Walters' Bride Tells Killing Of Young Husband

FORREST TRIAL HEARS PLEA OF "NOT GUILTY"

Mother And Father, Accused Of Murder Were Held Without Bond

SENSATION IN COURT

Mother Cries "It Can't Be Cora, She Is Dead," As Daughter Testifies

WALTERS, Okla. March 13.—A. B. and Euphrasie Forrest, pleaded not guilty today when they were arraigned before County Judge Lon Morris, the examining magistrate, charged with the murder of their son-in-law, George Hicks, in Walters, February 4. The defense waived the formality of reading the indictment and the state commenced immediately to introduce testimony to support the charge.

Chas. McDonald, justice of the peace and ex-officio coroner, was the first witness for the state. He told of the finding of the body in the Forrest home of the examination conducted by himself and Dr. Jones. Hicks was dead when he arrived he testified and this was further substantiated by Dr. Jones when he came on the stand. Dr. Jones testified that he found Hicks dead at the Forrest home, that upon examination he found that he had been shot five times in the back three of the bullets passing through the body. He found one steel nosed bullet between the underwear and the body of the deceased, that either one of the five would have proven fatal.

An exciting scene was staged in the court room when Cora Hicks, wife of the deceased and daughter of the defendants was called to the witness stand. Mrs. Forrest raised her chair and screamed:

"It's not Cora, it can't be Cora, Cora is dead!"

Bride Tells Story.

Mrs. Hicks in testifying reviewed all incidents and circumstances leading up to the tragedy. She told of her marriage to young Hicks in Walters November 28, 1924, their arrest at Lawton that night on charges of perjury sworn to by her father.

She was carried to her fathers home and her husband placed in jail.

Mrs. Hicks was later carried to Texas to prevent the possibility of her being her husband after he was released from jail. She testified that her father threatened her life if she did not testify against her husband in his trial for perjury,

He also threatened to kill her husband at that time if he swore that Mrs. Hicks told him she was of legal age, so Mrs. Hicks testified.

The witness told of being reunited with her husband after he was acquitted of perjury and their subsequent departure on a honeymoon trip to Atoka. Her parents sent word to them to return and they would both be forgiven, was the reason she gave for the return of herself and husband to the family home. They drove to Walters on the morning of the killing and sought advice from Court Clerk Chas. McQuistion as to advisability of going to the parents home without the probability of trouble. McQuistion told them, she said, that Forrest had told him that it would be all right, that they would like to see their children before they moved to Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks arrived at the Forrest home at 11:30. Mr. Forrest was not at home. Mrs. Forrest greeted them and went to the kitchen with the daughter. Young Hicks was left in the front room.

Her Father Returns.

He later went for the suit cases and set them on the front porch. Forrest came in later. Cora kissed him, but he did not return the caress or the embrace, Mrs. Hicks testified. He looked pale and jerking. He stated that he was sick upon questioning by his daughter. He then turned and spoke to Mrs. Forrest, stating that he would get some lemons for a hot lemonade. He passed out of the room, a door slammed and Mrs. Hicks testified that she presumed that he had gone out, but she didn't see him leave. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest previous to this time had conferred in a low tone of voice, she said, and Forrest never at any time spoke to his son-in-law while in the house. Mrs. Hicks testified further that she set about to help her mother finish the house work, as her mother appeared to be ill. Some few minutes were consumed at the work.

She then passed to the rear of the house, she said, and was absent only about three minutes when she heard a woman scream and saw her mother running down the road with a gun in her hand. Sensing a tragedy she fled to her husband and ran to the house where she found him lying on the floor dead. Forrest appeared in a few minutes and inquired of his daughter where the mother had gone and was informed that she had gone down the street. He then left in pursuit of the wife, she testified

YOUNG BRIDE ON STAND TESTIFIES AGAINST PARENTS

WALTERS, Okla., March 13.—Mrs. Cora Hicks, young widow of George Hicks, for the murder of whom the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Forrest are now on trial in district court here, stuck by her dead husband's memory in dramatic fashion on the stand here today.

Never once did she falter nor did she at any time give sign that she preferred to sympathize with her parents who are charged with the young man's murder, inasmuch as one life had already been lost over her marriage.

Mrs. Hicks made one of the most astute witnesses ever examined in the courts of this county, is the opinion openly expressed by prominent lawyers in attendance at the trial. Her story was clear, concise and to the point. She was cross-examined by Smith C. Matson, former chief justice of the criminal court of appeals, one of the attorneys for the defense.

WHOLE WORLD IS KIN THESE DAYS, HE SAYS

Debow Tells Methodist Young People That Science Brings It

"Science has made the world a neighborhood, the task of the world is to make it a brotherhood," stated Dr. Chas. Debow of Oklahoma City in his forceful lecture on "The Challenge of an Unfinished Task," before the Methodist Young People's association at the Floral Heights M. E. church, Friday evening.

World redemption was pointed out as the "unfinished task," which Dr. Debow declared, presented three challenges to modern youth: First, to know and understand the world in which they live; second to adequately serve that world; and third, the complete commitment of all of self to Christ's service.

Don't Blame Youth.

"Youth should not be blamed for its wildness, it is merely following the course set by today's generation. Youth is conscious of its power. Youth of today at 15 is confronted with problems that never reached youth of yesterday until they were 25. The thoughts of youth today will make their destiny tomorrow. Before youth lies the challenge of directing this thought so as to lead toward world redemption, the unfinished task.

"Human destiny is won, not made. Each race must work out their problem alone. War methods were futile, they will never produce a brotherhood.

World Near Neighbors.

"This is no ordinary day in which we live. Great speed in transportation, and the wonders of science have made the world near neighbors. To Christian men of the vast neighborhood falls the commission of the Master to redeem the world. Will they complete the unfinished task by using the great commission for service, or will they turn it to selfish profit that hinders the wheels of time."

Preceding the lecture, the Wichita Falls Women's Choral club under the direction of Mrs. Louella B. Thompson, sang a group of old southern melodies, "Massa's in de Cold Cold Ground," "Old Kentucky Home," "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," and Mrs. Thompson sang as a solo, "Old Black Joe."

Miss Evarts Martin, talented young harpist, played to the delight of the audience, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "The Last Rose of Summer."

A silver offering was taken, as is the custom at the popular series of "better" programs given by the Methodist Young People's association.

City Finally Hit by Expected Cold Wave

Whipped in by a rising wind from the north which carried with it a cloud of dust, the long heralded norther due for this section struck here at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The thermometer began a steady descent at that hour and late in the evening was threatening to sink below the freezing point before morning.

Friday was a comparatively warm and inviting day, although clouds and a haze in the north presaged a radical change of some sort.

Weather bureau reports told of a cold wave of severe proportions in the Panhandle, with indications of its gripping this section tightly by Saturday morning.

INCOME TAX END MONDAY

Only Two More Days Remain In Which To Settle 1924 Claims.

Saturday and Monday only remain for the payment of 1924 income taxes and with this time limitation, Wichitans are flocking into the internal revenue offices in the federal building in increasing business. Friday was the heaviest day of the year, according to H. G. Collier, chief deputy of this division.

March 15 is the last day allowed for filing of returns but since that date falls on Sunday this year Monday also will be allowed for the making of returns.

City Officials Slice Department Budgets

The pruning knife is being wielded with telling effect these days on the city's financial thickets.

With budgets ready for adoption, probably at the next meeting of the city council, Mayor Shepherd and his aides are shaving down expense accounts for 1925 to as economical a plane as possible. All recommendations have been made by the various department heads and are being subjected to careful inspection before they are finally brought up for passage. All appropriation requests not absolutely necessary to make consistent progress are being eliminated.

The city's operating schedule for the coming fiscal year probably will be mapped out in its entirety within the next few days.

WICHITAN HIT ON HEAD, MAY NOT RECOVER

Mystery Surrounds Finding Of A. R. Vaughn Early Friday Afternoon

ON PETROLIA ROAD

Struck By Thugs, Say Police, Or Else Sustained Injury When Falling

A. R. Vaughn, 1501 Travis street, is in a critical conditon in the general hospital as a result of injuries sustained early Friday afternoon, presumably on the Petrolia road and in some manner that thus far remains a mystery. He has been unconscious practically all the time since he was found and has been unable to give officers any indication of how he suffered a blow on the head that may cause his death.

Sixty Years Old.

Mr. Vaughn, who is about 60 years of age, was found at 3 o'clock by Deputy Constable Roberts, who was riding on the Petrolia road at a point about two miles north of the city. Vaughn was clinging desperately to a wire fence at the side of the road and was attempting to struggle to his feet when found. He lapsed into unconsciousness a short time later, however, and at a late hour last night had not revived at the hospital.

A hasty examination made by the officer revealed a severe gash in the back of the head. Roberts immediately summoned an ambulance and the injured man was taken to the hospital, where it was found his skull had been fractured. He was in a very serious condition last night, attendants at the institution said, with his chances of recovery remote.

Two theories have been advanced by officers as to the cause of his injury. One is that he was the victim of an attack by thugs who may have beaten him about the head, and the other is that he was stricken with illness and injured himself in falling.

May Have Been Ill.

The latter possibility is regarded as the more likely notwithstanding the fact that he was apparently in good health.

Mrs. Vaughn told officers her husband had been working on a farm north of town for several days past, she thought. She could assign no motive for his injury, other than that he had been hurt in falling.

Further indication that such had been the case was seen in the fact that a small amount of cash in his pockets and a few articles of minor value had not been disturbed.

The injured man has been a resident of Wichita Falls for many years and was well known in the city.

Stokes Acquitted in Chicago Trial

CHICAGO, March 13.—W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire apartment hotel owner of New York, and Robert Lee, Chicago negro, were acquitted this afternoon after a trial of one month on charges of conspiring to defame Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes. The jury was out one hour and five minutes.

Three ballots were taken on Mr. Stokes before an agreement was reached, members of the jury said, while the negro co-defendant was acquitted on the first ballot.

Mrs Stokes was not in the court room when the verdict was rendered. There was a small demonstration for Mr. Stokes.

Oral Jones, cashier of the City National bank, Mrs. Jones and Oral, Jr., will leave Wichita Falls overland Saturday night for Dallas to attend a banquet which is to be given by Dallas bankers for J .W. McIntosh comptroller of the currency, Washington, D. C.

Highbrow Puppies Need A Nurse, and One Will Go As Payment For The Care

Six highbrow pups—scions of a family listed high in the canine "Who's Who" and holding equally exalted post in dogdoms "400" are seeking the services of a competent nurse.

The only requirement is that she be a mother mongrel capable of nurturing and caring for half-a-dozen healthy younguns who otherwise may find themselves orphans.

Real Blue Bloods

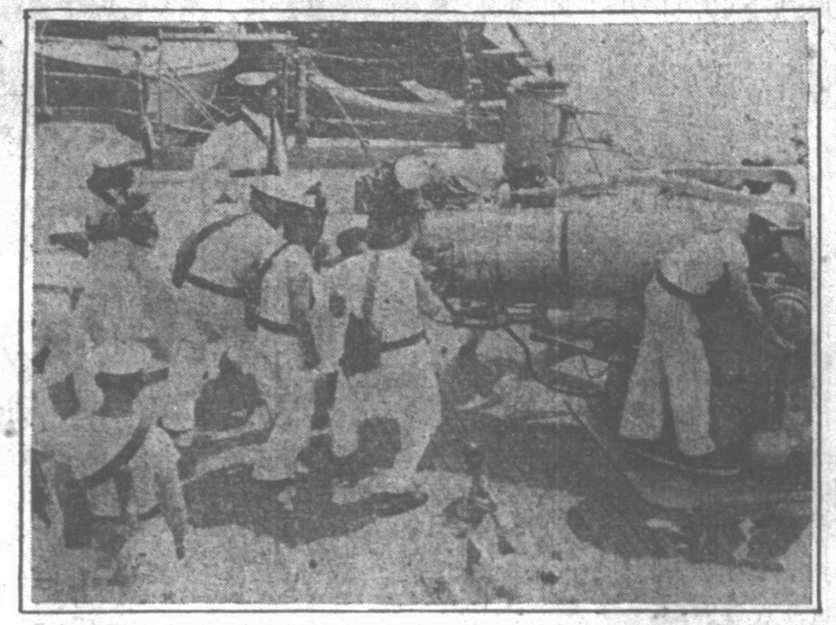

To get down to facts, Cerus Vom Elsetrue, Sch. H., just plain Ceres if you want to take the plebian viewpoint, has brought a round dozen puppies into the world. Ceres, it should be remembered, is the prize German police dog that Joe Carrigan acquired a few months ago. Both she and the daddy of the litter, Herr Falko Vom Ellensbrunde Sch. H., have won numerous bench prizes in Germany and have been fully trained for police, master, home and children protection.

Can Nurse But Six

Now then there are 12 little Vom Somebodies, and for the good of the brood the mother should raise but six. So owner Joe is looking around for a foster-mama to step in and bring up some children in the way they should go. The "nurse" need not be a pedigreed hound at all; just a plain, old-fashioned mother cur will be eminently satisfactory; but she must be found at once.

In return for the service, Mr. Carrigan offers one of the pups with all its high-hatted accoutrements to the owner of the dog that fills the needed role. He may be reached via telephone 7277 or 5053.

"Enemy" Forces Gunners U. S. Fleet To Wear Gas Masks

Gunners of Uncle Sam's battle fleet were forced to use gas masks in the war waged on an imaginary enemy in the Pacific. 'BUY AT HOME' TO BE CRY OF CATTLE RAISER

Association Will Charge U. S. Discriminates Against Texas

SAN ANTONIO, March 13.—Cattleman will charge the United States government with discrimination against stock raisers of this country in distributing supplies for the army and navy, when the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association convenes here in its forty-ninth annual convention on next Tuesday.

Resolutions will be passed asking the government to buy its meat production from home growers. Cattlemen will charge that meat products are now being brought in the Philippines and Hawaii and from foreign nations and that such action is working "increasing hardships" on stock raisers of the United States and the convention will ask the government to confine its purchases to the United States.

Will Mean Debate.

While a declaration in favor of the principles of co-operative marketing by producers is expected, it is the opinion of cattlemen who are early arrivals for the convention that this subject will precipitate a real debate, as it did in El Paso last year. Old line commission houses are unalterably opposed to the producers co-operative marketing plan and are coming to San Antonio to meet proponents with "facts and figures."

Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso, himself a cattleman, has been invited to address the convention on the tariff. He has not sent his acceptance, as yet, but he has told friends that he will attend the convention.

Mrs. Pulitzer's injuries at first were thought superficial. Complications developed today which caused her to be taken to the Manhattan hospital where she died of a blood clot on the brain, caused, doctors said, by the injury of a blood vessel in the neck. She was unconscious for some time before she died.

Mr. Pulitzer, who was at sea between Miami and Long Key, Fla., en route to a fishing camp for a vacation, was located and brought to Miami by a speed boat after airplanes had been ordered out from the government station at Miami to apprise him of his wife's serious condition.

PARANOIAC OF AMATORY TYPE BOY'S DEFENSE

Heir To $250,000 Plantation On Trial At LaGrange For Girl's Death

LA GRANGE, March 13.—Actual trial of William H. Langhorn Jr. of Chappell Hill got under way here late today when the selection of jurymen began at 4:30 o'clock. Langhorn is charged with the killing of Miss Valera Zapalac and criminal assault and assault with intent to kill Miss Minnie Zapalac, her sister, on a highway near here on the night of February 14.

It was indicated by the state attorneys that death penalty will be asked, while the defense indicated that it will attempt to prove that "Langhorn is a paranoiac of the amatory type, suffering from persecutory delusions with sudden outbursts of violence, connected with homicidal intent." Defense attorneys said that they will prove the defendant is a congenital paranoiac.

Disclosures were made today that Langhorn is heir apparent to a plantation valued at $250,000, left to him by his grandfather on his mother's side with his mother holding a life interest in it. Upon her death he is to receive all the property.

The defendant is more pale than formerly, is apparently less interested in the trial than he was in the preliminaries February 15 and 16.

M. M. MORRIS' DEATH CAUSED BY OWN HAND

J. E. Thompson, Cashier, Is In Custody Of Bowie County Sheriff

NEW BOSTON, FRIDAY

W. W. White, President, Says Shortage Apparently Cause Tragedy

NEW BOSTON, Texas, March 13.—With Marshall M. Morris, assistant cashier, dead by his own hand, and J. E. Thompson, cashier, in custody of the Bowie county sheriff, following his voluntary surrender, the State Exchange bank here is closed pending an investigation of an alleged shortage by a state bank examiner, whose presence has been requested by the officials of the bank.

Morris was found dead at his desk in the bank shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, after a search for him had been instituted by Mrs. Morris. He was leaning over the desk, a bullet having passed through his head. The weapon was found at his feet. The discovery was made by Gus Looney and J. E. Thompson. A verdict of suicide was returned by Justice of the Peace J. J. Peters, acting as coroner.

"Shortage apparently was the cause of the tragedy," said W. W. White, president of the bank. "We have called an examiner and the bank will be closed until he completes his investigation." Mr. White said he feared the shortage might run between forty and fifty thousand dollars. The bank's capitalization is $30,000.

Thompson has been connected with the bank for four years and Morris for the past two years. The bank is six years old.

Morris was a member of a prominent Bowie county family and is survived by a wife and one son.

Tobe Morris, a brother, was killed in Fort Worth about two years ago by the accidental discharge of a shotgun he was removing from an automobile on his return from a hunting trip. Morris was a deputy sheriff in this county for six years.

Morris left several letters to members of his family but the contents are not publicly known. Thompson has made no statement except to say there is a shortage.

Wine Is Omitted in Bible Version

NEW YORK, March 13.—A "shorter Bible" from which are eliminated references to wine familiar in the King James version has been published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

The quotation in other versions of the Bible about David dealing out "a cake of bread and a good piece of flesh and a lagon of wine" appears in the shorter Bible as "a roll of bread, a portion of meat and a cake of raisins."

The Prophet Isaiah's reference to the children of Israel looking to other gods and "loving flagons of wine" appears in the new Bible as "although they turn to other gods and loved to eat raisin cakes at their festivals.

The shorter Bible, however, contains the phrases "wine is a mocker," "strong drink is turbulent." "so look not on wine when it is red." and "be careful not to dring any wine or intoxicating drink."

Hugh F. Fox, editor of The Periscope, an anti-prohibition publication, criticised the new Bible for its manner of reference to wine.

The new edition was transated by Charles Foster Kent, Woolsey professor of Biblical literature at Yale, in collaboration with Prof. C. T. Torrey of Yale, H. A. Sherman, head of the religious department of Scribner's; Frederick Harris of the Y. M. C. A. and Ethel Cutler of the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Sherman asserted the shorter Bible was free from any prohibition bias.

"We thought in terms of scholarship," he said. "At no time did any question of liquor or prohibition come up."

Typhoid Tube In Chicago College Stolen, Is Claim

Sensation Comes In Probe Of Death Of 'Millionaire Orphan"

CHICAGO, March 13.—Dr. C. C. Faiman, owner of the National University of Sciences, questioned in the cornoner's inquiry into the death from typhoid of William Nelson McClintock, "millionaire orphan," was said by state's attorneys today to have admitted after an all-night questioning that a tube of typhoid germs was stolen from him a year ago last November.

The theft occurred, John Sbarbaro, assistant prosecutor, said Faiman told him about the time William Shepherd, foster father and chief heir of McClintock's $2 000,000 estate, visited the school and took several lessons.

According to Faiman's story, as state's attorney said he told it, Shepherd attended lectures on germs for about a week, but never paid any tuition and never returned.

Shortly afterward Faiman said he looked in an incubator where a supply of germ cultures was kept and which was accessible to students and found three tubes missing, one of which he was sure contained typhus maccili. The others also may have held the typhoid germs, he said.

During the time he attended the school, Faiman said, Shepherd manifested little interest in typhoid while he was in class, but asked many questions about germ action after school was dismissed.

Prosecutors said they expected to summon Shepherd at once for questioning in connection with Faiman's story. Attorneys for Shepherd recently were granted a request for a three weeks continuance of the coroners' inquiry which was instigated by Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court.

It is believed that King has gone into the country and is taking testimony perhaps at a ranch house.

It was said at the sheriff's office today that no warrants have been issued as a result of the inquiry.

Oklahoma Films Were a Rag Bundle

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—Charles Myton, one time heavyweight boxer, who stayed 11 rounds with Jess Willard, was the government's star witness today in the Rickard fight film conspiracy trial in federal court here. He was a protege of the late Bill Tilghman, two-gun marshal, who at 71 was nationally known as a bandit killer.

Myton and Tilghman are said to have bought the Oklahoma "rights" to the Dempsey-Carpentier fight film and the story goes, when the film box arrived after the purchase it was found to be stuffed with rags.

Tilghman, who was to have played an important part in the investigation of the alleged conspiracy, was shot and killed last year in an attempt to quell rowdism at Cromwell Okla.

WICHITA FALLS IS GREAT

Because; Twenty-three hundred more children are enrolled in the Wichita Falls public schools than there were four years ago at this time. Attendance swelled 200 students during the last thirty days, and Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent, says the rate of growth in school population is increasing steadily.

UNFAIR TO SMALL TAXPAYERS.

Secretary Mellon's explanation of the tax settlement made by the treasury department with the Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies Steamship company does not remove the impression that such kindly compromises with large concerns are unfair to the great majority of taxpayers who must make their income tax returns exactly according to law, at whatever cost to themselves.

The secretary doesn't remove any ground for suspicion that the settlement was tinctured with favoritism or contrary to ordinary business practices. In upholding the honesty of the department over which he presides he describes the transaction thus: "The company offered to settle for $1,000,000 cash. The department investigation showed that $1,280,000 was as much as the company could probably raise from its bankers and pay the government and still avoid bankruptcy proceedings. This taxpayer also had a judgment against the shipping board of $1,351,000, which the department insisted must be satisfied by the taxpayer as well as the cash demanded by the department. In other words, the United States received in compromise $1,280,000 in cash and the settlement of a valid judgment against another branch of the government for a total of $2,631,000."

As Secretary Mellon sums the matter up, "The situation was similar to any other compromise between a creditor and a debtor having many debts and few assets. The creditor took what it thought the debtor could pay." This is perfectly satisfactory as strictly a business affair. But the government is not an ordinary creditor nor is a taxpayer an ordinary debtor. Mr. Mellon ignores these facts. He also dismisses as of no consequence the loss to the government of some $7,000,000 out of assessed taxes and penalties totalling $9,913,841. But, whatever the secretary of the treasury may think of this trifle, it is large enough both in actual amount and in proportion to carry considerable weight with the average taxpayer, who usually spends his income before he pays his taxes and must of necessity make an appreciable sacrifice to discharge his obligation to the government.

It may be justice to grant leniency to the large taxpayers in particular cases when their situation clearly demands it, but this does not disturb the fact that a system which permits such special accommodations is unsound. Not only can the large taxpayer plead misfortune upon occasion to escape satisfying the government in the full amount of his obligation, which is not possible to the small taxpayer, but the treasury department can exercise a discretion which amounts to special clemency that is denied the average citizen who must pay an income tax. When such things as these can happen, reform or abolition is sternly called for.

MAKING AN IRREGULARITY REGULAR.

The Bonham bill, passed by the Texas house of representatives, seems to have been designed with the good purpose of doing away with special legislative sessions called to finish tasks which should be completed in regular sessions. It provides for two regular sessions divided by a recess of about two months. Meeting at the usual time, the legislature would work five weeks and then adjourn until April 2, when it would resume work for another five weeks. In the first period, appropriation bills and matters of local interest would be disposed of and opportunity afforded for the introduction, without consideration, of general measures involving important questions of policy. During the recess bills would be printed and their provisions studied by the legislators, who, it is assumed, would resume their labors prepared for energetic and decisive action.

This plan, however, fails to take into account the probability that, when they adjourn, our tired lawmakers will dismiss their burdensome duties from their minds and seek relaxation in unofficial pursuits. The history of special sessions shows that a reconvened legislature does not get down to business more speedily than a new legislature. Unless restricted to a few subjects, the special session rarely does all that is expected of it. The Bonham bill would simply make the special session regular and secure a somewhat better relationship between separate sessions. What is really needed is a single session of sufficient duration to allow the legislators to finish their work. But two ideas embodied in the Bonham bill should be given effect. One is the disposal of appropriation bills in advance of general legislation. The other is the printing of proposed laws many days in advance of their consideration.

NOT IN THE TRUST.

Representative Dewey Young of the far Panhandle country is the author of the carbon black bill. Mr. Young says the carbon black people are not behind him or his bill. If they are he is not aware of it. More over he says that in two of the counties of his district there are land owners who are the owners of gas wells. They asked him to introduce a bill that would provide a market for their gas. He introduced it and then the row began.

It appears that the carbon black makers are not advertising their presence or their plans for the benefit of posterity or the people now on earth. They do not hunt ducks with a brass band.

They know wont they want but they do not know how to get it. They came within an ace of slipping a bill over two years ago.

Then the friends of conservation rallied their force, and won the battle. Now the friends of conservation are doing their best to win the second bout. They are for a skyscraper Texas and not a pigmy Texas.

THE BOMB IN THE SENATE.

It was probably with calculated irregularity and audacity that General Dawes caused the explosion in the senate on Wednesday. He carefully refrained from giving out his speech in advance. No warning was to take the edge off the shock. And Mr. Dawes doubtless was aware that he himself would be exposed to some of the flying debris when his bomb went off. He would be accused of hectoring senators as if they were a lot of subalterns. It would be charged that he craved a sensation and the center of the stage to himself at any cost. And he must have foreseen that the senate would at once proceed to display its resentment by making his life miserable as presiding officer. But it is fair to presume that he was willing to run all these risks and that he reckoned them as of less account than the effect which his frank speech would have upon the country and upon the senate itself, after angry passions had had time to subside and the merits of the case were duly weighed.

No sane man desires any revolutionary change in the rules of the senate. It has not been responsibly suggested that the rules of the house, necessary as they are in that much larger body, should be applied in anything like their rigor to the procedure of the senate. All that is demanded is that the senate correct glaring abuses in its practice. As its rules now stand, it is often subject to the tyrannical whim of an individual senator. There is no way of compelling a senator to speak to the question; no way of taking him off the floor when he refuses to yield it. The rules provide no practicable means by which two-thirds or even three-fourths of the senate can decide that the full freedom of debate has been had and that a vote must be taken. To get rid of a few such absurdities in the senate correct glaring abuses in its practice. As is to be "gagged," or that the ancient fabric of senate procedure is to be shaken down in immediate ruin. Vice President Dawes has, with whatever faults of manner, forced the attention of the country upon these main questions. The senate will yet have to deal with them.

It was not merely by his discussion of the rules that the vice president outraged and inflamed the senators who heard him. The bold man had shown a cool disregard of the immemorial tradition of senators about themselves. Most of them are sensible enough, working hard as public servants, but a few of them, who unfortunately give tone, under public observation, to the whole body, are filled with unspeakable complacency and bear themselves with a conceit that would be amusing if it were not so offensive. They pose before the senate galleries. They cultivate a majestic air in greeting each other. They have the conviction that they are great men from the mere fact of being members of the senate, but strive in vain to acquire the look and port of men who are truly great. Now it was into this atmosphere of artificial dignity and blown self-assurance that General Dawes flung his bomb. No wonder that purple senators looked on aghast as at an act of sacrilege. But the people in the galleries laughed. And their laughter was pretty widely echoed round the country.—New York Times.

SANITY IN CLOTHES.

Never before has the trend of fashion in America been so noticeably toward comfortable clothing. Loose-fitting, healthy styles, such as have been in vogue in England for some time, give natural freedom to the body and a free, vigorous and alert atmosphere to the wearer.

According to a recent statement by T. R. Elcock, president of the American Sole & Belting Leather Tanners, a great demand for the best grades of leather indicates a reversion to solid, substantial leather in the fashion for shoes. The American college boy and girl give evidence of this trend. They are not gum-shoeing about. They want to hear themselves coming along.

The statement of a prominent health authority that much of the illness prevalent in springtime is due to lack of understanding of the importance of the point of contact between man and the earth on which he lives seems logical, because at this season the earth changes her moods and temperatures much more rapidly than man can adapt himself to them. The only real protection, it has been found, is the skin of animals used to cover the feet. The feet must breathe, especially through the soles, and leather for at least 5,000 years has enabled them to do so.

A youth once covered his body with paint, to take a historical part in a play, and died within 10 hours because the skin could not breathe. If any part of the body is covered with air-tight material a percentage of life and energy is lost. The return to style of all-leather shoes for women and flat, solid heels for men is to be regarded joyfully. We shall all be peppy and chic.

By Dr. Frank Crane

READ HEALTHY LITERATURE.

There is plenty of good literature. All the masters are sound and healthy. It is only the second-raters after all that have the gripes. Gloom, morbid, sickly, crazy stuff is the easiest in the world to write. Just as a child finds the quickest way to attract attention is to whine, so the lesser members of the writing craft soon discover that they can get fame much more easily by dealing in abnormality than by wholesome creative work.

Read Dickens, Shakespeare, Goethe, Victor Hugo. Here is healthy humanity, full-throated laughter, and if they give tragedy it is genuine, rational shadow cast by sunny peaks, and not an enveloping atmosphere of sickly morbidity. Read Macaulay, Emerson, Maeterlinck, Howells, Dumas, O. Henry, Conan Doyle (but not his later spiritualistic vagaries), Charles Reade, Wilkie Collins, anything that leaves the tang of normal life and courage and love. Every morbid book or play is poison to you. Let such things alone. That way madness lies.

Keep away from cults of bitterness. If your religion is one of gloom and dread, get rid of it. "There be gods many and lords many," says the scripture. If your God is a Detective, a cruel Monster, a Tyrant, let him go. Find a God who is a Father, a Friend, a Savior.

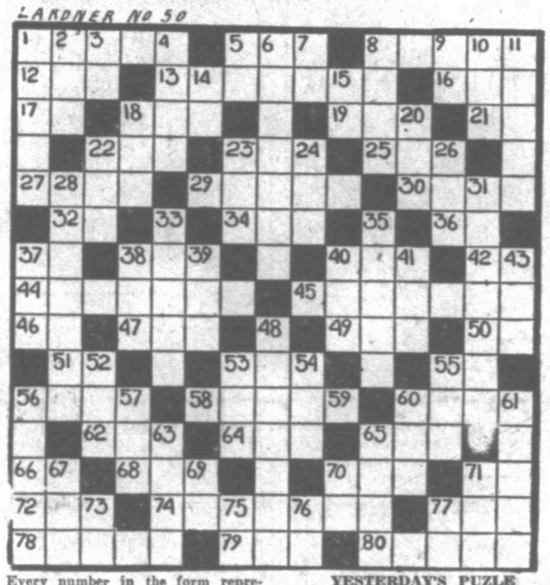

Do not give yourself over wholly to any movement of protest, where the air is one of anger, hate, denunciation, bitterness. No man can safely let such sentiments control his life. What shall it profit a man if he save the whole world and laud in hell himself? Besides, hell nor hellish programs of hate, revenge, violence and the like can ever say anything. They are destructive. If this world is saved at all it will be by love, by understanding, by sympathy and helpfulness. Keep out of any party that has no sunshine.

And cultivate a sense of humor. To see the funny side of a thing always elevates us a little above it. If you can laugh, outwardly or inwardly, you are superior. Don't take yourself, nor others, nor events too seriously. "This too shall pass." Cultivate a wise indifference, a genial remoteness, a kindly and human aloofness.

Here, then, is yur problem. Don't regard yourself as "a victim" of heredity, or circumstance, or temperament. Your life is not a prison sentence. It is your job. Go to it! And look pleasant.

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions fo rthe correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter foreach white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

STATE VETERNARIAN NAMED.

Fort Worth Man Receives Appointment to Office.

FORT WORTH, Mar. 13.—N. F. Williams, Fort Worth, has been appointed state veternarian, according to an announcement from the livestock sanitary commission here. The appointment is effective Saturday.

Williams succeeds Leon G. Cloud, Fort Worth, who is to enter private practice here.

Irrigation

Growing Safe Crops.

Dr. Youngblood received a lot of good advice from the irrigation farmers in the lower Rio Grande valley which he passed on to the people here at the chamber of commerce banquet.

Here is what these farmers say about crops: "Tell them to grow safe crops, that is, crops which are known to be adapted and which the farmers know how to produce. Do not attempt to grow extremely hazardous crops and crops for which there is not a safe market developed. Let the experiment station do the experimenting, and as new crops and methods are discovered, let them be gradually, but cautiously introduced among the farmers."

On many irrigation projects the farmers have met with disaster through growing crops which had no market or a very limited one.

Some farmers will grow a good money making crop one year and then the following year every farmer plants the same thing. The market is overstocked and everyone goes broke and blames the country or Wall street.

Very frequently on newly built western irrigation projects there would be an over production of alfalfa or potatoes.

Alfalfa on western soils generally produce abundantly. On new projects it often happens that most of the farmers would start growing alfalfa. Then the first thing they know they could not sell it for the cost of bailing.

Much the same thing applies to Irish potatoes. Certain irrigated section in Idaho, Utah, and Colorado produce wonderful crops of these tubers.

Potatoes are bulky and heavy and freight rates soon eat up profits. As a consequence putting in a few hundred thousands acrs in potatoes would overstock the market that could be reached at a reasonable cost. This would soon so overstock the market that the price would not justify digging.

MATTERS OF HEALTH

Many have lost their lives because their would-be rescuers lost their heads.

With an unscreened cistern,
And an undrained pool,
Mosquitoes and fever
Are ever the rule.

Vaccination prevents a typhoid vacation.

Who thinks naught of fleas thinks naught of plague.

He who drinks from wells like these
Oft' contracts some dire disease;
For he who drinks, unimmunized,
Hath thus his safety jeopardized.

A bad grouch is merely a good dinner turned to toxin.

In pneumonia, Nature leaves little for the physician to do.

Chronic dyspepsia usually means ulcer or cancer of the stomach, definite information regarding which can be obtained from X-ray pictures.

At pres ent writing there seems to be no good treatment for a bad cold.

When a man needs rest and quietude there's no use feeding him on pills and platitudes.

Perhaps it's well and quite a blessing
That we indulge in a lot of guessing
About the nature of our ills;
If we'd conduct investigations,
With scientific explanations,
They'd sell fewer patent pills.

The earliest possible examination of every tumor or skin lesion would prevent many a cancer fatality.

POEMS THAT LIVE

MOSS-LATE

We cannot kindle when we will
The fire which in the heart resides;
The spirit bloweth and is still,
In mystery our soul abides.
But tasks in hours of insight will'd
Can be through hours of gloom fulfill'd.

With aching hands and bleeding feet
We dig and heap, lay stone on stone;
We bear the burden and the heat
Of the long day and wish 'twere done.
Not till the hours of light return
All we have built do we discern.

More Truth Than Poetry

POETRY FOR THE PEOPLE.

Don't ever give in to the demon despair;
Work always will bring its reward.
Keep at it until you're a great millionaire
Like Morgan or Mellon or Ford.
Don't spend your last years in the Old People's home,
Dejected, despondent and jaded,
But get out and toil from the dawn to the gloam,
And pile up a fortune like they did.

If you want to write poems like Shelley or Guest,
Don't wait until after a while,
But rouse the ambition that sleeps in your breast,
And write till you've mastered their style.
It's merely an idle and frivolous mind
That is holding your genius in fetter,
If you only will practice you'll presently find
You can write as good stuff—maybe better.

Why not invent something?—inventors earn fame,
And abundance of money beside.
You will never be sure that you can't do the same
While your powers as yet are untried.
Just think about something you'd like to invent
With fierce and intense concentration
And you're sure to succeed, in which happy event,
You will win the applause of the nation.

You only need fare with unfaltering feet,
And a spirit that nothing can daunt,
To a congressman's job or a cabinet seat,
Or any position you want.
Success is a coy and a flirtatious jade,
But work is the stuff that will foil her;
She always must yield to the courage displayed,
By the stern and unslumbering toiler!.

THE LISTENERS WON'T.

If England lays a tax on after-dinner oratory, the speakers will have to pay it.

NOT YET.

Nobody seems to refer to the league of nations as The Big League.

MAYBE IT'S WORTH IT.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE.

PISCES.

It is fortunate that, on Saturday, business does not make great demands on one's time or attention, as today's planetary aspects do not indicate any measure of success for efforts made along commercial lines, although there will be nothing untoward happen in the discharge of customary or routine duties. No correspondence involving important issues should be written, and no contracts, covering matters of any magnitude, should be executed. In other words, only those tasks that must, perforce, receive attention, should be carried out. The signs however, are exceptionally favorable for all social diversions, and the vibrations denote an atmosphere of contentment, with a tendency to relaxation and amusement.

Children, who make their first appearance in public today, will, as a general rule, enjoy the blessings of excellent health and normal strength. They will, of course, not be entirely immune from infantile ailments, but their sick spells will be of shorter duration and less severity than those generally expeienced by others. In disposition and character, they will develop cheerfulness and forcefulness, whilst a strict regard for the truth, and absolute frankness, will animate their actions. They will not be predisposed to offer "alibis," but always prepared to admit their faults, and "take their medicine." Environment and parental influence will have a lot to do with the perpetuation and growth of these sterling virtues.

Were you born on March 14th? If so, the indications, astrologically, are that, whilst always conscious of the right thing to do, you are easily swayed, and often persuaded to do those things that you should not do. This backsliding is not attributable to any inherent weakness, but is principally caused by your lack of will power and your ever present desire to please others, combined with the fear that you will forfeit their friendship unless you do as they wish. You, by so acting, overlook the fact that, in trying to retain the association of others, you are losing your own self-esteem, and the respect of others can never be demanded when self respect is lacking.

You are, if the signs are read aright intelligent and ambitious, as well as painstaking and optimistic. These traits are admirable, but possess little real value unless your intelligence is properly used, your ambition carefully guided, your painstaking efforts made along the right channels, and your optimisms based on something more substantial than mirages.

Successful people born on this date are: James Borbardus, inventor, cotton machinery, engraving machine and a dry gas meter; Joseph P. Bradley, jurist, a former justice of the U. S. supreme court; William E. Worthen, civil engineer, a former president of the American Society of Civil Engineers; John S. Marmaduke, soldier and former governor of Missouri; John G. W. Cowles, financier; Andrew Phillips, mathematician, a former professor at Yale college.

HOW IT STARTED

Calling Them "Stuck Up."

This bit of slang is quite familiar in the verancular to describe a snobbish person, one with an air of standoffishness or superiority.

For the origin of the term we must go to birdland. Any observer of the peacock or the plain farmyard turkey, for instance, knows that when angry or in an encounter with an enemy the birds raise the erectile feathers with which Nature has equipped them, either on their crests, on their backs or in their tails.

In the parlance of the farmyard these manifestations of indignation were "stuck-ups." And it is from that source that we have "stuck up" for the human who shows pride or snobbishness.

It is conceded to be one of the most beautiful and well kept cemeteries in this part of the state.

Week In Gambrell Pool Nets Murchison & Fain 8 Wells, 1,600 bbls.

NW Olney Area Wells Average 200 Bbls. Each

Nos. 5 And 6, Schlegel, Completed, And Nos. 14-18, Gambrell

SAND AT 1,200 FEET

Development Fast Since Pool's Beginning In January

Eight wells with a total flush production bettering 1,600 barrels a day was the mark rung up during the past week by Murchison-Fain in the Gambrell pool just northwest of Olney in north Young county.

Five wells were completed on the Gambrell leases on the west side of the pool, BBB&CRR survey, abstract 31, with an average production of 200 barrels a piece, the wells being Nos. 14 to 18, inclusive.

Three wells were completed on the Schlegel lease on the east half of the pool, averaging 200 barrels apiece, here, also, the numbers being 4 to 6 inclusive.

Sand Around 1,200 Feet.

Sand in all of the wells was found below 1,170 feet with the depth of none exceeding 1,225 feet.

Since the inception of this pool at the first of the year it has seen fast and furous development, with operators numbering Murchison-Fain, Gulf, Texas company, Humble, Masse-Robertson, Texhoma and Panhandle, with Murchison and Fain probably setting the pace in drilling.

It is possible that the record of eight successful completions within the span of a week is a mark never before equaled by two independent operators in one pool in this district before.

M-F, JENNINGS THROCKMORTON CO.

Murchison and Fain are drilling below a depth of 900 feet on their No. 1, Jennings, located in the southwest corner of block 2173, TE&LCO survey, abstract 583, eastern Throckmorton county.

M-F, WAGGONER ILBARGER COUNTY.

Murchison and Fain's No. 1, Waggoner, located in the southwest corner of the southeast 40 acres of the southeast quarter of section 32, block 4, H&TCRR survey, Wilbarger county, has spudded and is drilling at about 300 feet.

M-F, HAYGOOD YOUNG COUNTY.

Murchison and Fain are drilling at about 500 feet on their No. 1, Haygood, a west offset to the Lee Wilson No. 1, Haygood, a west offset to the north Young county.

News of the Fields

McLester, Waggoner

Jerome McLester and others have made a location for a test on the Waggoner pasture in northeastern Wilbarger county to be situated approximately in the center of the south half of section 20, block 14, H&TC RR survey.

Wells, Waggoner

Wells et al were starting up again yesterday at 850 feet on their No. 1 Waggoner, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 14, eastern Wilbarger county.

Shaw-Rathke, Kunkel

Shaw and Rathke et al seem to have encountered about the same situation in their No. 3, Kunkel, third location from the east line of their 10-acre tract, Carey district, that White Brothers have in their north offset—the No. 5 Kunkel. The sand was picked up low, somewhere below 1,160 feet, exact depth not obtainable last night, and the well was being drilled into the sand with a very similar condition to that in the White Brothers well prevailing.

White Bros., Kunkel

White Brothers were shut down yesterday at 1,168 feet waiting a while before taking more sand in their No. 5 Kunkel, furthest east well in the Carey district, south Archer county. Five feet of sand had been taken and the hole was standing several hundred feet in oil. The depth at which this sand was encountered makes every foot of the sand a wildcat operation and going is slow in consequence.

Simms, Carpenter

Simms Oil company's No. 7, Carpenter, a north offset to the Lee Wilson No. 1, Haygood, block 237, TE&LCO survey, Litchfield area, north Young county, drilled the plug out yesterday and was swabbing at a rate better than 300 barrels a day from sand at 1,020-41 feet.

Humble, Bexar

Humble Oil & Refining company is blocking between 20,000 and $30,000 acres in Bexar county extending northeast and southwest over a distance of about 15 miles, the central portion of which adjoins the city limits of San Antonio. The block, near completion, is the largest ever held by one interest in the county.

Lee Wilson No. 1, Haygood, TE&LCO survey, block 237, Litchfield pool, No. 1, Haygood, a west offset to the north Young county.

Luellen, Knox

F. P. Lieullen of Fort Worth and others will start up next week on a wildcat located about three miles north of Loving, northeastern Young county. It is located in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter, section 1, B. B. B. & C. Co. survey, J. W. Knox lands.

The well is on leases formerly held by a big company but now expired.

Moore, Cheeves

W. M. Moore was setting casing yesterday afternoon on his No. 1, Cheeves, located in the southeast corner of his lease in block 1, H. B. Alkes survey abstract 5, just north of the Litchfield pool. Broken sand and shale was cored into at 1,028 feet. Completion for a producer here will extend the Litchfield pool some distance to the northwest.

Empire, Carter

The Empire Gas and Fuel company has set and cemented casing at 1,231 feet in their No. 1, Carter, in the northwest corner of the east half of block 1,504, TE&LCO survey, offsetting the Davis Hart producer to the east, after losing the casing seat at first. This well is located on the extreme southeastern edge of the Harmel pool southwestern Archer county.

Magnolia, Waggoner

The Magnolia Petroleum company was about rigged up and ready to spud yesterday on its No. 1, Moore-Waggoner, located in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 59, block 4, H&TC RR survey, Wilbarger county, north and west of the Noble well.

Texhoma Leases

White, Archer

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has abandoned its No. 1, J. H. White, located 540 feet south of the northwest corner of the Texhoma lease in half-section 42 ATNCL, east of the Parrish-Whit district, north Archer county, total depth given as 1,620 feet.

Morrison, Archer.

The Texhoma was rigged up and expecting to spud yesterday on their No. 1, Morrison, located in block 2403, TE&LCO survey north of the Harmel pool, southwest Archer county.

Covert, Wilbarger.

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company was running 8 1-4 inch casing yesterday to 1,080 feet in their No. 1, Covert, in section 7, H&TCRR survey, block 15 north Wilbarger county.

Wilson, Archer.

The Texhoma was making a location yesterday for their C-4, Wilson, near the center of the west line of lot 2, section 31, ATNCL, north Archer county.

Atlantic, Parrish

The Atlantic Oil Producing company is placing its No. 1 Parrish "C" on the pump yesterday for a probable 100 barrel well from sand at 1,558-63½ feet. The well is located in the southeast corner of the southwest forty acres of the southwest quarter of H&TCRR survey, abstract 1197, north Archer county.

Appoint Master in Cracking Suit

CHICAGO, March 13.—Charles Martindale of Indianapolis today was appointed master in chancery to hear evidence in the government injunction suit against the Standard Oil company of Indiana and about 40 others of the principal oil companies to restrain them from their pooling by certain agreements the "cracking" processes used in producing gasoline from petroleum.

The government contends that the "cracking" by distillation at high pressure is an idea centuries old and not patentable and that therefore the letters patent held by that process are worthless. The government contends that through the licensing system under these patents, unlawful restrictions were imposed through collusion of the five principal defendants, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Texas company, the Standard Development company, and the Gasoline Products company.

Included in some of the licenses for use of the patented stills were clauses providing that the licensee should not ship any gasoline so manufactured into the territories served by the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the licensor.

Table Bill To Give Authority To Commission

Action Aimed At Life Of Oil And Gas Section, Claimed

AUSTIN, March 13.—(AP)—The measure passed yesterday by the senate giving the oil and gas division complete authority to make regulations governing the drilling of oil wells was recalled today and laid on the table subject to call.

Senator Murphy, arguing that the bill would benefit large oil producers and prevent the small land owners from drilling on his own land, moved that the senate reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed, the motion prevailing 15 to 10.

Senator Parnell Wichita Falls, raised the action. He declared the move was aimed at wiping out the oil and gas division. The bill is designed to give full statutory authority to rule 37 of the railroad commissions which provided that oil wells shall be drilled at least 300 feet apart. The authority of the commission to make such a rule has been questioned and the bill is meant to remove any such doubt. Senator Murphy predicted the bill now would be killed.

DEATH COFFEE ANALYZED.

Chemist Tests Drink to Determine Cause of Couple's End.

MEDINA, Ohio., March 13.—County Prosecutor Joseph Seymour today awaited a report from the Elyria City chemist on his analysis of a package of coffee found on the farm of Fred Glenke, Valley City, to determine whether it contained poison that caused the death of Glenke and his wife, and the serious illness of three of their six children.

Cromwell Leads Drilling Wells

During the past week the state of Oklahoma showed the total number of operations in its oil fields to be 1,492, according to the current issue of the Oil Weekly. The largest number of these were 887 drilling wells, which is over half the total number.

The Wewoka-Cromwell district reported the largest number of drilling wells, as has been their custom for some time, when they reported 240 tests drilling. This made up the greatest part of their commanding lead in total activity which totaled 352 operations.

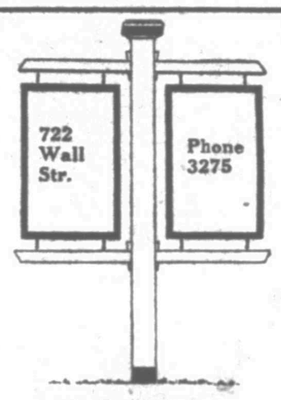

Following is the report of the week's drilling activities as taken from the current issue of the Oil Weekly, out today:

WHERE BUTTER MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE IN THE WORLD

In Fish Cookery

First, be sure of your fish. Then be sure of your butter.

To cook a fish is as much of an art as to catch a fish. The good fish cook knows that good butter is almost as necessary to good fish cookery as the fish itself.

Broiled, baked, or fried—butter is always an important adjunct. It supplies the one flavor, the one bit of richness that almost every fish needs to be perfect.

The butter must be right. Rich and pure, with that fine flavor that becomes no flavor at all. Blending with the flavor and aroma of the fish to make a culinary and piscatorial masterpiece.

Mistletoe Butter is butter the good cook is sure of. Butter she can depend upon to bring out the very best in the food she prepares. For either the cooking of the fish or the sauce with which it is served Mistletoe Butter is just exactly right.

Be sure—use Mistletoe

LEGAL NOTICE

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Secretary of the Interior until Advertisement for Bids to Purchase Crude Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Wells Operated by the Interior Department on the Red River Bed, noon of March 23, 1925 for the purchase of oil and natural gas gasoline obtained by the Interior Department from wells under its jurisdiction in the Red River bed. The bids on oil and natural gas gasoline should be submitted separately.

At the present time the daily production of crude from these wells is about 650 barrels and the natural gas involved is about 16 million cubic feet per month having a gasoline content of about 5¼ gallons per thousand cubic feet of gas.

Bidders should indicate their price for oil in terms of a differential with respect to the highest price paid by any one of the following companies, for oil of like gravity from the fields in Wichita County Texas.

Prairie Oil and Gas Co.
Texas Pipeline Co.
Humble Pipeline Co.
Magnolia Petroleum Corp.

The contractor for the oil will be required to accept it at the gage tanks now installed on the property and subject to the gaging methods and deductions now in effect.

The bid on natural gas gasoline should be a percentage of the total marketable gasoline recoverable, to be paid either in gasoline or cash as the department may elect. If payment is taken in cash the price shall be the same as that currently received by the contractor for his share of the gasoline. The natural gas will be delivered on the lease to the successful bidder at the wells or gas traps in a manner now in effect and the contractor will be required to return the dry gas at a suitable point or points to the gas distributing system now installed on the property. The contractor will be allowed to use a reasonable amount of dry gas for plant operation, the remainder to be returned to the properties as fuel.

Payment for either oil or natural gas gasoline shall be made at least twice a month.

As part or all of the property involved may pass at any time from the direct operation of the Department to lessees, no specific guarantee as to duration of the contracts can be given except that they will cover such oil and natural gas gasoline as may be produced while these properties are operated by the Interior Department. A clause will be inserted in the contract so that in the event the oil or gas applicable to the proposed contract shall be reduced to one-half the original quantity or less because of such leases to private operators, the contractor will have the right to withdraw from his agreement by giving 60 days notice in writing to the Secretary of the Interior.

This clause will not apply to ordinary decline of production. Bidders are required to submit individual bids for the oil and for the natural gas gasoline. There is, however, no objection to any bidder submitting a bid on both oil and natural gas gasoline.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a surety bond in the amount of $50,000 on oil and $4,000 on natural gas gasoline for the faithful performance of his agreement.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids as the interest of the Government may require. Proposals must be securely enveloped and marked, "Proposals for the Purchase of Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Red River Bed," and addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.

Ma And Trapp To Be Legion Guests At District Meet

Two Governors Will Be In Altus For Big Convention

ALTUS, Okla., March 13.—Members of the American legion have completed plans for the largest congressional district convention of the veterans' organization ever held in Oklahoma here April 30, May 1 and 2. Governor M. E. Trapp of Oklahoma and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson will appear on the program together April 30 in an Americanization day program, according to Ross Rutherford, post commander.

The list of speakers who have assured Waldo Oden, chairman of the convention committee, they will appear here include many well known state leaders in addition to the two governors. Alvin M. Owsley of Dallas, former national commander of the legion, will also be here, as will Senator Jed Johnson of Anadarko. An effort will be made to get Congressman Jim McClintic and Congressman Elmer Thomas to attend.

All schools in Jackson county will be closed April 30, and school children will parade as part of the Americanization day celebration.

Members of the legion here declare that the appearance of the governors of Texas and Oklahoma together will draw the largest crowd which has ever attended a district meeting of the legion in Oklahoma.

New York Gamblers "Clean-up" on Race

CHICAGO, March 13—The Chicago Tribune says today that the New York gamblers who fixed the 1919 world's series have profited to the extent of a half million dollars on the seventh race at Miami, Fla., yesterday.

Chicago bookmakers suffered the principal shock by separation from a sum estimated at $200,000, according to the Tribune. Handbooks in Detroit, Cincinnati, St. Louis and a number of other cities likewise suffered, says the story, which declared some of the bookies stated they would withhold payment pending an investigation.

The cleanup was made by placing bets on both Dellham and Firament, which finished first and second, respectively, according to the Tribune, which says hand book keepers in Chicago and other cities were swamped with money from New York.

FIRE BELL IS TESTED.

Big Gong on Fire Truck At Quanah "Wakes Dead."

QUANAH, March 13.—The first test blow of the Quanah fire department's new "Big Ben" alarm clock almost 'woke the dead' this morning. This siren is a five-horse power double bell whistle of latest design, and is replacing the smaller siren which was not of sufficient power to call volunteers from outer districts of town when an alarm was sounded.

Vernon Board Named For Loan Association

VERNON, Texas, March 13.—Wichita Falls Building and Loan association at a meeting here yesterday selected a local advisory board and an appraising committee for the new branch office to be opened here soon. Offices will be secured at once and a local man will be selected as manager of the office.

The advisory board is composed of G. C. Morris, cashier of Herring National bank; Frank L. Massie, acting vice-president of the Farmers' State bank; John P. King, president of the First Guaranty bank, and T. A. Key, cashier Waggoner National bank. On the appraisal committee are W. W. Anderson, Anderson Store company; R. H. Stereotyped Reply Sent Governor Fuller

AUSTIN, Texas, March 13.—The governor's office has withheld action toward re-opening the extradition of Albert Russell of Wichita Falls to Massachusetts, on a charge of wife desertion, following request from Gov. A. T. Fuller of Massachusetts that the recent refusal to send Russell back be reconsidered.

"Your letter has been received by Governor Ferguson. You will be advised further later on," was the substance of a reply by private Secretary Ghent Sanderford Thursday, to Governor Fuller's letter just received.

Governor Ferguson was away from the executive office because of the death of former Governor Ferguson's sister at Haskell. Sanderford did not indicate whether the case is to be reopened for a further hearing.

BONHAM WOMAN BURNS . . . WHEN CLOTHING FIRES

BONHAM, Texas, Mar. 13.—Mrs. Will Taylor, about thirty years old, was burned to death near Duplex, Fannin county, late yesterday when her clothing caught fire as she was washing. Her husband and child were absent at the time.

Water Shortage Confront Altus By April First

General Rain Is Needed For Domestic Use And Grain

ALTUS, Okla., March 13.—Continued lack of rain is affecting crops and causing a shortage of water for domestic purposes throughout southwest Oklahoma. Altus has only enough water in storage to last until April 1 without rain, city officers estimate.

Many farmes throughout this section are forced to haul water for domestic purposes because cisterns and wells are dry. Some localities have been aided by local showers, but a good general rain is needed to supply moisture for growing wheat and oats as well as to furnish the subsoil with water enough to produce a crop this year, farmers say.

Junior College Downs High School Nine In Practice Contest

Top O' Morn Stuff

HE GOT IT.

That Spud athlete who Thursday cast his glims skyward and pleaded for rain, Friday morning, it was discovered, had not begged in vain.

A young cloud burst and riotously cascaded its contents on Athletic park and adjacent territory about 4 a. m. with result that Tanner gave his workmen a temporary rest from their labor yesterday morn.

* * *

Action aplenty during the afternoon session made up for the lay-off, as anyone of the athletes can tell you.

WALTER GOES SWIMMIN'

Walter Golvin, initial station master, will testify to that. Following a brisk, also gruelling, infield festival, he swam into the club house on a tidal wave of perspiration, seemed on the verge of sinking, but grabbed at a stray bench, and came up sputtering—saved from a horrible death!

Season's First Error!

Wichita Falls sport writers have been in error. The recent declarations that Bodie and Golvin had played ball all winter at Los Angeles and were in almost perfect condition stacks up this morning as more a less a fallacy.

* * *

"Once a week, or rather, every Sunday, we played ball," said Golvin yesterday, "and you know that that amounts to almost nothing especially when everybody loafs and takes it easy like the players do in these winter leagues."

The Spud first sack custodian fields in classic manner and in far better than mid-season form for many a class A first baseman regardless of the fact that he's been in camp but two days.

Ping's First Baseman.

We were wrong yesterday about Ping Bodie's next move being probably the covering of the hot corner. He bounced in from the outer regions Friday afternoon and wound up the practice at first base. But, there's still the chance of his working his way around to third.

Jackie Reid, right-hander taken on by the Spudders the other day, is expected to show up at the orchard today, according to Tanner.

The looked for arrival of Rip Wheeler and Ira Morgan yesterday failed to produce evidence of either.

Drake Believes in Self.

Logan Drake believes he'll make good without his index finger. During the winter he took on a second clinch with a surgeon, and came away minus the bone and stub of the amputated member. This was done so as to give him free play with the ball unhindered by the stub.

* * *

Drake's hand is tender where the wound healed, but he's almost sure that he'll come through in great form, three fingers or not. If nerve alone will pull him over the hill, Logan is long gone for the top.

PENNANT FACTORY?

Pop Boone, good-natured Fort Worth scribe, takes great pleasure in alluding to the daily workout of the Atsmen as the "grinding of the machinery in the pennant factory."

Factory's been working overtime the past five years. Ought to be a shutdown soon. Those old cogs are just about due to wear out, and Paul LaGrave may find it difficult to repair. Patched up machines usually flivver.

MORE COMPETITION NOW

There's stronger competition in the pennant industry this year. Shreveport has put in a powerful plant. Wichita Falls possibly still a better one. San Antonio has overhauled the machinery. Dallas has purchased an almost brand new machine.

Boy, Give Us a Map.

Boone tells one on Deebie Foss, Cat infielder sent to Waco. We don't know whether it's a slur on the intelligence of some ball players or a humorous slap at the Brazos village, latest entry to the Texas league.

Deebie, when told to pack his duds and start for Waco, writes Pop, said: "Where in the hell is Waco?" And LaGrave answered: "Just 90 miles south of here on the Katy."

WACO ALL EXCITED.

Jinx Tucker, Waco sportwriter, has it figured out more or less that Del Pratt will have a club up there in the race. Jinx figures that about seven members of the team should hit for .300 or better. He dopes it that Pratt, Morrow, Foss, Munson, Brown, old Jeems Galloway and Bondurant all will pound the agate within the charmed circle.

Bondurant hit for .350 in the Mississippi valley league last year. Munson poled a .340 average with Marlin of the Texas association. You know the rest.

Down in the Mouth.

Down at Beaumont there doesn't seem to be so much enthusiasm. Dutch Bernsen and his Exporters are hitting it up daily now, but nobody gets excited about it.

* * *

Wesley Bradshaw, former Baylor diamond and gridiron star, is coming in for most of the printers' ink at Beaumont. Brad's seeking himself an outfield berth.

TRIBE SLAPS PILL AT MERRY CLIP AND FIELDS BRILLIANTLY DESPITE DRIVING DUST STORM

Crites and Timmons Star on Mound For Indians—Deems Not in Good Condition Yet

Mosley's Junior college nine packed sufficient wallop Friday to snow the Coyotes, 12 to 4, in a five-inning practice affair on the Pack's diamond.

The contest was slowed up to an extent by a high wind and dust storm, yet the tilt was fraught with snappy plays that caused the smattering of fans on hand to sit up and take cognizance of the fact that Wichita Falls' two school teams are no mean pair of baseball pastiming aggregations.

Walks gave the high school youngsters their runs, for the Tribe's mound corps held their opponents to a lone safety, a single in the second round by Olin Harvey.

Timmons chunked the first three innings for the Indians, holding the Pack scoreless, but it was off his delivery that Harvey cracked his bingle, a one-baser to right field.

Dummy Deems, who relieved Timmons, was unable to find the plate. Three runs were forced in by bases on balls. Lanky Crites relieved Deems, and finished the game with colors flying.

Tribe on Warpath.

The Tribe went on the warpath in the first inning and rushed four runners over the pan in rapid manner. Thurman opened with a hot single through the box, Harris drew four wide ones and ambled down to first. Kizzar came through with a long double to center, and Jack Thurman found scoring an easy matter. Rawls sent in another pair of tallies with a single to center. Crites forced Rawles at second, Jenkins to Harvey. Harvey heaved the ball low to first and "Lanky" was safe. Caskey popped to short. Crites stole second while Clary singled to center. Hicks came to the rescue here and heaved Clary out as the Indian romped down to second.

Captain Bill Andree tightened in the second and the Tribe was one-two-three victims. Woodson made a beautiful running catch of Hershi's fly to left. Neel pulled a neat piece of team work on Timmon's hot grounder to short, Stacy Jenkins found it too hard to handle and only knocked it down. Neel was on top of the ball in a flash and pegged to first in time to nail the runner. Thurman furnished the third out by rolling out, pitcher to first.

Four More.

No one scored again until the fourth when the Tribe pushed another four runners over the plate. Ray was the new hurler at this point and was nicked hard. Hershi was safe on an error, after missing the third strike, which Hicks dropped, the Indian catcher moved down to first. Hicks threw to the bag, but Walker failed to touch the base and Hershi was safe. Deems batted for Timmons and singled. Thurman forced Hershi. Harris fanned. Hood Kizzar watched four drift wide of the pan and took first. Rawls popped to first who dropped the ball. Thurman and Deems scored. Crites smashed a double to the sun pasture and Kizzar and Rawls romped home. Caskey closed matters by popping out to the infield.

A hit batsman, one error, five walks, a wild pitch, a force play at third with a man scoring meant four runs for the Coyotes in the fourth.

The Indians scored another four-markers in the fifth off the slants of Perk Ray. Clary was safe on Lesley's error. Hershi fanned and Deems walked. Thurman came through with a walloping triple to right that put Clary and Deems over the pan. Harris fanned. Kizzar was safe at second when the center fielder spilled his high fly, Thurman scoring. Riley Rawls came through with another triple to center. Crites ended the batting by popping out.

The Coyotes were easy outs in the last half of the frame.

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Indians	.....400 44—12	10	1
Coyotes	.....000 40— 4	1	5

Dempsey Won't Box Before Next Fall, So He Says

Champ Would Meet Brace Of Second Raters As Conditioner

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—The Los Angeles Times tomorrow will quote Jack Dempsey, motion picture actor and pugilist, as saying he positively will not defend his heavyweight title before next fall.

"There is not a chance in the world of my fighting Renault or any one else here in June," were Dempsey's words, according to the Times. "I won't be ready to defend my title then, and I don't intend to try."

"I am fat about the stomach and will have to take off a lot of weight before I can begin to build up. I want to condition myself by tackling a couple of second raters before I step into a championship bout."

Dempsey estimates, the Times will say that it will take him five months to put himself in shape for a title bout.

KEARNS TO DISCUSS GIBBONS EMBROGLIO WITH KANE TODAY

CHICAGO, March 13. — Jack Kearns, whose business is collecting a fortune for the ring appearance of Jack Dempsey, will meet Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons here tomorrow in regard to the prospects of a match between the champion and the St. Paul challenger in Los Angeles or New York this summer.

Kearns is enroute east as a result of several invitations, including one from the government to appear as a witness in connection with transportation of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films in violation of federal laws. Rival New York promoters have invited Kearns to consider a select assortment of bids for matches between Dempsey and Gibbons and Dempsey and Harry Wills, the negro challenger.

Kane said tonight that Gibbons is anxious to box Dempsey any place, provided the championship would be involved in a contest to a decision.

Senators Grab Spotlight With Florida Fans

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13.—Any other season might find the New York Yankees hogging the interest of Florida fans by reason of the presence of Babe Ruth and the fact that for three years they were the purple of the champions. But their debut in the baseball state this spring finds the world's champion Washington club not only unlimbering in the state but within a couple of hours' ride—at Tampa, their permanent camp.

Florida fans are getting their look at the famous infield which fought with its back to the wall, in the face of injuries, bobbles and mental lapses, to check the Giant onslaught. They have the opportunity to pay homage to Walter Johnson, who came into his own in the closing hours of that October day when he pitched his heart out in four innings, knowing that the pennant virtually rested in his hands.

Those who have seen them say that the first appearance of the famous infield of Judge, Harris, Peckinpaugh and Oswald Bleuge drew cheers from the fans that made up in enthusiasm what they may have lacked in volume.

Where Will Mr. Witt Land in Yankee Lineup?

There's a merry little battle on at the New York Yankee's training camp for the privilege of being the regular center fielder. Whitey Witt was the regular center gardener until young Earl Combs challenged his right to the title. Now both are after the job and Mr. Nick Cullop may be a contender. If Witt loses out in the outfield he may get a chance to help Everett Scott at short.

New Field Of Golf Championship Possibilities Appears On Horizon Of Links World, Declares Hagen

Tommy Armour and Leo Diegel Stack Up As Most Likely Winners of Summer Tourneys

By WALTER HAGEN.

A new field of championship possibilities is appearing on the horizon. There are several youngsters in this group and also some of the boys who have been before the golfing public long enough to be known as veterans have brushed up their game and are taking their place along with the winning players.

If I were going to pick out a likely winner for this summer's big tournaments on present form I would not hesitate to write down the names of Tommy Armour and Leo Diegel as the most promising. I meant to say that these stars would be my choice if the big championship were held next week.

Tough Break In Canadian Open

A lot of things can happen in three months time so it is not in the nature of a prophesy that I am mentioning these players. Armour has been consistent since early in December when he finished among the leaders in the Miami open. He went on improving and day after day his scores for four ball matches and other trips around the links averaged close to 70. It was no surprise to me that he won the West Coast open at Pasadena.

Armour has been driving well, but I think his iron club play has helped him more than anything else. When a golfer is playing poorly his irons usually fail him, or at least this club is the one that tells the tale in nine cases out of ten.

Tommy was always a magnificent handler of the irons. I met him in Scotland on my first trip to the other side and discovered that he had something that few amateurs possessed. Pros are usually the only ones proficient in iron club play. Tommy had a fault, however, that prevented him from reaching the top. This was carelessness on the putting green.

In the Canadian open championship played the summer that Armour arrived in this country he had the championship practically sewed up, but his taking four putts on one green and three of them from a distance of two feet permitted Douglas Edgar to tie him, and the result was that Armour lost in the play-off.

Diegel worked hard all last summer but happened to be out of commission at the time the big championship was played at the Oakland Hills Country club. Diegel was taken down with appendicitis and did not recover from the operation in time to get a good game going at Detroit. He was not in the best of condition then but he played well later on at Shawnee and won this event and he won also in the Canadian open and the Illinois open.

Champions Assembled at Florida

Leo came south in fine condition and has played steadily ever since. In the league matches among the professionals in Florida he has been in much better shape than Sarazen and his team won many matches leading the league at this writing.

Leo had an excellent chance to win the open at Toledo four years ago but fell short by a single stroke. This was the year that Big Ted Ray took the title and four tied for second place. Diegel is a hard worker and as he has always been able to hit a long ball he should be able to hold his own with the best of the field.

The changing from the amateur to the professional ranks has helped Armour's game 50 per cent. Armour appears to take the game much more seriously than he ever did before.

Diegel won the Florida open championship but was unable to finish in the money at Boca Ceiga in the West Coast open. Loos finished second at Tampa in the Florida open but neither one of these players got in the money at my club.

It was a remarkable thing that all the world champions were gathered together in the second international four ball championship at Miami.

TWO VETS BILLED FOR ONE POSITION UNDER BANCROFT

Two old vets who have each won some measure of fame—one of them considerable—may find themselves sharing one man's job with the Braves this season. If Manager Bancroft's plans work out Leslie Mann, once a Cub, and Casey Stengel, veteran of several big league teams, will alternate in an outfield berth for the team. Mann has always been an effective batter against southpaws.

If this alternating system doesn't work out Mann probably will draw his release and Stengel will be kept as utility man and pinch hitter.

"DO A COMEBACK? I NEVER WENT," AVERS VETERAN STAR COVELESKIE IN SPRING TRAINING

Washington Spitballer, All Steamed Up, Says He's Due to Have Good Year This Season

By NORMAN E. BROWN

TAMPA, Fla., March 13.—I blew into the camp of the world's champion Washington Senators today just in time to watch Bucky Harris' pitchers unlimber on the mound for the benefit of his sluggers.

I found the majority of the Washington regulars gathered around the batting cage and Manager Harris standing behind the pitcher's box playing caddy to the pitcher by retrieving baseballs tossed back to him.

And the pitcher was none other than Stanley Coveleskie.

After the workout we sunned ourselves in front of the clubhouse and chatted.

All Steamed Up

Said Covey:

"I feel pretty good, considering the fact that everybody had me dead—baseballically speaking—before the training season started. Just because Cleveland decided to let me go everyone figured I was done. They began to refer to me as hoping to do a comeback.

"Now, what I want to know is, how can you come back when you never went?

"Less than two full calendar years ago I led the American league in earned runs, I won 13 and lost 14 games.

Last year I had an off season. I was not in shape. That doesn't mean, however, that I was through. I figure I'm due to have a good year this season. I'm feeling better now than I did at any time last season. I'm with a great club and am figuring on doing my share."

Covey normally is a quiet, reticent fellow. In view of this it is evident that the stories that Covey's days were numbered got under the calm veteran's hide.

Then the talk turned to pitching and in the course of it Covey put forth the opinion that a pitcher has the edge when he faces a strange batter.

Watch Batter's Shoulder

"There is hardly a batter comes into a league who isn't know to someone on your club," says Covey. Somebody can tell you what he likes and you can steer clear of that until you feel him out. On the other hand a batter facing a new pitcher may know the pitcher's delivery—how he throws his stuff—and must take his chances.

"A pitcher can tell something, too, about what a batter likes by the way the hitter stands at the plate. Watch the way he swings. If he keeps his shoulder high you can figure he likes 'em well up. Then keep 'em down for him until you find out more about him. If he is a free swinger you must take a chance on him hitting it to either field. If he chokes his swing you can make him hit them to one field by pitching in close to him."

Coveleskie's program on the Washington club gives that championship outfit one of the few spitball pitchers remaining in the big show. His saliva shoots made him the pitching mainstay of the Indians for many years. He won undying fame in the world's series of 1920 by winning three games for the Indians. Incidentally—and I wonder if the Cleveland club owners have forgotten it—he halted the Brooklyn Dodgers when that team had the world pennant within its grasp.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, Is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree was a son of Kazan and Gray Wolf, the latter the mother, a full-blooded wolf. Gray Wolf had lost her sight in a fight with a lynx. During the mothering-time she kept Kazan away from their offspring and it was a great day for Baree when he discovered his father. He was then eighteen days old. After that he ventured out from the windfall in which he had been, and, finding himself in the sunlight, had his first great adventure.

CHAPTER II—Continued

In a way Baree sensed this. He was not afraid of the owls. He was not afraid of the strange blood-curdling cries they made in the black spruce-tops. But once fear entered into him, and he scurried back to his mother. It was when one of the winged hunters of the air swooped down on a snowshoe rabbit, and the squealing agony of the doomed creature set his heart thumping like a little hammer. He felt in those cries the nearness of that one ever-present tragedy of the wild—death.

This rabbit was the climax in the first chapter of Baree's education. It was as if Gray Wolf and Kazan had planned it all out, so that he might receive his first instruction in the art of killing.

The fact that Oohoomisew, the big snow-owl, had made her nest in a broken stub not far from the windfall was destined to change the whole course of Baree's life, just as the blinding of Gray Wolf had changed hers, and a man's club had changed Kazan's. The creek ran close past the stub, which had been shriven by lightning; and this stub stood in a still, dark place in the forest, surrounded by tall, black spruce and enveloped in gloom even in broad day. Many times Baree had gone to the edge of this mysterious bit of forest and as they rolled and bumped to the bottom, Baree loosed his hold. Papayuchisew hung valiantly on, and when they reached the bottom he still had his grip on Baree's ear.

At this critical point, when the understanding of defeat was forming itself swiftly in Baree's mind, chance saved him. His fangs closed on one of the owlet's tender feet. Papayuchisew gave a sudden squeak. The ear was free at last—and with a snarl of triumph Baree gave a vicious tug at Papayuchisew's leg.

In the excitement of battle he had not heard the rushing tumult of the creek close under them, and over the edge of a rock Papayuchisew and he went together, the chill water of the rain-swollen stream muffling a final snarl and a final hiss of the two little fighters.

CHAPTER III

To Papayuchisew, after his first mouthful of water, the stream was almost as safe as the air, for he went sailing down it with the lightness of a gull, wondering in his slow-thinking big head why he was moving so swiftly and so pleasantly without any effort of his own.

To Baree it was a different matter. He went down almost like a stone. A mighty roaring filled his ears; it was dark, suffocating, terrible. In the swift current he was twisted over and over. For twenty feet he was under water. Then he rose to the surface and desperately began using his legs.

Suddenly Baree found himself at the edge of a deep, dark pool in which the water lay still as oil, and his heart nearly jumped out of his body when a great, sleek, shining creature sprang out from almost under his nose and landed with a tremendous splash in the centre of it. It was Nekik, the Otter.

The otter had not heard Baree,

"Papayuchisew started it, and with a single wild yelp Baree went back in a heap, the owlet's beak fastened like a red-hot vise in the soft flesh at the end of his nose."

had peered in curiously, and with a growing desire.

He was fully three hundred yards from the windfall when he passed Oohoomisew's stub and into a thick growth of young balsams. And there—directly in his path—crouched the monster.

With a space of two feet between them, the pup and the owlet eyed each other. In that moment, if Gray Wolf could have seen, she might have said to Baree: "Use your legs—and run!" And Oohoomisew, the old owl, might have said to Papayuchisew: "You little fool—use your wings and fly!"

They did neither—and the fight began.

Papayuchisew started it, and with a single wild yelp Baree went back in a heap, the owlet's beak fastened like a red-hot vise in the soft flesh at the end of his nose. That one yelp of surprise and pain was Baree's first and last cry in the fight. The wolf surged in him; rage and desire to kill possessed him. As Papayuchisew hung on, he made a curious hissing sound; and as Baree rolled and gnashed his teeth and fought to free himself from that amazing grip on his nose, fierce little snarls rose out of his throat.

For fully a minute Baree had no use of his jaws. Then, by accident, he wedged Papayuchisew in a crotch of a low ground-shrub, and a bit of his nose gave way. He might have run then, but instead of that he was back at the owlet like a flash. Flop went Papayuchisew on his back, and Baree buried his needle-like teeth in the bird's breast. It was like trying to bite through a pillow, the feathers were so close and thick. Deeper and deeper Baree sank his fangs, and just as they were beginning to prick the owlet's skin, Papayuchisew—jabbing a little blindly with a beak that snapped sharply every time it closed—got him by the ear

The pain of that hold was excruciating to Baree, and he made a more desperate effort to get his teeth through his enemy's thick armour of feathers. In the struggle they rolled under the low balsams to the edge of the ravine through which ran the creek. Over the steep edge they plunged, and and in another moment Napanekik, his wife, came sailing out of a patch of gloom, and behind her came three little otters, leaving behind them four shimmering wakes in the oily-looking water. What happened after that made Baree forget for a few minutes that he was lost. Nekik had disappeared under the surface, and now he came up directly under his unsuspecting mate with a force that lifted her half out of the water. Instantly he was gone again, and Napanekik took after him fiercely.

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon, and the sun should still have been well up in the sky. But it was growing darker steadily, and the strangeness and fear of it all lent greater speed to Baree's legs. He stopped every little while to listen, and at one of these intervals he heard a sound that drew from him a responsive and joyous whine. It was a distant howl—a wolf's howl—straight ahead of him. Baree was not thinking of wolves but of Kazan, and he ran through the gloom of the forest until he was winded. Then he stopped and listened a long time. The wolf-howl did not come again. Instead of it there rolled up from the west a deep and thunderous rumble. Through the treetops there flashed a vivid streak of lightning. A moaning whisper of wind rode in advance of the storm; the thunder grew nearer; and a second flash of lightning seemed searching Baree out where he stood shivering under a canopy of great spruce.

At first Baree could hardly stand. His legs were cramped; every bone in his body seemed out of joint; his ear was stiff where the blood had oozed out of it and hardened, and when he tried to wrinkle his wounded nose, he gave a sharp little yap of pain. If such a thing were possible, he looked even worse than he felt. His hair had dried in muddy patches; he was dirt-stained from end to end; and where yesterday he had been plump and shiny, he was now as thin and wretched as misfortune could possibly make him. And he was hungry. He had never before known what it meant to be really hungry.

Critique Of Admirals To Decide Who Won Battle

SAN DIEGO, March 13.—Thousands lined the shores as the United States war craft came in port from maneuvers. Signal men worked frantically on the ships as thousands of signals went out by flags, blinkers and semaphores bringing the great fleet into anchorage position. With anchors set by the flagships and their commands the four starred and two starred mahogany barges went to the Seattle and respects were paid to the commander-in-chief and cannon roared in salute to the admirals as they departed.

Having completed the battle maneuvers which after two weeks resulted in a nine-hour night battle, the outcome of the battle will be officially determined Saturday morning and afternoon in a conference of 400 officers and men, under leadership of 14 admirals. This is the critique. Observers and unit commanders will make their reports. In this conference the theoretical losses will be revealed for the estimates cannot be made until the reports of official observers are in and records compared. Indications were that two battleships were "sunk" by the submarines, but this will have to be confirmed. Airplanes played an unimportant part in the actual battle owing to the coming together of the fleets at night when the attackers approached and penetrated the defending blue fleet submarines.

The submarine employment was the most interesting feature of the operations. The submarines successfully completed the longest voyage under battle conditions ever made by such craft in squadrons operating on the eve of battle, one of the greatest disadvantages that could be utilized against them.

The invading black fleet staff broke the secret battle code of the blue forces and just before the engagement was about to begin the black staff sent out radio signals on the submarine wave length ordering the blue submarines to rendezvous at a point far from the scene of battle. Other radio signals were sent out as orders to the submarines and they changed front obeying these orders.

It was not until they reported back by radio to their own commander that they were in position that the coup was revealed when he dispatched an urgent message indicating he had never issued such orders.

The black fleet reached its mission and operating base, successfully, but whether or not the attack opened by submarines and carried on by destroyers and light cruisers was sufficient to cripple it will be known only after the critique.

Earnings of the American Light & Traction company, expanded in the year ended Jan. 31, 1925, net of $4,839,988 being equal to 12.4% on the common stock, compared with $3,906,400 or 9.9% in the previous 12 months. A new gas plant with a daily capacity of 15,000,000 cubic feet will be built shortly in Detroit.

The treasury department will withdraw $24,224,000 from federal reserve member banks in the New York district next Monday.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 13.—Stock prices turned reactionary after a firm opening today with most of the selling apparently inspired by the sharp collapse in grain futures. Rest losses in the active industrials ranged from 1 to 6½ points while many of the rails sold off 1 to 3 points.

The decline with few exceptions was an orderly one with trading in reduced volumes, which was construed in some quarters as an indication of underlying strength.

Selling pressure was directed chiefly against American woolen, which was hammered down nearly 3 points to 42½, the lowest price in eight years. Radio Corporation which was depressed to 36½, a new low for the year and the St. Paul issues which sold within small fractions of the record lows established earlier in the week. American Woolen rallied 2 points from its low figure and Radio closed at 37½ for a net loss of 1½.

Most of the so-called pivotal industrials lost ground but they did not break through the low prices established last week. U. S. Steel common closed more than a point lower at 122⅝ and Baldwin showed a net loss of 2⅝ at 134¾. American Can closed fractionally higher at 124 after being bid up to 161 in the early trading. General Electric and Utah Securities both scored sensational gains yesterday and broke 6½ and 4 points respectively on profit taking today.

Heavy accumulation of Texas and Pacific, which was bid up 5 points to a record top at 38¾, in anticipation of an early dividend declaration was the feature of the railroad group. Further business cropped out in Western Pacific which closed 3 points lower at 42¾. Atchison dropped 2 points to 121¾, closing just above that figure, and net losses of a point or more were recorded by Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern preferred, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Norfolk and Western and the St. Louis-Southwestern issues. Southward Air Line common and Chicago and Eastern Illinois common sold at their highest prices of the year.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent, despite the announcement of large government withdrawals. The time money market and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates.

The foreign exchanges displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled about ⅛c higher around $4.78⅛ and French francs were again quoted above 5.15 cents. The rise in European rates was attributed in some quarters to the selling of dollars for German account. Japanese yen touched a new high on the movement by crossing 41 cents.

"Mighty Good" Is Spoken Of Week's Bill At Wichita

"Blackface" Eddie Ross Headlines It With Personality And Banjo

"Blackface" Eddie Ross at the Wichita has a way of putting over his line of chatter and making it funny. He just goes on talking and the audience keeps on laughing. And when he stops chattering and starts playing his banjo, people start patting their feet. Personality plus clever and peppy music make the act a winner and when it's over the audience clammer for more.

"Everybody applaud who thinks I'm crazy," said Ned Norworth, and the theatre rings with applause. After that he doesn't give them time to use their hands but shoots a hot line that keeps the audience chuckling continuously. Patricia Cayrns, and a funny faced chap who sings "It Ain't Goin' To Rain No More," furnish the res' of the act.

The Texas Four provide plenty of harmony and melody. Helene Coyne and Henri French have something especially good in a dancing act. Crissie and Daley are clever comedy pantomimists, and impersonators of dolls and animals. Norman Telma, pleases the audience with grotesque contortions and comic poses.

It's a mighty good bill.

Twenty-two Blocks Hung With Bunting

Fifteen hundred buntings and flags were strung up over twenty-two blocks of streets in the business section of the city Friday evening and night, in preparation for the arrival of the several thousand visitors to the Texas State Odd Fellows convention, beginning Monday morning.

The banners are of sixteen different styles, in colors of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Over five hundred American flags were also strung up. The decoration of the streets was done through the courtesy of the chamber of commerce, who offered to bear all expense of putting up and taking down the buntings.

Through many lines of the flags and banners were hung during Friday afternoon, downtown traffic was not bothered, through the efficiency of the White Sign company, using the Vendope System of banner hanging.

100,000 Year-Old Town Unearthed In Nevada Sands

City Said To Be Oldest Yet Uncovered; Is Six Miles Long

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Museum of the American Indian, Heye foundation, today announced the discovery under the sands of Nevada on the Muddy river between Saint Thomas and Overton, of the oldest buried city yet unearthed.

The city, which stretches for six miles along the river, was discovered, museum officials say, by an exploring party headed by M. R. Harrington. It is described as the relic of a civilization that existed in America almost 10,000 years ago.

The city is reported to have been found last November. Between 15 and 20 rooms of the dwellings have been excavated, disclosing ancient pottery, flint knives, baskets, arrows, arrow heads, plows made from shoulder bones of animals, and bone dice.

CHICKENS IN GARDENS

Annual Spring Tragedies Reaching Chief of Police

The annual spring plaint of the back-yard farmer—"keep those blank chickens out of my garden" is beginning to roar in the ears of Chief of Police George Hodgins. And that long suffering worthy, sans power to do more than give as well as receive, is roaring right back.

"Flawd sake," he begged a news scribe Thursday, "tell these guys to keep their chickens at home. The police department isn't runnin' any poultry agency; but a man that wants to plant a garden oughtn't to have to feed a flock of hens with it."

COURT SUMMONS GEORGE.

W. E. George, city attorney, has been summoned as a witness in a criminal case to be tried Monday in Oklahoma City in which a negro accused of burglary is the defendant. The black was arrested in Wichita Falls a short time ago and in a confession made to Mr. George admitted having broken into a freight car in Oklahoma City. He was taken back there to stand trial and now denies any complicity in the affair.

Trichinosis Claims Fifth Victim In Less Than Three Days

ONEIDA, N. Y. March 13.—Trichinosis, the mysterious, deadly malady that threatens to depopulate the little settlement at Moore's Hill in Georgetown township claimed another life today—the fifth in three days in two families known to have eaten raw pork.

The latest victim was Bert Bushnell, 45, father of three children, who died from the same cause during the last 48 hours. The other victim was Clinton Bush, 19.

Two other Bushnell children, Vivian and Mary, and two of the Bush children, Fannie and Harry are not expected to live.

RETURN THREE PETITIONS

Candidates Are Told to Have More Names Put On Election List

Three of the 13 petitions filed by candidates in the municipal elections of April 7 have been sent back for revision because an insufficient number of proper signatures were not obtained in the first circulation. All petitions have been checked at the city clerk's office.

Each of the three found lacking in all details were filed in behalf of a candidate for police commissioner.

The city charter provides that in case 100 qualified voters do not sign the petition when it is first presented 30 days prior to the election it may be taken out, circulated again and filed in amended form. All three have been handled in this manner.

Business Council Is Behind School Building Program

School Board To Turn Plans Over To a Committee

C. A. Rogers, educational committee chairman for the chamber of commerce business council, pledged the support of his committee in the interests of the erection of new school buildings and additions as proposed by the school board at the Friday meeting of the council at the Kemp hotel

Mr. Rogers' endorsement of the plan followed a motion by W. S. Curlee that the building plan of the school board be turned over to the educational committee for consideration. Twenty minutes of the luncheon hour was given to J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools.

Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce, reported the weeks activities of the chamber. Amon G. Carter, owner and publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was introduced by W. B. Hamilton and spoke briefly, urging the council to endorse and support the school building program and the work of Dr. Cantwell whom, he said, had served Fort Worth efficiently at the head of her school system at one time.

TRACTION COMPANY SUED.

Wife and Husband File for Damages to Auto in Wreck.

Damages of $2,700 are sought from the Wichita Falls Traction company in a suit filed in the 89th district court Friday by Mrs. Elizabeth Roark and her husband, D. H. Roark.

The plaintiff alleges that a crossing accident at Eighth and Ohio avenues on February 11, last, in which her automobile was damaged in a collision with a street car was the fault of the motorman of the car.

Half Hundred pupils Give "Whim-Wham"

More than half a hundred pupils of the Sam Houston school were presented in a gorgeous pageant "Whim-Wham" at the school auditorium Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Faver.

The stage setting for the production was a woodland scene inhabited by occupants of Fairyland. A red-haired queen in the person of little Miss Nancy Faver rules over this domain and the story is woven around her and her court.

Unusually beautiful costumes and lighting effects were featured and several special numbers were given by juvenile dancers, soloists and violinists.

The entire program was well received by a large audience of admiring parents and friends of the children. The proceeds from the pageant will be donated to the Parent-Teachers association of the Sam Houston school.

Who Files Divorces Husbands or Wives?

Who files the most divorce suits, men or women?

The question is apparently answered in a list of settings made by Judge Guy Rogers of the 78th district court in which 37 divorce cases are scheduled for hearing on April 13. Of these 37, all but 12, were filed by the woman in the case.

The entire 37, of course, will not be heard on that one date. Some may gain a hearing before that time; many will be postponed; a few will be dropped by agreement of both parties; and various others will be disposed of in different manner.

Charges on which the separations are sought run the entire gamut of domestic difficulties. Cruelty, abandonment, infidelity and abusiveness—all in varying degree, form the basis for most of the charges. And in more than two-thirds of them, it seems, the man has been the erring one.

City Again Wins "Front Street" In Court Battle

Jury Decides That Disputed Road Exists And Is 80 Feet Wide

Although one of the jurors in the case told a lawyer that after listening for two days to evidence and argument he didn't know yet where Front street was, the jury which has been hearing evidence in the case of A. R. and O. T. Watland vs. the city of Wichita Falls decided Friday afternoon that such a street existed and that it was 80 feet wide. The verdict, which was reached after a deliberation of about five minutes, favored the defendant.

Claim It Was Theirs

The plaintiffs were contending that a strip of land between Indiana and Ohio, now known as Front street, had been taken over by the city without due process of law and that in reality there was no street existing there at all. The city, however, claimed that a street had once been staked off 80 feet wide and had since been maintained as such.

While arguments were in progress Friday afternoon one of the jurors interrupted proceedings with:

Where Is It?

"Say, brother, I've been listening in this trial for two days now and I don't know yet where that street is."

He evidently was convinced that the street existed, though, for a short time later when arguments were concluded and the matter left with the jurors they decided in about five minutes time for the city.

OLD HOME TOWN

Horace Robbins has gone to Atlanta, Ga., on a short business trip.

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage of about $25 at 10 o'clock Friday morning in a residence at 1011 Third. It was owned by Hughes brothers and occupied by H. L. Hancock. The wall paper was burned from one room but otherwise no damage was sustained.

Only one marriage license was issued Friday by the county clerk. It went to J. A. Kemp, Jr., Wichita Falls, and Miss Anna Elizabeth Gilbert Austin.

A scant half-dozen cases were called up for trial Friday morning in city police court. Half of them were for drunks and the others for traffic violations.

G. H. Shoreham, formerly an oil operator of this district, and now stationed in the Mexia fields was in the city Friday on business.

A Ford touring car and a large gravel truck collided at Ninth and Broad early Friday afternoon with slight damage to both machines. The small car suffered a stripped fender, while the radiator of the truck was punctured.

Officers Search for Five Alleged Floggers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 13.—Police were searching today for five men who last night kidnaped D. J. Houston, 32, a truck driver, carried him several miles to a dense woods and severely flogged him. Houston was confined to his home suffering from the effects of the beating. He said 75 lashes were applied.

He said he identified his assailants and expected to "prosecute to the fullest extent of the law."

The attack on Houston was the fifth similar occurrance in Birmingham within a week. No arrests have been made in any case.

Solicitor James G. Davis announced that his office has begun active steps to check the flogging wave.

100,000 Year-Old Town Unearthed In Nevada Sands

City Said To Be Oldest Yet Uncovered; Is Six Miles Long

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Museum of the American Indian, Heye foundation, today announced the discovery under the sands of Nevada on the Muddy river between Saint Thomas and Overton, of the oldest buried city yet unearthed.

The city, which stretches for six miles along the river, was discovered, museum officials say, by an exploring party headed by M. R. Harrington. It is described as the relic of a civilization that existed in America almost 10,000 years ago.

The city is reported to have been found last November. Between 15 and 20 rooms of the dwellings have been excavated, disclosing ancient pottery, flint knives, baskets, arrows, arrow heads, plows made from shoulder bones of animals, and bone dice.

CHICKENS IN GARDENS

Annual Spring Tragedies Reaching Chief of Police

The annual spring plaint of the back-yard farmer—"keep those blank chickens out of my garden" is beginning to roar in the ears of Chief of Police George Hodgins. And that long suffering worthy, sans power to do more than give as well as receive, is roaring right back.

"Flawd sake," he begged a news scribe Thursday, "tell these guys to keep their chickens at home. The police department isn't runnin' any poultry agency; but a man that wants to plant a garden ougutn't to have to feed a flock of hens with it."

COURT SUMMONS GEORGE.

City Attorney Called to Oklahoma City to Testify Against Thief.

W. E. George, city attorney, has been summoned as a witness in a criminal case to be tried Monday in Oklahoma City in which a negro accused of burglary is the defendant. The black was arrested in Wichita Falls a short time ago and in a confession made to Mr. George admitted having broken into a freight car in Oklahoma City. He was taken back there to stand trial and now denies any complicity in the affair.

The latest victim was Bert Bushnell, 45, father of three children, who died from the same cause during the last 48 hours. The other victim was Clinton Bush, 19.

Two other Bushnell children, Vivian and Mary, and two of the Bush children, Fannie and Harry are not expected to live.

RETURN THREE PETITIONS

Candidates Are Told to Have More Names Put On Election List

Three of the 13 petitions filed by candidates in the municipal elections of April 7 have been sent back for revision because an insufficient number of proper signatures were not obtained in the first circulation. All petitions have been checked at the city clerk's office.

Each of the three found lacking in all details were filed in behalf of a candidate for police commissioner.

The city charter provides that in case 100 qualified voters do not sign the petition when it is first presented 30 days prior to the election it may be taken out, circulated again and filed in amended form. All three have been handled in this manner.

Business Council Is Behind School Building Program

School Board To Turn Plans Over To a Committee

C. A. Rogers, educational committee chairman for the chamber of commerce business council, pledged the support of his committee in the interests of the erection of new school buildings and additions as proposed by the school board at the Friday meeting of the council at the Kemp hotel

Mr. Rogers' endorsement of the plan followed a motion by W. S. Curlee that the building plan of the school board be turned over to the educational committee for consideration. Twenty minutes of the luncheon hour was given to J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools.

Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce, reported the weeks activities of the chamber. Amon G. Carter, owner and publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was introduced by W. B. Hamilton and spoke briefly, urging the council to endorse and support the school building program and the work of Dr. Cantwell whom, he said, had served Fort Worth efficiently at the head of her school system at one time.

TRACTION COMPANY SUED.

Wife and Husband File for Damages to Auto in Wreck.

Damages of $2,700 are sought from the Wichita Falls Traction company in a suit filed in the 89th district court Friday by Mrs. Elizabeth Roark and her husband, D. H. Roark.

The plaintiff alleges that a crossing accident at Eighth and Ohio avenues on February 11, last, in which her automobile was damaged in a collision with a street car was the fault of the motorman of the car.

Half Hundred pupils Give "Whim-Wham"

More than half a hundred pupils of the Sam Houston school were presented in a gorgeous pageant "Whim-Wham" at the school auditorium Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Faver.

The stage setting for the production was a woodland scene inhabited by occupants of Fairyland. A red-haired queen in the person of little Miss Nancy Faver rules over this domain and the story is woven around her and her court.

Unusually beautiful costumes and lighting effects were featured and several special numbers were given by juvenile dancers, soloists and violinists.

The entire program was well received by a large audience of admiring parents and friends of the children. The proceeds from the pageant will be donated to the Parent-Teachers association of the Sam Houston school.

Who Files Divorces Husbands or Wives?

Who files the most divorce suits, men or women?

The question is apparently answered in a list of settings made by Judge Guy Rogers of the 78th district court in which 37 divorce cases are scheduled for hearing on April 13. Of these 37, all but 12, were filed by the woman in the case.

The entire 37, of course, will not be heard on that one date. Some may gain a hearing before that time; many will be postponed; a few will be dropped by agreement of both parties; and various others will be disposed of in different manner.

Charges on which the separations are sought run the entire gamut of domestic difficulties. Cruelty, abandonment, infidelity and abusiveness—all in varying degree, form the base for most of the charges. And in more than two-thirds of them, it seems, the man has been the erring one.

City Again Wins "Front Street" In Court Battle

Jury Decides That Disputed Road Exists And Is 80 Feet Wide

Although one of the jurors in the case told a lawyer that after listening for two days to evidence and argument he didn't know yet where Front street was, the jury which has been hearing evidence in the case of A. R. and O. T. Watland vs. the city of Wichita Falls decided Friday afternoon that such a street existed and that it was 80 feet wide. The verdict, which was reached after a deliberation of about five minutes, favored the defendant.

Claim It Was Theirs

The plaintiffs were contending that a strip of land between Indiana and Ohio, now known as Front street, had been taken over by the city without due process of law and that in reality there was no street existing there at all. The city, however, claimed that a street had once been staked off 80 feet wide and had since been maintained as such.

While arguments were in progress Friday afternoon one of the jurors interrupted proceedings with:

Where Is It?

"Say, brother, I've been listening in this trial for two days now and I don't know yet where that street is."

He evidently was convinced that the street existed, though, for a short time later when arguments were concluded and the matter left with the jurors they decided in about five minutes time for the city.

OLD HOME TOWN

Horace Robbins has gone to Atlanta, Ga., on a short business trip.

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage of about $25 at 10 o'clock Friday morning in a residence at 1011 Third. It was owned by Hughes brothers and occupied by R. L. Hancock. The wall paper was burned from one room but otherwise no damage was sustained.

Only one marriage license was issued Friday by the county clerk. It went to J. A. Kemp, Jr., Wichita Falls, and Miss Anna Elizabeth Gilbert Austin.

A scant half-dozen cases were called up for trial Friday morning in city police court. Half of them were for drunks and the others for traffic violations.

G. H. Shoreham, formerly an oil operator of this district, and now stationed in the Mexia fields was in the city Friday on business.

A Ford touring car and a large gravel truck collided at Ninth and Broad early Friday afternoon with slight damage to both machines. The small car suffered a stripped fender, while the radiator of the truck was punctured.

Officers Search for Five Alleged Floggers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 13.—Police were searching today for five men who last night kidnaped D. J. Houston, 32, a truck driver, carried him several miles to a dense woods and severely flogged him. Houston was confined to his home suffering from the effects of the beating. He said 75 lashes were applied.

He said he identified his assailants and expected to "prosecute to the fullest extent of the law."

The attack on Houston was the fifth similar occurrance in Birmingham within a week. No arrests have been made in any case.

Solicitor James G. Davis announced that his office has begun active steps to check the flogging wave.
