Slow-Motion Coup Puts Frondizi On Sidelines

Indonesians Say Clash Inevitable

By K. R. RAMANATH
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A high Indonesian official today discounted the possibility of further talks with the Dutch on West New Guinea and said a military clash is inevitable.

The official said Indonesia broke off the U.S.-sponsored talks last week because the Dutch bluntly declared they were not prepared to accept Indonesia's demand for a transfer of administration.

The Indonesian official, who declined to be identified, said that during the secret talks near Washington the Dutch insisted on discussing arrangements for an interim period to follow Dutch relinquishment of the territory.

Whittaker To Quit Post On High Court
WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Whittaker retired today.

Whittaker, 61, a justice for five years, has been in ill health. President Kennedy announced a news conference that Whittaker had decided to retire effective April 1.

Whittaker was appointed to the highest court by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1957. He is one of the present four Republicans on the nine-man court.

Dean, Zorin Get Preamble Assignment

GENEVA (AP)—Negotiators at the 17-nation disarmament conference today assigned the American and Russian co-chairmen to draft a preamble for a treaty designed to end the world's arms race.

Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin were asked jointly to prepare the document. The action was agreed upon in a harmonious three-hour plenary session of the three-week-old conference.

Earlier in the day, two leading personalities who have been attending the talks—Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia and Howard C. Green of Canada—flew back to their home capitals, declaring themselves reasonably pleased with the progress of the conference.

Dean and Zorin will consider these proposals as they get down to their task of writing an agreed preamble. They expect to report back to the full conference with a finished document by the middle of next week.

Western sources said a mood of surface harmony prevailed but that there was some disquiet in the Western camp about Zorin's evident determination to have the conference perform its work largely on the basis of the detailed Soviet draft disarmament treaty.

Pair Enter Guilty Pleas
Earl Morgan Barber and James Albert Lee pleaded guilty this morning in 32nd District Court to charges of car theft.

The youths were involved in the theft of a car from a used car lot in Snyder Feb. 21. They stated they were going to California, but took a wrong turn in El Paso on Highway 89 and ended up in Colorado City where they were apprehended.

Agreement Is Reported On Two-Year Steel Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top-level steel negotiators reportedly have reached broad agreement on a two-year labor contract for the steel industry.

Reliable Washington sources said the chief bargainers for the union and the major steel firms reached agreement on a two-year contract Wednesday. The United Steelworkers' Union international executive board and international wage policy committee have been summoned to meet here next Saturday.

The settlement terms were said to include improved seniority and grievance procedures and new authority for a joint continuing industry—union human relations committee, expected to ease the eventual reopening of wage talks.

Chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper of the U.S. Steel Corp. told a press conference after Wednesday's talks here that the negotiators have "defined the outline of the areas" of possible agreement, but that much negotiating work remained to be done.

USW President David J. McDonald did not say whether the union's wage policy committee would be asked to vote on a proposal. He said only that the committee was summoned to bring it up to date on the bargaining.

Kennedy Says Tax Revision Vital To Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today that if Republicans succeed in killing the administration's tax revision plan it will be a blow to the nation's economy.

He told his news conference here "great difficulty" in understanding the position of any political party that makes it a political objective to "defeat this bill."

The president argued that if the effort to kill the bill succeeds it will wipe out the hope of stimulating business investment, cost the country $600 million in taxes and damage the administration's program for economic growth and increased national production.

Kennedy said nothing about a nuclear testing inspection. Kennedy said Secretary of State Dean Rusk's reports indicate the problem of inspection has emerged as the central issue.

House Republicans are driving to knock out of the bill tax incentives for business that would deprive the government of $1.2 billion in revenue it now receives. They also are maneuvering to defeat a proposed withholding tax on dividends and interest that would bring in an extra $650 million a year.

His retirement takes effect April 1. He will be eligible for half-pay on his $35,000 yearly salary. Kennedy said nothing about a nuclear testing inspection.

Steel—The President said the contract has not been agreed to formally, and he wants to make no statement until this is done. But he commended both the steel companies and the union for the hard work they have done to reach an agreement without threat of a strike.

R. Kennedy Asks Legal Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Congress today to let state and federal lawmen use evidence obtained by wiretapping to fight major crime and racketeering.

The need for legislation is urgent, Kennedy said in testimony prepared for the Senate Judiciary Committee. "The existing situation with respect to wiretapping is chaotic."

"Law enforcement has not kept pace with scientific advancement," Kennedy said. "And individual privacy has not been protected."

Kennedy urged passage of a bill he said would: 1. Enable the federal government to prosecute more effectively certain major crimes.

2. Enable the Department of Justice to more effectively prevent and punish persons who illegally violate the telephone users' right to privacy.

3. Clarify the authority of state police officials to wiretap.

Kennedy said wiretapping has been authorized in some national security and kidnapping cases, but the resulting evidence cannot be used in court. "It is an anomalous situation to receive information of a heinous crime and yet not be able to use that information in court," he said.

Mr. X and Mrs. X had met, by sheer coincidence, at a dance for mental patients at Los Angeles County General Hospital, where they were admitted separately this month. They hadn't seen each other since 1954 or 1955 in New York.

Tigerettes In Crucial Scrap Here Tonight

Snyder's Tigerettes go in quest of a share of the District 3-AAA volleyball title here in Tiger Gym tonight at 7:30 when they play host to the powerful Lamessa Queens.

Lamessa is unbeaten after five district starts, while the Snyder girls of Coach Peggie Holder are 4-1 as they stand on the threshold of tonight's final regularly scheduled contest of the year.

Colorado City and Sweetwater are both out of contention.

Prior to the important varsity encounter, the B teams representing the two schools are to clash. That meeting is scheduled for 6:30.

Damage In Floods Still Mounting

Hundreds of persons were temporarily homeless and property damage mounted today as flood waters from swollen rivers and streams in Nebraska and Iowa dealt more damaging blows.

In Nebraska, overflows from the surging Northfork River inundated across some 100 blocks in the residential district and much of the business section of Norfolk, a city of some 13,200 in the northeast part of the state.

In Iowa, hundreds of National Guardsmen and volunteers patrolled the built-up dikes of the east side of Sioux City, a town of more than 89,000 population threatened by the flood waters of the swollen Floyd River.

In the flood belt west of Omaha most of the 550 residents in the village of Waterloo had left their homes as the Elkhorn River overflowed.

Several hundred persons already have been evacuated from homes in Sioux City, in the northwest part of the state. Other persons left their homes in Cherokee, a town of 7,700 on the Little Sioux River, and at Charles City, a town of more than 10,000 in northwest Iowa on the Cedar River.

In Sioux City, a half million sandbags have been placed atop the dikes extending for 10 miles to Leeds, and officials expressed hope the flood waters will be held back. The Floyd, which flows into the Missouri River through the Sioux City stockyards district, was expected to crest at 22.5 feet, 6 1/2 feet above flood stage this afternoon or tonight.

Thousands of acres of farm land were covered with water in the two states. Some flooding also was reported in sections of Minnesota, Missouri and Illinois.

L'L League Pops Meeting Tonight

A meeting of all Little League fathers is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 in the Central Elementary auditorium.

It is the initial session of the year, and all dads who can possibly attend are urged to do so, reports coordinator Matt Jercod.

Peret Remains In Unconscious State

NEW YORK (AP) — Former welterweight boxing champion Benny Peret of Cuba entered his fifth day of unconsciousness today with his wife optimistic but his doctors saying he still had only a slight chance to survive.

A medical bulletin Wednesday night from Roosevelt Hospital, where Peret, 24, was rushed for emergency brain surgery after his 12th round knockout loss to Emilio Griffith Saturday night, said the fighter "is maintaining the slight improvement which he showed yesterday. His condition remains critical."

A spokesman said his coma had lessened but remained deep. "He's not going to get better fast," the spokesman said. "He may get worse. There's no way of telling how long he'll be in a coma. He could come out of it in a few minutes or a year from now. And he might not come out of it at all."

Bulldogs Nab 81-B Crown

Loraine's Bulldogs played their favorites' role to the hilt here Wednesday in sweeping to an easy District 81-B Track and Field championship.

In wresting the title from defending champion Hermleigh, the Bulldogs amassed 192 points for the day, with their James Linder nailing down individual scoring honors with 38 to his credit. He ran on both winning relay teams in addition to taking the top spot in the high jump and broad jump and a second place in the 100-yard dash.

Hermleigh finished second to the Bulldogs with 104 points after placing second in the final event of the day—the mile relay—to vault into the runnerup spot ahead of defending Westbrook, a team that came home third with 94 points.

Hermleigh's Terry Smith was second to Linder in individual scoring with 29.

The top two individuals and relay teams in each event earn for themselves a trip to the regional meet at Odessa April 14. Two ties for the second spot developed during the day and it was decided Westbrook's Raschke would represent the district in the high jump and Dane Hindall of Hermleigh in the pole vault.

Loraine also won out in a three-way battle for freshman division laurels with Fluvanna and Hermleigh, notching 168 points to second-place Fluvanna's 92 1/2.

In the junior high competition (8th grade and below), Ira rallied behind the splendid showing of Louis Ray Taylor to win out in

While the reports were not encouraging, Peret's wife, Lucy, said "I feel a lot better than I felt about his condition before." Mrs. Peret, expecting the couple's second child in September, has been with her husband almost constantly since Sunday after a hurried trip here from Miami.

The tragedy continued to be the basis of action both here and abroad.

In Vatican City the Vatican Radio called professional boxing objectively immoral because physical injury was in its "very nature, aims and methods."

Leaders of the New York State Legislature ordered an investigation of boxing, its safety procedures and its possible criminal elements. The investigation will determine whether the state should outlaw boxing altogether or regulate it more strictly.

In Boston, Terry Downes and Paul Pender agreed to take brain tests prior to their April 7 fight. Peret's brother, Antonio, 26, arrived Wednesday night from Santa Clara, Cuba, Antonio said their mother, Maxima Crespo, had her travel papers in order and expected to come to New York from Havana today or Friday.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's football fantasy, a tragicomic production with a cast of hundreds, came to a happy ending today.

The University of Colorado student body yielded to the friendly grin of the young new head coach, William E. (Bud) Davis; Squad members admitted they were unfair about threatening a revolt, and finally, Del Ward returned as a peacemaker hero after three years of academic obscurity.

"I thought he was kidding when he called," the 56-year-old Ward said in reference to Davis' summons to be the Buffalo defensive coach.

End Ken Blair, the 1962 football captain who threatened rebellion when Davis was appointed head coach Tuesday, said it was all a mistake.

Blair and most of the other team members had supported and coached Bob Gilotti as the candidate to succeed Everett Sonny Grandelius, who was fired March 17 for violating NCAA and Big 17 recruiting rules.

Ward was fired by Colorado's regents three years ago after compiling a record of 63 victories, 41 losses and six ties in 10 seasons. He has been a professor of physical education since then.

Mickey Cochrane is working on a two-year consulting contract with the Detroit Tigers.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

CREEL, Mexico—Back in the last century, a Stateside family named Creel moved to Chihuahua and set up shop.

Eventually they became involved in the timber business and the principal lumber camp was located here, some 3,000 feet up in the Sierra Madre Mountains. Right in the midst of the Tarahumara Indian country.

This accounts for the un-Mexican name of the little town of some 2,500 folks.

The big sawmills still go at full blast reducing Ponderosa Pines to planks which are neatly stacked in house-size bundles over several acres of territory. Their lumber is shipped all over the country.

The Creel family no longer operates Creel but their imported evidence still abounds. There are tall lanky Texas-type men with light eyes and the Creel family name who work and would look cramped in anything except Western jeans, Western hats and heavy jackets.

For this the rim of the frontier land through which the new Chihuahua-Pacific Railroad passes enroute to the Pacific Ocean. A new outlet for the wealth of the Sierra Madre.

The town of Creel is mostly log cabins clinked with clay to keep out the wintry winds. And it is cold in the winter. Roofs are made of curling pine shingles. Thin, outside slices of Ponderosa logs are used for fences.

All of which sounds like a poverty-stricken community. But this is not the case.

In the general store operated by Mr. Gregorio Cuentas, you find such items as movie cameras, projectors, film of all types, wrist watches, washing machines, gas stoves for the kitchen and an impressive variety of sporty Western clothes. The purchasing power is high.

Also, everyone seems to have a truck. Mr. Cuentas has several. Mr. Cuentas is one of the tall, lean gentlemen who look like the marshal in a TV horse opera. He rolled out the Creel hospitality by giving three of us news scribes, accompanying the Presidential Train, a truck and a driver to visit a Tarahumara village some 20 minutes away. Nobody speaks of distances around here. Everything is so many minutes or hours by truck. And Mr. Cuentas made a gracious, unceremonious refusal of pay for this service.

The village of San Ignacio was located about 5 miles away in low gear via pitted gulleys and rocky trails. Accompanying our intrepid correspondent in the back of the truck were Bert Quint of the New York Herald-Tribune and Max Diamant of a German journal whose name I cannot even pronounce, let alone spell.

It looked like a scene from a Hollywood Western. Towering cathedral rocks studied with never-ending pizars. A quiet valley carpeted with pasture land and air that looked like it had never been breathed.

And a clear, little stream wound through herds of some very fine looking steak on the hoof.

Overlooking this was the ancient, stone church of San Ignacio. The Spaniards made Christians of the Tarahumaras, then went off and left them. Mexico has built a school here to teach them Spanish and incorporate them with the rest of the country. The village is scattered around the base of unbelievable cliffs. Log huts tucked away next to huge boulders. Smoke blackened caves with Tarahumaras squatting around fires.

These Indians are the cattle tenders and back-country cow pokes for ranchers. They still hunt deer, puma and bear with bows and arrows. It is all primitive, quiet and peaceful. For they do not indulge in such modern pastimes as war and political squabbles.

And with the sunset, the Ponderosa Pines that rimmed the towering western cliffs turned to green fire eddied with gold. Miles across the valley the pastures and eastern walls were soaked with deep orange.

Just like a place God had personally made.

'Theatervision' Given First Test

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Broadway's venture into the relative unknown of closed-circuit television may be headed for success, but most agree that there's no business like live show business.

Through the medium of "Theatervision" Wednesday night, a near-capacity audience of 2,500 at the Rochester Auditorium Theater saw Paddy Chayefsky's latest Broadway offering, "Gideon," at the same time that the New York company was giving its regular evening performance at the Plymouth Theater.

If the backers of the closed-circuit promotion find it successful, the system will be extended to 24 other cities in the fall and to 100 cities in the U.S. and Canada by next year.

It was a near-capacity turnout—unusual for a midweek performance—at the Plymouth Theater where the audience paid from $3 to $7.50 to watch. An airplane hour away here in Rochester, the house was scaled from $1.50 to $3 for viewing on the 15-by-20 foot screen.

One of the most interested and enthusiastic television viewers was Chayefsky, who stood backstage in the Plymouth eyeing a TV monitor.

"They've almost got it down perfect from the artistic point of view. It needs work, but very little. By the fourth or fifth show it ought to be perfect," he said. "The legitimate theater's got to change, got to go west of Broadway and this just might be the vehicle for it," added Chayefsky, who began his career as a television writer seven years ago.

There were minor complaints about some of the technical aspects of the airing in Rochester. For one thing, many voiced annoyance with the sound which they said was too loud. One viewer said the screen was too small. Nathan Zucker and Walter Lowenthal of Dynamic Theater Network, Inc. are the co-sponsors of the Theatervision. The equipment and methods were developed by Marconi Wireless Telegraph Ltd. of Great Britain and transmission is by telephone company lines. Warren Caro, a co-director of the Theater Guild, said the system had "enormous potential as an adjunct to the theater."

"It needs a lot of improvement technically," said Broadway producer Herman Blumkin. Its main purpose, he added, was to stimulate interest in the theater.

William Hammerstein, co-producer of the current Broadway play, "Come Along With Me," said he felt the idea had merit. "I don't think it can ever replace the experience of seeing live actors sweating on the stage," he added.

One woman said it gave her the feeling of watching an old movie, but said she felt it would be improved.

These television cameras and a bank of microphones were arranged around the Plymouth Theater to pick up the action. Despite the extraordinary equipment, the performance did not appear to vary an iota from earlier, non-televized performances, although some actors later confessed to a bit of opening night nerves.

These included veteran actor Freddie March, who plays the Deity in the Biblical drama. He said he had a slight case of jitters at knowing that he was playing to an audience beyond the theater. Douglas Campbell, who plays the title role, said he didn't think about the cameras at all.

But Little Egypt, who does a belly dance in the second act, said she was nervous.

The Rochester audience did have one advantage. By use of zoom lens and expert camera work, they were given timely close-ups of the players. They were, in fact, at times much closer than the front row viewers in the Plymouth.

Young TV Actor Pleads Innocent

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Billy Gray, who portrays the young son Bud in the "Father Knows Best" television series, has pleaded innocent to a charge of drunken driving.

A jury trial was set Wednesday for April 23. Judge Robert Dulin set April 12 for the preliminary hearing on another charge, possessing marijuana. Police said they found a plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana seeds in the actor's car. They said Gray, 24, admitted drinking a few beers but denied any connection with the narcotic.

Peace Corps Given Boost In Philippines

MANILA (AP) — A third contingent of 42 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers has arrived for service in the Philippines, bringing the total in the islands to 223.

Another group is expected this summer to swell the total to 300. The new arrivals will be assigned as teachers' aides in schools in Leyte and Samar Islands in the central Philippines. They will first undergo a five-week training and orientation program at the University of the Philippines.

Classes Suspended Because Of Epidemic

ERE, Pa. (AP) — Classes were suspended for 12 days at Gannon College Wednesday because of an outbreak of measles and scarlet fever. An estimated 60 cases were reported among the student body of 2,500.

Dr. Wilfred Nash, president of the all-male school, said classes will resume April 9.

Syria Is Calm After Coup

BY FAROUK NASSAR. DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria remained calm today after the bloodless coup that toppled the right-wing civilian government. The new military rulers shortened the curfew they ordered by one hour.

The frontiers were still sealed, isolating this Mediterranean republic in the heart of the Middle East. Otherwise daily life went on normally with streets ordered cleared only from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Damascus Radio continued to tell the five million Syrians—long accustomed to upheavals—to prepare for a swing back toward the left from the anti-nationalization policies of deposed President Nazem El Koudsi's regime.

The cornerstone of Wednesday's revolt was proclaimed as building constructive Arab socialism at home, promoting Arab unity, and positive neutrality and nonalignment in foreign affairs.

The army made clear that the coup was a continuation—not a reversal—of its Sept. 28 revolution that broke the alliance with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Neighboring Turkey and Jordan took the word of the Syrian military that its takeover was purely an internal affair. A spokesman for the Turkish foreign ministry predicted quick diplomatic recognition of the new military regime.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo claimed the Syrian switch enhanced President Nasser's prestige because of the junta's endorsement of Arab socialism, the term Nasser uses for his program. Israeli officials adopted a detached attitude and said they did not expect any change in Syrian-Arab relations that have become increasingly bitter with recent border clashes.

Sources in Beirut said there was evidence that the Syrian military not only did not like the civilian government's swing to the right but were also suspicious of the way it played Arab politics.

Some Beirut newspapers speculated that the Syrian officers particularly opposed moves toward formation of a joint Syrian-Iraqi command.

There were reports in Lebanon that ousted Premier Marouf Dawlhi and other civilian leaders, including ex-Premier Mamoun Kuzbari, may be brought to trial. Kuzbari has been speaker of Parliament since election of the now dissolved legislature last December.

The ruling army command said it had accepted the resignations of President Koudsi and Premier Dawlhi's cabinet but did not make any reference to their fate. There was a hint, however, that some may be under arrest.

'Great Day' Is Hurt By Thin Plot

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—Bewiling, big-hearted auntie keeps the whole family spinning in "Great Day in the Morning."

The play, an amiable amble back into 1928 domesticity, opened Wednesday night at Henry Miller's Theater. It is quite a showcase for Colleen Dewhurst, a stage and TV familiar in wide-ranging roles.

She wrestles enthusiastically, guzzles home-brew joyously, cries and laughs with vigor to inject dimension and life into the character whose problems are the pith of the thin plot.

The trouble is that neither Aunt Phoebe, nor any of the other members of this Irish clan pent together in a St. Louis back street, ever manage to develop a really dramatic situation.

Episodic humor and touching incidents spill through the frankly autobiographical script compiled by Alice Cannon, a new playwright. The parts are better than the unfulfilled whole.

Other performers who ably contribute vignettes are Frances Sternhagen, J. D. Cannon (the author's husband), Elisabeth Fraser, Lou Frizzell, Clifton James and David Canary.

Director Jose Quintero relies on a lot of agitated movement and door-slamming to keep things moving around the cumbersome kitchen-and-yard setting devised by Lester Polakov.

Warm-spirited and well-intentioned, "Great Day in the Morning" supplies fair amusement.

Shipments Of Produce Are Slowed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adverse weather has slowed the normally heavy spring shipment of produce to Texas markets.

But potatoes, turnips and rutabagas remain abundant at economical cost. Fresh greens and green onions from South Texas also are arriving in generous volume, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports.

Fresh grapefruit and oranges from Florida, apples, avocados and bananas continue to highlight fresh fruit markets. Strawberries have yet to reach their peak.

Shipments of mixed melons, honeydews, persians and cantaloupes from Mexico increased.

Yellow squash is sharply higher than a week ago. Best quality sweet potatoes cost more, as storage stocks diminish. Snap beans, lettuce and cucumbers also are higher at wholesale.

Radishes and tomatoes are slightly weaker. New crop onions have started.

Supplies of canned vegetables are adequate for all needs and USDA expects substantial carry-over of frozen items, as last year's pack was record large.

Supplies of ready-to-cook turkey are more than ample. Broiler-fryers are economical. Eggs are abundant at low cost. Milk and all dairy foods are plentiful, as are dry beans, peanut products and vegetable fats and oils. Supplies of all red meats and frozen and canned seafoods are sufficient to provide wide choice.

Wek Helps Unite Pair

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With some help from Lawrence Wek, Bo Wagner, 16, and his father have patched up their difficulties.

Young Wagner (real name Robert W. Wagner Jr.) is an entertainer who once worked for band-leader Wek. The teenager recently left home and filed a suit asking that Superior Court appoint him another guardian.

A hearing on the petition was scheduled for Wednesday. But the boy's attorney told the court that Bo and his father, Robert Sr., had settled their differences—with Wek's intercession—and Bo was back in the family, home again.

In his guardianship petition the youth said he has been virtually the sole support of his father, mother, two brothers and a sister. Young Wagner is an actor, dancer, singer and musician.

Airliner With 51 Aboard Lands Safely

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An airliner with 51 persons aboard landed safely at International Airport Wednesday night with hydraulic trouble.

The Northwest Orient Air Lines Boeing jet 720 made a smooth landing and taxied past fire and lifesaving units which were mustered as a precaution.

The air line said a leak in the hydraulic system that operates wingflaps prompted the precautionary measures.

The aircraft came to Miami from Seattle, Wash., via Portland, Ore., Chicago and Tampa.

LOOKS JUST AS TOUGH

Fight For Prestige Is Open Invitation To Art Forgeries

By INEZ ROBB

Alas, there must be a fatal flaw in my otherwise law-abiding character, but every time some unknown artist is arrested for having produced phony masterpieces thoughtfully signed by Braque, Picasso, Miro or Leger—masterpieces that temporarily fool both critics, dealers and collectors—I am impulsive to applaud.

Obviously, the artist is very gifted, not to say versatile, to have deceived even temporarily the experts who judge and sell pictures to collectors who themselves range from expert to merely ambitious. The French police have just taken out of circulation a 33-year-old artist, Jean-Pierre Scheroun. In the past two years he has earned around $250,000 by selling to galleries and individuals some 100 expertly executed pictures signed by the cream of contemporary artists.

That is, M. Scheroun, eschewing pride of authorship, skillfully forged the signatures of such artists to Scheroun works excellently painted in the manner of the famous artist currently in demand.

No one denies that Scheroun is a gifted painter, no matter whose work he "produces". But, like the great Dutch forger, Hans van Meegeren, he was getting no where signing his own name to his work, even though he was regarded as "brilliant" in his student days at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts.

Art is long, all right. But time is fleeting even in a Montmartre garret. And any starving artist can see that in these times the price is right for a picture signed by any one of the great moderns. For modern art today is the biggest, stas symbol of all. There is nothing else in a category with it to prove, at one fell swoop, that the owner has class, culture and money to burn.

At the turn of the century, the nouveaux riches could prove it with yachts, diamonds and boxes at the opera. Later, a racing stable and presentation at the Court of St. James's were the ticket. But in the 'sixties, a respectable collection of modern art will beat all these symbols six ways to the social heights.

There is the enlightening legend of the New York theatrical mogul who began collecting modern art when the money from several hit plays rolled in. He called his wife one day and announced, "I am sending over an Alfa Romeo and a Matisse. Hang one in the study and put the other in the garage."

"Okay," said the little woman, "but which goes where?"

With both museums and private collectors fighting for prestige in the field of modern art and the

Gout Onset Spring Sign For Some

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—To 100,000 or more heroic Americans the sweet season of spring brings a melancholy fear.

They are victims of an ancient and mysterious (and despite all rumors to the contrary) hereditary ailment known as gout. Like the first robin, an onset of gout often heralds the arrival of spring.

Some doctors may scoff at the idea that weather really has much to do with gout, one of the most painful but character-busting afflictions in mankind's vast arsenal of disease.

But chronic-gout sufferers know different. Experience has taught them to fear the rainy days of spring and autumn. It is then they feel at "night a premonitory twinge in toe, foot, ankle, knee, wrist or elbow—and wake up in the morning feverish and racked with an agony that is the nearest masculine equivalent to the pangs of childbirth.

That is characteristic of an acute attack of gout. It comes like a thief in the night, it strikes a man down when he is defenseless in the dark.

Gout may affect practically any joint in the body, but about 90 per cent of the time it seems to prefer one of the big toes. The resulting throbbing sensation feels somewhat as if you had thrust your foot into an electric clothes wringer—and kept it there.

The nice thing about gout, as Columnist Bill Vaughan of the Kansas City Star has observed, is that it gives so much pleasure to your friends.

They are gleefully certain that it is a heavenly punishment for some indiscretion of the flesh on your part.

This has been the unfeeling attitude of the ignorant in all ages, but does allow the gout victim the luxury of feeling he is a persecuted martyr.

The truth is that science knows little about the cause of gout, other than that it is a metabolic upset that often may be hereditary.

Gout comes not only to the merry monarch on the throne after a big bout of gluttonous eating and drinking. It comes also to the ascetic monk in his cell in the exhaustion following a period of spiritual ecstasy.

It can also hit an ordinary victim after a siege of overwork or strain, or in the wake of a violent quarrel with his boss or favorite wife.

Those who endure the tortures of gout are proud of two things about it:

1. It is a real he-man's disease. Women have no equal rights to it. Only one out of 20 gout patients is a woman, and she may be a medical social climber trying to claim an ailment she isn't entitled to.

2. Gout is a thinking man's disease, or so its victims like to believe. Among the celebrated heroes of gout are such intellectual frontiersmen as Christopher Columbus, Francis Bacon, Samuel Johnson and Benjamin Franklin.

When you see a man jeer at gout you can be sure of one thing: He is an ignoramus who hasn't the brains to achieve good himself—and is secretly envious of his betters.

There ought to be a great new opera—or, anyway, a musical comedy—in the near situation. And, as a working title, what about "Artist Contemplating the Bust of J. P. Morgan?"

Junior Editors Quiz on TIMEPIECES

QUESTION: What is the most accurate timepiece in the world and where can it be found?

ANSWER: There is not really one timepiece that is the most accurate. Two in this country serve as points of reference, however, for most clock-setting. The Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C., maintains an atomic clock. This clock loses one second every 30 years. On the basis of readings of that clock, the Bureau of Standards broadcasts the time to the second. The United States Naval Observatory also has its timepiece, for navigation. The most important spot in time measurement is the Greenwich Meridian. In order to standardize time measurement all over the world, most countries decided toward the end of the last century to designate the longitude passing directly through Greenwich, England as the main line. From that longitude, the rest of the world was divided into 24 zones. Four of the zones fell across the United States—Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific. Previously, each country had determined its own time. Now, all time was determined first at Greenwich. For example, perhaps it was noon at Greenwich. The countries to the west of Greenwich added one hour per zone to Greenwich time to determine their time. Countries to the east subtracted one hour per zone.

FOR YOU TO DO: When it is Monday in England it is Tuesday in Indonesia. This peculiar situation brings in the International Date Line, another important line in time measurement. Find out where this line is located.

(Grenada Day of West Finley, Pa. Price $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

New Criticism Of Court Is Brewing

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has an Olympian air about it. Nine justices, dressed in black, sitting in a row behind a high bench in a marble palace, dispensing wisdom.

What makes them human is what Zeus look human: it's the scrapes they get into. They not only get attacked from the outside but from inside by one another.

The court has just emerged from a decade of major decisions and tremendous criticism. And now, because of a ruling this week, new criticism is beginning.

This was last Monday's decision that federal courts have a right to step in if states refuse to give their citizens fair representation in state legislatures.

This will affect politicians and to no one's surprise, politicians are already screaming.

The criticism may chill the court a while, as criticism in the past seems to have done, but this won't deter the court from getting into new controversies later.

President Jackson got into a dispute with the court in 1833 when it told Georgia not to try to take over Cherokee Indian land. Georgia defied the court. Jackson, sympathetic to Georgia, told the court to try to carry out its decree itself.

And the court brought the House down on its head in 1857 when it said, in the Dred Scott case, Congress couldn't outlaw slavery in the territories.

But the biggest head-on clash came in the 1930s when the high conservative court, which President Franklin D. Roosevelt said was living in the horse and buggy days, ruled against one piece of New Deal legislation after another.

Roosevelt focused so much national attention on the justices, particularly when he tried to add new ones to the court, that the nine men may have been rendered self-conscious. At any rate, thereafter they began approving Roosevelt's legislation.

The South is still denouncing the court for its 1954 decision outlawing segregation in public schools. But all these events involved criticism of the court from the outside.

Disputes among the justices themselves on their decisions—and biting criticism of one another because of them—has been going on a long time.

None of them was more scathing than Justice Felix Frankfurter who disagreed with the majority this week on the legislative representation case. He didn't think the court should get this deeply into political problems.

But Frankfurter has a long record of sounding off when he disagrees with his fellow justices, even though, like a phonograph record someone forgot to turn off, he repeats himself even to using the same words.

Last week, for instance, he accused the majority with which he disagreed of "asserting a destructively novel judicial power." Back on Feb. 7, 1954, in another dis-

Air Service Cut Asked For Midland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Midland and Odessa in West Texas should be eliminated from the route system of American Airlines, the Civil Aeronautics Board said in a tentative finding Wednesday.

Frequent and convenient service, the CAB said, has been provided there by Continental and also through a change of planes, by Trans-Texas on its route to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Although continued service by American apparently is unwarrented, the CAB said, there are controversial questions about the precise need of Midland-Odessa for air service that should be resolved only in a proceeding.

Accordingly, the board allowed 20 days for the filing of any objections to possible elimination of American's service.

The CAB said it then would set a hearing "at the earliest practicable time." In view of this action, the board denied American's application to suspend the service immediately.

The board also denied an application by Trans-Texas for authority to provide direct service between Dallas-Fort Worth and Midland-Odessa. It said that one-stop local service between those cities already is in issue in the pending Southwestern Area local service case.

Uncle Sam Not A Stamp Collector

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Don't ask Uncle Sam what happens to the trading stamps he gets with his purchases. He doesn't rightly know.

The reason for his ignorance, officials explained today, is that it would probably cost him more to find out than the stamps are worth.

"If we called for reports to

Effort To Help May Prove Fatal

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Loman Eastwood, 77, may pay with his life for trying to be helpful.

Fred Carlson, 16, was draining gasoline from a power mower Wednesday in the basement of his home two doors away. He was too close to a water heater and the bucket of gasoline caught fire.

Eastwood saw the flames and hurried over. He tried to push the blazing bucket out the door with a snow shovel but the bucket turned over and he was engulfed in flames.

His condition was reported critical.

Burglars Thwarted By Unique System

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sherman Meenach has an anti-burglar system that scares would-be thieves right out of their shoes.

After several burglaries at his tavern, Meenach installed a microphone in the cafe with the speaker in his apartment upstairs. He says he has foiled several burglaries because he could hear the thieves.

The latest burglar, who took off when Meenach appeared on the scene with pistol in hand, left a size 11 loafer in front of the tavern door and the other one in an alley outside.

Realistic Toy Pistols Banned

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy Wednesday ordered a crackdown on the sale of toy guns which resemble too closely the real thing.

Murphy said too many realistic toy pistols have been used recently in the commission of crimes. He also said that in many instances they have been converted into actual weapons.

Washington accounting for the stamps, we'd have to enlarge the bureaucracy," they say. "A lot of valuable paper and high-powered stenographers would go to waste on trivia."

Not that the government lacks a firm policy. When a federal employe buys something for the government and gets stamps, he's supposed to turn them into his office. Then the office is supposed to redeem them for things it needs, like a new desk lamp for the boss, or turn them over to federal hospitals. But no costly bookkeeping instructions, say, no reports with 14 carbon copies.

In case they've escaped your notice, trading stamps are little coupons handed to shoppers at banks of retail stores across the country. You get one stamp with each 20 cents worth of merchandise; then you stick them in books, usually 1,200 or 1,500 to a book. When you've stuck in enough you can get premiums.

Though it is the world's biggest buyer, the government does not collect as many stamps as you might think. For example, none came with the new aircraft carrier Enterprise. What a stamp-licking job that would have been! The ship cost $440 million, which would have meant 4.4 billion stamps.

But federal employes driving cars on official business may stop at gas stations which give stamps. And there is a certain amount of other buying at retail—strawberries or perishable vegetables in season, for example. Nobody here knows just how many stamps total buying is done at stores that handle stamps.

Government policy on the stamps was firming up in May 1960, as the result of a bit of a furor. Rumors had spread that the government had big hoards of stamps it did not know what to do with.

Clergymen wrote in asking for them, so they could get new organs for their churches. One housewife pledged to lick all the government's stamps, if she could keep half of them.

So the General Services Administration and the General Accounting Office, federal watchdogs, put their heads together. They decided the government couldn't legally give stamps away. The result was a directive, to agencies. Redeem them at the lowest organizational level with a minimum of accounting. Or hand them over to government hospitals. And you needn't report to Washington.

Doctors Install Heart Regulator

DALLAS (AP)—A week ago a heart beat threatened to end the life of Samuel Phillips, 80, a former stockman whose home is at Denton.

Then surgeons installed a heart regulator. Wednesday his doctor told Phillips he should be able to leave Methodist Hospital this weekend.

Before the operation, his overworked heart was trying to force blood through arteries narrowed by hardening.

Phillips' heart had slowed to a dangerous level of 32 beats a minute. The normal rate is about 80 beats a minute. He was suffering hiccups because his heart couldn't pump enough blood to his brain.

His doctor in Denton told Phillips about the Pacemaker, an eight-ounce machine that can be worn either inside or outside the body. Through two wires sutured into the heart, it keeps the heart beat normal.

Proper Form Of Rabbitcide Argued

By PHIL CORNER
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—It isn't fair to bop the hare. So to speak, said Richard Meek.

In fact, it isn't even sport, he told the court.

He left the justices to decide the proper form of rabbitcide.

But, as spokesman for the bunny, he had an idea most unfunny. He was for a shotgun blast to make the rabbit breathe his last. Before this rhyming gets too gory, we think it's time to tell the story.

Attorneys for both sides of the celebrated Iredell County sticks-and-stones rabbit hunt appeared before the State Supreme Court Wednesday to argue their cases. The justices tossed a barrage of questions at Richard Meek of Charlotte, who sought a court order outlawing the "bunny bop," which has become an annual affair of the town of Harmony's American Legion—post.

Representing the legion were Arthur Beckham and C. B. Winberry of Statesville.

The legionnaires make an afternoon out of it each fall and the deceased rabbits make up the menu at a subsequent barbecue.

Last year, after weeks of public outcry against the sticks and stones hunt, the legion bowed and made it a shotgun affair.

Meek told the court the sticks and stones hunt constituted a public nuisance, not because the rabbits got hurt, but because it taught children to use brute force.

This raised the eyebrows of Associate Justice Carlisle Higgins, himself an ardent hunter. "How can you kill without using brute force and what difference does it make whether you use a stick or a shotgun?" Higgins wanted to know.

"Use of a shotgun is sporting," Meek informed him. Justice William B. Rodman asked about con hunts and fox hunts in which dogs are released to chase down and chew up their quarry. And Justice R. Hunt Parker inquired as to Meek's opinion of people who kill chickens by wringing their necks.

Meek replied he would be opposed to a chicken wringing party with children watching.

Beckham argued that there was no evidence the hunts constituted a public nuisance.

The appeal was from a decision of Superior Court Judge Walter Crissman, who dismissed a plea to forbid the legion post from staging any more rabbit hunts.

The Supreme Court now has the case under advisement.

That made Phillips one of a select Pacemaker group. The doctor estimated no more than six people in Dallas wear the regulator. His age makes the Denton man even more unusual.

"He's done marvelously—especially for an 80-year-old," the doctor said. "Any operation is unusual at that age."

"In a couple of weeks he can do anything he feels like doing."

This Pacemaker will last five years. Then the batteries must be replaced.

"By that time, they'll have better and smaller ones that last longer," the doctor predicted.
