The following story, written by Moses Osborn, appeared in The Optimist, ACC newspaper, last week about David's recent winnings:

"Some babies were born with silver spoons in their mouths, but David Dallas was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dallas of Cross Plains on March 6, 1937, with a camera in his hand.

"The school photographer, whose works recently were judged 'second' in the state competition at the annual convention of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association, has gained the respect of the campus, who know him as being a master with his camera.

"Dallas' pride in turning out top quality work stems from the long tradition which his family, who boasts three other photographers, has set for him to follow.

"Next to his wife, Buena, David's most prized possession is his new Swedish camera, which set the Dallas' budget back $400.

"David's studio has turned out literally thousands of prints since he came to ACC. Orders for pictures for club and class banquets still trail behind demands from all over the world for pictures of Bobby Morrow, Grinning his sheepish grin, Dallas said. Kids go for these pictures just like flies go for watermelon."

"David's plans for the future are to, first, pay for his camera, and then, after graduation, go into business for himself."

Kizer Telephone Co. Donates $25 to Fire Dept.

Ira Hall, Chief of the Cross Plains Volunteer Fire Department, asked The Review to convey the department's thanks to the Kizer Telephone Company for a donation of $25, given this week in appreciation of the splendid work rendered by the local firemen in confining the fire in the Moon building to the one structure.

Here is a letter from the company, received by Chief Hall:

May 12, 1958.
Fire Department,
Cross Plains, Texas.

Dear Sir:
We wish to express our thanks and comment upon the good work done by you, May 7, 1958, in confining the fire to the one building in Cross Plains, Texas.

While all fires are regrettable, in this instance are thankful the telephone building and its contents were not seriously damaged. It is evident from looking at the results that the firemen did a remarkable job, and because they did, the telephone service in Cross Plains was not seriously affected.

In our sincerest manner, we wish to thank you again, and enclose this check, which is but a small token of our appreciation.

Rain Totals 1.17 Here

Slow, soaking rains began falling in this area about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and a gauge at 7 a. m. showed .85. Skies remained partly cloudy throughout the day and rain fell again during the early morning hours Wednesday. Intermittent showers continued to fall throughout the day Wednesday, and a gauge at 3 p. m. measured .32, for a two-day total of 1.17, bringing the total for the month up to 2.12 inches.

Rain and a heavy, damaging hail storm fell over a large area north of town last Saturday afternoon, with hailstones as large as baseballs falling over the area. Considerable damage to crops and roofs has been reported in the Atwell and Sabanno communities.

As The Review goes to press skies remain heavily overcast and showers continue to fall intermittently.

3 Hurt In Truck-Car Crash Sunday Night

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. (Marvin) Bell of Coleman and "Jap" Kent of this city were injured in a truck-car head-on collision on Highway 36, eight miles east of Cross Plains Sunday night about 10:30. The accident occurred where the Williams farm-to-market road connects with Highway 36, in front of the Bernal Hickman place.

Mrs. Bell was believed to be the most seriously injured of the three passengers in the car. She was carried to Hendrick Memorial Hospital suffering from head injuries, a broken leg and collarbone. Mr. Bell was carried to the Overall Hospital in Coleman, and, according to reports received here Tuesday, was recovering satisfactorily from head injuries. Kent has been a patient in the Rising Star Hospital since the accident, suffering from cuts and bruises.

The driver of the truck, a negro, was reported to have been uninjured.

Damage to the truck was heavy and the 1956 Ford was a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell are former residents of Cross Plains, having made their home here while he was employed by Woodson Producing Company of Dallas. He is at present a tool pusher for Moab Drilling Company of Moab, Utah, working out of Coleman.

Mrs. Isidore Elrod, 73, Buried at Pioneer

Mrs. Isidore Elrod, 73, was laid to final rest in the Pioneer Cemetery Saturday, May 10, following services at the Pioneer Baptist Church at 3 p. m.

Rev. V. D. Walters, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, officiated.

Mrs. Elrod passed away Friday, May 9, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Kirkham, following a long illness.

A native Texan, Mrs. Elrod was born June 16, 1884. She was married to T. W. Elrod in 1911 at Cross Plains, who preceded her in death several years. She had lived in the Cross Plains area for 70 years.

Survivors include her daughter; one son, J. C. Elrod of Electra, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Nephews served as pallbearers with Higginbotham Bros. Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

PHILOSOPHER WANTS SCIENTISTS TO TURN TO LEAKY FAUCETS, DENT-PROOF CARS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou assigns the scientific mind some old problems, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I know everybody is supposed to be concentrating all his efforts these days on keeping up with Russia in guided missiles and space exploration, but the way I see it, even if we make a landing on the moon and open up a lot more planets for occupation, somebody is going to have to stay on this earth, and I've been thinking.

We don't want to get so busy we neglect life around here, and I would like to propose a few problems for the scientific minds to tackle.

For example, up to now, the scientific mind, with all its vast accomplishments, has never been able to permanently stop a leaky faucet. They can stop one from leaking temporarily, but sooner or later it'll start leaking again. What I'd like to propose to the world of science is a rubber washer that'll last a lifetime, or else throw out the whole washer idea and invent a hydrant that works without one.

Also, while I have given up expecting the automobile industry to community netted $590.50, to be used to finance the operation of the program this summer.

Parade Is Stated

The baseball program will get under way in a big way next Tuesday evening with a parade at 5 o'clock, when the players in uniform, together with their managers and sponsors, will march from the Sam Balkum Service Station on Highway 36 to the High School football field.

The four teams will play during the evening, with the first game scheduled to get under way at 6:30. Citizens are urged to turn out and see the parade and join the players at the field afterwards, when Little League mothers will sell hot dogs, sandwiches, popcorn and cold drinks before the games get under way. Join your friends and neighbors at supper there and see the first games of the season.

Following is the list of team names, sponsors, managers and assistants:

The "Cats," sponsored by Higginbotham's and Citizens State Bank; managed by Bill Pope and assisted by Edwin Baum.

The "Truckers," sponsored by Dan Johnston and managed by O. B. Edmondson and J. P. McCord.

The "Pill-Rollers," sponsored by the City Drug Store, with Bob Latson and Sam Balkum managing.

The "Buffs," sponsored by the Quarterback Club and managed by John Pruet and Johnny Adair.

Little League Player Agent Gwynn Elliott and Bill Pope have asked that all boys aged 13, 14 and 15 years who are interested in the organization of a Pony League meet in the high school study hall Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Elliott states that a number of boys in this age group have expressed their desire to organize a league and says that not only boys in Cross Plains but in the surrounding communities are asked to be present if they are interested in playing ball.

Cecil White Wins First In District FFA Contest

Cecil White, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. White of Burkett and a Sophomore student in the local High School, represented the Cross Plains FFA Chapter in the District FFA public speaking contest held at Abilene Monday of this week, and won first place and the right to represent the district in the area contest to be held at Tarleton State College in Stephenville Saturday of this week.

The area meeting will get under way Friday night with the annual banquet, and White and Larry McAnally will accompany O. B. Edmondson to Stephenville for that affair, as delegates of the local chapter.

Area competition will take place Saturday, when White will vie with other district winners in the public speaking contest.

Miss Sidney McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McClure of this community, who recently won the contest at District FFA Sweetheart, will also attend the meeting Saturday, where she will compete for the title of Area Sweetheart.

Roy Rhoads, Larry McAnally and Roland Jones, local FFA members, will be reviewed on their applications for Lone Star Farmer Degrees at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Flahie and Ginger Ann and Olan Adams of Fort Worth and B. M. Adams of Big Spring visited in the home of their father, Gene Adams, over the week end.

build a car that'll last a lifetime, if I was in the business I wouldn't be interested either, you don't catch me urging anybody to invent a cow that'll supply meat to one family forever, still I would like to see the scientific mind perfect a tail pipe that'll last at least four years, certainly longer than one or two.

Another thing the scientific mind ought to be turning its attention to is a wrinkle-proof car fender. If they can do it with shirts and pants, why can't they do it with car fenders?

I could go on listing a lot of other things, but you are as familiar with them as I am. I'm in favor of the schools turning out more scientists, but not just scientists to work on satellites and guided missiles. What we need is a great body of scientific brains tackling the every-day problems.

I still contend there's nothing more ridiculous than a space scientist, just after launching a satellite, having to come home to a leaky faucet and a bill for straightening out a car fender his wife has just dented because somebody apparently narrowed the garage door during the night.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CARD OF THANKS

Words are inadequate to express my thanks to all the fine people of Cross Plains who remembered me in so many ways while I was a patient in the hospital at Dallas and since my return home. It was your thoughtfulness that made the long hours more pleasant, and I am convinced that the finest people in the world live in our town.

LLOYD BRYAN.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this means of expressing our deep appreciation to the many friends who were so sympathetic during our recent sorrow. Your cards, flowers and visits were appreciated more than words can express. May God reward you for your kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conn and Buford.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

I would like to thank the many friends who remembered me with cards, flowers, visits and gifts since I have been a patient in the Rising Star Hospital. Your thoughtfulness has made the long days more pleasant and I want each of you to know that I appreciate it more than words can express.

Mrs. B. C. McCowen.

CARD OF THANKS

We are grateful for the many friends who remembered Mr. Dawson with cards and letters during his stay in the hospital and also want to thank everyone for all the nice things they did for Mrs. Dawson while he was away. May you be richly blessed for your kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dawson.

Once in a while someone catches a gasper gou on an artificial lure. Usually such catches are within the range of a pound or two.

But there are exceptions! For instance: A few days ago Billy Disch, Jr., of Austin and his wife were fishing for white bass on Lake Buchanan in Central Texas. They had a pretty good string of whites, taken while trolling and jigging.

They were using Dixie Jet lures with two hooks snipped off, just to make the fishing more interesting. Mrs. Disch was using a Mitchell 300 with 6-pound test line. Suddenly she thought she snagged a log. But, it started up and she began yelling for help.

Billy was manning the motor and their daughter was sitting in the middle of the boat. So the Mrs. just had to land the fish. After a 10-minute play she boated a big old gasper. It weighed 14 pounds after it was gutted! Some catch.

HE TELLS HOW—Recently a friend of mine spent a half-day fishing with Dave Hawk, maker of the famous Pico perch. Hawk has just published a book about bass fishing. The guy has some very definite ideas on the subject. Some of them you are inclined to argue about. However, when a man is good you've got to admit he may also be right.

Hawk takes very positive positions about certain things. For instance, he says that using a bead-ed chain snap swivel on a lure is like tying a log chain to it. Also he likes to fish with a black line. He thinks it is about the only thing that will catch a fish. As to rods, Hawk announces just as strongly against a rod longer than five feet. He says they are like buggy whips.

All this reminds us of the story about the mule trainer who was called in to "move" a balky mule. First thing he did was to pick up a 2x4 and gave the mule a powerful whack on the head. He said the first thing you had to do was to get the mule's attention. He did. And it moved.

Well, after Hawk gets a little riled up and you are paying full attention to what he says he gives some sound advice for catching bass.

For instance what he says about using a leader from 15 to 20 feet long makes a lot of sense. By using the long leader, when you get a fighting fish close to the boat the connection between line and leader already has been wound on the reel. If anything breaks it's the leader, not the knot. And that is less likely to happen.

BOOK OF MAMMALS—Anyone interested in wildlife will appreciate the Palmer's Fieldbook of Mammals, just released by E. P. Dutton. This book has illustrations of more than 300 mammals of the world, both wild and domestic. The author is Dr. E. Laurence

Puzzle Answers Appear on Back Page of This Edition

Palmer, professor emeritus of Nature, Science and Conservation Education of Cornell University.

This is a concise, popularly priced, pocket size field book of the mammals of America. It has been arranged for practical use on field trips. It contains diagrams of tracks, teeth, skulls and other aids to identification. It is an especially valuable book for Boy and Girl Scouts, and teachers who take classes afield. Dr. Palmer has been a member of the Boy Scout national council for 36 years.

IT'S TARPON TIME—Look to the salt water now for some of the big fish stories of the year. The migration of bill fish is under way. Tarpon and sail fish will be caught almost daily along the Texas coast. They have moved up from the warm waters of Mexico.

This year it looks like they will be plentiful. Last year at the Tampico rodeo only a dozen tarpon were landed. This year 200 were brought in. A good indication that there'll be a big crop reaching Texas shores.

Better make arrangements to enter one of the coastal rodeos this summer. If you don't get a tarpon or sail fish you'll get enough king mackerel to fill the ice chest.

LEGAL LIMITS—There is a mild argument going on along the Texas coast about creel limits on salt water fish. Some people, mostly business men, are afraid fishermen may deplete the supply.

On the other hand biologists say that normal fishing never will clean out the fish supply of either the bays or the Gulf. They say pollution can, however. Unscrupulous netters also can play havoc with the fish population.

Night fishing also has come in for considerable discussion. There seems to be no complaint about the man who takes a Coleman lantern onto the water and catches a nice mess of trout. However, there is criticism of the man who takes a portable light plant down the lagoon, fills a couple of boats with trout and then peddles them.

Anyway the matter now is under study by the Valley Sportsmen's Club and in time perhaps some recommendation will be made.

NOVEL LURE—Ever talk to a fisherman who couldn't tell you something you'd never heard before?

We have yet to find a fisherman anywhere who couldn't tell us about some new product or some old trick we'd never heard about.

Up here on Lake Travis a few diversionists are having fun with an Alkaseltzer lure. Ever hear of

DID YOU KNOW

That the Sabbath was made for man, and that Christ is the Lord of the Sabbath? Mark 2:27, 28.

That the seventh day (Saturday) is the weekly Sabbath day? Heb. 4:4 to 9.

That Monday, May 26th is Pentecost, which is one of God's annual Sabbath days?

That the Church of God at Sabanno, Texas meets to worship God as directed by Jesus and the Apostles in the New Testament on the Sabbaths, both weekly and annual? Luke 4:16, Acts 17:2, 1 Cor. 11:1, 2; Heb. 10:25.

Alkaseltzer tablet. Yes sir—an Alkaseltzer tablet. Well—when that contraption hits the water there's the darndest spray of bubbles around that lure that you ever saw.

And the fishermen tell me the fish attracts the fish, the fish strike—and lo and behold, you have a catch.

Makes a good story anyway—doesn't it?

You might give it a try, and see if it's a true story. Could be.

Here's the new pickup that brings you clean-lined Fleetside styling and increased load capacity... both in the same model!

From their dual headlights to their projectile-like taillight housings, these new Chevrolet Fleetside pickups are beauties to behold. And—even more important to your business—they're built for more load.

The new Fleetside pickup box—available in 78- or 98-inch lengths—is a full 6 feet wide. This means you have a choice of 59.5 or 75.6 cubic feet of cargo space—larger in either case than that of any comparable pickup model.

Your dealer will also give you the details on the fast-stepping Stepside, America's lowest priced popular pickup.

acreage allotments. Unless the present farm law is amended by Congress this session, the national cotton acreage allotment would drop automatically from the presently authorized national quota of 17,500,000 acres to approximately 14,200,000 acres in 1959.

Spokesmen from all the state's cotton producing areas met in Austin to hammer out an alternate proposal. Their plan:

- (1) Retain the 17,500,000 national acreage allotment.
- (2) Give farmers a choice between planting higher acreage at lower price supports or lower acreage with higher supports.
- (3) Abolish the present Soil Bank program.

It was the first time, said leaders, that this Texas industry had been so well unified behind a program. In previous years, East and West Texas growers have been at loggerheads over quotas.

Texas cotton men say that neither they nor the economy as a whole can stand the threatened 20 to 25 per cent slash.

Of the 17,500,000 acres now allotted to cotton over the nation, Texas has 7,474,000, giving the state a hefty stake in the future of the industry.

A STITCH IN TIME—Thrifty farm families who can a good portion of their yearly produce will probably have best chances of survival if nuclear bombs ever should fall on Texas.

These and other facts bearing on the key role of rural and small town citizens in civil defense were pointed up as Texans participated in the nationwide practice exercise, "Operation Alert."

For two days officials and rep-representatives of agencies making up the State Civil Defense Council sat in the map-lined, bomb-proof Disaster Control Center in the Department of Public Safety building. Pretending five cities had been hit, they practiced coping with the gigantic problems that would arise—maintaining government, re-establishing transportation, communication and power facilities, providing food, shelter and medical attention for victims, escaping radioactive fallout.

Small towns and rural areas would serve as reception centers for evacuees from target cities.

Providing food is regarded as especially crucial. "If all transportation were knocked out, Texas would have only 14 days supply of food," says State Defense Coordinator William L. McGill. Garden plots and crops in the field might be ruined by fallout. Frozen foods might spoil for lack of electricity.

Hence, if worst comes to worst, a well-stocked pantry is seen as an ace in the hole.

LIVING WITHIN MEANS—Texas government should try to make spending fit income rather than vice versa, says a spokesman for the Retail Merchants Assn. of Texas.

Charles J. Lux of Austin, executive vice president of the Retail Merchants, said his organization is opposed to any new tax, whether on sales, income or gross receipts. He suggested the State Tax Study Commission and Texas Research League concentrate on finding ways to economize rather than hunting a new source of state revenue.

ECONOMY STUDY—Along this line, an interim legislative committee is searching into higher education expenses.

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, chairman, said the study is directed toward achieving maximum efficiency and possible savings.

Specifics to be considered: (1) how many college classes are below recommended size (2) how much public money is required to subsidize athletics and health services and (3) cost of college presidents' homes.

LOST OIL FORSEE—If Texas continues to limit oil production to market demand, the state may permanently lose some of its underground oil resources.

Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson told a group of some 600 Southwestern oil men that if present trends continue, development of secondary recovery programs will not be justified. In short, going after the last drop available from a pool is hardly worthwhile when production is stringently limited.

Culberson suggested to the Texas Petroleum Research Committee's Oil Recovery Conference that a new approach might be needed to conserve Texas' prime resource. Alternatively, he said, might be the loss of well over half the oil under Texas.

STILL HERE—Texas business reports at the end of the first quarter, '58, show that the recession

"is still very much with us."

University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said recovery is generally expected during the last quarter (October 1-December 31).

BBR tied Texas' troubles directly to the "massive drop in crude oil production," said recovery of the state's economy hinges on restoring the oil industry to health.

Overall, the March, '58, business index was a modest two per cent below March, '57. Bright spots were construction, up 7 per cent, and farm cash income, up 12 per cent. Crude oil production was down 32 per cent.

SHORT SNOTS—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson named Sam Blackman of El Paso as an assistant attorney to serve in the state and county affairs division. . . . Thus far this year, emphasis on safe driving has saved 70 lives, according to Brad Smith, Gov. Price Daniel's Traffic Safety director. Highway deaths for the first four months of this year totaled 618 compared to 685 a year ago. . . . Don Wooten of Abilene has been appointed to the Merit System Council to replace the Ashburn of Austin who retired for health reasons. . . . Texas' 137 draft boards are being asked to forward 519 men for induction into the armed forces during June. At the same time, State Selective Service Headquarters announced the boards would be asked to send 3,410 men to take pre-induction physicals. Both examination and draft quotas are slightly lower than for May. . . . Report of the Senate's contingent expense committee showed widely varying amounts spent by various senators for such items as telephone, telegraph, postage and office supplies. Examples, all from the same two-year period: Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, $5,490.86; Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, $2,686.04; Sen. R. A. Weinert of Seguin, $398.95. . . . State franchise tax collections to date for 1958 total $97,141,213, which is $2,249,838 more than for all of 1957. Secy of State Zolzie Steakley announced.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adair of Owen Ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Adair and children, R. C. Merryman and Mrs. Bob Merryman were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilliam returned to their home in Waco Monday after visiting over the week end with Mrs. W. M. Gilliam and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Seth Burkett of Burkett visited with Mrs. Gilliam Sunday.

Atwell News

Sabanno News

By Mrs. Edwin Erwin

The northern part of our community was hit by a hard hail storm Saturday afternoon. Stones as large as baseballs fell. These are some of the homes that were hardest hit and will require repair: W. E. Lusk, Wes Holcomb, Edwin Erwin, Clarence Casey and Jim Casey, and maybe others. Big hail fell at Truett Dawkins, Dan Notgrass, O. B. Switzer, Leonard Ingram, H. N. Lawson, Howard Hicks and W. S. McCann. Most of these homes are covered by insurance, which will be a great help.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lusk, Beryl Lusk and Mrs. J. L. King attended the funeral of Mrs. Lusk's brother, Milton Newman, in Odessa Monday afternoon. Mrs. Lusk's many friends extend sympathy to her and the family. Rev. and Mrs. Dan Applin and Ruth and Mr. and Mrs. Reid Minor and baby were dinner guests in the home of Misses Josie and Alma Morris Sunday.

Paul Ingram visited Jerry Morgan at Scranton Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King were Sunday dinner guests in the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clois Webb and children. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cumba and Janie and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Samson and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Beene visited Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cumba Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brooker and baby and Harold Ingram of Abilene visited Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ingram over the week end.

Mrs. Lorena Lilley and Amy Dodson attended the Rodeo at Baird Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parkinson of Dallas, their grandson, Terry Cleveland of Cisco, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parkinson of Romney visited Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McCann Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholas visited in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith and daughter of Cross Plains visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Casey Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beene visited her brother, B. F. King, who is a patient in the Comanche Hospital, Wednesday night.

K. B. Riffe and Randy visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Riffe Saturday night.
