If you're on the verge of taking off for a vacation of fishing, or engaging in other water sports, remember that it is against the law to capture or harm an alligator in Texas.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has reminded that alligators in the state are protected, regardless of how small, how cute or how large and ferocious they appear.

Each summer, they say, people knowingly or unknowingly capture or kill the reptiles out of fear or with some profit motive in mind.

Department officials estimate that between 15,000 and 20,000 alligators still populate Texas swamps, lakes and brackish lagoons. They were much more populous in Texas and throughout the southern part of the nation before heavy hide hunting pressure thinned their numbers.

Now, under protection of the law in most states, the alligator has made a comeback in many areas, but still is considered one of the nation's endangered species.

The local delegation going to Austin tomorrow for a session with the Texas Highway Commission is hopeful that plans for a road to serve the Western Texas College campus can be implemented simultaneously with the development of the campus itself. Under consideration is a completely new road from Texas 208 (the Colorado City Highway) to Texas 350 (the Big Spring Highway). And representatives of the local agencies involved report that the District Highway Engineer has indicated that a full-fledged state highway is desirable for the relatively short segment, rather than a Farm Road. They believe there will be plenty of traffic to justify a road by the college built to regular state highway specifications. The junior college board, county commissioners and city council will be represented in the delegation appearing before the commission at Austin. The city and county also are seeking a grade separation at the intersection of Huffman Avenue and U. S. 84.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, June 3, the 154th day of 1970. There are 211 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1940, the Allied evacuation from France was completed in World War II. Some 337,000 British, French and Belgian troops had been transported to England.

On this date:

In 1821, the Dutch West India Company received a charter of New Netherlands — now New York.

In 1808, Confederate President Jefferson Davis was born in what is now Todd County, Ky.

In 1935, the French liner Normandie broke a speed record on its maiden voyage, crossing the Atlantic in 4 days, 11 hours.

In 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore in France.

In 1962, a jetliner carrying an Atlanta, Ga., group on an art tour crashed at Paris, killing 30 persons.

In 1966, a Surveyor 1 spacecraft was relaying back pictures of the lunar surface after making America's first soft landing on the moon.

Ten years ago: Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker was conferring with officials in Washington about defense, world trade and other questions.

Five years ago: Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White were launched into orbit aboard a Gemini spacecraft for a four-day flight in orbit around the earth.

One year ago: President Nixon, speaking at Gen. Beadle State College at Madison, S. D., urged the nation to heed the demands of the young for honesty in American life.

Senate Nixes A Free Hand In Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected a proposal to give the President a free hand in Cambodia so long as Communists hold Americans prisoner there.

The setback for the administration came only hours before President Nixon was scheduled to go before a national television-radio audience with what is expected to be an optimistic progress report on the campaign in Cambodia.

The Senate test was on an administration-backed proposal by Kansas Republican Robert J. Dole designed to negate the Cooper-Church amendment that would bar funds for U.S. operations in Cambodia after June 30.

Although defeat of the Dole proposal, which called for allowing the President to use U.S. forces in Cambodia as long as American troops were held prisoner there, had been expected, the action reportedly would not affect Nixon's remarks, scheduled for 9 p.m. EDT.

The President set his speech after meeting with defense and military leaders over the weekend when he reportedly was given optimistic accounts of the month-old Cambodian campaign.

The President's Indochina policy also was under attack in the House today where antiwar members argued for a rider to a bill raising the national debt limit that they said was aimed at forcing a faster withdrawal of U.S. troops from Southeast Asia.

The vote on the Dole proposal was the first real indication of Senate feeling concerning the measure sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to curb Nixon's powers in Cambodia after June 30, the date the President set for withdrawing all American forces from that country.

Chances for a quick vote on the Cooper-Church amendment itself remained dim since three senators Tuesday accepted the President's invitation to go on a week-long tour of Cambodia and Vietnam.

Republicans John Tower of Texas and George Murphy of California and Democrat Howard Cannon of Nevada scheduled their departure today, along with four House members, three governors and two Nixon advisers.

Sen. Church Tuesday called the Dole proposal a travesty. The truth, he said, is "the longer our forces stay in Cambodia the more vulnerable they will be to capture—and to being killed—by the enemy."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., added that if fair and humane treatment is to be obtained for prisoners, "we must stop tying their rights to unrelated political controversies both foreign and domestic."

Church charged the Dole measure would arouse false expectations among families of prisoners and give them "hopes that simply cannot be fulfilled merely by passing a bill."

Dole, however, said repeatedly the "question is, does the President have the right to rescue Americans wherever they may be?"

This is a false issue, Church

Inflation Fight Not Effective

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of four businessmen in a new poll say the government's anti-inflation efforts have flopped, echoing the persistent sentiment of organized labor and a group of congressional Democrats.

Of the 712 businessmen answering a poll by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce magazine Nation's Business, 540 said President Nixon's efforts were going badly or there was no improvement in inflation.

"We have the worst inflation in 20 years," AFL-CIO economist Nathan Goldfinger said Tuesday. "I would not rule out a depression, but the current situation certainly is one of economic recession, and the economic recession is getting worse."

In other developments Tuesday the stock market's four-day rally stalled after a gain of nearly 80 points, and House Democrats introduced a bill to give the President power to impose the wage-price controls he opposes.

The Nation's Business survey will be published in the magazine's July edition. Every three months the magazine polls one of two alternating groups of 1,500 businessmen. About half respond each time.

This time 712 responded, with 540 seeing no improvement or worse and 172 seeing at least slight improvement. Six months ago, when the same 1,500 were polled, 762 responded. Of them only 344 saw no improvement or were dissatisfied, and 417 saw at least some improvement.

Grand Jury Returns 20 Indictments

A Scurry County grand jury yesterday afternoon returned 20 criminal indictments.

Nine persons were indicted for assault with intent to murder. Eight of them — Gary Durst, Eddie Melvin Cobb, Eric David Clay, Brad Allen Morgan, Jimmy Shannon, Lelton Hoyle, Billy Coots and Gene Barnes — allegedly were involved in shooting incidents in the downtown square area and in Southeast Snyder April 26.

The other person indicted on a similar charge was John David Rollins. He allegedly assaulted Keith Ainsworth with a knife May 9.

Indicted on charges of driving while intoxicated: second offense, were Gene Barnes, William Eugene Graham, Lewis Stewart Smith, and Leonard Carl Heath.

William T. Pettijohn, Donald Beene and Mike Hernandez were indicted for burglary.

Gary Sturdivant was indicted on a charge of statutory rape.

Conversion by bailee indictments were brought against Jack Goswick and Tommy Baker.

John Thomas Withee of Sweetwater was indicted for driving while intoxicated, but this case was transferred to the jurisdiction of county court.

The grand jury returned five "no-bills" after investigating charges against Elmer Clyde Wallace, Doc Ross, Darrell Johnson, Kerry Dean Mills and Eldon Ray Morris.

War Critics Aim At Debt Ceiling

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House war critics, in an effort aimed at speeding withdrawal of American troops from Southeast Asia, opened a drive today to attach a $6 billion defense spending cut to President Nixon's request for a debt ceiling hike.

Before debate opened today, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, said his spending cut proposal would "suggest ... not only that troops should be withdrawn more promptly but that an equivalent number of men should be released from military service."

Backers of Vanik's rider expected defeat, which they said would lead to efforts to kill Nixon's proposed $18 billion increase in the national debt limit to cover expected budget deficits.

They indicated the defense cutting effort was a tough move.

"This is playing rough when he approved the move into Cambodia without consultation with Congress—after promising to consult Congress."

The statutory limit on the public debt now stands at $377 billion. The latest increase, $12 billion, was authorized in March 1969. The limit has been raised in most years since the beginning of World War II as spending outstripped revenues, forcing the government to borrow.

Without a congressional intervention, the limit drops automatically July 1 to $365 billion, some $6 billion less than the actual debt. Congress has never permitted such a situation to develop.

The administration now is predicting a deficit of $1.8 billion for the year ending June 30 and $1.3 billion for the succeeding year. These figures are on the unified budget basis, which reflects government borrowing of surpluses in trust funds, such as the Social Security fund.

Laird Says Allies Must Help Out

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird today said U.S. allies must take up the slack as the United States reduces its armed forces by a million men.

He also said the United States must help out with more military supplies.

"As this reduction in American manpower capability takes place, it must be offset by a growing capability on the part of our allies," Laird said in a speech prepared for Air Force Academy graduation exercises.

The remarks come two days before Laird leaves for meetings with high-level NATO officials in Venice and Brussels.

The Pentagon chief, who has indicated such long-range intentions in the past, did not say how much time will pass before U.S. armed forces drop to 2.5 million from a Vietnam war peak of 3.5 million.

The Nixon administration already has trimmed U.S. armed strength by about 400,000 men as the United States gradually withdraws from Vietnam. Under its defense budget for the fiscal year starting next month, the total will drop another 200,000 to a level of 2.9 million.

Arab Guerrillas Kill Two Pupils

By MARTIN ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas in Jordan fired two waves of rockets into the frontier town of Beit Shean today, killing two schoolchildren and wounding at least seven others, the Israeli military command announced.

They were the third group of casualties among Israeli schoolchildren in two weeks. Another rocket attack on Beit Shean Monday killed a schoolgirl, and a guerrilla ambush of a schoolbus on the Lebanese border killed eight children and four adults on May 22.

In the first attack across the Jordan River today, one rocket crashed into a house, killing a 9-year-old girl, while others wounded three girls and a 38-year-old woman.

An hour and a half later, several more of the Soviet Katyusha rockets were fired at the town and at least one hit a school building, killing a boy and wounding four of his classmates, initial reports said.

The reports said the rocket set a classroom afire, and police and rescue workers were searching for more victims.

Israeli forces returned the fire, but there was no immediate word on the results.

Rockets also struck the settlement of Moaz Haim, two miles from Beit Shean, but no casualties were reported.

A bomb exploded in Jerusalem early today, a few hours before the start of the official celebration of the third anniversary of Israel's conquest of the Arab sector. There were no casualties in the blast.

Although the third anniversary does not come until Sunday on the Gregorian calendar used by most other nations, the Jewish calendar used by Israel puts the date today.

Explosives also were set off on two popular Israeli beaches, but again there were no casualties.

Raiding Israeli warplanes returned safely late Tuesday from their fifth strike in 24 hours against Egyptian targets along the Suez Canal, the military command said. The five attacks pounded Egyptian positions for 11 hours, the military said.

In Cairo, a military spokesman claimed that one Israeli Skyhawk was downed in the raids. He said five Egyptian soldiers were killed and five wounded.

The Israelis have intensified their attacks against Egyptian positions on the canal, trying to block placement of Soviet antiaircraft missiles there. Air missions into Egypt this week were the most prolonged since the 1967 war, the Israeli state radio said.

In other action along the canal, two Israeli soldiers were killed and six wounded when their vehicle struck a land mine.

Convention Turns Into 'Bounce-In'

By DAVID WRIGHT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A 5-foot-thick, street-wide vinyl mattress turned a reception for delegates to a museums convention into a massive bounce-in Tuesday night and the dusty image of their institutions may never be the same again.

While bemused delegates to the American Association of Museums annual convention looked on, the huge 50-by-50-foot mattress was inflated in the street outside the Museum of Contemporary Crafts.

The mattress—part of an exhibition and bearing the title "Giant Billiard"—was quickly invaded by a crowd of squealing onlookers, who bounced up and down and rolled around on it.

Off one corner of the mattress, spectators lined up for hunks of "eatable sculpture"—a seven-foot-high cake fashioned in a replica of the museum. It was nibbled to the ground as the evening progressed.

The aim of all this, according to a museum spokesman, was "to divest the museum of its static, awesome, 'don't touch' atmosphere, and infuse it with the spontaneous spirit of real life."

The reception was co-sponsored by the Museum of Modern Art and the Museum of American Folk Art. All three museums are on the same tree-lined block of Manhattan's 53rd Street off Fifth Avenue.

When they grew giddy from bouncing, participants could visit the three museums which opened their doors from 10 p.m. to midnight for the occasion. Music was provided by a Viennese trio and a rock band.

Runoff-Absentee Vote Totals 150

Absentee voting ended yesterday in the Democratic primary runoff for county treasurer in which incumbent Mrs. Agnes Brown is being opposed by Billy Wayne Thompson, with a total of 150 votes cast.

The second primary will be held Saturday.

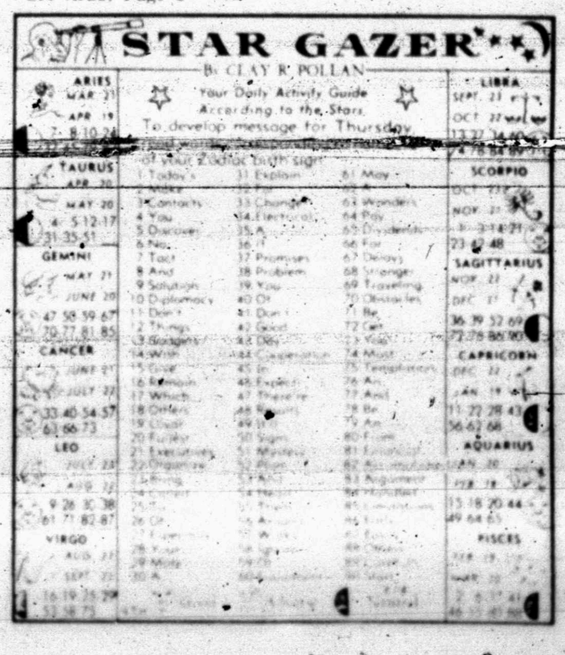

Absentee voting in the Junior College election to be held June 13 continues with a total of 148 absentee votes cast. Absentee voting will end June 9. The voters will decide whether to change the tax structure and raise the ceiling on bond interest for the Scurry County Junior College District.

Perfect for her —but not quite

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I go with this guy who says he loves me, but listen to this. Every time he shows up, he has garlic or onions on his breath and he knows how much I hate it because I have told him so. No amount of chewing gum, breath freshener, or mouthwash helps. A breath like that really turns me off, Abby. What do you think I should do about it? Don't tell me to find another boyfriend because he is perfect for me in every way but this.

DEBBIE IN THE BRONX

DEAR DEBBIE: Beware of a guy who says he "loves" yoh but can't resist food that leaves his breath less than lovely. He is obviously more concerned with his own pleasure than yours. Now if you are willing to settle for a "perfect guy" with just one "fault," you have him.

DEAR ABBY: After going steady with Melvin for three years, we announced our engagement officially, and I started making plans for my wedding.

I thought Melvin's mother would make a perfect mother-in-law because she was always so nice to my face, but listen to this: She called up my mother and said, "I hope Cindy (that's me) won't wear false eyelashes on her wedding day, and please tell her in a nice way that those false hair pieces she should please leave in the drawer, too."

(Abby, I have some very nice hair pieces which Melvin likes on me.) Not knowing what else to say, my mother said, "I will give Cindy the message."

What right has Melvin's mother to tell me how to look on my wedding day? I don't want trouble with her because I love Melvin, but what is your opinion of such a lady?

MELVIN'S BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: I think Melvin's mother is treating you like a "daughter" already.

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your answers, but I disagree with your reply to "THINKING IT OVER." (Her husband is sterile and opposed to artificial insemination, but she wants to be the baby's "natural" mother in preference to adopting a child.) You said, "Tell him that it's easy to be a father, it's more difficult to be a man."

Since "THINKING'S" husband is against the idea of artificial insemination (and I happen to agree with him) then why, for pity's sake, can't this woman bring herself to open her heart to a homeless child who is already on this overpopulated earth? WAUKEGAN MOTHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO EVERYBODY: The man who says he doesn't want to become involved in politics is like a drowning man who says he doesn't want to become involved with water. Vote as you please, but PLEASE VOTE. And the time to make sure you are properly registered for that privilege is NOW!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

LTV Out Of SST Program

DALLAS (AP) — LTV Aerospace Corp. has withdrawn as a sub-contractor to the Boeing Co. in the U.S. super-sonic transport (SST) program, the firm announced today.

Forbes Mann, president of Vought Aeronautics, a division of LTV Aerospace, blamed delays associated with the program.

"Because of delays experienced to date in the SST program and the extremely long-term aspects of the program," Mann said, "we have decided to allocate our resources to more immediate business opportunities. We feel, however, that the U.S. SST is a national necessity and we would hope to participate in the program at some future date."

Vought has been a team member with Boeing to build a major part of the passenger compartment section of the SST fuselage and the wing strakes, part of the leading edge of the wing. Mann said it will continue as a sub-contractor on other major commercial aircraft programs including the Boeing 747 and Douglas DC10.

ria issued a joint communique after four days of meetings and called for unification of Arab war efforts.

But guerrilla groups meeting in Cairo appeared headed for a showdown with a splinter group, the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. Guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat has proposed a unified guerrilla military command, but the splinter group is demanding that all guerrilla organizations be represented equally on a central committee, according to Cairo press reports.

The Popular Front claimed responsibility for the May 22 attack on the schoolbus, an attack which Arafat's Palestine Liberation Orgahization denounced.

At the United Nations, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that the Russians will press in the next General Assembly meeting for Israel's withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

The U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, calls for Israeli withdrawal, but Israel has refused to pull back unless the Arabs agree to make peace.

In Washington, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin met with Secretary of State William Rogers, and it was understood the two agreed to hold more talks in an effort to find a political solution to the Middle East crisis.

But it was also understood the Soviet ambassador refused to provide any additional details on his country's military involvement in the Middle East. American officials called an earlier Soviet response to the question imprecise and unsatisfactory, and the latest refusal was expected to increase pressure for the sale of more American warplanes to Israel.

Spiro Says Discontent 'Contrived'

By SUSAN EVERLY
Associated Press Writer

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew spoke out again today against what he called "criminal misfits" and "charlatans of peace and freedom."

In a speech at the 171st commencement of the U.S. Military Academy, Agnew said much of the nation's present discontent is "contrived confusion brought about by a clever, sustained assault on America's system and institutions."

"This is a time when some glamorize criminal misfits of society while our best men die in Asian rice paddies to preserve the freedoms those misfits abuse," Agnew told the 749 graduating cadets and 15,000 guests in Michie Stadium.

"This is a time when the charlatans of peace and freedom eulogize foreign dictators while desecrating the flag that keeps them free."

Looking directly at the graduating cadets in their formal, gray and white dress uniforms, the vice president said:

"You are going out into an army today that has borne the brunt of a lonely and difficult war, far from home, and in the face of open and hostile lack of support from a minority of our citizenry."

The enthusiastic crowd of relatives and friends of the cadets stood and cheered as the graduating class entered the stadium and again when the vice president came in.

Goalie Death Probe Ordered

MINOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Nassau County Dst. Atty. William Cahn has ordered a grand jury investigation into the death of New York Rangers goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Cahn called for the probe Tuesday as detectives checked reports that the 40-year-old Sawchuk was hospitalized following an April 29 brawl with teammate Ron Stewart.

The Veteran National Hockey League star died of a blood clot Sunday at New York Hospital, where he had undergone several operations.

According to one version, Sawchuk and Stewart got in to a fight at a Long Beach, N.Y., bar and later continued at their rented home in nearby East Atlantic Beach.

Sawchuk had told police that he and his teammate "were wrestling ... just horsing around," but other accounts said the fight was more serious.

'Man-Made' Gene Stirs Speculation

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Scientists have created a gene in the laboratory, a feat that raises questions about the possibility of starting life itself in a test tube.

The announcement of the first man-made gene—the basic unit of heredity that controls all life processes—was made Tuesday by a team headed by a Nobel Prize winner, Dr. H. Gobind Khorana.

The University of Wisconsin team said genes can be made completely from simple organic chemicals.

Khorana, who won a 1968 Nobel for earlier work on the genetic code, said the new work might eventually allow scientists to manipulate the biology of a living system.

Some scientists have said in the past that it might be 25 to 100 years before this new knowledge of genetics can be put to work in man.

The first likely application would be in genetic engineering —perhaps infecting humans with viruses that carry new genes, genes that would cure hereditary diseases such as hemophilia.

By making and giving substitute genes, man may be able to make people smarter or taller. Scientists may be able to turn off the growth of cancer cells.

A first simple life form that might be made in the test tube is a virus.

Even this, however, could be dangerous. A man-made virus might be so unusual that nothing would exist to control it.

So while scientists are moving closer to control of biological processes, they also are moving closer to dangers and the problems of the possible misuse of this mastery.

Who would be given the power to make decisions about heredity control? This question is one of profound concern to many scientists working with genetics.

When a Harvard Medical School team isolated pure genetic material late last year, Dr. Jonathan Beckwith, 33, the team leader, expressed fear that the work could be misused by government.

The Wisconsin synthesis of a gene is a major advance in a biological revolution that began in the 1940s with the discovery that growth and heredity are controlled by the chemical substance DNA, deoxyribonucleic acid.

Genes are molecules of DNA. They thus harbor the master genetic information that is responsible for making people, and all living things, what they are.

Graveside Rites For Green Infant

Graveside rites were set for 5 p.m. today at Snyder Cemetery for Monica Ernestine Green, stillborn infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Green of Snyder. The Rev. O. J. Archie was to officiate with burial directed by Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

The child is survived by the parents and a grandmother, Mrs. Odessa James.

County Court Pleas Entered

Gary Hicks and James Tyree pleaded guilty in county court yesterday to charges of malicious mischief.

Each received a 10-day jail term plus court costs. However, the jail terms were probated until Aug. 15 when the accused agreed to make restitution. The offense occurred May 30.

answered. "No one questions the President's right to rescue Americans when a quick, surprise rescue operation is feasible."

Dole and other administration backers in the Senate have charged the amendment would tie the President's hands and be a vote of no-confidence in his pledge to withdraw troops by June 30 anyway.

In the House, war critics sought to speed withdrawal from Indochina with a $6 billion cut in defense spending attached to legislation to increase government borrowing power.

If they failed, they said, they would attempt to kill the $18-billion increase in the debt ceiling, which Congress must pass in some form by July 1 if the government is to pay its bills.

House members who were named to go on the Vietnam trip were Melvin Price, D-Ill., William G. Bray, R-Ind., O. C. Fisher, D-Tex., and G. William Whitehurst, R-Va.

Both the Senate and the House representatives were picked by their respective armed services committees.

Most have supported the President's policies in Indochina, as have the three governors who were named by Nixon—Republicans John A. Love of Colorado and Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania and Democrat Robert E. McNair of South Carolina.

Also making the trip will be Bryce N. Harlow, presidential counsellor, and Herbert Klein, White House communications director.

Without disclosing details of the itinerary, an administration spokesman said the group will go into Cambodia to view American and South Vietnamese military operations against North Vietnamese sanctuaries.

While in South Vietnam, the official said, the party will concentrate on assessing the progress of the Vietnamization program.

The group will report directly to the President after returning to Washington next Tuesday, the spokesman said.

Pen Pal In Sweden Visits Snyderite After 15 Years

By KATHY BOREN

Mrs. Donna Wilson of Snyder, Texas and Mrs. Gun Rehnvall of Bellnas, Sweden culminated a correspondence of fifteen years last Friday in Lubbock when they met for the first time.

Mrs. Rehnvall and her mother Mrs. Sofia Nasman flew from their home to New York, then travelled to Chicago to visit an uncle and aunt before flying to Lubbock, where they were picked up by Mrs. Wilson, who lives northwest of town.

The two started corresponding as penpals through Mrs. Wilson's junior English class in 1955. "She is exactly like I thought she would be," said Mrs. Rehnvall. Mrs. Wilson said that there was a small communications problem because of the language barrier, coupled with the added confusion of her Texas drawl, but that they were managing without too much trouble.

Although Mrs. Rehnvall has studied English for nine years, she explained that she had not taken much interest in it until now. But her trip to America has provided extra incentive, and she plans to resume the study of the language as soon as she returns to Sweden. Mrs. Nasman does not speak any English, but she manages to communicate fairly well with the aid of gestures and translation help from her daughter.

Both of the Swedish ladies have encountered American customs which they consider "very different." One of the most outstanding differences was the use of eating utensils; in Sweden, the knife as well as the fork is used in eating. Mexican food also turned out to be a novelty. "It is so spicy!" exclaimed Mrs. Rehnvall.

Mrs. Wilson has taken her guests to Carlsbad Caverns and to a rodeo in Colorado City, about which the Swedish visitor said, "I had only seen one at the cinema, but it was just as I had imagined."

She also said that she liked Snyder very much and that the people had been very friendly and nice to her. West Texas weather did not receive so favorable a comment, however, as Mrs. Rehnvall admitted that the clouds scared her. She also made a comment most West Texans are used to hearing from amazed visitors, saying, "Your country is different — everything is so flat here!"

Mrs. Rehnvall and Mrs. Nasman plan to leave Snyder Thursday and begin their return trip to Bellnas, which is about 200 miles north of Stockholm. The two penpals plan to continue their correspondence, however, and Mrs. Wilson is tentatively planning a visit to Swyden next year.

Here's How

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can have a beauty hideaway in your bedroom, if you can spare the space, 2-by-4 feet, advises well-known interior decorator Michael Greer, who has designed such additions for clients.

"Women have told me that their husbands do not want to see powder, rouge, wig, eyelashes, and so on, strewn about a dressing table—they don't want to see where it is all done," he says.

Greer has devised a number of solutions to the dressing table dilemma.

One of his favorite projects involves an area 24 inches by 48 inches. The project may be done by a local carpenter or an experienced do-it-yourselfer (there are doors to be hung, and drawers to be built.) An interior designer might put the idea into perspective and handle the whole project, if one is at a loss to know how to begin, says Greer.

The hideaway may be placed neatly between two windows or at the corner of the room.

Plywood frames to the ceiling are 24 inches deep, and there are four doors—12 inches each—that form the closure of 48 inches across. They provide an additional 12 inches to the frame when they are folded and the area is being used. The dressing table top is 20 inches deep, and the additional four inches between the table and door may be utilized for lever-type handles which Greer uses on such doors.

These basic dimensions may be used for various style tables. You may have drawers built to suit your needs, leaving room for your legs under the table. Greer used four drawers on either side of one larger one, but a woman might prefer to have all the drawers on one side or one drawer may suit her purpose.

Greer used a large mirror, 32 inches across with 8-inch panels of translucent glass and light troughs on either side and across the top of the mirror. He decorated the translucent panels with stripes.

Flat narrow moldings were applied to the plain doors, and they were painted a contrasting color to the color scheme of the doors and room, and to match the three-quarter inch stripe on the drawers of the dressing table. The ceiling molding should be made to conform to the new addition.

Greer used a buckram-backed silken embroidered valance at the ceiling molding for a very soft effect. You should make it look as feminine and luxurious as you can, he explains. Some women prefer special makeup light strips and these may be used around the mirror, if one prefers.

You can use any dressing table style that appeals to you. You may find a handsome ready-made table that will fit within it. It will give you a good start and you can go on from there.

Says Inequity Begins In Cradle

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Discrimination against women "begins in the cradle," a federal official told the new mayor's commission on the Status of Women Tuesday.

Francis Roser, executive officer of the Inter-Agency Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, told the panel of efforts throughout the years to create equal job opportunities and equal pay for women in government employment.

He also spoke of laws to equalize working opportunities for women in non-government fields.

"Discrimination against women really begins in the cradle," Roser said. "No one thinks it important that girls grow up with strong physical bodies or that they receive special attention in academic development."

Miss Rhobia Tyalor of Dallas, regional director of the women's bureau, Department of L[illegible], said changing attitudes toward women are major hurdles being faced.

She told the 15-member commission that similar groups can get results. She praised San Antonio for having the first such city commission in the state.

Sicilian Cook Gives Advice

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

Joe Sicari carries a pair of track shoes in his briefcase to keep in shape so he can eat those Sicilian dishes he loves to cook.

"I run a couple of miles every [illegible]," says Sicari, a New York [illegible]-turned-politician. "It keeps the waistline down and makes me feel less guilty when I pursue my favorite hobby, cooking."

Sicari became interested in cookery at an early age. He used to sit in the kitchen and stare in fascination as his Sicilian-born mother recreated the culinary masterpieces of her homeland.

"About all I did was peel the potatoes," Joe recalled, "but I learned a lot about cooking just watching her. For one thing I found out that the proper use of spices makes a big difference in how a dish turns out. Imaginative seasoning can turn a snack into a symphony."

Italian cuisine has a proud and ancient heritage and even has plaudits from the gourmets of France who usually give ground to no one in the art of gastronomy. In fact, the bible of the French kitchen, Larousse Gastronomique, concedes that "Italian cooking can be considered, for all the countries of Latin Europe, as a veritable mother cuisine."

Italian cookery really began on the isle of Sicily where more than 2,000 years ago, the natives learned the glories of Greek cooking from their Hellenic conquerors.

The islanders elaborated on their findings, adding a touch of Arab spice, some seasonings from Africa and a good many innovations from Rome.

Sicari likes to experiment with established recipes, "adding a dash of this and a dollop of that but never following the original exactly."

The results have been so successful that a couple of restaurants in town now use his recipes and feature them on the menu.

His specialties are pastas, salads and chicken dishes, but he steers clear of the legendary cannoli, those pastries with creamed cheese, candied fruits and chocolate. Even his daily two-mile run can't cope with that many calories.

"You don't have to spend a lot of money on food or buy expensive kitchen utensils to be a gourmet cook," says Sicari. "All you need is a sense of taste and a little imagination.

"And you don't have to drown everything in rich sauces. Cooks who do that are often trying to cover up their mistakes."

[illegible] and chicken cacciatore are creations Sicari imparted to a Brooklyn restaurant owner 15 years ago, which to this day still are house specialties.

DITALINI WITH CAULIFLOWER

1 lb. ditalini (macaroni)
2 heads cauliflower
3 tablespoons olive oil
½ lb. salted butter
salt and pepper to taste
2 ounces freshly grated parmesan cheese

Place ditalini in boiling water and cook until done—about a half hour. While ditalini is cooking, prepare cauliflower, removing green leaves and breaking into flowerettes. Place in cold salted water and bring to boil. When almost done (should be slightly resistant) drain cauliflower. Put cauliflower in a large frying pan in which olive oil and butter have been melted.

Chop and turn cauliflower with spatula till evenly browned. Drain ditalini, setting aside some of cooking water and return to pot. Add cauliflower, oil and butter to pot, stirring about three minutes over low flame. If it seems too dry add some of the pot water. Add salt and pepper to taste and serve with grated parmesan cheese on top. Serves four.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

4 tablespoons olive oil
2 ounces butter, salted
3 pound frying chicken, cut into small pieces
1 pound carrots, grated
4 medium green peppers, diced
1 shallot

Heat olive oil and butter in heavy iron frying pan and brown chicken about 30 minutes. Remove chicken from pan, leaving any pieces sticking to sides. Add carrots, peppers and shallot to pan and saute over medium fire till everything is limp. Return chicken to pan, basting with melted butter and oil for another half hour. When carrots and peppers are brown and meat is tender remove and serve with the cauliflower and ditalini. Serves four.

Serve with a cold Sancerre or Rhine wine.

Deficiency Of Iron Can Cause Leaves To Yellow

Gardeners and homeowners in West Texas may be noting the yellowing of leaves on some of their fruit trees, ornamentals and lawn grasses during this season. This condition is known as chlorosis and results from iron deficiency, explains James H. Valentine, area soil chemist with the Texas Agricultureal Extension Service.

Chlorosis is caused by the inability of plants to take up sufficient iron which is essential for the development of chlorophyll, the green pigment in leaves.

Primary causes of the disorder are high lime content of the soil and excessive use of phosphate fertilizer, Valentine points out.

In addition to fruit trees, oaks and maples, ornamentals such as roses, pyracantha, abelia, hollies and photenia are also susceptible.

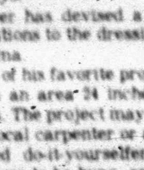

Regardless of the type of shrub or tree, chlorosis can be easily spotted, explains the soil chemist. Leaves will yellow between the veins early in the growing season. Veins usually remain green but, in extreme cases, the entire leaf yellows and may be almost white in appearance.

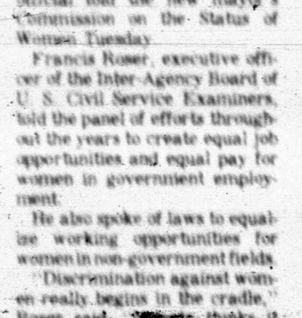

Grass tends to turn yellow in spots and close observation may reveal a striping of the leaf with green veins and yellowing in between.

Chlorosis can be controlled by spraying the foliage until wet with a solution of iron sulfate (copperas). For trees and shrubs, use one level tablespoon of copperas per two gallons of water and include about one and one-half teaspoons of liquid household detergent to insure even coverage. For grasses, increase the amount of copperas to three level tablespoons in the same mixture. Three or four applications at weekly intervals may be required for effective control.

Recession Signs Around Seattle Are Plentiful

By KENT STURGIS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — It's beer instead of cocktails at night clubs, businessmen go out to lunch more often but stay home at night and apartment "for rent" signs are as thick as evergreen trees.

These are the symptoms of recession in Seattle and surrounding King County, home for about 1.1 million persons, where the Boeing Co. is king.

Airplanes are to Seattle what gambling is to Las Vegas. When Boeing business is down, everybody feels the pinch.

The restaurant and night club business is typical.

"People are tipping less and instead of drinking cocktails, they're ordering beer," complains a downtown bartender. "And instead of two or three, they'll have one and out the door they go."

Luncheon business has jumped in the city's restaurants, according to Stephanie Slater of the State Restaurant Association. At the same time, she said, there's been a decline in evening trade.

"Businessmen evidently are still going out to lunch with clients and business associates, maybe on expense accounts, but not spending money at home to take the wife and kids out," she said.

The Boeing Co., which delivered 56 jets in the first quarter of 1970 compared with 96 during the same period last year, has laid off about 20,000 workers since Jan. 1. During all of last year Boeing laid off 14,400. The firm's payroll now stands at 60,700.

There are about 2½ times more people out of work here now than at this time in 1969. The State Department of Employment Security put the April unemployment figure at 50,700 for the Greater Seattle area.

The employment drop has apartment owners and operators in a tizzy.

It's a renters' market. Inducements to attract tenants include free use of color television and stereos, a month's free rent for lease-signers and some lowering of rents.

A recent survey in the Seattle-King County area showed one out of every six apartments vacant. The figure was estimated to be 25,000, a 15-month high.

Boeing executives are pinning their hopes for an upswing on a bill now pending in Congress which would provide $290 million for construction of a supersonic transport prototype.

Boeing's net earnings for the first three months of 1970 were $6.8 million, down from the $14.02 million the first quarter of 1969.

4,000 Due At UT-San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A University of Texas System regent released projections Tuesday showing that the new UT-San Antonio will serve 4,000 students in its first year of operations in 1974.

By 1980-81, his figures showed, the new university will have 15,000 students.

The projections, released by regent John Peace of San Antonio, show that the total enrollment is expected to rise to an eventual level of 25,000 to 30,000.

The new UTSA president, Dr. Arleigh Templeton, was due here today for a brief visit and to select a temporary headquarters for UTSA.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENGUINS

QUESTION: How did the penguin get its name?

ANSWER: The big bird at upper right, now extinct, was called the great auk. Its ancestors had been able to fly. But when the auk took to chasing fish underwater, wings were in the way, so they shrank, and turned into efficient paddles. Fishermen from the Old World discovered the value of meat, eggs and soft feathers. They visited the breeding grounds of the auk and slaughtered them in huge numbers, the species becoming totally extinct in the 1840's. Auks had a patch of white on the head. In Welsh, pen meant head, and gwyn, white, so Welsh fishermen called them pengwyns, which French fishermen changed to pingouin. As seamen and explorers began to sail to the frigid shores of Antarctica, they saw many other flightless swimming birds which resembled the pingouins of the North, and they called them by the same name, which soon became penguin. But actually, Antarctic penguins are NOT the same as the great auk. They are a different bird. Notice the shape of bill, wing paddles and feet. Fortunately, the penguins, breeding in such remote areas, do not have hordes of hunters clubbing them to death as was done with the great auk.

Columnist Jumps To Conclusions

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Everyone should plant a tree when young and periodically revisit and check its growth as long as he lives. There are few better ways to get a feeling of the continuity of life. To lie in its shade after it matures gives one a mystic, almost godlike feeling of victory over fate.

The patient doctors hate most to deal with is the fool who says, "The only symptom I've got, doc, is that I keep seeing spots before my eyes." Such cases are among the hardest to diagnose.

Whatever happened to the fine old game of leapfrog? You hardly ever see children play it anymore although, of course, it is still quite popular at the executive level.

One of the unexpected byproducts of inflation is that it has been of some help in bridging the generation gap. The rising price of haircuts has led many dollar-pinched parents to go along with the desire of their sons to let their locks grow long.

The major mystery of our civilization is why it is so easy to wrap something in plastic and so difficult later to unwrap it.

A hard fact of life that every college student has to learn sooner or later is that no way has been found yet to earn a pension on a picket line.

You begin to grow up in this world the day you realize that every cause has its flaws.

It is usually safe to lend money—up to $50—to a man with a pug nose.

More annoying than the wife who washes a husband's favorite pipe with soap and water is the one who regularly borrows his razor to shave her legs. Every husband hates that.

Weather Is Active In May

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

May weather in Texas historically is unsettled and quite active. This year proved no exception as tornadoes, severe thunderstorms and flooding plagued the state.

The tornado that snaked out of turbulent skies over Lubbock on May 11 killed 26 persons and caused over $135 million in damages. The twister was the costliest in Texas' history.

Four days later, on May 15, San Marcos was inundated with eight inches of rain in less than three hours. Two persons drowned as flood waters washed across one-third to one-half of the city. Damage at San Marcos was estimated in excess of $2 million.

The northern Panhandle experienced exceptionally warm weather for so early in the season. Meanwhile, Central and South Texas were unusually cool, observers said.

The Weather Bureau said South Central and Southeast Texas caught near-record amounts of rainfall during May. Precipitation at Houston was 14.39 inches, 10.07 inches above the May average.

The Beaumont-Port Arthur area received 8.54 inches of rainfall, the second wettest May on area records. The Weather Bureau said the area usually receives 4.94 inches of rain during the month.

While thunderstorms ranked Southeast Texas, rain was scarce on the northern High Plains. The Weather Bureau said lack of moisture on the High Plains hurt the dryland wheat crop.

Offer Reward For Slayer

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A reward fund for the capture and conviction of the slayer or slayers of a University of Oklahoma student from Texas and his girl friend was offered Tuesday by trustees of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

SAE trustee Clark Hethering-ton of Norman said efforts will be made to raise $5,000 to $10,000 for information concerning the slayings last month of David W. Sloan, 21, an SAE member from Amarillo, Tex., and Sheryl Lynn Benham, 19, of Oklahoma City.

The bodies of Sloan and Miss Benhafn were found May 10 in the trunk of Sloan's car northwest of Norman. Both had been shot several times.

Norman Police Chief Bill Henslee said the case was the most baffling of his 22 years as a law enforcement officer.

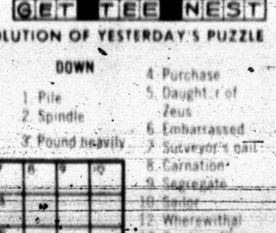

Henslee said no new information had been uncovered in the double slaying.

Heathering said SAE trustees made the initial donation to the reward fund. However, he declined to reveal the amount of the donation.

Cubs Clip Giants, Sox Shade Indians

Talk about excitement.

Boy there was plenty of it in the Little League tilts held in Towle Park last night with the White Sox shading the Indians 2-1 and the Cubs slipping past the Giants 5-3.

Ray Villanueva, White Sox pitcher, fired a 1-hitter at the Indians, giving up only a single to Larkin West in the 5th inning. The Tribe scored its only run in the 5th inning taking advantage of a fielding miscue.

The Sox slammed only six hits off Johnny Ecke, but three of them — singles by Alvin Ellison, Riggins and Willie Tippens — occurred in the same inning and enabled the Sox to tally their two runs in the 6th or last frame.

Villanueva faced only 17 batters and he gave up only four walks while fanning 10.

That Cub-Giant affray wasn't decided until the seventh inning either. Up until that point the score was tied at 2-2, the Cubs having tallied twice in the 2nd and the Giants twice in the 3rd, but the Cubs scored three times in the final stanza compared with only once by the Giants. That did the trick in the extra inning game.

Each team got nine hits, and singles by Kinney Crow, Barry Blalock and Garry Greenlee accounted for the last Giant runs.

The Cubs got their last three off singles by Billy Wood, Lee Allen Jarrell, Todd Line and Gary Arnold.

Neither team in either game could come up with an extra base hit as the pitchers all did excellent jobs. Ricky Rice worked on the hill for the Giants, but Tim Flynn got the decision for the Cubs.

Fippens also got another base hit for the Whitesox, and his [illegible] and David Rice, also contributed safeties to the winning cause.

Crow collected a total of three hits for the Giants while Glenn Davis and Garry Greenlee each stroked two safeties. The other Giant hit was a single by Ricky Rice.

Wood and Jarrell each hit safely twice for the Cubs while the other hits not previously mentioned were credited to Kevin Dicharry, Flynn and Joel McCommon.

Clubs Missing

DALLAS (AP) — Charles Coody may be miffed by the loss of his golf clubs at Dallas Love Field Tuesday, but the touring professional from Abilene is offering a $500 reward for their return—no questions asked.

Coody's clubs turned up missing en route to Louisville, Ky. He had to fly to Abilene for another set.

Squads Bolstered

DALLAS (AP) — Defensive end Cedric Hardman of North Texas State and flanker Charlie Waters of Clemson will play in the Coaches All-American game June 27th.

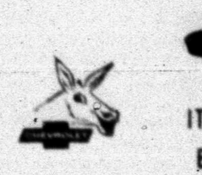

PeeWee League Signups Set

Signups for the Pee Wee League will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Snyder Savings and Loan Association building, according to an announcement by Rex Robinson, summer baseball coordinator.

The program is for boys of ages eight and nine. If possible, boys should be accompanied to the meeting by their parents.

More than 40 per cent of the old people in Britain live with one or more of their children, according to a survey published by the Health Department.

Marsha Talley Runs With The Best Ones

MARSHA TALLEY

Marsha Talley, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winn Talley of Fluvanna, is making quite a name for herself in the track world although she will only be a ninth grader next year at the Fluvanna School where her father is superintendent.

She has won 52 ribbons, 17 medals, four plaques and two trophies in the three years she has been running track. Marsha ran on the Texas Track Club team this past year, coached by Mrs. Margaret Ellison of Abilene. She will go to the Federation National Championships June 12-13 in Wichita, Kan.

Marsha has participated in seven meets since February. At the Madison Relays in Houston on Feb. 28, she ran anchor on the junior relay, placing second with a time of 52.8 seconds. She won first in the 220 yard dash with a 26.4 clocking, and she ran third on the senior relay team, which placed third with a time of 30.2 seconds.

At the Phoenix, Ariz. Invitational March 21-23, Marsha anchored the junior relay team, which finished first in 51.9. Also, she placed second in the 220 yard dash (25.2), third in the 100 yard dash (11.3), and third in the long jump (16-0 ¼).

At the Texas Relays in Austin April 3-4, she anchored the 440 yard relay for third place (senior division) with a time of 48.5 and ran second in the 880 medley relay with a time of 1:49.7, placing third in the senior division.

Marsha won five blue ribbons at the district meet in Jayton April 18, winning the 100 yard dash in 11.8, winning the 220 yard dash in 26.2, winning the broad jump with a distance of 15-6, winning the triple jump with a distance of 32-8½, and winning the 60 yard dash in 7.3. She compiled 50 points.

At the Bluebonnet Belle Relays in San Angelo April 25, Marsha placed first in the century (11.2), second in the 50 yard dash (6.1) and second in the broad jump (16-1½).

At the Albuquerque (New Mexico) Invitational May 3, she was first in the 50 yard dash (6.1), first in the 100 yard dash (11.1), and second in the sprint relay, which she anchored. The winning time was 52.0 in the junior division. Her 6.1 in the 50 yard dash broke the old record of 6.6.

At the Meet of Champions in Houston May 29, Marsha ran the 220 yard leg of the 880 medley, which placed first with a 1:46.6 clocking. It was a new record. She also took third in the 220 yard dash with a time of 25.3 seconds, and she was sixth in the century with a 10.9 clocking. The winning time of 10.5 in the 100 yard dash was only two-tenths of a second off the world record.

Interest Focuses On Tigers

Snyder's Tigers, 21-6 for the year, met Dumas' Demons there this afternoon in the first game of a regional baseball playoff series. Game time was 2 p.m.

The second contest is slated for 2 p.m. Friday on the Towle Park diamond in Snyder. If a third game is necessary, it will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, also in Towle Park.

The Tigers were hoping to avenge an earlier 1-0 loss to the same Demons earlier in the year at the Andrews Tournament.

Winner of the region will advance to the State Class AAA Schoolboy Tournament.

Cubs, Indians Win FL Tilts

The Cubs smashed the Giants 16-5 and the Indians blanked the White Sox 15-0 in two hard-fought Farm League tussles in Towle Park Tuesday night.

An 8-run rally by the Cubs in the 3rd turned the tide in their favor and it was all down hill after that. The Cubs collected a total of 10 hits with Jackie Womack getting three of them. Two of his were doubles, and Malcom Small also stroked two doubles. Robert Cuma hit safely three times while Ray Hill and Ricky Eades each slammed two-baggers.

Cub Pitcher Robert Pitts gave up just five hits — two to Travis Ainsworth and one each to Bruce Wortham, Mike Ray and David Benney.

The Indians took the upperhand early by scoring five runs in the first inning. Tribe batters came through with nine safeties, including doubles by Tony Rodriguez, Gary Cartler and Jesse Villareal. Carter and Villareal had two hits each while single hits were credited to Steve Bounds, Richard Crayton, Gary Welsh and David Lee.

Crayton fired a 1-hitter, giving up only a single to Jerry Dickey.

Richey Upsets Paris Favorite

PARIS (AP) — Fiery 5-foot-7 Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., is determined to turn the tables on Zeljki Franulovic of Yugoslavia when they meet in the semifinals of the French Open Tennis Championships on Thursday.

Franulovic won the U.S. National Clay Courts title last year. Enroute he whipped Richey in the quarter-finals 6-2, 6-2.

Their meeting in the French semis was set up Tuesday when Richey, seeded No. 8, upset the top-seeded Ilie Nastase of Rumonia 7-5, 9-7, 4-6, 6-3 and Franulovic, No. 5, tumbled Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., the third seed, 6-3, 3-6, 10-8, 4-6, 6-3.

Franulovic's victory spoiled Ashe's hope of completing the tennis Grand Slam. His defeat also left Richey as the only American remaining in the men's singles.

The women's quarter-finals take over the spotlight today.

Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., meets Helga Niessen of Germany in one of the matches. In the others, Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia opposes Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, Julie Heldman of New York plays Mrs. Vlasta Vopickova, Czechoslovakia, and Virginia Wade, Britain, takes on Karen Krantzcke, Australia.

Youth Lobby Is Praised But Results Uncertain

BY CARL V. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The legions of young people who came to Capitol Hill in the wake of the U.S. attack into Cambodia to lobby for peace have won praise from congressmen for their performance, but it will take roll calls on key antiwar measures to calculate their conquests, if any.

An Associated Press survey shows most senators and representatives on both sides of the Indochina issue credited the students at least for their conduct.

As for their goal of gaining powerful new allies, the most encouraging word for the students came from one of their most enthusiastic backers, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

Cranston claims at least two senators, after visits by the youths, switched and now favor an amendment to restrict future U.S. involvement in Cambodia. He declined to name the senators.

However, most other senators and congressmen agree the young lobbyists' impact can't really be determined until the votes are counted.

According to many of those who listened to the voices of hundreds—some estimate thousands—of young, it was a generally peaceful exercise in communication, although not all the congressmen liked what they heard.

"Some were on a lark," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., a Nixon war policy critic and supporter of the youthful campaign, "but most of them were very serious kids with lots of dedication. They're clean-cut, good-looking youngsters."

However, Rep. John R. Rarick, D-La., who supports President Nixon on Vietnam, said he met with young people here and in his home state and found "no matter what you tell them, unless you agree completely with them, they are never satisfied.

"I think some of them hurt themselves by their demands," he added. "There has been some backlash but it is hard to estimate how much."

On the other hand, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said: "I thought they were more effective than any similar action that we've ever had before.

He tried to impress on them, he continued, "that taking part in politics is more important than demonstrating. I expect they will be more politically active this fall.

"Their earnestness impressed me as much as anything. Whether they changed any minds or not, they may have influenced some to proceed with greater caution," Aiken said.

Rep. Charles H. Griffin, D-Miss., another Nixon backer, said the student visits "did some good—they made us think about it, and helped me to understand their attitude."

But he added some students from Eastern schools "could see no clear danger to Communism —they are leaning more toward socialism than the free enterprise system."

Staff aides who talked with students visiting the office of Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., were "impressed mostly by those who came by themselves," said an assistant. "It was straight talk—in most cases we agreed with them, in some cases they got a little too unrealistic, but it was a give-and-take exchange of views," he added.

"The general impression is that they had a very positive impact—they were pretty good lobbyists and they left us with a good feeling," said a member of Kansas Republican Sen. James B. Pearson's staff.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., a backer of Nixon's Cambodia decision, found some of the 300 to 400 students stopping past his office "were willing to listen to his point of view as we sought to explain our position," an assistant said.

"Over-all, they were very courteous," he added, "but some felt 'if you don't agree with us, you're worthless.'"

"All of us have tried very hard to make ourselves available to them," said Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H. "They were campaigning for what they think will be a better America."

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., said he saw students and (best students and, with one or two exceptions, they conducted themselves extremely well. I might disagree with them but I could not complain about their conduct."

He contrasted this with what he viewed as arrogant behavior by a delegation of lawyers who, he said, insisted on seeing him at their convenience and—uninvited—took over office facilities.

Traffic Mishap Fatal To Woman

TATUM, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Hoda Adams of Tatum was killed today when the pickup truck in which she was riding veered off old Texas 43, about five miles from her East Texas home.

Her husband suffered serious injuries in the crash, officers said.

Delayed For Evaluation

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — Spec. 5 James G. Sparks was kept back for medical evaluation Tuesday as about 200 men of the group to which he was assigned left for Vietnam.

Sparks, 22, has an 18-inch steel rod in his upper left leg. It was put there after an auto accident nearly three years ago in Detroit, his hometown.

Since his arrival at Ft. Lewis, he has said he believes U.S. involvement in Vietnam is morally right, and he would be glad to go, but he has misgivings about the possibility of being a burden to fellow soldiers in combat because of his bad leg.

Ft. Lewis authorities decided shortly before the departure of his group by plane from nearby McChord Air Force Base that a board should review Sparks' fitness for a combat theater. The checkup will take several days.

He was drafted in March 1969 and signed up for a third year so he could get training as a microwave communications technician.

Amarillo Restricts Movies

AMARILLO (AP) — City commissioners unanimously approved an ordinance Tuesday that would restrict the content of movies shown at drive-in theaters.

A lawyer for the theater owners said the ordinance would force construction of fences high enough to block the view of persons as much as several blocks away.

Mayor J. Ernest Stroud said spokesmen for the drive-in owners could present more arguments next week at a second reading on the ordinance.

"We think it important to get this into effect as soon as possible," Stroud said.

Harold Ochsner, lawyer for the theater owners, said the measure would be a financial handicap to drive-in movies by forcing them to build fences to block the view.

The fences would be eyesores and dangerous to surrounding structures in a windstorm, he said.

Commissioners voted on the ordinance after a group of residents objected to an x-rated movie that could be seen outside the theater grounds.

Under a rating system used by the movie industry, persons below 18 years old are not allowed to see x-rated films.

Theater owner Leroy Doyle said the film criticized by the residents was the first x-rated movie to be shown at the drive-in this year. He said he voluntarily cancelled the film after it ran two days.

"All I know was that it had run 11 days at a downtown Amarillo theater and so far as I know, no objections had been raised," Doyle said.

The ordinance "makes it unlawful for any motion picture operator or exhibitor to show or exhibit at a theater in the city of Amarillo any picture, photograph, drawing, sculpture, motion picture, film or similar visual representation or image of a person or portion of a human body which is visible from any public street or highway which depicts nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement or sado-masochistic abuse which is harmful to minors."

Six Gypsum Firms Sued

DALLAS (AP)—The State of Texas filed an anti-trust suit in federal court Tuesday against six gypsum companies and the Gypsum Association, a trade association.

The suit alleged the companies unlawfully conspired to fix prices on gypsum wallboard and gypsum products and claimed the defendant companies made up 90 per cent of total sales of gypsum products in the United States.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin filed the suit in the court of the U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes as a class action in behalf of the state and all government bodies who bought wallboard and products.

Crawford said the conspiracy began on an unknown date and continued until 1968.

He claimed they conspired to eliminate competition in production, distribution and sale of gypsum wallboard and gypsum products used in building construction.

Named as defendants were Fibreboard Corp. of San Francisco, Flintkote Co. of New York, Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp. of Oakland, Calif., National Gypsum Co. of Buffalo, N.Y., Georgia Pacific Corp. of New York and the U.S. Gypsum Co. of Chicago.

The Gypsum Association, also named as a defendant, is a trade association whose members are miners and manufacturers in gypsum and gypsum products.

Population Of Austin Soars

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The population of Austin, marked by booming growth in state government and the University of Texas, has risen by 66,254 persons during the past decade, preliminary census figures show.

But nine of the 14 predominantly rural counties surrounding the capital city have lost population, district census manager John C. Wheeler told a news conference Tuesday.

The population of Austin, in Travis County, was placed at 246,790, compared to 186,545 in 1960. In that same period, Travis County has grown from 212,136 to 289,490, or by 77,354.

In 1960 the student body at the university, which supports numerous local businesses, numbered about 18,000 and is now about 36,000. There also are many more state employes, as shown by an increase in the over-all state budget of $5.9 billion for the current biennium, compared to $2.4 billion for the two-year period ending Aug. 31, 1961.

Despite the increases in Austin's census, the figure falls short of the 250,000 population carried on city limit signs by the Texas Highway Department and estimates ranging up to 272,000 by the city planning office.

Columnist Wray Weddell also quoted a "city official with good contacts in the census office" as saying the census may have missed 10 per cent of people living here.

Mayor Travis LaRue was invited to the news conference but did not attend.

San Marcos, home of Southwest Texas State University, is the only other city in the district with a population more than 10,000, and it showed a growth from 12,713 to 18,556, or 5,843, as the college enrollment also shot up during the 10-year period.

Hays County, where San Marcos is located, grew from 19,934 to 26,977, or by 7,043.

Asked if anyone had reacted to the preliminary census figures, Wheeler said a Chamber of Commerce official in a town of less than 10,000 had been "very upset and said that he knew personally of three people who had not been counted." However, Wheeler said, the city manager there said he was "satisfied that it was a complete and accurate census."

The total population of the district, according to preliminary figures, is 537,511, compared to 456,301 in the official 1960 census.

The preliminary census for the 15 counties, with the difference in the 1960 official census in parentheses, is as follows:

Austin County 13,243 (minus 534)
Bastrop 16,628 (minus 97)
Blanco 3,513 (minus 142)
Burleson 9,721 (minus 1,436)
Burnet 10,655 (plus 1,390)
Caldwell 20,604 (plus 3,427)
Colorado 17,135 (minus 1,308)
Fayette 16,876 (minus 3,508)
Hays 26,977 (plus 7,043)
Lee 7,776 (minus 1,203)
Travis 289,490 (plus 77,354)
Waller 13,965 (plus 1,894)
Washington 18,378 (minus 767)
Wharton 36,218 (minus 1,934)
Williamson 36,020 (plus 976)

Old Hangar Dedicated

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Dedication ceremonies were scheduled at Brooks Air Force Base today for the last World War I hangar in the Southwest, restored and renamed in honor of the first man to walk in space.

The Edward H. White II memorial hangar will serve as a museum devoted to the pioneers of aviation, space flight and the story of aerospace medicine.

Scheduled to attend today's ceremonies was Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt, former astronaut who commanded the spacecraft from which White took history's first space walk five years ago this month.

White died in a spacecraft fire at Cape Kennedy in 1967.

Lt. Gen. John W. O'Neill, vice commander of the Air Force Systems Command, was the principal speaker.

The first connection between the hangar and the White family came in 1924 when the late astronauts's father attended flying school at Brooks Field. In 1929, his father again was assigned to San Antonio. The following year, Edward H. White I was born.

The Brooks acquaintance was renewed when Edward II was selected for the astronaut program and received physical evaluations at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks.

Political Clearance For Scientists Is Required

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has confirmed it requires what amounts to political clearance for scientists appointed to important government advisory committees.

Frederic V. Malek, deputy undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, confirmed in part reports from career government officials and scientists that the administration has injected an unusual degree of partisanship into selections for policy advisory committees.

"It is important to the secretary and the management of the department to have certain appointees to these committees reflect his philosophies and represent his interests," Malek said.

The committees—covering areas from air pollution to alcoholism, heart disease and cancer—help shape the policy direction of critical scientific programs.

Appointments to strictly technical, nonpolicy advisory committees are apparently not subject to the political checks.

Career program managers complain of "low batting averages" in placing scientists they deem qualified on their advisory committees.

Recently, antipollution officials had all five of their nominees for the Air Quality Advisory Board rejected by the Nixon administration, sources said. Five different men were appointed, three of them employes of industry.

Some scientists, in turn, report they have been denied advisory posts by the Republican administration because they are Democrats.

Malek was asked recently by Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., chairman of the House government operations subcommittee, whether scientist-nominees to the committees are screened to determine their sympathies "to what you are trying to do or accomplish in your administration."

"That is correct," Malek replied.

Knowledgeable HEW officials say such political screening was unusual in past administrations.

"There was a certain cronism of scientists on the committee trying to get their friends aboard but no screening for politics," said one official.

Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, assistant HEW secretary for health, confirmed the political checks in an interview.

The screening, he agreed in response to a question, is particularly difficult because most scientists qualified and interested in committee posts are liberal Democrats connected with major universities.

Policemen Attend Seminar At Abilene

Four members of the Snyder Police Department are attending a Narcotics Seminar at the Department of Public Safety building in Abilene.

The seminar began Monday and will continue through Friday. It is sponsored jointly by the DPS and by the Abilene Police Department.

Those attending from the Snyder Police Department are Sgt. D'Wayne Jernigan and Patrolmen Gary Sutton, Kenneth Langford and Charles English.

Cotton Yield Is Due To Increase

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Agriculture Department economists say U.S. cotton production, afflicted in recent years by poor weather, competition from synthetics and lagging exports, [illegible] the 1970s by 25 per cent or more.

Writing in a "cotton situation" report, economists Hudson G. Barlowe and James R. Donald base the prediction, however, on a number of factors, including government programs, future yields and demand, both foreign and domestic.

Nonetheless, Barlowe and Donald say, production this year may exceed the 1968-69 average of 9.5 million bales annually by one-fourth or more, meaning a crop of perhaps 12 million bales.

"Output likely will maintain this level or increase slightly during succeeding years, possibly ranging between 12 and 13 million bales," the economists said.

The report cited several factors.

"Cotton farms are expected to become larger and more efficient.

"Mechanical harvesters will be modified to incorporate wider row equipment, as well as use of more bigger and speedier machines.

"Other technological gains, as improved planting and harvesting techniques and use of computer services.

"These innovations will enable the farmer to maximize returns through a more efficient allocation of resources, given data on input costs, prices, supplies and possibly even weather possibilities," the report said.

The authors said cotton yields per acre probably will "reverse their recent downtrend" as farmers rely more on research and possibly computers to identify problems and determine appropriate remedies.

Despite continued competition from manmade fibers, Barlowe and Donald see total mill use increasing if better cotton products can result from technological research aimed at providing consumers with more satisfactory textiles.

"Still," the report said, "manmade fibers may continue to capture much of the growth in the textile fiber market."

Cotton exports, which have sagged to between 2.3 million and 3 million blaes a year recently, "may recover moderately" during the 1970s to between 3 million and 5 million bales, depending, of course, on the many other factors relating to over-all output.

Noted Banker Is Dead In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Francis Marion Law, 93, who helped revise the National Banking Act after the bank collapse of 1933 died Tuesday in Houston.

Law, former chairman of the board of the First National Bank here, also was a drafter of the charter of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. which insures bank deposits.

He was president of the American Bankers Association at the time.

Nearly Everybody Can Attend A JC

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

(Second of five parts written in cooperation with the American Association of Junior Colleges)

The comprehensive community colleges which have revolutionized higher education are, for the most part, publicly supported institutions where you can learn anything from child care to oceanography.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO ATTEND? Practically everybody. Bright students, average students, below-average students, homemakers, businessmen, young and old, poor and not-so-poor. Usually, the stiffest admission requirement is a high school diploma.

CAN HIGH SCHOOL DROPOUTS ATTEND? Generally, yes. Most community colleges will give you a chance to improve your reading, math or science before taking courses in the career program you have chosen. A few schools will accept equivalent work experience or help you to obtain a high school equivalency certificate, if required. All schools can at least tell you how to go about getting a high school equivalency certificate in your state.

BUT WHAT IF YOU'RE NOT CONSIDERED "COLLEGE MATERIAL" BY THE USUAL STANDARDS? Just as dropouts are helped, at least 70 schools have formalized developmental (remedial) programs. A few are engaged in year-long "second chance" pilot programs to provide a sort of prep school to high school graduates whose record indicates likely failure in college.

HOW MUCH IS IT GOING TO COST? Tuition at community college for school district residents is usually quite low. It varies from nothing to about $400 per year. (Charges at private two-year colleges and technical institutes are usually higher.)

If you don't take a full credit load, you pay only for the courses you do take. For example, one three-credit course would cost $39 at the rate of $13 per credit.

WHAT IF YOU'RE NOT A RESIDENT? Tuition charges to nonresidents of the sponsoring school district may be costly enough to erase the economic advantage the community college offers. Some students cheat by giving a relative's address, but schools do run spotchecks and if you're caught you will have to pay up or be expelled. By far, the better plan is to establish residency (perhaps three months or so) in the school district. Check the school's residency requirements and get a job to cover expenses while you are qualifying – you may be able to do it over the summer months.

CAN YOU GET SCHOLARSHIPS FOR TWO-YEAR COLLEGES? Some financial aid is available – not nearly enough. In the 1967-68 school year, only about 6 per cent of students received help from such sources as National Defense Education Act loans, economic opportunity grants or college work-study programs, and also far from adequate help from non-Federal sources. Your chances of getting government funds improve considerably if you choose majors in areas of national need such as law enforcement or nursing.

IS IT PRACTICAL TO WORK? Most of the students in career programs at community colleges work part time. In some schools, as many as one-quarter work full time. Usually these students do not take full schedules and extend their courses over a longer period. If you have average or poor scholastic ability, seek the services of the school's counselors to help you set realistic goals. If you try to carry too much of a load, you will find, as Federal economist Rose Wiener puts it, that the open door of the community college is a revolving door that spins you out soon after you get in.

Winner Wallace Wants School Back

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

George C. Wallace has won his bid to recapture Alabama's governorship—the likely prelude to another presidential race in 1972—and Jess Unruh claimed the Democratic nomination against Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Wallace, who overcame a narrow first primary loss, promptly celebrated his victory in Tuesday's Democratic runoff over incumbent Albert P. Brewer by demanding President Nixon "Give us back our schools."

Nearly complete returns gave Wallace 542,394, Brewer 510,442.

In California, Unruh, a slimmed-down version of the man known as "Big Daddy" while speaker of the state's Assembly in the mid-1960s, easily outdistanced Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. Reagan was unopposed for Republican renomination.

That state's battle of two anti-war Democrats saw Rep. John V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, ahead of Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who once threatened to launch impeachment proceedings against President Nixon because of the U.S. attack into Cambodia.

The winner faces incumbent Sen. George Murphy, the one-time actor and dancer, who defeated millionaire industrialist Norton Simon in the GOP primary. Murphy is a strong supporter of President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia.

With 24 per cent of the state's 21,501 precincts counted, Unruh had 394,055 and Yorty 153,054.

Senatorial totals stood: Tunney 253,979, Brown 206,798; Murphy 304,463, Simon 157,098.

The year's busiest political day so far, with balloting in eight states, saw the renomination of four Democratic senators—Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, John C. Stennis of Mississippi, Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey and Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico.

Besides Reagan, two other Republican governors were renominated—Robert D. Ray of Iowa, who was unopposed, and Frank Farrar of South Dakota.

In the day's only major upset, Gov. David Cargo of New Mexico was defeated for the Republican senatorial nomination by Anderson Carter, a conservative rancher and oil man, who now faces Montoya, victorious over former state Rep. Richard Edwards.

In New Jersey, Williams, a 2-to-1 victor over state Sen. Frank J. Guarini, will meet Nelson G. Gross, former state Republican chairman who easily whipped two opponents.

Both Williams, who once supported U.S. involvement in Vietnam, and Gross, who broke with President Nixon's Southeast Asia policies over the Cambodia attack, have become opponents of the Indochina war.

But a youthful antiwar candidate, 28-year-old Louis Kaden, was defeated 2-to-1 in a bid to unseat Democratic Rep. Edward J. Patten in a contest that saw involvement of hundreds of students from Princeton, Rutgers and other New Jersey colleges.

A similar outpouring of college-aged youth marked California's Democratic senatorial primary, with some 8,000 student volunteers flocking to Brown's banner.

In Montana, the 67-year-old Mansfield crushed two Democratic opponents. He is heavily favored in November against Republican Harold E. Wallace, a 38-year-old Missoula sporting goods salesman.

In Mississippi, Stennis has a free ride towards a new six-year term. Unopposed in Tuesday's Democratic primary, he has no Republican opponent in November.

Ray and Farrar will be seeking their second two-year terms in the Iowa and South Dakota state houses respectively.

In Iowa, Ray will be opposed by former Lt. Gov. Robert Fulton, who edged House Minority Leader William Ganno for the Democratic nomination.

The South Dakota voting saw Farrar sweep past state Sen. Frank Henderson in the GOP primary. He will meet state Rep. Richard Kneip, unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In New Mexico, where Cargo is vacating the governorship after two two-year terms, former House Speaker Bruce King won a three-way Democratic primary, while Pete Domenici, a former Albuquerque city commissioner, captured a six-way GOP contest.

Seven states nominated candidates for House races too.

In Iowa, veteran GOP Rep. Fred Schwengel survived a primary challenge from former State Senate Majority Leader David Stanley.

In California Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, a Republican who won the seat in 1967 after beating Shirley Temple Black in a special election, won renomination over his conservative challenger, Forden Athearn.

The Alabama contest marked the third straight Democratic gubernatorial primary victory by a member of the Wallace family.

Wallace won a first four-year term in 1962 and, ineligible to succeed himself in 1966, successfully ran his wife Lurleen.

When she died in 1968 Brewer, a onetime Wallace protege, became governor and eventually a rival to the 1968 third-party candidate's effort to recapture the State House.

In the first primary May 5, Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote lead in a seven-way race, but Wallace banked heavily on the racial issue in the runoff campaign.

It apparently paid off in white majorities that overcame a strong Brewer showing in predominantly black precincts.

With Republicans indicating they do not plan to put up anyone for governor—many of them backed Brewer in the primary—Wallace's triumph means he will regain the office in January with a free rein of state personnel and transportation. While he might have run anyway, a defeat in his home state would have been a thwarting setback to his 1972 hopes.

In California, Unruh jumped into an early lead and claimed victory over Yorty, an acknowledged "maverick Democrat" who went to bed without conceding after issuing a statement about Democrats "to the left of the mainstream of American thinking" losing to Republicans in general elections.

Philosopher Wants To Be In Olympics

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Dr. A. Berry Crawford heads the Utah State Universtiy philosophy department, has spent two years in the Peace Corps and plans to write a book about the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

But what he really wants to do is run the marathon in the 1972 Olympics.

"I guess I'm a philosophical slave to the ancient Greeks, who believed in development of mind and body," says the 32-year-old professor. Smallish, 5-feet-8 and 150 pounds now, Crawford always wanted to be an athlete of some kind.

But I was usually one of the first cut from football and basketball because of my size. I turned to track as a last resort. I tried hurdling and did not succeed.

"During my high school freshman year, the coach ordered me into a mile run with three others. I took third. But I found my niche, distance running."

He was a 3,000-meter steeplechase performer for the Universiy of Kansas, and was cocaptain of the track and field eam.

He won the Heart of America Marathon at Columbia, Mo., in 1967, and tried out for the 1968 Olympics at Alamosa, Colo., but dropped out of the marathon on after 15 miles because of bursitis in his right foot.

He says he's whipped the bursitis problem and is back in training, running about 10 miles a day.

"I'll gradually increase that to 20 miles a day," he says.

When Crawford was in Senegal, Africa, for the Peace Corps, between 1962 and 1964 he helped coach African distance runners for the 1964 Olympics.

He said consistency is the big factor in marathon training.

"Good intentions don't count for much in a race of this sort," he says. "Mental fortitude comes from consistency in daily drills."

Before the 1972 Olympics, in Munich, Crawford plans to run in a Boston Marathon, and in the National AAU Championships.

Man Is Charged In Bank Robbery

AUSTIN (AP) — Kenneth R. Thompson, 23, of Grand Prairie was charged Tuesday with the armed robbery of a drive-in teller at the Travis State Bank Monday.

Police said Thompson was arrested by Texas Ranger G.W. Burks at Love Field in Dallas, where he apparently had gone to meet his wife.

Thompson was brought here for further questioning. He was charged before Peace Justice Buck Smith who set bond at $100,000.

The bank teller told police she handed over about $1,150 Monday when a man in his early 20s pointed a revolver at her.

For the 13th year in a row — here comes the General Electric appliance train! It's loaded with GE refrigerators, freezers, color TV's, washers, dryers, air conditioners and other major items for your kitchen and/or home entertainment. At big savings for you! Here's why:
GE is the only major manufacturer which makes all its appliances at one location — Louisville, Kentucky. Each year at the start of the summer season the Southwest Distributor assembles at the factory a large selection of special production models, plus some closeouts and discontinued models. These are ordered by dealers in the Southwest at savings from regular prices. Because direct to dealer rail cars are used, additional savings in freight, warehousing, hauling and paperwork are made.
During the trainload sale event, all these savings are passed on to you — as much as $80.00 on some items!
Naturally, there is a limited supply of some models. So don't delay — if you plan to buy a major appliance, color TV or stereo, soon, shop these bargains today!
