed

DALLAS (AP) — Barring new climatic mishaps, the rain-delayed $175,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic winds up today with at least nine and perhaps 18 players still in title contention.

A high noon thunderstorm washed out Sunday's scheduled finale with about two-thirds of the field on the soggy Preston Trail course.

The 54-hole leaders, Bruce Crampton, Bob Eastwood and Rod Funseth, were not among the unfortunate group caught in the downpour that is becoming somewhat of a Nelson tradition.

The final round was delayed a day last year and rainfall has created havoc during a number of other tournaments here.

Crampton, Eastwood and Funseth, deadlocked at 10-under-par 203, were only a shot ahead of Miller Barber, Bob E. Smith and Tom Watson. Two strokes back were George Knudson, Jack Ewing and Larry Nelson.

Johnny Miller headed a group of eight at 207, just four shots off the pace and still within striking distance of the $35,000 first prize.

Portions of the final round were to be televised by ABC beginning at 3:30 p.m. CDT.

Golden State Evens Series

CHICAGO (AP) — It looks like Coach Al Attles and his resilient Golden State Warriors may not be headed for a vacation after all.

"I said before this sixth game that if we didn't come out blazing, we'd go on a vacation until next October," Attles said after his Warriors stunned the Chicago Bulls 86-72 Sunday to carry the National Basketball Association's Western Conference playoff final to a seventh game.

The Warriors, and Rick Barry in particular, did come out blazing to create a 3-3 standoff and give the Warriors home court advantage in the seventh game in Oakland Wednesday night.

The winner will face the Washington Bullets in a best-ofseven showdown for the NBA championship.

State Into A New Field?

Texas remains one of the brighter spots in the national economic picture. Unemployment in the state is below the national average; growth and economic activity are at higher-than-average levels. But there is no assurance Texas will remain so fortunate.

In anticipation of possible trouble to come, Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas has introduced a bill to assist unemployed Texans, should the economic situation worsen. Dubbed the Texas Full Employment Act, the bill would authorize the governor to declare "Economic Emergency Areas" when unemployment in a specific part of the state rises alarmingly, and to create public service jobs to put persons back to productive work.

Such an act would put the state in the business of providing work relief for the first time. Implementation of the program could stimulate the economy of depressed areas of the state, result in the construction of needed public facilities by employing the unemployed on such projects, and avoid sending more Texans to the welfare roles.

It would be left to the governor to declare the emergency areas, but the language of what constitutes an emergency is vague.

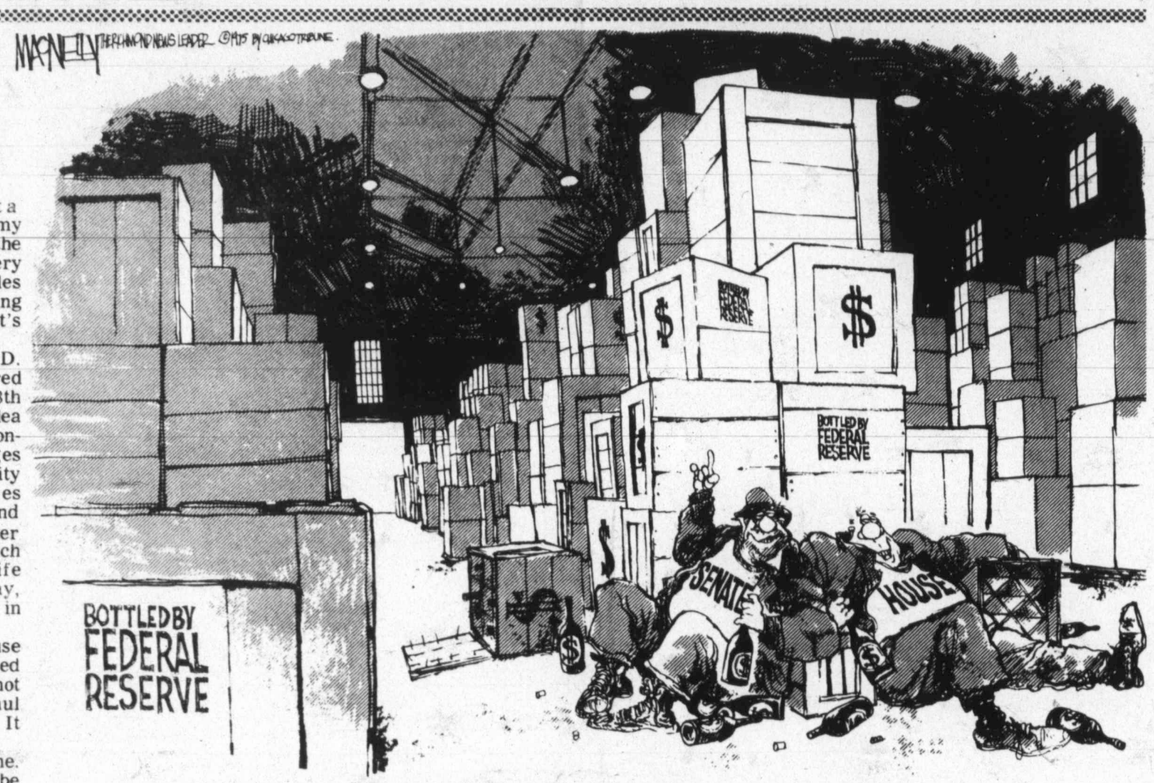

Texas probably will go slow on this proposal for the simple and practical reason it costs money, and money from Austin hits closer to home than from Washington. If, however, such a program should be undertaken, we hope that the public service jobs will not be simply make-work, but constructive enduring work. We joked about WPA a generation ago, but we've got projects still around today that testify to the enduring good of many of the public works.

Humanity And Compassion

Congress seems to be bending more toward providing some sizeable amount of funds for relief of Vietnamese refugees, and in their assimilation into some sort of productive activity if they elect to settle in this country.

Instinctively, many of our citizens have wondered if these would not pose complication to the already overloaded job market. Crusty old George Meany had the grace to lay it on the line the other day in saying that turning our back on these would be contrary to all that we have been and contended for in the past.

If these people believed in us enough to abandon virtually everything they had to flee the communists, then we need to open our homeland and our hearts to them. Reality resulted in our evacuation; humanity compels us to be compassionate to our friends.

"SPEAKING AS ONE CONNOISSEUR TO ANOTHER, I SUGGEST WE LIMIT OURSELVES..... TO ALL WE CAN DRINK."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Almost a year to the day that I told my husband of my rededication to the Lord, he left me. I still love him very much, but I Corinthians 7:15 puzzles me. Do I just let him go, believing this is God's way of telling me it's over? Or do I keep the door open?

M.D.

The Bible statement you referred to really begins back in the 13th verse. Here Paul introduced the idea of a Christian wife and a non-believing husband. He urges remaining together in family unity where possible. Then comes statement 15. "If the husband ...who isn't a Christian is eager to leave, it is permitted. In such cases, the Christian . . . wife should not insist that the other stay, for God wants His children to live in peace and harmony."

Paul tells the Christian spouse that marriage should be continued with the non-Christian, but not commenced. The separation Paul speaks of here is not a command. It is a permission.

All right, your husband is gone. But if anyone has hope, it ought to be you. This separation may not be final. It could be, in fact, an occasion for him to rediscover reasons to make the marriage work. It may also give him time to reassess his spiritual need, and he may later decide to trust Christ. Especially in view of your continuing love, keep the door of reconciliation open, and pray specifically for his return.

"The Network"

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — On April 14, the Senate by routine voice vote confirmed President Ford's nomination of John F. Lehman Jr., as deputy director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), without dissent, without debate, without newspaper publicity — and without a hint of the vicious fight waged backstage for four months.

HAD IT BEEN up to the elected Senators, Lehman's nomination would have rushed through the Senate months ago. But staffers of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and of its members mounted a campaign against him of vendetta intensity. Indeed, Lehman was doomed. Only stubborn intervention by one Democratic Senator, Gale McGee of Wyoming, salvaged him.

The Lehman affair is a case study of one alarming aspect in the multiple revolution on Capitol Hill. As the congressional bureaucracy grows in Parkinsonian dimensions to match their brethren downtown, appointed staffers inevitably seize policy functions from their elected bosses, usually with an eye toward usurping power from the executive branch. As for Senate foreign policy staffers, the phenomenon is well advanced.

WELL-EDUCATED YOUNG veterans of the U. S. Foreign Service, disaffected with this country's generation-long cold war policies, in recent years have travelled a circuit between bipartisan Senate staff posts and the Brookings Institute, the Kennedy Institute and other non-profit organizations. Because they agree on a revisionist view of the cold war and confer frequently, critics variously describe them as the "Cabal," the "Underground" and the "Mafia." A more accurate, less pejorative description might be the "Network."

UNTIL HIS defeat last year, Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas as Foreign Relations Committee chairman was the Network's leader and protector. Some conservative senators expected Fulbright's successor, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, to hire non-Network staffers for the committee. But Sparkman, 75, has disturbed nothing so far.

In fact, Sparkman's first policy speech as chairman, on Jan. 28, read as though filched from Bill Fulbright's briefcase ("we remain divided by shortsighted rivalries and mean-spirited, obsolete nationalisms"). It was written by Network staffers inherited from Fulbright. Chairmen come and go, but the Network flourishes — up to a point, that is, as seen from the Lehman affair.

WHEN LEHMAN was first suggested for the ACDA post, Network alarm signals were flashed. As congressional operative for Henry Kissinger at the National Security Council, Lehman proved a hard-liner ideologically and a prickly antagonist personally. So, last December the committee staff informed Secretary of State Kissinger that the Senate would not confirm Lehman for any job.

Mr. Ford nominated him anyway, triggering a Network campaign against Lehman of such extent that we can only give a taste of it. Leading the charge were committee staffers Richard Moose (famed for Vietnam inspection trips on Fulbright's behalf) and William Ashworth, along with Pete Lakeland, foreign policy aide to Sen. Jacob Javits of New York. They put out anti-Lehman memos circulating in the Senate to stir up opposition.

Tornado Brewing

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Late last summer the country seemed to realize suddenly that recession was overtaking inflation as the No. 1 economic problem.

Up to then even the President had been advocating spending cutbacks ranging upward from individual households to departments of government. Inflation must be licked, he said.

Then, as economists pored over their analyses, came reports of rising joblessness, lagging retail sales, excess plant capacity, swollen inventories and other indicators of an economy in decline.

The new consensus was that the country better start doing something about the deepening recession.

Jobless benefits were improved and a tax rebate and tax reduction bill was passed. Campaigns were begun to get people to buy cars and thus get the autoworkers back on the assembly lines.

Now, as Americans are adjusting to the shock of the worst recession since the 1930s, some disturbing signs and fears are appearing.

Like the clouds of recession that last year sat on the horizon for months before rushing in, early signs seem relatively harmless. But some shrewd analysts aren't inclined to view them that way.

The most obvious signal comes from wholesale prices, which in April rose at an annual rate of 18 per cent, led by two familiar categories: Farm prices and processed food prices.

The past 12 months farm prices declined and people began to see a bit of relief in their food bills. But the decline seems to have ended abruptly.

Some economists still decline to decide on the April evidence. Some say it is an aberration in a trend to price stability. Others say it was expected, because prices seldom drop in a straight line.

Still, there is no way anyone can ignore the evidence of the past few years which suggests that price increases any place in the producer-distributor-retailer system are passed on down the line.

Once it was assumed that wholesaler or retailer could absorb brief flurries of higher prices. Now we know nobody is willing or probably even capable of swallowing higher costs. The "bottom line" is the consumer.

The other major distress signal is the federal budget deficit's size. Some $60 billion to $70 billion of federal borrowing must be accommodated in the capital markets for fiscal 1976.

Financiers show considerable confidence that such a job will not be insurmountable—that it can be done without depriving business of money needed to expand and without driving up interest rates.

But there is developing evidence that a return to higher interest rates is likely. This too might be an aberration in a healthy situation, but based on experience, who really can afford this view?

Moreover, one reason why the federal debt allegedly can be financed without extreme difficulties is that private enterprise is in a nonspending mood.

What happens, the critics ask, when big business decides it must borrow to expand and re-equip its plants for the next expansion? Will there be money enough for both government and business?

Keep your eye on wholesale prices, especially farm and processed food prices, and on interest rates. A tornado could be brewing.

Fluid Revealed By X-Rays

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told I have some fluid in the lower part of my lungs. This shows on X-rays. I am taking a diuretic.

Can one remove the fluid completely, or can it spread throughout the lungs, causing sickness? I find myself giving a sigh once in a while. I'm a little short of breath. Does this have anything to do with it?

I also cough a little almost every day.

Mrs. L.S.

The condition is called "pulmonary edema." It can be related to a failing in your blood circulation or to an imbalance in your blood chemistry. A bit more on this below.

The diuretic you are taking is to promote elimination of the lung fluid. The cough is caused by the lung congestion from the fluid which has collected in the interstitial tissue. For now, the diuretic should help you eliminate the immediate problem, but it will not remove the underlying cause, which has to be investigated.

How does this occur?

Normal blood is about 55 per cent plasma, a clear, slightly yellow material. This plasma is about 90 per cent water. Normally, blood fluid is allowed to pass through vessel walls and out into the lymph system at a carefully controlled rate. This rate is governed by a delicate balance of proteins and minerals in the blood, which determines the degree of permeability through the vessel walls.

When the protein level is too low, the fluid then passes quicker than it should. The excess can collect in body tissues — in your case, in the lung tissues.

After your immediate edema problem is over with, follow-up tests will probably be made to see whether or not your blood chemistry is proper, or whether your circulatory system is basically at fault. Treating the underlying cause is important in preventing recurrence of the edema.

You should not attempt to stifle any gentle coughing, and you should try to get a lot of rest during this peri0d.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About a year ago my husband had acute appendicitis and an appendectomy. He has always eaten a great deal of popcorn. Could this have caused the appendicitis, and could it cause other problems?

Mrs. C.B.

Contrary to a popular belief, appendicitis is not caused by the swallowing of pits or other similar objects. It is a bacterial infection usually the result of bits of fecal matter seeping into the appendix from the intestine.

If your husband enjoyed popcorn so much before the appendectomy, I see no reason he should not enjoy it afterward. The appendectomy by itself would be no bar.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a right and a wrong way to breathe? Is it best to breathe through the nose?

B.M.

Yes, it is best to breathe through the nose, which is constructed ideally for this purpose. The nose tissues warm the air, and its tiny hairs filter out dust particles.

Normally, we would all breathe through the nose instinctively.

Vanishing Delights

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another:

ONE OF THE great mysteries in West Texas concerns the disappearance of the frog. Time was they popped out by the thousands after a heavy rain here.

The water used to back up in the lower part of town and the frogs, together with crayfish, vied for living space. The crayfish were silent and rather onimous-looking creatures, but the bullfrogs (not the toad frogs) were always in good voice.

Both provided meat for the table. The Negroes who lived in the flats near the area captured the crayfish for the lobster-like meat in their tails, and most everyone, at one time or another, sampled the delectable legs of the frog.

IF YOU SET out to capture either or both, you had to shed your shoes and resign yourself to the fact that you were going to take a mud bath from head to foot. There was an element of danger in going after the creatures bare-footed, too, since the cockleburs usually were prolific all over the flats and they were difficult to dislodge once you did step on them.

Now both the frog and the crayfish have become rather rare items and pesticides used to promote good agriculture get much of the blame for their diminishing numbers.

IF FROGS ARE needed nowhere else, they serve a good purpose in high school and junior college physiology and anatomy classes. A great number of textbooks are based on the animal.

Modern hunters of bullfrogs are chillingly competant in their pursuit of the croakers. They often make use of a two-pronged spear and simply run them through. We were much more humane. We ran them down, bagged them and took them home for the purpose of startling the women folk or trading to a friend for a dozen emmies. If we kept them, we slowly tired of them and didn't try to stop them if they eventually hopped away.

BECAUSE FROGLEGS are a gourmet's delight, the frogs would likely fetch a pretty good price today but finding them is another matter. They've become about as rare as the buffalo in West Texas.

The groundhog, whose name is associated with the change in seasons, is no fraud, but his reputation is.

LEGEND SAYS that the fat, squat animal arises from its winter sleep each Feb. 2 and looks down to see if its shadow came along. If it sees that shadow, it is supposed to spook and go back into the ground for six weeks. If it stays out — early spring.

In fact, the lazy rodent climbs into bed in September and sacks out until March. February? He couldn't care less.

EDITORIALS/OPINIONS

Foreign Policy

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Compiled for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is a thick volume made up of cables from around the world following the fall of Vietnam asking more or less bluntly this question: Who makes the foreign policy of the United States?

THERE ARE variants on this theme: Who is responsible for decisions taken? And even, whom can we trust when we hear conflicting views on a policy issue?

For Kissinger, trying to pull together the tangled threads of American policy following the debacle, this is a black book that cannot be simply filed and forgotten. For the inquiries come from foreign ministers, from prime ministers and presidents. While the tone is not unfriendly, it is nevertheless insistent.

AND THERE IS NO answer or, at any rate in this moment of doubt and uncertainty, there can be no unequivocal response. Foreigners, even those best informed and responsible, have always found it difficult to understand the American system of divided powers with the executive and the legislature sharing power even on foreign policy to some degree.

In the aftermath of the debacle, as Kissinger muses, the nation might have had a Dunkirk reaction. We shall all stand together with unity in diversity. We will demonstrate to the world that we are one people able to withstand a blow to our pride and prestige.

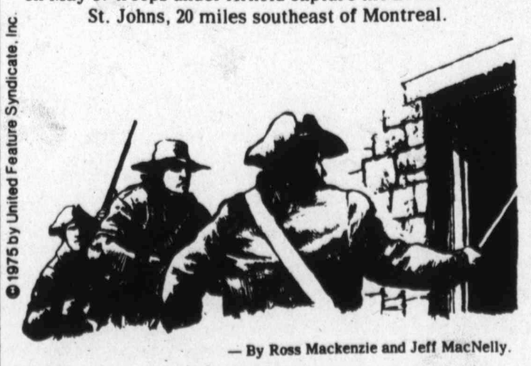

But that was not to be. The abyss between Congress and the State Department and the White House, to speak of only one of the fissures in the body politic, is wider than ever. Old differences over policy have, if anything, been accentuated. Foremost on this list is Turkey and the Greek-Turkish quarrel over Cyprus.

CONGRESSIONAL ACTION to prevent further military aid to Turkey still stands, with little chance the blockade will be lifted short of action on Cyprus not presently in the cards. As Kissinger sees it, he has gone a long way to try to meet the demands of the members of Congress chiefly responsible for putting up the barrier. He showed key Congressmen the most important cables passing between the department and Ankara in an effort to convince them that everything possible was being done to persuade the Turks to show some give on Cyprus. But they were unmoved.

We Hold These Truths...
A Chronicle of America

May, 1775:

To alleviate a critical shortage of artillery for Continental troops besieging Boston, an expedition is undertaken to capture the British fort at Ticonderoga in upstate New York. Ethan Allen, Benedict Arnold, 100 of Allen's Green Mountain Boys, and another 100 New England volunteers capture the fort — held by a small British garrison. Asked by what authority he demands surrender of the fort, Allen is said to reply, "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress." The attacking force seizes about 100 serviceable cannon and mortars, several thousand cannon balls, and 30,000 flints. Troops led by Seth Warner capture the British outpost at Crown Point on May 12. And on May 17 troops under Arnold capture the British fort at St. Johns, 20 miles southeast of Montreal.

Scenic Chapter Cites Woman Of The Year

Mrs. B. W. (Barbara) Leugoud was named Woman of the Year by Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at the monthly dinner meeting in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Annually, each ABWA chapter selects one of its members for this award, basing the selection on the member's achievement in her field of business, education, participation in the association and in community activities.

Mrs. Leugoud, who is supervisory procurement agent for Webb AFB, will represent her chapter in competition for the American Business Woman of the Year award. This winner will be announced at the national convention Oct. 8-12 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Beginning her ABWA participation five years ago, Mrs. Leugoud is currently president of Scenic Chapter. Previously, she was vice president and was chairman of the contact and audit committees as well as for an educational project. She worked on the contact committee for two years and has attended a national and district convention.

She has been employed by Civil Service at Webb AFB in the Base Procurement Office for 19 years, now serving as supervisory procurement agent and as a contracting officer. She is responsible for planning, directing and supervising five buyers in the Supply Branch and the Base Procurement Office. The volume of business is approximately $1.5 million annually. Her training for the position included courses at Ft. Lee, Va., Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio; Lowry AFB, Colo.; and three government extension courses.

Mr. and Mrs. Leugoud have one son, Jess Phares, who resides in San Angelo, and one grandson. Mrs. Leugoud is a charter member of Bethlehem Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Oklahoma City, Okla. Locally, she has assisted with the Heart Fund Drive and is a member of College Baptist Church.

At the dinner meeting, the guest speaker was Dr. Emmett McKenzie Jr., superintendent of BSISD. He discussed the many changes in education and school systems and how school administrators and personnel strive to keep up with the changes which seem to run in cycles.

Dr. McKenzie said there are three basic types of changes: action by the school board, action by school patrons and action by Congress, legislation or the courts. In giving examples of changes, he cited the quarter system, drug education, bilingual instruction, part-time kindergarten and increased activities for girls.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Gerry Dietz, an employe in the business officer at Big Spring High School, who described her duties.

Ms. Vicki Tayler, one of the chapter's two scholarship recepients, spoke briefly in expressing appreciation to the chapter. In other business, the chapter agreed to donate $50 to the Stephen Bufton Memorial Fund, sponsored by the national ABWA.

Other guests introduced were Mrs. Sylvia Teems, Mrs. Edith Tyler, Mrs. Thelma Carlile, Ms. Martha Belew and Ms. Laura Wooten.

Prayers were said by Mrs. Nancy White and Mrs. Evelyn Delatour.

Two Join Membership Of Retirees

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bean joined the membership of the local chapter of National Association of Retired Federal Employes at its monthly meeting Thursday in the First Federal Community Room.

Marshall Brown, president, conducted business, announcing that the June 12 meeting will be held at Kentwood Center, beginning at 10 a.m. Fried chicken will be furnished for the luncheon, and members are asked to bring a covered dish. Games will be played in the afternoon.

There will be no meetings in July and August, Mrs. T. K. Price said a speaker has been engaged for the September meeting.

The program was presented by Virgil Clark who showed colored slides of a trip which he and Mrs. Clark took to Paris, Italy and Sicily.

'53 Hyperion Luncheon

The final meeting of the season for the 1953 Hyperion Club was a salad luncheon and business meeting in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Taylor Wednesday.

New officers introduced were Mrs. Harry Middleton, president; Mrs. Don Grantham, vice president; Mrs. Wade Choate, recording secretary. Mrs. R. L. Heith, treasurer; Mrs. Pete Cook, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Taylor, parlimentarian; and Mrs. Bill Pollard, reporter-historian.

Mrs. Middleton named her committees, then presented a gift of appreciation to Mrs. Taylor, the retiring president.

During the brief business session, Mrs. Taylor reported on the club's bicentennial project. The club will present a photograph of the "big spring" to Heritage Museum.

ANOTHER BROWNIE? — Big Spring gained another Brownie Scout last week when members of Brownie Troop 200, Sevice Unit 36, painted one of the city's fire plugs in ther image. Shown at their task are Connie Covington, Josette Mata, Sandra Arellano, Tammi Biel, Michele Martinez, Robin Wilson, Kim Gillespie and Lisa Subia. The troop was supervised in their work by their leader, Margie Martinez, and art student, Amelia Martinez of Howard College. The new "Brownie" is stationed at Fourth and Scurry.

A LOVELIER YOU
Smaller Wedding Can Be Beautiful

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: I am to be married at the end of May. My wedding will be small, about 25 guests, at my home in the late afternoon. I have my heart set on a traditional gown. Would it be appropriate? How should other members of the wedding party dress?

The Answer: A wedding, however small, can be a memorable occasion. The bride may indeed wear a traditional gown. Because the space in a home is usually limited, a gown is prettiest when it skirts the floor without trailing and is veiled no farther than the waist. Sheer, starchy fabrics have an affinity for the season. Bridal bouquets are smaller and more colorful than a few years ago.

It is wise to limit the bridal party to one or two bridesmaids and a best man. A flower girl might be the bride's only attendant. A chart of suggested attire for the bridal party follows:

Bridesmaids: Dresses short or to the floor; simple headdresses and perky bouquets of spring flowers. Mothers of the Bride and Groom: Short afternoon dresses and corsages; for groom's mother, hat and gloves optional. Gentlemen of the Wedding Party: White summer jackets, gray trousers and ties, black shoes and socks.

Color Theme: Bridsmaids' dresses, all bouquets and floral decorations keyed to one color — pale yellow dresses and golden daffodils. Setting: Arrange a focal point for the ceremony and seating for the guests. Finis: A picture wedding.

BEAUTY WORK

Attention, homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet,

"Beauty of Housework" which also explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in house-keeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged. In your chores. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Yogurt, Fruit Good Combo

Yogurt and cling peaches were made for each other. I'm sure you'll agree when you try this easy and colorful salad combination. Drain one 16 ounce can of cling peach slices. Reserve syrup and add to available fruit juice. Blend together ½ cup yogurt, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley. Heap into peach cups and serve on salad greens, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

HD Group Has New Chairman

Mrs. John Couch was elected chairman of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council at last week's meeting in the extension agent's office, with Mrs. Alton Underwood, current chairman, presiding.

To be installed with Mrs. Couch in the fall will be Mrs. E. A. Williams, vice president; Mrs. Bob Wren, secretary; Mrs. Waymon Etchison, treasurer; and Mrs. Vern Vigar, reporter.

It was reported that 21 local women attended the District 2 meeting recently in Lubbock. The state meeting is slated Sept. 23-25 in Abilene.

Regular business included a report on home safety and health by Mrs. Vigar and Mrs. J. L. Metcalf. Mrs. J. C. Petty spoke on family life, and Mrs. Underwood discussed art and recreation. The women agreed to participate in the Howard County Fair which will be Sept. 15-20.

Members were reminded that the next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m., May 20 in the home of Mrs. Fred Jones, 810 Andre, and at 7:30 p.m., May 27, there will be a program on arthritis at Howard College. Local doctors will speak.

The Airport HD Club hosted the meeting and the devotional was by Mrs. Ray Parker.

Genealogists Name Officers

Bill Steagald was re-elected president of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring during a recent meeting in the conference room of Howard County Library.

Completing the officer slate for fall will be Mrs. Linda Atkins, first vice president; Ms. Blanche Burton, second vice president; Mrs. Sue Damron, editor; Mrs. Christine Horn, secretary; A. A. Porter, treasurer; Miss Bernice Cason, librarian; and Mrs. Margaret Barnfield, historian.

Plans were made to change the meeting format in the coming season; fewer guest speakers and more time for members to work on their papers.

The new officers will be installed June 12 at a meeting in the library.

To Oven-Fry

When you want to oven-fry fish fillets or steaks count on two pounds serving six. Use a preheated 500-degree oven and cook the fillets or steaks from 10 to 15 minutes.

Orientation Is Wednesday

A mini-orientation will be held for the Big Spring State Hospital Auxiliary at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday in the staff development building on the hospital campus. Free baby sitting will be available at First United Methodist Church. Persons who plan to attend are asked to call Volunteer Services, 267-8216, Ext. 308.

Three Times Pregnant Three Times Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17 year old girl graduating from high schol this June. My problem is my parents. They don't wan me to have anything to d with my boyfriend, who i 19, because I've been impegnated by him three times.

The first two imes I was forced to get abrtions, and the third time I waited too long, had the baby and placed him for aoption.

My parents have also heard bad thing about my boyfriend, but h did those things when he was 15 and 16, and he has reformed now. He has a job and is staying out of trouble.

Abby, there is absolutely no way I could ever stop seeing him. He's a lot of fun to be with, and we love each other and wat to get married somedy. Please don't tell me to ate others because he is the nly one for me. We've been going steady for five years an don't like to sneak around behind my parents' backs. lease help me convince thei to let me see him.

IN LOVE IN N.J.

DEAR IN: Sory. I can't blame them for feeling as they do. They have been through three nightmarish experiences wit you and they're not looing for a fourth. When you have matured and ar on your own, you won't need their permission, but because of your past mistakes you'll have to wait until hen.

DEAR ABBY: Wh all due respect to Ripley's 'Believe It or Not," ther is no documentation to spport its story that a 9-year-old American Indian woman gave birth to a chil. And the same goes for the ne about the 64-year-old woman who was said to have produced a child with her 8-year-old husband.

"The Guinness Book of Records" has documents to prove that Mrs. Ruth Alice Kistler (nee Taylor), at 57 years and 129 days old, gave birth to a daughter, Suzan, in Glendale, California on Oct. 18, 1956.

This is the oldest recorded birth of which there is certain evidence.

AN M.D.

DEAR M.D.: I'll buy "Guinness." But how about the Biblical Sarah who, at age 90, bore a son for her husband, Abraham, when he was 100? (Genesis 21).

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago, my father was told that he had kidney failure and would have to go on a dialysis machine.

Because his kidney failure was recent, the chance of obtaining a kidney transplant was small. (There are adults and children who have waited 10 years and longer for a kidney transplant because Americans are either unaware of the need or have hangups about having parts of their bodies removed after death.)

Thank heavens there was a dear man who had no such hangup. Unfortunately, he was in a fatal car accident, but he gave up his kidney, which matched my father's needs. That was two years ago, and my family is eternally grateful to that generous man.

Needless to say, the members of my entire family are card-carrying kidney donors. How I wish more people would become donors. If they knew how much it meant to people like us, they would be.

M.C.P. IN NEWPORT BEACH

DEAR M.C.P.: I am, and have been for four years. And if my readers want to leave a legacy of inestimable value, write to The National Kidney Foundation, 116 East 27th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10016 for a donor card.

Almost 60 leaders are expected to attend, along with a number of other guests, and certificates of appreciation will be presented. The luncheon will climax this school year's Girl Scout activities and mark the beginning of the summer camping season.

Assisting with plans have been Mrs. Lin Bell, field director; and Unit chairmen, Mrs. Dorothy Sheppard, Mrs. Lou LaRochelle, Mrs. Mary Reynolds and Mrs. Donna Van Ness.

GOREN BRIDGE

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AK82 ♥AQ762 ♦A1054 ♣A
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—It is a close choice between a reverse bid of two spades and a jump to three clubs, but we prefer the former. Partner's inability to bid one spade normally denies four cards in the suit, but there is the possibility that he elected not to respond in spades on a weak four-card suit. Also, we still retain the option of bidding clubs later in the auction.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠93 ♥K872 ♦KQJ9 ♣K74
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♣	1 ♦	?

What action do you take?

A—Double. You cannot be sure that your side has a game, but the prospects of collecting a substantial penalty appear bright. Even if the opponents escape to spades, partner might be able to double them there. If he can't, you still have the time to make a bid.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J107 ♥AQ10 ♦K1032 ♣Q106
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid two no trump. Even though partner passed originally, his jump shift is forcing. You do not want to encourage him in the slightest with your balanced minimum, and your no trump bid hoists the red warning flag. Besides, if there is a game in the hand, it is most likely at three no trump.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J107 ♥743 ♦J10964 ♣K7
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two spades. You have a borderline pass, but you do have good three-card spade support and a ruffing value in clubs. Also, the preemptive effect of a two spade raise should not be lightly disregarded. The opponents could have a part score or game in hearts, but they might find it difficult to enter the auction.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ73 ♥Q ♦AK109 ♣J652
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	Dble.	1 ♠	Dble.
Pass	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid two spades. Don't fall for West's attempt to bluff you out of your suit. North's double of one spade was for penalties, and showed a reasonable holding in that suit. You could very easily be a cinch for four spades, but you will never get there if you don't confirm a "real" spade suit.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J82 ♥A105 ♦KQ762 ♣82
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. Three no trump is your most likely game contract—if partner has the black suits protected. By showing your heart stopper, you invite partner to place the final contract. He won't play you for more strength than you have, because you limited your hand with your first bid.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠764 ♥Q62 ♦KQ10 ♣J762
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Obviously, partner is unwilling to let the opponents buy the contract at the one-level, and wants you to bid one of the red suits. We don't care much which three-card suit you elect to bid, but it is our style to opt for the major suit.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A73 ♥A98 ♦AK84 ♣A105
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♣	2 ♦	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Your wealth of aces increases the power of your hand considerably. Since partner could make a free bid, slam chances are alive, and a leap to three no trump would not do justice to your holding. We recommend a cue-bid of three clubs, deferring further action until you hear partner's next statement.

Welfare Errors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mistakes by state and local officials who administer the government's largest welfare program caused an sstimated $500 million in erroneous payments last year, a new study says.

Another $500 million was spent erroneously because of incorrect information from welfare recipients about factors that determine eligibility for payments, according to the study by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Analyzing payments under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program between January and June 1974, the study found 9.3 per cent of AFDC families ineligible, 20.6 per cent overpaid and 8 per cent underpaid.

Seven of 10 errors by state officials resulted from failure to take action on information they possessed about AFDC families' circumstances, the report said. For example, welfare officials might not reduce payments to a family even though they have copies of birth certificates and can determine when children turn 18 and no longer are eligible.

Three out of four errors blamed on recipients involved failure to report changes in family income, the report said.

About $8 billion is distributed through the AFDC program to about 3 million families each year.

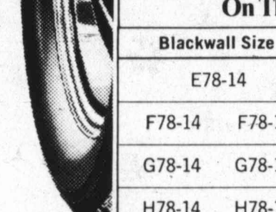

What A Waste!
