Radiological Fallout Exercise Set June 27

A radiological fallout exercise will be conducted Wednesday, June 27, throughout the state of Texas. Collingsworth County will be part of this, according to Charlene Poteet, co-ordinator.

The Texas Department of Health, Governor's Division of Emergency Management, Texas Department of Public Safety, and State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will work together with local emergency management coordinators in this National Defense Exercise. County Judge Zook Thomas is the Department of Emergency Management director for Collingsworth County.

The exercise will allow local coordinators the opportunity to test their equipment and capabilities for reporting fallout problems and solutions from local areas to district, state and federal operating centers, according to Robert Lansford, state coordinator for the Division of Emergency Management.

In fulfilling Texas' role in the National Defense and Preparedness Program over the last two decades, the State Health Department has positioned monitoring sets statewide and conducted extensive radiological training programs. Local volunteers have been trained to advise citizens on when and how to take shelter.

J.R. Bowen is chairman of the radiological monitoring team and committee members are Col. Dudley Coleman, U.S. Army, Ret.; Danny Martin, Donald Fowler, Maintenance Foreman, Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, Buster Hughes, and M-Sgt. Vernon Day, Texas National Guard.

Several of these have had training in fallout monitoring and all will be working in this exercise. Bowen and Coleman attended at 5-day seminar in Pampa May 14-18 covering the use of measuring instruments.

Mrs. Poteet explained that in the simulated emergency, the first word will come to the Sheriff's Department, which will relay it to the monitoring team. Information will cover fallout, wind speed and other pertinent facts.

The problem will be to determine how much lead time Wellington will have before fallout reaches the county, along with other information.

When the problem is solved, it will be relayed to Fowler who will in turn relay it to the district office of the Texas Highway Department. From there it will go into the communications network maintained by the highway department and Texas Department of Public Safety.

The public is not a part of this exercise and only those monitoring their scanners will be aware it is going on, said Mrs. Poteet.

Throughout that time, information will be received for the instruments used in monitoring radiological fallout.

In the test, a nuclear detonation is simulated and emergency operating centers are activated in counties and cities. Radioactive fallout is predicted and plotted based on wind speed and direction, and nuclear preparedness plans for each area's population are reviewed.

The Department of Emergency Management Planning formerly was known as the Civil Defense Department.

To maintain a complete network for the state, thirty-six (36) specialists from the State Department of Health and fifty (50) state highway engineers have been trained as Radiological Defense Officers.

The State Highway Department and the Department of Public Safety's communications systems will be used as the network

Only 10 Days Remain to Submit Family Histories

Only 10 days remain before the June 31 cutoff date for submitting family histories for the Collingsworth County History book or for buying a book, Evelyn King, chairman of the committee chairman reminds.

No orders for books will be accepted after July 1, and the price is $35.00 per book plus $1.75 state tax and $3.25 postage and mailing carton.

FAMILY HISTORIES

More family histories are needed, said Mrs. King, who reviewed some of the rules covering the histories. There may be one 500 word history without cost for each family unit, with one black and white picture. If more words are needed, there is a charge of 10 cents per word.

The writer may submit a history of the immediate family, that family's parents are another unit and a separate history can be sent for them. The same applies for children with their own households, and for each brother and sister who has a separate household.

New comers as well as old timers may have a family history in the book. "If you have lived or are living in this county, you are a part of its history."

Those wanting more space to tell their story may

Children's Reading Program Begins

The Summer reading program for children began Monday, June 18, and will continue for four weeks, finishing Friday, July 13, the county librarians, Mrs. Rhuia Ketchum and Mrs. Erma Faye Kersten, have announced.

At the end of the reading program, the children will be entertained with a party, when certificates will be awarded to those reading required numbers of books and the youngster reading the most books will receive a reading club T-shirt and logo.

The program is for all boys and girls from kindergarten through sixth grade and parents are asked to encourage their children to participate.

The Texas reading club is sponsored each year cooperatively by the Collingsworth County Library and the Texas State Library.

This year's theme is Magical Mysteries. Although books about mysteries and magic happenings will be stressed, children will be encouraged to read books about many things, and to make reading a habit.

Merlin, the Magician will stand near the library door to welcome all children.

The club members will be free to make their selections, but the librarians will be on hand to give suggestions for reading.

Hospital Looks at Long Range Planning, Goals

Collingsworth General Hospital board took a look at long-range planning and the possibility of setting 1, 3 and 5-year goals for the hospital district at regular board meeting Tuesday, June 19.

Dr. Elizabeth Carter, medical planning consultant from Amarillo, told the board that the place to begin planning was with information about the community. She said the board should have 3 sets of objectives based on whether the population grew, remained steady or declined. She said the board should determine what type of patients the hospital will expect to be serving in the future--more older people, for example, would need services different from a group of younger people. Older people might need emphasis on physical or respiratory therapy, for example.

She encouraged the board to define the hospital's mission in the community--to determine what services needed to be offered here, what the community's expectations were of the hospital, and what the hospital's relationship was with other health care facilities.

Carter told the board that it was important that the hospital become involved educating the community about health services and in marketing those services.

In other action, the board approved a bid by George Ford of $2,387 to build a smoke barrier wall in the hospital's attic, and gave administrator Perry Foster approval to negotiate for an upgraded computer and software to meet new Medicare billing requirements taking effect this October.

The hospital has received its certificate of need for "swing-bed" nursing care from the Texas Health Facilities Commission and expects to have its first patient in early July, Foster said. Mary Fulcher will serve as activities director on an as-needed basis for skilled nursing care patients.

The board postponed any action due to lack of participant interest on a proposed emergency call system for people living alone.

Foster also reported that the Home Health Agency is now licensed to provide services in Wheeler County as well as Collingsworth County.

The board also discussed the possibility of having hospital personnel pick up packages in Childress for Collingsworth County residents. Hospital personnel make a trip each day to Childress to carry lab tests, and some board members suggested the possibility of picking up packages at the Childress bus station for local residents. Board members are checking into the feasibility of the project and whether or not it would violate Railroad Commission freight rules.

Present were board members Loretta Wright, Bill Patrick, Corky Bowen, Emory Ewing, Dr. J.M. Orr and Robert Owens, Yates Parker was absent.

readers for the smaller children, Mrs. Ketchum said. Mary Saldana, who read for the children two years ago, will return, and Mrs. Eddie Hankins, a reader last year will be back. Film strips will present stories to the smallest children also.

Within recent weeks, 168 Childrens books have been added at the Library, Mrs. Ketchum reported. Most of these are in sets and include: Twenty-eight books in the Trixie Belden series (for juniors); a history of every state in the United States, with reading at a child's level; a set of varied readings for little children; 10 books in the Standard Treasury of Learning senses and Child's Bible. A box of 40 children's books for summer reading were received on permanent loan from the Amarillo Public Library.

Several church histories have been received, including histories of churches long disbanded and of schools that are disbanded or long-consolidated with larger schools.

"Businesses operating in 1984 should have a history for the record of the county," urged Mrs. King. No deadline has been set for turning in the articles for these sections.

Seal Scores in SPS Workshop

DEREK SEAL

Derek Seal of Wellington High School Chapter of the Future Farmers of America took third in a contest among FFA students studying "Farm Motors" at a recent Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) farm electrification workshop.

The three-day workshop, held in Amarillo June 11-13, attracted eighty FFA boys and four FFA girls from Texas and New Mexico.

First place winners in the five contests at the workshop won trips to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, in November.

Seal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Seal, is the second alternate for one of the SPS-sponsored trips.

Vocational agriculture teachers who made up the workshop faculty selected the five trip winners on the basis of test scores and class performance. Winning the trips were Kit Morgan, Tucumcari, New Mexico, Eric Clayton, Tulsa, John Wyant, Pampa, Jay Cox, Abilene, and Brian Dillow, Gruver.

The workshop was the 22nd sponsored by SPS. It was the third in which girls were students.

The future farmers learned how to wire buildings, build and use electric controls, or how to build electric motors. They also were taught how electricity is made, and first aid and safety tips.

Five area vocational agriculture teachers paid by SPS taught the three courses. They were assisted by 10 adult FFA advisors and by SPS personnel.

"Farm Wiring" course emphasized safe and efficient wiring of two- and three-way switches, proper wire splicing, and how to make a meter loop. The skills can be used in homes, barns, sheds, or other places electricity is needed.

Students in the "Electric Controls" course learned how to tie in three- and four-way switches, how to set up photoelectric cells for automatic lighting, and how to set up two- and three-pole relays.

The "Farm Motors" course taught students how to operate, repair and build small electric motors.

On the second day of the workshop, the students toured SPS' Harrington Station, the coal-fueled power plant northeast of Amarillo. The station has a generating capacity of 1,122,000 kilowatts.

Southwestern Public Service Company primarily provides electric utility service to a population of more than one million in a 70,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Panhandle of Oklahoma, and southwestern Kansas.

Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc. is a customer for part of its electric power.

Alma Crawley, Area Resident 85 years, Dies

Mrs. R.R. (Alma) Crawley who lived in Collingsworth County 86 years, died in her sleep at her home, 1101 Bowie Street, early Saturday, June 16. Her health had been frail for several years although she continued with many of her usual activities.

Mrs. Crawley was a retired Collingsworth County teacher. After graduating from Wellington high school in 1914, she attended the College of Industrial Arts, now Texas Women's University, in Denton where she earned a teaching certificate.

Her first school, 1915-16, was at Fresno and she remained two years. The next fall, she was a substitute teacher in the Wellington School until her own school at Lutie started. She was its principal and taught English, history and science. The next year she taught grades 5 through 10, and also was principal.

In the fall of 1919, she began teaching all the history classes in Wellington High School. Then on Nov. 19, 1919, Alma Alexander and Reuben R. Crawley of Loco were married at Memphis.

At the end of the school term, she ended her teaching career. She had attended West Texas State Normal School, now WTSU, in the summers of 1916, 1917 and 1918.

Mrs. Crawley's family was among the early families to settle in Collingsworth, but she was born June 22, 1896, at Bonita, Montague County, the daughter of Lyman Terry Alexander and Emma Stell Winney Alexander. Two years later the family returned to Collingsworth County and settled in the Indian Creek (now Lutie) community on land that is still in the family.

After she married, she and Mr. Crawley, lived on and later bought, the Crawley land at Loco, remaining there 49 years before they moved to Wellington in 1968. He died the following year.

Mrs. Crawley was a member of First United Methodist Church, Loyalty Sunday School class and

Roy Horn, in Business 69 Years, Dies

Roy M. Horn became a part of Wellington's business life in 1915 and remained a part, except for a brief period, until the day of his death on Thursday, June 14. He was 89 years of age and Wellington had been his home for almost 70 years.

He died in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, of injuries he received in a two-vehicle accident at Kress earlier in the afternoon.

His contributions to the business community were only one facet of his life, for Mr. Horn was a leader in First United Methodist Church and in civic and service organizations.

At the time of his death he owned Roy Horn Typewriter Service, but for 39 years he operated The Toggery, a dry cleaning and men's clothing store.

Friends were also aware of the rich memories he had of his first, but briefer, profession, teaching schools in the Boston Mountains of Arkansas and the Cookson Hills of Oklahoma.

Horn was born April 13, 1895, in Sunset, Ark. and Lydia Group of United Methodist Women. She also belonged to the Retired Teacher's Association, the 1924 Study Club and a sewing club.

Funeral services for Mrs. Crawley were held at 2 p.m. Monday, June 18, in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Tom Thomson pastor, officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors. Pall bearers, all nephews, were Gary Killian, Mark Killian, Granvel Killian, Bill Alexander, John Alexander, Eddie Orr.

Survivors are two brothers, Earl Alexander and J.L. Alexander of Wellington; one sister, Mrs. Charlie (Thelma) Bairfield of Clarendon, and a number of nieces and nephews.

received his early education in the Boston small schools of the Boston Mountains. He was awarded his teaching certificate when he was 17, and the salary at his first school was $50 a month.

He got his last teaching job he recalled, after the teacher had been fired for hosting a party that ended in a murder.

In 1914, Roy Horn moved to Dozier where he helped a brother, Corwin Horn, farm. He came into Wellington and on June 1, 1915, he began work in the First National Bank, under Tank Swofford, president and Charlie Glenn, cashier.

He served in the U.S. Army in World War I, with overseas service in France.

On April 15, 1918, he was married to Miss Ruth Wells, daughter of E.A. and Emma Blanton Wells, another pioneer banking family. Mrs. Horn died in 1976.

Upon returning to the Panhandle in 1919, he became cashier of First National Bank of White Deer, assisting in its initial organization, but they came back to Wellington in 1923, and bought The Toggery. His wife joined him in its operation.

In 1962, he sold the Toggery to "retire," but immediately set up a machine sales and repair business.

Horn was a 32nd degree Mason, a Shriner and a past member of Wellington Kiwanis Club. He was a member of First United Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, June 16, at 4 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Tom Thomson, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors. Pall bearers were Billy Hatch, Cal Hurst, O.W. Vaughan, Jimmy Cochran, O.V. Johnson, and Lynn Carter.

The family requests that memorials be made to the Memorial Fund of First United Methodist Church. Surviving Horn are two sons, Roy M. Horn, Jr., of Detroit, Michigan and Dr. Joe T. Horn of Plainview; one sister, Mrs. Effie Hutchens of Tulsa, Okla., 5 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by 5 brothers, Mel, Orin, Seth, Asa and Corwin Horn.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clark Honored on 40th Anniversary

In this era of mobility when a family may move a dozen times in a few years, David (Tuttie) and Virginia Clark are unusual. On Sunday, June 10, they celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary and they've never had the experience of moving from one house to another.

"When we married, we just went by Shamrock and picked up my clothes and brought them to Dozier," she reflects.

A reception was held in their honor Saturday, June 9, at the fellowship hall of Samnorwood Baptist Church.

Hosts were their daughter and son and their spouses Dr. Neal Lowry and his wife, Polly of Abilene and Paul Clark and his wife, Pam of Panhandle.

Six grandsons and one small granddaughter, whose ages range from 4 to 15 years, assisted. They were Rodney, Stephen and Timothy Lowry; Kelly, Scott, Josh and Jana Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark welcome the guests.

As the 40th is the ruby anniversary, that color was used in decorations.

Mrs. Sam Carter registered guests at a table covered with a red linen cloth with lace overlay. A bud vase held a red rose.

An arrangement of a dozen long-stemmed red roses and baby's breath in a crystal vase was the center piece for the reception table, covered in white linen cloth caught up at the corners with ruby bows. Lighted red candles were encircled at the base by white carnations. Punch was served from a crystal bowl and other appointments were of crystal.

David Clark of Dozier and Virginia Edwards of Shamrock were married at Sayre, Okla., on June 10, 1944. World War II was under way and not long after they married, he was called for duty in the Coast Guard.

Clark, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Clark, was born at Nicholson and moved a few miles to Dozier when he was 11 years of age.

Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Edwards, and she was only three when they moved from her birthplace, Iowa Park, to Shamrock.

Clark attended Dozier

School and graduated from Samnorwood High School in 1936. He is a farmer and carpenter, and his hobby is his workshop.

Hostesses were Mrs. Pat Gulley, Mrs. Gary Wischkaemper, Lynna Nunnelle, Mrs. Mike Barjenbruch, Sandy Morris, Liz Brewer, Jenny Glenn of Hedley, Mrs. Danny West, Mrs. Redgie Souder, Mrs. Kenneth Foster, Mrs. Randy Langley and Mrs. Mike

It's estimated that by the year 2000 a third of our population will be working from home, at least part time. What kind of impact will working at home have on families? Interviews with families already involved in computer work-at-home arrangements indicate the following:

* Families have more freedom to create their own lifestyles. So working at home can either be good or bad—it's up to the family members. If you like being around your family, you'll probably enjoy it.

* Families see more of each other. Commuting time is now spent at home. The family has more common

WORKING AT HOME: THE IMPACT ON FAMILY

Many American families have for years experienced tense lifestyles, marked by long work hours away from home, lengthy commutes in heavy traffic and a fractured family life. But developments in computer technology may now make it

Computer technology means that parents can work anywhere and anytime. They can also work free-lance or for a salary. One recent survey revealed that over six million people are already working from

Straight Talk

Many people have questions about funeral arrangements and services and prices.

We want to answer those questions.

We would like each of you to be well-informed about us---we're part of the community and we want the people who are our friends and neighbors to know as much about us and our profession as possible.

We invite you to compare our prices with any other funeral director, because we're proud to be able to offer our services at competitive prices.

And we invite you to call or drop by to see us and ask any questions you have about services, prices or arrangements. We'll do our best to give you straightforward answers.

But don't just ask us---we encourage you to visit with the families for whom we've performed services and ask them about us. We think you'll find our services are second to none and our prices are competitive.

Anxiety-Free Learning Due

Math anxiety, a pervasive problem across the country, may have met its match at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Margaret Chmielewski began to look for a solution to the problem after being faced with a strong case of math anxiety in her graduate statistic classes for non-stat majors.

She and her husband Joseph, a counselor in private practice, developed a technique that employs relaxation, specially phrased and intoned delivery of materials and specially timed classical music.

They believe this method of learning math would be especially helpful in high schools where students' math SAT scores are waning or even for persons in the work force who need to brush up on math skills.

Collingsworth Home Health Agency
1014 15th Street
Wellington, Texas 79095

A new service from Collingsworth Home Health Agency

Collingsworth Home Health Agency is now able to accept private pay patients in addition to Medicare, Medicaid and private insurance patients.

That means that if a family needs more help at home than Medicare or private insurance companies will pay for, and if the family wants to pay for services privately, we can now accept them.

For instance, if Medicare would pay for a home health aide visit 3 days per week, a family might choose to pay privately for 2 additional days per week.

Services provided by the Agency include:

*Skilled Nursing Care *Home Health Aide Care
*Nutritional Guidance *Respiratory Therapy

A doctor's referral is necessary for Medicare, Medicaid or private insurance payments. A doctor's referral will not be necessary for private pay patients.

One note: for Medicare and Medicaid qualifications, a patient must be homebound.

Our Agency is now licensed to provide care in Collingsworth and Wheeler counties.

For more information, contact Sharon Bowen, R.N., agency supervisor, 447-2521 office, or 447-2480 home.

★ STABILIZER ★

The tail assembly of a plane with its trim tabs, rudders, and stabilizer is necessary for flight. Smoother flying may be brought about with a slight adjustment of a trim tab. The rudders steer and keep you flying in the right direction. Let God's word be your guide. Let the church help you guide your life. Seek the Lord's will. "And the Lord shall guide thee continually..." Enter the Lord's house at the beginning of each week, and see how much easier the path is made.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Loco-Arlie Annual Reunion News

Two new events have been added to the Loco-Arlie Reunion which will be held Saturday, August 4 and Sunday, August 5.

For the first time, this is a two-day event, with Saturday providing an opportunity for those who attended Wellington High School to participate in that reunion.

Former and present Arlie residents will have their lunch on Saturday, August 4, at Cherokee Inn dining room at 1:15 p.m. with each person placing his own food order.

Mrs. Silas (Susie) Crawford will be the hostess at an open house Saturday evening. Those attending will reminisce over old Arlie pictures.

Later in the afternoon the group will go to Arlie to visit and take pictures.

"We invite Arlie people living in and around Wellington to come and be with us," she stated.

Also on Saturday Louise Terry Bouchelle will hold an open house for Loco graduates and school students and teachers to spend the afternoon in her home south of Loco. They will visit the old Loco School site and former home places for picture taking.

Pauline Brown Patterson is helping with this group.

The general Loco-Arlie reunion will be on Sunday, August 5 in Bura Handley Community Center in Wellington.

Mrs. Bouchelle is arranging for an early church service for the Church of Christ members on Sunday morning. Then the group will attend the general reunion.

"This will probably be the largest reunion we have ever had," said Edith Copeland Carter, who is working with the Loco group.

"We will begin registering for the Loco-Arlie reunion at 8:30 a.m. Sunday and lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m."

"There'll be just visitation all day. A number will be here who have never attended a Loco-Arlie reunion."

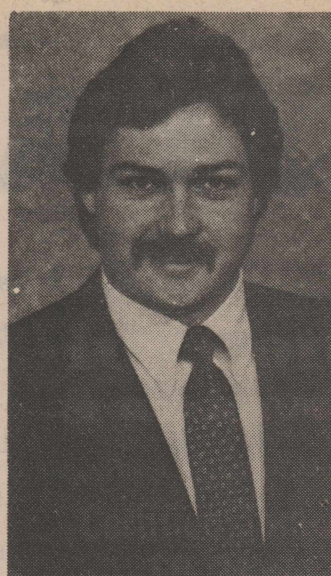

"This will be our 24th reunion."

Some of the graduates and teachers who have confirmed that they will be here for the Loco-Arlie reunion are Mildred Gibson Locke of Amarillo; Mary Lou Smith Riddle of Spring Valley, Ca.; Laverne and Juanita Greer Chaudoin of Canton; Thomas and Maurine Vaughn Greer of Morton; Mary Ruth King Jones of Wellington; Judge Glen Thompson of Morton; Mrs. Cecil (Bernice Wiley) Elbert of Lubbock; Bessie Stout Miller of Canyon; Frank and Lottie Wolf Hall of Pampa; Blake and Ruth Nell Burk Lyde of Petersburg; Ben Moseley of Oklahoma City and Bessie Lee Jackson Dodd of Amarillo.

The Loco high school students of the 1920s through 1934, will meet at the Cherokee Inn at 1:15 for lunch with each one ordering his choice from the menu. This is on August 4. Ben Moseley of Oklahoma City, principal at Loco during part of this time, will be present.

Bessie Lee Jackson Dodd will be with the Arlie group, as she was their senior sponsor.

A highly effective combination vaccine is available for horses.

Cousins in Miss Cinderella Pageant

Two cousins, Holly Wilson of Wellington, and Yanci Yarbrough of Childress, will participate in the 1984 Cinderella Pageant, to be held in Denton from Tuesday, June 26 through Saturday, June 30.

This is the Texas state division of a national contest which incorporates the Cinderella Girl Pageant Scholarship Program.

The girls qualified for this division by winning overall honors in the preliminaries held earlier in the spring at Childress.

Yanci will compete in the Miniature Miss division and Holly will seek the Cinderella Teen title, open to girls 14 through 17 years of age.

Holly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gano Wilson. In Denton, she will model sportswear, a party dress and in two other divisions.

Her talent number will be

HOLLY WILSON

a piano solo, 'Sabre Dance' by Katchaturian.

Holly is sponsored by Wellington State Bank.

All girls will be interviewed by the judges and beauty, talent, photogenic qualities, as well as her talent, will be considered.

Holly has completed her freshman year in high school where she was a member of Junior FHA, and participated in basketball and girls rack. She also belongs to the 4-H Horse Club.

Holly is a piano student of Mrs. Sam Thompson.

Nine-year-old Yanci is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Yarbrough of Childress. She will compete in the Miniature Miss division for girls 7 through 9 years of age.

She sings and was a hit at the Spring Style Show in Wellington.

A veteran of contests such as this, she was named Miss North Texas National Pre-Teen at a pageant in Clarendon in 1983 and was second runner up in the state contest. She was in the top 15 girls winners in the Miss American Sweetheart state pageant in 1983.

She attends Lamar Elementary School in Childress.

Both girls are granddaughters of Mrs. Irene Yarbrough. Holly is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Dollie Mae Wilson, and Yanci's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Smith and Mrs. Homer Bell, all of Childress.

Bush with Wyatt

A former Wellington man, Mack Bush, has resigned from the Tulia school system to become business manager for Kenneth Wyatt, internationally known western artist and sculptor.

Bush was director of special education for the Swisher-Briscoe cooperative 10 years, working with Tulia, Kress, Happy and Silverton students.

In his new work he will manage Wyatt's shows, foundry, sales of books, pewter and bronze, paintings and other enterprises.

In the teaching profession 33 years, Bush was junior high and high school principal in Wellington, taught at Panhandle and Childress; was superintendent of schools at Hedley and held consultant positions. He is a Navy Veteran of World War II and has B.S. and M.Ed degrees from West Texas State University. His post graduate work was at Texas Tech.

His wife is the former Peggie Yarbrough, daughter of Mrs. Fred Yarbrough of Wellington. She teaches at Tulia, gives private piano lessons and is organist at First United Methodist Church, Tulia.

Bush is a past officer of Toastmasters, a member of Lions Club, and of several

Cudds Attend Annual TMTA Convention

Representing Cudd Brothers Trucking at the annual convention of the Texas Motor Transportation Association were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cudd and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cudd.

This was held May 31 and June 1 in the Fort Worth Convention Center.

Both men are TMTA directors. Wayne Cudd is on the board as a two-time past president of the organization and Dennis Cudd is serving an elective three-year term.

The crux of the meeting was that the taxes the trucking industry has to pay have increased 30 percent this year, said Dennis Cudd.

"The thing everyone is concerned about is Governor White's (proposed) tax on fuel. His position is a 10 percent tax based on the national retail price, and not the price in Texas," he continued.

Cudd said that, for example, a price of $1.25-$1.30 per gallon national price, with a 10% tax, would mean a 13 cent tax on fuel, not the nickel tax that is now paid.

This would result in a sliding scale, and if, for example, the cost of fuel rises to $2 per gallon, national fuel price, the tax will automatically rise to 20 cents per gallon, he continued.

"Truckers want a straight so-much-per gallon tax," Dennis Cudd said.

This would apply to both gasoline and diesel and would affect every vehicle owner.

Manage Drought Plagued Wildlife

Drought planning principles for wildlife actually boil down to range management principles, notes a wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Adjusting stocking rates of livestock will help both livestock and wildlife. Proper harvesting of wildlife during hunting seasons is an important part of wildlife management and will be especially critical this fall if drought conditions persist.

Ranchers can provide supplemental feed for livestock although this can be expensive.
