Ship Twenty Cars New Wheat From Perryton

FREE NO PEDDLER SIGNS AT HERALD OFFICE NOW

In response to numerous requests from citizens of Perryton and surrounding country, the Herald has printed another big lot of "PEDDLERS KEEP OUT" signs and they are now available for free distribution to those who want them and will display them at their homes. Last year, this office distributed over five hundred of these signs and people tell us that they saved them much time and annoyance from peddlers, agents and salesmen. These signs read: Peddlers, Agents, Salesmen! KEEP OUT! We Buy From Our Home Town Folks!

We do not think that any person who puts up these signs mean that home people who have something to sell are not welcome. It is the outsider who comes in, takes up valuable time, and often sells merchandise that is inferior, for he is here today and gone tomorrow, and the customer has no recourse if what he has to sell is not as represented. These people pay no taxes to support our schools and public institutions. They make no donations to support our churches and other civic organizations, all they do is take out and almost without a single exception give inferior products in exchange for your hard earned money.

The home merchant, agent, business man or salesman is not the persistent kind if you are not interested, they will try to "high pressure" you into buying. They cannot afford to antagonize you with such salesmanship methods, neither will they sell you unless they are giving you value received. We want every home in Perryton and this trade area to display one of these signs. They are free! Come and get them! In times such as these, we want to keep every dollar possible at home. Tell the foreign peddler, agent and salesman to get out and stay out and that you mean just what the sign says. "We Buy From Our Home Town Folks!"

Huntoon Grain Co.

Bert Brown and E. J. Trospier In Grain Business at Huntoon With Two Pit Dumps

The Huntoon Grain Co. is the firm name of the grain business being operated at Huntoon this year by Bert Brown and E. J. Trospier. Both of these men are veterans in the grain business. Mr. Brown has been at Booker and Huntoon for a number of years. Mr. Trospier was formerly with Trospier Brothers, this new firm really being a successor to the old Trospier concern.

Mr. Trospier states that they expect to handle grain in a conservative way and that they want their customers to have the very best possible price for their wheat. They have made arrangements to meet competition in the matter of wheat storage. The new firm will operate two pit dumps, with two blowers to each dump and a loading capacity of 2,000 bushels per hour.

ELMER CLASSEN IN HOSPITAL; SERIOUS BURNS

Elmer Classen, a farmer living four miles west and one mile south of Balco was seriously burned on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Classen was washing some tractor parts in a container of gasoline when one of his employees, after lighting a cigarette, accidentally threw the flaming match in the gasoline, which ignited, throwing the burning fluid over Classen. Classen carried the burning can of gasoline from the machine shed, then with the assistance of his wife extinguished the flames. His condition is reported as serious from the Beaver hospital, where he was taken for medical attention.

The final date for the payment of the second half of city taxes was set up to Wednesday, July 10, by the city council at the last regular meeting, after which date a delinquent penalty of ten per cent will be added. The original date of payment of the second half taxes was on June 30, but this was set up to July 10 in order to allow a little more time so that as many as possible avoid being assessed the penalty.

McLEAN'S GAS RATES IN HALF

RATES ARE REDUCED SIXTY CENTS DOWN TO THIRTY CENTS; CITY WINS COURT DECISION

PAMPA, June 18.—In a fight for cheaper gas rates, the city of McLean won a decisive victory here today, reducing the rate from 60 to 30 cents.

Jot Montgomery, mayor of McLean, launched the campaign. The McLean Gas Company is alleged to have sought to cut off the supply of any customer who did not pay the old rate. The Amarillo attorneys for the city of McLean obtained a temporary injunction, preventing the company from cutting off the supply of any customer who refused to pay more than the new rate.

Hearing on the application to make the injunction permanent was held here today before W. I. Game-well, special district judge of the 114th judicial district. The injunction is the case of the City of McLean against the McLean Gas Company was made permanent as a result of the hearing.

WAKA GETS SEPARATE DISTRICT

COUNTY BOARD RECONSIDERS AND SEGREGATES FORTY-EIGHT SECTIONS TO SCHOOL DISTRICT

At a meeting of the county board of education on Tuesday, June 23, the petition of the Waka community to be allowed the privilege to withdraw from the Perryton Independent School District and form a district of their own, was again considered and this time the board granted the right under the following conditions which the petitioners accepted: Waka asked for slightly over forty-eight sections. They were given 48,2909 sq. mi. or 30,966.2 acres. Section 27, 26, 30, 31 and the south one-half of 12, all in Block 4, were included in their petition. The board retained this land in the Perryton district, by request of the owners of above land, but substituted sections 10, 13, 14, 15 and south one-half of 9, all in Block JT.

Waka asked for $10,000 in cash and no part of the bonded indebtedness. They settled by assuming $20,500.00 of the bonded indebtedness of the district, this is ten per cent of the bonded indebtedness outstanding with the exception of the $65,000 which is being used for the building now under construction. In addition the Waka district will receive all taxes due on lands in the new district, including delinquents, this amount being approximately $1,680.00. They will also receive the per capita state and county apportionment of school taxes upon their scholastic census, which is estimated at 83. They receive all property, school buildings and equipment now located within the confines of the proposed district, also the two truck bodies which have been used to transport pupils to the Waka school.

MUST PAY CITY TAXES JULY 10

COUNCIL SETS UP DATE OF SECOND HALF PAYMENT; TEN PER CENT PENALTY

The final date for the payment of the second half of city taxes was set up to Wednesday, July 10, by the city council at the last regular meeting, after which date a delinquent penalty of ten per cent will be added.

The original date of payment of the second half taxes was on June 30, but this was set up to July 10 in order to allow a little more time so that as many as possible avoid being assessed the penalty.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rogers and daughter, Vivian, and Mr. Rogers' mother, Mrs. Hannah R. Dunscomb, were Sunday dinner guests in the A. C. Witt home.

Mrs. Charley Kent, Mrs. W. G. Acker, Mrs. C. R. Nelson and Mrs. R. C. Harlow were Liberal, Kans., visitors last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nichols visited Sunday in Amarillo.

More Stop Streets

Stop Signs Installed on Several Streets and More Ordered; One No U Turn Corner

Stop signs have been recently installed by city employees and a number of additional stop street signs ordered placed by the city council. Recent installations are on Brillhart street where Brillhart intercepts Main Street north of the Hi-Test Service Station and the Bradbury Produce. Other stop signs are on S. W. First St. where it runs into Brillhart Avenue between the Wilson Funeral Home and the White House Lumber Co. and on S. E. First St. where it runs into Brillhart at the Panhandle Lumber Co. corner. Stop signs have been ordered installed on avenues intercepting Main Street at the Stewart Printing Co., T-W Motor Co., Buick Motor Co., and Bales Filling Station. Mayor Shanks informs us that a No U Turn sign will be placed on Main Street at the First National Bank corner.

At the city council meeting on Tuesday night the minimum fine for violations of stop signs was reduced from $8.85 to $3.00. However, this fine is optional with the city court and a much larger fine and sentence can be imposed if the court sees fit to do so. City Marshal Robertson has been instructed by the Mayor and council to enforce a strict observance of all traffic ordinances and to arrest all offenders and bring them into police court. The new city administration has been very lenient in this matter but they feel that sufficient warnings have been given, now they are ready for action.

CANADIAN AND BEAVER COMING

GOOD WILL TRIPPERS FROM NEIGHBORING TOWNS IN PERRYTON THURSDAY FRIDAY, 25-26

Just where Perryton folks will spend the Fourth will be determined by the good will trips of Beaver and Canadian, which are due here today and tomorrow. Both of these towns are having celebrations on the Fourth and the booster trips are for the purpose of advertising the "blow-out." So Beaver and Canadian, turn loose and strut your stuff, we Perryton folks are going to the town which puts on the best show.

Beaver is due at 4:30 this afternoon, Thursday. The Canadian contingent is due here at 12:00 noon, tomorrow, Friday. They will take lunch at the Perryton Hotel. Perryton folks should get out and be on hand to welcome these good will delegations, give them a good hand and let them know that we appreciate their visit. Arrangements will be made to return these visits at the time of the Beaver and Canadian fairs this fall.

ROGER BABSON SAYS IT IS TIME TO ADVERTISE

If there was ever a time when the newspapers could perform a real service for the United States, it is today—furthermore this applies to all groups of people, bankers, manufacturers, merchants and wage earners. You need only to tell the people the simple truth. Statistics now indicate that business has seen its worst, even though the recovery will be slow.

Respective of what happens to the stock market in the next year, I am willing to stake my reputation, based on 30 years experience (1) that business has seen its worst; (2) that, although the change will be slow it will be in the right direction; and (3) that within a reasonable time this country will again enter a period of marked prosperity. In short, statistics today point to another period of prosperity, the same as they 3 years ago pointed to the present period of depression—as you go back home tell your merchants that now is the time to advertise.—Roger Babson, business economist, to members of Advertising Federation of America.

ENJOIN CITY ON RE-ASSESSMENT

DISTRICT JUDGE E. J. PICKENS GRANTS INJUNCTION IN RESIDENCE PAVING SQUABBLE

On last Tuesday, June 16, District Judge E. J. Pickens granted an injunction to J. W. Payne et al. in their suit against the City of Perryton in the matter of the re-assessment of property in the west side residential district for the purpose of paving. Attorneys for these fighting the payment of the paving liens are J. W. Payne, J. M. Bull and Hoover, Hoover & Cousins of Canadian. The city is represented by Judge R. T. Correll, city attorney, and the firm of Macdon, Adkins, Pipkin & Keffer, Amarillo.

The plaintiffs claim that the re-assessment ordered by the council on June 16, 1930, is invalid for the reason that three aldermen voted for and two against when the statutes provide that same must be carried by a two-thirds majority. However the contract made by the city with the Lacy Paving Co. for the construction was passed by a unanimous vote of the city council.

When the matter of re-assessment came up, the council at first refused to act, but on the advice of the city attorney, Judge R. T. Correll, whose opinion was sustained by the Amarillo, attorneys, the re-assessment was ordered, hence the injunction.

This litigation affects nothing but the residential paving where paving liens have not been signed by property owners. It is the opinion of the city's attorneys that should the city have failed to order the re-assessment, the city would be liable and could be sued for payment. In such case all property in the city would be taxed to pay for the paving of those who are contesting the city councils action, as well as other properties in like status.

A move will be made at once for a hearing by attorneys for the city or the paving company, to have the injunction dissolved at once. As the matter now stands, it looks as though the paving company cannot lose and if the injunction is made permanent the city as a whole will have to pay for the paving in front of the contestants' property.

RECEIVE FIRST LOAD OF 1931 WHEAT FRIDAY

Equity Gets First Load, Brought In By Roy Hoghland; Cut On Volunteer Land

Douglas Ships First Car Wheat Average Running From 8 To 35 Bushels; Test Running From 60 to 62

The first load of 1931 wheat was received in Perryton last Friday, being brought in by Roy Hoghland, harvested off of volunteer land. The load was sold to the Perryton Equity Exchange, testing only 51 pounds to the bushel. The first carload of wheat was shipped Tuesday by the W. H. Douglas Grain company. The wheat graded No. 1 dark hard, with a 63 pound test. It was billed out to Wichita, Kans.

Up to Thursday morning, approximately twenty cars have been billed out of Perryton. Harvest is expected to be in full swing by the last of this week or the first of next week.

The average on the wheat in this particular vicinity is running from eight to thirty-five bushels to the acre, with most fields running between fifteen and twenty. According to elevator men, the quality is the best that has ever been received here, practically all of it testing between 60 and 63 pounds.

Much of the wheat to the northwest is averaging around eight bushels while to the south and east it is running much better, because of late moisture. The market is still at thirty-five cents.

Wheat buyers state that they are not expecting the usual harvest rush they have been accustomed to in the past as many farmers are storing their wheat on the farms and where storage is not adequate, are piling it on the ground, rather than sell on the present low market. All of the wheat brought in is being sold as no one has reported any storing in elevators.

No reports have been received here as to the situation in other shipping points in the county but it is expected that they are very much the same as at this point.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY in

When you visit your physician for a health examination, one of the very things he asks you to do is to open your mouth and say "Ah." He is examining the delicate throat. "Ah!" There is not a man or woman who could even make this simple sound, if there were no Adam's Apple. For your Adam's Apple is your larynx—the voice box containing the vocal chords. And what a delicate piece of work the Adam's Apple is. A slight particle lodged in the throat—and you grow husky. In acute cases, we may have a voice for several days. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY in your throat. LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in other cigarettes. These expelled irritants are sold to you in the form of chemical compounds. They are not your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder 20,000,000 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be the only cigarettes always kind to your throat. Say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Experiences of the World War

General John J. Pershing

W. N. U. Service

in all countries by the North Atlantic World rights re-...
 and my duty, in order to give him directions for the conversations which might take place either with the secretary of war or with the President of the United States.
 "It might very well have happened that later on I should have addressed the American government, but I insist on this point, that I have done nothing of the sort. I have not authorized the ambassador to read all or part of my dispatch to the secretary of war. I regret that he did so, but I do not disavow anything that I wrote.
 "I am giving you here the explanation which I owe you and I am going to exercise all the patience of which I am capable in awaiting the good news that the American commander and the French commander have finally agreed on a question which may be vital to the outcome of the war."

Clemenceau's Motive Questioned
 As the French were dead set on getting our troops under their control it is more than probable that the French premier, feeling that their plans were not working out, sought to create some distrust in the minds of our administration at Washington against my management of things in order to pave the way for insisting that we were entirely wrong in not consenting to amalgamation. However, at later meetings with Clemenceau and Petain the alleged differences were seemingly settled amicably, as indicated in my cable of January 14, which follows:
 "For chief of staff: Have now definite understanding with French satisfactory to them and to me that our divisions now in France shall complete their training as already begun. In the future divisions arriving in zone of French armies are to have period of training with French, each regiment in a French division. When sufficient-ly experienced by training in a quiet sector with French our divisions are to be united under their own commander and will be placed in our own sector."

CHAPTER XXVI
 The necessity for controlling the use of strong drink among our troops had been brought forcibly to my attention through the ease with which alcoholic beverages could be obtained.
 The use of light wines as a part of the French ration was simply the universal custom of the people of leaving wine with their meals. The wines and beer were not so objectionable, but strong alcoholic spirits were regarded by the French themselves as dangerous and were prohibited for their troops, but the prohibition was not well enforced outside the zone of the armies.
 The problem of preventing our troops from drinking the stronger liquors was difficult, especially at the ports of entry. Efforts to obtain enforcement through conferences with local authorities and through agreements with the port and district officials were made from time to time, but with little result.
 I finally appealed to Prime Minister Clemenceau for support, but he would only counsel local officers, as he did not wish to declare a "state of siege" (martial law). In the end it was necessary to take the matter in our own hands and declare every bar and restaurant where the heavy liquor was sold as "off limits" for our troops.
Vice in Army Denied
 About this time a cable was received from Washington that some publication at home had made a sweeping charge of both immorality and drunkenness against our men. No such statement could be based on fact, nor could it serve any purpose except to cause unnecessary anxiety to parents and relatives and perhaps satisfy on the part of some one an unworthy desire for sensation. In reply I cabled in part as follows:
 "There has never been a similar body of men to lead as clean lives as our American soldiers in France. They have entered this war with the highest devotion to duty and with no other idea than to perform these duties in the most efficient manner possible.
 "Engaged in healthy, interesting exercise in the open air, with simple diet, officers and men like trained athletes are ready for their task. Forbidden the use of strong drink and protected by stringent regulations against other evils and supported by their own moral courage, their good behavior is the subject of most favorable comment, especially by our allies. American mothers may rest assured that their sons are a credit to them and the nation."

Seek More Chaplains
 My diary notes the following: Paris, Thursday, Jan. 10, 1918 —Have appointed Maj. Robert Bacon to be colonel and A. D. C. on my staff. Bishop Gwynne, deputy chaplain general, British army, and Bishop Brent were my guests at Chaumont on Monday. On Tuesday Brent and I discussed increase in number of chaplains, which we both favor. Bishop Brent had been selected by me for appointment as chaplain with a view to his being the chief of the chaplain corps which it was planned to organize. The bishop did not approve of this idea and in deference to his opinion, and upon his suggestion a permanent executive committee of chaplains was appointed to study the problems involved and make recommendations direct to me from time to time. Bishop Gwynne of the British forces explained their system, the methods of administration and the control and direction of chaplain's work, from which we adopted such features as were applicable to our service.

 Custom in our army, arising from lack of appreciation of the usefulness of chaplains, had relegated them as a class of the status of handy men who were detailed to write up boards of survey or run libraries.
Aviation Problem Serious
 Aviation questions demanded unremitting attention, for in no other service was unpreparedness so evident and so difficult to overcome. Apparently there was earnest effort at home, but it was too often misdirected.
 On the part of the allies, especially the French, lack of mechanics and delay in procuring motors and materials, such as spruce, had given them a setback. Due to these conditions and their own increased programs the French and also the

British Wanted U. S. Men
 When General Robertson came for the conference regarding the shipment of troops for training with the British as mentioned in my diary, we began to discuss the details of the disposition to be made of our forces which might be brought over in British shipping. It was found that General Robertson's proposal was practically the same as the one submitted to E. M. House through Mr. Lloyd George. He wanted to bring our infantry and machine-gun units by battalions only, and pointed out how much more expeditiously this would meet the shortage of men in the British army than to ship whole divisions with all their equipment and stores.
 He believed that the British government would take the risk of releasing temporarily some shipping engaged in carrying food and raw materials if America could see her way to provide the men, although, he said, it could not well undertake the transportation of complete divisions as not enough men would be brought over in this manner to justify the great risks involved. In other words, the British had the shipping to transport American battalions on condition that they would serve in the British armies.
 However, as General Robertson's proposal would enable us to increase our strength more rapidly, my preliminary cable to Washington reporting the conference recommended that it be given consideration and, in view of our national attitude regarding service with another army, that if approved the plan should be regarded as a temporary measure to meet an emergency; that as soon as possible the remaining troops of our divisions thus temporarily broken up should be brought over and the units reassembled; that division, brigade and regimental commanders and their staffs be sent with their infantry for training with the corresponding British units, and that the infantry

Lord Northcliffe. Italians were unable to take more than a small proportion of our 1,500 flying cadets who were on the ground and, who under agreement, were to be instructed by them.

About this time the contract for planes we had made in August was formally abrogated, the French government being unable to meet its conditions due to the delay in receipt of machine tools and raw materials from the United States, a possibility which had been forecast in my cables to the War department. In its stead we later made an agreement whereby we should be dependent upon the allotment that might be made us according to the number of divisions we might have in France.

 Early in December I signed an agreement with Lord Northcliffe of the British air board that we should send 15,000 enlisted men to England and maintain that number in training in their aircraft factories and air service stations. This plan proved to be beneficial to both sides, as far as carried out, but especially to ourselves, in providing us with trained men and saving us the necessity of establishing extra schools for teaching them ourselves. Due to the nonshipment of air personnel from home we lacked 4,500 of reaching the number of specified, and later the need for line troops prevented our completing the number.

 and my duty, in order to give him directions for the conversations which might take place either with the secretary of war or with the President of the United States.
 "It might very well have happened that later on I should have addressed the American government, but I insist on this point, that I have done nothing of the sort. I have not authorized the ambassador to read all or part of my dispatch to the secretary of war. I regret that he did so, but I do not disavow anything that I wrote.
 "I am giving you here the explanation which I owe you and I am going to exercise all the patience of which I am capable in awaiting the good news that the American commander and the French commander have finally agreed on a question which may be vital to the outcome of the war."
Clemenceau's Motive Questioned
 As the French were dead set on getting our troops under their control it is more than probable that the French premier, feeling that their plans were not working out, sought to create some distrust in the minds of our administration at Washington against my management of things in order to pave the way for insisting that we were entirely wrong in not consenting to amalgamation. However, at later meetings with Clemenceau and Petain the alleged differences were seemingly settled amicably, as indicated in my cable of January 14, which follows:
 "For chief of staff: Have now definite understanding with French satisfactory to them and to me that our divisions now in France shall complete their training as already begun. In the future divisions arriving in zone of French armies are to have period of training with French, each regiment in a French division. When sufficient-ly experienced by training in a quiet sector with French our divisions are to be united under their own commander and will be placed in our own sector."
CHAPTER XXVI
 The necessity for controlling the use of strong drink among our troops had been brought forcibly to my attention through the ease with which alcoholic beverages could be obtained.
 The use of light wines as a part of the French ration was simply the universal custom of the people of leaving wine with their meals. The wines and beer were not so objectionable, but strong alcoholic spirits were regarded by the French themselves as dangerous and were prohibited for their troops, but the prohibition was not well enforced outside the zone of the armies.
 The problem of preventing our troops from drinking the stronger liquors was difficult, especially at the ports of entry. Efforts to obtain enforcement through conferences with local authorities and through agreements with the port and district officials were made from time to time, but with little result.
 I finally appealed to Prime Minister Clemenceau for support, but he would only counsel local officers, as he did not wish to declare a "state of siege" (martial law). In the end it was necessary to take the matter in our own hands and declare every bar and restaurant where the heavy liquor was sold as "off limits" for our troops.

THE DANGER OF WAITING

Life can play foul jokes on people some times. In a large middle-western city there was a grocer, who worked very hard and saved his money religiously so that his old age would be provided for.

For 50 years he stuck to his grocery store. He worked and saved too hard to have very much fun, but he was looking forward to the day when he could retire. Then he would have his fun. He would have money and leisure, and he would make up for the years of hard work.

Well, he finally retired—money in the bank, an assured income, a nice home, everything he needed. "Now," he told his friends, "I am going to enjoy life."

And just 24 hours after he had retired he dropped dead.

If a novelist put that in a book we wouldn't believe it. We would say that things don't really happen that way, and we would accuse the novelist of straining too hard for an ironic effect.

But life takes queer twists that are not permitted to good fiction. It all happened, precisely as it is described here; and all we can do is admit that there are times when wisdom and prudence are horribly confounded.

As a matter of fact, this sort of thing happens fairly often—in a little different way. Not many people who have prepared for a care-free and leisurely old age die just as they begin to taste their reward, of course; but they get cheated out of their dues, just the same. They find that leisure, after a lifetime of hard work, is boredom. They find that they have forgotten how to play. They find that the empty hours are depressing because they do not know what to do with them. They find themselves feeling that they have been put upon the shelf, and they grow 10 years older in 12 months.

Perhaps we aren't meant to be too cautious. Deferring one's happiness to the end, when we will have time and the means to take it, is risky. For most of us that glided tomorrow will never dawn. If we don't get our happiness along the way we shall never get it at all.

That is a lesson worth learning. The real joy of living is not something that can be banked and drawn on at some future date. It has to be taken from day to day. It is compounded usually of many little experiences. The haze of an autumn afternoon over a flaming woodland; the confiding smile of a child, nestling in one's arms for a fairy tale; the smell of a clear wind as one trudges along a beach by blue water; the sudden revelation of tenderness in the eyes of a loved one; the brief, vanishing strain of a bit of music—of such things is a satisfying life fabricated. You cannot postpone them, you cannot wait for them. You must get them as you go along, or you will miss them entirely.—Standard, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

"COMPETITION"—"SPICE OF TRADE"

Not many years ago in our Nation the slogan "Competition is the Spice of Trade" was popular. Leaders of thought throughout the country believed that unrestricted competition between small businesses and business men and producers, guaranteed to each one an equal opportunity for prosperity in this great rapidly developing country. Accordingly many laws of a nature designed to support this theory were passed. Notable among them was the Sherman Anti-Trust law. These laws were elaborated to prevent sinister combinations of large interests, monopolies and centralized control in industries serving the public. There is considerable advantage in such legislation as it places the Federal Government in a position where it may check and control to some degree monopolistic tendencies contrary to the public welfare.

However, in spite of this effort it has been discovered and is now generally acknowledged that unrestricted competition is NOT a guard against economic disaster. There has been a growing tendency during the last decade toward amalgamations, mergers and associations of related industries and enterprises for the purpose of obtaining more adequate control within the industry and eliminate wasteful practices and harmful competition. The old feeling that it was "every man for himself and the devil for the hindmost" is being rapidly dissipated.

In industry, what has not been accomplished by amalgamations and mergers has been accomplished by trade associations, unions and such other devices that will bring to the business some sort of centralized control and planning. Where it has been impossible to organize the entire industry, some large organized group has been effectively organized so that its influence upon the rest of the industry serves as a balance or governor compelling smooth and more profitable conduct.

A well organized group within any industry seeking to serve both the producer and the consumer and exact a fair and reasonable amount of profit for the service rendered, serves as a stabilizing factor within that industry.

It appears that Agriculture is the last of the economic groups within our Nation in which the application of this principle is being seriously applied. We have well organized and protected transportation, well organized and protected financial institutions and the last and equally if not more important great economic group—agriculture, is rapidly achieving what the others have already achieved.

This is being accomplished through the medium of the Agricultural Marketing Act—a new fixed policy of our Government to encourage cooperative marketing. Through cooperative marketing it is possible to organize a sufficient number of producers of each commodity so that they will exercise a larger influence toward a more economical handling and a more effective merchandising of the commodity to the interest of both the producer and the consumer. The recovery of the world from the current economic tangle cannot be realized through the competition of millions of small sized organized producers. Whether we like it or not some sort of centralized planning must enter the field of the world's economic activities. If our democracy is to establish and make efficient its economic order it must substitute controlled concentration of effort for uncontrolled competition.

The friends of agriculture must

RICHARD DIX follows his "Cimarron" triumph with the leading role in "Young Donovan's Kid," Radio Pictures' adaptation of Rex Beach's novel "Big Brother." JACKIE COOPER, who rose to screen fame overnight in the title role of "Skippy," plays the lovable Midge Murray. The two are seen above in a scene from the show, which will appear at the Ellis Theatre, Friday and Saturday, July 3-4.

Robert Woolsey, cyclonic comic of "Rio Rita," and other pictures, in his first starring feature, "Everything's Rosie," showing at the Ellis on Sunday matinee and night.

'YOUNG DONOVAN'S KID' POWERFUL SCREEN DRAMA

Following up his history-making "Cimarron" performance, Richard Dix again shatters film tradition and upsets precedence in the leading role of "Young Donovan's Kid," attraction at the Ellis Theatre, Friday and Saturday, July 3-4. Dix's new roles, that of a New York East Side gangster of a decade ago, provide a perfect characterization for this ever-popular and decidedly talented screen favorite.

Jackie Cooper, lovable child actor and seven-year-old star of "Skippy," shares honors with Dix. Jackie contributes a gem of a performance, one which shapes up, in the opinion of this reviewer, as the most remarkable screen work ever done by a juvenile. This boy certainly is destined to become an outstanding fan favorite following his role in this production.

"Young Donovan's Kid" is Radio Pictures' adaptation of Rex Beach's popular novel "Big Brother." Dix as Jim Donovan, monarch of a New York gang, is forced through the death of a pal to take over the rearing of a young boy. Out of this association comes a great love and the desire to send the boy straight. But his every move for good is misinterpreted and he is hurled into a maelstrom of trouble which tears the boy from his arms. The climax, in which the boy is restored to him, is one of the most dramatic situations ever transferred to celluloid.

Theme a Welcome Relief
"Young Donovan's Kid" is a far cry from the usual gun-popping, men-dropping gangster pictures. It deals with reformation, not degradation. The film comes as a welcome relief from the hackneyed crook pictures of the machine gun and racking type.

The picture has been admirably cast. Dix reaches supreme heights as the steely-eyed killer who undergoes complete regeneration through the love of the little waif and the beautiful Marion Shilling. His is a role which combines ruggedness, gentleness, tender love, bitter hatred and stark drama, and Dix always the master of any characterization, contributes a performance as effective as that of his Yancey Cravat in "Cimarron."

Entire Cast Scores

Jackie Cooper more than successfully makes the change from his light comedy "Skippy" role to the pathos of the Midge Murray characterization. His interpretation is superb. Marion Shilling is a lovable heroine, while Frank Sheridan makes an ideal Father Dan. Fred Niblo directed in workmanlike fashion.

"Young Donovan's Kid" is ideal entertainment for the entire family. It should not be missed.

JEANETTE MACDONALD IS CO-FEATURED WITH VICTOR

Making the right guess at a critical moment decided the career of Jeanette MacDonald, beautiful screen actress, who is co-featured with Victor McLagen in "Annabelle's Affairs," coming Friday and Saturday, June 26-27, to the Ellis Theatre.

Miss MacDonald was a Philadelphia high school girl, still in her teens, when she visited her sister, Edith, in New York, who had a part in a musical show playing at the Capitol Theatre. Ned Wayburn, owner of the show, became interested in the youthful sister.

"Can you dance?" he asked her. The reply was affirmative.

"Then do a time step for me," commanded Wayburn.

Not at all sure she knew what a "time step" was Jeanette tried. She guessed right and Wayburn gave her a place in the revue.

When the Wayburn show closed, Miss MacDonald joined the "Night Boat" company, it having been discovered she possessed a soprano voice of unusual quality.

NORMA SHEARER

This led to leading roles in several musical productions including "The Magic Ring," "Tip Toes," "Yes, Yes, Yvette" and "Sunny Days."

Then Ernest Lubitsch signed her to play opposite Maurice Chevalier in the screen's first musical romance, "The Love Parade," and she rose to immediate fame in her first picture.

Subsequently she was placed under contract to Fox Films, appearing in "Oh, For a Man" and "Don't Bet On Women," in both of which she scored heavily.

"Annabelle's Affairs" is based on the farce, "Good Gracious Annabelle," well remembered as a success on the stage.

ELEANOR BOARDMAN IS STARRED WITH LUKAS

As the loyal wife and mother in "Women Love Once," Eleanor Boardman is provided with a very powerful role—one of the most important in her career.

The star of "The Crowd," "Three Wise Men," "The Great Meadow" and a score of other pictures both silent and talkie, is seen in "Women Love Once" as the central feminine interest of a story that is crammed full with dramatic intensity.

Paul Lukas plays the part of the Artist-husband in this play written by Zoe Akins from her stage success, "Daddy's Gone A-Hunting."

They live happily in the big metropolis with their adorable four-year old daughter (Marilyn Knowlden). As a commercial artist, doing routine drawings for advertisements, Lukas earns a moderate competence and all three live very happily—a model family.

But the spell of contentment is broken by the appearance of Juliette Compton, wealthy social light and patroness of the arts, who decides to make Paul her protégé. She persuades him to go to Paris to further his studies in the higher reaches of artistic endeavor.

Miss Boardman willingly lets him go, confident that their future will be improved by the additional experience he will gain in Europe and unsuspecting of the real motive of Miss Compton.

When Paul returns he is a changed man. He has gone thoroughly "arty," and has lost his zest for the joys of domestic serenity. He gets into a scrape with Miss Compton's jealous husband; and further trouble comes when little Marilyn is injured by an automobile.

Meanwhile Geoffrey Kerr, an artist, has become enamored of Miss Boardman. The combination of these fatal forces seems to be drawing Paul and Eleanor apart, but the heart-melting climax brings them together in a happy embrace.

"Women Love Once" was directed by Edward Goodman. It is showing at the Ellis Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

A BUSINESS MAN REPLIES TO HIS WHOLESALE HOUSE

The following letter was sent by a Panhandle business man to one of his wholesale houses who had written him asking for a payment on account.

Dear Sir:

I wish to inform you that it is impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request.

My present financial condition is due to effects of Federal laws, State laws, County laws, Corporation laws, My-laws, Brother-in-laws, Mother-in-laws, and Outlaws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through these various laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am.

These laws compel me to pay a merchant's tax, capital tax, excise tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, cigar tax, street tax, school tax, and tax and carpet tax. In addition to these taxes I am requested and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind of man can organize: To the Society of St. John the Baptist, the Woman's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policeman's Benefit, the Dorcas society, the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts, the Jewish Relief, the Near East, the Gold Digger's Home; also every hospital and every charitable institution in the town, the Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, the Purple Cross, the Double Cross.

The Government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required and compelled until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race, and because I refuse to donate to all and go out and beg, borrow or steal money to give away, I am cursed, discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am nearly ruined so that the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what is coming next."

radish, horse radish and spinach flea beetles. It is not unusual for one species to feed on several kinds of plants.

Flea beetles are hard to control since arsenicals or stomach poisons are apparently distasteful to them and they do not readily eat enough sprayed foliage to be killed by the poison. Best results have generally been secured by applying Bordeaux mixture as a repellent in combination with one third arsenate of lead by dry volume.

According to Eshbaugh the best method of application is to wet the insect infested plants thoroughly with water and then dust them with the dry Bordeaux-lead mixture, being careful to reach every portion of the foliage. Apply enough of the blue-white dust to form drops of blue spray on the plants. Some tender leaves will be burned slightly by the copper in the Bordeaux mixture but it will not amount to anything when compared to damage done by the beetles. Watch the plants carefully and apply the dust whenever the insects appear.

Commercial packages of Bordeaux and arsenate of lead may be obtained from seed dealers and rugists. It is possible to apply a wet spray of the same materials with similar results by the use of a hand sprayer or atomizer. However, the wet spray does not cling well to cabbage, nasturtiums and other plants with oily leaves and the dust is much more satisfactory.
