HOUSTON, June 28.—While its last real disagreement over prohibition was adjusting itself in committee, the democratic national convention spent the waiting hours today paying tribute to the little coterie of favorite son candidates whose supporters still are refusing to board the Smith band wagon.

In hours of stump speaking and hurrahing, one after another of the already beaten minor candidates were placed formally in nomination, and some of them were given militant and colorful demonstrations of loyalty by their home state delegations. The convention likewise heard another batch of scolding speeches for Smith, whose name was presented last night.

The ten men sought, together with one already under arrest, authorities believe, will be able to clear up the slaying of the pioneer racketeer—if they can be induced to talk, something that has always proved difficult in gangland slayings.

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, June 28.—Warfare between factions fighting for control of the Detroit river liquor traffic broke out last night August Nykiel and Michael Dipisa, rival leaders, were shot dead. A policeman and a woman bystander were in hospitals today suffering from wounds received during a pistol fight.

Police were told that Nykiel was called out of one of his river front saloons and cut down by a fusillade of pistol shots fired by Dipisa, and an unidentified companion, who fled behind an automobile in front of the place.

Constable Opens Fire

Edward A. McPherson, constable, who was serving a summons at a house nearby when the shooting occurred, ran to the street and opened fire on the pair as they attempted to enter their car. Dipisa was killed during the exchange.

Employees of Nykiel's saloon purchased the unidentified gunman in an automobile. The running fight continued over a mile of west side streets when a police motor squad caught sight of the machines. YARD FIGHT IN LAST HALF OF RACE IS SEEN

STEERS TROT OUT TWO NEW PITCHERS FOR WEDNESDAY GAME

Since Houston has tucked away first-place honors for the first half of the Texas League season, other clubs are giving much attention to strengthening weak places in order that a different story of the second half pennant chase can be told.

Steers Have Hard Time

One such club is Dallas, which, accustomed for several years to a place in the first division and very often for a real chance at the pennant, has devoted much of its time this year to keeping out of the cellar. Manager Ellison trotted out a couple of new hurlers in the Steers' game with Waco Wednesday, but his white elephants lost, 5 to 8.

Ray Pierce and Leo Bartholomew, recently acquired from Mobile and Pittsburgh, respectively, were the new Steers' hurlers.

Manuel, young batter from California, at Madison Square Garden tonight or it may be just another fight. If Emanuel comes in under the 175-pound limit the bout automatically takes on titular aspects although it is only scheduled to go ten rounds, and the champion had not intended to risk his crown.

In his only New York appearance Emanuel won a decision over the current "black menace" and the man generally avoided by all heavyweights who seek advancement in their profession. Risko was awarded the victory after ten rounds of vicious, bruising mauling last night.

Although the verdict of the judges met with lukewarm approval from $5,000 fans several sport writers gave Risko a marginal five rounds with four for Godfrey and one even. The Associated Press score sheet gave the negro giant five rounds, with three for Risko and two even.

Risko who weighed 190 pounds apparently caught the judges' eyes with a thrilling rally in the last two rounds that had the 235-pound negro giant glad to hold back away from the stress of left hooks Johnny threw at his head and body.

There was no semblance of a knockdown and neither bore marks of the battle at the close.

MISS WILLIS WINS
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28 (AP).—Helen Willis, defending her Wimbledon championship, successfully met her second test of the 1928 tournament today, eliminating Miss V. Gall of England, in easy fashion, 6-0, 6-0.

ECONOMY MILL PLANS FORMAL OPENING SOON

ADVANCED PROGRAM IS COMPLETED; BEST IS AMONG PLANT

The rapid transition of the Economy Mills Co., Inc. of this city, from its initial purpose of grinding feed to a general mill that is one of the leaders in this part of the state, is noted in the announcement here Thursday by Claude Tatum, president and general manager that improvements and enlargement announced recently are completed, and that a formal opening exercise is planned shortly.

The mill, which, founded, was designed only for feed grinding, but according to Mr. Tatum, as the South Plains developed, the demand increased for variety of feeds. A commercial product of two were added.

Later other feeds were added, and today, there are some 12 or 14 different products manufactured at the mill, and a general custom grinding business is done as well.

Demand For Sweet Feed

During recent years there has been a great demand for sweet feed. There was no mill in this section equipped for the business, but after Claude Tatum had been thoroughly convinced that there was a demand for the product he made a trip through the north and east and inspected a number of sweet feed mills. The result was that he purchased many thousands of dollars worth of machinery for the manufacture of sweet feed.

A new building was constructed and the new mill is now in operation. It is an improvement over all other mills in the Plains area, and compares very favorably with mill in the larger cities. The new unit consists of a powerful hammer mill driven by a 50 h. p. direct drive motor, a molasses mixer with a capacity of 12,500 pounds per hour, and other machinery to make the plant complete.

Molasses Process

In the future South Plains farmers may either bring in their feed and have it ground or syrupeed or may buy the commercial product. The molasses process used at the mill is said to be far superior to anything in this section in that it is the "cool" process. Instead of heating the syrup and cooking the grain it is put on cold, thereby leaving the finished product smooth, rather than rough and lumpy. As much as 50 per cent syrup may be used. Many additions have been made to the mill during the past two years, but the new addition is by far the most outstanding.

A formal opening will be held in the very near future, and for the benefit of farmers who have not

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, June 28 (AP)—The cotton market opened easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than due and only moderate rains in the belt overnight. First trades showed losses of 1 to 3 points and prices continued to ease after the start on selling which indicated top heaviness in the market.

October sold off to 21.69 a December 21.63, or 11 to 13 points net down.

When these offerings were absorbed October recovered to 21.84 and December 21.78, or 12 to 13 points over the lows and 2 points above the previous close.

Trading became more animated as the morning progressed and buying increased. The purchasing was said to be prompted by the detailed weather report showing more rain in the belt than was indicated by the map.

October traded to 22.20 and December 22.12, 47 to 51 points above the lows and 26 to 30 points over the previous close. The market was firm and only a few points under the best.

Smith Pleased At Proceedings In Convention

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28 (AP)—Governor Smith was up until well into the early hours this morning listening over the radio to the demonstration staged at the democratic convention when his name was placed in nomination for the presidency, and he made no attempt to check his satisfaction.

He tuned in as soon as the evening session began and did not miss a word or a shout or a blast of music. As the demonstration broke out at the close of Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech offering him as the party's standard bearer in the presidential race, the governor grinned. Raising one hand he twirled it above his head as though he too were on the convention floor and swinging a clacker in celebration.

When the radio reproduced the music of a band playing "The Sidewalks of New York" he could no longer contain himself and rising he danced slowly several times about a circle of family and friends who had been listening to the convention doings with him.

SUB-COMMITTEE APPROVES TENTATIVE DRAFT OF PLATFORM

PRO PLANK IN VOLSTEAD ACT PASSES BOARD

ALL-NIGHT MEET ENDS IN AGREEMENT OVER PRONOUNCEMENT

By James L. West
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

HOUSTON, June 28.—A prohibition plank declaring for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment was approved today by the democratic convention sub-committee in winding up the drafting of the platform.

The declaration, which has been the subject of bitter controversy for days, is exactly as was drafted by Senator E. A. Tamm, chairman of the committee, and is understood to have the endorsement of Gov. Alfred E. Glass.

Planks declaring for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, the plank sharply assails the administration for what is described as a failure to enforce the law and also for placing "political friends" in enforcement positions.

The plank adopted by the sub-committee, which will be presented to the entire convention later in the day, with a view to having it go before the convention this afternoon, adopted a plank embodying the views of farm organizations, but with a slight endorsement of the equalization fee and the McNary-Haugen bill.

Several plans for relief are suggested and the party would be expected to enact legislation to correct what are declared to be the evils in distribution and the taking of care of the surplus farm crops.

It was explained that this might be done through the operation of the equalization fee or by other means. Several wet and dry proposals were submitted to the sub-committee but they were eliminated one by one until there remained only the original plank as drawn by Senator Tamm, which was finally approved.

Moody's Plea Refused
Gov. Dan Moody of Texas, presented the prohibition declaration adopted by the Texas state convention and endorsing the eighteenth amendment, but this was rejected with propositions for the modification of the prohibition law so as to permit the states to decide whether they would be wet or dry.

The Texas governor would make a statement after the sub-committee wound up its work at 6:30 a. m. day after meeting continuously since 9 o'clock last night, but he and his colleagues on the committee that he might take the fight to the floor. However, the consensus among the twelve platform builders appeared to be that there would be no prohibition fight in the convention.

Daniel Not on Board
Josephus Daniels, North Carolina publisher and former naval secretary, who also has been demanding a vigorous enforcement plank was not a member of the sub-committee. He will have opportunity to state his views when the sub-committee reports to the full committee which still has to endorse the party declaration.

Chairman Pittman was of the opinion that it would require more than an hour for the entire committee to pass upon the platform and he expected the convention to hold a special session in mid-afternoon to receive and approve the committee report.

With a renewal before the members of the committee of the row over prohibition which broke out late yesterday at the first hearing, it seemed doubtful that a report for the convention would be completed until late in the afternoon. Should this prove the case, the platform will be taken up and disposed of at a night session.

It was clear that the nomination of Smith and his running mate on Friday and the purport of the convention since the nomination of the New York executive and who are expected to be in the south in the coming elections unless there is an unequivocal statement for enforcement of the prohibition amendment with no attempt at modification.

His view has been frankly stated to the Smith Democrats, but his reaction to it remains as yet a book. The Smith people are working a platform plank offered by Senator Tydings, of Maryland, proposing to return to the power and right to decide whether they will be dry or wet, but the odds are that they had no idea that the committee would endorse such a proposition.

Minority Report Seen
There were intimations, however, that if a fight was forced within the convention itself, a minority report for this plank would be presented so that the convention could select either course or keep to the middle of the road with a straight law enforcement declaration similar to that of 1924 and which is favored by some of the temperance organizations of the country.

After the sub-committee began its work the members were able to speedily dispose of a number of less controversial questions with a degree of swiftness that proved highly satisfactory to the members. One such plank given quick approval was that emphatically denouncing what was denominated as corruption in government and pledging the party to an honest administration of public affairs.

The foreign relations, veteran relief and a number of other declarations also were approved with comparatively little debate.

With the organized farmers represented on the sub-committee and a number of staunch friends of agriculture also members, there was an earnest effort to have the party make a pronouncement for a relief plank.

The subject of farm relief rather than to deal in generalities which it was contended, would carry little weight in the corn belt.

Mayfield Aids Plea
Demands for such a plank were made before the entire committee yesterday by Senator Mayfield of Texas and Representative Rainey of Illinois, as well as by E. A. O'Neal, of Alabama, vice president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. O'Neal presented a resolution endorsing the principle of the equalization fee provision of the McNary-Haugen bill, although it does not mention that measure.

The tentative draft of the farm relief plank prepared by some of the party leaders proposes no specific form of relief, but it is described as a "very strong plank" and one which was expected to meet with the approval of the farmers.

The struggle over prohibition before the full committee reached its peak near the close when Bishop James Cannon, Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, presenting a plea on behalf of the 31 temperance organizations for a law enforcement plank, declared that Maryland had multiplied its breweries and distilleries upon adoption of prohibition laws by its neighbor states of Virginia and West Virginia.

Tydings Resents Charge
Senator Tydings of Maryland, immediately was on his feet declaring he did not intend to "have my state insulted by statements which can not be backed up by facts." Bishop Cannon said he was reciting facts, but the Marylander disagreed, declaring Cannon had uttered "an absolute falsehood."

Senator Glass of Virginia then jumped to his feet, charging Tydings with violation of an agreement entered into by the committee for consideration of the dry question. Several hot exchanges followed during which Tydings rose again and started toward the speaker's platform, only to be pulled back by force by Senator Blewett of South Carolina.

Order was finally restored, and Bishop Cannon continued his appeal for vigorous enforcement.

Previously, Tydings and Josephus Daniels, North Carolina publisher and secretary of the navy under President Wilson, had indulged in an exchange over the position of the war president on prohibition.

Double-Cross Charged
"Don't praise the great president in one paragraph of your platform and repudiate him in another," Tydings declared in urging his plank calling for determination of the liquor question by the individual states. He recalled that Mayfield had vetoed the Volstead act.

Protesting against such "unhallowed use of Woodrow Wilson's name," Mr. Daniels said the late president vetoed the Volstead act because it continued two wartime measures which he had asked congress to repeal.

"With in a few months before his death," Mr. Daniels added, "he wrote a letter to a distinguished man saying that neither the eighteenth amendment nor the Volstead act should be changed."

FORMAL NOMINATION OF ALREADY DEFEATED CANDIDATES OCCUPIES EARLY SESSION; SMITH GAINING

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

HOUSTON, June 28.—While its platform builders labored in confusion over prohibition and farm relief, a hot, tired, and irritable democratic national convention back to San Houston hall today to complete the gesture of placing formally in nomination a long list of already defeated presidential favorite sons.

After nearly four hours of speech making and demonstrating, spiced with a couple of fist fights among southern delegates, the roll call of nominating speeches was not half finished when the convention quitted shortly before midnight.

A morning session today was given over to completion of this necessary convention formality, with the hope of going on to balloting for a nominee either tonight or tomorrow.

Oratory Unappreciated
Neither delegates nor spectators took a great deal of interest in the oratorical flourish of presenting the remaining candidates for the big scene of the play had been enacted at the night session. Smith of New York, with enough votes already pledged to him to nominate him out of hand, was presented formally in a nominating speech that kept his supporters cheering and started a twenty minute carnival of noise making and parading. It was during that bit of bedlam that fists flew on two occasions to settle whether the state standard of Mississippi should go into the parade or stay out. Eventually it stayed out, and apparently no one was much the worse for the rough and tumble it took to accomplish the decision.

Besides Smith, whose nomination was presented by Franklin D. Roosevelt and seconded by a whole relay of speakers including three women, the convention formally entered on its book of eligibles Evans Woollen of Indiana, Representative Ayers of Kansas, and Senator George of Georgia. Today's list included Senator Reed of Missouri, Representative Hull of Tennessee, former Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, former Senator Pomrenne of Ohio, Jesse Jones of Texas, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and Huston-Thompson of California. Few in the whole group opposing Smith have voted pledged them outside their own states, and several are expected to withdraw almost as soon as they are put into the running, and throw their support to the leader.

Look to Running Mate
With Smith already as good as nominated, the delegates were more than ever looking ahead today to the naming of a running mate for him. Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic senate leader who is chairman of the convention, continued far out in front of the crowded field of aspirants and some party men were inclined to look upon his nomination as almost as secure as that of Smith himself.

The general gossip was that the Arkansas had greatly strengthened his position with the great Smith majority by interpolating a word for religious equality in his inaugural yesterday, starting a demonstration almost equal to that staged last night for Smith himself and engendering like the night demonstration, some fire swinging around the standards of three or four anti-Smith delegations from the south.

Except for the continuing flow of nominating and seconding speeches, the plans of the convention chiefs waited today on the deliberations of the platform committee. Hope of a compromise that would forestall a floor fight on the disputed planks had not been abandoned, although the belief was general that the prohibition issue, at least, probably would have to be settled in the convention hall itself. A determined band of drys were pressing for a specific pledge for enforcement of the dry laws, a proposition that met with much opposition and led to a discussion far into the night.

Farm Plank Troubles
The only other trouble spot in the committee centered about a farm plank. At first party leaders were confident that no serious disagreement would arise, but the business of putting the democratic agricultural policies into words that would be acceptable to all wings of the party did not prove so simple. There still was much confidence today, however, that the issue could be settled in committee and that the convention would not be called upon to witness an open debate like that which fell to the lot of the republicans at Kansas City.

All forecast of an adjournment date for the convention place the final breakup some time tomorrow.

HOPEFULS FOR RUNNING MATE IN FINAL DASH

By W. B. Ragsdale
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

HOUSTON, June 28.—With the speeches of three of those in the running for the vice presidency still ringing in the ears of delegates, supporters of almost a score of others whose names have been banded back and forth for almost a week groomed themselves today for the approaching final struggle.

From state standards resulting from the strife brought by the clarion call of Senator Robinson of Arkansas for religious tolerance were still in evidence when Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, a former governor of Wyoming, faced the glaring search lights and spoke into the microphone an approval of the candidate.

Woollen Still Running
Woolen of Indiana still was in the running as was Hull of Tennessee. Huston-Thompson of Colorado, a former chairman of the federal trade commission, found favor with some of the West Virginia delegates.

SCORE MENTIONED AS SECONDING SPEECHES FOR AL RING

There was considerable comment over the speech of Senator Barkley and some of his supporters claimed that progress had been made toward winning Smith efforts for their candidate. At the same time another Wyoming name was being thrust into the din of conversation with Senator Kendrick of that state being suggested as a possibility.

Barkley Also Seconded
Scarcely had the velvet voice of the Wyoming woman been smothered in the last applause of the thousands before a southerner, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, was roaring out another second to the nomination of the New York executive.

Few claims are being advanced by the clan of Robinson today, but there was a quiet undertone which indicated that his measure of delegate votes would be large. Still, still pervaded the chambers of Tammany and there was no indication of any preference the New York governor might have for a running mate. But there was still the intimation that several of his chief supporters were regarding the move toward the Arkansas man with friendly eyes.

Mrs. Ross was being championed by her home state delegation which claimed that other votes were rallying to her support.

60 EXPECTED TO ATTEND BANQUET OF RETAIL MEN

More than 60 Lubbock merchants will be in attendance at the annual summer "chitch lunch" of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association which will be held in the city hall tonight. A report from the headquarters of the association said this afternoon. The attendance is expected to exceed this number, however, officials said as numbers were phoning in late that they will be able to attend.

The lunch is held merely as a get-together meeting for the association and is held each summer. Efforts are made to get as many of the city's merchants as possible to attend the meetings.

Sandwiches, near beer, soda pop, ice cream, pickles, potato chips and other foods will comprise the lunch menu, members of the arrangements committee have announced.

CLUB SESSION

Carza, Hockley and Lubbock counties. Sixty-four girls were registered with Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent.

Served Noon Meal
At noon today, the youngsters were again served a meal by the Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce. Prior to the meal, a photo of the group was made.

Following registration yesterday, the group was at leisure until last night when a camp fire program was held at the fair grounds. Stunt games and various features were made during the program by Mayor Harley D. Woods and various other officials of the city.

The encampment closes at five o'clock this afternoon.

Reed supporters raised a banner saying "turn the rascals out." The secondary standard of Nebraska, pledged to former Senator Hitchcock was brought from the alternate section in the rear of the hall and carried into the parade. It followed by the standard of the little group of delegates from the Philippine islands, all of whom are counted safely for Smith. The Kansas standard likewise got into the parade but not until it had been battered badly in a wrestling match among the Kansas delegates who are pledged to Representative Ayres. The skirmish took place in the Kansas alternate section. In the rear, and was quieted after several officers appeared on the scene. Finally Ed Hawes, an alternate from Larned captured that part of the broken standard bearing the name of the state, and took it along in the shouting stream that was paying tribute of loyalty to a candidate who had kept his word to stand his guns until the end.

minutes. Then Charles M. Howell of Kansas City took the platform and presented the name of the fighting Missouri senator for the presidency.

Appeal Made to All
In offering our distinguished statesman we are not appealing to you because of state pride—that would be selfish. We do not address ourselves to any section or any class—that would not be democratic. We talk to you from a national standpoint because he stands for those fundamental principles upon which all democrats can agree; because he is at once the creator of the great burning issue of this day and the pitiless sword of its execution; because he is a great American and if president, would be an American president.

"For almost 18 years Missouri's candidate has played a conspicuous part in the deliberations of the United States senate. During that time he has never dodged an issue or left doubt as to his position. If Reed had performed no other service to his country, the fight he has made for honest government would stand as his everlasting monument.

"He drove Newberry from office. "It was the committee headed by Reed that exposed the crooked elections in Pennsylvania and Illinois barring the doors of the senate to Vane and Smith.

Supported President

"During the war our great senator supported our greatest president in every request for money, materials and men.

"No need to elaborate further on the services which James A. Reed had rendered his country with respect to international policies."

In voice and manner not unlike that of Reed himself, Howell kept the Missourians in the right rear of the hall cheering and sounding with their cowbells constantly as he hammered out the rounded sentences in which he reviewed Reed's public career and praised him as a candidate "who is a platform in himself." The speaker outlined his platform in detail and at great length and many of the delegates grew restless and noisy as he went along.

The disorder became so great that Chairman Robinson interrupted the speech to plead with the delegates to be quiet. But a moment later the hall again was so noisy that when Howell said that Reed always had "preached against religious intolerance in its broadest sense" the mention of the religious issue passed unnoticed and got no response even from the Missouri cowbells.

But the bells pealed out again with the concluding words of the nominating speech, and the cheering Missouri delegates started a parade around the hall. They carried lithographs of their candidate and a big banner reading "Win with Reed." The official convention played the Missouri waltz.

Oklahoma Joins Parade
The standard of Oklahoma, whose delegation had decided to go to Reed after wavering for a time between him and Smith, joined that of Missouri in the line of parade. Florida, who will support Senator George but many of whose delegates look on Reed as their second choice, likewise let her name card into the procession. An extra crash of cheering bulged out amid the noise of cheering, cowbell ringing and band music when some of the

Homestead Selling On Ordinary Debt Void

AUSTIN, June 28 (A.P.)—Probate decrees directing sale of homestead property for ordinary debts are void, the supreme court ruled today, in opinions affecting three cases.

The most important suit thus settled affected J. L. Cline and Victor Niblin as litigants and involved three lots in Dallas.

Thought For Today

The first man is of the earth,
earthly—1 Cor. 15:47.

Lean not on earth; it will pierce
thee to the heart; a broken reed
at best; but off a spear on its sharp point Peace, Health and Hope expires.—Young

American Mafia

Do you remember the time, a few years ago, when we held up our hands in horror at the activities of the Mafia? The Mafia, you recall, was a secret society of Sicily. It was outside the law and more powerful than the law. Sicilian peasants sent to the Mafia for protection against robbers, for vengeance on their oppressors, for relief from taxation. We read of it and shuddered.

Now we can read of Chicago,
where the cleaners and driers have been forced to employ Al Capone,
king of the gunrunners for protection against thugs. The Mafia, apparently, could not help these men. To be able to conduct their business in peace they have had to enlist the aid of the underworld.

Isn't that a beautiful commentary on the conditions of affairs in our second largest city?

Fate's Irony

Fate plays peculiar, freakish tricks sometimes.
Rene A. Olsen was an alarm clock. He had flown many thousands of miles through all kinds of weather and had done it un-harm. He enjoyed life and good health in supposedly dangerous calling.
The other night, off duty in Akon, O., he and some friends got into an auto to go to Cleveland, 30 miles away, to attend a theater. It was a commonplace enough trip;
thousands of people make it daily,
but here Fate played her trick.
The auto collided with another at a cross roads. Olsen was instantly killed.

Tolerance

For all the talk about bigotry and intolerance, this land of ours is making progress. Every so often we little developments comes to help encourage us to keep on.
Dr. Lynn Harold Hough has been astor of the Central Methodist church at Detroit. He recently returned to accept a pastorate in another city. And the other day, on the eve of his departure, he was called to the campus of Detroit University and given the degree of doctor of Laws.
That is interesting because of the fact that the University of Detroit is a Catholic institution. Presentation of the degree was made by the very Rev. John P. Nichols, a Jesuit.
The incident makes good reading when a Methodist pastor can be honored by a Catholic university is land can't be gripped quite as tightly by religious rivalry as some people have tried to make us think.

Takes A Hand

Vice President Charles C. Dawes
just have enjoyed a deep, sardonic smile under his breath the other day.
When Dawes was inaugurated he id the Senate it ought to amend rules so that a few senators could vote the Senate business into a lot of filibustering. The senators nerved him and kept their old fins.
The other day the Senate, gripped
by the Boulder Dam filibuster, voted on a resolution to end it. It was adjourning, willy-nilly, within 24 hours. The vote was a tie, and the clerk was up to Dawes. He voted "no," and the Senate went back to traverse itself from its filibuster as it could.
One imagines the vice president
tinking: "You won't abolish unlimited debate, eh? Very well; stew your own juices for a while and let your own sweat out of this jam."
How help you?

There are always so pleasant men who cling to his side on the street car.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says
many men are bachelors from choice—but it's not their own choice.

The Plainsman is highly pleased with the progress Lubbock is making toward a set program of city planning and zoning. The visit of John E.
Surratt, of Dallas, secretary of the Kessler Plan association, will bear fruit, in the opinion of this writer and all that is necessary to build a city along efficient lines here is to keep on pushing the plan until everyone is thoroughly familiar with it and can enter into its spirit wholeheartedly.

The Plainsman is interested in zoning and city planning from a personal angle as well as from the standpoint of a citizen who wishes to see Lubbock progress upon all lines. Nearly five years ago, in the editorial columns of the old Plains Journal, this writer made what he believes was the first suggestion along city planning and zoning and the proposition has been more or less of a pet of his ever since that time.

Prior to making the original suggestion The Plainsman had seen Tulsa, one of the nation's grandest cities and probably the greatest example of civic pride and push in American municipalities. Spend thousands and thousands of dollars correcting mistakes which could have been averted in earlier years had a system of city expansion been considered. Five years ago, and most of us will remember, Lubbock was experiencing its first acute growing pains. Since that time we have seen the Hub of the Plains
blossom into a city and if present conditions continue it won't be very long until Lubbock breaks into the select circles of the metropolis. Obviously the time to lay a set of plans of expansion is not yesterday
or tomorrow. It is today.

Many of our people are not acquainted with the subject of city planning and to them it appears as essential. Those who have had previous experience with growing towns realize that a little thought and a few dollars now may save much civic grief and thousands of dollars in the future.

No doubt many of the readers of this column become tired of reading comment after comment upon city planning. It isn't that The Plainsman has nothing else to write about that he keeps drumming away, drumming away on the same old tune. It is because the subject is of prime importance to the citizenship and because it is necessary that everyone must know something about it in order that the right progress
may be made that so much of this column is turned over to the discussion.

ODE TO POLITICS
On the delegates the delegates.
With no brains between their ears.
The delegates, the delegates.
They've drank their weight in beers.

The republicans and the democrats
And the pro and anti cheers.
They couldn't please the delegates
In a hundred thousand years!

As the preacher said when the groom introduced his bride-to-be:
"I'm very glad to mate you!"

They're telling a story on a certain young couple here who after their honeymoon returned to the city and began beautifying the premises which surround their little home.

The young husband returning from work of evening came upon his bride who was busily engaged in planting flower seeds. He looked at the seed package and exclaimed:

"Why honey those seeds you're planting won't come up this year They're biennials!"

"Oh, that's all right," the bride replied, "they'll bloom all right—
they're last year's seeds!"

On July 7 the Farm Bureau association, South Plains district, will meet in Levelland, Hockley county's hugging capital. Twelve hundred or more progressive farmers of this section will attend, weather permitting and indications are that the meeting will be the greatest in the history of the organization hereabouts and that more good than ever will come from the program.

Progressive farmers are as essential to any territory as progressive citizens are to any town. The Plainsman is glad to see the Farm Bureau making such rapid strides—glad to see progressive communities, such as Levelland, opening their doors and rivaling each other for the right to entertain such an organization. Co-operation is the biggest thing in the world today—a vital force in business.
May we have more and more of it on the South Plains.

INDEPENDENT VOTERS

According to a statement in the press this week, Hon. Rer. J. Frank Norris is not only going to vote for Hoover himself, which is a good given privilege, but is going to vote his entire church for him. Looking at the matter from this distance, it seems that J. Frank has as much or more grip on his people than the Pope is reputed to have on his We, however, have found the Texas people as a general thing predisposed to stubborn about their privileges of voting, and most of the time they can't even be made to take a pledge they don't like, much less vote like the other fellow wants them to vote. And we imagine Norris is going to find the people of his church all over the state have a mind of their own when it comes to exercising their own purchased

Terry County Herald.

There was a time in the history of the South that the Democrats voted for nearly anything that had a Democratic tag on it. It made no difference whether it was a yellow dog, a donkey on a real man.
If his brand was Democrat he was old and voted for almost unanimously.

It is different now, and voters
are beginning to assert their independence more and more each year.
It is the man and not the party
brand that interests people now,
and that is in our opinion one of the great things of this day and time. Party co-operation, and party power is alright in the intentions are good, but with the corruption and graft that has been brought into play under the head-of party names, it is time for the people to protect themselves.

It seems at this time that neither the Democrats or the Republicans are going to control their votes.
Many people are going to depart from the old party and vote for who they please. Of course there will be groups like that of the followers of Frank Norris and others that will vote almost solidly, but thousands of independent voters will go to the polls this fall, and they will vote regardless of the name of the party, or the former affiliations.

though it was more or less of a jolt
on us it's worth passing along as it was told by William Hard of Vermont, the political expert of Consolidated Press.

It seems that a Texan was visiting in rocky, sawn-up-soiled Vermont and he came upon a farmer
there who by some way or another was managing to make a fair living out of his rocky farm.

"Man, you ought to move to Texas," said the Texan. "Why we have acres and acres of fertile land awaiting you and your plow—no
rocks, no grubbing, a veritable Eden
in land of plenty and promise.
All the farmers in Texas are cleaning up and not half trying. You ought to move down with us!"

The Vermont was silent for a moment, and then shifting his gird
of tobacco, he said:
"Wal, I'm glad farmers is doin'
well in Texas. Maybe the feller who moved down there from here a couple o' years ago will be able to pay the interest on the debt he owes me!"

Sewall, of Maine, lost on the home grounds. Adlai Stevenson, running with Cleveland, helped win
Illinois in 1892, while Whitelaw
Reid couldn't save New York,
which was also Cleveland's state.

New York figured importantly when Cleveland lost there in 1888.
He ran with Thurman, who did
him no good in his state of Ohio, while Harrison won New York, the state of Vice President Levi P.
Morton.

Both vice presidential candidates won their own states in 1884—
Hendricks taking Indiana and Logan Illinois. Arthur helped Garfield carry New York in 1880, while the Hancock-English of Indiana ticket barely lost in Indiana. Lots of vice presidential candidates have come from Indiana and it seems likely that Schuyler Colfax helped Grant win that state by 10,000 votes in 1868.

When Lincoln picked Johnson to run with him in '64 Johnson's state of Tennessee had no vote at all. The selection was largely for effect and meant to demonstrate the Union's strength. The practice of selecting the first and second place candidates from different sections of the country dates back to the first election.

NEW YORK, June 28—Scattered
notes from a Manhattan ramble.

The trick cyclist who, in years ago, saw his name on the big

And is continually on the look-out money to become a partner in a games with his folks. That's the inevitable adjustment of things; the photographer would feign be the fencer and the bridge champion would give all his caps to be able to play golf.

O yes, those golf schools that sprung up in the lofts in and

After that recent bull raid the boys

their if-any nerves. "Scarf" faces
in the Wall Street belt. "Well,
Bill, what goes up, must come

Which reminds me that mechanical advances are going to take an awful wallop at the Moritz Alger

when the favorite theme concerned
the rise of the "Street's" messenger boys to positions of lads—particularly those from out-of-town—

the street. But machinery is soon going to put them out of business.
I am told. A large number of the errands and message carryings can be done by a wire-ticker, system that is to be adopted in the money belt.

With aviation so swiftly in the air, Broadway might have been expected to experience an invasion of the "flying racket." Just as "movie schools" opened by the dozen when the films were young and innocent,

just so is the youthful imagination fired by assurances that one can learn to fly without leaving the ground. Several such rackets refer to themselves as wing ground
schools and have been checking their classes in Broadway rehearsal halls.

They tell of a salesman of "cigar water" who insisted that he had genuine pre-war stuff. A prospective customer demanded a sample and was accommodated.
"Omigod!" cried the tester as he swallowed down the usual ra-city of embarrassing fluid. "Thank you, you said pre-war and pre-war stuff."

"Well, there's got to be another war some day, ain't they?"
came back the indignant bootlegger.

RESCUE CREWS FACE BIG ODDS IN POLAR ZONE

DANGEROUS FLOES ADD TO HAZARDS AS HUNT
PROCEEDS SLOWLY

(By Associated Press)
KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 28.—Airmen and vessels attempting to rescue five survivors of the dirigible Italia and the Swedish liner, Lieutenant Lundberg, faced overwhelming odds today.

Dangerous ice floes added to the peril of rescue operations. The steamship Quest, used as a base by Swedish airmen, encountered a movement of ice from the east across Hinlopen Strait and the crew was compelled to leave Wahlberg Bay and seek refuge on the north coast of Northeast Land.

The moving ice also interfered with rescue work by causing a day to day shift in the position of the marooned men.

No Landing on Ice
It was decided that no landing on the ice by large planes would be attempted. A Finnish seaplane was fitted with skis and given a test at Virgo Bay in making a landing on a small area. The plane made a perfect landing on a slow field and stopped after a run of less than 100 yards.

Weather conditions which had delayed rescue operations, were improving today. The west wind, which had been strong for three days, was dying down. A thick fog continued, however.

OSLO, Norway, June 28 (AP).—Five ships were searching Barents Sea between Norway and Spitzbergen today for traces of the missing French seaplane carrying Roald Amundsen and five companions.

Newspapers today were raising a hunt to equip a Norwegian sealer for the search. It will be commanded by an experienced Arctic skipper and will search the coasts and islands of Northeast Land. When Amundsen started on June 18 it was rumored he intended to go directly toward Northeast Land in an effort to rescue the survivors of the Italia disaster.

An unsuccessful search of the waters between Spitzbergen and Bear Island was made by a small motor vessel belonging to the governor of Spitzbergen.

Grain Exchange Is Officially Opened

The Lubbock Grain Exchange was officially open for business yesterday when C. E. Cline, local grain man, purchased a ton of wheat from P. W. Walker of Littlefield, which has passed through the tests made by R. R. Stuard of Dallas, official inspector of the exchange. The grain tested number 2, hard, dark, 59 pounds and 12.1-2 moisture.

Said to be the only grain exchange on the South Plains, the offices of the new organization were opened up this week in the new Burrus elevator in the north part of the city. Officials of the exchange announced last night that the plant was now in position to inspect, furnish protein tests and grain certificates for all kinds of grains. Protein tests are made at the Tech.

The equipment of the exchange is better than many exchanges over the state and offers its patrons the services of the finest equipped laboratories of the inspecting department that can be found in the state, Mr. Stuard said.

THERE is nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin for all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it is genuine Bayer; that name must be on the package, and on every tablet. Bayer is genuine, and the word genuine—in red—on every box. You can't go wrong if you will just look at the box when you buy it!

Who's Who?

These two men, who look so much alike, are strong rivals in a political way. Sen. Charles Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, is counted on to swing many a vote to Herbert Hoover, while William F. Kenney, wealthy New York contractor, is a powerful backer of Gov. Al Smith. That's Kenney at the top.

A TRUE STATEMENT

OF THE

of the Record and Qualifications

Judge Charles Nordyke

CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF

District Judge

99TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT

LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS

THINK!

JUDGE NORDYKE is candidate for District Judge of the 99th Judicial District, and believing that he is, in every sense of the word fitted in temperament, education and moral character to fill the office of District Judge with honor to himself and credit to the office, he bases his candidacy upon his own merits, record and qualifications.

EDUCATION—Charles Nordyke is a graduate of Cumberland university, one of the oldest law schools in America—a school which has furnished more real lawyers of note, judges of the Supreme Court, U. S. Senators and Congressmen than any other law school in the United States.

WHY THIS—For the lack of some substantial criticism, Judge Nordyke has been criticized for choosing this school to round out his legal education. For this reason, a few of the more prominent personages (many of them are known to you) who are also graduates of the law department of Cumberland university, are listed below:

Howell E. Jackson and Horace H. Lorton, United States Supreme Court Judges; T. P. Gore of Oklahoma, Joe Bailey of Texas, former United States Senators; W. H. Lightfoot and Ben H. Looney, former Attorney-Generals of Texas; James B. McCreary, Governor of Kentucky; Judge William Poindexter of Texas; Cordell Hull, member of Congress and Chairman of the Democratic National Party; John W. Burgess, Dean of Columbia University Law School, N. Y.; S. Arakawa, Professor of Imperial University, Japan; Duval West, U. S. District Judge, and thousands of others of equal standing. It isn't the school that makes the man or lawyer or judge, but the alumni does make the reputation of the school. That's why Cumberland University is known and recognized as one of the outstanding and leading law schools in the United States.

PRACTICAL—He has been actively connected with the District and County Courts of the State of Texas for more than ten years; he knows law, he knows court procedure, and he knows how to clear a court docket and keep it clear.

DO YOU KNOW that the same law and the same rule of procedure govern the trial of civil and criminal cases in the County Court as those which govern the trial of cases in the District Court, and if correctly applied, few appeals will be taken from the decisions of the trial court?

JURISDICTION—The County Court, over which Judge Nordyke has presided two terms, has jurisdiction to try criminal cases, carrying penalties of two years in jail and $1000.00 fine or less, all civil cases under $1000.00; also all condemnation suits, though they may involve millions of dollars, as well as all probate cases, regardless of the amount involved.

NUMBER OF CASES—Judge Nordyke has correctly tried, and disposed of more cases, as Judge of the County Court, than have been filed in both District Courts of Lubbock County in the past four years.

CONCURRENT JURISDICTION—Our District and County Courts have had concurrent jurisdiction of several hundred cases tried in Judge Nordyke's Court. These cases could have been filed either in the District Courts or the County Court. Lawyers and litigants chose his Court. There must have been a reason.

CIVIL CASES—He has tried more than 1000 civil cases, as County Judge. He has had only 31 appeals from his decisions, and of these only 7 were reversed. Litigation is ended by a correct judgment in the trial court.

CRIMINAL CASES—He has tried more than 500 criminal cases, including pleas of guilty—numerous trials being hotly contested and severe penalties inflicted. There have been only 3 appeals from these decisions. Only one of which has been reversed.

Lawyers are quick to appeal only when they have a fair chance of reversing the trial court. If the trial court will try all cases fairly and render a correct decision, there will be few appeals from its decisions.

APPEALS—Although Judge Nordyke has tried more than 1500 cases—criminal, civil, probate and condemnation suits—he has had only 34 appeals from his decisions, and of these only 8 were reversed. His record as Judge of the Law has never been surpassed by any Judge in West Texas.

JUVENILES—A number of boys and girls have been brought before Judge Nordyke. Each case was carefully investigated. In nearly every instance the child has been deprived of one of its parents, through divorce or some other unfortunate circumstance, and the child had never known the sanctity of a real home. Notwithstanding severe criticism, Judge Nordyke gave each child a chance with someone who understood and loved children to help direct its ways, requiring that regular reports be given him. He is PROUD that these children are making good, that his judgment has been vindicated and that these children have been saved to society. There are only seven exceptions, and these seven have been sent to the State Training School as incorrigibles.

DOCKET—Judge Nordyke keeps his Court Docket cleared and uncongested. He will do as much for the District Court as he has done for the County Court.

AS JUDGE—While he insists that every person charged with a criminal offense have a fair and impartial trial, yet he always insists on a vigorous prosecution of every case.

TEMPERAMENT—Judge Nordyke is of a genial, courteous and friendly disposition—quiet, unassuming and free from egotism, yet firm in his convictions and positive in his manner and decisions. He knows human nature—is well grounded in legal and business principles and knows Court Procedure—all of which are necessary qualifications and, in a large measure, accounts for the few appeals from his decisions and judgments.

CIVIC—He is a devout Christian and leader in his Church; stands for law enforcement in its strictest sense, for progress in its every nature. He is honest, fearless, keen of thought and action. He believes the laws can be enforced; that people want them enforced. He enforces them and will continue to enforce them. He is a leader, works with his associates, but does not try to drive them, and therefore, has the confidence and respect of all who know him.

AS DISTRICT JUDGE he will see that the burden of jury service is equally shared by all; that jurors, when called, will be used. He will save thousands of dollars in jury service alone, to say nothing of the jurors' time. He will try all cases without regard to any political effect. He will clear the Court Docket, and keep it clear, and at the same time, create fear and respect for the laws in those who choose to violate them. He will make you as good a District Judge as he has County Judge, and will do it with less effort.

There is no man in West Texas better qualified for District Judge than Judge Nordyke. He is ideally fitted for the office, from a legal, moral and intellectual standpoint.

TO VOTE for Judge Nordyke is to vote for the best interests of Lubbock County.

ZONING SYSTEM PRIME NEED OF CITY SURRETT SAYS IN VISIONING BRIGHT FUTURE AS METROPOLITAN OF PLAINS

Indications here show that it is time Lubbock was adopting a city plan system and preparing for the future growth which is sure to exceed other towns in this portion of the state, John E. Surratt, of Dallas, secretary of the Kessler Plan association and tireless worker for city planning and zoning over the southwest, told Lubbock citizens here yesterday as he spent the day here in studying Lubbock's situation and the feasibility of a city plan for the city.

Lubbock shows wonderful growth which means that plans for the future should be made before it is too late, Mr. Surratt said. "Make your town as attractive as possible and all these people who make fortunes in oil, cattle and agriculture throughout West Texas will come here to build their fine homes. If you don't some other city in the state will get them."

Get Above Ordinary
"Get above the ordinary don't let your city just be an ordinary place with the same conventional streets, residences and the like," he added. "Try to create new things which will add to Lubbock's attractiveness."

Mr. Surratt spent a busy day here yesterday following his arrival here yesterday morning at ten o'clock. A hurried motor tour of the city preceded his address at noon to a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at Hotel Lubbock. At four o'clock he presided over a round table discussion of city planning at which various civic leaders were present while last night he gave a stereoscopic lecture in the district court room to a representative group of citizens. Charles A. Guy, chairman of the city plan committee of the Board of City Development, presided at the meetings.

Urges Residential City
Lubbock's outstanding general need at the present is to hold the city as a premier residential city, Mr. Surratt told citizens. "An attractive, well planned residential city will give growth and prosperity. Not only should the city be zoned with exclusive residential sections termed but trees should be planted, parks laid out, homes set back from the street, railroad crossings eliminated and other features attained by proper city planning."

"I am convinced that the people of Lubbock are interested in city planning," Mr. Surratt said, the attendance at the various meetings being indicative of the city's attitude. "The passing of an ordinance calling for a city plan commission and city park board should be the first step here."

After the city planning idea is completely sold to the people, the next step, in the opinion of Mr. Surratt, is to appoint a committee from the Board of City Development and other civic organizations to keep the subject before the public. He said that the City Commission should then pass an ordinance creating a park board and a city planning commission, which should be an advisory board only, investigating all city planning matters and referring them back to the City Commission.

Urges Expert's Advice
He next suggested that an expert city planner be obtained to work over a period of several years. His plan could be either adopted or rejected. "I would advise Lubbock to obtain the services of a city planner at the present time before any bonds are voted and before any steps are taken," Mr.

Surratt said. "It might save thousands of dollars for the city and it would prevent any costly mistakes being made. He could advise in both present and future problems."

Mr. Surratt declared that the park board should have power to buy and sell land and should have the initiative to do things. He said the board should be composed of about seven members who should serve overlapping terms, so that some new and some old members would be on the board at all times.

No Need To Crowd
"Why you have all of the land in the world out here. There is no reason for everyone hugging together in a compact district. In a crowded city it is different, but in this country, buildings should be set back from the street with room for two rows of trees between."

"Plant More Trees"
"I was delighted to see so many trees in Lubbock," he continued, "but there are parts of the city where this phase of beautification is being sadly neglected. Plant more trees, they make beautiful cities and don't be so stingy with the space between your sidewalk and the curb, set your sidewalks back so that trees will have room to grow in. Trees are worth more to a town than any improvement that can be made."

Views of the railroad crossings at Avenue H where traffic from three highways is carried, and at Broadway Main Street, the jog in 16th Street at Avenue X, "leave-outs" in paving on 16th Street and other streets, the "joints" around the square junk heaps, raw sections and other defects in city planning were shown by Mr. Surratt as he lectured.

Widening Difficult
"To widen it would be mighty difficult now," he said, when questioned about Main Street, "and I doubt if you could correct it now without a great deal of time and expense."

"It doesn't look very nice," he said in speaking of Broadway with its open parkways. "It's doubtful if it would be worth while to plant trees and shrubs in the parkways now," he said "as they soon become disheveled spots. In Dallas, even, they are not kept in shape."

"The Yellowhouse canyon, just east of the city, offers a wonderful opportunity for the development of a park for the city," Mr. Surratt insisted several times in his talk. He recommended that a park be made of the entire canyon adjacent to the city so that the territory just across the canyon to the east would be opened for a fine residential section such as Highland Park in Dallas and other suburbs of the city. "A town should grow in every direction," he said.

City planning is just taking what the Lord gives you and making the most out of it," he said. "It is working in co-operation with nature."

Likes Lubbock Slogan
In his noon talk, Mr. Surratt stated that Lubbock's slogan, "Cities do not happen, they are built" fits exactly with the principles of city planning. He stressed the necessity of uniformity as a convenience in every part of a city, stating that "no city should have a back door."

The visitor spoke particularly concerning the lack of water and sewer connections in the Mexican and negro sections of Lubbock, warning his listeners that an epidemic from one of these sections
