Mr. Carter will present the enrollment plan which has been developed by the State organization and recommended to counties for use in their annual membership enrollment drive scheduled for the week of October 10-17.

The sub-district meetings have been planned to discuss four major things, Hammond said. (1) State and National issues pertaining to agriculture; (2) to have expression from local leaders; (3) how to raise money to finance state government; (4) plans for enrolling 75,000 members in 1952.

A Prize for Trouble, Too

Seventeen towns were represented at the Flight Breakfast here Sunday morning, August 31, when approximately 60 persons in 30 planes flew into Marian Airpark.

In addition to those flying in, a number of city residents attended the breakfast which was prepared by National Guard cooks and served in the city hangar at the airpark. Sgt. Ed Cleveland, Sgt. Lonnie Whitten, Cpl. Keith Cunningham and Cpl. Howard Fike prepared the meal.

Mr. Barrow captured the oldest pilot prize for the second year in a row at Marian Airpark having won that honor at last year's flight event when he also won the honor of being the first pilot to land. Dr. Miller was flying a Navion and the right window blew out over Wichita Falls. He had lost his aerial chart and navigated into Wellington by a road map.

In the pilot contests, Elmer Read, Amarillo, won the flight pattern contest; and J. L. Kennedy of Dumas won the bomb-dropping contest. A tie between J. D. Lowrey of Dumas and Earl Dow of Littlefield resulted in the spot landing contest with Lowrey capturing the honors when they both shot another landing.

Amarillo Squadron was awarded the prize for the CAP unit having the most members present, and Dalhart's squadron received the award for the CAP unit coming the greatest distance. In cadet

Free City Mail Delivery Gets Underway Tues.

City mail delivery began in Wellington Tuesday, September 2, with approximately 400 homes receiving this service, R. F. Curry, postmaster, said.

Gorman Owens of Wellington has been appointed carier and is in charge of the route. Mr. Owens, a life-long county resident, has been employed at Raburn Grocery for several years.

Mr. Owens begins his route at 9:00 a. m., starting on Dallas Street and working west through town to Haskell Street, Mr. Curry said. When all adjustments have been made, he is due to complete his route at 3:30 p. m.

Mr. Curry pointed out that the route now requires approximately two hours longer to deliver than it will when all addresses have been straightened out and the work is proceeding smoothly. The big difficulty at present is lack of street addresses on all incoming mail for the free delivery area.

He urged those living in the delivery area to notify all their correspondents and the circulation departments of publications they receive to use the correct house number and street in addressing their mail.

Mr. Curry also explained that the carrier will pick up letters at those boxes where he has mail to deliver, but a visit will not be paid to a box just to see if there are letters to be picked up.

From Oklahoma

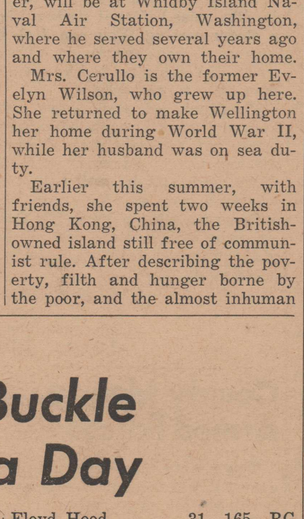

Mary Trammel New Demonstration Agent

Miss Mary Trammel recently was named county home demonstration agent of Collingsworth County and arrived here to begin her work Monday, September 1. For the last year she has been a clothing teacher for the Indian Service at Chilocco, Oklahoma, and during the summer months, she taught camp crafts at the Danforth Youth Leadership Camp in Michigan.

Miss Trammel was a home economics teacher for several years, then a Farmers Home Administration Supervisor for eight years. She was then home demonstration agent with the Oklahoma Extension Service five years before joining the Indian Service.

She did two years of college work at Oklahoma A&M College then completed her work for a degree in home economics at Oklahoma Central State College, Edmond. She has done graduate work at the University of Oklahoma.

"Miss Trammel comes to Wellington recommended by the State Home Demonstration Agent of Oklahoma, and her background should acquaint her with all the problems of farm homemaking. We feel that we are fortunate to secure her," County Judge R. L. Templeton said in announcing her appointment. The county has been without an agent during the summer.

America Looks Best

Navy Couple, Home From Guam, Stop Here

Getting back to the United States is about the best thing their new assignment brought them, said a Navy couple who stopped in Wellington to visit relatives during the week end, and they speak from a background that has taken them over much of the world.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. Carmen Cerullo were guests of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Yates. They have just reached the United States from Guam, where he was stationed for the last three years, and were en route to Washington, where he is to report to the Defense Department. His new assignment, however, will be at Whidby Island Naval Air Station, Washington, where he served several years ago and where they own their home.

Mrs. Cerullo is the former Evelyn Wilson, who grew up here. She returned to make Wellington her home during World War II, while her husband was on sea duty.

Earlier this summer, with friends, she spent two weeks in Hong Kong, China, the British-owned island still free of communist rule. After describing the poverty, filth and hunger borne by the poor, and the almost inhuman conditions in which they are forced to live, Mrs. Cerullo added: "After you see those things, you are glad you are an American."

China is an old story to Commander Cerullo, who has had 19 years Navy service. He had 5 years duty there in the middle 1930's, when trouble was brewing in that part of the world. He was serving aboard the ship that received the bodies of the men killed when the Panay was shelled by the Japanese in the now-famous Panay Incident.

World War II took him back to the Pacific, and as a Navy flier he reached Guadalcanal a few days before the final battle for the island. "That was the time 126 Japanese planes flew over and 99 of them did not fly back," he recalls.. He remained in combat until the end of the war.

The early peace years brought the Cerullos state-side duty in Virginia and at Widby Island, and a return to Panama, where he had served earlier.

The outbreak of the Korean war took him back East, this time on a transport ship.

"We took troops into Korea, then on the next trip, a month later we took replacements and brought out the wounded. Sometimes they were the same boys we had taken in a month earlier. Most of them had leg wounds. It looked as if they'd dig a foxhole, get their heads and bodies in and leave their feet sticking out," he commented.

In Guam, Commander Cerullo was in charge of revamping shipping facilities, and for his work he recently received a presidential citation.

Guam is undergoing its first big boom, a boom based on United States defense, and the Cerullos said that large numbers of American civilians are going there to take advantage of the opportunities.

But the land of greatest opportunities in the world, he believes —and he has seen most of it — is in the United States, in the Pacific Northwest.

Mrs. Cal Sugg New County School Nurse

Mrs. Cal Sugg has been named county school nurse, to serve the Samnorwood, Quail and Dodson schools, B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, announced this week.

This is the first time a full-time school nurse has been employed in any of the county schools, Mr. Beaird said.

Mrs. Sugg's duties will include caring for the program already under way, such as inoculations for various diseases, given the students each year, sanitation and health in the school, and meeting the individual problems in each school as they arise.

Mrs. Sugg, a registered nurse, did nursing here for a number of years, and has also been active in health activities of the town. She is president of the Business and Professional Women's Club this year.

Her job as school nurse is made available to county schools under the program that provides for special teachers, and it replaces the visiting teacher program which has been in effect for the last two years, Mr. Beaird explained.

Bickerstaff Youth Gets Eye Injury

Winifred Bickerstaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Bickerstaff, was treated in St. Joseph's Hospital from Saturday morning until Monday morning, after getting battery acid in one eye.

The youth was working underneath his car in the driveway of the Bickerstaff Grocery and Station when the accident occurred.

He was able to enroll in school this week, his father said.

State Draft Board To Send 5,855 For Examinations

AUSTIN — State draft boards are scheduled to send 5,855 men for pre-induction examination in October, the biggest monthly quota in almost a year and a half.

Local board quotas for the October delivery for examinations already have been mailed, Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state Selective Service director, said.

Physical-mental examinations, re-examination of 4-Fs, and inductions in October will call for transportation of more than 10,000 Texans in response to draft board orders.

All men to be examined and inducted during October will be 20 years old or older. No man less than 20 years old can be examined or inducted unless he is a delinquent or volunteer.

State headquarters for Selective Service is stepping up examination of additional numbers of men because it expects calls for induction to remain "at least on the October level" during the fall and early winter.

"We expect calls to go even higher in the early months of 1953," Colonel Schwartz said. "In the early months of 1951 our calls were high. Those men will be getting out in 1953, so we expect to have to replace a great many of them."

State draft boards expect to complete their program of re-examination of 4-Fs by the end of January 1953. Colonel Schwartz said that an average of 950 4-Fs a month will be re-examined from September 1952 through the first month of the new year.

State draft headquarters is planning combined physical-mental examination of a "larger than usual" group of doctors and dentists in September, Colonel Schwartz said. He said Texas has a quota to furnish three doctors and one dentist for military service in September.

Through July 1952, Texas had inducted 41,808 men into military service since hostilities in Korea began. During the same period, state draft boards forwarded 100,103 men for examination.

The Wellington Leader
Dear Sir:

We have been without The Leader for some time now, kept thinking I would renew my subscription to The Leader but just haven't got around to it, so am sending in for the paper today.

We have moved to Lamont, California, near Bakersfield. We have gone through the earthquakes that killed about 14 people and injured so many. Bakersfield is almost all damaged some way. We were up there yesterday and made some pictures. We couldn't get to the worst torn up buildings. It is all roped off and guarded, so we couldn't get through.

People seem to take it pretty well. It didn't hurt anything here this time. It gives anyone a funny feeling to be shook around, though.

The earthquake makes a thunder-like noise before it strikes, like a storm coming. You can feel it coming if you are awake. They strike like lightning and you don't have time to get outside.

Thousands of pople have left here and lots of people have their homes up for sale now. I can't see any use in running, as it is God's work and He will take you wherever you go, for when He calls us we must answer His Call wherever we are. Everyone will be glad when the earth gets settled down again.

Yours truly,

A Deer Gets Much Too Friendly

LEWISES COMPLETE TOUR OVER WESTERN HALF OF UNITED STATES

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Lewis returned recently after a six-weeks vacation that took them through the western, northwestern and middle western states, as well as to points in Canada. They were accompanied on the trip by his twin brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lewis of Wilcox, Arizona.

After flying from Amarillo to Los Angeles, the local couple met the others at Costa Mesa, Calif., where they spent three weeks before beginning their drive north.

While the trip took them through some of the most majestic scenery of the nation, perhaps the most exciting incident of the trip came when a deer attempted to jump over their car as they drove through the Redwood forests in northern California, striking the windshield and breaking it. None of the party was injured, and the deer disappeared in the forest.

In the vicinity of Los Angeles they visited San Juan Capistrano Mission, at Newport Beach and Laguna Beach, where the men fished. They then drove up the coast through Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, Monterey and Carmel-by-the-Sea. In San Francisco, they toured the city, rode the famous Wharf and visited China Town, as well as other points of interest.

In Palo Alto they visited the campus of Leland Staford College and Gene Lewis, one of the county's republican leaders, asked to have the home of former President Herbert Hoover pointed out.

They continued north through Eureka, a lumber and fishing port, to Crescent City, then left the coast and drove inland to Roseburg, Eugene and Corvallis, Oregon, then on to Salem, where they visited the state capitol. At Portland they saw the Lambert Gardens, and at Bonneville Dam they saw the fish ladders, vats in the form of steps, up which the salmon can jump to by-pass the dam and reach their breeding grounds. Each vat or step is some 12 to 18 inches above the one immediately below, and here the fish swim for a short time before jumping to the next one, Mrs. Lewis said.

They later drove to Olympia, Washington, the state capitol. "I believe it was the most beautiful capitol building I have ever seen," Mrs. Lewis commented.

From Port Angeles they crossed by ferry to Victoria, Canada, where they stayed two days, then drove up the coast of Vancouver Island, then crossed the sound at Nanaimo to Vancouver, British Columbia. Returning to the States, they toured Seattle, then turned eastward through Cour d'Alene, Idaho, to Helena, Montana.

"This section was beautiful, and the cattle were fat as little pigs. I never saw anything more beautiful. They said things were dry, but they were bailing native grass that was at least knee high," Mrs. Lewis said.

They continued through Wyoming to Belle Fourche, S. D., on through the Black Hills to Deadwood and to Spearfish, where they missed seeing the Passion Play by one night. They saw the Needles and Mt. Rushmore, and at Lead, the biggest gold mine in the world, which has been in operation for 60 years.

High point of their trip through Nebraska was seeing the Corn Palace at Mitchell, where the entire front is covered with ears of corn for the annual festival. At Norfolk, Nebraska, they drove in the first rain since leaving Wellington. Wellington, Kansas was their next stop, then Caldwell, where Gene and Ralph Lewis were born. Although the family home and the lumber yard they owned are gone, they found many other familiar places, but agreed the changes that have taken place in the town in the 50 years since they left have been for the better.

In Enid they visited relatives of Mrs. Gene Lewis.

Their last stop away from home was at Anadarko, where they spent the night.

Paul Hardy Visits City Thursday

A Wellington visitor Thursday morning was Paul Hardy of Fort Worth, who lived here for a number of years. He and Mrs. Hardy were en route home from two weeks at Creede, Colorado, and stopped in Childress to visit their daughter, Mrs. Jack Harper.

They also stopped in Taos, N. M., where they saw the children of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Howell, who moved from here to that area early in the year. Mr. Hardy is a painter and paper-hanger at Fort Worth.

Ralph Cattell Dies In Los Angeles

Word has been received here of the death of Ralph E. Cattell, the son-in-law of Judge W. G. Hite, who passed away in Los Angeles, Calif., on August 30. He was also a brother-in-law of Mrs. W. L. White.

Mr. Cattell died suddenly, but other than this, no detailed information has been received. His wife is the former Selma Hite. He was a script writer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cattell had lived in New York for a number of years before moving to Los Angeles about six months ago.

Dallas Resident Visits Friends Here

Mrs. Frankie Winn of Dallas was in Wellington a short time Thursday morning visiting with friends. She and her husband, the late E. L. Winn, lived here for a number of years. Mrs. Winn, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. W. Johnson at Childress, is doing civil service work in the department Naval Inspection of Materiels.

She said that her son, John Roy Noles, is now living at Norco, La., where he has been employed by Shell Oil Company for the past four years. Mr. and Mrs. Noles have two daughters, Lois Ann, two and a half, and Lou, a year and a half old.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Light were in Dalhart recently to visit Mr. and Mrs. Luther Irwen and sons. They report that George Boyd Irwen, who was seriously injured in a car accident earlier in the summer, is not improving as well as was expected, and will return soon to an Amarillo hospital for a check-up.

Bura Handley, Oran Starkey and J. T. Slay fished last week near Monte Vista, Colorado.

"NATURALIZER" also leaves hair in far better condition... much Softer... more Manageable... so Healthy looking... more "Natural"!
Compare Lilt WITH THOSE NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVES!
SEE WHY LILT WAVES take up to 5 HOURS LESS TIME and LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!
(Two girls start at same time—3 o'clock Saturday afternoon)
A LILT WAVE
1st step — She started her Lilt at 3 o'clock. It took her only about an hour to finish the entire waving lotion step—including test curls!
First step finished—4:14 o'clock
2nd step — She used "Naturalizer" to make her wave really permanent! Her wave is now finished...
Now her hair is set in pin curls for her hairdo!
LILT WAVE FINISHED—and hairdo styled too—IN LESS THAN 2 HOURS! 4:52 o'clock
Ready for a glamorous evening! — Pin curls dry fast (but hair wound on curlers does not). So, by 6:30, her Lilt is already brushed and combed into a smart, lovely hairdo!
And best of all, her Lilt wave is so permanent—so much like Naturally Curly Hair, it will last months and months!
LILT WAVES LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!
A NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVE
1st step — She also started at 3 o'clock. She has wound her hair on curlers and applied waving lotion, according to directions; rinsed with water (or used towel to remove excess lotion).
First step finished—4:00 o'clock
2nd step — (which you may not know about) She is now starting to WAIT 6 HOURS, with her hair on curlers. (With No-Neutralizer products, you need slow drying on curlers.)
STILL WAITING! She has 5 more HOURS to wait! She's getting worried, because she has a date at seven!
2 HOURS GONE—5 MORE TO GO
NO DATE FOR HER TONIGHT! She still has HOURS TO WAIT! Her 6 hours of waiting won't be up until 10 o'clock!
10 O'CLOCK—SECOND STEP FINISHED... 7 hours after she started! And LOOK at that kinky, frizzy hair—because it dried on the curlers! Now she has to re-wet her hair and set it in pin curls! POOR GIRL!
But what she still does NOT know is—HER WAVE IS ONLY SEMI-PERMANENT! Won't last nearly as long as a Lilt.
REFILL still only $1.25* *plus tax
NOW... with "NATURALIZER" in this familiar package

NOW— gives longest-lasting wave possible today! Even more like Naturally Curly Hair than ever before!

District Court Convenes Here And at Memphis

Judge Luther Gribble heard civil cases in a session of district court here last week, then heard the criminal docket of district court here last week and again this week.

In the session here one divorce was granted, Marcella Brown vs. Jim Brown, and the plaintiff's former name of Marcella Frost was restored. A habeas corpus seeking the change of custody of a minor child was denied, and one divorce case was dismissed, Judge Gribble reported.

There were four pleas of guilty and felony cases tried before District Judge Luther Gribble in Hall County, Texas, August 27, 1952. Ben Wesley Hathorn, charged with D. W. I. second offense, was given a three year suspended sentence. Odell Butler, a negro, was given a three year suspended sentence for burglary. R. E. Chambers and Robert Branum were each given a three year suspended sentence on forgery charges. District Attorney Allen Harp prosecuted the cases.

This week at Memphis, Wayne Speer was sentenced to three years in the penitientiary for driving while intoxicated, second offense, and James Floyd Bartley also received a three year sentence on a similar charge. Jack Scott, colored, received a five year suspended sentence on a charge of assult with intent to murder ,according to Judge Gribble.

Other cases will be heard in Memphis Thursday and Friday, and court will be in session here again Wednesday and Thursday, September 10 and 11.

GNESI'S FLYING SAUCER—During the past year villagers of Putignano, Italy, have seen a disc zooming over their rooftops, but they're not alarmed. They know that it's not an invasion from outer space but a 30-inch working model of a flying saucer designed by Piero Gnesi. In photo at left inventor Gnesi looks on while builder Piero Agostini, right, puts finishing touches on the 21-ounce model. In photo at right the flying disc, powered by a special gasoline motor, soars through the air at 87 mph. Gnesi, 33, thinks he can build a jet-powered disc nine feet in diameter.

FISHERMAN'S NIGHTMARE—Never have the fish seemed so taunting as they do this time of year when carefree young anglers must hang up their poles and bobbers, and resume the roles of "careworn" scholars. On the last day of vacation the blue gill and sun fish leap teasingly high, seeming to know that the young Izaak Waltons won't be around tomorrow.

Other features you'll like about the Oliver Boll Puller are:
1. It fits any make of tractor
2. It can be attached or taken off in five minutes time. .

Lord Jim Says--

By Bill Hughes

Can you picture the Great Pyramid? Do you remember the first time that you saw it, or saw a picture of it When one mentions the Great Pyramid what is it you see Is it anyone single stone; or is it the whole pyramid?

The Pyramids are considered one of the twelve wonders of the world. Are they considered so because of the several single stones on the very top; or is it the wonder of the entire structure that makes it so?

Now a goodly number of top rocks could be knocked off and the Pyramids still remain the wonder of the world but let the base rocks crumble and the whole structure will fall.

America is a great pyramid of humanity. It is the American people who are the foundation of the whole structure.

It is the people, the thinking and the effort of the people that support the wonder that is America — not its top rock, not the Federal government. The apex can come and go, change and be replaced, but the whole will stand undiminished.

Turn the pyramid upside down and balance it on its point. Depend upon the Federal Government to do your thinking. Lean on them to guarantee your happiness and prosperity. Then in fact that top rock, the Federal Government, becomes indispensable to the whole structure. The apex becomes the base. The whole becomes utterly dependent upon a single rock for its very existence.

As anyone can see, turning this pyramid on its point places an impossible crushing weight on a single stone. As anyone can also see, the point of balance is so infinitely fine that the slightest change or movement will send it toppling to destruction. Such an act defies the law of gravity which inevitably demands its price.

I ask that thought be given these pictures of the pyramid. Where the pyramids themselves are built of stone, the pyramids of human civilizations are made of intellectual, spiritual, and moral powers centered in the minds of all men and women. Inherent powers are derived from God by all people. Governmental powers are derived by public servants from the will of the people they serve. But when the will of the people surrender inherent powers of God to public servants and depend themselves upon the will of these servants, the human pyramid of civilization has been turned upside down and rests precariously on its point. No matter whether flesh, stone or spirit, the result of defying natural law is the same — destruction.

The inherent powers of God are eternal and unlimited. The right of every single living individual to draw upon these powers is also not only eternal but unlimited. However, the right can only be used by the individual himself making the effort to use it. The success of the effort is determined solely by the amount and the steadfastness of that individual's will brought to bear upon the effort. All nations, are no more nor less than the sum of their individuals.

On the other hand the powers of any public servant no matter how acquired, are limited and are only momentary. Furthermore, the individual's right to draw upon these powers is not only momentary and arbitrary but also further limited, limited not by the individual's own effort or will but limited by the whims of the public servant — himself after all, only a man.

Speaking for hound dogs, it is sincerely our conviction that America is being led toward the surrender of inherent powers belonging to God, into the hands of public servants. A matter that if allowed to continue will eventually stand the American pyramid on its head.

We contend that the fundamental issue at stake in November is not which party. It is not a question of today's plenty versus depression twenty years ago. It is a question of putting an end to surrender of inherent powers. It is a question of turning to God, to integrity, to truth and to face the issue squarely, in the place of New Deals and fair deals that have divided America, labor against industry, city against country, education against religion, church against church, the big against the small, the rich against the poor, the black against the white, and visa versa.

We think it is a question of integrity, of spiritual determination and of unity. We think it is a question of recognizing and facing the mortal struggle that has actually had us in its clutches for the past twenty years or more, and which will not be finished until the insidious idea of world wide Communistic dominance is destroyed.

We appreciate the fact that things have never appeared so good for so many, but we sincerely question the soundness of the foundation upon which it stands. We question the ethics and morality by which it has been achieved. We cannot forget that the past twenty years have been nothing but a constant procession of crisis for one reason or another including two hot wars, one of which is now going on. We cannot forget the gigantic sums of money without precedence spent in the past eight years alone which in spite of the increased productivity has nevertheless found the burden of taxes rising along with a mounting national debt.

Finally, we look out into the world and everywhere we see increasingly more and greater trials and tribulations. We see our men and material pinned down in a war in Korea, a war of attrition and stale mate. We see our men and equipment on duty in Europe. We see the free world divided. Still we never had it so good here at home and demand that it remains so at any cost.

We question the morality and common sense of it. They say Nero fiddled while Rome burned. To us hounds, in the face of our own war in Korea, in face of the world-wide volcanic turmoil, to vote, to live, to work as usual is to fiddle while the world explodes.

Bureaucrats See Their Dream Coming True-Secrecy Grows

There erupted onto page one of the nation's newspapers the other day two stories which never should have gotten that big a play. The fact that they did is due to one thing—secrecy.

In one story the Federal Trade Commission charged that an international oil cartel—five American and two foreign companies—controlled the amount of production and the prices of most of the most of the world's oil..

In the other a Senate subcommittee accused the Army of holding back information on this country's scandalously expensive air base program in North Africa.

The 189,000-word report on the oil business had originally been labeled secret by the government. Some of it was finally shaken loose after pressure by members of Congress. But a lot was blue-pencilled and will forever remain secret as far as the public is concerned.

The air base story, which has been smoldering and sputtering for some time, hit page one the other day because the subcommittee said the Army hadn't been telling the public everything there was to know about the fantastic costs of thhe North African job.

If in both cases—oil and air bases — the public had been kept regularly and adequately informed of the situation, there wouldn't have been enough news left in the stories to warrant putting them on page one.

This secrecy business—as far as the government is concerned—is not a new thing, but it is a growing thing. And it's getting a little frightening.

The bureaucrat's dream — a government whch can function free from the annoying light of publicity and consequent public reaction—came a bit closer to reality recently when the President, by executive order, extended military security to all federal departments.

A certain amount of such security is, of course, necessary. But a blanket arrangement covering all departments can make it awfully tough for people to find out what's going on in Washington, where even expert fact-finders can easily get bogged down.

Some of the biggest government scandals in recent years have occurred under the thick, protective blanket of official securecy that had nothing whatsoever to do with military security.

In the corruption-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for instance, the public was not allowed to know who was applying for how much of a loan, what the terms of the loan were, and how the RFC members voted on it.

Ohly after the deal had been made was a brief announcement issued that such-and such a firm had gotten a loan for so much. The RFC has since taken certain remedal steps, but things there are still hardly an open book.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, also rocked by recent revelations of corruption, has its own special secrecy blanket. Under its protection occurred shennangans which rocked the country.

Why farming should be secret is a little hard to figure, but even the Agriculture Department was recently hauled up for allowing some loan frauds to operate in its bailiwick. And a department official had the gall to say it was an administrative matter in which the public was not interested.

Not interested, our eye. The public is completely interested in what its government is up to. It's only when government operations are so beclouded by secrecy that people can't make head or tail of them that they're liable tto lose interest.

And while we've on the subject, let's not forget for one minute whose government thhis is. It belongs to the people and no one else. And every aspect of it —short of really top-secret military matters—should be on open display for all the people all the time.

Welcome to New Generations

Population growth is like the weather —there doesn't seem to be much that anybody can do about it.

The world's human population is soaring. There were fewer than one and three-quarter billion people on earth in 1912. Today there are nearly two and a half billion, and by the end of the century there will probably be over four billion. The world is currently adding to its population at the rate of 60,000 to 70,000 ned human beings each day, so far as the foreseeable future is concerned, feeding, clothing and keeping so many people reasonably happy is going to be a problem. Our own country has shown how it can best be met.

A century or more ago a large percentage of people labored in agriculture. If theoretical planners had stepped in in those days and forced the productive processes into a fixed "orderly" pattern we would probably have been struggling with famine by now. Fortunately we were free to invent, devise and scheme new ways. We were free to leave our farms and get job sin the citnes where some of us figured out unheard of machines to do the work of ten men on the farm. Tractors, trucks, reapers, combines, gangplows, cultivators—implements began to roll off the assembly lines by the tens of thousands. American agriculture took on a new look. For the first time in history farmers could raise their heads above sheer drudgery.

Farming has become a scientific, competitive business. Because of the machines, constantly better farming practices and raising production are inevitable. Upland flood control, contour or strip farming, and soil conservation are routine practices to the modern farmer.

This American agriculture revolution is our welcome to the new people who will be crowding onto this old globe in the years to come. Other nations that fear the way of free markets, open competition and a mixmum of individual liberty, will do well to heed our example.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is off on a topic he seems to be an authority on.

Dear editar:

I read the other day where some expert in Washington has come up with the idea that arbitrarily fixin 65 as the age to retire is an impractical notion. Accordin to him, some men at 65 aren't near ready to retire, lots of good work still left in em, and there are some who can go on to 75, even or beyond. Claims the government could save a lot of pension money this way.

Accordin to him, you can't have a set rule on automatically retirin, your 65th birthday ain't no way of determinin wether you're ready to stop or not.

I want you to know I am opposed to this new idea 100 per cent. If there's any freedom left in this world, it ought to be freedom to retire without bein inspected, but if this idea goin, don't you know the first step will be to set up a board to decide when a man's ready to quit work

Like it is now, all you have to do is hold together until you're 65; you can start aimin at it from way back and when you get there you can retire and draw a pension, but under this new system they'd be around inspection you, probably havin you flex your muscles, have you plow a few rounds, chop a few acres, pound you on the back, and then take 90 days to mail you back a report on whether you're ready to retire or not.

Thunder, we don't want any such system. When a man gets ready to retire, he oughtn't to have to ask anybody. Just drop his hoe and walk to the shade and sit.

In fact, if he wants to retire when he's 50, or 40, or whenever he can swing it, that's his business too. In fact, under my system, retirin ain't no sudden move, like jumpin into a cold tub of water, it's a gradual thing. It ain't good for a man to be pulled up short and have to stop workin all at once, he ought to start early in life, easin up on the thing, gradually doin less and less, so when the time comes to retire there ain't hardly any noticeable change.

There ain't nothin more pitiful than a man who has worked hard all his life suddenly not havin anything to do. Some folks say the way to avoid this is not give up, keep on workin, but my idea of the way to avoid such a catastrophe is to pan your retirement early in life and work up to it. I got mine in such shape I won't even know I'm retired unless I mark it on the calendar.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bible Comment
FOR SEPT. 7

Keep God's Law; Get Most From Life

How can one get the most out of life? This is a question that has agitated many minds as far back as man became a thinking being. Some haven't given much thought to it and have drifted through life, without much thought about plans r goals.

But among those who have pondered it, and to whom some choice is possible in determining what sort of lives they would live, there have been varying decisions. To many the chief aim has been to get as much enjoyment out of life as possible.

Other goals of life have been the acquiring of wealth often without much reguard for its essential value and use; the acquisition of power, with the mastery and sway over great empires.

Gentler souls have made contemplation their chief quest, retiring into som form of cloistered living. Some have made knowledge their deepest satisfaction, often without much wisdom concerning its essential value and use.

The Hebrew prophets and poets had much to say concerning these various quests. If the writer of the Book of Ecclesiastes seems an insurable uessimist, declaring that all is vanity, it should be remembered that he is exploring the futility of what he deems false and unsatisfying quests, but is setting over against them what he considers man's proper goal.

His "conclusion of the whole matter" is: "Fear God and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man."

What does that man? God, to these Hebrews, was the creator and upholder of the universe. To His laws governing the earth and the heavenly bodies they found a parallel in the moral law, governing man and his relationship to his fellowmen. Hence the conception of uprightness became dominant of all thought of the best in life.

To keep the commandments was, therefore, the means and goal of the true life. In characters that need reforming, and a world that needs rebuilding, it may well be asked, is there any other way?

"TEA PARTY" IN MIDDLETOWN

The people of Middletown (Ohio) have stopped complaining to themselves about government waste and high taxes. In an effective, organized manner they now are complaining to their representative in Congress. When the new Congress convenes next January, the "Tea Party" may have spread from coast to coast. If so, the greatest flood of letters in the history of the U. S. mails will go pouring into Washington, all citing documented instances of needless waste and all demanding an end to waste and a reduction in taxes.

Like the "Tea Party" patriots of Boston in 1773, Middletown citizens feel they must do something powerful enough to shock the taxmakers and the spenders in their Federal government. So they are mobilizing all segments of their population in a letter-writing campaign.

SHOCKING FIGURES

Middletown's "Tea Party" project was conceived last winter by a half-dozen citizens who drank morning coffee together downtown. They talked it around, and on March 5 a meeting was held of 35 selected representative citizens. One of the hosts rose and said the time had come to do something more than "beef" about waste in government and paralyzing taxes. Documented items of gross waste in various departments of the Federal government were circulated throughout the group. Then some of the alarming facts about taxes were brought out.

The total direct and hidden tax in the purchase of a $3 pair of baby shoes is 80 cents. On a $3 telephone it's 91 cents. On $8 worth of lumber it's $2.80. On a $25 table radio it's $8.80. On $20 worth of coal it's $6.05. In the purchase price of a kid's $5.35 scooter, total taxes amount to $1.45. On a $4.50 basket of food the tax is $1.43. Among the 35 persons who attended Middletown's first "Tea Party" meeting were housewives, doctors, lawyers, teachers, business and industrial executives, labor union officers and rank-and-file members, civic club officers, etc. All reacted sharply to the evidence of waste and these shocking figures on taxes.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

The idea put forth at this first meeting was that each of the 35 would go home and write a letter to Middletown's Congressman and Senators, pointing out specific incidents of waste and requesting that extraordinary efforts be made to eliminate all waste and to otherwise cut down on government expenses, to the end that taxes could be reduced. Furthermore, each of the 35 was given the task of getting nine other persons to write similar letters. In turn each of those nine would accept the obligation to line up nine additional citizens to join in — and on and on. In other words, a chain-letter effect was sought, though individuality in the letter-writing was urged.

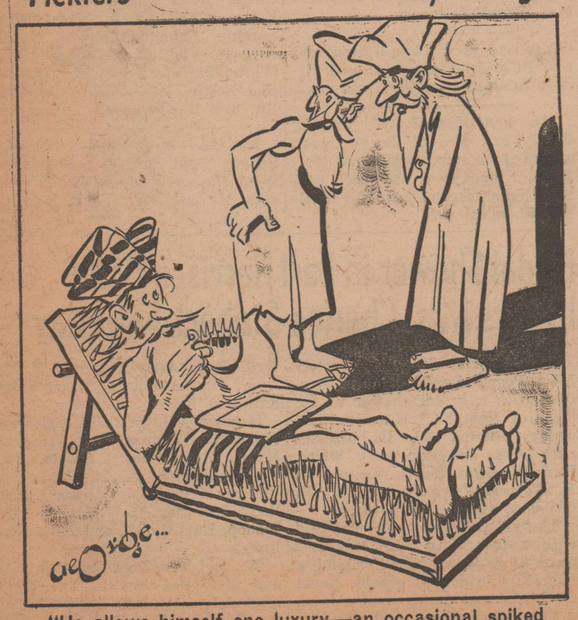

Within a few weeks 2,000 citizens were participating in the "Tea Party" campaign, and Middletown's Congressman and Ohio's two Senators were getting a steadily increasing flow of letters. And since the letters came from Democrats and Republicans, factory workers and housewives, union leaders and industrialists, business men and teachers, they simply couldn't be brushed off by Middletown's representatives Congress. They got action.

IT'S SPREADING

Middletown's "Tea Party" idea already has spread to such cities as Philadelphia, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Detroit, Los Angeles, and Houston. In most communities the letter-writing campaign is sparked by an informal, volunteer organization. Working men and women hold most of the offices, donating after-work time to expanding the movement. Many housewives contribute hours out of their busy days. The citizen letter-writers are supplied with fresh items of governmental waste and detailed facts about the out-of-control increase in taxes during recent years. These specifics give weight and authority to the letters.

The citizens of Middletown have started something good. It is another encouraging sign that people all over the country are awakening to the harmful effects of wasteful and expanding government. As this column is written I have before me the breakdown of open and hidden taxes on a $2,000 automobile. They total $664.00. There is something badly wrong in this situation. And only an aroused and active citizenry can correct it.

For Moderns: A Living-Room Dinette Set

BY EDNA MILES

THE modern concept of dining-room furniture is a very different one from that owned by Grandmother. She wanted solid, heavy furniture that made a good show and filled the dining room to the very corners. This furniture, which the hired girl kept polished, was used only for "good" or company occasions. The rest of the time, the family ate in the kitchen.

In these times of small apartments and houses, dining-room furniture must be functional. There's just one set and it serves both family and company. Frequently, it is placed in one end of the living room since there is no dining room at all.

Therefore, it must blend harmoniously with the living-room furnishings. And modern finishes for table tops and legs have made the hired girl's elbow obsolete.

One innovation is the use of thin steel tubing in chrome or ebony for modern tables and chairs. Table tops are plastic with wood grain finish and cannot be marred by stains.

The new tubing combines strength with a look of delicacy and, of course, easy maintenance with comfort. Seats of the chairs are sponge rubber padded and upholstered in two patterns and a wide range of colors.

$55 Maximum

$5 INCREASE OCTOBER 1 TO THOSE RECEIVING OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

All persons receiving Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind will get a $5.00 increase in their grants beginning in October, according to John B. Hessey, Area Supervisor for the State Department of Public Welfare. Exceptions will be those who are receiving both Old Age Assistance and Old Age and Survivors Insurance, since the automatic increase will be received by them through Social Security. A lesser increase will be available for youngsters who are receiving Aid to Dependent Children.

This increase in grants is provided for by recent Congressional Legislation which raised the federal contribution $5.00 beginning in October. This now makes a maximum grant of $55.00 instead of $50.00 available for Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind. Naturally, this does not mean that everyone will receive the maximum grant of $55.00 any more than they are now receiving the maximum grant of $50.00. The amount of each grant is determined by the basic recognized needs of the individual less his income, and varies according to the individual situation. It simply means that beginning in October no grant can go higher than $55.00 instead of $50.00.

To assure that each eligible person on the Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind rolls gets the full amount of the increase the first month it is available, John H. Winters, Executive Director of the Welfare Department, has ordered that checks beginning in October be written for $5.00 more than the amount authorized on that date.

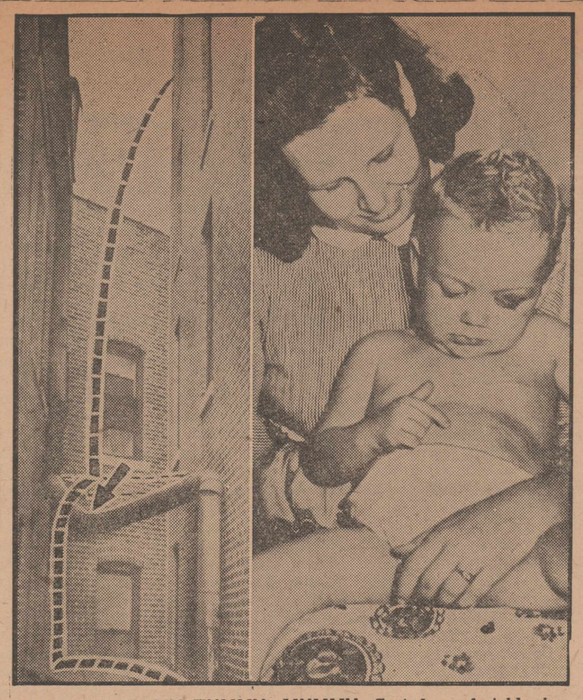

Supervisor Hessey explained that an aged person who is not receiving Old Age and Survivors Insurance and has been getting, for example, $34.00 Old Age Assistance will receive $39.00 beginning in October.

It was the only injury he sustained when he fell from a fifth floor window of the Plaza Hotel in Indianapolis. On the way down (see photo at left) Bobby struck and bent an air vent pipe, arrow, which broke his 30-foot fall. The black eye is the result of a previous bump.

Revise Ceiling Prices on Cars

DALLAS — A revision in its automobile ceiling price regulation which may bring increases in automobile prices for Texas purchasers has been announced by the Office of Price Stabilization in Dallas.

The revision was brought about by recent changes made by Congress in the Defense Production Act, which permits new car dealers to fix their retail selling prices on the basis of historical margin mark-ups rather than on the former basis of dollars-and-cents ceilings.

The change probably will result in an increase in the ceiling prices of many Texas new car dealers, according to R. G. Berle, regional OPS automotive chief in Dallas.

Under the revised regulation, each dealer may establish his own ceiling price based on his usual pricing practice in either of the two base periods — May 24 to June 25, 1950, or alternatively, January 26 to February 24, 1951.

Mr. Berle pointed out that dealers must continue to display posters listing the ceiling prices of each make and model, and an itemized breakdown of the charges. They will also continue to give each customer an invoice stating the selling price and other details of the transaction.

Buyers Attend Dallas Market

Mrs. George Farris, Mack Saied, Jr., and Jim Llorente of Wellington were among the 5,000 buyers who attended the American Fashion Association Midwinter and Holiday Market in Dallas, August 17-22.

The American Fashion Association, comprised of 500 manufacturers' representatives, displayed over 1,100 lines of women's and children's apparel at the Adolphus, Baker and Bluebonnet hotels.

Highlight of market week was the breakfast-clinic style show entitled "Christmas Fun for Everyone," held on August 19 and 20 in the Grand Ballroom of the Adolphus Hotel. Seven Holiday themes were staged, each illustrated by costumes from the midwinter lines, together with suggestions for promotion, advertising and window display. A children's choir presented a background of Christmas music.

The style show was presented with Mrs. Evelyn Lambert's commentation.

The next market week will be held in Dallas October 26-31 and will feature Resort and Advance Spring Fashions.

For Sale, Bargain: Stainless Steel Teeth

Not many people know it, but Uncle Sam buys millions of dollars' worth of stainless steel teeth. Don't get upset. They're not the chewing kind. They're the jet plane kind.

You see, stainless steel teeth are blades that fit inside the engine walls of jet planes. The blades help to drive air into the firing chambers. There are more than 1,000 of these teeth in each engine, and up to a little while ago each one had to be forged—a slow, fussy, expensive method.

The problem was dumped in the lap of G-E specialists, and they solved it.

The result is that today we roll a continuous strip of stainless steel, cut the teeth to length, and weld them to a base. Works fine. The cash saving: 55%. Critical material saving: 39%.

There's an extra reason to be happy about this, since all of us taxpayers have to foot the bills. Millions of dollars will be saved by the military services in future blade production. And the how-to-do-it is being shared through the U.S. Air Force with other jet engine builders.

Today, as in World War II, American Labor takes its place firmly behind the man behind the gun in Korea. Unfettered and strong, the American workman once again is proving to the world that he can outproduce the shackled slave of the totalitarian state. The slave, who works long hours under miserable conditions and the relentless eyes of the secret police, can still never hope to remotely approach the standard of living which the American laborer has come to enjoy. On this Labor Day, Americans pause to take stock of their industrial accomplishment, and then with determination return to the task of arming our bastion of democracy.

News Letter

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

SOME FACTS ABOUT TEXAS: More than 1,248,000 Texas families own their own homes today. (Percentage-wise this is about 55.5 per cent).

The total personal income in Texas in 1950 reached $9,868,000,000.

In 1950, 2,840,000 people in Texas had jobs. This is 97 per cent of the total labor force.

The 1951 figures reflect that 207,100 businesses were in operation in Texas. The manufacturing establishments figure reached 7,128 in 1947, the latest year for which these figures are available. 25,000 new businesses started in Texas in 1951.

Manufacturing establishments in Texas added $2,268,663,000 in value to raw materials in 1950.

Bank deposits, private, time and demand, totaled in 1951, $6,106,089,000. On a per capita basis this amounts to $792.00.

Cattle production in 1951 was 2,153,335,000 lbs.

Farm products marketed in 1951 brought Texas farmers $2,151,930,000 in cash.

Sixty-nine percent of the farmers in Texas own their own homes.

Many more statistics could be given, but these will serve to indicate the great progress Texas is making on several fronts. As I have told you before, the manufacturing districts of the East and Middle West look with suspicion on the Southwest. The above statistics indicate that the people living in the old and established manufacturing centers of this country have reason to be alarmed about the possibility of losing some of their manufacturing establishments. Actually they should not be alarmed because they would undoubtedly enjoy living in Texas among our fine people and in our excellent climate. The truth is Texas has just commenced. The future holds much for us and our people.

PRISONERS OF WAR IN KOREA: Reports are that the Red Chinese and North Koreans have been most uncooperative with the Red Cross and other agencies concerning information about prisoners of war. The information that they give out is very little and in most cases very vague and unsatisfactory. They are apparently making little effort to deliver mail to the prisoners of war and less effort to afford the prisoners of war opportunity to write their home folks. This of course is not surprising, as they and their backers (the Soviet Union) have always insisted that the rules of war apply to all nations except their own. Humanitarian principles are to them merely vehicles for propaganda purposes and not for actual application.

WHAT WE MAY EXPECT ON INFLATION AND DEFLATION: I have never been able to gaze into a crystal ball and foretell the future. However, the consensus of opinion here seems to be that we have about reached the pinnacle of inflation and that there will be a gradual deflationary trend during the next two-year period; that this trend will not be so sharp as to cause undue hardships to any of the people. This opinion has been based on the economy and not on politics. It is thought that this trend will be inevitable regardless of who serves as President. Frankly, I do not know whether to believe it or not. I thought that when cattle reached 18 cents, they were bound to be at the top; also when $3500.00 houses started selling for $10,000, it was my opinion that they must go down. However, as all of you know, cattle, hogs and everything else has continued to climb. I personally cannot see how they can go any higher for the simple reason that the people do not have the money to purchase most of these commodities at their present prices. Some deflation is an absolute necessity in order to keep these commodities moving and the money in circulation. People just can not buy as they do not have the money or the source of money through which they can pay. It is true that more credit can be provided, but such a course would prove detrimental in the end, rather than beneficial. Much work has been done in Congress to stop false controls and false credit and to permit the economy to level off and stabilize itself. Such a course will no doubt be criticized and condemned by many, but it must come sooner or later. As a child I was taught that distasteful situations had to be met head-on and that delay in facing them merely increased their distastefulness. Most of you can remember the days of castor oil.

Dr. Green explaining how interference with nerves that supply the head and face can cause headaches, defective breathing, etc.

EYES OF THE FUTURE

Many more small children today are wearing glasses than ever before. Often when a child first begins at school there is detected a slight deficiency; called near-sightedness, far-sightedness, slight convergence, or by any of a multitude of names given to abnormal conditions of the eyes.

The eyes are usually examined immediately and the child given correction lenses which are to accommodate for the eye deficiency. However, very seldom is the spine ever examined in the case of eye trouble; either in a chilld or in an adult. As a general rule children's eyes will respond better and more quickly than the adult's as that applies in most any disease.

The eyes are supplied by nerves just as every other part of the body. When nerves leading to the eyes are partially blocked there will be disease or a lack of ease of function in some part of the eye.

Often the eye muscles become weak, thus causing lack of near or far vision. Muscular weakness also causes the eyes to cross. The muscles are of course supplied with life by the nerves.

A fall or a minor accident can displace one of the bones of the spine just enough to pinch nerves and black life's forces to the eyes.

Remember, a physical examination is not complete unless the spine is examined. If your child is wearing glasses, consult a chiropractor who will be fair in telling you if he can help the optometrist to effect a correction; by removing the spinal cause of the eye weakness; that the eyes of tomorrow may be stronger.
