

Things Happen When You Pray

I HAVE A FRIEND IN Canada who is a slender little fellow, a man as meek and mild as anyone you might meet. Yet he is a great soul and in his work he has touched thousands of lives. If you have not already heard of Dr. Albert E. Cliffe, you might note his name, because I think you will be hearing a great deal about him and his work.

Al Cliffe is a chemist and a successful one. Some years ago, he began to pay what for so many people is the price of success. He had ill-health. They became so bad that the doctors gave up hope for him. His doctor broke the bad news to him: "You have a month to live."

This wasn't the happiest information a man could get, and Al Cliffe lay there when the doctor left and said it over and over to himself, "I've only got a month to live."

WHEN THE DOCTOR CAME to see him on the following day, Cliffe asked him, "How much time did you say I had to live?"

"About a month," the doctor answered.

"Well," Cliffe said, "what do you think I ought to do with myself?"

"Just take the best care of yourself you can so you'll be sure to live out the month," was the reply.

Cliffe thought for a moment and it came to him that if he only had a month to live, it didn't matter very much what kind of care he took of himself. So he said to the doctor, "Have you given me up?"

"No," the doctor responded, "I wouldn't put it that way. Well, fight to the last, but I fear that about a month is all you have left."

Then, as he was lying there one day, he began to pray. He said, "Lord, if it be Thy will, let me be healed." He prayed in that way for a while and then, feeling he had nothing to lose, shortened it to, "Lord, let me be healed."

IN WRITING ABOUT THIS letter, he said he had decided to fall back completely on the promises of the Bible. He would go all out spiritually and boldly ask to be healed and at the same time believe he was going to be healed.

For Al Cliffe this proved to be the right thing to do because he was healed and is a healthy man today.

In gratitude for his healing, he went to his church and asked what he could do to help. They gave him a Bible class. He increased that class from twenty-four members to more than one thousand. Today, he spends all his time teaching his classes and traveling all over the world telling people that, if they only pray big enough prayers, they can be healed of their diseases, failures and fears, and that they can accomplish great things. He writes books too, and they add up to this simple statement, "I was defeated and sick because I did not have God. I found God and I believed, and now my life is good."

FAITH IS THE MOST POWERFUL force in the world. Don't be afraid to use it. Pray and expect great answers. If God says, "No" to you, that's His right and privilege, and you have to take it. It wouldn't be rational for God to say, "Yes" to everything we ask for. But prayers of faith will help Him to say, "Yes." Lack of faith itself forces negative answers. The prayer formula which I personally find most valuable is the following verse: "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them."

Great things do happen when you pray and believe. Al Cliffe found health and an exciting new life as a result of his prayers. Pray with faith and a humble willingness to accept God's answers, and the most amazing things will happen in your life.

Reds Accept Prisoner Trade Offer

Tex-Harvey Plant Operator To Seek Shut-In Exception

Representatives of the Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant in the Spraberry Trend Area plan to confer with officials of the Railroad Commission in Austin Monday to present plans which they hope will make unnecessary the filing of a suit against the commission's recent order to shut down all production in the Spraberry.

This was revealed Saturday by Joe R. Wright, president of the Anchor Gasoline Corporation of Tulsa, Okla., operators of the Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant, and W. P. Z. German, Jr., attorney for Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant.

In Austin, Wright and German will attempt to show the commission that the Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant is connected to approximately 150 wells and it is taking all gas from those wells, processing it and disposing of the residue to the El Paso Natural Gas Company.

"The commission's shut-in order on the field appears to be based entirely on the waste of natural gas," German said, "and if the commission feels that it cannot lawfully consider our special situation then we will consider the filing of suit to obtain a decision by the court as to the validity of the order as applied to the properties to which we are connected."

Other Operators May Join

"The operator of the Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant is pursuing all known possibilities of working out a feasible plan in hopes that the commission will approve. We will ask that body to reconsider the equities involved," German said.

He also said a number of operators have consented to join the preliminaries, as well as the possible court action. They include Rutland, Davidson, Praeger, Rutter & Wilbanks; Olson Brothers; Gustave Ring, and others.

Wright emphasized that the operator of Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant is entirely sympathetic with the effort being made by the Railroad Commission to prevent the waste of natural gas in the Spraberry Trend Area.

Duncan was charged here with armed robbery of a Robstown liquor store last Tuesday. Police said he had been charged with bank robbery in Jourdanton, county seat of Atascosa County, where the bank robbery occurred.

Duncan didn't get the "easy money" he said he wanted. The man who robbed the bank left the $1,500 he got in a paper sack in a pickup truck he abandoned near Tilden.

Texas Ranger M. W. Williamson and Deputy Sheriff Bill Kliff cornered Duncan after a chase across back yards of homes near the beach. They had spotted him — in a stolen automobile they had been alerted to look for — about 8 p.m. as he drove in Corpus Christi.

Duncan ran into a dead end street with the automobile. Police said that when he was arrested, Duncan had a rifle and a pistol.

He was transferred Saturday night to Jourdanton by Texas Rangers, Capt. Alfred Allee and Zeno Smith. Duncan said he was a carpenter and speaking of the bank robbery said, "I'd been working 10 hours a day and needed some easy money."

Absentee Voting Indicates School Election Interest

A flurry of absentee voting Saturday indicated an awareness of the nearing Midland Independent School District elections.

County Clerk Roselle Cherry reported the total of absentee ballots passed the 60 mark with the deadline falling next Tuesday midnight.

Three candidates have entered the race for the two school board vacancies. This week is expected to see spirited jockeying for votes in next Saturday's election.

Two members at large will be elected from among Dr. Dorothy Wyvell, pediatrician; James L. (Jim) Maughery, cleaning plant operator, and Robert Zonne, independent oil operator.

District Judge R. W. Hamilton and John Cernwall will leave the Board of Trustees.

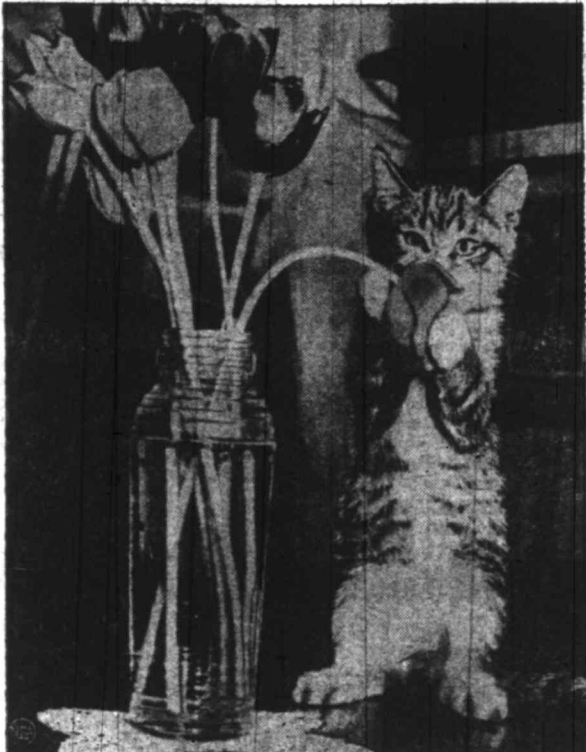

In its verdict, the jury decided: 1. That the "substantial purpose" of the picketing of the church project was to induce Hill to employ only members of the union.

2. That the purpose was to induce Hill to recognize the union as the bargaining agent for the workers.

3. That the purpose was to coerce common laborers on the project to become members of the union.

4. That the contractor had denied overtime employment to Henry (Cat Eyes) Boyce, one of the common laborers on the project, because he was a member of the union.

A temporary restraining order, first issued on February 24, the day after pickets halted work on the project at Darfield and Louisville Streets, will remain in effect until the formal judgment is entered.

Marines Again Capture Vegas

SEOUL —(AP)— Grimly determined U. S. Marines won back bloody Outpost Vegas at dawn Sunday, after a thunderous night-long artillery duel with Chinese Reds.

"Vegas is all ours—the slopes, the crest, the entire hill," a Marine commander reported from the front. "The Chinaman has left it completely."

It was the third time Marines had won back the shell-ripped stronghold of the western front since the Reds took it from them in a 3,500-man attack on a five-mile-wide sector Thursday night.

Vegas is in the Bunker Hill area, a guardian post on an invasion route to Seoul.

When the Leathernecks climbed to the top of the hill at sunrise there were no live Chinese around, said a front report. But the report added there were "large numbers" of dead Chinese strewn around the slope. One Marine officer reported 75 Chinese bodies piled in one spot and more scattered all around the hill.

The plucky band of Marines stabled to the top after a harrowing night spent on its southern slope, shielded from swarming Reds by a ring of UN artillery. That circle of bursting shells killed some 400 Chinese trying to get at the Marines.

FISH GET TV, BUT NO PIANO

OSCEOLA, WIS.—(AP)—Fish in Osceola Creek got a 10-room house Saturday, complete with television and a deep freeze chest.

The house toppled into the creek when a small bridge gave way. The dwelling, containing all the belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carlson, was being moved from a farm to the village of Dresser Junction, five miles away.

Witnesses said almost every house in the town was flattened. The fire was burning out of control two hours after the blast.

All available ambulances in the area were called. Firemen from Linton, Jacksonville and Sullivan answered calls to help fight the fire.

Vance Seppelfield, a Linton newspaperman spending the evening at Lyons, 20 miles away, said the explosion blew open the door of the house he was in and almost knocked the occupants from their chairs.

The train was on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad. A railroad spokesman in Chicago said.

Light Rain Showers Predicted In Basin

Light rain is expected to cool the Permian Basin Sunday. South to southeast winds up to 15 miles an hour may stir some sand, Midland Air Terminal observers said Saturday night.

Mostly fair skies prevailed over Texas Saturday with a few high clouds along the Gulf Coast.

Red Cross Ready To Go

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The American Red Cross Saturday offered its full resources to help in any exchange of sick and wounded prisoners between the Communists and United Nations forces in Korea.

James T. Nicholson, Red Cross executive vice president, called Far East Director H. L. Janssen in Tokyo to assist Gen. Mark Clark "in any manner whatsoever consistent with the traditional role of the Red Cross."

The organization said it has large supplies of food parcels, clothing, medicines and other articles in Korea for immediate distribution to any released prisoners.

WITH FINGERS CROSSED—

Cautious Leaders Talk Truce Anew

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Cautious hopes that the Korean armistice at last might be possible arose Saturday night.

Acceptance by the Chinese and North Korean Reds of an Allied proposal to exchange sick and wounded prisoners of war was viewed here with some degree of optimism. But officials kept their fingers crossed.

The acceptance sent high State Department and defense officials into a series of unusual Saturday conferences.

Noted particularly was the Communist leaders' statement that all the world is longing for an armistice.

Officials said the Communists now may be talking action rather than propaganda, and that Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov's new Kremlin command may be preparing to take some positive steps for peace. But no one knew for sure, and officially there was no commitment except on the prisoner exchange development.

On this, Secretary of State Dulles said, "The United States government hopes that this exchange of prisoners will occur promptly."

The State Department, following top level conferences of Dulles and his aides and of Defense Department authorities, announced it considered a Communist message to Gen. Mark Clark "an unconditional acceptance of the proposal made by General Clark on February 22" for exchange of sick and wounded POW's. Clark is commander of UN forces in Korea.

The State Department emphasized Clark had called for the exchange in accordance with a Geneva prisoner of war convention on a "voluntary" basis and it interpreted the Red reply as accepting this condition. Since voluntary return of all prisoners (meaning that Chinese and North Koreans who don't want to go home would not have to) has been the great barrier to an armistice, the apparent Red agreement in the case of sick and wounded POW's raised speculation and some hopes that a break in the tense deadlock now might be possible.

Both Sides Acclaim Offer As Good News

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)— UN delegates on both sides of the Iron Curtain greeted as good news Saturday the Communist agreement to the UN offer for an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners in Korea.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., the new U. S. delegate who has been pounding the Russians and their Communist satellites to match soft words with deeds, had this to say about the Communist move:

"It is very encouraging if it is bonafide and sincere."

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet delegate, said the whole thing was news to him, but his fellow delegate, Georgi N. Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, had this to say:

"In my opinion, it is very good news."

McCarthy said the agreement was negotiated by staff members of the Senate investigation subcommittee, which he heads. He said the negotiations were carried out without the State Department or any other agency of the government being informed about what was going on.

"I didn't want any interference by anyone," he explained. However, he said he had no reason to believe the State Department would not "wholeheartedly approve" of the action.

The announcement created considerable stir inasmuch as under the Constitution the conduct of foreign affairs is lodged in the President. Whether an agreement between a senatorial subcommittee and foreign shipowners would, under the law, be considered an infringement upon this presidential prerogative was a question likely to arouse considerable debate.

McCarthy's announcement was made with considerable fanfare at a news conference in the subcommittee's hearing room.

He said the 342 ships involved in his agreement are owned by the Greeks but fly the flags of various nations. He said 17 fly the British flag, 34 the Canadian, 51 the Greek, 52 the Liberian and 88 the Panamanian.

"Since the outbreak of the war in Korea and up to the present time," he said, "a sizeable number of the vessels covered by this agreement have engaged in this Communist trade."

The immediate effect of this agreement will be to stop that trade and will result in a substantial reduction of materials, goods and supplies that are now being carried in and out of these Communist ports.

UN Examines Ko-Red Letter For 'Stingers'

TOKYO —(AP)— The Reds offered Saturday to accept the United Nations proposal for an early exchange of sick and wounded Korean War prisoners—a move some sources saw as the first Communist step toward approving the principle of voluntary repatriation.

The Reds coupled with the offer a bid for resumption of the truce talks—broken off since last Fall over that very issue.

Gen. Mark Clark said Saturday night his United Nations Command favors reopening the talks if the Communist offer is serious and forthright.

The Reds handed over a note—minus all venom and going straight to the point—at Panmunjom, Korea, Saturday, accepting General Clark's February 22 proposal for such an exchange.

Coupled with the acceptance was a request for resumption of the truce talks, broken off last October 5 when the Reds refused to yield to the Allied view that no war prisoner should be sent home against his will.

In Washington, the State Department said it regards Saturday's Communist note as an "unconditional acceptance," meaning that the voluntary instead of the forced principle applied to the impending exchange of sick and wounded.

Eastern Not Clear

The Red move came at a time when world communism, led by Moscow, appeared to some observers to be trying to lessen tensions, but whether this lifted into the pattern was not yet clear.

Even as the offer was made, the war in Korea reached its highest pitch in five months.

General Clark viewed the Red move with caution.

"We are going to study this offer very closely," he said.

"We want to be sure there isn't anything in it we don't understand."

At the United Nations in New York, Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., sounded the same note:

"This is very encouraging if it is bonafide and sincere."

Red China's Peking and North Korea's Pyongyang radio underscored their emphasis by repeating over and over, in English, Japanese, Korean and Chinese, broadcasts of the note text.

Only Sick, Wounded

The Red acceptance covered only the sick and wounded, a mere fraction of war prisoners held by either side.

The Reds claim they hold 13,000 Allied POW's, including about 3,000 Americans. The UN Command disputes their claim. The Allies hold 132,304 Chinese and North Koreans.

WHEN CHEEK MEETS GREEK—

Joe McCarthy Makes Like One-Man State Department

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) bypassed the Eisenhower Administration Saturday and announced that Greek owners of 242 merchant ships have agreed to break off all trade with North Korea and Red China.

Hailing the agreement as a major blow against the Reds, McCarthy said the ship owners also have agreed to refuse to carry cargoes of any type from one Communist port to another in any part of the world.

McCarthy said the agreement was negotiated by staff members of the Senate investigation subcommittee, which he heads. He said the negotiations were carried out without the State Department or any other agency of the government being informed about what was going on.

"I didn't want any interference by anyone," he explained. However, he said he had no reason to believe the State Department would not "wholeheartedly approve" of the action.

The announcement created considerable stir inasmuch as under the Constitution the conduct of foreign affairs is lodged in the President. Whether an agreement between a senatorial subcommittee and foreign shipowners would, under the law, be considered an infringement upon this presidential prerogative was a question likely to arouse considerable debate.

McCarthy's announcement was made with considerable fanfare at a news conference in the subcommittee's hearing room.

The immediate effect of this agreement will be to stop that trade and will result in a substantial reduction of materials, goods and supplies that are now being carried in and out of these Communist ports.

Contractor's Attorneys Claim Victory In Picketing Case; Union Plans Appeal

Attorneys for Midland Contractor Houston Hill claimed a victory Saturday in their 76th District Court battle to prevent the picketing of the million-dollar First Baptist Church construction project by a union of common laborers.

The victory was claimed after a 12-man jury, after deliberating three hours, ruled in favor of the contractor on three of five special issues submitted by Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton.

One of the issues was not answered but the other was in favor of the General and Construction Workers Union, Local 924, which had been named in the suit.

Judge Hamilton said a formal judgment in the suit to make permanent an injunction against the union will be entered in 10 days or two weeks.

In its verdict, the jury decided: 1. That the "substantial purpose" of the picketing of the church project was to induce Hill to employ only members of the union.

2. That the purpose was to induce Hill to recognize the union as the bargaining agent for the workers.

3. That the purpose was to coerce common laborers on the project to become members of the union.

4. That the contractor had denied overtime employment to Henry (Cat Eyes) Boyce, one of the common laborers on the project, because he was a member of the union.

A temporary restraining order, first issued on February 24, the day after pickets halted work on the project at Darfield and Louisville Streets, will remain in effect until the formal judgment is entered.

Judge Hamilton said a formal judgment in the suit to make permanent an injunction against the union will be entered in 10 days or two weeks.

Judge Hamilton said.

Attorney Nat Wells, representing the union and J. E. McDonald, its business agent, said a motion asking a new trial will be filed within a few days.

"We are very pleased with the verdict," said attorney William Browder of Midland, who represents Hill along with Leroy Jeffers of Houston.

The case was handed to the jury Friday afternoon when the defense abruptly closed its case after calling only one witness—Delbert Stroud, who was labor foreman on the church project.

Stroud was questioned concerning any instructions relative to employment with Bob Miller, the job superintendent for Hill.

"Did you have any instructions from Mr. Miller concerning overtime work for common laborers?" asked Wells.

"The only specific instructions I had," answered Stroud, "concerned Cat Eyes."

"Well, what about Henry Boyce, known as Cat Eyes?"

"He said never to work Cat Eyes overtime."

"Why?"

"He said Cat Eyes was a member of the union and would have to be paid time and a half for overtime work."

Hill himself had testified earlier in the trial that it was the practice in this area to pay only straight pay for overtime work by common laborers.

McDonald had requested premium overtime pay for the common workers.

Pilot Backs Out On Suicide Attempt, Winds Up In Jail

GARDENA, CALIF.—(AP)—A 30-year-old furniture salesman was in jail Saturday after a hectic four-hour aerial chase in which he threatened to crash his plane and kill himself.

Roland Clarence Sperry finally landed safely at San Diego Friday and said he had changed his mind about suicide.

"I've got too many troubles, I guess," he said. He blamed financial worries, among them alimony payments to his divorced wife. A note addressed to "Darling Isabel" was found in his parked car at this Los Angeles suburb, indicated romantic complications also.

Booked first at San Diego County Jail, Sperry was brought here Friday night and booked on suspicion of theft of the red Stinson plane he flew. He denied guilt.

Pilot's Glee Chase

The chase, with pilots of other planes and airport radio men trying to talk him down, began from the Gardena Airport at 9:18 a.m. He told the airport's radio tower: "I'm going to crash and kill myself."

The airport operator, Arthur Sharp, said an airport restaurant operator, H. H. Morgan, took off in pursuit, as did William Eytchison and his father, Arthur Eytchison, owners of the craft Sperry was flying.

Coast Guard and sheriff's planes joined the chase, which led to San Diego, back to the Los Angeles area, and back to San Diego.

Hurt In Crash

Motorcycle officers arrested Sperry, a former Air Force pilot, as he stepped from the plane. Sperry said Isabel Torres, Redondo Beach, is his fiancée. His ex-wife, Ovella, came to Gardena Airport and waited tearfully during the chase.

Miss Torres told newsmen she and Sperry are engaged, and "I'll marry him if only he can be hospitalized and cured. He's a sick man. He was hurt in a plane crash, and that's responsible."

Associates said Sperry was in a plane crash during World War II. Mrs. Sperry obtained a divorce last January.

Three-D Movies Bring Mixed Emotion Here

By TRACY PILLER
 Reporter-Telegram Staff

First night audience of Midland was alternately scared stiff, amused, held in suspense, and taken into the action of "Bwana Devil," the first full-length three-dimensional movie, which opened at the Tower Theatre Friday.

This movie is mainly interesting from the standpoint of the medium in which it was filmed and screened—utilizing three dimensions of natural vision—height, width and depth. The depth, effect of course, is the essence of the show—giving the audience the illusion of being on the spot of the action.

Filmed in the Belgian Congo and using natural settings and natives of the country, "Bwana Devil" is the story of an English engineer, Robert Stack, who attempts to construct a railway under the handicap of two marauding lions which kill many of his native laborers and cause the rest to quit working until the menace is conquered.

Barbara Britton also ventures into the rugged country to help Bob solve his problems by supplying moral and emotional support. No tremendous love problems are presented, though, sparing the audience any sickening "mush" so often the unbelievable destruction which causes an outdoor adventure picture to drag its oar, so to speak.

The lions' victims include a group of professional English hunters, who are chewed up while sleeping in a railway car.

The deficiency of the weakened plot is made up for in a number of very exciting scenes which leave the audience gasping. One particularly outstanding moment is where a native hurls a spear which you would swear is going to hit you—your duck and it misses, though.

Your girl friend or wife squeezes your arm real tight when a lion starts coming to "gobble you up" and when a coiled snake hanging from a tree seems to be dangling right in front of your face.

The feathers on native head-dresses, during a dancing scene, look as if they are bouncing out of the screen and numerous other things keep confining your way, like the muzzle of a rifle, grass pushed aside, and smoke from campfires.

It is necessary for the viewer to wear a pair of cardboard mounted polaroid glasses to achieve the 3-D effect. Without them you get two images which make little sense and hurt your eyes. The Tower furnishes the glasses without charge.

Audiences are reminded that 3-D movies are far from being perfected and the new medium is still experimenting to find better ways to keep you entertained.

Arch Oboler, producer of "Bwana Devil," was the first to venture into a full-length 3-D feature and is to be commended for his efforts. Movie moguls, when they first heard of his undertaking were skeptical and a few even laughed. But box-office-minded film companies are now "eating up" 3-D, thanks to a couple of lions who ate up a few people in "Bwana Devil."

One major company has announced that they will produce only 3-D movies in 1954 and the present trend, if the 3-D balloon doesn't pop prematurely, is that all movies will be "depthies" within a very few years. The change won't be abrupt, though, because too many millions are tied up in 2-D, flat screen films to which we have been accustomed.

See "Bwana Devil" at the Tower Theatre and judge for yourself what possibilities for "in-the-middle-of-everything" movies hold for the future. Next to Marilyn Monroe, probably nothing has shaken the entertainment field in years more than 3-D. And the way things are shaping up, the ones who wait it probably will be next to Miss Monroe if depths have anything to do with it.

Civilian Board Would Slash Hazardous Duty Pay System

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A commission has recommended to the Defense Department changes in pay for combat, flight and other hazardous duty which it estimated would save "upwards of 200 million dollars" a year.

While combat pay for soldiers, airmen and sailors actually under hostile fire would go up slightly (five dollars higher than the present $45 a month extra pay) some other extra pay would be dropped, including certain flight pay.

The five-man commission of civilians, headed by Lewis L. Strauss, New York financier, made its recommendations to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. The latter has forwarded it to the Senate Armed Services Committee, which requested such a study. The commission analyzed 16 types of special pay and allowances for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, Coast Guard, Public Health Service and Coast and Geodetic Survey.

In addition to recommendations on extra pay, the commission also proposed that the base pay of servicemen be placed on a sliding scale "related to a cost of living index and be adjusted at intervals of one to two years." It commented that servicemen are unable to bargain with their employer or to quit their job.

For Wounded, Captured

Combat duty pay, in general, is for men who are under hostile fire for not less than six days in any one month while serving in a unit of regimental size or smaller or in a plane or ship. It also covers men killed or wounded in action or who become captured or missing. In the case of wounded or captured or missing, the extra pay continues three months.

The overall savings apparently would be made primarily in paring down flight pay.

Here are some of the recommendations:

1. Flight pay: remove from eligibility officers and men (unless they are in a training program for crew-member assignments) who do not possess technical skills such as couriers and stewards. Remove those "who cannot reasonably be expected to provide air leadership or

Funeral Rites Held In Midland For Tot Killed Beneath Auto

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Northside Church of Christ in Midland for 16-month-old Alice Anne Cooper, victim of a Big Spring auto tragedy.

The funeral was conducted by Edwin S. Morris, minister, of the Northside Church of Christ. Interment was in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery.

Alice Anne, tiny daughter of Midland S. Sgt. William J. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, died last Thursday in an air evacuation plane rushing her to Lackland Air Force Base after she was struck accidentally by a car in front of her home near Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring.

She died, however, 27 minutes before the big plane touched down at the San Antonio base.

Sergeant Cooper is the son of William J. Cooper, Sr. of Midland. Mrs. Cooper is the former Jessie B. Wright, 307 North Fort Worth Street, Midland.

Survivors also include a brother, Jackie, four.

THEY'VE LITTLE LEFT TO LEARN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A pair of Paraguayans seeking advanced mechanics and mechanics training in Detroit should be well along in their learning already.

They arrived here last week after a 17,000-mile trip from Paraguay — all overland in a 1927 model Ford.

Ramon Echaurre and Athine Pino Del Valle, accompanied by Echaurre's wife, left Asuncion 29 months, eight times, 1,335 gallons of gas and 70 gallons of oil ago.

WRONG VARIETY OF ANTI-FREEZE

SEATTLE—(AP)—Flames shooting from the radiator of their rear-engine French automobile started Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dixon of Tacoma, Wash., Friday night, but the explanation was simple.

A service station operator, confused by the unfamiliar model, put gasoline in the radiator instead of the gas tank.

U. S. Firm To Build Refinery In India

NEW DELHI—(AP)—The Indian government Saturday signed an agreement authorizing the American Caltex Oil Company to construct a refinery with an initial capacity of 500,000 tons annually at Visakhapatnam, in the South Indian state of Madras.

Former RFC Employee Admits 'Errors' In Early Testimony

WASHINGTON—(AP)—E. Merl Young admits he slipped up a couple of times, but insists he never intended to tell anything but the truth during an investigation of the RFC.

"I tried to state the truth as far as I knew it," he told the federal court jury trying him on perjury charges Friday. "I had no reason whatever to lie. I hadn't done anything wrong."

The trial is in recess until Monday. Indications are the case will reach the jury Tuesday.

Young, as he did before Senate investigators and the grand jury, denied that while he was employed at the RFC as an examiner he had anything to do with processing the loan applications of the Lustron Corp., as the indictment against him alleges.

Later, Young quit the RFC and took highly paid jobs with two borrowers — Lustron and the F. L. Jacobs Company of Detroit.

Young agreed he signed a report by the RFC Reviewing Committee recommending the loan. He said he was directed to do so because he had been assigned to service the Lustron loan by keeping track of such things as how the money was being spent. He insisted this was quite different from processing a loan preliminary to action on it by the board of directors.

Detectives Recover Stolen Watch, But No $5, No Hat

A Midland negro, whose name was not learned, brought a strange complaint Friday to Midland police.

"I picked up a negro," he told Detective Sgt. Wayne Taylor and Detective Willie Hill, "and drove him to Odessa."

When we got there, he showed me a watch and said he was going to sell it. He wanted me to give him $5 and he would pay me back as soon as he sold the watch.

"I asked him how I could be sure he would come back and not run off with my $5."

"He said, 'Well, you just give me your hat and then you'll know I'll be back.'"

"I gave him the $5 and my hat and he ain't come back yet."

Taylor and Hill investigated, learned the watch, valued at $250, had been stolen from a Midland man and finally recovered it in Odessa, where it was sold for $40.

The motorist's hat still is missing.

Judge Takes Upton Water Action Under Advisement

RANKIN—A six-day district court battle here over the Upton County Water District came to a halt Saturday as Judge Garland Casheier of Fort Stockton prepared to mull over the endless flow of testimony delivered by tired attorneys and witnesses since last Monday.

The hearing, the second on the disputed Upton County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, saw ranchers, oil men, city folk and out-of-state authorities toss around the pros and cons of such a plan.

Attorneys for the water district contended that the plan is both feasible and practical and designed to provide "cheap water" for the 291-square-mile district. They worked to prove the desperate need of additional water in the area.

The attorneys representing the oil companies and ranchers opposing the district, however, retorted through their many witnesses that the area is well supplied with water, the water district is too expensive and that the area could not "cheaply" benefit from the plan.

Compromise Urged
Judge Casheier, in taking the case under advisement, urged the warring factions to work together for a compromise solution to the row.

If the two camps can work something out, that's fine," Casheier said. "But," he continued, "if no solution can be framed, you'll sin-ply have to wait until I have made a complete study of the testimony and handed down my decision."

David Tinsinger, Austin, who with John Menefee of Rankin represents the water district, expressed hope that the oil companies and ranchers could sit down with the water district backers and seek a solution to the problem. A spokesman for the opposing faction voiced belief that such a meeting could be held.

Attorneys for the opposition and the various groups they represented are Glenn Lewis and Robert T. Neil of San Angelo, Plymouth Oil Company; W. B. Morgan of Houston, Humble Oil Company; Burleson Smith of San Antonio, Slick-Urschle Oil Company; Hastings Panamint of Midland, Texas Natural Gas Corporation, ranchers and landowners; and Horace Burton of Midland, Phillips Petroleum Company.

Engineer Defends Plan
Engineers for the opposing factions started in the final two days of testimony.

The engineer who framed plans for the proposed water district, George Green of Lubbock, spent much of Friday afternoon and Saturday morning on the stand testifying in defense of the plan.

Green told the court the water district's goal was an outlet in each section of the 291-square-mile area, but termed "fantastic" the $60,000 figure given by opposition attorneys as the cost of providing water outlets in 16 sections.

Green spent several hours describing his plan, which, he thinks, will call for a tax load of 30 cents per section a year. He based his figures on an assumed tax valuation in the district of some $30,000,000.

Green said he studied the area under dispute, determining the "best parts" for water and productivity of wells now pumping in the district.

"The best water is north from the Plymouth Oil Company Plant area to Midkiff," he told the court. "The water-bearing formations in that area are the best in the district," he explained.

Good Water Near Rankin
Under his plan, he said, the water district would drill wells in a wide but integrated fashion over the entire district and pipe water to each section of the area. Green called concrete pipe line the best for use in the plan.

But another engineer took a different view of the water supply in the disputed district. "The best water is near Rankin," Jack R. Barnes, water engineer from Austin, said Saturday. "I've studied the entire area," he said, "and found most places using water that could never measure up to U. S. Department of Health standards."

But the city of Rankin has near it the best water in the area," he continued. He pinpointed the "good water" in a part of the district about three miles east of Rankin.

Barnes said he couldn't see how the district could be feasible, but admitted under cross-examination that he knew nothing of cost engineering or other "technical" aspects of the plan.

Tax-Minded Liberals Begin Battle For New Levy On Gas

AUSTIN—Possibilities mustered in the Legislature Saturday for a new tax on pipe line natural gas.

Tax-minded liberals began mustering their biggest guns—public support.

And conservatives started some tax talk that sounded like it might have come right out of the liberal camp.

Two new developments supported the liberals' big push—the Railroad Commission's shutting down the important pipe line industry's appeal to the Supreme Court from the tax the Legislature imposed two years ago.

The Spraberry shutdown to halt gas flaring will cost the state an estimated $500,000 in expected revenue next month before other fields can take up the slack.

That will make the situation a little tighter on legislative spending without taxing.

Appeal of the tax suit was in direct defiance of Governor Shivers' attempts to persuade the industry to drop its suit and to along with a program of present taxes, bearing its assigned share of the load.

Powerful Citizens Lobby
Armed with that ammunition, a newly organized group that calls itself the Citizens for a Fair Pipe Line Gas Tax has set out on a district-by-district campaign to recruit a powerful citizens' lobby behind its movement. Spraying the drive is Navarro County Judge Jim Sewell, the blind veteran who rallied House liberals two years ago to win passage of the tax now being contested in the courts.

Sewell's plan: A bombardment of every representative and senator in the Legislature with letters, telegrams, phone calls and personal visits from their constituents.

School teachers will be reminded, in passing, that their push for a $600-per-teacher pay raise will stand or fall on the pipe line tax issue. It appears the only likely source of raising enough additional revenue to foot the $4 million dollar salary bill.

Teacher Pay Raise To Top Lawmaking Calendar This Week

By MARTHA COLE
AUSTIN—(P)—Everybody expects the $600 annual pay raise for teachers to be the big issue in the Legislature this week.

It could be the show-down week. Could be that Senator A. M. Alkin, Paris, author of the measure in the Senate, can bring it up for floor debate in the higher chamber. He says he's ready, but there's a technicality that may delay him until after the Legislature gets through with the big money bill for state services.

Could be that backers in the House will try every day to get some kind of test vote, see where the representatives stand now after 75 days of the session.

In the Senate, the raise has committee approval and is ready for debate. In the House, it's still in a committee with no date set for public hearing.

The teacher pay raise proposition is the pivot point in the Legislature at this time. It would cost the state an additional $30 to $35 million dollars a year. That means more taxes, the conservatives say. Okay, pay for it with a natural gas tax, the liberals reply.

Races Take Shape For Rankin Posts

RANKIN—J. Linton Clark, city councilman, has announced he will be a candidate to succeed himself in the municipal election Tuesday. But two men will contest Clark.

O. N. Justice and J. B. Pettit have entered the race. Voting will be held in the City Hall.

In other Rankin political news, six candidates have filed for three places on the Board of Trustees of the Rankin Independent School District. The school election takes place next Tuesday.

Two incumbents, Walton Poase and Lloyd Yocham, will seek reelection. Four others have announced their candidacies for the board vacancies. They are J. F. Everett, James W. Kennedy, L. D. Sipes and J. T. James. Tommy Workman, school board member, resigned recently when he was elected to the Upton County Commissioners Court.

Commodity Prices Again Drop Slightly

NEW YORK—(P)—The Associated Press index of important commodity prices declined slightly last week for the second week in a row. The index of 35 commodity prices declined to 178.55 compared with 179.03 the previous week ago and 185.99 a year ago. Base year is 1926.

GOP Seeking New Leader As Roberts Resigns Under Fire

WASHINGTON—(P)—Republicans were looking for a new national chairman Saturday, after C. Wesley Roberts' abrupt resignation under criticism by Kansas legislative investigators.

But one member of the National Executive Committee, Wayne J. Hood of Wisconsin, asserted the GOP National Committee should refuse to accept the resignation.

Earlier President Eisenhower said Roberts made "a wise decision." Roberts resigned Friday night within hours after a Kansas legislative inquiry committee reported he had violated at least the spirit of the state's lobbying law. Blaming a political plot, Roberts declared, "My conscience is clear," but said he felt his usefulness as national chairman was destroyed.

Involved in the Kansas investigation was Roberts' part in helping to sell the state a $110,000 hospital building, and accepting an $11,000 fee. He had no party or government job at the time, and said he acted only as a public relations man, not a lobbyist.

Oklahoma Oil Man Killed in Freakish Shooting Accident

DENISON—(P)—An Oklahoma oil man was shot to death accidentally on Lake Texoma Friday while fishing with two friends.

Marshall County Attorney O. C. Barnes, Madill, Okla., gave this account of the shooting of M. F. (Ted) McCoy, 44.

McCoy, Irvin Hicks, 48, and C. O. Irwin, all of Healdton, Okla., were trolling when Hicks decided to shoot at some seagulls on a sand bar. As he prepared to fire, his fishing line snagged and the rod and reel were pulled from his lap.

He grabbed for them and the gun went off. The bullet struck McCoy in the stomach. He died almost immediately.

ACC SCHOLARSHIP GRANT
ABILENE—(P)—A $5,000 grant for graduate school scholarships has been given Abilene Christian College by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Jones of Houston.

T-6 IS HEAVY SMOKER—Lethal-looking smoke rockets are installed under the wing of a T-6 Mosquito by A/IC William T. Rogers, of McAlester, Okla. The Mosquitoes range the Korean battlefield, marking the targets with these smoke rockets, and then UN bombers follow up the "smoke labels" with shattering attacks.

Woman Claims Morrow's Post On Democratic Panel

SEGUIN—(P)—The National Democratic Committeewoman from Texas Saturday said she would attend a party meeting in Washington next week as the alternate for Wright Morrow.

She is Mrs. H. H. Weisner, Seguin, who publicly announced her support of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson last Summer when the Texas Democratic Party Convention endorsed President Eisenhower.

Morrow, disputed Democratic national committeewoman from Texas, resigned his post to support Eisenhower but the State Executive Committee refused to accept the resignation.

National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell accepted it, maintaining Morrow's post was vacant. Morrow also was the South's representative on the South's Executive Committee, which will meet in Washington next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Weisner told the Associated Press that the National Executive Committee had appointed her as an alternate to that post.

She said she received the notification by telephone about a week ago and then, verification by letter "a few days ago."

At Houston, Morrow said he has not been invited to attend the Tuesday meeting in Washington and will not attend.

Morrow said he was named to the 11-member Executive Committee during a caucus of committeemen from Southern states at the National Convention last Summer in Chicago.

"Each section is represented by a man and a woman," he said. "I was selected along with the national committeewoman from Georgia."

"THANK GOD I MISSED THE BOY"—

One Leg Gone, One Broken, Truck Ruined, He's Happy

But William Giddens is happy. He saved a boy's life.

"I just couldn't run over him—I just couldn't do it," Giddens reflected from his hospital bed. "I'd rather have it like this."

Giddens, 40, winner of several awards for accident-free driving in his 12 years as a milkman, was guiding his stubby truck along his route March 10. He was headed down a street slick from an afternoon rain.

So was 12-year-old Roland D. Martin, returning from the grocery on his bicycle.

The boy suddenly swerved from the shoulder onto the pavement. The milkman was too close to stop. He took the only other course, throwing his truck into a sharp turn. The open-doored vehicle rocked over on its side and slid 60 feet, grinding the driver's legs beneath it.

"It's all right," Giddens was heard to say as they wheeled him into the operating room. "Thank God I missed the boy."

They amputated Giddens' right leg three inches above the knee. Giddens and his family received dozens of letters praising him.

They came from businessmen, parents and children. Many sent money. Contributions total $4,925.

Fellow dairy employees pitched in. So did the milkman's customers. Children at an elementary school sent a get-well letter, promising they'd be careful on their bikes.

"It's all so wonderful," said his wife. "We always thought he was wonderful and now we know." The Giddens' have two teenage daughters.

Giddens doesn't know how long he'll be hospitalized. He says his dairy has assured him work.

The milkman said quietly, "I don't want any extra credit. I can get by without a leg, but I don't think I could have got over hurting that boy."

Their appointment was effective at the beginning of the Spring semester.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps of Hardin-Simmons, organized in the Fall of 1952, is a four-year course of training for future officers in the United States Army.

River Flows Left-Handed

BOUND BROOKE, N. J. —(AP)—For years the Raritan River has been backing up through a storm sewer and flooding River Road and South Main Street at a Jersey Central Railroad underpass.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders has discussed a new drainage system running into thousands of dollars.

The board heard Friday though, that the trouble has been fixed by the flick of a wrist.

Borough engineer Wallace Graves discovered somebody has been turning a valve on the storm sewer the wrong way, opening the pipe instead of closing it off when the river rose above the level of the pipe.

Mau Mau Fanatics Kill Dozen Natives In Newest Massacre

NAIROBI, KENYA—(AP)—A gang of Mau Mau terrorists killed at least 12 pro-British native home guards in a night attack on an African village near Nyeri, it was announced Saturday. The killings followed only 24 hours after the massacre of at least 150 loyal natives near Nairobi.

Early reports from Nyeri, 60 miles south of Nairobi, said the gang of about 100 terrorists was armed with pistols and rifles. The attack was made in the Chinga location in the South Nyeri Reserve.

It was the latest in the long series of murders and other violence of the Mau Mau, a secret native society whose members take a blood oath to drive the white man from Kenya. Hundreds of persons have been slaughtered by the terrorists and houses and other properties destroyed.

Woman Rescued After Seven Hours In Elevator Gage

NEW YORK —(AP)—A young cleaning woman spent seven hours in an elevator in a deserted bank Saturday and probably still would be there, except for an anxious husband.

The husband of Mrs. Colla Bykrow, 29, became worried when she was not home by 2 p.m., although she was due off work at 10 a.m.

He went to the Chase National Bank branch at 200 Fifth Avenue and peered through the glass doors. He saw a broom leaning against a wall.

Pressing his ear to the glass, he thought he could hear faint cries. The husband found a policeman, who found two elevator workers.

With a crowbar they forced the front door. They found the self-service elevator stalled between the main floor and the basement. With a special key they opened the shaft door, then the car door.

At 4 p.m., they lifted out a weeping Mrs. Bykrow, who told them she had been in the cage since 9 a.m.

Diplomats Look Askance As Malenkov Concocts New Conciliatory Atmosphere

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW —(AP)—Some Western diplomats who have been skeptical said Saturday they may yet decide that a new conciliatory atmosphere prevails in Moscow.

The Soviet government's new amnesty decree for short-term, non-political prisoners could not have been issued, they said, if the Russian leaders believed a third world war lay ahead.

Linking the amnesty move to other recent developments, the skeptical diplomats said maybe a new atmosphere does exist and it may lead to significant international developments.

The Korean War, they admit, is still the greatest roadblock to world peace. But when something happens anywhere to bring about a halt in the shooting, they say, the East and West really will be getting somewhere on the road to world peace.

This dispatch was written before Communist China offered to accept a United Nations proposal for an early exchange of sick and wounded prisoners — a move that looked to American officials as something more than a propaganda maneuver.

Optimistic diplomats here cite these developments as tending to create a new atmosphere.

Prime Minister Malenkov's statement that all controversial issues with all countries, including the United States, could be solved by peaceful means.

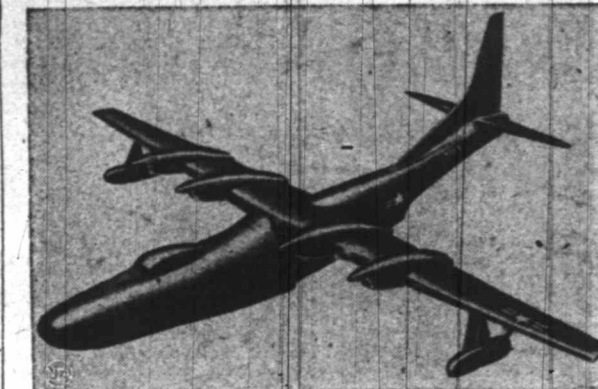

A Soviet promise to do all possible to bring about the release of nine British civilians being held in North Korea and an indication of a similar promise in the case of French Nationals.

Marked absence in official speeches of derogatory references to Western leaders.

Granting of entry visas to a group of American newspaper and radio officials coming here next week, the first such group to be admitted since the Council of Foreign Ministers met here in 1947.

Moscow dispatches, parts of which have been delayed 12 to 15 hours by censorship, have given no figures on how many persons in Soviet prisons and labor camps may be affected by the amnesty. No prison statistics are issued by the Soviet government.

It generally is believed, however, that inmates of prisons and work camps run into the millions, many of them engaged in atomic energy and other developments. A large share of them are political prisoners, a class largely outside the terms of the amnesty.

FLYING BOAT TO STRESS SPEED—Fastest flying boat in the 40-year history of water-based aviation is expected to be the Convair R3Y-1 "Tradewind," shown in artist's sketch above. Its top speed will be more than 350 miles per hour. The 80-ton transport, equipped with air conditioning and high altitude pressurizing systems, is the first water-based transport fitted with rearward-facing passenger seats. The plane is being tested at San Diego, Cal., and will be ready for trans-Pacific Navy service early in 1954.

Ashes Of Notting Hill Killer's Fifth Female Victim Found

LONDON —(AP)—Burned human bones, believed to be the remains of a fifth victim of London's sex-mad strangler, were unearthed Saturday in the garden of the dingy flat that already had yielded the moldy bodies of four strangled women.

The find sent a new wave of horror through the dead-end street in London's seedy Notting Hill district. Two families of Jamaicans living in the apartment building declared they were moving out because they could "no longer endure" living there.

At about the same time, detectives discovered that widely sought John R. H. Christie, 55, trucking clerk who had lived in the flat 18 years, spent last weekend no more than three miles from the murder scene.

He had registered in a lodging house under his own name and left his briefcase behind. But his bed had not been slept in since Monday morning—or just before the first bodies were discovered Tuesday behind the walled-in pantry in his former flat.

Yet other victims may be discovered. Two girls who lived near the Notting Hill horror house are missing.

Police raced against time in their efforts to catch the killer. They warned he may be a moon-struck sex sadist and he may strike again Monday, the time of the next full moon.

A quick-acting chlorine gas detector has been invented to warn truck drivers and warehouse watchmen of leaks in chlorine bottles and give them time to repair the leaks before serious accidents occur.

Silver-Haired Grandmother, 68, Spies On Reds For FBI

LOS ANGELES —(AP)—A demure, silver-haired grandmother told the House Un-American Activities Committee Saturday she was a Communist party member five years, working undercover for the FBI.

The appearance of Mrs. Edith Macia, 68, before the committee electrified the sixth-day session and, she said, came also as a surprise to all her friends who until Saturday knew her only as a country housewife.

She testified that, at the request of the FBI, she joined a Los Angeles Communist club and gathered 164 names of fellow party members between 1943 and 1949.

During a recess hearing Mrs.

Macia told newsmen she and her retired husband now reside in a rural area near Placencia, Calif., where she carefully has kept the secret of her work since leaving the party.

She said she has not asked for protection and desires none, although her husband is apprehensive that some harm may befall her as a result of her testimony. She said they have two sons, two daughters and nine grandchildren.

Patriotic Service
Frank Tavenner, committee counsel, did not permit her to state all the circumstances under which she took the FBI assignment but she said that he was known as an outspoken anti-Communist and that the FBI requested her help.

Twice a month, after each meeting of the West Adams club, she made reports to the FBI until she terminated her party membership upon leaving Los Angeles late in 1948, she said.

Her work was entirely a patriotic service, she said, for which she received only expense funds from the FBI.

Task Takes Time

"The principal purpose of my membership in the club was to find out who the members were and what they were doing," said the motherly, quiet-spoken Mrs. Macia. "I made the lists chiefly by sitting as close as I could to the club treasurer and watching as the membership cards were signed and the receipts issued for dues. Other names I got by listening until I heard them. This took many, many months because the members usually called one another by their first names."

Flood Waters Ebb After New England Homes Are Inundated

BY Associated Press

Flood waters began to recede in New England Saturday after heavy rains ended.

River levels in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts were dropping slowly.

Officials said crests had been reached or passed and the flood menace will subside with the shrinking streams unless downpours begin anew.

In Maine, which experienced its worst floods in 17 years, 1,500 persons were moved from their homes and 13 communities were isolated. The Saco River rose Saturday at the twin mill cities of Saco and Biddeford in Maine.

The Black River in New York began to rise again Saturday after dropping earlier.

Light and scattered showers fell Saturday in New England states and the Eastern Great Lakes area. A few widely scattered showers also sprinkled Florida and the Pacific Coast from Northern California northward.

Temperatures were on the cool side in the northeastern quarter of the U. S. but ranged from mild to warm in most other areas.

Charles E. Bohlen
Senate Gives Heathy Approval To Bohlen

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Senate opened the way for speedy departure of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to Moscow with a rousing 74-13 vote of confidence Friday in President Eisenhower's choice of the career diplomat as ambassador to Russia.

Ending a month of bitter controversy, the Senate's lopsided vote submerged critics who charged that Bohlen would carry left-over policies of the Truman regime into the new Eisenhower Administration.

Trainful Of Young Texans Swarms Over State Capitol

AUSTIN—(P)—A rumble started through the Capitol at noon Saturday, and the House doorkeeper on the second floor called out: "It's the kids!"

It was—640 of them on a special one-day train trip from North Texas to see their Capitol.

The special train left Denton Saturday morning and picked up children en route.

They all got hot lunches—two sandwiches, an apple, a candy bar and a soft drink—on the train before they got to Austin.

In Austin they piled into 15 city buses and went straight to the Capitol. Up the tall stairs to the third floor they pounded, their mothers chaperones puffing beside them, to the gallery of the House first.

Somebody blew a whistle, and the rumble stopped while Rep. G. P. Pearson, Navasota, explained what went on in the House. Only a few representatives were sitting around at their desks because the Legislature was in week-end adjournment.

After their Capitol tour their schedule had: a drive by the Governor's Mansion, a drive through the University of Texas campus and a walk through the Texas Memorial Museum.

Then out to Barton Springs, a city park, for a romp and relaxation before piling back on the train. On the train their supper—fried chicken in boxes—was waiting.

The tour is the fourth trainload of children to visit the Capitol this Spring. It was the second from North Texas, sponsored by a private travel agency in Dallas.

The children were from 10 to 14 years old. They came from Fort Worth, Denton, Dallas, Arlington, Grand Prairie, Roanoke, Pleasant Grove and numerous other towns in the North Texas area.

IF YOU HAVE 10 CALS IN A ROW—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wood, of Randolph County, Indiana, are mighty proud of their family—10 girls. The couple was married 16 years ago, when Mrs. Wood was 16 years old. The Woods have a lot of girls, but the record all-girl family (13), apparently is still held by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brooks, both 37, of Waterville, Me.

Four U. S. Tyros To Fight Mexican Bulls For Charity

EL PASO—(P)—Four U. S. amateurs—a magician, a cashier, a sailor and a machine operator—face vicious Mexican bulls Sunday for the sake of a little church.

The fight in the colorful ceremony for free. Whatever is taken in at the gate will go toward buying windows for what has become an international chapel.

The church—Santuario de Jesu, the Chapel of the Little Jesus—stands on a barren hill in the Colonia Duranguense section of Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from this Texas city.

Its construction—bit by bit—started in 1945. Painstakingly residents of both the Mexican and American sides of the border have donated time, materials and efforts toward completing it.

The job is almost done. The chapel still needs new benches, a permanent altar—and the windows. It probably will get windows after Sunday.

The four El Paso men hope to net 10,000 pesos—about $2,000—for their efforts with the cape and blade in Juarez' Plaza de Toros.

It won't be quite as dangerous as it first might appear. All but one of the four have fought bulls before.

Panchito Reyes, dry goods store cashier, has 12 kills to his credit. Al Johnson, magician, and Enriquez Arriola, clothing factory machine operator, have fought before.

Richard Evans, recently discharged after a hitch in the Navy, will make his first appearance in the legend-draped plaza. But he has been practicing carefully. He is one of the few negroes to chance the Latin sport.

But even with some experience, it's still no small feat for a man to face a thousand or so pounds of bellowing, raging black Mexican fighting bull.

The four offer their courage for the church.

It's just a little adobe place... a place to go on Sunday to worship. But, as Reyes puts it: "It's our church."

Experimental Rocket Constructed By Son Kills Denver Teacher

DENVER—(P)—A Denver teacher reluctantly accompanied his son a testing expedition Friday and was killed in the explosion of a home-made rocket.

Warren Francis Geyer, 42, head of a junior high school mathematics department, was killed as pieces of the lead pipe rocket cut through his chest. He was the husband of Mrs. Donna W. Geyer, a national magazine author.

The son, David, 16, suffered a shattered right leg and severe shock. A high school classmate, Jerry Shiff, 18, was blown 15 feet by the explosion but escaped injury.

The accident happened in an empty field just east of the Denver Airport. Mrs. Geyer said her husband reluctantly accompanied the boys to the field.

"He (David) knew he didn't like his rocket experiments," Mrs. Geyer said, "and Warren went along to keep it safe."

Young Shiff said David Geyer, recently awarded honorable mention in a national scientific research contest, constructed two rockets at his home earlier this week.

New Mexico 'Orphan' County Ready To Secede From Union

SOCORRO, N. M.—(P)—It all started with a traffic fine and now Socorro County is planning to secede from the Union, taking sizeable chunks of Arizona and Texas with it.

This Southern New Mexico city of 4,300 has no choice. It not only doesn't know where it is, it isn't even sure if it is.

What started the movement for a Socorro Free State was a motorist fined for drunken driving. He appealed the case to the district court.

The judge asked to see the city ordinance. But when city fathers finally dug it up, the judge commented it looked like it had been blowing around the streets. There was no signature and no city seal. Just An Orphan.

Several other ordinances, including ones on speeding and drunk driving, were thrown out.

That prompted a check of courthouse records to determine what other laws might be invalid.

It turned out that Socorro County, which at the time covered a sizeable portion of New Mexico and Arizona never had been ceded officially to the Republic of Texas by Mexico.

There's no record of any later transfer of the country's land to Arizona.

When Texas ceded to the U. S. territory which now includes about half of New Mexico, Socorro County wasn't included officially in the deal.

The more Socorro people thought about it, the better idea it seemed just to secede from the United States and start all over again. "We all expect to be millionaires as soon as we can get loose," one resident explains. "There'll be no income tax and no draft."

"Some folks down in El Paso have said they'd be interested in joining us. They don't feel like Texas is giving them a square shake. "And if those Texans get too ornery, why we'll just secede from them and start again."

Claron Waggoner, district attorney, thinks it's a good idea, but comments:

"Those Yankees will find something wrong with it."

Some of the schemes which secession-minded residents have advanced include a legal gambling establishment along the lines of Monte Carlo...

Drinking likker at $2.50 a gallon... cigarettes at five cents a pack. Socorro, incidentally, freely translated from the original Spanish means:

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Indian Chief Jay Haney can contain his enthusiasm, of course, but it appears that Spring training with the Midland ball club in Fredericksburg is neither the time nor the place.

Naturally, he's not predicting the outcome of the club as a pennant winner, a sho-in or any such thing. He has, however, established a goal and said so at the outset of training: "I think we've got a fourth place team right now."

That sets up Haney, as a seer, for a bouncing around when the Indians tackle their first exhibition scrimmage, against Berger, Sunday. Mind you, though, Haney is a conservative and speaks nothing at all of Midland as a club other than what it should do on paper; rather, he sticks to waxing enthusiastic about the individuals.

That's the way a pilot goes about steering his players in and out of exhibitions lineups, in and out of camp, and, maybe, onto other ball clubs. For instance, he spends the first week or so weeding out the also-rans, weighing how each remaining player can help the club by his own particular strength.

Consequently, Haney moved outfielders Hayden White and Lou Dawson, almost peerless hitters, to the crucial first and third base positions for tryouts, figuring to find sluggers somewhere in camp to complete the outer defense.

Haney extolled the hitting of each and said the moves were pay-offs, a drawback, if any, would be that "Dawson needs to lose more weight and is coming around slowly as a defensive infielder."

Looking over the roster, let's see what Haney has said, and, if you have a mind to, weigh it against the club that comes back for the Longhorn League opening.

First the rookies. First Baseman Milton Wallendorf and Pitchers Thomas McCormick and Bud Sisk. "They're the best looking rookies I've ever seen as long as I've been managing."

Of Catcher Gordon Tanner. "He's looking a lot sharper than he ever did last season."

By general conversation, Haney impresses you with these facts: That Scooter Hughes hits better this Spring than ever before, that Eddie Jacome promises a better year because of his take-charge attitude in the exercises, that Tex Stephenson lost none of his batting prowess despite two years in the service, and Third Baseman Quentin Basco adapts well to second base although his improving bat work still has some to go before it fits Midland's requirements.

To top it off, Haney reports that the ballyhoo on Second Baseman Roger Della Betta appears true, as much as one has to believe. The short, stocky player, acquired from Centralia, came to camp ready, eager and, sure enough, a standout performer.

A few notes here and there:

Jim Prince and Tex Carleton lent a professional eye to the Midland High-Odesa baseball game last week with their umpiring. . . . And Prince, Indian property, added color with a turn in pre-game hitting practice. Just for kicks, he swung a couple of times at a schoolboy's hurling and sailed one out of the park.

Coach Audrey Gill's Bulldog golf team, which entered the Bluebonnet Relay meet over the weekend, tries its luck against the state's biggest golfing field April 3 and 4, the Texas A&M Invitational at College Station. . . . Coach Gill's top foursome, Marcelino Moreno, Lee Sneed, Dickie McHargue and Waldo Leggett, if they are to compose the squad a third straight week, must withstand another challenge from alternates David Breedlove, Buzzy Bray and Luke McFarland early this week.

Indian Manager Jay Haney says this of mixing golf with baseball on his team (it's a controversial subject with some skipers): "I don't like to see some of them playing but I'd recommend it for my pitchers. Helps get their legs in shape. And it doesn't hurt for some of the hitters who don't hit a low ball so well."

Haney, incidentally, strengthened his legs by two miles on the Heart of the Hills course in Kerrville this week just to see if "a sports writer can cut." Haney said one "Heavens-to-Betsy" bad word when he tapped one drive 325 yards only to flub a 90-yard wedge shot.

Odesa, with only 14 players in camp, moved to Pleasanton from its Cotulla training site last week because the Cotulla park was in bad condition. . . . Older Second Baseman Wesley Martin, with Midland in '52, is expecting a call to the Army.

Former Indians Israel Ten and Manny Temes still have not reported to their Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City ball clubs. Ten because he is barnstorming with another team and Temes because of immigration troubles, it's reported.

FOR FIRST CITY CHAMPIONSHIP-

Reporter-Telegram Plans Golf Meet

Midland amateur golfers Saturday looked forward to the inaugural of the first annual City Championship tournament May 1, 2 and 3, the event to be sponsored by The Reporter-Telegram.

Plans for staging the city-wide meet over the improved Ranchland Hill Country Club course were unwrapped by the newspaper management. The tournament will be alternated yearly between the Ranchland Hill and Midland Country Club through the courtesy of leaders of the two organizations.

Boyd Huff, Midland Country Club pro, and Abe Beckman, Ranchland Hill pro, joined officials of the Reporter-Telegram in formulating the first tournament schedule. The newspaper will award a trophy to the tournament champion. It must be won three times, but not necessarily in consecutive years, to become a permanent possession.

Beckman predicted entries will reach beyond 200 and assured that flights of 16 players each are planned to handle the big field. Qualifying will be held the week of April 20-26 with competition for medalist honors set down for April 26.

Entry fees have been fixed at $7.50. Prizes are to be presented to winners and runners-up in all flights.

"It is a genuine pleasure to assist in starting the annual Reporter-Telegram tournament which offers a yearly opportunity for all Midland amateur golfers to compete on the club courses," Beckman said.

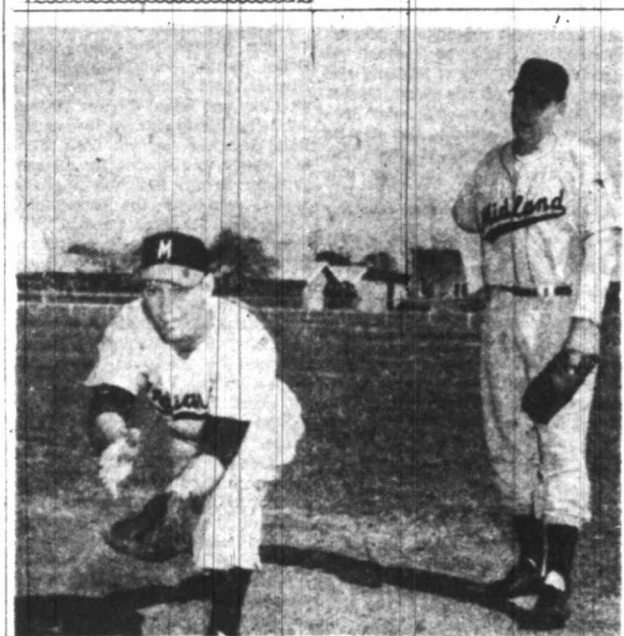

The Ranchland Hill Links will be in excellent condition for the inaugural tournament, which should become one of the year's sports events in Midland.

Two trucks are operating daily in spreading fertilizer and loam over the fairways of the Ranchland Hill course. Rerouting and treating of water holes is on the schedule of improvement. More trees have been planted along the fairways.

An enlarged golf shop will accommodate participants in the city-wide tournament. Courtesies will be extended to all players by the Ranchland Hill club management.

The Reporter-Telegram considers sponsorship of the open golf tournament an opportunity to provide a community service.

Publisher J. N. Allison said Saturday, "We are anxious that all amateur golfers in the city take part in this yearly event. It is with a view to offering the best golfing facilities available to all that The Reporter-Telegram inaugurates its tournament this Spring."

FIRST CORNER FEUD—The Midland Indians, its team bunching up, has its top two Spring sluggers bidding for the wide open first base position. Rookie Milton Wallendorf, 230-pounder from Fredericksburg, watches Outfielder Hayden White practice his lessons after being sent to first base for a tryout.

San Jacinto Nabs Victory In Track

Indians Send Nine To Minor Loop Camp

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians Saturday announced they were sending nine players to their farm club training camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., for further Spring training.

The players are Herbie Adams, Bill Abernathie, Joe Macko, Harry Malmberg, Mike Lutz, Jim Fridley, Sam Jones, Wilber Striker and Al Smith.

Waterfowl Wintering in California this season totaled 5,687,000. This is an increase of 27 per cent over last year.

Veteran Buck Frierson Plans Playing Out Span Near Home

PARIS —(P)— Nobody remembers just when Robert Lawrence (Buck) Frierson took his first swing at a baseball.

Chances are it went clear into the next cow pasture and the day was a dark one for minor league pitchers.

Buck has been hammering homers for 13 seasons now, in a half-dozen leagues. Last year he came home to Lamar County, joined up with Paris of the Big State League and figures he'll play out his baseball days just 18 miles from Chilcota.

Frierson once again caught the bus to Paris' Spring camp in Del Rio this year.

Flash Call Him

Spring training never did set too well with the old Chilcota warhorse. Fact that Spring fishing season just happens to hit its stride along Red River about this time of year might have something to do with it.

There had been talk that Buck was washed up when Paris bought him from Denver before the 1952 season. But two triples and four stolen bases made the home folks think they were seeing things.

Then there were 34 homers, 140 runs batted in and a .378 average that was the full-season's best.

Buck broke into baseball as a 19-year-old rookie with Dick Burnett at Texarkana in 1937. From there he hit a string of '30s and home runs to Cedar Rapids, Ia.; a cup of coffee in Cleveland; Wilksburg, Pa., Sherman-Denson, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Denver and Paris.

Easily his greatest year was 1947 in Sherman-Denson when he hit 310 and 57 homers, a fence-busting mark that still stands as the Big State League homerun record.

Frierson is a strapping six-foot-three, weighs 200 and is classified by his Paris teammates as the Big State League's most eligible bachelor.

Buck lives with the family in Chilcota and eats mom's home cooking when the Paris Indians are home.

Buc Slugger Threatened, FBI Men Say

PITTSBURGH —(P)— FBI agents arrested a 28-year-old man Saturday on a charge of trying to extort $6,200 from home run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates last August 20.

Special Agent Fred Hallford in charge of the Pittsburgh FBI office identified the man as Joseph John Bruno of nearby Verona. FBI agents took Bruno into custody at his home.

Hallford said Bruno wrote an extortion letter to Kiner telling him: "You make a good target in left field. Do what I say. I'm not bad but I'm desperate. If I don't get the money, I'm a ruined man. I might as well go to jail for shooting you as to have my family and friends disgraced by what I did."

The letter, Hallford said, instructed Kiner to take a cab in Pittsburgh at 3 a.m. on August 23 and proceed to Ambridge, about 30 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

En route, the letter stated Kiner was to "place the $6,200 under the front seat of the cab. He was to alight from the cab on its arrival at Ambridge and wait.

Kiner notified the FBI of the extortion plot. One agent, posing as Kiner, followed the letter to the point named but nobody showed to pick up the money.

Hallford said Bruno has been employed since early December as a pressman in an automotive parts manufacturing concern. Before that he drove a cab.

Fans To Witness Match For Title

ODESSA — Pymain Basin wrestling fans will be treated to a championship match Monday night in the Electric Street Arena in Odesa when Wayne Martin takes on Southwestern champion Dory Funk.

The night's opener will get underway at 8:15 p.m. when P.W. Cardova and John Henning tangle in a twenty-minute bout with the first fall being the deciding one.

The battle between Funk and Martin promises to be an exciting one since many fans feel that Martin is equal to the feats of the champion Funk. The outcome is anybody's guess. The best two out of three falls within the 90-minute time limit decides the winner.

Judo Jack Terry and Luigi Macera butt heads in the semifinal event. Two out of three falls proclaims the top man and time limit is 45 minutes.

All but one of 39 letter winners last season will return to West Virginia's 1953 football team.

TRIBE 4, GIANTS 2
TUCSON, ARIZ.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians hit three home runs as they defeated the New York Giants, 4-2, Saturday. Outfielder Harry Simpson accounted for two of the circuit clouts to drive across five runs.

SOX 4, CUBS 2
MESA, ARIZ.—(P)—Seven runs in the last three innings enabled the Chicago White Sox to thump the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, for their fifth victory in eight meetings with the Bruins. Ace Bill Pierce, although behind 3-1 at one point, hurled the first seven innings for the White Sox and yielded only four hits.

CARDS 6, PHILS 3
CLEARWATER, FLA.—(P)—Ray Jablonski, a 23-year-old infielder who got out of the Army in time to become the rookie of the year in the International League last season, was practically the whole team Saturday as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 6-3.

REDS 7, BUMS 5
TAMPA, FLA.—(P)—The Cincinnati Reds hit Russ Meyer and Ben Wade hard in the late innings to outslug the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-5. Meyer gave up four runs, six hits and three walks in six innings. Wade was socked for three runs and six hits in two innings.

TIGERS 2, BRAVES 1
LAKELAND, FLA.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers made the most of only four hits Saturday to win their tenth game of the exhibition season, downing the Milwaukee Braves 2-1.

WELCOME BACK—Manager Jay Haney, at right, has a pat on the back for those Indians who were back in baseball and Midland property after serving in the armed services. At training now are, left to right, Quentin Basco, Tex Stephenson, Ralph Blair and Bud Sisk. Lou Dawson, not shown, also has returned.

Indians In First Game Sunday

Tribe Forms Initial Lineup For Opener Against Borger

FREDERICKSBURG—Ben Quintana, his arm sharp and supple after a whirl in Winter League baseball, teams with two rookies, Bud Sisk and Thomas McCormick, as the Indians start their Spring exhibition game schedule here Sunday afternoon.

Midland plays the Borger Gasers, at their common workout field—the Jimmy Tyka Park—with the game beginning at 2:30 p.m.

It's the first battle for both clubs and likely will resemble a platoon substitution game of football as Manager Jay Haney of Midland and Lloyd Brown of the West Texas New Mexico League club alter lineups freely. Yet, naming the starters gives an indication of just how some players stand in their minds to make the clubs.

Haney, for instance, figures to put 220-pound Milton (Speedy) Wallendorf, rookie hitting sensation, and covered Outfielder Lou Dawson in as part of the starting Midland infield.

Wallendorf, at that rate, has slipped ahead of Hayden White in their quest for Midland's wide open first base position. And Dawson has edged in front of Quentin Basco as the main nominee at third base.

Haney Names The Nine
Those two join Catcher Gordon Tanner, Second Baseman Roger Della Betta, Shortstop Scooter Hughes, Left Fielder Charles Stephenson and Right Fielder Hayden White on the first nine. The center-field post has not yet been filled, but Haney was looking for returnee William Brown Saturday night to report, ready for the encounter.

Catcher Freddie Lu-Jar, who played an outfield position at times with Yuma, Ariz., last season, probably will be the centerfielder if Brown does not report in shape. Quintana announced on his mid-week arrival in camp that he was prepared to pitch in the team's earliest game. "I only need to take off about five pounds," the right-hander said, "I'm in pretty good shape."

Quintana, 212-pound Puerto Rican, worked earlier this Spring as a relief pitcher with champion Sancture of the Puerto Rican Winter League, meaning he doesn't have any worries about his arm.

Before the encounter, Haney planned for those three to share the mound the complete game, but if either tires, the Midland manager likely will choose Ralph Blair, returning serviceman.

Brown failed to nominate his starting club until Sunday. Those likeliest to begin are Catcher Joe Decker, First Baseman Jasper Goff, Shortstop Fred Bounce, and Outfielders Pat Lorenzo, Dan Armistead and Jim Copeland.

Joe Borrego, Jim Crain and Brown are the hurlers on call.

San Angelo Woman Grabs Top Golf Prize At Odessa

ODESSA—Ida Mae Powell of San Angelo whipped a windy course and about 100 golfers here Saturday with a 12-over-men's-par 84 to win the one-day Odessa Country Club Women's Invitational Golf Tournament.

Only one Midlander, of about 15 contending, won a prize, Isabel Wall of Ranchland Hill Country Club won her award for scoring the most buzzards (two-over) in a round.

Otherwise, the prizes were well distributed by cities. Mrs. J. M. Deefe of Odessa posted a 50 to win low gross in the nine-hole flight; Wilma Friend of Ozona won low net with a 68 for 18 holes and Mrs. S. Johnson of Pecos had the best low net for nine holes with a 28.

Vera Gilmore of Odessa and Mrs. W. Schuster of Ozona tied for the best putting award, each taking 28 putts through 18 holes.

The two ranking Midland golfers in the 18-hole flight were Jo Meyers, 62, and Lana Faye Garrett, 66.

The 1952 Georgia Tech track team finished seventh in the SEC meet. Ed Baskin, javelin star, scored the only Tech victory.

Andrews Winner In Kermit Races

KERMIT—Andrews, chalking up five new records, sailed in first with 43 1/4 points Saturday for an easy victory in the second Annual Permian Basin Relays.

The athletes here, from 14 schools, were not content with writing in a record or two—they threw out the book of standards and posted 12 new marks in the 14-event meet.

Defending champion Wink wound up second in the wind-swept races with 27 points and its own Danny Villarreal, who saw his 1952 record in the 100-yard dash erased, participated in two top performances and won individual honors with 101 1/4 points. Gene Ellis of Andrews followed with 10.

Crane scored 15 points, Kermit 10 3/4, Monahans 10 3/4, Brownfield 10, Fort Stockton nine, Big Lake eight, Pyote six and one-fourth, Iraan four, Pecos four, Seminole three, McCamey two, and Jal, N. M., one.

Famed Jim Thorpe Dies At Age Of 64

LOS ANGELES —(P)— Jim Thorpe, one of the nation's great all-around athletes of a bygone era, died Saturday of a heart seizure. Thorpe, 64, suffered the seizure in his trailer at suburban Lomita. A fire department rescue squad futilely attempted to revive him. Thorpe, the famed Carlisle Indian, was an almost legendary figure in the sports world. In the early years of this century he distinguished himself as a great football player.

Texas A&M Win Point-Making At Relays, Santee Sparkles

AUSTIN —(P)— Slender Wes Santee, the runningest machine ever to step on a Southwestern track, carried Kansas to domination of the twenty-sixth Texas Relays Saturday as he anchored two more teams to victory. The great Kansas distance ace, thus had a hand in four winning teams, two of which set records—one a world's mark and the other an American standard—and tied a third. And all the boy from the wheat country did was: 1. Run a mile in 4:06.7. 2. Run an 880 in 1:46.4. 3. Run another 880 in 1:51.9. 4. Run another mile in 4:19.2. His individual efforts contributed most to one of the record-smashing of relays. During the two days of the meet, five records fell and two were tied. Texas A&M scored the most points with 113 3/4 but won only three first places and they were in the individual events where Darrow Hooper, giant Olympia weightman, copped both the shot put and discus throw, setting a new relays mark of 56 feet 2 3/4 inches in the former. Hooper was high point man with 20. Santee ran his 4:06.7 mile in sparking the Kansas four-mile relay team to an American record. The Jayhawks did the distance in 17:14.0, which took six seconds off the Texas Relays record set by Kansas in 1950 and was 2.1 under the American record of 17:16.1 set by Indiana in 1937. Then the Kansans made it a great two days by sweeping the two-mile relay in 7:41.8 to tie the record set by Oklahoma in 1952. Friday, Kansas cracked the recognized world mark for the distance medley with a time of 3:21.8. It beat the Texas Relays record of 3:24.0 and bettered the world's mark of 3:22.7 hung up by New York University in 1950. And Kansas also won the distance medley in 10:15.7. Friday, a couple of records were set when Frederick Eckhoff of Oklahoma A&M ran the 3,000 meters in 8:35.1 to meet the mark of Don Lash of Indiana, set in 1937, and the Oklahoma A&M, freshman

Snead Slams To Two-Stroke Lead In Greensboro Event

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(P)—Sam Snead put together a pair of two-under-par 33's Saturday to increase his Greensboro Open Golf Tournament lead to two strokes at the halfway mark. The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slammer tacked a 66 onto Friday 67 for 133 and a two-stroke lead over Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., going into 36-hole windup. Oliver had 67 Saturday to retain second place, although dropping another stroke back. In third place with 136 was Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., who matched Snead's 66 Saturday. Three players had 137 to tie for fourth place, four strokes back of Snead. They were Fred Wampler, former national intercollegiate champion from Indianapolis; Art Wall, Jr., the hole-in-one artist from Pocono Manor, Pa., and Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla.,

JayCees Plan Softball Loop

Midland Jaycees are going to sponsor softball once again here and the group Saturday urged managers and sponsors to begin making plans for their 'ee's. The Jaycees will announce the date and site for a meeting of managers and sponsors in the near future. So far, however, the JayCees athletic committee seeks to set up a commissioner and rules for the league, or leagues, to operate by. Phil Pickman is retiring commissioner after supervising the six-team circuit of 1953. The present plans for this Summer call for city league games to begin during the last part of April and run through July, with a play-off to decide the championship. An all-star team, too, will be chosen. All of the action will be played on the Whately Field diamond. Rules governing the which nights to play and number of leagues participating will be dependent upon the number of teams entering. TUSCONY ROMPS HOME BOWIE, MD.—(P)—The favored Tuscony, from the stable of Mrs. Samuel Pistorio, easily won the $11,320 Rowe Memorial Handicap Saturday before a crowd of 20,000 at Bowie Race Course.

Hawaii Miss Snares New Orleans Lead

NEW ORLEANS —(P)— Jackie Pung, buxom Hawaiian queen of booming drives, caught fire on the greens Saturday to take a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the New Orleans Women's Open Tournament. Mrs. Pung, now playing out of Glasgow, Ky., carded a 37-35-72, bettering women's par by two strokes, over the 6,339-yard City Park course No. 1.

Her almost monotonous perfection gave her a two-stroke lead over Patty Berg, the defending champion from St. Andrews, Ill., and Mrs. Alice Bauer Haggis of Sarasota, Fla. Both had par 74's. Babe Zaharias, Tampa, Fla., veteran, was fourth with a 76. Diana Garrett, 15-year-old Houston prodigy, led amateurs with an 84.

sprint medley relay team did a record 3:32.5. Abilene Christian College won three relays events to take the championship of the college class with 61 points. The Texas freshmen won the freshman-junior college division title with 48 points, the little Longhorns were sparked by Joe Childress, who made 16 points with first in the 100-yard dash, anchor man on the winning sprint relay team and a spot on the third place sprint medley relay. Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio upset favored Ray of Corpus Christi for the high school division championship.

Stripling, Fort Worth, at the San Antonio Country Club. Last year's champion, Mrs. Harlan Riedel, Dallas, salvaged the championship consolation honors with a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. M. W. Bulldogs Set Mile Mark

BROWNWOOD—A brilliant final lap by Roy Kimsey, king of the quarter-miles here, turned defeat into a record performance for the Midland High mile relay team in the annual Brownwood Bluebonnet Relays Saturday night. Kimsey, placed far back when his final quarter-mile lap started because of an injury ridden Midland lineup, won after overtaking the Odessa anchor man with 23 yards remaining. Kimsey crossed the line for Midland in a time of three minutes, 30 and two-tenths seconds, beating the 3:32.3 recorded by Austin in 1949. The Bulldogs who shared in the victory were Bob Kealing, figured to be on the sidelines because of a muscle injury, Bill Mims, who was rushed in as a sub for Kealing, and Dale Jobe. Roddy Braun, the usual third man on the team, also had suffered an injury at Odessa last week. Midland wound up fifth in points with 12, following Abilene's 26 2/3, Amarillo with 24 5/6, Brownwood with 13 3/8, and Odessa with 12 5/6. Midland's 440-yard relay team of Jimmy Hicks, Mims, Braun and Kimsey gained two points by finishing behind Abilene and second-place Amarillo, the race run in 44.4. Kimsey took the quarter-mile race in 51 seconds flat. Bob Crump of Amarillo was high man on the team, his performance including a record victory in the broad jump, 22 feet, 3 3/4 inches. Don Maynard of Colorado City set a 180-yard low hurdles mark of 20.4 and Ike Tenslow of Hamilton a 120-yard high record of 14.7. Midland's golf team finished fourth with a total of 640 strokes, 35 behind winning Paschal of Fort Worth. Amarillo edged Poly of Fort (Continued On Page Ten)

ODESSA — El Paso High netters captured three of four championships here Saturday to win the Odessa Invitation tournament hands down with 73 points. Midland finished put of the money when only one player, Ellen DeChicchio, singles player, reached the semi-finals. Ann Springer, EP High, beat Miss DeChicchio, 6-0, 6-2, after the Midland entry had edged Monahan's Mary LePore, 6-0, 6-1, and a Jefferson player, 6-1, 7-5. Keith Tyler of San Angelo eliminated Midland's No. 1 boys player, Bill Vandevanter, 6-1, 6-3, while the boys doubles, Jimmy Garvin and Johnny Godwin, earned a forfeit from Denver City before bowing to Jesus Neria and Joe Smith, Pyote, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Amarillo put down Wanda Murray and Dot Black of Midland in girls doubles, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1, in a quarter-final match. PETERSBURG, FLA. — (P) — Veteran First Baseman Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees had his first base hit of the Spring in the tilt Saturday and it was a big one. Reds Accept — (Continued From Page One) of which 9,106 are civilian internees and 123,199 POWs.

Saturday's letter to General Clark from North Korean Dictator Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-huai didn't mention the exchange offer was contingent upon a resumption of the truce talks.

A spokesman for the UN Command said it already is making preparations for the sick and wounded exchange and "will be ready to begin the exchange in a matter of days."

No Forced Repatriation — Saturday's letter to the UN Command said the proposal to trade suffering POWs "could be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of Article 109 of the Geneva Convention." Clark suggested operating under this article in his February 22 letter.

This article gives a war prisoner the right to make his own decision on repatriation under certain circumstances.

"No sick or wounded prisoner of war," the article says, "who is eligible for repatriation under the first paragraph of this article, may be repatriated against his will during hostilities."

In this case, the matter of voluntary repatriation is limited to sick and wounded "during hostilities."

The UN Command has insisted on this right for every prisoner it holds while the Reds insist just as strongly all Chinese and North Korean prisoners must be sent back.

Death Toll Mounts To 22 In Three-Way Train Crash

CONNEAUT, OHIO. —(P)—A grimy, red-eyed band of rescue workers Saturday night doggedly at the twisted skeletons of 10 railroad coaches in search of more victims of an unbelievable, three-train wreck.

They have found 22 bodies, and there was a possibility at least one more might be in the wreckage, Erie County Coroner Warren Wood said.

One body was found Saturday when fingers were seen sticking out from a cinder bed.

Some of the dead still were unidentified.

Sixty-one injured—only one critically—were in hospitals here and in Ashtabula and Erie, Pa.

A single Texas, Mrs. Anna Brown, 55, of McKinney, was listed among the injured.

The odds against the accident were a million to one.

The trains—one freight and two passenger flyers—happened to be almost exactly at the same spot at 10 p.m. Friday.

The scene was a desolate section of the New York Central mainline in Western Pennsylvania, one-half mile from the Ohio line. There are four tracks. The inner tracks are used by passenger trains. Freight trains use the outer ones.

At exactly 10 p.m., an 18-inch pipe 35 feet long fell from an east-bound freight. It bent a rail on the west-bound passenger tracks.

At that instant, the westbound Buffalo-to-Chicago Express came roaring past at 80 miles an hour.

Bar Head Promises Court Fight To Free Long-Jailed Texan

PLYMOUTH, MASS. —(P)—The president of the Massachusetts Bar Association Saturday night promised an early court fight for the release from jail of Louis Bo Conley, 33, one-time Amarillo photographer.

Conley is serving the thirty-third month of consecutive contempt sentences in Plymouth County jail for refusing to return his eight-year-old daughter to his divorced wife.

Attorney Samuel P. Sears, retained by two Amarillo newspapers to direct the fight for Conley's freedom, visited his client Saturday and said:

"No one could talk very long with Conley and read the volume of letters from his little girl without realizing that the present situation is intolerable and almost unthinkable."

"Samuel Abrams of the Boston Bar (Sears' assistant) and I intend to get at the bottom of this thing and make every move available to us in an effort to reunite the little girl and her father."

The girl, Lynette, lives with Conley's mother in Amarillo, where she has been since 1947 when her father spirited her out of Massachusetts.

Six Texas Cities Win Safety Awards

HOUSTON —(P)—Six Texas cities are winners of the Texas Safety Association's 1952 traffic safety awards.

They are San Antonio, Austin, Amarillo, Tyler, Brownwood and Freport.

The awards were announced Saturday by officials of the association, which opens its fourteenth annual safety conference here Monday.

San Antonio won for cities of more than 250,000 population; Austin, 100,000 to 249,999; Amarillo, 50,000 to 99,999; Tyler, 25,000 to 49,999; Brownwood, 10,000 to 24,999; and Freport, 5,000 to 9,999.

and hit the bent rail. The locomotive wrecked the freight and the freight cars spun from the tracks and, in turn, wrecked the flyer.

Twisted Steel, Broken Bodies

In seconds, the headlight of the eastbound Southwestern Limited split the night, flared briefly across the tangled wreckage in its path and piled headlong at 80 miles an hour into the welter of twisted steel and broken bodies.

After long, anguished seconds of sound of steel on steel, grinding and tearing itself to pieces, quiet came, but briefly.

Streams started to come from the coaches, strewn like a carelessly dumped pile of fence posts. But for a little while, the numbed senses of the uninjured among the 400 persons involved in the wrecks wouldn't function. For a few minutes, no one did anything.

The wrecked cars, thrashing like alligators in the rapid-fire impacts, had sheared off telegraph poles. There was no communication with the rest of the world.

A railroad man — his heart almost bursting — ran three miles to cory word of the catastrophe and to summon outside aid.

But passengers and trainmen alike pitched into rescue efforts long before outside help could come. They pawed through the mangled coaches.

60 Taken To Hospitals

The rescue work went on for hours. Professional rescue men pried with crowbars and cut through metal with acetylene torches.

Numb with shock and the chill night, scores of survivors, including the walking injured, milled around the shells of the once-plush trains. Then NYM managed to get locomotives and a few spare cars pushed in close to each end of the wreck scene and the survivors began to scatter.

The more seriously injured were taken to hospitals at Conneaut and Ashtabula, Ohio, and Erie, Pa.

Passengers whose destinations were east of the wreck scene were put on makeshift trains east of the .000-foot stretch of torn up track and vice versa.

Quick As Finger Snap

O. W. Lockwood of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, assistant conductor of the Southwestern Limited told a newsmen:

"I was in the vestibule aisle of the head coach. The crash was as quick as the snap of a finger. I found myself in an aisle with steel partitions wrapped around me. Another man was pinned in with me. I remember looking through a hole in the top of the car."

"I think the man next to me died. He grabbed hold of me at first, then he quieted down and I couldn't make him hear me."

Davis Fails To Post $4,000 Bond In Big Spring Shooting

BIG SPRING — Ray Davis, 32, remained in the Howard County Jail here Saturday night charged with murder with malice in the shotgun slaying Friday of R. A. Childers, 38, owner and operator of the Wyoming Hotel here.

Justice of the Peace Cecil Nabors set bond at $4,000 after an examining trial late Saturday; but the accused Big Spring man had not posted bond at a late hour.

The charge grew out of a shooting in which Childers was wounded fatally and Mrs. Ray Davis, wife of the accused man and niece of Childers, was wounded. Also injured in the hotel room battle was Fred Stokes, 38, of Hobbs, N. M., whose nose was broken when he was hit by the butt of a gun.

Big Spring police were told that Childers, Mrs. Davis and a man identified as Byron Williams had been at a Big Spring restaurant and upon their return to Childers' apartment found Davis waiting for them.

Stokes told police he was in the apartment kitchen when Davis entered. Davis held him forcibly in the room until the unsuspecting trio arrived, Stokes continued. He said he started running when the shooting started but was hit across Airman 2 C Borden A. Brown, 19, of Ashtabula, on the way home on leave from a New York state Air Force Base, recalled:

"The first I remember was a real crazy bumping. We seemed to slow down, then — wham! — there was another bump. I climbed out, I don't know where, but it wasn't through the door."

Fingerprint Expert Helps Susie Become Two Persons

EVANSVILLE, IND. —(P)—Police fingerprint experts finally proved to a mother Saturday which of her eight-year-old identical twin daughters is which.

Ever since the hospital identification bracelets were taken off Caroline and Norine Mullen of Corydon, Ky., their mother, Mrs. Carlin Mullen, hasn't been able to tell the brown-haired girls apart.

Just to make life simpler, she has been calling them both Susie.

Mother and daughters made the 20-mile trip to Evansville to get themselves straightened out. Capt. Burk Hart took their footprints, then compared them with the girls' hospital birth footprints.

He declared Caroline was Caroline and Norine was Norine.

Captain Hart promised to keep the prints on file in his identification bureau and taught Mrs. Mullen enough about the skin ridges so she can tell which Susie is which from now on.

President, French Premier End Talks

WASHINGTON —(P)—The United States and France Saturday pledged cooperation to defeat Communist aggression in the Far East and to strengthen the defense of the Western world.

A communique approved by President Eisenhower and Premier Rene Mayer said that in the absence of any "tangible proof to the contrary" the leaders of the two nations agree that Joseph Stalin's death and the rise of Premier Georgi Malenkov has not altered Soviet threat to the free world.

The delegations headed by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, and Mayer and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, resolved on a series of views and actions to carry out their anti-Communist Kruger Jewelry Company walked off with the championship crown of the Women's Bowling League but only by a one game margin.

Lippy Likes Looks Of Artillery Crew

TUCSON, ARIZ. —(P)—Manager Leo Durocher is delighted with the condition of his mound staff.

ALL HE WANTS IS STRIKEOUTS

TAMPA, FLA. —(P)—Manager Rogers Hornsby of Cincinnati is a blunt-spoken man whose distaste for frills flows over into the pitching field, as well.

He told a half-dozen of his young chumpers, "A good pitcher in my book needs only a fast ball and a good curve and a rookie who tries anything else is just wasting his time, not to mention mine and my coaches."

West Raps Crockett For Second Victory In Elementary Race

West school outslugged Crockett in home runs, with Wallace Ravan's grand slam the kingsize rap, to score a 14-7 victory Friday in the city elementary school softball race.

It was West's second win in the two-week-old league, after DeZavala bowed last week, 5-4.

Ravan, Don Hillin and Dickey Box all slugged homers for West while Verlaide countered with two four-baggers for the losers. Tommy Arnold and Jim Poteet pitched for West.

A companion game to the boys' battle saw West's girls beat Crockett, 24-7, with Glenda Thomas combining a homer and pie pitching to record the triumph.

Early Mist, ridden by Bryan Marshall, carried 156 pounds, and paid 20 to 1.

Cleveland Freshman Sails Along At .438

TUCSON —(P)—For all the Chicago White Sox care, Cleveland rookie Jim Lemon can be sent to minors forever.

Chicago is the only American League team Lemon has played against this Spring, and his batting average in the five-game set just completely was .438.

Johnny Mize Tries On Park For Size

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. —(P)—Veteran First Baseman Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees had his first base hit of the Spring in the tilt Saturday and it was a big one. The 40-year-old slugger, making his initial start, doubled in two runs Friday, as the Yankees walloped Detroit, 9-3.

FARMS AND RANCHES

FOR SALE

9,745-acre ranch in heart of West Texas. This ranch is located in Crocket County, Texas, and is very highly improved with two sets of improvements, REA, butane gas, well-watered and fenced and cross-fenced with nat wire. Low rolling hills with plenty of shub mesquite brush, and shiny and some level divide country. This is one of the best cow, sheep and goat ranches in Texas. Very high in minerals, oil and gas on two sides of it but no well drilled on this place yet. It is now leased for oil and gas with exception of about 1,015 acres in which owner reserved, and is secured around the ranch in several sections. All of leased land is now paying 50¢ annual rental. The mineral rights are worth one-half or more of what the sale price is on this place. Owner only wants to reserve one-fourth of minerals. Where can you buy a ranch in an oil country and get three-fourths of minerals?
Well, you can this one. Reason for selling is that owner has chance to buy larger place. There is good hunting and plenty of deer. I have in my office legal description of this ranch.

YOUR PROGRESS AND OIL PROGRESS

DISCUSS OIIC WOMEN'S PROGRAM—Pictured are Mrs. Martha Binford of Dallas; state women's chairman for the Oil Industry Information Committee activities and Mrs. Rosalie Jordan, OIIC representative from Dallas as they met with Pauline Redding, president of the Odessa Desk and Derrick Club, and Betty Wright, president of the same organization in Midland. They are, left to right, Pauline Redding, Mrs. Binford, Mrs. Jordan and Betty Wright. Mrs. Binford met with the above representatives and Joe T. Dickerson of Shell Oil Company, chairman of the West Texas Area of the OIIC program, recently in Midland.

New County OIIC Chairman Named

Four new appointments of West Texas Oil Industry Information Committee Chairmen were announced by Joe T. Dickerson, area chairman. They are Horace E. White, Colorado City, Mitchell County Chairman; Roy E. Carter, Kermit, Winkler County Chairman; L. W. Reynolds, Andrews County Chairman; and Fred A. Watson, El Paso County Chairman.

White, who is Assistant Division Manager of Shell Pipe Line Corporation in Colorado City, succeeds Frank Kelly as Mitchell County Chairman. According to White, organization of the Mitchell County committee is virtually complete and details will be announced in the near future.

L. W. Reynolds, with Standard Oil and Gas Company in Andrews, served as county vice chairman of the committee during 1952. He succeeds W. J. Underwood as chairman. Oil Progress Week activities

Dimit Is To Retire As One Of Phillips Chief Executives

C. P. Dimit, vice president for production, director and member of the executive committee Phillips Petroleum Company, will retire on April 1, after 23 years of service with the company and 50 years of service in the oil industry. L. E. Fitzgerald succeeds Dimit as manager of the production department. Dimit's leadership in the field of conservation and utilization has been an outstanding contribution to the oil industry. As vice president of production for Phillips, he directed the negotiations which consolidated the separate leasehold of the North Bushbuck Unit in Garza County of Oklahoma, and subsequently directed the water flood operations there, which are the largest in the world.

Sunray Gas, Gasoline Operations Are Now Under New Division

The field operations of Sunray Oil Corporation's gas-gasoline division, formerly under supervision of the company's manufacturing, sales and pipe line department, has been transferred to Sunray's exploitation department.

E. J. (Ernie) Mills, who has been manager of the company's gas-gasoline division since November, 1952, will continue to be in charge of these operations now assigned to the exploitation department which combines all field operations including drilling and oil and gas production.

In announcing the realignment of field activities affecting the company's gas-gasoline division, W. C. Whaley, president of Sunray, said, "The expansion and future enlargement of the activities of the manufacturing, sales and pipe line department requires that this department be relieved of the responsibility of the field operation details of the gas-gasoline division."

Mr. and Mrs. Owen St. Clair, and son, Owen, Jr., of Amarillo, are weekend guests of his mother, Mrs. R. A. Carroll.

Stanolind Employees Make Another Good Record On Safety

PORT WORTH—For the second successive year, employees of Stanolind Oil and Gas Company have established a company-wide safety record.

The company's accident frequency rate for 1952 was 2.90, the lowest in Stanolind's history. The previous record low established by the company was the 1951 frequency rate of 3.04.

The accident frequency rate figure indicates the number of disabling injuries for each million man-hours of work. In 1952, Stanolind had an average of 8.161 employees working a total of 17,585,549 hours with 51 lost-time accidents.

Still Better Stanolind's North Texas-New Mexico Division, headquartered in Fort Worth, reported an accident frequency rate of 2.79. This rate was below the company-wide figure. An average of 2,655 division employees worked a total of 5,726,894 hours with 16 lost-time accidents. The division includes all operations in North Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and part of Colorado. John Evans is division manager.

The National Safety Council report for 1951 (the last year for which figures are available) listed 10.50 as the accident frequency rate for the petroleum industry as a whole. Other industry frequency rates were: lumber production, 43.12; coal mining, 34.12; and iron and steel production, 12.09. The 1951 average for all industries was 9.06.

The March 25 survey of rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area of Southeast New Mexico and West Texas conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company showed 503 rigs in operation, an increase of 13 over the previous count, made March 10.

Lea County, New Mexico showed 139 rotarys in operation, a new high for that area, as the county continued to pace Permian Basin activity.

Solon Predicts Court Fight To Test New Tideland Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio congressman, opposing a bill to give the states title to their offshore submerged lands, Saturday predicted a new Supreme Court test if the legislation is passed.

Debate on the measure starts Monday in the House.

Representative Feighan (D-Ohio) told a reporter he is confident the high court would hold that Congress has no right to give away these tidelands, which in some instances have proved oil rich.

The legislation would give most coastal states title to their offshore lands three miles out to sea.

Opponents of state ownership contend the mineral wealth in these lands belongs to all the people of the nation, not just to those of the coastal states.

Feighan said he is planning to offer a substitute bill—a compromise—that would confirm federal title to all submerged lands out to the edge of the continental shelf.

However, it would provide that the states would get 37 1/2 per cent of the royalties from mineral deposits as far as three miles to sea. From that point on out to the edge of the shelf, the federal government would get all the royalties.

The Feighan substitute also would provide for a commission to study use of these royalties for defense and education.

Free Oil Found In DST At E-C Andrews Test

Free oil was recovered in a drill-stem test in the top of the Strawn line at the Sharples Oil Corporation and associates No. 1 Sharples-Means, East-Central Andrews County wildcat.

The show of oil was accompanied by a small amount of gas. The section at 10,962-11,010 feet was drilled and tested for three hours. Gas surfaced in 27 minutes. The gas volume was at the rate of 50,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery was 340 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud and 210 feet of clean 43.7 gravity oil.

There were no signs of formation water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 100 pounds and 175 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure was 870 pounds, after 15 minutes.

Drilling Ahead The prospector is making hole below 11,039 feet in time. Interested observers reported that the project had gone out of the pay section which developed the oil and gas in the test at 10,962-11,010 feet.

This wildcat is projected to 14,500 feet to test the Ellenburger. It is four miles west of the Magutux (Ellenburger) field.

The Sharples wildcat topped the Strawn line at 10,962 feet. Elevation is 3,099 feet. On that marker it is 61 feet high to the top of the Strawn in the discovery well of the Magutux (Ellenburger) field.

That well, Magnolia No. 1 University, had flowing oil in both the Devonian and in the Ellenburger. It completed from the Ellenburger and the Devonian pay is presently cased off.

Oil In Strawn The Sharples No. 1-A Sharples-Means has found the first free oil in the Strawn which has been developed by any of the explorations which have been drilled in the regions adjacent to the Magutux area of East Andrews County.

This prospector, and possible new discovery is seven miles east of the town of Andrews and it is three miles southeast of the shallow Means field.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 16, block 3, 1st survey.

Fullerton Oil Company and States Exploration Company of Texas both have interests in the wildcat.

Great Western Spots Drillsites For Tests In NW Terry Sector

Great Western Drilling Company of Midland spotted locations for two projects in the Prentice area of Northwest Terry County.

The concern's No. 3 Brit Clare will be dug 1,980 feet from north and 2,300 feet from west lines of section 22, block D-14, C&M survey and one-half mile east of production in the field.

Great Western No. 4 Brit Clare will be dug 3,300 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of the same section, block and survey.

The tests are seven miles northeast of Tokio.

Plymouth, Kelly Stake Location For Sandoval Wildcat

Plymouth Oil Company and F. F. Kelly spotted location for a 1,000-foot cable wildcat in Sandoval County, New Mexico.

It will be drilled as No. 1 State, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 32-18-4w.

Drilling is to start at once. Site is 30 miles southwest of San Ysidro and in North New Mexico.

USSR&M Spuds Deep Prospector At NW Midland Site

United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Company No. 1 M. F. (Forrest) King, Northwest Midland County wildcat which is slated to be a Devonian wildcat had spudded to 306 feet and has set and cemented 13 3/8-inch surface casing at that point.

The prospector will drill the plug early in the week and start making hole.

T. & C. Drilling Company of Midland is the rotary contractor.

The deep test is four miles northwest of the northwest edge of the city of Midland. The drillsite is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 10, block 40, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Crockett Gets Two Shallow Wildcat Tests

Locations have been reported for two shallow wildcats in Crockett County.

A. R. McElreath of Fort Worth and associates No. 1 F. E. Noelle is to be a 2,500-foot cable tool prospector in the northwest part of the county.

It will be 230 feet from southeast and 8,233 feet from northeast lines of section 47, block 31, H&T survey. It is 10 miles northwest of Trach.

That puts it two and one-half miles from the city of Crockett.

Sinclair Schedules Tom Green Wildcat

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has announced location for a 5,800-foot wildcat in extreme Central-South Tom Green County.

LONG SERVICE—Pictured is Woodson S. Henry of Royalty, who has been honored by The Atlantic Pipe Line Company for having completed 30 years service with the company.

DeKalb will drill No. 1 Shugart and others 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from north lines of section 30-16-26e.

Texas Pacific will dig No. 1 Southeast Caprock Unit 660 feet from north and west lines of section 27-13-32e.

OIIC Officials Speak On Public Relations At Thursday Meeting

Approximately 60 persons attended a dinner meeting in Colorado City Thursday night to hear officials of the Oil Industry Information Committee explain the plans for the public relations work in this area during 1953.

The meeting was planned and supervised by Horace E. White of Shell Pipe Line Corporation in Colorado City. Mitchell County OIIC chairman, Frank E. Kelley has been Mitchell County Chairman for two years previously. Kelly is with Magnolia Petroleum Company.

White introduced Joe T. Dickerson, Shell Oil Company vice president in Midland who to West Texas OIIC chairman he spoke briefly on the organization and aims of the OIIC program.

Dickerson reminded the group that the purpose of the program is to reaffirm the faith of the American people that their interests, as well as those of the nation, in peace or in war, are best served by competitive, privately-managed oil companies.

He then outlined the organization of the nationwide API and OIIC programs and emphasized that all committees are made up of interested volunteer workers from the oil industry all over the country.

W. T. Lynde, OIIC representative in charge of the Gulf-Southwest district in Dallas outlined committee duties in furthering the school program, the utilization of movies on oil, use of speeches and plant visits. He displayed numerous booklets and other illustrated materials for use in the program. Lynde emphasized that the program has grown from a one week "push" during Oil Progress Week to a year-round, long-range, industry-wide public relations program.

Mrs. Martha Binford, State chairman for Women's Activities in the OIIC explained the women's part in the program.

Berg had previously prepared contour maps of the Permian Basin on the Pennsylvania, the Devonian and the Ellenburger.

He died several months ago, shortly after he had finished the Delaware Basin contour map.

Another test was taken in the interval from 4,688 to 4,730 feet. Tool was open 30 minutes. Recovery was 35 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud.

Another drillstem test was underway on total depth of 4,780 feet in the Sab. Andrews.

Additional Local Or State Taxes To Hurt Oil Men Says Simons

WICHITA FALLS—Any additional taxes at local or state levels will further aggravate the economic plight of Texas petroleum producers and landowners, Charles E. Simons, Dallas, executive vice president, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, said here Saturday.

At a session of tax committee and accountants during the North Texas Oil & Gas Association meeting, Simons said the Texas industry's position resulted from a combination of too much imported oil, cut allowable, depressed drilling rates and successful completions, and costs which are out of line with current market prices.

"As a taxpayer group which has demonstrated its willingness in the past to pay a large share of the cost of our schools and other government services, the petroleum industry should be given at least a holiday on tax increases until the current crisis is past," Simons said.

Simons said the producers already are paying approximately 67 per cent of the state's business and property taxes and in many oil-area counties and school districts the percentage often runs higher.

Oil, Gas Lease Sale On Indian Lands Is Set For April, May

The largest oil and gas mining lease sale ever made by the United States Indian Service will be offered prospective bidders at a sale to be held in Window Rock, Ark., April 21, May 1, May 12, and May 22, Allan G. Harper, area director for the Navajo-Hopi reservations announced.

The land area totals more than 538,000 acres in the vicinity of the isolated Four Corners area in Arizona and Utah. If all the land is taken up by successful bidders, the Navajo Tribe could realize a cash bonus estimated at a possible $3,000,000 plus annual rental payments of $650,000 per year, and one-eighth royalty if production is obtained.

Sealed bids will be received at the Window Rock Area office on tracts which average 2,500 acres each and which involves a total of 214 tracts.

The leases are offered without any special drilling requirements. Geologists, representing many oil and gas companies, have made exhaustive geological surveys of the area to be leased by the Navajo Tribe. There is great oil and gas development adjoining the tracts now opened for lease, in the vicinity of Shiprock, Farmington and Bloomfield, New Mexico.

This will be the first major sale for oil and gas leases on the Arizona side of the reservation.

Delaware Basin Map By Berg Available To Oil Industry

A contour map of the Delaware Basin area of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico prepared by the late Ernest H. Berg consulting geologist of Midland has been released by his estate for distribution to the oil industry.

It goes from the east part of Culberson County, Texas, on the west into the west part of Ector County, Texas on the east.

BUSINESS VISITORS—Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Wood of Lubbock attended to business Saturday in Midland.

VISITORS IN MIDLAND—Mrs. N. C. Crow and Mrs. Thomas Bryant were in the city Saturday from Odessa.

The following is a letter from Jawad Khalili, director of the department of petroleum, Ministry of Finance, Iran, written to J. L. (Joe) Greer, supervisor of the District 8 office in Midland of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

"It was a pleasure to hear from you again reminding me of the very happy memories I have from my stay in West Texas and Midland. I sincerely hope we shall be able to meet again either here or in the U. S.

"I am enclosing herewith a photograph you have asked me to send. If you need a group photograph, I think the one that appeared in the Midland paper while I was there, was quite a good one."

"Please remember me to all our mutual friends in Midland and especially to Nottingham, Shoemaker and the rest of your staff. I am following with interest the development in West Texas and the Spraberry Trend, and shall be delighted to receive two or more copies of The Reporter-Telegram Oil Edition, when published."

Khalili was in Midland during April of 1952 on an inspection tour of various oil industry projects in District 8.

J. S. Moss, assistant comptroller of The Texas Company, will retire on April 1 after almost 43 years of service, and three other men in the department have been promoted, effective the same date. It was announced by E. C. Breding, comptroller of the company.

C. N. Ferguson, who has been assistant general auditor, will replace Moss as assistant comptroller. Moving up in Ferguson's place is J. W. Melton, who has been appointed assistant general auditor. W. E. Davis has been advanced to administrative assistant to the comptroller.

"Something for everyone" characterizes the broad scope of papers scheduled for the annual convention of the National Gasoline Association of America, according to Ray A. Carter, program chairman, Standard Oil & Gas Company, Tulsa. The convention is to be held April 29-30, May 1 in the Rice Hotel, Houston.

"We are continuing the forum type convention inaugurated last year," said Carter, "because it permits separate sessions for different groups of specialists where discussions are confined to their particular field. These forums operate only in the mornings and in the afternoons all attend the joint general sessions where papers of broad general interest are presented."

Representatives from 35 nations already have made reservations to attend the International Petroleum Exposition here May 14-23, according to W. G. Skelly, president.

Delegates will represent: Algeria, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Ceylon, Chile, China, Columbia, Cuba, Curacao, Dominican Republic, Egypt, England, France, Germany, Greece, Israel, Italy, Lebanon, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Puerto Rico, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Switzerland, Thailand, Turkey, Uruguay, and Venezuela. Skelly said he expects up to 50 nations to be represented at the $100,000,000 thirtieth anniversary exposition.

More cable tool drilling rigs are being manufactured and sold now than at any other time in the history of the oil industry, according to officials of the International Petroleum Exposition.

Despite the trend toward rotary drilling, the report said, a survey of the 1484 exhibitors participating in the "world's fair of the oil industry" to show here May 14-23, reveals that the lighter weight, more portable cable tool rigs are much in demand, and improvements still are being made on them.

Among more than 400 exhibits programmed to the drilling division at the oil show there will be a completely portable cable tool "spudder" powered by a 200 horsepower engine and weighing a total of 75,000 pounds, yet capable of drilling to a maximum of 10,000 feet.

Parley Scheduled In Everdale Strike

BEAUMONT —(P)—A meeting is scheduled Monday in an effort to settle a dispute between the AFL Construction Trades Council and contractors working on a multi-million dollar paper mill at Everdale, north of here.

Pickets were removed Friday. The Building Council put up pickets March 19, claiming contractors are not adhering to area labor-management practices on wages and working conditions.

The mill is being built for the Southwestern Pulp and Paper Company.

Trans-Continental Granted Rate Boost

WASHINGTON —(P)—The Power Commission has authorized Trans-Continental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, Houston, to effect rate increases amounting to $9,819,000 annually.

The increases were permitted to start as of March 18 with the company posting a $980,000 bond to cover refunds to customers should the commission later disallow the increase or any portion of it.

The increase was suspended last October and the company asked, under provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that the increase be put into effect under bond and subject to refund.

The increased rates affect 43 wholesale customers in the South and East.

Baker Talks Of Increasing Danger To Private Oil Men

By tremendous expansion, privately-owned oil companies have kept pace with the rapid rise in world consumption of petroleum in recent years. But growing dangers to private oil operations in a steadily increasing number of countries may block further vigorous growth required by increased demand.

Five thousand delegates to the annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, now meeting at Houston, heard Warren L. Baker, editor of World Oil, issue this warning and describe the gigantic oil supply task which faces the industry and the barriers which threaten further development.

Baker, who read a paper prepared by him and Don Kilewer, international editor of World Oil, pointed to restrictive laws and insecure political atmosphere as stumbling blocks which are discouraging the search for oil by private companies in many parts of the world. Other threats

"In addition to the growth of out-right communism until it smothered a vast portion of the world, the threat of nationalization, confiscation and expropriation is more prevalent today than ever before," Baker said.

"Additional factors serving to restrict exploration and development by private companies; the only ones financially and technically equipped to undertake wide-scale exploration and volume production of crude, life excessive taxation and other monetary exactions, such as increased royalties, adverse currency restrictions and artificial pricing of royalty oil," he said.

"Even in the United States, long recognized as the world's outstanding example of democratic free enterprise, conditions are not as encouraging as they once were," he said.

"Since there is not a single example of a government monopoly making an outstanding success in the oil business, governments must facilitate and encourage exploration by free enterprise through enactment of laws which recognize economic hazards and provide assurance against insecurity of investments if the world's needs for oil are to be met. If the world is to have permanent peace and if standards of living for many millions are to be improved."

charge of exploration. Other new appointments included that of Harold B. Brummond as manager of refining. Lawrence W. Lee, formerly a vice president, and a member of the board of directors, has been made executive vice president of Husky's Canadian subsidiary, Husky Oil Refining, Ltd.

M. R. McArthur has been elected to the newly created post of executive vice president of Husky Oil Company and Georges S. Buchanan, formerly vice president and manager of land exploration for Sohio Petroleum Company in Houston, has been elected to the board and named a vice president in Warren Suggests Oil Import Firms Voluntarily Diminish Current Deliveries To U.S.

By JOSEPH BUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The problem of too much oil warmed up some more last week as J. Ed Warren of Midland, Texas, the government's chief petroleum official, spoke up.

Warren, deputy petroleum administrator, said he prefers that oil importing companies voluntarily and by self-restraint slow up their deliveries to American shores at this time.

This, he said, would have to be done by individual company action, as the anti-trust laws forbid companies from getting together on the problem. It would call for industry statesmanship, he said.

At the same time, Warren spoke out against the drive for congressional or federal administration action on the matter.

This, he said, would be too rigid. It might make it impossible to step up the flow of oil imports in time of war or other emergency.

In two recent years, Warren was president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. The IPAA this month voted to ask Congress shortly for legislation to set a quota on oil imports of no more than 10 per cent of domestic demand of the year before.

Warren gave his views to a reporter at his office. Apparently, he is ready to give them to Congress, if he is asked.

Views Are Outlined
In a letter to Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) of the House Commerce Committee, Warren outlined some of his ideas about oil imports this month.

"While it would be contrary to the national interest to prohibit all imports," he said, "it would also be contrary to the national interest to encourage vast quantities of petroleum imports without any restrictions and in unlimited quantities."

A strong American petroleum industry depends upon big production, big markets, and thus big funds for more exploration, he said, adding: "It is also desirable to supplement the domestic production from crude oil produced in foreign areas. And it is in the interest of the security of the free world to promote the development of petroleum reserves in other areas of the free world."

In June, 1950, as president of IPAA, Warren told a Senate Labor subcommittee:

"Continued increases in imports to the current all-time high levels demonstrates that the importing companies cannot be relied upon in effectuating a solution of the problem."

The drive for legislation to slow down oil imports stands a good chance of going places this year, but some violent criticism of the independent producer may be in store. For example, here's what O. H. Ellis, counsel of the National Oil Jobbers Council told his members last week:

"Now, in contrast, comes the independent producer—the industry fat cat—garbed in mink, flying his own private plane, and wading up to his armpits in thousand dollar bills as he bellies his way to the federal trough demanding legislative restrictions in the name of national defense."

Caricature or not, statements like this show what the domestic producer is up against in trying to get over his message.

The next four weeks will tell whether there will be a Tideland revenues out to traditional boundaries—three miles for most states, and 10.5 miles for Texas and Florida.

J. Ed Warren

The full judiciary committee voted to give this and more, including some revenues and rights beyond the traditional boundaries.

This measure went to the House Rules Committee, traffic policeman on legislation, where speedy approval is expected. House passage is regarded as sure.

Bitter Clash Is On

In the Senate Interior Committee, a bitter clash has been on for several weeks, although this weekend may see it ended. Texas legislators want more than present plans call for; some members want no rights given the states.

The test of the Tideland bill is due in the Senate, on the floor, where at least 20 senators are ready to try to talk the bill to death. Each day of delay makes this easier for them, so state-title advocates are urging speed. The sooner the debate starts, the sooner the 20-odd opponents will have talked themselves out. What they fear above all is a vote, for the odds are a majority will go along for some title and revenues to the states.

Domestic Oil, Coal Men Intensify War On Imports; Brown Demands Cutback

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Spokesman for the domestic oil and coal industries last week stepped up the tempo of their attack on foreign oil imports.

Most vocal was Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA), who called for quotas restricting imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand.

Brown said if imports continue at approximately the present average of 1,300,000 barrels daily, the total for 1953 will exceed the suggested 10 per cent quota by more than enough to result in the drilling of 1,650 fewer wells in this country during the year.

Figuring the average well produces 90,000 barrels, the domestic petroleum reserves thus would be depleted of approximately 150 million barrels of oil, the IPAA figures.

And it says the year's excess of imports over the proposed 10 per cent limitation would be more than the combined petroleum production in 1952 of nine states: Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Nebraska, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Viewing the import situation from a different angle, Senator Cooper (R-Ky.) in an impassioned speech on the Senate floor, said shipments of duty-free residual oils into this country are causing heavy losses in the domestic coal industry.

He estimated 129 million barrels of residual waste from refining of better grades of oil imported in 1952 displaced $1 million tons of coal.

Declaring this to be a violation of the basic concept of the Trade Agreement Act, he added:

"Production in some of the great coal fields in my home state of Kentucky has dropped off by as much as 25 per cent under the corresponding period of last year."

"In the first 31 days of this year the shipping mines of our neighboring state of Illinois experienced a drop of 18 per cent. These are by no means isolated cases. The coal areas of West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other producing states also report increasing losses."

He urged passage of a bill limiting residual oil imports to five per cent of the total domestic demand for such oil in the corresponding calendar quarter of the preceding year.

Some of the arguments on the other side of the import picture were offered, along with sympathy for domestic petroleum producers, by John G. Pew, vice president in charge of production for the Sun Oil Company, and vice president of the American Petroleum Institute's production division, at a meeting in Tulsa.

He said: "Reductions in imports will cause domestic production to perk up like desert flowers in a rain. Imports must be restrained. I think it is fair to say that the ones who are in the most advantageous position to do the job are those few who are doing the lion's share of the importing."

Then he pointed out that importing companies have invested large sums of money at enormous risk to develop foreign fields and to secure rights to fields which might otherwise fall to the communists.

Few called for a voluntary solution of the import problem, saying he would be opposed to curbing imports by tariffs, embargoes, quotas or international compacts.

Between 4,000 and 10,000 balloons of all shapes and sizes are launched each day by government agencies and private institutions in the United States, thus causing many of the "flying saucer" scares.

Thompson Cites Imports As Reason For Cutback

General Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas, cited rising imports as one of the main reasons for recent cuts in the daily oil allowances in Texas, as he spoke at the annual convention of The North Texas Oil & Gas Association in Wichita Falls Saturday night.

"There is an immutable law called the 'Law of Supply and Demand.' It cannot be denied or thwarted. Certainly it applies to oil just as it does to cotton, beef, and butter," Thompson said.

"Happily and wisely, our legislation in Texas has long ago provided us with a market demand statute that forbids production of petroleum above transportation facilities or market demand to prevent waste.

With imports increasing so greatly it is becoming constantly clearer that domestic oil production cannot be maintained at current levels without causing serious oversupply, he went on to say.

Production above current market demand is waste. Crude stocks are already at the peak estimates. They are much higher than the figures estimated as adequate by many estimators and purchasers.

On a day's supply basis, U. S. stocks of crude oil products are each higher now than a year ago, but below the comparable date in 1929. Using a five-week average, gasoline stocks on February 23 were equal to 51.9 days of supply, which was the lowest of the five years except 1932.

He stated that the estimates of increase in demand of petroleum and products for 1933 run about four per cent above the demand for 1932. But imports of crude and products increased an average of 12.8 per cent in 1932 over those of 1931.

The 1932 imports averaged, crude $71,000 barrels per day, and products $30,000 barrels daily, for a total crude and products, of $51,000 barrels daily.

What Really Hurts "But here is the thing that really hurts the domestic producer and the oil-country economy," Thompson said.

"In the fourth quarter of 1932 crude imports increased 45 per cent over crude imports in the fourth quarter of 1931, and products increased 11 per cent, also. Thus it seems that there are going to be more imports to be reckoned with in filling our demand here at home.

The more oil imports, the less domestic oil needed to fill demand. "We became a net importer of oil several years ago. We have lost our oil exports. Many refineries have been built in Europe since the war, and those refineries are, of course, taking the business, and they will keep it. We furnished the funds to build competition against ourselves.

Now we of course cannot sell our oil products abroad, and we are having increasing trouble here in Texas. "Perhaps we can take some comfort in the knowledge that we shall have our own oil to defend our country and the free world should war come, which God forbid.

"But I do hope that the penalty of our American generosity will not be that exploration and drilling here at home will be throttled and thereby weaken our own national security. Attention Called "It is regretted that our domestic oil is being supplanted by imported petroleum. Your Railroad Commission has been vigilant in calling attention throughout recent years to this impending threat.

"We know that we have no legal power over imports. We have repeatedly so stated. But as a free American with a sense of fair play, I have repeatedly invited attention to the increasing imports. How can wells in Texas with an average daily allowable of twenty barrels successfully compete with wells producing 5,000 barrels per day in the Middle East?

"Your Texas Legislature, both Senate and House of Representatives, has unanimously passed resolutions asking the importing companies to report monthly to the Railroad Commission on their imports the past month and to give estimates on intended oil imports for the succeeding five months.

"We promptly mailed copies of these resolutions to the heads of the importing companies and requested them to make the monthly reports report along with their nominations to purchase Texas crude oil.

Good Response "I am happy to report that we have had responses from all of these companies stating they would comply gladly with our request; and they all did so comply at the hearing just held in Austin, except the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, who stated in their reply that 'this information probably will come to you through the public press.'

"It should be remembered that within the last three years the peak petroleum consuming season has shifted from Summer to Wintertime due to the great increase in oil-heating use.

"Also, you should keep in mind that regularly since then the second quarter of each year has been the lowest season of demand. This year proves to be no exception to this experience.

"Comfort can be had, though, in the statistics that show the third and fourth quarters of the year show sizeable increases in crude demand. So it averages out over the long pull. Anyone taking a long-range view need not worry about these second-quarter dips in demand. Consider rather the entire year and average it out.

Mild Winter "It should be noted, however, that the winter just now coming, to a close was a very mild winter season, and therefore the heating oil stocks laid up for a normal winter left the industry with a lot of heating oil on hand. This accentuated the oversupply accordingly.

"As a matter of fact, Texas produced more than one billion barrels of oil last year. I congratulate the producers on this accomplishment.

"Texas now has a daily reserve sustained producing ability in excess of 60,000 barrels above the present rate of production at the most efficient rates. This is our wartime security oilwise.

"Whatever success we have had in bringing stability to your industry, and it has been considerable, has come about by carefully doing only those things that prevent physical waste in the production, transportation, and storage of crude oil.

Texas Shares Load "We have stayed strictly within the expressed powers set in our splendid statutes passed by the Legislature. But can we preserve these statutes and expand conservation of oil and gas practices which prevent waste if the reward for our good judgment in Texas results in penalties that will cripple or destroy our economy, thus forcing many of those who have pioneered for oil production in Texas and elsewhere to sacrifice their properties to the designing cunning or thoughtless leadership responsible for the impending chaos? An indication of this danger might be observed in the reluctance of other states to reduce their oil production and share the burden that is now being borne by Texas alone.

"We never consider price except as set out in the statute which says we shall consider the consumers of gasoline and lubricating oil. By this is meant that we must not make oil scarce in order to make it high to the consumer.

"Certainly the ample stocks today, crude and products, reflect that we have allowed even more than ample oil production."

Bodkins Announces Plans To Dig Deep Northwest Testers

J. D. (Jack) Bodkins, Midland independent oil operator, who acquired oil and gas leases on approximately 1,000,000 acres of land in the states of Oregon and Washington during 1932 announced Saturday that he would start drilling before the end of this year on two 10,000-foot wildcat explorations at locations yet to be selected on that large spread of acreage.

One of the tests will be drilled in Oregon and the other will be drilled in Washington.

Bodkins says the projects will be drilled to the Mississippian lime formation. He expects to test that formation for oil and gas production.

Good Possibilities The Mississippian is productive in the Williston Basin region and in Canada and he thinks there are good possibilities it will carry petroleum in the Oregon and Washington regions.

Bodkins says the locations for the two wildcat prospectors will be selected as soon as field geological survey parties he is preparing to put to work in the Oregon-Washington region have completed their work. He expects that to be done in about six months.

Bodkins said Saturday he has been greatly disappointed in the seeming lack of interest shown by some of the larger concerns in the petroleum industry—especially among those with large investments in oil and gas properties in Canada—in his program to develop the oil and gas resources in the Pacific Northwest sector of the United States.

He said further he had found some of the larger public utility companies in the Pacific Northwest to be extremely disinterested in his program.

To Develop Area He declared he was arranging to develop the oil and gas producing possibilities of the leases he has acquired in Oregon and Washington regardless of any opposition that might be manifested by concerns which plan to spend more than $100,000,000 to build a pipe line from Canada into the Pacific Northwest in order to capture the huge market for natural gas in that territory.

He said he was hopeful that all the natural gas and crude oil which might be needed in the Pacific Northwest would eventually be available in that region. To back up his judgment on that thinking he pointed out that he already has made a considerable financial expenditure in acquiring the leases and now is preparing to make much larger expenditures in exploring and developing those leases.

In Permian Basin Bodkins has been in the oil business many years. He has operated in the Permian Basin, the Mid-Continent and the Texas Gulf Coast and he also has extensive holdings in the Rocky Mountain and Williston Basin territories.

The Bodkins leases are in Eastern Oregon and in Southeastern Washington. They are in Wheeler, Crook, Deschutes, Harney and Malheur Counties in Oregon and in Walla Walla, Whitman, Adams and Grant Counties in Washington.

The leases are in the areas adjacent to Bend and Prineville in Oregon and in the regions adjacent to Spokane, Walla Walla, Colfax, Riverville and Ephrata in Washington.

Bodkins took 10-year commercial oil and gas leases on the spread of approximately 1,000,000 acres. Aerial Survey

He bought the leases on the basis of a magnetometer aerial survey and in a "Basin play." Bodkins thinks the Oregon-Washington Basin in which his leases are located has many features in common with the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico and with the Williston Basin of North and South Dakota and Montana. Both of those regions are producing petroleum and he thinks the Northwest region can do the same.

Since perfecting titles to the leases on the Oregon and Washington acreage Bodkins has had the aerial surveys of the regions re-checked. He now is to follow up by making a surface geological study and survey. When it is completed he will select the locations for the two 10,000-foot wildcats he will start this year.

Free Ochoa Visits Near Texas Border LAREDO.—(P)—A sea-faced George Ochoa, former Laredo customs broker accused of murder in Texas and freed by Mexican courts, came within a stone's throw of his home town Friday night.

Accompanied by two brothers, Ochoa showed up in Nuevo Laredo, just across the Rio Grande, "on business and to visit relatives."

Ochoa was charged with killing Henry Whittenburg, Jr., 31, Laredo cotton ginner, and Air Force Opl. James Lindsay, 30, of Orefia, Tenn., on July 31, 1929, in separate rooms of a Laredo hotel. They had been shot with the same .32 caliber pistol.

'World's Fair Of Oil Industry' Due To Herald Atomic Age Developments

By BILL SANBING

TULSA.—(P)—What tomorrow's petroleum hunter and refiner will be buying and using in this atomic and electronic age will go on display for oil men here May 14-23 in what is billed as the world's largest single industry show.

It's the International Petroleum Exposition, a spectacle began three decades ago as an annual event but grown so vast it can be held now only every four or five years.

Although the show's opening is six weeks away, preparations started a year and a half ago and its exhibits have been going up for weeks at the 28-acre grounds. Eight acres had to be added this year to the exposition's 20 acres of permanent space to accommodate increased exhibition demand.

Crammed into that area without a wasted inch will be more than 100 million dollars worth of equipment shown by some 1,500 oil industry manufacturers, supplies and service companies.

Rigs Dot Grounds Some of it, because of its great size, will be displayed only in small working models. Nevertheless, numerous 30-acre oil rigs dot the grounds.

One of the largest is a 147-foot 64,000-pound jackknife drilling mast, publicized as the biggest of its kind in the world.

In contrast, the show's tiniest item—a particle of oil magnified 60,000 times—will be shown through an electronic microscope. Much of the show is devoted to the industry's long standard but ever-improving devices. Much is given over to the future methods, machines and gadgets that in time also will be standard.

The Hall of Science, the exposition's educational feature, will have exhibits illustrating plans for possible atomic, infrasonic and ultrasonic drilling, as well as up-to-the minute trends in air drilling. Here also will operate models of complete drilling rigs and refineries. All the industry's major divisions are represented—geology, geophysics, development and engineering, transportation, refining. This year oil's latest offshoot, petrochemistry has been added.

Petrochemists' animated models will demonstrate the manufacture of commonplace articles through their science. Industrial television used by the oil industry will be displayed.

Half Million To See Cost of the individual exhibits varies from a few dollars for an oil publication's booth to almost half a million for a drilling mast and its allied equipment.

To see all this, exposition Manager William B. Way estimates, will be a record half million persons, 20,000 of them visiting oilmen. This is about a fourth again the number that attended the exposition's silver anniversary show in 1926, when 43 foreign nations and all 27 oil states were represented.

To advertise the "world's fair of the oil industry," Oklahoma's Spanish-speaking Gov. Johnston Murray toured Latin America for a month last Fall, handing out official invitations to governments there.

Of 50 foreign nations expected to send representatives, 35 already have engaged reservations. Although IPE is a non-profit organization owned and operated by the petroleum industry, its primary purpose is to sell equipment. Few men in the highly-competitive oil business feel they can afford to miss this extravaganza.

Millions of dollars worth of the displays are sold right on the ground. In 1926, a 167-foot rig used later to drill the world's deepest well, a 20,000-foot plus venture in Wyoming, went for $750,000. It is operating now on a barge in the Gulf of Mexico.

IPE officials estimated then that within a year total sales stimulated by the exhibitions would top a billion dollars.

WITH THE SERVICES—

Bissell Elevated To Colonel In U. S. Air Force Reserve

C. E. (Bud) Bissell, Midland insurance agent, civic leader and long-time military man, has received word of his promotion from the rank of lieutenant colonel to colonel in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

Colonel Bissell

The promotion is a fitting climax to 42 years of military service—from buck private to colonel—in the National Guard, Regular Army, Air Force and Reserve, and Bud Bissell is as proud as can be of his military record.

from his New Jersey home in 1942 as commandant of cadets at Midland Army Air Field. He soon brought his family to Midland and although he served at other air fields before the end of World War II, his family remained here, and as soon as he was released from active duty, the colonel joined his wife and three children in establishing a permanent residence in Midland.

One of the Bissell children, Billy, now is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Engineers.

Orders announcing Colonel Bissell's promotion came from Headquarters, 14th Air Force, Robins Air Force Base, Georgia. He has been active in the 9816th VART Squadron (9172nd VART Group) here.

Colonel Bissell also has been active in civic and church affairs, and has obtained more new memberships for the Midland Chamber of Commerce than any other individual. Mrs. Bissell also is active in Girl Scout, women's club and church work.

Colonel and Mrs. Bissell reside at 416 East Pine Street.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. John H. McNeil, 239 Riddlegale Drive, on the birth Wednesday of a daughter weighing eight pounds, nine ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Burton, 1404 South Baird Street, on the birth Thursday of a son weighing eight pounds, nine ounces.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Keep thy heart with diligence; for out of it are the issues of life. —Proverbs 4:23

Today's Message

All about us today we find economic, political, social, industrial and spiritual confusion. In the midst of this chaotic disorder, voices everywhere are crying for help and for a means of escape. The only answer that one finds sufficient to meet those needs comes from the divine personality of God. His voice comes today, over the ether waves of time and experience, as real as ever in the past: "I am the Way, the Truth, the Life. . . if any man comes unto me I will not cast him aside. . . if you ask me you shall receive. . . if you seek me you shall find me."

True religion is not basically a system of beliefs to be cherished; nor a set of forms to be observed; nor is it primarily an emotional experience that one might pass through during the span of life. It utilizes all of these but they are definitely secondary. Religion is not learning to live. It is living—living today in all relationships that go to make up human existence. True religion is loving God with one's whole body, mind and soul, and that love finding its fulfillment in loving one's neighbor as one's self. Such is Christ's Gospel of charity and of justice. Such is the Gospel that will bring peace and brotherhood to all mankind.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—Except in special emergencies, the Russian delegates to the United Nations usually come and go by boat. Wondering if this is a coincidence or a policy, I went over to UN headquarters and asked. A member of the Russian delegation smiled, answered all my questions in good English—and told me nothing. Members of the information staff of the UN weren't sure. They admitted it could mean a number of things. I did learn that Vlahinsky has a bad heart. Gromyko a bad disposition—and some of those queried shared in the thought that their sea-travel could mean the Russians are afraid of airplane sabotage.

Reeling under the recent income tax returns and already bracing himself against a second blow in the form of state income taxes, Father Knickerbocker has just received another "whack"—the revelation that Detroit—not New York City—is the richest "income tax district in the United States. Which is almost as bad a slap as if this city lost the Yankee baseball franchise—imagine that! Of course, if New York City were not so divided up into districts, it would swamp the Michigan auto metropolis, but like Gaul, all Gotham is divided into three parts. Incidentally—when the exhausted local tax supervisor saw the last filled-out forms come in, he wisecracked: "Ah! We've reached the point of no returns."

John K. M. McCaffrey is a television news anchor here, doing his nightly chore at 11 p.m. Although a nice-looking fellow, he almost invariably has a serious look when giving out the events of the day. Last evening he paused in the midst of his telecasting and said that he had been getting too many letters commenting on his solemn countenance. Then looking straight at the cameras and breaking into a big toothy smile, he said: "Well, I've got something to smile about tonight. My wife just gave birth to our fourth son!"

The new president of one of New York's largest banks arose the other evening at a banquet to give his inaugural speech. He is rated as a fine financier but not so good a speaker. In obvious nervousness he started his speech—without notes—by saying: "Ladies and gentlemen, in the business world today, we stand upon a plateau." The listeners settled themselves, the speaker paused.

Wind-Proof . . . Dog-Proof GARBAGE CAN RACKS

Worth more... and why

There's an old saying that a thing is worth what someone is willing to pay for it. Well, if you could tour the wholesale and retail used car auctions around the country, if you could survey hundreds of used car lots you would discover that used Fords bring higher prices than any competitive make—and by substantial amounts. Think of it—in an open market with complete freedom of choice—people are not only willing but do pay higher prices for Fords.

THAT'S WHY we feel our '53 cars, the finest Ford has ever built, should not be compared with cars in the same price range. Not because our competitors don't do a good job—obviously they do—but because we feel Ford Cars have more in common with the highest priced automobiles. The similarities are far greater than the differences.

For example: Today, the most expensive cars in this country have V-type, 8-cylinder engines. Ford Cars have had this exact same type of engine for over 20 years. Ford has made more V-type, 8-cylinder engines than all other manufacturers combined and no other low-priced car has a V-8 yet!

What's more astounding, the current Strato-Star V-8, a full 110-horsepower, high-compression V-8, delivers all its high-test performance on "regular" gas and sells for hundreds of dollars less than several other makers charge for a six-cylinder car. Now there's nothing wrong with a Six but they do cost less to make. Ford makes a Six—the most modern overhead valve Six in the industry. And if it's a six-cylinder car you want, Ford has it and for less money than the V-8, which is as it should be.

What about ride? Here's another Ford similarity with high-priced cars... Riding Comfort. One of the misconceptions of automobile buyers for many years has been that weight—sheer weight—is what it takes to make a car ride well. But the railroads have disproved that, as any one who has ever ridden a modern, lightweight streamlined Pullman knows. It's how you use weight—how you spring and balance it that counts. Ford has found, for example, that you can make a 3000-pound car ride softer and hold the road better by far than many cars that weigh a full 1000 pounds more. In our '53 car, for example, front end road shock has been reduced up to 80%. We say it compares most favorably with the heaviest cars sold today. Chances are you could not tell the difference.

What about automatic transmissions? It would take the fingers of both hands to count the various kinds of automatic and semi-automatic transmissions on the market today. The one we offer is called Fordomatic. It is the most versatile on the market, it represents the most profound consideration of engine-to-wheel power transfer—and that it does the best job for our engines isn't even open to question. It "shifts" better than you could shift by hand and it does it in such a way you hardly know it—automatically.

An interesting safety feature of Fordomatic is that forward and reverse positions are separated, by a neutral position on the drive selector. It is "second nature" to handle, and what's more, with Fordomatic there is no time in the shifting when the car is not in perfect control. If you want to "rock" your car to get out of a snowdrift, you can. If you want an extra burst of speed you just step down on the gas and keep your hands on the wheel. In short, Fordomatic gives you the power you want, when you want it—automatically. We know for a fact that Fordomatic is one reason why Fords bring more money on the used car market.

What you can see is also important. Here again Ford Cars lead not only in their price field but in the medium and upper brackets as well. Ford visibility is Full-Circle Visibility. This means huge, curved unobstructed glass area, front and rear, plus side windows that allow all passengers what the hotels call "room with a view." And, it might interest you to know that, inch for inch, very few cars costing thousands of dollars more can beat Ford for window area.

Appearance? A higher price, of course, does not make a car more beautiful. Conversely, beauty in a Ford comes "for free." Ford has found that it costs no more to develop a beautiful car than one that is less pleasing in appearance. You can drive up to the most exclusive doorways in the world and feel perfectly at home in your Ford. It's done every day and if you don't believe it just stand in front of the Waldorf, for example, the next time you are in New York. Or the Mark Hopkins in San Francisco. Fords "belong" . . . in exactly the same social category as the finest, one-of-kind creations. After all, a Ford is a custom creation multiplied.

What about running costs? Here's one place that Ford's advantages are obvious. For oil and gas economy Ford has the big cars whipped. Ford parts cost less. Ford service charges are less. Ford tire mileage is thousands of miles greater. And, as any C. P. A. who looks into it will tell you, Ford depreciation is the lowest of any car on the market—bar none.

What are Fords made of? Some people have the idea that the costliest cars are made of "better stuff." It's perfectly true that some high-priced cars have costlier upholstery and fittings. What Ford has is so good, both in durability and appearance, that you probably could not tell the difference. You might even prefer it, because of its better design and more pleasing appearance.

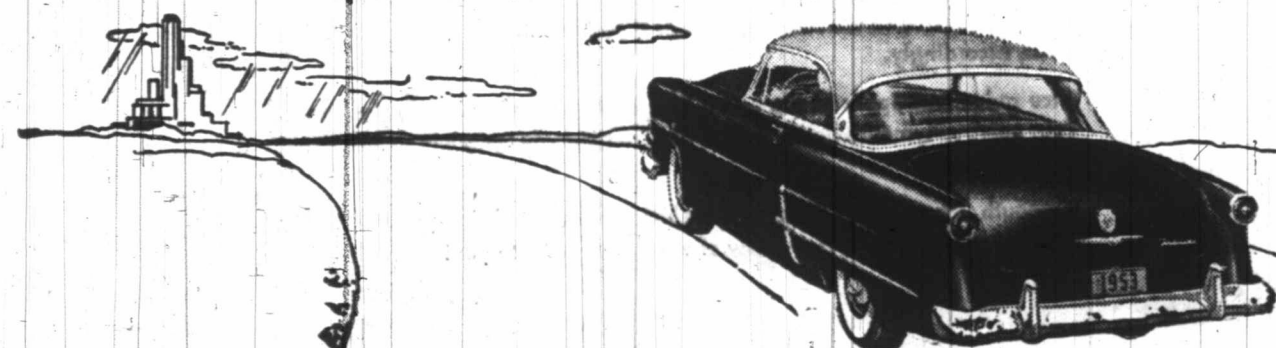

Then there's the question of sheet metal. If you were to measure and analyze the sheet metal structure in the most expensive car, you most likely would find it identical in thickness to the corresponding panels in Ford. For the most part this applies to castings and forgings also. And here you have another reason why you can pay more but you can't buy better than Ford.

But what do you pay for a Ford? This is an interesting point. When designing and tooling up for a new model, Ford spends a great deal more money than the makers of the costliest cars. For example, the first dozen or so '53 cars cost just about $62,000 a copy, apart from tooling! These cars are never sold—they're experimental models. Then when they are perfected and go into production Ford actually turns out a vastly superior car in every way for the low price you are asked to pay. This is the miracle of Ford production.

After all, then, what is the difference between a Ford and the costliest cars?

In our opinion, the difference is largely a matter of dimensions, weight (and the power required to move it) plus the distinction of owning a car that not so many other people own. The desire for these things is understandable . . . and probably justified for people who are willing to pay the price to satisfy it.

As to comparing Ford with other cars in its price range, by all means do so if you wish. But, as we said before, you'll get a better picture of Ford value by comparing with cars that are most like Fords—those that are priced up to twice as much. As a matter of fact, we think you'll quickly begin comparing the other cars with Ford—because the 1953 Ford has really established the New Standard of the American Road.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

The market was slow and drab on both stockers and cattle going to the packer Thursday at the Midland Livestock Auction Company. Most kinds off 25 cents to $1. No choice fat calves and yearlings were offered. Medium to good yearlings went at $17.50 to $20; cull to common $12.50 to $17.50.

Cows: Choice heifers sold to $15.50; medium heifers moved at $12.50 to $13.50; canners and cutters drew $10 to $12.50. Old shells were down.

Bulls ranged from $14 to $16.50. Not enough good stocker calves were offered to establish a market. Mixed bred and Brahman stocker calves and yearlings were bid from $13.00 to $16.50.

Well, you didn't have to unroll that slicker very often last week, Podner, but April is at hand and you never can tell.

A few April showers really would develop further the weeds which pushed upward following the March rains.

And there are those, including DQ, who predict April showers and Spring flowers in abundance this year.

So, better keep that slicker handy, Podner!

And speaking of slickers, Jess Miles tells us he went right into a downtown store and boldly purchased a new slicker a few weeks back. He even bought and shipped one to an old friend over in Paris, Texas.

The only difference is that the Paris friend already has worn out his slicker. (It rains over that way.)

A slicker, incidentally, is a raincoat the cowboys keep rolled-up and tied to the back of their saddles, just in case you didn't know. (We like to explain that ever-so-often.)

And Bob Preston was buying coffee for the boys in a downtown coffee shop one day last week! Yes, he was!

Miles Pierce, Alpine Rambouillet sheep breeder, had his second annual sheep judging contest Thursday for animal husbandry students of Sul Ross State College.

Winner for the first prize of $40 was Virgil Cunningham, Sul Ross Junior from Odessa. He scored 463 out of a possible 500 points.

Other places were: Second, Monty Ballard of Dimmitt; third and fourth tie, Wayne (Tuffy) Barent of Shamrock and Tom Stephenson of Sweetwater; fifth and sixth tie, Pat Humphrey of Comstock and Trudy Acton of Fort Davis; seventh, Bob Baker of Harper; eighth, Jim Calvert of Marfa; ninth, Bob Powell of Aransas, N. M.; 10 and 11th tie, Charles Cowart of Uvalde and Nat Reed of Odessa; 12 and 13th tie, Don Jones of Alpine and Roderick Webb of Tennyson; 14th, Clyde Martin of Port Arthur; 15th tie, Dickie Turner and Bud Burney, both of Odessa.

Forty-one boys and four girls participated. All are members of the Sul Ross Club & Brand Club.

Two well-balanced Hereford steers made a clean sweep of both grand and reserve championship honors at the 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Show held last week in Oklahoma City, Okla.

A tremendous crowd of spectators watched the Judge, Herman Purdy, Ohio State University, select the Hereford steer owned by Richard Schoelgel, Garber, Okla., as the grand champion of the show. Richard's steer was bred by A. M. Vandye, Springer, N. M.

The reserve champion was the Hereford shown by Phil Goostree, Sayre, Okla., and bred by George Stovall, also of Sayre.

Cattle slaughtered commercially in Texas in 1952 amounted to 1,175,000 head, or a total live weight of 929,201,000 pounds, as compared with 989,000 head, or a live weight of 784,711,000 pounds, slaughtered in 1951, according to figures released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Calf slaughter in Texas rose to 861,000 head in 1952, as compared with 731,000 thousand head in 1951. Commercial slaughter of hogs rose to 2,036,000 in 1952, from 1,941,000 head in 1951, while commercial slaughter of sheep and lambs here in 1952 was 676,000 head, as compared with 593,200 head in 1951.

The Sul Ross Rodeo Team will make its second performance of the 1952-1953 scholastic year when it goes to Houston to participate in the Intercollegiate College Rodeo which is sponsored by the University of Houston.

Intercollegiate rodeo competition, incidentally, has been going on four years. Sul Ross has been national champions for two years and at present stands second in the nation following Martin-Simmons University, which is twenty-three points ahead of Sul Ross.

Two club members from Coleman and McLennan Counties have achieved top honors for 4-H Club work in Texas.

Floyd Lynch, state 4-H Club leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, announced Barbara Golosh, Coleman County, and Sandra Kirkland, McLennan County, have been chosen to receive the two scholarship awards, valued at $500 each, awarded yearly by the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Barbara will receive the Maggie W. Barry award offered annually for the last 25 years. Sandra will be presented the newer Helen H. Swift scholarship. Both come from the special fund donated by voluntary contributions from each of the 40,000 home demonstration club members in Texas. The scholarships may be used by the girls in any accredited, four-year college in the state, and will be available for the school year beginning in September.

Cotton producers are asked by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to reduce their 1953 plantings 18 percent below those of last year. A crop of from 12 to 12.5 million bales would meet the estimated domestic and export demands and leave enough surplus to take care of reserve needs.

Agricultural producers of the state will find much useful information in three publications recently released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Livestock producers will find many suggestions in a leaflet titled "Short on Grass." Several emergency roughages are mentioned along with other feeding tips and management hints.

Cotton producers will find in the "1953 Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects" the latest information on the rates of application and timing of insecticides recommended for use in Texas along with practices and suggestions that have proved useful in controlling cotton insects.

The third publication carries the title "Landowner-Operator Teamwork in Soil Building" and deals with problems related to the use of soil building practices on tenant operated farms. Included is a suggested agreement for use by landowners and tenant operators.

Copies of each publication may be obtained without cost from local county agricultural agents.

The annual San Angelo Horse Show is scheduled May 30-31, under the sponsorship of the Tom Green County Sheriff's Posse.

El Paso's 1953 rodeo showed a profit of $6,696, according to reports coming out of the border city.

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES NEW LOWER PRICES!

Now! Greater Value Than Ever!
Substantial Reductions On All '53 Models

Effective immediately, the retail prices of all 1953 Plymouth cars are substantially reduced. Bringing you the greatest Plymouth value in history!

When the 1953 Plymouths were introduced last Fall, even though completely new and advanced in design, they were priced on a "HOLD-THE-LINE" basis. We emphasized then our constant aim of quality, performance, safety and comfort, at decreased rather than increased prices. And we pinned our faith on volume to achieve this objective.

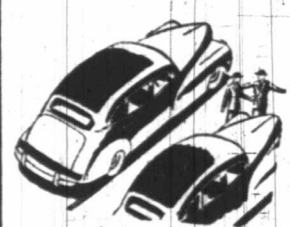

The removal of production controls has made it possible to produce Plymouth cars at the highest rate in many months. Now that higher volume is being achieved and we reasonably expect it to continue, we are lowering prices accordingly.

Price reductions apply to the entire Plymouth line—all nine body types. Your nearby Plymouth dealer will be glad to give you complete details about the new prices.

Plymouth, long famous for greater value, continues to bring you the quality features of high-priced cars—Now at even lower cost to you!

Moslem Assures Midlanders Sect Could Be Aid To West

A personable, 23-year-old Moslem Friday night guided a limited number of Midlanders into "Forbidden Mecca," the spiritual capital of the Arab world.

Abdul Ghafur Sheikh faced the dangers of enraging a religious mob, to make color pictures used as illustrating his lecture at the Midland High School auditorium. His photos are believed to be the first ever to come out of Mecca, Islam's holy city in the hills of Saudi Arabia.

The National Geographic Society assisted Sheikh in providing hidden cameras to record unprecedented views of the mystic rites attracting thousands annually from over the world for the pilgrimage to Mount Mercy, 14 miles across the plains of sand from Mecca. Sheikh joined Moslems on foot, by camel, horseback, and truck for the centuries-old journey to the sacred ground of Mohammed.

The graduate of Dartmouth College risked his life to bring out pictures on his third pilgrimage to Mecca. He dined with Arabian royalty and hobnobbed with the poor in obtaining a pictorial review of religious ceremonies attracting the attention of a fourth of the world's population.

Sheikh, now doing graduate work at Harvard University, sprinkled his lecture with a high sense of American humor. Reflecting a broad knowledge on international affairs, he saw in the development of Moslem friendship by the United States a powerful weapon in fighting communism.

"There are many Moslems behind the Iron Curtain," the native of the Kenya Colony in South Africa noted. "There are 8,000,000 in Red China alone. They could be used as a strong internal element by the West."

Sheikh pointed out that the Islamic religion is anti-communism, and that it is the most basic part of Moslem life.

"Moslems will endure repeated hardships to fulfill their obligations," he said in underlining the opportunity for the West to cultivate a potent ally in its continuing warfare against communism.

Sheikh was introduced by John

I. Moore, Midland oil man, who has known the scholarly Moslem for many years. Moore referred to the distinguished visitor as an excellent ambassador of the Moslem world.

In turn, Sheikh underscored the high value of the friendship formed with Moore who has been to the Kenya Colony on hunting expeditions.

"Friends like John I. Moore make a better world," the slender Moslem declared in publicizing his gratitude to the Midlander.

"It means so much to have such a friend when you are thousands of miles away from those who are dear to you," Sheikh told his audience.

The lecture was sponsored by the Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club which Moore heads as president. Proceeds will go to financing a new shooting range for the club.

Women Face Double Goals

DALLAS —(P)— Women should be educated for both marriage and self support, the president of Colorado Woman's College said Saturday.

Dr. Val H. Wilson of Denver addressed a closing session of the American Association of Junior Colleges convention here.

"Women have been demonstrating their equality with men for the last 75 years—there are 19,000,000 working women in the United States," he said. "Women's education should be a combination of both preparation for a career of marriage and at satisfying means of self support."

Application Blanks Ready For Community Ambassador

Community Ambassador application blanks are now available at the Midland Chamber of Commerce office and the public school superintendent's office.

Brother Of Crane Woman Interred

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edmiston have returned from Bowie, where they attended funeral services for her brother, Pete Hill, who had been employed by the city for 21 years and was city superintendent at the time of his death.

Mr. Hill, 43, died in a Bowie hospital after a short illness following a heart attack.

Services were held in the First Baptist Church with interment in a Bowie cemetery.

Survivors include the widow, two children, Gordon and Sharon; his mother, Mrs. Cora Hill of Bowie; one brother, Bob of Ayrshire, Iowa; two sisters, Mrs. Bill Gardner, Eunice, N. M. and Mrs. W. F. Edmiston of Crane.

For plan, a Midlander is chosen to spend about two months in a foreign land as a family-community member. The project is conducted as a part of The Experiment in International Living.

Midland's "ambassador" will have a two-fold task: that of representing Midland and Midlanders in a new and different country, and upon his return, representing the foreign group of the customs and ideas of his city and in turn tell Midland of the customs and practices he observed while abroad.

Qualifications for the post will be announced on Tuesday and applications will be accepted during April.

The Midland Community Ambassador Project directors will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in KORS Studio A in the Scharbauer Building to discuss further plans for the project.

Fly Plague Warning Puts City On Alert For Menace

Last year's fly plague was put under control largely through the installation of new sewage disposal and Midlanders are warned that any huge outbreaks of flies here this year will be largely the fault of individual residents who fail to observe proper garbage disposal technique.

This warning was issued by Dr. C. A. Pigford, director of the Midland City-County Health Unit, who said proper disposal of garbage and care of individual garbage cans is essential to help eliminate fly breeding places and lessen the danger of disease.

The fly breeding season has started, he said, and maggots have been found to be teeming in garbage cans all over the city. "No section of town is exempt from these larvae which eventually will hatch into flies," Dr. Pigford stated.

"During the winter the large individual sources of fly breeding were eliminated," he said. "There are no horse or cow lots in the city and the number of pit privies has been reduced. The city has dried and plowed the old sewage ponds and the new sewage plant is in operation."

"If Midland has a pestilence of flies such as plagued us last summer it will be because of carelessness or laziness on the part of us as individuals. It will be because we do not wash and dry our garbage cans, which only takes about 15 minutes each week," Dr. Pigford said.

Grover Taylor has been assigned by the city to inspect all garbage cans in the city to see that they are maintained properly. Dr. Pigford pointed out.

"This is not an attempt to penalize anyone but to draw our attention to our individual duties in keeping our premises clean and our people healthy," he said.

Garbage cans which are found to be faulty or need cleaning will be tagged with a small card telling what action should be taken by its owner.

It is possible for one dirty garbage can to breed thousands of flies in a short time. Dr. Pigford says, and flies are known to spread dysentery, tuberculosis and possibly polio.

Felon Runs In Circles

OZARK, ALA.—Police Chief Roy Seary is a man with a suspicious mind and a photographic memory.

"When did you get out of prison?" he asked Marvin Tucker, a negro who was trying to hitchhike a ride Friday.

"Last October," Tucker replied. "Did you walk out?" Seary wanted to know.

"No, I came out running," Tucker said.

Tucker was run back in on a charge of escaping from Kilby Prison.

Gordy Trial Reset Again

PECOS—Second postponement of the trial of Tom Gordy, Kermit meat dealer charged with the transfer of horsemeat for human consumption, has been announced by Reeves County Judge Dudley Cooksey.

The trial has been set for April 7. It was originally scheduled for March 31.

A defense witness being unable to appear at the March 31 hearing was the reason given by Judge Cooksey for the second change in the trial.

Gordy previously has been convicted in Winkler County on a charge of selling horsemeat and faces five separate counts in county court here. Conviction in each court carries a possible penalty of two years in jail and a fine of $1,000. He is under sentence of the maximum in the Kermit trial.

The first trial was postponed here because a key prosecution witness, Carl Carr of Odessa, was confined with illness. Carr alleged to have been selling meat for Gordy's firm when horsemeat was being circulated.

Judge Cooksey has ordered the jury panel of 18 men to reappear on April 7. Gordy is free on bonds of $1,000 each in the five separate charges in Reeves County. Murray Howze is defense lawyer.

Late-Filing Sparks Scramble For Pecos School Board Posts

PECOS—A late-filing candidate for the Pecos school board race just nosed under the wire to throw the April 4 election into a fighting scramble. Neil Thompson, secretary, announced.

The filing of Hal Brown made a total of four candidates seeking to fill three positions open on the board. Others seeking the office are Dr. Byron Easley, Bob Bickley, and T. A. (Pood) Robinson.

The three positions are left open by the expiration of terms of Hal A. Bryan, L. A. Weinacht and Elmer Jones. Halldor board members include President W. S. McCree, Secretary Thompson, Jimmy Hager and Dr. I. G. Lunday.

Judges for the election are Jimmy Cooksey, Ora; Mrs. Hubert Honaker and Jewell Brey, Saragosa; and Alton Hughes, Charlie Manahan, and H. L. Teaney, Pecos high school.

Manners

MAKE FRIENDS

You remember Mrs. Smith but you are aware that she may not remember you. Then give her a break when you go up to speak to her. Say: "I don't know whether or not you remember me, Mrs. Smith. I'm Dorothy Jones. We met at the Brown's Christmas party."

That makes things easy for Mrs. Smith. She'll be so grateful that she will really mean it when she says: "How nice to see you again." Always pay the way for your own welcome by putting the other person at ease.

Otherwise, you put him on the spot.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Haynes, 1405 West Ohio Street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Calva Ann, to Lt. Robert Carl Wistrand, son of Mrs. Kathleen A. Wistrand of New York City. The couple will be married sometime in August, when Lieutenant Wistrand completes a special training course in the Air Force.

Large Audience Seen For Tuesday Review

A large audience from the Midland area is expected to hear Mrs. Herbert Emery of Dallas, popular book reviewer, give a review of a current leading novel, "A Hungry Man Dreams" by Margaret Lee Runbeck.

The review, sponsored by the Midland Humane Society, will be given at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Tyler Theater.

Mrs. Emery chose "A Hungry Man Dreams" for her Midland program as particularly appropriate for the pre-Easter season.

It is the story of Jubal Our, young American of the early twentieth century, and his errors and success as he seeks to find himself and searches for sound and convincing moral values and religious convictions.

Officials of the Midland Humane Society have been informed by Dallas critics that this is one of Mrs. Emery's best reviews.

Margaret Lee Runbeck, author of the book, also has written several other works, including "Miss Boo" and "Answer Without Ceasing."

In addition to her work in the state, Mrs. Emery has appeared before audiences in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Ohio, Canada and Mexico. She was the first woman in the nation to give a book review on television.

In 1951, she was made an honorary member of Beta Chapter, Delta Gamma Gamma, national honor society for women educators. Tickets for her Midland review are being sold by members of the sponsoring organization. They also will be on sale at the theater box office Tuesday morning.

Hospital To Get New Equipment From Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary to the Midland Memorial Hospital voted to spend $2,000 on needed hospital equipment when it met Friday in the nurse's home.

Items to be purchased include a new coffee urn, two suction machines, two crutches, an invalid lift, an intermittent traction, a centerforce and four I. V. stands to be used for intravenous injections. Speaker for the meeting was Burton Sears, hospital administrator. He announced that March was the busiest month the hospital has had since its opening.

Plans were made to hold an open house May 19 observing National Hospital Month. It was announced that the Auxiliary's Ladies in Yellow have given 650 volunteer hours of service to date. There are 12 active workers in this group and three others on call. A new class of seven volunteers now is being trained by the Ladies in Yellow.

It was voted to send Mrs. W. S. Key, Jr., vice president, as a delegate to the state hospital auxiliary convention in Galveston in May. Mrs. L. W. Sager was named alternate delegate.

Plans also were discussed for the Easter Bazaar held by the Auxiliary Saturday in the Palette Club.

Baker, M. V. Coleman and John C. Stille.

Mrs. Pope received her grand appointment in October, 1952, from Mildred Gartz, worthy grand matron of the OES of Texas.

She joined the Eastern Star in 1928 in Midland, and after serving in various officer posts in the chapter was worthy matron in 1951-52. She served as president of the Bessemer, wives of the Knights Templar, when the group was constituted in 1950.

Mrs. Pope came to Midland in 1921. She has lived here since that time, except for a period from 1936 until 1945, when her husband served in the Navy.

Resident Resents Neighbor's Industry

Saturday afternoon, a couple of years ago, this guy rushes into the store, "Say, sez he, 'I don't like that fertilizer you sell!' Now, we are always interested in customer's complaints, but, for the life of me, I couldn't remember selling this character any of that fine Turf Special for his lawn—and I told him so, saying, 'Why, friend, the fertilizer that comes in the red bag never did any harm to anyone, it only does good to the grass and stuff.'"

"That's just it," he retorts, "You didn't sell it to me. You sold it to my neighbor, and now the missus won't let me rest until our lawn looks like his. So, gimme four bags, loan me a spreader, and let peace prevail in my domicile!"

It's about time for Joe to come in again. He's found it easier to grow a lawn, and to keep the peace, by coming in around this time of the year to order his Turf Special. And so will you!

UN Just Marked Time

The current session of the United Nations may go home Easter week without having adopted a single noteworthy resolution, a record low.

The earlier 1952-53 session did manage to put across the Indian-sponsored plan for the handling of North Korean and Chinese Red prisoners held by the Allies—a proposal aimed at clearing the way for real truce in the Korean war. But it came to naught when Chinese and Russian leaders both spurned it.

The lack of activity is no accident, of course. The little hot wars that fringe the great cold war are in stalemate, and nobody seems to know how to break out. Some nations apparently would just as soon not break out. They prefer a bad thing they know against a possibly worse thing they can't quite perceive.

Then, too, this is a time of watchful waiting. New administrations are at the helm in both the United States and Russia, the two great protagonists in the struggle. The shape of new policies emerging from these new governments still is only dimly seen.

Evidently we shall have to write off the 1952-53 meeting as a mark-time session. And hope that when the delegates gather in New York again next Fall, they and their governments are more in a mood for the sort of positive action for peace that the UN was conceived to produce.

Small World To Kremlin

Prime Minister Churchill could not have found it easy to refuse the Communists' offer to trade a British businessman's freedom for the life of a Red guerrilla girl held in a Malaya prison.

He turned down the barter proposal that would have meant trading a woman rightfully imprisoned for a British subject wrongfully jailed. The terms were not equal. Furthermore, the mere fact that the Reds made the offer suggests that Lee Meng, the Malayan rebel, is of extreme value to the Communist guerrilla cause.

What really is of overriding interest in this suggestion, however, is the link that it indicates among all Communist activity the world over. The Reds always are busy telling everybody that Communist sentiment springs spontaneously from millions of human bosoms in far-flung areas, without help from Moscow.

But here we have Red authorities proposing to exchange a Britisher languishing in a Budapest jail for an Oriental girl awaiting death at Ipoh, Malaya. As seen from the Kremlin, it's a small world.

Uncle Sam always is looking for ways to make speedier mail deliveries. Why not speak to hubbies who leave things in their coat pockets?

As a joke, at a wedding in Ohio, friends, handcuffed the groom. Well, it was good training, anyway.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Morse and Capehart clash over independent's demand for space; Mme. Pandit learns about Russian courtesy; Housewives may pay higher gas-electric bills.

WASHINGTON—The repartees weren't picked up by the press, but Oregon's bristly-browed Senator Wayne Morse and Indiana's plump Senator Homer Capehart had quite a brush the other day over Morse's request to move his seat out of Republican territory.

"I think the Independent Party is entitled to have a few square feet on the minority side," he argued.

"Aboveground or underground?" cracked New Hampshire's Senator Charles Tobey, who was presiding temporarily over the Senate.

"I always work aboveground," rejoined Morse. "However, I must protect myself so far as my back is concerned. That is why I would like to have a seat on the back row with my back to the wall."

"If we move the senator's seat, as he requests," blurted Capehart, "what assurance do we have that he will not wish to move somewhere else in about 30 days?"

"I assure the senator from Indiana that one great difference of many differences between us is that I take pride in my intellectual flexibility," shot back Morse.

"How can one entertaining that philosophy expect anyone else to believe in anything he says?" needed the Indiana Republican.

"Whenever the senator from Oregon changes his mind on any question, he always sets forth the facts which suggest the change," snapped Morse.

"I suggest to my friends like the senator from Indiana that they get off the partisan line and substitute political principle for political expediency."

"Does that mean in the case of the Independent Party, which the senator from Oregon is trying to start, that if I wanted to join the party, I would have to wait for perhaps 60 days before joining, because at the end of 60 days the senator from Oregon might have new facts which would convince him that he should not after all start a new party?" replied Capehart, his voice dripping with sarcasm.

"I am sure my good friend from Indiana is speaking hypothetically," retorted the sharp-tongued Oregonian. "I cannot imagine the senator from Indiana ever having the intellectual flexibility which would cause him to want to become a member of an independent party, and to place in first position an independent judgment."

"My personal opinion," Capehart rasped back, "is that the able senator from Oregon thoroughly and completely and 100 per cent enjoys being different."

lighted to make this correction. . . . However, as I stated before Hoff- man's expenditures committee, it is quite possible for a congressman to win votes, friends, and campaign contributions outside his district which will help him in his district. If the congressman held fewer closed-door hearings on such important matters as Air Force contracts, he might be better understood both by the press and the public. . . . President Eisenhower has canceled the insurance on the expensive, gem-encrusted sword given him by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and the king of Saudi Arabia. "If they're not safe here in the White House with all these Secret Service guards, they wouldn't be safe anywhere," says the President. . . . Explaining why he gave his Russian "star" decoration to a museum when he left, Eisenhower recently told friends, "If I kept that medal, the first thing you know some crackpot would be calling me a Red." Ike recalled how the Kremlin "really rode hard on" Marshal Zhukov for giving him the medal. . . . Ike's carefully selected library never fails to impress White House callers. It contains the writings of President Washington, several biographies of Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson's "College and State," a number of volumes on the rise of American civilization, essays by Thoreau, poems by Shelley, and many works of history, but little on economics.

Anti-Ridgway campaign—President Eisenhower is seriously disturbed at the anti-Ridgway campaign now sweeping the French press. Ridgway is being denounced as high-handed and arbitrary. Rumors are circulated that he is to be replaced. Suspicion is the French army may be behind this anti-Ridgway campaign, and Ike was scheduled to take the matter up personally with French Premier Mayer.

Irritable prime minister—Prime Minister Mossadeq of Iran is so burned up at Ambassador Loy Henderson that he has threatened to boot him out of the country. Henderson has been told that unless he stops seeing the shah of Iran secretly, he will be declared persona non grata and forced to get out of Iran.

Small atomic bombs—The first atomic blast at Yucon Flat was strictly junior size—equal to about 15,000 tons of TNT. This was 3,000 tons less than the first Hiroshima bomb. Yet we have not only developed atomic bombs several times more destructive, but our first hydrogen blast was actually equal to three and a half million tons of TNT!

What if he makes friends with some of the boys and they protect him? And he could make friends with some of the girls, too, not necessarily Evie."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Written for NEA Service

"Shed a tear for the poor experts," writes my friend Larry Hirsch, the best bridge player in the dress industry and points West. "The expert surely loses the small slam on this hand, while any no-look makes his contract with an overtrick."

"I had the South hand, and West opened the seven of diamonds. East put up the queen of diamonds, and I won with the king. As you can see, my only problem was how to play the trumps."

"If the trumps were 3-2, the safest play is to hang down the ace and king. One trump trick may be lost, if the queen doesn't happen to fall, but this trick can easily be spared."

"This line of play will lose the contract, however, if West has four trumps to the Q-10. If this is the situation, declarer's correct play is to begin the trumps by laying down the king, following with a finesse of dummy's nine.

"After a careful consideration of the various possibilities, I took the second trick with the king of spades and then finessed dummy's nine of spades as the third trick. East naturally won with the queen of spades and returned a diamond. West ruffed, and my slam went down the drain."

"Do you have the crying towel ready for the expert, or can you see any way for declarer to know that this is the time to bang the trumps out rather than to try a safety play?"

I never weep for the experts, because they are well able to take care of themselves. Nevertheless, I must admit that this is a hand in which the expert is bound to be set while his less-gifted brother makes the slam with an overtrick and without a quiver.

The safety play is dangerous only if West has led a singleton diamond (there is no danger if he has led a doubleton) and if West has exactly three trumps headed by the ten or by the queen.

Failure to use the safety play loses if West has Q-10-K or spades, regardless of what West has in diamonds. The question is: which danger is more probable?

The expert would assume that the 4-1 trump break is more probable. And he would lose his slam most scientifically. The average player would not worry about such fine points, and he would make his slam most comfortably.

Who would trade comfort for science?

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Keyserling Would Judge CEA By Its Stand On 3 Big Issues

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The Full Employment Act now is credited generally as the brain child of Jim Patton of the National Farmers' Union. He sold the idea to Senator Murray of Montana.

Senator Murray had Leon Keyserling and Bert Gross—who later became vice chairman and secretary of the Council of Economic Advisors set up by the act—whip it into legislative form.

There were the usual hearings and the law passed in 1946. At that time there was considerable fear of a postwar depression with unemployment of 8,000,000 or so. Anything that would help plan for economic stability seemed like a good idea.

The depression never happened, so CEA never had to bother about that. But it had other things to worry about. There was a minor recession in 1949. The Marshall Plan came along, and there was the big question of whether the country could afford it. Finally there was the Korean war, and a whole new defense economy to plan for.

There had been other economic planning in Washington before. But mostly, economic planning in those days was done by whoever could gain President Roosevelt's ear to sell him a bill of goods on devaluing gold or plowing under little pigs.

What the then-new Council of Economic Advisors set out to do in 1947 was to spell out a coordinated economic policy for the whole United States.

Busy as bird dogs, the three-man council and its 30-man staff of experts wrote annual, semiannual and quarterly reports. They were fairly dull reading. But over the six-year period, CEA has compiled a lot of facts, figures and words on what makes the U. S. economy tick, where it's been and where it's going.

It is impossible to review all the recommendations made by the council here, or to tell what happened to them. Leon Keyserling, who resigned recently as chairman of CEA, lists three major economic issues of the period as a fair basis on which to judge the worth of the Full Employment Act and CEA idea.

First was the threat of recession in 1949. Many people thought it would lead to a depression. Labor leaders advised that the government increase spending. Business leaders advised that government cut taxes, approve wage cuts and layoffs to reduce full employment, which was considered inflationary.

CEA, in its mid-1949 report, said the recession would be of short and shallow duration and that none of the above extreme measures should be taken. CEA recommended no increase in public works spending, no cuts in taxes and full business expansion.

Now nobody claims this CEA recommendation was the sole conditioning factor. But by early 1950—before Korea—there was recovery beyond the 1949 boom.

When the Korean war broke out, the big question became how much defense spending could the U. S. economy stand?

In 1949-50, the argument had been over whether the U. S. could afford a $12,000,000,000 or $13,000,000,000 defense budget. In 1950 after fighting in Korea began, there was much talk that U. S. domestic economy would have to be cut back sharply to meet a larger program.

CEA then took the position that the U. S. economy had the power to take care of defense needs and at the same time maintain a higher level of civilian consumption. This stand was regarded as ludicrous at the time. But even with adjustment for higher prices, it now can be shown that the U. S. economy of 1950 and 1951 has expanded beyond 1950-51 levels.

The third big economic issue arose over the question of inflation. One school of thought was that, at the beginning of the Korean war, everything should be frozen—wages, prices, manpower, materials.

Sticking to a belief in the need for constant expansion of American industry, CEA opposed the freeze and advocated a faster build-up of production so as to meet defense needs without controls. This line was followed in part by Congress, but not wholly.

The result of the fair balance attempted has been that since the beginning of 1952, most of the growth in the U. S. economy has not been in defense, but in civilian production. And the recession which was then predicted by some for early 1953 now has been pushed back to 1954.

These are the highlights of what President Eisenhower must base his decision on whether he wants to continue CEA—or try to let one man do the job.

So They Say

There's no question about it, more women have become bald in the last 25 years than formerly was the case.

—Dermatologist Dr. Charles Pabst.

We Democrats are going to cooperate with (President) Eisenhower in every way possible in the best interest of our country.

—Rep. John McCormack.

There are large numbers of unlucky women who still need husbands and maybe my (scholar) bill would score up some of them.

Orderly marketing will avoid any drastic price cuts and will allow retail prices to reflect the downward trend in live cattle prices.

each one considering possibilities. "Should we take a vote?" asked Ish.

"Whatnot?" said George. "Again there was a pause."

"We can run him out," said Ezra. "or . . . the other. We can't imprison him, and what else is there?"

Then Em faced the issue squarely. "We can vote Banishment, or we can vote Death."

There was plenty of paper in the living room desk. The children enjoyed drawing pictures on it. After a little hunting around, a sheet of four pencils, Ish tore a located of paper into four small balls, kept one himself, and gave one to each of the others. With four people to vote, there might of course be a tie.

Ish took his own slip of paper, and wrote a big B on it, and then paused.

He knew within the deeper reaches of his thought, that Charlie's banishment would, in all likelihood, not solve the situation. Charlie would be back; he was a strong and dangerous man. He wrote the other word.

He stopped again. No, he was torn two ways, but he could not quite scratch it. If Charlie should kill someone, that might make it easier to inflict the final penalty, and yet that was only the old conventional way of thinking. The eye for the eye, and the tooth for the tooth. To execute the murderer never brought back the murdered, and was only vengeance. To be effective, punishment should not be retribution so much as a prevention.

He suddenly came to the realization that he was sitting there silent, staring at the paper, while the other three were waiting for him. After all, his was only one vote; the others could out-vote him, and so he could have his conscience to himself and still Charlie would only be banished.

"Give me your slip," he said.

They passed them in and he laid them face up before him on the desk. Four times he looked, and he read: "Death . . . death . . . death . . . death."

Leonard Warren

CMA Slates Concert, Membership Drive

The Midland Civic Music Association will complete its current season with a concert Saturday and a membership campaign the following week.

Saturday's concert will be given by Leonard Warren, Metropolitan Opera baritone, at 8 p.m. in the Midland High School Auditorium. Currently celebrating his fifteenth anniversary at the Metropolitan, Warren, before the end of this season, will have sung his most famous role, Rigoletto, for the 100th time — the sixtieth in the New York opera house. Altogether he will have marked up a record of nearly 400 Metropolitan performances in 22 different roles.

The noted singer, called "the world's finest dramatic baritone" by many music critics, also is appearing in the Met's new production of "La Forza del Destino," "Aida," "Gloconda" and "Pagliacci."

He scored for six consecutive seasons in Buenos Aires' Teatro Colon and the Teatro Municipal in Rio de Janeiro. He is a member of the Mexico City and San Francisco Operas.

Born in New York City, Warren reached the Met through the Auditions of the Air. After six months' study in Italy, he made his debut in 1939, and rose from minor roles to dominate the company's baritone roster. He has made an extensive list of recordings for RCA Victor, and is a frequent performer on major radio and television programs.

Troop 85 Spends Weekend At Scout Camp In Mountains

Twenty-eight members of Boy Scout Troop 85 of the First Presbyterian Church, left early Saturday for an overnight camping event at the Buffalo Trails Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains near Balmeria.

The scouts were accompanied by parents Dr. John Mast, J. E. (Bud) Etherly, D. J. Dardis, Scoutmaster G. G. McNary and Assistant Scoutmaster Alan B. Leeper. They went by automobile to the campsite.

A brief stop was made at Balmeria State Park where they visited the old Fort Davis ruins and went up Mount Locke to the McDonald Observatory.

The troop was divided into patrols to explore the Scout Ranch and the new Scouts were familiarized with the area where the regular Summer camp will be held.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Osmosis

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, stopped by the Whispering River to talk with a monkey named Osmosis. Daddy Ringtail laughed to think of the funny story he was going to tell, and then he told it.

"Osmosis," he said, "once there was a monkey who went home one rainy night with an umbrella. When he got home, he put the umbrella in his bed, and stood himself in a corner."

Daddy Ringtail laughed. This was a joke, you know. But the monkey named Osmosis didn't laugh. He didn't see anything funny to laugh about. And while he was standing there, not seeing anything funny to laugh about, the Huffer Puffer, the friendly wolf, came walking along and walking by the river.

After everyone had said a "happy day," Osmosis said: "Huffer Puffer, once there was a monkey who went home one rainy night with an umbrella. When he got home, he put the umbrella in his bed, and stood himself up in the corner."

The Huffer laughed to hear this joke. He thought it was very funny indeed. Daddy Ringtail laughed to hear it again, but Osmosis didn't.

laugh-at all. He still didn't see anything funny to laugh about. He said he didn't see it.

"Now listen carefully," Daddy Ringtail explained. "The monkey put the umbrella there in bed, and he stood himself up in the corner. Daddy Ringtail laughed and the Huffer laughed all over again. Osmosis smiled not even a little.

"Is it really a funny joke?" Osmosis wanted to know.

"Indeed it is," said Daddy Ringtail.

SIDE GLANCES

"Doris says she can get you a blind date, Jim—a girl who leads the class and is captain of the debating team! Not so good, huh?"

By WESLEY DAVIS

"Yes, and yes indeed," said the Huffer.

"Why?" asked Osmosis.

"Because," Daddy Ringtail explained, "the man should have put the umbrella in the corner and gone to bed himself."

But Osmosis still didn't laugh. He still didn't see anything funny. He said he didn't. He walked away by himself to think about it.

And what can you do with a fellow like that? Nothing. Nothing at all. When somebody doesn't know how to laugh at a joke, you may as well save it to tell to someone else. That's what Daddy Ringtail did. Happy day!

LOST 50 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Here is a sensible way to help take off unguainly weight, that is not based on the rigid diet and "vitamin" plan. You eat all you want, but you eat LBS's. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you eating more than the body requires for the energy you need. At the same time it dehydrates and eliminates. Just get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate at your drugstore. Pour contents into a pint bottle or jar and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. In the improved Barcentrate carton, in addition to the liquid, you will find a supply of appetite buds which help lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Dissolve tablets on tongue as per directions on label. If the very first bottle of Barcentrate doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off unguainly weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 50 Pounds
"I think Barcentrate is a wonderful product. I have lost about 50 pounds taking it." Signed: Mrs. G. T. Hicks, 610 Whiting Ave., San Antonio, Texas.

20 Pounds Lost
"I am happy about the easy Barcentrate way to take off weight," writes Florence Schneider, 4102 Avenue O, Galveston, Texas. "I have taken off 20 pounds taking Barcentrate."

Becky Huff To Head Cast For MCT Play

Becky Huff will play the role of Joan of Arc, the martyred girl who now has become a dramatic and historical legend, in Midland Community Theater's production of the Maxwell Anderson drama, "Joan of Lorraine," to be presented at the City-County Auditorium for six performances, beginning April 30.

The role of the Maid of Orleans is one which has challenged some of the theater's greatest actresses. More than 30 plays, poems, operas, books, and motion pictures have been written about Joan of Arc. The most recent portrayal of Joan on the stage and in films was by Ingrid Bergman, who played in the Broadway production of "Joan of Lorraine" for 200 performances and more recently starred in a movie based on the martyr's life.

Other actresses who have scored personal triumphs as the maid who raised the siege of Orleans and crowned the Dauphin King of France, include Sarah Bernhardt, Eva Le Gallienne, Katherine Cornell, and Maude Adams.

In Maxwell Anderson's play the interest of the audience is centered on comparing the problems faced by Joan with the problems confronting people today, primarily the question of temporary compromise people today, primarily the question of temporary compromise with evil in order to achieve eventual good. This comparison is brought into sharp focus by presenting the struggles of a company of contemporary actors in rehearsing a play about Joan of Arc. Thus, the audience sees alternately scenes from the drama of Joan and scenes of modern people trying to understand Joan, Mrs. Huff, in addition to characterizing the dedicated and militant Joan, must characterize the somewhat bewildered actress, Mary Grey, who portrays Joan.

Similar dual responsibilities are assumed by other members of the cast. James P. Fanning in the part of Jimmy Masters, the stage director, as well as the inquisitor who condemns Joan to death, is Anderson's spokesman in setting forth the ethical problem and in suggesting a solution. Arthur Nations as the Dauphin who became King Charles VII of France points up the dramatic conflict between Joan's holy purpose and the weak vessel whom she is directed to exalt.

Others who help or hinder Joan on her mission are de Tremolle,

William S. Key, Jr.; Dunois, David Jameson; the Archbishop of Rheims, Robert L. Traveck; Jacques d'Arc, William L. Adam; Pierre d'Arc, Bruce Vincent; Jean d'Arc, Bill Robitsek; St. Michael, Dave Collis; St. Catherine, Sarah Ward Connolly; St. Margaret, Alice Swift; Jean de Metz, William A. Heck; La Hire, Claude E. Neely; Alain Chartier, Charles Dixon; Father Massieu, R. A. Connolly; Thomas de Courcelles, Walt Sharpe; Durand Laxart, Dick Cappel; Al, the stage manager, Bill Shaner; Tessie, the assistant stage manager, Billy Boultinghouse; Marie, the costumer, Joan F. Edwards, and Garder, the electrician, Randall Gibson.

Midlanders Attend State Meet

Mrs. L. M. McMath, Mrs. Frank Hayford, Mrs. William Y. Penn and Mrs. Cal Boykin, Jr., have returned to Midland from Austin, where they attended the biennial President's Council of the Texas League of Women Voters.

Mrs. McMath is president of the Midland League of Women Voters and Mrs. Penn is a member of the state board.

Leaders from 40 Texas leagues attended the council, with Mrs. L. K. Richards of Waco, state president, presiding.

A highlight of the sessions was an address by Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., national league president. She stressed that by helping to destroy confusion, the league can assist in the creation of "a climate in which integrity and high principles can become fact and no longer assessed as 'platitudes'."

Other featured addresses were by Curtis Morris, a member of the board of directors of the Texas Research League; Mrs. Kilman, a former state league president, and Mrs. Penn.

VISITS IN MIDLAND
Mrs. M. B. Webb of Ballinger is visiting Virgie Webb, 309 West Pennsylvania Street, and other Midland relatives and friends.

Although it has been believed that snakes move their ribs to produce locomotion, x-ray moving pictures show that the ribs are stationary at all times.

FASHIONABLE MIDLANDER—Mrs. R. C. Russell, 701 North Pecos Street, was attractive in a linen suit when she attended the Druggist's Wives Club luncheon Wednesday in the Diamond Horseshoe. Her cocoa colored linen suit has tangerine accents. She wears it with a cocoa straw hat and blond straw and gold bag and shoes.

DEFEAT and VICTORY

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories—and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million churches bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for All Men eternal life—at the price of His Own Blood!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A special program is being arranged for the ladies night function, which is expected to attract a capacity crowd from Midland and neighboring cities.

Frank Stubbeman, Midland attorney and a past president of the club, will be the master-of-ceremonies. Awards will be presented to the club's charter members and to other distinguished Lions.

The winner of the club's talent contest, to be selected this week, will be presented at the anniversary celebration.

The dinner-meeting, which will supplant the regular luncheon April 8, is scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

ODESSANS HERE

Mrs. R. C. Rogers, Mrs. Ted Hargroves and son, Mike, were in the city Friday from Odessa.

First Presbyterians Open Easter Services Sunday

Passion Week services open Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. David M. Currie of Richmond, Va., as the guest minister.

The pre-Easter worship services, which will continue daily through Friday, are sponsored by the First and Westminster Presbyterian Churches. Dr. R. Matthew Lynn is pastor of the First Church, and the Rev. Flynn V. Long, Jr., is pastor of the Westminster congregation.

Mr. Currie, director of the Department of Campus Christian Life for the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., is one of the leading ministers of that church. A native Texan, he held pastorates at Freeport and Austin before assuming his present position. He has traveled extensively in Europe, the Near East and India during the last several years.

Sunday Services
Sunday morning, at 9:30 and 11 o'clock, in the First Church, Mr. Currie will speak on the subject "Good News," and at 6:30 p.m., his subject will be "Mr. One Thousand." The Westminster Church will hold its usual morning worship service in the auditorium of the Lamar Elementary School, and at 3:30 p.m., its choir will present a service of worship, using the cantata, "Olivet to Calvary."

Beginning Monday, three services daily are scheduled through Friday in the First Church. A Bible study for men and business women will be held at 7 a.m., followed by a service for women at 9:30 a.m. Worship services will be held at 1:00 p.m. daily.

The morning Bible studies will be based on "The Letter of the Apostle Paul to the Ephesians."

Doughnuts, coffee and good fellowship will feature the morning services.

The public is invited to attend the various services.

Mr. Currie's weekday sermon topics at the 7:30 p.m. services are: Monday, "Tools for Weekdays;" Tuesday, "The Love of God;" Wednesday, "Salvation Through Repentance;" Thursday, "No Longer Babies;" Friday, "That They Also May Be One."

Easter Sunday Schedule
The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Thursday night service.

On Easter Sunday, Dr. Lynn will speak on "Christian Hope" at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services in the First Church. Mr. Long will speak on "The Living Christ" at the Westminster Church.

At 6:30 p.m. Easter Sunday, the First, St. Andrews and Westminster Churches will join in a service at the First Church, led by the Rev. T. Henry Stafford, assistant pastor of the First Church, whose subject will be "Famine of the World." The Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet is the pastor of the St. Andrews Church, which held its Pre-Easter services last week.

A delegation of Midland Rotarians is expected to attend the Seagraves function.

Max Cooper of Midland, also attended.

Emily Post's TELEPHONE TIPS

A housewife writes: "If I make a long distance call from a friend's home, I expect to pay for it. What is the proper way to handle this payment?"

The best way, I think, is to ask the operator for the charges when you place the call. Then immediately after your conversation, when the operator gives you the cost—settle your debt with your host or hostess. Letting such an obligation go until later may often prove embarrassing—both to you, if it slips your mind, and to your host, if he must remind you.

A correspondent says: "Mrs. Post, I'm very annoyed with the eavesdropping and interruptions on my party line. Do you think 'Listening In' is ever excusable?"

No! Eavesdropping is a petty way of peering into others' lives and is never excusable. Your reference to interruptions, however, interests me. Perhaps your party line neighbors feel that you are monopolizing the line. If you are, try making your calls briefer and space them to give others a chance. You'll probably find your whole situation improves.

A request in the mail: "Will you please remind your readers that it's wise to give the person they're calling ample time to answer?"

Yes, one of the best telephone habits one can develop is waiting a full minute before concluding that the called person is not in. That way, you give those you call every chance to answer even though they might be some distance from their telephone or occupied with a task they can't drop immediately.

TELEVISION and MIDLAND!

How To Select YOUR Set!

The television set you buy from your reputable established dealer, thanks to the finest electronics engineering and a traditional American eye for home styling, will provide you with the smartest combination of efficiency and design to give you good TV service for years to come.

HOW WILL MY SET LOOK?

You can just about write your own ticket as to what the exterior of your set will look like. Manufacturers have utilized every pattern . . . period, modern, colonial . . . in fashioning TV set cabinets. You'll find every type of wood and finish . . . mahogany, walnut, cherry, blond . . . awaiting your selection.

1953 model television sets are available in console models that may include standard radio broadcast receivers and record players. Some table models have companion tables designed expressly for the cabinet. Your dealer can help you match your new set with your furniture.

WHAT ABOUT PERFORMANCE?

There, too, you can write your own ticket, because today's TV sets have been built to meet the requirements of the most demanding viewers. You will have the advantage of every bit of experience gained by TV manufacturers.

Screen sizes vary from 17 to 27 inches in most commercial models. The current trend is toward the 21-inch screen, which seems to fit the needs of most homes. Your established dealer can tell you which size will fit your needs.

Remember, first of all, that until Midland has its own television station, reception from stations in Lubbock will provide good images only a small percent of the time, until such time as these stations are transmitting from their permanent installations—which should be in the near future.

WILL IT RECEIVE UHF?

Of course, you will want to make certain that the set you buy either receives UHF (ultra high frequency) as well as VHF (very high frequency) telecasts, or, can be converted to receive UHF easily and at reasonable cost.

Lubbock stations transmit to VHF channels. Midland has been granted a permit for a station to operate on VHF and this station is expected to begin telecasting the latter part of this year.

BE SURE OF SERVICE?

Television set owners unanimously agree: good TV service facilities are essential. While television is comparatively new, good performance and efficiency can be provided by qualified personnel.

Your established television set dealer has a service department, manned by personnel trained to meet factory requirements, or has connections with a service department that meets these requirements. These service people know how to diagnose TV imperfections and what to do about them.

In most cases, your established television set dealer has operated a radio service department for many years and provides the same assurance of dependability that he gives his radio service customers.

Be sure the firm which sells you your new TV set can provide a reliable service warranty. Your established TV set dealer is equipped to do this.

If you have a question about television, ask one of the dealers listed below. He'll be pleased to explain.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUNDAY, MARCH 29, 1953-15

Bulldog Editorial

The old adage, "A man is only as good as his word," is one that we should apply to our everyday lives. Our parents set examples of this when we were young. When they promised to take us to the circus, they did everything in their power to make that promise a reality.

Promises sometimes are broken and forgotten as easily as they are made. You see examples of this in a classroom every day. "Oh, I promise I won't talk out in class this next six weeks if you will raise my citizenship grade so I can be on the honor roll." But after a few days, that promise is often entirely forgotten.

A promise is not just saying "I promise." Any time you say "I'll be glad to help," or "Sure, I'll be there," you are giving your word. You are making a promise. Do you always deliver on your promises?—Mary Jane Miller.

Band Performs Nautical (But Nice) Contest Skit

The MHS Band did exceptionally well on its concert at the Highlander Festival in Dallas last weekend. No ratings were given but the band received many favorable comments on their performance.

The band played three numbers, "The Band," "Mad Major" and "An America Folk Rhapsody."

Four bands presented special marching routines Friday night. Midland was one of the bands to perform. They entered the field

Six SC Members Attend State-Wide Parley In Lubbock

On March 24, Midland sent off six of its Student Council members to Lubbock to attend the Texas Association of Student Councils. The representatives were Virginia Kroschell and Robert Stubbeman, who were in charge of a discussion group; John Petty and Jimmy Mashburn, who had charge of the certification of all applications of nominees for officers; and Ardith Campbell and Glenda Cobb, Dean Jack Mashburn and Miss Dorothy Perkins took the group to Lubbock.

In the Student Council meeting March 24, the dates for elections were scheduled. Cheerleader tryouts will be held April 22, and the election will be April 24. A new rule was decided upon: that no campaign posters may be put up more than a week in advance of the election.

The nominees for Student Council president and vice president will be held May 7 and elections will be May 8.

Mrs. J. J. Black, who has been giving a course in parliamentary procedure, was present at the meeting Tuesday.

32 Choirs Assemble For Interscholastic Music Meeting Here

Thirty-two high school and junior high school choirs from many parts of West Texas met together Saturday in Midland for the annual Interscholastic League Meet of 1953.

Acting as host, Midland was represented by two groups: the A-Cappella choir singing "O Sing Unto the Lord" by Hassler, "Salutation to the Dawn" by Mueller, and "Climb Up, Ye Chillum, Climb" by Howarth; and the girls' chorus singing "Bow Down Thine Ear, O Lord," "O Wind, Blow Ye Softly," and "Greetings."

These choirs, 16 of which were mixed voices and the remainder girls' or boys' choruses, were judged alike upon their stage performance and sight reading.

After a busy all-day session lasting from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., many a group could be seen making their way home once more—holding up weary heads in one hand and criticism sheets in the other.

Rehearsals for the Senior Class play "You Can't Take It With You" were begun last Monday afternoon. The play will be presented sometime in April. The entire student body should make plans now to attend.

Congratulations go to Mr. Charles F. Mathews for his recent advancement in the teaching profession. Mr. Mathews is to be superintendent of schools at Plainview.

Pages from the Student Council Scrapbook are being exhibited in the showcase which is located next to the administration offices. The illustrations were drawn and painted by Elaine Conger.

The results of the Texas Association of Student Councils recent meeting and election will be printed next week.

Royce Measures and Wesley Pittman are the Kulturites of the week, because of their achievements in debate and other speech activities. Royce and Wesley showed their mettle as debaters when they fought their way to the quarter finals of the recent Baylor-Waco Speech Tournament.

Royce and Wesley probably will fly the Bulldog Banner at the State Forensic Meet on May 15.

For the benefit of you who are unsure as to what color the new drapes in the cafeteria are, they are coral.

The book of the week is "Birds of America" by J. J. Audubon. It may seem juvenile to advanced art students and Kulturites; however, the principle idea is to let the others catch up with you.

VIA THE GRAPEVINE

By BETTY BOLTON and NELL CURRAN

Betty Pigford had a get-together over at her house last week. We understand all the girls attending had a real swell time.

John Blackman had a stag party Saturday night; by the way everyone talks and the things we have heard, the place was really jumping.

Many familiar faces were seen out at the carnival last week. Everyone had real much fun and the rides were enjoyed by all, well almost all; it seems some of our brave old MHSers can't take that high altitude.

Something new has been added, or should we say quite a few things. First is the peroxidized hair. A few of these blond people are Jimmy Hicks, J. T. Grisest, Clyde McKandies, Walt Chambers, Gwyn Grisham, Ken Shrum, Don Evans and Jerry Ball. The something else is the black hair being sported by Jack Harris, "Hoss" Stringer and Wayne Cooper.

We are sorry to report that Sadie Nugent's mother is in the hospital. But Sadie's faithful buddy Grace Boles is keeping her company. But be careful girls of what you eat, you know we would hate for you to be poisoned by your own cooking.

James Reagan is now the proud owner of a little tan Chevrolet; he calls it the "little tan jet." We think it is real pretty James, but you are going to burn it up if you don't quit burning holes in its top.

Congratulations to Anna Bess Doyle who is in the National Association of Rudimental Drummers. We are real proud of you Bessie. Also we would like to give our congratulations to our whole drumming section who was voted the all festival drum section of the Highlander Festival in Dallas last weekend.

Last Sunday night after she got back from Dallas, Anna Bess was seen in the show in Odessa with Fred Lovelace, who goes to school at Fort Lewis Junior College in Durango, Colo. Some of you probably remember him when he was here Christmas. By the way, that was really a good show. The name of it was, "Come Back Little Sheba."

The Student Council had its annual convention in Lubbock this weekend. Midland was running for president of the Texas Association of Student Council.

Apologies to the KCRS staff for Jane and Carol's mistake about their request program. Bob is really a good guy, and we want to make it clear that his request program comes on KCRS from 11 to 12, not KJBC.

Plans were being made for a trip to Balmorhea to go swimming Saturday or Sunday. At last reports, nobody had a ride though.

Speaking of swimming, here is a little something we were ordered to put in here about some boys who were swimming last Sunday.

I agree to go in swimming on March 21, 1953, at Double Mills tank at 4:17 p.m. A. D.

(Signed) Larry Clark, James Claiborne, Buddy McDonald, Jackie Reinhardt.

"I hereby witness this writing."

Snookie Roberts, witness.

If you happened to pass the Youth Center last Sunday afternoon between 3:30 and 6 and saw a bunch of boys sitting out by the side door, they weren't planning a bank robbery, it was just a NATO meeting.

NATO stands for North American Thugs Organization.

Mary Jane Miller, Al Cole, Bo Buchanan and John Midkiff went to Andrews Sunday to see the call roping which E. P. Birkhead rode in.

If you happen to be walking around the boys RE class sixth period and see an odd sight, chances are it will be Paul Davis and his pedal-pushers. He and Bob Proctor also have some cute low-top tennis shoes.

Clinton Noble, Darrell Spivey and Paul Davis went fishing in Christoval last weekend. While on the subject of fishing, seems Larry Friday, "Red" Cast and Calvin Hancock went fishing last weekend, too. They had some difficulty, though; their motor burned up. Larry was elected to hitchhike home and Tuesday afternoon "Red" and Calvin were still fishing.

Congratulations to the volleyball team for winning both games from Seminole Tuesday night. It was their last home game of the season. Next Tuesday night they play Big Spring at Big Spring in the last game of the season.

The Andrews rodeo is not going to be held until April, but there are already a few entries that we know of: Scotty Gray and Jerry Yocham are entering the bull riding.

Tuesday at dinner the Optimists had a luncheon for the boxing teams of this year and last year. The boys were awarded their trophies and little Golden Gloves for each boy who fought.

Friday night the Youth Center was cleared out a little bit as everyone went over to Barbara Cline's for a party. At one time there must have been 30 or 40 people there. It really was a lot of fun.

Jerry Hancock, Earlene Hancock's little brother, was home from Schreiner Institute in Kerrville last weekend.

Rose Tindal and Pat Walker went to Alpine last weekend and Ray Miles went to Abilene.

Many fillions of kids were seen in Odessa Wednesday night when "Little" Jimmy Dickens, a cowboy singing star, and his traveling show with Ray Price and Del Woods came there.

The volleyball team is missing one of its better players as Jackie Gibbs moved back to Sundown. Everyone really does miss her.

James Johnson had a little stag party over at his house last week. Seems Jimmy was celebrating the fact that he is now draft bait.

We got out of school at 2:30 Wednesday and a Bulldog Stomp was held at the YC.

Last Saturday there were a lot of kids from other towns here for an A Cappella contest. We should really be proud of our A Cappella Choir as they got practically all first ratings.

Miss Storey has left her teaching job and Mrs. Wilson is taking over her art classes. Mrs. Kiker, a new substitute teacher, has taken over Miss Storey's geometry classes and some of Mrs. Wilson's PE classes.

Ann Ashby is home from school for Spring vacation. She goes to school at Mount Vernon Seminary in Washington, D. C.

Have you seen all the polka dotted hats wandering around school lately? They have all sorts of names on the front and the back side. They were acquired at the carnival.

expecting a sweet, innocent cherub. However, after this, the family, previously accustomed to peace and quiet, was thrown into a round of activities which still are happening! Brown hair, brown eyes, and measuring five feet four inches in height she never runs down. Swimming, talking, playing the piano, and dancing are her favorite hobbies next to chewing gum, that is!

Miss Mystery, an active senior, moved here in May of last year from Seagraves. You see her often at the Youth Center—especially at noon, when she helps Myrt with the concessions.

Being a former majorette in the Seagraves High School band, this student still "practices and prances" much of her spare time. Never keeping still, she is always ready for a party, and always ready to laugh.

If you want to guess this little miss, just connect the eyes and smile with that of a very well-known senior and you will have the answer!

One year ago Miss Gordon's senior English classes wrote letters of application for a job as a class assignment. Sounds like that was a lot of nothing for work.

Betty Campbell kept the senior play from folding when she took Martha Stone's leading part one day before the play was to be presented. The whole was a success and Betty did the whole thing without using the script.

Several high school students competed in an Interscholastic League Literary contest that was held in Lubbock.

A few student council members attended the State Student Council Convention in Corpus Christi. They even carried a small band rubber.

THE WALK
They walked the lane together.
The sky was covered with stars;
They reached the gate in silence.
He lifted down the bars,
She neither smiled nor thanked him.
Because she knew not how;
For he was just farmer boy,
And she—a Jersey cow.

Odessa baseball teams seem to have a knack for coming from behind and winning over Midland teams in the final innings. The Bronchos stuck to the rule March 19, when they emerged from a 4-3 deficit to win, 5-4. Last season in the Longhorn League the Odessians won more games from the Odessians than we wish to remember by one run. Now the Bronchos seem to be following in their footsteps.

Snookie Roberts started on the mound for Midland and yielded only one hit in the first three innings and was charged with the loss, giving up two hits.

the Bulldogs. The district schedule begins April 7 with Odessa here.

The Midland tracksters had a batch of hard luck last week at the West Texas Relays and only managed to garner five points. In the preliminaries, Friday, mainstay Robert Kinsley suffered a muscle injury and was scratched from the 180-yard low, and the 120-yard high hurdles finals Saturday. He did, however, compete in the mile relay finals but was handicapped by the injury and slowed down. The officials would not let Midland use a replacement. The mileers did, however, gain a third place when Ray Kinsley put on a burst of speed and almost overtook the Amarillo runner, but the pace was too great and he dropped behind to third at the finish. Kinsley's time for the quarter was 51.7, best of the lot. The mile relay team was composed of Kinsley, Kelling, Dale Jobe, and Roddy Braun. Also in the final Saturday, Midland's 800-yard relay team of Hicks, Watson, Mims and Kinsley, finished third behind Pampa and Amarillo. Roddy Braun qualified for the 100-yard dash but finished fifth. Midland's other point came Friday when Larry Palmer tied for third in the pole-vault at 10' 6".

In Friday's preliminaries both the mile relay team and the 400-yard relay team set meet records but the 440-yarders were disqualified for allegedly passing the baton too late. The time of the former was 3:38.4 and the latter 43.2.

The meet was won by Amarillo with 29 1/2 points, with Odessa second with 19 1/2 points.

The Midland High golfers also had a hard time of it in the golf division of the West Texas Relays. The Bulldogs finished eighth as Amarillo also won the golf championship. Midland individual scores were: Marcelino Moreno, 158; Lee Sneed, 164; Wade Leggett, 180; and Dickie McFarquhar, 184. The golfers accompanied the tracksters Saturday to the Brownwood Bluebonnet Relays.

The MHS netters got back on their winning ways after losing to Crane (Boys), March 17, 5-4. March 19 the team walloped the Andrews Mustangs 9-3. The three losses were suffered by the boys as the girls swept their six-match slate.

The following Saturday the Midland girls also swept a six-match meeting with the Crane girls for a perfect record the last few weeks.

Four Drummers Join National Association

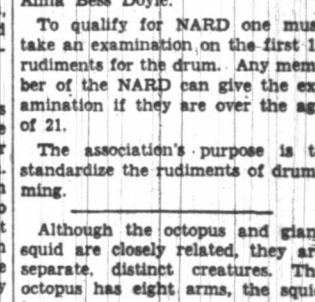

Four Midland drummers were named to the National Association of Rudimental Drummers. Those qualifying were Phillip McFadden, Janice Michener, Larry Pierce and Anna Bess Doyle.

To qualify for NARD one must take an examination on the first 13 rudiments for the drum. Any member of the NARD can give the examination if they are over the age of 21.

The association's purpose is to standardize the rudiments of drumming.

Although the octopus and giant squid are closely related, they are separate, distinct creatures. The octopus has eight arms, the squid ten.
