GRANT QUITS WATER DEP'T FOR OIL FIRM

Chief Clerk for Last Five Years Hands in Resignation

The resignation of R. O. Grant, chief clerk of the city water department for the last five years, was announced Friday by P. B. Curd, public utilities commissioner here. It becomes effective immediately.

Starts in 1920.

Mr. Grant took charge of the accounting side of the water department when the city purchased it in 1920 from the Texas Power and Light company. He devised and installed the present accounting system and was the first water department headd in the country to install an automatic bookkeeping machine. ### 107 DEGREES HERE FRIDAY

Temperature Drops a Little for Relief of Sweltering City.

A temperature of 107 degrees Friday was a little more charitable than Thursday, when the thermometer set a season's record of 108 here, but at that yesterday was about as hot as any one wanted.

It was another day, typical of the rest in which a partly cloudy sky and a moderate breeze apparently had no effect on the heat engendered by a blazing sun.

The weather bureau is still unable to offer prospects of any immediate relief. Fair and continued warm was its prediction for Saturday.

THE WEATHER

LYRICS OF LIFE
by Douglas Malloch.
The Clouds Are Breaking.

WHEN the birds begin to sing
You know the rain is over;
When there's wet on everything,
The path, the fence, the clover,
When you hear the birds begin
A little web of song to spin,
Although the heavens still are shaking,
You know that now the clouds are breaking.

Birds can see when men cannot,
Can hear when men are grieving,
First to find the sunny spot
When the storm is leaving.
Men will sit around and fret,
Women keep on weeping yet,
Only hear the heavens quaking,
Even when the clouds are breaking.

Lift your eyes, disconsolate,
When there's rain around you,
Learn to watch as well as wait
When some woe has found you.
Watch the skies as swallows do
For the earliest bit of blue—
Even while your hearts are aching,
Maybe now the clouds are breaking!

CHICAGO RODEO DRAWS FIRE OF CIVIC WORKERS

League Alludes to Days Of Nero With Human Sacrifices

BAR PRESS AT MEET

Bull-Dogging Another Sport Objected to By Anti-People

FORT WORTH, July 10.—Tex Austin, rodeo promoter, well known in Fort Worth, will manage and direct a rodeo to be held in Chicago August 15 to 23 at Grant Park stadium for prizes totaling $30,000. The show will be held under the ouspices of the Chicago association of commerce.

CHICAGO, July 10.—(AP)—A committee from the anti-rodeo league, comprising women prominent in Chicago society, today presented in person to officers of the Chicago association of commerce an emphatic protest against the rodeo which the association plans to conduct here in August. The league invited representatives of the press to be present, but officials of the association excluded them.

To Talk Turkey.

"We are going to talk turkey," explained H. F. Miller, in charge of preparations for the rodeo.

Spokesmen of both organization afterward disclosed what had taken place at the meeting.

The league presented a letter of protest from the Women's City club, signed by Mrs. Joeph T. Bowen as corresponding secretary. Mrs. Bowen, for years president of the club, was recently president of the Women's Roosevelt Republican club and chairman of first Women's Worlds' Fair.

Mrs. Mary Cavanaugh of the anti-rodeo league said:

"We are back in the arena of ancient Rome, except that in Nero's day the Christians were sacrificed to animals, and now animals are sacrificed for the amusement of Christians."

Officers of the association of commerce said they asked their visitors to stick to facts, and alleged that pamphlets from New York presented by the league were "misrepresentations." They said the "bull dogging" which was to be part of the show was not the kind of "bull dogging" the league thought it was. Just what kind it was, they said, would be "a long story."

Familiar With Rodeos.

Miss Charlotte L. Hunt, president of the league, said she had long been a resident of Spokane, Washington, and was familiar with rodeos throughout having seen them in Idaho.

Miss Hunt went to the conference armed with letters from Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, the actress, and from humane workers in the east and far west opposing the rodeo. Among them was a communication from F. G. McCarthy, superintendent of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals of New York City, expressing the opinion that rodeos had been financially unprofitable there and that such exhibitions in the east were "about finished."

A letter from State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, promised that if humane laws were violated at the rodeo and warrants obtained, his office would prosecute.

POLICE THINK DANGER LUST PROMPTED ACT

SHOT AND ROBBED

Slayer Takes Car of Victim, Sells It, Disappears

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 10.—(AP)—A desire for "the super thrill" which actuated the Loeb-Leopold murder of Robert Franks in Chicago, was assigned by the police today as the motive in the death of Louis Penella, a taxi driver.

Phillip Knapp, former student at Cornell, enlisted man in the army air service and son of a retired manufacturer of Syracuse, New York, is being sought for the murder. Pennella's body was discovered July 4, hidden under a pile of rubbish at Camp Mills. Knapp is posted as a deserter from his unit, having failed to return after a three-day leave. He was reported to have been seen in Albany July 8.

Hinted at Suicide.

In a letter to an officer friend, Knapp said he had been unable to find anything to satisfy his "craving for danger," and suggested he might try suicide to "be face to face with death."

The bullet which killed Penella was similar to that used in the army revolvers and a weapon of that type was missing from the rack to which Knapp had access.

Detectives working on the case reported today that the evidence they had gathered indicated that the soldier employed Pennella to drive him to a lonely spot near Hempstead, where the taxi-man was killed and his body hidden. After using the car July 5 and 6 in driving about Long Island, Knapp is supposed to have taken it to a used car agency in New York where it was sold July 7 for $1,000 by a man who presented Pennella's driver's certificate.

Cashed a Check.

The check for $100 given in part payment by the purchaser was cashed at a New York bank after it had been endorsed by "Louis Pennella." No effort has since been made to collect the $900 balance. Knapp's description was declared to tally closely with that of the man presenting the car for sale.

Costello, recently released from a reformatory, named as his companions, two other youths who were also inmates of the reformatory. William Mulholland, one of those named, surrendered to the police tonight, but denied any connection with the slaying.

Costello, who is married, said he and Mulhollard posed as detectives to induce the girl and her sister to accompany them on a party. The sister left before harm came to Madeline, he said.

9 FARMERS ON PANEL TO TEST EVIDENCE OVER DARWIN'S IDEA

One Minister Excused Because He Did Not Have Open Mind

11 CHURCH GOERS

Evidence Will Not Begin Uhtil Monday, With No Court Today

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10. (AP)—A jury to try John T. Scopes for teaching evolution in the Tennessee public schools was selected this afternoon. It was composed of nine farmers, one school teacher and farmer; one fruit grower and one shipping clerk.

Twelve of the 20 prospective jurors examined were accepted with but few questions from the state. The defense propounded a number of questions to each man but used only two of its three peremptory challenges.

Monkey Trial's Lawyers Scratch Out Legal Fleas

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—The first move of the day in the Scopes case was to swear a grand jury and present a new bill against the 24-year-old school teacher. The indictment returned May 25 was considered of doubtful legality on account of an oversight in elapsed time before the summons to the grand jury and the actual meeting of that body. Attorney General A. T. Stewart, who said that it was the desire of all concerned to have a record that would bear thorough inspection if the case reaches a higher court, presented a new bill and the defendant was re-indicted in almost the identical language of the first document.

One objection was made by the state, the court ruled four possible jurors incompetent and one was excused on account of his age.

No Court Saturday.

No session of the court will be held tomorrow. The defense asked for a day in which to confer over the points the attorneys desire to stress in their contention that scientific testimony on the theory of evolution and the story of divine creation as told in the Bible are not in conflict. The question will be argued before Judge John T. Raulston Monday. Judge Raulston ended a discussion of days as to how long the court day would be when he announced from the bench that court would open at 9 o'clock, continue to a recess at 11:30 o'clock, reconvene at 1:30 and close for the day at 4:30 o'clock.

A statement by Clarence Darrow, of counsel for the defense, showed the first issue at hand. Speaking of the expectation of the defense to bring witnesses from a distance, he said that the defense considered scientists competent witnesses in the case to explain what evolution is.

Attorney neral Stewart, replying to Mr. Darrow's announcement that the defense would insist on introducing scitntists and Bible students to give their views of the Tennessee law, said that the prosecution would take the position that it was not competent to bring scientists into the case to testify as to what the theory of evolution s, or interpret the Bible or "anything of that sort." The brief preliminary skirmish ended the incident for the day, the afternoon session beine devoted to selection of a jury.

The first of the jury panel called, W. F. Robinson, was accepted by the state and defense with only a few questions, but Mr. Darrow went into an exhaustive examination of the second prospective juror, J. W. Dagley, and followed this course with the others until the jury box was filled.

Asked of Evolution.

The defense lawyer asked the talesmen if they knew anything of evolution, had discussed it, heard sermons or lectures on the subject and read of it in newspapers or magazines. He also asked as to their church membership, their familiarity with the Bible and asked if any as to the consistency as to their theory of evolution. Three denominations were represented in the jury, Baptist, Methodist and Christian.

One minister, the Rev. J. F. Mann,

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, All In Sight of Earth At One Time, Make Rare Spectacle

Shortly after sunset during July the five brightest planets—Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn—all will be above the horizon at the same time for the greater part of the month.

Friday night Mercury, Venus and Mars appeared so near together that they might almost be mistaken for a triple star, although in fact Mercury was about 105,000,000 miles from earth, Venus 146,000,000 miles and Mars 289,000,000 miles.

Mars is increasing its distance from the earth and drawing in toward the sun so it will be increasingly difficult to find it in the twilight. Mercury and Venus now are approaching the earth.

Mercury will reach its greatest eastern elongation on July 28 when it will be more than 27 degrees east of the sun. This, the American Nature association points out, is within one degree of its greatest possible distance from the sun and great enough to enable it to be picked up easily in the twilight after sunset.

Anyone watching these three planets this month with the aid of a small telescope or field glasses might imagine they were playing tag or running a race in the northwestern sky after sunset. All three will move eastward during July from Cancer into Leo, but all will be moving at different speeds with respect to each other and the earth.

Saturn Stationery.

Mars, the slow-moving one of the trio, will be at the beginning of the month farther east and higher in the western sky than the other two, but the other two plants will pass it on July 10. Saturn, which has been above the horizon in the evening hours for some time, has been moving slowly westward, but on Sunday it becomes stationery, as viewed from the earth and then begins to swing slowly backward toward Libra to the east. Jupiter, now rising over in the southeast in Sagittarius, was in opposition to the sun, or on the meridian due south, at midnight last night. It now will rise at sunset and be in view all night. On this date Mercury, Venus and Mars will set about an hour and a half after the sun.

PRAIRIE RAISE NOT TO EFFECT LOCAL MARKET

Little Change Will be Made In District Quotations

The new price schedule as posted by the Prairie Oil and Gas company, although a welcome sign, will effect but little change in district quotations. Yet despite the fact of but little advance in local markets as occasioned by the new postings the word comes as a distinct relief to local operators who have been living in more or less dread that prices were too good to be true, and consequently could not last.

Yesterday's increase though littlerly nearly passed the district by, is but a favorable reaction to the regular summer production slump and adequately reflects the healthy pulse of the oil industry of the nation.

The Olney and South Vernon pools with their average 38-38 gravity oil receive the greatest advance, 20 cents. The Holliday district, embracing the Gose-Freeman Hampton and Wilmot come next with a 11 cent advance, while Wichita county with its 39 gravity crude closes the list with but a 3-cent boost.

Following is the new schedule as posted:

| Gravity | Price |
|---|---|
| From 28 to 28.9 | $1.40 |
| From 29 to 29.9 | 1.48 |
| From 30 to 30.9 | 1.56 |
| From 31 to 31.9 | 1.64 |
| From 32 to 32.9 | 1.72 |
| From 33 to 33.9 | 1.80 |
| From 34 to 34.9 | 1.88 |
| From 35 to 35.9 | 1.96 |
| From 36 to 36.9 | 2.04 |
| From 37 to 37.9 | 2.12 |
| From 38 to 38.9 | 2.20 |
| From 39 to 39.9 | 2.28 |
| From 40 to 40.9 | 2.36 |
| From 41 to 41.9 | 2.44 |
| From 42 to 42.9 | 2.52 |
| From 44 and above | 2.68 |

Texhoma-Rowlands.

Following the completion of their No. 1 Rowlands as a five million feet gasser, the Texhoma Oil and Refining have made location for No. A-1 on an adjacent lease in the John Chambliss survey, Montague county. This well will be located 150 feet in the southeast corner of the lease.

Texhoma-Burnett.

On their "E" lease in the Burnett pasture has a sand on their No. 4 on which casing is being run to test. Sand was topped at 1,553 feet and casing is being run to 1,579 feet. This test is of more or less interest as "E-4 was one of Texhomas latest successful wildcats. The well is located 300 feet to the east of No. 2 in T&NO survey, section 2 Wichita county.

Ray-Vernon.

To the east of the Mercer pool, and just north of Olney, Ray and associates are completing a dry hole on their No. 1 Vernon located 150 feet in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of block 2 Poltevant survey. This practically defines the pool, as Humble's furthest east well, No. 4, is but a small well while those to the west are good for better than 150 barrels apiece. With Murchison's small producer on the west of their discovery well, their dry hole to the south and the Texas Unity's dry due north, it would appear as though the Humble were holding all that was left.

Ray Massie-Mills.

Ray-Massie located on the Mills farm in the northeast corner of section 3137 TE&L survey, Baylor county, bailed salt water from sand topped at 1,456 feet and are plugging to abandon at 1,41 feet.

This well was being watched with considerable interest as its favorable completion would have made better than a 2,000-foot extension to the Richards-Sheldon pool to the south

Farmers Included In Dayton Trial Jury

gale, was examined, but excused by the court with the statement:

"Well, I want every juror to start in with an open mind."

Mr. Darrow asked the minister if he had ever preached on evolution and he said that he had taken it up in connection with other subjects.

"Against it or for it?" asked the lawyer.

"I am strictly for the Bible," was the reply. Mr. Darrow said that he was not talking about the Bible but evolution, and repeated his question.

"Did you preach for or against evolution?" Mr. Massengale appealed to the court with the question:

"Is that a fair question?"

Told that it was, he said, "Well, I preached against it, of course."

Applause of considerable volume broke out in the crowded court room and Judge Raulston admonished the crowd to preserve order as Mr. Darrow asked:

"Why, of course?"

Mr. Darrow was on his feet with a request to the court that anyone be excluded who applauded. The court assured the Chicago man that such action would be taken.

Defense counsel was augmented today, William O. Thompson of New York, Frank McElwee, Rockwood, Tenn., and G. C. Harris, Spring City lawyer, assisted the defense in selecting the jury. Visiting attorneys were introduced to the court and made welcome by Judge Raulston. These included on the defense side in addition to Mr. Thompson, Clarence Darrow, Dudley Field Malone and Arthur Garfield Hays. The prosecution's array of lawyers included two from out of the state, William Jennings Bryan and his son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., were introduced.

The defense, in adding two lawyers, increased the total only one as John L. Godsey, Dayton attorney, who has represented Scopes since before the preliminary hearing today, announced his withdrawal.

The Indictment.

The indictment under which Scopes is being tried charges that he did "unlawfully and wilfully teach in the public schools of Rhea county, Tennessee, which said public schools are supported in part and in whole by the public school funds of the state, certain theory and theories that deny the story of the divine creation of man as taught in the Bible and did teach instead thereof man has descended from a lower order of animals, he the said John Thomas Scopes, being at the time and prior thereto, a teacher in the public schools of Rhea county, Tennessee, aforesaid, against the peace and dignity of the state."

In charging the grand jury today, Judge Raulston departed only slightly from the charge he delivered to the grand jury May 25. He first read the law passed by the last legislature and later approved by the governor, and then the first chapter of Genesis, in which is told the story of the creation.

He repeated his former statement that he would regard violation of the statute a high misdemeanor. "You will bear in mind," said Judge Raulston, "that in this investigation you are not interested to inquire into policy or wisdom of this legislation."

In making his declaration that he would regard violation of the statute as a "high misdemeanor," the judge said he made no reference to the policy or constitutionality of the statute but to the evil example of the teacher in disregarding constituted authority in the very presence of the undeveloped mind whose thought and morals he directs and guides.

"To teach successfully, we must teach both by precept and example.

"The school room is not only a place to develop thought but also a place to develop discipline, power of restraint and character.

"If a teacher openly and flagrantly exercise of his profession, regardless violates the laws of the land in the of the policy of the law, his example cannot be wholesome to the undeveloped minds and would tend to create and breed a spirit of disregard for good roder and the want of respect for the necessary discipline and restraint in our body politic."

Presbyterians At Dallas Say Monkey and Bible Mix

DALLAS, July 10.—Denying an assertion of William Jennings Bryan that the trial of John T. Scopes in Dayton, a Tennessee teacher, is a test fight of evolution versus Christianity, Dr. James E. Clarke, of Nashville, editor of the Presbyterian Advance, and a member of the church of which Bryan is an elder in an address here today before the Texas Presbyterian synod, said that the trial was really a test case of the constitutionality of Tennessee's anti-evolution teaching law. It is the first step in litigation that will end in the United States supreme court, where he predicted the law would be held unconstitutional.

Before Big Audience.

Dr. Clarke spoke before a gathering of 800 Presbyterians from all parts of Texas attending the annual meeting of the synod and allied organizations. He spoke for an hour before an attentive audience that did not applaud until he had finished. There was no outspoken difference of opinion regarding his remarks.

Dr. Clarke declared he believed in the theory of evolution on the authority of the scientists, but admitted he did not know much about it.

"I don't know that the world is round but I accept it as the truth," he said.

"Martin Luther said to believe the world was round was to deny the word of God. There is just as much sense in Bryan's statement that if evolution is proven to be a fact at the Scopes trial that he will have to give up the Bible. The statement is absurd and regrettable.

Dr. Clarke said he differed from Bryan, whom he referred to as a brother elder, and who is said was obsessed with the conviction that every word in the Bible must be accepted literally.

He prefaced his remarks with two definitions of evolution, the first by Lecounte, "evolution is a continuous change, according to fixed laws by resident force," and the second, by John H. Coulton of Chicago, "evolution is that type of change in which a living organism become better adapted to its environment."

"Neither definition leaves God out," Dr. Clarke said. "Scientists advocating evolution have found God's creation here and are merely attempting to find out how he did it. I accept evolution on the authority of the scientists, but I personally don't know or care much about it.

"On the other hand I have accepted God through the authority of other people, but I have proven through my own experiences that there is a living God."

He declared that people seeking light must discern between the theory and the fact of evolution. The Darwinian theory has been placed in the discard, he said. "While most young people are coming from colleges accepting the fact or the theory of evolution, yet more people are studying the Bible than ever before. Both of these startling facts are the result of a new spirit, that of learning the truth about all things.

"There are thousands of evolutionists who believe in the word of God. If evolution is a fact, it is simply God's method of working," Dr. Clarke declared.

"Ignorant and Medieval," Claim English Scientists

LONDON, July 10.—(AP)—Some of England's most noted divines and scientists condemn the Tennessee law forbidding the teaching of evolution, in a symposium published by the Weekly Nature.

Some of the opinions quoted say the Tennessee law is the result of "ignorant fanaticism," that it is a "medieval gesture" and a "curiosity in the history of civilian." The bishop of Birmingham is quoted by Nature as saying: "As one who values intellectual freedom, I am shocked that Anglo-Saxon communities should seek by legislation and prosecution to prevent the spread of knowledge.

"As a Christian, I am dismayed by a movement which opposes a reasonabl formulation of the Christian faith * * *. The normal educated, Christian Britain regards the process of evolution as the machinery whereby God created man. Every divine of any imminence among us accepts this point of view.

Nature quotes E. W. MacBride, professor of zoology at the Imperial college of science, London, as saying "the most practical object on the fundamentalist position is its entire futility. Just as hundreds of American boys and girls now indulge in whisky drinking, although in pre-prohibition days they never dreamed of so doing, so it is now anticipated that hundreds of youths who previously were satisfied with moving pictures and baseball will become evolutionists."

Monkey Trial Routes Even Scared Ghosts of Old Home

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—And now even the sluggish, fat rattlesnake who has homed in the dark dampness of Dayton's "haunted house" for the last 15 years has been routed by "the monkey war."

"The Mansion," as the house is more formally known, has been loaned to the defense witnesses for their stay at the evolution trial.

To Meet in House.

The "best minds" of the scientific, educational and religious world will meet beneath the vaulted ceilings of the mansion, which has been changed by the years into a gray, bleak shell of its former grandeur.

Back in the 80's the mansion was built. That was when Dayton was in the rosy flush of its mushroom boom, when the smoke of the Dayton Coal & Iron Co., veiled the blood-red sunsets over the Cumberland hills.

When great lords and ladies from Glasgow came from across the waters to visit their kinfolk in the hills of Tennessee—

When the 12 imported marble fireplaces in the mansion were fragrant with white pine logs from the mountain forests—

And when Dayton pointed reverently to its mansion on the hill and whispered of the $60,000 that it took to build it!

Saw Great Visions.

Then the finger of death wrote upon the brocaded walls of the mansion!

Peter Donaldson from Glasgow a gristled old commercial buccaneer, bought the company. He dreamed great dreams and saw great visions. He would corner all the steel in the world.

He borrowed millions from Pierpont Morgan, so Dayton legend has it. At last, drunk with his power, he owned 80 per cent of the steel world!

Then the bottom fell out of the market! Peter Donaldson went home to die.

For more than 15 years the mansion has been the home of rattlesnake and rat woodpecker and stray dogs and cats.

Tales of moanings and rappings and white-shrouded forms that walked at night floated through the negro lanes!

"The Mansion," in its gray death as in its golden life, still held the stage.

Hallowe'en Music.

The younger generation sometimes carried candles to the mansion, set them on the marble mantels that were the pride of old Peter Donaldson, and danced through the great bare rooms.

Last Hallowe'en they danced there to the jazzy tunes played on a small phonograph toted up the hill.

They were dancing through the shadowy candle-lit rooms at midnight. The record had ended. Suddenly it began again. And no one had left the room to start it!

With a leap and a bound the dancers scuttled for home.

They dance no more in 'the mansion."

But rappings and tappings and fingers of death, that start the music so that the living may dance, should have no terrors for the scientists who have come to fight for the cause of evolution!

England Gets Interested In Scopes Monkey Test

LONDON, July 10.—It has been a long time since any occurrence in the United States has attracted such an amount of attention here as the prosecution of John T. Scopes, at Dayton, Tenn., for teaching the theory of evolution in violation of a state law.

Many Cables.

The incident has already been the subject of various cabled stories and mailed articles and with the opening of the trial today the papers feature it with remarkably prominence.

Some publish long detailed special articles from their correspondents in the United States and other display the news agency reports, while most of the front pages bear pictures of Scopes and William Jennings Bryan.

No sympathizers with the anti-evolution standpoint have expressed themselves publicly thus far, and all the editorial comment either treats the case in humorous vein or professes amazement that the fundamentalist view is seriously held by men of Mr. Bryan's position and attainments.

Many for Evolution.

This, however, is not to say that believers in the literal text of the Bible do not exist in England, but the view of the ordinary English man is probably correctly gauged in the Daily Mail editorial today, which says:

"In this country, where free expression of opinion has been so long a recognized right and where the doctrine of evolution is treated as a purely scientific question, having nothing to do with religion, the idea of prosecuting a man for preaching Darwinism would appear to be fantastic * * *.

"The English eyes, there is something comic in this storm in a teacup, but it has a serious aspect too. The attempt to stifle liberty of thought and speech is doubtless doomed to failure.

NORDAY POOL SURPRISED AT EMPIRE WELL

Number One Anderson Is Reported Flowing 700 Barrels Per Day

Coming as a surprise well of the Norday pool, the Empire's No. 1 Anderson increased its production and was swabbing and flowing late yesterday evening at the rate of over 700 barrels a day from sand 1,414-23 feet. The well is unique in that it was drilled several feet before an appreciable amount of oil came into the hole and was given up by many as a dry.

Deleware Man Held In Texas Oil Case

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—(AP)—Jerome G. Farquhar, treasurer of the Plymouth Oil company, a Delaware corporation with offices in Pittsburgh and operations in Reagan county, Texas, was under arrest today on charges of false pretense and issuing false statements in connection with the promotion of the company.

The charges were preferred by William M. Henderson, Albert R. Budd and Floyd B. Lockhart, Pittsburgh stockholders. They were made in conjunction with a suit in equity filed yesterday at Wilmington, Del., when a preliminary injunction was granted restraining the transfer of approximately one million shares of the oil company. Among those named in the civil action were Michael M. Bendum, Joseph Treese, Jerome C. Farquhar, Pittsburgh; Levi Smith, Texon, Texas, and H. D. McCracken, Fort Worth, Texas.

It was charged in the equity suit that 700,000 shares of stock were issued to the defendants without payment to the Plymouth Oil company and that stock was also fraudulently issued to other persons.

FRANCE FORCED TO EXPLAIN.

New reserves for the French troops operating against the Riffian tribesmen in Morocco have led the French ministry of war to issue a special note intended to combat rumors and explain a situation which is admittedly growing worse. Conceding at the outset the desertion of certain hitherto loyal tribes to the Riffians and the consequent success of the latter in overwhelming the French first line of defense on the eastern frontier, the war ministry note makes the following argument in deprecation of the seriousness of such occurrences:

"Public opinion ought not to allow itself to be disturbed by such episodes, which are customary in colonial wars. The present operations are attended with difficulties not found in the European war or previous campaigns in Morocco. Our adversaries are better armed than 10 years ago; their attacks are better organized and more frequent on a wider front and they know to a certain extent how to use up-to-date military methods. On the other hand, the tactics of modern armies, notably the concentration of forces to strike decisive blows, have as a drawback, if too systematically employed, the defection of loyal tribes and consequently an increase in the number of enemy contingents filtering through the lines."

The difficulty for the French, briefly stated, is that of occupying and defending a country not naturally friendly to them. Their problem is more civil than military. It has to do with pacification rather than with conquest or defense. To hold a people in thrall and reconcile them to a modified bondage by the bestowal of the artificial benefits of foreign control, at the same time than an effective defense is maintained against a neighbor and kindred people the French are undertaking to do. They are doing is in the nature of the impossible. Yet that is what it unusually well, it must be admitted. But to do it at all they are compelled to make bad compromises, at one moment sacrificing the chance of victory for the maintenance of civil administration, and at another surrendering administration for temporary military success.

DARROW'S LATEST MOVE.

Clarence Darrow has made a new protest against the levity with which the Scopes evolution case is being treated by the public. Feeling that the dramatics of the trial are ruined by the falling flat of serious interest before the contemplated sensational scenes are staged, he has given out a statement, intended for effect as much within the circle of the Scopes counsel as on the outside, purporting to be the announcement of a decision by the defense to throw the case at once into the federal courts and so avoid a trial at Dayton, Tenn. Darrow is said to have the support of Bainbridge Colby in this unexpected move. Together they have sought to gain the consent of other members of the defense counsel and especially that of the senior counsel, but apparently without success.

Darrow is a genius as securing the dismissal of juries and successfully appealing to judges. But in the present instance he seems to have miscalculated. His desire to get the Scopes case away from a jury in close sympathy with the people and have it decided on appeal to the higher federal courts as soon as possible has got the better of his judgment. He proposes injunction proceedings to restrain a state from exercising its jurisdiction in a purely domestic matter. He would have the Tennessee evolution law knocked out on the grounds of violating freedom of speech, guaranteed in federal constitution. Whether the constitutional provision to which he appeals is in danger would seem to depend upon the actual trial of the case under the Tennessee law. The proposed injunction proceedings must be taken on the assumption that a state can be restrained from exercising a power which it has not itself tested. On such a basis it does not appear that the federal courts could intervene.

EUROPEAN DEMAND FOR GASOLINE.

Europe must be coming back or else why the increased demand for American petroleum products? A Wall street journal says exports of gasoline in March totaled more than 123 million gallons or about 40 million gallons greater than in the same month last year. According to the same authority despite recent increases in the output of crude and refined products the heavy drain upon stocks has brought further price advances.

It must have been this foreign demand that jumped the price of gasoline two cents at any important points in Texas last week. There are petroleum experts who say that the advance in the price of gasoline is a sure sign that the price of crude will be advanced in the near future.

If financial conditions in European countries are deplorable why the furious demand for American gas?

THOMAS RILEY MARSHALL.

Thomas Riley Marshall was American to the core he was a patriot to the core, he loved his country and his kind and the institutions of his country and the men who made these institutions in the long ago.

He has passed on to his reward.

He builded his own monuments while living among the people now on earth. He was so different. He loved the old order of things and yet he was a progressive along sane lines. He scorned snobs and snobbery. He despised hyprocrits and hyprocricy. He lived a long life like an American gentleman should live it. He was for the constitution as the fathers made it. He was for civil and religious liberty as Jefferson planned it. Peace to his ashes. Honor to his memory.

This country needs more Thomas Riley Marshalls and it needs them now.

STEEL IS STEADY.

According to the market reports and the trade journals, steel consumption at the beginning of July is about 70 per cent and a lack of any indication of a slump in operations makes the outlook very promising. It is said there has been no material change in the rate of steel buying since May 1. Steel is a business barometer. When steel slumps it pays to be far away from the danger line.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

Mental Manipulation.

Anybody can read the words of the poet Browning.

About one man in fifty can understand them.

To sixty or seventy people in a hundred the tragedies of Shakespeare are interesting only because they are full of plots and murders.

Plots and murders in the most banal movie show would be just as interesting to them.

People get out of the works of great writers much or little, according to their ability to digest and assimilate what they read in books or hear on the stage.

Mental malnutrition is a very common ailment.

Boys and girls affected with it can go through school or college, and in after life undergo the same experience that others do.

But what their ears and eyes take in, their brains refuse to turn into food for thought.

Some time this is due to defects in the thinking apparatus with which they were born. In such cases there is no hope for them.

Oftener their own habits of inattention or slovenly thinking is to blame.

This can be corrected, and it ought to be corrected. It doesn't make so much difference what a child learns or does not learn in school so long as it learns to think.

Real education is not obtained in school.

The mind acquires it after it has been taught to think and reason, which process correspond to chewing and digesting the food that builds up the body.

Send a company of middle-aged men, who are fairly successful, to a scientific lecture, and very few of them will take away more than they brought with them.

Those who have learned concentration, and the close attention without which there can be no concentration, will learn a great deal.

The rest will take away various impressions which mean nothing, or worse, they will take away confused and erroneous notions of what they have heard which will do them more harm than good.

The best possible health comes to people who have excellent digestions, and who assimilate their food.

The most enjoyment comes to those who are willing to train their minds so that they will get the utmost out of art and literature and experience.

This is not a matter of money.

Some of the wealthiest men and women can buy art treasures and libraries and travel around the world and not grow mentally a whit.

Fabre, who wrote so fascinatingly about the life of the spider, was poor, and made most of his observations in a little back yard.

Yet he got a tremendous amount of enjoyment out of life, for he studied it close at hand and knew what it meant.

Physical health is bodily success, and money will not buy it.

Mental health is the highest of all success, and it comes not with riches, but with that very important word, "understanding."

NOT THE CREATURE OF THE STATE

"The child is not the creature of the state" and the parents can not be robbed of the control of the child by statute law when it comes to the training of the child along educational and religious lines. This is the decree of the supreme court of the United States, the court of last resort and it is significant that it is not a five to four decision. There are nine members of the supreme court and not a dissenting voice in the decree just rendered in the Oregon case.

It will be recalled that the state of Oregon by referendum vote adopted an amendment to the constitution of that state which would have destroyed the parochial and all private schools of that commonwealth. This was taken to the supreme court by the dissenters to the Oregon plan and as a result of the recent decree the Oregon plan has been thrown into the discard.

This is recognized as one of the most important decisions handed down by the supreme court in recent years and is bound to be far reaching to say the least. There are many good men and women who may believe that the child is the creature of the state alone but the highest tribunal in the world has ruled that the constitution of the United States with its provisions of civil and religius liberty and the Bill of Rights written by the Fathers are to remain as the bulwarks of national life and liberty in this republic.

A FAT REWARD

Former Governor James E. Ferguson says only the poor go to the penitentiary in liquor cases, and that Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is considering offering a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of any person violating the liquor law who is worth more than $5,000.

This will make it interesting. Where will the ferrits be found. Good liquor is said to be hard to purchase in Texas, and it must be admitted that in the days of the licensed saloon one big saloon in Dallas sold more liquor every year than is bootlegged today in a hundred Texas counties. John Barleycorn is on the run in the United States. Uncle Sam is ever on his trail.

If a rich violator is caught in a drag net he goes to the federal pen; if an illiterate mountaineer is caught in the drag net, he goes to the federal pen. This is as it should be. There should be one law and one penalty for all, rich or poor or white or black.

If the prohibition law, or rather the eighteenth amendment, is as vicious as its enemies say it is, then there is a way to go about it. A repeal movement should be started in every state. This is the American way. This is the constitutional way.

ANOTHER AMAZING RECORD

Texas is a billion dollar agricultural state. Texas is a billion dollar manufacturing state and Texas leads all other states in the value of manufactured articles of commerce exported in a single year.

Texas may have traveled slowly for a long time but the Texas of today is moving forward at a more rapid gait than any of its rivals among the 48 states of the American union. Texas, with its resources and its soil should lead all the other states in population and wealth before the coming of the year 1940.

This is one of the reasons why Texas should not be niggardly in making appropriations for the educational institutions from the rural school to the university and in paying adequate salaries to the men and women who direct the educational activities of the commonwealth. The constitution of Texas should not be looked upon as a dead letter.

A WALL STREET ESTIMATE.

A Wall Street cotton grower who is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, has estimated that the output of cotton farms this year in the United States will be something less than 13,750,000 bales. Wall Street cotton growers never sleep at the switch. They keep tab on every cotton patch in the country.

What Today Means to You

Today's planetary aspects counsel great caution and care, as the indications point to excessive optimism, or to misunderstanding and doubt. There will be experienced a sense of ability to accomplish too much, or an entire lack of self-confidence and self reliance. The one attitude is just as dangerous as the other. Anything that is risky or speculative should be left entirely alone. Your judgment is liable to be warped, and your usual keenness of perception dulled. The safe course is to pursue the even tenor of your way, not allowing yourself to be led astray by any miragical outlook, nor downcast by doubt or suspicion. The same conditions prevail throughout the entire day.

A child born today will not present that healthy aspect which is desired. It will, apparently, be weak and puny. Appearance, however, are sometimes very deceptive, and, in this case, they will be most emphatically so, as this child will possess great physical resistance and a latent force that will see it successfully through all its troubles. It will be very studious, possess remarkable powers of concentration, and animated, at all times, by generous thoughts and kindly feelings. It will be ambitious, and its qualities of leadership will enable it to shine both in business and social life. Its personality will be dominating, without being disagreeable, or officious.

If today is your birthday, you, by your sunny, cheerful disposition, radiate happiness and dissipate gloom wherever you may be. You never yield to despair, and, even in misfortunes or trials that would overwhelm others, you always see some saving features. You refuse to be discouraged, and never give up the good fight. With it all, your judgment is invariably sound, and you have absolute control over yourself, and your feelings. You like and seek comfort, and generally are able to eliminate from your environment that which is disagreeable or unpleasant. Your friends are, of course, legion-drawn to you by the kindly spirit you exude—and they are as loyal to you as you are to them, and many make you their confidant.

Your home life should be ideally happy, and you receive and give a deep, constant love.

Successful people born on this date are:

John Quincy Adams, 6th president of the United States.
Susan Warner, novelist.
Edward J. Phelps, diplomat.
Austin Corbin, railroad president.
John Wanamaker, merchant.
Henry Abbey, author and poet.

Irrigation

Preparing Land for Farming Before Selling It.

When irrigated lands were first placed on the market to any great extent, which was about 20 years ago, they were sold in their raw state.

When the market for such lands began to decline a number of companies conceived the idea of making each tract of land into a producing farm before selling it.

It was thought that failures would be avoided or minimized. It was also thought that by preparing lands in wholesale lots it could be done much cheaper than the farmer could do it.

Engineers, agriculturists, horticulturists and farm experts were employed to see that the irrigation ditches were correctly laid out and the crops were properly planted and cared for.

The lands were priced s oas to cover all this expense and were sold on long time terms. Long terms were then considered as ten years.

It would certainly seem that selling a producing farm would be more advantageous to both parties. All the years of work in making a raw tract of land into a real farm would be avoided and the farmer could start right off producing money making crops.

Nevertheless it did not work out that way. Just as many failures were made by the men who bought the land as before and just as many land companies went broke.

Perhaps conditions have changed with the years. Any way the government is now proposing that on the new irrigation projects the state in which they are located shall undertake the preparation of the lands for farming before they are sold to the farmers.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

One of Electra's best loved, longest remembered and oldest citizens celebrated his 83rd birthday on Friday, July 10 This was Col. Ed. C. Wilson, who came to Electra just 15 years ago, and has resided here ever since. Mr. Wilson was born in New Orleans, La., July 10, 1842, and served the entire four years in the confederate army. He went out as a captain of Company A of the third Louisiana regiment, but upon arriving in Richmond, the old confederate capital, he was detailed to special service under Gen. Robert E. Lee, who was also a personal friend of Colonel Wilsons. He says he was in many "tight" places during the struggle, but that some how he survived, and as yet is hale and hearty.

Although Colonel Wilson is 83 years old, he is still an active business man, going to his office every day, and is the justice of peace here in Electra. He uses glasses only to read with and does not carry a cane, and in all seems to be much younger. His numerous friends here wish him many more happy birthdays.

FIRE FRIDAY MORNING.

The Electra fire department was called out early Friday morning to the residence owned by Mr. A. J. Gafford at 608 West Roosevelt avenue, but at the present time occupied by the W. M. Youngblood family. The fire caught from an oil stove and although Fire Chief Earl Ray and the entire fire department was on the scene in the course of a very short time, the damages were not great, the paper only being burned off the kitchen walls and slight damages to the furniture.

SANDY BEACH PICNIC.

A party of young people from Electra enjoyed a picnic and swimming party at Sandy Beach Thursday evening. The young people left the city about 8 o'clock in cars and as soon as they arrived they went in for a swim. ### WHOOPING COUGH REPORTED

One Death in Burk From Illness With Complications.

BURKBURNETT, July 10.—A great number of Burkburnett children are suffering with whooping cough over the city but all are standing the epidemic well except where complications with other diseases arise. Only one death has been reported from this condition.

"He'd cut the right hand off for me," came from Martin McKenna. "He'll not forget he fired for me that night."

"Then talk—talk to the Thunderbolt with this!" Into the hands of old Martin slipped the hard ring of a lantern from the rack on the wall. Its glass was clear as crystal, its color was bright, although never before had it left its place in the right-hand niche. Storming around the curve the train was driving directly upon them, not a hundred yards away. In Killarney's eyes glowed a living, vivid flame.

"Talk to her tonight, daddy. Talk to your old Thunderbolt. With the red one!"

A mighty roar burst from old Martin. "Yes, by all the saints, Killarney, and she'll answer back! Jim Curley'll never pass that light from me. He'll stop her in her tracks. Get out and get your lad off his car. You've won him fair and square."

Martin McKenna's arm reached from the window and the red light swung in its arc through the night, a single blazing signal over the walls of the cut. With the rush of a hurricane wind, shrieking and clattering the locomotive of the train shot past. The window of its cab revealed a stumpy figure, hand on the throttle, eyes set stolidly ahead. Killarney's fingers were pressed deep into her father's shoulder, she felt the strange tremor that ran through him. It was in his voice as he turned to her a face from which all the life seemed to have gone. Still rushing, still shrieking, still clattering, the Thunderbolt bore onward down the dusk. There was no answering blast from its whistle.

"Killarney, Killarney, she's broken the faith! The only time I ever called on her and she wouldn't answer. That wasn't Jim Curley in the cab, Killarney. They've sent him out to-night on the other section. The old Thunderbolt's gone by. I guess—I guess I'm too old and forgotten for her to understand by herself."

The girl saw the group in the long windows of the last car in one flashing glimpse as it passed. A young man standing up and looking, it seemed, towards her—on one side of him the heavy figure of an older man, on the other a cool—beautifully-groomed form."

Old Martin McKenna found himself alone. With an unsteady hand he drew down the curtain of the window so that he might not see up the rails the rear lights of a certain speeding express train growing fainter and fainter. From under the crack of the kitchen door behind him a thin yellow gleam was coming.

"Killarney," he called softly, "what are ye doin' there in the kitchen?"

It was a small, shaking voice that answered, "C-crying, daddy. And holding a c-can of asparagus."

"This is Killarney, father," said Scott Revell. It was all too incredible to believe. Far up the tracks stood the lighted cars of the Tunderbolt Flyer in a motionless row while phlegmatically its engineer leaned in the cab window and made remarks to his fireman.

There had been the sound of feet on the narrow stairs leading to the apartment. A swift, tumultuous rapping at the door and it had opened. The face of Killarney McKenna as she rose from the arm of the old wheel chair on the back of which two heads had been close together was a picture of flashing, joy-filled wonder.

"Scott!" She said with a throb to her voice. "You've come? You've really come?" She haled, seeing the impassive figure that bulked big and immovable behind him. Morgan Revell looked levelly into the wide blue eyes that gave him back glance for glance. This was no show girl's pretty photograph, it was glowing, lovely life.

"Yes, I've come," said Scott, quietly. "I've come because I knew what your answer really must be. It's the only answer I'll take in this world, through the door and she took the fastest taxi to New York to me with it like a friend worth having. So that ended one pretty ghastly hour of waiting. After what she'd told the rest was up to me. I went straight on board the car in the section and I gave my father the answer square from the shoulder. Then I was coming right up here to you."

"He told me," broke in Morgan Revell with his eyebrows black and furrowed, "that he sticks to you and everything else can go to the devil. He says that he can trust you to stand by him to the finish. He was so deep in it he never noticed the train had begun to move."

"And then," said Scott swiftly, "your light jumped out of the dark to show me that I was right, after all. I don't know why but I knew when we passed there would be something from you."

"But—but it didn't stop," said Killarney in an amazed whisper.

"When my son here turned to me and said, 'Either you pull that bell cord or I do,' I thought I might as well do it myself and keep him out of jail," observed Morgan Revell drily.

"I see," said Killarney. She dropped one hand to the shoulder of old Martin, upright in his chair and studying the face of the other man with keen eyes. "And now you've thrown Scott off. You've come here with him to tell us that yourself. That's why you stopped the train isn't it?" Her voice became quite calm. "I'm sorry but—well Scott and I just can't go it without each other. That's what my light said. And we'll still have one daddy left."

"That ye will, Killarney," rumbled deep tones from the wheel chair.

"So there we are." There came a defiant lift to the dainty black head. "Just you wait a year or so—then see where Scott and I have got together. You can't hold us back or anybody else."

"I have gathered that, Miss Killarney McKenna. I count on being able to beat most men but not"—his firm hand strayed to Scott's shoulder and Scott stood steady under it, his words in the scene long since spoken—"not myself in this young man with thirty years taken away from me. There's one westbound track down there tied up from end to end by a stalled train because I wanted to see the kind of girl it was who could bring out in him all that he has."

The tiniest dimple appeared in Killarney's cheeks. "And now you know?"

"And now I know. Did you both stop to think that stopping a flyer is a penintentiary offense?"

One glance and one only Killarney McKenna sent to the young man she wanted. It carried a supreme confidence.

"Oh," she said with complete certainty, "Scott would have been waiting at the gate for me whenever I got out."

"I rather think," said Morgan Revell, "that he would." Calmly he stepped forward and held out his hand to the broken figure in the wheel chair. "I let my son tell me the whole story for the first time on the way up here, Mr. McKenna. You and I are not such total strangers, it appears, as you might think. You see I happened to be a passenger in the first car of the Thundrbolt one night a good many years ago when it crashed into a freight in an Indiana fog. Because its engineer stuck to his post I and the rest of that car"—his glance fell for a brief instant to the worn shawl covering the legs which were not of use to Martin McKenna—"have a good deal to congratulate ourselves upon."

"'Twas nothin'," came sturdily from old Martin. "Ye can't do anything for me." An odd deep smile lightened his face. "I'm pretty content myself. I guess maybe somehow it was the old Thunderbolt heard me callin' to her tonight and made ye pull that cord."

"I can say," was the surprising answer, "that I'm glad I did. Now—" Morgan Revell had turned so that he was looking squarely at Killarney and Scott. Oddly enough, he seemed all of a sudden to have been completely forgotten. They presented quite a picture. Already the dark head was coming very close to the young man's shoulder, the blue eyes were shadowed with tenderness. Killarney appeared to be entirely satisfied with the way things were going.

"What's this?" demanded a loud voice as the dark head did reach the shoulder and a young man's arm moved around that slim waist.

"Tell me, Daddy Revell," whispered Killarney, "when you married didn't you do it for love too?"

There was a moment's silence. Morgan Revell broke it—his laugh rang up and down the room. The solid immovableness of him had gone—he was a smiling elderly parent looking, as though his eyes would never grow weary of the sight, at his own son and the girl he had chosen out of a city of four million.

"Killarney McKenna," he said, "I give you up. Is there anything in this world you want that you can't get? But there's one thing"—his tones were raised commandingly and the big eyebrows grew black indeed—"you must give me your word you won't marry this young man until I get back from the west. Do you understand that?"

"Yes, sir," said Killarney demurely. Out of a pocket Morgan Revell drew his watch, glanced at the dial, and snapped it shut.

"Down there in that train a pair of guests are waiting for me," he announced briskly. "One of them—and a very attractive one—ought by now to be about half way through the novel she brought along in case the trip should prove boring. I'd better be getting back. Even influence can't hold an express train stopped forever."

Killarney had left the arm that was completely around her. She danced to Morgan Revell's side. That very best smile—Killarney McKenna's very best smile—was glowing up to him.

"But something else can," she said softly.

SEEK TO KEEP OUT SCIENTIFIC DATA AT TRIAL

Defense Charges Change Of Front by Bryan In Scopes Case

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—(AP)—Both defense and prosecution counsel tonight expressed satisfaction at the expedition with which jury for the trial of John T. Scopes for alleged violation of the Tennessee anti-evolution law was procured today.

With defense attorneys, however, this feeling was mingled with one of surprise at the attitude of the prosecution toward the introduction of testimony. Any effort to go into this phase of the case will be vigorously combatted, Attorney General Stewart said.

Clarence Darrow did not express surprise over the action, but the action brought from Dr. John R. Neal chief defense counsel, and Dudley Field Malone, charges of a "change of "change of front."

"We have moved faster than I expected," Darrow said, "and obtained the kind of a jury I expected—pure fundamentalists."

William Jennings Bryan said:

"Whenever a jury is satisfactory to the attorneys on both sides and to the judge, the public ought not to complain. I thought the case moved along well today."

He expressed great satisfaction over the spirit manifested by both sides. "I think we are going to have very pleasant time together," he said, "and that we shall deal with the question involved in a spirit of harmony with their character and importance."

Malone said: "One of the outstanding developments of the day to my mind was the evident change in the prosecution attitude. They appear to be afraid to face the testimony that we wish to produce from scientific experts of national and international renown. I am pleased at the expedition with which we obtained a jury."

Dr. Neal: "I think the chief development of the day was the change of front of Mr. Bryan. He dared us to bring out testimony to show there was no conflict between the Bible and evolution and now they indicate they will attempt to bar it."

Missing Links About Dayton

DAYTON.—As soon as court convened for the afternoon session, names of prospective jurymen were ordered placed in a hat. The first name drawn by the sheriff was W. F. Robinson. He said he had formed an opinion to some extent of the guilt or innocence of the defendant, but under questioning from the judge he said he could disregard this opinion and bring a verdict from the evidence. He was accepted by both sides and took the first seat in the jury box. He is a school teacher and farmer.

DAYTON LAWYER DISLIKES PUBLICITY.

DAYTON.—John L. Godsey, local counsel for the defense of John Thomas Scopes, admitted today that he had withdrawn from the case. The action was not unexpected, since Mr. Godsey had indicated several weeks ago that he was not in favor of the publicity the case was receiving.

BRYAN SAYS APE LIKENESS NOT GOOD.

DAYTON.—Mr. Bryan, returning to the court room, was shown a caricature representing him as an ape. The Floridian laughed heartily and exclaimed:

"That's a work of art."

Raulston was shown the picture and called to Bryan:

"Colonel, they certainly have you."

Bryan inquired if the artist had not similarly portrayed Darrow. The cartoon was passed from hand to hand around the counsel tables and aroused general merriment.

Mr. Bryan said he did not regard it as "a perfect likeness."

TOURISTS MAKING DAYTON A MECCA.

DAYTON.—The lawn and walks outside were thronged with visitors who included mountaineers and khaki-clad tourists. Motion picture cameras were placed at strategic points to "shoot" the principals in the case as they approached the scene of the evolution trial.

DAYTON.—The only challenge was directed against a minister and farmer. Of the five men in the jury box one hour after the task of selecting the jury began, four were church members.

J. T. Massangale, a Baptist minister, told of having preached on evolution "strictly with the Bible." During the examination of Massengale applause was heard in the court room and a stern warning was sent from the bench for "order in the court."

SCIENTISTS TO BE OPPOSED IS STATE'S VIEW

Prosecution Declares Truth Of Evolution Not At Stake at Trial

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.(AP).—The only issue involved in the Scopes case is whether or not the defendant taught that man descended from a lower order of animals, Attorney General Stewart of the 18th judicial circuit of Tennessee, said in a statement to the Associated Press tonight.

Mr. Stewart issued the statement as a clarification of his views and supporting his contention that the introduction of expert scientific testimony in an effort to show there is no conflict between evolution and the Bible would be irrelevant. The statement follows:

Issues a Statement.

"Since the defense has made known its position concerning the competency of the proposed evidence of scientists tending to show that there is no conflict between evolution and the Bible, I think it but right that our position should also be definitely stated and that it might be understood that we intend to back our position as vigorously as we know how.

"The proposed evidence of the scientists would tend to show that there is no conflict between the Bible and science because they claim that the evolutionary process was simply the method by which God created man.

"It is my understanding that Mr. Scopes will not deny that he taught to the students in the high schools of Rhea county that man descends from a lower order of animals.

Only One Issue.

"If this be true, he is guilty of the violation of the law and all the evidence of scientists within his reach cannot save him. The law itself says that it shall not be taught to the students in the public schools that man descended from a lower order of animals.

"That is the issue and the only issue in this case. Whether Scopes taught this or did not teach it. Scientists might claim that man descended from a lower order of animals by the process of God's creation, but this can make no difference. The law says such cannot be taught.

"If such evidence should be gone into by both sides, that is, if the defense should undertake to show that there is no conflict between the Bible and evolution by expert witnesses and the state likewise show by expert witnesses that there is conflict, it would become a never-ending proposition and would in the end be but a babble of tongues.

"Such evidence is incompetent and our stand in the matter is a definite and determined one."

WHY DELAY PITCHERS

Sports Writer Claims Pitchers Are Abused.

Why all the delay in perking pitchers? Why the sympathy for the hurler who finds things breaking badly for him in a game? Who says pitchers are being abused and injured by being yanked quickly from the mound without sufficient reasons? asks Les Goates in the Salt Lake Desert News.

We take violent exception to the remark sometimes heard hereabouts that pitchers are being abused and injured in this respect. The plea has been made that these pitchers soon come to lose all confidence in themselves after they have been withdrawn two or three times. They are said to feel that they won't get by for long, no matter what happens. The psychological effect is supposed to be detrimental and all that.

When you stop to figure that the pitcher is the backbone of a ball team's defense, you wonder why managers tolerate their wobbling as much as they do. The man on the mound literally starts 90 per cent of the plays in a game. The pitcher, either directly or indirectly, controls every play in which the batter figures. On his delivery depends absolutely the success or failure of the batter to reach a base. The pitcher's value in nullifying the batter's efforts to steal bases, hit and run, work a squeeze play, send out a sacrifice fly—plays the all-important part in the success of his team. The alertness of the pitcher in watching base runners in between deliveries can aid or deter the opposition in its attack.

By reason of his part in every play, his position on the field and his knowledge of the batters and ability to employ that knowledge, the pitcher is overwhelmingly the key pin of a ball club's defense. That defense crumbles the minute he weakens. Human power to overcome this break is extremely limited. Clever fielding and heavy hitting can only compensate for a small part of this deficiency.

A PARDON FROM MA

DALLAS, July 10.—C. R. Crawford, Fort Worth, sentenced to 90 days in jail for driving while intoxicated, was released here this afternoon under a pardon from Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, after he had paid costs of $210. For a time it seemed that Crawford might have to remain in jail, as the costs had not been paid.

This Is Bryan's Challenge—

THE contest is a duel to the death.

We will fight this case to a victory.

In the past it has been a death grapple in the dark. Now it will be a death grapple in the light.

Shall the people rule the United States? If not, who shall? The Tennesse law is based upon the theory that the people, speaking through the legislature, have a right to control the public schools. We have more than 25,000,000 children in schools and we spend on education nearly $2,000,000,000 a year. Who is to control the expenditure of the money and the teaching of the children?

Some of the irreligious editors have scoffed at the idea of the schools being controlled by those who support them, but they have not yet pointed out any other control than control by the public.

This Is Darrow's Challenge—

CIVILIZATION is on trial.

We lost our spirit of tolerance about half a generation ago and it has thrown us back in the scale of evolution so we are more like monkeys than we were in 1905.

The man on the street is raising to the realization that his sacred rights are menaced. When that sort of realization crystalizes, it can raise more hell than red fire and mob excitement.

What America needs to know, and what it seems to be realizing as revealed in its interest in this case, is that the fundamental bedrock of liberty is tolerance, and that tolerance means a willingness to let other people do, think, act and live as we think is NOT right; the antithesis of this is intolerance, and means we demand the right to make others live as we think IS right, not as THEY think is right. Nothing exemplifies intolerance more concisely and clearly than the law under which Scopes is to be tried.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GUILTY PARTIES

When a tiny creeping creature
Crawling o'er the ocean sand
Thought that he would be a feature
Of the region called the land,
And in every briny bubble
Saw a rainbow bright with hopes,
He was merely making trouble.
For the future Mr. Scopes.

When this animal's descendants
Cast their shells and sprouted feet
In the radiant resplendence
Of the semi-tropic heat,
And quite free at last from oceans,
On the grass and herbage fed—
They were merely putting notions
Into Mr. Scopes'es head.

When such things went on for ages,
Till the cooling world was rife
With all sorts of changing stages
Of the thing that we call life;
And with fury, hate or terror
Beasts would growl, or hiss or screech—
They were just creating Error
For young Mr. Scopes to teach.

Not a shadow of suspicion
Ever crossed a creature's mind,
In that primitive condition,
Of the evoluting kind,
While their course was straight and steady
Up toward Heaven all the while,
They were merely making ready
For Professor Scopes'es trial.

Pap Peyton, Texas Longhorn slab artist, stepped out Friday afternoon on the Twilight diamond in fine form and chunked the Texhoma, first half champs, to a 5-0 win over Ludlam and Riggs. Peyton was a bit wild in the early innings, but come through later and, gaining control of the pellet, bore down on the Smithians to allow them but five scattered hits, four of which were divided between Powell and Randel.

Griffin started for Ludlam and Riggs, but got off to a wild start. Len Smith took up the burden in the third with one and one down. Len made his great comeback on the hill by whiffing Ross and Peyton. Kellogg's single, and walks to Gordon and Kizziar filled the bases. Johnnie McMahon stoped one with his back, forcing in Kellogg. Gerard Boone was passed, forcing in Gordon. Ross singled to left, scoring Kizziar and McMahon, for Texhoma's four in the first.

Gets in a Tight Pinch

In the first and third innings Peyton was forced to battle in a tight pinch. With the bases full he forced Frank Shaw to pop one to the box in the first inning. In the third with the bases again full and two down he whiffed Freddie Boone. After Len Smith took up the burden the game settled down to a pitchers' duel, with Payton holding the edge by the four run start.

The only marker off Len Smith came in the fifth. Kizziar was safe on Randel's bobble. McMahon singled to right sending Kizziar to third, and taking second on the throw-in. Gerard Boone bunted in front of the plate for a neat sacrifice bunt, but Len Smith tossed to Doke who tagged Kizziar, after the runner had made no effort to slide. McMahon went to third. Ross skied to Frank Shaw, McMahond scored after the catch. Boone took second on the throw to the plate and stole third, but Peyton popped out to first.

Threaten in Sixth

Texhoma threatened to score in the sixth but failed to come through with the needed puuch. Johnson was hit with a pitched ball. He latter stole second while Kellogg was striking out. Gordon chopped one through the box that got by Len Smith, it looked like a sure hit until Hank Shaw came in to scoop it up and throw him out at first. Johnson went to third. Thompson took two healthy cuts at the ball, the grounded out Brown to Ward. The score:

SPUD SHOOK CATS IN TWO TILTS TODAY

Osborn Takes to Hilltop In First Game At 2:30

Cats and Spudders, knocked out of opening the scheduled three-game series at Spudder-park Friday, will hook up in a bargain bill this afternoon, the first game starting at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced Friday noon at Wichita Falls baseball headquarters.

The Panthers, en route to Wichita Falls Friday morning from Shreveport, were held up near Big Sandy awaiting the clearing away of a wreck on the Texas and Pacific track.

Big Boys on Hill.

Manage Tanner has six six-footers on his hurling staff to select from. Practically all are ready to go with the exception of Big Jim Roberts, who chunked in Dallas Thursday. It'll probably be Osborn in the first game and Suds Sutherland in the aftermath.

Just who John Jacob Atz, the cunning, will send against the threatening Spudders is a question. However, Cowbelle, the cup reporter, avers it will be Wachtel and Pate. Ralph Head, of course, is still a member of the Cat staff.

The Cats were fortunate in being knocked out of the Friday encounter, avers Dick Morgan, who some believe to be the greatest pitcher in the league. Cowtowners were worn out following two tough extra inning sessions with Shreveport's Sports, and would have proved easy meat for the Spudders yesterday, one rabid fan declared.

Now it'll be more difficult to take three staight, opines Secretary J. Will Gray, but the great man declared that it was quite possible the Spudders would accomplish just exactly that.

INDICT WAITER FOR MURDER

CHICAGO BALL PLAYER MIXED IN TAXI RUCKUS

Brett and Pittenger Also Arrested With Service Car Driver

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Walter (Rabbit) Maranville, manager of the Chicago National league baseball club, with Pitcher Herbert Brett and Shortstop Clark Pittenger of the same club, and George Warner, a chauffeur, were locked up on disorderly conduct charges tonight after participating in a free-for-all fight at Forty-second and Broadway.

The affray caused a complete tie-up of traffic during the six o'clock rush hour.

Warner described, himself at the police station as a former pugilist. Neither he nor the police were aware of the identity of the ball players until the men's pedigrees were taken for booking.

The Cub players had been riding in a taxicab operated by Warner and had just alighted at Times Square when an argument started which reached its climax in a pitched battle which drew a crowd of thousands.

Half a dozen traffic policemen had to use their pocket sticks to break their way through the throng and reach the contestants.

All the men were placed in Warner's cab and taken to a police station where they all expressed regret over the occurrence.

None of the participants in the fight were seriously hurt, although Warner, Brett and Pittinger had been struck many times about the face and body. Maranville, police said, seemed to have been acting in the role of peacemaker when they arrived. The trouble arose over a 40-cent taxicab fare, which Warner charged them for riding around the block, they told the police.

The ball players with the rest of the Chicago team were here for a series between the Cubs and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The first game of the series today was called off on account of rain.

Magnolias And Texas Hardware Win At Electra

ELECTRA, July 10.—The Magnolias romped over the Lions club Wednesday for a 11 to 1 win in the local Twilight race. The first half champs found the offerings of Shanafelt and Austin to their liking and pounded out a total of 11 safeties in the five innings.

The Lions could do no more than get four safeties off of Stimpson's slants, two of which were infield hits by Scott and another infield hitter, Hunt. The other hit made off of Stimpson was a triple to left by Totten who scored while Ray was throwing out Marvant at first for the Lions only counter in the third round.

Troy Ray made a nice stop and throw of Marvant's grounder in the third to shut off a threatened rally by the Lions.

Texas Hardware Continues To Win.

Conyers pitched a great game for the league five times in the second round and the Texas Hardware won over the Texhomas by a 5 to 1 count. Conyers held the losers to two hits, one a freak single by Starks and the other a circuit crash by Hutchins which scored the Texhoma's only run. Watson relieved Jarrett in the box for the Texhomas in the third and held the hardware swatters helpless the remainder of the way.

C. Scheurer of the hardware crew connected for a homer in the second and started the rally that netted the winners their only tallies. Awtrey, Hickman, Hanna, Brown and J. Scheurer got singles which, coupled with an error accounted for the four other counters.

Tigers Sweep Up In Red Sox Series

DETROIT, July 10.—(AP)—Detroit made a clean sweep of the four-game series with Boston here today, 5 to 1. The game was a pitchers' battle throughout, Holloway had the better of it until the ninth when he became wild and Doyle was sent to the box. With one out, two on bases, and the count 3 to 1, Stokes hit to Tavener, who made an unassisted double play to clinch the game for the Tigers.

Heilmann rapped out a single, double and triple, drove in three runs and scored one run himself. Score:

Nine 3-Year-Olds Face Starter in Chicago's Derby

Silver Fox and American Flag Regarded As Favorites

CHICAGO, July 10.—(AP).—A field of nine of the nation's best three-year-olds were named tonight to face the starter in the $20,000 Chicago derby at a mile and a quarter at Hawthorne tomorrow evening. With every reserved seat sold, the Hawthorne management is figuring on a crowd in excess of 35,000, providing weather conditions remain favorable.

Gifford A. Cochran's Dangerous, which ran second to American Flag in the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct July 4, and Silver Fox, owned by Harry F. Sinclair, were regarded as two to one favorites tonight, to capture the rich prize. Silver Fox finished third in the Dwyer stakes. Kank Nadi, owned by J. J. Troxler, is regarded as a dark horse, along with Kentucky Cardinal.

Arbitration, with Carl Sane, America's premier jockey in the saddle will draw considerable attention because of Sande's achievement in winning the $50,000 Kentucky derby with Flying Ebony, a field horse. If Arbitration wins tomorrow turf experts say that it will be Sande's superior horsemanship rather than the speed of the horse.

Clarence Kummer will ride Dangerous, while Jockey L. Fator will have a leg up on Silver Fox. Harry Stutts will pilot King Nadi, while Jockey E. Scobey will ride Mark Master.

King Nadi, Silver Fox and Kentucky Cardinal were given light workouts today. Silver Fox breezed a half mile in 0:50 2-5, stepping the first quarter in 0:24 2-5. King Nadi breezed three-quarters in 1:20.

White Sox Edge Out on Champs In Slugging Tilt

CHICAGO, July 10.—(AP)—The White Sox batted the world champion Senators to an even break in their series here by taking the final game, 10 to 9. Marberry Washington's relief pitcher was the victim of the Chicago winning assault and they bombarded him for five hits, one double by Davis, which put over the tying and winning runs in the seventh inning. It was Johnny Mostil's day and he celebrated the occasion by giving out four hits and being hit by a pitched ball and scoring three of his club's runs in five trips to the plate. Score:

WHITE TAKES VERDICT OVER PAT CORBETT

Bullger Eearns Decision In Six Rounds With Jennings

Tommy White, Texas City welter, won the referee's decision in the 12-round Pat Carrigan post, American Legion, main event Friday night in the Legion arena, over Pat Corbett, Oklahoma City battler.

Neither mauler was damaged to any appreciable extent. White was the aggressor, and in the early rounds seemed sure of taking the verdict by a wide margin. He outboxed Corbett in the first, and punched away at close range in the second, scoring repeatedly. The Texas City mug masseur earned a shade in the third, but Corbett put up a better defense the rest of the way, and at times took the lead.

Corbett Surprised

Neitler scrapper apparently extended himself. Each fought cautiously, and the milling was done mostly in the clinches. White scored more cleanly. Corbett appeared in trouble in the final round and somewhat weary, but displayed surprise when Referee Tommy Marvin raised White's starboard mitt, signifying the latter was the victor on points.

Battling Bullger of Dallas earned a verdict over Battling Jennings in a six-rounder. Jennings was unable to land effectively. Bullger depended on an overhand slapping right that in the manner delivered could not break a window pane, but he scored repeatedly and really had the edge on the fight.

Denton-Bernard Draw

Jack Denton, Tahoka lightweight, and Joe Bernard of Seattle fought six rounds to a referee's draw decision. Denton earned a shade in the first and third rounds, and possibly deserved an edge in the second. Bernard led in the final three cantos which under the circumstances ordinarily should give him the decision.

Lefty Amos, Senegambian, slapped his way to a victory over Kid Nelson, another son of Ham, in a four-rounder. Lefty devoted half of his time in the ring to charging and tackling his opponent, the other half to clipping away with his open hand.

There was a curtain raiser between a pair of midgets.

WOOL.

BOSTON, July 10.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

The London colonial wool auctions have confined the soundness of the recent rise in wool prices in this country and show that the position of the raw material the world over is a healthy one. The sales have shown a hardening tendency on all descriptions, crow breds being fully on the May level while merinos are generally five per cent higher. The river plate and Cape markets are rising also and offerings of skin wool privately from Australia are higher.

In the west buying progresses slowly but steadily with values advancing.

Mohair is slow but fairly steady.

Quotations:

Secured basis:

Texas fine 12 months selected $1.35; fine 8 months $1.20@1.25; Mohair: best combing 75@80c; best carding 65@70c.

LONDON, July 10.—A fair selection amounting to 10,188 bales was offered at the wool auctions today. Continental buyers were especially active and recent vales were firmly maintained.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Stock prices turned reactionary today on selling apparently inspired by the marketing up of call money rates to four and one-half per cent, the disappointing U. S. Steel tonnage report for June and the failure of the oil shares to respond to an increase in Mid-Continent crude prices. While isolated points of strength delevoped in several sections of the list, net losses of a point or two were scattered throughout the list at the close. Trading slowed up somewhat in volume although the day's sales ran avobe a million shares. Reduction of nearly 340,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel corporation last montm, compared with earlier Wall Street estimates of 300,000 tons. Except for tthe acute weakness of the pipe shares, the preferred issues of which broke to new low levels for the year, the steels held up relatively well. U. S. Steel common closed fractionally higher at 115⅛, while Bethlehem Steel was bid up nearly two points to 41¼ and then eased slightly. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe broke 10 points to 150 or just 100 points below the year's high, and then rallied over two points and Universal Pipe common closed 1½ lower at 20¼, while the preferred showed a net loss of 2½ after selling as low as 65.

Steady acumulation of Dodge Brothers common, which was bid up over two points to a record price at 20¼, in anticipation of a favorable semi-annual earnings report was one of the day's features. General Motors 7 per cent preferred also attained new high ground, but further weakness cropped out in the Pierce-Arrow issues, Mack Trucks, General Motors common and some of the other issues in that group. A renewed demand was noted for Fisher Body.

Oils showed little life despite the announcement of an increase in Mid-Continent crude prices.

A sudden demand for Rock Island common, which lifted that stock nearly three points to 47¼, enlived the late trading in the railroad group. Most of the other carriers were heavy, although the net loses as a rule were fractional.

Call money renewed at 3½ per cent, advanced to 4 and thence to 4¼, closing at the top. The heavy vacation and week-end demands for funds and the temporary withdrawal of balances by interior banks were generally held responsible for the scarcity of loanable funds. A temporarily stiffening also was noted in the time money market, the longer maturities being quoted at 5 to 4½ per cent instead of on a 4 per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged. Foreign exchange rates moved within rather narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling ruled firm around 485¾ and French francs at 4.68 cents. Scandinavin exchanges were relatively strong.

MOTHER

rented car made a clean get-away and caught a train for San Antonio at a nearby station at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Warns Strangers.

She is not only ready to defend possession of the boy in the courts, but "the next strange man or person that comes in this yard and cannot give satisfactory account of his presence will be summarily dealt with," the mother declared as she exhibited a large calibre automatic revolver.

"Mother started to shoot the man we know was implicated in kidnaping Roscoe last April and I prevented her from doing it by taking the gun from her.'

Mrs. Canaday declared the last year of her life had been made "miserable by constant harassing that would have to cease."

Mrs. Canaday said she caught a Southern Pacific train at Scherts Saturday night, June 27, and arrived at Forest Hills, N. Y., Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, June 30.

She said that her disguise consisted only of large shell rimmed glasses, concealment of her red hair and minor items of dress and facial makeup. On arrival at her destination she went at once to her task of perfecting plans for spiriting her son away in event the adverse court action, which she said she expected, materialized.

Lost Extradition

On Monday, July 6, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Judge Levy of the New York superior court dismissed extradition charges she had filed against her husband, which would have forced him to come to Texas and bring the child.

"When I saw my last legal relief take flight in this decision I at once decided to act," she said.

"That evening and night four unsuccessful attempts were made to get possession of the boy. From a house diagonally across the block from the boy's residence on Fleet street we watched him constantly. Twice he came in the back yard to play and both times we took the waiting car and drove around the block to the house but both times he had gone back into the house when we arrived."

"The fifth attempt proved successful. "After I snatched his from the front porch I made a dash across the lawn with him.

Pursuit Starts.

"Private detectives as soon as they saw the child and he trumbled in tthe car started pursuit and no doubt would have overtaken us but for the timely aid of an army of workmen engaged in building several apartment houses o nthat street. The workmen swarmed into the street with their trucks and cars and after we had passed blocked traffic."

By the time the jaam was cleared, she had charged cars, she said, and was well on her way to Texas and safety. She caught the train at a nearby station, the name of which she would not divulge.

Her father, P. B. Caldwell, whom she lives with, apologized for the "fiction" he and his wife had told San Antonio police and newspapers concerning the case and his daughter's whereabouts.

According to Mr. Caldwell, a young woman relative, whose name he would not disclose, assisted in the hoax practised on San Antonio police and newspapers by keeping herself confined to a "sick bed" and posing as Mrs. Canaday. The young woman resembled Mrs. Canaday closely, and only close friends of the family knew of the actual facts, he said.

"Until we knew our daughter and Roscoe were safe in Texas we were willing to do anything or tell anything to shield her," he said. "All is fair in love or war and this is both. Many of our friends have helped us by convincing inquirers that Virginia was here, sick in bed.'

RAIN FAILS TO HALT GIRLS IN COUNTY CAMP

Final Day of Encampment Brings Forth Round Of Pleasure

Rain did not daunt the Wichita County Girls' club Thursday night at Coleman Pecan grove, because tables were plentiful and high. Friday morning the day was opened as usual by swimming. Then the plans for the final day were worked out.

A hunt for a pot of gold lead the groups of girls made to pursue different trails in the quest, to a box of plums instead, and immediate devourment. This was followed by a pep meeting and then a watermellon feast as a treat from one of the chaperones, Miss Mima Stringer of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce. Another swim and lunch were followed by a business meeting at which motions were passed that letters be sent to the parties that had been so unusually thoughtful of the girls' comfort during their encampment. As a small token of their appreciation the remainder of the food was given to the cook who had been so faithful and tireless. After a final policing of the camp a truck sent by the Wichita Ice company took the girls into Iowa Park where a final pep meeting was held, and yells given for Iowa Park and the chamber of commerce there.

All of the girls were unanimous in their vote that a general good time was had, and plans for the next year encampment were in anticipation.

SWANSON FUNERAL TODAY

Brick Masons Will Be in Charge of Services Here.

Funeral services for Axell Swanson, age 43, who died at his home, 2305 Princeton avenue, yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, following a short illness, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Merkel undertaking parlors. Interment will be made in the Rosemont burial park.

Mr. Swanson was a brick mason and the members of the local union will have charge of the services.

SHOOTS SELF, WILL RECOVER

Sherman Man Buys Own Casket, Then Tries to Kill Self

DALLAS, July 10.—Recovery of Frank Kote, 72, well known business man of Sherman, who sent a bullet through his breast here today just as he finished purchasing a casket and a burial suit for himself, was practically assured by attending physicians tonight. Clerks at the undertaking parlors said Kote fired the shot, which missed the heart only an inch, before they realized he meant to take his life.

Contains only Government inspected meats seasoned with spices and Eagle Chili Powder. Prepared in a spotless, sun-lit kitchen. Most good grocers sell and recommend it. One trial will convince.

Danger Signals Of Indigestion

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "let-down" in tone and vigor on account of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tells us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, un-refreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price. One Dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Ferraline today from your druggist. The Ferraline Co., Atlanta, Ga. —Adv.

The Old Home Town

Friday passed without a single building permit being issued by the county clerk. It was the first day this week this has happened.

Seven cases were called for trial Friday morning in city police court. All were on charges of traffic violations.

The chemical truck of the central station was called out at 3:30 Friday afternoon to combat a small grass and trash fire at the Sunshine Consolidated Refinery on the Iowa Park road. No damage was done.

The many friends of Mrs. T. A. Bradley will be glad to learn that she is rapidly recovering from a recent operation and will be removed from the general hospital to her home at 1903 Tilden street today.

Only two marriage licenses were issued Friday by the county clerk's office. They were as follows: William Odis Brewer, Lawton, Okla., and Miss Ona Georgette Stearns, Lawton, Okla.; Otis Taul Hart, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Odo Johnstoon, Waco.

"PLAY IN POOL" ARE FINED

Two young men whose antics in a local swimming pool Thursday night aroused the ire of a number of ladies in swimming were fined $5 and costs Friday morning when they were found guilty on charges of disorderly conduct. They were given a hearing by Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn and paid their fines, amounting to over $16 a piece.

Ladies in the pool complained that the men were annoying them, and when the pair refused to leave at the request of the management, Constable Bradford was called to arrest them.

NO LABOR SHORTAGE

AUSTIN, July 10.—No summer labor shortage in Texas is anticipated by E. J. Crocker, state labor commissioner. "Reports from every section of the state indicate Texas will not have to draw on other states for labor to harvest the summer crops. The over-supply of labor in Central and Southwest Texas, due to drouth, should be absorbed by the demand for laborers in West, East, and North Texas," he said.

15 BILLS OF INDICTMENT IN SECOND REPORT

30th District Grand Jury Will Finish Work Saturday

Fifteen more bills of indictment were returned late Friday afternoon by the grand jury of the Thirtieth district court in a second partial report made to Judge H. R. Wilson. It was stated last night by District Attorney Ben Allred that the jury today would probably make another report and adjourn indefinitely, holding itself subject to recall at any time. A few more odds and ends remain to be cleaned up, Mr. Allred said, but the bulk of the work has been finished.

No capital cases were included in the bills returned yesterday, most of which alleged violation of the liquor laws or theft statutes. Only one of the defendants named was in the county jail last night. He was Louis Meadows, held on two indictments charging burglary.

Capiases have been issued by the district clerk to the sheriff and arrest of the others is expected to come within the next day or two.

YOUNG EXECUTIVE

DALHART, Texas, July 10.—The youngest superintendent of a school system as large as the one in this city is said to be Doyle Jackson, superintendent of Dalhart public schools. Although he is only 26, Jackson is the chief executive of a high school, attended by several hundred students, and two ward schools. He was elected last fall, and filled the post with such satisfaction that he was re-elected this spring.

Jackson is a graduate of Texas university, and is attending the summer session of that institution doing work toward his master of arts degree. He previously taught for two years at Marfa.

Mrs. Jackson, also a graduate of Texas university, teaches music in the local schools.

BEST WAY TO PINCH AUTO VISITORS TO CITY

"Take a tip from Oklahoma City in the matter of courtesy," is the advice of a local business man who returned yesterday from a business trip to the Oklahoma capitol.

It seems that he parked his auto on a business street there and returned some time later to find a tag attached to the steering wheel.

"Ho—Oh, I'm pinched," he thought.

But an inspection revealed the following inscription:

"Welcome to Oklahoma City. Park anywhere you like and stay as long as you like. We're glad you're here."

REPORTS SHOW FARMS LOSING IN POPULATION

Farms Have Almost Two Hundred Thousand Less in 1925

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP).—The department of agriculture estimated today that the farm population of the United States decreased last year approximately 182,000. The rural population was placed at 31,134,000 January 1, compared with 31,316,000 a year earlier.

The statistics showed various movements. New England and the south Atlantic states reported net increases of farm population, while the other divisions showed losses, with the mountain states leading in the decline.

Although the balance is still in favor of cityward migration, the figures were held to show a back-to-the-farm movement. In 1922, the movement from the city to the farm was 880,000, which was 516,000 fewer than in 1924, while the movement away from the farm was 2,000,000, only 75,000 fewer than last year.

PATTON HAS COPIES MADE OF FOOD LAW

Will Distribute Them To Food Handlers in The City

Copies of the city ordinance regulating the sale of food products in Wichita Falls are being printed in pamphlet form by the health department and are to be distributed to cafe operators and the public generally as an aid to the sanitary campaign now being waged here.

Commissioner Patton believes that numerous minor infractions of the sanitary code are brought about through ignorance of the and that a better understanding of the regulations will result in a closer observance of them.

The pamphlets will be ready for distribution in a few days.

KICKS ON PEN PLANS

Irwin Protests Plan to House Federal Men at Huntsville.

DALLAS, July 10.—Protesting against the transfer of federal prisoners to the Texas prisons without a thorough investigation, Representative T. K. Irwin today wired Attorney General Sargent in Washington, calling his attention to the finding of the Texas investigating committee and of the Texas committee on prisons and prison labor. Mr. Irwin described Texas prisons "archaic and mediaeval".

"I am astounded that any official of the Texas state prison system should make such a bid," Mr. Irwin said, quoting a Washington dispatch that the warden of the Texas state penitentiary at Huntsville had made a bid to care for 100 to 500 federal prisoners. He declared that Texas prisons are vastly inferior to federal prisons.

BODY OF BLAST VICTIM TO BE BROUGHT HERE

J. H. Richie Killed Near Megargel When High Explosive goes Off

MEGARGEL, July 10.—The body of J. H. Richie, well shooter for the Mendenthall Torpedo company of Wichita Falls, who was instantly killed two miles west of here this morning in a premature explosion of six quarts of nitro-glycerine, in the rear of his car, was taken to Seymour late this afternoon, to be forwarded to his home in Wichita Falls for burial tomorrow.

The accident occurred while Richie was en route to the Rhea-Massie, Mills number 1, to shoot casing. He had just finished shooting another well a short distance away and was driving over in his truck to the other well. It is believed that the jolt from some bump in the road shook the high explosive on the car. There were no eye-witnesses to the tragedy, though the report was heard in Mergargel.

Richie's body was badly mangled by the blast and his car demolished. He was thrown approximately 90 yards by the force of the blast, and was dead when oil workers nearby rushed to the scene.

An inquest was held over the body late this afternoon by Seymour officials but no verdict was returned at the time. The body was carried overland to Seymour shortly afterward.

Richie is survived by his widow and two small children, 1504 Eighth street and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richie of Hillsboro.

New Comedy Here For the Palace All Next Week

The Palace theatre announces the booking of a new musical revue for a several weeks' run beginning Monday. The new company is the Ches Davis Musical Revue of New York, said to be one of the best on the entire circuit. It is one of the three oldest established musical comedies on tour, according to Fred Hoenscheidt, manager of the local theatre.

This company has had a record of playing to capacity houses in all the larger cities of the country, having a cast of notable musical and dancing stars, including Ches Davis in his famous blackface role.

The company also co-stars "The Inimitable eccentric comedian, Kennedy Brenna, the mayor of Laughland," who has the distinction of being the originator of the comical character that is so well known to the American public as "Smallz," the man that is funny before he speaks.

Another celebrated character featured by this company is Mart Moran, Irish comedian, known the country over as "Jiggs" in the New York production of "Maggie and Jiggs."
