Texas Company President Testifies On Oil Code Of Ethics In Ouster Suit

CLASHES MARK RESUMPTION OF COURT TRIAL

Term 'Major Oil Company' Draws Objection From Defense Counsels

ARGEEMENTS MADE

R. Holmes Subjected To Questioning in Case At Austin

AUSTIN, May 9. (UP)—President R. C. Holmes of the Texas company testified here today that the only agreement made by oil companies signing the present oil code of ethics was made with the federal trade commission.

The statement was made in the preliminary testimony being taken in Attorney General James V. Allred's anti-trust suit against major oil companies.

Allred countered Holmes' testimony by placing in the record the document itself. In this it is stated that the signers "mutally agree."

Clashes Numerous

It was the first of a series of clashes.

Another was over reference to the 15 defendant oil companies as "major" oil companies. Counsel for various companies objected when Holmes was asked if they were major oil companies. Holmes so classed most of them. Of another he said: "I think they consider themselves a major oil company," causing a general laugh.

John Greene, chief counsel for the Gulf Refining company, protested that the term "major company" is "newspaper terminology, liable to prejudice the minds of the jurors and used for that purpose."

Attorney General Allred insisted that from Holmes testimony it was apparent the term was generally known in the oil industry. When Allred referred to "majors" and "independents" C. B. Ames, general counsel for the Texas company, promptly objected to the injection of an additional term. "I think Mr. Holmes would testify the Texas company (which he had called a major oil company) is independent," said Ames.

Galluses Evident

Holmes, wearing a grey business suit and black four-in-hand tie, appeared more comfortable than the 50 attorneys who filled the little county court room for the proceedings. With windows opened and

'Prince Mike' Romanoff Back on Ellis Island

NEW YORK, May 9. (US)—"Prince Mike" Romanoff, who escaped from an immigration department guard by "drinking him under the table," was back on Ellis island today, awaiting deportation to France.

He was captured in front of a swanky apartment house after leading department investigators a merry chase for four days. He had shaved off his mustache, but the immigration officers would know his aristocratic bearing anywhere.

The bogus prince, otherwise known as Harry F. Gerguson, insisted, however, that he will escape again.

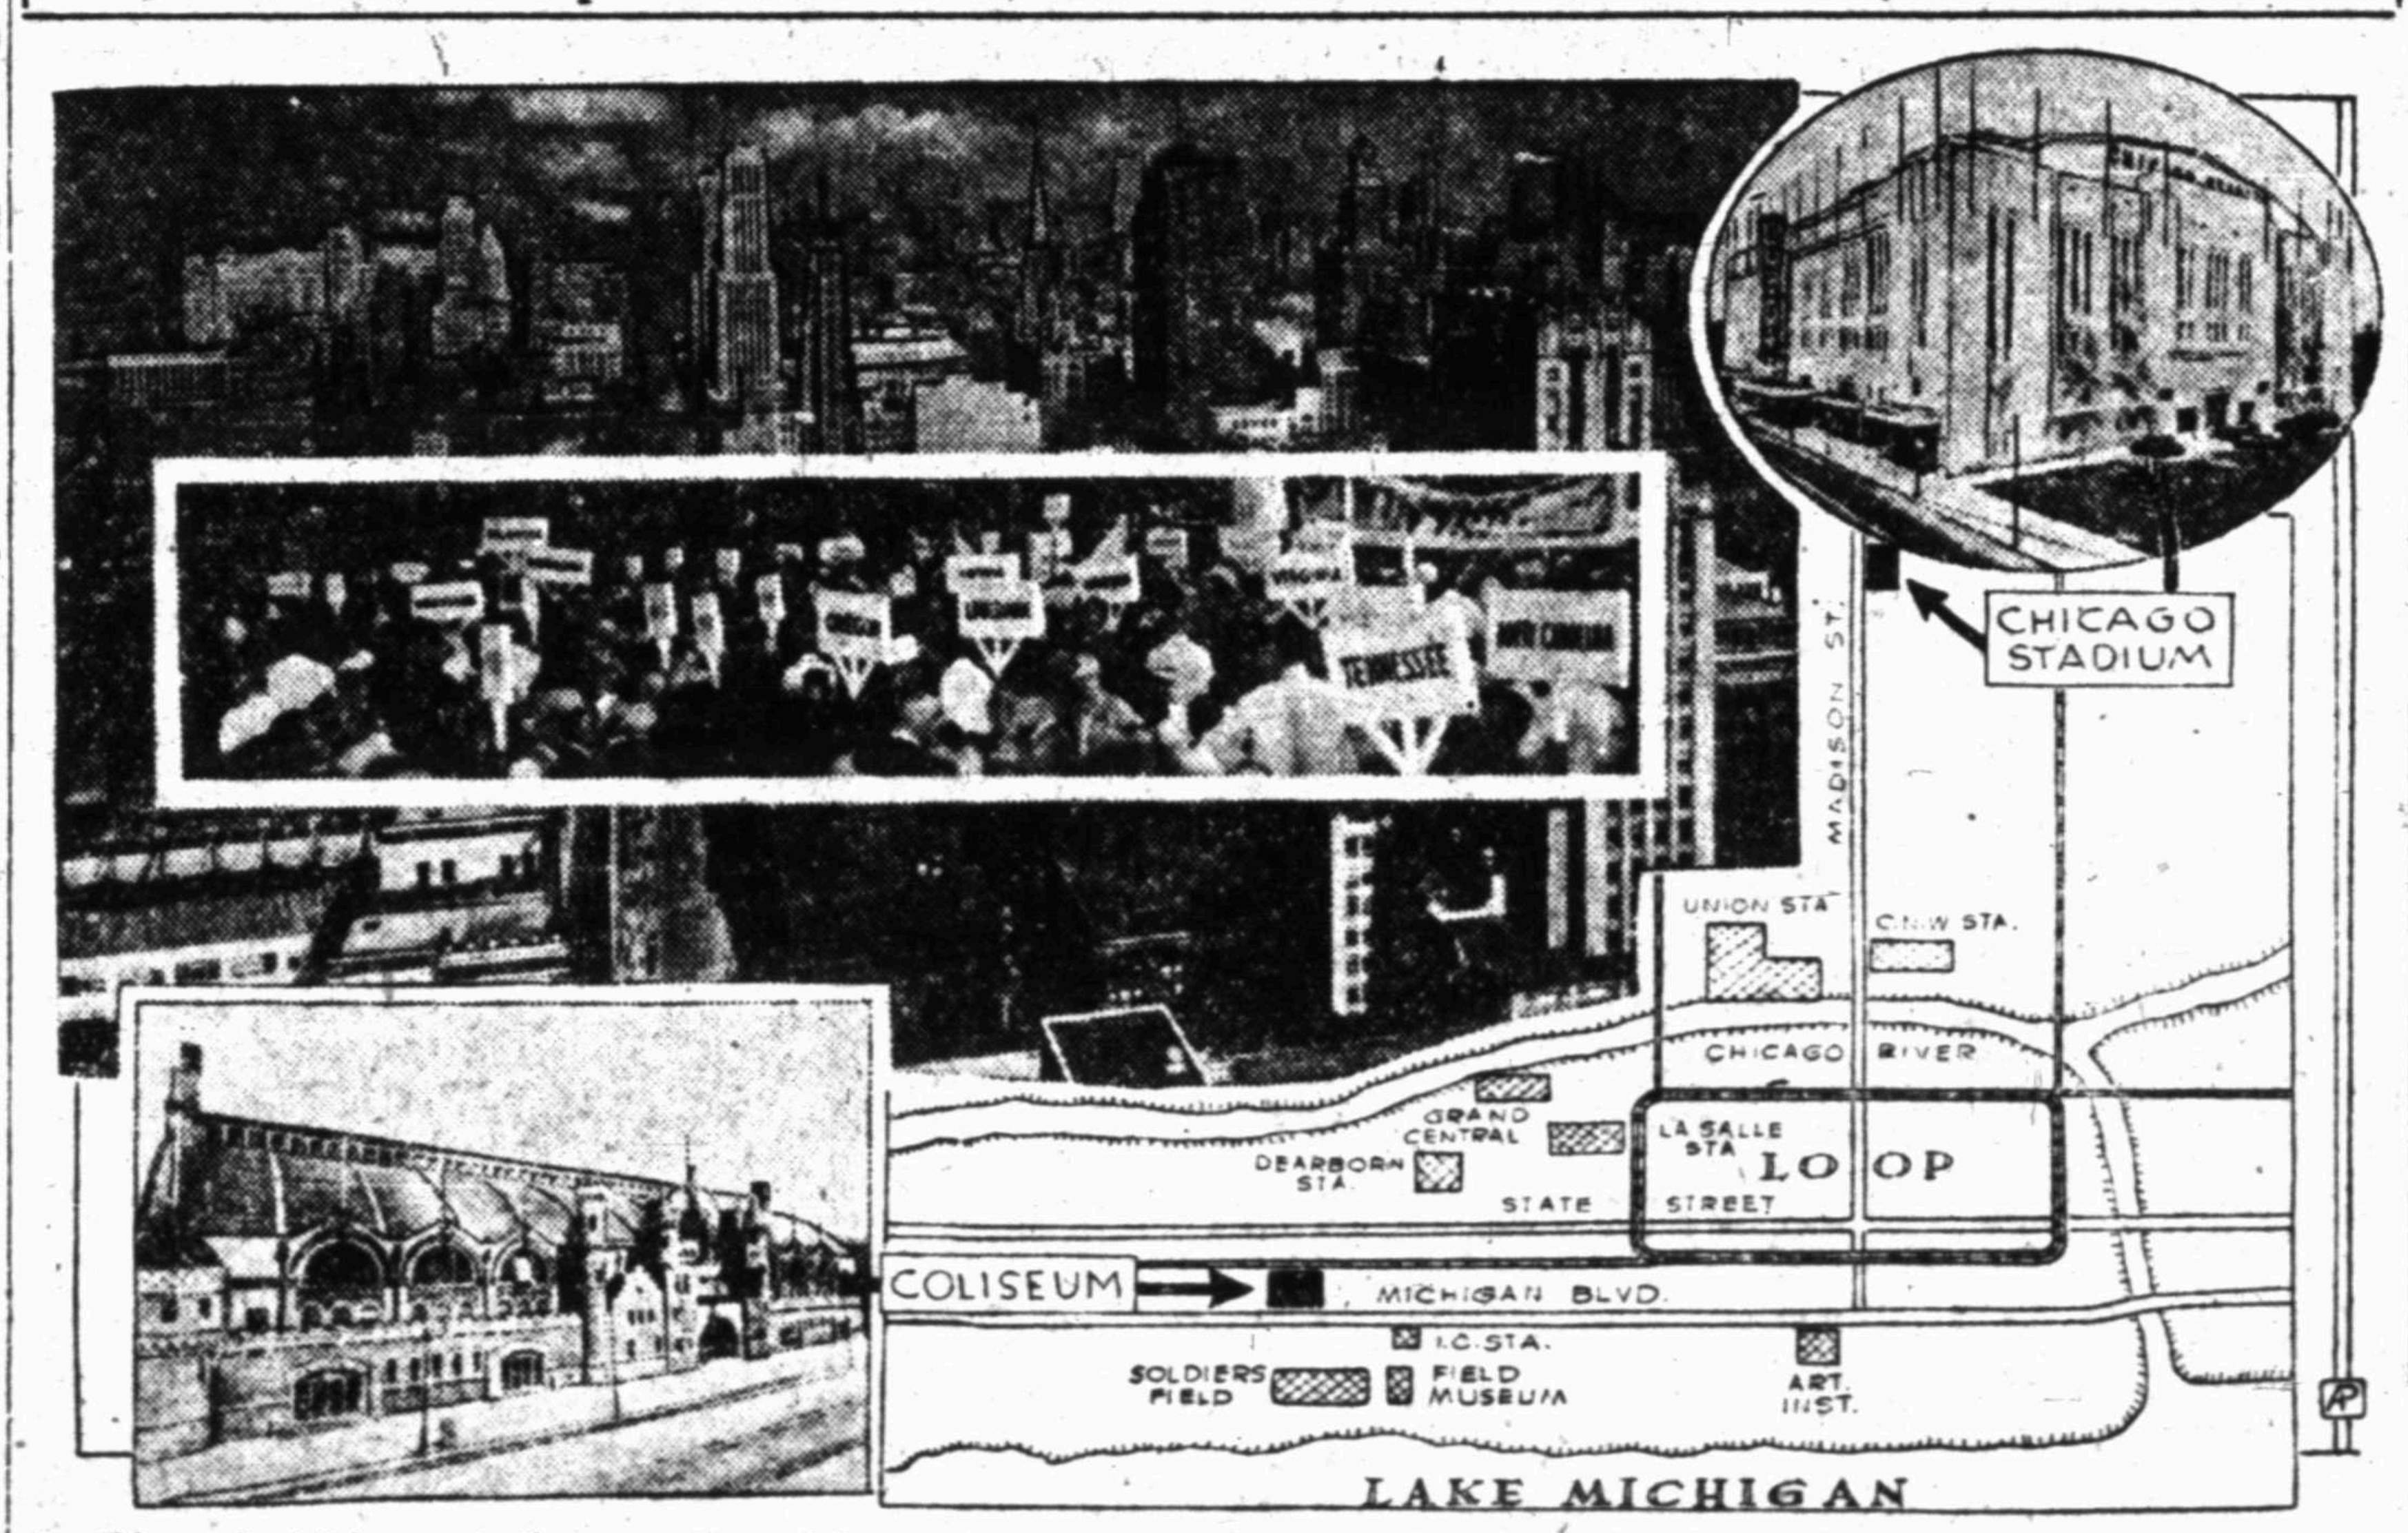
Here's Where Republicans and Democrats Will Pick Standard Bearers Next Month



Chicago, host this year to the conventions of the two big parties, announces itself in far better shape to handle the big crowds than at the time of the last national convention there in 1920. The great new Chicago stadium (upper right), seating 25,000 or more, has been constructed since that time, replacing the old Coliseum (lower left), which in its day resounded to many partisan battles. The Republican national convention will open June 14, followed by the Democratc gathering on June 27.

Senate Girds for Non-Partisan Drive To Speed Passage of Budget Balancer

Finance Committee Gives Overwhelming Approval to Bill Calling for Billion Dollar Taxation Program

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—A non-partisan drive to speed the vital budget balancing program through the senate gathered force today behind the taxes and economy measures.

The billion dollar revenue raising bill was submitted by the finance committee with overwhelming approval. The compromise tax schedules were retained intact. Debate will begin Thursday.

From a whirl of debate and meetings on economy came a proposal from Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, for appointment of a special economy committee. Senator Watson of Indiana, the majority pilot, promptly accepted the suggestion.

President Hoover, who called in Republican leaders over the week end to emphasize the taxes-economy program, kept contact during the day with the senate situation. Secretary Mills called at the senate to offer full cooperation in the campaign.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, called for an end of controversy and recrimination over the economy issue in a statement off the floor. In debate he warned that most of the cuts in appropriations made so far merely amounted to postponements.

"I do not care one whoop," he said, "who gets the honor, who gets the glory, whether the executive, the legislature, the Republicans or Democrats, or both, just so the country gets economy. This controversy and crimination and recrimination is concealing the fact that no economy bill is going to be passed unless we change our attitude and discuss economy instead of one another."

Confident of a dominant bi-partisan combination in support of the billion dollar revenue bill, the leadership is now focusing attention on the necessary $200,000,000 in savings required to make the tax measure balance the 1933 budget. The proposal of Robinson for a special committee in all probability will be formally advanced tomorrow.

The senate appropriations committee resumed its work on the supply measures today, determined to stick by the policy of ten per cent reductions. A motion by Senator Oddie, Republican, Nevada, to rescind previous votes affirming this policy was side tracked by the senate as leaders sought a general economy plan.

Non-Partisan Plan Ignores Demos

There was no immediate sign tonight that President Hoover would call in Democrats for conference.

In debate today, Democrats chided Republicans about the president calling them in for consideration of a "non-partisan program."

Senator Oddie who was at the white house last night and who is seeking elimination of the ten per cent cuts insisted that no agreements were made at the white house parleys and no particular discussion was had upon the ten per cent cuts advocated by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee.

A contest is certain on the senate floor over the tax bill but leaders are confident of its adoption in almost its present form.

The compromise tax measure raises the income tax and corporation rates above the house increases; retains the inheritance and gift rates voted by the house; eliminates a number of special excise levies voted by the house; retains four tariff items, and boosts the automobile and admission taxes.

WILKERSON NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—Chairman Borah of the senate judiciary subcommittee today called a meeting for tomorrow to resume hearings on the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson.

TWO PRIMARIES SLATED TODAY

Roosevelt and George White To Win Delegates

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Governor George White, Ohio's favorite son, are expected to divide honors in today's presidential primaries in West Virginia and Ohio.

Far out in front of a field that will be enlarged to seven candidates this week when Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland receives that state's 16 votes, Roosevelt was picked by state organization leaders to win West Virginia's delegation of 16. The New Yorker and Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma contested for the preference vote, which is not binding on the delegates.

White was assured of 46 of Ohio's large block of 52 to place him in the running for the first time with actual convention votes pledged to

WOLF HUNTERS OPEN MEETING

First Chase Scheduled For Dawn Today

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 9.—The yapping and moaning of some 400 hounds, excited with the expectancy of the chases they know will come, pervaded convention headquarters of the Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters association on the Ikard ranch near here today, as the organization's annual meet opened.

Delegates and visitors, forming a crowd estimated at 300, were on the grounds with nightfall of the first day of the four-day gathering. Fully 100 more were expected Tuesday. Tents and other camping equipment were increasingly evident as new comers arrived.

First Chase Tuesday

The first day was given over to registration of delegates and the booking of dogs.

At daybreak Tuesday the first chase will start. Coyotes, of which Archer county is plentifully supplied, will be the bait. As packs of dogs raise the first coyote the official test to determine the champion hunter will start. Hounds will be followed by their masters and onlookers on horse.

A second field test, or chase, will be held Thursday morning. Wednesday will be devoted primarily to a bench show of hounds.

Chases will be held nightly for those dogs not booked for the several field tests.

Judges Named

Tom Masters will officiate and judge at the bench show.

E. T. Newblock, Tulsa, president of the Southwestern Hunters association, will officiate at the field tests. He will be assisted by W. M. Keenan, Fairland, Okla., and A. A. Lowden of Archer county. Seven other assistant judges will be constantly with the dogs as the chases

Aged 'Father of Trusts' Returns After Absence

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—Far flung police search for Charles R. Flint, 83, whose genius as an organizer earned him the sobriquet "Father of Trusts" ended late today when he returned to his hotel.

His wife, Mrs. Charlotte Reeves Flint, 39 years his junior, said the aged man had not explained his absence. She said:

"He is home and I did not question him. He is sleeping now. I think that closes the incident."

Flint left Sunday ostensibly to go to John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore for a physical examination. When Mrs. Flint learned from the hospital that he had not reported there, she notified police. They instituted search in Washington, Baltimore and New York.

Passengers Grounded Safely After Bolt Strikes Plane

CROYDON AIRFIELD, England, May 9. (US)—Thirteen passengers on a giant Imperial Airways plane were brought down skillfully by their pilot to safety today after the craft had been hit by lightning. They stayed on the ground only long enough to transfer to a second plane and resume their flight from Croydon to Paris.

The airliner Horatius, piloted by Capt. O. P. Jones, was struck by the bolt over Tonbridge while flying in the clouds at an elevation of 2,000 feet. The lightning entered the plane through the top and grounded in the hanging radio antenna, destroying the wireless equipment.

Birth Control to Be Discussed At Meeting of Medicos at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 9. (US)—Birth control in the United States will come before the American Medical association tomorrow in executive session here. Whatever decision may be reached by the house of delegates will go before the entire association for definite action.

The convention will formally open tomorrow night, when Dr. S. C. Barrow, president of the Louisiana State Medical society, delivers a welcome address and President-elect E. H. Cary of Dallas, Texas, is inducted into office and makes his presidential speech.

Today the delegates, almost 5,000 of them, heard Dr. Paul Wolff of Berlin, secretary of the League of Nations narcotic division, declare that drug addiction can be traced to the administering of narcotics by physicians to ease the pain of suffering patients.

Dr. Wolff said the great need of medical men is for a non-habit-forming narcotic which can be ad-

REVOLT PERIL DESCRIBED IN RELIEF PLEA

'Bread or Blood' Warning Sounded at Hearing On Costigan Bill

LOCAL WORK FAILS

Relief Funds Are Growing Thinner and Thinner, Group Says

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—A warning of possible revolt unless the federal government moves to prevent unemployment distress was voiced today by Edward T. McGrady, spokesman for the American Federation of Labor, before the senate manufactures committee.

Hearings were opened on the Costigan bill to provide $500,000,000 for advances to states and municipalities through a bond issue.

Previously a series of social workers from New York, Chicago and Philadelphia had testified local relief efforts were failing and appealed for federal help.

Movement Gains

Meanwhile the movement for federal aid was apparently gaining ground in the senate, particularly among the Democrats. Sponsors of the movement were talking more optimistically than at any previous time this season.

There was some discussion of calling a Democratic conference to consider the many proposals offered.

Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, introduced a bill calling for immediate appropriation of $100,000,000 for relief of the jobless to be distributed by the president.

McGrady startled the committee with his frank warning.

Food Comes First

"If something is not done and starvation is going to continue and perhaps increase," he said, "the doors to revolution are going to be thrown wide open and leaders of the country ought to know it.

"The administration ought to know that more than the need for balancing the budget, bread and butter are needed. We want to get it through work, but if we can't do that, we are going to get it anyway."

A nation-wide survey of conditions was presented by H. L. Lurie, chairman of the unemployment subcommittee of the American Association of Social Workers, which he said showed relief funds are "being spread thinner and thinner," so that "whole families are getting an average of $2.39 a week."

Mrs. Barbara Dudley Succumbs at Mankins

Funeral services will be held from the Mankins First Methodist church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial will be in the Mankins cemetery, with the Dalton-Powell Funeral home of Wichita Falls in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Dudley was a native of Kentucky but had resided in Texas for the past 74 years, coming to this state when a child. The family has maintained its residence here for the past 15 years, where Mrs. Dudley's sons are engaged in business. Mrs. Dudley's husband, who died a number of years ago, was a veteran of the Confederate army.

Surviving are Dick and John Dudley, both of Mankins.

Garner to Receive Copy Of Own Biography Today

WASHINGTON, May 9. (US)—Speaker Garner will be presented an elaborate bound copy of his biography written by George Rothwell Brown, in ceremonies on the capitol steps tomorrow.

The volume, titled "The Speaker of the House—The Romantic Story of John Nance Garner," has attracted wide attention because of the movement to draft the speaker for the presidential nomination.

The presentation will be made by Mr. Brown, a writer for the Washington Herald and Universal Service, who has followed the speaker's career for the past 30 years.

Wichita to Select Delegates To State Convention at Meeting Today

Delegates to cast Wichita county's 19 votes at the Texas Democratic convention in Houston May 24, will be selected here Tuesday afternoon when precinct delegates meet in the county Democratic convention.

The convention is scheduled for 2 p. m. in the 78th district courtroom. Bert King, county chairman, will preside.

The dispatch with which John N. Garner received instructed delegations at the precinct conventions last Saturday is viewed as an indication that the county convention will instruct for the Texas speaker of the house with equal promptness.

The number of delegates the county will send to the state convention will be determined during the course of the county convention Tuesday.

Each precinct is allowed one vote at the county convention for each 25 votes or major fraction thereof cast for Gov. Ross Sterling in the elections of 1930.

Jury Bills Lancaster For Murder

MIAMI FLA., May 9. (US)—Captain W. N. Lancaster, noted British airman and associate of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, was indicted by the Dade county grand jury today for the murder of Haden Clarke, young "ghost writer" and fiance of Mrs. Keith-Miller.

Earlier in the day word came from Lancaster's 80-year-old father in London that he had placed funds at the disposal of the British consulate to aid in the defense of his son.

Lancaster's aged mother was prostrated with grief by the news that her son was held for the murder of the young writer, and the elder Lancaster, a retired engineer, is unable to leave her to join his son here, according to the British vice consul, Lewis A. Oates.

Young Clarke was shot to death with a pistol belonging to Lancaster on the night of April 20 in the winter home of Mrs. Keith-Miller, where all three lived. His death was at first thought to be a suicide.

The woman flyer has maintained her faith in Lancaster's innocence, and will help direct his defense.

The trial of Lancaster, said to have been in love with Mrs. Keith-Miller, promises to develop sensational love triangle elements.

ALBERT FALL LEAVES PRISON

Former Cabinet Member On Way Home

SANTA FE, N. M., May 9. (AP)—Albert B. Fall, who was convicted of accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, while secretary of the interior, was freed today from the New Mexico state penitentiary, after serving nine months and 19 days of a year and a day sentence.

Fall, reclining on pillows in a long shiny blue limousine ambulance, passed the portals of the prison at 1:22 p. m.

Followed by members of his family, the former Harding cabinet member immediately began a trip to El Paso by way of the now famous Tres Rios ranch where he will stop overnight.

Fall, who entered prison a sick man, emerged in no better health, Dr. E. F. Fiske reported after examination of Fall at request of his family.

"He came into the penitentiary an invalid and he went out an invalid," said Dr. Fiske. "He is a year older now and his various chronic illnesses are progressive."

Dr. Fiske denied reports Fall had become ill mentally and declared "he has retained his grip." Fall, he said, had been fairly cheerful during his imprisonment.

Mrs. Fall and her two daughters followed the ambulance.

Fall's release came after Warden Ed Swope of the penitentiary had engaged in a long distance argument with federal officials in Washington over whether Fall had really served his full sentence.

Swope refused to release Fall until he received amended commit-

French Villagers Flee As Landslides Recur

LYONS, France, May 9. (AP)—The 1,600 inhabitants of the village of St. Genix-Sur-Guiers and nearby inhabitants were fleeing down the mountainside tonight from several huge landslides.

Loosened by heavy rains, about 7,500,000 cubic feet of saturated earth threatened to cover the town, which is 30 miles east of Lyons, and 20 miles west of Chambery in Savoie province.

Three houses and 1,000 trees were destroyed by landslides in and near the town today, and seven more houses were in immediate danger of destruction.

Meanwhile 24 persons of the 51 tenants of two buildings which were wrecked by landslides on the outskirts of Lyons yesterday were still missing, and presumably buried in the debris.

TAUNTON, Mass., May 9. (US)—Holding her baby in one arm and a pistol in the other, Mrs. Florence Pinkham, 40, mother of four, held police and state troopers at bay for two hours. She was under observation today at the state hospital.

NAVY DIRIGIBLE TURNS ABOUT AT SAN ANGELO

Violent Weather Conditions Halt Airship's Trip To California

1,000 READY TO HELP

San Angelo Citizens Turn Out by Hundreds To Aid Huge Craft

SAN ANGELO, May 10. (AP)—The Akron was sighted over Eldorado, Schleicher county, 48 miles southwest of here at 1:15 this morning. It was headed toward San Antonio with a storm still at its tail.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 10. (Tuesday) (AP)—Faced by terrific electrical storms on her route to the west coast, the navy's pride, the gigantic dirigible Akron was in grave danger over San Angelo shortly after midnight.

While 1,000 San Angelo citizens waited in a driving rain and thunder storm at the San Angelo airport to act as a landing crew, the Akron floated away to the southeast with but one light visible.

At 1 a. m. her exact whereabouts was unknown.

Big Crew Assembled

That indicated that Commander Charles Rosendahl might have decided to seek safety by retracing his course eastward out of that violent storm zone. He was over Houston late yesterday.

Every possible means was resorted to in assembling a huge ground crew at the San Angelo airport after Capt. Homer Freed, world war veteran, stated he had been advised by Randolph field, the army's West Point of the air at San Antonio, to act after he had reported he had observed the Akron flashing distress signals.

Ship Turns East

The Akron turned east from Christoval toward the Lipan beacon, 15 miles east of San Angelo, about 1 a. m. Observers believed it was heading back to San Antonio.

The Akron carried five airplanes, but none took off while the mother ship was in this vicinity.

The Akron first flew over San Angelo at 10:30 p. m., flying low and continuing west. A short time later it doubled back.

The ship first circled the airport and then hung over the city. Airport attaches said she appeared to be hovering over the city and uncertain whether to proceed into an electrical storm raging west of here. The department of commerce radio station at Big Spring, Texas, nearest sending point, was unable to communicate with the Akron because of the electrical disturbance.

Flashlight Signals

The ship sent flashlight signals to operators on the ground asking that the city's entire population be congregated if necessary in an attempt to ground the dirigible.

Thunderstorms were reported in virtually all directions and there was a violent electrical display west of San Angelo on the ship's route to the Pacific coast for naval maneuvers.

At midnight the ship was hovering over Christoval, a few miles southwest of San Angelo, while 600 or more San Angelo residents were ready to help land it here.

The crowd was assembled through use of a radio, telephones, messengers and the fire siren. Each person telephoned was asked to phone two or three other persons and head towards the airport. The Standard-Times radio station, KGKL, had gone off the air but it came back on to tell of the ship's desire to land.

Violent Storm

It was raining hard here and the electrical storm was violent. Observers believed the ship retreated to Christoval to wait until the storm had ceased.

The airport here comprises 256 acres, one of the largest landing fields in West Texas. Residents were at a loss to know to what the ship could be moored to as they said the hangar "wouldn't hold it."

Capt. Homer Freed, disabled veteran of the air corps, saw signals which he took to be distress warnings when the ship approached San Angelo shortly after 10 o'clock. He telephoned Maj. Fred Martin at Randolph field, San Antonio. Major Martin got in communication with the ship, then told Captain Freed to have a landing crew assembled. The 600 or more were gathered in about an hour.

The Akron had drifted out of sight below Christoval at 1 o'clock

Former Housekeeper Of Slain Rancher Heard

MATADOR, Texas, May 9. (AP)—Two former housekeepers for J. A. Cunningham, wealthy Motley county rancher, slain with an ax April 23, testified before a 110th district court grand jury today. The elderly rancher's last housekeeper, Mrs. Ruth McComas, is free in $10,000 bail charged with the slaying.

The investigation probably will continue through Tuesday and possibly into Wednesday, said District Attorney A. J. Folley. Lillian Shaw and Billie Moore, formerly employed in the Cunningham home, were among the five witnesses entering the grand jury room Monday. Mrs. Carroll Thompson, who lives with her husband about 100 yards from the Cunningham house, also testified.

WEST VIRGINIA AND OHIO VOTE

him. Only six Cleveland delegates, pledged to Peter Witt but favoring Alfred E. Smith, were in the field against the governor's full slate.

Governor Murray was the lone candidate for Ohio's preference vote. As in West Virginia, this does not control the choice of the delegation at the national convention.

Fifty-five and 19 delegates, respectively, were chosen in the Ohio and West Virginia Republican balloting.

President Hoover, who elected to stay off the preference lists in both states, was assured of all but four in Ohio and probably all in West Virginia. His only delegate opposition was a quartet in Ohio pledged to Joseph I. France, whom the president recently defeated in the former senator's own state of Maryland.

France competed with Jacob S. Coxey, mayor of Massillon, and Olin J. Ross, Columbus attorney, for Ohio's Republican preference. eH was the only candidate on this ballot in West Virginia.

Besides these two states, a Republican convention was called today in Tennessee to complete a delegation of 24 pledged to renomination of the president.

Silliman Evans, of Fort Worth, announced yesterday that a "Garner-for-President" headquarters would be establishel this week in Chicago by the Texas committee advancing Speaker Garner's candidacy.

Evans is publicity director of the Texas committee. He made the announcement after a conference with Representative Sam Rayburn, national representative of the committee. He said a Garner club would be formed soon in New York city "by the thousands of Texans dwelling there."

"After headquarters are established for both Texas and California delegations in one hotel in Chicago," he said, "I shall go to Texas to attend the state convention in Houston May 24. I am confident that Texas' 46 delegates will be instructed for Speaker Garner without a second choice."

progress. They are Roy Hutcheson, Calvin Benson, Clabe Sturgeon, Dennie Ikard, Bart Hudson, C. E. Potts and Jeff McMurtry.

Of the 400 hounds on hand, ready for the hunt, are 34 from Missouri, 28 from Oklahoma and nine from Louisiana. The remainder are Texas dogs. Among the packs are many famous hunters of the Southwest and nation.

Officials of the association supervising registration are Jess Carter, president; and J. W. Elliott, secretary. They expressed satisfaction with the first day's showing, and freely predicted that the convention will be among the most successful in the history of the organization.

Evangelist to Attend

The Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters association was formed 20 years ago at Tyler, Texas. Among those on hand today to see the meeting off to a start was S. D. (Uncle Pete) Reeves of Tyler, who, so far as can be determined, is the only member that has attended every meeting in the association's 20 years.

A genuine testimonial to the wide appeal of the sport of fox and wolf chasing is in the person of the Rev. B. B. Crimm, noted evangelist, who will arrive Tuesday. A worthy pack of his dogs preceded him and already are on hand, anxious for the chase.

Other events to mark the convention will be a barbecue at headquarters at noon Tuesday, and nightly old time square dances. A platform has been erected on the grounds and the first dance was held Monday night.

For the convenience of delegates and visitors all roads leading to the Ikard ranch have been graded and marked.

Area of the hunts includes 140,000 acres over 12 ranches of the county.

Fall Departs From Prison

ment papers which eliminated the phrase which provided that he should remain confined "until this fine is paid." The fine, $100,000, stands as a judgment against Fall, collectable when, and if, he gets the money.

Collection seems doubtful in view of repeated assertions by Fall that he had no money and the fact that his ranch at Three Rivers, N. M., has been claimed on a foreclosure by Doheny, who held a mortgage on the property.

Fall gave no statement on leaving the prison. Members of the family revealed, however, that when he was asked about an interview, he said:

"What do they want to know? If I had a good time while I was here?"

Fall's family physician, Dr. Roberto Brown, made an examination of him in the prison hospital this morning and reported he was able to stand the trip to El Paso.

Members of the family said Fall had been looking forward happily to his freedom. The ambulance in which Fall left the prison today was the one in which he was brought to the prison July 20 last year from his home in El Paso.

Fall spent most of his time while in prison in bed.

Murray Threatens to Name Parents Furnishing Liquor to Sons at O. U.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9. (AP)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray charged today that prominent citizens of the state have been furnishing liquor to their sons at the University of Oklahoma at Norman and participating in parties there.

Threatening to "call names and dates if they don't quit it," the governor said he would order the sons dismissed from school if the parties continue.

"We are trying in every way we can to prevent wrong at the university," the governor said. "I think the faculty is trying to do the same. The board of regents is, I know.

"Some of the most prominent citizens of Oklahoma and the alumni are not. They are going down there to take part themselves. If they don't quit it, I'll call names and dates. We can't obtain sobriety in the university when the alumni take liquor there.

"They'll have to quit it or I'll dismiss their boys from school and let them bring them to the Pauls Valley training school. They take booze to their sons and hold parties with them."

Asked if an investigation was under way at the school, Murray replied, "we are keeping in touch with it."

Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the university, said that while occasionally "we run on to some of the alumni with liquor," he had not heard of parents bringing it to the school.

"Of course," Dr. Bizzell said, "we have a little trouble with drinking. There isn't a school in the country that doesn't. The discipline committee is working on it and when they learn of a case it is taken care of promptly."

Civic Music Campaign Launched With Membership Goal of 1,000

200 Attend Dinner Opening Drive; Concerts Restricted To Those Joining New Organization

A remarkable forward step in the accomplishment of an ideal was taken when more than 200 interested lovers of music met at dinner Monday night for the inauguration of membership week in the North Texas Civic Music association. Approximately 35 out of town chairmen were present and went home with application blanks and full information, so that the headquarters in the Kemp hotel, may reach by next Saturday a goal of 1,000 members. Junior forum members distributed the literature and application blanks to the large audience.

Wichita Area Included

Mrs. J. F. Lyons of Fort Worth, who has worked in the cause of music for more than 25 years, was presented by Harry Hines, chairman of the evening. Mrs. Lyons emphasized the fact that the first thing in the creation of a Civic Music association was to create an audience. She told of the mistaken idea of selling great names in music.

"After years of struggle," Mrs. Lyons said, "it seems we are getting down to a good business method. We are putting music on a safe and sane basis; we do not spend any money until it is in the bank and there is no chance at any time for a deficit."

Mr. Hines placed a high valuation on the organization as it will include cities within a radius of 75 miles of Wichita Falls. Before presenting the representative from Chicago, he asked Walter Cline, an interested co-worker, to tell something of what he felt of music. Mr. Cline's droll description of music as he had learned it, brought enthusiasm and applause.

Mr. Cline paid W. M. McGregor, president of the North Texas Civic Music association, one of the highest compliments for his ability and leadership and stated that with Harry Hines as leader, success would be assured.

D. L. Cornetet of Chicago, loaned to Wichita Falls for the week of organization by the National Civic Music association, was presented and extended greetings from 257 cities in 47 states where Civic Music associations had been successfully put over.

Through the Civic Music association, he stated, democratic, cooperative and economical concerts were provided for a community. He said that the association was founded on the premise that good music is a factor in the development of idealism and traced the day of high priced concerts down to the present project.

Club For Concerts

The slogan of the Civic Music association," Mr. Cornetet said, "is 'Build audiences for the enjoyment of good music.'" The association, he stated, is nothing more nor less than a club which operates 51 weeks in the year; the 52nd week is that in which the membership is again opened. "The only limit for concerts is the purse of the association," he said. "You will have at least three concerts, or your money will be refunded; as many more will be given as the membership will permit."

Walter Robbins was presented before the speakers and sang "Thank God for a Garden," with Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff accompanying. An enthusiastic encore was responded to with "Bird Songs at Eventide."

He estimated the United States has 110,000 addicts.

Cancer diagnosis by microscope, in order to further radium treatments when cancer cells are weakened by dividing in growth, was described as the work of Dr. A. C. Broders of the Mayo clinic and Dr. Max Cutler of Chicago.

While the convention in the municipal auditorium is in session this week, the association will work in 15 distinct groups, and papers on varied subjects will be read almost continuously. A number of scientific exhibits and demonstrations have been prepared, from wax models to laboratory experimental set-ups.

The courtroom, usually limited to trial of cases involving less than $500, for the first time was being used for a case in which a possible verdict is $17,850,000.

Agreement Reached

George Shelley of Austin, as commissioner, is taking the testimony. He cannot rule upon it but must submit it and the objections to Judge J. D. Moore when the case comes to trial May 23 in 98th district court. To shorten this record it was agreed that when the attorney for any of the defendants objected to a question, the objection could be claimed by any or all of them without objecting also. Bernard Martin of Wichita Falls, former law partner of the attorney general, did the questioning.

To cut stenographer costs it was agreed that all documents may be made exhibits and need not be copied in the transcript.

Probably a half day's testimony was cut out when Attorney Ames announced that the company would agree that the Texas company participated in various meetings for the purpose of preparing a code that was submitted to the federal trade commission, that after it was approved by that commission the Texas company signed it, has observed it, and has urged others including competitors to observe it.

Allred accepted this statement. Holmes denied recollecting any conferences with officials of other companies prior to his appointment on a committee to draft the code.

Allred, in his petition, alleges that the code was used merely as a screen for an agreement entered into for the purpose of controlling the marketing of oil products in the United States and particularly in Texas.

Dirigible Flies Across Texas

Galveston and at 3:55 p. m. glided over Houston, and headed in a westerly direction toward San Antonio.

Hundreds waited 30 minutes and some of them more atop the city's tallest buildings to see the great craft. A Texas national guard flying squadron went out to meet her and reported, from over Houston, sighting her at 3:20 p. m. The sun was shining but there were cloud patches which made visibility from the ground rather poor.

As the ship slowly approached from suburban Harrisburg sporadic shouts went up from the watchers, some of whom called out cheers for the commander, C. E. Rosendhal, whom Texas claims as a native.

The Akron, with 80 men aboard, left Lake Hurst, N. J., yesterday to join the fleet off California.

The craft's great motors were functioning smoothly as she passed over Houston.

She was visible but for a few moments, as she headed westward toward El Paso.

The radio station of the 111th observation squadron, Texas national guard, here, in communicating with the ship, was told she was headed for San Antonio, but did not learn the detailed route she would follow.

"ACEY-DEUCEY" TOURNEY RAGES ABOARD SHIP

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Playing hide and seek with the clouds and "acey-deucey" provided merriment today for those aboard the Akron as the giant airship sped westward over the vast expanse of Texas toward California.

In an airy message radioed to the navy department here early tonight, Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl told of a tournament for the "acey-deucey" championship of "Texas at 2,000 feet."

The message, as recorded by the navy, explained the game as "a species of backgammon very popular in naval circles."

The first round in the tournament, Rosendahl reported, came off in the officer's smoking room in the forenoon.

"After leaving New Orleans," the message reported, "the Akron played hide and seek through a seemingly never-ending parade of low, huge billowly clouds that intermittently obscured both sky and surface.

"Somewhat turbulent air and opposing winds kept speed down. Just after noon passed over Lake Charles, La., and at 12:42 p. m. crossed into Texas.

"Just before reaching Beaumont at 1:15 p. m. two Texas national guard planes and several private planes flew out to greet us. Had not intended to visit Port Arthur, but on hearing an enthusiastic radio announcer there tell of the awaiting thousands, decided to swing over.

"Then proceeded smoothly along coast to beautiful city of Galveston, leaving there at 3 p. m. for Houston and then San Antonio."

CITY DENIES DAIRY ORDER

Running Water Required Only for Grade A

"Wichita Falls and the city council have nothing to do with ordering that running water be in every dairy in Wichita county," V. R. Smitham, city manager, told members of the city council at their weekly meeting Monday night.

According to Mr. Smitham, there is no actual law which requires running water to be in dairies. However, in order that milk may be classed as Grade A running water in dairies is necessary.

"There is no part of any local ordinance that requires running water, such a law does not exist," Mr. Smitham stated. "However, if there is no running water, the milk class will drop to grade B and will later be classed as grade C or D."

Mr. Smitham's statement was made in connection with a recent protest of the retail merchants association against the enforcement of the running water provision at the present time. The merchants pointed out that many farmers were unable to install such equipment due to present economic conditions.

The First National bank was selected as the city depository for a one-year period, May 1, 1932, to May 1, 1933. The bank made a bid of 2 per cent interest on daily deposits.

Blanton Explains Defeat Of Chindblom

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Representative Blanton, Texas, dry Democrat, today attributed the primary defeat of Representative Chindblom, Republican, Illinois to his signing of the Beck-Linthicum resolution for a prohibition referendum.

"It's a public calamity for Chindblom to leave this house," said Blanton, speaking on the floor. "But you caused him to come out and sign and you caused the drys to rise up and defeat him."

Then, turning directly to Chindblom, Blanton said: "You are a martyr to the cause. They noticed what happened to you and they will be more careful about signing Beck-Linthicum amendments."

Chindblom rose in his seat and answered that while he had voted for laws too drastic perhaps for enforcement, he had not been for the 18th amendment, per se, as the proper method for achiving temperance.

Chindblom added he had only been voting his life-long convictions when he supported a resolution for repeal.

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—The state department announced it had dropped Christian Gross from the diplomatic service but Christian Gross replied today that it had not.

The Chicagoan, who department officials say was absent without leave for many months from his post as second secretary of the legation at Ottowa, said he would ask Secretary Stimson to review the case as soon as he gets back from Europe.

He denied he had taken any "unauthorized absence without leave" and said he was advised the state department action was a "clear violation of the law."

Gross obtained leave months ago to go to Chicago for a court case in which he was judged the father of the youngest child of his former wife, born after their divorce. In his comment on the department announcement that he was "separated" from the service, Gross said he offered his resignation two years ago but "was persuaded to withdraw it with the assurance that the domestic situation which was developing regarding my children need not deter me from continuing my career."

Wichita Falls' Social Side :-:-: Clubs and Churches

Mrs. Sherrod Speaker For First Methodist W. M. S.

"Society is usually mild in its judgment of sin. The faults of youth are usually excused under the terms of 'wild oats' and 'young blood.' It shuts its eyes to the errors of the rich; if a man has an income of five figures, or has blue blood in his veins, or is handsome in appearance or correct in manner, though he commit half the sins in the calendar, society will welcome him to its inner circle. But to impropriety, society knows no mercy. It is strict where offenses against good form appear. In other words, let a man do what he likes in private, but let him be found out, and he is improper, he must be dropped," Mrs. Eugene Sherrod said in part, in an impressive talk given at the mission study meeting of the First Methodist Woman's Home Missionary society Monday afternoon.

Members of the society met for a continuation of the study of the textbook "Modern Women" by the Rev. W. Mackintosh Mackay, and Mrs. Sherwood gave her talk from the two chapter topics, "The Woman of the Streets," and "The Woman of No Importance."

Mrs. P. P. Langford, the director, in presenting Mrs. Sherrod, stated that the textbook lessons fit into conditions as they are today.

Lesson on Today

Speaking on "The Woman of No Importance," Mrs. Sherrod took the biblical character, Hagar, the servant of Sarah, and contrasting the poor and ungifted servant with the wealthy, handsome Sarah, Hagar was given what is termed an inferiority complex. She said that such types exist today in great numbers. When Hagar came to the very depths of despair, and had flung herself down to die, according to the Bible scripture, a voice came down from heaven, bidding her to think no longer that she was a woman of no importance. "Thou art a mother. Can any mother who truly realizes her occupation be a woman of no importance? And thou art a mother from whom is to come a mighty nation," it said.

Concluding her discourse, Mrs. Sherrod said, "We know that it is the woman who pays for the great evil of modern life, and I have wondered many times if man and woman will ever be placed on an equal footing of condemnation and of mercy, and if our modern civilization can be truly said to be permeated with the spirit of Christ, until this is done? Speaking of the woman of the street, in her wretchedness and misery she is a loud knock at the door of the self satisfied church of today. Two things she asks of the church—justice and mercy. Let us be as hard as we like on sin, we cannot be too hard, but let us remember that the sinner is one of Christ's lost sheep. One of the lambs for which he died. 'In as much as you do it unto one of these, you do it unto me,' He said."

Mrs. Langford Talks

Mrs. Langford gave the chapter topic, "The Woman of the Wounded Spirit," in an impressive manner, taking for her biblical example, the life of Naomi. She said in part, "When woman fails to bear their sorrows and disappointments, the reaction hurts her more than it does any one else."

The meeting was opened with devotional given by Mrs. J. M. Blankenship of Los Angeles, who formerly lived here, Mrs. Blankenship talked on the importance of prayerful mothers, and gave for her biblical example of the prayerful mother, Hannah, who prayed for the return of her son.

Mrs. Stanley Raub led in singing a hymn, with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano, and in the business session presided over by Mrs. Wayne Somerville, the president, plans were made for a party to be given the fifth Monday afternoon in May, as a part of the guest month program. The district conference to be held in Henrietta Wednesday was announced, also the meeting of the Federated Missionary society at the Floral Heights Methodist church Thursday afternoon.

There were 39 members and four visitors present.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We know what it is that makes mothers and fathers grow gray in 1932. It is the automobiles. We are taking no sling at automobile dealers; we realize that once a convenience is invented and is in demand, it opens a field that must be filled by alert business men—or women. (By the way, did you ever know a feminine automobile dealer?)

But in the days of old Dobbin, the family carriage or surrey wore pretty well. Carriage makers took pride in their work and their reputation. And a nice thing about a horse was the biological feature. By the time one old mare was worn out, there were two or three colts ready to take her place. Who ever heard of newborn cars?

Then when a car becomes an invalid; it is such a decrepit thing. One ill leads to another. Mechanics talk to you from the depths of their sympathetic hearts and you realize, after their admonitions, that cores and gadgets and bearings are parts liable to disease. It seems such diseases are hard to completely cure.

Of course, in a car, you go more swiftly. Sometimes we question if that is quite the benefit it seems to be. If we'd never known of cars, we would have still been content with carriages. (Don't we sound like Mahatma Gandhi? Machinery has wrecked the poor person!)

We saw a news feature at the State theater Sunday that showed a regiment of caterpillar tanks in war formation. They advanced at night by the light of flares and were an imposing array. If we should have to become a soldier at any time, we'd like to be in one of those iron clad monsters and we'd be praying they were destruction proof. But ladies, has there ever been such a thrill over caterpillar tanks that there was once over a troop of cavalry? A man who rides well is a pleasant sight. A brigade entering battle is an inspiration to patriotism. There'll never be "A Charge of the Light Tanks" written.

A lady from a neighboring town told us the other day she thought we should have at the top of our column a photograph she had just seen, for there were days when we had a foot in the grave and days when we sounded like a girl. If she had seen us Saturday, when the radiator on our family car began to act like Holmes' "One Horse Shay," she'd have believed we would never recover. The young folks in the crowd thought it was fun, but inwardly we groaned. A radiator, a thing we had never known in our extreme youth, ruined a perfect spring day for us.

But then Dobbin might have had an ailment peculiar to horses; we vaguely remember such words as "spavin" and "heaves." And being of a happy diposition, we have cheered up. Probably one thing that cheered us was a friend calling at that moment to offer us a ride to town. What care we for the changes worked by old Time, so long as friends remain friends in their hearts.

We find we are going to have to be more careful about expressing just what we think of at the moment. Only Monday morning, we were harshly sat upon for suggesting that girls of this day have not the same ideal of home and husband and children that was known in our girlhood. To know that such dreams were still sweet to youth of 1932, did us so much good, we didn't mind being "squelched." We are exactly like truth, anyhow, that "crushed to earth will rise again."

It's easy to be

A HERO NOW!

REMEMBER the number of times you've coaxed and scolded before you could get the children to take castor oil? Even husbands have sometimes had to be told they were heroes and patted on the back.

Squibb Tasteless Castor Oil brings a welcome change in those tactics. Because it's really tasteless and odorless no one minds taking it. And it's both pure and effective besides.

Keep a supply in the house, ready for the next occasion when a dose of castor oil is prescribed by the physician.

Decrease of Canadian Wheat Crop Forecast

WINNIPEG, Can., May 9. (AP)—The agricultural department of the Canadian National railways today forecast a ten per cent reduction in the acreage seeded to wheat in Western Canada this year.

The decrease was attributed to delay in seeding operations, due to cool and wet weather.

As a result, the report said, the acreage of oats and barley is expected to increase, and the total grain acreage is likely to vary little from that of 1931.

Imports of Crude Oil Advance While Domestic Production Shows Drop

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—The bureau of mines today reported that production of crude petroleum in the United States during March amounted to 67,189,000 barrels.

This was a daily average of 2,167,000 barrels, an increase of 12,000 over the daily average for February but 72,000 barrels daily below the daily output of March, 1931.

The bureau reported that production declined in practically all of the major fields in March except the East Texas fields. The daily average output of the East Texas fields rose from 312,000 barrels in February to 340,000 in March.

Stocks of crude petroleum increased 2,466,000 barrels during the month, due entirely, the bureau said, to gains in inventories of foreign crude. Stocks of domestic crude were drawn on to the extent of about 700,000 barrels.

Domestic production follows:

Crude petroleum 67,189,000 barrels compared with 62,484,000 in February and 69,397,000 in March, 1931; natural gasoline, 3,198,000 in March against 3,148,000 in February and 4,048,000 in March, 1931, and benzol, 124,000 barrels against 119,000 in February and 194,000 in March, 1931.

Imports of crude petroleum were 4,840,000 barrels in March, 4,708,000 in February and 3,715,000 in March, 1931, and imports of refined products were 4,028,000 barrels in March, 3,536,000 in February, and 4,065,000 in March, 1931.

The total demand during March was 79,400,000 barrels compared with 73,036,000 in February and 82,966,000 in March, 1931. Exports of crude petroleum totaled 2,090,000 barrels in March, 1,897,000 in February and 1,586,000 in March, 1931, and refined products exported totaled 7,051,000 barrels against 5,892,000 in February, and 7,241,000 in March, 1931. The domestic demand was 70,259,000 barrels in March, 65,247,000 in February, 74,139,000 in March, 1931.

The total of all stocks of oil in the country was 633,107,000 barrels in March compared with 633,128,000 in February and 656,833,000 in March, 1931. The stocks on hand were estimated by the bureau to be the equivalent of 247 days' supply.

PRODUCERS IN BETTER SHAPE

Gasoline Retailers Still In Slump, However

NEW YORK, May 9. (UP)—Further lifting of mid-continent crude oil which has carried prices up 70 cents a barrel from the all-time low of 22 cents last July, has placed producing oil companies in a better position than gasoline retailers, a weekly review by T. S. Hose, petroleum engineer, said today.

"Many companies in the retailing end," the review declared, "have not yet taken their licking. Properties on their books are held at fictitious values. In many towns choice corner lots for gasoline stations have been built on too elaborate a scale and an overhead established which must be charged against the product distributed."

Stockholders, Hose declared, are paying for competition among fancy stations, and "until liquidation has finished in this branch of the industry earnings cannot possibly show as advantageously as they can in the production branch where liquidation has been virtually completed."

STATE CUTS PANHANDLE GAS

Big Field's Production to Be Restricted

AUSTIN, May 9. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission issued an order today designed to restrict production of gas in the Panhandle field to the extent of saving an estimated 150,000,000 cubic feet daily, in Moore, Potter, Hutchinson, Gray, Carson and Wheeler counties.

The commission also ordered a reduction in the oil allowable in the Howard-Glasscock field of West Texas from 26,000 barrels daily to 22,000 barrels, effective May 15.

Howard-Glasscock field rules were changed, the area having been divided into zones, a part of it to be regulated on a potential basis and the other under a combination acreage and potential arrangement.

The Panhandle gas field order was based on testimony taken by the commission at Pampa on Feb. 15 last. New rules adopted for the field, effective May 15, include a regulation that no well shall make more than 25 per cent of its production in any 24 hours. The gas allowable at this time is 50 per cent of the daily potential production. The new orders also provide that not more than 10,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil shall be used in the operation of gas lift.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WILLIAM R. CASTLE

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The only thing Speaker Jack Garner had to say about his resounding presidential primary victory in California was that the size of the total Democratic vote cast was "significant."

And it was. It was the biggest democratic vote of the sort cast in the state in many a long day.

But what does that actually signify in view of the fact that an even bigger confidence vote for President Hoover was piled up by the Republicans without the benefit of any contest at all to call out the faithful?

On the Democratic side every party big gun in the state and some imported marksmen were firing in the three-way Garner-Roosevelt-Smith battle won so handsomely by "Texas Jack."

On the Republican side party orators could talk only about loyalty to "the chief" and things like that. Yet they delivered the goods at the polls.

Forewarned, Perhaps

It seems probable that the national and state Republican organizations had an eye on what happened in North Dakota and Wisconsin, where the drift of Republicans into the Democratic primary fold was so clearly indicated in results.

Suppose the same thing had happened in California, Mr. Hoover's own state; or even that California Republicans had exhibited apathy about his renomination by turning out to the primaries in small numbers while the Democratic row there was bringing an extraordinary vote.

It would have been a sort of passive rebuff to Mr. Hoover, who was to get California support anyhow without contest.

The state Republican machinery got busy and seems to have made a good job of it. However significant Mr. Garner may feel the total Democratic primary vote to be, the state appears still to be a long way from going Democratic at election time.

Mr. Castle's Plank

Incidentally, Undersecretary Castle, long time personal friend and Washington neighbor of Mr. Hoover and now second in command at the state department, has just about written a plank on Hoover foreign policy for the party platform.

His speech in Washigton on what he termed "the Hoover doctrine" of putting teeth in the Kellogg-Briand antiwar pact without risking war, had a very authoritative sound to it.

Secretary Stimson's notes to Japan and China declaring American policy of non-recognition of any political changes in Manchuria procured by force were cited as having carried out an idea of centering American policy about the antiwar pact on which, Mr. Castle said, "the president has been determined ever since he took office."

That rather excludes Mr. Stimson from any very active share in making the policy. Also, it is enunciated as a "Hoover doctrine" by Mr. Castle in Mr. Stimson's absence from the country. Yet it sounds like a pre-draft of a Republican platform plank to come.

Robbery Defendant Shot by Assassins

NEW YORK, May 9. (INS)—With four assassins' bullets in his body, Arthur Esposito, who with two others was to be tried shortly on charges of robbing a hotel cashier, was in a serious condition in a hospital today.

He was taken for a "ride" by several men who, police believed, feared Esposito would turn state's evidence at the coming trial.

Esposito was forced to enter the executioners' car and later was released and told to run away.

As he ran, the gunmen fired at him, then sped off.

Arithmetic in the Schools

IF ANY school children could have heard Dr. Robert K. Spear of New York university deliver a little speech the other night, they would have decided that they were listening to a doctrine almost too good to be true.

Dr. Speer, to the surprise of all, declared that at least 85 per cent of the arithmetic taught to school children nowadays is dead wood and might as well be abandoned. Teaching children how to extract cube roots and how to handle complex fractions, he believes, is a waste of time; and he said:

"If we teach all the children the arithmetic necessary in the following actions—buying at a store, making change, reading, writing letters and traveling—we will have covered a large percentage of their total use of arithmetic."

This is all true enough. The youngster who ever has to use the more complicated arithmetical exercises, after he is out in the world, is the exception. Most of us can go through life quite happily without that sort of knowledge.

But this very quickly brings us up against that perennial problem of the schoolmaster; is the pupil to be taught only those things which will be of direct benefit to him later in life, or is he to be put through a stiff course of sprouts with the idea that the mental discipline involved is going to make his mind more capable?

During the last decade or two the tendency in this country has been to emphasize the strictly ulitarian side. Latin, Greek and higher mathematics are declining, to be replaced by courses in economics and business administration; if the school boy is to get less arithmetic, that will only be in line with the current trend.

But there is a lot to be said for the "mental discipline" idea. After all, one of the prime objects of any educational system is to teach pupils how to use their gray matter to the best advantage; and if sweating away at the intricacies of cube root or Caesar's Commentaries helps do that, the job may not be quite as useless as it looks.

A Real Hero

RISKING one's life in a brief and gallant gesture isn't half as hard as being consistently brave over a period of weeks. Perhaps this is why an unknown 12-year-old Eskimo boy is being acclaimed a hero today.

Not very long ago a sledge pulled into Wagner Inlet. Harnessed to it were two dogs and a sturdy, tired little boy. For weeks and weeks—so many he didn't try to remember them—the boy had pulled with the dogs. Under the blankets on the sled were a 3-year-old boy and a woman who was dangerously ill.

The story the group told was very simple. When the Eskimo family had been left destitute at the death of the father, the boy had gone into the forests, hunting game and fish. One day he had too much meat for the dogs to pull. He fitted a harness to his own shoulders and helped to drag the provisions home. It was hard work. But he didn't complain. His mother, who had been ill when he left, was much worse. There was nothing to do but take his place with the dogs again and start on the 160-mile trip to the place where the nearest doctor had an office. For the last three days of the drive he had no food.

The boy didn't ask for any praise. His mother would live, he was told. That was enough reward for him.

The modesty of the lad, the fact that he did something brave merely because it was his duty, have attracted attention to him. It reminds us that the spectacular feat isn't necessarily the courageous one. It isn't so hard to rise to heights when the banners wave and the bands play. But to push through the northland, pulling with the dogs, racing against death, with nobody to know or care if you make it or if you don't—that requires stamina.

It is quite in keeping with the episode that the name of the youngster is not known. He wouldn't want it to be.

The 'College' Salesman

ONE of the major pests of the housewife's life during the summer months is the peripatetic salesman who goes about from door to door peddling magazine subscriptions, gadgets and whatnot in order to "win a scholarship." Sometimes he is really a college student and sometimes he isn't. either way, he is usually an unmitigated nuisance.

It is comforting, therefore, to notice that 27 eastern colleges and universities have gone on record as opposed to this practice and have announced that they will try to stop it.

The chief trouble with this kind of salesmanship is not so much that the salesman is a nuisance, however, as that he takes the wrong attitude in trying to sell his goods. He doesn't try to sell them on their merits; instead, he seeks to arouse sympathy for himself. In many cases he gets fairly close to the attitude of the regular panhandler. He gives himself, thus, a very bad training for his future career.

SO THEY SAY!

The United States should beware in building a militaristic machine. To do so is to combine the rest of the world against us immediately on the ground of fear.—Frederick J. Libby, secretary, National Council for Prevention of War.

(During illness of Mr. Winchell this column is being conducted by Paul Yawitz)

Portrait of Another Young Man Talking to Himself!

It will break Morrie Ryskind's heart...And it's one of those fine, sensitive hearts you find only in story books...I mean that proposed plagarism suit against him, George S. Kaufman and Ira and George Gershwin, the Pulitzer Prize Play contrivers, and the producers of "Of Thee I Sing"...The very suggestion of doubt of their originality is a bit incongruous...There should be a law against putting fellows like Morrie on the spot...I remember 10 years back when we worked side by side in Wm. Fox's press department...we felt a little ashamed then of our work...We were doing the cackling while the mil-yn dollar eggs were being laid by Bill Farnum, Theda Bara, Tom Mix and the rest of Mr. Fox's puppets...We were both too young to know anything about compromise...Or about the necessity of starting at the bottom...I had just arrived on Ballyhoo Blvd and Morrie was just out of Columbia...Out is the word...As editor of the Spectator, he opposed war...And said so one day in bold Front Page type...Those were dangerous days to oppose preparedness...The 72-point headlines vibrated in the hands of Nicholas M. Butler, and Morrie vibrated out of college.

Morrie didn't care about the degree, but he did care about finishing something he had started...He made good as a press agent, but he never made too good at it...He wasn't exactly happy singing the other man's praises when he felt the creative urge being stifled within himself...He found it difficult to write flamboyant eulogies of half wit screemie celebrities...But when Ben Schulberg hired him to give Clara Bow the build-up, he accepted the job out of necessity...Clara was a little Brooklyn lass with the average intelligence of the flapper of the day...Sudden contracts had overwhelmed her and she wasn't quite sure of her step...Morrie took me along the day he introduced her to Louella Parsons for her first interview...Clara suggested the Ritz for lunch, but Morrie led the way to a chow meinery...The less pretentious setting was best for the little girl who was destined to become the nation's "It"...Clara became famous as a result of her earliest Chinese luncheon meetings with the movie writers...The informality won sympathy...It was Morrie's contriving...But every time he did a great publicity job, he felt unhappier..."I've got to get somewhere myself," he'd say.

Well, Morrie finally did get somewhere...He wrote songs and plays...And each was better than the last...They called him in to doctor feeble shows, and each time he refused to have his name placed with the author's..."I only revised it; I didn't write it," was the alibi of the present Pulitzer Prize winner...Then there was the time that Frank Case, prop. of the Algonquin Hotel where the famous Round Table met each noon, objected to some of Morrie's table companions...There was no compromise for that situation!...And Morrie walked out...And took a lot of sentiment with him...The fact that Cahe had not expressed himself clearly and that he regretted his impulsiveness with a public apology meant nothing to Morrie...There was no compromise here despite the fact that giving up the Algonquin conferences put him back a few years...To this day Morrie has not stepped in its doors...Recently when he was called to inject himself into the manuscript of "Blessed Event," he worked for six weeks...But Morrie's name does not appear as co-author...He didn't want it, and even if none of his material remains in the present script, there is no question about the influence he exerted on its final form...Somehow, it is impossible to link such a man with plagiarism...Or even to stamp him and his collaborators as idea-thieves...And if the whole suit is a publicity stunt to gather attention to a new production, I think it is contemptible and snide...You can't batter at ideals with cement-lined boxing gloves.

It's very funny about "Blessed Event"...Manny Seff and Forrest Wilson are the authors...And the theme is an expose of how a gossiping columnist operates...The hero is a blow-getting news gatherer who startles the breakfasters each morning with fresh items hot off Broadway's boudoir...He scurries, scoots and edges into, out of, and around every corner of the town's by-ways...He knows all sees all and tells all...Last night I stopped into Mr. Seff's apartment for 20 minutes of backgambling...It was 3 in the dawning when I finally became resigned to my losses...And excused myself because I had to fare forth in search of torrid news...But the Man Who Knows Columnists and takes royalties from the plays he writes about them was puzzled..."At this hour," he asked quizzically, "Where will you go to get material?"

The most amusing sign is on the Worcester, Mass., road reading: Lo Irish, Contractor...You can't exactly blame Wm. Fox...They tell me he and his wife cried in Palm Springs the other evening when they were shown the talky version of "Over the Hill"...The original film was the X-producer's own idea...And he lost many nights' sleep plotting its details...When it finally was completed and shown to the assembled sales mgrs., even the most talented yes-men among them advised its scrapping..."It'll only hurt the rest of our product"...But Fox was adamant and the film was released"It netted $3,000,000 in profits the first yr....And is still being circulated in isolated houses in the Far East...This money became the real basis for the present Fox Film Corp....And for the producer's own wealth...Somehow the addition of voice and the re-taking of all the scenes is blasphemy to a sentimentalist...And I don't blame him...That papier mache dummy that writes ad legends on a blackboard in the doughnut shop on 45th St. and Broadway has puzzled the curious for over a week...But Bill Vallee, Rudy's brother, wouldn't leave the spot until he had figured it out...So he went inside, ordered 12 portions of pastry and milk, and finally slid under the railing next to the contraption...And Bill discovered it was all a fake...A man was operating the dummy's hand via telautograph...I'm glad that's settled; it had me losing sleep.

It's great to hear a reverse-depression story...Instead of cutting salaries, the A. & P. stores are ready to announce a general increase...Having grossed $1,008,000,000 during the past fizz-cal year...That's irony with a capital I...I mean the story about the Westchester couple who were interrupted during their asphyxiation-pact by a knock at the door...It was the gas bill collector...He promptly sized up the situation and had the pair arrested...But the charge was not attempted suicide...They were held for willful intent to defraud the company by escaping a long overdue bill.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

AN EMPIRE FOR A BUTTERFLY — Early in 1802 the French ship Le Naturaliste loaded in the bay on which Melbourne, Victoria, is situated today. Captain Hamelin pronounced the formal annexation of the territory (now the state of Victoria) to France under the name of Terre Napoleon (Napoleonland), while the bay was named Josephine bay. The French expedition thus stole a march on the English who had sailed for the same purpose from Sydney a few weeks before. When the English sloop Investigator, under Captain Flinders, arrived at its destination (West Port) a few days later, the British found that the French ship had temoprarily departed for the purpose of hunting an Australian butterfly (Priamus Hamelinus). The Frenchman returned a few days later but found the English already firmly in possession. An absence of a few days and the beautiful butterfly I drew cost France a territory more than 87,000 square miles in area, constituting the extremely rich state of Victoria in the commonwealth of Australia today. An empire for a butterfly is one of the strangest items in the history of the British empire in its formative stages.

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA-BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

CHAPTER XLIX

Barry Carlton looked across the red-checkered tablecloth at Lillian and said: "You're not the usual pattern." His eyes held admiration.

"What's the usual pattern?"

"Oh, Newport languor, Broadway pepper or—"

"Or?"

"Park avenue stupidity."

"I'm glad you brought me here," Lillian turned her eyes from him. "I've never been in one of these before." She glanced about the room, with its high ivory walls and spacious ceiling, which formed a gilded bowl, inverted. A fascinating figure of a Polish dancing girl silhouetted the wall in front of them. The figure was a bright blue. At one end of the room was a small bar, flanked with mirrors and pyramids of crystal glasses. The stools about the bar and the bar itself were the exact shade of lobsters, piles of lobsters.

"Never been in a speakeasy before!" Barry Carlton was sincere in his surprise.

Lillian shook her head.

"Found—a museum object. That's you!"

"But its charming!"

"Yes, isn't it?" agreed Barry, holding up his cocktail. "So, here's to dear old prohibition."

"Prohibition? What is that? Sounds familiar."

"Really?"

"Prohibition, Prohibition—doesn't one spell the word with a capital?"

"I really wouldn't be an authority, you know."

"Pardon, sir," she said.

"Yes. One does whisper the word, though, for fear small children might hear and dash home to ask their fathers?"

"And if their fathers were policemen they wouldn't know."

"Oh, speaking of speakeasies. That started this, didn't it?" asked Lillian, between bites of deliciously baked chicken.

"So many things start in speakeasies," Barry informed her with a smile, "but don't ask me where they finish."

"I'll try to remember," answered Lillian. "But—let's see, now. A speakeasy is the child of prohibition."

"Prohibition is the little speaks' mother and Uncle Sam's the little speaks' father. There you are."

"There we are."

"Now that we've settled the ancestry of the place, let's find out about the girl, Lillian Blane. Never in a long time, well, if ever have I met a girl like Lillian Blane."

Lillian appeared to give her attention to a curled piece of thin toast, which she carefully spread with butter.

"Just who are you?" he asked.

"I haven't asked you anything so personal, sir!" But she flashed him a smile.

"Oh, I say. You're punishing me."

"You don't deserve it?"

"Why did you insist that we sit at at table without a light?" he countered. "I can't see you very plainly. Of course, I know your eyes are brown and your hair is, too, and your teeth are like Norma Talmadge's. But—"

"I'm not dressed in my best bib and tucker, I told you."

"Oh, that! Bother!"

"What time is it?" she reached her fingers over to his sleeve and pushed it up enough to reveal the face of his wrist watch.

He captured her hand.

"Don't keep remembering the time. This is no place to care about what time it is. You can't find a clock or a calendar in the whole place."

"But, I told you I had to be away a little before nine."

"That's the only thing you've told me I've tried to forget."

"You mustn't let me forget and do let me see your watch."

He still held her hand.

"Let me see your eyes—"

He pulled her toward him a little more.

"I wonder. Are you the girl—"

He dropped her hand.

"I wonder—"

"That mother met in Paris or somewhere. Are you staying with us?" he brightened with that question.

Lillian's heart beat furiously. She didn't know just what to tell.

"You mean, am I one of those boresome house guests one's mother has and has to bribe one to take places and treat politely?" Lillian's smile was contagious.

"You'd be the exception to all rules—if you were staying with us—I wonder if you're why she wanted to see me all day."

"Perhaps."

"Locked my door. Thought she wanted to remind me of some new ways to behave when coming home when the milk man was leaving or something."

"Suppose she's found any new modes of behavior?" smiled Lillián.

"No doubt."

"I've got to dash," holding out her hand in farewell, "forgive me, won't you?" She made a motion to rise.

"Forgive you? No—a thousand times no!" He caught her hand and forced her back into her chair.

"But you must!"

"If I must—I'll take you where ever you're going. Yes, I will. You haven't any reasons good enough to discourage me."

"No—please don't insist."

"I do insist," he was determined. And within a few seconds he summoned a waiter, paid the check and was striding out to his car, with Lillian by his side.

What could she do? It was 10 minutes to 9!

He opened the door of his car and attempted to help Lillian in.

"No," she balked. "I'll just take a cab. Please!"

His eyes sought hers and his fingers tightened about her arm.

He shook his head slowly, his face bending down near hers.

"You don't want to—to see me any more, then?"

The amusement she liked to see in his gray eyes was seriousness. She had to turn her eyes away from him, quickly. He might read them.

She wanted to see him again—more than anything she ever had wanted in her life.

She wanted to say: "You're the reason I came to New York. I know now. I wanted to find you . . . I never wanted a job . . . I wanted you . . . your love!"

But he was her job! She was tempted to say, "You're my life's work!"

His fingers tightened and wrapped about her arm, as if they never would let her go.

There was a light within a few feet of where they stood on the curb. It's shadow fell provokingly, temptingly across Lillian's face, kindly covering the ardor of her eyes and baring soft curves of her mouth.

The circle of light was as shielding as an island—an island for only two, one woman, one man. Both possessed of each other.

The folds of his overcoat opened, as his arms opened, and enfolded Lillian, holding her against the warm tweed body of Barry.

Lillian had no power to draw away, run. She was helpless, but deliriously happy.

That was a second she always would cherish. It would never become dim. It was a bright, precious jewel.

She knew he was going to kiss her, but she was powerless to postpone the rapture.

He was to wrap his arms about her, bend her back, far back and find her lips—

Her job was to make him forget another girl. He was making her forget everything—except that he held her.

And then she closed her eyes and Barry Carlton kissed her.

Murray Crosses State Line But Burns Was Napping

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9. (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns, whose movements as acting governor don't suit Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, was chief executive of Oklahoma for a few minutes yesterday but didn't know it.

Murray revealed today he had slipped across the Red river free bridge—scene of his bloodless "war" last summer—into Denison, Texas, after he had missed an appointment on the bridge with a prominent Texan. He did not disclose his mission.

The governor recently rushed home from a presidential speaking tour in Oregon when Burns issued some orders that dissatisfied him. Since then he has made a secret trip to speak in Amarillo, Texas.

Senator Howell Deplores Low Price of Sheep

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska, told the senate today that sheep are selling as low as 10 cents a head.

"That's a peek at the agricultural situation," he said, demanding legislation to raise the price of farm commodities.

Howell introduced a resolution to call on the agriculture committee to report immediately "a measure or measures for the purpose of the constructive rehabilitation of agriculture."

Q.—Which state has had prohibition for the longest time consistently?—M. S. R.

A.—Kansas was the first state to have statutory prohibition which has not been repealed since that time. This was passed in 1881. Maine was first to pass a statute prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks. This was passed in 1846, amended in 1851, and repealed in 1856.

Q.—Why do so many modern art galleries have no windows?—B. W.

A.—Daylight is variable, changing in quality and intensity according to the weather and, from minute to minute, according to the advance of the sun. Oil paintings, because of their high lights and tones can be seen to advantage only under a steady light and an artificial light alone can be made steady. Inasmuch as artificial light must be used anyway, there is no occasion for windows.

Q.—How did the fowl get the name of turkey?—M. M.

A.—It is one of the common mistakes in popular nomenclature which creep into a language due to a misconception about the animal in question. This bird was originally called a turk because it was thought that it originated in that country just as Columbus called the natives of the West Indies Indians because he thought he had reached India. The name is misleading but it stuck and became popular.

Q.—What does a newspaper refer to when it says that the United States bombed Nanking, China, four years ago?—I. L. F.

A.—It refers to the difficulties caused by the capture of Nanking by the Nationalists in March, 1927. Seven American citizens were killed. The Nationalist government blamed reactionaries and counter-revolutionaries.

Q.—Is the Church of God which broadcasts over WJSV a white or negro church?—X. N.

SPUDDERS DEFEAT PANTHERS IN FIRST NIGHT GAME, 6 TO 1

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Gardner as an Umpire

J. Alvin Gardner, Texas league president, "turned umpire" in the Galveston-Dallas night game at Dallas last Friday night when an argument arose, and the decision that finally resulted from his conference with Managers Happ Morse and Del Pratt was quite mystifying.

Press association accounts of what actually happened in the Dallas game were not very clear. William E. Huff, former Spudder president, obtained an account of the play from a friend, Harry McLaughlin, and we pass on the story.

What mystified everybody here was that Bonura was called out for passing Radcliff on the base paths, although Bonura never passed second base, while Radcliff was heading for third!

Well, here is how it came about, according to our informant:

One man was out, Bonura was on first and Radcliff was on second. Loepp hit an infield fly. McGhee, Galveston first baseman, got under it. McGhee dropped the ball, so Bonura tore out for second and Radcliff headed for third. McGhee recovered the ball and pegged to second. The Galveston second baseman did not tag Bonura out, but merely stepped on the bag, as if the play were an ordinary force-out. In the case of an infield fly, however, a base runner advances at his own risk and if he's put out, he must be tagged out. Umpire Galloway ruled differently, holding Bonura out at second base.

According to our informant, nobody immediately protested, and as Bonura's alleged out was the third, the Dallas team started for its dugout.

And as the boys walked toward their dugout, located along the third base line, Bonura passed Radcliff, who naturally was loafing along the base paths as he believed the side had been retired.

So that accounts for the weird decision that received Prexy Gardner's approval: that Loepp was out on an infield fly for the second out, and that Bonura was out, not at second base on McGhee's throw, but because he passed Radcliff on the base paths.

Technically, Gardner was right, for since Galloway had made the wrong ruling in calling Bonura out at second, there were only two men out and the ball was still in play.

The Wichitan who was an eye witness said there was considerable confusion after Galloway's decision, that everybody knew something was wrong but nobody could discover just what it was. In such a case, it takes a lot of shrewdness in reaching a decision. Whoever finally discovered that Bonura had passed Radcliff as the boys were leaving the field was shrewd enough, all right! If this story reflects accurately what happened, it was one of the oddest situations to develop in a Texas league game in years.

Longview Spreads Net for Franchise In Texas League

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 9. (AP)—Negotiations were started at a conference here today towards the possible procurement of a Texas league baseball franchise for Longview.

Those at the conference said they had learned owners of an unnamed Texas league team were considering moving their franchise. "They have requested a new park and playing field be built and the local chamber of commerce has agreed to comply with this requirement," the conferees said. "A representative from the team will be in Longview Wednesday to discuss final transfer of the club, which is now on the road."

Longview made an unsuccessful bid for the Shreveport franchise after the Sports' park burned. The Sports' home games were transferred to Tyler.

Conferees said they were informed today the Texas league was anxious to place teams in this densely populated oil area. Last Friday, with rain threatening and on one day's notice, a crowd of 2,000 attended a contest between the Shreveport and San Antonio teams here.

Vernon Sweeps Tennis Matches With Byers

VERNON, Texas, May 9.—Opening the inter-city tennis league play for the 1932 season, Vernon's net team blasted Byers on the McLarty court here Sunday, taking three matches to none for the invading team. The Byers netters failed to take a set from the Vernon racqueteers. Vernon, with Wichita Falls, is favored to cop the league honors.

In the No. 1 singles match, Charles Lutz, captain of the Vernon club, defeated Herman Allen of Byers, 9-7, 6-4. The Vernon leader failed to display his usual form. Jimmy Lutz beat Oran Liggett, 7-5, 6-0, for the Vernon win in the No. 2 singles match.

In the doubles encounter, Robert Petty and Russell Townsend of Vernon came back after dropping the first three games to defeat Bill Stanley and Delbert Lyon, 6-4, 6-0.

Abe Morris to Battle Dude Chick on Mat

Abe Morris, the big Hebrew wrestler from Seattle, Wash., who substituted here some time ago for Red Lyons in a match against Juan Humberto, will be back in Wichita Falls again this week with Dude Chick as an opponent, according to Promoter Whitey Govro.

The semifinal of the match will bring together Kid Murdock, popular Dallas boy, against Fred Kuffer, of Portland. Murdock lost a tough decision to Paul Orth last week. Kuffer is a stranger in Wichita Falls.

WOMEN TRY LACROSSE

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., May 9. (AP)—Lacrosse for women has been instituted at the College of William and Mary as a minor sport. About 25 girl students answered the first call for practice.

WHITE BESTS LIL STONER

Squeeze Play Put Over By Hank's Boys Twice

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, May 9.—Lester White was in rare form here tonight to pitch the Wichita Falls Spudders to a 6-1 victory over the Fort Worth Panthers, their third consecutive defeat. Lil Stoner worked for Fort Worth and wildness in the early innings gave the Spudders a lead the Panthers were never able to overcome. Twice Wichita Falls worked the double steal to score runs.

Spudders Take Lead

Garms sent the Spudders off to a one-run lead in the first inning. He opened with a single to center, stole second and went to third on Bejma's sacrifice, scoring on Badgro's infield out after Fuss had walked. Stoner issued a free ticket to green, but the scoring hand ended. Moore tied the score with a double to left, moving on to third on a sacrifice and scoring on Gribble's infield out.

However, the Spudders moved back into the lead in the second when Euller tripled to deep center and scored when Gribble's throw to Engle waiting to relay the ball was bad. The Cats sent up three flies.

Double Steal Executed

A double steal gave Wichita Falls another tally in the third inning. Fuss singled to center, but was forced at second by Badgro, who raced to third on Green's single to left. On a double steal, Badgro scored and Green pulled up at second, where he remained. Again the Cats went out in order.

Although Stoner hit Scharein who later stole second, to start the fourth, he escaped without a run. Scharein went to third on Euller's infield out, but stayed there as White struck out and Hooks handled Garms' grounder. The Cat efforts were handled by Badgro and Garms.

Fuss waisted a hit for the Spudders in the fifth, while Baker did likewise for the Panthers, when he fell victim of Engle's double play ball.

A walk by Euller and Krauss' single to right were the only offensive moves made in the sixth, while Jeanes' double against the center field fence was the only effort in the seventh. It came after one was down, but third which he gained on Hooks' infield out was as far as he reached.

More Tallies

After four scoreless innings, the Spudders came back in the eighth with four hits and a double steal for three runs. Green began the process with a single to left and went to third on Owens' double to left. He scored on Scharein's hit to short, with Owens going to third. Then, Owens and Scharein worked the double steal, with the former scoring, and the latter going to second. White brought Scharein home with a single to left, and went to second when Jeanes let the ball get through him. However, Hooks handled Garms' grounder.

After Engle and Krauss had gone out in the Cats' half, Steicke, batting for Stoner, fanned. Clarence Pickrell faced the Spudders in the ninth and Bejma greeted him with a double to left but he was caught off second by Krauss. Fuss walked, but was caught stealing. Badgro popped out.

Moore got his second double with the start of the home half. Garms made a nice catch of Wingfield's short fly to left center. Gribble walked. Jeanes ended it with a double play grounder to Euller.

Tonight's battle marked the first appearance of the Spudders in a night game. Tuesday's night game will start at 8 p. m.

GOOD BOY, ROBBY!

GALVESTON, Texas, May 9. (AP)—In a turbulent seventh inning in which Manager Robertson of San Antonio was chased from the park for thumbing his nose at the umpire, and Pitcher Darrow of Galveston hit two men with pitched balls, the San Antonio Indians scored four runs to beat the Buccaneers, 4 to 1, in the opening game of a long home stay here tonight.

Robertson was arguing with Ziggy Sears over a close play at second, when the chasing act took place. Flinn pitched a steady game for the Indians, allowing only four hits.

Before the game started Manager Del Pratt of the Buccaneers announced that he had released Gene Rye, outfielder, outright. Rye has not been hitting this spring.

A crowd of nearly 3,000 witnessed the game. Score:

DALLAS STAR TURNS IN 81

Mrs. Fisk and Mrs. Rochon Both Shoot 89

By BILL PARKER

FORT WORTH, May 9. (AP)—Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas proved conclusively today that she is one of the finest medal players in Texas when she won the 18-hole qualifying round of the 16th annual Woman's Golf association tournament with a card of 42-39—81 over the difficult par 73 River Crest Country club course. Her 81 was the lowest qualifying score ever made in the state association tournament.

It made the second consecutive year Mrs. Chandler walked away as medalist. Last year at San Antonio she toured the water-soaked country club course with a 44-42—86 to lead the field.

Miss Aneila Gorczyca, the brilliant sharp shooting Fort Worth city champion, blistered the front nine in 40 and was favored as medalist but went to pieces on the back nine to take a 44, giving her an 84.

GALVESTON GETS 1933 TOURNEY

FORT WORTH, May 9. (AP)—Galveston was selected today as the scene of the 1933 Texas Woman's Golf association state tournament at a meeting of the executive committee and members. No officers were elected.

Wichitans Shoot 89s

Mrs. R. R. Fisk, defending champion from the Wichita Falls Country club, qualified for the championship flight with a 44-45—89. It was eight strokes better than her qualifying score last year of 50-47—97.

Mrs. F. C. Rochon, Texas municipal champion but now playing from the Wichita Falls Country club played consistent golf to qualify with 45-44—89.

Only five players, Mrs. Chandler, Miss Goczyca, Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth, Mrs. Fisk and Mrs. Rochon, broke 90 today.

Swatfest Staged

There was a swatfest between six century shooters for three places in the championship flight. They were Mrs. L. C. Chapman of San Antonio; Mrs. W. E. Looney of Dallas; Mrs. H. M. Collins of Fort Worth; Mrs. O. R. Armstrong of El Paso; Mrs. Harry Croft of Dallas, and Mrs. George Thompson of Fort Worth. Winners for these three places were victorious on the first hole of the swatfest, something unusual. They were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Croft and Mrs. Chapman. They won a trio of fives.

Match competition in all flights will start tomorrow morning with one match each day until the finals Saturday, when 36 holes will be played.

Qualifying scores included:

Mrs. R. R. Fisk, Wichita Falls	44-45—89

Saint Jo Holds Second Place With Bulcher Win

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, May 9.—Saint Jo strengthened its hold on second place Sunday afternoon when they defeated Bulcher 9-0. Dutch Phillips allowed the Oilers only two hits and walked only one man and only one man saw third base. Saint Jo pounded Williams and Glidewell for 13 hits which produced nine runs. Despite the difference in the score, the game was hard fought. Two singles followed by two doubles by Elder and L. Phillips caused O. Williams to be sent to the showers in the fifth. Glidewell who followed Williams on the mound for Bulcher was hit equally as hard but never allowed more than two runs an inning.

Spanish Fort downed Montague 7-4 to hold their place as league leaders. Nocona forfeited to Caps Corner by not appearing for their game. It is rumored that Nocona will withdraw from the league.

Montague comes to Saint Jo for a double-header next Sunday.

Lloyd Brown Of Senators Blanks Cleveland, 3 to 0

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Lloyd Brown held the Cleveland Indians to four hits today while his teammates pounded out six off of Wesley Ferrell to give the Washington Senators a 3 to 0 victory over the Tribe in their first encounter of the season.

The victory placed Washington three full games ahead of New York in the league standing. Only a handful of spectators, muffled in top coats, saw the game, which was the only one today in the American league. All others had been called off because of bad weather.

Brown helped to put the winning run across the plate. With three men on in the seventh, he drove a hard grounder to Cissell, back of first. Cissell nailed Brown at first, but Reynolds was across the plate with the winning run.

The Indians never threatened seriously, their hits being well scattered. Score:

Knothe's Single in 12th Gives Braves 6-5 Victory Over Pirates

PITTSBURGH, May 9. (AP)—Two runners crossed the plate when Fritz Knothe whacked a long single through the gray mists in the 12th inning today and the Boston Braves took the first game of the series from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 5.

A short time later the same peppy third baseman ended the game by throwing out Traynor after the Bucs had scored a run and had filled the bases.

"Huck" Betts, opposed Larry French at the start, but Betts was hit hard and Frankhouse was called from the bull pen in the sixth. The latter hurled brilliantly up to the 12th, when he was removed for the veteran Tom Zachary, who pitched to only one man. Cantwell finished the game.

French hurled a steady game but his support was poor in spots.

The Braves were out-hit, 10 to 12, but for the most part they made their safeties count.

Maranville started the rally that won with a single. Hargrave hit for two bases and Knothe slashed out his third hit of the afternoon to register the winning runs. Score:

Spudder Inifelder Hurt in Fall During Shipper Game

Harry Green, Spudder first baseman, sustained a painful injury in last Saturday's game here with the Beaumont Exporters, it was learned Monday.

In making a catch of a pop fly from a Shipper bat Green fell near the box and sprained ligaments in his shoulder. He finished the game but was under medical treatment late Saturday and Sunday.

REDS 4, PHILS 3

CINCINNATI, May 9. (AP)—A ninth-inning rally gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4 to 3 victory today in the season's first tussle with the Phillies. It was Cincinnati's fifth straight victory. Making it notable again was Ernest Lombardi, ball crashing catcher, who hit a triple and a home run. Until the ninth, he and Chick Hafey with two each, had recorded all Cincinnati's hits.

Their triples in the second helped the Reds to two runs.

Lombardi's homer on the first ball pitched to him in the seventh put the Reds ahead. Lee's homer in the first half of the ninth evened matters and it took Gilbert's single after Herman's double, Lombardi's walk, and Hafey's bunt to end the game.

The victory put the Reds in third place in the league standings. Score:

RIVER LEAGUE UNDERDOGS WIN

Crowell Plasters First Loss On Vernon

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, May 9.—Upsets featured play in the Red River Valley Baseball league Sunday afternoon as the underdogs in every contest came through to topple the favorites. The upshot was, Oklaunion went into a tie with Vernon for the league leadership.

Crowell Downs Vernon

Crowell's slugging outfit literally swamped the league-leading Vernon crew with a 14-1 victory. It was the first game Vernon had lost this season. At Frederick, Oklaunion downed the Sooner delegation, 12-7, and advanced into a tie as Vernon dropped from the perfect percentage. Tipton's highly-regarded club went into a tailspin at Chillicothe, with the Cubs winning, 12-5 and it was reported Quanah dropped the game to the Electra Oilers at Quanah by a 10-5 count.

Dink Russell, veteran star of the Crowell mound staff, was in rare form here Sunday, holding the Vernon club scoreless for eight innings, and allowing but seven hits. The Foard county aggregation meanwhile was pounding Lee Williams and Lankford for 16 hits and 14 runs for the most thorough trouncing any team has experienced in league play to date this season.

The Big Inning

Crowell's biggest inning was the sixth, when the visitors drove Williams from the box and kept up the onslaught on Lankford.

At Frederick, Oklaunion's Cardinals pounded every hurler the Sooners placed on the mound to win an easy 12-7 victory.

Chillicothe blasted Simpson, Rye and Waldrop, Tipton's three-hurler staff, for a 12-5 win as Johnson held the invaders in check.

The standing:

Clubs—	W.	L.	Pct.
Vernon	3	1	.750
Oklaunion	3	1	.750
Frederick	2	2	.500
Crowell	2	2	.500
Tipton	2	2	.500
Chillicothe	2	2	.500
Quanah	1	3	.250

Heath and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"
By DR. FRANK McCOY

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Increasing Elimination

There is an old Chinese saying that, "If you would walk a thousand miles, you must first take the first step." The same thing is true for one who wishes to build health. Today is the first day of the spring tonic dietetic course, so why not join in with the healthful regimen today. If you put it off until tomorrow or the next day, the chances are you will put it off indefinitely.

I suppose this morning upon arising you brushed your teeth vigorously, rinsed out your mouth, took a shower bath and some deep breathing exercises before an open window. If you did not, you should do so and continue to do this each morning not only during this entire course but afterwards, because these are good habits to use every morning. Today and tomorrow we are going to try to increase the elimination of toxins through the kidneys and to do this we are going to use two days of fruit diet, using any one of the following fruits: Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit or apples, selecting one kind for today and another kind for tomorrow. These acid fruits act as diuretics; that is, they increase kidney elimination. Suppose you select tomatoes for today; use as many tomatoes for breakfast as you wish, repeat a lunch with tomatoes and a dinner of tomatoes. You may use either canned or fresh tomatoes if you wish but do not add sugar, salt, or other seasonings. Tomorrow perhaps you will choose oranges, but be sure to stick to the kind of fruit you choose during the day for you will have better results than if you try to mix the varieties of fruit.

I would not advise you to use any medicines or beverages while you are taking this course but you may drink as much water as you care for in addition to the fruit so that your kidneys will have added fluid to carry off the wastes from the tissues of the body and from the blood. The best water for you to use on this fast is distilled water, but if you cannot readily obtain distilled water, use ordinary hydrant water. While on the fruit diet so many impurities are eliminated through the kidneys that you may notice some slight irritation of the bladder unless the fluid eliminated by the kidneys is diluted with more water. It is possible for you to drink as much as two or three gallons of water a day while on this diet. If you do so, you will greatly assist elimination. Do not be alarmed if your bladder works frequently as this is necessary in order to pass the accumulated toxins out of your system.

The blood will undergo a decided improvement while you are on this fruit fast as can be readily ascertained by blood examinations. There will be an increase in the color of the hemoglobin and in the number of red cells and there will be a decrease of the white cells if they have been in excess. The blood at the same time receives much benefit because of the mineral salts and vitamins which can be absorbed from the fruits with such a slight digestive effort when there is no interference by the use of foods which are more difficult to digest.

The first two days of this fruit diet may be the hardest because the toxins which have lain dormant in the body's tissues are dissolved and suddenly thrown into the blood stream before being eliminated and you may have a slight headache and a coated tongue. However, your eliminative organs will pick up the toxins from the blood and they will be eliminated through the skin, the kidneys, the liver and even the lungs. If the perspiration becomes odorous, it may be advisable to use sponge or shower baths two or three times a day. Do not continue with laxatives which I suggested in yesterday's article, which were simply for the purpose of dislodging accumulations which may have been in the intestines, but begin tonight and use enemas, using a quart of warm water tonight and tomorrow morning. A slight headache should be endured without using any headache remedies or you will interfere with the elimination of toxins.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Blue Baby

Question—Mrs. V. asks: "What causes a blue baby?"

Answer—A blue baby is caused by the failure of the foramen ovale between the two auricles of the heart to close at birth as it should when umbilical circulation ceases. Since this valve does not close, the blood is not pumped into the lungs of the infant to be oxygenated as it should be.

Mumps

Question—F. D. asks: "Can mumps occur more than once?"

Answer—Mumps can occur more than once, but not in the glands which were affected the first time.

Heart Trouble

Question—Yvonne writes: "I have been in bed four months with heart trouble. My meals seem to make so much gas, which increases the heart palpitation. Does diet affect the heart?"

Answer—Yes, the diet certainly does affect the heart. The cause of most of the discomfort in heart trouble is an excess accumulation of gas, producing pressure against the heart. This is caused by eating wrong combinations of foods, which combinations produce fermentation in the stomach and intestines; also, by eating such foods as dried beans, onions, garlic, cabbage, etc., which already produce a large amount of flatulence.

Sender of Letters To Lindbergh Gets Prison Sentence

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., May 9. (AP)—Oscar Seachrist, 36, of Croydon, pleaded guilty today to a charge of sending two threatening letters to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and was sentenced to one and a half to three years in the county prison.

One of the letters demanded $50,000 and the other $150,000 on a promise to return the kidnaped Lindbergh baby. The letters threatened to dynamite the Lindbergh home and injure the child if the demand were not met.

In pleading guilty, Seachrist said he knew nothing of the Lindbergh kidnaping case but sent the letters in the hope of being sentenced to jail because he was dissatisfied with his job as gardener.

Fort Worth Officer Billed For Murder

FORT WORTH, May 9. (AP)—Lonnie Wilkerson, suspended policeman was charged with murder today in connection with the fatal shooting of Buster Grimsley, 17, at Ridglea golf course Thursday night.

Roy Montgomery, partner of Wilkerson, was suspended by Chief Lee during investigation of a beating alleged to have been administered Thomas Alvin Cofield in the city jail last week.

Walter Grimsley, father of the slain youth, signed the complaint against Wilkerson and it was filed in Justice Prichard's court. The constable notified Wilkerson that the charge had been filed. The latter said he would report to the courthouse immediately. Bond had not been set.

Montgomery was with Wilkerson when the shooting took place. The officers had been sent to the golf course in response to a complaint that some boys were picking up golf balls.

During a chase, Wilkerson fired and one of the bullets struck the Grimsley youth. The officer said later that he had fired into the ground and that the bullet presumably ricocheted off a rock.

Stock Market Marks Time With All Eyes Turned Toward Washington

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 9. (US)—The stock market today marked time awaiting a new stimulus. Its eyes were turned toward Washington, in the hope that additional evidence would be forthcoming of the new spirit which seemed to animate the legislators last week.

Share prices drifted fractionally lower, but any significance which might attach to this softness was lost in the volume of 600,000 shares for the full day.

Meanwhile, bond quotations closed irregular, but few signs of unusual nervousness were evident. The best-placed observers are watching the bond market for a clue to a genuinely changed prospect for all markets.

Talk of a "pool" in bonds continued, but the belief was growing that no organized support or buying power would be likely or needed. Acutally, many big banking powers are increasing their commitments in the bond list, even though they still display an extreme conservatism.

The dullness was not at all displeasing to people anxious to have the market attain stability and who are not interested in a sudden uprush in quotations.

It is appreciated more fully now that a period of extreme dullness in volume simultaneously with minimum fluctuations in prices would be the surest sign of a return of sanity to the markets, and also a lessening of necessitous liquidation overhanging.

Price changes in stocks were mostly insignificant. Eastman Kodak, however, dropped more than three points on disturbing stories which, however, had more to do with personal affairs of individuals than with the company's position.

General Motors and Dupont remained unchanged on the day, despite general expectations of a reduction in the latter's dividend to correspond with motors' recent lowering of its rate to $1 annually.

The short selling statistics released after the close on Saturday exerted little influence today. It had been forecast that a sizeable decline would be witnessed, either in reflection of the Washington inquiry or in genuine reaction to the profits made available by the continued decline in prices.

French election returns were favorably greeted by Wall street, although prognostications were carefully guarded in view of the intense nationalism of all French politicians. An easing of the Franco-German impasse would provide a definite advance in the world economic situation. Wall street was not entirely pleased, however, with the news concerning Japanese-Russian differences in Manchuria.

General Motors reported April sales to dealers of 78,358 cars and trucks, against 59,696 in March and 154,252 in April, 1931. Consumers in the United States took 81,573 cars and trucks, against 48,717 in March and 135,663 in April last year. For the first four months of 1932, sales to dealers totaled 275,615 units, compared with 458,799 in the same period of 1931. Consumers in the United States took 225,087 units in the first four months this year, against 367,544 last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 9. (AP)—New Russian purchasing of wheat led to a brisk upturn of grain prices today, but the rise was largely offset by stock market declines.

Uncertainty about the United States government crop report tomorrow afternoon served also to pull wheat values down.

The sustaining influence was 2,779,000 bushels shrinkage domestic wheat visible supply, reducing the total to 174,902,000 bushels against 193,531,000 the corresponding week last year.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼c off to ⅛@⅜c up compared with Saturday's finish, corn at ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, oats unchanged to ⅛@¼c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

Giving emphasis to the stimulus of news about Russia's action was talk that tension in the Far East between Russia and Japan was increasing. There were also reports of scarcity of foodstuffs in parts of western and northern Russia.

A general disposition among wheat traders became manifest to await the government crop report tomorrow, and with the stock market unsettled wheat prices drifted backward.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 53⅛c, bids; July 56⅛@56⅜c, 57⅛@57⅜c; Sept. 58⅜c, 59⅜@60c; Dec. 61⅜c, 63c. Corn—July 32⅛c, 33⅛@⅜c; Sept. 34⅛c, 35⅛@36c; Dec. 34⅜c, 34⅞c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 9. (US)—Wheat traders are devoting most of their attention to action of the stock market. Indifference of the wheat market to bullish news of the crop and of export business has been mainly due to the stifling of speculative interest by the depressing trend in financial markets. It is felt that with any sustained improvement in Wall street sentiment bullish wheat traders may be expected to show increased interest in pit developments.

Although wheat buying in the international market by Russia is not expected to be extensive it has created a firmer feeling and brought more interest on the part of other importing nations. Both Spain and Portugal, that recently have been waiting for offers on wheat from exporting nations, today were reported bidding for Argentine wheat.

England is buying wheat only for nearby requirements and shows no anxiety over future requirements, cables say.

The rye market is showing signs of strength, following weakness caused by liquidation of rather extensive speculative lines of the May. Cash interests are reported buying the nearby months, presumably on prospects of export business. Cables indicate Russia will buy some rye. Other European countries have already taken fair amounts of Canadian rye.

THIRD TRIAL OF CANADA OPENS

Two Others Sentenced On Pleas of Guilty

The third trial of R. W. (Buster) Canada, on a charge of burglary was incomplete at 5 o'clock Monday when the 89th district court was recessed until Tuesday. In two previous trials Canada obtained a hung jury.

The third trial opened early Monday afternoon before Judge P. A. Martin. Testimony will be resumed with the opening of court Tuesday. Several witnesses are yet to take the stand.

Two convictions were obtained in the same court Monday morning. Delmar Guynn, 19, pleaded guilty to burglary and was assessed a five-year sentence by a jury. He was charged with the burglary of the C. L. Hollis home, 2306 Tenth street, last month.

A two-year sentence was assessed Henry Schuessler after he had entered a plea of guilty to car theft. Schuessler was arrested several days ago by Sheriff Perry Browning on the Henrietta road. He escaped from the state penitentiary after serving 14 months of two terms totalling seven years.

Judge Martin, in sentencing the defendant, stipulated that the term should be served upon completion of the seven-year term. The charge in the latest case involves the theft of an automobile from Charles Anderson last month.

'Y' Leader Pays Houston Tribute

A tribute to Sam Houston was delivered by J. H. Henry, executive secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., at the luncheon of the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club at the Wichita club Monday. Mr. Henry, in presenting a review of "The Raven" by Marquis James, declared Houston was one of the leaders in U. S. history.

The review pictured Houston from his boyhood period with the Cherokee tribe through the Texas revolution and Houston's part in forming the state's history as a republic and then as a state.

Entertainment at the luncheon offered John Flynn, Wichita Falls baritone, in two solos with Miss Katherine Sullivan as accompanist. The program was in charge of Dr. O. W. Wilson. Guests were presented by Dr. H. T. Wood and the Rev. W. D. Bratton offered the invocation.

Manager John Boswell of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce discussed plans for the "golden jubilee special train" to Sweetwater this week for the West Texas chamber convention.

Here's Courage

STOCKTON, Calif.—No one questions the courage of Andrew Weaver, 16, now. While crawling under a fence, he accidentally shot himself in the chest with a loaded rifle. After the accident, Weaver climbed into his auto and drove several miles to Stockton Emergency hospital, where he underwent an immediate operation for removal of the bullet, which had gone through a lung and lodged in his back.

'Golden Jubilee' Special Lacks Only 43 Reservations for Goal of 150

An intensive "zero hour" campaign to secure 43 additional reservations for the "golden jubilee special train" to Sweetwater Thursday night for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce 14th annual convention is under way with Chairman W. R. Creamer's committee confident of reaching the goal of 150.

200 May Ride Train

Members of the group were optimistic at a meeting Monday afternoon at the local chamber offices in the Hamilton building and indicated a possibility exists of 200 Wichitans making the trip. Twelve reservations were turned in Monday, bringing the total to 77 reservations, exclusive of Paul Seeds' Los Caballeros band of 30 pieces, which places the total at 107 for the trip.

Wichita Falls has been signally honored by the regional chamber, founded in this city a decade past. Porter Whaley, first regional manager, resigned as local manager to accept the managerial post of the new regional body. This city has been closely connected in the progress of the West Texas chamber, Mr. Creamer said Monday. Annually Wichita Falls has sent the largest delegation to the regional conference and Mr. Creamer's committee is looking forward to holding that record this year.

Advertise City

The special train gives Wichitans an opportunity to present the facilities of this city for serving West Texas as a leading market center and this year the delegation has the added responsibility of inviting West Texas people to Wichita Falls for the 50th anniversary celebration, Sept. 26-28.

Wichitans will take prominent parts in the workings of the convention, both business and entertainment. J. S. Bridwell is a member of the program of work group, Joe Witherspoon Jr., will again represent the city in the My Home Town speaking contest. He has previously won the trophy twice and has the opportunity of retaining permanent possession of the loving cup this year.

Miss Pat Ward of this city will take part in the gypsy revue Thursday night and will be included in the gypsy "atmosphere" for the entire convention period.

FOR HUNTERS

Game Warden Nabs Two Wichitans for Killing Plover

Complaints charging violation of the state game laws were taken Monday by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy following the arrest of two men Sunday for killing plover out of season.

A game warden arrested the two as they were hunting in north Wichita county.

Other complaints received by the county attorney's office included charges of theft against three persons, a man and two women, in connection with the theft of gasoline early Sunday morning from a filling station at 101 Scott avenue. The three were taken into custody by city police after the proprietor of the filling station, O. F. Mann, had captured them with the assistance of a neighbor.

REED SLICES AIR CHARGES

Oklahoma City Fare Now Only $5.75

Passenger fares over the Reed airline, operating between Wichita Falls, Lawton and Oklahoma City, were reduced Monday to almost bus fare levels by the owner and manager, Joe Reed. Fare between Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City has been cut to $5.75, wtih 10 per cent off for round trip tickets.

LAKESIDE PARK OPENS TONIGHT

Amusement Circus Headlines Variety of Events

A season of above average entertainment to please every member of the family will be formally opened at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night at Lakeside park. Heralded as North Texas' first amusement circus, a new type of entertainment has been booked with veterans of stage acts to be seen here.

Opening with the stage show the management promises action at every minute during the night, climaxing the program with a Broadway floor show in the ball room, a new feature of Lakeside park pleasure bookings. Wesley's Californians have been secured to furnish the tuneful melodies for the improved dance floor. The band is recognized as one of the leading novelty organizations of its kind and the members have completed several successful seasons at well-known ballrooms.

The swimming pool was formally opened Saturday after outdoor enthusiasts of Wichita Falls took initial plunges in the pool as guests of the management on Friday. The pool is outside the park proper for convenience of patrons desiring only to swim.

Additional seats have been installed along the boardwalk, free ice water will be available, with concessions offering new novelties and operating in keeping with current economic conditions. A pony riding track, in charge of Pat Kelly and a miniature zoo have been added to the long list of amusement devices for fun seekers. All rides have been reconditioned for the opening Tuesday night.
