Rabies reported in city

The third positive rabies case in the last week was reported to the Colorado City Veterinarian Hospital late this week.

In all three cases the animals have been skunks. A rabid skunk was killed at 1345 Cypress Thursday. The previous two cases were reported out of the city limits. One case was reported in Hermleigh and another case was reported north of town. The case reported at Cypress Street was the first with in the city limits in over a year, according to Colorado City Veterinarian Nancy Bozeman.

Bozeman stated that this year Texas has had the most cases of positive rabies cases than ever before, and skunks seem to be the main carriers.

"The main reasons that the skunk population is so high in Texas, is because the skunks are coming more and more in contact with people," said Bozeman. Dr. Bozeman feels an effort should be made to reduce the number of skunks and wild animals in the area. She also encourages all people who have seen stray animals around to report them to the animal warden.

Dr. Bozeman feels there are possibly more wild animals around the city limits, and this had led to a rabies clinic to be held at the Wolf Football Stadium parking lot Wednesday, July 20 from 4-6:30 p.m. All local residents who have not had their pets vaccinated are urged to do so at this time.

Man and all warm blooded animals are susceptible to rabies, which is almost invariably fatal. The disease is transmitted by an infected animal's licking or biting. The virus enters the victim's body through a break in the skin, or rarely through muccus membranes (eyes, nose, throat).

Rabies affect the central nervous system. It may take from ten days to a year to develop, however, exposed people can be successfully treated before the development of systems by a series of vaccinations.

State park attendance on the rise

Attendance this year for Lake Colorado City is well up over last year, according to State Park Secretary Lillian Mundy.

Presently 213,481 visitors have attended the lake this year as compared to 176,661 people who attended the tourist resort last year at this time. This makes attendance up 36,820 over last year.

The rise in attendance has a lot to do with travellers not going as far to other lakes, and they are coming to Lake Colorado City, stated Mundy.

During the recent July 4 holidays, 12,718 visitors attended the State Park, which is about average for a holiday weekend stated Mundy and all 132 campsites were full, said Mundy. On an average weekend, approximately 7,000 lake-goers attend the State Park.

Mundy also stated that approximately 10,000 visitors were expected to visit Lake Colorado City for the upcoming Labor Day weekend. "We expect all of them to be full for the Labor Day weekend."

The current water level at Lake Colorado City is 2061.60, the full level of the lake is 2072.00. Water temperature is 84 degrees, which is about average for this time of the year, according to Texas Electric Power Plant officials.

Chamber votes to back CARE

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted unanimously Monday night to support the local organization CARE in its efforts to keep the low-level radioactive waste disposal site out of Mitchell County.

CARE representatives Clay Strange and Mike Burt talked to the board soliciting their support. CARE is the local organization recently formed by citizens who oppose the low-level radioactive waste disposal site in Mitchell County.

The Chamber agreed

Creek dispute discussed again

The Morgan and Cherry Creek dispute over the ban against skiing in that area was one of the topics discussed at the Commissioners' Court meeting on Friday, July 15 at 9 a.m. in the county courthouse.

Nineteen residents of the lake area met with the court to hear a discussion on the water skiing ban enforced on the creek areas.

Clay Strange represented Mr. Stegal of Midland who is highly opposed to the ban, stated that the law that was passed by the Parks and Wildlife Commission in 1975 might not be constitutional. The primary problem he felt was the $200 fine set for this law which in his opinion "breeded disrespect for this and other laws."

Strange suggested an elevation point be set to determine when skiing was unsafe.

According to Item 6 of the Lake Colorado City Rules & Regulations all skiers should be 100 feet away from the shoreline and skiing in the Morgan and Cherry Creek area is prohibited.

County Commissioner Paul Hunter stated that the skiers should use their own discretion but the lake does need some kind of law enforcement.

Some of those who are in support of the ban expressed their feelings that the boats and skiers were damaging their docks because of misconduct when out on the lake. They felt the skiers were coming in too close to their docks and therefore because of the waves of water caused by boats causing their property to deteriorate.

Johnny Shackelford stated the reason they could not enforce the law was due to a money problem. There are not enough sufficient funds to employ another person to patrol the area. He also said that populationwise, Colorado City has more law enforcement than other towns.

County Commissioner, Paul Hunter stated that skiers should use their own discretion but the lake does need some kind of law enforcement. he also said that a compromise of both sides needs to be settled and if local authorities can't patrol the area, we should contact the Parks and Wildlife Board.

Commissioner Bill Preston stated that the lake is public water for all of Mitchell County. If anyone destructs anothers property, then they should be punished.

Judge Carter stated that all docks are liable and if a boat should happen to hit it, the dock owner would be held accountable. Some of the docks are not properly constructed and protrude out into the lake.

Judge Carter suggested making a reply to the Park & Wildlife Commission to supply the lake with buoys. The fine for misconduct will lie solely on the shoulders of the Game Warden and the Park and Wildlife Board in Austin will determine to lift the ban or not as of now the ban is still in affect.

Other items on the agenda, included a resolution from Gov. White's office asking for Mitchell County to be deemed a disaster area due to the severe drought. Gov. White replied that he had contacted the office in Washington on belief, rabies occur in all seasons and all sections of the country.

Rabies

When looking out for rabies, people should watch out for bold, friendly or apparently tame animals. Night animals like skunks and foxes that are seen in the daytime, and pets that have difficulty in walking, eating or drinking.

People should also watch out for signs of excitement or viciousness in normally quite animals. Animals that tear at or scratch an old wound until it bleeds, cattle that "strain" for long periods and bats that are unable to fly.

If bitten by an animal, treat the bite as if the animal were rabid, and follow these steps.

–Identify the animal by kind, color, size and place. Caution children to seek the help of a policeman, school guard or other adult.

–Immediately cleanse the wound thoroughly by washing with soap and water. Rinse well and disinfect with alcohol or iodine or other disinfectants. This lessens the chance of contracting rabies by removing or inactivating virus in the wound.

–See a doctor immediately after washing the wound. The physician will decide on needed treatment to prevent rabies.

–Report incident to local health officer and animal control warden.

–If possible have the biting animal tested for rabies or placed under observation. If it is alive and normal after 10 days of observation, the animal was not infected of rabies at the time of the bite.

Lowriders lead softball league

Softball season finally arrived in Colorado City as the newly formed four-team league kicked off play Tuesday night with the Lowriders and C. C. Athletics gaining wins.

The C. C. Athletics used a big 10 run fifth inning to go on and down the C. C. A's by a count of 20-7.

In the Little Chicago-Lowrider contest, Little Chicago jumped to a quick 2-0 first inning lead as Felix Franco and David "Big Rock" Smith got hits and scored for 'Chicago.

But their lead was short lived as the Lowriders came back and rallied for six runs in the third inning to take the lead and go on to win the contest 15-11.

The big hit in the third inning was a two run scoring triple by Lowrider pitcher Dwight Staats. Lucas Campos and Rocendo "Chic" Rodriquez hit a single and double respectively to aid the cause.

Little Chicago cut the lead to 10-7 in the fifth inning thanks mainly to a double by Efren Molina and a two run homer by Smith.

But the Lowriders iced the contest in the top of the seventh inning when Ray Franco reached base on a fielder's choice, and Danny "Light" Rivera hit an inside the park home run to right field.

The Lowriders win was aided by some sparkling defensive plays by left fielder Rivera and shortstop Benny Arispe.

In Thursday night's contests, the Lowriders and C. C. A's came away with victories.

The 'A's got a triple from Nolan Russell in the sixth inning which drove in three runs as they downed Little Chicago 4-3.

The Lowriders got timely hitting from Santos Reyes, Campos and Arispe as they went on to a 12-7 win over C. C. Athletics. Reyes and Campos went three for four at the plate while Arispe went four for four at bat.

Tom Rees, Eric White and Tony Turner all hit well for C. C. Athletics.

With the addition of the Chamber's support, it is evident that residents in Mitchell County strongly oppose its location in Mitchell County.

Petitions containing over 2,000 signatures from Mitchell County residents were sent to the low-level radioactive waste authorities in Austin this week.

The state authority will choose five sites in Texas by August 1st. These five sites would be chosen out of 102 they are considering. October 1st is the date in which the authority hopes to have their disposal site selected.

EPA grants permission for Pydrin use

In response to a formal request from the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) agreed to allow the use of a pesticide called Pydrin to fight grain sorghum midge, a pest that can severely damage a sorghum crop.

Pydrin, a compound already approved for use on a number of other crops, is not yet registered for use on sorghum. TDA Assistant Deputy commissioner Ron White, however, urged in a letter to EPA that the agency authorize emergency use of Pydrin because it can reduce the unnecessary use of pesticides when used as one component of an integrated pest management (IPM) strategy. Under existing EPA rules, White pointed out, an emergency use designation is not allowed if there are other products on the market designated for use against the sorghum midge. The products already approved for midge control, however, also kill beneficial insects which help fight headworm in sorghum and bollworms and tobacco budworms in cotton, White said. Thus, if farmers have to fight midge with insecticides that also kill the beneficial insects, they then must also treat their cotton for bollworms and tobacco budworms. This, White said in his letter, "will cause unnecessary environmental exposure to such products as Parathion and other organo-phosphorous compounds."

"This really is a first," said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower of the EPA decision. "For the first time, EPA has recognized the need to take IPM principles into account when they consider insecticides for emergency use. Ron White's letter stated the case very clearly, and we're very pleased that EPA is now going to include IPM benefits in their criteria for those designations. Because of the late spring, the sorghum midge problem is very severe this year, and this emergency approval of Pydrin for midge control, while a little late for some sorghum producers, will help a lot of farmers salvage more of their sorghum crop without having to use additional pesticides on their cotton crops. And we congratulate EPA for its positive response to our request for this change."

I am intrigued by the clever names of antique stores. Some I have seen or heard about are: "One Era and Out the Other", and "Finders Keepers", "Nostalgia", "Now and Then", "Presents Past", "Something Old Something Nouveau", "Anne's-tiques","Twice Treasured", and etc.

Antiques are items once treasured in the past which are treasured again today. They are parables of living. If we live well today, cherishing present experiences and making them meaningful, a tomarrow will come when we can look back and treasure them again as warm and precious memoirs. This is especially true concerning persons with whom we shared and who helped fill those experiences with meaning. A poet has put it this way:

"Memory of things precious keepeth warm
the heart that once did hold them.
They are poor who have lost nothing...
They are poorer still who losing have forgotten.
They most poor of all, who lose and wish they might forget."

Again and again we find the word "Remember!" in the scriptures. Remember the mighty acts of God through which He has dilivered us; remember the heroes and heroines whose witness can inspire and send us forth; remember and be grateful. The festival and holy days of the church are celebrated in order that we can remember and reclaim the promises and the meanings of God's presence and power in our midst.

When loved ones died, people discovered that through memory we can keep for the future what we must relinquish today. Life includes many farewells, goodbyes, losses, endings, doors closing and arms emptying. Yet we never lose all. The only loves passing blesses us with all they are for us, all they mean to us, how they loved and blessed us.

Alfred Lord Tennyson made that discovery after the death of a close friend. During the years Tennyson had tried to cope with his grief. Then came one of those "ah-ha" moments of insight when the pieces came together and he discovered that he would not be grieving where he not still loving. He had lost all the love on the friendship which they shared. Through memory he could keep if still, and savor it gladly...

And he penned those familiar lines:

"I hold it true, what'er befall;
I feel it when I sorrow most;
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never have loved at all."

WE KEEP FOR TOMORROW WHAT IS PRECIOUS AND MEANINGFUL TODAY. What we treasure yesterday we can treasure again tomarrow.

God poured out his Spirit upon the believers, confirming their faith in Christ's resurrection. Pentecost evoked their courage, strengthened their fellowship and gave them memories that carried them on with new visions.

In the opening chapter of The Invisible Pyramid, Loren Eiseley relates the story of seeing Halley's Comet as a young boy in 1910. His father had lifted him on his shoulder as they stood and gazed at the flaming comet in the sky. It was a moment of intimacy between father and son..His father then whispered in his ear so that on one else could hear: "It will come again and you will see it again... I will be gone and you will be old, but you will see it again; and when you do, see it for me. Watch for it. When you see it, remember!" Christians experience that God is near in Jesus Christ..He whispers to us in love and gives us hope. With that gift of memory...He calls us to live so we create good memories today for someones tommorow. We are made to live not die! (Acts 2:1-4, 14-18,21)

Bullock representative to be in Sweetwater

Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Abilene office to Sweetwater on July 19 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Frank Chamness will meet with local taxpayers at the Texas Electric Reddy Room from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m.

If Nolan and Mitchell County area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Frank Chamness will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock said.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on July 19th that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his toll-free tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Abilene office headed by James Martin, serves Taylor, Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mitchell, Mills, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, McCulloch, San Saba and Stonewall counties.

TO MY CUSTOMERS:

Recently, many of you received a slanderous mail out from Mr. David Palmertree. Mr. Palmertree had previously obtained your signatures to bogus work orders in the month of February, 1983, apparently in order to fix a date for the filing of liens against certain properties. Even by this date, the time period for the filing of liens has run, and therefore he cannot legally file a lien against your property for any work done. My attorney informs me that any attempt by him to file a lien against properties outside the time limits prescribed by law could result in a suit against him for deceptive trade practices. I would bear the expense of any suit to remove any lien against property filed by Mr. Palmertree.

Mr. Palmertree did some work for me on some properties here in Mitchell County. He maintained the books and records on his employees for time expended and expenses. He also guaranteed his work for a two year period and agreed to return for any necessary warranty work. My crews have done all his warranty work at my expense. When Mr. Palmertree left, we had an agreement that he would submit to me all of his records and we would figure the balance due him. Since that time, I have requested the records reflecting any money due on several occasions. My attorney and my banker, as intermediaries, with him directly and his attorney have requested that he submit to us the records verifying any amount due him. He has stated that he had these records and would submit them, however he has never provided me nor my attorney with one item verifying any amount due him on jobs done. While Mr. Palmertree was here working, I paid him a substantial sum of money for earlier jobs done. The only money that could be owed would be for the latter jobs that were completed. Mr. Palmertree originally claimed that there was an enormous sum of money owed to him, without verification. One month later he stated that there was due him less than one-tenth (1/10) of his original claim. Based on the warranty work that we are required to do for him, I cannot pay the man even the one-tenth sum he is requesting until he verifies what is owed to him. Through my attorneys and banker, I have done everything possible to obtain records verifying any amount due Mr. Palmertree, if any.

I appreciate my customers in Mitchell County and ask that you forgive any inconvenience that has befallen you as a result of this sham by Mr. Palmertree.

Marian's Memos

By Marian Morris

Many Texas residents work under hot, humid conditions. Summer heat is a particular hazard to agricultural producers and others who must work long hours under the sun. High temperatures and high humidity not only cause discomfort but could be potentially dangerous to the health and safety of individuals, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Humans must maintain a fairly constant internal body temperature regardless of external conditions. A human body is like a furnace which burns fuel (food) that manufactures heat. To safely limit internal temperatures, the body must shed excess heat. It does so by varying the amount of blood circulating near the skin surface and the evaporation of moisture through the skin and sweat glands.

As the brain senses an increase in blood temperature, the heart beats faster, expanding blood vessels and sending more blood to small capillaries near the skin's outer layers. This blood, circulating close to the skin surface, can then transfer excess heat to the surrounding coller atmosphere. If this is not enough to cool the body, then the brain senses continued overheating and signals the sweat glands to shed large quantities of fluid to the skin surface. Sweat cools the body as it evaporates from the skin.

However, as outside temperatures approach normal skin temperatures (high 90s), body cooling becomes increasingly difficult. If air temperatures are as warm or warmer than the skin, blood brought to the surface cannot shed its heat. Under these conditions, the heart continues to pump blood to the surface,but perspiring becomes the only effective means of maintaining a constant body temperature.

The body also has difficulty giving off excess heat when humidity is high. Sweating does not cool the body unless the moisture evaporates, and high humidity slows evaporation. Since humid air contains a high percentage of moisture, it cannot easily absorb more. Wiping sweat from the skin also prevents cooling from evaporation.

In high heat, hard work becomes harder. The heart pumps a torrent of blood through enlarged circulatory vessels, sweat glands pour liquids and essential dissolved chemical compounds such as salt onto the skin, and below the skin's surface, the production of metabolic heat continues. Since so much blood goes to the skin, less goes to active muscles. As aresult, strength declines and fatigue comes sooner. Working in a hot environment may also have psychological effects. Workers who must perform delicate or detailed work or operate complex machinery may find their accuracy or performance suffering. Those who must think and process information may have lower comprehension and retention.

Certain safety problems are common in hot environments. These include slippery, sweaty hands; dizziness; and fogging glasses. Hot objects and surfaces also present possible burns from accidental contact. Accidents are more frequent in the heat due to lower physical performance and mental alertness. Increased body temperature and physical discomfort promote irritability, anger and other emotional states which could cause workers to act rashly or carelessly or distract them from hazardous tasks.

Cook's Corner

Experience is best teacher

Christine Britton

"Experience has definitely been the best teacher for me," according to Christine Britton of Loraine.

Mrs. Britton learned to cook when she was in high school not because she had to but because she enjoyed it! "Trying new recipes is always fun and they add spice to my menus."

"I don't cook as much as I used to because my family is always on the go but I still enjoy it. Working everyday makes it hard to always prepare huge lavish dinners."

She stated that sweets were her favorite things to cook because she likes to experiment and create tasty dishes to please her family.

Mrs. Britton, wife of Gene Britton, chose these three tempting recipes to share with RECORD readers:

BLUEBERRY BANANA PIE

1 8 oz. pkg. cream cheese (softened)
1 c. sugar
1 large carton of Cool Whip
4 bananas
1 can blueberry pie filling
1 cooked pie crust.

Cream first two ingredients until well blended. Fold in Cool Whip and mix thoroughly. Slice bananas and layer in pie crust. Cover bananas with filling and top with pie filling. (This recipe makes 1 large or 2 small pies).

CAULIFLOWER SALAD

1 head cauliflower
½ c. chopped green olives
½ c. chopped black olives
3-4 chopped green onions
1 c. Hellmans mayonnaise

Break cauliflower into small pieces. Add remaining ingredients and let it set overnight.

PORKCHOPS AND DRESSING

3 c. corn bread crumbs
1 c. white bread crumbs
1 can celery soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
Black pepper
Onion (if desired)

Mix all ingredients together and pour in long Pyrex dish.

Brown six pork chops on both sides and place on top of dressing mix and bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

MATHEMATICS

PERCENTS

CHANGING A PERCENT TO A DECIMAL

Percent means per hundred. The sign, %, is read "percent." Any percent can be written as a decimal. Any decimal can be written as a percent. To write a percent as a decimal:

1. Drop the percent sign.
2. Move the decimal point two places to the left. Add zeros if necessary.

75% = .75; 5% = .05; 125% = 1.25.
4.6% = .046

PROBLEM 1.
Change 5.40% to a decimal.
PROBLEM 2.
Change 100% to a decimal.

CHANGING A DECIMAL TO A PERCENT

1. Move the decimal point two places to the right. Add zeros if necessary.
2. Place the percent sign to the right of the number.

.23 = 23%; .4 = 40%; .125 = 12.5%

PROBLEM 1.
Change .75 to a percent.
PROBLEM 2.
Change .0625 to a percent.

CHANGING A FRACTION TO A PERCENT

1. Change the fraction to a decimal by dividing the denominator into the numerator.
2. Move the decimal point two places to the right.
3. Place the percent sign to the right of the number.

$\frac{3}{5} = .6 = 60. = 60\%$

$\frac{1}{20} = .05 = 5. = 5\%$

CHANGING A PERCENT TO A FRACTION

1. Drop the percent sign.
2. Place the number over 100 as a fraction.
3. Reduce when possible.

$45\% = \frac{45}{100} = \frac{9}{20}$

FINDING PERCENT OF A NUMBER

One hundred percent means the whole amount. A score of 100% on a test means that all the answers were correct. Less than 100% means that all answers were not correct. To find the percent of a number, change the percent to a decimal and multiply. Remember that "of" means multiply.

Example:
80% of 45 is ?
.80 X 45 = 36

Example:
40% of $\frac{1}{2}$ is ?
.40 X .5 = .20

PROBLEM 1.
What is 50% of $\frac{1}{4}$?

PROBLEM 2.
There is a 5% sales tax on furniture. You buy $355 worth of furniture. How much sales tax must you pay?
PROBLEM 3.
A 3 pound jar of mixed nuts is 60% peanuts. How many pounds of mixed nuts are peanuts?

DISCOUNT

Rather than paying the original price for an item, a discount would reduce the original price. To figure a discount, change the percent to a decimal and multiply.

An appliance store advertises 15% off all refrigerators. The price of the refrigerator you want is $375. 1. How much will you save? 2. How much will you have to pay after the discount has been taken away?

1. 15% of $375 is
.15 X $375 = $56.25 (saved)
2. $375.00 - 56.25 = $318.75 (paid after dis.)

PROBLEM 1.
Many stores sell cooked hams. A cook will tell you that a ham shrinks while cooking. If a 16 pound ham loses 12 ½% while cooking, how many pounds will it lose? What will the ham weigh after cooking?

FINDING PERCENT OF INCREASE OR DECREASE

When finding percent change (increase or decrease), follow these steps:

1. Divide the original amount into the amount of change.
2. Change the decimal quotient to a percent.

Example:
What is the percent of decrease of a $500 item on sale for $400?
The change is $500--$400 or $100.

1. .2
500 | 100.0
2. .2 = 20% (answer)

PROBLEM 1.
Last year, we had a total rainfall of 9.6 inches. This year we had a total of 7.2 inches. What is the percent of decrease in rainfall?

FIGURING SIMPLE INTEREST

Interest is an amount paid for the use of money. It can be either money earned for you or money paid by you.

PRINCIPAL: (P), The amount of money that is borrowed or deposited.
RATE: (r), The % of interest earned per year.
TIME: (t), The length of time interest is earned in years.

To find interest (I), multiply the principal and the rate and the time together (I = prt). For example, What is the interest of $400.00 at 5% interest for 2 years and 6 months? (2 years and 6 months is 2½ or 2.5 years).

THINK:
I = prt
I = 400 X 5% X 2.5
I = 400 X .05 X 2.5
I = $50.00 (answer)

PROBLEM 1.
Find the interest on $300 at 5.5% for 2 years and 3 months

FIGURING COMPOUND INTEREST

Compound interest means that the computation is done more than once. Most interest today is compounded. This means that the computer figures the amount of interest today at a specific time and then adds that interest to the principal. The larger principal now draws interest for another specific time. For example, Julia has $300 in a bank earning 4% which is compounded semiannually (twice a year or every 6 months). How much money will she have at the end of one year?

THINK: If the bank will compound (figure) the interest twice a year and the money will be in the bank for one year, compute twice.

1. For the first 6 months:
I = prt
I = 300 X 4% X 6 months
I = 300 X .04 X .5
I = $6.00
2. Add $6.00 to the old principal.
($300 + $6 = $306.00)
3. For the second 6 months:
I = prt
I = 306 X 4% X 6 months
I = 306 X .04 X .5
I = $6.12
4. Add the interest ($6.12) to the principal. ($306 + $6.12 = $312.12)
5. answer $312.12

PROBLEM 1.
Frank has $500 in a savings account and is paid 5% semiannually. How much will he have at the beginning of the second year?

WRITING SKILLS

PRONOUNS

A pronoun is a word that can take the place of a noun and should be used in the same way as the noun it replaces.

Rules for Prounoun Use:

1. When a pronoun is the subject of a sentence, use only a nominative pronoun. All pronouns other than those for subjects are objective or possessive.
2. With the phrases "It is _____", and "It was ____", use nominative pronouns. This applies to any other form of these phrases, too. (It was they. Wasn't it she? Is it not he?)

singular	plural	singular	plural	singular	plural
I	we	me	us	my mine	our ours
you	you	you	you	your yours	your yours
he she it	they	him her it	them	his her,hers its	their theirs

Do not confuse the possessive pronoun its with the contraction it's which means "it is".

PROBLEMS
Underline the pronouns and tell whether they are nominative, objective, or possessive.

1. Thomas, here is a package for you and me.
2. Was it he?
3. It was not they.
4. Sit between him and me.
5. Its pages are torn.

PROBLEMS
Cross out the incorrect pronoun.

1. Helen and (I, me) helped with the puppets.
2. Why can't Lucille and (I, me) go with them?
3. The lady told Barry and (I, me) to come for her old magazines.
4. It was (she, her).
5. Susan and (I, me) are going with (she, her) to the park.
6. Sue and (I,me) are going skating this afternoon.
7. Did you see Mary and (I,me) when we passed your house?
8. Kay and (I,me) were five minutes late yesterday.
9. Jake invited John and (I,me) to one of the club picnics.
10. I amgoing to ask Doris and (she,her) about our assignment.

Texas Teacher Federation presents $2 billion plan

The Texas Federation of Teachers presented a $2 billion plan Tuesday that would enable experienced teachers to earn nearly $40,000 a year by putting in extra hours.

John Cole, TFT president, suggested the cost be covered by rising gas production taxes or by higher gasoline and "sin" taxes.

The federation's plan included a proposal that would give teachers the right to strike.

"Arguments pro and con can be given by the hundreds," according to the plan. "Our rationale is that it is better to withhold services when grave danger is present for children and workers, than to simply continue to accept the mediocre to poor conditions which are present in many of our Texas schools," stated Cole.

Cole told a news conference that he had presented the education plan to Gov. Mark White and that White had said he would read it.

Approximately $800 million of the $2 billion would pay for an immediate 24 percent teachers pay increase which White proposed to the recent Legislature.

Among other proposals was one that would require teachers to serve a one year paid internship and a two year probationary period before being certified.

Under the plan, the school principal would be replaced by a teacher selected by the faculty each year and other duties of the principal would be delegated to a dean of student affairs and business manager.

Teachers, the federation proposed, would be paid extra for such activities as field trips, sponsoring school clubs, serving on textbook committees and attending PTA meetings.

Methodist pastor honored with party

A "get acquainted party" was given for Rev. Reta Richards, the new pastor at the Westbrook United Methodist Church on Tuesday, July 12.

An evening meal of sandwiches, chips and pie were served.

After the meal, Herman Minor led the group in a song with La Verne Moody accompanying him at the piano.

Mrs. Lois Hendrix presented a love offering to Mrs. Richards followed by an ode of "God be with You."

Those attending the gathering were Roy Messimer, Elmo Daniel, Alvin Byrd, Lena Rees, Valiere Rees, La Verne Moody, Ruby Jackson, Lois Hendrix, N. W. Stokes, Wayne Newton and Herman Minor.
