

Omnibus Tax Bill Before The House

In Session 19 Weeks, Solons Haven't Yet Settled Pensions

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP) — Worn legislators reached the end of the session's 19th week in the unusual position of having provided for addition of thousands of old folks to the pension rolls without raising sufficient revenue even to keep the rolls at their present size.

Due To Pass House
They may do something about the situation within the next few days, however, as the house Monday will take up an omnibus tax bill estimated to yield about $18,000,000 a year. The consensus was that the measure would pass the house quickly but its fate in the senate was uncertain.

Legislative action on the pension liberalization bill became final when the senate yesterday adopted a conference committee proposal. It would become effective if and when approved by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, big pension advocate.

Most observers believed O'Daniel would sign the bill but he had given no public intimation of his attitude. He hesitated before approving an early-session bill authorizing the pension organization to borrow money on grounds governmental expenditures should be kept within current revenues.

If Governor O'Daniel signs the measure the important question of whether it is acceptable to the federal social security board will remain. State pension authorities said the federal board must act before they can mail out June pension checks. Under the present law, the federal government has been paying pensions with the state on a 50-50 basis.

Legislators familiar with the situation anticipated three possible federal courses. They were:

1. Approval by the social security board of the new law and its continuation to match Texas payments.
2. Disapproval of the measure, with matching money being supplied for those eligible under the old law but not for the additional persons eligible under the new statute.
3. Disapproval of the law and complete withdrawal of aid until it is changed.

Estimates of the number which would be added to the rolls by the new law varied widely. Some persons calculated it would be 30,000, others 100,000. Pension organization officials guessed approximately 50,000.

Those now ineligible who believe they will receive pension checks next month are doomed for the most part to disappointment. The swelling of the rolls would be gradual since investigations of 80,000 or more applications by a limited

NEGRO EXECUTED FOR DOUBLE AX MURDER

HUNTSVILLE, May 21 (Sunday) — (AP) — Johnny Casner, Dallas negro, was electrocuted at the state penitentiary shortly after midnight for the ax murder of his former common law wife and another man.

The current was applied at 12:02 a. m. and the negro was dead eight minutes later.

"I've got Jesus with me, that's why I am gay," Casner said as he sat in the chair. He was the fourth man to be electrocuted on Sunday in the history of Texas.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Now that our campaign for the next West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention has terminated successfully, what's next on the conquest list? The convention was won despite lots of honest doubts by Big Spring people. And so can several other important things be won for Big Spring.

A good word ought to be said for Colorado City, for delegates from that town sided the Big Spring cause in no small measure. The Colorado City string band was good, but Mrs. James Payne and Mrs. E. B. Williams "wowed 'em" with their hillbilly duet.

While all local entertainers deserve a word of praise, particular mention is due the West Texas trio. They arose early and stayed late, never missing an opportunity to put in a word for Big Spring. And, finally, J. H. Greene, Grover Dunham, Cal Boykin, B. Reagan and other leaders did a splendid job.

A boom is being raised locally in support of the candidacy of Ed J. Carpenter, Vincent, as district representative on the state soil conservation board. Certainly there could be no better man for the post, for Carpenter is experienced, progressive, broad-minded, practical.

Atlantic Air Service Launched

NEW YORK, May 21 (Sunday) (AP) — Pan-American Airways reported that the giant metal flying boat "Yankee Clipper" landed at Horta, the Azores, at 12:39 a. m. (CST) today. The Clipper is inaugurating regular airline service between the United States and Europe. It made the 2,300-mile hop in 13 hours and 22 minutes, averaging about 170 miles an hour.

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP) — A metal flying boat rose from a Long Island bay and pointed its snout eastward today to inaugurate airline service between Europe and America.

Inside its broad, high hull, listening to the throaty symphony of its four motors, were 17 men, the first to cross the North Atlantic in an airplane operating by time table.

The start of scheduled transatlantic transport flights from Manhasset bay, hard by the little community of Port Washington, was routine, even casual.

A few short speeches were made. Congratulations were exchanged. A message from President Roosevelt was read.

Then, Arthur E. La Porte, skipper of the 41 1-2-ton "Yankee Clipper," turned to Juan A. Trippa, president of the operating company, Pan American Airways. La Porte saluted.

"Captain La Porte," asked Trippa, "is the flight in order?"

"The Yankee Clipper is ready sir," responded the skipper. "All stations are manned. Standing by for orders, sir."

Trippa nodded. "Very well, Captain. I commit to you these manifests for the first United States air mails for transatlantic dispatch to Europe. You have your flight orders. Cast off and depart for Marselle in accordance therewith."

The crew marched smartly down a small quay, stepped aboard, the lines were cast off, and a few minutes later the 8,000 horsepower in the Clipper's motors lifted her slowly aloft.

So, on the twelfth anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's memorable flight to Paris, began a service which men have talked about since the North Atlantic first was spanned by air in 1919 and actually have planned for a decade.

This first flight over the so-called "southern" route is for mail only, and four more mail trips will be made before customers can step up to an airline ticket counter and buy 160-mile-an-hour transportation to Europe.

"I wish," remarked La Porte, "I could say there was something spectacular about this first flight. But it's just routine. We'll fly at 8,000 feet throughout the night with the expectation of sighting Horta (the Azores) at sunrise."

The Clipper's leisurely schedule, which will put the ship in Lisbon tomorrow afternoon, Marselle Monday and Southampton Tuesday, will be speeded up on this route to about 35 hours when passenger service is inaugurated.

On the "northern" route, via Botwood, Newfoundland, and Foyers, Iceland, the elapsed time, continent to continent, will be about 24 hours.

Mercury Hits 102, Highest In A Year

Big Spring, along with other West Texas points, had heat added to its drouth worries Saturday when the thermometer rose to a season's record and the highest point in a year.

The department of commerce weather bureau reported a maximum of 102.2 degrees shortly after 4 p. m. Abilene, however, was the hottest spot in the nation with an official reading of 103 degrees.

Starting a sharp rise from the 94 degrees at 1 p. m., the temperature here registered 99 an hour later. By 3 p. m. it was at 101 degrees and rose another degree in the next hour and held it until 5 p. m. The reading was still 100 at 6 p. m.

At other points 98 degree weather prevailed in El Paso, Wichita Falls, and San Antonio. Abilene and Phoenix, Ariz., had 98 degrees at 7:30 p. m.

A similar heat wave last May 29 brought the high for the year, 104.3 degrees, two above Saturday's scorching. Little relief was in sight with partly cloudy weather and little change in temperature predicted by the weather bureau.

STATE'S DEFICIT IS GOING HIGHER

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP) — The deficit in the state government's general fund once more is on the incline. "Treasurer Charley Lockhart reported today's overdraft at $17,852,331, a rise of $630,042 in the last 15 days and of $633,992 in the last year. It probably will be close to $20,000,000 by September 1, end of the current fiscal year.

Two tax remission bills which will take approximately $450,000 a year from the general fund already have been signed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and a general tax remission bill for all counties has been approved by the senate and passed to third reading in the house. If that bill should become law, it would reduce general fund revenues around $85,500,000 annually.

AT AGES 82 AND 81, THEY CLIMAX THEIR 'PUDDY LOVE'

MERRICK, N. Y., May 20 (AP) — A "puppy love" affair of 70 years ago was climaxed today in the marriage of William Fyfe, 82, of Denton, Tex., and Mrs. Adeline Morrell, 81.

The bride said she had kept a love letter he wrote her in 1869, when they were neighbors in Lawrence county, Ill.

Both bays, since been married and widowed. Fyfe learned Mrs. Morrell's whereabouts when he read an account of her husband's death in a newspaper three years ago, and revived the romance.

They left for Denton after a church wedding.

In the Boutwell case custody of a minor child went to the plaintiff and the defendant was ordered to pay $25 monthly to its support.

A survey of the docket showed disposition of 54 civil matters, including dismissals and 29 divorces. Thirty-eight criminal cases were removed from the criminal docket, 25 resulting in convictions and 16 by dismissal. Of the latter group, 11 were dismissed.

Dies Committee Hears Additional Testimony

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — The house committee on un-American activities, making public additional details of the evidence it has gathered concerning an alleged plot to overthrow the government, disclosed today:

Testimony that George Deathridge of St. Albans, Vt., chief of the Knights of the White Camellia and linked in the testimony with anti-semitic propaganda, had suggested a conference of Father Coughlin, John Frey of the A.F.L., Homer Challaux of the American Legion and "leaders of large groups on our side of the fence" to discuss the "threat" of a communist revolution. (The conference, the committee was told, never had been called.)

That Dudley Pierpont Gilbert, socially prominent New Yorker, had testified he feared "a revolution before snow flies and that's why

NO LET-UP IN FERVOR OF GREETINGS BEING ACCORDED KING AND QUEEN

By FRANK H. KING

OTTAWA, May 20 (AP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth tonight rounded out four solid days of ceremonial welcoming to Canada, and in their "royal progress" through the North American dominion there was no let up in the enthusiasm of receptions and the fervor of demonstrations.

Geographically, the royal couple have seen but a very small part of Canada, but half of the 13 million people of this country live in the two great eastern provinces where French Canadians and Canadians of British descent have been shouting in different languages but the in same spirit, "God save the king," and "Vive le roi."

As for the queen, she is the least of this part of the American continent. If a man ever had to be proud of his wife, His Britannic Majesty George VI. is indebted to the gracious Scots woman who has won Canadian hearts.

Today was set aside for celebration of King George's birthday, and it was one long public party.

In the uniform of a colonel of the Coldstream Guards, with a towering bearskin hat, the king saw Canadian soldiers perform an old British custom of trooping the color.

Queen Elizabeth made her first public address and laid the cornerstone of the new Canadian supreme court building.

They lunched privately with Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and a few of his friends. They drove through Ottawa again, crossing this time the Ottawa river to Hull, Quebec, wound up their temporary residence at Government House where 5,000 attended a garden party, went back to town for a big government dinner at the Chateau Laurier, with appearances on a balcony before cheering crowds witnessed a gigantic

Youth's Body Taken From Swim Pool

Valiant Efforts To Resuscitate James Long Are In Vain

A summer afternoon's plunge in cooling waters ended in tragedy Saturday, as the municipal swimming pool yielded the body of James Earl Long, 16-year-old high school sophomore, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Long.

Resuscitation Efforts Futile
The casualty was the first for the pool as it enters the fourth summer of operation, and occurred despite more than two hours' valiant effort on the part of firemen and Texas Electric Service crewmen to restore life through artificial respiration.

A coherent account of the mishap was difficult to obtain. Park Manager Harold Akley said he understood James was in a group of boys who had been swimming under water or going beneath the surface to see who could stay under the longest. About 4 p. m., some one in the pool noticed the youth's body, in a slumped posture, on the bottom of the pool, in about four and a half feet of water.

Life Guard Hugh Prim, who said no outcry or alarm had been given, was called to the scene, quickly brought the body out and started prone resuscitation efforts. He was joined by members of the fire department and A. B. Sisson's T.E.S. crew. They worked over the inert body until about 6:15, when it was known definitely life could not be restored.

No coroner's verdict had been returned Saturday night. Three examining physicians expressed informal opinions that death could have been due either to natural causes or to drowning, but that an autopsy would be necessary to determine definitely.

The tragedy occurred while the pool was well filled with swimmers, scores having sought the cooling waters on the hottest afternoon of the season.

Funeral arrangements, under direction of the Eberley Funeral home, had not been completed Saturday night. Besides his parents, James is survived by two brothers, Eddie Lee and Frank, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed A. Long of Big Spring. Ed Long formerly was chief of police here.

Other survivors are aunts, Mrs. D. L. Bateman and Mrs. Fred Lay of Willis Point; uncles, E. E. Long of Texarkana and M. A. Turner of Grand Saline; and a great-uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lee of Edgewood.

The boy was born in Edgewood, Van Zandt county, October 18, 1922. His father is employed at the Texas & Pacific shops, and the family residence is at 1603 West Third street.

Price Daniel of Liberty, Texas representative, and a member of the regular state democratic committee, was elected president, succeeding Neal Pickett of Houston.

Other officers named were: Hollis Jacobs of Houston, first vice president; Howard Shields of Dallas county club, second vice president; Ed B. Levee, Jr., of Texarkana, third vice president; Owen Dumas of Bullard, fourth vice president; and Miss Julia Nami of San Antonio, secretary-treasurer.

The new state executive committee elected by the convention picked Calvin Hazelwood of Lubbock for its chairman, and awarded the 1940 convention to Beaumont, as recommended by the convention. John Palmer of Houston was appointed state committee secretary and Bascom Lang of Austin, assistant secretary. The committee

PROF'S DISMISSAL BRINGS ON A FUSS

NORMAN, Okla., May 20 (AP) — A controversy flared on the campus of the University of Oklahoma today because the board of regents dropped Dr. Frederic Ermath from the faculty.

Dr. Ermath, native of Germany who has been assistant professor of government, asserted in a statement the decision of the board was "based exclusively on political grounds."

Eugene Ledbetter, president of the regents, replied "Ermath was not dismissed. He just wasn't re-hired. He has been employed for years. x x x There was nothing personal and no criticism of him was intended."

At the same time Turnblazer announced the signing of the "first commercial mine" contract containing the controversial "union shop" clause with the Black Star Coal company at Alva in Harlan county.

This mine employed about 800 workers normally. It is not a member of the Harlan County Coal Operators' association, the largest soft coal operating group holding out against the "union shop."

William Turnblazer, president of the Harlan district U.M.W., issued a lengthy statement in which he said:

"In order to prevent wholesale arrests we shall not attempt to have a mass meeting in Harlan county on tomorrow."

Nazis May Act For Early Showdown On Polish Issue

Fortifications Being Built Along The Frontier, Italian Foreign Minister Goes On Official Visit To Berlin

By The Associated Press

Positive action by Germany to enforce the Reich's demands on Poland appeared to be foreshadowed in Berlin Saturday night.

After a week crowded with significant events, three circumstances indicated Germany was about to call for a show-down on the Polish question. They were:

1. Announcement today by Chancellor Hitler's newspaper Volkischer Beobachter that fortifications are being built along the eastern frontier for defense against Poland.

2. The visit of the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, to Berlin over the weekend to sign on Monday the German-Italian military pact to pool the military strength of the two states.

3. An ominous speech at Cologne last night by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, who said with great vigor that "Danzig and the Polish Corridor have been placed on the debating agenda." The speech was featured by the German press today.

Britain and France agreed on fresh proposals to win over Soviet Russia to their front amid boasting from the rival Rome-Berlin axis that it already had forged an "unshakable bloc" from the Baltic to the Mediterranean.

The exact nature of the new British-French approach to Moscow was kept secret but France, acting as arbitrator between her two allies, was understood to have fathered the compromise.

The plan was reported reliably to provide for a limited mutual assistance pact among the three powers to satisfy Russian demands without involving Britain too far in eastern Europe.

It was worked out in Paris talks which French Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet had with British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps.

The conferences will be renewed among Lord Halifax, Bonnet and Soviet Ambassador Ivan Malsky, soviet ambassador to London, tonight or Monday at Geneva where they will gather for a league of nations council meeting.

The Paris developments in the long-stalemated British-Soviet negotiations lent strength to indications in London that the British cabinet probably would decide within a week in favor of a definite mutual aid agreement with Moscow.

Significant were the simultaneous declarations by Premier Mussolini and his Nazi partners of the "unshakability" of the Rome-Berlin military alliance to be signed Monday.

Mussolini, speaking at Cueno, Italy, declared: "This bloc, (formed by the alliance) formidable in men and arms, wants peace but is ready to impose it in case the great conservative and reactionary democracies should try to halt our irresistible march."

Interested in soil conservation and pulling for the nomination of Ed J. Carpenter, Vincent, as a representative on the state soil conservation board, a dozen Big Spring men will leave this afternoon for the district soil conservation meeting in Fort Stockton on Monday.

One of the duties of the district assembly will be to select a member of the state board when it organizes at Temple May 29.

Carpenter's name has been mentioned quite prominently in this area in connection with the new post. Carpenter, 39, has owned land in Howard county for the past 15 years and has lived in the district for 34 years.

He is a former county commissioner, a past president of the Howard County Agricultural association and is now vice-president of his community agricultural unit.

A confirmed conservationist in belief and practice, Carpenter took a lead in the move three years ago to use county road machinery in a program of terracing, a practice that resulted in the terracing of some 20,000 acres. In addition, he has long followed similar conservation measures on his farm.

Among those making the trip will be Jim Winslow, Charles Sullivan, Claud Wolf, A. W. Thompson, E. F. Robbins, Lee Porter, J. E. Collins, Fox Striplin, Ed Brown, G. C. Dunham and J. H. Greene.

SCHOOL RENOVATION PROJECT APPROVED

C. W. Cunningham, president of the Big Spring Independent school district was advised last Saturday of approval on a WPA renovation project for local schools.

Senator Tom Connally notified Cunningham that a project for "cleaning and renovating" the Big Spring school buildings had been approved in Washington in the amount of $2,000 and could be started at the discretion of the state WPA office.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that the project would be undertaken during the summer so that the buildings would be in top shape for the opening of school next autumn.

Hwy. Boosters Here Tuesday

Big Spring will be host to the eastbound Broadway of America motorcade Tuesday noon when the New York bound caravan pauses here for lunch.

Carl H. Helthorn, San Diego, Cal., acting chairman of the Broadway of America Highway association, advised the chamber of commerce Saturday evening that he expected "50 to 60 persons" to be in the motorcade by the time it reached Big Spring.

J. H. Greene, manager of the chamber, said that directors of the local chamber of commerce, all Big Spring members of the Broadway association, and any others interested were urged to join in the luncheon at the Crawford hotel at 12:30 p. m. There will be a brief directors meeting at 1:30 p. m. following the affair. Those planning to attend were asked to notify the chamber office.

While Big Spring probably will not have a car in the eastbound motorcade, it was indicated that a car from this city would join the unit on its return trip here the morning of June 8. It is planned to send a representative delegation to the Broadway annual convention in San Diego.

PLANS FOR FIRST TENNIS TOURNAMENT COMPLETED

Completed plans for the Big Spring Tennis association's first sponsored tournament, which begins May 26, include a men's and women's division. No special provision will be made for juniors in either division but they are welcome to play in these classes.

All members of the association will be entered automatically with their membership taking care of the entry fee. Others interested in entering must do so before Thursday, 7 p. m., either by registration with Harry Jordan or by paying fees to become association members with any member of the executive committee. Members of that committee are Harold Harvey, Avery Faulkner, H. F. Malone, Mrs. Alvin Hamm and Jordan.

No trophies will be given for the winners of the original tournament for immediately after the meeting's completion challenges and ladder play will begin. There will, therefore, be no real winner until the completion of the ladder play which will take up much of the first part of the summer.

No. 1 Ranking
Winner of the tournament will be given No. 1 ranking on the city ladder. Runnerup will be given No. 2. Losers in the semi-final rounds will play, the winner to be No. 3, the loser No. 4. Quarter-final losers will play for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth slots. Positions from there on down will be determined similarly.

No challenges can be made on the ladder while the tournament is in progress but they can be started after the positions are established for the first time.

Completion of the matches will depend on the number of entries but first and second round matches and possibly the third can be completed Friday and Saturday after 6 p. m. and Sunday between the hours of 7:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. and 1:30 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Players must arrange their matches after the first three days of the tournament. The bracket for the tournament will be kept on a bulletin board in the Muni golf club house.

Needed Equipment
Balls for the tournament will not be furnished by the association.

Each person who enters into competition will be required to bring two unused balls for his or her match, winner to take the two balls not used to his or her next match. Loser to keep the used balls for play in consolation matches and ladder play.

Drawing for first round matches will be conducted Thursday night. Complete schedule will be published in Friday's edition of The Daily Herald.

Efforts will be made to arrange first round matches between players of equal ability.

Veteran Red Hay of Lamesa won his fourth game against no losses to lead pitchers. Southpaw Howard Parks of Abilene took the strikeout lead with 21.

PHILLIPS AND STALCUP TO MEET IN FEM GOLF FINALS

Mme. Gordon Phillips and Harry Stalcup, early favorites, advanced into the finals of the country club women's golf tournament by winning easy semi-final victories Saturday.

Mrs. Phillips, medalist, defeated Mrs. M. H. Bennett, 4 and 3, while Mrs. Stalcup was working over the defending champion, Mrs. Obie Bristow, 4 and 3. Mrs. Phillips had earlier defeated Mrs. E. O. Ellington while Mrs. Stalcup was disposing of Mrs. Hayden Griffith.

Finals over the 18-hole route will begin at 10 o'clock this morning.

In the nine-hole division of play Mrs. C. J. Staples and Willie Rix will collide in the last round.

In the championship consolation Mrs. Griffith will oppose Mrs. Ellington.

Mrs. Stalcup and Mrs. Mabel Carter scored grand slams in driving, approaching and putting contests in their respective flights Friday afternoon.

National Meet Trials Begin Monday

FORT WORTH, May 20 (AP)—Faced with the prospect of having to shoot around 145 or better from Colonial's championship tees, a field of 29 crack North Texas golfers will make their bids for places in the national open here Monday.

The 36-hole grind will start early in the morning with the second round going on around 2 o'clock.

Three places are open here, Texas will have three other places in the big national but they will be won in a test at Houston, also Monday.

Of the 29 entries here, 14 are from Fort Worth. The city's best bet is Pros Dutch Groat, Smiley Rowland, Skeet Fincher, Raymond Gafford and Amateur Billy Coffey.

Coffey has been under par several times at Colonial from the back tees recently.

Another big threat is Tony Butler, the San Angelo professional, who has been shooting his own course in the 60's for weeks.

Pairings for the test include: Chuck Taylor, Dallas, and Ralph Morgan, Tyler; Jimmy Gaunt, Longview, (p), and Norris Russell, Dallas; Jack Munger, Dallas, and Tony Butler, San Angelo (p); Talleigh Selby, Kilgore (p), and Claude Whalen (p); Rufus King, Dallas, and Frank Tabor, San Angelo (p); Don Malarkey, Kilgore, (p) and Billy Coffey, Levi Lynch, Dallas, (p), and Charles Akay, Lubbock (p).

More than 100,000 retail stores are scheduled to participate in National Cotton Week—the biggest sales event that cotton has ever experienced.

Doug 15 Under Par In Two Victories

Defeats Broom And Strawn; Obie Ousts Alford, Farmer

ODESSA, May 20 (AP)—Doug Jones, co-medalist from Big Spring, and his fellow townsman, Obie Bristow, will tangle in the feature semi-final match of the Odessa invitational golf tournament here this morning.

Jones, who sacked up the laurels here last year, shot some of the most amazing golf ever seen in these parts in disposing of Chief Broom, Oklahoma, Cherokee Indian, and Odessa's Al Strawn. The youngster was eight under par in defeating Broom, 6 and 4, then literally burned up the course in a seven under par performance in smashing Strawn, 6 and 4.

Jones was five under standard figures in his qualifying round.

Bristow defeated Jelly Alford, Iraan, 2 and 1, in an even par round, then worked over Odessa's Bob Farmer, 4 and 3, shooting two strokes below par.

The other semi-final berth will be decided in a match between Morgan Neil, Odessa, and the winner of the Eddie Morgan-Bill Shaffer match, which had not been completed late Saturday afternoon. Neil had taken the measure of Red Hill, Odessa, Saturday.

In the third flight play Tom Neil, Big Spring, and Clint Lackey, Midland, were to square off in one semi-final match with O. O. Craig, Big Spring, and E. R. Jay, Odessa, battling in the other.

In the fourth flight George Neil, Big Spring, and Carl Pee, Abilene, were to tangle in one semi-final match.

RIEDEL BACK FOR TRY AT GOLF CROWN

DALLAS, May 20 (AP)—Fringed by short, thick rough that hasn't felt shears in weeks, Brook Hollow, never an easy touch, was at its rugged best today for the start of the Texas Golf association championship next Thursday.

The streamlined distance holes, dog-legs and exacting short par-threes, making up a par of 35-35-70 that seldom is cracked in competition will flaunt its trouble before one of the fastest, and bulkiest, fields in the tournament's history.

Slender Bobby Riegel of Houston, who stroked amazing iron shots dead to the pins in the rainy finals last year to win the title in a match with Iverson Martin at Fort Worth, will be back. The former Walker cup player, shy on tournament play to date because of business, got the feel of things down at the Corsicana invitation last week and appeared ready.

He qualified with a 71 but was jolted out in the first round, despite par golf.

Newest, and most dangerous, threat for the crown is a quiet, long-legged Rio Grande valley boy, John Barnum. The Edinburg buster, who tops six feet and gets all his 190 pounds into a keen distance game, has blossomed since Christmas.

Santone Blanked

HOUSTON, May 20 (AP)—Harry Brechen held the San Antonio Mission to eight scattered hits as Houston pounded four San Antonio pitchers to gain a 10-0 victory this afternoon. It was the fourth in a row for the Buffs.

San Antonio 000 000 000-0 0 8 2
Houston 104 500 005-10 10 1
Wagner, Biddle, Tietje, Cordell and Swift; Brechen and Cusick.

he wasn't satisfied with the performance of his motor. He will have two more qualifying tries.

Gigli Tames Pampa As Barons Win; Marek Throws Today

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

PLANS FOR THE ABILENE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE - BULL DOGS FOOTBALL GAME HERE NEXT FALL, AS DISCUSSED IN THIS COLUMN A FEW DAYS AGO, ARE TAKING DEFINITE FORM. THE A.C.C. EXECUTIVE CLUB WOULD BRING TOGETHER THE TWO CLUBS HERE ON A GUARANTEE. ALL FUNDS IN EXCESS OF THAT GUARANTEE WOULD BE DONATED TO THE HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC FUND. A NICE PROFIT WOULD PROBABLY BE REALIZED.

In company with W. W. Wright, G. C. Schuman, Jr., and B. C. Jackson, E. H. Morris cracked out a hole-in-one on the 135-yard 16th hole at the Muny golf course last week.

Billy Capps, the Barons' leading slugger, has been troubled with a stomach ailment during the past week. He must have felt better Friday night, however. He hit his first home run since the fourth day of the season. The amazing form reversal of Bobby Decker, Big Spring second sacker, has the whole league talking. Bobby collected nine hits in the first three games of the Barons' road trip. He's justifying the faith placed in him by Manager Tommy Rego.

The locals will have too many "one-year-men" when Johnny Soden returns to active duty. Who will go? Don't be surprised with the announcement.

Abilene gets George Seymour if Harry Faulkner lets him go at Lubbock. Fincher Withers has issued pink slips to Red Baker, pitcher, and Dave Archibald and Floyd Christianson, infielders. Their releases made way for the acquisition of Ted Kerr, the hard hitting gardener from the coast. Jimmy Kerr thought for a while he was going to secure the services of Ernie Potocar, Apache catcher, but the deal fell through.

A sure fire selection for the All-Star game July 25 is Jodie Marek who has scouts watching him every time he pitches. Jodie, who stayed out of the game entirely last year, has developed a bit more of a windup which helps. Hap Spangler, the great Lamesa third sacker, told us following Wednesday's game that Marek had the best control of any pitcher he had ever faced. Quite a compliment. Too, the Temple boy is equipped with tremendous courage. When Lamesa had two runners on base in that ninth frame of the Wednesday game with a chance to tie the score Jodie took time to look into the Baron dugout and smile calmly, then faced Lefty Goldman and struck him out. He may not be with us long.

Art Gigli, the Frisco right-hander who has been troubled with wildness, is one of the most feared hitters in the circuit. In the official ties in two games he has collected as many hits, all well hit. One went for four bases.

Big Spring's H. C. Burrus, completing the spring grid work at Hardin-Stimmons, Abilene, has left to play softball at a small community near Lubbock during the summer. Vernon Hilliard, the Plainview grid coach, was in town Thursday visiting Joe Pike, an ex-college chum. He opens a summer camp near Lockhart soon.

Your Golf

By GENE SARAZEN
Former American and British Open Champion

Good golf starts with a sound grip. I think that the grip is the most important thing in golf. You'll find that slicing is the common fault of 85 per cent of golfers. And it doesn't take a professional teacher more than one look to discover that the average slicer's trouble lies in his grip—generally his left hand is not far enough over on the shaft. Four knuckles should show as he grips the club. This keeps the left arm straight with the shaft of the club. The right hand should be far enough over the shaft that the V between the thumb and forefinger should point to the right shoulder. The thumb and the first three fingers of the right hand are on the shaft. The little finger lies on the forefinger of the left hand. Get yourself a good, comfortable grip like this and many of your golfing troubles will be over.

Britain Turns To Running Of Derby

By DREW MIDDLETON

EPSOM, Eng., May 20 (AP)—After a year of "alarums and excursions" Great Britain turns to Wednesday's 156th running of the derby for a chance to let its hair down.

From a sporting point of view it will be a distinctive derby. The field is fast and able although Lord Rosebery's Blue Peter, winner of the 2,000 guineas, is the favorite at 7 to 2.

William Woodward's Hypnotist is the only American-owned horse in the race but he is the second choice at 9 to 1. Hypnotist, although Irish-bred, had an American-bred mother, Flying Gal.

Closely aligned with Hypnotist in the betting is Sir John Jarvis' Admiral's Walk at 12 to 1. Others of lesser note are Helipolla, owned by Lord Derby, and Fairstone, from the stables of legless and immensely popular Sir Abe Bailey, South African diamond tycoon. Both are currently valued at 100 to 8. Then there are William Barnett's Triguero at 100 to 7 and Edward Desmond's Fox Cub at 100 to 6.

Even Series

road trip and returning to town with a record of 11 victories in 22 starts, good enough for fourth place in WT-NM league standings, the Big Spring Barons face the pace setters, Lamesa's Lobos, in a 3 p. m. battle today at Baron Park.

Jodie Marek, sensational right-hander who tamed the No. 1 team in a great performance at Lamesa last week, was set to go to the hill this p. m. A large crowd of Lamesans were expected to help the local fans fill the stands completely for the fray.

Jodie, with a record of five wins in six starts, will probably oppose Lefty Lucas in the mound duel. Lucas worked without success against Marek last week.

The two teams also play Monday night in a ladies night exhibition, all women gaining admittance free. Art Gigli, exhibiting better control than he did in his last start, tamed the Pampa nine Saturday with nine hits in Pampa as Big Spring won, 6-3, to even the series.

Many Attend
A ladies night crowd of 2,000 looked on as the Frisco youngster scattered the Pampa bingles over the route. He fanned five, walked four and allowed none of the big Oiler gunners to connect effectively. Nell, Garbe and Pietras could not record a blow.

Cur Schmidt had a field day in the left garden, snagging seven flies, two of them sensational one-handed stabs. He took Nell's fly to end the game with his back to the wall.

Pat Stacey paced the Baron 12 hit attack against two Pampa twirlers with three singles. Gigli, Billy Capps and Tex Walton had two singles each.

The Big Springers led from the start, scoring three runs in the first inning.

Ebson's Wild Tosses Bar Way To Win

PAMPA, May 20 — Ebsen Bahr was stingy with hits but generous with walks as Pampa's Oilers took a 7-5 decision from the Big Spring Barons here Friday night before 700 fans. Bahr allowed only seven hits, one to an inning, but walked ten.

The Oilers also stole him blind, pilfering eight sacks, Grover Seitz stealing home.

The Barons tied the score in the eighth frame when Bobby Decker singled and scored on Tex Walton's double after two were out. Pat Stacey scored Walton and then crossed the plate ahead of Billy Capps who homered. Capps also hit a single and a double.

The Pampans won in the eighth when Pietras came through in the clutch, singling to score Bailey and Seitz.

School Closing Ceremonies Start With Sermon Tonight

Diplomas To Be Presented Friday Night

Names of 111 candidates for diplomas appear on lists compiled by the high school office Saturday, as plans were completed for programs marking the end of the 1938-39 term and the "commencement" for members of the senior class.

Diplomas will be presented next Friday evening, at a program to be held at the city auditorium. The senior sermon is scheduled for the same place this evening.

Unusual tribute was paid by school officials and members of the graduating class this year to George Gentry, in the selection of the principal to deliver the commencement address. Usually, an out-of-town speaker is invited, but this year, since Gentry is leaving Big Spring for a place at Temple after 13 years with the local schools, it was voted to honor the principal by asking him to appear on the program. He will address the seniors on "Education For The American Way Of Life."

Chosen by the seniors as their representative speaker is Miss Nettie Jean Carter, who will speak on "An Objective Of Education." Miss Carter has been a member of the girls' debate team which this year won signal honors by advancing to the final match in the state interscholastic league contests.

C. W. Cunningham, president of the board of trustees, will present the diplomas, and the Friday evening program will be concluded with announcement of honors and special awards. Supt. W. C. Blankenship will preside.

The Big Spring high school municipal band, directed by D. W. Conley, will play as the processional "Festal Procession" and Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give the invocation.

A duet, "When The Bluebird Sings," will be given by Sylvia Pond and Claire Lou Hummer, and De Alva McAllister will sing as a solo Mozart's "Alleluia." Following will

HONORED

Chosen by her classmates as their representative speaker on the graduation program next Friday night is Miss Nettie Jean Carter (above), who will talk on "An Objective Of Education." Nettie Jean was a member of the high school's ace debate team this past year.

Miss Carter's and Gentry's addresses, then the presentation of diplomas and awards. The band will play as the recessional "Pomp and Circumstance."

7th Grade Program
Complete program details for the seventh grade graduation program of Thursday night had not been arranged Saturday. It will consist largely of musical numbers by the class, and various groups and individuals.

Dr. D. F. McConville, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will address the seventh graders, and the W. F. Cushing Citizenship award, a special honor going to the boy and girl chosen by their classmates as the outstanding examples of "good citizens" will be presented to Bobby Dierksen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dierksen, and Jo Ann Switzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Switzer.

There are 172 in the class.

Final examinations started Friday and will last through Tuesday, although seniors are due to complete exams on Monday afternoon. Schools will close here on Wednesday afternoon when report cards and book cards will be given.

Reed, Prof. at Eastern New Mexico Junior College, Portales, New Mexico, as the principle speaker. Moderate Uptrend In Share List

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Stocks were given another moderate upward push today and activity was slightly better than in recent sluggish Saturdays.

Motors, steels and rubbers led the list in an extension of yesterday's recovery gesture, with gains of fractions to more than a point fairly well distributed at the close. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up $\frac{1}{2}$ point at 45.3, but on the week this composite showed a net loss of $\frac{1}{2}$. The day's turnover amounted to 193,280 shares, which was the best for any two-hour session since April 16. Volume for the week, though, was one of the smallest since June 1, a year ago, aggregating only about 2,500,000 shares.

The market was aided by a few bright spots in the business news, continued hopes of some form of tax revision by the present congress and the conviction of financial observers that European war dangers are lessening daily.

WOOL COMMISSION HOUSE HERE MAKES ITS FIRST SALE

Big Spring Wool Warehouse and Commission company Saturday announced its initial sale, an 18,000-pound clip to A. W. Hilliard & Co. of Boston.

Logan Mims, manager of the concern, said that the wool, all eight months clip, moved for 22 cents a pound and was bought by Tom Ritchie, representative of the Boston firm.

The partnership of Mims and Turner opened the commission company and warehouse here at East First and Goliad streets in March.

For the first time in history, every cotton organization in America is giving active support to a great cotton sales event—National Cotton Week of 1939.

Most B'Spring Seniors Want To Go To College; Few Have Jobs Lined Up

Candidates For Diplomas Tell Of Their Plans For Future, In Reply To Query

More schooling? Work ahead? A career mapped? These are some of the questions occupying high school seniors of Big Spring, as they count on winning their diplomas this week to terminate public school days. Principal George Gentry put these questions to the seniors last week, for The Herald. Students were asked if they planned to go to college, and if so, where; if they planned to go to work, and if so did they have a job lined up; and if they had chosen their life's work.

As to the last, there is of course a variety; boys want to be doctors, lawyers, petroleum engineers, aviators and aviation mechanics, professional baseball players, business men. Girls are interested mostly in secretarial work, the nursing profession, in beauty parlor work. Some 80 answers were compiled to the questionnaire, and 49 of the lot want to go to college for further formal education. Nearly all of the group want jobs—even those going to school want summer work, or work on the side—but of some 70-odd who "plan to go to work" only 17 have employment lined up.

Here are the "seniors' plans, in more detail:

DORIS ALLEN is undecided about going to school, but has a job waiting for her.

Also with employment is BETTIE JOE HILL.

Dress designing is the chosen profession of MARIE ARNOLD, and she plans to go to school in Chicago.

KAWANA SMITH plans to enter the nursing profession, and she hopes to go to college.

ELIZABETH TERRY also has selected a profession, that of dietitian. She plans to go to Howard Payne.

Continued school work is in sight for SYLVIA POND, but she hasn't selected her college. She wants to work, and prefers secretarial duties. Sales work is attractive to WIN-FRED WELLS. He has made no plans about college, and wants to go to work.

CLAUDIS MERLE PIPER wants to be a concert pianist. She will take post graduate work in Big Spring, and also has a job lined up.

Journalism is the chosen profession of DORIS BANKSON. She would like to have a job, and also hopes to go to college.

ELIZABETH BURRELL would be a beauty specialist or a nurse. She will work until fall, and has a job; then she wants to go to a beauty school.

EUNA PEARL NICHOLS has a job in sight as typist.

Similar work has been lined up by DARNELL BOULTEER. LOIS A. WILLIAMS has been teaching music and plans to continue. Music is her chosen field for the future. She is uncertain about going to college.

SYBIL HARRISON will go to John Tarleton.

Work in county agents' extension activities is planned by LONNIE EVANS.

JOY ROGERS will go to T. S. C. W. at Denton, if she goes to col-

TO RECEIVE CITIZENSHIP AWARDS

These young people are the prize citizens of this year's elementary school graduating class. They have been voted by their classmates as outstanding representatives of good citizenship, and for this honor they will receive—at the seventh grade graduation ceremonies Thursday evening—the W. F. Cushing Citizenship award. It is a coveted honor award each year. The recipients for 1939 are—Ann Switzer (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Switzer; and Bobby Dickerson (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson.

legue. She hopes to work this summer.

Chemical engineering is the chosen profession of GLEN BAYES, who hopes to go to Southern Methodist.

BARBARA ANDERSON will attend Texas Tech next year, and will study business administration. LORENA PEDERSON already has a job lined up, as beauty operator.

CARLTON SEABOURNE wants to study medicine, and will go to school. He hasn't selected the college yet.

Stenographic work is the aim of DELAVINIA MAGEE. She will go to Tech next fall.

Another secretary-to-be is MARY FRANCES PRICE, who will go to business school, either at Abilene or El Paso.

CHRISTINE SHANNON also has secretarial work in mind. She would like to work this summer, but has no job yet. She'll attend Hardin-Simmons in the fall.

ROSS CALLIHAN will go to college, but doesn't know where yet. He wants to be an aviation mechanic.

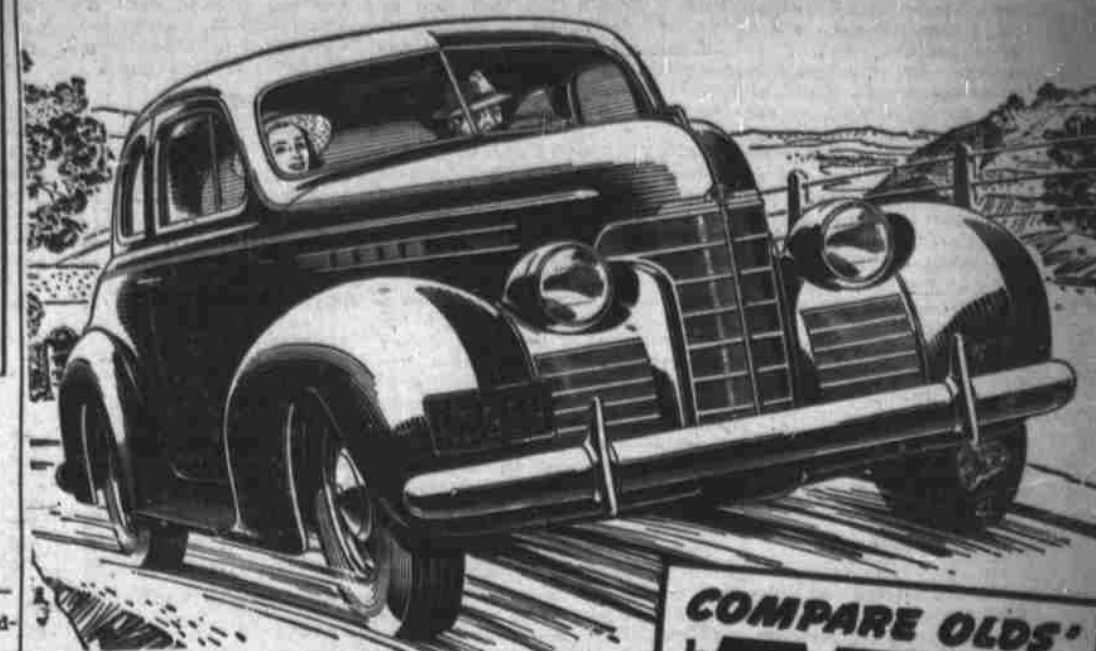

DOROTHY SMITH has a chance at a summer job, and hopes to go to school later at T. S. C. W. or Texas University.

JOYCE CROFT will go to John

WPA Project Proposed For Digging Prehistoric Remains In County

Prospect for a WPA project to unearth bones of prehistoric creatures in Howard county was raised by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology, in a radio broadcast Saturday afternoon over radio station WOAI, San Antonio.

The program, one of a series sponsored by the Texas Commercial and Industrial Research Council, touched on the work the staff is doing in discovering, excavating, shipping and preserving the state's historic mile posts.

Dr. Sellards told of excavations underway on three sites near Abilene where 24 WPA workers are being directed in their work by Raymond Miller of the bureau. On one site fossilized remains of Permian reptiles, believed to be 200 million years old, are being uncovered. Fragments of marine fossils have been unearthed at another site and the hip and socket and jawbone of a Pleistocene mammoth are being excavated.

Recent finds in the Big Spring area have caused a similar project to be scheduled here, Dr. Sellards pointed out.

Rodeo

bore the rodeo inscription and show dates. Other prize awards on hand included a Navajo saddle blanket, boots, spurs and bridle.

J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, said Saturday that a check of the records showed 22 sponsors listed from as many towns. Many others are expected from other West Texas points. Sponsors have been entered definitely from Lamesa, Tahoka, Snyder, Colorado, Sweetwater, Odessa, Monahans, Stanton, Lorraine, Pecos, Roscoe, Crane, Mertzon, Garden City, Mason, Cisco, Stamford, Anson, Coahoma, Midland, Candian and Spur.

In addition, the chamber is laying plans for a record parade to open the rodeo and for a series of motorcades to advertise the event which is now only a month and two days away.

GIRL SUCCUMBS TO STABBING WOUNDS

McALLEN, May 20 (AP)—Margaret Lucille Bush, 15, who was mysteriously stabbed earlier this week, died today. Officers have questioned numerous suspects in the case fruitlessly and have been unable to find a motive for the attack.

The girl, a Modesto high school student, was found in a brush-covered block on the edge of the city last Wednesday. She had been stabbed twice in the breast and once in the neck.

Vote-On-War Idea Hit By Sen. Borah

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said today that testimony of proponents had failed to disclose to him any practical way in which a war referendum amendment to the constitution could be made entirely workable.

Borah is on record as favoring the principle of submitting to the people the question of fight all wars that are not purely defensive. But he suggested that if it is to be practical, some method must be found to define foreign wars.

The Idaho senator has stressed this in questioning witnesses appearing before a senate judiciary subcommittee in support of a proposal, introduced by 12 senators, to amend the constitution to take from congress and give to the people themselves the power to declare war, except when an attack is threatened or made on the United States, its possessions or the Western hemisphere.

"Suppose," Borah said, "that we are in a controversy with some foreign power and it is approaching the point of war. If we are to wage a successful war we must anticipate what they are going to do and as a consequence we must move to attack them as a measure of defense."

"Our commander-in-chief says that we can't wait until they make it a domestic war. That would be a foreign war and the amendment would be operative wouldn't it?"

He said that in an instance of this kind he feared that the delay occasioned by submitting the war question to the people for a vote might be a factor giving a potential enemy a decided advantage.

"If we could find a practical way by which those who would have to die could say whether or not they should go abroad to fight, that would be what I would want, but I can't see how there is a practical means of doing it," Borah said.

EX-STUDENTS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT N. T. S. T. C.

New Pay Area In Stonewall

ABILENE, May 20—Completion of a railroad commission pumping gauge on a wildcat which had at first been reported "temporarily abandoned" virtually assured Stonewall county its second oil producing area this week to head developments in West Central Texas.

The wildcat, Forest Development corporation No. 1, Ford, about seven miles northeast of Aspermont, pumped 188 barrels of oil plus 33 barrels of water on a 24-hour gauge.

Production is believed to be from the Palo Pinto lime, which showed saturation at 4,323-27 feet. The test was first drilled to water at a total depth of 4,807 feet, plugged back and treated with 6,000 gallons of acid and remained shut in for nearly two months.

Heimrich & Payne, contractors, took over completion of the well after it had made several flows under gas pressure, and will return its operation to Forest within 60 days. Forest assigned oil runs to the contracting firm for that length of time.

10 Miles From First Pool
The test is located in section 45-D-H&TC survey, about ten miles east of the county's first oil pool, opened last summer by Stonewall Oil company and W. I. Southern Inc. on the H. T. Carlie ranch north of Peacock.

Forest Development and Carl R. King Drilling company No. 1, Moreland, the second of three wildcat tests scheduled for the two companies on a large block of acreage in northern Stonewall county, was drilling below 1,000 feet this week.

In the southeast corner of section 183-D-H&TC survey, about 13 miles northwest of Aspermont.

A one-location east extension for the south end of the Avoca field headed activity for the northeastern Jones county sector this week, as the Lewis Production company, No. 3 G. C. Muenzler, cored oil saturation from 2,224 to 3,283 1-2 feet and cemented casing at 3,223 feet for completion. It is in the southeast quarter of section 199-B&B&C survey, an east offset to No. 1 Muenzler, which also had extended the field to the east.

2,500 Barrels
Among the largest of recent completions in the Avoca townsite area was the Bert Fields No. 2-B B. C. Humphrey, a south side well which rated a railroad commission potential of 2,800 barrels daily by flowing 235 barrels of oil in two hours naturally through a 3-4 inch choke under working pressures of 90 pounds on the casing and 50 pounds on the tubing. It is in section 22-B&B&C survey.

Iron Mountain Oil company No. 1 Ova Davis, also on the east side, flowed 457 barrels of oil in ten hours through 3-4 inch choke naturally from the lime at 3,216-69 feet. It is in section 199-B&B&C survey.

Another well actually in the original townsite is the Garrett M. Smith of Fort Worth No. 1 Hamilton Cox estate, which responded to treatment with 500 gallons of acid at a total depth of 3,270 feet by flowing 102 barrels of oil in an hour. Smith No. 2 Hamilton & Cox estate, which responded to treatment with 500 gallons of acid at a total depth of 3,270 feet by flowing 102 barrels of oil in an hour. Smith No. 2 Hamilton & Cox estate, a northeast offset, is due to reach the Palo Pinto this week.

A north offset has been spudded by Bourer & Bradstreet at No. 1 Richardson. All are in section 21-H&TC survey.

I'm working like hell on a house in Kentucky."

That it was at the Harmonie club in New York that a waiter was alleged, in testimony given to the committee, to have overheard from time to time details of a plot to overthrow the government.

The committee developed the story in following up what it considered evidence of widespread anti-semitic propaganda.

This was spread, committee members said, by sending to a carefully-selected list of persons the information alleged to have been overheard by the waiter.

James Erwin Campbell of Owensboro, Ky., who testified to disseminating this information, said the waiter turned it over to Gilbert who in turn relayed it to Campbell.

Tied into this story was an account of a "counter-revolutionary movement."

From the record of testimony taken in secret sessions, the committee released a purported letter from Deatherage to Campbell which referred to an unnamed army general as the chosen leader of the anti-revolutionary group which planned to "do this job peacefully, and by force if necessary."

Deatherage's letter, dated Dec. 14, 1938, stated the general planned "to start a little GHQ in Atlanta where we will map the enemy—our friends, consolidate with us those that we know are right and prepare the plans for the campaign."

Campbell was on the witness stand when the letter was entered in the record and in response to a question as to whether the general was Major General Van Horn Moseley, retired, said "I assume so."

Campbell told the committee, however, he had "dropped Deatherage when I found out what he was" and declared he regarded the letter as containing treacherous utterances.

Garner

named the Rev. J. W. E. Aire of Houston, honorary chaplain of the young democrats.

The resolutions committee did not report on the Garner resolution because sponsors withdrew it because of prospects of a fight. The feared opposition dissolved, however, when the Garner forces insisted on a roll call on the convention floor.

Nearly applause greeted the frequent mention of the vice president.

The Garner resolution referred to "his remarkable political career and his patriotic devotion to the fundamental principles and process of democracy." These qualities, it declared, "mark him as one of the outstanding statesmen of his day and generation, constitute the priceless heritage of Texas democracy and present an example of unselfish and courageous service worthy of the emulation of all Americans."

Committee resolutions endorsed the leadership of the party and the Roosevelt and Garner administration, with the recommendation that the course charted by the administration be pursued aggressively.

Other resolutions commended U. S. Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi, democratic national committeewoman for Texas, and retiring President Pickett. Also favored were social security, WPA, FWA and the national labor act.

King

display of fireworks and with this finally were through for the day.

Tomorrow morning all Ottawa will gather in the central place of the city, Government square, to participate in the semi-religious ceremony of unveiling the National Canadian War Memorial to the 60,000 men this country sacrificed in the World war.

Many churches have cancelled regular services for this one.

This will conclude the two-day visit to the dominion capital and early Sunday afternoon the king and queen will take up residence in the royal train again and proceed to Kingston and other towns en route to Toronto, the final important city on the itinerary before the big swing west to Winnipeg, then the prairies, plains and Rocky mountains to the Pacific ocean.

If the king and queen have made a great success of their visits to the great cities of eastern Canada, this is just as good a time as any to suggest that a good deal of credit goes to the Canadians themselves for the perfection and detail of the arrangements.

Faced with all the problems resulting from the two days' delay of the royal liner Empress of Australia in reaching Quebec on Wednesday instead of Monday, upsetting the whole intricate schedule upon which the dominion has been entering its attention for seven months, officials high and low concentrated on a new effort in untangling the snarled schedule.

The king and queen gave up rest time, Ottawa out four days of entertainment to two, to the disappointment of business men especially, because the town is full of visitors, and by the time the royal train leaves Toronto Monday night, the whole fabric of the trans-continental schedule will be like a piece of invisible mending.

Every detail, from the 12-car royal train to the tea cakes at today's big garden party and the Canadian delicacy of moose meat, served to the royal guests at the government banquet tonight, has been faultless.

It is a part of the job of modern royalty to adapt themselves to situations and keep on smiling and bowing. By their yardstick King George and Queen Elizabeth are doing an excellent job in their Canadian realm.

The king's birthday celebrations today were an example of arranging things because actually it wasn't the king's birthday at all. He was born at York cottage, Sandringham, Dec. 14, 1895, but the Canadian government thought it would be a fine thing to celebrate the king's birthday during this royal tour so they passed a law saying the king's birthday would be on May 20 this year.

Last year it was on June 9 because Canadians didn't want to celebrate it so close to Christmas. The royal assent always is forthcoming for these whimsicalities of a loyal and devoted people.

missed in cases where seven convictions were obtained, and another on a similar set-up.

The court opens in Martin county Monday with a comparatively light civil docket in prospect. However, the criminal docket was another story. District Attorney Martelle McDonald said that at least 15 complaints were on tap for grand jury consideration.

OIL SCOUTS ASS'N. ELECTS OFFICERS

HOUSTON, May 20 (AP)—The National Oil Scouts association closed its annual convention here today with the election of C. F. (Jimmie) Chisholm of Houston, Pure Oil company, as president.

Other officers named were Charles J. Bradley of Tyler, Texas company, first vice president; Ralph Steinman of Tulsa, Sinclair-Prairie Oil company, second vice president; G. R. Kennedy of Tyler, Magnolia Pipe Line company, secretary.

pension organization staff would take several months for completion.

The proposed new statute provided that a person might have cash up to $360, a resident homestead, a $1,000 life insurance policy, personal property of $1,000 if single and $1,500 if married and still be eligible for a pension. He would be entitled to aid regardless of the financial condition of his sons or daughters.

Texas already has more persons on the rolls in proportion to population above 65 years of age than 43 of the 47 other states. This state is far outdistanced in that regard, however, by Ohio, which has 58 per cent of its aged on the rolls compared with around 41 per cent in Texas. Rolls in Texas currently aggregate 117,585.

Texas is far down the list of states in average grants. The average monthly pension in this state is $14.09 against a national average of approximately $19.50.

Week

dical and thoroughly committed to an intelligent program of conservation.

The city is making a good investment in sending members of its police staff to each of the schools being conducted by the department of public safety. In the long run, training of this sort can pay dividends.

Horse whipping may be properly outlawed, but a piece of wanton destruction such as was done to a city park project last week should merit no better reward if the guilty person or persons could be caught.

We nominate as an unsung hero, H. F. Malone, city recreation director. Although he religiously keeps himself out of the spotlight, he is doing a commendable job with his program.

Roads now constitute the No. 1 problem for Howard county. On top are the rerouting of highway No. 8 south, the rerouting of the Garden City road, and the extension of a road to the city lakes. It's a big job, but a worthy one.

Oil activity is not the only thing at low ebb here. Building has dropped woefully in the past two weeks with only a small amount of new construction launched. The big deficiency is still in lack of residential building.

The rain shortage here is fast becoming critical. Thousands of acres of young crops are being brought up on thundershower moisture, but in the absence of a general rain, will rise rapidly. Range lands are in serious condition.

Cotton week starts Monday. It should be the occasion for encouraging more consumption of our money crop and for quickening the quest for new widespread use of the product.

Bill Providing For Public Welfare Dept. To Be Submitted

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP)—Conferees on a bill to create a new state department of public welfare said today they would have the final draft ready for presentation to the legislature early next week.

Since the bill already had been approved by both branches, although in different form, its passage was regarded as almost certain.

The conference committee measure would create a board of three members to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate. The board's appointment of a public welfare director would be subject to senate confirmation.

The new department would start functioning September 1. It would take over the duties of the old age assistance and Texas relief commissions and supervise the contemplated new programs of aid to dependent children and the blind.

PROMOTER DRAWS 15-YEAR SENTENCE

CINCINNATI, May 20 (AP)—Federal District Judge John H. Druffel today sentenced Morton Gilbert of Cincinnati, cemetery lot promoter, to 15 years in prison after a jury convicted him and four salesmen of mail frauds. Accused as the leader of companies which the government said obtained $100,000 from investors in cemetery lots and whiskey warehouse receipts, Gilbert also was fined $10,000.

New teachers added to the Midway staff, as announced by Hannaford, are Louise Holden, Big Spring, and Mary Miller, Sulphur Springs.

Eight grade work will be added to the school curriculum next season and Midway will be classified as a rural school instead of its current rating of Class B.

Wildcat Tests In Yoakum, Andrews

SAN ANGELO, May 20.—Starting of one wildcat each in Yoakum and Andrews counties, spudding of a one-half mile northwest outpost to an indicated opener of a new Permian line pool in northern Pecos county four miles west of the Masterson field and awarding of a contract for the deepening of a western Pecos county wildcat to the Delaware sand were among West Texas developments this week.

A 2 1/2 mile west extension to the Slaughter pool in southwestern Hockley county, The Texas Co. No. 1-C Mallett, was completed with a daily potential of 653 barrels of oil. Markers were logged favorably by a south central Gaines county wildcat and an Ector county wildcat southwest of the Cummins area of the Goldsmith pool in Ector county.

Locations dropped to 23 for field tests and two for wildcats in 11 counties from 27 for field tests and one for a wildcat in 13 counties the week before. Thirty-two new producers were finished, an old well recompleting and seven failures and one location abandoned in 11 counties compared with 24 new wells finished, one well recompleting, two dusters plugged and a location abandoned in 10 counties during the preceding week.

Rotary Rigged Up
Rotary was rigged up for W. A. Hudson of Fort Worth and the Million Oil company of Wichita Falls No. 1 J. T. Webb in Yoakum county, in the center of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 545-D-John H. Gibson. The test will be two miles northeast of Bond & Bohago No. 1 West, small discovery north of the Denver field and 4 1/2 miles southwest of Plains.

Shell No. 1 Waples-Plattner in section 616-D-John H. Gibson, 1 3/4 mile northeast outpost to the Bennett pool in Yoakum county, was going on the pump after swabbing 130 barrels of oil through casing in 18 hours at a plugged back depth of 5,212 feet following re-treatment with 3,000 gallons of acid.

Richmond Drilling Company and Wm. F. Hanagan were building road and drilling water well for No. 1 Stanolind-University, scheduled 5,000-foot wildcat in the southwest corner of Andrews county, 960 feet out of the southwest corner of section 25-12-27.

230-Barrel Flow
Honolulu No. 1-A-4 Slaughter in the northwest part of the Slaughter field in Hockley county made a natural flow of 230 barrels of oil in 24 hours at 4,980 feet before treating with 2,500 gallons of acid. Richardson No. 1-B Slaughter had drilled past 4,000 feet in redbeds.

Honolulu No. 1-10 Mallett below 4,290 feet in time and Texas No. 1 Lauffoff below 3,900 in anhydrite. Western States Gasoline company No. 1 Coons drilled to 4,890 feet in time and cemented seven-inch casing at 4,735.

Atlantic and Oage No. 2 J. L. Tippet, north offset to the same operator No. 1 Tippet, three-mile northwest extension to the Seminole pool in Gaines county, flowed 970.85 barrels of oil in 23 hours for completion at 5,260 feet after acidizing. Oage and Everest No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, northwestern Gaines wildcat in section 20-A-7-pul, was slated for abandonment at 5,146 feet, 274 feet in the line and 1,515 below sea level, as the result of encountering sulphur water in the last two feet of drilling.

Top of the Yates sand in Humble No. 1 W. T. Caswell, Gaines county wildcat in section 10-A-24-pul, was picked at 2,850 feet, 494 feet above sea level and 71 feet higher than in Finley & Cherry No. 1 Dalmont, a duster 1 3/4 miles to the north.

FIANCEE'S TRIP IS INTERRUPTED BY CADET'S DEATH

BESSEMER, Ala., May 20 (AP)—"This is the last time you will hear from me—until I hold you in my arms."

Mabel Hallmark, 19-year-old fiancée of a Randolph Field flying student, reread these cherished words here last Thursday as she started for San Antonio to see Cadet Donald Roberts receive his lieutenant's commission. They closed a special delivery letter received just as she began the journey.

But Roberts was killed that night when his parachute failed to open after his plane fell during a final flight—the last five minutes needed to win his commission.

Relative sent word of the tragedy to Miss Hallmark at New Orleans, intercepting her journey.

At 5 a. m. today, grief-stricken, the girl alighted from a New Orleans bus. In her hand the crumpled letter:

"This is the last time you will hear from me."

The test was shot from 2,689 to 2,831 feet in lime after being plugged back from 3,000 feet. It bridged 200 feet off bottom and had 900 feet of oil on top of the bridge. Arvie Walker and associates were reported to have taken the well over in a trade. Shell No. 1 A. D. Neal, Glasscock county wildcat in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 39-30-1s, T&P, drilled to 2,568 feet in lime.

PATROLMEN ARE NABBING SPEEDERS

State highway patrolmen are clamping down on speeders on state roads through Howard county.

During May a total of 13 drivers have been fined for speeding on the highways. Three others have been named for violation of the law of the road (reckless driving).

The totals are in line with those over the state since the patrol is waging a concerted campaign against excessive speed, the primary cause of highway accidents.

Over 500 Trucks Of Trash Collected

City trucks assigned to make a collection of trash in connection with an April clean-up campaign, passed the 500 load mark during the past week.

Through Friday night a total of 315 loads had been picked up by the trucks in seven school districts of the city. There possibly remained at least a score more loads to be collected on the original pick up.

After this is completed—probably this week—a recheck of the areas is planned with the view of collecting trash missed on the original round. This easily could push the total number of loads well beyond the 500-mark.

A tabulation of loads by districts shows: Central Ward 60, East Ward 32, South Ward 82, College Heights 149, West Ward 146, Kate Morrison 44 (incomplete) and North Ward 2 (incomplete).

Seventh grade exercises Tuesday evening will consist largely of a program arranged and executed by members of the promotion class.

Big Tourist Travel Seen For Texas This Season

Approximately 400,000 automobile vacationists served through the Conoco Travel Bureau are expected to spend about $40,220,000 in Texas this year, according to a report issued by Joe H. Thompson, national director of the bureau and well-known travel expert.

Based on a survey of the number of motorists who received hotel, route and other information in 1935 and a study of the number of inquiries reaching the Conoco Bureau since the first of the year, Thompson said:

"We can safely say that this will be a banner year for this state. Motorists representing practically every state in the Union, and Canada, have written us asking for route information about Texas."

From actual records of the spending habits in earlier years, Thompson gave the following analysis of the probable expenditures of Conoco visitors in 1936: "About $10,100,000 will be left in retail stores; about $8,500,000 will be spent on food and meals; $8,000,000 will go for gasoline, oil and car repairs; another $8,000,000 will be claimed by hotels and tourist houses; $3,200,000 will be spent for recreation and $2,400,000 for refreshments, souvenirs and miscellaneous items."

Banquet Is Given For Seniors

Students Have Annual Spring Affair Here

A garden party motif using class colors of pink and green, was featured Friday evening when members of the Junior-Senior class of the Big Spring high school held their annual banquet at the Settles hotel followed with a dance at the school gymnasium with approximately 135 present.

A white trellis and fence, twined with vines and roses formed the entrance to the ballroom and potted palms decorated the room. The table was draped with pink and green crepe paper and centering the ballroom where the program was given was an old-fashioned well complete with bucket and pulley that was surrounded by grass and twined with roses and fern.

The program was in the shape of a diploma and favors were black mortar board caps. Lawrence Deason was toastmaster and the invocation was given by George Gentry.

The speeches were given in song written by Miss Lillian Shick and Miss Rita Debenport and included a tribute to seniors sung by a junior boys' trio composed of Harold Neal, Tabor Rowe and Johnny Miller.

The response was given by a senior girls' trio composed of Billie Bess Shive, De Alva McAllister and Christine Shannon. W. C. Blankenship spoke to the group and a tribute to the faculty was given by R. H. Miller. Gene Gardner gave the response to the students. George Gentry made a talk to the group.

A farewell to seniors was sung by a junior mixed quartette composed of Sara Lamun, Howard Carmack, Betty Lee Eddy and Warren Baxley. To close the program the school song, "Dear Old Big Spring High," was sung while standing.

Following the banquet, members met at the high school gymnasium where they danced to the music of Ray Hummel's orchestra.

The orchestra played before a background of dark blue sprinkled with stars and a white trellis work was set about the orchestra stand. Cedar and yucca decorated the balcony rail and the pink and green cloths were carried out in the ceiling decoration.

Balloons of the two colors were hung from the walls. Dance chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Slaughter, Mrs. Shine Phillips, Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft, Mrs. O. H. McAllister, Mrs. R. H. Miller. They were appointed by the Parent-Teacher association.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Gentry, Miss Rita Debenport, C. E. Gardner, Mrs. Nat Shick, Miss Lillian Shick and H. D. Cook.

Sweet Young Graduate's Wardrobe Can Be Both Chic And Practical

The modern school girl's independence and practicality have had their effects on this year's graduation frocks. The girl graduates of 1939 wants her commencement frock to serve for summer parties and other occasions later. As a result, the "diploma" dresses are designed to do double duty. And sportswear for use at end-of-school affairs, also is designed to be wearable throughout the summer.

For the girl who aims at a diploma in chic, there's pictured at the left a white crepe gypsy dinner gown, whose pleated skirt is banded in blue lace and topped with a cummerbund.

For commencement day and summer parties later, the high school graduate (left below) chooses a white rayon marquisette frock whose evening decolletage is covered with a brief bolero. Both jacket and frock are trimmed in lace.

Right below, a school girl chooses a graduation frock of white rayon alpaca whose simple lines fit it for later wear at the country club, and to various summer parties.

Practicality enters the school girl's wardrobe in the costume seen at the right. It's a two-piece shirt-waist frock of lightweight beige gabardine worn with a brown and beige tweed jacket. There's another skirt to match the jacket.

Hawaiian leis of blue and white were given to guests as they entered to set the theme of the evening Saturday when the High Heel Slipper club entertained with a formal dinner and dance at the Crawford hotel to mark the closing meeting of the year.

Deanna Durbin Wins Honors As A 'Smart Girl' Again

Newest Starring Photoplay Offered At The Ritz

What is said to be the most pleasing picture in which Deanna Durbin has ever appeared, Universal's "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" comes to the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Deanna became a full fledged star with her first picture, "Three Smart Girls." It was followed by "100 Men and a Girl," "Mad About Music" and "That Certain Age." Each picture was hailed by critics as a better one than its predecessor. Now critics and preview audiences are claiming that "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" is the best of the five.

Directed by Henry Koster, who directed "Three Smart Girls" and "100 Men and a Girl," the current offering is a happy reminder of "Three Smart Girls." It presents approximately the same cast—Deanna, Charles Winninger, Nella Walker, Nan Grey, and Ernest Cossart, with the addition of Helen Parrish, Bob Cummings and William Lundigan.

It will present Deanna as a slightly older youngster who tries to straighten out the tangled love affairs of her two sisters, with amusing and amazing results. With this plot it is much more of a comedy than any of the 16-year-old singing star's previous offerings.

In the picture Deanna sings four songs, "Invitation to the Dance," by Weber, with a special vocal arrangement by Charles Henderson; "The Last Rose of Summer," from Flotow's opera, "Martha"; "La Capinera" (The Wren), by Sir Julius Benedict; and "Because," by Edward Tschernacher and Guy D'Hardelot.

Deanna will be seen as the daughter of a multi-millionaire, and for the first time wears an extensive wardrobe.

The story is an original by Bruce Manning and Felix Jackson.

FINAL DESIGN REPORT MADE FOR DAM

DENISON, May 20 (AP)—Office of the Denison dam here today were notified from Washington that the chief of army engineers has approved the final design report on the hydro-electric flood control dam on the Red river.

The report was submitted by Capt. Lucius D. Clay, the Denison district army engineer, who will return from Washington Monday.

The approval completes the design study, army engineers here said. It places the total cost, including interest during construction, at $50,800,000, and provides for installation of four power generating units with a total capacity of 132,000 kilowatts.

The final plan places the height of the dam at 165 feet. Engineers will begin work immediately on the detailed working plans and specifications to guide workmen in the actual construction, which is expected to start this fall.

THREE SMART GIRLS TOO SMART?

Charles Winninger, that old trouper of stage and screen, looks as though being the father of "three smart girls" sometimes becomes a task. The girls, as you probably know, are Nan Grey, Deanna Durbin and Helen Parrish, and Deanna, of course, has starring honors. They all appear in "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," booked at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Jack Berch And His Gang Launch New Program Over KBST; To Be Heard On Tuesdays, Fridays

Jack Berch and his Gulfpry Gang, dispensers of songs, jokes and fun, will inaugurate a new twice-weekly program over Station KBST, beginning at 12:45 May 23rd. This jolly program will be heard each Tuesday and Friday under the sponsorship of Gulfpry.

The fifteen-minute broadcasts will feature the popular radio favorite, Jack Berch, with his songs, jokes and chatter, assisted by an instrumental trio—guitar, organ and piano—and John King, announcer.

When Berch sings for the American housewife, it seems just like old times to him and recalls the fact that his career as an entertainer began in support of his business activities.

It all started when Berch was a youth's salesman in Youngstown, Ohio. His route was the hardest in town. He decided, upon an unusual approach to his sales job, a modern means of winning the friendship of the housewives who refused to answer the doorbell when he tried to make sales. Jack went to the local radio station and got a weekly spot on the air, singing for nothing.

Before each song, he'd announce that he was dedicating the number to "one of the prettiest housewives in Youngstown. She lives on Black street." Then he would name a street along his route, and then start out. Virtually every housewife on the street thought the message was directed to her, and each would be on her front porch waiting for his appearance.

However, this worked so well, that Jack soon desired his job as a salesman and landed a regular position as announcer and vocalist with a Cleveland station. Next he was drafted by the networks and became a national favorite.

Lyric Offers The Story Of 'Gunga Din'

Grant, McLaglen And Fairbanks Featured In Action Drama

High adventure in the British Army campaigning on the North-west Frontier of India, half a century ago, colorful romance, rowdy fun, heroism and sacrifice are compounded in the notable screen production based on Rudyard Kipling's famous ballad of "Gunga Din" which returns here for Sunday-Monday showings at the Lyric.

Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. share the starring honors in this mammoth production which employs as well a huge and notable supporting cast, and which boasts of elaborate settings on a vast scale and of a scenic sweep breath-taking in its realistic grandeur.

The three stars are cast as a trio of sergeants in the British Army, their long years of service together having cemented a deep friendship which holds fast despite their surface quarrels. Grant is a restless treasure-seeker, hoping some day to find a rajah's hoard that will make him wealthy; McLaglen is the typical two-fluted British N.C.O., ready for a fight or a frolic; and Fairbanks is a gentleman-ranker who plans to marry the daughter of a local tea-company official as soon as his enlistment expires.

Sent out with a small party to repair a telegraph line, the trio run afoul of a band of Thugs, the famous religious stranglers of India, and just manage to escape, following a bitter combat across the roofs of a native city. The authorities awaken to the danger, and set about putting down the uprising before it can sweep across India.

Large bodies of troops march out, while the same trio of sergeants, with a much larger force, are assigned to keep the vital telegraph line open at all costs. One of the party is Gunga Din, a native water-carrier who is aware of Grant's treasure-hunting proclivities.

Din and Grant, searching for a rumored temple with a golden tower, discover it to be the Thugs' secret headquarters, and are captured. Din escapes, brings McLaglen and Fairbanks to the rescue, but all of them are trapped and held prisoner by the enraged natives. The desperate effort of the little group to save a rescue party looking for them, their capture by the Thugs, and Gunga Din's heroic sacrifice, comprise the thrilling climax to the film.

Against this stormy background, the story draws a vivid portrayal of army commandant life in India in the 90's. A delightful romance between Fairbanks and his fiancée, Joan Fontaine, threads through the sterner fabric of the plot. The rituals of the Thugs, the murder sect that slew its victims by the thousands annually before the British suppressed it, are realistically shown, while the huge settings and the gripping battle sequences furnish an unforgettable picture of Indian activities at the period.

IN 'GUNGA DIN'

That thrilling story of British army adventures in India, "Gunga Din," returns here for showings at the Lyric theatre today and Monday, with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Joan Fontaine carrying the love interest. Doug's pals on the Indian frontier—a couple of blokes who have a lot of fun in dangerous places—are Cary Grant and Victor McLaglen.

New Angle On Racketeering Is Presented

'The Lady And The Mob' Featured At Queen Theatre

Fay Bainter, brilliant stage star, makes her first screen appearance since winning a recent Motion Picture Academy award for her work in "Jezebel," playing today and Monday at the Queen theatre in "The Lady and the Mob."

Ida Lupino is featured with the actress whose recent screen record includes such films as "Yes, My Darling Daughter," "Quality Street" and "The Arkansas Traveler."

In "The Lady and the Mob" Miss Bainter is said to possess a role offering her unique opportunity for a memorable characterization. She is seen as Mrs. Leonard, wealthy, autocratic ruler of her community. When racketeers invade her city, she goes to the police and then to the mayor. Both prove powerless against the insidious menace, and Mrs. Leonard decides to take the law into her own hands.

Up until now her whimsicalities had taken such a form as having the elm trees that line her driveway moved back a few inches. But now, as she embarks on a double holiday of self-indulgence, with no one to say nay, she buys a bullet-proof limousine. She "gets herself" a "mob." Seated in her armored car, backed up by machine guns, she proceeds to prescribe for the underworld its own medicine.

What ensues has been hailed as a fast, rifeous and funny. Miss Bainter is said to etch a characterization among the year's best. Miss Lupino, too, has an intriguing role, and shares the romantic interest with Lee Bowman. In the supporting cast are such tried-and-true comedians as William H. Meyer, Henry Armetta, Spencer Charters, Tom Dugan, Brandon Tynan and Harold Huber.

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Twelve thousand of the 14,087 "public enemies" in the United States are at large, and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says they are "constantly perpetrating new crimes."

About 2,000 of these criminals are in penal institutions, Hoover testified at home hearings on justice department appropriations made public today.

Hoover displayed charts showing every day there is an average of 2,250 larcenies, 814 burglaries, 316 auto thefts, 162 robberies, 122 aggravated assaults, 20 murders, 23 rape cases and 13 negligent manslaughter.

In the period 1931 to 1938, Hoover said, there have been decreases in murder, negligent manslaughter, aggravated assault, robbery, burglary and a marked decrease in auto theft.

Examination of 127,973 fingerprints of applicants for law enforcement and other public positions throughout the United States in the first nine months of the present fiscal year, Hoover said, disclosed 11,94 of the applicants had police records.

A huge increase in espionage cases has been noted in the last two years at the F.B.I., which makes all investigation of foreign espionage agents, Hoover declared. "With our present personnel," Hoover said, "it is not possible to give prompt attention to these cases."

Women At Work Same Job, But Many Bosses

Serving under three different county judges and eleven different commissioners while holding the same job for eight years is the record of Mrs. S. R. Whaley, assistant to the commissioner's court.

Mary have had the experience of changing bosses but most people change locations and jobs at the same time. However, this has not been true in her case as Mrs. Whaley has stayed on despite political upheavals.

In January she rounded out her eighth year in the job that is the only one she ever held outside of a temporary three months' position.

Mrs. Whaley had just finished her business training and was working in her temporary job when through word of a friend she understood the job of assistant to the commissioner's court was open.

Her job includes a variety of work to do and pleasing many people. She has "pinch-hit" for the court stenographers in county and district court in addition to her own job and she must keep commissioners' court records.

She also keeps track of the dates set by law for the commissioners court to act on certain things such as approving the budget and setting tax rates. She keeps a calendar of these dates so that they aren't overlooked. She prepares budget copies for the county, a yearly job, that is usually done during the summer. This is painstaking and careful work that must be done accurately.

During the years that Mrs. Whaley has worked in the judge's office, there have been exciting times and political races that have stirred the town and she has been at the hub of all of the excitement and enjoyed it.

Pleasing as many different people as she has over a period of years would seem to be a difficult task, as judges and commissioners are elected every two years, but Mrs. Whaley hasn't seemed to find it difficult.

The commissioners' court authorizes the judge to appoint an assistant and while he must be satisfied with her work, the court must find her acceptable, too. It's a hard-to-get, hard-to-keep job but Mrs. Whaley says she finds her work "interesting and enjoyable."

OPPORTUNITY TO HELP OURSELVES

Most of the cotton belt at one time or another has looked about for some convenient "goat" on which to hang the blame for cotton's deplorable condition. Bitterly has blame been piled on the civil war and the war in China, high tariffs and high taxes, the boll weevil and the dictators, Washington and the weather.

Yet during National Cotton Week, which opens Monday and continues through Saturday, it may be well for the cotton belt to look into a place it has neglected—its household mirror. There it will find a very unusual figure, one which is both partly responsible for the present condition of cotton, and the prime one which has the power to bring about cotton's recovery.

The story of what others have done to cotton is tragic; but the story of what the cotton belt has done to it, and of what it has not done for it, is both tragic and inexcusable. Those to whom cotton means most have not always bothered to be loyal to its use.

With exports at the lowest ebb in history and no immediate promise of foreign market able to absorb the huge surplus of over 11,000,000 bales now under government loan, the cotton industry faces a crisis that cannot be cured by ballyhoo. National Cotton Week is not for ballyhoo. The aim of its sponsors is only to impress the people of this country that they themselves are able to improve the condition of cotton by increasing domestic consumption.

There is nothing whatever in the idea of National Cotton Week to induce any person to give away his money to aid an ailing industry, but only that he serve a needy productive enterprise by satisfying his own personal needs. The special week offers the opportunity of the year for active and effective support of the agricultural product on which 25,000,000 American depend for all or part of their income. In sponsoring it, the National Cotton Council and other agencies have not asked the people of the nation to invest their money in modern merchandise offering full returns in style, smartness and serviceability. They ask the logical maintenance of an American market for one of America's greatest crops—a crop whose products give to every purchaser a little more than his money's worth.

There is no use in assuming that during this week every American family will buy all the cotton goods it actually should possess. But every family that does its part in increasing domestic consumption of cotton will gain something in accepting its share of the general responsibility of improving the nation's well-being.

An important economic lesson is that increased consumption is a solution for the ills that now beset the cotton industry. That's the lesson taught by National Cotton Week.

OUR BIGGEST JOB COMES NEXT YEAR

There was—and properly so—considerable elation about the town last week, as word spread that Big Spring had been awarded the 1940 convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

The efforts put forth by chamber of commerce leaders and others in winning the great regional convention were considerable. Now it must be realized that efforts to be put forth in entertaining such a convention will have to be on a much greater scale.

There have been those who questioned the value of entertaining the WTCC meeting. To be sure, these institutions and business establishments catering to sheltering, feeding and entertaining visitors, reap most in dollars. But there is another point to remember:

The West Texas chamber of commerce convention represents the largest gathering of its kind held regularly in West Texas. It is a meeting at which important decisions affecting the welfare of the whole territory are debated.

Wholesale Murders By Poison Plotters In The East May Keep Courts Busy All Year

By the AP Feature Service

PHILADELPHIA — Money and love are at the core of the grim story being unfolded here—the story of what may be the greatest mass-murder ring in history.

AMONG THE CAST IN MURDER DRAMA

MRS. CARINA FAVATO, 200-pound widow who was known as a witch doctor and whose revelations after she interrupted her trial to confess poisoning her common-law husband, Charles Ingrao, his son, Philip, and a neighbor, Giuseppe di Martino, led to one arrest after another.

HERMAN PETRILLO, 46, one-time spaghetti salesman, convicted of the murder of a WPA worker that broke the case, and who is to be put to death. He has been telling all, police say, and has listed 21 victims of the gang.

And the city that plays host to outstanding fashion benefits immeasurably in the way of winning recognition, publicity and friendships. These all help.

We can say without boasting, that Big Spring has done a fine job in entertaining other conventions. The city can do as fine a job in entertaining the WTCC next year. And the better job we do, the more benefit we get. Let us resolve now to see that the 1940 gathering of the greatest regional organization in the world is the banner session of them all.

It was for love, or money, or both, investigators say, that 50 persons—maybe 100—have been killed within the last 10 years.

The money came from insurance—$100,000 carried on the lives of persons killed by the poison ring. But sometimes the murderer seems to have been interested only in making way for a new love, or even in stimulating the affections of the victim.

More Victims, New Crimes
 All these figures are tentative, for every week has added new ghosts to the line of victims.

The story, so amazing when first suggested that calmed police officials refused to believe it, broke last October with the death of a WPA worker. Where it will end, authorities aren't ready to say.

MORRIS BOLBER, called "Louis the Rabbi" and regarded by officials as a top figure in the ring. Shrewd, clever, speaking 10 languages, he never was a rabbi's lawyer, says, but a "sort of psychiatrist."

The trials alone, some assert, may take all summer.

Poison was by no means the only murder-for-profit weapon. Authorities say men were drowned in rivers or on fishing trips off the Atlantic coast; they were killed with automobiles; heads were and mapped; and as a result, the eyes of all West Texas—and a good part of the Southwest, for that matter—are turned on the convention. The city that is host occupies the public spotlight for many weeks.

And the city that plays host to outstanding fashion benefits immeasurably in the way of winning recognition, publicity and friendships. These all help.

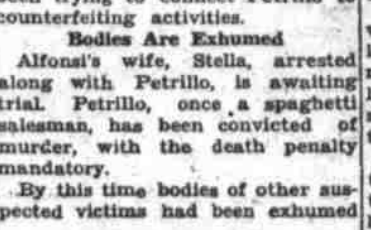

We can say without boasting, that Big Spring has done a fine job in entertaining other conventions. The city can do as fine a job in entertaining the WTCC next year. phers Socrates drank when condemned to death. The syndicate collected all, or a share of the insurance on the victims.

Here's An Idea
 Here's one way the scheme was worked:

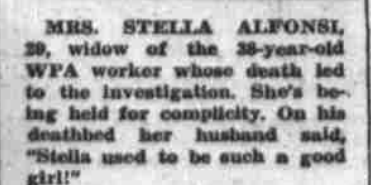

A plotter became acquainted with a relative of a possible victim. If the marked man had no insurance, steps would be taken to have a policy issued for him, with the relative as beneficiary.

Then followed a period of waiting. Eventually, the marked man fell ill of some natural ailment and a doctor was called. The doctor would prescribe a medicine and into that medicine the conspirators dropped their poison.

Alfonso's wife, Stella, arrested along with Petrillo, is awaiting trial. Petrillo, once a spaghetti salesman, has been convicted of murder, with the death penalty mandatory.

By this time bodies of other suspected victims had been exhumed crushed with sandbags and the victims thrown downstairs—all ways in which it would seem that death had been accidental.

All the victims had been insured. One police officer was known as "witch's brew," another was the same hemlock the philan-

THE WHITE PAPER ON PALESTINE

For a piece of disingenuous argument the latest British government White Paper, detailing plans for the future of Palestine, deserves to rank with the late Runciman report by which the British government presented a lofty argument for whitewashing terror and preparing the way for the ruthless conquest of Czechoslovakia.

The administration of Palestine has become a headache, because terrorist Arab gangs, manipulated by unprincipled leaders living off forced subscriptions from poor Arabs and supported by German and Italian agents have been stirring up risings.

The authority for this statement is not any Jewish committee, but is the British War Office which, in January, 1939, gave out a ten-page press release on the subject to the newspapers.

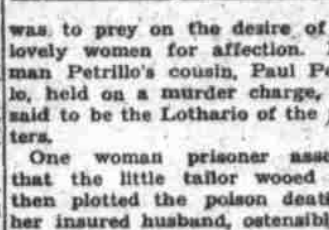

According to this report the "Arab rebellion" in Palestine is actually limited to 1,000 to 1,500 men, split up into small bodies . . . and forming the permanent nuclei of rebel gangs. These small parties are reinforced by temporary detachments of armed fellahin (Arab peasants).

In parts of the country definite detachments with leaders and a quota of arms are in existence. Elsewhere, villagers are pressed into service by the permanent gangs . . . combining by night for sniping and sabotage which have become a recognized and remunerative racket. . . . The general policy is more or less directed by the Mufti and the Higher Arab Committee, but within Palestine the gang leaders are practically independent.

The two principal leaders are Abdul Rahman el-Haj Mahomed . . . and Aref Abdul Rasik . . . These two leaders are on such bad terms that on no occasion open hostilities have broken out between them.

The former has endeavored to conduct his campaign on decent lines and dislikes the campaign of assassination and intimidation waged against all moderate Arabs who might oppose the Mufti's policy.

The second is entirely unprincipled. He consequently enjoys the complete confidence of the rebel leaders outside Palestine and is their principal agent in maintaining the terrorist grip on the Arab population. Incidentally, he pockets a large rake-off from forced subscriptions to rebel funds.

Abdul Rahman el-Haj Mahomed, one of the two principal leaders of the Arab rebellion in Palestine, is shown here.

The lower class of terrorist thugs who are responsible for the assassination, abduction and intimidation of all sorts maintain a grip of terror on the population.

The power of the rebellion and the safety of its supporters depend on the terrorism imposed on the population by the man with the gun.

Even in the large towns there is little sign that the educated classes combine to give support to the gangs. Owing to terrorism they are supported by the rest of the population, etc., etc.

Now, the British White Paper justifies its Palestine measures on the ground that it is taking account of the national feelings of the Arab

TWO AGAINST LOVE

by Frances Hanna

Chapter 20

DISINHERITED

From being a rather talkative person who liked to air his profound views, Thorn had become a person who indulged in long periods of morose silence, during which he stared with ferocious eyes at the distant rim of sea and sky.

From the beginning his romance with Nola had struck Jocelyn as incongruous for they were such different types, yet they seemed to complement each other in some inexplicable manner. Perhaps she had been wrong about Nola and Talley. Nola had gone away.

Geoff met her eyes and smiled. "Beating Thorn at chess tonight is like taking candy away from a baby. His mind is wool-gathering."

Thorn seemed to pull himself from inner depths. "I know it," he agreed, a vagueness in his tone. "I can't concentrate. Too warm. I guess. Say, Lyn, did Bob say where he was going tonight?"

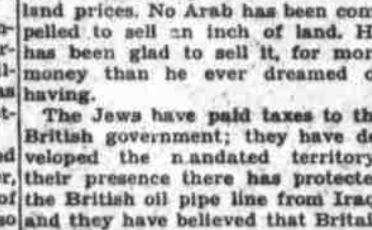

"No. His car was gone when I came in from the club. I thought he'd probably gone in town for dinner. Why?"

"Oh, we had one of our arguments this afternoon. We were both pretty nasty. I've been un-population, although the War Office report, which I have just quoted, indicates that 'the Arab population has nothing to say about anything, but is being systematically terrorized by small groups of political gangsters.'

And the result of this campaign of terror is that with a lot of weasel words the British government abandons any hope of ever making a real national home for the Jews in Palestine and assures the Arabs that forever they shall have a 'two-thirds majority' of the population.

Why did the British Empire ever set up a homeland for the Jews in Palestine? Of humanitarian sympathies? Certainly not.

Abdul Rahman el-Haj Mahomed, one of the two principal leaders of the Arab rebellion in Palestine, is shown here.

From 1914 to 1918 Great Britain was involved in a war. One of her opponents in that war was Turkey, which ruled Palestine, and which during the war was the base of large Turkish forces which occupied Syria and made two major attacks on the Suez Canal.

Palestine had already been partially settled by Zionists. Because of its important strategic position, Britain was very anxious to get it, and a few Jewish agents and able Jews notably assisted England to realize this aim, asking in return that the British give them an opportunity—at long last—to have a home of their own and a chance to demonstrate to the world that the Jews could build up a civilization of their own.

The Jews in Palestine numbered 75,000 in 1919. They now number about 450,000. They have invested in Palestine hundreds of millions of dollars donated by people of their race from all parts of the earth. They have developed beautiful agricultural settlements, built fine cities, constructed roads—and for the sake of building this national homeland Jewish youth, many of whom have had academic degrees, have turned themselves into stone-breakers and farmers.

They have demonstrated that Jews are not born to be peddlers or intellectuals or bankers, but can be excellent farmers. They have made a splendid university.

easy ever since. He had a peculiar look when he stomped off."

"What sort of look?"

"Oh, it's hard to describe. Like a man who has suddenly made up his mind to do something rash and impulsive."

"I hear his car now," Lyn said, rising and starting toward the open windows. "Your imagination is working overtime, Thorn."

"He isn't putting his car in the garage, though," Geoff put in. "He must be going out again."

Then all three of them heard a girl's voice, excited and protesting, mingle with Bob's low, assuring tones. Thorn's eyes sought his sister's with apprehension.

Bob pulled open the screen door and came in, his right arm firmly about the waist of Gretchen Landau who looked breathless and radiantly charming in a becoming ensemble of blue and white.

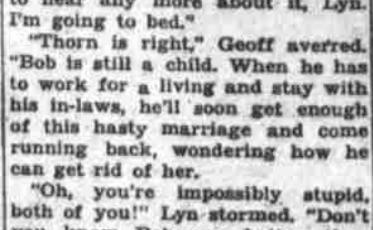

Bob's eyes swept the three persons facing him.

"Greetings and congratulations are in order," he announced. "Meet Mrs. Robert Russell, folks."

Gretchen, her great brown eyes wistful and anxious, smiled with hopeful friendliness into suddenly frozen countenances.

Jocelyn moistened her lips; became conscious that her fingernails were digging into the palms of her hands. "Bob, how—how could you without telling us?" she whispered.

Thorn, whose voice should have stayed lost, said: "Married! Where? When?"

Abdul Rahman el-Haj Mahomed, one of the two principal leaders of the Arab rebellion in Palestine, is shown here.

"Tonight at Yuma, Arizona. We planned over and back. Well, why don't you say it and get it over with?"

"I prefer talking to you when your wife is not present," Thorn declared with dignity.

"Anything you have to say can be said right now."

"Never, Never, Never!"

"Very well, if you insist, but remember you asked for it. Bob, you married out of your class. You married into a family we do not acknowledge socially or any other way. You made your choice without consulting me; therefore, you can make the best of it. You can't bring her here to live. I won't have my family over-running my property. I won't give you any more money whatsoever. As trustee of the estate I can refuse you. You chose her and her family, entirely disregarding your own, so take your belongings and move in with them and stay away from me. That's all, Robert."

time. Betsy was so excited about having Mister Bob for her dad I promised to wake her when I got home."

"Cantankerous Idiot!"

Gretchen ran into her mother's arms, while both Gramp and Tally tried to shake Bob's hand at the same time.

Tally grinned. "Gee, Bob, I'm glad to have you in the family. I couldn't have picked a better husband for Gretchen myself."

Gramp hobbled over to the board, rummaged among the staples a minute, then triumphantly held up a jar of red wine. "Delicious! It's just what you need to the kids' wedding."

As if loath to have her out-touch for a moment, Bob held Gretchen on his knees while the ate and drank. Gramp, reminding himself of long detail about his woeing of Katie O'Connell, Gretchen laughed, running her fingers through Bob's hair, to tell her soft, pale cheek against his.

Gramp halted his rambling narrative to ask, "Say, you two ain't goin' to get too all-fired high and mighty livin' on the other side of the fence?"

Gretchen slipped her arm about Bob's shoulders and squeezed him hard. She said, her eyes defiant. "We aren't going to live on the other side, Gramp. We're going to live right here with all of you."

"Tarnation! If that ain't the best news I've heard. But any—what, about them folks of Bob's? Fearsed, they don't hanker to truck with us folks."

"Steady, Gramp," Tally soothed. "Bob is welcome to live here as long as he wants to stay. His eyes appraised his new brother-in-law shrewdly. "You could go to court and try to get your share of the inheritance, Bob."

"I'd rather not. I'd rather work. Although—" Bob shrugged ruefully—"I don't know what on earth I'm equipped to do."

Abdul Rahman el-Haj Mahomed, one of the two principal leaders of the Arab rebellion in Palestine, is shown here.

Tally smiled. "There's plenty of work to do right here if you want to help me. How'd you like to be a farmer, Bob?"

"I'd like it."

"Then it's settled. Get yourself some working clothes tomorrow and I'll make you a partner in the vegetable, fruit, and dairy business."

Natl. Cotton Week Observed To Aid South's Biggest Crop

Aimed At Hike In Domestic Consumption

A nation-wide tribute to the south's greatest crop—cotton and cottonseed—is planned during the week of May 22-27 by dry goods stores, groceries, and thousands of other firms joining in observance of National Cotton Week.

"The nation's leading retailers and wholesalers will utilize nearly every medium of advertising to increase domestic consumption of the south's leading agricultural products," the Cotton Textile Institute reports. "Theme of the 1939 campaign, sponsored by the Institute, is 'Cotton, Fiber of American Prosperity' and every phase of the cotton industry will cooperate to help relieve one of the gravest economic emergencies in the south's history."

A 10-point program to increase consumption of products of the cotton plant was outlined for 1939 by the Cotton Consumption Council in January at a meeting in New Orleans. While climax of the program will come during National Cotton Week, activities are planned throughout the year.

Responsibility for National Cotton Week activities was vested in the Cotton-Textile Institute, which is cooperating with such organized groups as: the Institute of Distribution; National Association of Food Chains; National Retail Dry Goods Association; National Council of Shoe Retailers; Mid-South Cotton Growers Association; American Cotton Cooperative Association; National Association of Chain Drug Stores; Limited Price Variety Stores Association; and many others.

Increasing recognition is being given, during National Cotton Week, to the varied food products from cottonseed handled by grocers and food stores. Cottonseed oil, shortening, salad dressing, salad oil, margarine, and other foods will be extensively featured by grocers, as will mops, clotheslines, cotton

Day By Day, In Almost Every Way, Cotton And Cottonseed Products Are Useful To Every American

If you walk or ride—
If you eat or sleep—
If you listen to music or see a show—

If you wash your face, or shoot a gun—
If you write a letter, or make a salad—

If you are born, or die—
You are using some of the products of cotton or cottonseed. So varied and useful are the hundreds of things that come from lint and cottonseed that it would be almost impossible for any American to go through a day without making use of some products of the cotton plant.

Clothing made from cotton, and shortening made from cottonseed oil are recognized as products of the cotton plant by most users, but it would, probably, be difficult for the average person to identify all of the products included in the list of activities at the beginning of this article. However, cotton and cottonseed contribute to all of these activities through their use in: Shoes, automobiles, airplanes, feeding horses and mules, sheets, foods, phonograph records, motion picture films, soap, gunpowder, ink and paper salad oils and dressings, babies' clothing, and easels.

Americans, and especially South-gloves and other lint products. Drug stores are giving important assistance to cotton growers by plans to feature cotton products during a "First Aid Week" which will coincide with National Cotton Week during 1939. A large volume of cotton and cottonseed products is merchandised annually through drug stores.

Dry goods, department, hardware and other retail stores, not only in the cotton-growing south but in all states, have joined in the National Cotton Week observance each year with displays, newspaper advertising, and other promotional activities.

Growers Groups Help
Recognizing the value of this wide-spread campaign to use more of their farm products, cotton growers, chambers of commerce, service clubs, and other southern agencies are giving full cooperation to the Cotton Week plans. Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture, is chairman of the Cotton Consumption Council which is coordinating the efforts of these grower and civic organizations.

Advance plans indicate that National Cotton Week will be even more widely observed during 1939 than in the past, when its activities have called national attention to the economic importance of the south's cotton and cottonseed.

erners, have an opportunity to aid cotton growers during National Cotton Week and throughout the year by using more of the following products, some of the principal products made from cotton and cottonseed:

NEWS NOTES FROM THE OIL FIELD COMMUNITIES

Poultry Flocks Being Tested By Farm Agent

First of what is planned as a dozen demonstration poultry flocks was checked last week by County Agent O. P. Griffin.

The agent and aides blood tested a flock of 237 and found 35 per cent reacting positively to pullorum and typhoid. The flock belongs to O. Y. Miller.

After the positive reactors are culled, some 15 or 20 choice hens will be selected and retested. They will be mated to a fine bred cockerel and watched for productivity and vitality. Replenishment of the flock will come from the select group next year.

Griffin said that the demonstration would aim at high egg production, high vitality, immunity from disease and freedom from infections transmitted by the egg. He hopes to have 11 other such demonstrations in the county during the year.

Mrs. Earl Thompson has returned home here after visiting for the past week in Monahans with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yarbrough are spending the weekend in Abilene visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Otho Gillman and children of Stamford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kneer this past week.

Sheep shearing season is on at the Walter Gressett, Ernest Clifton, C. L. West and Hardy Morgan ranches.

Mrs. Joe Marting and children, Bill and Helen, have gone to Oil City, La., to visit relatives. They will remain through the month of June.

Kenneth Butler left for Dallas Friday to visit relatives.

Mrs. E. T. Bradham of Ballinger is the guest of her son, E. T. Jr., and Mrs. Bradham.

PORK PRODUCTS TO BE PLENTIFUL

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—American consumers will have the largest supply of pork and hog products at their disposal this summer since the 1934 drought caused a sharp reduction in livestock production.

Agriculture department officials said today consumers should be able to buy such meat products at the lowest prices in nearly five years.

Supplies of beef, on the other hand, are expected to be smaller than last year unless a severe drought develops in the midwest and far west to reduce feed supplies and cause more cattle to be shipped to market.
